As to Price Fluctuations and Calls on Bureau of Corporations For Facts.

PRESIDENT MAKES TWO COLORADO NOMINATIONS

Bill to Annul New Mexico Law on Railroad Personal Injury Cases Put on Calendar.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The house today passed a resolution calling upon the secretary of commerce and labor, through the bureau of corporations to investigate the causes of fluctuations in the price of cotton and the differences in the market price of various classes of cotton. The investigation is to be conducted with the particular object to ascertain whether the fluctuations in prices have resulted in whole or in part from the character of contracts and deliveries made on the cotton exchanges dealing in futures, or is the result of any conspiracy or combination which interferes with or hinders commerce.

Burleson of Texas in explanation of the resolution, said it was proposed to ascertain whether the contracts sold upon New York and New Orleans cotton exchanges bring about violent fluctuations in the price of cotton, and whether the contract sold enables the members of the exchanges by combination among themselves to bring about depression by reason of the fact that under the terms of contract they would be authorized to deliver any one of thirty grades of cotton. It is claimed that the difference between present price spot and futures at New York is more than $2.50 per bale and that this difference exerts an injurious influence upon the price paid for cotton.

IMPORTANT CUSTOMS RULING IN NEW YORK.

New York, Feb. 4.—In the decision handed down today by Judge Somerville, the United States general appraisers sustained protests by the American Sugar Refining company, involving monthly shipments of over 20,000,000 pounds of sugar. The decision establishes the principle that the American government cannot exact countervailing duties on the export weights of German sugar, but must levy a duty on the weight actually landed in this country. The decision is a victory for the sugar monopoly. It was contended by the customs officials that the additional or countervailing duties were assessable property on the basis of invoice, or export weights, owing to the fact that the German government pays a bounty on sugar shipped out of that country. As the amount of that bounty is predicated upon the weight at the time of shipment, the customs authorities held that the American countervailing duties should be based accordingly. As the matter is of great importance the matter will be taken further by the customs authorities.

BERARDINELLI, SHOT BY PETTINE, DIES ON WAY TO THE HOSPITAL

Police and Deputies Scour Surrounding Country For Man Who Fires Fatal Shot on Third Street.

MYSTERIOUS ANONYMOUS LETTER FIGURES IN KILLING

"Missive of Highly Defamatory Character," Declares L. Gradi Who Directs Berardinelli's Attention to It. Quarrel Results in Death.

Benedetto Berardinelli, a stone contractor, who lives at 1101 North Second street, was shot this morning shortly before 12 o'clock by one Pettine, a stone mason. He died in St. Joseph's hospital, where he was being removed after receiving medical attention in the Tott & Gradi feed store at 217 North Third street. The police and deputy sheriffs are searching Albuquerque and the surrounding country for the man who did the shooting. At 3 o'clock this afternoon he had not been apprehended.

Berardinelli and Pettine are both Italians. The shooting occurred on the pavement in front of the Tott & Gradi feed store. The weapon used is believed to have been a new 32-caliber revolver. Drs. Nacamuliz and Hust, who attended Berardinelli after he was removed to the inside of the store, state the death resulted from an internal hemorrhage caused by perforation of the aorta artery in the abdomen. The bullet entered Berardinelli's left side just below the floating ribs and lodged in his intestines. The size of the bullet hole indicated a weapon of the above caliber was used.

A number of pedestrians on the street heard the shooting and saw the stricken man fall. After committing the deed Pettine, with the smoking revolver in his hand, ran north to Tularosa avenue and turned west. He was seen to enter some adobe buildings in the rear of 307 North Third street. Later Robert Hopkins saw him running north on New York avenue. He was flourishing the weapon.

An Anonymous Letter Figures in It.

There were several eye witnesses to the tragedy. The statements of these are, however, conflicting. Berardinelli is said to have been of a quarrelsome disposition and an old quarrel has existed between the men for some time, according to the statements of the friends of both the men.

L. Gradi, one of the proprietors of the store at the above address, saw the shooting. He stated immediately after the affair that an anonymous letter of a very defamatory character was received at his place of business this morning. It was intended for Berardinelli but was addressed to Tott & Gradi.

"I answered the letter," said Mr. Gradi, "and read it. When Berardinelli entered the place here this morning I called his attention to the letter. He read it and became very angry."

"There goes the man who wrote it," he said, and pointed out the window. Pettine was passing on the opposite side of the street.

"He immediately left and accented."

Pettine out in the street. I suppose he accused him of having written the letter; anyway, he applied some bad names to Pettine, who said: "You can call me any name you like, for you are bigger than I am; but don't you touch me."

"After the quarrel Pettine left him. He returned in about fifteen minutes and approached Berardinelli, who was standing near the edge of the pavement in front of the store."

"What were those names you called me a while ago?" he asked, and at the same time pulling a shining revolver from his pocket. He fired one shot and Berardinelli walked a few steps and fell on the pavement in front of the door. Pettine then ran."

"Berardinelli staggered to the doorway and said: 'Gradi got me; look here.' He indicated a small hole through his trousers near the waist band. Blood oozed from it. Then he staggered and fell. Some men helped me carry him in and I telephoned for physicians, the police and an ambulance."

Mr. Gradi refused to divulge the contents of the letter, which was written in Italian. He stated it was of a very indecent character, however. The letter is in his possession at this time.

Coleman's Statement.

James Coleman, a negro shoe polisher, stated he saw part of the affair. He said he was standing only a short distance from the men when the shooting occurred. He did not know anything about the first quarrel, however.

According to Coleman's statement, Pettine pulled the revolver on Berardinelli when the latter was advancing upon him, and twice ordered him to stop before he fired.

A large crowd of people, attracted to the scene by the report of the revolver, blocked the pavement in front of the feed store, the outside door to which was locked after Berardinelli was removed to the inside and physicians summoned. Hypodermic injections of strychnine were administered to the man, but he was past human aid.

Berardinelli is a large, heavily built man, apparently about 50 years old. Pettine, who did the shooting, is about twenty years his junior, tall but rather slight in build. He has sandy colored hair and mustache, olive eyes that are rather handsome, like in shape and wore a light hat and a suit of dark clothing. He is a stone cutter by trade.

Berardinelli leaves a wife. He was formerly in the stone contracting business, with M. Damiano, of 310 North Fourth street. The partnership was dissolved several months since.

Sind furnishes 2,900 bales of Egyptian cotton.

THAW TRIAL HAS BEGUN AT LAST

Prosecution Has Introduced All Its Direct Evidence and Defense Begins.

PLEA OF DEFENSE IS THAT OF INHERITED INSANITY

Prosecution Only Attempted to Prove Fact and Circumstances of the Murder.

New York, Feb. 4.—There was a conference between the attorneys for the prosecution and the defense, with Justice Fitzgerald, just before the Thaw case opened this morning, but no more jurors were released.

After Assistant District Attorney Garvin began the opening address all witnesses except the experts were excluded from the room. May McKendall, Mrs. Harry K. Thaw, and Mrs. William Thaw were included in this order.

Garvin spoke only ten minutes, stating the case of the prosecution. Lawrence White was the first witness. He is the son of the dead architect. He was on the stand only a few minutes. He told of accompanying his father to the Cafe Martin for dinner, and said that when he left him to go to another theater it was the last time he saw his father alive.

The second witness was Warner Paxton, engineer of the Madison Square Garden. He witnessed the shooting and described the positions of Thaw and White. Several other witnesses described the shooting and the arrest of Thaw. Paul Brudi, fireman, who arrested Thaw, said on cross-examination that Thaw was paying his father to the Cafe Martin and his eyes appeared to be staring at the time of arrest.

The prosecution rested its case with the testimony of the doctors who performed the autopsy.

Attorney Gleason began his address to the jury at 2:05 this afternoon. He said that Thaw was suffering from insanity, hereditary in nature, when he shot White. Gleason declared Thaw believed he was acting on the word of Providence when he killed Stanford White; that he acted without malice and did not know the nature or quality of his act.

Cal Underhill, liverman, who was shot, was taken to the hospital. The engineer and fireman saved themselves by jumping. Passengers on No. 41 have been transferred around the bridge.

Passengers on No. 41 have been transferred around the bridge.

WAR BETWEEN UNITED STATES AND JAPAN IS UNTHINKABLE

Tokio, Feb. 4.—Baron Kaneo, formerly special envoy to the United States, in a statement made here today says that war with the United States is unthinkable. "The Japanese understand America better than Americans understand Japanese," he said. The great majority of men holding public positions here were educated by American instruction and have long studied American institutions. Now, through press and otherwise they are helping the people to appreciate the difficulty which the federal government lies under in controlling individual states. Japan's owes her position among the powers to America. The American government and people, with England, are Japan's best friends. War is unthinkable.

IOWA STATE BOWLING ASSOCIATION MEETING.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Feb. 4.—The annual meeting and tournament of the Iowa State Bowling association which commenced here today promises to comprise any of its predecessors in bowling circles in the Hawkeye state. The tournament, which will last four days, has brought a large number of visitors into this city.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS DISAPPEARANCE OF C. G. ROBINSON

Luna County Ranchman Is Thought to Have Been Swallowed up by Swollen Mimbres.

Don Johnson, the sheriff, received a phone message Friday to the effect that a team had been found at the lower crossing of the Mimbres river without a driver, and the sheriff upon investigation found the team tied on the farther bank and the wagon in mid-stream, says the Deming Graphic.

Further investigation discloses the fact that C. G. Robinson is the owner of the wagon and team and is the missing driver. He started from his home at Arroyo to Deming and vicinity to solicit orders for posts, bringing samples along in his wagon. He also bought a bale of hay at Florida station.

Indications are that Mr. Robinson's wagon bogged down in the stream, and that he then unhooked the team and led them to a place of safety, and afterward returned to secure the articles in the wagon, when, from the cold water or some unknown cause, he was seized with cramps or sudden sickness and fell and was drowned, the body evidently being covered up with sand.

W. F. Causland was the last to see Mr. Robinson alive, shortly before he reached the river.

A party of searchers, headed by the sheriff and a son of Mr. Robinson, who has arrived here to help find his father, are dragging the river as we go to press.

SEARCH ABANDONED OWING TO RISK OF RIVER.

Deming, N. M., Feb. 4.—Owing to the sudden rise of the Mimbres river search for the body has been abandoned for the present. Will be resumed when the river falls. January 23 Sheriff Johnson received a phone message that a wagon was fast in the Mimbres and that a team had stood tied on the bank for two days. Investigation shows that Robinson had started for Deming from Arroyo to solicit orders for posts. He also had hay in the wagon. The supposition is that the wagon became stuck in the sand and that the driver unhooked and led the team out. Upon returning to the wagon for some purpose or other, he, too, became entangled in the mire and fell from exhaustion and was covered in quicksand. The water in the Mimbres was only six inches deep at the time, but the sand is bottomless. Robinson was about fifty years of age. A son leads the searching party.

REAL LIFE DETECTIVE STORY

The Case Of Mr. George Edalji

BY THE GREATEST LIVING CRIMINOLOGIST

SIR A. CONAN DOYLE

CHAPTER I.

The first sight which I ever had of George Edalji was enough in itself to convince me both of the extreme improbability of his being guilty of the crimes for which he was condemned, and to suggest some at least of the reasons which had led to his being suspected. He had come to my hotel by appointment, but I had been delayed, and he was passing the time by reading the paper. I recognized my man by his dark face, so I stood and observed him. He held the paper close to his eyes and rather sideways, proving not only a high degree of myopia, but marked astigmatism. The idea of such a man scouring fields at night and assaulting cattle while avoiding the watching police was ludicrous to anyone who can imagine what the world looks like to eyes with myopia of eight dioptres—the exact value of Mr. Edalji's myopia, according to Kenneth Scott, of Manchester square. But such a condition, so hopelessly had that no glasses availed in the open air, gave the sufferer a vacant, bulge-eyed, staring appearance, which, when taken with his dark skin, must assuredly have made him seem a very queer man to the eyes of an English village, and therefore to be naturally associated with any queer event. There, in a single physical defect, lay the moral certainty of his innocence, and the reason why he should become the scapegoat.

Before seeing him I had read the considerable literature which had been sent to me about his case. Afa strong liberal in politics, and had been known to lend the church school room for meetings. Some bitterness was aroused among the local politicians by this action.

There were three surviving children from this union—George, who was born in 1876, Horace in 1879, and Maud in 1882. Of these Horace received a government post, and was absent at the time when the long persecution to which the family had been subjected culminated in the tragedy which overwhelmed his brother.

In the year 1888, Geo. Edalji, being at that time twelve years of age, a number of threatening anonymous letters were received at the vicarage. The aid of the police was called in and an arrest was made. This was of the servant-maid at the vicarage, one Elizabeth Foster, who was accused, among other things, of writing up ribald sentences about her employers on outhouses and buildings. She was tried at Cannock in 1889, but her solicitor pleaded that it was all a foolish joke, and she was bound over to keep the peace. An attempt has been made since to contend that Foster was not guilty, but I take it that no barrister could make such an admission without his client's consent. She and her friends were animated afterwards by bitter feelings of revenge; and there is good reason to believe that in this incident of 1888 is to be found the seed which led to the trouble of 1893-95 and the subsequent trouble of 1902. The 1892-95 letters only championed Elizabeth Foster; the 1903 ones had no direct your iniquities?" "May the Lord strike me dead if I don't murder Geo. Edalji," "Your damned wife," "Your horrid little girl," "I will descend into the infernal regions showering curses upon you all." Such are a few of the phrases in which maniacal hatred of the Edalji family is shown.

The second characteristic of the letters is a frantic admiration, real or feigned, for the local police. There was a Sergeant Upton on duty in Cannock, who is eulogized in this way: "Ha, ha, hurrah for Upton! Good old Upton! Blessed Upton. Good old Upton! Upton is blessed! Dear old Upton!"

Stand up, stand up for Upton. Ye soldiers of the cross. Lift high your royal banner. It must not suffer loss."

"The following in this district we love truly—the police of Cannock in general! Again: 'I love Upton. I love him better than life, because for my sake he lost promotion.'"

The third characteristic of these letters, besides hatred of Edalji and eulogy of the police, is real or simulated religious mania, taking the form, in some portions of the same letter, that the writer claims to be God, and in others that he is eternally lost in hell. So consistent is this that it is hard to doubt that there was a real stroke of madness in the writer. A fourth remarkable characteristic of the letters is the intimacy of the writer with the names and affairs of the people in the district. As many as twenty names will sometimes be given, most of them with opprobrious epithets attached. No one can read them and doubt that the writer lived in the immediate neighborhood and was intimately acquainted with the people of whom he spoke.

One would imagine that under these circumstances there would be little difficulty in tracing the letters to their source, but, as a matter of fact, the handwriting was never recognized, nor was the culprit discovered. The opinion was strongly held, however, by those who were most concerned, that there was a connection with the former incident, and that the letters were done by some male ally or allies of the discharged maid.

This thrilling detective story will be continued tomorrow and for five consecutive days.

MOST ANYTHING

Money talks. And then there is President Yim Hill, of the Great Northern.

Maybe Harry Thaw is to learn that it also hath no fury like a mother-in-law scorned.

Nothing Coming to Him. "Going to the lecture tonight?" "No. My wife's out of town."

And there's some satisfaction in knowing that Gov. Sweetenham cannot possibly break into vaudeville in this country.

A Case of Rickets. Miss Pink Ricketts has been on the sick list for the past two weeks.—Hardsburg (Ky.) Democrat.

As a matter of fact, the reason the president didn't roast Shonts was that he has grown accustomed to men quitting canal jobs.

"Senator Tillman is accused by his colleagues of converting the senate into a vaudeville show."

"Did you say accused or credited?"

Senator Guggenheim, so some eastern newspaper has discovered, began life barefooted. That, no doubt, accounts for his recent gum shoe campaign.

"Do you think you get what's coming to you?"

"As a rule, yes. But what interests me more is getting the things that are going away from me."

"Let's see, haven't you some distant relatives in London?"

"Say, old man, if I had any relatives in London, naturally they'd be distant, wouldn't they?"

Going to Work. "Bossy says he retired from politics on account of his family."

"I guess that's right. His wife threatened to take in washing."

SIR A. CONAN DOYLE IN HIS FIRST INTERVIEW WITH THE PUZZLING MR. GEORGE EDALJI.

ter seeing him I read still more, saw or wrote to everyone who could in any way throw light upon the matter, and finally visited Wryley and had a useful day's work upon the spot. The interest of my whole research has been to introduce me to a chain of circumstances which seem so extraordinary that they are far beyond the invention of the writer of fiction. At all times in my inquiries I have kept before my mind the supreme necessity of following truth rather than any preconceived theory, and I was always prepared to examine any point against the accused with as much care as if it made for his innocence, but I have felt at last that it was an insult to my intelligence to hold out any longer against the certainty that there had been an inconceivable miscarriage of justice.

Let me now tell the strange story from the beginning. I hope that the effect of my narrative will be to raise such a wave of feeling in England as will make some public reconsideration of his case inevitable, for I am convinced that such reconsideration can only end in his complete acquittal and to his restoration to the ranks of that honorable profession from which he has been most unjustly removed.

The story begins as far back as the year 1874, when the Rev. S. Edalji, a Church of England clergyman of Parsee origin, was married to Miss C. Stoneham. An uncle of the bride, as I understand it, held the gift of the living of Great Wryley, which was a parish, half agricultural and half mining, about six miles from Walsall, in Staffordshire. Though this uncle's influence Mr. Edalji became vicar of Great Wryley, a cure which he has now held for thirty-one years, living a blameless life in the sight of all men. Placed in the exceedingly difficult position of a colored clergyman in an English parish, he seems to have conducted himself with dignity and discretion. The only time that I can ever find that any local feeling was raised against him was during elections, for he was allusion to her, but a scurrilous postcard on August 4 contained the words, "Why not go on with your old game of writing things on walls?" this being the very offense Elizabeth Foster was charged with. The reader must remember that in 1888 Geo. Edalji was a schoolboy of twelve, and that the letters received at that date were in a formed handwriting which could not possibly have been his.

In 1892 the second singular outbreak of anonymous letters began, some of which were published in the Staffordshire papers at the time by Mr. Edalji, in the hope that their style or contents might discover the writer. Many were directed to the vicarage, but many others were sent to different people in the vicinity, so malevolent and so ingenious that it seemed as if a very demon of mischief were endeavoring to set the parish by the ears. They were posted at Walsall, Cannock and various other towns, but bore internal evidence of a common origin and were all tainted with the Elizabeth Foster incident. They lasted for three years, and as they were accompanied by a long series of most ingenious and elaborate hoaxes, it is really wonderful that they did not accomplish their proclaimed purpose, which was to drive their victim off his head.

On examination of such of these letters as I have been able to see, their prevailing characteristics are: 1. A malignant, diabolical hatred of the whole Edalji family, the 16-17-18-year-old George coming in for his fair share of the gross abuse. This hatred is insane in its intensity, and yet is so coldly resolute that three years of constant persecution caused no mitigation. Here are extracts to illustrate the point: "I swear by God that I will murder Geo. Edalji soon. The only thing I care about in this world is revenge, revenge, revenge, sweet revenge. I long for, then I shall be happy in hell." "Every day, every hour my hatred is growing against Geo. Edalji." "Do you think you Pharisee, that because you are a person God will absolve you from

BLOOD POISON

CURE YOURSELF AT HOME

Most persons who are afflicted with Contagious Blood Poison hesitate to go to a physician for several reasons. In the first place the expense is heavy, and they know that the inevitable treatment will be mercury and potash, strong minerals that act with disastrous effects on the delicate parts of the system, and which do not, after all, really cure the disease. What they want is a safe, reliable treatment that can be taken at home and a perfect cure made of this loathsome disorder without unnecessary exposure or expense. Such a remedy is S. S. S.—it is the only medicine that goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and drives out the last trace of the poison so that there are never any signs of its return. It does not contain a particle of mineral in any form, and after removing the disease from the circulation builds up every part of the system by its fine vegetable tonic properties.

S. S. S. attacks the trouble at its head and not only permanently cures the disease for the one afflicted, but so purifies the blood that future offspring is insured against infection. S. S. S. may be taken in the privacy of your home and a perfect cure made of this hateful and loathsome trouble. For the assistance of those who are curing themselves with S. S. S. instructions of great value to all blood poison sufferers. We will be glad to send a copy of this book free, and if additional instructions or advice is wanted, our physicians will furnish it without charge.

There are certain reptiles, were are told, which, having hypnotized their prey—birds and smaller quadrupeds—first cover them with slimy slobber from the captor's mouth to render the captives more easily swallowed. The morning paper seems to have organized a shlobbering committee, of which it is the chief shlobberer, while its demoral aides and abettors follow suit according to the measure of their several abilities. The unfortunate victims selected to be covered with their slime are usually certain republicans whom they regard as disaffected towards the present republican territorial organization and whom they consider sufficiently easy to influence. The supply of slime seems to be inexhaustible, but so far there has not been sufficient result to pay for the effort.

FAIR CRY NOT JUSTIFIED BY FACT

Employees Fewer Than For Years—District Attorney Bill All Right.

Santa Fe, N. M., Feb. 4.—The opening sessions of the legislative assembly are now over. The preparatory work of organization has been completed and the coming week is looked forward to by the members as one of the busy sessions for all concerned. Despite the fact that rumors were current that there had been considerable trouble and dissension over the question of employees in both houses, the matter was adjusted amicably and to the satisfaction of all.

The party leaders here, contrary to newspaper reports in some sections of the territory, make no attempt at concealing the number of employees. The total for both houses is ninety-four and it may be further added that they were chosen with a view to their capabilities more than anything else. The question of pay also has been adjusted and the $15,000 allowance will not be exceeded one cent more than is absolutely necessary. With ninety-four employees it is planned to make the average $3 each per day. This means that for the entire session of the assembly the pay roll will amount to about $17,000 or two thousand dollars in excess of the appropriation. This amount may be reduced somewhat when the pay roll is entirely prepared.

It has been exceedingly hard to get the necessary expert help this year in either house at the rate of pay made necessary by any attempt to keep the pay roll at the minimum desired. As a result several first class stenographers and translators, whose services had been counted upon, refused to take the positions allotted to them.

The ordinary employees, such as doorkeepers, assistants to the sergeants-at-arms, etc., will receive pay much less than has been customary in years past, not only in New Mexico, but in other territories and states.

The expense customary for extra employees will be much less than the amounts allotted for this purpose two years ago and four years ago by the legislative assembly.

District Attorney Bill.
The center of attraction thus far has been the district attorney bill, introduced in the house by Mr. Beach, giving to the people of the territory the power to elect district attorneys and taking away the power of an executive to appoint them. The bill passed the house by a vote of 17 to 7 and is now in committee in the council. There appears to be no doubt on the part of the legislators that the bill will be enacted into a law even over the veto of the governor if necessary.

A preliminary caucus of the council bears out this statement. The bill has been a subject for the bitterest attacks possible to make against it, but it has weathered the storm, the only argument of any consequence advanced against it is the underhanded statement that the measure is aimed as a retaliatory shot at the administration. Since the bill has been thoroughly considered there has been a decided failure on the part of even its enemies to show the retaliatory part. It is simply a matter of home rule—of government of the people by the people for the people.

Home Rule Demanded.
The residents of New Mexico, by the big vote they rolled up in favor of statehood offered them under the Hamilton enabling act displayed their desire for home rule and it is argued that their representatives in the legislature could not withhold from them the right to elect their district attorneys—the most important of the lesser officials. As the people look into the merits of this bill, they have begun to make their desire known to their legislators by hundreds of letters, petitions and personal requests for its passage, which are coming in from all sections of New Mexico.

So numerous have been the requests for its passage that it was stated by a well-posted legislator, that were the committee to delay a report on the measure two weeks longer, the bill would be passed by unanimous vote in the council. It is even suggested by some that the bill, if it is passed, will never be vetoed.

Vote Buying Not Popular.
The bills introduced for office unqualified legislators for office until after adjournment of the assembly and to make it a felony for them to be influenced in matters of legislation by promises of office from territorial officials, are looked upon now as a well taken precautionary measure.

It is a hard thing to run to earth, the rumors of the offering of territorial jobs to legislators in return for votes not because such rumors are easily traced but because those approached with offers of jobs are loath to discuss the matter at all, preferring if possible to keep clear of the stench that might be created.

However, it is to the credit of Bursum's tools that to date none can be found who have changed their stand on any measure of consequence by the acceptance of office for his vote.

However, the necessity for introducing such bills is considered at all events a step in the right direction.

CRESTON CLARK IN "THE RAGGED MESSENGER"

It was freely said of Creston Clarke in "Monsieur Beaucaire," last season, that he never failed to captivate his audience, dazzling them by his brilliant work. The critics this season have not even tried to give the theater-going public an idea of the artistic merits of Mr. Clarke's impersonation of the modern role of John Morton, the clergyman, in "The Ragged Messenger." They one and all have merely said: "Be sure you go to see this splendid actor in his greatest success."

Creston Clarke will present "The Ragged Messenger" at the Elks' opera house on Saturday night.

CHARLIE JONES SHOT BY HIS OWN GUN

Shot Gun Explodes as Victim Mounted His Horse, Fracturing the Knee Joint.

C. C. Jones, proprietor of the East End Inn, on Mountain road, nine miles east of the city, was brought to the city this morning with his left leg shattered at the knee. He was taken to the St. Joseph hospital, where the wound was dressed by Dr. C. G. Cornish.

Mr. Jones was perfectly conscious on reaching the city and told the story of the shooting in the following words:

"I was going out to find the old mare, and thought I'd take the shotgun along and shoot a rabbit. I tied the gun and started to get on when the gun went off, shooting me in the knee."

It will be a fortunate thing if the doctors are able to save the injured leg, as the wound is directly in the knee joint.

SANTA RITA CASE TO BE RETIRED

VERDICT OF $25,000 WAS TOO MUCH FOR DEFENDANTS—PLAINTIFFS SEEK $50,000 FOR ALLEGED DISCRIMINATION.

Special to The Evening Citizen.

Socorro, N. M., Feb. 4.—Judge Frank W. Parker has granted a new trial in the case of Geo. L. Turner & Co. vs. the Santa Rita Mining company, brought from Grant county to Socorro county on a change of venue, at the last term of the district court.

It will be remembered that the case is of special interest on account of the large amount of damages asked, $50,000, and on account of the fact that the case is probably the first of its kind ever brought in New Mexico. In their complaint, plaintiffs allege that defendants entered into a conspiracy to ruin their business by threats and intimidations directed against their customers. The trial lasted about a week and resulted in a verdict of $25,000 for the plaintiffs. Bonham & Holt, of Las Cruces, represent the plaintiffs, and Harlee & Barnes, of Silver City, and W. B. Childers, of Albuquerque, represent the defendants.

HORTON MOORE DEAD AT EL PASO

In El Paso on Thursday of last week the spirit of Horton Moore, passed to its maker, after one of the longest struggles, lasting years, mortal man ever made for life. Burial was made at Las Cruces Saturday. The deceased was 37 years of age. He was a native of Kentucky. He studied law in the old home state and graduated there with honor. Ten years ago he was married to Miss Catherine Adams in Louisville, Ky., and brought her a bride to Albuquerque, N. M., where they lived for seven years, he practicing law there. Seven years ago a baby was born to them. A wife and son in Las Cruces mourn the loss of a loving husband and father and a mother in the Blue Grass country mourns the loss of a son.

Horton Moore was the victim of consumption. In his death Las Cruces loses a worthy citizen and New Mexico bar loses an able member.

C. P. FREDERICK SURPRISED BY FRIENDS

C. P. Frederick, of 417 North Arno street, was the victim of a pleasant surprise party last night. Under instructions given by Mrs. Frederick, the guests assembled at the Smith home, on North Arno street, and went to the Frederick home armed with baskets filled with good things to eat, and Mr. Frederick was taken wholly unawares. About thirty guests were present. Games were played and cards, music and a feast was indulged in. Mr. Frederick's sixty-second birthday anniversary was the occasion.

CRAWFORD RETIRES FROM OFFICE OF POLICE JUDGE

McCLELLAN TRIES SOLITARY DRUNK—CITY COUNCIL TO APPOINT NEW INCUMBENT TONIGHT.

Undecided as to whether his term of office as justice of the peace expired at midnight last night or possibly tonight, Judge Crawford appeared at police court this morning at the usual hour to find that there was one solitary drunk in confinement, awaiting trial. Also he found W. W. McClellan, the newly elected justice of the peace in precinct No. 12, in the city building. He was there to take charge of his new office. Chief McClellan was at his desk as usual looking over the reports of night patrolmen.

Believing that it was the proper course to retire this morning, Judge Crawford announced that he would not try the case of the solitary offender.

Gathering up some books and papers of a personal nature he turned to Chief McClellan, extended his hand and said: "Well, good bye Mac. Our relations have always been very pleasant." "Good bye," responded the chief, who warmly shook the proffered hand. "I'm sorry to see you go."

Five minutes later J. A. Salarado, a native young man was arraigned before Justice McClellan. A charge of being drunk and disorderly was preferred against him and the defendant admitted his guilt.

"Five dollars, or five days," from the bench.
The fine was paid.
"Go and sin no more," said the magistrate.

To judge from the appearance of the defendant's face he had been in recently what Kit Carson would term "a difficult" case. One of his eyes was swollen and his face bore other unmistakable signs of conflict.

Tonight Mayor McKee and the city fathers will name a new police judge. The choice lies between George R. Craig, who was elected justice of the peace in precinct 26 and W. W. McClellan, elected in precinct 12, the city building precinct. Both have friends in the council.

The bonds of twelve newly elected justices of the peace were approved. The bond of Marcelino M. Gonzales, administrator of the estate of Carlos J. Gonzales, deceased, for $1,600, was approved.

NOT INTENDED FOR PUBLIC NOR SAGE

(By Rev. Thos. Harwood.)
To the Editors of The Evening Citizen
Why should you gentlemen such liberties take,
When I wrote it only for our own Advocate?

My poem I mean, about my age;
It was not intended for the public or Sage.
Neither exactly a play upon rhyme;
Neither, as often, for a kind of pastime,
I have never dreamed to pose as a poet,
And ever hereafter The Citizen should know it.

It is true I meant every word I said,
But did not intend it by all to be read;
But since it's been read by friend and foe
We'll say no more about it but let it all go.

ENGINEERS WAIVE EIGHT-HOUR WORK DAY.

Chicago, Feb. 2.—The engineers on the western railroads have traded an eight-hour work day for a ten per cent ($3,500,000) increase in wages to take effect yesterday. About 27,000 men operating locomotives and thirty-two roads will profit by the agreement entered into between the committees, which were in conference for three weeks. With the advance given to the switchmen a month ago the railroad corporations now have added approximately $10,000,000 to their annual pay rolls. This will not be the end, however, for today representatives of 250,000 conductors and other trainmen will renew their requests for substantial increases running into the millions.

GLUTTONOUS FOR GOLD, RAILROAD TRUST MURDERS HUNDREDS AND IS NOT SATIATED

TERRIBLE SACRIFICE OF HUMAN BLOOD ON THE RAILWAYS OF AMERICA CONTINUES—A "NEW PERIL," THE PERIL OF RAILROAD TRAVEL, DEVELOPS IN THIS TWENTIETH CENTURY—AN APPALLING LIST OF PASSENGERS KILLED IN FOUR MONTHS—SLAUGHTER FOR PROFIT, FOR DIVIDENDS ON WATERED STOCK.

Special Correspondence.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4.—The people of the United States have a "new peril" to try their nerves and wrench their hearts.

It is a peril of the new 20th century—the peril of railroad travel. Approximately 500 passengers have been killed during the last few months in the most appalling series of railroad accidents the country has ever known, brought about as a matter of common knowledge by the desperate efforts of the railroad companies to make more money.

It has not been a question of signals and switches and regulations; it has been a question of hurrying trains through—the flyer, the fast freight.

WHAT THE GREAT WEST RAILROADER THINKS OF HIS PERSONAL SAFETY.

(By James J. Hill.)

Every time I undertake a railroad journey nowadays I wonder whether it is to be my last. The thing has grown to be uncertain. It is a fact, of knowledge to every railroad man, that in this day from two to three trains enter at times into every block of every system in the country. There is danger in it.

Getting from one end of the line to the other, so that they can be started back again.

Railroad employees have admitted on the stand that they disregarded signals—that they had to, to make schedules.

Twenty years ago people traveled on railroad trains with comparative safety. There were some accidents, but few men dieded a trip by rail. Even ten years ago the peril was not great. In 1897 only 222 passengers were killed.

But look at the last four months! A total of 500 human beings, passengers on trains in the United States, were torn and mangled, scalded and burned to death in the coaches of the gluttonous railroad trust. Horror 225 per cent greater in four months than in the whole of 1897!

During 1897, 4,437 persons, including railroad employees, lost their lives during the year on account of railroad accidents, and 26,000 were injured. Last year more than 10,000 were killed and 100,000 injured.

The slaughter for the toll of 1907 has already begun with terrible mortality. The railroads are overworked, overcrowded and overcapitalized. Earnings that should be devoted to improving and replenishing the equipment and paying for a better class of labor are diverted to dividends to keep up the value of watered stock.

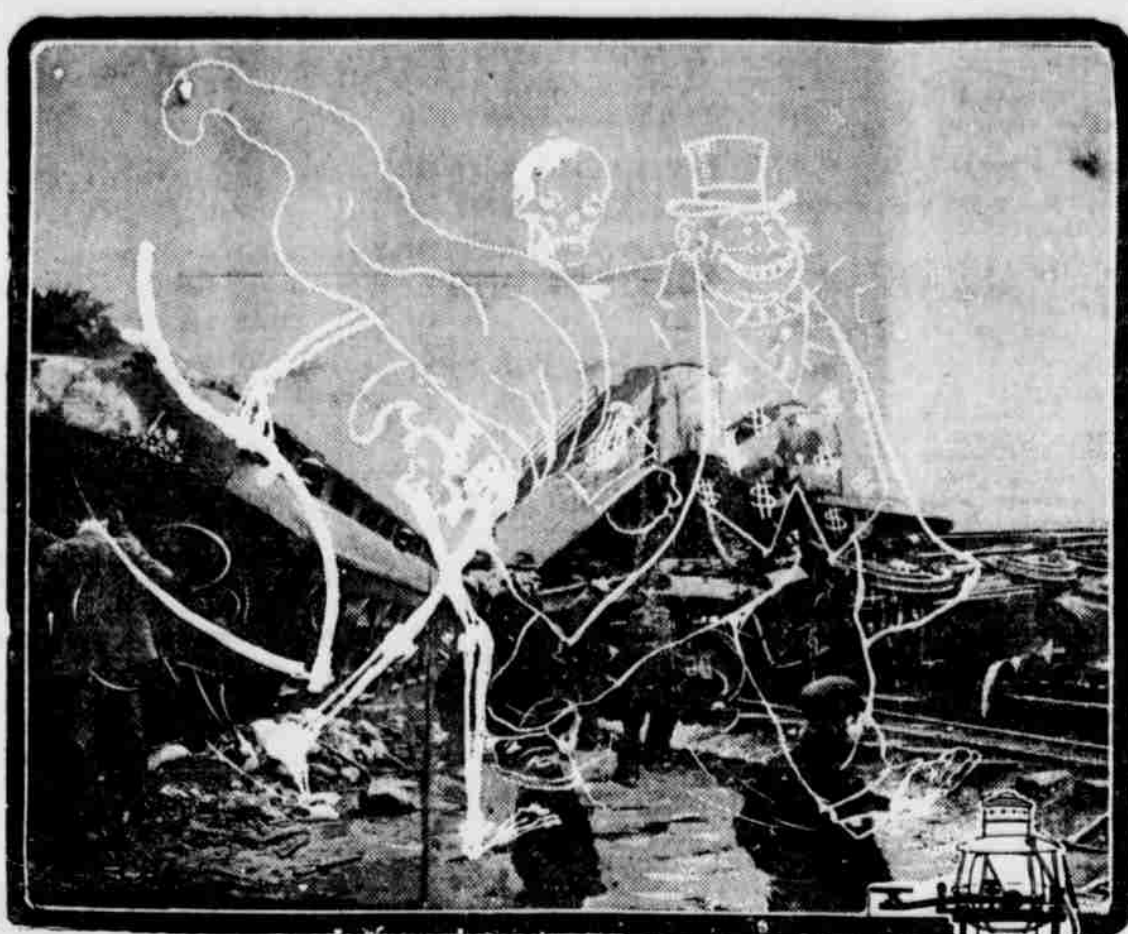

The accompanying table gives the worst of the recent railroad disasters. There were many more the country over where the casualties were one, two or three.

TORRANCE COUNTY'S FIRST TERM OF COURT

The first term of the district court in and for the county of Torrance will convene on Monday, Feb. 4, in the county seat, says the Estancia News. The commissioners have been busy trying to find a suitable building, but so far nothing better than the temporary court house has been available. A meeting of the board will be held tomorrow morning to try to secure some more suitable place.

Probably the most important case to come up at this time will be the trial of Domingo Valles, charged with the assassination of Col. J. Francisco Chaves at Pinos Wells on November 26, 1904. Since the preliminary hearing here in the fall of 1904, Valles has been held for safe keeping at the territorial penitentiary at Santa Fe. Other trials for murder will be Lee Longino for the murder of Davidson at Moriarty, Jap Clark for the murder of James Chase at Torrance, and Bernudez for the murder of one, Lucera, southwest of Willard last year. The term will not be extremely lengthy on account of the scarcity of funds, but several of the cases may be rather drawn out nevertheless.

IN TWO STATES SENATOR NOT ELECTED

Interesting Notices of Several Of Those Who Wear the Senatorial Toga.

Special Correspondence.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Of the seats of thirty senators whose terms of office expire the coming 4th of March, 28 have been filled by the various state legislatures. In two states, however, the struggle is still on, with but few signs of an immediate conclusion being reached.

In New Jersey a determined effort is being made to prevent the return of Mr. Dryden, the rich capitalist and head of one of the great insurance companies of the country. The fight against him is not only personal but because of the alleged fact that he is a prominent corporation man and representative of those interests that have injured the reputation of the party in the state. The chief difficulty of opposing Mr. Dryden's return appears to be the impossibility of centering upon any one of sufficient strength to draw to him the few concrete anti-Dryden republican votes or induce the weak-kneed Dryden followers to enter the enemy's camp.

In Rhode Island, the contest is an endeavor to prevent the return of George Peabody Wetmore, the man who bears the name that a few years ago was amply sufficient to conjure with in the politics of any New England state. The opposition to Mr. Wetmore is badly divided and he and his friends have not given up the fight by any means. Just where Mr. Aldrich stands is supposed to be questionable, although the senior senator from Little Rhode declares he is keeping hands off and is as friendly to Mr. Wetmore as to any of the other candidates, all of whom are his personal friends.

Of those senators who can read their title clear to their seats, beginning with the sixtieth congress, seventeen have been re-elected, and of this group, possibly the most conspicuous is Mr. Cullom, the venerable old man from Illinois, who has been returned to his fifth election term held in the senate. Mr. Cullom came out victorious in the first election held under the new primary law, in a campaign in which he was handicapped by want of money, and his chief political asset was his long and honorable career in the public service in which he had always looked out for the public good as he was given to see the method by which the greatest good for the greatest number could be accomplished, and the further fact that his honesty would never be questioned. He is a poor man and had he failed of re-election it would have been difficult for him to have figured out just how he would have made his living during the remaining years. With such a handicap, he won a signal victory over other men who were not popular before the people but who were ambitious and aggressive opponents.

Among those elected to serve for the first time and in the list of those re-elected, doubtless there are men who may be subjected to criticism, because of their methods in public life and the records they have thus far achieved; but there are many others whose return is a distinct public benefit, and their retirement would have been a loss not only to the country at large, but to the country at large. In this class may be named such men as Frye, of Maine; Bacon, of Georgia; and Morgan, of Alabama. These and others like them are men of great usefulness and of talents that are needed in the proper construction of proper legislation and exposing the fallacies of propositions that seem at times to be inimical to good government.

Going to the far south, it may be said that practically all Washington is glad to see the return of Mr. Bailey, of Texas. As to the great ability of Mr. Bailey, no one has ever expressed a doubt. When he speaks particularly on legal questions, every lawyer in the senate is required to take notice. What will be the effect of the charges made against him in his own state, remains to be seen. Mr. Garrick, of Tennessee, leaves the body at a time when he was commencing to show the stuff of which he is made. For two or three years he was one of the quiet members of the senate. His speech on the Brownsville affair a few weeks ago opened the eyes of the senate to the capacity of the man for a clear insight into public questions and his fine discernment with regard to questions of law. He goes out of the senate accompanied by the sincere regrets of his associates who only learned to appreciate him when it was too late. In the retirement of Mr. Berry, of Arkansas, that small group of confederate soldier-statesmen becomes still further diminished in number and influence. Mr. Berry was not an orator; he was classed among the hard-working members who accomplish more in the committee room by painstaking effort than on the floor through the means of their rhetorical power.

Nebraska has changed front entirely in the character of men it now sends to senate. There was a time, not so long ago, when the senators were notoriously railroad lawyers and advocates. In the selection of Senators Burkett and Brown the state now has two strong anti-railroad men representing her, and any measure of reasonable corporation control undoubtedly will meet with their approval. The elections have eliminated every democratic senator from the northern states but two, Messrs. Teller of Colorado, and Nevada of Nevada. Both of these states belong to the Rocky Mountain group, and can hardly be classed "northern" in settlement or interest.

Among the new men, more interest attaches to Mr. Guggenheim, who will succeed Mr. Patterson of Colorado, probably than to any other man who will sit in the senate. His large wealth, as the head of one of the great smelting works of the west, and his other investments, would be supposed to put him in the class of corporation senators, but Mr. Guggenheim has announced that he has retired from active business affairs and will devote whatever of talent he may have to the best interests of his state and country at large. He says he wants to be a servicable member of congress and has arranged his affairs so that he will be free to support all measures that look to the general good. Mr. Guggenheim's votes will be watched with interest.

The promotion of Alden Smith to the senate, after years of service in the house, will add strength to the upper chamber. Such men as Mr. Smith deserve promotion. He is an expert on tariff and financial matters and going to that end of the capitol full of experience he will enter upon his duties there as well equipped as many senators who have almost reached the veteran classification.

As usual, lawyers predominate among the new men elected to the senate. Mr. Guggenheim and Mr. Richardson, of Delaware, are the only ones of the seventeen who have never been admitted to the bar. These same seventeen also indicate the infusion into the senate of young blood, the youthfulness of the character of the entire group. Mr. Richardson is but 37 and the average of all is slightly in excess of that figure. In some respects new and young blood is needed in the senate which is fast becoming less and less patriarchal.

BOYKIN CAPTURED WITH- OUT ANY TROUBLE.

A. M. Boykin, who is under sentence of twelve years in the penitentiary for killing his brother-in-law, Henry Stoltz, and who escaped from the Roswell county jail three weeks ago, was captured in the Malpais country, forty miles northwest of Carrizozo, by W. F. English, deputy sheriff of Roswell county, and John Adams, of Carrizozo. Boykin was taken to Roswell in an automobile, placed in jail and will be taken to the penitentiary, as the superior court has refused to interfere. He was well armed, but surrendered without trouble. He said he intended to return, give up and serve his sentence when his thoughts reverted to his wife and three children, and would rather be in the penitentiary than be a hunted fugitive from justice. Boykin had been a prosperous farmer and sheep man.

Lame Back.

This ailment is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles and may be cured by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm two or three times a day and rubbing the parts vigorously at each application. If this does not afford relief, bind on a piece of flannel slightly dampened with Pain Balm, and quick relief is almost sure to follow. For sale by all druggists.

MISSIONARY IS NOW AN INDIAN CHIEF

Dr. F. E. Chivers, who ranks among the great missionaries of the world, although a white man, has just been made a full-fledged Indian chief.

He now sits at councils and smokes the pipe of peace with the famous Crow braves.

While doing missionary work among the Crow Indians in Montana

Dr. Chivers secured special privileges from the government for the education of their children.

To show their respect, the Crow braves gladly bedecked themselves in war paint, danced and sang their war songs and with the greatest of ceremonies elevated him to the highest honor in the heart of an Indian—their chief.

They named him Chief Big Water. His authority runs from the borders of the Big Horn canyon to the banks of the Yellowstone river.

The 2,000 members of the famous Crow tribe are no longer warlike, but desire the education of their children.

They live in the valley of Montana, near the scene of the Custer massacre.

Dr. Chivers has devoted his life to missionary work.

He was pastor in New York for 25 years.

He then became secretary of the American Baptist Home Mission Board of the United States.

He is now general secretary of the Baptist Young People's Union and supervisor of missionary work among Indians, in which capacity he became Indian chief.

Sporting Notes

Southern League has adopted "waiver" rule.

"Deacon" Phillips invited to coach Princeton pitchers this spring.

Mississippi is getting in the game. Prize fights are now officially overlooked.

Look out for Chicago will be McGraw's war cry this year, as it has been for some time.

The first few days of racing at Ormond were insufferably dull. Not even a spectator killed.

Every ball park in Cincinnati was under water during the recent rampage of the Ohio river.

To keep in practice for dodging pop bottles, Empire Evans is dodging polo balls as a referee.

Christy Mathewson says he's in tip-top condition. If that be true, it means base ball history next season.

WANTED—Promoter with a purse. Young Corbett and Herman have signed and are waiting for a place to fight.

Comiskey wants to sell the White Sox. Now don't get excited, we mean the houseboat he used on his southern hunting trip.

Height, 5 feet 11 inches; weight, 155 pounds; those are the minimum tests to get on the Madison (Wis.) crew under the new coach, Ten Eyck.

Frank W. Smith, Spokane promoter, says he has $100,000 for mills between Jim Jeffries and Bill Squires, Joe Gans and Battling Nelson; Honey Melody and Joe Thomas.

Most all of us will be interested to know there is agitation on to have Atlantic steamers carry our automobiles uncrated, when we cross the ocean on a little pleasure jaunt.

St. Louis Cardinals want Bob Ewing from Cincinnati. Buster Brown, who was "in bad" with the management last year, is tipped to go in exchange.

Many ball players have been "half shot," but Pitcher Frank Owen, Chicago White Sox, has made a record of being "wholly" shot—no shot "holes"—anyway, he did it while fooling with a revolver. Not seriously hurt.

"SIS HOPKINS," FEB. 5.

Miss Rose Melville, who is making her eighth consecutive tour in "Sis Hopkins," has been booked for an engagement of one night at the Elks opera house, February 5. "Sis Hopkins" may very properly said to be the most popular play which has been staged in twenty years. Each season sees an increase in interest in the fortunes of the simple and oddly dressed country girl of Posey county, Indiana; the girl with the funny pig-tailed hair, the gingham pinafore and the "snakebite" dance; the girl with the gentle, abashed manner and the keen wit and the homely philosophical form of speech. Miss Melville, since she originated the character eight years ago, has played in every city in the United States and in nearly all the larger cities of Canada. The company supporting her this season is the best she has ever had and the production has been entirely redressed by Mr. J. R. Stirling, who is directing the tour. This season's production, the undertaker's assistant, has a new lot of tombstone epigrams.

IRISHMEN TO DANCE IN AID OF CHARITY.

New York, Feb. 4.—In the Waldorf Astoria tonight the Emerald society which includes in its membership all the leading Irishmen in New York City and state, will hold its annual ball. The entire ballroom floors of the hotel had to be placed at the disposal of the society and judging by the number of tickets sold all available space will be occupied. The full proceeds will go in aid of charity.

Neighbors Got Fooled. "I was literally coughing myself to death, and had become too weak to leave my bed; and neighbors predicted that I would never leave it alive, but they got fooled, for thanks be to God, I was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It took just four one dollar bottles to completely cure the cough and restore me to good sound health," writes Mrs. Eva Un-capper, of Grovetown, Stark county, Indiana. This kind of cough and cold cures, and healer of throat and lungs, is guaranteed by all druggists. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

CHARLES HANFORD AS "JULIUS CAESAR," FEB. 11.

There is no man who needs to be more firm in the courage of his convictions than the actor who resolves to devote his life to the legitimate drama. At the outset he is thrown into a maelstrom of competition, even though the pecuniary rewards of an actor who plays small roles are proverbially small. And in addition is the constant disposition of well-meaning friends to hail with ridicule a young man's histrionic ambition. Charles H. Hanford, as a youth discarded brilliant prospects as a lawyer in order to cast his lot unreservedly with the drama. In the time which elapsed before he appeared as a star he played many parts. It was as "Marc Antony" in the Booth-Barrett production of "Julius Caesar" that he achieved his first great hit, and it is as "Marc Antony" that he will appear at the Elks' opera house on Monday, Feb. 11. His revival of the play is one of the most elaborate productions ever made under Hanford's auspices. The principal feminine role, "Portia," will be assumed by that charming and capable actress, Miss Marie Drofna.

MEETS HIS DEATH UNDER WHEELS OF ENGINE

An awful accident befell Ricardo Trujillo, shortly before noon Saturday, causing his almost instant death, as he was walking across the tracks in the local railroad yards to dinner he was struck by engine No. 1615, Engineer Clarence Roberts at the throttle. The engine had just brought in a No. 34 freight train, had been cut off and was backing down to the shops when the frightful accident occurred.

The deceased had been employed at Mrs. W. T. Treverton's premises this morning. Obtaining a quantity of old nails from her, he went over to the Adlon laundry and machine shop, in company with John Patterson, the well known colored man, and sold them for a song. Returning to town the proceeds of the sale were invested in a bottle or two of villainous native wine and he was so soon to be ushered into eternity remarked that he would go to dinner and come back as soon as he had partaken of the meal. These were perhaps his last audible words on earth.

Ricardo Trujillo is survived by a wife and six children. His son, George, a young man, well known about town, is employed in Trinidad, Colo.

Trujillo had for years been employed in the warehouses and depots in Las Vegas and was a familiar character on the streets, going and coming from his work.

IMPROVEMENTS FOR SILVER CITY BRANCH

The Santa Fe has at last commenced the long talked of and much needed improvement of its road-bed between Silver City and Deming. A work train and gang of men commenced at Whitewater last week and are rapidly tearing up the old rails and ties and replacing them with new ties, which are much heavier and have been treated at the company's plant for this purpose. The treated tie supposed to have a much longer life than the ordinary railroad tie. The light rail is being replaced with 75-pound steel and new and up to date frogs and switches are being installed. As soon as the work between Whitewater and Deming is finished, the track from Whitewater to Silver City will be completed in like manner. The new track will enable the company to reduce the time between here and Deming so that the better part of an entire day is not consumed in making the trip. The trip may also be made in greater comfort and safety.

MUDGE SAYS IT'S A SCARCITY OF MEN AND NOT CARS

"The scarcity of men to handle the engines and trains has been more than anything responsible for the inability of the railroads to handle traffic in Oklahoma, and other parts of the country during the past year. With the increased scarcity of labor, the quality of it is deteriorating, resulting in the railroads being compelled to take what they can get."

Such was the statement of H. U. Mudge, vice president of the Rock Island, during his examination concerning the physical condition of the Rock Island lines in Oklahoma, and Indian Territory, at the hearing here today before Interstate Commerce Commissioner Prouty. Mr. Mudge said that the condition of the lines in Oklahoma was as bad as it could be, but with the expenditure of $2,518,560 on contemplation and other way improvements the lines would be in very good condition.

NEW HARVEY HOUSE AT WELLINGTON, KANSAS

Work has been commenced on the new Harvey eating house and hotel. The building will be located to the east of the Santa Fe passenger station, separated from it by an eight-foot passageway. It will be 100 feet long and of the same width as the depot, like it, constructed of Cambridge City limestone. The hotel will contain twenty guest rooms besides a large dining and lunch room and will be equipped with all modern conveniences. C. H. Ohlson of Topeka, Kan., is the contractor. The hotel will cost $35,000 and in addition the Santa Fe is preparing to erect a two-story extension of the depot building on the west side for division offices, making the depot and connecting structures a full block in length. This house and one other are the only new eating houses the Santa Fe has planned to build between Gallup, N. M., and Newton, Kan., on the Santa Fe cut-off.

H. Mason, late night ticket agent at the Las Vegas passenger depot, has resigned the position and gone back to the farm near Salina, Kan., being succeeded at the grating window by W. A. Atkins from Dodge City, where he was tracer clerk and assistant cashier in the Santa Fe's freight office.

SWITCHING GRATING AT OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA

It is said that when Interstate Commerce Commissioner Lane arrives here to investigate the relations between the railroads and shippers he will find conditions very similar to those in the state of Washington.

With respect to the tipping system resorted to by shippers and warehousemen in order to get their cars, the practice has been followed at the Oakland yards for some time and merchants have found that in order

Home Insurance the Best

WE CANNOT refrain from again saying something about Home Insurance. Every time that the proposition presents itself of the tremendous amount of money that is being sent out of New Mexico and Arizona for life insurance to eastern cities, the conviction comes home with increased force that a home company ought to be patronized and the money remain in the West.

The revelations of the past year of the way the enormous surplus of the big Eastern companies has been handled and speculated with ought to emphasize the fact that the people of the West should stop pouring their money into Eastern channels when it can be placed in home insurance, and every dollar of it kept and invested at home.

It is gratifying to note that home insurance is year by year receiving more and more its just deserts. Statistics show that during the past year home companies far exceeded foreign companies in the amount of business written. Why cannot this same record be made here? It can if every individual who takes out a policy the coming year will carefully weigh the proposition of the value it is to keep his insurance at home before he puts his name to the application of any insurance company.

The Occidental Life Insurance Company of New Mexico and Arizona is owned and controlled by the leading business men of the two territories, and offers exceptional opportunities to ambitious and capable men and women to sell its policies.
