Steamer Vaderland Is Floated-- Steam Ship Dakota Grounds But All Aboard Saved.

RUSSIAN INSPECTOR KILLED FOR CRUELTY.
Ufa, Russia, March 4.—Prison Inspector Kolbe was shot and killed this morning by three revolutionists. One of the assassins was captured. He said that the inspector had been sentenced to death by the social revolutionists owing to his cruelty to political prisoners.

STEAMER VADERLAND GETS TO SEA AGAIN ALL RIGHT.
London, March 4.—Advises from Dover state that the Red Star liner steamer Vaderland, which grounded on Goodwin sands last night, got off early today and proceeded on her voyage. The fact that the steamer resumed her voyage indicates that she sustained no serious damage.

Sweetenham Is Out.
London, March 4.—The resignation of Governor Sweetenham of Jamaica, has become an accomplished fact, and he will leave that island as soon as his affairs can be arranged.

STEAMER DAKOTA IS LOST; CREW SAVED.
Tokyo, March 4.—The captain of the Japanese steamer Tokyo, who was steaming abreast of the Great North-eastern steamship Dakota, yesterday reports that when he sighted the steamer she was headed southwest. She changed her course quickly in order to avoid grounding, just at the moment she struck. She was evidently swept out of her course by the current.

The passengers were panic-stricken, but were rescued by boats from the Tokyo and from the land, which took all ashore.

The day was very calm, but the dreaded current peculiar to that locality off Shirahama was very strong. The Dakota now lies one mile off shore with her bow under water up to the second mast. She is still sinking.

SIERRA COUNTY MEN ENGAGE IN FRENCH DUEL

Last Friday, Leandro Armojo and Pantaleo Ribera, of Las Palomas, were arraigned before Judge Thomas Ribera, this precinct, upon a charge of assault with intent to kill, says the Sierra County Advocate. The charge against Leandro Armojo was instituted by his wife, and the charge against Ribera was instituted by Armojo. Armojo waived examination and gave bond for his appearance before the next grand jury in the sum of $1,000. Pantaleo Ribera was bound over in the same amount, but failing to raise the required bond, he was confined in the county jail. The affair seems to be the outcome of a family row. It is alleged that Armojo, on the day upon his return home late one night, he found Ribera in his wife's bedroom, but the accusation is stoutly denied by Mrs. Armojo. According to the story, when Armojo entered his house he and Ribera engaged themselves in a French duel, several shots being exchanged, neither of the duellists being injured. It is claimed that Armojo stated he intended to kill both his wife and Ribera, but having failed to get his man, he spared the woman's life. Mrs. Armojo started divorce proceedings against her husband, but later withdrew the suit.

CLOSING HOURS OF LAST SESSION OF FIFTY-NINTH CONGRESS

Ship Subsidy Bill Failed in Senate, But La Follette Railway Employees' Bill Passed Both Houses

APPROPRIATIONS LARGE BUT RECEIPTS WILL BE LARGER

Cortelyou Says Sum of Seven Days Must be Divided by Seven to Get the Average, as Any Child Should Know.

Washington, Mar. 4.—Both houses of congress met at 9:30 today for the last sitting of the last session of the Fifty-ninth congress. The attendance was about the same in both houses, and those present showed signs of fatigue, due to an almost continuous session since last Saturday morning. The house proceeded as if the entire session were still before it, but the senate finding itself without a quorum and with all necessary routine business disposed of, took a recess a few minutes after assembling, and it was at once evident that there would be no further serious effort to secure action on the ship subsidy bill, which was the only important measure besides the ship subsidy bill, which was "in air," was La Follette's railroad employees' bill.

La Follette's Bill Passed.
Washington, Mar. 4.—The senate today agreed to the conference report on the bill limiting hours of service of railway employees, as agreed upon by the conference last night. The house also agreed to conference report and in both houses the adoption was made by unanimous vote.

The agreement limits the daily service of railway telegraph hours, with a provision that the requirement may be extended as to any particular case when proper showing shall be made to the Interstate Commerce commission.

More Haste, Less Speed.
Washington, Mar. 4.—The final adjournment of congress was delayed slightly by an error in the enrollment of the La Follette bill regulating the hours of service of telegraph trainmen. The bill had been enrolled in advance of agreement by the conferees, and it was found that a change had been made in the phraseology, which necessitated re-enrollment.

Subsidy Bill Goes Under.
Washington, Mar. 4.—The ship subsidy bill, which had been before congress in a more or less prominent way for the past two years, and the bill which had been in an acute form, finally received a quietus in the senate at 11 o'clock today when Senator Gallinger, in behalf of the measure, rose and finally announced his decision not to press it for further consideration.

Twenty Millions to the Good.
Washington, Mar. 4.—Representative Tawney of Minnesota chairman of the committee on appropriations, answered in the house today that instead of facing a crisis in the treasury at the close of the fiscal year 1908, as seemed imminent at one time, there will be a surplus of $20,000,000 at that time.

The total appropriations made at the present session of congress, he said, aggregates approximately $319,945,679.

President's Son Is Better.
Washington, Mar. 4.—Considerable improvement was shown today in the condition of Archie Roosevelt, third son of President Roosevelt, who has been ill since Friday with diphtheria.

President Does Not Wait.
Washington, Mar. 4.—The president on March 2nd signed a proclamation creating or increasing thirty-two forest reserves in various western states. The agricultural bill, then pending, contained a provision that hereafter such reserves shall not be established except by act of congress. The president concluded that the reserves, which he considered very important, would be wholly or in part dissipated before congress could again consider the matter.

NEW YORK LEGISLATURE TO HELP FLOAT ALTON BONDS

Enactment to Permit Savings Banks to Invest in Railroad Securities Inflated Their Value After Stockholders Had Subscribed.

Albany, N. Y., Mar. 4.—That the New York state legislature of 1900 was used to help float the $62,000,000 bond issue of the Chicago & Alton railroad, about which much was revealed by E. H. Harriman in New York City this week, is evident from the official records.

The legislature passed on Feb. 22, 1900, a bill to permit the 125 savings banks of this state to invest in the bonds of the Chicago & Alton railroad company.

VERY PECULIAR TRIAL CONDUCTED IN NAPLES

Secret Society Orders Murder of Treacherous Couple. It Is Done.

PROMINENT PEOPLE ARE ARRAIGNED ON CHARGE

Naples, Mar. 4.—Sensational revelations are being made in the assize court here today in connection with the mysterious murder of a well-known couple named Cecilio, who on June 6 last, were found murdered, and their property plundered. Two days later one of the murderers was in turn stabbed to death, at the foot of Vesuvius, in a quarrel over the distribution of the booty, but otherwise the crime remained a mystery. During the last five months numerous disreputable persons have been living among the criminal clubs of Naples and the neighborhood for the purpose of tracking down the criminals. Two even stood as godfathers at the baptism of Camorristic offspring, for in Naples the associates of secret societies are for the most part persons of pronounced piety, who contribute generously to the upkeep of the priesthood. Cecilio and his wife are known to have been the treasurers of the Camorra (a famous secret society). In their district, and their dwelling house a storeroom of silken goods, the value of the property estimated at an immense haul of money and jewelry having been disallowed by the other associates, Cecilio out of revenge, put the police on the scent. No sooner did the act of treachery become known at the Camorrist headquarters than the members resolved on a summary execution. The assembly in a cavern in the suburbs of Naples. There a death sentence was unanimously passed on the Cecilio. Four noives were ordered to execute the vendetta within 48 hours. The perpetration of the deed was afterwards celebrated at an official banquet, when the novice assassins were admitted to the society as a reward of their fidelity. There are 35 priors, among them are members of the society, and the grand deputy ruler of the Naples Camorra, Genaro de Marinis. The latter arrested an inexpressible number of persons among the smart set. Marinis is a reputed millionaire and a notorious usurer. Glittering all over with gems and driving a magnificent four-in-hand, he was one of the notable sights of the city, and was adored by the ladies. He is now charged with having issued the death warrant against the Cecilio couple. The court is packed with the elite of Naples who consider Marinis a hero.

STANDARD OIL CASES UP FOR HEARING.

Chicago, Mar. 4.—The technical aspects of the trial of the Standard Oil company, having been swept away before Judge Landis on February 15, when John S. Millar, attorney for the defendants, entered a plea of not guilty to the remaining indictments returned by the federal jury last summer the hearing of the case was postponed until today. The plea was entered by Mr. Millar after he had been assured by District Attorney Sims that the government would not contest the right of the defense to demand a bill of particulars providing this demand is made within five days after the commencement of any one of the cases. The corporation is under indictment charged with accepting rebates from railroads in violation of the Elkins law. The indictment contains 190 counts alleging that the corporation accepted rebates from the Chicago & Alton railroad and from the St. Louis & North Western, and East St. Louis, Ill.

BILLIARDS COMPETE FOR NATIONAL TITLE.

New York, Mar. 4.—Eight of the leading amateurs of the billiard game are competing today at the Lederkraus club for the national championship title. They are Charles E. Conklin and Edward W. Helms, both of Cleveland, Ohio; J. Mortimer S. Hoels, Belmont, N. Y.; and Philadelphia, Edward W. Gardner, Acquackanonk, N. J.; and Ferdinand Poggenburg, Lederkraus club, New York. The matches are being held under the auspices of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players and there are over 1,000 spectators including many women. The tournament is open to all amateur billiard players in the United States, and the prize is a grand average of $500 at 14 inch ball line, two shots in anchor barred, in a tournament with recognized amateur players.

FAMOUS CHEMIST DIES IN RUSSIA.

St. Petersburg, Mar. 4.—Professor Mendeleeff, the celebrated chemist, has just died at his villa a short distance from this city. Professor Dimitri Ivanovitch was born at Tobolsk, Siberia, in 1834, and became professor of chemistry at the University of St. Petersburg in 1868. His most notable discovery was the formulation of the "Periodic Law," by which he was enabled to predict the existence of numerous undiscovered elements and even the probable properties which these elements would be found to possess. These predictions have since been verified to a very full extent. Professor Mendeleeff was the author of a work entitled "Principles of Chemistry," which has been translated into most of the European languages.

IN THAW TRIAL DR. EVANS IS NOT SHAKEN

Comes Back All Time to Assertion Thaw Not Responsible for Deed.

NEW YORKER MEETS DEATH IN THE ELECTRIC CHAIR

San Francisco Mayor Did Not Return and His Case Put off For a Few Days.

New York, Mar. 4.—Dr. Evans was continued on the stand in the Thaw trial this morning, and his cross examination was continued at noon. In the course of the questioning Jerome asked: "Were Thaw's mental processes such as that he knew he was attacking White on the roof garden?"

"He had an insane knowledge," answered Evans. The witness said that in the brain storm the defendant had an insane knowledge of what he did, but not the knowledge of a sound mind.

Jerome questioned Evans closely in regard to what Thaw realized in an insane manner, and if he knew the insane condition of his mind on the night of the tragedy, but Dr. Evans always came back to the same stand that Thaw was not responsible at the time of the murder.

Evans was removed from cross examination at noon. He was temporarily excused from redirect examination and Dr. Wagner was called to the stand.

MEETS DEATH IN THE ELECTRIC CHAIR TODAY

Osmun, Mar. 4.—Frank Osmun, who killed his aunt, Mrs. Margaret Keller, in New York City, in 1904, was put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing today.

San Francisco, Mar. 4.—Although Judge Dunn last week made positive order that Mayor Schmitz should be in court this morning, to enter plea to the indictment charging him with extortion, he was not present and it was stated he would not arrive until Wednesday. Judge Dunn agreed to postpone the case. The cases against Abraham Rueb and Chief of Police Dhanan were postponed one week.

RUMORS OF ABDICATION OF THRONES BY KING OSCAR.

Stockholm, Mar. 4.—A rumor is gaining strength here that King Oscar intends to abdicate the throne shortly in favor of the crown prince, who is now acting as regent. If not earlier it may take place on June 6 of this year, which is the golden wedding anniversary of the king and queen. The Crown Princess of Sweden, who is visiting her parents, the Grand Duke and Duchess of Baden, at Karlsruhe, is seriously ill at that place.

SLAW TO SPEAK ON THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

New York, Mar. 4.—Secretary Shaw is scheduled to talk on the "Currency Question" at the annual dinner of the Missouri society, which will be given at the Waldorf Astoria tonight. Owing to the fact that the secretary of the treasury retired from office today, it is likely that his address will be one of the last of his utterances on this subject.

KAISER DRAWS UP FIRST COPY OF FOLK-SONG BOOK.

Berlin, Mar. 4.—The Kaiser today accepted from the hands of the German commission appointed to draw up the first copy of a folksong book for male choirs, which has been prepared by his majesty's individual inconstance. The audience lasted for considerable time and the emperor was in unusually good spirits. He spoke at length on the importance of folksongs and their educational value, and laid special stress on their use in the schools.

ARRESTED AFTER NIGHT RIDE WITH THE KIDNAPPED GIRLS

Michigan Banker Takes His Daughters From Their Mother, Speeds Across State Through Storm in Auto. But Is Outwitted.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Mar. 4.—In a March gale, blowing 50 miles an hour with driving rain to add to their discomfort, Edna Moorehouse, a banker's daughter, and a former clergyman, hurried in an automobile across the lower counties of southwestern Michigan all Friday night with two little daughters, Pauline and Flora, whom early in the day he had taken from their mother. Just as he reached Lima, early Thursday, Mr. Moorehouse was arrested by Detective W. F. Downey of Kalamazoo. This was the climax of a sensational case which caused great excitement in several counties. The chase covered more than 100 miles, and the children were restored to their mother late Sunday afternoon. According to the authorities, the affair was the result of a plot in which Mr. Moorehouse, William Shay, a private detective, his wife and his office boy, Roy Hammond, were implicated. Shay, it is alleged, hired a lively driver Thursday in Kalamazoo and was driven to Detroit, about 20 miles out, where he hired an automobile yesterday. Mr. Moorehouse, who knew his wife had gone to Hastings, leaving the children with her mother, went to the house, carried the children to a buggy and drove away. On the road a change was made to the automobile and the lively team was driven by young Hammond to Kalamazoo. Hammond was arrested and gave information on which the automobile was traced to Scotts 20 miles from Belton, where the Shay was lost. Under the Michigan law, children in divorce cases are in the custody of their mother unless the court declares otherwise, and their abduction is made a felony.

OFFICIAL PAPER FOR CITY OF ALBUQUERQUE

SEATTLE INVESTIGATIONS COME VERY HIGH

Woman of Ninety-Nine Asks
For Pension—Other
Capital Gossip.

Washington, D. C., Mar. 4.—The investigation by a senatorial committee into the affairs of Brownsville, where it is charged that members of the 25th colored infantry "shot up" the town, promises to cost the government a pretty penny. The members of this committee have now been prosecuting their inquiry for two weeks and not a scintilla of evidence has been discovered that tends to link the name of any member of the colored regiment with the shooting.

A large number of the former soldiers are yet to be examined, the total number expected at some time or another to come before the committee running well up towards half a hundred. Besides these, there will be a number of officers of the army and several civilians, citizens of Brownsville. When the mileage cost of subsistence and fees of all these witnesses are taken into consideration, the charge against the government will average probably several hundred dollars a day. The indications are that heavy inroads will be made into the $100,000 contingent fund of the senate which is at the disposal of the committee.

When an investigation of this sort is under way, the committee usually conducting it do not ask in advance what any particular request of a senator may cost. If a senator suggested the desirability of examining a witness who for the moment might be in the uttermost parts of the earth, the committee forthwith would send for him and if the personal affairs of a member of the committee prevented him from attending the session, the sitting would be continued until the following day. In such a session, no matter what the continuance might cost, senatorial courtesy is a great thing and often costs the government a lot of money.

Very Aged Pensioner.
Mrs. Anne Hutson, of Hickman, Tennessee, is the widow of a soldier of the Black Hawk war who died more than half a century ago. In some ways Mrs. Hutson, who is a little behind the times, recently learned that "Uncle Sam" was paying pensions to some classes of people. She didn't quite believe all that she heard so she wrote to Representative Padgett, who represents the district in which she lives and asked him if it were true that the government was giving away money, and said that if it were true she would like to have her share.

Mr. Padgett pointed out that the statements of Mrs. Hutson, who is said to be 99 years old, were true and he hurried around to start the preliminary steps to start the pension. The house committee on pensions has wound up its business for this session and there will not be another meeting until the next congress. Meanwhile Mr. Padgett will see Mrs. Hutson's papers in proper shape and if it is a pretty sure thing that one of the first pension bills to go through the next house will be for the benefit of this aged woman who cannot live to enjoy the pension very long after she gets it.

More Government Inspection.
A movement to extend the present very elaborate system of government inspection. Something has been said in these letters recently about the matter of government inspectors, but despite congressional inquiry the demand for them by department heads goes on. It is now being urged that Canada is driving American fruits and especially apples out of the European market, because of the Canadian law that requires inspection of all fruit shipped abroad. The Americans ship the apples in accordance with the individual ideas of the grower or exporter. The Canadian law requires that each barrel shall contain fruit as marked.

The original fruit marks act of Canada was passed in 1901 and amended in 1916, and required that the market grade of all fruit must be truthfully indicated on the package. Several penalties are provided for violations of the law, the severest has led to the enlargement of the Canadian fruit market to the damage of the Americans. Now our fruit exporters and growers of apples and other fruits for the export trade are beginning to urge government inspection in this particular. There is no doubt but that congress will be asked to sanction this additional system of federal inspection.

Stone-Cutter Congressman.
When congress adjourns next month the only professional stone cutter who ever served in that body will retire. This member John T. Hunt, of St. Louis. His district contains the homes of many of the wealthy St. Louisians, but has been represented frequently in congress by members of the profession.

The Reprobate.
Willie Owl, Ma, what's the matter wit' ya?
Mamma Owl: Sh-h-h. Willie, he's been to the club all day and didn't get to bed until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

bers representing the labor element. John J. O'Neill, long chairman of the committee on labor, was from this district, and was succeeded by "Charlie" Roy, a lawyer and a Republican. Mr. Hunt is well educated, although he has worked at his trade for many years. During his term in the house he has taken a lively interest in labor matters, and has been greatly liked and respected by his colleagues, to whom he has appeared as a sincere worker with nothing of the professional agitator in his conduct with regard to public questions.

FOUR-TRACK LINE PLANNED FOR PITTSBURGH-LAKE ERIE
With a view of extending the road through Youngstown to Cleveland, the Erie Railroad, which is now getting a Pittsburgh terminal, the stockholders of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad, a Vanderbilt property, have voted to increase the capital stock from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000, to be issued in $50 shares. The Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad now uses the Erie tracks between Youngstown and Cleveland, and it is understood here that the road between Pittsburgh and Youngstown will be made a four-track system simultaneously with the construction of a double-track road from Youngstown to Cleveland.

WRECK VICTIM BURIED AT SANTA FE
Funeral services over the body of Luis Padilla, who was killed February 25 in a railroad wreck at Thatcher, Colo., were held at Guadalupe church in Santa Fe on Saturday morning. The deceased, formerly lived at Santa Fe and was the son of Jesus Padilla, now living near that city.

UNLOADED GUN ON SANTA FE TRAIN
An "unloaded gun" came near causing a tragedy last Saturday morning at Antares, a station on the Santa Fe railroad, about eight miles west of Hackberry, says the Mohave County, Ariz., Mexican. A Mexican, Raphael Sanchez was offering a pistol for sale to a number of Mexicans at the section house, and believing it was unloaded, he was examining it. The gun was loaded and the trigger was pulled, and the bullet struck through the groin. The injured man was taken to Hackberry, where he was attended by Dr. Tilton, of the Truxton Canyon Indian school. Later the shooter was arrested and taken to Kingman and the wounded man brought to the hospital. An examination into the matter was made and the shooter was exonerated from blame. The wounded man is getting along all right.

COLORADO PEOPLE LEASE COAL MINES
CONTRACT CALLS FOR 6,000 TONS YEARLY—WORK BEGINS IN OCTOBER.

Mrs. Young, of Fruitland, this week leased her coal mine to C. H. Irvin, of Colorado, who has two other Colorado capitalists interested with him, says the Farmington Times-Herald. The lease was made for ten years and it is the intention of the parties to put on a traction engine and haul the coal here for shipment to western Colorado. The contract provides that they must take out at least 6,000 tons of coal each year, and that they must take out 10,000 tons the first year and will increase each succeeding year.

This means very much for both this town and the Fruitland section, and indicates that some new railroad developments are in sight.

DEPUTY WAYNE ESTES SHOT IN SELF-DEFENSE.
The coroner's jury summoned to examine into the killing of Demetrio Sambrano by Deputy Wayne Estes, at Leopold, last week, has rendered a verdict exonerating Deputy Estes from blame in the matter and declaring that the officer was justified in the shooting in that he acted in self-defense, says the Silver City Enterprise. The jury, which made a complete investigation of the case, was composed of Z. C. Hardin, Bert Eckard, John M. Bartlett, A. H. Kagner, R. O. Boldt and Harry Carsang.

NO STANDARD OF BEAUTY, ALTHOUGH ALL NATIONS FIRMLY BELIEVE THEY HAVE THE WORLD'S GREATEST BEAUTIES.
If eyes are made for seeing, then beauty is its own reward for being.—Emerson.

Probably you would not consider Lady Beatrice Pole-Carew, of England, the most beautiful woman you ever saw. Neither would an Eskimo nor a Japanese nor a Turk. In fact there is no standard of beauty, for many consider five subtle charms to reduce to rule, although certain nations are recognized as producing certain types, and in England, the most beautiful of that type is considered the most beautiful in the world. Philosophers and sages, artists and poets, scholars and authors all have tried their hand at describing what is meant by the word "beauty" and all have failed to reach any definite conclusion.

We ourselves have come to be more or less familiar with the various national types of beauty—the fair-skinned Scandinavian, the languorous-eyed Spanish, the vivacious French woman, the restful German, the sunny-faced and laughing maiden from Ireland, and all the others. When we come to think of it, there is no such thing as a distinctly American type of beauty, because America is made up of all nations, and perhaps in time we will consistently produce women in whose faces are blended the greatest charms of all national types.

The English type, however, is easily recognizable, and Lady Pole-Carew is a notable example of it. It is rather of the classic order—full, round face; generous, well-defined, arched eyebrows; large and quiet eyes; luxuriant hair; a rather queenly and noble head upon slender shoulders. It is a beautiful and very quiet. There is little of the saucy, the vivacious, the piquant, the type of English beauty most admired. Their idea of beauty is that of the ancient rather than the modern school, and while we might be willing to accept Aphrodite or

MR. CLAM HAS A PLEASANT TALK

With America's Strenuous President Who Combines Business With Pleasure.

PHYSICAL ACTIVITY IS COMBINED WITH MENTAL

The French Journalist Understands Some Things Which Had Been a Mystery to Him.

(M. Clam, the renowned Parisian journalist, is invited to call at the white house, and it is with astonishment he writes to France of his interview with M. Roosevelt.)

Washington, D. C., Mar. 4.—I shall now tell to the people of France much that I cannot understand of that marvelous M. Roosevelt, president of these United States. Almost he knows everything! Let my countrymen prepare to have astonishment.

A few days before, I did receive one command to attend the reception of M. Roosevelt at that white house. Eagerly I prepared for it. With thousands of famous congressmen, lobbyists, and other great Americans, I presented my card and was placed in one long line. My heart leaped when I did see M. Roosevelt shaking those hands, poking the ribs of those great men, and smiling with all his teeth.

Soon I stood before him. Turning from one senator, M. Roosevelt did say to me: "Sacré! The hair of me stood up when those eyes did strike me! Also I did disturbance when M. Roosevelt did give to me one complete smile."

He said: "Ha! You! How are you, M. Clam? Come to see me! I will talk with you! Be ready! Are you a good husband and father? Are you worth your salt? Look out!"

Those people behind me did push me away. M. Roosevelt did grasp me by the hand and say: "Ha! Delighted, Senator! Your speech, it was the corker!"

For some hours I did wander among those grand Americans of renown. Here I did see congressmen from mighty cities; cattlemen who own millions of acres of the public land; sheriffs from the Texas state; one bilious of the Alaska; M. Dooley, of Chicago; colonels of those governors' staffs; most of them, I thought, were of that new literary hero, M. Urial Clapsaddle Boggs, author of that best seller, "The Lynch of Lawrence Lancaster." Also, many intoxicating American ladies, with coiffures more dazzling than those Christmas trees. Almost I was dazzled with greatness and beauty when I did return to my pension.

Three days after, I did receive this polite note: "My dear M. Clam: The President will talk to you at the 4:30 o'clock. Brace yourself, old man. Yours, R. M. LOEB."

Precisely at the 4:30 o'clock I did appear at that office executive. This is one small white outbuilding, near that white house. To me it appears without the dignity of one grand republic, yet all Americans do tell me it is the shrewd politics to show simplicity. They say it does fool the voters. Yet, if all Americans understand how it does fool them, how are they fooled? This, to me, is most perplexing.

Handing my card to the negro-American attendant, I was received by M. Loeb with one embrace. He said: "M. Roosevelt will wait on you, ready. Only twenty-six visitors remain."

I did hear those doors slam and the shuffling of many feet. Five minutes, one door opened, and M. Roosevelt did approach. "Welcome, M. Clam!" he said. "With warmth he did embrace me. 'Come, you!' he said."

I did follow him to the private cabinet, and there he said: "I have stood, with book and stenographer, me, you!" said M. Roosevelt to me. I did bow politely, yet M. Roosevelt did not see me. He was dictating to that stenographer. He said:

"Take this, you! M. Scipio Snodgrass, President Afro-American Roosevelt League, Columbus, Ohio State: My dear M. Stenographer: It is impossible for me to attend the banquet prepared for me. Yet, my heart is with you. All men should be good husbands and fathers, if they are worth the salt. Also, all men should pull their own weight. In the long run, all comes down to this. We must treat all men alike; or more so, if possible. Yours truly. Also, take this telegram: His Majesty Mutsuhito, Emperor of Japan, Tokyo. Everything bully. California knuckles. Thanks for war scare. Two big battleships secured. When you want me to threaten war, just command me. T. R. Also, this telegram: 'Wright, American Ambassador, Tokyo.' Tell Mutsuhito to let us on war talk. We've got all we want. T. R.' Send for Taft. Tell Shaw to come over in ten minutes. Where's the foot? Is Cabot Lodge outside? Tell Lodge to have reporters come back at five. We'll have another session for those papers. You may dear Clam change I change my clothes. Let us have the quiet chat. What do you think of those new discoveries in Jerusalem?"

M. Roosevelt did whisk off his coat and reach for one riding jacket. Now, M. Clam, shall we talk? Well, I shall say. Yet, excuse me, you."

"In one minute M. Roosevelt disappeared, returning with those riding breeches! Almost I thought of protest! Also, M. Taft did appear."

"Hi! You, Bill!" said M. Roosevelt, with the smile. "What did those senators say? Do you get the appropriation?"

M. Taft replied: "I did try hard."

"Wait!" said M. Roosevelt, with that scowl. "Tell Senator Cullom to come in!"

M. Cullom did appear, with one haunted look. He did whisper to M. Roosevelt.

"Yes!" said M. Roosevelt, very loudly. "Yet, this man Jones is the crook. I cannot give him that job. You do see, if you have one good man for minister to Spain, I shall appoint him. But we must have that appropriation for Hawaii. You promise to do something for me?"

M. Taft did hand over one paper at which M. Roosevelt made one glance. Seizing the pen, he said: "You do see, M. Roosevelt, I have great business interfering with the Congo!"

"Ah, yes, yes! Tell me, have we got well mixed in that matter?"

"Yes, soon we shall have more news for those reporters."

"Bully! You, Elihu, are the brick. Yet, do not be too cautious. Slip up those animals! The whole world is before you. Keep those ships moving. Good-by! Look here, my dear Clam!"

"Why, Elihu! Didn't I tell you to make the bellicose note to Turkey, and to give it to those reporters when I was not looking? If I did not, I meant to. How can we build up the navy if we do not keep it busy before congress adjourns? Bah!"

They will cure the kidneys and then all danger from uric acid is ended.

Anselmo Armojo, living at 124 Cerrillos street, Santa Fe, N. M., says: "For several years my wife suffered a great deal from backache, pain in the back of her head and rheumatism. Medicines that she used proved of little or no avail until she commenced with Doan's Kidney Pills, which we had the good fortune to learn of through a box at Ireland's Pharmacy. The genuineness of this medicine as a cure for the kidneys was amply proven to her case. After using five boxes she was a well woman and has enjoyed good health ever since. I make this statement unhesitatingly, and am prompted to do so that I may show my appreciation of this remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills."

Did Daughter Give Mother Poison, and If So Was It Not As An Act Of Mercy?

MRS. LEOPOLD WALLAU, UNDER ARREST IN NEW YORK, DENIES THAT SHE ADMINISTERED POISON TO WEALTHY WOMAN SUFFERED FRIGHTFUL AGONY FROM CANCER.

Special Correspondence.
New York, Mar. 4.—Did Mrs. Leopold Wallau give poison to her aged mother, Mrs. Ida Bauer Binge? If so, did she give the mother, to whom she was devoted and who was praying for death, poison as an act of humanity and mercy?

Mrs. Wallau is under arrest pending a coroner's inquest. She denies that she poisoned her mother. There are those who, while not conceding that Mrs. Wallau gave Mrs. Binge a fatal dose of anything, suggest that if she really did it was white arsenic and distressed beyond measure by her mother's suffering from cancer, and with the idea of performing an act of humanity and love. Others suggest that Mrs. Binge, to escape her agony, deliberately poisoned herself. A bottle of mercury was found in Mrs. Binge's body after death. An autopsy was held after two professional nurses communicated their suspicions to the authorities. Bismuth of mercury tablets were used in the sick room.

Counsel for the defense will not even admit that death was due to poison. They say that six other causes of death have been indicated. It is supposed that Mrs. Binge took the poison in champagne which was given her as part of her regular diet. Until the inquiry is ended the household servants are held under bail as witnesses. Mrs. Wallau's husband is a bronze powder importer of 68 East 80th street.

The district attorney's office is looking up other motives alleged to be possible, other than that of euthanasia, the merciful execution of the incurably ill.

Mrs. Binge was very wealthy. Her estate has been estimated at worth $2,500,000 or more.

"HER MOTIVES LOVE AND HUMANITY, IF SHE DID IT," SAYS MISS HALL.

MISS ANNA HALL, CINCINNATI.
She champions the theory of mercifully assisting death of suffering incurables.

Special Correspondence.
Cincinnati, Mar. 4.—One woman who expresses deepest sympathy for Mrs. Leopold Wallau, New York, who is under arrest pending inquiry into her mother's death, which, it is alleged, was caused by poison, is Miss Anna Hall, of this city, champion of the theory that persons in pain from an incurable disease should be assisted to the peace of death by relatives or friends. Miss Hall has attempted to have the legislature enact a law legalizing merciful execution of this sort.

"If Mrs. Wallau will admit that she gave the poison which her mother was suffering all the agonies of incurable cancer, I am sure that instead of regarding her as a monster all thinking people will realize that she was actuated by the highest motives of love and humanity," says Miss Hall.

Miss Hall, when her own mother was dying of cancer, sought to give her perpetual relief by administering a fatal drug. The attending physician would not hear to her pleas, although she offered to sign all sorts of papers exonerating him and taking the full responsibility of the act. The late actress explorer, John Hall, was Miss Hall's father. In a will contest she took occasion to express at length her theory in court. She said she would have gone willingly to the electric chair if she could have done this act of humanity and mercy for her mother.

She declares she carries a bottle of chloroform with her every time she undertakes a railroad journey, and in case of an attack she could administer it to any unfortunate pained under the debris, or to herself if she should suffer that plight.

The same committee reported unfavorably on council bill No. 66, an act relative to the bonds of insurance companies, and recommended the passage of the substitute bill.

The same committee reported favorably with amendments house bill No. 104 an act relative to the administration of estates of deceased persons and for other purposes.

The committee reported and engrossed bills Mr. Abbott, chairman, reported the following bills had been duly enrolled and engrossed. These bills were then signed by the speaker, as follows:

House bill No. 68, an act assenting in an act of congress providing an increased annual appropriation for an agricultural experimental station at the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, Mesilla Park, N. M.; house bill No. 56 an act, fixing the time for holding the sessions of the district court in the first judicial district; house bill No. 12, an act for the encouragement of beet sugar factories, etc.; substitute for house bill No. 33, an act relative to the transfer and real estate records in Colfax and Union counties; house bill No. 59, an act relative to jurisdiction of justices of the peace.

The following bills were introduced:

House bill No. 150, by Mr. Holt, an act relative to the organization of corporations for mining purposes. The bill was read the first and second time by title and ordered translated, printed and referred to the committee on judiciary.

House bill No. 151, by Mr. Holt, an act relative to domain for mining purposes. The bill was read the first and second time by title and ordered translated, printed and referred to the committee on judiciary.

House bill No. 152, by Mr. Holt, an act regulating the sale of commercial feeding stuffs. The bill was read the first and second time by title and ordered translated, printed and referred to the committee on judiciary.

House bill No. 153, by Mr. Mullens, an act to amend section 3213 of the compiled laws of 1897, relative to gaming. The bill was read the first and second time and ordered translated, printed and referred to the committee on judiciary.

House bill No. 154, by Mr. Holt, an act fixing the time for holding district court in Otero and other counties. The bill was read the first and second time by title and in full on its third reading. Mr. Holt explained that this bill was introduced to correct an error in a bill which had previously passed both the house and the council. He then moved the passage of the bill which motion prevailed by a viva voce vote.

House bill No. 155, by Mr. Holt, an act relative to the organization of corporations for mining purposes. The bill was read the first and second time by title and ordered translated, printed and referred to the committee on judiciary.

House bill No. 156, by Mr. Holt, an act relative to the organization of corporations for mining purposes. The bill was read the first and second time by title and ordered translated, printed and referred to the committee on judiciary.

House bill No. 157, by Mr. Trujillo, an act with reference to community ditches. The bill was read the first and second time by title and ordered translated, printed and referred to the committee on judiciary.

House bill No. 158, by Mr. Herrera, an act declaring in force chapter 11 of the laws of 1897, relative to land grants. The bill was read the first and second time by title and ordered translated, printed and referred to the committee on territorial affairs.

The report of the committee on judiciary on amended council bill No. 65, an act for the settlement of disputed accounts by public officers, was adopted by the house, upon motion of Mr. Holt, duly seconded and carried. Two minutes amendments in the wording of the bill recommended by the committee were read and, upon motion, duly seconded and carried, they were adopted. The bill was then read in full on its third time preparatory to its passage. Mr. Holt moved that amended council bill No. 65 "do now pass."

Mr. Holt asked upon his bill and was given the floor by the speaker. He made a speech of some length, declaring this measure was special legislation for one man and rank discrimination against the people of the territory. Mr. Holt challenged him to name "any one man" for which this bill was a special benefit and Mr. Hudspeth weakened his argument by not naming the person to whom he referred, if such a person existed. After a flood of demagogic "for the people" phrases, Mr. Hudspeth closed his speech with a appeal against the passage of the bill.

Mr. Holt was next to speak. Although he has already shown himself the most forceful and convincing speaker on the house floor, as well as a leader of the party advocating the speech which he made in favor of council bill No. 65, surpassed all his previous efforts. There is no doubt that the argument he made changed several votes on the measure in the brief time he consumed in speaking.

"I regret exceedingly that the gentleman from Lincoln did not see fit to name the public official to which he referred and to point out one man in the territory to which the bill gives to a public official any privilege a citizen in or out of public life does not have. In the very first section of this measure gentlemen I call your attention to the words 'any official or any person may invoke this law; is this special legislation?'"

"This law, gentlemen, is designed, to use a slang phrase, simply to give an even break to all persons, and, contrary to the statement of the gentleman from Lincoln, embroilment does not enter into it at all."

"I will ask him: Can not the account of any public official be disputed without some person having embroiled the funds?"

"I want to state that as the present law exists on our statute books, the county or the territory has all the best of it. An official or person whose accounts are in dispute is 'hog-tied.' Such a person can not move hand or foot to straighten out such accounts."

"No, gentlemen, he must wait until such a time as those officers who represent the government bring suit to straighten out those accounts, if such officers ever do bring suit, and in the meantime he must be subject and submit to the basest slanders and his honesty and integrity at the hands of his enemies and the press of this territory."

"The law does not give him the right to bring a suit to have those accounts audited so that he may clear his name before his fellow men. No, he can have no recourse but to submit as best he may to all that may be said to his detriment."

"Gentlemen, the great congress of the United States has created the United states court of claims for the expressed purpose of righting a similar wrong. The humblest citizen of this great country may go before that court and there bring suit against that great government which we all love so dearly. Are the people of New Mexico not entitled to as much?"

Mr. Ruppe made a reply in which he said that the people of Bernalillo county had troubles enough of their own without mixing into the troubles of one official. His opposition to the bill consisted in re-mouthing what had been much more ably said by Mr. Hudspeth.

Mr. Beach said the only objection he had to the bill was that it was limited to one year by an amendment tacked onto it in the council. He said it should go on the statute books to be in force without limitation.

Mr. Holt's motion to pass the bill was then put. The bill passed the house by a vote of 16 yeas to 6 nays. Mr. Denniston and Mr. Lucero being absent with leave. Those voting no were Messrs. Abbott, of Colfax; Hudspeth, Moran, Mullens, Ruppe and Walters.

Mr. Abbott, of Santa Fe, moved to reconsider the vote by which the bill No. 64, an act relative to the intoxication of minors, passed the house. This motion prevailed. Mr. Abbott then moved to reconsider the vote by which Mr. Holt's amendment to this bill making it also applicable to adults, was adopted. This motion also prevailed. Mr. Abbott then moved that the amendment by Mr. Holt be stricken from the bill. Mr. Holt stated that while he still favored his amendment, that he was willing that it should be stricken from the bill because Mr. Abbott opposed it so strenuously. The house then voted to strike out the amendment. Mr. Abbott then moved that the bill as originally read "do now pass this house." The motion prevailed by a viva voce vote.

The following bills were read the first and second time by title and referred to the proper committees:

Council bill No. 7, an act providing punishment for certain crimes. Referred to the committee on judiciary.

Amended council bill No. 33, an act relative to the assessment and collection of taxes. Referred to the committee on judiciary.

Council bill No. 56, an act to amend section 1799 of the laws of 1897, relative to territorial appropriations. Referred to the committee on territorial affairs.

Council bill No. 57, an act for the protection of public bridges. Referred to the committee on roads and highways.

Council bill No. 49, an act relative to annual reports by corporations. Referred to the committee on judiciary.

Council bill No. 54, an act relative to the duties of the auditor. Referred to the committee on judiciary.

Council bill No. 64, an act relative to the duties of the auditor. Referred to the committee on judiciary.

Council bill No. 70, an act to amend section 1, chapter 3, of the acts of the thirty-fourth legislative assembly, relative to railroad. Referred to the committee on railroads.

Mr. Holt announced a meeting of the judiciary committee for 9:30 a. m. Thursday, and of the finance committee at 2:30 p. m. on the same day.

Upon motion of Mr. Gallegos, duly seconded and carried, the house then adjourned until 2 p. m. Monday.

SILVER CITY ELKS GIVE GRAND BALL

Albuquerque People Present. Silver City Herd In Prosperous Condition.

The ninth annual ball of Silver City Lodge No. 412, held in Bell hall last Friday night, was probably the most successful ever given in the history of the city. The floor was in splendid shape, the Port Bayard orchestra never "piped more tuneful lays" and William Rose never catered to a thirstier or hungrier crowd. The hall presented a radiant scene, the austere evening dress of the gentlemen enhancing by contrast the beauty of the gowns worn by the ladies. Supper was served at midnight in the Masonic lodge room after which dancing was resumed until the program was "danced out." There were twenty-four numbers on the program. The committee to whose labors is due the success of the ball, were as follows:

Committee on Arrangements—William H. Newcomb, William J. Rose, F. P. Jones, A. P. Lee, C. C. Shoemaker.

Nothing Too Good For the American People

BOXES A MONTH, proving that the American people recognize, that what is BEST FOR THEM is none too good.

Why this enormous patronage?

The answer is simple: Cascarets are pure, clean, sweet, mild, fragrant, harmless but effective little tablets for the treatment and cure of Constipation and all Bowel Troubles. They are put up in neat little enamel boxes, easy to buy, easy to carry (in vest-pocket or purse), easy to take and easy of action, always "reliable, always the same, they "work while you sleep" and wake you up feeling fine in the morning.

They not only regulate the movement and stimulate the muscular walls of the bowels, but they keep the ENTIRE CANAL CLEAN and antiseptic, forcing out and destroying all disease germs that breed in the accumulated filth unless promptly and regularly discharged. Therefore, they are a great preventive of disease, and may be taken continuously as a precautionary measure.

The new Pure Drugs Act, adopted by Congress on June 30, 1905, and in effect January 1, 1907, is a GOOD LAW and means better and PURER drugs for the American People. We endorse it and will live up to it in SPIRIT and LETTER—an easy task, as we have always been actuated by the same principles and no changes are required in our formula or packaging.

We adopted OUR OWN PURE DRUG LAW in 1896 when the first box of Cascarets came on the market and have lived and worked and produced under it ever since.

To-day, after a record of nearly 100,000,000 boxes sold, Cascarets STAND the greater in PURITY, QUALITY and MEDICINAL MERIT than any other preparation for Bowel trouble in all the world.

This should be a great argument for any one, to try Cascarets AT ONCE, and be healthier and happier for it. Some people have CHRONIC CONSTIPATION with all the horrors derived from it; others have HABITUAL CONSTIPATION from carelessness and neglect, but nearly EVERYBODY has OCCASIONAL CONSTIPATION, which, if not promptly taken care of is liable to result in its degeneration into the worst forms and cause great suffering and perhaps death.

Cascarets, if taken patiently and regularly, will remedy all of these awful troubles, but if taken promptly at the very first sign of an irregularity of the bowels, will act as the FINEST PREVENTIVE ever discovered and will keep all the machinery running in good order.

We advise you to get a little 10 box of Cascarets TO-DAY and carry it in your purse or vest pocket. Take one when you feel anything unusual about your bowels. Your own druggist will sell you the little box, under GUARANTEE of satisfaction or money refunded. All druggists, 10c, 25c, 50c.

A GOOD MEASURE

The morning anti-republican organ is giving much of its space—in fact, column after column—to abuse of the bill, known as council bill No. 65, for the settlement of disputed accounts of public officers. This abuse extends to the friends of the measure as well as to the measure itself, and consists merely in re-mouthing and rehearsing the exceedingly absurd but characterizing opposition of the small democratic minority in the house. Democracy has not for years—if it ever did at all—had the ability to offer anything constructive. It is eminently and essentially destructive. Its watch cry is, "I object!" To pull down, to destroy the existing, and to prevent by obstruction any advance, seems to be the self-chosen destiny of that party. In congress, in the legislature, the same principle is exhibited, the same course pursued.

Of course, the democrats—four in number in the New Mexico legislature—can not in no different manner from their party throughout the country. Anything proposed by the republicans must be opposed by the democrats—else they would not be democrats and therefore not in the legislature. When all other grounds of opposition fail, then the democrats must cry graft, corruption, personal legislation, and then impugn the motives of those who support the measure.

Such being the democratic practice, it is no subject of surprise that the morning paper of this city, which follows at their heel, jumping and yelling as they snarl their fingers, should repeat the democratic objections, adding to them the malevolence of its own hate.

Yet council bill No. 65 is a good measure. It is wise, needed and unobjectionable in every particular. It has been passed in both house with practical unanimity by the majority, and the only thing that could be said against it was the false and absurd assertion that it was intended for the benefit of H. O. Bursum. Such charge is not only unfounded but is an absolute and gratuitous insult to the courts of New Mexico, a reflection upon the judiciary of the territory, whether so intended or not by those making the senseless assertion.

The proposed law will allow any official whose accounts are disputed to take his case into court and have it settled by the methods employed in settling other matters of dispute arising between citizens. The public officers of New Mexico cannot do this at the present time, and the lack of this method of settling disputed accounts is a serious defect in the jurisprudence of the territory. To remove this defect cannot advantage one official more than another. It cannot benefit any official at all, unless he should be benefited; and this point must be determined by the process of law. No one can object to the law unless he wishes to perpetrate or perpetuate an injustice past or prospective.

The Imperial Standard: Newspapers are the proposed victims of the postal commission, or rather the subscribers are, if the proposed law is enacted with all its many petty restrictions, for the subscription prices would necessarily be greatly increased. This proposed legislation is on the theory that the cause of the deficit in postal revenues is due to sending newspapers at one cent a pound. This theory has been thoroughly exposed, the fact having been shown that the franking privilege, or the sending of free mail by officials, is responsible for the deficit. A local illustration of this was afforded some time since. The agricultural department wished to have a ten-acre date farm planted in Imperial valley, for which it imported trees from Africa. These trees, wagon loads of them, were then sent to Imperial, not at individuals would ship them, but by mail, the postal department handling them. The whole expense of this of course helped to swell the deficit and make it appear that the newspapers were a burden to the postoffice department. The planting of a date farm and the transmission of public documents is worthy work in itself, but to compel the postal service to do this work free and lay the blame for a deficit on the newspapers is an evident absurdity.

It is shown by statistics compiled by the Railroad General Managers' association that the pay rolls of American transportation lines in the current fiscal year will, for the first time in their history, exceed $1,000,000,000. Last year's pay roll, as reported by roads representing 34 per cent of the country's mileage, was $962,800,000, a gain of $44,000,000 compared with 1905. Assuming that the normal increase, resulting from expansion and business activity, is no more than it was last year, or $44,000,000, and that the scale advance, due to increase in wages which have already become effective, will amount to $40,000,000 more, they will have a total of wages to be paid in 1907 amounting to $1,047,800,000. Inasmuch as wages average 42 per cent of the expenses, it is estimated on the basis of a total of $1,000,000,000 pay of employees, that the railroads will have to earn $2,500,000,000 to justify the wage increase of this year, or $200,000,000 more than they did in the fiscal year of 1905-6.

Over 8,000,000 Bibles were sold in this country last year. The sale of 8,000,000 copies of the Bible in a single year is a rather significant fact. It means that one person out of every ten of our population bought a Bible last year. Why this phenomenal demand? Certainly there must be something between the covers of this old book that the people want. On the very low level of demand and supply it must be said the book fills a great need or a great longing of human nature. Its friends contend that it finds the human heart at lower depths and at loftier heights than any other volume in all the world; that it fits the human soul as the sea fits the land, as the air fits the mountains. Certainly, as attested by the fact that men buy it by the millions, there must be something in the claim of its friends. Is there some intimate connection between this Bible buying and the great obvious revival of the national conscience, or is it only a coincidence?

A recent telegram from the capital of Missouri gave information that Representative Sam Clark had introduced into the state legislature a bill which reads: "Any person of the age of fourteen years and upward, who shall curse or damn in any public place, or profanely swear, shall, upon conviction, be fined in a sum not exceeding $1 nor more than fifty cents." A petition asking that this bill giving the right to vote on a proposition to open the saloons after 1 p. m. on Sundays be passed was presented by Senator Kliney. It contains the names of 60,000 citizens of St. Louis and weighs sixty pounds. This will show even representatives differ even in the same legislative body.

An important bit of proposed legislation that doubtless will be overlooked in the shuffle of the closing days at Topeka, says the Leavenworth Times, is a measure directed at the practices of the fire insurance trust. Kansas patrons of fire insurance concerns have been literally held up of late years. One man makes the rates for all the companies, maintaining quarters at Topeka for that purpose. The people have to pay the price or do without protection against fire loss. It is such a combination as the federal law absolutely prohibits and should be penalized quite as strongly by state laws.

Representative Walter Brownlow, who has been in congress from Tennessee for ten years, made his maiden speech only a few days ago. Representative Ruppe, of Illinois only a few weeks and for the first time, yet the number of his maiden speeches already reaches into three figures.

The prospects of Albuquerque were never so bright as at the present time, and never was there more reason why the people of the city may hopefully engage at one man in the city's upbuilding. Every indication encourages the assertion that within the present year Albuquerque may see her population increased fully 6,000 or 7,000 above the present number.

The great scientist and engineer gave a cry of joy, says an exchange. He had just solved the problem of how trains could be made to run at the rate of 300 miles an hour. "The speed will be wonderful," he cried. "Only one thing in the world can beat it." "And that?" they asked. "A bit of racy scandal."

HAS THE WOMAN OR THE MAN BETTER TIME IN THIS LIFE?

Which has a better time in life, a man or a woman?

This little question has England by the ears. Geo. R. Sims, playwright and journalist, provoked the discussion when he declared in the London Daily Mail that women have a better time in life than men. Everybody has rushed to express his or her views, and the English newspapers reek with warring arguments.

Now the question has come to America. Why not ask: Which has a better time in life, a ring-tailed monkey or a horned frog? a chipmunk or a chimpanzee? a bird of paradise or a tortoise shell cat? a sheep or a goat? a man named Smith or a man named Jones?

The first answer is another question: What do you mean by "a good time?"

Doubtless the ring-tailed monkey's idea of happiness is not the same as the horned frog's. The chipmunk and the chimpanzee would have entirely different conceptions of "a good time." Neither would the bird of paradise agree with the tortoise shell cat. If the sheep was a mild, inoffensive creature and the goat of a rancorous and evil disposition, the sheep would find his happiness in following her good-natured friend and the goat his in raising what they call a ruction. And Smith's idea of happiness would coincide with Jones' just to the extent that Smith and Jones had the same tastes and inclinations.

The propounder of this vexing question did not ask, which has the truer conception of happiness, a man or a woman? Aristotle, the father of all philosophy, failed to define happiness, and had to reason in a circle.

"What is happiness?" they asked him.

"Happiness," replied Aristotle, "is that which comes to the man who is most closely guided by his reason."

"Then who," they persisted, "is the reasonable man?"

"The reasonable man," said Aristotle, doubtless scratching his head, "is the man who is happy."

Sims supports his assertion by many arguments. "Woman," he says, "while always asserting her strength, rarely fails to claim the privilege of her weakness. Children fill only the leisure of the most loving father, but fill the life of the mother. Whatever pleasure there is in absolute power, that pleasure is the woman's and not the man's. Every new frock, hat, piece of jewelry and parasol is to a woman a new joy. Man makes money; woman spends it. Home, family and love are woman's joys as they can never be man's."

Yet, if these are woman's joys, what of the joys that are equally as distinctly man's? A man finds joy in the building up of a successful business, in the achievement of political or intellectual aspirations, in that comradeship which can exist only between man and man, in a circle of society as different from the woman's as hers is from his, in being the master of his household, in that perhaps keenest of all delights, the satisfaction of making something, producing something, creating something—in a hundred ways of which a woman, because she is a woman, has no comprehension.

Analyzed, the question is scarcely a question at all. A woman or a man has "a better time in life" than another woman or another man just in proportion as her life or his life fulfills her or his ideals of happiness.

DISPEL GLOOM AND LIVE IN SUNSHINE OF HAPPINESS

All that unlimited money could do has been done to make the new Women's and Children's hospital in New York one of the most complete and sumptuous in the world. But already there has been found a serious defect—a little thing that is of the utmost importance. The green of the richly decorated walls gives to the patients a pallor and causes them to think themselves more ill than they really are.

It is a fatal defect in a hospital, and the costly decorations must all be done over. For cheerfulness and hope are better for the sick than medicine. But a dismal atmosphere is as disastrous outside of hospitals as in them. Every physician—and layman, too—knows that we may increase bodily suffering and even engender the very disease we dread by continually dwelling upon our ailments. On the other hand, we may augment our health-power by expelling discordant thoughts from the mind, as one would eject a thief from his house. Happiness and discontent are in the main a state of mind. Nine-tenths of the little ills and worries would disappear if the will were resolutely set against them.

The mental conditions that govern success are precisely the same as those that govern health and happiness. Success is largely a creation of the mind. A stream cannot rise higher than its source, nor can a life rise higher than its ideals. Even a Raphael could not paint the face of Christ with Satan in his mind for a model. Actual afflictions we learn to bear. The crippled, the hopelessly diseased and the poverty-stricken have, since time began, taught us our best lessons in patience and cheerfulness. But the unhappiness that comes of absorption in self and the failure that comes of fear have filled the world with doleful moanings.

See the point? You make the walls that confine your life. You can color them as you choose—with depressing green that throws a pallor on you and makes you look sick, feel sick, be sick, or with bright, cheering colors that put the glow of health and happiness and success upon your face and the realization of them all in your heart.

PLEA FOR THE PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO LAND WE LIVE ON

Here is something new under the sun. A man named Rockwell Sayre, of Bryn Mar, Pennsylvania, has proposed a law for the "prevention of cruelty to land." He has organized a society after the model of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. He says the land of the country is being "abused, cruelly treated," by heartless farmers who plant the same crop year after year. There is no rotation, no resting of the soil by using it as meadow or pasture. Therefore Mr. Sayre has had a bill drawn which he has sent to several state legislatures, forbidding the planting of the same crops year after on the same land.

He says we have lost the buffalo and the prairies of the north, both of which were declared to be inexhaustible and now are exhausting the soil on the same theory. There is no doubt the people of the eastern states are now face to face with the alternative; and more or less, a like situation will soon confront the owners of lands in the middle-western and western states.

Millions of dollars worth of fertilizers must be used every year on the worn-out lands of the east. In the country west of the Mississippi where the land is newer and more fertile is not yet apparent—but it soon will be. Because it stands to reason that excesses of any sort produce degeneracy. Overhardening of the soil is no exception. The strength of America is the strength of its soil. When the soil degenerates the people must degenerate. Mr. Sayre has put his finger upon a very important concern.

"ONLY A WORKING GIRL"

By Beatrice Fairfax.

"Only a working girl!" The above came laughingly from the lips of one of Chicago's most beautiful and aristocratic women in explanation of a snub administered to a lady whom she was pleased to designate as "only a working girl." Yes, she was only a working girl, but she was also a lady, and one far the superior of the woman who considered herself better than she, to the extent that she lowered herself to snub and insult her, in breeding if not in social position.

Why is it that just because a woman has to work for a living she should be exposed and compelled to endure snubs and indignities at the hands of the snobs who consider themselves so much her superior, simply because they happen to be placed in a position where they have plenty of money to spend without working for it? Why is it that just because a woman is doing her best to serve you and makes it pleasant for you that she should be treated otherwise than you would expect to be treated were you in her place? Just place yourself in her position for a moment. Wouldn't you expect all the deference and respect that should be accorded you by the public? Of course you would, and you would be entitled to it too; but why don't you give it to the working girl who serves you today? No matter whether the girl be behind the counter where you trade, in the store, office, hotel or restaurant, she is a woman and she is working for her living earning every cent she gets, and working hard for it, and as such she is entitled to the courtesy and respect that you would exact for yourself or daughter were you in her place. The working girl is a factor of the world today, and has won for herself a place in the working ranks of the world that can be filled by no one else, and she is just as much and just as important today as the society women who consider themselves so much her superior.

Did you ever find a class of women who were more courteous, more anxious to please and help you than the working girl? Of course you didn't, and you never will. And yet she is "only a working girl." But only in the estimation of the snob, for no true lady would ever knowingly wound the feelings of a woman at whose hands she has received courtesy and consideration. Thank God there are not many women who try to walk over the working girl, and who so far forget their breeding as women and ladies as to make remarks that cut to the heart, not only the woman at whom they are aimed, but every true hearted woman who is a "working girl," and is proud of it. It would be hard to think that the woman of today, the American woman who is raised as the noblest, highest and best, should be deteriorating into that most despicable of mortals—a snob.

CHINAMAN'S BRIDE STOLE AWAY FROM HOME TO MARRY

Used to Dine at Shanghai Restaurant--Groom Wealthy Fruit Merchant.

According to the Los Angeles Examiner, the bride of F. H. Chew, the Chinaman married here last Friday, was a Monrovia, Cal., girl, he Examiner says.

A dispatch received from Albuquerque, N. M., last night stated that Miss Emma F. Culver, a pretty American and Frank H. Chew, a Chinese, were married there during the afternoon by Justice of the Peace George Craig.

Several Chinese here last night stated that the bride was a Monrovia girl, and soon it was discovered that Miss Emma F. Culver, well known there, and of a prominent family, last Tuesday resigned a position which she held and left her home.

The young lady lived with her mother at Duarte, where she was employed in the office of the Monrovia Fruit Exchange. It was stated in Monrovia last night that upon leaving her position she left the town, presumably for Los Angeles, and has not been heard from since.

J. W. McGraw, a brother-in-law of Miss Culver, who lives at Monrovia, said last night that he did not believe it could be true that she had married a Chinese. He said he did not think she had any Chinese acquaintances.

Chew is known by employees of the Shanghai restaurant, at 421 1/2 South Spring street, who say that he has at times resided at a pretty American lady into the establishment to dinner. He is a merchant and a wealthy man.

NEW DIRECTORY WILL BE OUT MAY 1ST

Indications Are That the Work Will be the Best Yet Published.

The Citizen Publishing company regards to announce that owing to the prolonged illness of its manager, W. T. McCright, the publication of the directory of the city of Albuquerque for the year 1907 will be delayed till May 1st.

It is a well known fact to many who have had experience in the line of directory building that these publications are next to useless unless supervised by persons who have conducted such enterprises in the past and who have been in the district to be covered for a considerable time. This experience is possessed in the fullest extent by the manager of The Citizen Publishing company, whose previous efforts in this line have been the only successful ones the city has so far known.

In response to the advice of his physician, Mr. McCright will leave this evening for French Lick Springs, Indiana, to be absent for the period of one month, and on his return the work of publication will at once be undertaken. The progress already made in the gathering of the material for this year's directory is the most complete and attractive volume of this kind so far undertaken here, and further efforts will be made to public through advertising and subscriptions is earnestly solicited.

Chew is known by employees of the Shanghai restaurant, at 421 1/2 South Spring street, who say that he has at times resided at a pretty American lady into the establishment to dinner. He is a merchant and a wealthy man.

500 PEOPLE WITNESS SUNDAY RACES AT TRACTION PARK

Crowd Eager But Sport Only Ordinary--Band Played Popular Airs.

The first race meet of the season to be given by the Gentlemen's Driving association was witnessed by a large crowd at the Traction park yesterday afternoon.

The day was ideal for such an event and to add pleasure to the occasion the first race meet was present and discoursed popular airs during the afternoon.

Two of the three races scheduled were pulled off. The events and their results were as follows:

First race--Illustrations Mail, owned and driven by J. Johnson, first; Maud Subberry, owned by J. Subberry, and driven by A. Frost, second. Time 1:12 1/2 and 1:14.

Second race--Shecam owned and driven by J. Levy, first; Maud Mack owned by C. Coe, and driven by A. Frost, second. Time 1:12 1/2 and 1:14.

The third race, a free-for-all pace, was not pulled off on account of some of the horses being absent. The association, however, is very well pleased with the results and will have another meet at an early date.

An incident, which caused a ripple of laughter to spread over the faces of the spectators, was the sudden predicament of two small boys, who were sitting on the fence encircling the race course. The lads were deeply engrossed in discussing the probable outcome of the race, when the board upon which they were sitting gave way beneath them and the lads tumbled company in a most informal manner.

A large number of base ball players and fans spent the afternoon in practice games on the foot ball field in the center of the arena, and in all, Sunday was a gala day for those who long for summer and the pleasures the season brings.

FIREMAN FALLS FROM BARN LOFT; UNINJURED

THOMAS S. HUBBELL'S BARN BURNS, ENTAILING LOSS OF $600.

A barn in the rear of Thomas S. Hubbell's residence, on West Railroad avenue, was partially consumed by fire last night. The estimated damage is about $600. William Collier, a fireman, fell from the second story of the structure, but luckily escaped serious injury. He was badly shaken up, however. George Bassett, another fireman, today suffering from the effects of inhaling smoke and dust in fighting the flames.

The fire broke out shortly after 11 o'clock last night, and succeeded in getting the blaze under control after heroic effort. It is thought rats caused the fire, as a large nest was found where the blaze had its origin.

Collister, who worked in the barn loft, was seeking eggs from the rats, and walked out of the door about twenty feet above the ground in the blinding smoke. His escape from injury was the chief topic among the boys about the fire headquarters this morning.

REMAINS OF GALLUP JAPANESE BURIED

An unusual ceremony occurred Tuesday night near Hillside cemetery, when the remains of S. Sakai were cremated, says the Gallup Republican.

Thanksgiving day at the Gibson mines by a fall of rock, his skull being fractured. He died seven or eight days later, and on Monday his remains were interred with great ceremony by his countrymen in Hillside cemetery. Recently his relatives in Japan wrote for the remains to be exhumed and cremated and forwarded to them in that country, which was done last night, the ceremony being accompanied by prayers for the repose of his soul. The ashes were taken to the Kuehenbecker establishment and placed in a metal box ready for shipment.

The crematory fire was seen by some of the town people, who wondered what was going on over the hill. Sakai was not a poor Japanese, hence the ceremony attending his demise.

BISBEE PEOPLE FAILED TO SHOW UP

The Bisbee people who were expected to arrive in Gallup Wednesday to take over the mines of the Gallup Fuel Co., did not arrive nor did they remit the amount necessary to take up the option, although they had sent word that they were coming, says the Gallup Republican.

According to the wording of the option the Bisbee parties have forfeited their rights and the present owners retain possession of the property. It is believed that the labor troubles in Bisbee had something to do with the non-attendance of the plans of Huxton and his associates.

ALABAMA QUAIL FOR NEW MEXICO

C. A. Hudson and Baderick Stover received a shipment of twenty-four Alabama quail this morning, which they will liberate on their game preserve near the city.

Messrs. Hudson & Stover hope in this way to give the birds a chance to multiply and replenish the country adjacent to their preserve with game for shooting a few years later.

CORRESPONDENT BOOMS GOV. HUGHES

For the Presidency—Other
Items of News and Gossip
From Great City.

Special Correspondence.
New York, Mar. 4.—During the state campaign last fall, predictions were made freely that Charles D. Hughes, if elected governor, would keep up very strong as a republican presidential possibility in 1908. Since the election of Mr. Hughes by a decisive vote this presidential talk has been on the increase, and Governor Hughes has been greeted as a probable candidate on frequent occasions. While he is attending strictly to business in the executive chamber at Albany and is doing nothing to encourage this talk, it is very plain to those around him that the mention of his name in connection with this nomination does not hurt his feelings in the least.

Mr. Hughes is a strong man and is performing the duties of his office in a manner to justify his election. In addition to being a strong man there is no dodging the fact that Governor Hughes is about the chillest proposition that has been discovered in New York political life in many years. This makes him doubly dangerous to the plans of President Roosevelt and other Washington statesmen who have been going ahead with their own ideas concerning what the republican national convention of 1908 should do.

When Governor Hughes was investigating the lighting combine of this city and then was investigating the insurance companies, he demonstrated to the satisfaction of the public that he was a man of determined ideas concerning the conduct of public officials. On the strength of this he was elected governor and, in his two months in office, certainly has carried political death and disaster into the headquarters of machine politicians.

The fact that Mr. Hughes was elected as a republican has contained no grains of comfort for his party associates. Had he been a democrat he could not have been more ruthless in his pursuit of republican officeholders who did not come up to the standard he had set. The result is that his two months in office have given satisfaction alike to clean democrats and clerics and republicans who have caused terror among those in the machine ranks.

Not since the governorship of Grover Cleveland, now quarter of a century ago has the state of New York had an executive determined to secure political reform by first cleansing his own party. Hughes like Cleveland, has picked up bitter strife in the ranks of those who worked for his election. But it was this action on the part of Governor Cleveland that made him the candidate of his party for the presidency in 1884, and many close students of political affairs believe that history now is repeating itself.

During his two months in office, the governor has beaten the legislature into submission, has named his own man as superintendent of public works to carry out his big canal, has instituted searching reforms in the national guard, and has gone after the state insurance department in a manner that promises its complete overhauling. He also is responsible for legislation to completely remodel the state railroad commission, and, so far, has only begun.

Whether or not Governor Hughes is destined to become his party's candidate for the presidency next year, at the present time he certainly is casting a shadow that can be seen from the white house without the aid of glasses.

Subway System Extending.
New Yorkers will be traveling in steel cars beneath the surfaces of both the Hudson and East rivers inside of six months, if the committee of the contractors who are now building the tubes from Manhattan Island to New Jersey and from Manhattan to Brooklyn are carried out.

Officers of the Interborough Rapid Transit company have announced that the cars will be running under the East river from the Battery to south Brooklyn by July 1. This tunnel is an extension of the present subway system and, when completed, will be the first tunnel connection in use between the two boroughs. Officers of the McAdoo tunnel already have announced that their tube from Manhattan to Jersey City will be in operation by September 1.

To all practical purposes Manhattan no longer will be an island when these tunnels are finished, because a person then will be able to travel by rail on dry ground under any one of the three rivers that bound the island on the north, east and west, the tunnel under the Harlem river having been completed and in use for nearly two years. It is more than likely that the future will witness the operation of another tunnel leading from Manhattan on the south so as to connect with Staten Island and the Jersey mainland in that direction. This, however, because of the length of such a tube and because also of the present comparatively small population on Staten Island, will not come for several years.

In addition to the two tunnels that are promised to be in operation within the next six months, there are so many other tunnels in course of construction that it is hard to keep track of them. The Pennsylvania railroad rapidly is pushing work on its North river tunnel, by which its trains will come from Jersey City into its big Manhattan terminal, occupying the space between Seventh and Ninth avenues, Thirty-first and Thirty-third streets.

Its tunnel under the East river, connecting the same terminal with Long Island City and the Long Island railroad, also is being built rapidly. And there is the Stuyvesant tunnel, being built by the Belmont interests, running from Forty-second street in Manhattan to Queens Borough. The McAdoo interests also are completing a second tunnel under the North river, to run from the foot of Christopher street to Jersey City where it will connect with their tunnel which reaches Manhattan near Cortlandt street.

These two tunnels form a letter U with each point in New York and with the base in Jersey City.

Distributing Population Better.
The construction of tunnels, subway extensions and other transit lines is accomplishing much in the way of distributing New York's population over territory that, for years, has been nothing more than farm land and a poor farm hand at that.

During the present year enough persons will move out of Manhattan Island, to the new suburbs, to make half a dozen cities. No less than 500,000 persons will figure in this shifting of population because of rapid transit development. Sites have been mapped out for nearly a score of towns, all located within the city limits, and most of them in Queens Borough, where people will be able to secure small detached houses for rentals that would be insufficient to hire tenement quarters on Manhattan Island.

Real estate boomers have been working on this proposition for some time, and, naturally, they have overdone things considerably. Small homes are being built all over the new suburbs and development is rapid. The great middle class of home investors are flocking to these places and the various colonies are flourishing. The history of these places is merely a repetition of the history of New York itself, for Manhattan Island today is merely a gathering together of scores of these old villages.

Plan to Dispose of Snow.
As a result of the outrageous condition of the streets of New York during the past winter, the department of street cleaning has come forward with a belated plan to keep the various thoroughfares free of snow and slush. The plan, of course, calls for a large expenditure of money, but this always is to be expected in any plan for municipal improvement, especially in this town. The worst feature of the new suggestion is that it would take at least a year to put it into effect.

Commissioner Craven head of the department of street cleaning has laid before the board of estimate a suggestion to dispose of snow by dumping it into a large number of basins conveniently located throughout the city, over trunk sewers. The present sewers would be used as far as possible and additional lines would be constructed wherever necessary.

The Craven plan contemplates the use of salt water, which would be pumped into these sewers from the new high pressure water mains constructed for the fire department, so that the snow could be thoroughly flushed away. It is not believed that very much water would have to be pumped into the sewer lines because the temperature in the big sewers generally is sufficiently high to melt the snow as fast as it would be dumped in.

As the city now spends in the neighborhood of $2,250,000 each winter to clear the snow from the principal thoroughfares it is believed that the city in a very few years would save enough money by the new procedure to pay the cost of installing the system. Commissioner Craven estimates that under his plans now could be removed from the principal thoroughfares in one-third the time now required and at one-third of the present expense.

Women School Teachers.
An interesting fight is being made by the women school teachers of New York to have the city place them on the same salary footing as the male teachers. Their claims have been rejected by the board of education the teachers have carried their fight to the legislature and are using all possible influence to secure favorable action on their bill which now is pending.

The Interborough Association of Women Teachers with 7,000 members is making the fight for the bill, and advances the claim of "equal pay for equal work." The board of education is fighting the proposition bitterly on the ground that its enactment would cost the city fully $6,000,000 a year over present figures. The members of the board also declared that the work of the women teachers, in most cases, could not be classed as equal to the work of the men because men engage in the profession of teaching take up the work for life, whereas the women in most cases take it up merely to cover a period of time until they become married and leave their occupation.

The expenditure of the city for the general school fund of the education al budget already amounts to more than $18,000,000 a year, and it is figured that it would reach the total of $25,000,000 if the cost of the 12,000 women teachers were placed on the same basis as the salaries of the 2,000 men teachers.

Pan-Aryan Association.
Several prominent members of the Oriental colony in this city formed a society known as the Pan-Aryan association to further the interests of Persians and Indians in America. Peculiar interests attaches to this society as it is the first of its kind to be organized in America. Already it has a membership of more than one hundred, and branch associations are contemplated in Boston, Philadelphia, and other large cities where Orientals reside in sufficient number. Among the members of the parent body here are several natives of Bengal, who are Hindus by religion. The membership also includes a number of Mohammedans.

Many students from the Orient have come to America to complete their education, and this tendency has become more and more marked in recent years owing to the boycott declared on English rule in India by the inhabitants. The Pan-Aryan association will endeavor to provide all possible facilities for students to learn the various arts and industries of the United States. The organization is headquartered in Thirty-fourth street opposite the Waldorf.

Parlor Cars for Horses.
The development of the parlor car service for horses has reached such a state that the New York Central lines have just ordered twenty cars, equipped with steam heat and electric lights, for the exclusive transportation of valuable horse flesh.

Experience has taught the management that such cars are a good investment for if a horse valued at $25,000 catches cold while being shipped, the owner of the horse is called upon to pay for the horse if it dies and it can be shown that the car was not properly heated and ventilated. As thousands of race horses are transported from one part of the country to the other each year the proper care in handling this business makes necessary the use of carefully constructed rolling stock.

It is no uncommon thing for millionaires to ship their horses each winter from the east to California, and then to bring them back in the spring. The owners do not object to paying special rates for cars, but they are more than ready to come back at the transportation companies if anything happens to the horses in transit. The cars just ordered by the Central are fitted with food and water compartments, harness closets, and suitable living quarters for the men in charge of the animals.

The automobile cars ordered last year by some of the eastern railroads have proved so popular with shippers that many more have been ordered this year by leading roads. These cars are built with special large doors to facilitate loading and unloading.

Sly Old Elephant.

A novel copartnership in the banking business has been in existence for some time between Gumbo, the trick elephant at the Bronx park zoo, and Jack Gleason, his keeper. The firm has been doing business under the firm name of Gumbo & Gleason, but the partnership was almost dissolved a few days ago when Gleason discovered some of the business methods of his associate.

In front of Gumbo's stall hangs a cigar box bearing the name of the firm and in this box visitors are expected to drop their pennies and nickels. The elephant works a sort of cash register game and acknowledges the donation by ringing a bell. Gleason, Gumbo's partner, noticed of late that the receipts were falling off although the line of depositors seemed to be as big as ever.

Finally Gleason made a search and among the rafters in the elephant's stall he found some fifty nickels and thirty pennies tucked away in odd corners. When Gleason read the riot act to his partner the latter took on an injured air and asked permission to resign. The embezzlement having been made up, the firm again is doing business.

Officers are Charged With Misquoting Mine Experts.
Have Only Cave.

Denver, Colo., Mar. 4.—That the Lost Bullion Spanish Mines company, officers of which are now under arrest of United States authorities, has wilfully falsified the reports as to the value of its stock for profit in order to better sell its stock is another charge now being made. W. H. Holmes is one of the expert mining engineers quoted in the "literature" of the concern. He appeared before the post-office inspectors and said that he had been misquoted, and his good name endangered.

He had been asked to make an examination of the mines, so-called, but he had truthfully, so he claims, told them there was no gold or precious metal worth mentioning anywhere in sight. When his name was printed by the concern, he claims, it was made to tell that the values were high. The accused, still claiming that the natural wealth of the really abandoned Spanish gold mines, the secret service officers have called in the service of scientists to prove what they charge. They showed them specimens of stalactites and stalagmites broken from the roof and floor of the cave. The scientists said that in the dry climates of New Mexico they must have taken thousands upon thousands of years to form.

The first hearing of Levan and Blackman before the United States district court has been set for March 19th.

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

Not only is a medicine valuable for its ability to cure disease, but the way in which it affects the system is a very important factor. When the system is infected with the germs of disease as in Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., every particle of its recuperative strength is needed to assist in eliminating the poisons and impurities which are causing the trouble. It should not be dosed and treated with strong mineral mixtures and concoctions that further add to the burden, by disagreeably affecting the bowels, producing indigestion, or eating out the delicate linings and membranes of the stomach. The absolute vegetable purity of S. S. S. has always been one of the strongest points in its favor, and is one of the principal reasons for its being now the most widely known and universally used blood medicine on the market. It is made entirely of healing, purifying roots, herbs and barks of the forests and fields. These are selected for their well known curative properties, and are known at the same time to possess the qualities to build up and strengthen every part of the system by their fine tonic effect. Not only is S. S. S. the king of blood purifiers, but it is the one medicine that may be taken with absolute safety by young or old. We guarantee it non-injurious and offer a reward $1,000 for proof that it contains a particle of mineral in any form. S. S. S. is a safe and reliable treatment for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, and any and all diseases arising from a poisoned or impure state of the blood. It goes to the very bottom of these troubles, removes every trace of disease, enriches and builds up the blood and permanently cures where mineral medicines fail. If you are suffering with any form of blood disease write for our book on The Blood and ask for any medical advice you may desire; no charge for either. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

TRAINS, DEDICATED TO SPEED CRAZE, PILED UP IN HIDEOUS RUIN

THIRTEEN HOURS FROM CHICAGO TO NEW YORK, HAS DEMANDS SCORES OF LIVES SINCE JUNE, 1905 — MENTOR NOW HAS ITS CONTEMPT RIVER.

Special Correspondence.
Chicago, Mar. 4.—It was in June, 1905, that the 18-hour train between Chicago and New York—the New York Central and Lake Shore 20th Century Limited and the Pennsylvania special—were inaugurated, and the country watched the experiment with breathless suspense. It seemed to this generation that it was the dawn of a new era in railway speed. Fear was felt that the element of risk would enter too largely into the new schedule to make travel on such fast trains attractive to the public.

However, such a demand for time saving had been met that the public instantly patronized these trains.

FRED A. BUSSE.
Passenger of Chicago, who was probably fatally injured in the Pennsylvania wreck.

lavishly, paying cheerfully an excess fare to arrive at their destinations a couple of hours earlier.

Two years before there had been a furor over the installation of 20-hour trains made the distances in the west and the metropolis of the east. This was now forgotten.

In its route between the two cities the Pennsylvania railroad covers 912 miles. The New York Central and Lake Shore route is 880 miles. The rival trains made the distances in the same time, the shorter route of the Pennsylvania being made up for by its heavier grades.

The Pennsylvania special schedule calls for an average speed of a little less than a mile a minute. However a much lower speed is entailed in entering and leaving the large cities and on the mountain grades, and the speed on straight, level sections of track in more open country suggests spurts of 80 miles an hour.

The run on the New York Central and Lake Shore also requires extra spurts of speed.

The first disaster of moment to the fast trains occurred on the Lake Shore at Mentor O., when the 20th Century Limited, on its fourth run east, ran into an open switch near the depot. The death list was a score.

This happened on June 21, 1905. The Conemaugh river wreck of the Pennsylvania flyer is now the counterpart of the Mentor disaster of its sister New York Central train.

WHY AMERICANS DEMAND JAP EXCLUSION

Instinct of Race Preservation
Opposes Formation of Race Mongrels.

JAP CIVILIZATION IS MEREST VENEERING

The American Idea of Chastity Bewilders the Average Woman of Japanese Race.

The demand for the exclusion of the Japanese cools from admission as an immigrant to the United States is deep seated in racial antagonism that is deaf to argument. The instinct of race preservation is one of the most powerful factors in history, for the reason that it has been the unwritten law of progress and evolution since the time when loosely knit tribes and clans made their first tentative steps toward the formation of a civilization. And it is this instinctive clash of races that has given the modern world the desperately difficult problems of the negro, the Jew, and the emigrating hordes from the Orient.

Particularly is this true in the case of the antagonism between the American laborer and the Japanese and Chinese coolies. The instinctive ethnic antagonism is embittered by the clash of economic standards and methods and by the radical difference of moral, religious, and social ideals. It creates a gulf of misunderstanding so frequently referred to by writers and investigators of Oriental civilization.

The standard of living of a Japanese coolie is so low that to find an Anglo-Saxon parallel one must go back to the days of villanage and serfdom in Europe. The coolie of the early days of English history. Until quite recently two large classes of laborers, the exa and hinin, were considered below the level of respectability, and the laws declared them unclean, forbidding intermarriage with any higher classes. The rest of the peasantry were sharply divided from the samurai, or class of fighting men, and hedged about by restrictions and laws which have only been recently removed.

The Curse of Caste.
The curse of caste had the same result in Japan as in India and Egypt. The division of the military and peasant classes occurred in the eighth century, and the passing years emphasized the sharp differences of caste. To the samurai, as to the learning, skill in arms, and horsemanship, opportunities to rise to places of honor and power, lives free from sordid cares in regard to food, rice, and in which noble ideas of duty and loyalty can arise and bear fruit.

To the peasant, tilling the little rice field, he has fallen, the grinding toil for a mere pittance of food for himself and his family, the patient bearing of all things imposed by his superiors, with little hope of gain for himself, what chance of advancement was there for those above him? The social station. Under this system of hopeless labor the peasant has remained ignorant and dulled, ambitious and subservient, satisfied with just enough to keep the spark of life flickering for the allotted span. And it is mainly from this class and the riff-raff of the cities that the coolie immigration to the United States is recruited, according to the authority of recent investigators.

The peasant's life of daily drudgery and its degrading effects are vividly pictured in the novel, "The Japanese Village," by the American writer, "The Japanese Village." The average size of a peasant's farm is one and a fourth acres, and four-fifths of the product of this pocket-handkerchief ranch must be paid in rent, which means that the peasant's family must be supported on six-tenths of the product of an acre and a fourth.

Mr. Howard, of Topeka, returned to his home on No. 2 this morning. Mr. Howard had been visiting several New Mexico cities and buying cedar posts.

A bag of bedding left on the platform at the city station was caught by the wheels of the rear coach of No. 2 this morning and cut in two.

Mausard's Mill is grinding good wheat at $1.50 per 100 lbs.

environment, under such conditions of existence, it is no wonder that debased standards should be retained in the moral life of the peasant. It is the effect of monotonous toil and scanty remuneration.

Knox states that the morality of the peasant class is of a very low standard. The rate of infantile mortality is very high, and many of the infantile deaths are sold into lives of misery. Women are made a drudge of the fields like horses and mules in America, and the men have none of that respect for themselves that Occidental civilization demands. The men themselves, out of the poverty of their lives have no time to cultivate high ideals for themselves. But it is probably this very lack of high ideals and ambitions that makes the subservient content in his poverty and toil and keeps him happy in his ignorance.

But it is the position of women in the civilization of Japan that brings the sharpest clash with Occidental ideals. According to Knox and a host of other writers the two great evils of Japan are commercial dishonesty and the degraded position of Japanese women. A girl is viewed as the property of her father, and with her he can do as he pleases. When she marries, which is scarcely or never for love as understood in America, she properly right passes to the husband. Until recently, at least, she had no property rights in herself, and could be killed for permitting the attention of other men to her, or her husband's consent. Marriage, however, puts no bar upon the husband's pleasures, and if he adds a concubine to his family, the wife must look pleased and be politely submissive. The wife becomes little better than a servant, and is always under the tender mercies of her mother-in-law.

Marriage Allowed.
The only act required to make a marriage legal is the withdrawal of the father's name from the book of her family and its reentry among those of her husband's family. That the marriage relation is of no means sacred, a theme which the Japanese husband's right of divorce is only slightly limited, and it is not unusual for a man to send two or three wives back to their fathers before he marries the woman who suits him. And the wife is also permitted a similar freedom in trial matrimony, but in all cases the children remain in the husband's family.

The American idea of chastity is unknown, particularly among the lower classes. The ideal of chastity and submission takes its place. Instead of being considered a disgrace, a woman's chastity, the girl or wife who sells herself to relieve the financial or other difficulties of father, brother, or husband is considered a heroine, a theme which is idealized in several Japanese dramas.

The problem of the geisha and her fascination is a deep one for Japan. The geisha is a quasi-disgraced woman, a woman who has been driven from her home by poverty and has taken refuge in the arms of a geisha. The geisha is a woman who has been driven from her home by poverty and has taken refuge in the arms of a geisha. The geisha is a woman who has been driven from her home by poverty and has taken refuge in the arms of a geisha.

Shocked by American Women.
The Japanese idea of modesty is in striking contrast to the prevailing notion in the United States, and yet upon analysis it frequently shows more common sense and real delicacy of feeling than the American attitude. It is the Japanese belief that the exposure of the body is immodest when it occurs for the coquettish purpose of attracting the attention of the opposite sex. The tight-fitting gowns of American women, the décolleté creations, that set off an expanse of gleaming shoulders, impressively shock the modesty of the Japanese. But in the commingling of the sexes under the ban of matrimony, the blushing and protesting bodies of men and women, guileless of sartorial protection, pay their devotion to cleanliness in an utter and absolute unconsciousness of impropriety that amazes the sophisticated Caucasian.

Amusing tales are told of American missionaries who while taking baths in the open court yards of inn, as is the custom, have been horrified by the invasion of women who failed to grasp the Occidental idea of modesty. The embarrassment reaches its climax when the little housemaid, in obedience to established traditions of hospitality, insists upon aiding the blushing and protesting bodies to dry themselves with little towels. Modesty, however, is much a question of habit and custom. In the South Sea Islands, where the only clothing is a tiny string about her waist, feels the keenest shame when discovered without its protection.

The standard of Japanese beauty differs materially from the old Greek standard which has persisted in western civilization. The hair of a Japanese woman is not to have any wave or ripple in their hair, as many of them do, are as at much pains to straighten it in the dressing as American ladies are to simulate a

Home Insurance the Best

WE CANNOT refrain from again saying something about Home Insurance. Every time that the proposition presents itself of the tremendous amount of money that is being sent out of New Mexico and Arizona for life insurance to eastern cities, the conviction comes home with increased force that a home company ought to be patronized and the money remain in the West.

The revelations of the past year of the way the enormous surplus of the big Eastern companies has been handled and speculated with ought to emphasize the fact that the people of the West should stop pouring their money into Eastern channels when it can be placed in home insurance, and every dollar of it kept and invested at home.

It is gratifying to note that home insurance is year by year receiving more and more its just deserts. Statistics show that during the past year home companies far exceeded foreign companies in the amount of business written. Why cannot this same record be made here? It can if every individual who takes out a policy the coming year will carefully weigh the proposition of the value it is to keep his insurance at home before he puts his name to the application of any insurance company.

The Occidental Life Insurance Company of New Mexico and Arizona is owned and controlled by the leading business men of the two territories, and offers exceptional opportunities to ambitious and capable men and women to sell its policies.
