RAILWAY INVESTIGATION IS BEGUN

At Oklahoma City Today. Judge Prouty Presiding in Court.

STATE ATTORNEY GENERAL CROMWELL CONDUCTS CASE

Excessive Charges. Poor Accommodations. No Cars and Discriminations Charged.

Oklahoma City, Jan. 31.—The investigation of railroads in Oklahoma was formally opened here by C. A. Prouty of the Interstate Commerce Commission, at the district court building today. The railroads are represented by a large array of traffic managers and attorneys. An effort will be made by Attorney General Cromwell of Oklahoma to show that rates are excessive, equipment lacking that that shortage of cars exists. The first case to be considered by Commissioner Prouty was the allegation of discrimination through excessive rates. These are embodied in charges made by the Blackwell Milling company of Blackwell, Okla., and the Ponca Milling company of Ponca, Okla., against the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, alleging discrimination in excessive rates to Indian Territory, and charges against the Santa Fe by W. C. Mitchell and against the Rock Island by the Territory of Oklahoma, alleging discrimination in excessive rates on grain to Galveston, Texas. In each case the failure to furnish cars is also charged.

FRESH FISH FOR CANADIAN CITIES.

Ottawa, Jan. 31.—The minister of Marine and fisheries has taken practical measures for carrying into effect a scheme that has been under consideration for years past for the transport of fresh fish from the Maritime provinces to the markets of Ontario and Quebec by means of cold storage. A vote of $25,000 has been placed in the estimates to encourage the railway companies to establish the necessary cold storage service, and the Hon. J. Brodeur is now in communication with the railway companies to secure the co-operation. The service will go into effect next summer, and will, it is hoped, fill a long felt want in Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, and other interior centres for the fish of the eastern provinces.

New Orleans, Jan. 31.—President A. J. Davidson, of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, has stated that the Colorado Southern, New Orleans & Pacific railway will be completed into this city by May 1 next. This is the road that is being built via Baton Rouge to Beaumont and Houston, Texas. It will connect with the Trinity & Brazos Valley line and also at the St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexico railway in both of which B. F. Zukum is interested. It will also have a connection with the Rock Island, at Union, La., that system being engaged in building thither from Alexandria, La., thus making a route to New Orleans down through Arkansas. President Davidson also states that the 'Prisco' will not do much construction during 1907, but the system will be developed and improved.

NOT ONE OF NEARLY HUNDRED MINERS SURVIVED DISASTER

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 31.—The mangled and dismembered bodies of at least thirty of the eighty or more victims of Tuesday's disaster in the Stuart mine near Thurmond, West Virginia, were piled about the foot of the shaft when the rescuing party reached the mine level last evening. On account of the broken cage it was impossible to remove them at that time. Instant death appears to have overcome all the miners and a thorough investigation will be necessary to determine the exact cause of the disaster. That none of the ninety men, who were in the mine when the disaster occurred, escaped death now seems certain.

THAW JURY YET LACKS ONE JUROR

Two More Were Excused Without Reason Given by the Court Today.

THEATRICAL TRUST HAS AT LAST BEEN INDICTED

Dangerous to Have Soldiers Around as Crowley's Death Has Proved.

New York, Jan. 31.—Another sensation was sprung in the Thaw murder trial today, when two more jurors were summarily excused by the court. No reason was given. The simple announcement by District Attorney Jerome was that counsel for the state and the defense had agreed to dismiss jurors Nos. 4 and 9. It was reported that the defense did not readily consent to the release. The loss of two sworn jurors was offset before the luncheon recess by the selection of two new men, leaving but one vacant chair to be filled this afternoon. When the two jurors were dismissed this morning Justice Fitzgerald ordered that another new panel of talesmen should be summoned. The dismissed jurors are named Walker and Haas.

Crowley, citizen, returned a verdict today of not guilty. Crowley was shot by Dowd for refusing to halt. It is charged that he had been on the reservation and was suspected of being a thief. He was running from the reservation, and after giving the order to halt, Dowd fired and killed Crowley. The shot was fired after Crowley had left the reservation, and the shooting caused much talk. Drury was charged with giving the order to shoot, but this was disproved in the trial.

A two weeks old board on his face.

NEW RALLY POINT OFFERED BY RAYNOR

On Which He Thinks Democrats Can March to National Victory.

CHARGES PRESIDENT WITH USURPATION OF POWERS

Not Conferred Upon the Executive in Constitution But Reserved to Congress.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—Disclaiming any intention of assailing President Roosevelt, and professing for him a profound personal esteem, Senator Raynor of Maryland today addressed the senate in a critical review of what he termed the president's usurpation of government function, not conferred on him by legislation.

He first alluded to the recent speech of Secretary Root in which was described the gradual enlargement of federal power at the expense of the states. "I regard this doctrine," said Raynor, "as a most dangerous and insidious attack on the institutions of our country." He remarked that the president is laboring under an honest impression that he is responsible to the country for the legislation of congress. The first instance of conflict between the executive and legislative functions, Raynor said, was in the Santo Domingo affair, in which the president has evidently made his own treaty. "Without discussing whether the treaty is right," said Raynor, "the charge I make is that he has accomplished this in violation of the constitution. The treaty has previously been carried into effect without consulting the senate. The same means might be employed for the collection of debts from the Central or South American republics." Raynor then turned to the judiciary, announcing the belief that it ought to be free from legislative interference and added: "That criticism by the president of Judge Humphrey with reference to his decision in the case known as the meat packers' case in the Illinois courts, was an invasion of the judicial prerogative."

Raynor disapproved of the president's intrusion upon the affairs of the states, taking as an example the president's congratulation of Governor or Guild of Massachusetts for refusing to interfere in the death sentence of Charles Tucker. "What advantage that this was no technical violation of any provision of the constitution, he contended that it was a practical announcement that the acts of state officials are a subject for the approval or disapproval of the federal government."

The most wonderful exhibition of the president's power in congress, Raynor said, was at the time of the legislation for a sea level canal. After describing the fight he said that it showed what the dominating spirit of the president could accomplish. The Schley case was the next topic reviewed, particularly with reference to the president's action in that matter. He predicted that the Schley case will yet be re-opened, just as a similar case had been in another land. The result of the president's construction of his prerogatives, Raynor said, had raised a new school of scribes, who had commenced a revised edition of the constitution called the "Crawford Constitution." In conclusion he said:

"I believe that if the democratic party would take up as its battle cry, the reserved rights of the states and the inviolate constitutional distinction of legislative, judicial and executive departments, that we could rally around these doctrines the intelligent suffrages of our countrymen."

HALF WITTED SLAV CARRIES A CASE KNIFE

DEPOT MASTER OVERSTREET PULLED HIM OFF "HEAD END" OF TRAIN.

Depotmaster Overstreet last night arrested a man who gave his name as Judge Pilezy, whom he turned over to the police. The man was locked up in the city jail on a vagrancy charge. He was attempting to beat his way out of town on the head end of a passenger train when he was arrested. An old and rusty case knife was found on the man's person. When the "Judge" was arraigned in police court this morning he evinced unmistakable signs of being shy on wits. His speech was almost incoherent but Judge Crawford managed to understand statements to the effect that he came from New York and was a Slav. His face had a vacant expression. How he came by the dignified title of Judge, affair said out. "Judge" was given 24 hours to his trail for other meas. He is a large, heavily built man, with dark eyes and hair, shabby clothes and a two weeks old beard on his face.

IS TO BE OBLITERATEDCopper Made Scarce and High by Hoarding on Part of the Copper Trust.

Camden, N. J.: With arms entwined, an unknown young man and a young woman stood on the tracks of the Pennsylvania electric railroad over Newton creek and calmly waited until an electric car ran them down.

Both were killed, and their bodies were hurled into the water.

The motorman of the train saw the pair, but not until he was close upon them. He blew the whistle, but the couple made no move to escape, and the motorman could not get the train under control until he struck them. The body of the young woman, who was about 25 years old, was recovered and brought to the morgue here. The clothing was of fine texture, and she was of refined appearance. The only mark that may tend to the identification was the letter "S. C." on a gold watch. The body of the man has not been recovered.

FAMOUS OLD PRISON IS NOW TO BE PULLED DOWN.

Paris: The famous prison of St. Lazare, one of the great historic landmarks of Paris, is about to be pulled down, and what for some years has been a moral and physical plague spot will give way to fine, open squares and commodious dwellings. Romantic and tragic memories cling about the old structure.

St. Lazare, as its name indicates, was at first a leper hospital, built at the end of the eleventh century on the site of a basilica dedicated to St. Laurent. It sprang rapidly into fame, for kings used frequently to visit it in token of humility and faith. In 1632 St. Vincent de Paul established here a number of priests of his mission known as the congregation of St. Lazare. St. Vincent himself died at St. Lazare, and his cell is still shown to visitors. St. Vincent's successors neglected the work commenced by him, and the house was turned into a sort of reformatory for insubordinate priests and unruly sprigs of nobility. The mobs of Paris sacked the establishment on the 13th of July, 1789, the eve of the storming of the Bastille, and released forty prisoners. It was from St. Lazare that Sir Andrew Chenier was led to the guillotine. Many celebrated female offenders have been lodged at St. Lazare while awaiting trial, among them the famous Madame Humbert.

From the hospital which adjoins the prison a long subterranean passage leads to the plain of St. Denis, and in 1871 a number of federalists escaped from Paris through this tunnel.

COPPER TRUST DEFIES
LAW AND MAKES SCARCITY.

New York: The Northeastern Metal Dealers' association was organized at a meeting here last week of the representatives of the small metal dealers of New York, New Jersey and New England. At the meeting it was decided to ask the United States attorney general to take steps to prevent the formation of a combination.

James Norton, who was elected president, has made public the following letter, which, upon instructions from the association, he has

SAYS THIS RE-LIEVES BACKACHE

A well known authority says that Backache is often Nature's danger signal which notifies the sufferer that the kidneys are sick.

The following simple home-made mixture is said to relieve backache and cleanse and build up the kidneys. If taken before the stage of Bright's disease: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime.

A well known local druggist is authority that these ingredients are mainly of vegetable extraction and harmless to use, and can be obtained at small cost from any good prescription pharmacy. Those who think they have kidney trouble or suffer with lame back or weak bladder, should give this prescription a trial, as no harm can possibly follow its use, and it is said to do wonders for some people.

sent to Attorney General Bonaparte at Washington: "Referring to our telegram to you respecting the combination of copper interests in this country, I beg to say before you the following facts which we are prepared to prove: "That the copper trust so-called has created an artificial scarcity of copper by storing it in large quantities at Butte, Mont.; Hoboken, N. J.; Perth Amboy, N. J.; Bayonne, N. J.; Cananea, Mexico; Houghton, Mich., and other places known to our association, and refusing to sell it except in small quantities. "We submit that the present danger to the trade is not so much the high price of copper as it is the fear that the price, being held at an artificial height, may be lowered suddenly as soon as the copper combines succeeded in selling its stored up product at the present quotations." President Norton said that he would go to Washington to see the president and attorney general with reference to the matter.

LONDON HAS REAL CRAZE ON SEEMING TELEPATHY. The latest craze in London is to make up parties for the Alhambra music hall, which is enjoying a huge boom by the free advertisement given to Mr. and Mrs. Zancig, whose wonderful thought reading performance was given recently before the king and queen at Sandringham.

The boxes at the Alhambra full of well known people are almost as attractive as those at Covent Garden opera house. Every one who goes has a new theory of his or her own as to how the "telepathic" messages between Zancig and his wife are conveyed.

Among the Americans who have been time and time again to "test" the Zancigs are Lady Bache, Countess of Hatzfeld and Mr. Hamilton and Mr. McCormick. Mr. McCormick declares positively that he thoroughly understands the method of codes used by the Zancigs, and he intends to ask the talented couple shortly to his house to give a private seance. The Zancigs receive on an average of fifty invitations a week to perform at private houses, but as the majority of the smart people who write never mention terms the Zancig couple politely decline these offers.

Such a craze has not been known in London since the famous "George Magnet." Mrs. Abbott, mystified a music hall audience years ago.

ARIZONA LEGISLATURE IS UNDER ON PRESIDENT. Phoenix, Ariz.—In the territorial legislature an invitation was extended by a unanimous vote of both houses to Col. W. J. Bryan to come to Phoenix and address the legislature. He is now on the coast.

The upper house has adopted a motion to reconsider the recent resolution passed by both houses criticizing the president and the national congress in connection with the California school troubles.

This resolution originated in the lower house, which is democratic, and was passed also by the upper house, which acted out of sympathy for California without realizing at the time that it was taking a slap at Roosevelt.

A bill was introduced in the lower house by Bell, providing for the repeal of the law giving new railroads tax exemption.

EL PASO BUILDING NOT TO BE COSTLY. El Paso, Texas: Building for the month of January in 1927, as shown by the building permits issued during the same months in 1926 and of 1925, shows a considerable increase. The fact that the total number of permits taken out during the month was only twenty-one, while the total estimated value of the buildings to be erected was $49,500, indicates the character of the buildings going up as the general average is over $2,000.

In January of 1925, twenty-eight permits were issued, for a total of $37,000; in 1926 there was a falling off for the month, as eighteen permits were issued, for a total of $31,470, and this year the total is twenty-one permits, for a total of $49,500, and with two days of the month yet to be heard from.

The general average of money paid for the buildings is larger, as shown by the comparison with the figures of 1925, when with twenty-eight permits the total shown was $14,430 less than it is this year, with seven less permits.

In February it is expected that the number of permits with their value will run up to a considerable sum, in view of the fact that this is the time when building permits are taken out for the spring work, and last year there were permits taken out for more than $75,000 during the month.

The January total for this month is not run up by the erection of any expensive office or church buildings, the largest permit issued during the month being for $7,000. Winter is El Paso's best building season.

FUNNY INCIDENT IN A RECENT FREIGHT WRECK. Duluth, Minn.: A narrow escape from death was experienced by a number of trainmen on the Northern Pacific railroad, near Wrenshall, a small station in Carlton county, when a rear-end collision between two double-header freight trains occurred.

To the rear of the regular train was attached two cabooses, containing the regular crew of the train and an extra crew that was going to Carlton. Luckily one of the men saw the approaching train, and yelling to his companions, jumped. They all managed to get off but Fred Mauck, 39 years old, a brakeman. Immediately following the collision fire broke out, and Mauck lay half unconscious watching the flames creep toward him. Promptly every member of both crews got busy with axes and crowbars and in a short time dragged the young man from his perilous position.

AMUSEMENTS
AT ELKS' OPERA HOUSETOMORROW EVENING WILL BE RICHARD THE THIRD.

Lovers of the highest ideals in dramatic art are continually finding fault with the too-frequent appearance not only here, but in all the cities, of silly farcical plays, cheap sensationalism, and the other immaterial features of current theatrical productions, and are always clamoring for the works of Shakespeare and the other great masters of literature. It is a pleasure to announce in this connection the early appearance

Everywhere that Mr. Griffith has appeared, the local press has teemed with praise of his magnificent performance and it will be a real pleasure to welcome him to this city. The engagement is announced for Friday night, February 1, and promises to be the one great big event of the season.

THAT GLADSEN PURCHASE

In his communication to The Evening Citizen, on the Salton sea, Mr. O. E. Cromwell mentioned the blunder of Senator Gadsden, through which the United States paid Mexico $15,000,000 for a port on the Gulf of California, and yet failed to get it. On the same subject, the Citigraph, of Redlands, Cal., has the following to say:

The general government should reimburse the people of the Imperial valley for their losses, and well could it afford to do so. It was for the purpose of securing the head of the Gulf of California that the Gadsden purchase was made and $15,000,000 paid therefor. A mistake was made in not having a survey made and establishing a line before sending Senator Gadsden, of Alabama, to make the treaty for cession. The lines of the gulf were not well known at that time. The American plenipotentiary took the information he received that the line they adopted would reach the gulf, and they accepted the same. He should have insisted upon prolongation of the line directly west from Nogales to the gulf, instead of permitting the line to be turned to a northwesterly direction at a point about eight miles west from Nogales. Had he done that the boundary line would have reached the gulf about thirty miles below its head, instead of thirty miles above the head, as now. The main object of the Gadsden purchase in 1853 was to secure to the United States the north end of the gulf and Port Isabel. Instead of doing so, Senator Gadsden, who was appointed a special envoy for that purpose, allowed himself to be deceived and paid $15,000,000 without attaining the main object for which the purchase was made. If Port Isabel were worth $15,000,000 in 1853, all the more would be worth that sum now a deep-sea port in that vicinity. And the general government could well afford to pay the farmers and business men of the Imperial valley the first cost of the Gadsden purchase to reimburse them for their losses in the filling of the Salton sea. Instead of expending millions to save their possessions, let the general government pay them for their losses, let the sea fill and connect it with the gulf by a ship canal.

CORN GROWING CONTESTS

The New Mexico Agricultural college has taken a second good step in advance. The first was the appointment of Professor Tinsley to lecture through the territory and form farmers' institutes. And by the way, it is very much to be desired that the legislature shall grant the request of the Agricultural college by making the appropriation for Professor Tinsley's work, for which the college has asked.

The second and more recent step is the determination to hold a "boys' corn growing contest," at which cash prizes will be awarded. But to make this movement of the college most thorough and beneficial, it should be accompanied by similar work in every district school in the territory. There should be provision by which each county superintendent will be enabled to hold a similar contest for the schools in his county, and among the winners thus secured, the college can make the final selections.

There is no denying the fact that the country public schools should begin to add agricultural teaching and training to their course of study, while the town schools should add manual training to the high school department.

Albuquerque is especially well conditioned in this last particular. We have here virtually two high schools, the city high school and the University preparatory department, covering the same ground and each well prepared to do it alone. Why not, then, give the ordinary high school part to the university, and let the city high school branch off on the other tack by giving in a training school "every boy a chance to learn a trade and make something out of himself?" But more on this point at another time.

POWER TO THE PEOPLE

At the present time the tendency, strong and emphatic and throughout the entire country, is to restore power to the people, to complete our triumvirate of government by making it in deed and in truth not only of the people and for the people, but by the people.

This is the ideal condition from which we have largely fallen away, both as to the for and the by. Government has degenerated as all know vastly in favor of the classes instead of being for the masses, and this has been because the people have delegated their power instead of using it themselves. Hence the reaction. Hence the movement to restore actual government, as far as possible, directly to the people.

This being the case, The Citizen favors the election of all officials, county and territorial, legislative and judiciary, executive (as soon as possible) and legal—in a word, let all people in office be elected by the people. For this reason, The Citizen is opposed to the reactionary movement in New Mexico in favor of appointing county school superintendents. The people can select them just as intelligently as they can elect somebody else to select them.

The purpose of the pure food law is not that manufacturers nor make bad foods, unwholesome drinks and dangerous drugs; but that each article by truthful label must tell what it is. Then, if any one prefers the bad food, the unwholesome drink and the dangerous drug, he has the freedom of choice. The law is to prevent injurious deceptions. On this ground The Citizen again suggests there should be a correct label required of public prints; if spoiled veal may not be labeled as potted chicken; if fuel oil, tobacco juice, castor oil and a few other ingredients may not be labeled old Bourbon; if cocaine or morphine or cheap whisky may not be labeled soothing syrup—why should a newspaper be permitted to bear the name of a party it has betrayed and is attempting to destroy in the interest of another party? Are the cases not analogous? Should not a truthful label in the last case be demanded as well as in the other cases? The New Mexico legislature—those noble, able, pure and patriotic tools of Bursum, that gang of riders on the band wagon—should look into this matter and see if such law be not demanded.

The records of the state of Minnesota for 1906 show that there were thirty more deaths from tuberculosis than from smallpox, scarlet fever, whooping cough, measles, peritonitis, appendicitis, diphtheria and typhoid combined. A writer there says that the disease is carried and spread without any attempt at prevention, with no concerted effort for cure, and with no regulation as to its constant communication to the well. Even tuberculous milk is sold in a great majority of the localities of the state and used on the farms, as there is no enforced inspection of cattle. It seems very appropriate and timely, therefore, that the American Tuberculosis exhibition shall be held in Minneapolis, Feb. 2-12, the Western Anti-Tuberculosis congress, same place, Feb. 5, and the state association Feb. 6. New Mexico is certainly highly favored by nature in this particular, a case of consumption originating here being scarcely known.

Senator Simons has introduced a primary election bill in the Kansas legislature, which contains at least one novel feature. The bill provides that "Any elector who shall have voted at a primary election next preceding any general election for which the same is held, shall be considered to have registered in that precinct." Except when a voter shall have changed his legal residence, or may have been sick upon the day of the primaries or may have been unavoidably absent, "No other registration than registration at a primary election shall be made at any other time or place." "This section really provides compulsory partyism," declares Senator Simons in explaining the bill. "The great objection to the primary plan is that people would stay away from the primary and nominations would be made by the votes of few people. My bill simply disfranchises a man who fails to vote at a primary. Now, a man does not like to disfranchise himself, and the result will be a comparatively full vote at the primaries, and the real purpose of the direct primary will have been gained."

The New Mexican says that one month ago an enterprising real estate dealer laid out an addition to the town of Texico, in Roosevelt county, and thus far has sold $45,000 worth of lots, having only a few left. Of course, advertising and the rapid growth of eastern New Mexico did it, but it also indicates that the man with limited means who invests wisely in New Mexico real estate will be rewarded in abundance for his wisdom. Here is a pointer for and an encouragement to, the Boosters' club. New Mexico was never in a better condition to be boosted than just now, and Albuquerque must be kept upon the very ridge of the high tide. So let every one be present at the meeting tonight at the opera house.

MAN'S BRUTE ORIGIN SEEN IN HIS LOVE FOR SUFFERING

Human nature is full of contradictions and one of them is the apparent pleasure which human beings take in painful sights, sounds and emotions.

As a general proposition it might be said that it is a painful thing to visit a hospital, to look upon blind and armless beggars, to see a street car run over a woman, to see a strong man impose upon and beat a child, to visit a deathbed and witness the gasping and the contortions of countenance of a dying person. It is generally supposed that anger, hatred, indignation, sympathy and pity are painful emotions and that even solemnity is their shadow.

On the other hand, there is an almost universal disposition among human beings to subject themselves to these feelings, though different people are constituted somewhat differently in this regard. Bull fights, cock fights, dog fights, prize fights and street fights are greatly sought after by some people and a much larger number are attracted by hangings and by great casualties in which many lives are lost and the dead are frightfully mangled.

Strang to say, there is not enough pain and suffering in actual life to satisfy this craving for painful emotions, and the human family from time immemorial has been given to fictitious presentations of suffering for the purpose of exciting them artificially.

This has been done by the novel and the drama. A person will sit a whole evening in tears over a story of persecution, suffering and painful dying portrayed in a novel or represented more realistically on the stage and have a really good time and praise the story or the play extravagantly.

Without meaning at all to reflect on the truth of religion, it is impossible not to consider its relation to this pleasure-taking in painful emotions. One inseparable element of religion is solemnity, which always implies danger or loss, but with many people, at least, religion also implies tears and sadness, sometimes amounting to paroxysms of anguish. Yet the enjoyment of religious meetings is always in exact proportion to the prevalence and intensity of these painful emotions.

This was illustrated in a west side church which had not long before received a new pastor. One sister remarked to another that the meetings of the sewing circle were much more largely attended than they were during the former pastorate. "That is true," was the answer, "but they are not nearly so solemn." It is doubted if anyone ever attended a well-conducted church service without keen enjoyment of the solemnity of the worship, and yet solemnity and sadness are twin sisters.

This paradox in human nature is made, if anything, all the more curious by the fact that there is a fashion in regard to enjoying pain and that it is not near so common now as it was fifty years ago. There was a time when "The Reveries of a Bachelor," "The Sorrows of Werther," and Dickens' novels were regarded as the choicest reading and when plays like "East Lynne" and actresses like Clara Morris were the particular joy of theater-goers. Men and women would weep for hours over Little Nell or go to the theater and see Clara Morris die of consumption and consider that they had enjoyed an immense treat, but there has been a great change in this respect. The world has swung away from these emotional intoxications to some extent and whether it will ever swing back again no one can tell.

The puzzle remains, however, that pleasure and pain are completely confounded in the human mind and that to this day the greatest pleasure of many people is found in the experience of painful and fearful emotion.—Chicago Chronicle.

INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF AGRICULTURAL MECHANICS

Official announcement is made that the second international congress of agricultural mechanics will be held as a section of the eighth international congress of agriculture, which meets at Vienna, Austria, May 21-25, 1907. This congress is in continuation of that held at Liege, Belgium, in 1905.

The program of the section announces that special attention will be given to (1) the establishment of uniform international rules for the examination of agricultural machinery and for the organization of exhibits and competitions of such machinery, (2) the development of instruction in agricultural mechanics, and (3) promotion of conditions favorable to the more extended use of agricultural machinery.

Recognizing that it is not possible to reach a satisfactory solution of these questions except by the combined efforts of all civilized nations, the promoters of the congress are especially desirous of securing the organization in each country of a committee whose special duty it will be to procure the participation in the congress of those who are interested in its purposes, but whether this is done or not, it is urged that all who are interested in this matter will take steps to secure membership in the congress and to attend its sessions if possible.

The president of the section is Professor Josef Rezek, Hochschulestrasse 17, Vienna, XIX, Austria. Requests for registry and the payment of the fee secretary of the executive committee of the congress of agriculture, Prof. Josef Hauser, Schaufergasse 6, Vienna, I, Austria.

The membership is fixed at 20 crowns ($4.05). Requests for registry and the payment of the fee should be made not later than March 31, 1907. Members will receive all the publications of the congress free of charge.

The first international congress of agricultural mechanics, held at Liege in 1905, was sufficiently representative to be of considerable international importance, there being in attendance about 300 delegates representing twenty different countries and including official representatives of eight foreign governments. The subjects discussed covered a wide range but interested especially around the question of the utility of present methods of testing agricultural machinery, and it was made very evident that there is a general conviction that these methods are defective and calculated to give misleading results, criticism being directed particularly against ordinary field trials and the classification of machinery on the basis of such tests. An international committee was appointed at that congress to present a report on uniform methods of testing agricultural machinery at this congress.

ANNIVERSARY MASS FOR LAMENTED CITIZEN

HON. M. S. OTERO'S DEATH WHICH OCCURRED THREE YEARS AGO TOMORROW, TO BE COMMEMORATED.

Tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock
Father Mandalar of the Immaculate Conception church will celebrate high mass to commemorate the third anniversary of Hon. M. S. Otero's death, which occurred February 1, 1904. The church will be filled with the relatives and friends of the distinguished gentleman, who was regarded as one of the territory's representative citizens.

The late Mr. Otero was a notable man. He was active in politics and in higher financial circles, his real property interests being extensive.
He did much for Albuquerque and New Mexico, occupying enviable business and political positions. Mr.
Otero was president of the Bank of Commerce, delegate to congress, a member of the board of county commissioners, and a director in the Commercial club; this last at the time of his death.

Respected by the public generally as a man of many interests and one who was identified with the growth of Albuquerque and the best interests of New Mexico, Mr. Otero was justly popular. The anniversary of his demise recalls one of the most pretentious funerals ever seen in this his home city.

LADIES' SMOKER WAS ROYAL SUCCESS

Given Last Night by the Elks
at Their Opera House.

Several hundred local and visiting Elks, with their wives and many lady friends, assembled last night at the handsome play house on west Gold avenue, drawn thither by invitation to attend a "ladies' smoker."

The entertainment was held in the theater department, and opened with several choice musical selections by the Elks orchestra. This was followed by Samuel Pickard, one of the active Elks, announcing that the next event on the program would be a catch-as-catch can wrestling match between two semi-professionals, and the three falls in which the wrestlers showed much cleverness, were heartily enjoyed by all present.

After some more music by the orchestra, M. E. Hickey stepped on the stage and announced that the committee, having secured the services of two lightweight boxers, tomorrow night, a genuine boxing match, the lightweights agreeing to hit each other just as lightly as possible and to use ten ounce gloves, almost as large as pillows. The ring was pitched on the stage, the boxers and attendants entered their corners and five rounds were given, which elicited much applause not only from the men present but also the ladies. Roy Stamm officiated as referee, and demonstrated quite a familiarity with the sport in his clever command, break-away whenever the youngsters assumed the hugging pose.

The entertainment ended with a fine exhibition of Indian fire club swinging by Billy Mason, after which all repaired to the banquet and dance halls, where a very appetizing lunch was served, and the many waltz was indulged in for several hours.

The whole affair was pronounced a genuine success, and the Elks were voted royal entertainers.

SWITCHMEN'S ABUSIVENESS REPORTED TO THE POLICE

RAILROAD AVENUE CROSSING
BLOCKED WITH FREIGHT
CARS CAUSES ALTERCA-TION.

H. W. Cantrell, of 205 South Walter street, became involved in an altercation with a Santa Fe switchman at the Railroad avenue crossing last night over blocking street traffic with a long line of freight cars that were being switched about the north yards.
He has complained to Chief of Police McMillin of the abusive epithets the switchman is alleged to have used on him and also of the practice of the employees, who habitually leave cars standing across the street longer than the prescribed five minutes.

Mr. Cantrell, according to report, repeatedly requested the trainmen to move the cars but they were deaf to this and refused to get the rolling stock across the street until he secured Patrolman Rabbitt, who emphasized Mr. Cantrell's request to the company employees and the cars were moved.

Local Agent Purdy of the Santa Fe stated this morning that no report of blocking the crossing had reached him and the first intimation he had of the matter was a reporter for The Evening Citizen mentioned the matter.

"The switchmen have positive instructions to keep that crossing as open as possible," said Mr. Purdy,
"and they generally succeed in doing this. If it was blocked last night something unusual happened, otherwise the cars would not have been across the track there. I was at the office last night until 11 o'clock but I heard nothing of the occurrence."

CAMILLE FLAMMARION ON THE GREAT TEST OF SCIENCE

IN AN ARTICLE WRITTEN BY THE GREAT FRENCH ASTRONOMER HE POINTS OUT THE MARVELS WHICH HUMAN BRAINS AND HANDS HAVE WROUGHT-TO-LIVE IN SCIENCE MEANS LIFE IN THE SPIRIT, IN THE IDEAL.

NOTE—Camille Flammarion, the greatest of French astronomers, has written many things, but none of them more delightful than the following, and the editor of The Evening Citizen considers himself fortunate in having been able to secure the article exclusively for the readers of this newspaper. Camille Flammarion was born in 1842. He was sent to a seminary for a religious education, but abandoned it for science and astronomy.

(By Camille Flammarion.)

Not many days ago I was returning to Paris from Constantinople on the Orient Express, when I heard some people near me speak scornfully of science because it does not yet predict earthquakes, and thus did not avert the earthquake, San Francisco and Valparaiso catastrophes, and also because medicine does not keep pace with surgery—and finally, because balloons are delicate to manage when sailing through our agitated atmosphere.

These fashionable men and women, settled comfortably on soft-cushioned seats, did not seem to suspect that without science they could not cross Europe in three days, the ocean in six days, without changing in the slightest their hours for eating and sleeping.

They did not appear to know that to procure for them, these pleasures or advantages man's genius had to guess the power of water boiling in a kettle, they knew neither Solomon de Caux nor Denis Papin, nor J. S. Watts, nor Fulton nor Stephenson, and had no notion of the sum of intellectual effort represented by a locomotive.

However, the very contrast between Constantinople and our European capitals had put their fingers on the formidable difference separating that capharnaum from modern civilization. Men are born here several centuries behind the times. The tortuous, narrow, ascending and descending streets, ill paved and full of holes, thronged with dogs sleeping most of the day which no one is allowed to disturb, barricaded with open shops, threaded by men laden with cumbersome loads, are made neither for carriages nor for walkers.

Life is suspended at sunset, when from the height of minarets the muezzins have cried out in their nasal voices their prayers to the phoebe; electric light does not yet exist at Constantinople.

The calendar is regulated according to the moon, as with the Chaldeans 5,000 years ago. The hour of each day begins with sunset, so that each night the hands of the clock must be changed.

Well, it was on the way home from a visit to this curious vestige of the past that I heard the conversation of the scoffers at science. And I told myself that Constantinople is an immense progress over the primitive habitations of the paleolithic and neolithic periods, that these palaces, those mosques are masterpieces of architecture, and that, at the time of the Romans, Byzantium already dominated one of the world's finest geographical positions, and that art, industry, science have gradually transformed humanity.

Without the scientists who have worked, struggled, suffered, we should still be savages.

Our eyes can stop on no object surrounding us without challenging our tribute to science.

Here are windows closed with glass. This is a commonplace article, you may say. But no. These simple panes are marvels before which we should kneel in gratitude.

Let us remember that it is melted sand, turned transparent. This admirable substance had to be created, thanks to which we can live, in summer as in winter, in houses sheltered from extremes of weather, from wind, from rain, from snow, from fog, from cold, well closed in, while retaining for us the light of day and the heat of objects without. Thus sheltered, we can live quietly, work, eat and sleep. The workman can perfect his products, the engineer can draw up his plans, the merchant devise his schemes, the musician compose his symphonies, the artist paint or carve the poet, the novelist, the writer can put before our eyes sublime thoughts. This glass, too, is the microscope

Beer Is a Food of High Quality

It Refreshes and Strengthens the Body With Predigested Nourishment.

As a strengthening, nutritious food, physicians and scientists now agree that there is nothing, perhaps, more beneficial than pure beer. Rich in the food extractives of malt and the tonic properties of hops, pure beer nourishes the whole body.

Many people unable to take solid food have been built up by Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer. It is just as good for the well as for the sick. Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer with four medals tones up the system, and in moderation it cannot have other than helpful, up-building, strengthening effect, free from false stimulation.

Purity and cleanliness are essential for healthful beer, just as they are essential for any other healthful food. And purity and cleanliness are watchwords in the great Pabst brewery at Milwaukee. Only the finest of malt and hops are used, and the whole Pabst process is a revelation of scientific progress, the result of sixty years' pursuit of all the best known methods in the science of brewing.

One of the most important features of the Pabst Brewing process is the Pabst method of making malt. It requires eight days and doubles the expense of the old four-day method, still used in many breweries, but the eight-day Pabst process is the only process by which perfect malt, containing all the nutritious food qualities of barley in predigested form, can be made.

Absolute cleanliness distinguishes the entire Pabst process, and the Pabst Blue Ribbon label is a guarantee of purity. The name Pabst always stands for purity, cleanliness and the best beer brewed.

If your food doesn't taste just right, or if your digestion is a little "off," or your appetite is poor, drink Pabst Blue Ribbon beer before or with your meals.

CAMILLE FLAMMARION

which allowed us to penetrate the realm of the infinitely small, and it is the telescope which transports us into space and puts us face to face with the splendors of the skies.

Here is a match. That is nothing, either, in appearance. It is insignificant. What could be simpler than to create fire at will? We do not stop to think of it. Yet I know the time, in my childhood, when it was still impossible. Where fire was wanted it had to be preserved under ashes, and to light a candle I saw my grandmother take in a wooden shoe long straws dipped in sulphur, which were touched to the embers hidden under the ashes. Outside, only flint existed. The properties of rubbed phosphorus had not been discovered. The hearth was the home, the family everything. The temple lamp was never to go out, and history has not forgotten the task imposed under pain of death on the vestal virgins in the Roman temples. There are no more vestals today; a match has filled their place, and 20th century virgins may let all fires go out; they are sure of lighting them again by a simple gesture.

Telegraphs and telephones have the same effect upon us. Yet many people do not seem aware that science leads the world, and that without it we should still be cliff dwellers. To science we owe not only the material progress of civilization, but the security and tranquillity enabling us to pursue moral and philosophical studies and all the conquests of liberty and of the independence of the mind.

Astronomy had much to do with this movement. If astronomy did not exist the atmosphere in which we live would be constantly veiled with clouds, and we would know nothing of the place he occupies in the universe, nothing of the existence of the universe. The human species would be comparable to a race of waters vegetating at the bottom of the sea. Absolute ignorance would hem us in, and we should reside in

PLAYS BOLD GAME TO STOP CAR SHORTAGE

ATTORNEY GENERAL OF OKLAHOMA FILES SUIT TO COMPEL RAILROADS TO OPERATE AN ADEQUATE SYSTEM OR FORFEIT FRANCHISES

Special Correspondence. Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 31.—Railroads will cease to cry "Car Shortage" if the mandamus suit filed in the United States district court by Attorney General W. O. Cromwell is successful. In the district court at Enid he has filed suit to mandate the Rock Island railroad to operate an adequate railway system or forfeit their franchise.

Almost immediately upon the heels of the filing of the suit came telegrams to the press all over Oklahoma from President Winchell, of the Rock Island, announcing the purchase of $5,000,000 worth of rails, cars and engines. This news was expected to allay public sentiment.

The cotton, grain and coal trade in Oklahoma and Indian Territory is paralyzed by the failure of the railroads to handle their shipments. Cotton companies have gone out of the open market, elevators are crammed to bursting with grain to be shipped, and farmers are really suffering with plenty of grain in their bins because of the refusal of the Rock Island to furnish cars to ship their product to market. Along the right of way corn is laying on the ground rotting. The banks are drawn in their strings of credit and the money market is exceptionally tight. All this is laid to the door of the Rock Island.

"I am confident that I will win this suit," said Attorney General Cromwell. "It is plain law which almost every attorney knows, but which few dare advocate for fear of the fury of the railroads. It is a precedent that I seek."

Engine No. 528 is just out of the back shop at La Junta, after a general overhauling and will be assigned to passenger service between La Junta and Dodge City.

Some one has facetiously remarked "The money paid by railroads for advertising will not be stamped 'Not good on trains Nos. 1 and 2' and 'Not good on passenger trains'."

The El Paso Times says: H. S. Van Slyck, live stock agent of the Santa Fe, returned yesterday from the dry farming convention at Deming. He does not think much of dry farming.

Brakeman James Bostie, who has been in the hospital for some time for treatment, has recovered and accompanied by Mrs. Bostie, has left for his home in San Marcel, N. M., says the Topeka State Journal.

A serious accident befell Jos. Hurst, foreman of the car painters at the Las Vegas shops, the other day. While taking an engine tank of water, with his foot in the chain, the water was turned on, with the result that he was hurled from the ground, falling upon and breaking his right wrist and cutting a gash over his eye.

More than 5,000 Dunkards will attend the general conference of German Baptist brethren to be held at Los Angeles in May. An attractive folder containing information which is being distributed by the passenger department of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad.

Walter J. Bardell has returned to Needles from the hospital at Los Angeles, where he has been for several weeks nursing a broken ankle. Mr. Bardell fell off the running board of his engine some weeks ago while pulling a Santa Fe limited. He is still using crutches but will be around again and ready for duty in a few weeks.

The Holbrook Argus says: V. C. Proctor, the newly promoted superintendent of the bridge and building and water service departments of the Santa Fe, was here Saturday inspecting the progress of the work on the new company which is being rapidly completed at this point. Mr. Proctor says it will be necessary to go only a few feet more to insure an adequate supply of water. The probable depth will be forty feet.

ATCHISON RAILWAY EARNINGS IMMENSE The gross earnings of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway in December, 1906, were $7,503,547, showing an increase of $922,326, or over 11 per cent over the figures for December, 1905. The net earnings were $2,711,320, or only $4,474 more than a year ago. The increase in operating expenses almost equalled the increase in gross earnings.

For six months gross earnings were $45,576,512, an increase of $5,708,070, and the net earnings $17,781,010, an increase of $2,352,491.

FALLS UNDER WHEELS AND MEETS DEATH Leonard S. Angelo, a trainman in the employ of the Santa Fe, fell from the top of the train on which he was braking near Leckberry, and was instantly killed. The balance of the train crew did not discover him missing until they had run several miles. A search found blood on some of the car wheels and later portions of the body were picked up, it having been mangled and cut to pieces. The remains were taken to Needles later and turned over to Undertaker Carroll. William R. Angelo, a brother of the deceased came to Needles from San Bernardino and took the remains to that city for interment. The deceased was single, born in Illinois, but had been a resident of California for twenty years.

A GAP OF SIXTY DAYS BETWEEN RATE LAWS A Los Angeles dispatch of Jan. 29 says: In trying to secure the quashing of two indictments containing sixty-eight counts against the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway company, recently returned by the federal grand jury, attorneys for the railroad company have set up a claim, which, if it should be sustained by the court, would prove of far reaching consequence. They asserted that for sixty days, beginning with June 30 and August 30, the country was without any interstate commerce law whatever.

They argued that by the passage of the Hepburn law all existing laws were annulled, and by the suspension of the operation of the former act for sixty days the country was deprived of any interstate commerce law for that period. Judge Wellborn took the matter under advisement for one week.

LATHROP SMITH SUICIDES IN NEW YORK CITY A New York dispatch says: Within fifteen minutes after registering at the Grand Union hotel Wednesday afternoon, Lathrop Smith, a student in the law school at Columbia university, from Kansas City, committed suicide by shooting himself with a .38 Smith & Wesson revolver. His fellow students are unable to account for it and a message, apparently written just before he fired the fatal shot was:

"Mother and all the loved ones, goodbye, mother, goodbye." In which note, which the police were asked to notify "W. W. Smith, room 7, Union depot, Kansas City," was found in the room.

Lathrop Smith's father is W. Medill Smith, general claim agent of the Santa Fe railroad, with office in Kansas City, and his uncle, Gardiner Lathrop, is one of the first lawyers in the west, general solicitor of the Santa Fe railroad. Lathrop Smith was in the graduating class in the law school, a member of Greek letter societies, a member of the Columbia branch of the Young Men's Christian association, young, big, fine looking, apparently in good health and not known to have had any troubles of heart, pocket or ambition.

LEGISLATOR IS SWEDEN TO HAVE HEARD IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

In Interview With Correspondent For Home Paper He Scores "Fakir Journal."

The Santa Fe correspondent of the Las Vegas Optic, writing to his paper under date of January 29, says:

The Albuquerque Morning Journal's attack on Representative Denniston, through its Las Vegas correspondent, is heartily condemned by almost every one at the capital. The dispatch contends that Mr. Denniston changed his vote over night on the district attorney's bill, which is absolutely without truth. Mr. Denniston voted at the afternoon session of the house against a suspension of the rules and against allowing the bill to go upon its merits. The legislators were acquainted with its contents. He believes, like all good representatives that have the good of their constituents at heart, that a bill should be given some consideration before being passed. When the Optic representative approached Mr. Denniston on the subject, he said:

"I have noticed the dirty, low-down, uncalculated insinuation published in the Albuquerque Journal, and supposed to have originated from Las Vegas, stating in effect that I had changed by vote over night on the district attorney's bill. I desire to serve notice at this time that I came to Santa Fe untrammelled and unpledged to serve the best interests of my people in such manner as my conscience and judgment will dictate, independent of the machinations, intrigues of any coteries, gang or 'hiring newspaper.' I voted in favor of the district attorney bill, and shall do so again, if opportunity offers itself, because I believe it right, because it restores to the people the privileges granted them under the organic act to have a voice in selecting the public servants. I believe it is high time that the full measure of popular government, permitted the citizens of the territory, should be given them at the hands of the legislative assembly. If the people of this territory are not to be trusted to select their prosecuting officers at the regular elections, then, indeed, it would be proper to pass a resolution requesting congress to establish a military government here, with a governor-general in charge, the same as is now the case in the Philippine Islands. I am unalterably opposed to the establishment of a kingdom, with all the powers which belong to the people, delegated to a crowned head. I have entire confidence in my fellow citizens and in their ability to vote intelligently for the selection of any public officer. With all the opposition that has been made against the district attorney bill, not one single argument have I heard even pretending to show that it is not a meritorious measure. The harassment coming from the subsidized press, seems to attempt to convey the idea that it is a piece of retaliatory legislation. The only question at issue is that of the merits of the bill, and not a question of motive. The question now at issue is: Shall the people have a voice in the governmental affairs, or shall they delegate that power to be exercised by one man?"

Mr. Denniston further stated that he had not received one communication condemning him for the stand he had taken, but that on the other hand he had received several commending his position.

CROOK NAILED AT WINSLOW BY SHERIFF

J. E. Sullivan, also going by the name of Martin, and on whom there is a $500 reward, was arrested here Thursday, says the Winslow Mail.

He is wanted in Maricopa county for stealing a diamond ring and is also in demand in Oklahoma for pilfering a couple of Wells-Fargo money order books, with which he expected to obtain a little ready money occasionally. He was working for the company at Pinta as night operator, and it seems that he gave himself away to the day when he immediately notified the authorities. He was requested to come to Winslow; as soon as he stepped off of No. 1 Sheriff Woods arrested him.

He had the money order books with him and L. M. Williams, auditor of the Wells-Fargo Co., identified them as the ones that have been missing for some time. He was taken to Holbrook last Thursday to await an officer from Maricopa county.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 31.—The thirtieth annual architectural exhibition of the T-Square club which closed at the Pennsylvania academy of fine arts last night, was a decided success from its start. HOLDING ELECTIONS ALL OVER RUSSIAN EMPIRE.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 31.—The elections of members of the new Douma took place yesterday all over the empire. A circular had been sent out to the various provincial governors advising them to use all their efforts to secure the election of government candidates. The term "government candidates" is defined to mean the Octobrists and their allies, but where there is no chance for the election of the candidates the influence of the government is being thrown on the side of the Regenerationists. In order to defeat the constitutional democrats. The circular has suggested a number of measures to hamper the campaign of the opposition parties, including the deportation and imprisonment of pernicious agitators.

As practically the entire press has favored the constitutional democrats and the more radical parties, the various governors turned the official gazettes into campaign organs. It is expected that the result of the elections will be declared on or about Feb. 2.

Unwise Newspaper Correspondent.

New York, Jan. 30.—Dr. E. J. Dillon, the Russian correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph, who is at present in New York, states that the Douma can never govern Russia for it is hopeless to expect a peasant parliament to make laws for an empire covering one-sixth of the earth's surface, its inhabitants a disunited conglomeration of many nationalities. It will, in fact, Dr. Dillon declares, be no misfortune if the next Douma never gets to business for if it does it will inevitably result in the disintegration of the Russian empire.

SWISS WATCHES ARE RAPIDLY ADVANCING.

New York, Jan. 31.—Importers of Swiss watches and clocks today advanced prices varying from 5 to 15 per cent on all except the high grade time pieces, thus following the lead given by American clock manufacturers who recently put up their prices. It is likely that many retail dealers will add a greater percentage to the prices than the wholesalers did. The cheaper watches, which are the most affected by the increase, come in cases made of plated and oxidized silver, gun metal and nickel. The importers say that there are no Swiss watches sold in this country as cheap as some American watches, but the foreign time pieces are subject to a customs duty varying from 35 cents to $3 on each watch, according to the number of jewels, in addition to an ad valorem duty of 25 per cent, making upward of 50 per cent in all. More Swiss watches are now sold in the United States than ever before, although the increase in their sales does not approach that of the American watches. In the last fiscal year the value of foreign watches, and foreign parts of watches, imported into this country was $2,563,342, nearly all of which came from Switzerland.

PRICES HIGH ON IMPORT.

ED GOODS IN MEXICO.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—United States Consul Duhamel, of Sahitillo, Mexico, reports prevailing high prices on nearly all the necessities of life in that part of Mexico. Exorbitant prices on imported merchandise are the rule, rather than the exception. Many families visit the United States to purchase their supplies direct. A large quantity of goods is brought in by parcels post. The building up of this parcels post trade with the United States causes the local merchants some alarm, which must eventually result in their realization that to be successful in business they must be satisfied with reasonable profits based on larger sales. The march of progress and prosperity in Mexico is indicative that the time is not far distant when the majority of the Mexican people will look upon as necessities of life many commodities now regarded as luxuries. All goods are now used by Mexicans to a very limited extent owing to the prevailing high prices, so the adoption of the modern commercial system of increasing trade by placing these commodities at prices within reach of the masses would benefit alike the producers, merchants and consumers.

It is quite likely the barber shops of the city will close Sundays, and that the new order will go into effect next Sunday, February 3. A well known tonsorial artist, a member of the local Barbers' union, has informed The Evening Citizen that practically all the master barbers of the city have signed the petition to close on Sundays, and those who failed to do so will get into line between now and the coming Sunday.

Miss Irene Feikert and B. A. Hammond, both of this city, were married at 8 o'clock last evening at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Feikert. The groom's brother, Rev. H. B. Hammond, officiated, and the ceremony was witnessed by a limited number of intimate friends. Mr. Hammond is an employee of the American Lumber company and both of the contracting parties are well known among the young folks of the city. They will hereafter make their home at 801 North Eighth street.

charge. Mr. Rathburn has not secured office quarters yet, but he hopes to immediately do so. This is one point for Albuquerque from a business point of view, and two points for the Albuquerque fans. Charlie Rathburn is one of the best third basemen that ever kicked up dust between third and short, and will be a worthy adjunct to the Browns.

The erection of the building to be occupied by the Superior Flaming Mill company is temporarily suspended, pending the arrival of material. The walls have reached the second floor. The building will be 50x60 feet and three stories high. The entire building will be occupied by machinery, with the exception of an office room, which will be located on the first floor and in the northeast corner. The building is on First street, just south of the viaduct. It is being built of Albuquerque pressed brick, and will be a handsome structure when completed.

William Curtis, passenger agent for the Santa Fe at Topeka, who accompanied the soldier train here yesterday, left on his return home last night. There has been some speculation among the doubting ones as to whether or not Uncle Sam pays full fare now, but he has been built at the carrying of the troops given to the railroad making the lowest bid, which used to be the case and was a discrimination the public was not permitted to indulge in. Curtis says that the government pays full fare now, the same as anybody else.

On tomorrow one more handsome hostelry will pass under the supervision of Fred Harvey. This is the new house at Ash Fork. It is of concrete construction and very similar in many respects to the Alvarado. It is fully 400 feet long and 20 feet wide, and has been built at a cost of $225,000. There is a curio room 60 x30 feet near by, and depot and baggage rooms in connection. The house was built by Contractor James Johnson, of Needles, Cal. The new hotel will be known as "The Escalante."

Superintendent W. K. Etter announced this morning that at last the sewer, which caused a delay in the building of the yards extension, had been conquered, and that work on the yards had been resumed again with vigor. Two hundred men are employed on the job, some of them on a steam shovel, which is cutting down Bar hill, and others at distributing the dirt. The sewer which caused the trouble was the main exit of the city sewage system. The railroad company extended the outlet by laying new pipe.

The Knights of Columbus are making elaborate preparations for the celebration of the wooden wedding of the local order, which will take place at the lodge rooms in the Elks' opera house tomorrow evening. An impromptu program of music and dramatic art, with cards and things to eat. The event will be the fifth anniversary of one of the most successful lodges ever organized in the city. The affair will be exclusively for knights and their ladies.

The many friends of Mrs. Wallace M. McClellan, formerly an old time resident of this city, will no doubt be surprised to hear of her marriage on January 19th to Mr. Hugh G. Wilson, at Santa Ana, Cal. Mrs. McClellan passed through here several weeks ago on her way to California, and she was seen by friends, but they did not have any idea that she was soon to become a bride. Home Insurance the Best

WE CANNOT refrain from again saying something about Home Insurance. Every time that the proposition presents itself of the tremendous amount of money that is being sent out of New Mexico and Arizona for life insurance to eastern cities, the conviction comes home with increased force that a home company ought to be patronized and the money remain in the West.

The revelations of the past year of the way the enormous surplus of the big Eastern companies has been handled and speculated with ought to emphasize the fact that the people of the West should stop pouring their money into Eastern channels when it can be placed in home insurance, and every dollar of it kept and invested at home.

It is gratifying to note that home insurance is year by year receiving more and more its just deserts. Statistics show that during the past year home companies far exceeded foreign companies in the amount of business written. Why cannot this same record be made here? It can if every individual who takes out a policy the coming year will carefully weigh the proposition of the value it is to keep his insurance at home before he puts his name to the application of any insurance company.

The Occidental Life Insurance Company of New Mexico and Arizona is owned and controlled by the leading business men of the two territories, and offers exceptional opportunities to ambitious and capable men and women to sell its policies.
