

11-18-1892

Santa Fe Daily New Mexican, 11-18-1892

New Mexican Printing Company

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalrepository.unm.edu/sfnm_news

Recommended Citation

New Mexican Printing Company. "Santa Fe Daily New Mexican, 11-18-1892." (1892). https://digitalrepository.unm.edu/sfnm_news/3543

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the New Mexico Historical Newspapers at UNM Digital Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in Santa Fe New Mexican, 1883-1913 by an authorized administrator of UNM Digital Repository. For more information, please contact disc@unm.edu.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Daily, per week, by carrier	1.00
Daily, per month, by carrier	2.50
Daily, per month, by mail	2.00
Daily, per month, by mail	1.50
Daily, per month, by mail	1.00
Daily, per month, by mail	.75
Daily, per month, by mail	.50
Daily, per month, by mail	.25
Daily, per month, by mail	.10
Daily, per month, by mail	.05
Daily, per month, by mail	.02
Daily, per month, by mail	.01

All contracts and bills for advertising payable in advance. All communications intended for publication must be accompanied by the writer's name and address, and should be addressed to the editor. Letters for publication will be accepted on the understanding that the writer assumes all responsibility for the content of the same. The New Mexican is not responsible for the return of unsolicited manuscripts.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is published daily except on Sundays and public holidays. It is the only newspaper in New Mexico that is published in both English and Spanish.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 18.

As the Mugwump is no longer distinguishable in New York politics, every cloud has a silver lining.

Do not worry about the incoming Democratic administration; sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.

A new little row is brewing among the Democrats in New Mexico. It is the same old fight of party bosses over spoils.

Election being over, the indictments against ex-Labor Comm. Peck, of New York, have been dismissed; it was ever thus.

The English rejoicings over the election of Grover Cleveland are loud and deep; does that forbode any good to this country?

The sprightly Albuquerque Times is quite too thin skinned. It will not be so after it has been in New Mexico Journalism for ten or fifteen years.

Now that the smoke of battle has cleared away, what does Felix Martinez want: the governorship or the United States marshal's office or the earth?

Too many leaders and not enough followers are detrimental to a party; that seems to be the cause for Republican defeat in several states at the recent election.

The more applicants for offices, the merrier; it is not our fight; if Cleveland such action will aid the Republican party in New Mexico.

No messages of congratulations and respect have passed between President Eliot Cleveland and Senator Hill. Peculiar sort of harmony that existing between these two eminent gentlemen.

The New Mexican is the territorial paper of New Mexico, and don't you forget it. It always contains the latest and best political and territorial news of interest to the people of New Mexico.

THOMAS H. CARTER made a good commissioner of the general land office and a good chairman of the Republican committee. He did his full duty and is not responsible for the Republican defeat.

Wool has gone down in price 2 and 3 cents a pound already, and some of the wool commission merchants of New Mexico, who are ardent Democrats, have lost money already. So much for so much.

Wool prices are already on the decline. Let producers take heart, however; it will be eighteen months before the tariff on wool is repealed by a Democratic congress; but to be sure, they must expect losses.

Our friends, the enemy, need not worry themselves about the Republican party; the principles of that party are plenty strong enough to stand a temporary defeat, no matter how bitter or how serious.

It is again to be the county of Santa Ana; it looks that way; no objections; the more counties the better, provided they have a sufficient number of inhabitants and sufficient taxable property to support county governments decently.

SHAKING of presidential possibilities for 1906, a dispatch says it is thought among leading men about Washington that the Republicans will select a western man because the west "must be recognized." Correct! They have caught on then at last that there are lots of people living out in the west.

No use worrying about any attempted removal of the capital; it can not be moved without the absolute consent of the governor, and it looks as if that consent can not be had as long as Gov. Prince occupies the position of governor. Hence the scare crowd business does not go.

THE ARID LANDS.

The Republican members of the 52d congress also will lose no time in introducing and passing a bill for the re-opening of the arid lands to the western states and territories. The Democrats are either lukewarm or openly opposed to this matter, and from them when they assume control, nothing can be expected. The Republicans on the other hand have had the good sense to come out squarely in favor of the proposition, and they should, at the coming session, make the most of it, thereby not only helping the party, but performing at the same time a lasting service for all the west.

The Warren bill is defective in many respects. Every possible safeguard should be thrown about the measure to prevent any sort of monopoly either of land or water. Let the Republicans do this and play a winning card.

CUSTOMS.

It has frequently been remarked that, despite the fact of a presidential campaign, the business of the country has been phenomenally large thus far this year. All departments of trade have shown a marvellously healthy growth. Even in the very thickest of the political campaign there was no falling off in the volume of business, and the result of the election has apparently not in the least affected this condition of things at home while abroad it has served again to call attention to one of the chief beauties of our system of government, i. e. the ease with which a change of administration can be brought about and yet in no serious manner jeopardize the even tenor of our general trade conditions.

Certain interests will, of course, in time feel the depressing effects of untimely legislative action, but they will nevertheless survive in the long run, and will probably be able to take care of themselves whatever the legislation may be.

One effect of impressing our foreign consuls with the facility with which these "bloodless revolutions" are carried on in this country may be noticed when it comes to the matter of investments. Such things convey to them in unmistakable language an idea as to how safe must always be the money they put into this country, while the steady growth of the country, on the other hand, assures them of big and certain profits from such investments. In this sense the result of the late election will certainly serve us all beneficially.

The Long and Short of It.

Tom Thumb, when first taken to England, lodged at the same hotel with La Blanche, the great singer. A Russian lady was very anxious to see Tom Thumb, and went to the hotel for that purpose, but found that the exhibition was over. However, she found out his hotel and went there. She knocked at a door, which was opened by a man of colossal proportions. She started back in some alarm, but was reassured by the amiable and gracious manner of the man, who was La Blanche. "I must have made a mistake," said the lady; "it is Tom Thumb I wish to see."

"Very well, madam," said the giant, "I am he."

"You, monsieur? Why, I had heard he was so very little."

"Oh," said La Blanche, "that is for the public, but when I come home I make myself comfortable by resuming my natural size."

The lady again stammered, her astonishment, when La Blanche said: "Madam, your supposition is not very flattering to the British public. Do you suppose they would go in crowds to look at a man for the mere reason that he was very little? The interesting thing is the transformation; it is that which attracts people."

The lady admitted that the remark was very reasonable.—Argonaut.

Anticipating What She Would Say.

Tom Thumb, a student, applied to the professor for permission to be absent.

"I should like to be excused this afternoon, as I want to take my sister out driving."

The old professor, who is no fool, looked at the young man over the top of his spectacles and said slowly:

"Want to take your sister out driving, do you? Is there any relation to you?"—Boston Globe.

He Knew She Suffered.

"My wife is very sick, doctor."

"Suffering? Well, I should say so. Why, she has such a bad cold she can't talk."

Life.

Appropriate.

"I wonder why Brown always speaks of his wife as a dream?"

"Because she always goes by contraries."

—Chicago Inter Ocean.

A Long Neck.

Girl—Why, Tom, what an earth—

Tom—I know, I know what you are going to say. You see, I want to have a back tooth pulled yesterday, and my neck hasn't come back yet.—Life.

AT HAND

For long and short, AYER'S Cherry Pectoral is prompt to act and sure to cure. A dose taken on the first symptoms of Croup or Whooping Cough, checks further progress of these complaints. It soothes the inflamed, swollen, inflamed membrane, and induces sleep. As a remedy for colds, coughs, loss of voice, hoarseness, pneumonia, and even consumption, in its early stages, it is unsurpassed.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

It cures all similar preparations. It is endorsed by leading physicians, is agreeable to the taste, does not interfere with digestion, and needs to be taken usually in small doses.

"From repeated tests in my own family, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has proved itself a very efficient remedy for colds, coughs, and the various disorders of the throat and lungs."—A. W. Bartlett, Pittsfield, N. H.

"For the last 25 years I have been taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for lung troubles, and am assured that its use has saved my life."

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Prompt to act, sure to cure.

One's Age.

The unwillingness of women who have passed a certain age—and of men, too, for that matter—to grow frankly the number of birthdays they have had is proverbial the world over. In France, which is reputed the most courteous country in the world, the sensitiveness of persons who are no longer young is almost universally respected. Even in the courts of justice a way is sometimes found to escape the necessity of a frank avowal.

A lady whose appearance indicated that she had left her fourteenth year behind her was not long ago ordered by the president or judge of a court where she was a witness to tell how old she was.

"Twenty-two, monsieur le president," she murmured.

The judge merely smiled at this very indelicate reply and pressed her no further.

A witty lady not long ago remarked in company when the delicate question of age was under discussion:

"You know I have a way of making myself out younger than I am without telling a lie at all."

"Indeed! How do you do it?"

"Well, I put the sin all upon the questioner. You see, when one of my female friends asks me how old I am, I answer, 'Oh, I'm older than you are, you know, my dear—as much as a year. By the way, how old are you?' And then she always knocks off more from my age than I should ever dare to myself."—Youth's Companion.

One Question Settled.

"Joshua," said Mrs. Chungwater, "I don't like to speak of anything unpleasant, but Peck's conduct has become unbearable, and I shall have to hunt for another girl."

"When a serious difference arises between a cook and her mistress?"

"Eh?" said Mr. Chungwater, looking up from his newspaper, dimly conscious that something in the nature of a problem had been presented for his consideration, "what is it, Maria? Difference between a cook and her mistress? That's easy. One cooks the steak and the other stokes the cook."

And he buried himself in his newspaper again.—Chicago Tribune.

Helping Him Out.

The Old Friend—I hear you are engaged, Fanny. Can it be possible you are going to marry that young Fiddleback?

The Heiress—Oh, no. He asked me as a favor to become engaged to him for a few weeks to help out his credit.—Life.

Carlyle's Philosophy.

Carlyle smoked often and complained much of dyspepsia. A friend once ventured to suggest that his smoking might perhaps injure and depress him. "Yes," Carlyle said, "and the doctors told me the same thing. I left off smoking and was very miserable still; but I thought it better to smoke and be miserable than to go without."—Argonaut.

Complete Mail Order Department—Samples Free. Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Always send your orders to J. Jay Joslin & Son, Dry Goods, Millinery, Carpets, Corner 16th and Curtis Sts., Denver, Colo.

THE MAXWELL LAND GRANT

Farm Lands!

UNDER IRRIGATING DITCHES.

Choice Mountain Valley and Lands near the Foot Hills

FOR SALE

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the register and receiver at Santa Fe, N. M., on December 6, 1922, viz:

Romulo Benavides, Florencio Duran, Nicolas Jimenez, Anacleto Contreras, all of Santa Fe.

Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the interior department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

A. L. Monrois, Register.

Notice of Publication.

Land Office at Santa Fe, N. M., November 1, 1922.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the register and receiver at Santa Fe, N. M., on December 6, 1922, viz:

Junia Rafael Jimenez, for the lots 1, 2 and 3, s. e. 1/4 n. e. 1/4, sec. 5, tp. 18 n. r. 10 e.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Anacleto Contreras, Nicolas Jimenez, Doroteo Benavides, Juan Benavides, all of Santa Fe, N. M.

AT HAND

For long and short, AYER'S Cherry Pectoral is prompt to act and sure to cure. A dose taken on the first symptoms of Croup or Whooping Cough, checks further progress of these complaints. It soothes the inflamed, swollen, inflamed membrane, and induces sleep. As a remedy for colds, coughs, loss of voice, hoarseness, pneumonia, and even consumption, in its early stages, it is unsurpassed.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

It cures all similar preparations. It is endorsed by leading physicians, is agreeable to the taste, does not interfere with digestion, and needs to be taken usually in small doses.

"From repeated tests in my own family, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has proved itself a very efficient remedy for colds, coughs, and the various disorders of the throat and lungs."—A. W. Bartlett, Pittsfield, N. H.

"For the last 25 years I have been taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for lung troubles, and am assured that its use has saved my life."

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Prompt to act, sure to cure.

One's Age.

The unwillingness of women who have passed a certain age—and of men, too, for that matter—to grow frankly the number of birthdays they have had is proverbial the world over. In France, which is reputed the most courteous country in the world, the sensitiveness of persons who are no longer young is almost universally respected. Even in the courts of justice a way is sometimes found to escape the necessity of a frank avowal.

A lady whose appearance indicated that she had left her fourteenth year behind her was not long ago ordered by the president or judge of a court where she was a witness to tell how old she was.

"Twenty-two, monsieur le president," she murmured.

The judge merely smiled at this very indelicate reply and pressed her no further.

A witty lady not long ago remarked in company when the delicate question of age was under discussion:

"You know I have a way of making myself out younger than I am without telling a lie at all."

"Indeed! How do you do it?"

"Well, I put the sin all upon the questioner. You see, when one of my female friends asks me how old I am, I answer, 'Oh, I'm older than you are, you know, my dear—as much as a year. By the way, how old are you?' And then she always knocks off more from my age than I should ever dare to myself."—Youth's Companion.

One Question Settled.

"Joshua," said Mrs. Chungwater, "I don't like to speak of anything unpleasant, but Peck's conduct has become unbearable, and I shall have to hunt for another girl."

"When a serious difference arises between a cook and her mistress?"

"Eh?" said Mr. Chungwater, looking up from his newspaper, dimly conscious that something in the nature of a problem had been presented for his consideration, "what is it, Maria? Difference between a cook and her mistress? That's easy. One cooks the steak and the other stokes the cook."

And he buried himself in his newspaper again.—Chicago Tribune.

Helping Him Out.

The Old Friend—I hear you are engaged, Fanny. Can it be possible you are going to marry that young Fiddleback?

The Heiress—Oh, no. He asked me as a favor to become engaged to him for a few weeks to help out his credit.—Life.

Carlyle's Philosophy.

Carlyle smoked often and complained much of dyspepsia. A friend once ventured to suggest that his smoking might perhaps injure and depress him. "Yes," Carlyle said, "and the doctors told me the same thing. I left off smoking and was very miserable still; but I thought it better to smoke and be miserable than to go without."—Argonaut.

Complete Mail Order Department—Samples Free. Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Always send your orders to J. Jay Joslin & Son, Dry Goods, Millinery, Carpets, Corner 16th and Curtis Sts., Denver, Colo.

THE MAXWELL LAND GRANT

Farm Lands!

UNDER IRRIGATING DITCHES.

Choice Mountain Valley and Lands near the Foot Hills

FOR SALE

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the register and receiver at Santa Fe, N. M., on December 6, 1922, viz:

Romulo Benavides, Florencio Duran, Nicolas Jimenez, Anacleto Contreras, all of Santa Fe.

Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the interior department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

A. L. Monrois, Register.

Notice of Publication.

Land Office at Santa Fe, N. M., November 1, 1922.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the register and receiver at Santa Fe, N. M., on December 6, 1922, viz:

Junia Rafael Jimenez, for the lots 1, 2 and 3, s. e. 1/4 n. e. 1/4, sec. 5, tp. 18 n. r. 10 e.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Anacleto Contreras, Nicolas Jimenez, Doroteo Benavides, Juan Benavides, all of Santa Fe, N. M.

AT HAND

For long and short, AYER'S Cherry Pectoral is prompt to act and sure to cure. A dose taken on the first symptoms of Croup or Whooping Cough, checks further progress of these complaints. It soothes the inflamed, swollen, inflamed membrane, and induces sleep. As a remedy for colds, coughs, loss of voice, hoarseness, pneumonia, and even consumption, in its early stages, it is unsurpassed.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

It cures all similar preparations. It is endorsed by leading physicians, is agreeable to the taste, does not interfere with digestion, and needs to be taken usually in small doses.

"From repeated tests in my own family, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has proved itself a very efficient remedy for colds, coughs, and the various disorders of the throat and lungs."—A. W. Bartlett, Pittsfield, N. H.

"For the last 25 years I have been taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for lung troubles, and am assured that its use has saved my life."

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Prompt to act, sure to cure.

One's Age.

The unwillingness of women who have passed a certain age—and of men, too, for that matter—to grow frankly the number of birthdays they have had is proverbial the world over. In France, which is reputed the most courteous country in the world, the sensitiveness of persons who are no longer young is almost universally respected. Even in the courts of justice a way is sometimes found to escape the necessity of a frank avowal.

A lady whose appearance indicated that she had left her fourteenth year behind her was not long ago ordered by the president or judge of a court where she was a witness to tell how old she was.

"Twenty-two, monsieur le president," she murmured.

The judge merely smiled at this very indelicate reply and pressed her no further.

A witty lady not long ago remarked in company when the delicate question of age was under discussion:

"You know I have a way of making myself out younger than I am without telling a lie at all."

"Indeed! How do you do it?"

"Well, I put the sin all upon the questioner. You see, when one of my female friends asks me how old I am, I answer, 'Oh, I'm older than you are, you know, my dear—as much as a year. By the way, how old are you?' And then she always knocks off more from my age than I should ever dare to myself."—Youth's Companion.

One Question Settled.

"Joshua," said Mrs. Chungwater, "I don't like to speak of anything unpleasant, but Peck's conduct has become unbearable, and I shall have to hunt for another girl."

"When a serious difference arises between a cook and her mistress?"

"Eh?" said Mr. Chungwater, looking up from his newspaper, dimly conscious that something in the nature of a problem had been presented for his consideration, "what is it, Maria? Difference between a cook and her mistress? That's easy. One cooks the steak and the other stokes the cook."

And he buried himself in his newspaper again.—Chicago Tribune.

Helping Him Out.

The Old Friend—I hear you are engaged, Fanny. Can it be possible you are going to marry that young Fiddleback?

The Heiress—Oh, no. He asked me as a favor to become engaged to him for a few weeks to help out his credit.—Life.

Carlyle's Philosophy.

Carlyle smoked often and complained much of dyspepsia. A friend once ventured to suggest that his smoking might perhaps injure and depress him. "Yes," Carlyle said, "and the doctors told me the same thing. I left off smoking and was very miserable still; but I thought it better to smoke and be miserable than to go without."—Argonaut.

Complete Mail Order Department—Samples Free. Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Always send your orders to J. Jay Joslin & Son, Dry Goods, Millinery, Carpets, Corner 16th and Curtis Sts., Denver, Colo.

THE MAXWELL LAND GRANT

Farm Lands!

UNDER IRRIGATING DITCHES.

Choice Mountain Valley and Lands near the Foot Hills

FOR SALE

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the register and receiver at Santa Fe, N. M., on December 6, 1922, viz:

Romulo Benavides, Florencio Duran, Nicolas Jimenez, Anacleto Contreras, all of Santa Fe.

Any person who desires to protest against the allowance of such proof, or who knows of any substantial reason, under the law and the regulations of the interior department, why such proof should not be allowed, will be given an opportunity at the above mentioned time and place to cross-examine the witnesses of said claimant, and to offer evidence in rebuttal of that submitted by claimant.

A. L. Monrois, Register.

Notice of Publication.

Land Office at Santa Fe, N. M., November 1, 1922.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the register and receiver at Santa Fe, N. M., on December 6, 1922, viz:

Junia Rafael Jimenez, for the lots 1, 2 and 3, s. e. 1/4 n. e. 1/4, sec. 5, tp. 18 n. r. 10 e.

