SENATOR CARTER OF MONTANA AFTER

Secretary Hitchcock For Demanding in Land Claims Personal Inspection.

CHARACTERIZES IT AS INSULT TO THE PEOPLE

Mexico's New Ambassador Has Arrived in Washington—Judge Fall With Him.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Severe criticism of Secretary Hitchcock was made in the senate today by Senator Carter of Montana. The criticism was based on the order of the secretary last December, which prohibits a patent to any land under any of the land laws until after examination on the ground by a special agent. Carter sometime ago proposed a resolution, which denies the right of any executive officer to prevent the granting of a patent when the law under which it is claimed to have been made has been carried out.

He said the order is without precedent in the history of the government. It casts doubt on the veracity, honor, integrity and good faith of all settlers on the public domain of the United States. He said that the secretary had made repeated charges of fraud in the settlement of government land. Excluding the timber area of the northwest there had been practically no fraudulent entries. Even the president had been led to believe and had become alarmed by the secretary's off-repeated charges. In the name of justice to 600,000 entrymen on the public domain, to the families dependent on them and to their discredited neighbors aggregating substantially twenty-seven million of people, accused and injured, Carter asked for a hearing from the senate, the president and the country.

Carter presented and analyzed records of entries and patents issued under the various land laws and said they show that "not to exceed one half of one per cent of final homestead entries, less than one per cent of final desert land entries, less than one half of one per cent of final timber and stone entries, and less than one half of one per cent of final coal entries had been found to be fraudulent, and the percentage of mineral entries tainted with fraud, is small indeed."

BUT LITTLE IS LEARNED ABOUT EXPLOSION OF STUART MINE

Eighty Miners Were Entombed and the Explosion Was Caused by Dust.

SCARCELY ANY HOPE OF RESCUING ANY OF THEM

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 30.—Little additional has been learned here today regarding yesterday's dust explosion in the Stuart mine near Thurmond, West Virginia, in which eighty or more miners are believed to have lost their lives. The Stuart mine adjoins the Parol, in which an explosion killed twenty-two men last February, and an attempt to connect the workings of the two mines was underway when this explosion occurred. There is still hope that some of the entombed miners may have escaped the explosion and still survive in some inner chambers of the mine where the air has not been exhausted. It is believed that the shaft is intense and the entombed men could not be reached for a day or so even if the shaft were in working order.

Later, it was stated today that there was 91 men in the mine when the explosion occurred yesterday afternoon. It is not believed that any of the men will be taken out alive the force of the explosion having been so terrific as to wreck the entire shaft and shaft in the mine. Re-raising will have to be done before the cage can be let entirely down. It is thought the mine is on fire. Heat and smoke from the shaft is intense and the entombed men could not be reached for a day or so even if the shaft were in working order.

THAW IN COURT LIKE A GENERAL, WITH HIS FIRST RESERVE, FIVE WOMEN BEHIND HIM

REMARKABLE DEMEANOR IN COURT OF THE CHIEF ACTOR OF THE GREAT NEW YORK TRAGEDY—LIKE AN EAGER YOUNG ATHLETE AT THE TAP HE IS IMPATIENT FOR THE CLIMAX—AND THE WOMEN! THERE IN SOMBER GARB ARE HIS MOTHER AND SISTERS; IN GAY PURPLE SIT HIS WIFE AND HER CHORUS GIRL FRIEND.

FOR THAW
Mrs. Thaw, his mother.
Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, his wife.
Countess of Yarmouth, sister.
Mrs. Geo. Carnegie, sister.
Mae McKenzle, friend of Evelyn Nesbit.
AGAINST THAW
Mrs. Holman, mother-in-law, to testify.
Howard Nesbit, brother-in-law, to testify.
Mrs. White, widow of victim, to testify.

New York, Jan. 30.—Something of the pomp of a general suggests itself in the demeanor of Harry K. Thaw in his trial for the murder of Stanford White. He seems ambitious to push the campaign. There is no listlessness, no timidity. He is impatient for the climax of the trial, else his manner betrays him. He can hardly wait for the climax.

He is the same Harry Thaw he was on the night of the Madison Square Garden tragedy, when he strode into the police station with his head up, his shoulders back. He slapped his breast with his hand. "I am the man who did it," he said—no, proclaimed it!

Modified, of course, his attitude is the same. He marches into the court room with the air of one who is used to the center of the stage as his right. The eyes bent upon him from the thronged court room are that many spotlights. He sees them all. He looks round to see if they are there.

Over to one side are tables creaking under the feverish writing of a host of reporters, correspondents. This is the press. Ah, the press is another spotlight.

The man who "did it" is here. He has waited since last June to tell it. He thinks he is going to tell it in a few days, and is more eager than ever. Maybe his lawyers will say differently, but he does not dream of that. He feels he is there to re-enact the tragedy.

Behind Thaw, the ambitious general, sits his first reserve.

There are five women sitting behind there, three in somber garb, the other two flashing with purple in their attire.

Of the latter, the small, insignificant one, with a pair of startled eyes peering out through a thick, smothering veil? What of her? For her he siew.

Is Harry Thaw's sense of importance felt to the public, or is it all, all to impress that mite of humanity? The trial should show. There are the other women. That white-haired one is his mother. She has a clear eye and a good color. She has courage.

Remarkable snapshot photograph showing the eager throng outside the criminal court when the Thaw trial is in progress within. Because of the great number of newspaper men, artists, lawyers and others in attendance on the trial, the general public is excluded from the sessions. This does not deter thousands from moving on the building where they besiege the doors hoping for a chance to pass inside where they may feast their eyes on the dramatic tableaux in Justice Fitzgerald's court. Some just stand on the pavement and look at the barred windows and police guarded doors. There are men of all classes, boys and a few women. Some stay all day. There are talkative ones who comment in loud tones on the case as other waiters gather around them and listen with strained, excited attention. Others there are who back up against the stone wall and gloomily gaze upon their fellows. There is no hilarity. Tragedy fills the air, and the crowds that move in the radii about the door from morning to night seem steeped in it.

ANOTHER RUSSIAN OFFICIAL IS SHOT ON THE STREETS

Governor of Prison is Killed by a Mere Youth Today.

FRANCE SURPRISED AT THE POPE'S PROPOSAL

St. Petersburg, Jan. 30.—M. Gudema, governor political prison in Vasil Ostroff, suburb of this city, was shot in the main street of the island today and died almost immediately. The assassin, a youth of 18, dressed as a woman, emerged from a tea house as Gudema was passing and shot him twice in the stomach. The youth also shot a mortally wounded a prison warden, who accompanied Gudema, and who had pursued the assassin. The latter disappeared. Gudema was sentenced to death by the terrorists for the merciless use of the lash in suppressing "hunger strike" which the prisoners on Basil Island declared a fortnight ago as a protest against killing the prisoner who was leaning out the window.

FRENCH CABINET DIVIDED ON POPE'S ULTIMATUM
Paris, Jan. 30.—The French cabinet has hardly recovered from its surprise at the proposition which the bishops, with the approval of the Pope, submitted to the government for a modus vivendi upon the basis of a virtual lease of the churches in perpetuity to the parish priests and apparently some confusion exists as to what course to adopt.

The extreme radicals are incensed at the peremptory tone of the communications and at the dispatches from Rome, representing the Vatican as being determined. If the proposition is rejected that the parish priests shall leave their churches and suspend public worship. The moderates believe that the government, having accomplished the separation of church and state, can afford to accept any definite solution of the difficulties, in the interest of peace.

JAVA INSURRECTION WAS VERY SHORT LIVED ONE
Amsterdam, Holland, Jan. 30.—A brief encounter with the troops sent to the scene of the native revolt in Island of Java, Dutch East Indies, sufficed to suppress the rebels, whose ring leader and fifteen of his followers, were killed and as many wounded.

INDIAN APPROPRIATION BILL IS VERY LARGE ONE
Washington, Jan. 30.—The Indian appropriation bill was reported to the senate today. It carries $14,599,000, increase of $4,306,000 over the bill passed by the house. This increase is due to the payments to a number of Indian tribes of money now held in trust as Indian tribal funds.

TO UTILIZE NEWPORT AS DEFENSE OF HARBOR
Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Elaborate plans for utilizing the strategic importance of Newport as a part of the defense of New York harbor, have been formulated by the war department. This station will be the headquarters for the navy submarines, and the present submarine systems will be extended. New fortifications will be erected along the waters of Narragansett bay and the stretch between Point Judith and Montauk will be mined. The work commenced today.

WIFE AND BABE KILLED BY HUSBAND AND FATHER

This the Theory of Washington Police in Copley Murder Last Night.

MURDERED MERCHANT HAD BIG LONDON FUNERAL

Washington, Jan. 30.—Washington police are today trying to solve the mystery as to whether Mrs. Amanda M. Copley and her three-months-old baby, who were found dead in bed shortly after midnight, were murdered, or whether Mrs. Copley shot the infant and committed suicide. The latter is the explanation given by her husband, Wm. G. Copley, clerk in the census office, who was held at the police station pending an investigation. Lieutenant Favery, after examining the wound that caused Mrs. Copley's death, said that it would have been next to impossible for the woman to have inflicted the injury upon herself. Shortly after midnight Copley called a physician, telling him that his wife had attempted suicide. When the doctor arrived Mrs. Copley and baby were dead. He immediately informed the police and the husband and father was placed under arrest. He was subjected to a severe examination, but he maintained that his wife killed herself.

MERCHANT WHITELY GAVE $5,000,000 TO THE POOR.
London, Jan. 30.—Unusual public interest in the Whitely tragedy was shown by the scenes at the funeral of the merchant this morning. Dense masses of people lined the streets from the residence to the church where the services were held. According to the newspapers, Whitely bequeathed $5,000,000 to provide almshouses and homes for aged and deserving poor.

TEN JURORS IN THAW TRIAL. JURY SECURED.
New York, Jan. 30.—The rate of securing one juror at each morning and afternoon session in the Thaw trial was maintained today, when Harry C. Brearley was added to the panel before luncheon adjourned the court.

The second special panel of 100 talesmen was exhausted so rapidly that orders were sent out summoning 100 more for tomorrow morning. With two jurors yet to be obtained, the defense has nine summary challenges left, and the state thirteen.

RUMORS REPORTED TO BE GROUNDESS.
Dublin, Jan. 30.—The recent report that the British government has been attempting to obtain from the Vatican an expression of opinion antagonistic to the Gaelic league in Ireland, advice from Rome are to the effect that it is assured on high authority that the rumor is groundless. The pope's attitude in this and in similar matters is simple it is said. While he does not wish to discourage Roman Catholics from any attempt to promote their national language, it is also asserted that he does not approve of political agitation likely to lead to violence. The tastes of the present pope are chiefly in the direction of ritual music, religious music and schools and questions of international policy do not interest him as they did his predecessor.

DALIES WANTS NEW COUNTY WITH PART OF BERNALILLO ADDED

And Willard the County Seat--Holt and Beach Introduce Two Important Bills in the House.

Special to The Evening Citizen.
Santa Fe, N. M., Jan. 30.—Both houses of the legislature held busy sessions this morning and adjourned until tomorrow.
Mr. Dalies, in the council, introduced a bill for the abolishment of Torrance county and the formation of a new county under the same name, with Willard as the county seat. The new county is to be included in council district 11, house district 14, and in the Bernalillo county attorney district. The bill went to the committee on county lines. Mr. Dalies introduced a petition asking for the change from Estancia to Willard, of the county seat, signed by 969 names.

A number of minor bills were introduced in the house. A strong bill was introduced by Holt to prohibit any attempt by officials to influence legislators on matters of legislation by offers of public offices, intimidation or threats. The bill is a strong one and is now in the hands of the committee on judiciary. It provides a maximum penalty of three years in prison and a fine of not more than $1,000 for any violation thereof. This bill, if it becomes a law, will effectively block all attempts to lobby according to some methods that have been used here, and which have caused the members approached considerable embarrassment.

In accord with this bill was another introduced by Beach, to disqualify all legislators from accepting appropriations from the governor and for other purposes. This bill, when enacted, will prevent any attempt on the part of any public official to use appointive powers to influence legislation. The bill went to the judicial committee.

Speaker Baca was in prominence, when, in conjunction with Abbott, of Santa Fe, he introduced a bill providing for an electric light and power plant at the penitentiary, to supply that and other public institutions with light and power.

Mr. Baca also introduced a bill to give the old palace here to the city for municipal purposes; another for a new game law; another for erecting a wall and stables with convict labor for the Santa Fe county jail, and another for paving the plaza and several adjoining streets here with brick from the penitentiary. These bills went to the committee on territorial affairs.

PRINCESS LOUISE OF COBURG NOW IN PARIS.
Antwerp, Belgium, Jan. 30.—Princess Louise, daughter of the King of the Belgians is now in Paris in embarrassed circumstances. According to the arrangements made on her separation from Prince Philip of Coburg, the princess receives 400,000 kronon, and draws also as a yearly appanage from the prince 84,000 Kronon. Further, from her father, King Leopold, she receives a yearly sum of 50,000 francs, so that she has annually at her disposal about $27,000 a year. In the course of the last couple of years the princess had contracted numerous debts, and is now being closely pressed by her creditors for payment. Princess Louise, in a very affectionate letter, appealed to her father for assistance, and, contrary to his former attitude, the king appeared willing to comply with the wishes of his daughter. He sent his secretary, Baron Roffney to ask her to return to her home and settle in Germany. The princess has declared her readiness to agree to all points except the last one, in consequence of which the representative of King Leopold returned to Brussels without having concluded the matter. It is reported that the creditors of the princess will meet shortly and organize some common step.

LARGE ARRAY OF RAILWAY MEN ATTEND

Interstate Commerce Commission Held by Judge Prouty in Oklahoma City.

BALDWIN LOCOMOTIVE WORKS PARTLY BURNED

Santa Fe Stockholders Decide to Raise Common Stock by $98,000,000.

Oklahoma City, Jan. 30.—A large array of railroad officials are in this city attending a hearing before Interstate Commerce Commissioner C. A. Prouty, who is investigating charges filed against the Rock Island, the Frisco, the Santa Fe and the Katy road. Each road is represented by counsel and freight traffic managers. The roads are charged by Texas and local firms with charging excessive rates on grain to Galveston, on coal and produce between Oklahoma and Indian Territory, and on cement to Kansas.

BALDWIN LOCOMOTIVE WORKS LOST $500,000

Philadelphia, Jan. 30.—A. H. E. Johnson, member of the company owning the Baldwin Locomotive works part of which plant was destroyed by fire last night, said today that the loss does not exceed $500,000. The portion of the plant destroyed will be immediately replaced. The greatest loss was in the destruction of the electric locomotive drawings. The fire started from a lighted match a workman threw away after lighting a cigarette.

SANTA FE TO LARGELY INCREASE ITS STOCK.

New York, Jan. 30.—At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway company today it was decided to largely increase the capitalization of the company. The present authorized common stock is $152,000,000, of which $101,950,000 are in the hands of the public, and $50,000,000 are reserved to provide for the conversion of the $50,000,000 four per cent convertible bonds of 1905 of which $45,111,000 are outstanding. Today the stockholders decided to increase the authorized common stock by $98,000,000, bringing the total authorized amount up to $250,000,000. Following the action of the stockholders, the directors will early in February offer to the stockholders about $25,000,000 of common stock, or bonds convertible into stock the proceeds of which will be used to increase the rolling stock of the company. It was announced at the meeting that the traffic was so great that the directors decided the best interests of the shareholders would be served by extensive enlargements of its facilities, which are far from sufficient to enable the business offering to be handled as economically as it should be. The annual report states that in the last fiscal year the gross earnings increased $10,000,000 over the preceding year and the net earnings $7,000,000.

The official circular concerning the proposed increase in capital directs attention to the great increase in gross and net earnings of the company in ten years from July 1, 1897, to June 30, 1906, during which time gross earnings increased from $30,621,230 to $81,344,859, or 165.65 per cent, while the net earnings increased from $7,754,941 to $30,777,982, or 296.93 per cent, and the average operating mileage expanded from 6,443.31 to 9,829.94, or 47.85 per cent.

OHIO RAILROAD COMMISSION RESISTED IN THE COURTS

Cincinnati, Jan. 30.—That the recent order of the Ohio Railroad commission, regarding the distribution of all freight cars, whether the property of the railroads or not, was illegal and unconstitutional is the contention of the Massillon Coal Mining company in a suit filed in the federal court today. The Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad is a party to the suit because its lines and cars are those to which the order was directed in so far as it affected the Massillon Coal company.

Ormond-Duynon Beach, Fla., Feb. 1. — Fred A. Marriott, while driving his car at a rate of two miles a minute, struck a slight ridge of hardened sand in the beach. The force of the blow lifted the front wheels of the car, rendered the steering gear useless, and after a fearful leap through space, pitched the car on its side. The momentum caused the car to roll over and over with the helpless driver pinned fast in the hood. The framework was splintered to fragments, the machinery twisted out of all semblance to anything and the boiler hurled fifty yards down the beach. Fortunately the fuse plug blew out of the boiler and let the steam escape, thus undoubtedly saving the life of Marriott, who lay unconscious across the wreck of the front wheels. He was carried to the club house. Rumors that his right eye was probably lost were quickly contradicted and a further examination showed that no bones were broken, though the hair was scraped from his scalp. The scalp, face, hands and arms were lacerated and torn and internal injuries may develop, although Marriott is believed to be out of danger. His time for the mile, made just previously to the accident, was 23.5 seconds, 12.5 seconds slower than his time last year.

NEARLY $16,000 WENT ACROSS GREEN CLOTH.
Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 1. — The statement is made officially that E. T. Martin, former secretary of the Jefferson Brick company, a concern with brickmaking companies in the membership, was recently found short in his accounts to the amount of $15,766.32. False entries, it is stated, were found on the books, and upon being confronted with the shortage, Martin is said to have admitted the same and stated that the money had gone across the gambling tables in Birmingham. No warrants were issued, but the grand jury is said to have been informed.

The accused did not leave the country, and while not here right now, his whereabouts are said to be known. He has a wife and two children, the wife being brought to a wonderful state over the disgrace. The Jefferson Brick company was organized in 1903, and Martin was given the position of secretary. A year later he was elected secretary without bond and given the custody of all the accounts of the concern. His speculations began nearly a year ago, according to the story given out by a high official of the company. The "crap table" was first sought, and then in order to get back the various sums, large amounts were taken of the company's funds in the effort to win back what had been lost. The denouement followed. Martin is a man of much education. He had the implicit confidence of the company and was never under suspicion until a few months since.

IMMENSE BODY OF VALUABLE TIMBER LAND.

El Paso, Texas, Feb. 1. — It is announced from the New York office that a contract had been entered into between the Sierra Madre Land & Lumber company and the Cananea Consolidated Copper company, under which the Cananea company takes for a term of twenty years, at current prices, a minimum amount of $1,000,000 worth of lumber per annum, which contract will net a profit of $400,000 per annum to the lumber company, which alone would more than provide for the entire annual interest charge of $150,000, and the retirement of $150,000 bonds per annum.

The Sierra Madre Land & Lumber company owns in the republic of Mexico, a body of virgin timber, comprising 2,315,000 acres, probably the largest tract of standing timber on this continent under one ownership. The company has made a mortgage covering this entire property, to secure an issue of $2,000,000 first mortgage bonds.

The same official company statement says:

The area of this timber tract is almost as great as the state of Connecticut.

OLD FREE SEED QUESTION
Washington, D. C., Feb. 1. — The house has again begun consideration of the agricultural appropriation bill, no time being fixed for the close of general debate.

Mr. Chandler, of Mississippi, led the fight for free seeds, and charged that the item in the present bill was the work of a lobby composed of seed men of the country and of effective newspaper work. He said he could not go back and look his "dear old farmer friends" in the face after the increase in the salaries of the congressmen if free seeds were not to be had. He offered a substitute providing for free seeds as heretofore. He criticized the department of agriculture for interfering in the matter, and said the government was becoming a bureaucracy.

Mr. Clayton, of Alabama, insisted that the committee would place in the hands of the secretary of agriculture a power which he did not believe "any bureau chief should possess."

Mr. Scott, of Kansas, in defending the proposed plan, said that the department of agriculture had suggested the amendment. He thought that the government with the same propriety might give lead pencils to the people, jack-knives to the boys, as to give free seeds. He said that the press, the agricultural colleges and very largely the farm journals are opposed to congressional distribution of seeds.

NEW ORLEANS COMPLAINS OF POOR MAIL SERVICE.
New Orleans, La., Feb. 1. — Notification was sent to Louisiana's senators and congressmen by the Progressive union that several thousand persons in this city are ready to give testimony showing that the city loses several million dollars a year in business because of poor mail train service. An average of sixteen out of twenty-four trains daily arriving here are declared to be from one hour to one day late, resulting, among other things, in bank paper arriving after close of banking hours, and European exchange missing New York steamers, and being delayed a week at a time. To remedy this service it is proposed to establish divisional mail headquarters here, embracing Louisiana and Mississippi.

The following railroad presidents have also been notified: E. H. Harriman, George J. Gould, Milton H. Smith, of the Louisville & Nashville; W. W. Finlay, of the Southern; and J. T. Hanchman, of the Illinois Central.

The following railroad presidents have also been notified: E. H. Harriman, George J. Gould, Milton H. Smith, of the Louisville & Nashville; W. W. Finlay, of the Southern; and J. T. Hanchman, of the Illinois Central.

The testimony of the latter was somewhat damaging to Bailey except for the odium which attaches to a witness who turns state's evidence. He declared he had no animosity toward Bailey, but had been induced to turn over the purloined documents by a dislike of Pierce.

Cunningham, from Abilene, a Bailey man and successor to Hawkins, was sworn in as a member of the senate yesterday.

A stringent anti-nepotism bill passed the senate yesterday.

Smith's divorce bill is being argued at length.

The senate and house committee to investigate the source of Hearst's newspaper, which the legislature was induced to re-elect Bailey by wine, money and women is preparing to organize and begin work.

FLORIDA GIVES
CAPITALImitation of Midnight Carnival of Venice, on Lake Worth.

Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 30. — The Palm Beach Power Boat association will hold its annual speed carnival this afternoon. One of the principal events will be the reproduction of the famous midnight carnival of Venice on Lake Worth. There will be two five-mile and one one-mile power boat races and several races for sailing yachts. Boats from the following yacht clubs will compete: Biscayne, Buffalo, Bristol, New York; Palm Beach, Halifax; Motor B. C. of America, and Bay City. The Canadian craft are the Spray, an eighteen foot twenty horse power boat owned by George Dewey of the Halifax, Y. C., and the Show Me, a twenty-five footer, owned by M. M. Austin. Both boats are said to be exceptionally fast. Twenty American craft are entered but all have small motors with the exception of a fifty horse power boat which is expected to run away with the high speed cups. The Dixie's present owner, E. J. Schroeder, of Jersey City, has increased her horse power to 133, and many yachtsmen look to see her better the mile record of two minutes and two seconds, made two years ago by W. Gould Brockway's Challenger. If the Dixie does run up to expectations she will be sent abroad to compete for the British international challenge trophy. Though all the prizes are very valuable the most noted is Sir Thomas Dewar's challenge shield for the mile race.

TAX REVISION IN NEW YORK STATE.

New York, Jan. 30. — The report of the state commissioner, appointed by Governor Higgins, to revise the tax laws of the state has been presented to the legislature. The committee instead of making an income tax or habitation tax make a feature of the inheritance tax. The report provides for an increase in the inheritance tax graded on the remoteness of the relationship of the donor to the beneficiary. The report recommends an increase of the tax now paid by corporations. The exemption from taxation of deposits in savings banks is reduced from $2,000 to $1,000. The report recommends an increase on the tax on the surplus of banks in such a way that the state does not benefit by the increase, the additional amount raised by tax going to the locality. As the commission was not unanimous in its findings several minority reports were presented. The rural members of the commission favor an income tax while the Wall street members favor a habitation tax. The bills of the commission, are expected to cause lengthy hearings and considerable opposition is expected to come from the interests affected.

INTERNATIONAL SAFETY DEVICE EXPOSITION.

New York, Jan. 30. — In the American museum of natural history today the first international exposition of safety devices was opened under very favorable auspices. The exhibits include safety devices for wood and metal working machinery, stamping, grinding, and polishing machines, boilers, elevators, windlasses, cranes and hoists, machinery, electric lamps and explosives, quarrying, agriculture, chemical industries, fire, railway, and trolley safety devices. As the project of the exposition is to teach the public the necessity of doing something to lessen the cause of accidents to life and labor by means of a permanent museum of safety devices, where all the problems of safeguarding life and limb can be studied in their working details, and as there has been no charge for space, it is expected that the exposition will be well patronized during the two weeks it will remain open. There are exhibits from the Red Cross society and from London, Paris, Berlin and Geneva. At the inaugural dinner of the American institute of science, which took place last night, Governor Hughes will be the guest of honor.

ATTORNEY JEROME'S JAIL-BREAKING BILL.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 30. — The committee on codes are today considering District Attorney Jerome's racing bill which provides that betting on horses on race tracks shall be made a felony, the same as outside the tracks as at present. When the bill will be presented to the house it will meet with considerable opposition.

GREAT ANNUAL POULTRY SHOW HELD IN OHIO.

Newark, O., Jan. 30. — There are over 2,000 exhibits in the show here today at the annual show of the Ohio Poultry association. There are seventeen silver cups besides valuable cash prizes to be competed for.

RHEUMATISM
WORSE FROM YEAR TO YEAR

The cause of Rheumatism is an excess of uric acid in the blood, brought on by indigestion, chronic constipation, weak kidneys and a general sluggish condition of the entire system. The refuse and waste matter of the body is not carried out as nature intends, but is left to ferment and sour and generate uric acid, which is absorbed into the blood. The first evidence of Rheumatism is usually little wandering pains in the muscles and joints, or a tender, sensitive place on the flesh. These are often so slight that nothing is thought of them and they pass away; but with each recurrence the trouble becomes more severe, and from slight wandering pains and excited nerves, Rheumatism grows to be a painful and almost constant trouble. The longer the poison remains in the blood the firmer hold the trouble gets on the system. Each day the acid deposit is increasing and the disease grows worse from year to year. After awhile the joints become coated with a corrosive substance which seriously interferes with their working and movements and sometimes they become permanently stiff and useless. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism by going down into the blood and attacking the disease at its head. It neutralizes the poisons and acids and dissolves the salts and irritating deposits, making the blood pure, fresh and healthy. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, and is therefore a safe remedy. When the blood has been purified by S. S. S. the pains and aches pass away, and the cure is permanent. Navy Bill and That For Rivers and Harbors Have Both Enormous Appropriations.

The late Tom Reed, when taunted by the democrats in the house with the large appropriations made by republican presidents for the support of government, replied that this was a billion dollar country. Speaker Cannon in a speech recently said of this country "was a hell of a spender." Both may be true, but the public expenditure of funds. The bills that are to be acted upon by congress within the next fortnight again emphasize the fact that the resources of the United States are enormous and must be expended in proportion to its needs.

The river and harbor bill reported this week, which carries the money for the improvement of the great harbors and the great navigable rivers, carries a total of $83,412 for these internal improvements. This a few years ago, would have been considered an expenditure amounting to prodigiate extravagance and yet it does not begin to touch upon the appropriations asked by the members of congress. The

be done having been demonstrated that those who have been the beneficiaries of the "pork barrel" are full of the threat be carried out, the bill gets over to the senate. In the session, a coterie of three determined senators with no voices can cast the bill overboard. The responsibility for such action is the question to which members of the house seek an answer.

MIGHTY GROWING OF SOUTH

In contemplating this country's marvelous prosperity, do not overlook the contribution of the south. Though the south is only 15 per cent of the area of the United States proper, it last year contributed more than 25 per cent of the country's exports. It is not very long since the south was hardly considered at all in measuring up the country's business. The industrial, financial and commercial forests of great wealth were all in the east and north and west. Cotton was king, indeed, but a king without a throne, and now England took his scepter from him by working him up in northern factories.

The injuries inflicted upon the south by the civil war were terrible, and recovery was painfully slow. But anyone who may regard the south as still an invalid will see a great light in the actual figures of last year's production, manufacture and trade. The commercial growth of the south in the last quarter century has been little short of phenomenal. Capital invested in factories has increased from $257,000,000 in 1880 to $1,500,000,000 in 1906. The products of factories have increased in the same time from $157,000,000 to $1,750,000,000. The farm products have grown from $660,000,000 to $1,750,000,000. Capital in cotton mills has leaped from $21,000,000 to $225,000,000.

The most stupendous increase of all has been from 397,000 tons of pig iron produced to 2,100,000 tons, and from 179,000 barrels of petroleum to 4,249,000. The forty-five cotton oil mills of 1880 have grown to 750, and the $500,000 in such mills of 1880 have grown to $50,000,000. These sections have generous prosperity, goodness knows, but they haven't got it all.

CONGRESSIONAL SALARIES

There are many millions of people in these United States who see no justification in the recent 50 per cent raise in the wages of representatives and senators. They believe that a man who cannot live on $5,000 a year, and with his time only about half employed, had been quit living altogether. The salary raise was a pure and simple salary grab.

Such is the general opinion, and the Duluth News-Tribune does but give it voice when it says that Senator Nelson, of Minnesota, opposed the increase of congressional salaries from $5,000 to $7,500, because he had collected statistics showing that American congressmen were already the best paid legislators in the world, and he held that the honor should be sufficient compensation when added to what was enough for a modest living.

Mr. Nelson has lived in Washington for twenty-two years as a member of the house and senate. He maintains a modest but comfortable home in a convenient and pleasant part of the city, but not in the fashionable section. He illustrates in himself the ability of a congressman to live in Washington on less than $5,000 a year by devoting himself assiduously to his official duties and eschewing the allurements of social life.

He also has proved that even a senator's influence does not depend upon his social prominence, the extravagance of his domestic establishment and the glamor of his entertainments.

Generous hospitality is one of Mr. Nelson's characteristics. Few men in Washington public life entertain more of their home folk, but it is done without ostentation and with a homely cordiality that marks it as from the heart and not from policy.

TO THE LEGISLATURE

Address to especially call the attention of the legislature to the article in yesterday's paper, by Mr. O. E. Cromwell, on the subject of the rain has added emphasis to the fact that there has been in the last three years in the rainfall of New Mexico and in the humidity of the climate. The rains have been more copious, more frequent, more protracted in duration and accompanied by a larger number of cloudy days; while the increased humidity of the air is abundantly testified to by the phenomenal number of frosts in winter and dews during the other seasons of the year.

Would it not be a good thing for the legislature to petition congress for the appointment of a committee of experts to examine into the facts in the case? Such a committee could collate and compare all the data for a number of years and could speak with authority on the question whether the sea has or has not affected the climate, and whether the sea could so affect it in the future. As to the result of a body of water of such depth and extent and having ocean connection, on the commerce of the country and the building up of great cities in that section, the history of the world leaves no doubt. It is the climatic conditions which need scientific determination, and to that the general government is best qualified to attend.

What is done, should be done quickly, for it may be that in a few months the river may have been turned back into its old bed.

For days, weeks and months the morning democrat organ of this city has not ceased to tell the world "and the rest of mankind," as far as it could reach them, that the Hubbells are dead ducks, gone geese, defunct politicians, that they have been laid in the shade, have been eliminated not only from office, but even from politics; and that the organ had done this work of matches might and priceless benefit with its own little hatchet. Nevertheless, the organ is again in the terrible throes of its Hubbell-phobia nightmare. To believe the organ is to believe that these three dead Hubbells, that the organ plucked up by the roots and cast into unquenchable fire to be burned, are now spreading themselves like the green bay tree and even the legislature is basking in their shade. If the organ hasn't killed the Hubbells, why doesn't it ask the legislature for an open season for the next twelve or fifteen years; regard its little hatchet, sharpen up its jackknife, and let itself in to its heart's content?

There are four avenues of human activity which, with their subdivisions, furnish all the prosperity of the race. They are agriculture, mining, manufacture and commerce. Agriculture and mining produce the raw material, manufacture prepares it for use, and commerce distributes the raw material and the manufactured articles to those who use them. It is only through one or more of these avenues that any country, section or city can be made prosperous. Albuquerque is fortunate in that all four of these departments of wealth production can be made tributary to her growth and prosperity. Whether these avenues of activity shall be made subservient to our city's progress, must depend on the people of the city themselves.

The El Paso Herald, in an editorial on the need of a daily through train from that city to Silver City, says that "the trains run now, it is actually easier to get from Silver City to Albuquerque than to El Paso." Well, Albuquerque sees nothing wrong about that, especially as El Paso for so many years enjoyed the pecuniary privilege of getting freight at a much less rate than Albuquerque could.

The Washington Post hopes that New York will learn who was elected mayor at the last municipal election before it is time to elect the next one; but then there is where the Post and Mayor McCellan differ.

A POINTED ARTICLE AGAINST PROPOSED SHIP-SUBSIDY BILL

President Roosevelt has committed himself formally to the moderate ship-subsidy bill agreed upon by the house committee on merchant marine. Speaker Cannon has signified his approval of it, and, although there will be strong opposition to it in both houses, there is little doubt that the measure will become law, thus embarking the country on a new venture in state-aided industry.

It is well to consider the significance of this novel departure and the nature of the influences which have led to such an important extension of the protective principle at a time when there appears to be a widespread belief that the protection of industry by means of tariff duties has reached the limit of its usefulness.

The president has been moved by two considerations to support the subsidy bill, namely, the importance for naval purposes of an American merchant marine, and the desirability of extending our foreign commerce and carrying it in American bottoms. He sees no way to promote these quite proper aims of a progressive national policy but the appropriation of money from the public treasury to help pay the expenses of American built and owned steamship lines. But there are other methods of gaining the same ends. Our foreign commerce would be greatly encouraged by the removal of obstructive tariffs, and there would be hundreds of American steamers engaged in the carrying trade if only American citizens were permitted to buy foreign-built vessels and fly the stars and stripes over them. What objection to this alternative method is there, save only that it flies in the face, not of sound economic theory and actual commercial experience, but of the standpat doctrine of protection to American industry?

We forbid the flying of an American flag over any but home-built craft; we impose heavy and almost prohibitive tariffs upon the materials used in ship construction; we make it possible for the steel trust to sell abroad at lower prices than at home and to exact monopoly prices from home consumers; we restrict commerce by tariffs intended to prevent foreigners from selling to us; we refuse to admit to our markets even the commodities our colonial subjects have to sell, and then we propose to subsidize lines of communication to the colonies and to the countries against which we have raised the almost impassable barriers of the Dingley tariff. And Secretary Root tells us, with creditable frankness, that we do all this because the protective tariff makes it impossible to do otherwise!

That is the nub of the whole matter. The same influences that have maintained the high tariff policy are behind the ship-subsidy scheme; the same selfish interests are promoting it, and the saddest part of it is that patriotic and high-minded men are convinced that its promotion is in the public interest and will redound to national glory. We are tangled up in the meshes of the protective policy, they say, and instead of getting out, we are going to tangle ourselves up still more. And so we find a president who would limit swollen fortunes committed to a project which, if it accomplishes anything, will develop more swollen fortunes, advocating state aid to steamship lines as a part of our commercial system, and using its great influence to bring about an artificial policy of government exploitation of foreign commerce, in order to avert the dire necessity of revising the tariff in conformity with the natural laws of trade.

Why not state aid to our overburdened railroad systems, which have broken down under the stress of our internal commerce and have proven themselves unequal to the titanic task of supplying the wants of our own people? Does not the logical development of state aid point to some such direction as that?—Washington Herald.

OUR UNCLE SAMUEL IS NOW WORLD'S WEALTHIEST NATION

Uncle Sam is becoming so rich that people will hate him. "The United States is the wealthiest nation in the world," said a close friend of President Roosevelt's, who had just gone over a remarkable official report which is soon to be made public. He added: "In a brief span of young life this nation has broken all records relating to the accumulation of riches. We are beginning to think in billions instead of millions. Take it any way you like, our influence outstrips anything ever known before. Our country has more actual money, more gold, a larger volume of exports, greater banking facilities, richer farms, more productive mines, more railroads, more internal commerce, more millionaires, more well-to-do tradesmen, more independent farmers, more highly paid laborers, and a greater distribution of luxuries than any other has enjoyed since time began." To prove all this some facts are gleaned at random from the reports furnished by the statistical department of the treasury.

One day last October Uncle Sam had gathered into his money storehouse in Washington the greatest amount of gold ever collected in one place in the history of the world—gold representing $71,892,899. This was indeed the high water mark. There was in one little room more gold than was in circulation in Great Britain.

The costliest governmental establishment in the world is the British navy, upon which $1,500,000,000 has been expended within the last ten years. Yet free individual Americans—Rockefeller, Carnegie and Clark—could have paid the whole bill and have pocket money left.

When it comes to individual wealth we have dozens of citizens who are worth more than all the kings and rulers of the world, taken collectively or severally. The czar is reputed to have a greater income than any other living man, but his private fortune is so mixed with government revenues that it is impossible to separate them. If distinction could be made, John D. Rockefeller undoubtedly could make comparison with Nicholas, and show the biggest revenue.

Leopold, king of the Belgians, is the richest monarch in Europe after the czar. Although his income from the state is but $1,700,000 a year, his business interests are so large, and the income from the Congo Free state so great, it is estimated he gathers $5,000,000,000 annually. Senator Clark has an income that is at least three times as great.

Alfonso XIII has $1,400,000 a year to provide the style that should surround a king, but Col. John Jacob Astor could easily outstrip this youthful monarch if he felt disposed. The Kaiser receives a small annual allowance, only $50,000, so that either William K. Vanderbilt or August Belmont has more money at his disposal than Germany's emperor.

To say that the total valuation of the wealth of the United States is $107,000,000,000 is not understandable, as a hundred billion dollars is such a pile of money that the mind simply cannot grasp its meaning in the instant.

Probably the best way of illustrating the actual extent of Uncle Sam's riches is to state that if he could convert all his assets into money he would have nearly four times as much as is required to pay off the entire national debt of all the governments in the world, including his own. Last year there was more than $25,000,000 in excess of expenditures.—New York Republican.

AN AWAKENING IN GRANITE GAP

Volcano, Boss and Queen Properties Find New Owners.

NEW ACTIVITY AT LORDSBURG

Phelps-Dodge People Offer New Owners of Eighty-Five Mine Bonus.

F. M. Jones, the mining engineer, returned this morning from Grant county, where he has spent the past month inspecting mines and doing expert work for companies owning property in the southwestern part of the territory.

At Granite Gap, in the southern end of the Peloncillo range, Mr. Jones made some surveys for prospective investors. He found lots of lead in the gap, and the district promises to be one of the big lead producing districts of the country. The lead is of the self-fluxing kind, which is much sought after by the smelters. The United States and Mexico Development company is sinking a new shaft to be 400 feet deep in Granite Gap, to exploit the ore bodies at a greater depth than has heretofore been attempted.

In the north end of the Peloncillo range is situated the old Volcano mine. This is one of the oldest mines in the district and has long been well known for its silver production. It was shut down about seven years ago for reasons known only to the owners themselves. The mine was recently exploited and as a result has been sold for $15,000, the purchasers being eastern people with money. The new owners propose to put the property under extensive operation immediately.

The Boss and the Queen properties, which join the Volcano on the north, were taken under bond by Mr. Jones himself, the consideration being $15,000. Mr. Jones has associates in the deal, who propose to exploit these properties extensively and determine their real worth. The Boss and the Queen, as far as mines go carry high grade silver and gold ores, and would make an excellent cyanide proposition. There is 100,000 tons of this ore in sight now, and yet the workings are anything but extensive.

At Lordsburg Mr. Jones made some exhaustive surveys to establish the eastern boundaries of the town, which had been in dispute. The Eighty-five mine, located three miles south of Lordsburg, was recently sold to Denver parties, who now, it is understood, the Phelps-Dodge company have offered a large bonus for their trade. The Eighty-five mine is one of the old properties of the district. It is a deep mining proposition, and the sale of it to people with capital has given the people more confidence in the district and caused renewed activity.

MARSH-BAKER WEDDINGS

The home of Mrs. Artie Galloway, 519 North Second street, was the scene of a quiet wedding at 6 o'clock last evening, by which Miss Bertha May Baker, who came here recently from the east for her health, became Mrs. Louis Marsh. Mr. Marsh is an employee of the Santa Fe road.

Rev. A. M. Mandalari, of the Immaculate Conception church, performed the simple ring service. Mr. J. A. Cannon and Miss Thirza Wildersbach supervised the bride and groom. The bride carried a beautiful bouquet of white carnations, while the bouquet of the bridesmaid was of red carnations. A small circle of friends were present. After the ceremony the company partook of a wedding supper served on the second floor of the Galloway home.

MORTUARY

Mrs. Josefa Salazar de Manderfeld, widow of the founder of the Santa Fe New Mexican, died at Santa Fe yesterday in the 65th year of her age. She was in her early days one of the belles of the Capital City and remained to the time of her death one of its most prominent social leaders. Some three weeks ago Mrs. Manderfeld contracted a severe cold, from which she died. Her funeral will take place from the family residence on College street, opposite St. Michael's college, at 10 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. Manderfeld was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Santiago Salazar, prominent residents of Santa Fe, in which city she was born. She is survived by four daughters and one son, all of whom are well known throughout the southwest.

DOES SOMEBODY WANT TO BE POUNDMASTER?

Amended Ordinance Offers Substantial Inducement But Prescribes Chloroform.

TO USHER DOGS OVER STYX

New Pound Location Has Drawbacks Withal—Hard on Cows.

Wanted: A dog catcher. Apply to any of the city authorities, give a good and sufficient bond and the job's yours. You will be poundmaster, too.

There's money in it. At least fifty dog licenses have been paid since the measure amending the previous dog ordinance passed the city council. The dog catcher gets 50 per cent of this as well as half the dog licenses that are paid during the time he is in office.

The present incumbent of the office has not been active since the new dog law was passed, either. The licenses have been paid voluntarily by persons who wanted to save their canines from the ignominy of the pound.

Other emoluments that attach to the office are $1 for notifying the owner that his dog is in the pound and 50 cents each for sending unclaimed dogs over the great divide.

How to Chloroform Them.

The dog ordinance amendment provides that the dog catcher shall hustle the "strays" into the dog asylum with chloroform. Otherwise the execution is not official. Chloroform costs about 50 cents a pound when purchased in quantity. A pound will put relatively thirty-five dogs to sleep so sound they will never again see the light of day, that is, if you use your chloroform judiciously.

The following method of administering the "dope" is recommended as being efficacious: First catch the dog. Secure an ordinary paper bag, preferably one that contained sugar so the dog's dream will be sweet, and a piece of cotton or an ordinary pocket handkerchief. The paper bag must be large enough to go over the animal's head. Next, saturate the piece of cotton or handkerchief with chloroform, drop it in the paper bag, with which you must muzzle the animal, if he will let you. The bag will positively shut off all fresh air that is, if the dog will let it stay on and the chloroform will do the rest, provided the animal don't conclude he wants to shake or paw it off. A piece of stout string around his neck might assist in keeping the bag on the dog's head.

The New City Pound.

Albuquerque folk are not specially solicitous about having a pound "stuck right under it," as one lady declared. The amended ordinance provides for a pound "white" side the city.

John Jones, the jumping habit Jones, Jr., leaves the poundmaster and the Jones or the poundmaster will be there. There's money in it for a pound a mile off.

Mr. Jones gets worried about his cow and proceeds to look her up. She is a good cow and you have to milk a good cow regularly to keep her good. The first place he goes is to the old pound behind the city jail.

No pound there, no "bossey."

Why, of course, he remembers, the pound has been moved. He hadn't thought of that. Where is it? Oh, yes, about a mile and a half away, outside the city limits.

What made the city want to move that pound, anyway? He likes the distance.

"Bossey" there, all right. He sees her brindle face through the cracks and her bag is swollen nearly to the bursting point. She is "mooving" for her brain.

But where's the poundmaster?

His early in the morning and there's nothing in the ordinance requiring the poundmaster to stay at the city corral of nights so that worthy individual goes home.

Has he a telephone? "Bossey" needs milking and its about time to get down to business. He don't suppose the poundmaster has a phone, but then there's none in the pound and not a house with a telephone within a good stiff walk.

He gets disgusted and "likes" back to town with Bossey bawling to be milked. Johnny gets a kicking for leaving the gate unlatched and Mr. Jones goes down town to business, hoping to encounter the poundmaster on the street.

Along about 3 in the afternoon he finds him and makes arrangements to have "Bossey" let out of the animal jail. That night "Bossey" won't let down her milk and its several days before she gets back in condition again, during which time the Jones patronize the dairy. Mr. Jones vows its enough to aggravate a saint.

The Dog Catcher's Troubles.

The dual office of dog catcher and poundmaster is not all roses. Indeed, out. Not infrequently the animal policeman falls into a bed of thorns and the fact that the dog jail will have to be outside the city limits, as provided by ordinance amendment, will not tend to make the job an easy one.

To start with, the incumbent has to carry food out to the dogs he has impounded and unless some one stays at the pound, which will of course be in some isolated locality, there is danger of individuals working the rabbit's foot on the poundmaster and lifting the dog out without paying the tax and fees.

There is no provision in the ordinance about furnishing the dog catcher with a wagon to haul his charges to the pound. This means a ride on Shank's mare every time he makes an arrest and another when he goes to let out Mr. Dog or send him to eternal rest.

If Fido Smith is found without a tag and the policeman takes him up, Fido's owner is not likely to be in very good humor when he discovers him in the pound, especially after he has spent several days looking up Fido and finally thinks of the pound and the dog catcher. Very likely there will be a thorn pallet for somebody.

Small matters are these, apparently, but still the city fathers have to wrestle with them. Of course they want to conserve everybody's interests and fix rules of action that will work out evenly and smoothly but often the smallest problem is the most difficult to solve.

There is rumor that when the city council meets Monday night some changes will be suggested in the matter of making the fee for killing the dogs $1 instead of 50 cents, as it is the aim of the ordinance to get rid of superfluous canines rather than for purposes of revenue. Also some method will be suggested to get rid of dogs other than the chloroform route. A hypodermic syringe and a drop of strychnine is more certain, it is said, than chloroform, because the animal can't shake out the poison under his skin.

One authority believes a small collar rifle in the hands of a good shot is the most effective method of all.

Previous to being ordered to the Philippines the Twenty-third was stationed at Fort Ethan Allen, in Vermont. Major A. Padwick, traveling passenger agent for the Santa Fe at San Francisco, met the train here and accompanied it to the coast.

ATTORNEY WANTS JUDGE TO OVERRULE HIMSELF

ROMERO BANKRUPTCY CASE DEVELOPS PECULIAR FEATURE IN DISTRICT COURT.

Judge Abbott was given an opportunity to overrule himself in the Romero bankruptcy case this afternoon in the Romero bankruptcy case. A. J. Mitchell sues as trustee for a number of creditors to set aside a transfer Romero made to B. H. Field, a preferred creditor.

This afternoon Attorney Julius Staab appeared for B. H. Field and Attorney Reynolds represented Escapola Romero, the bankrupt, and a warm argument over certain technicalities in the pleadings ensued.

The court ruled in the same case several months ago that where the plaintiff neglects to bring his action within a year against a bankrupt he is not precluded from suing. The answer of the plaintiff to the defendant's demurrer raised the same question again this afternoon. Mr. Staab contending that the laches or neglect of the plaintiff was a good defense to the suit.

Judge Abbott took the case under advisement.

POICE MAGIS- EVERYTHING IS TRATE MCLEL- READY FOR THE LANOR CRAIG? BOOSTERS

Choice of Mayor and Council Lies Between One of Two Men. Arrangements Completed For Tomorrow Night's Parade and Mass Meeting

Kindred by the prospective vacancy in the office of police magistrate created by the retirement on Monday next of Judge A. J. Crawford, the political pot is again simmering. Perhaps by Monday it will be boiling.

Into the cauldron is cast the eye of the owl wings and other things, stirred by the activity of the two "possibilities," George R. Craig and W. W. McClellan and the friends of both, the cauldron gives off an odor of uncertainty. Effort is, of course, directed at Mayor McKee, who has the appointive prerogative, and the council, which has power to confirm or veto the appointment. So an interesting situation is developed. The aroma of uncertainty even permeates the city building.

Gradually the cauldron's fumes rise higher as the days go by, taking on fantastic shapes, the indistinct outlines of letters which clearly spell nobody's name.

Rumors. More rumors. McClellan or Craig? That's where the choice of the mayor and the city council lies; between these two.

Judge Crawford's term of office expires Monday. Monday he will dispense justice from the desk for the last time during his present official term. He will devote his time entirely to his brokerage business.

George R. Craig, who was elected justice of the peace in precinct 26 would be picked as the favorite in the betting on the final result. Craig's friends declare W. W. McClellan, the successful candidate in precinct 13, the city building precinct, has friends who are interested in his behalf.

"Thirteen is an unlucky number," observed a friend of Craig's this morning.

"Twenty-six is twice thirteen, and therefore it's twice as bad," replied one of McClellan's supporters.

Mayor McKee knows who he will name, of course, but he thinks the news is not ripe yet.

Why knows Crawford's successor?

ARTHUR Cavanaugh IN MASK AND CORK

Already the base ball bee is buzzing. Arthur Cavanaugh, who so successfully managed the Duke City team last year, will be at the helm again this summer. Arthur says that he can't afford to lose the time, but the fans say that Arthur will lose his popularity if he doesn't. He won't even be allowed to yell. The fans won't stand for any laying down, and the business men won't stand for any quitting.

Albuquerque had the best team in the territory last year, and all the players finished with money to the good and the team with no debts, and who did it? Mr. Cavanaugh.

Who made a $63 a month subscription pay a $30 a month team, and give the fans the kind of base ball that wins? Mr. Cavanaugh.

"But who lost?" says Mr. Cavanaugh. "I did, and so did my brokerage firm. And I have decided that it is a sport that I can't afford," continued the ministerial man.

"I will help the team get a start. I'll see it organized and on its feet, and then it's me for the bushes. I lost money last year by giving attention to base ball that should have been given to my business. I had the experience last year and the fans. We made the team pay. We know that Albuquerque can afford and will support a good team. That's been demonstrated. Now someone else will have to shoulder the work. We'll see them off, and then skiddoo."

Mr. Cavanaugh, as was noted above, is a ministerial man. There is going to be a home talent minstrel show down at Socorro. Attorney Griffith will be the interlocutor and Mr. Cavanaugh is to be one of the end men. The show couldn't come off without Mr. Cavanaugh, is the notion of the people of Socorro. Then Santa Fe is going to have a minstrel show to be put on by the Elks of that place. Mr. Cavanaugh is to be one of the star performers. The Elks at Santa Fe think that they could not give a show without "Cavanaugh." That's what they call him. And when that show comes off there will be a few jokes passed on the legislature.

FOUR IN BURNING MINE MAY BE ALIVE

A dispatch from Raton, dated January 28, says:

Mine No. 4, at Willow, a small coal camp eighteen miles from Raton, is on fire. Four men are reported caught in the mine—the pit boss, head fire boss and two miners.

The mine is owned and operated by the St. Louis, Rocky Mountain & Pacific Railroad company, and is six miles from the main line of that road on a spur running up from Preston.

There is not water at the mine, all having to be hauled in tank cars from Otero, a distance of thirteen miles. Two tank cars only were at the mine when the fire broke out, and a special was wired for at Raton to run a tank train to the mine at once.

It is not known what caused the fire, but presumably it ignited from a shot put off as the day shift was leaving.

The men went back to put out the flames and were caught and not able to make their way out. The names of the men are not known, as there is practically no communication with the mine at this time. Workers are now endeavoring to locate and rescue the men. If they succeed, the mine will be shut down in the place of burning and the fire allowed to wear itself out. The mine is operated from a tunnel and the fire is in one of the drifts leading off of this.

And you bet we'll get it too. For we'll boost as only Albuquerque can.

M. CLAM'S VISIT TO CHICAGO SCHOOL

Some Things He Sees and Learns at the Great Rockefeller University.

DISTINGUISHED FRENCH WRITER GIVES HIS VIEWS

He Now Understands Why American People Are so Quick in Their Brains.

(Copyright, 1907, by S. S. Clam.)
University of Rockefeller.

Eagerly I shall write to my countrymen of this new idea of American. Once I thought in Washington I would find the center of intelligence. Again, in New York I hoped to discover why all people in America did think so quickly. Bah! I was disappointed. I was at the wrong end of that problem. Those ideas are not born in Washington and New York. Here, in the university founded by that thrice-renowned scientist, M. Rockefeller, I find where those ideas are made. This, to me, is the grand discovery, explaining much.

When I did speak with despair to my friend M. John W. Gates of my effort to study the psychology of Americans, instantly he did make me happy—my dear friend!—by these words:

"Bah! You, my dear Clam, must go to that place where ideas are propagated. You must begin at the beginning place. Then you will understand why those Americans are so quick, yet eager. I shall now give you the letter to my friend Prof. Stag, of the University of Rockefeller. All I shall get the note from M. Rockefeller. This will be one fine pull."

Instantly he did write for me this letter:

"My Dear Stag—my dear friend, M. Clam, studies the affairs American. He desires to know where new ideas are made, also why those Americans are so quick in their brains. Put him next, my dear Stag. Show him that circus of yours. It beats Wall street. Yours, truly, JOHN W. GATES."

M. Gates did telephone to those Hills Pocantico, and in half of one hour this telegram did arrive:

"John W. Gates—Have sent this telegram to Stag. Show everything to M. Clam, of Paris. Expert financial incubator. My policy now is to conciliate all molders of public opinion. Be sure and make warm friend of M. Clam."

"ROCKEFELLER."

With joy I embraced my dear friend M. Gates and hurried away. That railroad train did fly like one thousand thunderbolts. I did see the Pittsburgh, that grand city of millions, and curious laws. In the Pittsburgh city all men must become millionaires before they are thirty-five years old. On that day they must get the divorce instantly and be married to one other female. It is the law! Thus all wealth will be distributed among those people. Some millionaires try to get the divorce more early, because they wish to distribute wealth more quickly. All second wives of millionaires, because they can scatter money more quickly than other women. Many other strange social laws are made in the Pittsburgh city, yet I was jerked away in that train before I could learn all.

When I did arrive in Chicago—diable! Astonishment did seize me! What a nation is America! What cities! What a people! Almost I thought this was that Plain of Shinar, with all people trying to talk strange languages while building towers of Babel in each street! Those terrible buildings—that elevated railroad again—those crowds in excitement running! I had agitation, with desire to run. Yet I must be calm. Hailing a fiacre, I drove to this university.

M. Stag, that professor of psychology, was most polite. When he did read that letter of M. Gates he arose and embraced me. "Welcome, M. Clam!" he said. "I have received also one telegram from M. Rockefeller, our patron saint. He instructs me to be most polite to you, M. Clam."

With pleasure I did embrace the psychology professor. This is one giant intellectual. He is very tall, get burned to thinness with those fire of intellect. Almost his forehead bursts with weighty things inside. The face of M. Stag is not pronounced, being obscured by one undergrowth of red whiskers of different lengths, because he has not the time to shave. Also he wears large spectacles night and day.

"We shall now go to that psychology laboratory," said M. Stag. "There you shall see some things."

In one room, very large, I saw one hundred scientists at work. All kinds of machinery was there. One man was talking to a large chimpanzee, who did scratch fleas and grunts. With each grunt that man did cock his ear to listen, then ran his finger rapidly through a book. It was one monkey dictionary. "Soon we shall be able to talk with this chimpanzee," said M. Stag. "After we have learned certain points on grammar from him, we shall publish that revised dictionary. Think, M. Clam, of that benefit to society!"

"Ah, yes!" I replied. "To some society that will be one great boon!" Much I desired to linger and listen to those grunts, yet M. Stag conducted me to one machine, very complicated, where three negroes sat strapped to the waist. Those scientists applied parts of the machine to those negroes. One negro laughed and chattered like drunkenness while one scientist made notes on his chart. The second negro became pale, almost white, and the scientists did quickly make measurements, manipulate the machinery, and make many notes. Soon another apparatus was applied to the third negro, who leaped convulsively to that ceiling, howling in an unknown tongue. One scientist grasped the dictionary of Congo dialects. One other turned on more electricity. Three more scientists grasped that negro as he came down and held him on a stool. All was activity with intense study, yet no one had excitement but those negroes and myself.

"But they will kill those negroes!" I said to M. Stag. His reply: "Perhaps not! This, M. Clam, is one investigation into those germs of race hatred. Why do we hate that black race? That is the question. If we can solve this problem, then we shall make experiments to discover the anti-toxin. Already we have assured M. Rockefeller that we are making grand progress, and money will be coming toward us."

One terrible squealing astonished me. We rushed to the spot. Three scientists were at work on several pigs tied to tables on which were more machinery, with tubes, dials and wires. When one pig was touched with the wire, his squeal was measured for volume, intensity, and quality. "This laboratory experiment, M. Clam, has wonderful possibilities," said M. Stag. "What terrible energy is spent by these pigs in squealing, yet it is lost to this world. How to conserve this energy? That is the question. If we can contrive machinery for this, think of that saving of power! Those stock yards could supply power for all packing operations. M. Mayor Dunne has great interest in this problem. Also those Armour's have given us free pigs for experiment, with one million of dollars for apparatus. Soon we hope to solve this problem. Then Chicago can boast of utilizing all parts of those pigs for the benefit of society; yet the squeal may be most valuable of all."

I said: "Can you not save the squeal and let the rest of that pig go?" The reply: "That Chicago law, M. Clam, provides that no pig shall ever leave the city alive. This will prevent those other cities from being more hogish than Chicago."

"My Dear Stag—my dear friend, M. Clam, provides that no pig shall ever leave the city alive. This will prevent those other cities from being more hogish than Chicago."

PASTOR RUSSELL AND HIS WORLD-WIDE CHURCH

CHAS. T. RUSSELL
RUSSELL, PASTOR UNIQUE.

"Pastor" of a world-wide church which has regular places of worship in nearly every city and town where the English tongue prevails—yet with no sectarian name.

Preaches weekly to thousands through the newspapers. Has written books for one of which he claims a circulation second only to the Bible.

Takes no collections, yet receives funds sufficient to carry on his extensive work.

Parents by deceiving them, and thus inducing them to be disobedient to their Creator.

Pastor Russell's home and offices occupy a four-story building in Allegheny, where he has daily office hours while in the city.

Not a Crosses.

It was recently stated in several newspapers that in a divorce trial, which resulted in the legal separation of Pastor Russell and his wife, about a year ago, he had said "his love was like that of a jellyfish, in that it went out to any spirit which responded." This statement distressed Russell considerably, inasmuch as the truth was that the remark in question was attributed to Russell by a witness during the trial, and was emphatically denied on the stand by him.

It has been said of Russell that "money pours into his coffers like water," and that his sect is immense. It is wealthy. This is not the case. "We have sufficient," he says, "and we never take up collections. We care only for enough to enable us to spread our gospel to humanity wherever it is needed."

He travels a great deal, preaching in opera houses in the four corners of the country, and through arrangements with various newspapers his sermons appear in them each week. The newspapers gladly printing the discourses because of the increased circulation which accrues to them through the subscription of Russell's many followers. Thus he preaches each Sunday to a congregation of hundreds of thousands.

Publishes a Journal.

Pastor Russell edits and publishes from this city a semi-monthly journal, called "Zion's Watch Tower and Herald of Christ's Presence," for which he claims a circulation of over 20,000 copies, including over 200 subscribers in London and 100 in Glasgow. He has also published a number of books, the principal ones of which are issued under the general title, "Millennial Dawn," each volume having a distinctive title in addition, setting forth his teachings. One of these, "The Divine Plan of the Ages," he says, has attained a larger circulation than any other book. "Millennial Dawn," each volume having a distinctive title in addition, setting forth his teachings. One of these, "The Divine Plan of the Ages," he says, has attained a larger circulation than any other book.

Russell has been considerably disturbed of late over false and misleading accounts of his teachings and his plans which have appeared in many newspapers. Among other things, it was recently announced that he was endeavoring to get control of Dowd's Zion City and turn it into a home for his followers.

"Nothing could be more untrue," he declares, "I have no desire for Zion City and there have been no negotiations whatever in the matter."

His Views on Hell.

It has also been published that Russell is "the no-hell preacher," because he teaches there is no place of future fiery torment. Pastor Russell declares that he does not believe in hell as a place of eternal torment, but holds that the "hades" of the Testament and the "hades" of the New Testament is the state of death, that mankind, because of original sin, is under a death sentence, which affects all mentally, morally and physically, and culminates in the tomb.

He holds that redemption was from the tomb, that Christ died for humanity's sins, and that as a result of this redemption all mankind is ultimately to be released from this state of death, and given instruction which will lead to eternal life, if they are obedient to such leading, in the Millennium age.

"Satan is Real."

Nor does Pastor Russell doubt in the least the existence of Satan, though this has been alleged of him. In a sermon which he recently delivered on "The Overthrow of Satan's Empire," he makes his position on this point very clear, saying:

"We are aware that our Lord's words to Peter, 'Get thee behind me, Satan,' are made the basis for the denial that there is any personal devil or subordinate demon. Our reply is that although any man may become an adversary of God (a Satan) the scriptures everywhere speak of the prime mover in evil as 'The

Amusements

JOHN GRIFFITH, IN "KING RICHARD, THE THIRD."

The announcement of the coming engagement in this city of John Griffith, on Friday night, Feb. 1, carrier with it a great deal of interest to the best class of theater-goers and this interest is intensified by the fact that he will present Shakespeare's immortal tragedy, "King Richard the Third." Mr. Griffith's presentation of it will have most adequate aid in the very excellent company he has selected, and the splendid fire-proof scenic equipment furnished by his management. Many novel and thrilling theatrical effects and chemical illusions have been added and the performance in its entirety will be the most important event in the season's theatrical history. Mr. Griffith is personally a most interesting character, a combination of the mental and physical. In appearance he suggests the peerless Edwin Forrest and has the frame and strength of the champion pugilist, James J. Jeffries, while mentally he is one of the greatest students of the day of classic literature, and is fairly a crank on the works of the divine bard, Shakespeare.

ONE OF THE BEST IS "THE RAGGED MESSENGER."

It is not often that, after achieving such a success as was credited to Creston Clarke in the romantic role of "Monsieur Beucaire," an actor can in the very next season follow it with an even greater triumph, and in such a vastly different character as the purely modern one of John Morton, the clergyman, in "The Ragged Messenger," yet this is the distinction which Mr. Clarke enjoys. "The Ragged Messenger" is booked to appear here at an early date.

CATTLE MEN OF NEW MEXICO MEET

Sanitary Board Discusses Present Laws and Suggests New Legislation.

A meeting of the New Mexico Cattle Sanitary board was held Monday and yesterday in Santa Fe. Captain E. G. Austen of Las Vegas presided and Will C. Barnes of Las Vegas was secretary. The members present were: W. H. Jack, of Silver City; Robert Martin, of Cuchillo; C. L. Ballard, of Roswell; and W. C. McDonald, of Carrizozo.

It has been the custom of the board to have meetings of this kind in the capital biennially during the sessions of the legislative assembly for the purpose of advocating legislation favorable to the cattle interests of the territory. At the present sessions of the organization several measures have been considered for proposed legislation, the principal one of which is for a revision of the law governing estray cattle and horses.

Estray Law Cumbrous and Unsatisfactory. "The present estray law is unsatisfactory," Mr. Barnes said in discussing the matter. "It is a very cumbersome and expensive method of disposing of the stray cattle and horses found on the ranges and few of the stockmen avail themselves of it. It takes so long before the finder can acquire legal possession of the animal when he does the expense of finding and fees connected with it. The officials eat up about one-third of the animal is worth and the law ought to be changed so that the finder can acquire legal possession of the animal at once and the expense of finding and fees connected with it be borne by the owner of the animal."

Stock in Excellent Condition. "All kinds of live stock are in splendid condition throughout New Mexico. Cattle and sheep are in unusually good shape. In fact, I doubt if there has been a winter in twenty years when the live stock generally has wintered as well as this winter. There was great anxiety early in the fall among the stock men lest the cold snaps then would injure the grass but these fears were dispelled as the winter progressed. There is only one part of the territory where the cattle have not been doing well and that is in the lower end of the Rio Grande valley. Reports from our inspectors there say that the cattle are not in as good shape as elsewhere."

Spring Demand for Steers Encouraging. "Indications point to a good demand for young steers in the spring. At the convention of the American National Live Stock association, which was held last week in Denver, there was a feeling that only among sellers, but among prospective purchasers that prices of cattle for spring delivery would be at least a dollar per head higher than last year. There were several sales made of New Mexico cattle for spring delivery during this meeting in Denver. In all cases the prices were above those for the corresponding time last year."

Compiling Monster Brand Book. "The office force is hard at work now getting out copy for the new brand book of the territorial cattle sanitary board. It will contain 25,000 brands, every one recorded up to Jan. 1, 1907. It has been one of the biggest tasks the board has undertaken because getting out the copy for this brand book required an entire re-arrangement of the records of the office that the brands might be fixed alphabetically throughout the territory instead of by counties as heretofore."

Two Conventions at Denver. "The convention just closed of the American National Live Stock association was by far the most satisfactory from the standpoint of results that I ever attended since the national society was organized ten years ago. The Dry Farming convention which followed it was equally as successful and showed that the whole west, which is known practically as the great American desert, was interested in the dry farming theory. So much interest was evinced and the speakers were kept on the floor so long answering questions that it was found necessary to hold the convention one day longer than originally intended. It was really a very enthusiastic meeting. New Mexico was well represented at both of these conventions."

Board Adjourns Until February. The headquarters of the territorial cattle sanitary board are at East Las Vegas but the sessions at Santa Fe took place at the Palace hotel. A meeting was held Monday night and another one yesterday morning, after which adjournment was taken until February 25th. Little was done except a discussion of legislative matters pertaining to the cattle interests.

The Grip. "Before we can sympathize with others, we must have suffered ourselves. No one can realize the suffering attendant upon an attack of the grip, unless he has had the actual experience. There is probably no disease that causes so much physical and mental agony, or which so successfully defies medical aid. All danger from the grip, however, may be avoided by the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy, not one case has ever been reported that has resulted in pneumonia or that has not recovered. For sale by all druggists."

GOOD ROADS CONVENTION HELD IN ARIZONA. Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 30.—There were no less than three expert road builders of the agricultural department of the United States at the Arkansas Good Roads convention, which was held here today. ## YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS IN DETAIL

Sessions of Legislature Close Early—Act to Encourage Beet Sugar Industry.

Short sessions of the council and house marked the seventh day of the thirty-seventh legislative assembly. The business in hand in each house was taken up in regular order and disposed of, after which adjournment was taken until 10 o'clock this morning.

THE COUNCIL.

Seventh Day—Tuesday Morning.

Pursuant to adjournment the council was called to order yesterday morning at 10 o'clock by President Spiess. The invocation was offered by the chaplain and Chief Clerk Martin then read the roll. All responded except Mr. Chaves, absent by leave.

Upon motion of Mr. Dalles, seconded and carried, the reading of the journal of the previous day was dispensed with and the journal ordered approved.

A message from the house was received announcing that house joint resolution No. 2, for a new election law, had passed the house, and that house joint resolution No. 3, to provide legislative members with a vest pocket roster of members of the thirty-seventh assembly, territorial officials, etc., had been passed by the house.

President Spiess then announced the appointment of the following committee on counties and county lines: Mr. Dalles, Mr. Murray, Mr. Martinez, Mr. Stockton, Mr. Duncan, Mr. Cameron and Mr. President.

Mr. Sargent then introduced council bill No. 11, an act entitled, "An act for the assessment of sleeping cars in New Mexico." This measure provides that each standard sleeping car shall be assessed upon a valuation of $6,000, and each tourist car upon a valuation of $2,000, at the rate of $2 per car.

The taxes thus collected, under the provisions of this bill, are to be distributed as follows: One-half to the general purpose fund of the territory, and one-half to the general expense funds of the counties through which said cars are run. The bill also provides penalties for failure of the companies to make returns on said cars and for false returns.

The bill was read in full by the chief clerk the first time, and by title on its second reading under suspension of the rules. It was then ordered translated and printed and referred to the committee on railroads.

Council bill No. 12 was introduced by Mr. Dalles. It was entitled, "An act to encourage the erection of sugar factories and for other purposes." The bill provides that sugar factories, woolen mills, smelters and certain classes of irrigation projects be exempt from taxation for a period of six years on and after completion. The bill was read in full, and upon motion of Mr. Duncan, seconded and carried, it was read the second time and ordered translated, printed and referred to the committee on territorial affairs.

Under the business order of measures on the president's desk, house joint resolution No. 2, providing for the drafting of a new election law, was taken up.

The resolution was read by the chief clerk. Mr. Dalles moved that the rules be suspended and the resolution be read a second time by title. The motion carried. Upon motion of Mr. Dalles, seconded and carried, the bill was further suspended, the bill was read a third time and upon a roll call vote passed the council by 11 to 0.

House joint resolution No. 3, providing for a vest pocket edition of the official roster of the territorial officials and legislators, etc., was taken up and read in full by Chief Clerk Martin.

Mr. Dalles then moved that the rules be suspended and the resolution be read a second time. Other members then interposed objections, saying that the resolution was not properly drawn. President Spiess thereupon referred the resolution to the judiciary committee, to report upon its form.

Upon motion of Mr. Murray the council then adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

THE HOUSE.

Seventh Day—Tuesday Morning.

Pursuant to adjournment, the house was called to order by Speaker Baca at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Following the invocation by the chaplain the roll was read by Chief Clerk Staplin, all responding present except Mr. Martin. The journal of the previous day was read in English and Spanish, and upon motion of Mr. Abbott, of Colfax county, seconded and carried, was ordered approved as read.

Mr. Holt then introduced the following bills:

House bill No. 13, an act entitled, "An act to amend section 255 of the compiled laws of 1897, relative to territorial depositories." The bill was read twice by title and ordered translated, printed and referred to the committee on banks and banking.

House bill No. 14, an act entitled, "An act to amend section 1294, compiled laws of 1897, relative to bankruptcies and monopolies." The bill was read twice by title and ordered translated, printed and referred to the committee on judiciary.

House bill No. 15, an act entitled, "An act to amend sections 2617 and 2624, compiled laws of 1897, regarding fees to be collected by notaries public and for other purposes." The bill was read twice, ordered translated, printed and referred to the committee on judiciary.

Mr. Hudspeth introduced house bill No. 16, entitled, "An act to amend section 2902, compiled laws of 1897, relative to railroad fare and for other purposes." The bill was read the first and second time by title, and ordered translated, printed and referred to the committee on railroads.

The house then adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

RAILROAD NOTES

The Santa Fe takes the precaution now to call through train No. 2 that the train stops but twice between Albuquerque and Las Vegas. Those stops are at Lamy and Moriola. However, the company does not see fit to have No. 2 make connections with the Santa Fe train at Moriola, and some unsuspecting travelers have had to spend a very quiet day at the junction, much to their displeasure.

Master Mechanic I. C. Hicks, who was recently transferred from the local shops to the Santa Fe shops at San Bernardino, expects to leave for the latter place this evening, to take up the duties of his new station. Mr. Hicks will be joined by his family in about thirty days, or as soon as he can provide a comfortable place for them. E. H. Harlow, of Richmond, Cal., will succeed Mr. Hicks at the local shops. Mr. Harlow is expected the early part of next week.

Work is progressing rapidly on the building of the new Santa Fe yards here. A large number of men are constantly at work grading and making preparations for the laying of the rails. The material for filling in is being taken from Barr hill and other points south of the city and several ballast trains are constantly in service distributing the material to the needed points. When the work is completed the Albuquerque yards will be among the most extensive on the system. It is expected that spring will witness the finishing of the undertaking.

EL PASO NEGRO INVENTS RAILROAD RAIL.

Mark W. Trimble, a negro preacher who came to El Paso recently from Idaho, I. T. to locate, has just received a patent from the patent department at Washington for a new railroad rail which the inventor claims will make railroad wrecks a practical impossibility.

The new invention is a rail which has a high outside flange on the side of the rail and forming an integral part of the rail itself. The flange is designed to prevent derailments due to broken wheels or broken flanges on the wheels. The rail resembles a "T" street car rail, which is now in common use, with the exception of the flange or web. The new rail can also be fastened to the tie more securely by holes being made in the base of the rail for spikes.

It is claimed for the invention that it will make derailments impossible and that trains can run with greater speed on the new rail.

Trimble declares that the Pennsylvania railroad is now figuring on the adoption of the new rail and that he was offered $25,000 for the invention before the patent was granted. He believes it will make him a fortune. The patent is dated January 22, 1907.

Show everywhere from one to two feet in depth is reported from the Jemez district, on account of which the people of that portion of the territory are looking forward to a prosperous season this year. Harry Mallette, son of J. W. Mallette, who has been spending the winter with the family at the Sulphurs, twelve miles north of the Jemez Hot Springs, is in town for a few days and reports that the entire mountain country has remained under a substantial cover of snow since the first storm in October.

The constant alternation of snow and sleet has so saturated the ground that its productive capacity cannot help but be greatly increased this year. Mr. Mallette will return to the Sulphurs in a few days, by which time he expects that the new sawmill of Rogers & Freestone will have arrived at the mill site in the San Diego canyon above La Cueva. The mill, it is anticipated, will begin operations about March 1st. It has a capacity of 5,000 feet per day and will be kept supplied from the timber on the Jemez reserve.

Home Insurance the Best

WE CANNOT refrain from again saying something about Home Insurance. Every time that the proposition presents itself of the tremendous amount of money that is being sent out of New Mexico and Arizona for life insurance to eastern cities, the conviction comes home with increased force that a home company ought to be patronized and the money remain in the West.

The revelations of the past year of the way the enormous surplus of the big Eastern companies has been handled and speculated with ought to emphasize the fact that the people of the West should stop pouring their money into Eastern channels when it can be placed in home insurance, and every dollar of it kept and invested at home.

It is gratifying to note that home insurance is year by year receiving more and more its just deserts. Statistics show that during the past year home companies far exceeded foreign companies in the amount of business written. Why cannot this same record be made here? It can if every individual who takes out a policy the coming year will carefully weigh the proposition of the value it is to keep his insurance at home before he puts his name to the application of any insurance company.

The Occidental Life Insurance Company of New Mexico and Arizona is owned and controlled by the leading business men of the two territories, and offers exceptional opportunities to ambitious and capable men and women to sell its policies.
