GEN. HUGH CAMERON, "KANSAS HERMIT," BRINGS MESSAGE TO HON. E. G. ROSS

PEOPLE ADMIT ROSS VOTED RIGHT

It Would Have Been Insult
to Nation to Have President Impeached.

MAN WITH RED CAP HAS VARIED CAREER

Scholar. Soldier. Politician and Missionary and Unmarried.
Kansas Commends Him.

Carrying eighty-three years like
few men are able to carry three score,
with a mind as bright and vigorous
as he says more vigorous than a youth just entering manhood, Gen. Hugh Cameron, the Kansas hermit, called at the Evening Citizen office this morning to see Thomas Hughes, former editor of The Citizen, who died July 1 two years ago. General Cameron knew Mr. Hughes when he edited a newspaper in Kansas thirty years ago, but he had not heard of his death.

The hermit looks just as The Citizen
described him a week or so ago.
He is small of stature, hair and beard
white and flowing, and the clothes he wears are of the coarsest denim. To add a touch of color to his otherwise grotesque figure, the hermit wears a knit woolen cap.

He arrived Saturday night on a delayed train. It was a stock Sunday morning when he called at the home
of Pitt Ross, on West Railroad avenue, where ex-Senator Edmund Ross,
to whom the hermit brings a message
of good will from the people of Kansas, is making his home. It was a pathetic meeting which took place between these two comrades of the stormy pioneer days of bleeding Kansas. The senator is two years the junior of General Cameron, but the years hang much heavier upon him.
The picture of the story was taken sev-

ASSASSINATION IN THE MEANTIME IS ABUNDANT

SAN FRANCISCO STIRRED
OVER TRIAL OF GRAFTERS

St. Petersburg, March 11.—The radical party is hopelessly at odds regarding the manner of raising the question of amnesty. Socialists persist in forcing it immediately to the front in the form of an open declaration to the people, which practically would be an appeal for revolution.
The caucus of social revolutionists
and members of the peasant league,
last night, refused this as well as the proposition to make an appeal or to demand on the emperor, and it was decided to introduce a regular bill
providing for amnesty for political prisoners.

This is probably unconstitutional
and hence unacceptable to the constitutional democrats. In the meantime, the reactionist campaign for the prosecution of parliament under any pretense, is in full swing.

Failed and Killed Himself.
Yalta, Crimea, March 1.—Col.
Dumitze, commander of the garrison
here, was slightly wounded and his adjutant and coachman were seriously injured today, by a bomb
thrown under the colonel's carriage
from the upper part of a house on the street through which he was driven. The man who threw the bomb committed suicide to avoid arrest.

Another More Successful.
Sofia, Bulgaria, March 11.—M. Petkoff, premier and minister of the interior, was assassinated here today.

ESTANCIA COMMERCIAL CLUB FAVORS AUTO LINE

Torrance County Seat People Afraid Route Will Miss Them.

About the first work which will come before the Estancia Commercial club will be to see that the Torrance-Albuquerque automobile line, soon to be established by J. W. Stockard of Roswell, the present manager of the Roswell-Torrance line, will include Estancia in its route, says the Estancia News. If an investigation of the various routes is made, it will be readily seen that the most feasible
route will be from Torrance to Estancia, and possibly as far north as McIntosh, thence westward through Chili and the Tijeras canyon into the Duke City. To turn west before reaching Estancia, and to skirt the mountains taking in the mountain towns, will not only cut off a great deal of business which would be secured by coming through Estancia,
but would be an impracticable route
during the greater part of the year.
Not only would this be true during the snows and storms of winter, but during the spring time, the floods
from the melting snow would make the roads along the mountains soft
and boggy, and necessitate numerous bridges over the arroyos. If this is presented to Mr. Stockard in the right light, Estancia will be connected with Albuquerque by a very few hours ride—a saving of more than half the time now necessarily spent in making the trip.

PRESIDENT HAS AGAIN INTER- FERED

ernor of Recent Acts by

ELECTIONS HELD IN SIX CITIES OF MAINE TODAY

Pennsylvania Legislature Has Begun Investigation of Capitol Building Frauds.

Sacramento, March 11.—Governor
Gillett sent to the assembly today a message from President Roosevelt complaining that the recent action of the legislature would have a most unfortunate effect upon the president's effort to secure the exclusion
of Jap laborers by friendly agreement. The president asked the governor to secure suspension of any further action until the receipt of a letter from the president. The governor asked the assembly to give the matter very careful consideration.

CITY ELECTIONS ARE HELD ALONG NATIONAL LINES

Portland, Maine, March 11.—Six Maine cities are holding elections to-
day. They are Hallowell, Augusta, Bangor, Belfast, Old Town and Brewer. National political lines generally prevail and in view of the campaign waged by republicans and democrats in the past few years to gain supremacy in the cities, many close contests are expected.

LEGISLATURE WILL SEE ABOUT CAPITOL FRAUDS

Harrisburg, March 11.—Legislative inquiry into the new state capitol
contracts and accounts was begun
today. The investigation grew out of allegations made during the last state campaign, of gross extravagance, over charges and duplication of items in ornamentation and equipment of the building. The capitol building cost $4,000,000 and the equipments cost $9,000,000.

PROFESSOR HELD IN HIGH ESTEEM IN BERLIN

Berlin, March 11.—The lapse of Professor Burgess, holder of the Roosevelt professorship, on the Monroe doctrine, has not made him a
"persona non grata" with the German citizens, but he has won great respect and regard for his superior qualities of mind and heart, so that
as his departure draws nigh he receives many expressions of public regret and esteem.
The farewell dinners given in his honor proved a great success,
the guests including the leading representatives of official and educational circles. Professor Burgess was toasted and cheered heartily. Minister of Education Von Studt declared that the presence in Germany of such American representatives of the serious sciences not only contributes to their mutual friendship, but is a source of honor to both countries.
McNalley is said to have saved $600,000 from his swindles at one time. He spent his money lavishly but had $100,000 left when the postal authorities sent him to prison in 1896. He entrusted this money to two men, and when he got out of prison the money and men had gone
and his downward career began.

ADMIRAL BEREFOORD HAS REACHED SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, March 11.—Lord
Chas. Bereford, admiral of the British channel fleet, arrived here on his return from Texas, where he has been settling the estate of his brother,
the late Delaval Bereford.

NEWS WRITERS ACQUIT HARRY RENDAL THAW

New York, March 11.—The acquittal
of Harry Thaw's acquittal or conviction were left to the newspaper men attending upon the trial it would soon be decided, and that very often they would turn him loose.
There are only two votes for conviction out of fifteen of the leading experts and correspondents at the trial. This newspaper jury has evidence, every word of it, as has the jury regularly impaneled eleven
and unequivocally for acquittal.
One believes that the evidence so far
produced is not sufficient to convict.
One correspondent thinks that Matteawan is the place for Thaw, and two would convict him.

MOVING PICTURES OF FAMOUS THAW TRIAL

Des Moines, Ia., March 11.—This city expects soon to see the Thaw trial in moving pictures. A dealer
here has received word that pictures
are being prepared and will soon be sent out all over the country. They will show the entire tragic story from the time Evelyn Nesbit was a young girl to the thrilling episode in the court room now. The Lubenture
company is getting up the pictures,
and they have secured the requisite models as nearly like the real actors
in the tragedy as possible.

BUFFALO TO SURPASS IT- SELF IN SPRING OPENING

Buffalo, March 11.—The executive board of the merchant's board of the chamber of commerce declined to have the spring opening during this week, and accordingly elaborate preparations were made to have the opening eclipse, if possible, that of any previous year. Every mercantile firm proposes to do its best. A banquet will end the event, that will surpass anything that the merchants
have hitherto attempted.

From Longfellow Because
of Objections.

JEROME GIVES HIM UP AND CALLS IN POLICE

Little Gathered From These For Either Side of the Question
at Issue.

New York, March 11.—With the Thaw trial entering its eighth week
today, District Attorney Jerome began his real work of prosecution, offering testimony in rebuttal of the defense built upon by Thaw's attorneys. The first witness called today
by Jerome was Frederick W. Longfellow, one of Thaw's family attorneys.

LAWYER'S DEALINGS WITH CLIENT ARE CONFIDENTIAL

New York, March 11.—Jerome wished to prove by Longfellow that Harry K. Thaw, more than two years before Evelyn Nesbit told him the story which is said to have unbalanced his mind, knew all the evil
practices of the men of New York.
Jerome asked Longfellow about the service of papers on Thaw in the suit of Ethel Thomas. On objection by Delmas, Longfellow was stopped
from giving any definite testimony as to this suit, upon the ground that he was acting as Thaw's counsel and his dealings with him were confidential.

JEROME TRIES NEW TACK AND CALLS POLICEMEN

New York, March 11.—Blocked at every turn, by objections from Delmas, in obtaining testimony from Longfellow, Jerome switched to the testimony of policemen who saw Thaw on the night of his arrest, and who declared his activities to them
seemed to be those of a rational man.
Delmas asked one officer if he had not heard Thaw in his cell say he had heard voices of women crying
and that there had been no such statement in his hearing.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS TO TENNESSEE STATE PRISON

Nashville, Tenn., March 11.—The biennial report of the state board of prison commissioners shows that a number of improvements have been made at the main prison during the past two years. There has been installed a plant for conveyance
of condensed or distilled water to all the buildings, a thirty-ton condenser being used. There was also installed a complete sprinkling system. To secure this system four of the contractors who have contracts
for prison labor, advanced $15,000
upon the terms that at the end of each twelve months from November, 1905, one fourth of the amount thus furnished by them should be repaid
without interest, and such manufacturers agreeing to pay the state
an increase of rental amounting to $1,500 a year. The state farm during the past year showed $3,280.57 profit. The products furnished the prison during the year amounted to $16,883.62.

NO TROUBLE IN CASE OF YOUNGEST ROOSEVELT BOY

able. It was said at the white house

AT SUPERIOR SEVENTY OUT OF 1300 STRUCK

In Louisville Effort to Run Street Cars Proved Failure and Was Abandoned.

Detroit, March 11.—The union
ship builders of the Great Lakes Engineering works walked out today
leaving only the machinists, carpenters and laborers at work. The men of the American Ship Building company went to work as usual, but are expected to quit during the day.

AT CLEVELAND MANY MEN LEFT EMPLOYMENT

Cleveland, O., March 11.—In obedience to the strike order issued Saturday by the officials of the International Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders' union, about 450 men employed at the Globe yards of the American Ship Building company of this city declined to work this morning. At Loraine the situation of the ship yard there remains unchanged.
The 300 men who struck there several days ago are still out. Union men are in the minority there.

AT SUPERIOR THE STRIKE REACHED VERY SMALL SIZE

Superior, Wis., March 11.—Only
seventy riveters at the Superior Ship Building company's plant struck this morning. The remainder of the force of about 1,300 is still at work.

STRIKE DID NOT REACH BUFFALO, N. Y., TODAY

Buffalo, March 11.—There was no strike here today in the yards of the American Ship Building company.

STREET CAR TRAFFIC IS BLICKED IN LOUISVILLE

Louisville, Ky., March 11.—The attempt of the street car company to run cars with nonunion men, this morning, was only partially successful. While no violence was reported there were many demonstrations. The company usually runs 600 cars but only 100 were in service early today.

Effort Was a Failure.

Louisville, March 11.—Owing to increasing disorder and violence at attempts at operating the street cars
on any lines were abandoned this afternoon.

PENNSYLVANIA ENGINE BURSTS WITH FATAL RESULT

Metuchen, N. J., March 11.—Three men were killed and several hurt,
none fatally, while Metuchen was shaken and threatened by fire today,
when the boiler upon a Pennsylvania
train exploded, while drawing a freight through the town. The train was opposite the station when the boiler exploded. Portions of the boiler were blown two blocks away and tore through two buildings, which were set on fire.

CARGO OF AUSTRALIAN STEAMSHIP IS THE LARGEST YET

New York, March 11.—The British steamship Ashanti brought here the largest cargo of Australian wool ever imported. It had 14,141 bales, worth $2,000,000. The duty amounted to $77,000, the freight to $50,000 and the insurance cost $16,000.

BILL IS NOW NEARLY READY FOR REPORTING

If Minority Kills Bill Last Year's Appropriations Continue
Without Increase

Santa Fe, March 11.—The council
met today, but at once adjourned till 10 a. m. tomorrow, owing to the illness of president Spiess.

The house took up the regular order of business and has been hard at it all day. This will be a very busy week, with both night and day
sessions, and each session prolonged
to its utmost possible extent.

The house committee is anxiously engaged on the appropriations bill.
Among the items already agreed upon are $20,000 yearly appropriation for the university at Albuquerque, $35,000
special appropriation for betterment of physical conditions for the university, and $4,000 for dyke work
in Bernalillo county.

These appropriations have already been agreed upon by the republican majority in the house, and there is strong probability that $10,000 will be added for the territorial fair.

Equally liberal provision will be made in the bill for the other territorial institutions.
This bill will be advocated and passed by the republican majority in the house. If it is defeated in the council it will be by the anti-majority combine in that body. If this result is accomplished the appropriations of last year will continue for the next two years, but in that case there will be no new ones made and no increase in amount upon the existing ones.

ANOTHER NEW SHIP LINE FOR THE ATLANTIC

Hallifax, N. S., March 11.—In the Newfoundland legislative assembly Tremmer, Bond has proposed an acceptance of a contract between the Newfoundland government and the Messrs. Ochs, capitalists of London, and providing for the establishment of a ship line of trans-Atlantic steamers between Killary, on the west coast of Ireland, and Green bay, on the east coast of Newfoundland.
The plan provides for a two-hour
railroad trip across the colony to Port AuBasque, whence a twenty-knot steamer would convey mails and passengers to Killary. The plan was only partially successful. The promoters of the project claim that there would be a saving of thirty-two hours over any other trans-Atlantic route. The project must take shape within two years,
or else all liability on the part of the colony will cease. Should the capitalists carry out their unenvied
plans the Newfoundland government proposes to pay them $75,000 annually for twenty-five years. It is said the British and Canadian governments will be asked to assist in establishing the proposed line.

STATE BOARD OF EDU- CATION AT ALEXANDRIA

Alexandria, Va., March 11.—Abundant preparations have been made by the state board of education for superintendent K. Kemper, of the public schools of Alexandria, and board began its sessions, which will last several days. This is the first time the board has ever held a session of this kind in this city, the object of the meeting here being to place the board in closer touch with school conditions throughout the state. A similar and it is said very successful meeting was held a short time ago at Portsmouth. Those connected with the local schools assert that the system of instruction here
is maintained at a high degree of efficiency, as demonstrated by the success of the graduates in colleges
and universities, as well as in business life. In particular it is pointed out that the dozen or more graduates
of the Washington high school, of which Colonel Theodore H. Kiklin is principal, who are now pursuing courses at the Virginia Polytechnic institute, have completed very favorably in point of preparation with students from other leading high schools and academies.

CONTINUOUS BILLIARD MATCH FOR 3,000 POINTS

Chicago, March 11.—Jake Schaefer
and George Sutton are preparing to play a continuous billiard match with bank-line match of 3,000 points, to be played in blocks of 500 each night
in six of the principal cities of the country. The incentive is a trophy valued at $5,000 and of course a split of the gate money. The first game of this novel match will follow the game played between these two for the championship, which is scheduled to take place at Orchestra hall tonight. The match is the first of its kind ever played in this country. There have been several night matches, but always they have been played in one city, in the same hall, and on consecutive nights, the spheres being carried to the next city positions left at the end of the preceding night's game. In this event
the players will be compelled to bank
for the opening shot after each block.
The cities in which the games are to be played, as outlined, are Chicago, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. Schaefer has fully recovered from his attack of pleurisy and gastritis and has rounded into form for a spirited contest.

PITTSBURG KNOCKERS SET BACK BY COURT

Philadelphia, March 11.—The supreme court today affirmed the judgment of the superior court permitting the consolidation of Pittsburgh and Allegheny City. The case has been fought by the opponents of the "Greater Pittsburgh" on the ground
that the consolidation is unconstitutional.
The superior court affirms the constitutionality of the act.

EDMUND G. ROSS.

eral year ago. He has had none
taken in recent years, but there have been few changes in his outward appearance. His hair is a little whiter probably than the picture shows it to be.

It was in the breakfast room of the Ross home that the meeting took place. Mr. Ross had been told of General Cameron's arrival and arrived early to meet him. Tired and worn out with travel, the general was a little late in awakening. They met with each grasping the other by both hands and for several moments they stood face to face and embraced.
The general was glad to see the senator, and the senator was glad to see the general. All day they talked over things that occurred during the trying early days of Kansas. The eccentric man, who makes his home in a hut and walks most places he goes,
told Senator Ross that the people
of Kansas, those of them living,
republicans and democrats, were sorry of their mistakes in condemning the action of Mr. Ross, when he voted against the impeachment of President Andrew Johnson. They were sorry that they burned him in effigy, and saw the error of their way and the wisdom of his, and from a sadly worn handbag the hermit produced a bundle of letters from prominent Kan-sians testifying to the penitence of the Sunflower state and the righteousness of his pilgrimage. Some of these letters The Citizen reproduces.

"I never said that I would walk,"
said General Cameron this morning.
"That is a newspaper story. I have many queer ideas, people say, but I am not yet so queer that I will attempt to walk 900 miles."
General Cameron was never married, and gave the reporter a cue.
"Why were you never married, general?" asked the young man with the pencil. "Simply because it was not the designing of the Almighty God that I should be," was the answer. The general is a fatalist, evidently.
There was a short silence, then the general got his breath again.
"No, I didn't walk. I never intended to walk. I took the train at Topeka, and would have been here
sooner, but I wanted to visit friends on the way. I stopped at several places. I stopped at Osaage City and visited W. J. McMillin, who, by the

NATION'S MOST REMARKABLE PRISONER, CALEB POWERS, COMPLETES SEVENTH YEAR AWAITING DECREE OF JUSTICE

LATEST PHOTOGRAPH OF CALEB POWERS IN HIS CELL AT THE JAIL IN NEWPORT, KENTUCKY.

Special Correspondence.
Frankfort, Ky., March 11.—With his fate still undecided, Sunday, Mar.
10, marks seven years since the arrest of Caleb Powers, charged with conspiracy in the assassination of Wm. Goebel. He is probably the most remarkable prisoner in the United States.
In spite of his long confinement in this jail and that his appeals for justice and his three convictions, his two sentences to the penitentiary for life, and his one sentence to be hanged by the neck till dead, and his hopes of escape from the state courts
dashed by the supreme court of the United States, he has borne up with fortitude.
Powers' spirit is unbroken. The young mountaineer from his cell in the jail at Newport has just voiced
a fervent protest against the appointment of Judge Robbins, of Graves county, as the special judge
to sit in his fourth trial, because this is the judge who sentenced him to death in the third trial. This appointment is by Gov. J. C. W. Beckham, who first went into the execu-

THE EVENING CITIZEN

Published Daily and Weekly by
The Citizen Publishing CompanyHeaded at Fortification for transmission through the

CITY OF ALBUQUERQUEMUTUAL FAVOR IS ORDER IN SENATESame Procedure Prevails in
All Legislative Bodies, as Every One Knows.

Washington, D. C., March 11.—The influence of a chairman of a committee in controlling the legislation that is enacted by the senate was illustrated during the last week of the session that has just closed. A member of the committee on claims called up a bill reimbursing a citizen for a loss he had suffered by reason of circumstances chargeable against the government. The claim had received the unanimous approval of every member of the committee and had been favorably reported by the house committee and had passed the house. When the matter was laid before the senate, Mr. Fulton, chairman of the claims committee, objected to its consideration and in response to this request of a single senator the bill was not passed, although every man on the floor knew the case was a meritorious one and that the beneficiary should have the money.

The reason for the compliance with this request is not difficult to find. Every republican senator is the chairman of some committee and among the minority members there are a number of desirable chairmanships. No senator knows when he may have to make a similar request and the power of a chairman, no matter how insignificant his committee may be, must be respected. Thus it happens that a chairman of a committee is able to block legislation referred to his committee. He is opposed to it when every other man on the committee favors its speedy enactment into law. This is one form of what is known as "senatorial courtesy" from which the senate is suffering more acutely each session of congress. Some day there will be a revolution and the majority will be able to do whatever a majority really wants to do.

Money Making Young Page.
Any enterprising page boy in the senate is able to make a handsome sum of money during the session through the business of gathering autographs. These lads pick up after each session and then dispose of them for whatever they can get. The last day of the session, displayed his financial ability along this line in such a fashion that several senators predicted for him a brilliant future in the world of finance. After the senate adjourned for the session Senator Bulkley, of Connecticut, was talking with a constituent who happened to spy a lad with an autograph album and expressed a desire to have one.

"My boy," said the senator, "what is the market price for senatorial autographs today?" The page was starting a new book and was hustling to get the remaining missing signatures. "My book is not filled yet, senator," he replied, "but I think I can get you one for $10."

"All right, bring it to me," said Senator Bulkley and the page started off. Walking slowly across the chamber to one of his comrades, the youngster remarked with a disgusted tone that he was tired of gathering autographs, but would give $5 for his comrades' autographs. He then jumped at the offer and soon had the $5 note tucked away in his pocket, but his eyes bulged with astonishment as he watched his fellow page hasten to Senator Bulkley, turn the book over and receive a $10 note. This youngster cleared 100 per cent on the deal, and he had done it without the investment of any capital, and because he was instant in realizing a situation and making the best of it. Senator Bulkley, who saw the transaction remarked that he would keep his eye on that boy as he expected some day to hear of him as the head of some great fiscal institution.

Honor to Worthy Sea Captain.
Congress paid an honor to Captain McCalla, who led the American forces in the relief of Pekin. It has been the persistent policy of congress, especially the senate, to deny the applications of American officials for permission to accept orders, medals and decorations from foreign governments and rulers. This is done on the theory that it is un-American, as this government recognizes nothing in the shape of a decoration as adding to the worth of the citizen.

Recently, however, Captain McCalla was offered the order of the Double Eagle by the German emperor, which is one of the most highly prized of the gifts the Kaiser bestows. It has been granted to but few Americans and is regarded by soldiers everywhere as an evidence of great valor. Captain McCalla is now on the retired list and lies dangerously ill at San Diego, California. Some of the members of his family recently wrote to Senator Cullum telling him how ill the old naval officer was and how he had expressed the wish that he might have this decoration before he died. Congress, in view of all the circumstances, granted his wish.

CURZON GIVES ADVICE

TO ENGLISH LORDS.
London, Mar. 11.—Lord Curzon of Kedleston, ex-viceroy of India, was installed chancellor of Oxford university in succession to the late Viscount Goschen. In the course of an address after the installation ceremony he urged that the unionist party itself should undertake to reform the house of lords on the lines laid down in Lord Newton's bill, which proposes the reconstitution of the house on a party elective basis. He considered that the peers themselves should take the initiative, and that by surrendering some of their existing privileges they would obtain by that sacrifice a second chamber entitled to the trust of reasonable men of all parties. Continuing, Lord Curzon declared that the peers would thus be playing the part enacted by the great hereditary nobles of Japan at the time of the Japanese revolution, which started Japan upon the advance that has had such astonishing results.

ALABAMA ELECTS PETTUS TO SIT
IN U. S. SENATE UNTIL HE IS 94

PICKED FOR THIRD TERM AND WAS 77 WHEN HE STARTED—MARRIED 63 YEARS AND STILL CALLS WIFE SWEETHEART.

Special Correspondence.
Montgomery, Ala., March 11.—The democrats of Alabama, by popular vote, have just renominated Edmund Winston Pettus for the United States senate, and of course that means reelection.

When the term which Senator Pettus has just been chosen to fill expires, he will be ninety-four years of age.

The senator is now eighty-six, hale and hearty, and always attends sessions. He was first elected from Alabama in 1897, and was re-elected in 1903. His third term begins in 1909. Senator Pettus was born in Limestone county, Alabama, in 1821. He received a common school education, went to college and became a lawyer.

He was married in 1844, and his wife is still living. He calls her sweetheart today, after sixty-three years of married life.

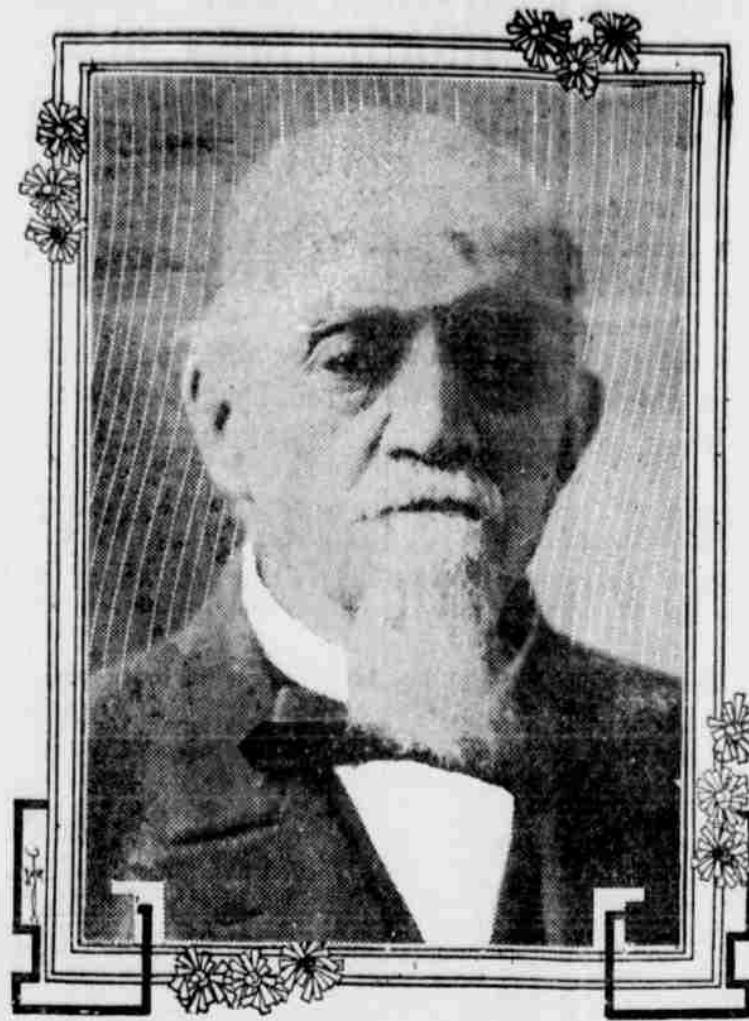

In 1849, after he had fought as a lieutenant in the Mexican war, the young lawyer caught the California gold fever and crossed the prairies on horseback. He came back two years later with his scalp, but no gold.

When the war broke out he joined the confederate army. As major at Vicksburg he led what looked like a forlorn hope with such gallantry that he carried the works his men attacked.

After the war he went back to Alabama and practiced law until sixteen years after the Dr. Oster quit-for-good age, when he was elected to the senate, at seventy-seven.

Senator Pettus is six feet four inches tall, and still throws back his shoulders.

Up in Washington he is known as honest beyond any possibility of suspicion. Down here, the people of his state have always known the same thing. There is no more popular man in Alabama.

PROF. FLEMING APPOINTED
HEAD OF IRRIGATION
OF A. & M. COLLEGE

P. D. Southworth Succeeds
Prof. Scott in Department of Animal Industry.

Special to The Evening Citizen.
Medilla Park, N. M., March 11.—Prof. Burton P. Fleming has been elected to the position of head of the department of irrigation engineering, one of the new courses authorized by the board of regents. Mr. Fleming came very well prepared for the work at hand, having been graduated from the Utah State college and has spent one year at Harvard and two years at Cornell, taking his doctor's degree from the latter place. Mr. Fleming is a man of much experience and comes directly from the irrigation and drainage investigation department at Washington, D. C.

Mr. Pierre D. Southworth has been chosen to fill the vacancy made by the withdrawal of Prof. Scott as assistant in animal husbandry and he also comes well prepared for this particular branch of agriculture. Mr. Southworth is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and previous to his election to the present position has had considerable interests in the stock business.

On behalf of the whole college community the Weekly extends a hearty welcome to Mr. Fleming and Mr. Southworth and wishes success for them in their chosen work.

TOWN OF GALLUP HAS AN OIL SCARE

Capital Quietly Locates Several Thousand Acres of Oil
Land in McKinley County.

There is good reason to believe that there are some good things in store for the people of this community, says the Gallup Republican. Within the past week several thousand acres of land in McKinley county have been located by an organization of capital. This land is located in the oil belt and was taken with the intention of development.

Eastern people are behind this move, and from what can be learned of their intentions they mean business. A drilling outfit is on the road to Gallup to be taken at once to the oil fields and put in operation. The field is to be thoroughly prospected, and as expert opinion has already been passed on the land, it can be expected that there will be something doing in the oil fields of McKinley county.

The taking up of this land and the organization of the project was done very quietly; there was no blowing of trumpets, no spouting of super-heated atmosphere. A force of surveyors was sent into the field, surveys made, location notices put up and the locations filed for recording at the office of the county clerk. Those interested in the ground left to attend to other business, but they will soon be here again and then we can look for a term of activity in the oil fields.

The prospecting of the newcomers to the McKinley oil fields is to be thorough; they intend to prove whether there is oil here or not, and there is reason to believe that there is oil in this county. As was reported in this paper once before, one of the greatest oil experts in the country stated, after a careful investigation of the ground, that he considered the prospects very good and that the surface indications were far better than in many places that are now sending out a steady flow of the oil.

Besides the prospect of the oil fields, there is a project on foot to do something with the first clay found so abundantly in this part of the country. The matter is being investigated by parties who understand the business, and the editor of this paper was given to understand that if a favorable report is made, a fire brick and building brick factory will be started here.

COLOSSAL LAND FRAUDS
COME TO LIGHT

San Francisco, March 11.—Colossal land frauds are being discovered in the mining districts all the way from Shasta county to Death Valley, and it is said that a large number of those now under investigation are men standing high in the community and possessed of large means. The most flagrant offenses have been committed in Tuolumne county, where there is a rich lava formation and there are very rich deposits of gold. This is especially true of mountain chert. Here homestead entries have been freely made and millions of dollars' worth of the yellow metal taken from the land. The department of the interior has the matter in hand, and is co-operating with the state mineralogist, Lewis E. Anbury.

PLOT TO SEIZE CEBES
ISLANDS DISCOVERED.

Capetown, March 11.—The local police have just learned the details of an audacious filibustering in the Malay archipelago, situated to the east of Borneo. A band of 3,000 armed adventurers planned to concentrate and descend on the island and hold it by force against the Dutch, while its mineral riches were being developed and worked. It was intended, however, to demand huge concessions from the Dutch government, and only to employ force in the event of a refusal. The police got a clue to the plot, and following the trail, very red to raid premises in this city, where they seized a number of documents relating to the organization of the enterprise, which it is alleged has branches in England on the continent, in the United States and other countries.

A Queer Question.

Tariff rates with utmost care. So the lumber people say. Must be dilled with, lest their profits get a jolt some day. Oil folks want the ticklish task. Left unto their legal lights. Whereupon we rise to ask: Have consumers any rights? Steel folks have a lot at stake. With solicitude they throb. State they'll gladly undertake. To relieve us of the job. No trust's fears take we amiss. We are looking for no fights. All we want to know is this: Have consumers any rights? —From Courier-Journal.

Lonesome.

Now my cold has gone away. And I know not what to do. Kept me busy all the day. It was cheap amusement, too.

RHEUMATISM BREAKS
DOWN
THE STRONGEST CONSTITUTION

Rheumatism is caused by a sour, acid condition of the blood, brought on by chronic constipation, weak kidneys, poor digestion and general sluggish condition of the system. Because of these irregularities the refuse and waste matters of the body are not promptly expelled, but are left to sour and ferment, producing irritating acids which are taken up by the blood and distributed to all parts of the system. This acid matter weakens and diseases the blood so that instead of supplying the body with nourishing, healthful properties it deposits the poison with which it is loaded into the muscles, nerves, bones and joints, and Rheumatism gets complete control of the system. Some suffer almost constantly with the disease, while others have intervals of freedom, during which they live in constant dread of the next attack, when an exposure to cold or dampness or some other irregularity will cause the symptoms to return. If the cause is not removed Rheumatism will progress and reach a point where it becomes incurable, and the strongest constitution will break down. S. S. S. has been curing Rheumatism for more than forty years. It attacks the disease at its head by going down into the blood and removing every particle of the acid matter and building up the blood to a state of purity and richness. S. S. S. is the King of blood purifiers, just what is needed for the cure of Rheumatism. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice sent free.

MILLIONS OF THE PEOPLE'S ACRES SNATCHED FROM MONOPOLY'S MAW

PRESIDENT'S RECENT TIEUP OF NEARLY 17,000,000 ACRES OF FOREST LAND WAS TO SAVE IT FROM LUMBER SYNDICATES—CHIEF FORESTER PINCHOT WRITES ARTICLE ESPECIALLY FOR THE EVENING CITIZEN ON FOREST RESERVES.

What are the "forest reserves" of the United States? Why did President Roosevelt the other day set aside 17,000,000 acres of land at one sweep of his pen, and why did that act bring a callophoric shriek from the lumber barons of the country? What does Uncle Sam do with reserved woodlands? Have the people any rights on them?

The answers to these questions will interest every American who believes that the last of our public lands should pass to the ownership and benefit of the many and not of the few. In the following symposium Gifford Pinchot, chief forester of the United States and one of the most brilliant of the young officials the president has gathered at Washington, writes an article especially for The Evening Citizen on the practical management of the forest reserves and the rights of the people therein.

The president in his proclamation tying up the 17,000,000 acres said: "The PRESIDENT'S REASONS. Failure on my part to sign this proclamation would mean that the money made by the sale of timber would fall into the hands of the lumber syndicates, whereas the creation of the reserves means that the timber will be kept in the interest of the homemaker, for our entire purpose in this forest reserve policy is to keep the land for the benefit of the actual settler and homemaker, to further his interests in every way, and while using the natural resources of the country for the benefit of the present generation, also to use them in such a manner as to keep them unimpaired for the benefit of the children now growing up to inherit the land. This is the final and exclusive object not merely of our forest policy but of our whole public land policy."

THEODORE ROOSEVELT. PUBLIC HAS MANY RIGHTS IN NATION'S FOREST RESERVES. (By Gifford Pinchot.)

(Chief Forester of the United States.) National forests (formerly forest reserves) are created with the main object of using all their resources in the wisest way. Everything is for use—the timber, the range, the water, the land. Only those lands chiefly valuable for the production of timber are included in national forests.

It happens that little patches of agricultural land, small mountain meadows, necessarily fall within their boundaries. These are being platted and will rapidly pass into private ownership.

The mining prospector is permitted to explore and locate his claims in the reserves without the slightest restriction, and in mining localities the timber is protected, kept in the country, and kept from burning up, for the particular benefit of the miner. All timber and wood in the national forests is for use, and for prompt use. It is sold to the small man and to the big. Everybody who needs timber to establish his home gets it free of charge, and gets it when he asks for it. In the case of the national forests recently created, the settler will not have to wait until they are under administration. He may take what timber he needs for domestic use, without asking.

In the sale of timber there is no chance for monopoly, for the secretary of agriculture can sell as much or as little as he pleases, to whomsoever he pleases, and for whatever price he deems fair for the best interests of all the people. The government gets a fair return for its own timber, whereas before it practically gave it away, and gave it away in such a manner that it was monopolized in vast tracts by corporate interests. And after it was cut off the land was burned over and became a nonproductive waste.

The range is used for the grazing of live stock. On those national forests

GIFFORD PINCHOT, Chief Forester of the United States, Who has Written an Article Especially for The Evening Citizen on the Forest Reserves.

ests created after March 1, 1907, there will be no interference with the grazing industry. It will go on just as if the national forests had not been established, during the entire grazing season of 1907, without fee and without any interference. The land within national forests is freely open to use as sites for hotels, stores, mills, residences and all other legitimate purposes. The greatest possible use of the land is desired. The more people, settlement and industry the better is the protection which results. All kinds of improvements are not only permitted, but are decidedly welcomed.

WHERE THE NEW RESERVES ARE LOCATED. The additions to the nation's forest reserves made by presidential proclamation since March 1 are located as follows:

State.	Acres.
Colorado	3,022,720
Idaho	965,960
Montana	3,550,140
Oregon	4,052,000
Washington	4,291,000
Wyoming	137,000

Total 16,819,820. In the above, Yellowstone park, located partly in both Montana and Wyoming, gets an addition of 348,000 acres.

Doesn't it stand to reason that for perfect health, the human system must be kept pure and clean, inside as well as outside?

Then take Cascarets, the world-famous Bowel Medicine and system-cleaners, that will help you KEEP CLEAN INSIDE.

The body of man is the most perfect and delicate mechanism in existence, and the least OBSTRUCTION or accumulation of filth in any part of it, will make it hobble, move IRREGULARLY and SPASMODICALLY, and if not attended to promptly may stop the machine altogether.

Isn't that plain common sense to any person that has had any experience with machinery of human invention, from the sewing machine to the triple-expansion engine? All the parts, joints, connections, gears, must be kept absolutely pure and clean to get the best results. A careless, untidy engineer is a failure and will lose his job.

Nature has been kind to us by handing over to us to be occupied during our earthly existence, an almost automatic, elastic mechanism, that will run itself if only properly cared for.

All that she asks, is that the body be supplied with "Pure Food" fuel of the right kind, applied in the right way—that a lubricant be furnished for the joints, muscles, nerves through the marvelous distributing and collecting system of arteries and veins, and that all parts of the engine be used for the purposes intended without undue strain.

But, when little mistakes are made in eating and drinking, with perhaps excessive exertion, there is a liability of a stoppage in the natural cleansing process, and you are liable to become UNCLEAN INSIDE. That means obstruction, stoppage of the normal functions, fermentation, poisoning of the blood by your own decaying sewage, and a liability of the development of any of hundreds of serious diseases.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic are fragrant, sweet, mild but effective little tablets that were first compounded from pure, harmless, vegetable substances, under a Pure Drug of their own, in 1896. These tablets proved to be the greatest lubricators for the bowels ever discovered, and at the same time a destroyer of disease germs in the whole alimentary (food) canal. They have now a sale of over a million boxes a month.

They are a pure, reliable, means of keeping the system clean, preventing all diseases arising from accumulations in Constipation, and also relieving and aiding the cure of chronic conditions after they have developed from neglect.

Begin today to watch your conditions, be careful of your food and general methods of living and learn to take precaution of "Keeping Clean Inside" with Cascarets. Buy a little 10c. box from your own druggist TODAY, be convinced and join our MILLIONS OF FRIENDS.

SANTA FE MEN DENVER GIRL GET PICTURES DESERTED AT IN PAPER FLAGSTAFF

Railway Journal Shows Geo. Austin and J. T. Johnson on Beach at Santa Monica.

Hildebrandt Deserts Wife and Children For Pretty Face, but Soon Tires.

Through the kindness of a young friend of the Railway Journal, who resides in New Mexico, we are able to present in this issue, the pictures of Mr. George Austin, chief boiler inspector of the Santa Fe system, and the assistant chief boiler inspector, J. T. Johnson, says the Railway Journal. The latter is the one seated on the bench. This picture is a recent one, taken just after the chief boiler workers had taken a plunge in the surf to wash away their troubles—that is if boiler makers and inspectors ever have any troubles. Do they? Mr. Austin is an old-time master boiler maker of the Santa Fe, having been with the company for quite a number of years, and is held as a mechanic of unusual ability. His office is in Topeka, Kans. J. T. Johnson is known as one of the best master boiler makers in the country, and has served as chief boiler maker at Dennison, O., and later was master boiler maker of the Northern Pacific at St. Paul for quite a number of years. About two years ago he took service with the Santa Fe at Albuquerque as master boiler maker, which position he resigned about six weeks ago to accept the one he now holds. He is a charter member of the International Railway Master Boiler Makers' association and has served as vice president in it for two years. With the present force of inspection, it is safe to assume that the boilers on the Santa Fe will be well cared for.

Accompanying this article, was a picture of Austin and Johnson, both well known in Albuquerque, just as described above, with the waves of the Pacific lapping at their feet.

RAILROADS RETALIATE AGAINST TWO-CENT RATE.

In retaliation for adverse legislation, culminating in the passage of a two-cent-per-mile passenger fare bill passed by the Nebraska legislature, and which went into effect Thursday, all Nebraska railroads, including the Union Pacific, Burlington, Northwest, Missouri Pacific, Rock Island and Great Northern, issued circulars absolutely abolishing all classes of reduced fares. Under the head of "special instructions," the circular says: "Agents must not honor clergy permits, reduced rate orders, orders or instructions for rates for disabled volunteer soldiers, orders for charity rates, or any other form of a reduced rate order, whether for a state or interstate journey, in any portion of Nebraska."

"All excursion rates, one-way trip, whether on excursion or certificate plan, at present authorized for conventions, assemblies, events, etc., homeseekers' excursion rates, one-way settlers' rates, reduced theatrical or party rates, commutation rates or any other special rates, either one-way or round trip, applying between two points, both of which are in the state of Nebraska, are hereby cancelled."

The circular concludes by calling attention to the fact that it is the purpose to make the two-cent rate the only possible rate to apply on Nebraska passenger fares.

FLOODS TAKE OUT RENTS OF BRIDGE.

Two tents in the Santa Fe bridge north of Barstow were carried away by the storm Thursday night, tying up the San Francisco line, says the San Bernardino Sun. The Mohave river is swollen as it has not been in many years, and flows a wide, rushing river past Daguerre. This has caused damage to the Salt Lake bridge two miles east of Daguerre, 80 feet of the bridge having been swept down stream. It will require some time for the repairs to be completed. In the meantime the Salt Lake is using the Tonopah-Tidewater line on which to reach the Santa Fe line.

THIS GIRL STRIKE BREAKER HIRES HUNDREDS OF MEN

MISS MAE SHARKEY, STRIKE BREAKER. This Young Woman Has Been an Employer of Rough Men Since She Was 19, and She Knows Them All Like a Book.

Cleveland, O., March 11.—While the Pennsylvania railroad was dickering with its trainmen over a wage increase on the road east of Pittsburgh and Erie, an attractive young woman in this city was assembling and holding men ready to take the trainmen's places should a strike occur. An amicable adjustment of the trouble caused her efforts to be suspended.

This would not have been the first experience of Miss Mae Sharkey, 22, as a strike breaker. The young woman three years ago figured prominently in the Chicago packing house

Prescott, Ariz., March 11.—J. B. Hildebrandt's love for pretty women, and pretty women's pretty clothes, will probably be the means of landing that kay Lothario behind the bars for several months to come.

Hildebrandt, who was arrested at Humboldt last Friday by Deputy Sheriff John Woody, of Flagstaff, on the charge of stealing a trunkful of pretty lingerie from the equally pretty Edith Allyn, formerly of Denver, Colo., but now residing at Flagstaff, where the theft took place, had been employed there for several days as a clerk in a store. In his possession was found the trunkful of clothes. Hildebrandt admitted taking the trunk, and pleaded hard with Officer Woody to be allowed to take the trunk and its contents back to their rightful owner, but of no avail. Woody and his prisoner arrived here Friday evening, Hildebrandt being deposited in the county jail for safe keeping until Saturday, when the officer and his prisoner left for Flagstaff.

Back of the story of the theft runs the racy tale of a married man, father of five children, deserting his wife and babies to live with pretty Edith Allyn, also of Denver, whose love Hildebrandt won by posing as heart-whole and fancy free, but matrimonially inclined.

Beautifully accomplished, hardly more than a girl, Miss Allyn was flattered by Hildebrandt's attentions, and the smooth man of the world last September induced her to fly with him on the wings of love, Flagstaff being their objective point.

Unsuspecting Edith yielded to his pleading and accompanied him to the Skyline City, where she was faithfully assured a preacher would be secured and the marriage ceremony performed.

Arriving there less than two months ago, after visiting several other cities, Edith pleaded that the wedding be performed, but Hildebrandt always managed that the date be postponed. In the meantime the exchequer of the couple was getting exceedingly low, and a few days before he deserted her, taking all her clothing except the dress that graced her well-molded form. Hildebrandt intimated that Edith might seek a position in the hotel where they were stopping, that his entire time might be devoted to showing her how much he loved her.

Despite her longing to be loved, Miss Allyn indignantly refused to see a mental position, and becoming incensed, Hildebrandt left her and Flagstaff between two suns, the feminine wearing apparel going with him.

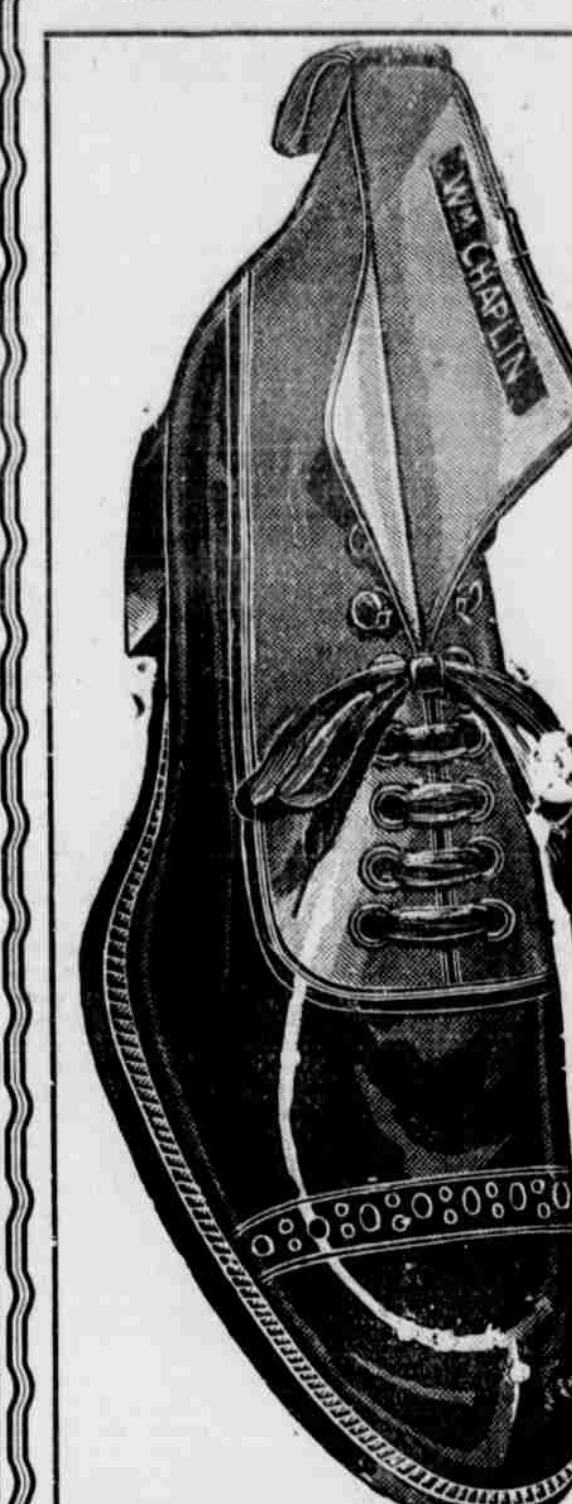

Heartbroken at her rudely shattered dream of bliss, miles away from "that dear Denver," sans lover, sans money and sans clothes, Edith tearfully turned to her last recourse, the law, and soon stern fate, in the form of Deputy Woody, was hot on the trail of the fleeing Lothario.

The day after his sudden departure Miss Allyn received a letter from him stating that while he dearly loved her, and would continue to do so until the angels, on wings of purist white, bore him to his last resting place beyond the skies, he loved her pretty lingerie better, and would always keep her clothing so that he would have something to remind him of the fairest face fate had ever thrown in his path.

This letter gave a clue to his whereabouts and Deputy Woody immediately trekked for Humboldt, where Hildebrandt was nabbed "with the goods on him."

What action will be taken by the deserted wife in Denver is not known, but Officer Woody states that the wife has been kept informed of her errant husband's behavior, and whereabouts ever since he landed in Flagstaff, and it is more than likely that a very serious charge, in addition to the one of larceny, now hanging over Hildebrandt, will be lodged against him.

UNCLE SAM IS AFTER DEL RO COMPANY

The Postoffice Authorities Say That Company Is Issuing Fraud Advertisements.

A fraud order has been issued against the Del Roy Mining and Smelting company, of Kansas City, Mo., and El Paso, Tex., says a dispatch dated Washington, D. C. The company was incorporated under the laws of New Mexico and capitalized for $2,500,000, with a par value of stock at $2.50 per share. The property which this company claimed to own was located in San Andres mining district in Socorro county, in New Mexico, and consisted of the claims known as the Boulder, Rattler, Jasper, Black Rock, Jupiter, Ired Bluff, Cyclone and Bulldog. Lucky Andy, Typhoon and Texas, and the officers of the company were: William Moeller, president; W. J. Harris, vice president; L. F. Kettler, secretary, and M. D. Gaylord, manager, all of El Paso, Tex., and W. H. Shelly, of Kansas City.

The company claimed to own 1,157 acres of the richest copper property in the United States and sold its stock with the understanding that the land was clear and the money would be employed in the purchase of mining machinery. As a matter of fact, the company had little or no land and held options only on several claims which options were allowed to lapse, leaving them without any visible assets, so the postoffice officials declare.

THE ALBUQUERQUE CITIZEN

Published Daily and Weekly.
By The Citizen Publishing Company
W. S. STRICKLER, President.
W. T. MCNEIGHT, Business Manager.

CONDITION NOT THEORY

The Citizen is of the opinion that the people of New Mexico, as a general thing, fully understand the condition of matters and parties in the territorial legislature. The majority of the members are straight republicans. They were elected as republicans and by republicans, and they are and have been true to their party, its principles and its organization. That they will remain to the end of the session, true to the party, its principles and its organization, goes without saying.

The minority in the legislature consists of three incongruous elements. Democrats, elected as such and fully expected to oppose everything republican; three republicans, elected as such but who were expected to act with the minority; and a few members elected as republicans and of whose fidelity no doubts were entertained, but whom the minority are hoping to influence.

Even with the last element, the control of which by the minority The Citizen will not yet believe to have been secured, the heterogeneous and incongruous mixture known as the minority has not been, cannot be and will not be, able to secure any legislation. The utmost they can do is to block legislation which the people desire and which the majority, representing the majority of the people, are endeavoring to secure.

Take for instance, among many others, these three important measures—the anti-gambling bill, the railroad rate bill and the appropriations bill. The first two the majority in the house have passed. Will the majority be able to pass them through the council? If so, they become laws, and the majority will deserve the entire credit. If they fail, the minority will be responsible for the failure, because they are majority measures, and the minority must bear the blame of an indignant people.

The third bill, that of appropriations, has been prepared. It is liberal to all the institutions of the territory. This, too, is a republican majority measure and the house will pass it overwhelmingly. Will it become a law? Again, as before, every one knows that failure can be brought about only through the minority. The passage of this bill will redound to the credit of the majority. Its defeat will bring down upon the minority the just indignation of an outraged public. We will see what we shall see.

In this bill, there is an annual appropriation of $20,000 for the New Mexico university; a special appropriation of $35,000 for improvement of university plant; and $4,000 for dyke protection. This is certainly dealing generously with Bernalillo, because from this county men sent to the legislature have been working against the republican majority all the way through. Is it not time that they should stop and ask themselves what they have secured by this course? Every man who goes to the legislature goes as the representative of the district which elects him, and he is expected, as well as in duty bound, to secure such legislation as will be for the largest benefit of his district. But a few more days of legislative life remain, and the three men from Bernalillo county are asked what have they secured for the people they are supposed to represent? Absolutely nothing, and they should know that the minority can give them nothing. What should be their course on the appropriation measure, which contains so much for Albuquerque? Will they continue their fight on political matters, in which this county has absolutely no concern, and thus bring about the defeat of the very measure which concerns us so much?

There will undoubtedly be a veiled attempt by the anti-republican forces to persuade the representatives from this county to do that very thing, and it behooves us all, who have the welfare of our city at heart, to insist upon our representatives lining up in the interest of Albuquerque. Should they not do this, it will certainly be very difficult for them to explain the reasons for their not securing for Albuquerque that to which she is justly entitled, and which it is possible for our representatives to secure by the exercise of good judgment in casting political prejudices to the winds.

THE MATTER OF SECURING APPROPRIATIONS FOR ALBUQUERQUE IS NOW UP TO THE DELEGATION FROM THIS COUNTY, AND THEY WILL BE RESPONSIBLE FOR ANY FAILURE, AS THE REPUBLICAN ORGANIZATION IS WITH US.

VINDICATION OF ROSS

Speaking of the pilgrimage of General Hugh Cameron, who is now in the city bearing the greetings of the people of Kansas to ex-Senator Edmund G. Ross, whom Kansas at one time so bitterly hated and hounded, the Leavenworth Journal of that state recently said editorially:

There is scarcely a man living who does not feel a thankfulness that Andrew Johnson was not impeached. It would have set a precedent that would have caused trouble to the end of the government. Further, it is not now seriously believed that he needed impeaching. Andrew Johnson was a figure of the rough and ready. He was a man of strong likes and dislikes. He was every inch a patriot. This assertion has only been allowed to be made of recent years, but it is true. We now know that no man would have stood as he stood in Tennessee and been disloyal at heart. Instead, he was loyal to the core.

As a matter of fact, Senator Ross rendered to the country a real public service in refusing to vote for the impeachment of Andrew Johnson. Had he done otherwise he would have caused a revolution. At the start of the public mind at that time the impeachment of Johnson would have been followed by a riot of crime. Assassination would have been made respectable and the passions would have held full sway. By the firmness and courage of Senator Ross, the country was saved the most fearful fate that could have confronted it.

Senator Ross made no pretensions to being a great man. He was a country editor, imbued with the spirit of fair play above the passion of the times. He went to Washington with only a local reputation. He was expected to line up with his party, or his faction, rather, and sink his individuality. Ross saw that Johnson was being unfairly treated. The American spirit of fair play of which he boasted so much, was not on exhibition. Ross confronted a fearful ordeal. It was to join the machine, sink his individuality and vote with the dominant faction of the republican party, or lose everything a man would cherish and vote with Johnson. He voted with Johnson and it was his vote that saved impeachment. Jim Lane had been driven to suicide because he had done the same thing. Ross knew what it meant to stand by Johnson.

Really, now, was not he brave? Then why longer harbor that feeling of resentment that has kept the man an outcast. There is no disposition to make a saint of him, no desire to canonize him as a savior of the country. It was simply a poor country editor beset with a situation that puzzled the wisest heads in the country. He had to act, and he did act. It was a brave thing to do, but Ross did it. He acted for his conscience. He acted right.

Therefore, we say let the animosities of the civil war period be buried. We have quit warring the bloody shirt. We have quit many other foolish things. It is now time to do justice to one of the most maligned men in the country. If this pilgrimage results in calling renewed attention to the brave man who was thrust into a lion's den without experience with men or measures, General Cameron will have performed a distinct public service.

New Mexican: Only ten more days of work for the thirty-seventh legislative assembly. Night sessions will have to be held during the coming week in order to clean up the business. That friction exists between the two houses and that there is no unity of interests between the governor and the assembly is too apparent to be denied. It is an unfortunate condition, and how it will be solved cannot be foretold at this moment. However, when the session is finished the blame will fall where it properly belongs.

New Mexican: The territorial educational institutions should be treated fairly and liberally. Parsimony in that direction would not prove of benefit; quite the reverse. This policy should also be observed with the charitable and penal territorial institutions. There should be appropriations, needful and demanded, for their proper maintenance and administration, no more and no less.

"Give the public printing to the lowest bidder," screams the Morning Journal. Really, Danny, you should take this matter up immediately with the Bernalillo board of county commissioners and have them remedy matters. They forgot to ask for bids, you know, when you were awarded your present contract for county printing.

"Mr. Barnes' word in the matter would still be believed, even though Mr. Garfield would really care to deny the interview," says the Morning Journal. Whew! Guess that will hold Mr. Garfield for a while.

FRESH AIR MAN'S GREATEST AND CHEAPEST BLESSING

We want to have a talk with the great family of readers of this newspaper on the subject of fresh air. Not a very sensational topic from one point of view, but from another point of view, that of health, not on sensational, but important, yes, vital. Fresh air is the cheapest and best medicine in the world. If everyone took full advantage of his opportunities to use this panacea of nature, fully fifty per cent of the doctors would have to go out of business and the patent medicine man would have to expend his energies in other directions.

We have never been able quite to figure out the terrible fear that some people seem to have that a little fresh air will find its way into their starved lungs. Not long ago the writer of this arose at daylight and walked about two miles. Of the several hundred homes he passed, the bed-room windows of just eleven were open. Out of these eleven houses more than one window was raised in but three of them. The houses were all in the section of the city popularly supposed to belong to the most intelligent people. And nearly all of these people were proving every night that in the important matter of their health they are more ignorant than savages.

No human being who can afford to buy enough bed covering to keep from freezing has any business to sleep in a room without a window open. Plenty of fresh air at night is necessary if you are to fortify your body against the disease germs which are always attacking you. And that is not all. You can't give the machinery of your body too much fresh air at any time—night or day. The great white plague continues to mow down hundreds of thousands of people in this country every year, and the greatest ally of consumption is bad air. The same thing is true of nearly every one of the lung diseases—in fact of all diseases.—Exchange.

QUICK TEMPER AND HANDY GUN MAN'S COMBINED ENEMY

Why pistols in hip pockets? London is disturbed over a record in 1906 of 23 homicides and attempted homicides by shooting. In nine months of 1906 New York had 52 such homicides, to say nothing of uncatalogued attempts. Last year Chicago, the most American of our large cities and one-third as large as London, reported 109 homicides by shooting, and added 163 suicides of the same class.

Ask the police to explain the difference in these death rates.

They will tell you it is because of the widespread custom in America of carrying weapons.

A pistol in a hip pocket is an encouragement to a quick temper. It is a questionable adjunct for a wise man, while a fool and a pistol make a combination that represents the height of irresponsibility. A very large proportion of the men who carry "guns" have little or no excuse for it.

Presence of common sense is greatly promoted by absence of pistol.

Not only is nearly all cases of it childish, useless and positively silly, but it is also illegal, dangerous and a distinct abettor of crime. It removes from men not only the opportunity but the necessity for clear thinking. It menaces friend and foe alike. It is the confessed resort of the rowdy, the bully and the coward.

It need not be argued as a point of law. We ignore thousands of other laws. It is a proposition involving sense and straightforward common sense.

Take away the pistol and you probably remove four-fifths of the possibility of homicide. The man who is most amiable today is the very man who forgets himself tomorrow.

No pistol means no yielding to sudden criminal impulse; it means fewer unjustifiable homicides and more real safety for the individual and for society, and therefore a safer nation.

Leave the gun at home.

QUESTION OF FACTORY VS. WORK IN AMERICAN KITCHEN

The cool collected manner in which some women are now setting about the investigation of the domestic service problem is both significant of the new feminine status and hopeful for the domestic future. In the New Idea Woman's Magazine for April Miss Elizabeth Irwin has a thoroughgoing little article summing up the situation as to where the supply of domestics comes from and why it is so limited. In regard to the vexing, though obstinate, fact that the girls are crowding the factories—even being turned away from them—while the private houses are suffering for lack of their work, an apparently decisive canvass among the factory girls was made by a number of interested women as follows:

"The next year, however, the same committee tried again on a broader basis and sought to find in as many cases as possible reasons for the wide-spread aversion to domestic service. This time five hundred and sixty-four women in the industrial field were interviewed. They one and all seemed to think housework would involve a loss of dignity and also a sacrifice of independence. Employers in shops and factories were appealed to also, and agreed, when turning girls away, to mention domestic service as an alternative. The result of this wider canvass was thirty-six applicants; of these, twelve were charity cases, who were incompetent for other work; seven others were neither shop nor factory girls, so not typical cases; of the remaining seventeen, fourteen weakened when it came to the point and went back to their old work, two turned out to be hard drinkers and the third took a place, but left after a week because the work was 'too degrading.' The committee closed its investigation along these lines with a modified view which is of great value to the housewife who cherishes a secret hope that in time the factory and shop girl may again develop domestic tastes. This may come to pass, but it is manifest that while we are awaiting this change of heart we must turn to some other source of supply to fill our daily wants, and for the present be content with the five per cent of American-born girls who eschew the factory for home."

Little Items About Great Things.

Trainer: "Punch him in the head, Shorty."

Shorty: "Where is it?"

Pat: "Don't never do this fer a Hivin', me boy—take up something easier, drawing, fer instance."

Young Man: "Certainly, I'm going to be a cartoonist. I was just looking at your face. It would make a fine comic valentine."

How Taste Differs.

Government Ownership on Trial.

If government ownership and operation of railroads proved as successful and economical as government ownership and construction of isthmian canals, it would certainly be one of the marvels of the age.—Kansas City Journal.

The Alluring Word.

"Look 'ere, Bill," ejaculated the other hobo, in disgust, pointing to a piece of newspaper he had picked up. "Here is de musty old gag agen fer drawin' a ignorant sucker on 't work. Listen."

"Wanted: At 118 Canal street, a man to do light work."

Her Year.

Teacher, pausing in her reading of a story to her little class: "Does any of the children know how many months a year has?"

"I do," answered a little scholar, with avidity.

"Well, Nellie. How many?"

"Two. June and December."

"What makes you think that?" asked the teacher, amused.

"Because my birthday comes in June and Christmas in December!"

THE CITY GAMBLER.

The new-born babe was crying in bed.

"He's got a chance," the physician said.

He left with a pitying backward glance.

But the babe decided to take the chance.

The babe grew up in the course of time.

And made his way through the city's slime;

Cramming hard in the school of Suspense,

His eyes grew shifty, his face grew tense.

Fearful of possible painful jars,

Dodging autos and surface cars,

Leaving his office building tall,

Where the elevator was apt to fall;

Meeting strangers with cautious look

And a hand surrounding his pocket-book.

From his morning bath to his mid-night trance,

Taking a chance, taking a chance.

An old gray man was lying in bed,

"He's got a chance," the physician said.

But the old man sighed—a weary sigh—

"I've taken chances enough. Good-bye."

She's Married Now.

(Hilary Neil Weston, the poet laureate of Honolulu, waxed ironic when he read President Roosevelt's recommendation that the Japanese be given citizenship rights by the United States and otherwise be placed on an equality with the white men of America. His muse, spurred by Roosevelt's words, prompted the following, entitled, "She's Married Now.")

I am married, papa, married

To a darling Japanese.

He's bow-legged from his ancles

To his lovely lumpy knees.

His eyes are set at angles

And his nose is on askew.

But I know if "Teddy" will approve

"I'll be all right with you."

O, I'm sure he loves me dearly.

For he told some Nippon men

That he'd never, never sell me

Under fifteen hundred Yen.

All our Occidental customs

I've abandoned, papa dear.

For the Oriental culture.

That we used to think so queer.

I can swig a quart of Sake,

Rice and pork eat with a stick.

Hobble out in clogs or sandals

In a style that's really slick.

Though my lovely silk kimono

Leaves my limbs a little bare.

'Tis the garb of dear old Nippon.

So I really do not care.

And I'd sooner, papa darling,

Be a "Gaijin" in Japan

Than to wed some lazy white man

Under your parental ban.

ing to life in the hope of seeing her "martyr son" restored to freedom. As before, his case will be fought with the funds of people all over the United States, who believe him the victim of partisan hatred and oppression.

For Caleb Powers was admittedly 60 miles from Frankfort when an unknown assassin's bullet laid low Wm. Goebel, who was driving the legislature to name him governor. Now, the prosecution for the fourth time will try to establish that the fatal shot was fired from the window of Powers' office in the state house by a hired assassin.

Ball was always refused Powers. In July, of 1900, he got his first trial, was convicted and sentenced for life. The court of appeals rejected the finding of the court. Again he was tried and given a life sentence, and saved by the court of appeals. In 1903 he was again convicted and sentenced to death, the court of appeals also annulling this trial. For a while in 1905 he was in the hands of the United States court, but the supreme court of the United States sent the case back to the state courts as having full jurisdiction.

Secretary of New Mexico.

THE PUBLICITY CORPORATION.

We, the undersigned, in order to form a corporation for the purpose hereinafter stated, under and pursuant to the provisions of an act of the legislative assembly of the territory of New Mexico, entitled: "An act to regulate the formation and government of corporations for mining, manufacturing, industrial and other pursuits," and approved March 15, 1935, do hereby certify as follows:

I. The corporate name is The Publicity Corporation.

Registered Office.

The registered office of the corporation is at No. 17 West Gold avenue, Albuquerque, New Mexico.

II. The objects for which the corporation is established are primarily:

To purchase or otherwise acquire, manufacture, market, prepare for sale, sell, deal in and deal with advertising material and work of every class, nature and description, including paper, cloth, wood, glass, celluloid, metal or other character.

To purchase or otherwise acquire, sell, deal in and deal with advertising space in newspapers, magazines, periodicals, journals, trade papers and other publications of every kind and description, as well as bill boards, dead walls, street car and all other advertising space.

To engage in any lawful business, whether manufacturing or otherwise, which may seem advantageous or useful in connection therewith, and to manufacture, market or prepare for sale, sell, deal in or deal with any article or thing which the corporation may use in connection with its business.

To protect the products of the corporation by patents, copyrights, registrations, trade marks, trade names, or any distinguishing name, title or device, and as well to acquire, take over or otherwise deal in patents, grants or other protection.

To apply for, purchase or otherwise acquire, and to hold, own, use, operate, or to grant licenses in respect of, or otherwise turn to account any and all inventions, improvements and processes, patents, copyrights, trade marks, trade names, titles or devices, used in connection with, or secured under letters patent of the United States of America, or elsewhere, or otherwise, and with a view to the same to carry on any lawful business, whether manufacturing or otherwise, which the corporation may deem it calculated, directly or indirectly, to effectuate these objects. And the said corporation shall have the right to take and hold such real estate as may be necessary and proper for its legitimate business, not exceeding, however, any amount limited by law.

To buy, sell, deal in and deal with the real estate, goods, wares and merchandise of persons, firms, associations or corporations engaged in any branch of said business, or in any business or enterprise pertaining or similar thereto.

To hold, purchase, convey such real and personal estate as the purposes of the corporation shall require, and such real estate as the laws of the territory of New Mexico may permit, with the right to mortgage all such real and personal estate with its franchise.

As subsidiary to and in connection with the foregoing, from time to time the corporation may:

Manufacture, purchase or otherwise acquire goods, wares and merchandise of every class and description, and hold, own, mortgage, sell or otherwise dispose of, trade, deal in and deal with the same.

Acquire and undertake the good will, property, rights, franchises, contracts and assets of every manner and kind, and the liabilities of any person, firm, association or corporation, either wholly or in part, and pay for the same in cash, stocks or bonds of the corporation, or otherwise.

Enter into, make, perform and carry out contracts of every kind, and for any lawful purpose with any person, firm, association or corporation, or issue bonds, debentures or obligations of that corporation, and at the option of the corporation, to secure the same by mortgage, pledge, deed of trust or otherwise.

Acquire, hold, use, sell, assign, lease, grant licenses in respect of, mortgage or otherwise dispose of letters patent of the United States, or any foreign country, patents, patent rights, licenses, privileges, inventions, improvements and processes, trade marks and trade names, relating to or useful in connection with any business of the corporation.

Hold, purchase or otherwise acquire, sell, assign, transfer, mortgage or otherwise dispose of shares of the capital stock and bonds, debentures or other evidences of indebtedness created by other corporation or corporations, and while the holder thereof, exercise all the privileges of ownership, including the right to vote thereon.

Purchase, hold and re-insure the shares of its capital stock, its bonds or other securities.

Remunerate any person or corporation for services rendered, or to be rendered, in placing or assisting to place or guaranteeing the placing or underwriting of any of the shares of stock of the corporation, or any debenture bonds or other securities of the corporation, or in the formation or promotion of the corporation, or in the conduct of its business.

With a view to the working and development of the properties of the corporation, and to effectuate, directly or indirectly, its objects and purposes, or any of them, the corporation may, in the discretion of the directors, from time to time, carry on any lawful business, manufacturing or otherwise, to any extent and in any manner not unlawful.

The corporation may conduct business in the territory of New Mexico and elsewhere, including any of the states, territories, colonies or dependencies of the United States, the District of Columbia, and any and all foreign countries, have one or more offices therein, and for that purpose, purchase, mortgage, and convey real and personal property, except as and when forbidden by local laws.

The foregoing clauses shall be construed as objects and powers, and not as limitations, expansion or declaration of specific or special powers or purposes herein enumerated shall be deemed to be exclusive, but it is hereby expressly declared that all other lawful powers not inconsistent therewith are hereby included.

Capital Authorized.

IV. The corporation is authorized to issue capital stock to the extent of one million dollars ($1,000,000) divided into ten thousand shares of the par value of one hundred dollars each. The amount of the capital with which said corporation shall commence business is two thousand dollars.

Capital Subscribed.

V. The capital stock to which the corporation will commence business is subscribed by the incorporators as follows:

David S. Boucher, four shares, $400.00.
J. A. Beal, four shares, $400.00.
Frank H. Cole, four shares, $400.00.
J. M. Sylvester, four shares, $400.00.

Geo. T. Gould, four shares, $400.00.
Total $2,000.00.

The postoffice address of each of the incorporators is No. 117 West Gold avenue, Albuquerque, New Mexico.

VI. The term for which the corporation is to exist is fifty years.

VII. Any stockholder of this corporation may, by agreement in writing, transfer his stock to any person or persons for the purpose of vesting in him or them the right to vote thereon for a period of time not exceeding five years, upon terms and conditions stated, pursuant to which said person or persons shall act.

Limitation of Stockholders' Power to Examine Stock and Transfer Books.

VIII. The corporation shall keep at its registered office in this territory the transfer books, in which the transfers of stock shall be registered, and the stock books, which shall contain the names and the addresses of the stockholders and the number of shares held by them respectively, which shall at all times during the usual hours for business be open to the inspection of a stockholder, in person with respect to his interest as such stockholder, or for a purpose germane to his status as such, upon application in writing to the registered agent of the corporation in charge of such office and having the custody of said books; but the registered agent may refuse permission to any stockholder to examine the same (except as to the entries affecting the shares owned by such stockholder), unless and until satisfied that such examination and the information to be acquired thereby are for a legitimate purpose and not for a purpose hostile to the interests of the corporation or its individual stockholders, and the determination of the registered agent shall be final, conclusive and binding upon all stockholders and upon all persons claiming under such stockholders.

IX. In furtherance and not in limitation of the powers conferred by statute, the board of directors are expressly authorized:

To hold their meetings, to have one or more offices, and to keep the books of the corporation within or, except as otherwise provided by statute, without the territory of New Mexico, at such places as may, from time to time, be designated by them.

To determine, from time to time, whether, and if allowed, under what conditions and regulations the accounts and books of the corporation shall be open to the inspection of the stockholders, and the stockholders' rights in this respect are and shall be restricted or limited accordingly.

To make, alter, amend and rescind the by-laws of the corporation, to fix, determine, from time to time and vary the amount to be reserved as working capital, to determine the times for the declaration and payment and the amount of each dividend on the stock, to determine and direct the use and disposition of any surplus or net profits, and to authorize and cause to be executed mortgages and liens upon the real and personal property of the corporation, provided always that a majority of the whole board concur therein.

Pursuant to the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the stock issued and outstanding, at a stockholders' meeting duly convened, to sell, assign, transfer or otherwise dispose of the property, including the franchises of the corporation as an entirety, provided always that a majority of the whole board concur therein.

To appoint additional officers of the corporation, including one or more vice presidents, one or more assistant treasurers, and one or more assistant secretaries, and, to the extent provided in the by-laws, the persons so appointed shall have and may exercise all the powers of the president, of the treasurer and of the secretary respectively, provided, however, that all vice presidents be chosen from the directors.

By a resolution by a majority vote of the whole board, under suitable provision of the by-laws to designate two or more of their number to constitute an executive committee, which committee shall, for the time being, as provided in said resolution, or in the by-laws, have and exercise any or all the powers of the board of directors, which may be lawfully delegated, in the management of the business and affairs of the corporation, and shall have power to authorize the seal of the corporation to be affixed to all papers which may require it.

The board of directors and the executive committee shall, except as otherwise provided by law, have power to act in the following manner, viz: A resolution in writing, signed as affirmatively approved by all the members of the board of directors or by all the members of the executive or other committee, and thereafter with original or with duplicated signatures inserted in the recorded minutes and proper documents shall be deemed to be action by such board or committee, as the case may be, to the extent therein effected as if the same had been duly passed by the same vote at a regularly convened meeting.

Subject to the foregoing provisions the by-laws may prescribe the number of directors to constitute a quorum at their meeting, and such number may be less than a majority of the whole number of directors.

The corporation reserves the right to amend, alter, change or repeal any provision contained in this certificate of incorporation or in the by-laws in the manner now or hereafter prescribed by statute for the amendment of the certificate of incorporation.

COMETS STRANGE, ERRATIC TRAMPS OF THE HEAVENS

SOME SPECIMENS OF COMETS DELINEATED.

1. Wells comet of 1882 as seen in daylight. 2. Biela's comet, 1846, after dividing. 3. Comet III of 1862. 4. Great comet of 1841.

(By an Amateur Scientist.)

Inasmuch as a real swift young comet is going to inspect this world from a rather close vicinity a little later on this month it is well to take into consideration what a comet is.

You see one of them often, but when you do it looks like a star with a gauzy tail streaming behind it. That is, a full-fledged comet does. Some look like faint stars with a haze round them.

Scientists don't know precisely of what comets are composed, where they come from or where they go. There are only a few comets that behave with any regularity. These travel in regular orbits and are visible periodically. Some that were supposed to be systematic in their movements have disappointed observers.

One of the greatest mysteries of the world is what has become of Biela's comet. This comet was first seen in 1772. It reappeared conscientiously at periods of a little over six years apart after that, and was considered a reliable, respectable comet until 1845, when it turned into two comets. It, or they, remained in sight for four months. The next time it appeared it was several months behind time, in 1852, and the two portions were about eight times as far apart as when it was first noticed that it had divided. Since then it has never reappeared.

There is a group of small comets that come into view quite frequently. These comets revolve around the sun once in 3 1/2 years. Tuttle's in 12 1/2 years and several others in 5 1/2 years. Quite an ancient comet is Halley's. Other stockholders of the comet may be said to have been seen about twenty-five times since 11 B. C. This comet in 1935 was supposed to be the forerunner of the invasion of England by William the Conqueror.

Some of the comets seem controlled by the plan is quite a family of little comets. Comets are quite large. For instance, a magnificent specimen, that of 1811, had a tail 100,000,000 miles long and a breadth of 15,000,000 miles. This comet was by the superstitious taken to be an omen prefiguring the failure of Napoleon in Russia.

While the tails of comets are supposed to be of gases, and stars have been plainly seen through them, the heads or nuclei of comets are believed to be of denser material—how dense is not known. The tails are supposed to be caused by the repelling force of the sun against the material of which they are composed.

MINES AT GALLUP
CLOSED INDEFINITELY

Speculation is just now rife in the city of Gallup over the recent closure of operations at the mines of the Gallup Fuel company. The concern has laid off all its hands and cleaned up its property apparently for a long period of inactivity, and it is announced that work will not be resumed at the colliery until conditions have been materially changed. Much regret is felt over the attitude of the company, as it is known that the property contains vast deposits of as good coal as can be found in this part of the country, and because of the loss to the merchants of the monthly pay roll, amounting to $1,500.

Rumors of a sale of the property to outside parties and the purchase of additional holdings are indulged in by some, but nothing of a definite character is in sight as yet. It is hoped, however, that the difficulty will soon be overcome and the mines reopened.

Home Insurance the Best

WE CANNOT refrain from again saying something about Home Insurance. Every time that the proposition presents itself of the tremendous amount of money that is being sent out of New Mexico and Arizona for life insurance to eastern cities, the conviction comes home with increased force that a home company ought to be patronized and the money remain in the West.

The revelations of the past year of the way the enormous surplus of the big Eastern companies has been handled and speculated with ought to emphasize the fact that the people of the West should stop pouring their money into Eastern channels when it can be placed in home insurance, and every dollar of it kept and invested at home.

It is gratifying to note that home insurance is year by year receiving more and more its just deserts. Statistics show that during the past year home companies far exceeded foreign companies in the amount of business written. Why cannot this same record be made here? It can if every individual who takes out a policy the coming year will carefully weigh the proposition of the value it is to keep his insurance at home before he puts his name to the application of any insurance company.

The Occidental Life Insurance Company of New Mexico and Arizona is owned and controlled by the leading business men of the two territories, and offers exceptional opportunities to ambitious and capable men and women to sell its policies.
