PEASANT REVOLT IN ROUMANIA IS SERIOUS

Nicaragua Is Triumphant and President of Honduras Has Fled With Small Force.

Paris, March 25.—As a result of a cabinet meeting today it was decided to send French troops to occupy Oudja, a frontier town of Morocco, until the Moorish government gives full satisfaction for the assassination of Dr. Mauchamp.

PEASANTS BEYOND CONTROL BY ROUMANIAN SOLDIERS

Bucharest, March 25.—That the revolted peasants of Roumania are at least temporarily beyond control by government forces in the field is amply evidenced by stories of pillaging and incendiarism coming in from all parts of Moldavia and Wallachia. There have been several serious conflicts between the peasants and troops notably at Bases in the district of Vaslui, where 2,000 peasants armed with rifles and revolvers attacked a company of soldiers. The troops fired several volleys, killing forty peasants and wounding large numbers, but the soldiers were so greatly outnumbered they were finally obliged to retreat.

NICARAGUA UTTERLY ROUTS SALVADOR AND HONDURAS

Paris, March 25.—The Nicaraguan legation today received the following dispatch from the Nicaraguan minister of foreign affairs, confirming the previous report of Nicaragua's victory at Choluteca, Honduras. The armies of San Salvador and Honduras were routed everywhere. President Bonilla has sought refuge at San Lorenzo with 200 men. Our ships have sailed to capture them. Tegucigalpa will fall today.

CALUMET & HECLA ARGUMENTS UP FOR HEARING

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 25.—Judge Knappen, of the United States circuit court, is hearing today arguments on the injunction set for this day restraining the order forbidding the stockholders of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company from holding a meeting for the purpose of voting proxy in the Osceola company. The action before Judge Knappen was instituted on behalf of the Bigelow interests in the Osceola mine. It followed the failure of the attempt to get Governor Weller to sign the bill prohibiting the mining company from voting stock in another competing mine.

1907 FAIR OFFICERS WILL BE ELECTED TOMORROW NIGHT

Don't Fail to Attend Big Meeting to be Held Over Zeigler's Cafe.

The annual meeting of the Territorial Fair association will be held over Zeigler's Cafe tomorrow night, and it is very important that there is a large attendance. Officers will be elected and plans for the approaching fair will be discussed. The last fair was a great success, and so will the next one be. The start is being made early for various reasons, the most important of which being the securing of worthy attractions. The big ones book a long time ahead, and the next fair will not entertain anything but big ones, so say those who have always had to do with the making of former fairs.

BENNING'S RACE TRACK OPENS FOR SEASON

Washington, D. C., March 25.—Sixty horses have been nominated for the Benning handicap, which will be run today on the opening day of the Washington Jockey club. The event is a six furlong over the Columbia course. The list includes nearly all the best horses in training, although it is doubtful whether the winners will start the best horses on account of the race being held so early in the season. The premier place has been accorded to the F. B. Hildebeck pair, Dandelion and Tangle, by the handicapper, with 120 and 120 respectively. Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., Salvador is penalized at 25 pounds; August Belmont's Don Diego and Okenia are well up in the weights, although the latter should handle his 111 pounds with little trouble.

STOCKS BROKE BADLY AGAIN TODAY

Sharp Rebounds Succeeded the Decline Before the Session Ended.

SECRETARY OF TREASURY WILL TAKE OTHER BONDS

Lord Rothschild Says There Is No Panic in London Nor Is Any Feared There.

New York, March 25.—Prices in stocks broke wildly again today, soon after the beginning of operations on the stock exchange. Amalgamated Copper, steel stocks, Harriman and Hill stocks, and St. Paul were special sufferers, and the collapsing tendency in these stocks communicated itself to the whole market. Sharp rebounds from the lower levels succeeded the decline, the rise varying from one to five points in most of the active stocks.

SECRETARY OF TREASURY ALLOWS BOND LATITUDE

Washington, March 25.—The secretary of the treasury today announced that he would accept in substitution for United States 4 per cent bonds of 1897, now held to secure public deposits, any other government bonds—Philippine bonds and certificates, city of Manila bonds, Porto Rico bonds, District of Columbia bonds at par and Hawaiian bonds at 90; also state, municipal and high grade railroad bonds such as are legal investments for saving banks, in the states of New York and Massachusetts, upon a basis of 90 per cent of their market value. It is understood that any such bonds must be assigned to the secretary of the treasury for redemption.

LONDON MAY HAVE SOME FEW SMALL FAILURES

London, March 25.—The city is absolutely no danger. This was the reply of Lord Rothschild when questioned today by the Associated Press in regard to the report that stock exchange settlements would result in trouble. "There may be a few small failures," Lord Rothschild said, "but they are not of a nature to cause any serious trouble. There's no panic in London and none is feared here."

METHODIST CHURCH CONVENTION AT HOUSTON

THE SKIDDY-STEVENS CATTLE INTEREST SELL FOR $276,000

Lyons-Campbell Ranch & Cattle Company Acquire Property.

Special to The Evening Citizen.—Silver City, March 25.—The Lyons-Campbell Ranch & Cattle Co. has purchased all of the Skiddy-Stevens interests in the company, the purchase price amounting to $276,000. The company is now owned by Lyons-Campbell Ranch & Cattle Co. This gives the control of the entire property to the Lyons-Campbell interests, and the sale and final settlement will be had at an early date. The management in control of the property will continue as before. The Lyons-Campbell Ranch & Cattle Company is one of the largest outfits in the southwest, the property comprising a large number of cattle and a vast acreage of grazing land on Duck creek, the Gila river and at Mule Springs. It is very probable that the company will be re-organized at an early date with a view of continuing the business. The Lyons-Campbell property was thrown into the hands of a receiver two years ago through an action brought by the Skiddy-Stevens interests of New York and Messrs. Victor Culbertson, Nicholas Galles and Albert C. Wall, the latter of New York, were appointed receivers by Judge Parker. The sale mentioned above will now act to clear the legal entanglements by removing the contesting element and will give the entire control of the company's affairs to the Lyons-Campbell interests.

THE FIERY SOUTHERNERS CRY "INPEACH ROOSEVELT"

FEDERAL RIGHTS VS. STATES RIGHTS

President's Plan to Remove Railways From State Control Stirs up Storm.

SUPREME COURT WILL BE ASKED FOR OPINION

Thought President Will Announce His Plan in Some Speech Between Now and June.

Washington, March 25.—The first announcement of President Roosevelt's plan to substitute entire federal for state control over railroads has stirred up the latent prejudices of the old south, where the doctrine of state's rights is still a living issue. Some technical southerners who have been in Washington during the past few days have discussed the move in their terms suggestive of antebellum days, even suggesting impeachment as a means of heading off executive usurpation. The president's announcement that his plan is still in the tentative stage, and will not be officially announced for a number of weeks, leaves the critics with little tangible matter on which to base talk of impeachment.

IT IS SAFE, HOWEVER, TO ASSUME THAT PRACTICALLY EVERY STATE OF THE OLD SOUTH WILL BE PREPARED TO ENFORCE ENFORCEMENT ON THE POWERS OF STATES.

It is assumed by the critics of the administration's new plan that the combined powers of the executive and federal courts are to be directed to secure full power over all the country's railway lines. The interstate commerce commission, they figure, is to be used as an instrument, and the lately passed rate law an excuse, and under the direction of the president of the United States these forces are to bend the railways to the federal authority to the complete exclusion of all state regulations.

One consequence of this would be to raise the race problem and the matter of Jim Crow cars. The right to separate the races and compel different accommodations for each depends on the right of the states to control railway matters within the boundaries of the states. The assumption of complete federal control ends all this.

Rather than suffer this the more radical and outspoken of the southern states will say that the president by impeachment or any other way that may be at hand.

In the meanwhile, President Roosevelt is making a calm and storm aroused by the premature announcement of his tentative plan. The president says he is not so strongly committed to the idea as he has been represented to be. The first step, in any event, will be to get a judicial ruling from the supreme court, defining the scope of the commerce clause in the constitution. If the supreme court holds that congress can take full control over the railway systems of the United States and deprive the states of control within state boundaries, then the president will be prepared to come forward with his ideas as to amendments needed to perfect the plan. The chief of the issue is that relative to supervising the issue of stocks and bonds.

There is a difference of opinion among the lawyers of the cabinet as to what the present legal status is. It is said that Secretary Root, who is one of the best lawyers in the country, holds that congress will have to take certain added action through amendments to the rate law, before the supreme court will hold that the states have been stripped of their jurisdiction over railroads. President Roosevelt is getting ready to make a formal announcement at an early date of his federal plan, but it is not determined, but it will be in a public speech, either in the address which he will deliver at the Jamestown exposition April 26 at Indianapolis May 29, or Lansing, Mich. May 31, or before the National Editorial association June 10.

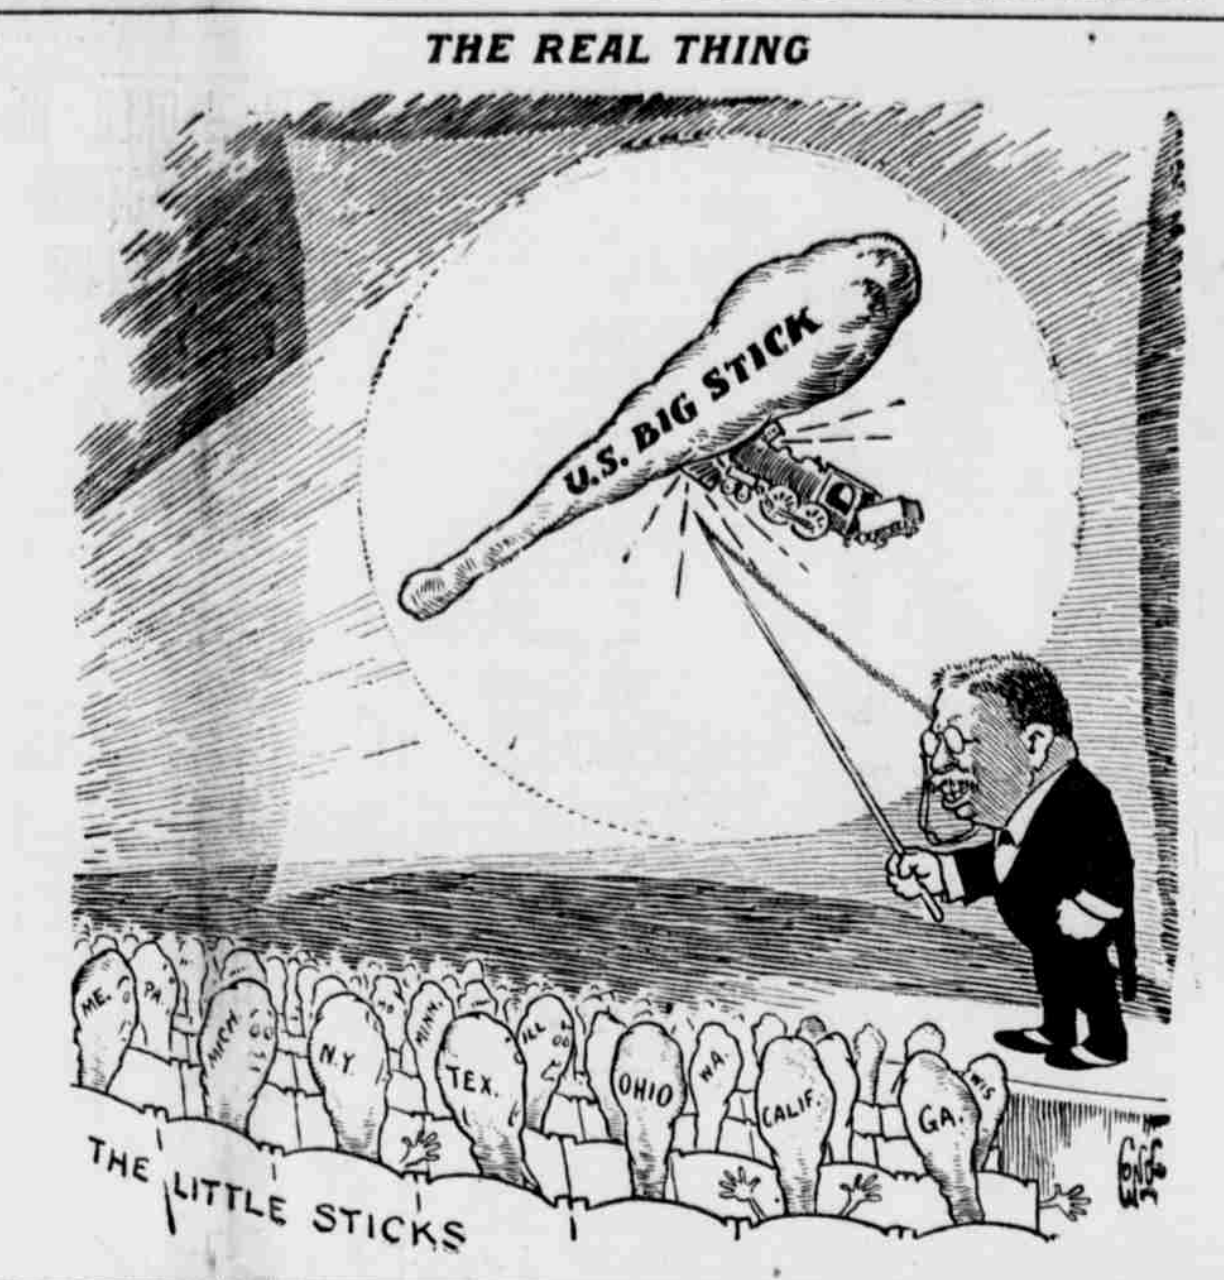

RHYOLITE STOCK EXCHANGES OPEN AGAIN

Rhyolite, Nev., March 25.—The Rhyolite stock exchange opens today for the first time. Hereafter it will hold two markets daily. Originally it was intended to open the market on the fifteenth of February, but the rush in the building trades in Rhyolite was such that the board room could not be prepared for occupancy until the present time. Another thing that delayed the opening was the flood of applications which the listing committee was forced to consider. Every property in the Lee, Buffalo, Grand and Greenwater districts was offered for listing, and the committee was forced to make a complete tour of the Southern Nevada mining country before the interests were passed upon. The applications, the stocks that are listed have been appraised by the committee. The first day's call was at the appraised value. After the first call new stocks will be of course open at the San Francisco and Goldfield valuations. A considerable increase in market quotations is the inevitable result of the opening of the exchange, as the exchange is considered to have filled a long felt want.

ONE THOUSAND VETERANS ARE POISONED

They Ate Hash for Breakfast, the Meat Not Being Good, None Died.

Leavenworth, Kan., March 25.—More than 1,000 veterans at the soldiers' home were poisoned by the hospitals here were crowded with the sick veterans and the ambulances were rushing in from the barracks with loads of them. Surgeons soon discovered what the trouble was and treated all for ptomaine poisoning.

In a telephone conversation an officer in charge of the hospital at the home stated that none of the veterans were seriously ill; that most of them had been discharged after a slight treatment, and that there was no likelihood of any deaths occurring from the ptomaine poisoning. Most of those afflicted, he said, simply suffered a slight vomiting spell.

The government physicians and nurses at the home were taxed to the utmost without ceasing, and probably succeeded in saving a score who were in a dying condition when found.

The infection worked slowly, nearly four hours elapsing between the poisoned meal and the development of the symptoms. Then the men began to drop off by the hundreds. Ambulances and stretchers were in so great demand that many lay for hours without attention, and the case of aged patients this delay will be additionally harmful.

San Francisco, March 25.—Abraham Ruef's attorneys have, it is said, withdrawn their writ of error filed with the United States supreme court, and state that they are now anxious to proceed at once with the trial on the charge of extortion. Attorney Frank Murphy said last night: "We have instructed our representative at Washington to withdraw the writ of error filed by us. We will proceed without further delay with the trial of Abraham Ruef."

OFFICIAL PAPER FOR CITY OF ALBUQUERQUE

MINING WORLD BUS ADVERTISING

Demand's of World's Markets
For American Metals Have Forced Up Prices.

COPPER CONTRACTS MADE ON 26 CENT POUND BASIS

Five Properties in Cripple Creek
Have Since Jan. 1 Declared
$281,000 in Dividends.

Kansas City, Mo., March 25.—The recent depression in railroad and industrial securities and its probable effect upon the mining industry is just now a matter of live interest among mining men throughout the west. The situation is recognized as a peculiar one, calling for the exercise of patience and discretion; yet that it portends any setback for the mining business is regarded among the best informed as exceedingly improbable. As a sidelight upon this view of the situation, the enormous volume of advertising now being sent out from Kansas City in the interest of new and promising mining properties now under development in all parts of the west. The financing of these mines is meeting with the most unequalled success, and this in spite of vigorous "knocking" from various uninformed alarmists, mostly in the east, who have recently advised the public to keep away from the mines and stand by the railroads and industrial.

Meanwhile the demands of the world's markets have been forcing up the prices of the metals to higher and higher levels, and both producer and consumer have kept quiet and steadily at work in the effort to supply the increasing quantities of metals required, and the mine being called for in every field of industrial activity.

Summed up, the present situation of the mining world is related to the financial centers, appears to be entirely sound. The losses that have been suffered in Wall street rest upon a comparatively limited circle; whereas the financial backing of the mines has been based upon a widespread popular belief in the logical security and future of the mining industry. Moreover, the confidence of the best of the known mining properties is now well under way, and it appears quite unlikely that any temporary flurry in railroad and industrial securities will bring serious apprehension to an established industry backed by thousands of substantial investors scattered throughout the length and breadth of the land.

Boston, Mass., March 25.—The Lake Superior copper production for February showed a falling off of over $700,000 pounds of refined copper from the January figure, owing chiefly to adverse weather conditions. These figures do not afford much hope to the consumer for a material price concessions in the immediate future. Meanwhile, contracts for future delivery continue to be made on a basis of about twenty-one cents per pound. Intrinsically the value of copper shares cannot be said to have been impaired by the recent financial flurry.

Baxter Springs, Kan., March 25.—The lead and zinc interests of this district are deriving considerable satisfaction in view of the prospect of an early betterment of transportation facilities for the various camps. The Frisco railroad is now surveying for the construction of a branch to pass through the district and connect with practically all of the concentrating mills. By this means the hauling of coal and other bulky material is done away with, and an added impetus will be given to the already rapid development of the section. The Baxter Springs Mining Company is now making extensive leaseholdings in its lands, and forty or more new mills are expected to be in operation in the near future.

Jerome, Ariz., March 25.—Relative to the United Verde copper mine of Jerome, the story has recently leaked out as to how Senator Clark first discovered the real richness of the property. A certain New Jersey refinery failed for a large amount, and Clark was obliged to take the concern over to save himself from loss, he being one of the largest creditors. In going over the books he discovered that the refinery had been receiving ore from the United Verde which showed amazing values in copper, silver and gold. From that time Clark commenced buying the United Verde stock, with well known results. That was but a few years ago, and it is now pointed out that since then the actual facts as to the resources of the property have been veiled in secrecy. For this reason the keenest interest is now being taken in the development of such nearby and adjoining properties as the Cleopatra and the Verde Grande, whose shafts are sinking in the identical sulphide beds and are likely to bring some startling disclosures regarding the values not hitherto made public.

Patagonia, Ariz., March 25.—Since the announcement was made by the successful financing of the Mansfield copper mine, and in view of the fact that the company's resources are now fully sufficient for the most extensive operations, orders are being placed for a very ample equipment for the mine. It is stated that within a few days $15,000 worth of machinery has been selected, including two complete hoisting plants, an air compressor and a 100-horse power tub boiler. The A. C. Sweet shaft is now down about 350 feet, and stopping is proceeding steadily on the veins, the ore assaying as high as $190 to the ton. This ore is being raised and shipments are to go forward at once. The recent influx of capital is effecting some notable results in the Santa Cruz copper district, and the new town of Mansfield gives promise of assuming the rank as a business and mining center. All indications signify that the copper mining industry of this vicinity is upon a solid basis.

Boise, Idaho, March 25.—Keen interest is being taken by local mining men in the new Idaho Eastern railroad now under construction from Barber City through the Boise mineral basin to Centerville. As an instance of the impetus that has been given to the development of the district, it is stated that at the McKinley mines on Jupiter mountain a large working tunnel will be started immediately to penetrate the gold-bearing veins at a depth of 1,500 feet. This property has already been thoroughly proven up by prospect tunnels and open cuts, and high values in gold have been removed from depths of fifty or sixty feet. The new railroad will pass within half a mile of the McKinley mines.

Winkelman, Ariz., March 25.—The large number of capitalists who have lately visited this district have manifested a lively interest in the rapid development of the Two Queens mine, where somewhat unusual values in gold and copper were first discovered a few months ago. Since that time the work of tunneling has been pushed forward day and night with almost feverish energy, and the main tunnel has now cut the vein and is working in an enormous field of rich sulphides. The vein was but four inches wide at the surface, but now at a depth of 145 feet it has widened out to twelve feet. The various shafts on the property are now down to sufficient depth to confirm the surface indications, and although the values are somewhat reticent, the fact that they are enlarging their equipment is taken to mean that they are now convinced of the continuation of values at depth. It is stated that the financial backing of the company is now fully assured.

Cripple Creek, Colo., March 25.—Five mining concerns of this district have since January, 1907, declared dividends aggregating over $281,000. The properties of the famous Stratton mine, which almost without exception making magnificent showings, and the best informed mining men of the district are freely predicting a record production during the current year.

ALLEGED CONTRACT LABORERS ARRESTED

Douglas, Ariz., March 25.—Five Mexicans have been arrested here by immigration inspectors on the charge of being contract laborers. It is alleged they came to Douglas under promise to work for one of the smelters here. They are originally from Valle Santiago, a town about 800 miles south of El Paso. A local board of inquiry has heard the evidence in the case and this has been sent to the department of commerce and labor at Washington. While the Mexicans are being held in the city jail.

Nothing Too Good For the American People

There is NOTHING TOO GOOD for the American people—that's why we started to make Cascarets Candy Cathartic. The first box made its appearance in 1896, and the enthusiastic endorsement of the people has been bestowed upon Cascarets ever since.

The sale today is at the rate of OVER A MILLION BOXES A MONTH, proving that the American people recognize that what is BEST FOR THEM is none too good.

Why this enormous patronage? The answer is simple: Cascarets are pure, clean, sweet, mild, fragrant, harmless but effective little tablets for the treatment and cure of Constipation and all Bowel Troubles. They are put up in neat little enamel boxes, easy to buy, easy to carry (in vest-pocket or purse), easy to take and easy of action, always "reliable, always the same, they 'work while you sleep' and wake you up feeling fine in the morning.

They not only regulate the movement and stimulate the muscular walls of the bowels, but they keep the ENTIRE CANAL CLEAN and antiseptic, forcing out and destroying all disease germs that breed and fester in the bowels, and may be taken continuously as a precautionary measure.

The new Pure Drugs Act, adopted by Congress on June 30, 1906, and in effect January 1, 1907, is a GOOD LAW and means better and PURER drugs for the American People. We endorse it and will live up to it in SPIRIT and LETTER, an easy task, as we have always been ACTED BY the same principles and no changes are required in our formula or packaging.

We adopted OUR OWN PURE DRUG LAW in 1896 when the first box of Cascarets came on the market and have lived and worked and produced under it ever since.

To-day, after a record of nearly 100,000,000 boxes sold, Cascarets STAND the greater in PURITY, QUALITY and MEDICINAL MERIT than any other preparation for Bowel trouble in all the world.

This should be a great argument for any one, to try Cascarets AT ONCE, and be healthier and happier for it. Some people have CHRONIC CONSTIPATION with all the horrors derived from it; others have HABITUAL CONSTIPATION from carelessness and neglect, but nearly EVERYBODY has OCCASIONAL CONSTIPATION, which, if not promptly taken care of is liable to result in its degeneration into the worse forms and cause great suffering and irregularity.

Cascarets, if taken patiently and regularly, will remedy all of these awful troubles, but if taken promptly at the very first sign of an irregularity of the bowels, will act as the FINEST PREVENTIVE ever discovered, and will keep all the machinery running in good order.

We advise you to get a little 10c box of Cascarets TO-DAY and carry it in your purse or vest pocket. Take one when you feel anything unusual about your bowels. Your own druggist will sell you the little box under GUARANTY of satisfaction or money refunded. All druggists, 10c, 25c, 50c.

ENGLISH QUEEN AND OUR MRS. PRESIDENT

Will Each Make a Flag For Nelson, Bust Presented by King Edward to Annapolis.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—Mrs. Roosevelt and Queen Alexandra will make a visit to the respective countries and present them to the naval academy at Annapolis, where they will be used for the drapery of a small bust of Admiral Nelson, the hero of Trafalgar.

This bust was presented to the American naval school by King Edward. It is of solid copper procured from the guns of the Victoria, and stands about eleven inches high on a six inch base of oak from the wood of the ship. The front of the bust is polished, but the rest of it shows the screw holes and battle scars. On this bust there is a lengthy inscription of interest to the various countries and between sailors of England and America, in which President Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley are eulogized along with Admiral Nelson.

Arrangements for the making of these two flags have been concluded by Rev. Edward B. Mathews, formerly a chaplain in the British navy. In an interview with Mrs. Roosevelt the promised Chaplain Mathews not only told her of the bust, but also with her own hands, but that she would go to Annapolis and personally present it to the mids. Mrs. Bryce, wife of the British ambassador, will do the same thing on behalf of the Queen. Mr. Roosevelt sent a personal message of greeting to King Edward. The chaplain had with him a victory medal which was presented to one of the boys of the president. Archie, having been the victim of a bullet in the chest, appealed to the British chaplain and the medal fell to him.

Traffic in Uniforms.
For the past year the war department has been annoyed by the sale of uniforms in army uniforms and efforts are now being put forth to end this practice which is costing the government large sums of money, but in bringing the uniforms into bad repute. After these uniforms are sold by the men it is impossible to tell the difference between the uniforms of the regular army and the uniforms of the volunteers. The uniforms are naturally charged up against Uncle Sam's soldiers.

Last week's advice were received from Atlanta that four pawnshops of that city had been raided by a military detachment under an army officer. The pawnshops were full of military uniforms, including overcoats, which had been pawned by newly enlisted men, were seized and the military authorities in Atlanta, where the headquarters of the department of the gulf are located, are in communication with the department of justice with a view to the prosecution of these pawnshops. Dealers in such goods are liable to be heavily fined or imprisoned. Although clothing is a part of the regular allowance of a soldier he is not permitted by law to dispose of it in this way while he is in the service. It has been held that while in the service the government has a joint ownership in the clothing. In this way the government expects to be able to break up the business and the attempt will be made at Atlanta to make an example of the men who have accepted military clothing and issued loans upon it.

Scheme to Find Favorite.

A unique scheme put on foot in Cincinnati, a few weeks ago seems to indicate that Secretary Taft is in the lead in the sentiment of the country as a candidate for the republican nomination, for the president of the American Medical Association, composed of the representative physicians of the country, has issued a letter to a department of public health, with a cabinet officer at its head, in order to ascertain the sentiment of the profession. The letter, which was sent to physicians and laymen throughout the country relative to this subject. At the same time the recipient was requested to express their choice for candidate.

This canvass was undertaken in line with the general policy of the association, a correspondent being located in every county in each state. So far returns have been received from 1,112 counties. On the republic.

mean side the reports of these correspondents show the favorites in their respective counties to be as follows: Shaw, 617; Root, 246; Fairbanks, 348; Cannon, 432; Taft, 3,187. The name of Governor Hughes, of New York, is being mentioned largely by those who are reporting since this recapitulation was made. On the democratic side, there are nearly as many preferences reported, though a great majority, apparently, want Mr. Bryan. The name of Governor Folk, of Missouri, is mentioned several times. In the southern states John Sharp Williams, minority leader in the house appears to be the favorite, but the correspondents say will do no good, as the democratic party is for Bryan and they are with the party.

The question foremost in the minds of the public is whether Battling Nelson and Joe Gans will meet again. Nelson has declared himself as being willing to take on by colored man, and I believe he is in earnest. The question is whether Gans is going to keep his lightweight title out of danger.

No two fighters before the public today have so many friends who are so anxious to see the lightweight title dispute settled. Gans may be talking and not anxious for another grueling battle, for it would be certain.

fairly a desperate contest. Nelson claims his title was stolen. Will Gans settle for once for all? Nelson realizes that every play he waits his chances of winning are better. The Dane never dissipates and is taking the best care of himself all the time. Gans on the other hand enjoys life and takes advantage of many opportunities to have fun.

But the colored man knows what he will be up against in another battle.

I was asked the other day whether many fouls were committed in the ring. The answer was, "Not many." I believe not, although there are times when foul blows are struck and the official does not call them. The English and the American are a different matter. The referee thought it best not to call it.

Nearly every fight fan remembers the bitter feud that existed between Charlie Mitchell and myself. Honest John Kelly had been selected to referee the battle at Jacksonville, Fla.

When the night of the fight had arrived and the supreme court had issued an injunction against the police interfering with the battle, a good crowd of fight fans were on hand. The English and the American were the roughest gang of Irish and Southerners I ever saw.

When the going rang we fought at each other like madmen. Mitchell realized his position and resorted to the foulest epithets to cause me to change my tactics. In the round in a close mixup Mitchell slipped to the floor and I stood over him. As he went to rise I dealt him a good back of the ear and he like a flash went flying. I had in the audience was on his feet demanding his money. They had all won, so they thought. Honest John Kelly told me afterwards that he was a good deal nearer losing a fight. He admitted that had he given the battle to Mitchell on a foul he would never have escaped from Jacksonville with his life.

In the third round the whiskey bottles and the guns were still in evidence. The English and the American came nearer losing a fight. He admitted that had he given the battle to Mitchell on a foul he would never have escaped from Jacksonville with his life.

A $45,000 CITY BUILDING FOR RATON

At an adjourned meeting of the city council Thursday evening at the office of City Attorney Wrigley, the plans of the Trinidad architect, named Burnett, were approved and adopted, says the Raton Record. Mr. Burnett was notified to furnish specifications for contractors to bid on for the portion of the building which would be used as a jail. The building proper will be of brick and stone and will occupy the corner of Second and Clark streets on the city lots. It will be for use by city officers, city jail and city hall, and is being planned for the big Roosevelt show. He is evidently leaving nothing undone that will contribute to the success of the show. Burnett is a resident of Raton and is a member of the Raton Commercial club. The building will cost about $45,000. John J. Jones was appointed as the new city clerk and will take his office April 1. W. A. Chapman, the former clerk, resigned on account of business obligations which left him no time for the office.

BAILEY MAY ATTEND CAITLEMEN'S CONVENTION

George M. Slaughter telegraphed to a Raton correspondent that he would attend the Commercial club, from Fort Worth last night that Senator Bailey of Texas had promised him to make an effort to come to the cattlemen's convention in Raton in April, says the Raton Record. Mr. Slaughter is attending the stock show and convention at Fort Worth. He is evidently leaving nothing undone that will contribute to the success of the show. Burnett is a resident of Raton and is a member of the Raton Commercial club. The building will cost about $45,000. John J. Jones was appointed as the new city clerk and will take his office April 1. BINGER HERMANN FIGHTS HARD AGAINST GOVERNMENT PROSECUTIONS

Special Correspondence.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—The government's prosecuting officers are trying hard to send to jail Binger Hermann, ex-commissioner of public lands, and member of congress from Oregon. Hermann, who has been on trial in Washington, D. C., there are indictments and prosecutions waiting for him at home.

Hermann is one of half a dozen prominent men charged with conspiracy to defraud the government, and Hermann is the only big fish that has so far escaped the net.

The conspiracy of which Hermann is accused is said to have been entered into while Hermann was commissioner of lands. It is alleged that through the influence of Senator Mitchell, who was to be paid $500 for his services, certain lands in north-west Oregon were to be set aside as a forest reserve to be known as the Blue Mountain forest reserve.

Supervisor General Meldrum with one Sorenson, Mitchell and others were to be given advance information as to what lands would be included and they would take advantage of this advance information to get possession of the school land sections. By paying $100 an acre and getting out a person to sign a "release of a right to purchase" these lands could be given to the conspirators before anyone suspected what was happening. Then as soon as the reserve was created the government would issue "flea land scrip" for these lands giving the holders a right to take in lieu of these lands any other public lands outside the reserve.

The profit was to come from locating valuable timber lands with the "flea land scrip." It is figured that the men in the deal were to clear $750,000.

What first aroused the suspicion of Secretary Hitchcock was the accidental discovery that a special agent of the department named J. S. Holcomb had made a report showing up land frauds and which Hermann had held up that report for more than a month.

Hermann secured a short delay, and during that time it is alleged he destroyed twenty-five letter books which contained traces of the conspiracy.

Senator Mitchell was convicted, but died before sentence was executed. Hermann has claimed a right along that he was persecuted. He is putting up a hard fight.

FIFTY YEARS A CONVICT LOVES FLOWERS

(By W. H. Briggs.)

Special Correspondence.
Detroit, Mich., March 25.—John M. Warren, convict in the state's prison at Wethersfield, near here, will celebrate his "golden anniversary" next December.

His golden anniversary, forsooth! Golden anniversary of his incarceration in a penitentiary. Fifty years of life behind cold, barred walls!

"This poor old man has spent a longer period in prison than any other living convict in the United States. When the correspondent of The Evening Citizen visited Wethersfield, he found Warren, old and grizzled, his stripes covered with a coarse coat, at work in the front prison yard—at work that he calls his greatest pleasure. He was brushing the snow away from the flower beds to see how the bulbs and plants had fared from the winter frost."

There will be joy in that old, care-wrinkled face when the first bud peeps out from the snow. The old man does not talk readily. In a kindly tone, half-halting,

JOHN WARREN.
He Has Been a Convict Longer
Than Any Other Prisoner in the United States.

he spoke a few words to me about his long, weary years as a prisoner. "I do not have any sorrows here," he said, "nor any joys, either, like the people outside. I don't have any privations or any bad luck and I am never sick, so it is not so hard. "I feel differently than I did when I came in here, and I know I shall be free before I die. The governor will pardon me, or something will happen—I know it. The keepers ask me where the order will come from to set me free, but I do not know anything about it except that I will be free."

They say I am a good prisoner now, and I think I am. I am a prisoner. "The flowers in this garden interest me very much. I love them. I have charge of all the garden here now. When get out I am going to earn my living as a gardener or florist, and I have been studying botany for years. I don't know when this will be, but I am sure that it is coming."

Warren is a "trustee" and has the freedom of the prison grounds. He was twenty-one when he came here in 1857. His extreme youth alone saved him from a death sentence, for in a fit of jealousy he killed his girl-wife by holding her head under water in a brook until she was dead. Twice he tried to escape and both times was captured. The last time was twenty-one years ago. The last time was twenty-one years ago. The last time was twenty-one years ago.

CATARRH A UNIVERSAL BLOOD DISEASE

Catarrh is usually worse in Winter, because of the cold, damp and secretions from the different inflamed membranes are absorbed into the blood the unpleasant symptoms of the disease commence. The nostrils are stopped up and a constant dripping of mucous back into the throat keeps up a continual hawking and spitting. The patient has dull headaches, ringing noises in the ears, and often slight fever and a depressed, half-sick feeling accompanies the disease. The blood becomes so fully charged with catarrhal matter that stomach troubles are brought on, the kidneys and bladder are affected, and if the blood is not purified of the poison the lungs become diseased because of the constant passage of impure blood through them. Catarrh cannot be cured with washes, sprays, inhalations and such treatment; these cannot reach the poison-laden blood where the real cause is located, and can only give temporary relief and comfort. A disease which affects the entire blood supply as does Catarrh, must be treated with a blood purifier. S. S. S. is the best remedy for Catarrh, which has grown to be a universal disease. It goes to the bottom of the trouble, ridges the blood of the catarrhal matter, reinvigorates the circulation, and cures this disgusting disease permanently. When S. S. S. has purified the blood every part of the system receives a supply of fresh, healthy blood, then the inflamed membranes heal and every symptom of Catarrh passes away. Write for our book containing information about Catarrh, and ask for any medical advice you desire. No charge is made for either.

DEEPENING MYSTERY IN MARVIN KIDNAPING MAY MAKE CASE RIVAL CELEBRATED CHILD ROBBERIES

HORACE MARVIN SAME AGE AS CHARLEY ROSS—DETECTIVES HOPE TO ESCAPE FATAL ERRORS IN FAMOUS PHILADELPHIA CASE—PLAN IS TO LOCATE BOY, THEN DEAL WITH THIEVES.

Special Correspondence.

Dover, Del., March 25.—As the dismal days come and go the seemingly impenetrable mystery in the disappearance of little Horace Marvin grows deeper. And the army of astute detectives on the case, several of them masters of crime and hidden circumstances, admit that they are utterly baffled.

It is an astonishing fact that these detectives, together with the police machinery of all the principal cities in the United States, the famed Pinkerton detective agency and a host of amateur sleuths, have failed to develop one single distinct clue to the missing boy's whereabouts since the search was begun on March 4.

What did happen to little Horace Marvin when he passed from the eyes of his now sorrowing father for the last time? It is a question that may never be answered. And from present indications the case will go down as rivaling all other kidnapping mysteries in the history of the country.

Charley Brewster Ross, whose case is a classic in criminal annals, was exactly the same age as the Marvin boy when he disappeared from the home of his father, Christian Ross, Washington lane, Germantown, Pa., July 1, 1874.

He is now generally believed to have been stolen from his home, although kidnapping was not at first suspected. Ross reported the loss of the child to the Philadelphia police. He had hopes of the safe return of Charley up to July 6. Then he received a letter demanding $20,000, conditional on the safe return of the boy. The police set out to capture the kidnapers. From all parts of the country boys who looked like Charley Ross were reported. One after another, they were shown to be other children.

On December 14, the same year, the first real clues were found. That night two men committed a burglary in the Bayside district of Brooklyn. Their names were Wm. Mosher and Jas. Douglas. Both men died from wounds received in trying to escape from the police. Before dying, Douglas confessed that he and Mosher had kidnaped Charley Ross. So much was renewed for their fellow conspirators, and Wm. Westervelt, brother-in-law of Mosher, was arrested. He was finally convicted as accessory after the crime and was sentenced to seven years' imprisonment. No trace of the boy ever was found, and it is now believed by the Philadelphia police that the kidnapers, in fear, murdered the boy to get him off their hands. Horace Marvin, the lost boy's father, is in great fear lest the kidnapers of his son be driven to some such desperate act by too strenuous police action.

Another great American kidnapping case that aroused the nation was when Edward Cudahy, 15-year-old son of the millionaire packer of Omaha, was stolen on December 18, 1900. He was kept in confinement for 24 hours. The kidnapers communicated with his father by letter, demanding $25,000 in gold coin, and threatened that unless the money should be forthcoming they would burn out the boy's eyes. Cudahy took the money to a spot designated by the kidnapers and the boy returned home unharmed. Suspicion soon fell on Pat Crowe, a notorious criminal. After a chase of many cities he was captured and brought to Omaha, where he was tried and retried, the principal evidence against him being a letter he was said to have written confessing the plot. Only last year there was still litigation in the courts of Omaha over the $25,000 paid by the father of the boy.

Boy last seen near haystack. Pond frozen over, precluding possibility of drowning. Marsh thoroughly searched. Father was in kitchen of house when boy disappeared. No strangers seen in road. Theory that kidnaper carried victim off in yawl on Delaware bay. All outhouses searched.

The most recent sensational kidnapping was in the case of Freddie Muth, Philadelphia. He was stolen by a degenerate, who held him in a vacant house until the police located the lair through information furnished by a neighbor woman. The Muth child was nearly dead from exhaustion. The kidnaper said he needed money.

In the Marvin case the authorities are observing close secrecy, but admit they have no clues. They hope to avoid a repetition of any of the fatal mistakes made in the Charley Ross case, and work on the theory that the first object is to regain the child; then, if possible, arrest the child thief, if such there be.

"Yes, but I can't imagine the man getting it."

BRAIN STORMS I HAVE MET.

I need not explain at length that I am a back number. Sufficient it is to say that when I dropped in upon the Federals the other evening, expecting to spend a couple of hours pleasantly, Mrs. Funder exclaimed triumphantly, "Now, you just have to learn how to play bridge whist!"

Protests were in vain. "Mrs. Sharkey will be here in a few minutes," said Mrs. Feender. "She is the champion player of our street. You and I will play partners against Mr. Feender and her. Such a splendid opportunity for you to learn!"

As she spoke, the bell rang, and a moment later Mrs. Sharkey entered.

"How splendid!" she cried. "Four of us? A game! A game!" She recalled to my mind the way Thomas W. Keene used to bellow, "A horse! A horse!" in Richard III. Of course, we played. When the deal had gone around Feender remarked, "You play a splendid game, an exceptionally good game, for a beginner. You understand it pretty well now, don't you?"

"It's as simple as the new railroad law," I replied.

"To make it more interesting, suppose we play for 19 cents a point," he suggested.

(Alas, not all the E. H. Harrisons are on Wall street!)

I agreed to that wish all the enthusiasm of a United States senator voting against a railroad.

The details are quite unnecessary. Looking over my hand, I saw all the aces in the deck. Backing them were the king, queen and jack of hearts, the king of diamonds, the queen of spades. I do not recall the other cards. I was playing mental tributes to Mrs. Feender's skill as a dealer and wondering why her husband worked, when I was aroused by Feender's saying: "When your partner bridges if you have a chance to make the king of diamonds, drop my hand."

I never saw anything quite like it. Mrs. Feender spoke without notes expecting a few high ones. I have always been glad for her sake that I never could remember everything she said, and a few minutes she certainly did throw language, to say nothing of chairs. I am sincere when I say that if David Belasco had seen I heard her he never would have spent any time in training Mrs. Carter. Honestly, she made Bernhardt look like a demonstrator in a drug store window.

And I understand just what Feender means now when, asking him why he does not do this or that, he replies: "My wife won't let me."

Under the Daisies.
I have just been learning the lesson to make of life.

The sad, sad lesson of loving. And all of its powers for pleasure or pain. Been slowly and sadly proving: And all the other of the bright, bright dream.

With its thousand brilliant phases, Is a handful of dust in a coffin box.— A coffin under the daisies.

Is love a sorrow proving— There are still many sorrowful things in life. But the saddest of all is loving; The life of some is worse than death, For fate a high wall off raises; And far better than life with two hearts enlarged.

Is a low grave starred with daisies. The beautiful, beautiful daisies! The snowy, snowy daisies.

And so 'tis better we lived as we did. The Summer of love together, And that one of us tired and lay down to rest.

Ere the coming of Winter weather; For the saddest of love is love grown cold. And this one of its surest phases, So I bless my lot, tho' with breaking heart.

For that grave enstar'd with daisies. The beautiful, beautiful daisies! The snowy, snowy daisies.

A FAT JOB FOR COUNCILMAN'S SON

It is understood that Clinton Stockton, a son of ex-Councilman M. B. Stockton, is to be appointed deputy oil inspector for the northern district by Coal Oil Inspector James S. Duncan. The position will probably net the neat little sum of $2,500 per annum to the young man, and, as is well known, his duties are none too onerous or too oppressive. Rather a nice plum that for all concerned.

POLITICAL DISCORD

The Citizen on Friday called attention to the new charter by means of which Memphis, Tenn., will be governed by a commission, and all self-government will be taken away from the people. How the charter was put through the legislature, and how the legislative strife has left the democratic party in Tennessee, are set forth in the Chattanooga Times, the reading of which reminds one of another legislature not so far from home. The Times said:

"Tennessee is politically stirred from center to circumference over the passage in the legislature of what is termed the Memphis 'ripper' bill. Shelby county has frequently contributed to the political upheavals of the state, but in this instance the alliances, combinations, charges and counter-charges, line-ups, fall-outs, mix-ups, gratifications, disappointments, shouts of victory, growls of discontent and the thousand and one other things political, social and moral that have entered into this legislation has stirred the state throughout. In Shelby county the feud between opposing factions is now fixed as the stars and that the political complexion of the whole of the old Volunteer state is involved is not questioned. Memphis herself is in a frenzy of jubilation on the one side and in open revolt on the other, and between the two the old Democratic of the state is being perked here and there until it is difficult to recognize her. The present United States senators, a former senator, the governor and the entire general assembly are involved. The fight has raged with such bitterness, created such rancor, brought about such combinations and created such obligations as to spread its influence throughout all the counties. And the status is of that character as to remain a burning event in the future political history of the state. The lines were so sharply drawn in the lower house of the legislature, the division of such moment, that the place offered in explanation of the position taken by legislators on the one side and the other are not given very serious consideration. It is openly charged, and generally believed, that promises, pledges, rewards of one kind and another have been made to secure support as well as to secure opposition."

ROCKEFELLER'S VIEWS

The New York American published last Wednesday an interview with John D. Rockefeller, obtained by Victor A. Watson, who rode with him from Augusta, Ga., to Philadelphia. Mr. Rockefeller is quoted as saying that one of the worst features of our financial affairs is the over-capitalization of big corporations. The public should have so much confidence in corporations, he says, that comparatively poor men would be willing to buy stocks, and adds that it is impossible to create this public confidence while corporations are over-capitalized.

Mr. Rockefeller went on to say that he believed in federal control of railroads and that it would be the best thing for the roads. Two of the greatest difficulties railroads have to deal with, he said, are increased cost of labor and varying state legislation. The general financial condition of the country is good on the surface, he declared, but there is an under-current of unrest. He continued: "Business is booming and everyone seems to be satisfied. But there is an under-current that doesn't look so good. I haven't quite made up my mind if the increased production of gold is responsible or not. It is impossible to see how such a situation will work out. Personally, I do not like the outlook. I do not think our people are saving the money they should save."

"One of the things that is responsible for the under-current of unrest is the coming national campaign, which is being reflected in the financial world. There is one important thing to consider, and that is that there are probably fewer debtors in the country than ever before. That, I believe, is one reason why the recent Wall Street panic is not more disastrous."

While the country is totally unprepared to accept government ownership of railroads, public sentiment will fully sustain the expenditure of large sums in the development of water transportation and in the conservation and improvement of the natural highways of commerce. Since the civil war more than half a billion dollars has been expended, but without a comprehensive and definite national aim, says the Washington Herald. This defect in our internal improvement policy President Roosevelt now seeks to remedy by the appointment of a waterways commission, which shall study the problem of water transportation with a view to meeting the needs of an interstate commerce which has far outgrown the capacity of our railway system, and threatens to keep in advance of the growth of rail transportation facilities for many years to come. As the president points out, the product of our northern interior states has doubled in ten years, while the railroad facilities have increased but one-eighth. The development of a complementary system of water transportation, in the president's opinion, supplies the only remedy for the national transportation problem.

In any of the national forests where the stockmen are suffering severe losses from the depredation of predatory wild animals, men who have had experience in hunting wolves and coyotes will be appointed as forest guards for such period of time as their services are needed, and forest rangers will also be assigned to this work. Experience has shown that the most effective method of destroying wolves is to find their dens in the early spring, where in addition to the old animals, the pups may also be killed. Therefore, this matter will be given special attention during the next three months and it is confidently expected that the results will be both satisfactory and beneficial to the stockmen.

The proportion of the last year's crops remaining in the farmers' hands on March 1st is without precedent. It is estimated in the government reports that 296,644,000 bushels of wheat, or what in ordinary years is about one-fifth of the crop, is still on hand. The unmarketed reserve of corn is 1,298,000,000, or 44 per cent of the crop of that cereal. This unusual surplus on hand after three-fourths of the crop year has passed would seem to indicate that American production of late years has been beyond the needs of home consumption, plus a remunerative demand to supply foreign deficiencies, as well as in excess of the capacity of the transportation facilities of the country. The situation is literally one of an embarrassment of riches. If the crops of 1907 should be poor ones, there will be no danger of suffering by reason of dear bread, for there is plenty of grain in store. On the other hand, if the new crops should be up to the recent average, how could they be moved to market?

What is the matter with the railroads, anyway? Anything, their equipment is better than it was a year ago, there is literally no end to the freight that is to be transported, the times are just as prosperous as they were, the national rail law has given them the advantage of cutting off all free transportation, and it is not likely that the 2-cent fare laws will lessen their passenger service income. Under the circumstances there seems to be no occasion for all this hubbub among railroad managers, or for their dire predictions that legislation unfriendly to railroad interests will bring about a financial depression.—Council Bluffs Nonpareil.

New Mexico: A fruit farm forty acres in extent, owned by Dr. Farnsworth, near Hagerman, Chaves county, has just been sold for $11,000. The place was first cultivated four years ago; it has fifteen acres in alfalfa, twenty acres in flower gardens, while five acres are being utilized for home, buildings, barns, etc. It should be remembered that four and one-half years ago this place was government land, upon which a desert land entry could have been made for which the entrymen can pay $1.25 per acre to the government, and make improvements of a similar value per acre thereon. This is a rather remarkable incident, partly evidently good luck and partly management. It is an example that should be advertised far and wide. What Dr. Farnsworth has done, others can do in a similar space of time, and in many sections of the Sunshine territory. Competent fruit growers in the Pecos valley and in southeastern New Mexico estimate the minimum of $200 per acre income out of fruit orchards, and that two years out of three. It is evident that the sale was based upon such a value of the land contained within the farm. The case is worth recording and remembering.

BUILDING TO THEMSELVES
TOWERS OF PHILANTHROPY

A mere handful of men and women in this country have, during the brief space of two years, given to philanthropic enterprises some of money aggregating the astonishing total of $297,634,000!

Rockefeller, king of money, has given twice as much as Andrew Carnegie; some comparatively obscure princes of fortunes have given away sums ranging from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000.

There are many other remarkable comparisons. The most noticeable is that about one-half of the total goes to the advancement of education. Upon education depends the future greatness of this race, and only education will neutralize the nation-killing blasts which vast wealth drew on peoples of the past.

What these figures do not show is the proportion of these benefactions to the fortunes of the donors. These gifts sound big, but comparatively, are they? John D. Rockefeller has wrested from his brothers during his lifetime, by means none too honorable, control of one of the earth's great stores of supplies. It is a safe statement that his gifts amount to no more than the income from his accumulated wealth. He is preparing for death. If he chose he might leave all of his colossal winnings to his children and their children. He elects to build a monument, gratifying, no doubt, the common craving for immortality.

Shall we praise John D. Rockefeller for his giving? Shall we question the motive?

We shall do neither. We shall be glad of the good his benefactions, and those of other millionaires of his class will do. We will rejoice that this cornered wealth is at least in partial use. But we will not lose sight of the fact that the Creator, out of love for his children, made heat-giving, dark-dispelling oil to course through the earth; that the Creator, out of love for his children, planted in the mountainside iron for wheels that ease the arms of man and grind for his comfort life's supplies. We shall not lose sight of the fact that this nation's resources and men built the Rockefeller fortune, the Carnegie fortune, the Morgan fortune. We must judge the holders of these fortunes as stewards of natural supplies, not as creatures so apart with such divinity as to give to us as a people or take away from us.

Much that is ideal seems to us faltering little creatures as impracticable or impossible. We sometimes dream of a system by means of which we could live in a brotherhood as equals, wherein we could produce out of our strength of body and mind for a common good, wherein the weak would find protection in the strong, wherein the state would be the mother of us all—a kind and all-favoring mother whose loyal sons give into her lap the fruits of their labor and receive from that lap in true proportion with their needs; wherein we shall not be called upon to accept as bounty the gifts of the fortunate over the unfortunate.

But, what of dreams! A few men who came in on the crest of the commercial wave of our time and made the most of their advantage are preparing for death. They are laying down their golden burdens and building their monuments. However high and magnificent these piles, they will not endure, in the light of the perfected civilization of the wonderful tomorrow, if at the base there lies timber tainted by immoral practice. Everything in life has its compensation, good or evil.

Strange and complex visions are these we see about us when we attempt to read the minds and hearts of men. Be slow to judge, be quick to pardon; for, out of our best reasoning, are we not convinced of the pitiable frailty, sickly impotency, wretched littleness of our kind?

HOW TO REMOVE WALL STREET
AS MENACE TO OUR PROSPERITY

The American people have recently witnessed, with apprehension, the spectacle of a crowd of gamblers in an attempt to brow-beat a president of the United States.

A fearless president, backed by an indignant public sentiment, had entered upon a warfare against the conduct of certain large industrial and railroad corporations.

Investigations and prosecutions disclosed an astounding condition of affairs. The industrial trusts and the railroad trusts had formed a partnership of crime. Rebates, secret rate and other unlawful and unscrupulous devices had been employed to wipe out honest competition. Vast railroad systems had been used as dice in the hands of professional gamblers; the interests of the shippers being entirely disregarded.

When the campaign was instituted, Wall Street sat back complacently and smiled; it had gone through investigations before and had nothing to fear. As matters developed, however, Wall Street became anxious, anxiety was succeeded by fear, and it was then determined that a lesson must be taught; the sacredness of "vested interests," its inviolability from interference by the common people or any public official, must be established once and for all.

Suddenly stocks began to sag. There was a Wall Street panic—"vested interests" drew about itself its mantle of injured innocence, while its mouthpiece, the subsidized press, printed about the attack upon property rights, and the resulting depreciation of values, by irresponsible demagogues.

But the honest business man pursued his course. The Wall Street panic did not create a ripple upon the surface of real business. Prosperity was not halted and Wall Street itself had received a shock.

But how will it be the next time? This stock jugglery may come at a time when the country is in a little less prosperous condition. A Wall Street panic at such a time might not fail of its purpose. The country might be thrown into a real panic.

Against foreign foe we are always zealous for our own protection, but within our very midst we permit to remain a sore that is a menace to our liberties and our institutions. Why is it endured? Does it serve any purpose other than to enrich and to intoxicate with power a crowd of unproductive consumers, who spin out, but who live on the fat of the land, and who in return rob the people of their rights?

There is a remedy, one that is used against other diseases. Alcoholic liquors and dangerous drugs are heavily taxed in order to prevent their indiscriminate use, because such use would be fatal to the welfare of the country. A heavy tax imposed upon the sale of every share of stock on a market would either wipe out or so limit this Wall Street viper as to practically remove its sting. The remedy is in our hands. We have a fearless president, one who, we all believe, hates Wall Street and all that that name implies. All that we need is a congress of a like temperament.

LATE LAND COMMISSIONER
AT HOME

Fitting Tribute to His Worth and Efficiency Paid by the Santa Fe New Mexican.

To our fellow townsman, A. A. Keen, who returned home Saturday evening, the New Mexican of that day paid the following merited compliment:

"A. A. Keen, who for the past eight years held the important position of territorial land commissioner, turned over the property and records of the office today to his successor, Robert P. Ervin, and left this evening for his home in Albuquerque. Mr. Keen organized the office and fulfilled its duties with scrupulous honesty and great fidelity. In leaving office he takes with him the respect and good will of the people of New Mexico and retires from public life with the satisfaction of having performed his official duties in strict compliance with the law in every way."

This writer most heartily endorses what the New Mexican says of Mr. Keen. It has been the writer's good fortune to know Mr. Keen for a great many years, alike in public and private life, and during all those years his integrity has never been questioned, and his faithful attention to business has been an example beneficial to all who knew him. The Citizen has not learned in what line of business activity Mr. Keen will engage, but this paper sincerely hopes that whatever it may be he will not be so frequently taken from the city as was the case while land commissioner.

"Urban's new country home may be very beautiful, but I don't believe a man who has lived in the city 40 years, and more than 20 years of that time in a flat, will ever like the country. Wait till the frogs and crickets get busy some evening. He'll wish he was back in town."

"Oh, he considered all that when he built the house. He's put a bowling alley right in the center of the second floor and hired a man to roll the balls all night. The woodshed's right over his bedroom and another man chops wood till midnight. Then he has bells and gongs all over the house that ring automatically in their turn. He'll feel right at home."

The Trials of Literature.
Our Literary society last Saturday evening was fine. If Claude Abel did want a broom instead of a dish rag. There was some very fine music. Oliver Botkin and daughter, Willie Botkin and Mrs. Cecil Butler sang some very fine songs. The editor read some very fine and interesting items and if the boys had not made so much disturbance it would have been very much better.—Huntsville correspondence. Winchester (Ind.) Herald.

Miss Nina Lee visited friends in Bridgeport Friday and Saturday. She looked pleased on Monday, so I guess she saw her beau.

Miss Maud Mathews looked pleased Sunday. I guess she was looking for someone.

Miss Minnie Thomas was all smiles Sunday. I guess she was looking for her best fellow.

Miss Gertrude Thomason looked very pleasing Sunday. I guess she was proud of her company.—Dorans Cove correspondence. Squawnee (Tenn.) News.

Jim's Raised Whiskers and Shoes.
J. A. Smith, of Oak Level, was in the city Tuesday, and brought to market. Jim Ab looks just as natural as he used to when we were all at Johnson's school house at school, and all he lacked of being the Jim Ab of old times was shaving off his beard and being barefooted, and having his "breath" rolled up. 3,000 PEOPLE JOURNEYED TO TRACTION PARK YESTERDAY

Youngsters Give Brownies a Scare—Races, Music and Good Pictures.

Fully 3,000 people saw the sports at Traction park yesterday afternoon, and heard the American Lumber company band rendered up of the finest programs yet given by this musical organization. It was really a day of great advancement all around. The races beat those of the previous Sunday by several lengths and the ball game was far ahead of the practice done by the Browns on the former occasion, as the Browns led all contestants at the base ball tournament of the last fair. The Brownies, however, showed very little better than did the Geronimo club team. These youngsters gave the old-timers a fright they won't soon forget. Even with the invincible Bill Ney in the box, the Indians had the Browns bested up until the seventh inning, when the lumber mill boy twirling for the Indians gave out. The talent which replaced the lumberjack was not as good as he, and the Brownies won the eighth inning by a score of 13 to 12.

Interest was about equally divided between the ball teams and the races, and the music came in for a share of admiration from all classes, but especially did the band boys make a hit with the ladies, many of whom were in attendance.

The first race, a free-for-all pace, distance one mile, was won by Monkey Mack, with Daniel J. second. Time—2:29. Daniel J. was disqualified in the second heat for running.

The second race, a 1 1/2 mile, one-half mile, was won by Exodus; Corcello, second. Time—1:13.

The 1 1/2 mile race, one-half mile, went to Mickey with Maude Salisbury a close second. Time—1:22.

Illustrious Maid won the 1 1/2 mile, one-half mile, Belle Patterson, second. Time—1:28.

The judges were C. M. Foraker, Will Trimble and Herman Schloss. Timekeepers, T. J. Shidnick, Jake Levy and Ed. Newcomer. J. Straussner was starter.

There was an unlooked-for but decidedly entertaining moving picture show at the Casino last night. Saturday night there arrived in the city the Hazy Scenic company.

"We want to put on a show at your Casino," the manager told Mr. Frank Storts, office manager for the Traction company. "We have the best pictures ever put on canvas, and we assure you that we will give you patrons satisfaction. All we want is a trial." The pictures last night testified that the man told the truth, when he said they were good pictures. Two more performances will be given at the Casino on Thursday and Friday nights of this week. A feature of one of the proposed performances is a reproduction of the Gans-Nelson fight.

COPPER PROPERTY ON OSCURA MOUNTAINS

Dr. Fayette A. Jones, the mining engineer, returned this morning from a trip to Lincoln county, where he went three weeks ago in company with Dr. J. O. Hamilton, of Roswell, to examine mining property for a company of Roswell and Kentucky capitalists. The prospects are located in the Oscura mountains and the mineral sought is copper. When asked what he found, Dr. Jones said that he saw some pretty good looking stuff, and it is very likely that his report will be favorable. If such is the case development has begun on the property immediately. This Roswell-Kentucky company has interests in Grant county also.

COL. COOLEY IN FROM PINE TOP

Col. C. E. Cooley, government Indian agent at Pine Top, Ariz., is in the city to see his son, Ralph, who is a student at the Albuquerque Indian school, and very sick with pneumonia.

Col. Cooley went to Arizona in 1878, as an Indian scout under General Crook. Those were days when it was all a man's life as worth to go one mile from Fort Apache by himself, so had were the Apaches. The colonel married an Indian woman on leaving the army and as a reward for services rendered during the strenuous early days of border warfare, he was appointed Indian Agent at Pine Top. His headquarters are twenty-four miles north of Fort Apache between the fort and the Mormon town of Snowflake. He says that that part of Arizona was soaked last week by a heavy rain.

SUNDAY A DAY OF MANY FIRES

JUVENILE INCENDIARIES ATTEMPT TO BURN NEW FEE RESIDENCE.

Fire destroyed an outhouse in the rear of the residence of D. W. McFarland, of West Gold avenue, about 10 o'clock last night, and damage amounting to $50 resulted. The building was full of old boxes and excelsior and other inflammable stuff, and made a fire so bright that many parts of the city people thought that the Elks' opera house was on fire. The origin of the fire is not known.

The fire yesterday afternoon for which the fire department was called to the Highlands was a culvert at the corner of Silver avenue and Armo street.

Another conflagration was narrowly averted yesterday, when Mrs. E. H. Dunbar, of West Gold avenue, discovered two small boys on the roof of the new residence of E. W. Fee, on West Coal avenue, trying to light the shingles with matches. She told them that she would call the police and the young would-be incendiaries scampered down from the top of the building and ran away.

Albuquerque's prettiest and most talented young ladies will appear in song and dance specialties at the Juvenile Minstrels, Monday, April 1st.

You can't afford to miss the Juvenile Minstrels at the opera house, Monday night, April 1st, under the auspices of the Woman's club.

ALBUQUERQUE MAY SOON HAVE NEW MAP

Complete New Chart of This City and Suburbs Now in Hands of Publishers.

A proof of the new Albuquerque city map, including the suburbs, in which are the American Lumber company, Boreas, the University of New Mexico and Old Albuquerque, has reached this city, and is by far the most complete and accurate compilation so far gotten out here. The work was done by J. R. Farwell for the Albuquerque Abstract company, and is now in the hands of the famous publishing house of Rand McNally & Co., at Chicago, for publication, provided enough subscribers can be obtained in this city to warrant the expense. It is nine years since the last map of Albuquerque was placed on the market, and since then the city has gone through so many and such important changes that the compilation of 1898 is now obsolete and practically useless.

The new map covers four-fifths of the value of taxable property in the county of Bernalillo. It gives the names of the property owners, shows the city lines, the fire limits, water mains and fire plugs, sewer mains, buildings with names of owners, besides a vast amount of detail information valuable to business men at almost every turn. The price of the publication is $10 and it is hoped that those having the sale in charge will meet with prompt subscriptions from all merchants when called upon. We need and ought to have the map as quickly as possible.

J. S. DELAMETER TO LEAVE DEMING

J. S. Delameter, one of the best known and most popular ranchmen in the Deming district, has sold his fine ranching property and concluded to return to his eastern home. During his stay in the southwest Mr. Delameter has proven himself one of the most progressive and useful men in his neighborhood and his departure is greatly regretted. His friends, however, are counting upon his return at no late date as they feel that the western fever is in his veins and that after a short trial of old surroundings he will conclude like so many others that his place and fortune is in this land of his adoption.

BIG IRON PROPERTY NEAR RATON SOLD

"SWASTIKA" ROUTE OWNERS PURCHASE MEANS EARLY EXTENSION OF ROAD.

The people of Elizabethtown, N. M., are rejoicing in the prospect of increased activity through the recent purchase by the capitalists interested in the St. Louis, Rocky Mountain & Pacific railroad of the important mineral deposits in Iron mountain, formerly owned by Miss May Lynch, Joseph Lowery, Mike Reigen and Thos. Bird. The property is known to contain some of the richest iron deposits in the west.

Iron mountain is located in the immediate vicinity of Elizabethtown and the town is bound to be benefited by the extension of the railroad, which is expected soon to follow. It is stated that enough ore exists in the neighborhood to furnish business for the road during a period of twenty years.

"Little Willie." Once there was a little town And Willie was its name; It made a fight for the county site Thereby to win some fame.

Like "Little Willie" we read about Who ate some apples green. They disagreed with little Willie And caused a painful scene.

Willard's pain is just the same Only apples didn't do it; They tried to get the county seat And Estancia beat 'em to it.

MONTOYA FALLS DEAD ON FOURTEENTH STREET

Inquest Being Held This Afternoon—Deceased Came From San Antonio.

Guillermo Montoya, aged 30 years, died very suddenly at his home on North Fourteenth street Sunday afternoon at about 3:30. The man was of unusually muscular build and had been in his usual health up to the time of death. It is supposed he suffered an attack of heart trouble, though the cause has not been learned and an inquest will be held for this purpose this afternoon.

The remains are now at the Strong undertaking parlors, and a coroner's jury will have charge of them until inquiry into the cause of the man's death has been made.

Montoya was a plasterer by trade and had been working for Frank Ralph, the contractor. The man was sitting under a shade tree in his yard when the attack came on. Dr. O'Suna was called, but all efforts to revive the man were futile.

Montoya came to Albuquerque from San Antonio, Texas, about nine years ago. He was well known in this city and was generally respected. A wife and three small children survive. The remains will be sent to San Antonio for burial.

44 BUCK SHOTS IN HIS CORPSE

Tito Casares, who was shot and fatally wounded by the town marshal of Crow Creek 30 miles from Dawson, N. M., and 22 miles from Raton, N. M., according to a telegram brought to St. Raphael hospital early in the week last past, for treatment, died at the hospital Saturday of his injuries, says the Trinidad Advertiser.

The corpse was removed to the morgue of the Trinidad undertaking company, where it has been prepared for burial prior to shipment to the former home of deceased in Old Mexico. The frightfully torn body of the dead man contained 44 holes caused by a double charge of buckshot fired into the man by his slayer.

E. P. WEED SUFFERS STRANGE MENTAL DERANGEMENT

Thinks Everybody Wants to Kill Him—Then Wants to Die.

Driven crazy by pain and laboring under the delusion that everybody was trying to kill him, E. P. Weed, the north First street coal dealer, escaped from the St. Joseph hospital between 9 and 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and caused no little trouble before he was returned.

Weed first became violent Saturday night, when it was found necessary to put him in a straight jacket. Sunday morning Mrs. Weed called at the hospital and asked that her husband be released, and no sooner had her wish been complied with, when Weed made a break for liberty. A half block from the hospital, he was captured by Alderman Hanley and Prof. Crum, both residents of the district. They wanted him to go back to the hospital, but he said no. He wanted to see E. L. Pearce, who lives on Edith street, three blocks away, and Mr. Hanley and Mr. Crum thought they would humor him, but they had not got very far on the way, when they decided that it would probably be better to take him back to the hospital, and so they returned to the hospital. Weed saw an ax and made a movement to get it. He was as he was with the belief that everybody was trying to kill him. Mr. Hanley and Prof. Crum realized that it would be decidedly dangerous to let him have such an implement, and immediately took it upon themselves to take him back to the hospital by force if necessary, and they soon found that force was very necessary. He fought all the way and became so violent that he was taken to the hospital. He thought that there he would be safe from his enemies, among whom he counted his closest friends as well as everybody else.

At the county jail his malady underwent a decided change. He no longer feared death, but seemed to be dying. During the afternoon, he yelled to Sheriff Armijo through the bars that he was writing a letter to his wife and that if the sheriff would let him mail it, he would come right back. He added, "This is my day of execution, you know."

Because he forgot to pull his log hook out of a big pine log, Elwood Croft was pulled into the flume at the sawmills Saturday and given a good ducking. Croft had forgotten about his hook, when the chain which carried the logs up into the mill came along, took hold of the log and jerked him after it. He crawled out of the flume with little trouble.

Henry Rohrer, of St. Louis, formerly consulting engineer for the Missouri Pacific railway, is in the city for the purpose of making an expert examination of the plans of the Rio Grande Land, Water & Irrigation company, the big irrigation scheme which is soon to be materialized and reclaim a large area north of this city. The undertaking is very important to this city, and Mr. Rohrer's report will be awaited with interest.

TRAINMEN VOTE ON STRIKE QUESTION TODAY.

Cleveland, O., March 25.—The last vote of the membership of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen west of Denver will reach this city today. It is expected. Forty-seven thousand men have been voting on the question of striking to enforce demands for an increased scale of wages. The poll is the most extensive move towards a general strike since the American Railway union broke up of 1894. The ballots will be counted at the national headquarters in the city.

TRI-BULLION COMPANY IN EARNST ABOUT BUILDING SMELTER

Two New Concentrators For Magdalena District—Kelly Booming.

L. R. Babcock, postmaster and general merchant at Kelly, Socorro county, and a stockholder in the Tri-Bullion company, owning and operating the Kelly mine in the Magdalena range, spent yesterday in the city. Mr. Babcock says that the Magdalena district now has an aspect of permanency, with indications of a great future. Every hole in the district is being given more or less attention and the big mines, the Graphic and the Kelly, are being worked hard. Both of these larger properties are shipping ore daily and each of them will soon have concentrators in connection with them, which will greatly facilitate the production of values.

A 100-foot shaft is being put down on the "Nit" property, a new acquisition of the Tri-Bullion company. There is a hole on this property now sixty-five feet deep, and the additional 100 feet will, it is thought, give the new owners a fair insight as to what the property has in store for them and an exhibit of negro business enterprise at the convention of the National Negro league which will be held in Topeka, Kansas, August 14, 15, and 16.

IRRIGATION IN ARID WEST IS GREAT

Overshadows Panama Canal
in Importance and Extent and Cost of Work.

DESERVED TRIBUTE PAID TO ENGINEER F. H. NEWELL

Eight New Towns Have Sprung
Into Existence Already and Others Contemplated.

Constantly in the line of public attention, the Panama Canal has received more gratulations and congratulations in newspapers and magazines than any other modern enterprise. Columns after columns have been devoted to the vastness of the work, the magnitude of the engineering obstacles to be overcome, the enormous expenditure of money required to complete the ditch, and the financial importance when completed. In the brief period since the work was begun the country has been scraped as if with a fine tooth comb for the most capable engineers to conduct the construction and changes in management have been made with startling and amazing rapidity.

Meantime, without the ostentation of spectacular newspaper headlines, the redemption of a vast empire in the West under the magic touch of irrigation is well under way to a marvelous consummation, involving an expenditure of about $150,000,000, seven times the estimated cost of the Panama Canal. Not only this, but in the necessary excavation work, the total when the twenty-six approved plans are completed will be many times more than the 133,000,000 cubic yards required by the Panama Canal. Up to the present time the excavation work of the Reclamation Service amounts to 33,000,000 cubic yards. In variety and difficulty the engineering problems encountered in reclamation work are by no means second to those upon which so many reputations have been wrecked at the isthmus.

Overshadows the Canal.
And in commercial, financial and industrial importance the reclamation of the arid West far overshadows the prophecies of even the most enthusiastic of the canal advocates. Taking the value of irrigated land at $47, according to the last census, although it frequently reaches $1,000 an acre, when the work of redemption is completed the taxable property of the country will be increased to $2,250,000,000, and new homes for 600,000 families on farms and adjacent villages and towns will be provided. The twenty-six approved projects for which funds are now provided will add to the crop-producing area of the country a district equal in size to Connecticut, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Florida. This alone will increase the yearly value of crops by $60,000,000, and add $232,000,000 to the taxable property of the country.

A summary of the work done by the Reclamation Service up to the present time makes the digging of the Panama Canal a small task in comparison. The irrigation engineers have excavated 1,267 miles of canal, some of the canals being large enough to carry whole rivers like the North Platte and Truckee. A total of 43 tunnels nine and a half miles long have been excavated. 214 bridges built. 74 structures including three great dams erected. 378 miles of road constructed in inaccessible regions. 1,372 miles of telephone strung. 10,873 square miles of topographical surveys made, transit lines extending over 18,777 miles, level lines run 24,218 miles, nearly sufficient to go around the earth. Miles of diamond drilling and 1,010 miles of electric lines. The service is operating 23 miles of railway, with nine locomotives and 223 cars. It has 1,443 horses and mules at work, 39 stationary engines, 27 steam pumps, and has in operation 5 electric light plants. Its office and field forces include 10,000 men, and monthly expenditures of the service now average a million dollars a month.

Eight New Towns.
Eight new towns have sprung into existence as the result of the work of the reclamation service, and 100 miles of branch railroads have been constructed into these districts. Ten thousand people already built homes in this one time desert, and every line of industry in the west has felt the impetus of increased demand. Great as will be the acknowledged advantages flowing from the construction of the Panama canal, it will be many long years before that enterprise can show the fraction of the profit that has already resulted from the work of reclamation in the west.

The marvelous success of the gigantic redemption is due in no small measure to the splendid abilities and sterling administrations of the chief of the reclamation service, Frederick Hayes Newell. He is a new type of the public servant, and is a resultant product of the best phases of civil service reform. Of politics in the discharge of his duties he is absolutely indifferent. As the work shows, no federal bureau is freer from the desolating taint of the political parasite, and as a result the service has the efficiency of a great private business.

To the work of reclamation Mr. Newell has devoted his talents and made it his life career, rejecting the large financial rewards which his engineering abilities would bring him in private life, content with the small government salary and the enduring monument to his memory which he is erecting in the west. He carries the details of the vast work under his charge at the tip of his fingers. A newspaper correspondent recently had occasion to ask him about the progress of the work on a minor project in Montana. Without a moment's hesitation, without referring to a single report, or calling for clerks or papers, Mr. Newell stated the number of cubic yards of excavation, the number of men employed, the details of the engineering problems encountered, with as much circumstance as if he had been the subject engineer instead of the chief engineer of the service. It is this mastery of infinite detail that surprised the members of the congressional committee at a recent hearing on the appropriation for reclamation work.

A Home, Plucky Fight.
Mr. Newell was born in Bradford, Pa., March 2, 1862. He was graduated in the engineering course at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1885, and later took a post-graduate course, immediately after completing his course he began professional work in Colorado. Here he came into direct contact with practical irrigation work upon a large scale. His stay in Colorado left a deep and lasting impression which was responsible for his accepting a minor position as hydraulic engineer in the federal irrigation survey in 1888. The formative stage of his new work gave him an excellent field for the exercise and development of his capacity for organization and administration. Through-out all the vicissitudes which the new bureau passed he never wavered in his purpose of doing everything thoroughly, a trait which has had much to do with his success.

The irrigation survey had but a short lease of life at this time, as congress failed to recognize its importance and neglected to make any appropriation for the work after 1890. Authority, however, was granted to continue the measurement of streams and the selection and survey of reservoir sites. This work was placed directly under the charge of Mr. Newell.

Firmly believing that reclamation by the federal government must ultimately be undertaken, Mr. Newell for eighteen years devoted all his skill and energies to the work of acquiring information concerning the resources and needs of the arid west, and has first-hand information relative to every important stream in the irrigation districts. The important and valuable results of his work have been made known to congress and the appropriation was increased to $200,000 in 1892. The reclamation act was the logical result of these years of patient effort, and when it went into effect the way was cleared for it by long years of the necessary preliminary work, without which construction would have been delayed for several years.

An Anomaly in Government.
At the head of the service he has displayed the same judgment in the selection of his subordinates, and as a result of this ability to pick men he has created a corps which numbers among its members some of the ablest engineers in the country, every one of them imbued with that spirit of corps which is somewhat of an anomaly in government departments and is to no small extent the secret of splendid work accomplished.

In connection with the work of transforming the arid lands of the west into fertile fields, the reclamation service has far-reaching plans for the reformation of the no less arid lives of the agricultural population of that section. The great economic enterprise is designed to culminate in an important social movement in the establishment of rural settlements and villages, made possible by the small areas of the irrigated farms. Thus, the isolation of the old farm life will be eliminated and a new type of farmer introduced into the life of the west.

The crime is one that strikes at the home—at every family. Since the disappearance of Charley Ross forever, no crime of similar nature has so stirred the country. It has made of this helpless lad one of the most important citizens of the country. The crime is one that strikes at the home—at every family. Since the disappearance of Charley Ross forever, no crime of similar nature has so stirred the country. It has made of this helpless lad one of the most important citizens of the country.

Government by the People.
These towns will enjoy not only an unlimited supply of good water for drinking and domestic purposes, but in many instances the irrigation works will furnish power for lighting and industrial plants and for the operation of electric railroads. It is noteworthy that the sources of these public utilities will in every such case be in the hands of the people to whom the government is pledged to turn over its irrigation systems, with the exception of reservoirs, ten years after their completion.

But the most important phase of the rural settlement movement is the purely social feature, which is calculated to have the most extensive effect, not only upon agricultural sections, but also upon congested cities. The disproportionate growth of our manufacturing, approaching superfluity, is already exciting the concern of thoughtful economists. The logical and only efficient remedy for this threatened hypertrophy lies in the directed development of our agricultural resources and proportional increase of our agricultural population. To this end the rural settlement movement cannot fail to contribute directly and by example.

The rural settlement must work toward the retention of the young people on the soil, to which they properly belong, and check the undesirable movement to the cities. The farmer may have his home in the town, driving to and from his work every day. But, if he prefers to live upon his land, the urban center will be close at hand to himself and his family. Its school may be readily reached by his children, and his wife may take part in its social life.

KEITH'S MAGAZINE FOR APRIL.
The annual Easter double number of Keith's Magazine has done a dress of spring time green appropriate to the season, in which color the new cover design is especially pleasing.

This Easter number makes a feature of cement block houses and exterior finish in cement plaster. Twelve attractive designs with floor plans are shown in this modern form of construction, each being accompanied by complete descriptions. Critical consideration, from the architect's standpoint, is given the cement plaster house by Arthur C. Clausen, illustrated by photographs of three beautiful homes with details.

"Building the New Home" is a woman's description of the planning and building of her charming home, adopting the rough-cast cement finish for the exterior, and introducing the many practical details that can originate only with years of house-keeping experience.

A novelty is presented by a Swiss writer, who describes his national style of architecture—the chalet. "Electricity in the Home," by the editor of Keith's, touches briefly upon the varied domestic applications of the useful current, and some graphic illustrations are presented. The departments of decoration and furnishing and the answers to questions on these subjects are especially full of valuable material this month, and most opportune for the spring home-builder.

The garden department contains a very complete article on the making and use of hotbeds in starting the young plants in both the floral and vegetable line. Altogether, this Easter number is one of the best ever presented by Keith's. Published by Max L. Keith, Minneapolis, Minn. At all newsdealers.

IS THE MARVIN BOY ANOTHER CHARLIE ROSS?

Dover, Del., March 25.—Is little Marvin Ross to be another Charley Ross? As the days pass with no discovery, or a trace or a clue to the little 4-year-old son of Dr. Marvin, who disappeared in broad daylight on March 4, the searchers begin to feel that the mystery is too deep for them.

Was he kidnapped? Is he being held for ransom? Was he carried off by land or sea?

Or did he wander away into the swamp? Is he alive or is his body lying at the mercy of the devouring elements? Is the brave little voice stifled forever?

The mystery of his fate touches a throbbing cord in every parent in the country. Mothers grasp their own little ones the tighter as they pray that this bright faced boy may be returned to gladden the heart of the father. A nation re-echoes the prayer.

Strenuous efforts have been and still are being made to solve the baffling mystery. The state of Delaware has given $2,000 to prosecute the search. With the money a force of Pinkertons—the best in the country—has been put to work. Seemingly they have done little else but search the farms, the adjacent country and the bay shore. The most they can be said to have accomplished is to bolster the hope the boy is still alive. If he were dead, surely some trace of his body would have been discovered.

Some of the smartest newspaper men in the country have worked on the disappearance of the boy. They have sold many a crime after the police had failed. They can only say this case is beyond them.

Offers of large rewards have come from various public and private sources. So far they have only led to running down a series of false rumors.

Now the legislature of Delaware has taken a move that will make the boy's fate a national matter. President Roosevelt is requested to instruct every postmaster in the country to hang in conspicuous places posters describing the lost boy. In this way it is hoped to enlist the services of a huge army of amateur detectives.

The government will also be asked for the use of a revenue cutter to follow any clue that may lead to the boy or sea.

C. Q. TRACK BOSS SERIOUSLY INJURED
JOE LEBERIVE CAUGHT BY DIPPER STEAM SHOVEL AT COKE BINS.

Joe Leberive, track boss at the Copper Queen smelter, was dangerously injured Saturday morning, while superintending some work at the coke bins, by being caught by the dipper of a huge steam shovel, says the Douglas International-American.

He was removed to the Calumet hospital, where Dr. Tuttle of the C. Q. medical staff is attending him. It is not known just how serious his injuries are, but the information given by his brother, who is badly injured, his brother, who is employed in the same work, and is giving his attention to the injured man.

MANSFIELD'S LEADING LADY SAYS HE POUNDED HER BACK

MISS EMMA DUNN, LEADING LADY WHO QUIT MANSFIELD BECAUSE SHE CLAIMS HE INJURED HER.

New York, March 25.—Actor Richard Mansfield is winding up another troubled season. His leading lady, Emma Dunn, has just quit him, leaving in the middle of a performance, and she says that she has instructed her lawyers to begin suit for $50,000 for personal injuries.

In the play, "Peer Gynt," Miss Dunn appears as the little mother of big Peer Gynt, the part assumed by Mansfield. She scolded him tremendously in the first act and, exasperated, picks her up like a kitten and lands her on the low roof of a house.

Miss Dunn, who in private life is Mrs. Harry Berensford, says that this act gave Mansfield the opportunity to abuse her. She alleges that when he picked her up on several occasions he pounded her on the back, bruising her and also injuring her nerves.

Miss Dunn claims that Mansfield does not relish fine acting by another member of the company than himself, and that that is why he beat her.

KING SAVES AMBASSADOR WHITE FROM VENGEFUL WOMEN OF COURT

Rome, March 25.—The warfare that has existed between the gay set in Roman court society and the American ambassador, Henry White, which resulted in the transfer of Ambassador White to Paris, has ended in a desperate attempt by the Countess Nicoletta Grazzoli and the Marchioness Mazzoleni to bring Mr. White's official term at Rome to an end in a blaze of ignominy.

They would have succeeded but for the prompt action on the part of King Victor Emmanuel.

Both the countess and the marchioness are related to officials of King Victor's court, and they move in the highest society at Rome. When Mr. White came to Rome, however, he heard certain stories and cut them off the embassy invitation lists. Of course they were furious and vowed vengeance.

Their opportunity came when Mr. White gave his farewell ball. This was to be a great event, and everybody that was anybody was invited. On the afternoon of the ball the countess and marchioness got busy with the telephone. They told friends that they had been informed at the king's court that Ambassador White had been compelled because of illness in his family to postpone the ball. They asked the friends to spread the news, because Mr. White didn't have time to notify all.

A gentleman at court saved the day. By accident he heard of the false report and hurried to the king. Realizing that Mr. White could not send messages notifying all his guests to be sure to attend, his majesty decided to do this himself for the ambassador. Accordingly he ordered the court-martial to direct all members of the court to attend the ball. He also notified the embassies.

The revenge of the two women was thus foiled and the ball was a huge success.

A WAY TO AVOID ANOTHER CAR SHORTAGE

Roads and Shippers Can Co-Operate to Distribute Traffic More Evenly.

New is the time to make plans for preventing a repetition of a congestion of traffic next fall and winter, says the Railway Age. Plans should be considered by both the railways and the shippers and consignees. The railways already are trying to increase the efficiency of their equipment by reductions of the free storage time, by modifications of the re-shipment privileges, by the establishment of a car clearing house and by the adoption of such other measures as are considered adapted to promote the desired end.

But the railways can accomplish comparatively little without the active aid of shippers. The main cause of so-called "car shortages" in the past has been that shippers have tried to send the great bulk of all products to market within a few months. Unless, through the co-operation of railways and shippers, the movement of freight can be more evenly distributed throughout the year, complaints of "shortages of cars" will be chronic every fall and winter as long as the rapid growth of traffic continues. The railways cannot provide sufficient facilities to move all products at once.

NO PASSES MAKES MILLIONS FOR THE RAILROADS

Washington, D. C., March 25.—How much have the railroad saved in revenue by abolishing deadheads? Nobody knows exactly, not even the railroads.

All the same, it is certain that the passenger revenue has been wonderfully stimulated by doing away with passes. On the southwestern lines, for instance, it was admitted by Mr. Stubbs that 20,000 passengers formerly rode free every year as "dead heads."

An official of the Pennsylvania road admits that 50,000 passes were formerly issued at Philadelphia every year, covering merely the eastern division of that system. The deadheads on other lines have included thousands of politicians, most of whom travel as much as formerly, but are now paying fare.

The last official figures secured by the interstate commerce commission show the passenger revenues of all the roads in the United States as $472,694,732.

One of the most important scalpers of the country once told the interstate commerce commission that the deadhead and half fare business of the railroads, if done on a paying basis, would add 25 per cent to the passenger revenues. This is probably an excessive estimate. On the other hand, Charles Francis Adams, when president of the Union Pacific road, said that he could add 10 per cent to the passenger revenues if he could do away with passes.

Taking the latter estimate as a basis for calculation, the abolishing of deadheads should add $4,726,947 to the passenger revenues of American roads. If the scalper's estimate was nearer the truth, the revenues may easily have been increased by $5,000,000 to $10,000,000.

ROADMASTER MEAD HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Tuesday evening at 5:30 Mr. E. E. Mead, roadmaster of the Southern Pacific railway, with headquarters at this point, was struck by a freight train in the yards just as he leaped from another freight, upon which he had been riding, says the Deming Graphic. He failed to see the train approaching and was struck by the engine, which knocked him to the ground. Besides injury to his shoulder, Mr. Mead's leg and the side of his face were badly lacerated from coming in contact with the sharp gravel on the ground where he fell. Mr. Mead was quickly carried to his home, which is near the scene of the accident, and medical aid summoned. His escape from being thrown under the wheels and ground to pieces was indeed a narrow one. As it is, his injuries, while very painful, will probably confine him to his home but a short time.

RAILROAD MEN FIGHT AT ASH FORK

Ash Fork, Ark., March 25.—Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock D. Troughton, formerly a fireman for the Santa Fe, assaulted Charles Burke, local foreman of engines and car inspector, at this place, and inflicted serious but not fatal injuries.

Burke and Troughton had a few hot words on Thursday after Troughton had been discharged for having gone back to sleep after being called to go out on his engine. Burke is one of the most respected citizens and is well liked by every one. Troughton is not so well known, and at the time of the assault was intoxicated, and evidently looking for trouble.

At a preliminary hearing Burke claimed Troughton struck him with a piece of brass and then kicked him in the face after he was down. Burke also fell so he struck his head on a steel rail and lay senseless for some minutes before he was found. It was thought at the time that he was dead.

CANADIAN LINES ORDERED TO REDUCE PASSENGER RATES

Montreal, Quebec, March 25.—Canadian roads have been made the victims of official rate reductions. In this country the railway commission, equivalent to the interstate commerce commission, has arbitrary power in the matter of fixing rates, so that action by provincial legislatures is not necessary. This commission has issued an order requiring the Canadian Pacific and the Grand Trunk roads to reduce passenger rates to three cents a mile. The reduction will go into effect in sixty days, and will affect all lines east of and including Edmonton.

The Canadian Northern has been advised by the commission that it also will be obliged to comply with the order, unless it can furnish the commission with good reasons why it should be exempt. It is expected that other roads will be dealt with in a similar manner.

SANTA FE AND KATY MEN GOING TO THE PRISCO

Coppage, who has been division superintendent on the Santa Fe, with headquarters at Temple, Texas, for the past five years, will be here on April 1 to assume the superintendency of the new division recently created by the Prisco, J. W. Walton, of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, with headquarters at Parsons, Kan., will move his points of division to the other divisions. The third man has not yet been chosen.

MANAGERS APPOINTED FOR THE SOUTHERN RAILWAY

Vice President and General Manager Ackert, of the Southern railway, announces that, effective at once, J. N. Seale is appointed manager of the northern and eastern districts, with headquarters at Washington, D. C. M. M. Richey is appointed manager of the middle and western districts, with headquarters at Atlanta, Ga. The office of manager of transportation is abolished.

General Storekeeper I. J. Custer, of the Santa Fe coast lines, has returned from Bakersfield and Barstow, where he has been looking after the installing of new division storekeepers at both points, says the San Bernardino Sun. At Bakersfield, Jos. Weston is now in charge of the storehouse, having formerly been storekeeper at Barstow. James Clark, formerly foreman of the storeroom at Needles, has been appointed as storekeeper at Barstow, and is already in charge there.

President Winchell, of the Rock Island, says, concerning the two-cent rate law: "We will fight the Nebraska two-cent law in the courts. If we lose it will necessitate the canceling of several trains."

MEXICAN AMBASSADRESS HAS UNTOLD MILLIONS BUT IS SIMPLE

SENORA ANGELA CREEL, WIFE OF THE NEW MEXICAN AMBASSADOR TO WASHINGTON.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—One of the richest women in the world is Senora Angela Creel, wife of the new Mexican ambassador to Washington. Yet her receptions are marked by elegance and good taste, rather than a desire to parade. She is one of the least pretentious of the grande dames in the foreign corps.

Ordinarily she is dressed in simple texture, and her manner is very retiring. But on occasion she can put on the most costly garments and jewels ever seen at the capital.

Senorita Creel is the daughter of General Miguel Francisco de Terraf, governor of Chihuahua. He is a self-made man, having worked up from a laborer earning twenty cents a day. He now owns almost the whole of Chihuahua. "What he doesn't own," his son-in-law, Senor Creel, says, "the Mexicans say."

Senor Creel maintains at San Antonio, in the southern part of Chihuahua, one of the most magnificent establishments on this continent. The luxury of the Vanderbilt, Rockefeller or Gould estates is meager compared with it. On the Creel estate are two good sized towns, almost three counties and vast mining and industrial plants. The retainers would make a good-sized army.

Senor Creel, who shares this vast wealth, is a linguist, musician and artist. She is aiding in the literary and artistic developments of her country.

Rheumatic Pains Relieved. Chamberlain's Pain Balm relieves rheumatic pains and makes sleep and rest possible, which is alone worth many times its cost. B. F. Crocker, Esq., now 84 years of age, and for twenty years justice of the peace at Martinsburg, Iowa, says: "I am terribly afflicted with sciatic rheumatism in my left arm and right hip. I have used three bottles of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it did me lots of good." For sale by all druggists.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Home Insurance the Best

WE CANNOT refrain from again saying something about Home Insurance. Every time that the proposition presents itself of the tremendous amount of money that is being sent out of New Mexico and Arizona for life insurance to eastern cities, the conviction comes home with increased force that a home company ought to be patronized and the money remain in the West.

The revelations of the past year of the way the enormous surplus of the big Eastern companies has been handled and speculated with ought to emphasize the fact that the people of the West should stop pouring their money into Eastern channels when it can be placed in home insurance, and every dollar of it kept and invested at home.

It is gratifying to note that home insurance is year by year receiving more and more its just deserts. Statistics show that during the past year home companies far exceeded foreign companies in the amount of business written. Why cannot this same record be made here? It can if every individual who takes out a policy the coming year will carefully weigh the proposition of the value it is to keep his insurance at home before he puts his name to the application of any insurance company.

The Occidental Life Insurance Company of New Mexico and Arizona is owned and controlled by the leading business men of the two territories, and offers exceptional opportunities to ambitious and capable men and women to sell its policies.
