NO MORE BILLS CAN NOW BE INTRODUCED IN HOUSE BUT BY RULE SUSPENSION

Minority Now Has Regularly Organized Machine to Oppose the Regular Organization of Republican Majority.

MAJORITY WORKS HARD TO PERFECT GOOD LEGISLATION

Governor Did Not Appear Before the Committee on Sales of Territorial Lands as He Had Been Requested to Do.

Santa Fe, N. M., March 12.—The attempt on the part of the anti-republican organization to tie up all useful legislation demanded by the people, in every way possible, on the pretext that each time it has some base ulterior or retaliatory end in view, will not prevail. The closing days of the legislature are at hand. If the people are to receive legislation they want and to which they are entitled, it must be done within the next ten days. More than that, it will be done, if the words of the men entrusted with its passage can be relied upon.

Despite the fact that by a variety of dilatory tactics, the present anti-republican organization, and the forces which it dominates with as much command as a well organized machine always has at its command, has succeeded to some extent in blocking a few measures temporarily, the work of that organization will be quickly undone within the next few days. The committees in both the house and the council are working steadily. The smaller less important bills are being reported daily and being disposed of. The appropriation bill is being steadily considered in the committee on finance of the house and will soon be before the house for action. This bill is an important one, since it hinges the running of territorial government and institutions for the coming two fiscal years. While the deliberations of the committee are not public, it is known that to some extent at least the discrimination between educational institutions, which has been noticeable on several occasions, will be eliminated. At the same time it will be the object of this committee and of the assembly as a whole to see that each department of New Mexico receives its pro rata share.

The Journal and the other anti-republican papers of the territory have taken great pains to give credence to the report that the present territorial administration is a "retaliatory" measure. It is noticeable at this late date of the assembly that not a single "retaliatory" measure has been found in any of the legislation enacted or even proposed. It is even a fact that legislation demanded by the people in many portions of New Mexico is being

C. G. ROBERTSON WAS MURDERED NOT DROWNED

Drops of Blood Found on Wagon Support Murder Theory.

Special to The Evening Citizen.
Deming, N. M., March 12.—Though the matter has been kept secret as much as possible, a while ago a man named C. G. Robertson was murdered, his body made away with, and the story that he had drowned is a fabrication pure and simple. It is the supposition that the murder was committed as he was crossing the Gila river and that the wagon was left in the middle of the stream and the horses on the bank of the river to make ground to support the drowning man. A letter written by the wife of the missing man to a friend, Mrs. Robertson, says that she thinks that Mr. Robertson was killed and not drowned and she thinks that she knows who did it. The story that Mr. Robertson was drowned as well as another story started from some unknown source that he had left the country, gone to California and deserted his family are not believed by Mrs. Robertson. She says that he was too devoted to run away. Drops of blood, which have been found on the wagon Mr. Robertson had when he left home, support the murder theory. There was also blood on a roll of bedding in the wagon. Mr. Robertson's gun was wrapped up in this bedding and it is thought that the old man may have made an effort to get the gun after being shot but expired before reaching it. The gun had not been used. The motive of the crime, however, is not known. Mr. Robertson was not known to have an enemy in the whole Gila country, and as nothing was disturbed about his person, the robbery theory is not plausible. Mrs. Robertson is in very poor circumstances. A reward of $100 has been offered for the capture of the murderer. Robertson disappeared more than a month ago. His team was found tied on the banks of the Gila river, with the wagon in the middle of the river, and the horses on the bank.

ing held back for the simple reason that it has been unjustly termed "retaliatory."

This condition, however, can not exist longer. Generally admitted in the capital that the "bars are down" and the next ten days will see the people of New Mexico have an inning from beginning to end. There is a quantity of legislation pending which it is generally acknowledged should be enacted into law, the opposition of the anti-machine thereto notwithstanding. It is wonderful to see the change that has taken place since the antics of the Journal and the machine which it represents have come to be viewed in their honest and ridiculous light. The legislators themselves almost without exception have tired of the sensational, untruthful and libelous reports, and as the circulation of that periodical will testify, its sale here has diminished rapidly.

"I'm tired of all this rot. Let's pass the bills the people want and go home where we can live without some mud-slinging sheet branding us as criminals without the slightest excuse for so doing." Such or similar expressions are often heard among the legislators. The coming week will be a busy one for every member of the legislature. The majority in the council and house which has from the beginning stood firm for home rule and home legislation, still stands unbroken. It has even secured recruits from those who have been deceived or otherwise influenced into opposing it. In the house, Hudspeeth, a democrat, is working night and main to gather about him that little minority which followed Captain Ruppe into a most unpleasant position, and which, were it not for Hudspeeth, would be entirely at sea. In a great many ways this legislature has been handicapped. It has been accused of all but the things which ingenious political and newspaper inventiveness could concoct. At the same time it has been the object of the most malicious and untrue rumors—that it has stood for the people and their desired legislation regardless of all attempts by the opposition machine to use the whip.

The lies and innuendoes of the past few weeks will be blown aside like chaff before the wind in the next ten days, and the legislative assembly will be seen by the people in its true light—a body of men from the people and acting for them in every way possible, despite the rabid utterances of a subsidized paper and its small following, which has hindered them in every conceivable way.

The leaders of the republican majority in the house have stood at the head of their forces undaunted, and will not regret that they have been attacked so falsely in the sensational anti-republican press. They have done this much, if nothing more—not one measure has passed the house which has not been a good law in every sense of the word, properly and clearly drawn and having for its object some definite good for the territory and the people whom they have the honor to represent. In remarks upon the floor of the house, it can never be said that they have used personalities derogatory to the character or integrity of any member. It is true that while the "immortal seventeen" together to a man, despite the cowardly attacks and guerrilla warfare which they have waged.

Much interest now centers in the report of the house special investigation of the governor. The committee has finished its work. The governor was asked to appear before it and present his side of the case. He did not appear. Out of all the witnesses called, he alone, for reasons known to himself, found it best to remain away. Santa Fe, chairman of the special committee, refuses to talk of the report until it has been acted upon by the house.

Bills in House.
Yesterday was the last day for the introduction of bills in the house, except under suspension of the rules. Those introduced were:
House joint memorial No. 2, asking the president to extend privileges to the Pecos forest reserve as on other reserves. The secretary was instructed to forward a copy to Washington.
House bill No. 196, by Walters, for territorial board of horticulture.
House bill No. 197, by Walters, relative to new school districts. Tabled.
House bill No. 198, by Walters, for spraying of fruit trees.
House bill No. 199, by Ramon Sanchez, relative to public highways.
House bill No. 200, by Studley, to amend section 9, chapter 2, laws of 1905, relative to school districts.
House bill No. 201, by Studley, redemption of property held for taxes.
House bill No. 202, by Ramon Sanchez, relative to school bonds, etc.
House bill No. 203, by Ramon Sanchez, to abolish the mounted police.
House bill No. 204, by Baca, for an exhibit from New Mexico for the Alaska-Yukon exposition.
House bill No. 205, by Abbott of Santa Fe, duties of assessor.
House bill No. 206, by Gallegos, relative to boundaries of school districts.
House bill No. 207, by Baca, relative to bail.
House bill No. 208, by Green, to prevent discrimination against native labor by employers. Passed house by a viva voce vote.
House bill No. 209, by Baca, relative to draying.

RESIGNED PRESIDENCY ON DREYFUS TRIAL ACCOUNT

Paris, March 12.—M. Casimir Perier, ex-president of France, died today.

Death Unexpected.

His death occurred at 11 o'clock last night of embolism or plugging up of the heart. The news was not published until this morning. The ex-president had been ill for two or three days but no great importance was attached to his illness.

Jean Paul Casimir Perier was the son and the grandson of a statesman. The ex-president was born November 28, 1847. In the summer of 1894, he was elected president, immediately after the assassination of President Carnot. He was not popular owing to his opposition to the agencies which threatened national security.

Serious differences arose between the president and his supporters and eventually, in January, 1895, he resigned. During the Zola trial it developed that the reason for his resignation was that the cabinet concealed from him material facts of policy, so that he nearly found himself in serious quarrel with Germany owing to his ignorance of the Dreyfus scandal.

NO MORE MANSFIELD COPPER STOCK FOR SALE.

Patagonia, Ariz., March 12.—The financing of the Mansfield copper mine is now practically completed, and the directors of the company have ordered that the sale of development stock be discontinued. This action has been taken in view of the unexpected rapid absorption of the company's securities, enabling the management to place the property upon a self-supporting basis and thereby obviating the necessity of further sale of stock. A decided impetus to the business and mining interests of the district is resulting from the rapid development of a number of new and promising copper properties in the vicinity of Patagonia.

JOPLIN COMMERCIAL CLUB AFTER WILD-CAT SCHEMERS
Joplin, Mo., March 12.—Fake mining promotions and stock jobbing schemes in the southwest lead and zinc fields are likely to meet with some "hard sledding" in the near future, if the plans of the Joplin Commercial club are carried into execution. It is the purpose of the club to attack all the unreliable concerns advertising from this district and bring them to the notice of the postal authorities. Meanwhile the development of legitimate enterprises is going forward rapidly, and the prosperity of the lead and zinc industry was never greater than today.

INSTANTLY KILLED BY 2200 VOLT CURRENT

El Paso, March 12.—Elmer Martin, a lineman for the Electrical Street Railway company of this city, was instantly killed through contact with a live wire while working on the company's lines here yesterday morning. Suddenly at Martin in order to obtain a better purchase of the material he was using, leaned backward, he came in contact with a live wire and was killed. The death must have been instantaneous as Rogers perceived the difficulty at once seized his companion and broke the contact only to find that life was extinct. The body, which remained for a time after the accident, suspended by the guard belt, was lowered to the ground by means of a block and fall and very means imaginable to resuscitate the victim was invoked. This is the second death from live wires among El Paso electricians within the past year. The current, which passed through Martin's body, carried a pressure of 2,200 volts.

ANNUAL STATE BAR MEETING AT MILWAUKEE.

Milwaukee, March 12.—The annual meeting of the Wisconsin Bar association began in the United States circuit court room today and will continue tomorrow. The president delivered his annual address today. The topic was "Some Ideal States and Some Legal Ideas." In the evening Lyman J. Nash, of Manitowish, will speak. Tomorrow forenoon, there will be an address by G. W. Hazelton, Milwaukee, "John Jay and the Treaty of 1794." Afternoon annual address by John Harrison, Chicago. Address by Burr W. Jones, Madison, "The Home-side Problem in the United States." In the evening the grand banquet will be given at the Plankin House, with a large company.

In the Thaw Trial Today—Arguments Over Admission of Smith's Evidence.

JUDGE DECIDES THAT IT OUGHT TO BE ADMITTED

Nothing of Importance for Either Side Developed in Testimony of Policeman Howe.

New York, March 12.—With the resumption of the Thaw trial this morning Delmas continued his argument against admitting the testimony of James C. Smith, brother-in-law of White, who was absent from the country when the prosecution put in its case in chief against Thaw.

Delmas contended that Smith should properly have been examined at the beginning of the trial and could not testify at this time. There was a sharp argument between Jerome and Delmas, in which Hart-ridge also participated and corrected several statements of the district attorney. Finally Fitzgerald announced he was ready to rule on the point and Delmas requested fifteen minutes in order to consider with his associate counsel, and the time was granted.

Smith's Testimony Admitted.
After a brief recess Delmas and Jerome continued their arguments in regard to the admissibility of the evidence of Smith. Justice Fitzgerald was brief in his ruling. He said that the evidence which Smith had to offer was newly discovered, and in the interest of justice, should go to the jury. "If overrule the objection," he concluded.

Jerome then asked that the examination of Smith be postponed until after luncheon recess, to enable him to call Officer Edward P. Howe to the stand. This was granted.

Nothing Gained From Howe.
Howe's testimony was in regard to the arrest of Thaw on the night of the shooting and his examination at the police station. He said that Thaw appeared rational.

Dr. Carlton Flint, to whom Evelyn is said to have gone with Jack Barrymore, was called, but Delmas objected to his testimony on the same ground he offered to other witnesses, and Flint was excused, after testifying that he did not know Evelyn, although he had seen her in court.

CONVENTION OF WOODMEN OF THE WORLD.

Jackson, Ky., March 12.—A big gathering of Woodmen of the World opened here today, and will continue until the 14th. The headquarters are at the Windsor hotel, and the sessions will be in the auditorium of the hotel. Today the convention was called to order by Colonel Thomas W. Mitchell, general manager of Georgia and Florida. Committees were appointed and the convention adjourned to the city council chamber, where Mayor Severance, W. H. Baker, mayor of Jacksonville, delivered an address of welcome, and turned the keys of the city over to the assembled delegates. The delegates were then photographed on the lawn of the municipal building. At the afternoon session the reports of committee were received, and exemplification of the work was given, all Woodmen having a good opportunity to see the initiation of candidates done in fine style by the palmetto guards. As a degree team the palmetto guards do some fine work.

EFFORT TO RUN STREET CARS RESTS IN FIGHT.

Louisville, March 12.—With the aid of strikebreakers and the protection of the police, the street railway company this morning started a partial withdrawal of the cars from the city. Nearly $100,000 for Albuquerque—Will Bernalillo County's Representatives Now Be Good?

Special to The Evening Citizen.

Santa Fe, March 12.—The appropriation bill, of which there has been so much talk, it is understood, will go to the house this afternoon, although that body has not yet convened. The committee refuses to disclose the contents of the bill. It is understood that it contains for Bernalillo county $20,000 for maintenance of the New Mexico University per annum.

Blown Up by One of Its Own Torpedoes With Fatal Effect.

FIFTY ARE KILLED AND FULLY 300 ARE INJURED

Many Adjacent Ships Were Seriously Damaged by the Explosion

Toulon, March 12.—The powder magazine on board the French battleship Lena blew up today while the vessel was in the Marseilles dock, owing to the explosion of a compressed air torpedo. There were about 630 officers and men on board the Lena at the time of disaster, but many of them escaped into the water. The authorities here believe that the victims will number over 200.

Further explosions occurred upon the Lena every moment and the debris flew over the dock yard for a distance of 500 yards. A shell weighing twenty pounds was hurled a quarter of a mile before striking the ground. The Lena was undergoing inspection of machinery when the explosion occurred. The concussion caused by the explosion of the compressed air torpedo set fire to the aft powder magazine, blowing up the whole aft part of the vessel and officials declare that the magazines of the Lena were completely filled with explosives and that the recurrent detonations indicate they are all on fire.

Three Hundred Injured.
The number of injured is now known to be about 300, including many officers. It is believed certain that over fifty were killed and of the injured 100 are seriously hurt.

Rear Admiral Wounded.
Rear Admiral Manon is among the wounded, and included in the killed is Ensign Rousset.

OTHER VESSELS NEARBY WERE BADLY DAMAGED.

Paris, March 12.—Only meager details of the explosion on the Lena have reached here. It is stated, however, that the explosion was so great that the warship had been flooded. Advice also said that many vessels near the Lena had been damaged.

TO VISIT SONS ON EASTER FROM GERMANY.

New York, March 12.—Mrs. Charlemagne Tower, wife of the ambassador to Germany, has written to her sons that she will sail today from there, in order to greet them on Easter day. Mrs. Tower has a talent for surrounding herself with international social lights and has won honors and laurels in the art of water, by the dignity held throughout the gamut of her entertainments, whether it was of a cosmopolitan or exclusive nature. Her Washington party was a grand event in social circles, and was attended by the Crown Prince Frederick William and Crown Princess, and the number of distinguished Americans was very notable.

ROCHESTER CAMERA CLUB'S ANNUAL EXHIBIT.

Rochester, N. Y., March 12.—This year's exhibit of the Rochester Camera club opened today in the rooms of the Wilder Arcade, and is of unusual attractiveness as it is to include several exhibits from Curtis Bell, generally considered the most artistic photographer in New York. The pictures which Mr. Bell sends were shown at an exhibit in London, and were much admired.

GOVERNMENT WILL MAKE ITS OWN TORPEDOES SOON.

Washington, March 12.—Admiral Mason, chief of the naval bureau of ordnance, has just completed plans for the construction of a torpedo factory at the Newport naval station, and he expects to advertise at once for proposals for construction of the building of necessary plants. This will be the first time the government has undertaken to make its own torpedoes on a large scale.

The present type of naval torpedo runs 3,500 yards under water. It has an average speed of 24 1/2 knots, but experiments conducted by the ordnance bureau have developed a torpedo which will attain the speed of 35 knots an hour, at a distance of 1,000 yards, and possibly this type will be adopted when fully developed and turned out at the new factory, instead of the present standard type.

IRISH RACE IN THE UNITED STATES

Twice as Many of Them in This Country as Are Now in Ireland.

PROMINENT IN WAR AND POLITICS ALWAYS

Abundant in List of Inventors. Not Unknown in Finance. Able Educators and Orators.

(By Frederic J. Haskin.)

It is said that two-thirds of the entire Irish race are in the United States; and that there are more Irish in Boston than in any other city in the world. South Carolina has the largest Irish population of any state in the union. Nearly half of the continental troops under Washington were of Irish descent, and many of the most valiant officers of the revolution were small green flags on their coats to mark their double allegiance.

The connection of the Irish with America goes back to the earliest history of the country. First there is the legendary visit of St. Brendan, devout missionary and daring navigator, whose supposed visit to our shores antedated the landing of Columbus by 1,000 years. There were Irish pilgrims on the Mayflower, and 500 or 600 members of this race came over in the stern-wheelers of the Emerald Isle.

As early as 1716, 599 Irish families went to South Carolina. There were Irish Quakers in the settlement of William Penn, and before the revolution nearly half of the members of the Pennsylvania legislature were Irish.

Nine of the signers of the declaration of independence were of Irish descent. John Jay was given the first captaincy in the American navy, and the naval honors he won for the Emerald Isle were continued by Stephen Decatur of direct Irish extraction. "Mad Anthony" Wayne was Irish to his finger tips, and was the first of the Indian fighters of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, was born in Ireland. The undaunted people were the first to make their way across the Alleghenies, under the leadership of their countrymen, Daniel Boone and David Crockett. General Sam Houston never failed to remark on the Irish blood, of which he was aggressively proud. Both Miles Standish and John Alden were Irish.

The popular conception that there are more Irishmen in politics than anywhere else is not far from the truth. There is an old saying that they have ruled every other country in the world but their own. Seven of the twenty-five American presidents have been of Irish descent, and two presidential candidates, James G. Blaine and Horace Greeley, were of that blood. John C. Calhoun, the master statesman and orator, was the son of Patrick Calhoun, born in Donegal county, Ireland. The first mayor of New York after the revolution was Joseph Duane, the son of a county Galway Irishman. Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and Vermont were once governed by three brothers named Sullivan. One of the most picturesque figures in the whole history of American politics was General James Shields, hero of the Mexican and civil wars, governor of Illinois, chief justice of Illinois, and the only man who ever served three terms in the United States senate, each time from a different state. He was first sent from Illinois, then from Minnesota, and finally from Missouri.

The power of the Irish in New York politics is proverbial. The first grand sachem of Tammany was William Mooney, also the first to sign its constitution. "Honest" John Kelly and Charles O'Connor were both leaders of Tammany who fought against the Tweed ring. Richard Crocker and his lieutenant and successor, Charles F. Murphy, are both Irish. We also have many Irish reformers, such as Patrick Moran, secretary of the New York State Bar Association, and Mayor Duane of Chicago, and Mayor Parker of Jersey City. Patrick J. Boyle has served eleven terms as mayor of New York, R. I.

Among the Irish in high political places in all parts of the union might be named Tom Taggart, of Indiana; Senator Patterson, of Colorado; Senator Carter, of Montana; Representative Bourke, of Missouri; Representative Burke, of New York; Representative Burke, of South Dakota; Bernard S. Dodge, delegate from New Mexico, and Justice E. J. White and Justice Joseph McKenna, of the United States supreme court. Edward A. Moseley, secretary of the interstate commerce commission, who has labored for years to get the railroads to adopt protective appliances for the personal safety of their employees, is always jokingly insisted on his Irish blood.

The Irish have a large representation in the realm of finance. Thomas Fortune Ryan, a loyal son of Erin, is said by many to be the coming king of American finance, if indeed that honor has not already fallen upon him through the failing health of J. Pierpont Morgan. James J. Hill is the greatest commercial publisher of the present century, having laid open the great northwest with his railroads, and sent his commerce laden ships to the ports of Japan, Russia, and China. Alexander R. Orr, president of the New York Life Insurance company, is only once removed from an Irishman born in County Cork, and John A. McCall, his predecessor, was also Irish. Daniel O'Day is one of the presiding geniuses of Standard Oil. Captain John Planners was president of the Southern Cotton exchange, and Colonel C. C. Sanders headed the State Banking company, of Georgia.

Captain John J. Hestly was the commercial discoverer of Alaska, when he had burrowed his way through the frozen north to the large Alaskan seal. He found four of the sixteen men there to be Irishmen. Thomas F. Walsh, of Washington, is president of the irrigation congress. George J. Whelan, with his 300 clear acres, is the largest tobacco dealer in the United States. Samuel G. Hayne has organized more national banks than any one man in America, having opened his doors over seven states. Samuel Slocum, railroad president, and Richard C. Kerens, capitalist, are fellow-countrymen from the Emerald Isle.

The four Cuddey brothers—Patrick, John, Edward and Michael—exercise a large control over the food supplies of the world, and their native cities—Chicago, Cleveland, and Omaha—owe an enormous commercial debt to their unflagging enterprise. George Russell, of Nevada, and Timothy Kinney, of Wyoming, are cattle barons. Thomas Mellon, dean of the Pittsburgh bankers, three Irishmen—James C. Wood, John W. Brown, and John W. Pair—with their leader, John W. Mackay, took from the famous Comstock lode in Nevada $150,000,000 worth of silver, thus reversing the order of the world's entire world. It was John W. Mackay and James Gordon Bennett who financed the scheme to connect Europe and America with an Atlantic cable.

Not many people know that in addition to establishing the Catholic church in the original thirteen colonies, the Presbyterian church in the Methodist denominations in America were founded by Irishmen. Philip Embury founded the Methodist Episcopal sect, and built the John Street church in New York. "Cradle of American Methodism," Rev. Francis Makemie, an Irish immigrant, was the first regularly established Presbyterian minister in New York, and was known as "the father of the Presbyterian church in America." The first American cardinal was John McCloskey. Cardinal Gibbons is also Irish. Ireland has given us twenty-four bishops and five archbishops, the latter being John Ireland, John J. Keane, Patrick J. Ryan, John M. Farley, and John J. Glennon.

The Irish have made a great record as inventors and builders. The Morse system of telegraphing is the product of an Irishman's brain, and so was the steamship of Robert Fulton, father and uncle of the president of the New York Life Insurance company, were the first to invent machinery for printing wall paper or cylinders, and the first to make printing paper with wood fiber. William Kelly built the first two brick houses in Pittsburgh, and "Big Iron" Kelly founded the foundation for Pittsburgh's riches. John Ed Mulholland was the constructor of the first successful pneumatic tube of large diameter, the kind that is used in the government postal service. John B. McDonald built the New York subway and the Baltimore Belt line, and David Lynch laid the Alaskan cable.

The newspapers of the country owe an amazing debt to the Irish. The New York Sun became great, and famous under the guidance of Chas. A. Dana and William M. Laffan; the first daily paper in Boston, called the Polar Star and Daily Advertiser, was founded by John Daly Burke; the St. Louis Republic was founded by Robert Charles; the Chicago Tribune by Joseph Medill and Collier's Weekly by P. F. Collier. All of these men were of the talented Gaelic race. Henry W. Grady, the former brilliant editor of the Atlantic Constitution, was also an Irishman.

As educators the Irish have furnished such men as William Rainey Harper, father of the University of Chicago; Robert Alexander, the director of Washington and Lee universities; William H. Maxwell, for eight years the superintendent of New York public schools; Maurice Francis Egan, professor of English in the Catholic university; Jeremiah Curtin, one of the greatest living philologists and linguists; and Archibald Delfour Murphy, "the father of North Carolina public schools," the first native historian of the state of North Carolina, and the foremost geological worker in America.

John Mitchell, the labor leader, comes of the "fighting" race, so does James Whitcomb Riley, F. Marion Crawford, Cyrus Townsend Brundy, the well known writers. Among prominent living Irish players are Al Roban, John Drew, Marie Cahill, James O'Neill, and Newell and Chauncey Elliott. The present-day Irish boast of Victor Herbert, the tuneless composer and brilliant leader of the Broadway gallery of art, in Washington, was founded by an Irishman. The work of no American sculptor is superior to that of Augustus St. Gaudens, and it was an Irishman, Thomas Crawford, who chiseled the Goddess of Liberty which stands on the capital dome.

ARIZONA FOREST RANGER BITTEN BY SKUNK FOR LIFE OF BROTHER

Victim Goes to Chicago For Relief—Wound Shows Symptoms of Hydrophobia.

R. L. Neill, a forest ranger, was badly bitten by a skunk the first part of the week at the forest reserve camp, about two miles from this city, says the Williams News.

About 11:30 o'clock Monday morning Neill returned from work near the camp for the purpose of cooking dinner for himself and the sergeant in charge of the work, and was in the act of reaching for an ax, with which to cut some wood for a fire and which was lying on the ground near the steps of the bunk house, when a skunk, concealed under the steps, suddenly jumped out and bit him on the little finger of the right hand, the animal, with the tenacity of a bulldog, holding onto Neill's finger until the ranger had raised him about two feet from the ground before it released its teeth from the man's finger.

Neill immediately notified Sergeant McKay, who, realizing the danger that lies in delay in such a serious matter, advised Neill to mount his horse, go to Williams and board the train for Chicago, to undergo treatment at the Pasteur institution. The sergeant quickly saddled their horses and together they galloped into town. Upon their arrival they called upon Dr. Rounsveld, who, after examining the wound and being informed of Neill's intention to go to Chicago, stated that it was the best course to pursue, but gave him temporary relief by dressing the finger. Neill left for Chicago on a 10:40 Monday.

Sergeant McKay, during an interview with a representative of the News, stated that he knew of several cases where parties had been bitten by skunks and dogs, and that although they thought nothing of it at the time, even refusing medical attention, and simply bandaging the wound, hydrophobia developed later on, and the "wise" victims died as a result of their negligence.

He also said that Pasteur's is an institution for the treatment of cases that show symptoms of hydrophobia; that their remarkable cures are effected by hypodermic injections of serum from the bodies of healthy dogs and other animals into the patients. This institution has never lost a case, and has on its record of cases the names of some of the most prominent people in the world.

Worked Like a Charm.

Mr. D. N. Walker, editor of that spicy journal, the Enterprise, Louisville, Va., says: "I ran a nail in my foot last week and at once applied Buckle's Arnica Salve. No inflammation followed; the salve simply healed the wound. Heals every sore, burn and skin disease. Guaranteed at all dealers. 25c."

REGULATION OF HOURS OF LABOR

The Oregon law regulating the employment of women in factories, etc., and prohibiting work for more than nine hours a day, was before the court in State vs. Miller, 35 Pacific Reporter, 855. The court conceded that the right to contract is a constitutional guaranty which cannot be arbitrarily interfered with by the legislature, but it intended to limit the police power of the state, and the reasonable regulations for the promotion of the welfare, morals, and good order of the people were not in conflict with this amendment. In sustaining this enactment, the court follows Massachusetts, Nebraska and Washington, and disapproves of the contrary holding in Illinois.

For March 22 May be Stayed.

Santa Fe, N. M., March 12.—Mrs. Grace Fletcher, of Chaves county, arrived in the capital Sunday evening to plead with the governor to save the life of her brother, Rosario Emilio, sentenced to hang March 22 for the murder of his sweetheart two years ago.

What success she will have, if any, is a matter of doubt as the governor heretofore has made it a practice never to interfere with a death sentence after a fair and impartial jury trial and has allowed several men to hang after considerable pressure had been brought to bear for a commutation of sentence.

Has Not Seen Governor.

Mrs. Fletcher is registered at the Chaves hotel. Monday afternoon she had not yet interviewed the governor. When newspaper men called during the afternoon she was not at the hotel and the clerk was unable to say where she had gone.

Mrs. Fletcher is said to be the sister of the man who was sentenced to hang. She first asked that the boy's sentence be commuted to life imprisonment and if she fails in that, it is said, she will ask that a respite be granted in order that the case may be carried to the supreme court. It is understood that proceedings have already been begun for a re-hearing in the case and for carrying it to the supreme court.

History of the Crime.

The killing took place about two years ago ten miles out of Lincoln on the road to Roswell. Emilio was then just entering manhood. The woman he killed was his senior by a number of years. It is said they had been friends since the boy was about sixteen years old.

According to reports the woman left Lincoln intent upon going to Roswell. She was riding upon a wagon with her brother when Emilio on horseback overtook them. He spoke to the woman and she mounted the horse with him.

Shooting Probably Followed Quarrel.

The boy then rode down the road for some distance talking to the woman. What passed between them is not known. It is then asserted, the boy shot the woman with a pistol, first through the head and then through the heart, killing her instantly. The defense attempted to show that the woman took her own life following a quarrel with Emilio.

Emilio was asked by the assertion of the jury expressed himself strongly in favor of the boy's conviction. This, it is asserted, is proof that the trial was not a fair and impartial one. It is also said a change of venue should have been granted.

Emilio was in the Lincoln county jail awaiting execution. For some time he was a prisoner in the penitentiary near this place for safe keeping.

MRS. EDDY TAKES A DECIDING PART IN THE LEGAL CONFERENCE

"I WILL SAY THAT I AM NOT A CHRISTIAN SCIENTIST," DECLARES GEN. FRANK S. STREETER, "BUT MRS. EDDY IS NOW CONDUCTING HER OWN BUSINESS AFFAIRS" — HAD JUST BEEN IN CONFERENCE WITH HER.

The following statement has just been made by Gen. Frank S. Streeter, personal counsel for Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, head of the Christian Science church, to the staff correspondent of The Evening Citizen at Concord, N. H. Gen. Streeter had just come from a conference with Mrs. Eddy at her home at Pleasant View.

(By Gen. Frank S. Streeter.)
Do not think for a moment that Mrs. Eddy is not capable of transacting business or looking after her personal affairs, or those of the Christian Science church so far as I know them.

I will say that I am not a Christian Scientist and have no intention, at the present time, of becoming one. Whatever I say is said as counsel for Mrs. Eddy as a citizen and client, I am dealing entirely with the legal phases of the present situation.

Mrs. Eddy is now conducting her own business affairs and so far as I know will continue to do so.

The proceedings in equity that have been started with Mrs. Eddy as a nominal petitioner but an actual defendant, will take the usual legal course so far as we are concerned.

I will make this statement without any reservation, and it will hold true at any stage of the proceedings.

I will not now accept service in this suit, which is ostensibly brought by George W. Glover, nor will I do anything for Mrs. Eddy looking to an accounting of her property.

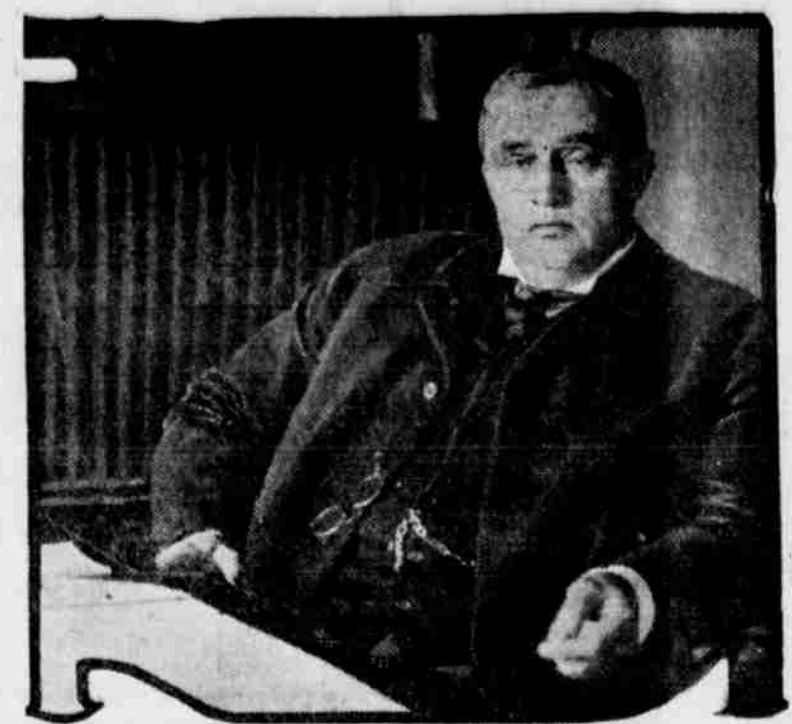

[This is taken as the real attitude of Mrs. Eddy in the suit, coming from General Streeter, as it does following a conference with her.]

I will say that Mrs. Eddy took a very active part in the conference at which this matter was discussed. That is all I can say.

There is nothing for Mrs. Eddy to do. She is not obliged to act. I cannot say how deeply she is concerned over this suit. So many stories of the grief it has caused her have been printed I could not attempt to affirm or deny them all.

I will repeat, as the limit to which I can go, that Mrs. Eddy is taking a deciding part in our conference, and that she is fully able to do so. Anything else is not true.

MRS. EDDY WALKS BRISKLY, UNAIDED, TO HER SLEIGH FOR HER DAILY DRIVE

THE DRIVE IS AN INSTITUTION IN CONCORD—THE FAITHFUL "SECRETARY" FRYE SITS ON THE BOX—TAKES RIDE WITH CURTAINS DRAWN.

(By W. H. Briggs.)
Special Correspondence.

Concord, N. H., March 12.—The bureaucracy that surrounds Mrs. Eddy and succeeds in keeping her from any touch of the outside world, continues to maintain the daily drive as an institution.

And it is an institution in Concord. The people have come to expect it and even the boys in the street can give you all the details as to time, route, etc.

However, the regular order has been changed somewhat since the court proceedings were begun. The campaign was put on a war instead of a peace footing, that is all. The claim is still truthful that Mrs. Eddy drives every day. The variations are for the purpose of avoiding the front of reporters and photographers now in Concord.

Usually the daily drive begins about 1 o'clock. The few persons who chance to be along the snow-covered country road see the double doors of the stable open and a team of coal black horses comes slowly out and makes its way to the front of the house, stopping before the front door under the portico.

Everything is very still, and almost before the spectators are aware of it two or three men appear on the scene in various parts of the grounds. They are apparently shoveling snow or putting out the place. But one is near each gate, and the others are placed so as to prevent the possible entrance of anyone to the grounds. The team stands a moment or two—possibly five—and there is the atmosphere of mystery as faces are seen to come and go behind a highly polished glass of the front door. Presently it opens—but not for Mrs. Eddy.

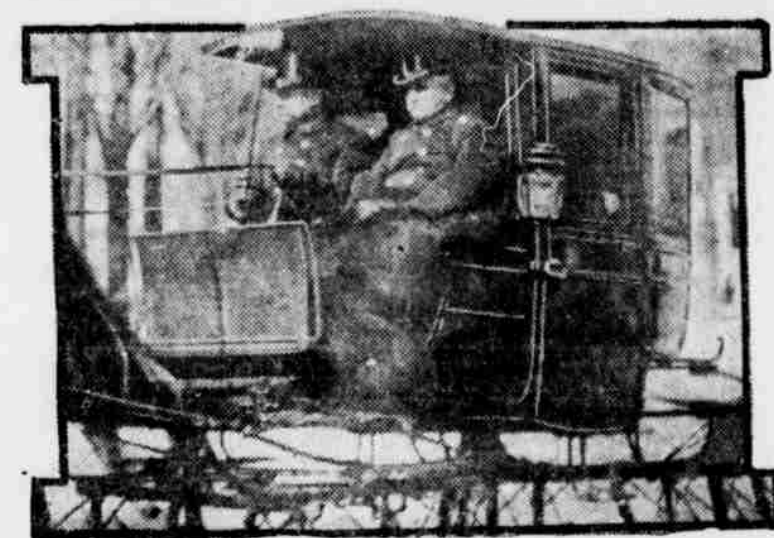

It is L. C. Strange, her assistant secretary. He opens the coach door and takes a look about, apparently puts the cushions and re-enters the house. Then if you are observant you will notice that some sort of a signal seems to have been given, for one of the men who has been helplessly shoveling snow moves quickly to the heads of the horses.

Almost before your eyes can travel from him to the door of the house it opens.

It opens for Mrs. Eddy. She steps out, unassisted, and quickly crosses to the coach door. She did not even take the arm of the faithful Frye, who walked immediately behind her.

This brief glimpse of Mrs. Eddy convinces one that she is in no way ill or feeble. In these half dozen steps there was not a hitch or a halt. In fact they were taken briskly, so much so that the big white plume that surmounted her black hat nodded in time with her steps.

Mr. Strange then pulls down the curtains on both sides of the coach, the faithful Frye goes around the rear and mounts the box with the driver. Strange closes the door and the horses slowly move down the

This snapshot was taken on Main street in Concord, and shows Mrs. Eddy's conveyance on the daily drive. The carriage box has been mounted on runners because sleighing is good all winter in Concord.

On the box are the driver and the celebrated Calvin Frye. Frye is probably the most generally known of the many persons who are constantly about Mrs. Eddy. Several years ago path to the gate. Out into the street the pace is slow, then quickens and finally until street car tracks are crossed, it is a brisk trot. But those tracks—

Here is the only mystery. Whenever the driver sees a track ahead he seems to become nervous, but it is not because of an approaching car. In Concord you can hear the cars a long way off. It is the tracks, and evidently he has orders to cross them very slowly. He certainly does. He almost stops. Once over the tracks the pace is again increased.

The itinerary includes Warren street, a turn to the left passed the Christian Science church, down Main street, in front of the capitol and home along Warren street to Pleasant View.

Last Wednesday evening the local lodge of the Eastern Star completed their organization and Mrs. Minnie E. Miller of Albuquerque installed the officers at the Masonic hall, says the Rio Grande Republican.

The organization is one of the wives, widows, mothers, sisters and daughters of Masons, and is one of the finest in America for women. The new lodge is both young and small as yet, but they are sure to claim some of the best people of Cruces for their members and will undoubtedly be one of the best organizations in the town.

This photograph shows the main entrance to Pleasant View, the home near Concord of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, founder of Christian Science.

The home of Mrs. Eddy, Pleasant View, occupies approximately 14 acres, situated on Warren street, where that thoroughfare begins to assume the aspect of a beautiful country road, and about a mile from the business center of Concord. The "home place" has ten acres, to which has been added the Tuttle property of about four acres adjoining. The house is about forty feet back from the street, and to the rear of the buildings the ground slopes gradually down into a picturesque valley.

MEN OF MILLIONS UNITED FOR PEACE OF THE WORLD

Carnegie and Andrew D. White Honorary Presidents of New Association For International Conciliation. Scope of Society's Work.

New York, March 12.—With the purpose of making an aggressive campaign in behalf of the world-wide peace as unlimited influence and money will afford, and under the direct control of some of the wealthiest and most prominent men in the United States, the Association for International Conciliation, as it is called, has been formed in this city, and will open offices at No. 21 West Forty-fourth street.

Andrew Carnegie and Andrew D. White are the honorary presidents, and the active officers are Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, president; Representative Richard Bartholdt, vice president; Hayne Davis, secretary, and Robert A. Franks, secretary, while there is an executive committee composed, in addition to these officers, of Dr. Lyman Abbott, James Speyer, Richard Watson Gillet, Stephen Henry Olin and Seth Low.

Primarily the object of the organization will be to co-operate on the most extensive scale yet projected with a parent body of the same kind now flourishing in Europe. Perhaps the most important feature of the new organization will be its extension of what is known abroad as the interparliamentary union, composed exclusively of members of national parliaments, all enlisted in the cause of peace and pledged to use their influence for that cause in those legislative bodies. Twenty-three of a total of forty parliaments are already represented, making a membership of more than 2,000.

Although active work in the formation of committees and other details will begin at once, probably the first strong impulse for the association will be the meeting of the international arbitration and peace congress, to be held in Carnegie hall from April 14 to 17.

Andrew Carnegie will preside and the vice presidents are Governor Hughes, Justice Brewer, of the United States supreme court; Andrew D. White, who was a member of the first Hague conference; Representative Bartholdt, of Missouri; Seth Low, Albert K. Smiley, founder of the Mohonk arbitration conference; Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor; Morris K. Jessup, president of the New York chamber of commerce; John Mitchell, president of the United States circuit court. From Europe will come Baron Estournelles de Constant, Baron De-camps, of the Hague court, who was a member of the first Hague conference; M. Dumay, formerly first vice president of the French chamber of deputies; Moberly Bell, manager of the London Times; an officer of the German army, who will act as the direct representative of Kaiser Wilhelm, and professors from the universities of Oxford and Cambridge. Secretary Root, Secretary Straus and other members of the cabinet will attend and there will be a large delegation from both houses of congress. William J. Bryan probably will make an address. Invitations have been sent to the editors of every prominent newspaper in the country, and a press committee has been appointed, including the editors of all the daily, weekly and monthly periodicals published in New York.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH ORGANIZED AT MAGDALENA

And a Good Sum Is Pledged For the Pastor's Salary.

At Magdalena and Kelly on last Sunday Rev. John R. Gass, D. D., synodical missionary of the Presbyterian church for New Mexico and Arizona, held services morning and evening, says the Socorro Chieftain. On Monday Dr. Gass was joined by Revs. Jno. Mordy of Albuquerque, and H. M. Perkins of Socorro, and a service was held that evening. After a helpful and appreciated sermon by Rev. Perkins, the Presbyterian church of Magdalena was organized with nineteen members from the best and most substantial citizens of Magdalena, Kelly and surrounding community. Messrs. Crabb and Pender were elected ruling elders, and will be ordained and installed as such in the near future. Messrs. Mactavish, Iredemen, Totman, Gregg and Foss were elected trustees, and at once organized by the election of Mr. J. S. Mactavish as president and Mr. Foss as secretary and treasurer. Seven hundred dollars on pastor's salary was readily subscribed and agreement made to supply a house free of rent for the pastor's residence. Petition to the board of home missions for an additional two hundred dollars on salary was made. No doubt this will be granted, which will enable the church to have a pastor for all of his time at these two places. Request has been made to Rio Grande Presbytery to this effect and it is thought an efficient pastor will be secured at an early date. The people are greatly encouraged at the success of the work so far, and the prospects of greater things in the future. Already there is talk of beginning the erection of a nice house of worship, possibly of brick, in the near future.

TERRITORIAL DEVELOPMENT

In Chihuahua and Sonora, as well as in Arizona and New Mexico, capital in increasing amounts is pouring in, and some important properties are passing out of the primary development stage into the producing stage, says the El Paso Herald. Some big people are getting into New Mexico. Among the work that is being quickly done in a big way by big men in New Mexico is the development work going on around Silver City by Cole & Ryan, the copper people of Duluth, Blaine and Cananea. Some promising properties are being opened up in the Burros and the Mogollons. Prospectors are rather more active in all that region as capital shows a disposition to get in there.

The same paper says that the prospects of having a large Italian colony in the Rio Grande valley are pleasing to El Pasoans. The Italian grape and fruit growers are among the highest class of immigrants, and the Italian colonies in California, Louisiana and Florida are prosperous, progressive, law abiding and wealth producing.

When the Rio Grande valley is ready for thorough development, it will pay the people who own large tracts to undertake a systematic immigration bureau, with a view to inducing the immigration of experienced farmers of the best classes. Men with some knowledge of irrigation and experience in the semi-arid country are of course to be preferred, other things being equal. If any misapprehension exists as to the character of the Italian immigrants of the better class, it would quickly be dispelled by seeing the results of their work elsewhere.

DECIDEDLY AN ADVANCE

At last a coroner's jury has been found with the courage to place the responsibility for a great disaster where it belongs. The jury has placed the blame for the wreck on the New York Central electric line upon the departments of construction and operation, in charge of Vice President Wilgus and Vice President A. H. Smith, and the board of directors.

As a result, William K. and Frederick W. Vanderbilt, J. Pierpont Morgan, William Rockefeller, Chauncey M. Depew, Darius O. Mills, James Stillman, George F. Baker, Samuel F. Berger, W. H. Newman, Charles C. Clarke, George S. Bowdoin and Hamilton McK. Twombly have been held to answer to the grand jury, and so are added to the long list of multi-millionaires who the past year have enjoyed the sensation of being the object of a criminal process.

The accident for which they are held answerable caused the death of twenty-three persons. The verdict finds that it was caused by faulty construction at a curve in the road, in that the super-elevation of the outer rail was not great enough and the rail was not properly reinforced by spikes and braces. Also that there was no regulation as to speed and no speed record.

Inferentially, says the Duluth News-Tribune, the jury would seem to have held that in default of orders an engineer has the right to presume that the roadbed construction is such as will warrant his getting out of his locomotive all the speed there is in it when necessary to make time, and that he is not responsible for the negligence of his superiors.

FOR GENERAL GOOD

The capital of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg, has about 50,000 population, yet it has bonded itself for $1,000,000 to begin work on a plan of civic beautifying.

Kansas City has recently spent $6,500,000 on boulevards and parkways to make it a city beautiful. Philadelphia is spending an equal amount for a boulevard extending from the city hall to Fairmount park. Cleveland is expending both in similar expenditures. A dozen other cities are engaged in the same work at enormous expenditures, and they all consider it a good investment or they would not undertake it.

In each instance it is found that the increased value of the property neighboring the improvements will result in added tax values that before the bonds mature will pay both interest and principal, or the much larger proportion of both, by the increased annual tax revenues of the city.

Thus it would appear that there is something in life, for both the individual and the community, other than the effort to see how little either can get along with spending. A new city hall is much needed by Albuquerque. In view of the federal building the Duke City is soon to have, a handsome city hall becomes a necessity. These things should be borne in mind when the election is held for the issue of city hall bonds.

BOOK WORTH READING

Most of the books printed nowadays are not worth the paper they are printed on. Once in a while there is a good one. Of this latter class is "The New Internationalism," by Horace Boice, who writes some things that are worth while. Boice makes people think—a rare art. He has traveled with wide open eyes, has studied men and things and knows how to tell what he has learned. You may not agree with him. But you will agree that he says something.

For instance, here is the kernel of a truth: "What our statesmen in general have not learned is that an economic truth today may be a fallacy tomorrow." Mr. Boice shows how the Medes and the Persians were the original standpatters. "To stand pat is to stand still." "The tariff of a nation is not the only thing that has been the object of fanatical worship. Once men canonized the ass and banties were chartered in his honor!" Mr. Boice's great thought throughout his book is that Mammon is doing the work of peace. "James J. Hill," he says, "conquered more territory than Caesar did with a sword." "The important thing is that the new commerce is a pledge of peace and to the promotion of the selling and purchasing of the world." And this: "The new internationalism paved the way to the peace at Portsmouth."

The thoughtful author says, "It is not strange that our statesmen have been slower than our financiers to see that the whole world is sitting at the same feast." Of course, this world-horizoned writer favors reciprocity. He clearly sees how the concern of one nation is the concern of all. "The new internationalism makes every nation its brother's keeper." Read the book. It will make you think. There are happy phrases that will stick in your memory. After reading it you will thank us for calling it to your attention.

THE LUMBER TRUST

The fearful and disastrous rise in the price of lumber is hardly realized even by the people who are its victims of it. As an exchange well puts it, the forests of this country are more completely in the grasp of one man than the iron mines are in the control of one corporation.

In the past ten years the prices of lumber have steadily gone up. They have doubled and trebled and quadrupled, until a man can now carry on his back the value that ten years ago would have been a fair load for a horse.

The farmer and the workman can no longer afford to build with wood. In great construction it is used as little as possible. In the treelless sections brick, cement, adobe and every possible substitute is coming into increased general use. When a substitute can be found there is a cessation of building. Yet the men who own the forests bought them, just as did the men who own the mines, at the time of very low prices.

The number of houses to rent at this time in Albuquerque is distressingly small. In fact, vacant houses are unusually scarce for the time of year. There is another fact, which is now impressing itself on public attention. It is that the number of people arriving in the city is unusually large for the time of year. Ordinarily when spring arrives, some of Albuquerque's transient population, who have spent the winter with us because of our unsurpassed climate, begin to return whence they came, leaving empty houses and diminished population till the fall days set in, when the immigrants once more return. This spring the outflow is not equaling the income.

Alamogordo News: The present New Mexican legislature is making a splendid record at sensible law-making. Every measure is being dealt with by special consideration, and all acts after mature deliberation. But how much better could our representatives get along and expedite matters if they only had the assistance of the mighty brains of the editorial writer of the Otero County Advertiser, [all same as Albuquerque Journal] which sees no good, nothing pure, and not a whit of sense in anything done, considered or talked by the New Mexico legislature! What a pity that the Advertiser man has not the opportunity to oil the running gear of the universe, and especially of the New Mexico legislature!

The anti-republican organ of this city calls the republican organization of the territory and of the legislature "the" machine. The use of the article is quite correct. There is "a" machine in Santa Fe, of which the paper referred to is the subsidized organ, but "the" machine—the only one in which the people of the territory are interested, because it is the only one working for their interests—is the legislative majority of true and faithful republicans.

BEET SUGAR NEWS IN OUR NEIGHBOR STATE OF KANSAS

Manager Every, of the land department of the United States Sugar & Land company, and J. J. Turner, field superintendent, left Wednesday for Lincoln and Hastings, Neb., to arrange for the workers in the beet fields for the coming year. This year, a large number of the farmers have contracted for all the field work to be done and this will require a large number of laborers.

Mr. Turner said today that the company had about 2,000 acres for which to provide laborers. Besides those who will work this land, a number are coming who will work under private contracts. In all, Mr. Turner thinks there will be enough come to weed and thin 5,000 acres.

The company counts that one man can weed about seven acres so that there will probably be about 750 workers come in this spring. The men who are coming are for the most part Russians and Germans. They live in Topeka, Hastings and Lincoln, Neb.

First Shipment Made.

One of the first shipments of sugar from the local factory to a Kansas point was sent out this week and the destination of the shipment was Topeka. The sugar was placed in five-pound sacks, and one was sent to each of the state officials and one to each of the senators and representatives in the Kansas legislature. The sacks were of the regulation material and they resembled the one hundred pound sacks sold by the company. Each one bore a card with the address of the person to whom it was sent and stating that it had been sent from the sugar factory at Garden City.

The idea of sending sacks of sugar to the legislature was suggested to Manager Gillespie a few weeks ago when he was in Topeka by Representative Kinnison, who said that he had received a great many inquiries about the plant and the kind of sugar that was made. The members of the legislature are interested in the sugar factory and the sample of sugar will show them that the finest grades of sugar can be made here.

Sugar in Pumpkins.

If the information in the following article from the National Farmer is correct, it may open up a new source of revenue for the farmers of this section:

Sugar from pumpkins will be the next source of wealth which will be developed in Iowa, for the authorities at the agricultural college declare high grade sugar will be made from them by a process even more simple than that required to make it from beets. Experiments have resulted in the production of a species of pumpkin which contains four per cent of sugar, and it is the prediction that in three years the sugar element will be increased to twelve per cent. Because pumpkins are easily raised and a tonnage may be produced to the acre which will exceed that of sugar beets, the new sugar pumpkin will open up a valuable field for the Iowa farmers. The pumpkins may be planted in the corn fields, and the same soil which will produce corn may be made to produce a crop of pumpkins at the same time—that is if it verifies the foregoing prediction. But it is best to tarry awhile ere we pronounce the final verdict. They must have sweeter pumpkins in Iowa than in Michigan—Garden City Imp-rint.

HOW PANAMA CANAL CAN EVENTUALLY BE BUILT

Another chief engineer has given up his work at Panama. Wallace was in and out, Shonts was in and out, and now Stevens has been in and out. We have had a succession of men putting their hands to the plow and then looking back. In every case the try-out has proved that the man was the wrong man. In addition ever since the project was first considered by the government there has been a continuous undercurrent of strong opposition with story after story of incompetence, mismanagement and prospective graft. The very mention of the isthmus arouses recollections of charges and counter-charges from the days of de Lesseps up to the recent bitter protestations of would-be Contractor Oliver. Our humorists regard the canal as a legitimate target. Should a Daniel arise tomorrow and find three times as much fault as was ever found before, we would pretend to believe at least half of it.

What effect is all this having upon the canal? None. No great world project was ever accomplished without delays, disappointments and difficulties, while a chorus of croakers stood by and found infinite pleasure in condemning every step ever leader, every method and even the undertaking itself.

When Noah began to build the ark they went up to watch him work and told him what a silly ass he was. "There's no use of the thing in the first place," they said, "and if you build it like that it won't float anyway." Nevertheless, there was use of it, and it did float. When Moses and Aaron resolved to lead the children of Israel out of Egypt, the nation wandered in the desert forty years because of its knickerbockers and malcontents. "We are doing the thing all wrong!" they complained; "besides, it isn't possible." But Moses and Aaron persisted, and after them Joshua persisted, and the tribes finally came to their promised land. When ever a great man and an able man has been needed for the accomplishment of a great work, he has been found, and the right man to make a success for the great canal will yet be discovered.

Mr. President, we laugh about the humorous side of the canal. We make cartoons about it, and we write verses about it that we think are funny. We watch the chief engineers go down, and we smile when you say "Come home." We are even inclined to believe some of the stories we hear, because we are a great big, impulsive, half-grown nation. But in our hearts we have faith in your plans for the canal. We are certain that canal will be completed. We know that despite every setback the steam shovel at Calobra will keep biting into the mountains, and every day will see the work a little nearer completion. We realize that if everything had been smooth sailing from the first it would have been nothing less than a miracle, and we are confident that sooner or later we are going to find the right man. Keep at it, until you change the map.

INTRODUCE NEW DRUG

OTTAWA, Ont., March 12.—William Templeman has introduced a bill in the house of commons respecting proprietary and patent medicines. It provides that no package of medicine shall be sold unless a sample of it has been sent to the minister for registration, accompanied by an affidavit as to whether it contains alcohol or poisons, and their percentages. None can be sold unless it is of the same composition as the standard sample. Every bottle or package of medicine offered for sale must have the inland revenue stamp attached to it. If the analysis discloses that the sample submitted does not conform to the statement that accompanies it, or if the minister considers the medicine unfit for use, the dealer will have an opportunity to present his side of the case, after which the minister, if he deems it advisable, may prohibit the manufacture, importation or sale of the medicine. The act applies to anyone who is not known as a wholesale manufacturer or importer, but who makes imports proprietary or patent medicines for sale direct to consumers. A distribution of medicine samples from door to door is prohibited. The essence of cocaine in patent medicines is prohibited. The penalties provided reach a maximum of $500 and imprisonment for twelve months.

WABASH CANCELLATION OF ITS CAR CONTRACT.

New York, March 12.—The cancellation of a contract for 2,300 new steel cars by the Wabash railway has set some knowing ones thinking. The Wabash officials will not go on record themselves as to why this order was cancelled, it is understood that it was because they could not get the cars when they wanted them. The Wabash, like other roads, is crying for more cars. The mills cannot run the stuff for steel cars out fast enough, and it is just to assume that the Wabash did just what the president of the Pennsylvania has threatened to do—cancel orders for cars in the Pittsburgh shops unless it can be shown that the cars can be furnished in some kind of time that is reasonable. # SOCIAL CIRCLES AARON'S CAPITAL

Some Pleasant Gossip About
People and Customs at Washington.

(By Catherine Altman.)

Washington, D. C., March 12.—Congress has closed and senators and representatives, with their families, have folded their tents and are on their way home. Some of them are going to the fall to renew past triumphs and others, alas, whom the national capital will know in an official capacity no more. Of course, there are many congressmen who have permanent residences in the city and who will remain until the dropping heat of a Washington summer forces them to fly to mountain or sea shore, but the majority who "live in hotels and have spent most of their time here in merry ringing the bells," welcome the closing of the national legislature.

There is the Mrs. Congressman who came here for her first season with inflated notions of her own importance, social aspirations that would make the angels weep, and a pocketbook, alas, which she knew no dissimulation. No inhuman tyrant could adequately express the disillusionment that comes to the ambitious little woman anxious to help her husband on his political career by becoming his official importance, social aspirations that would make the angels weep, and a pocketbook, alas, which she knew no dissimulation. No inhuman tyrant could adequately express the disillusionment that comes to the ambitious little woman anxious to help her husband on his political career by becoming his official importance, social aspirations that would make the angels weep, and a pocketbook, alas, which she knew no dissimulation.

Entertaining in this city has become the sport of millionaires and Washington has broken up into various sets which vie with each other in the surpassing magnificence of their social campaigns. A ten course dinner accompanied by the most expensive of foreign vintages goes for nothing, forsooth, unless there is to be some form of amusement to follow, a musicale, a dance or some queen from the opera to please excelling, but simple guests, while favored at some of these pretentious functions are exceeded in their bad taste only by their costliness and ostentation. Nowadays, big corporations have their press agents to "mould public opinion" and up to date social aspirants with money and means to gratify their ambitions employ astute "social secretaries" whose duties consist largely in seeing that a column of adjectives, descriptive of Madame's charms, travels, gowns, entertainments, triumphs, children and possibly a word of Madame's husband, shall appear regularly in the newspapers. Indeed it is to be feared that the theatrical press agent of long standing, situated in the embassy on Connecticut avenue and bid fair to fall exhausted under the deluge of invitations that have rained down upon them. Washington dearly loves an ambassador and no lady of any pretensions would dream of overlooking even a possible opportunity of moving in so distinguished an "atmosphere" straight from reality. The white house dinner given in honor of their coming also served as a fitting farewell to the two visiting members of the cabinet, Mr. Shaw and Mr. Hitchcock, who with their wives made their last official appearance at the white house. The dinner was one of the most brilliant given this season, notwithstanding the Lent, and the guest list of notables would have done honor to a midseason function. Mrs. Roosevelt wore a gown of pale blue satin heavily embroidered in a design of flowers and leaves and softened by touches of exquisite lace about the bodice and sleeves. Mrs. Shaw wore a heavy white lace robe, palliated in silver her jewels being some very handsome diamonds. Mrs. Van derbilt's costume was one of the most noticeable toilettes seen in Washington this winter. It was a heavy, white uncut velvet, simply made, the only touch of color being some superb diamond and ruby ornaments which were worn on this occasion.

Ambassador and Mrs. Bryce are at last pleasantly situated in the embassy on Connecticut avenue and bid fair to fall exhausted under the deluge of invitations that have rained down upon them. It was a heavy, white uncut velvet, simply made, the only touch of color being some superb diamond and ruby ornaments which were worn on this occasion.

Mrs. Garfield and Mrs. George von Meyer have been initiated into the coterie of official ladies who make up the personnel known as the "petticoat court." Mrs. Meyer brings with her two young daughters who will fill to a nicety the role of cabinet girls. The Misses Meyer, in addition to being handsome and attractive, are linguists of ability, and having lived abroad for a considerable time, in spite of their youth, they will have the polish and bearing which comes from the enjoyment of life in court circles. Mrs. Meyer comes to Washington with unusual social prestige and it is expected that, with her two charming daughters, she will make her home on New Hampshire avenue, but lately vacated by the Vanderbilts, one of the most exclusive centers in the capital.

The News—No pure news, cough laws would be needed, if all cough cures were like Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure is—and has been for 20 years. The national law now requires that if any person enters into a cough mixture, it must be printed on the label or package. For this reason mothers, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must be law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and see. No poison marks there. You can always be on the safe side by demanding Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Simply refuse to accept any other. Sold by all druggists.

If you haven't time to exercise regularly, Doctor's Regulator will prevent constipation. They induce a mild, easy, healthful action of the bowels without griping. Ask your druggist for them, etc.

COLORADO FRUIT MEN SWIPE FARMINGTON APPLES

998 Boxes Bring $6.20—Looks Like Clean Steal of

Special Correspondence.

Farmington, N. M., March 12.—The people of this valley last fall were visited by representatives of the Kansas-Colo. Commission Co., of Denver, who represented that they could handle the fruit of this valley and secure top prices for it. On the basis of these representations something over two million of apples were shipped to the company to be handled on a commission basis. The fruit was placed in cold storage on the representation of the company that Colorado apples that had been frozen by the freeze of October 23, which visited nearly all the apple sections of Colorado, were being put on the market at low prices. They claimed that as our fruit had not been injured it could be held at a profit and placed on the market after the frozen fruit was gone.

Our growers waited more or less patiently until week before last, when a telegram was received on Saturday announcing that all fruit had been sold and returns would be made next week. On Saturday last the parties received the checks, which from this distance looked like a most gigantic steal.

One man who shipped 998 boxes got a check for $6.20, the company having furnished him about 750 boxes. Another had sent 100 boxes of extra fancy and forty boxes of fancy, and received a check for $7.15. Still another shipped a little over 1,000 boxes and got a check for $100.30, and so it went.

We have figured out the average price obtained by the Fruit Growers' association for apples and find that taking the leading varieties and averaging the extra fancy, fancy and choice, the price was $12.50 per box. If our fruit was worth as much, and because it was not frozen, it should have been worth more, it means a clear steal of some $20,000 from our fruit growers.

The lesson is a costly one, but if it teaches our people to perfect an organization here at home it will not be all loss by any means.

DROVE 9,000 SHEEP FROM CARLSBAD INTO TEXAS

Animals Died For Want of Water—Two Thousand
and Died.

A. J. Crawford returned Saturday from Crockett county, Texas, whither he journeyed two months ago to drive his sheep to the number of 6,000 wethers and 3,300 ewes, says the Carlsbad Current. The sheep suffered for water on the route and became very thin, not doing well. The country was very dry and losses were considerable. He finally sold out last week at $2.75 a round to Jim Hamilton, of San Angelo, the heavy sheep owner who visits Carlsbad occasionally to sell rams, and who will drive the sheep to Del Rio. The sheep were of an excellent class and had a year's wool on, making this one of the most exceptional bargains of the season, but on account of lack of good range Mr. Crawford decided to sell. He has now disposed of all his sheep except 1,300 fine ewes, now up on the Hondo, in charge of a good man. Mr. Crawford will keep this little flock, but does not propose to again invest heavily in sheep. The past season has been the hardest for the twenty odd years he has been in the business, he having lost not only in the neighborhood of 2,000 sheep, but also two herders perished in the early storm.

J. A. Harmon, of Ligonore, West Va., says: "At last I have found the perfect pill that never disappoints me; and for the benefit of others afflicted with typhoid fever and chronic constipation will say, take Dr. King's New Life Pills. Guaranteed satisfactory. 25c at all dealers."

SUES RAILROAD FOR DAMAGES TO SHEEP

LOVELAND RANCHER ALLEGES
$2,000 WORTH DIED AS
RESULT OF COMPANY'S CARE-
LESSNESS DURING TRAN-SIT.

Fort Collins, Colo., March 12.—Henry Albert, a ranchman living near Loveland, has filed a suit in the district court against the Denver & Rio Grande railroad company for $2,000 damages, which he alleges to have sustained in the shipment of sheep. According to statements made by Albert he shipped several carloads of sheep over the Denver & Rio Grande road, and as the result of a wreck on the road the sheep were side-tracked.

Albert alleges that he instructed the company to feed the sheep on hay, but instead of doing this, he says the company turned them out where they ate poisonous weed, and $2,000 of them died inside of a week.

JUDGE PAYNTER SUCCESSOR TO BLACKBURN

Why Papers Have Thought the New Senator From Kentucky Is Gov. Beckham.

Washington, D. C., March 12.—Governor J. W. C. Beckham, of Kentucky, called by many of his friends the "boy governor" because of his youth, a few years ago, became possessed of the ambition to go to the United States senate and set up the political machinery of his state to that end. This was a laudable ambition and there are many persons who will be glad to see the young man in the senate, where he will be found two years hence. In some quarters, however, there seems to be a disposition to insist that Governor Beckham is now a member of that great body notwithstanding the fact that the man whom he succeeds has two years to his credit on his present term.

Not a very long time ago the New York Evening Post, usually the most accurate of newspapers, announced that Governor Beckham had been elected to succeed Senator Blackburn, whose term expired March 3, and who is to be succeeded by Judge Paynter, of Louisville. Since the congress adjourned, the Philadelphia Press, assured at all times to be as reliable as the compass, told its many readers that Governor Beckham began his term last Monday. The state of Kentucky has a fashion of holding its primaries a long time before election; especially where the candidates control the election machinery and find it to their advantage to have an early primary. In the campaign last fall, at the same time the electors of the Blue Grass state were voting for members of the sixtieth congress, they also voted at a primary for their choice for senator to succeed James B. McCreary. It was at this primary that Governor Beckham was victorious over the senator. The legislature which met in January, 1906, to elect Mr. McCreary's successor, was yet to be elected. The governor will control it by virtue of the result of the primary and within two years Kentucky will have an entirely new representation in the United States senate. Judge Thomas S. Paynter was elected January 6, 1906, to succeed Mr. Blackburn, and will, Beckham will be elected January, 1908, to succeed Mr. McCreary the following year.

Democratic politics in Maryland is beginning to hold some interest for the country at large, owing to the election of a senator to succeed the late Senator Gorman. Mr. Gorman died the governor appointed former Governor William Pinkney Whyte to fill the vacancy until the legislature should elect Mr. Whyte a senator by his own nomination. The governor of the state in 1868 to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Reverdy Johnson, who went to Great Britain as the American minister. In 1874 Mr. Whyte resigned as governor of Maryland and was elected to the senate, where he served a full term. He is now in the senate for the third time and for the second time by gubernatorial appointment.

Senator Whyte has upset the plans of some of the party's politicians by announcing his willingness to be a candidate for the completion of Mr. Gorman's term, which would keep him in the senate until March, 1909, but he says he will not come beyond that time. This plan would compel the legislature to find two candidates, and the main struggle, of course, would be over the full term commencing March 3, 1909, for the man who is successful for that term probably will by virtue of his election become the democratic leader of the state. In declining to be a candidate for the new term, Senator Whyte recently said:

"Under no circumstances shall I be a candidate for what is called the long term, beginning March 3, 1909. I shall be eighty-four years old then, and I think I am entitled to retire. Besides, I think the state ought to be represented in the senate by a man younger than eighty-four years."

A committee clerk of the house of representatives, who enjoys making statistical calculations, has figured out that during the short session of congress, covering a period of only seventy-one legislative days, the literature of the year was contributed to by congressmen and the executive to the extent of nine million words. In this enormous total will be found the speeches in both chambers, reports submitted and messages of the president of which there were an unusually large number sent to this congress. Reducing this total of words to an hourly basis, it will be seen that the records averages 24,000 words each hour of the day, a continuity of words, if not of "thought" that has never been equaled by any legislative body on earth. These speeches and other publications of the short session, if published in book form of the usual size of fiction, would make a library of 100 volumes; not a very small addition to the literature of the country for one session of congress, judged by the quantity of the output. As to the quality of the literature, there would be, doubtless, a very decided variance of opinion.

CHANGE UNLIKELY IN BILLIARD CHAMP. RULES.

New York, March 11.—Billiard players are wondering whether, if Schaefer should defeat Sutton in their 182 ball-time contest for the world's championship in Chicago, the next holder of the emblem will consent to a change in the governing rules whereby future contests will be of 3,000 instead of 500 points. Wise people say no. Ignorance of the rules governing the trophy has caused much misunderstanding. These rules give the holder of the emblem the privilege of naming any place in the country where he has a legal residence as the battle ground when challenged. To change the rule governing the number of points, which simply reads "All contests shall be of 500 points up" it would be necessary for the holder of the emblem to surrender it to the donors. Then a conference of the all-players eligible for the championship honors would be called, and they would decide upon the change proposed. It is the players who decide these matters, not the donors of the emblem. In discussing this matter, Maurice Daly said: "There is no doubt that in a 3,000 point match a better opportunity is afforded to test individual merit than in a one-night game of 500 points. A player may be off one night, but come back the next, which may also be the reverse of the point. So you may see you come again to the one-night proposition after all. Again, a player may be so badly outclassed that interest in the match is lost after the first night. Ives insisted upon three nights, but at that time Schaefer was in favor of short games. Not a room keeper in America would favor long games or serial contests, which I believe injure billiards."

PREPARING FOR THE NEW MANHATTAN BRIDGE.

New York, March 12.—A start will soon be made on the task of clearing a way from the Brooklyn approach of the Manhattan bridge. Comptroller Metz signed the notice sale of the building which the city has acquired, and which takes place today. One of the provisions of the sale is that the buildings must be dismantled within thirty days. According to Comptroller Metz the property will probably be turned over to Borough President Coler about April 10th. The approach, when it is completed, will be in reality an extension of Flatbush avenue. When the site is turned over to President Coler it will be incumbent upon him to improve it, and Mr. Metz has asked what sort of improvement is contemplated.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh of the Eustachian Tube, which cannot be cured by local applications, but by Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure, which is a new and powerful medicine that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

KENDRICK IS OPPOSED TO RED TAPE

Orders For Needed Material Should be Less Hard to Get.

In the program of topics to be discussed at the coming annual convention of the International Railway General Foremen's association, is an important one pertaining to the "Red Tape" of the Store Department to the Shop," etc. The committee handling this topic will, no doubt, have ample opportunity to cite instances where improvements can be made in methods employed in various roads and as practical men, they can produce some good suggestions. Till the time of the convention, the Railway Journal believes it is best to leave this subject to the committee and members of the association, but in this connection will publish an extract from Mr. J. W. Kendrick, second vice president of the Santa Fe, before the New York Railway club, in which he touches on this subject and expresses views that we believe will find sanction in many places. He said:

"To my mind, the practice pursued by most roads in an endeavor to secure minute supervision of their affairs is shortsighted in the extreme. It results in the perfunctory performance of many duties by officials receiving high salaries who could be much more profitably employed in looking after other matters. Cases repeatedly come to my attention in which requisitions are made for certain articles which are indispensable and current use. Of course, the requisitions possibly require the signature of at least a half-dozen different officials, and it is quite probable that a month may elapse from the time the requisition is made until it receives all the approvals which are deemed necessary in order to enable the purchasing agent or storekeeper to furnish it. Of course, some requisitions are disallowed, and properly so; but all that is saved through this procedure is wasted many times over by the delay which results. Securing the things that are really necessary.

PROPOSE THREE DECK CARS FOR SHIPPING SHEEP

At the meeting of the stockmen and railroad officials at Cheyenne, A. J. Knollin, treasurer of the National Wool Growers' association and manager of the Chicago stock yards, proposed three-deck cars for the shipment of sheep as a solution of the annual car shortage in the shipping season. It was stated that the three-deck cars can be built no higher than the present furniture cars.

A. L. Mohler, of the Union Pacific, said that the suggestion was worthy of consideration. The Union Pacific, he added, is constructing steel cars for passenger, baggage, mail and freight service, which soon will take the place of the wood-frame cars. The double tracking of the transcontinental lines was declared by many of the railroad representatives to be the solution of most of the complaints as to service.

SOUTHWESTERN TO SPEND $200,000 ON CLOUDCROFT

The Southwestern people have promised to spend $200,000 in improvements in Cloudcroft by June 1, says the Cloudcroft Silver Mining. If they do, it will be the making of the town, as individuals will probably spend that much more before the season closes. At present, writing active work has not started on the improvements, but they will no doubt be begun shortly, otherwise they could not easily be completed by the specified time. We have the best of authority that these improvements will be made and no joking about it, but oh, Lord, this waiting has been, in past years, very trying.

RAILWAY TRAMMEN MEET AT NEEDLES.

The general committee of the Order of Railway Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railway Trammens of the Santa Fe coast lines met at Needles Thursday in general session to receive the reports of the general chairman and secretary who had lately returned from attending the wage conference held at Chicago between the Western Railwaymen's association and the General Managers' association, representing forty railroads west of the Mississippi river, says the Needles Eye. C. F. Reich, of San Bernardino, and M. H. Cooney, of Needles, represented the O. R. C. at the conference, and the B. R. T. was represented by J. L. Service of Win-low, and J. P. Fowler, of Albuquerque. The meeting was one of the most important held for years and the reports were received with intense interest. The O. R. C. was represented at the local meeting by C. P. Reich, of San Bernardino, chairman of the general committee; C. H. Richardson, of Fresno, vice chairman; M. H. Cooney, of Needles, secretary; E. D. Heady, Albuquerque; M. N. Thompson, Winslow; F. S. Houghton, Bakersfield, and G. W. Reese, San Bernardino. The B. R. T. was represented by J. L. Service, of Winslow, general chairman; H. C. Thalls, of Bakersfield, vice chairman; J. P. Fowler, of Albuquerque, secretary; J. V. Lippitt, Needles; J. F. Knoles, San Bernardino; W. A. Daboll, Los Angeles, and J. Roppeto, Fresno.

NEW DEPOT FOR WILLARD, TORRANCE COUNTY.

For the last few days material for the new A. T. & S. F. depot at Willard has been arriving very rapidly. The concrete mixer and several carloads of cement mounds, arrived Wednesday, and are being unloaded. The rock crusher at Abo, which will furnish the rock for the concrete work, is out of commission temporarily, and while it is being repaired, the cement houses and excavations for the depot will be constructed. The depot proper is to be 25x55 feet and two stories in height.

CUT-OFF TO BE CONNECTED UP WITHIN A WEEK.

The latest information here concerning the Santa Fe cut-off is that the track will be connected up within a week, which work trains will be running between Texico, the eastern terminus of the line, and Belen, at present the western terminus. Cut No. 24, about fifty miles east of here, will require two months yet to complete, but trains will get around the cut by means of a shoo-fly track, built temporarily to accommodate the traffic.—Estimate News.

C. H. Brownell, who has been agent for the Santa Fe here a short time, informs us he expects shortly to go to Ash Fork to accept a more responsible position for the company at that point, says the Winslow Mail. Brownell states that his successor here will be a Mr. Johns, from Grants, N. M. Their many friends here regret very much that Mr. Brownell and his estimable wife are to leave Holbrook.

The position of roundhouse foreman in the Los Alamos shops seems to be one that tries men's souls. During the past two weeks six different individuals have had a whack at the job. Charles Drury was installed in the position the first of the week.

Raleigh George, of Deming, who was taken to the railroad hospital at Las Vegas some time past to be treated for blood poison, is improving. The report that he had suffered the amputation of his limb has proven false.

R. J. Longfellow, a telegraph operator, has gone to Needles, where he has accepted a position with the Santa Fe.

It is reported that C. M. Taylor has been appointed superintendent of motive power on the Rock Island effective March 1st.

C. A. Hudson, the well known painter and decorator, has filed a suit in the Bernalillo county district court against Durby A. Day, Lizzie Day, the Linden Savings Bank of Vermont and M. W. Flournoy. The suit is a mechanics' lien against property. Attorney E. W. Dobson represents the plaintiff.

Assistant Marshal Kennedy returned to the city Saturday night from Las Vegas accompanied by a man by the name of G. Martin, who, the local police were asked to arrest and hold.

Chief of Police McMillin's dispatch came from J. D. Whelan & Co., a company located in a southern town of Texas, who charge Martin with having several hundred dollars worth of property belonging to them. Martin is the loud mouthed fellow who has been spealing for the "Dimeodum."

Persons on the station grounds at noon today witnessed an example of very poor first-class train service. Two ladies carrying heavy traveling bags had tickets to travel on the limited. They walked from the ticket office to the port of the first car. This porter directed them to the next one, and the next to a Pullman conductor at the rear. They carried their luggage all the way. The conductor then proceeded to direct them back whence they came—to car 3, he said—and they were compelled to carry their luggage back again.

The "A Stranger in Town" company arrived on the limited. The advance agent promises the show to be a good one.

Some people complain about the weather and the climate. It's a wonder they come so far to get it.

Paintings displayed in the window of C. A. Matson & Co. by Frederick Winn, the western artist, recalls an incident which occurred three years ago when President Roosevelt visited Albuquerque. Mr. Winn was in Albuquerque at the time, with a year's work of his brush. The work included many picturesque pictures of western scenes, cowboy scenes predominating. The whole bundle was given to the president so that he might choose the one he liked best.

Mr. Winn wanted to make the chief executive a present of a picture, but in the hurry of things the president took the whole bundle. However, Mr. Winn received them back later, when the president discovered what he had done.

DR. C. N. LORD, OF SANTA FE, INJURED

Santa Fe, March 12.—Dr. C. N. Lord, the well-known dentist of this city, was the victim of a serious accident which resulted from a fall from his horse yesterday morning. The doctor, in company with his brother, Dr. F. R. Lord, of East Las Vegas, and C. L. Habarin, were on the mesa at the time of the occurrence, and the fall was precipitated by an attempt on the part of Dr. F. R. Lord, brother of the victim, to mount the horse with him. No sooner was the action taken than the animal balked, throwing both men to the ground. The brother escaped injury, but it is feared that Dr. C. N. Lord is suffering from either a dislocated or broken hip. The exact character of the injury cannot be determined till the swelling subsides. Meanwhile the doctor remains in bed, and his brother, who is also a dentist, is attending to his practice.

Home Insurance the Best

WE CANNOT refrain from again saying something about Home Insurance. Every time that the proposition presents itself of the tremendous amount of money that is being sent out of New Mexico and Arizona for life insurance to eastern cities, the conviction comes home with increased force that a home company ought to be patronized and the money remain in the West.

The revelations of the past year of the way the enormous surplus of the big Eastern companies has been handled and speculated with ought to emphasize the fact that the people of the West should stop pouring their money into Eastern channels when it can be placed in home insurance, and every dollar of it kept and invested at home.

It is gratifying to note that home insurance is year by year receiving more and more its just deserts. Statistics show that during the past year home companies far exceeded foreign companies in the amount of business written. Why cannot this same record be made here? It can if every individual who takes out a policy the coming year will carefully weigh the proposition of the value it is to keep his insurance at home before he puts his name to the application of any insurance company.

The Occidental Life Insurance Company of New Mexico and Arizona is owned and controlled by the leading business men of the two territories, and offers exceptional opportunities to ambitious and capable men and women to sell its policies.
