HONDURAS IS AT THE MERCY OF NICARAGUA

Capital Has Been Surrendered. Russian Troops Invade Persia to

HELP THAT COUNTRY PUT DOWN PEASANT REVOLT

Revolt in Roumania Increases in Intensity—Bomb Throwers at Work.

Managua, Nicaragua, March 26.—It is stated upon the highest authority here that President Bonilla, of Honduras, after his retreat to Amapala, following the defeat of the Honduran-Salvadoran forces at Choluteca by the Nicaraguan army, ordered from Amapala the surrender of Tegucigalpa, the capital of Honduras, to the victorious troops. The city is now in the possession of the Nicaraguan government junta.

RUSSIAN TROOPS INTER-

Teheran, Persia, March 26.—Serious disorders have broken out at Sebzawar, necessitating the intervention of Russian troops. Lawless natives of the vicinity have risen and are now attempting to force an entrance into the city. Two civilians were killed and several wounded. The lives of Russians are in great danger. A reinforcement of Russian troops is reported to have started from Sebzawar. Sebzawar is the center of the wool trade province of Khomassan and is in the vicinity of a number of copper mines. It has a population of about 18,000.

MATTERS IN ROUMANIA

A minor state of siege has been proclaimed here and the military authorities have taken measures to prevent the revolted peasants from invading the city. ## REMOVING TRACKS FROM

New York, March 26.—The long contention over the tracks of the New York Central railroad in Eleventh avenue has reached the point where condemnation proceedings are commenced today for the removal of the tracks from the avenue. The city engineer and White Plains road. It will be urged that the commission should put through at least one of these routes as soon, if not sooner than the Manhattan routes are acted upon.

THE MORNING JOURNAL SHOWS ITS HAND

H. B. HENING TO BE APPOINTED SECRETARY OF BUREAU OF IMMIGRATION IN PAY FOR MISREPRESENTING FACTS AT LEGISLATURE.

Special to The Evening Citizen. Santa Fe, March 26.—It is reported here on reliable information that H. B. Henning who so ably misrepresented for the Journal during the recent legislative session, is to be paid for his services by selection as secretary of the Bureau of Immigration, of which the publisher of the Journal, J. M. Macpherson, is the leading light. This is a cogent reason for the actions of Mr. Henning in so misrepresenting the situation that he was barred from the floor of the house. It is well known here that Mr. Henning is to receive something for his services and this position, which will pay a matter of something like $1,600 a year, is considered a reasonable one. Just what the Journal as a paper will receive for its sixty-day bombardment of the legislature is not known. The selection of Mr. Henning as secretary of the bureau, is to be made in the face of the bold statement by the Journal, that it was actuated solely by the philanthropic idea of aiding the people. There is a hitch in the selection of Mr. Henning, however, which may result in his failure to accept the office. The governor or some one else has declared that a territorial official should not tend to the duties of his office and not be engaged in other business. If the governor insists upon this regulation Mr. Henning would be forced to leave the morning paper, which does not like to lose any member of its staff of misrepresentative slave drivers of similar ilk are hard to obtain. It is understood here, that Mr. Henning is "dread of all" and would very much like an opportunity to recuperate at the territory's expense.

MME. MELBA SINGS HER

NEW YORK ENGAGEMENT. New York, March 26.—Mme. Melba last night sang her last in La Boheme at Hammerstein's Manhattan opera house for this season. She sang Mimi in La Boheme to a large audience, who went wild with enthusiasm. Melba's contract for next season calls for her appearance in four new roles of her repertoire, which she has not been heard this year. The next star at the Manhattan opera house is Mme. # THE MAN WHO TRIED TO SAVE MCKINLEY NOW A MANIAC

Atlantic City, N. J., March 26.—The only man who made a direct effort to save the life of President McKinley on that September day at Buffalo, is in jail here, a maniac. His name, it will be remembered, is James Parker.

Parker was standing near the president when Czolgosz passed in line, ostensibly to shake the hand of the chief executive. Others were even nearer, but into Parker's mind there first flashed the suspicion of imminent danger. As the assassin whipped his right hand from beneath his coat, holding the pistol shrouded in a white handkerchief, Parker leaped forward, and with a quick blow struck the arm of Czolgosz, but vainly.

TOBACCO MEN JUBILANT

OVER LEGISLATION PASSED. Nashville, Tenn., March 26.—The tobacco growers of Tennessee, Kentucky and Virginia are jubilant and grateful to the Tennessee legislature for passing the two bills, so-called President Fort, who is chief executive officer of the association. He said that the passage of the two bills mentioned materially strengthens the organization in its fight against the tobacco trust. This organization has been conducting a determined fight for several years past against the oppressions of the trusts and in behalf of better prices for their tobacco, and the members feel that they are winning all along the line. The two bills passed were strongly favored by all but a very small percentage of the members, and the large majority feel that they will now be able more effectively than ever before to carry on their contest.

THE TEDDY BEAR ON WALL STREET

BROTHERHOODS MEET RAILWAY MANAGERS FOR LAST SAY

Demand For Higher Wages and Longer Hours Ultimatum to Strike.

NEW PRESIDENT GIVEN COLORADO F. & I. CO.

Chicago, March 26.—The general managers of the western railroads and the representatives of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors began today with what promises to be the final conference regarding the demands for increase of pay and a working day of nine hours.

For several weeks the men belonging to the two organizations have been voting on the question of striking if their demands are not granted, and although the vote had not been announced today prior to the commencement of the conference it is understood to be overwhelmingly in favor of the strike if such steps become necessary.

The general managers have informed the men that they are prepared to offer a 10 per cent increase but they cannot grant a nine hour day. Before the meeting today both sides expressed a determination not to give in to any one particular and seemed confident that the other side would give way. It is expected the conference will last several days and a definite outcome is not looked for until the end of the week.

STOCK MARKET IN BAD FIX TODAY

Irregular and Confused as Neither Bulls Nor Bears Seemed Certain.

STOCKS WENT WILDLY UP AND DOWN AT RANDOM

United States Treasury Added to Resources of New York Banks $150,000,000.

New York, March 26.—Wild excitement and extreme confusion prevailed in the stock market again today. The action of the market showed conflicting emotions of operators as between dread of disastrous influence upon the market in the fall of prices yesterday and nervous apprehension of the bears lest they had overdone in reckless selling.

The fight of the bears overbore the current of the market in the course of the first hour, when some further wide breaks to far below yesterday's lowest were confusedly mixed with violent advances. Different stocks in the same group moved widely in contrary directions. At first, when the upward tendency was clearly developed, the fluctuations were wide and feverish, the variations between sales running to large fractions or full figures both upward and downward. The uneasiness of the bears was heightened by continual cheerfulness of the advances today from abroad. Confidence was professed that the London stock market settlement would be concluded without serious casualties, although additional small failures are reported from there today.

This action is taken with a view to facilitating redemption of 4 per cent bonds of 1907, and also to render available additional funds for usual disbursements occurring on April 1.

The union is almost unanimous for accepting the proposition, but in order to give every man the opportunity to express himself the vote was ordered and is now being taken. # FITZGERALD HAS APPOINTED A COMMISSION

Composed of Three Men Who Will Decide Question of Thaw's Present Lunacy.

AFFIDAVITS CONFLICTED SO HE COULDN'T DECIDE

Wife Broke Down But Thaw Comforted Her That It Was All Right.

New York, March 26.—Justice Fitzgerald has decided to appoint a commission of lunacy in the Thaw case.

The commission is composed of Morgan J. O'Brien, former justice of the supreme court; Peter B. Olney, lawyer, and Dr. Leopold Putzell.

What They'll Decide.

The commission of the supreme court will decide the question as to whether Thaw is now sane. The trial before the jury for murder will be interrupted pending the report of this commission. If the commission reports him sane, the trial will be resumed.

Could Not Be Worse.

Otherwise, he will be sent to an asylum, probably that at Mattawan for the criminal insane. Fitzgerald's decision to appoint a commission followed a conference with the attorneys in the case today. The justice told the counsel that he had given the various affidavits a careful consideration but that they were so widely at variance, he could not properly pass upon them. Therefore, he thought it would be best to submit the entire matter to a commission. As Thaw's counsel left the room one of them said "It could not be worse."

Wife is Broken Down.

Evelyn Thaw was weeping as she left the room to go to the Tombs prison. Mrs. Thaw had nerved herself for the ordeal of announcement to her husband but he greeted her with condolence. "Never mind, dearie," he said. "It will be all right. I am sane now, just as sane as the judge is and any fair-minded commission will declare me so."

BOATS OF HIGHLANDS

WONT RUN, PERHAPS.

Trenton, N. J., March 26.—C. J. Magie is hearing argument today on an injunction granted to the Central Railroad of New Jersey running boats to Atlantic Highlands and longer, as it has done these many years. The interruption of the boat service is threatened by litigation over the company's landing place at Atlantic Highlands. The pier at which the boats land is connected with the mainland by two tracks on a westerly side. This track work, Attorney General Robert H. Carter, of New Jersey declares, has no legal right to exist, and he has brought suit before the state supreme court to restrain the New Jersey Central railroad and the Navesink Railroad company from using it. The complaint recites the fact that the pier is built on the riparian rights of the Highlands. The pier at which the boats land is connected with the mainland by two tracks on a westerly side. Raising of Cats Has Become Profitable in This Country
in Recent Years.

(By Frederick J. Hoskin.)

A few weeks ago I happened to drop in at the Madison Square Garden in New York, while a cat show was in progress. As I approached a group of ladies who were inspecting a good-looking good natured feline, I heard one of them remark: "All right, I will give $150 for him. The businesslike young lady made a notation in her note book, and I noticed that this was not the first sale she had made. It seemed to me that if cats were selling for as much as good horses now, it was a subject that would be looking good to the businesslike young lady told me lots of things about cats that I had not heard before. She said that while cat raising in America for profit was a comparatively new industry, there are now catteries in New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Maine, Illinois, District of Columbia, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and California. There is one establishment in Los Angeles which nets its owner $3,000 a year. Cat shows are held annually in New York, Boston, Rochester, Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit and Toronto, with from 200 to 300 entries of fine specimens at each exhibition.

The rarest kind of cats raised in the United States are the Manx, the Persian, the Siamese, and the Mexican, though plain, everyday tomcats and tabbies are the domesticated by the catlovers of California and New Guinea, were rats are plentiful and cats are few. The price of the best specimens ranges from $100 to $150, white kittens of off-color for house pets can be had for less. The owner of one fine American cat called King Humbert refused $1,000 for him, and a record offer of ten times as much has been made for a prize winner in England.

The aristocrats of the cat world are the Persians, which come from the cold table lands of Central Asia, and from the mountain regions of Turkey. In Turkey they are called Angoras. Long-haired cats are divided into classes according to their color, the most popular of these seeming to be the light silvers and blue-eyes. The original color of the cat is black and white, and white nose, chin, and breast. This seems quite probable, as it is difficult to breed cats without a brownish touch appearing in their color. One of the best cats ever shown at the New York show was a solid orange. The department of agriculture recognizes two types of cats, long-haired and short-haired, the former being the ones imported from Turkey and Persia, and their descendants, and the latter, or short-haired variety, being the domestic, Manx, Siamese, Russian etc.

The richest cat in the world is "Blackie," which lives in Wexham, Pa., in a two-story, twelve-room house all his own. The late Benjamin F. Dille left his house, and $40,000 to his two best friends, the cats Blackie and Pinkie, shortly afterward Pinkie died, and then Blackie came into the whole fortune. He has a woman attendant to wait on him all the time, has a furnished basket to sleep in, soft cushions and chairs scattered about to meet his lazy demands for more rest, and a diet of shrimps, fish, chicken, cream, anything else that the taste of a pampered cat might require. He is old now, quite sixteen, but despite this his day mail still is large. There are scores of people who write letters giving advice about new foods, new amusements, and new recreations for his catship. There are two fortunate cats in Los Angeles who live in a hotel with their mistress and have a special maid to wait upon them.

Cats have not been without distinction in the affairs of nations. More than once Puss has saved a vessel for its owner because, under the marine laws of England, no vessel will be abandoned at sea can be declared a derelict, and so forfeited to the admiralty, the finder, or the crown, so long as there is a living thing on board. As cats have in several instances been found to be the only living thing on board abandoned vessels, they have thus saved the property of the owner from condemnation. The ownership of the British frigate, the Melopoe, which was abandoned off the coast of Oregon in January, is to be tested by this law. If cats have saved ships for their owners, the captain of the Melopoe thinks the two puppies he left aboard the supposedly sinking vessel will establish his right to her, and so keep the Northern, who towed her in, from claiming bark and cargo valued at $65,000.

History shows that cats, like human beings, have had their ups and downs. Those of ancient Egypt seem to have had the best time. In the land of the Pharaohs Tabby was considered the symbol of the moon, and was worshipped several hundred years before the time of Christ.

A famous goddess of the Nile country was represented as a woman with a cat's head. Whenever a cat died in an Egyptian household the family went into mourning and Tabby or Thomas was properly embalmed and laid away in the vaults of the mummies to await the resurrection of all good cats. Egypt paid dearly for its devotion to felines however, for when Cambyses of Persia came that way on a tour of conquest he captured the city of Peluse by having each of his soldiers carry a cat in his arms. The Egyptians could not attack their assailants, because they believed that one who harmed a feline would lose his life in this world and his soul in the next.

When the Greeks and Romans went to Egypt they took cats back with them, and soon scattered them to all parts of the world. After that their place among the gods was gone forever and their worth recognized only by their mouse-catching talents. Though sacred to Diana of Arcadia in mythology, the cat seems to have been placed in a dark category by the Christians of the Middle Ages, who considered it a diabolical creature, in whose visible form the devil might appear at will. From being associated with the gods, the cat fell so low in human estimation that it was regarded as the right-hand assistant of witches. When King James of Scotland was coming home from a trip over seas to Denmark a terrific storm arose, and nothing could convince the sailors that it was not caused by a cat which the witches had christened and placed in the hold in the time of the Edwards made it a capital offense to kill a cat in the domain of John Bull, and this law was not expunged from the statute books until the time of Sir Robert Peel.

In France it was the custom to throw John's Hodges has gone down to fame; Chesterfield provided for his cat in his will; Sir Walter Scott described Hume as a "most conversable, pleasant, and agreeable" man, most tenderly in his memory; Victor Hugo considered his Chantony as a member of the family; Richelieu loved to watch his cats at play, and Cowper, Shelley, Wordsworth, Swinburne, and Matthew Arnold, all wrote affectionately of cats. All the world knows how Mahomet, when called by the muezzin in the mosque tower, fearing to awaken a cat that was sleeping on his arm, cut off his sleeve so that his pet might remain undisturbed and went away to prayer in his mutilated garment.

Great men have been fond of cats. Dr. Johnson's Hodges has gone down to fame; Chesterfield provided for his cat in his will; Sir Walter Scott described Hume as a "most conversable, pleasant, and agreeable" man, most tenderly in his memory; Victor Hugo considered his Chantony as a member of the family; Richelieu loved to watch his cats at play, and Cowper, Shelley, Wordsworth, Swinburne, and Matthew Arnold, all wrote affectionately of cats. All the world knows how Mahomet, when called by the muezzin in the mosque tower, fearing to awaken a cat that was sleeping on his arm, cut off his sleeve so that his pet might remain undisturbed and went away to prayer in his mutilated garment.

Mark Twain's cats, Sin and Satan, are known to his intimate friends, and to most of his readers. The stoic cat at the white house, Slippers by name, had enough paragraphs printed about her to turn almost any feminist into a cat. Peter, the widely-traveled Maltese cat, owned by the Japanese ambassador in Washington, is the envy of all catdom as he rides about in a carriage, with his master, or takes long trips by rail or sea. The Savannah Steamship company has a big yellow cat known as Blondie, who chooses any one of the vessels that may suit his fancy, going sometimes to New York and again to Boston. As good luck is supposed to attend his coming, he is the mascot of the White Star liner, and is carried aboard that ship in New York some years ago, and has crossed the ocean so many times that she is now considered the most widely-traveled cat in the world.

REMARKABLE REGENERATION OF A CRIMINAL DEGENERATE

Special Correspondence.

Detroit, Mich., March 26.—A remarkable case at the Ionia asylum for criminal insane of the change of a young man from degeneracy and imbecility to normal, sturdy manhood, is attracting the attention of criminologists and alienists.

In 1899 Harry Hamburger, a youth of 19, clubbed to death Chas. Reinde, a bicycle dealer, robbed the till of $20, set the body on fire and left it to burn.

He had been employed by Reinde, and suspicion fell on him. He finally confessed, and it turned out that he committed the murder in order to get the money to keep up a deception to his mother that he had another job.

After the murder, he went home, gave his mother part of the $20 as his alleged week's wages, and went to bed.

While awaiting trial, Hamburger collapsed completely. He apparently labored under hopeless imbecility. During the trial he sat in his chair doubled up, his head touching his knees, his hands hanging limp before him. He gave no sign of hearing anything that was going on.

Five alienists examined him carefully, presupposing that he was shamming. They could not arouse him with needles or fire—he was dumb, inert.

Despite their report, the court proceeded with the case and the jury brought in a verdict of first degree murder.

Taken to Jackson penitentiary, he remained in the same condition. Nothing could be done with him, and finally he was removed to the asylum for criminal insane at Ionia.

Hamburger's mother never lost faith in her boy, and she interested Superintendent Long and his associates. They began a careful, scientific treatment of the young man's case.

One, two years passed by and there was not a sign from him. Then his mother noticed a glimmering of intelligence.

Gradually he brightened. His voice began to come back, in a thin whisper at first, but growing stronger.

The doctors got him interested in outdoor athletics and soon he became stronger. Now he is a sturdy young man, who can run his hundred yards in 12 seconds, and play a creditable game of base ball.

Books next they taught him, and, like a child, he learned to become interested in little things at first, rising in degree of intelligence until now good literature attracts him. He plays checkers, chess and whist and loves to discuss sports and athletics. He has learned shorthand and has other accomplishments.

He is, in fact, to all appearances, a normal young man.

There is only one subject he will not talk about—that is his crime.

Under the laws of the state, his record is in little things at first, rising in degree of intelligence until now good literature attracts him. He plays checkers, chess and whist and loves to discuss sports and athletics. He has learned shorthand and has other accomplishments.

MORE ZINC THAN 25
JOPLIN MINES

And Is Only Excelled by Famous New Jersey Zinc Company Mine.

Advices received from El Paso, Tex., are to the effect that strikes on the sixth level in the Paschal shaft of the Kelly mine show twelve feet of ore averaging $75 a ton. All upper levels are driving on fifty-foot ore, nine to twenty-five feet in thickness.

Prof. Woodley M. Johnson, who has been lecturing at Harvard university, states in a report recently made by him that more zinc was produced from the Kelly mine, located in the Tri-Bullion smelting and development company, whose offices are at No. 43 Exchange place, New York, during the year 1936 than was produced by any twenty-five mines in the famous Joplin district, and more than any single mine in the United States, except that of the New Jersey Zinc company, located at Franklin, Missouri.

Prof. Johnson made this statement in his report, after a thorough and extensive metallurgical examination of the Magdalena mountains, in which region the Kelly mine is located. His examination extended over a period of six months. With the completion of the new plant, it is predicted by those in a position to give an opinion on the subject, that the Kelly mine will take first rank in the country—New York World of March 3.

PALMER AND SULLIVAN
FULLY LICENSED FIGHTERS.

Los Angeles, Calif., March 25.—Jack Palmer, the English heavyweight, who came to this country a year ago seeking a chance with any of our heavyweights, will have a chance tonight to demonstrate his progress, as he will meet Jack (Twin) Sullivan, the Cambridge light-heavyweight, for twenty rounds, before the Pacific Athletic club of this city.

Sullivan will surely bring out all the good there is in the English boxer, and if Palmer has been getting the bouts he wants with such men as Tommy Burns, Mike Schreck, Marvin Hart, and others. Both Palmer and Sullivan have been training hard for the contest. The match is in great favor on the coast.

A SPLENDID PRESCRIPTION
TO CLEAN THE BLOOD

All medical authorities are agreed that the blood is the great source of disease or of human suffering. If the blood is pure, the individual is strong and healthy, if the blood is impure or diseased then there is weakness or decay in the whole system.

Rheumatism is strictly a blood disease. It is caused by excessive uric acid. Sores, pimples, etc., mean bad blood. Catarrhal affections must be treated through the blood to get permanent results. To get well, to feel strong, hearty and vigorous one must have pure blood in his system.

You can't clean the blood thoroughly unless the kidneys are made active. Bad blood means clogged, inactive kidneys and liver. Such causes, too, such symptoms as backache, nervousness, bladder and urinary difficulties and other sympathetic troubles.

Here is a simple home remedy and the prescription for making it up is as follows:

Fluid Extract Dandelion one-half ounce, Compound Kargon one ounce, Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime. The ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy at small cost.

Here the readers of this paper have a simple yet powerful and effective remedy for all forms of blood, kidney and bladder diseases which should relieve rheumatism and catarrhal affections and replace that weak, worn-out, indolent feeling with strength, vigor and health.

This prescription is considered a fine system renovator and being made of vegetable extracts only is harmless and anyone can mix it at home. Try this anyway before investing in the secret unknown concoctions of the patent medicine manufacturers.

SCATHING CRITICISM ON MAYOR

McClellan's Address at Princeton Stirs Up Much Political Gossip.

NEW YORK'S CONTRAST OF POVERTY AND RICHES

All Night Police Courts Prevent Willful Arrests and Professional Bondsmen.

Special Correspondence.

New York, March 26.—Mayor McClellan stirred up a lot of interesting political gossip by the "masterful inactivity" lecture which he delivered at Princeton university a few days ago. No one in New York political life questions the authority of the mayor on such a subject as he has been a strict follower of the doctrine of "masterful inactivity" ever since he put his own college days behind him and secured the first of the various public offices which have provided him with living expenses ever since.

In his lecture the mayor took many a rap at persons whom he characterized as "opportunists" in politics. Yet McClellan himself was willing for many years, not only to profit by political opportunities and accidents, but to permit Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, to hunt out the opportunities for him. Finally, after Murphy, by long years of hard work and political manipulation, had landed McClellan as mayor of New York for the second time on the Tammany ticket, McClellan no longer held any use for "the base steps by which he did ascend" and transferred his allegiance to another political manager.

Persons now are wondering if the "masterful inactivity" that McClellan spoke about at Princeton referred to the manner in which McClellan, during his first term, permitted Murphy and his friends to enjoy dock leases and other public properties at ridiculously low rentals to the city. They also wonder if McClellan was not a political opportunist himself when, after he broke with Murphy and started to set up a political machine of his own, he suddenly discovered that these dock leases were at exceedingly low rentals and proceeded to cancel as many of them as possible.

Incidentally it may be remarked that the politician to whose guidance McClellan turned after his break with Murphy is one of the cheapest political grafters that ever hit New York City. Hence the woeful lack of respect that McClellan is able to command from the public at the present time.

It is almost needless to add that McClellan's action in fighting, at every possible point all efforts to have any recount in the vote of the majority election of 1905, has not added to his popularity. Press and public alike in the metropolis believe that McClellan himself should invite a recount which would show conclusively for all time whether McClellan or Hearst was elected mayor of the city.

McClellan lost the great opportunity of his life right after the election of 1905 by not coming out boldly and declaring himself in favor of a recount. Had he taken such a stand he would have sacrificed none of his legal rights and he would have appeared before the public as a man unwilling to take an office to which the slightest taint of fraud might be attached.

A recount either would have sustained McClellan and deprived Hearst of political ammunition, or else it would have shown Hearst elected and would have made McClellan something very near to a political idol. In the latter event McClellan and not Hearst would have been his party's candidate in the governorship election of 1906 and probably would have been elected, as Hearst was the only man on the democratic state ticket who was defeated.

Down and Out Club.
Did you ever hear of the "Down and Out Club"? Its headquarters have been discovered right here in New York and it is not a fanciful organization either.

Naturally enough the headquarters of this organization are located right in the heart of the financial district. This is essentially a city of contrasts. One afternoon, especially if the weather is cold and raw, a pedestrian in Cedar street, near Broadway, will notice a representative gathering of this organization in a little alley that runs between the annex of the Equitable Life Insurance building and the magnificent building which is the home of the New York Clearing House and the Chase National Bank. This is a sheltered alley and running along it are open gratings from which come heat from the boiler-rooms of the Equitable building. The members of the club who gather here daily are not tramps or hoboes, but are men who work for their living. They are the "sandwich men" who march up and down Broadway during the dreary hours of the day carrying on their shoulders signs advertising everything from the latest in sawdust breakfast foods to clothing. These fellows, most of whom are old men and all of whom have seen better days, earn a meager dollar a day each for their work and sleep in the derelict lodging houses of the Bowery. From time to time during the day these men will leave the beaten path, go into the alley, lay aside their signs for a few moments and stand or sit on the gratings to get warm. They have a restaurant at this club, too. It is not a pretentious restaurant, but it serves. It is presided over by an unkempt person who wears an apron that is said once to have been white. He serves frankfurters and sauerkraut from a portable stand he carries with him. Some times to this is added the luxury of cheap candy which another vender dispenses.

It is a sad aggregation of humanity that is to be found at this meeting place daily and the "members of the club" are in striking contrast to the evidences of great wealth surrounding them.

American Jockeys in Europe.
The time has arrived for another American invasion of Europe. Several of the leading American jockeys are either on their way or about to start for the other side to ride on the English, French, German and Austrian race tracks during the present year. There is more than the usual demand for American jockeys on the other side at this time.

Danny Maher, who already has enjoyed six years of success in England, is to ride there again this year for Lord Derby and Lord Stanley. Lucian Lyne will make his second appearance in England this year, riding for Lord Carnarvon. Fred Tatal already has gone abroad to put in another season in Austria, where he will continue in the colors of Baron Gustav von Spreti. Nicolas Sasmere, Haral has been a jockey now continuously for more than twenty-five years and has a son who also is a jockey. The latter accompanied his father abroad and will do much of the lightweight riding this year for the same stables that have engaged the father.

Other American jockeys who have been engaged to ride in Austria this year are Skeets Martin, for Baron Rothschild; Harry Hickethuth, for Herr Mautner; Adams, for Baron Born, and Miles, for the Egedy Brothers. Tommy Burns will ride in Germany this year for the Kaiser, who races in the name of the Gradietz stables. Willie Shaw also will ride in Germany, as will Harry Lewis.

The French turf will have a large representation, including Ranch, Cormack, Nash Turner, Milton Henry, Harry Spencer, and Shields.

All Night Police Courts.
Now that the city has all night banks, all night restaurants and various other features of life doing all night, it has to have all night police courts.

Action in favor of this move has been taken by the board of city magistrates, which has asked the legislature to amend the charter to permit the appointment of two additional magistrates so that some of the courts can be open during the entire twenty-four hours of each day.

The great object to be attained by all night police courts is the wiping out of the professional bondsmen. For years these professional bondsmen have worked in league with the police and have, for charges ranging from $5 up to any amount they could impose upon their victims, furnished police station bail of a more or less doubtful quality for men and women who have been arrested late at night on various minor charges.

Time and time again it has been shown that the police have arrested inoffensive people for the mere purpose of letting the professional bondsmen reap a harvest. Other instances have been quoted of outrageously false arrests. By holding night court it will be possible to arraign persons without delay so that, in case of false arrest, a person will not be confined in a cell unnecessarily. Professional bondsmen then will have to go out of business.

Big Bill Returns to Politics.
The re-entry of William S. Devery into local politics brings back a picturesque figure who is bound to make things interesting during the summer and early fall.

Devery, commonly known as "Big Bill," intends to do his best to land his lieutenant, Peter J. Garvey, as the Tammany leader of the seventh assembly district. The former chief of police was buckled on all of his fighting in the heart of the financial district and left to punish the leading spirits in Tammany Hall for keeping

IF LITTLE HORACE MARVIN WASN'T KIDNAPED, WHAT THEN

WHICH OF THESE IS THE FATE OF LITTLE HORACE MARVIN?

Dover, Del., March 26.—An underground of sinister foreboding concerning the fate of Horace Marvin, Jr., the 4-year-old boy missing since March 4, is beginning to appear. Kidnapping clues have vanished into disappearance. The last one went when a search of the Gipsy camp was fruitless.

If the boy was not kidnapped, what then? The dread possibilities blanch the faces of the anxious inquirers. There is something almost uncanny in the overwhelming mystery. It makes one remember the days when dragons and such were an easy solution of like problems.

Can you imagine the golden-haired little lad fleeing away in the delight of unexpected freedom in his country home? His path leads to some obscure pool. The baby steps start over the treacherous ice. Then comes the fatal rending of the frozen sheet, the pitiful wail for help that no one hears. The air bubbles come up from the slimy bottom, marking the spot where the little one's soul has fled. People here are wondering if spring will reveal the poor little body in some hidden pool.

What terrible secret may some overlooked haystack hide? In his quest to see the world did the boy wander until the tired legs refused to carry him farther? Then what?

Pathetic appeals to "papa" who did not come. The grim shadows conjuring up terrors to the baby mind. A convenient haystack, offering refuge from the darkness and the cold. A worn out, fair-haired boy sinking the pitiful wail for help that no one hears. The air bubbles come up from the slimy bottom, marking the spot where the little one's soul has fled. People here are wondering if spring will reveal the poor little body in some hidden pool.

What terrible secret may some overlooked haystack hide? In his quest to see the world did the boy wander until the tired legs refused to carry him farther? Then what?

him out of the executive committee to which he was elected five years ago. In making Garvey his standard-bearer this time, Devery seeks to get around the action of the executive committee against permitting him personally to occupy a seat in that body.

When the chowder season arrives and midsummer politics reaches its height, Devery and his friends can be counted on to promote more interesting political news than can be found in all the other assembly districts in greater New York, where leadership fight will be made this year.

Peculiar Action of Recorder.

For several weeks the legal fraternity in New York has been treated to the spectacle of an elected judge who has failed to take his place on the bench for fear of losing his job. He is Francis S. McAvoy, who some weeks ago was elected recorder by the board of aldermen, to fill a vacancy.

Since his election he has made no attempt to qualify, because he and his Tammany political managers fear that such an act on his part would further the passage of a bill in the legislature to abolish the office of recorder in this county. The bill was introduced right after the scandal in the board of aldermen over the recordership election. Several aldermen are under indictment now as the result of the scandal.

While his friends represent that McAvoy is "sick" it is a matter of common knowledge that he does not intend to take his seat until some time in May when the legislature has adjourned for the session.

Calve Coming Back.

Oscar Hammerstein has scored again in the operatic battle that is being waged between his Manhattan opera house and the old Metropolitan opera house, which is under the direction of Heinrich Conried.

Hammerstein has succeeded in securing Mme. Emma Calve for several performances during the remainder of the present season. The diva already has sailed on the steamer La Provence from the other side and will be heard here on the evening of March 27 in Carmen. This will be Calve's first appearance in opera in New York in three years and will be a decided treat to the music-loving public.

Death of Musical Manager.

The death of Maurice Grau in Paris brings freshly to mind in New York the last of the first grand opera wars that the city ever witnessed. It was during the winter of 1882 to 1884 when Colonel Mapleson managed the old Academy of Music, with Patti as his center of attraction. The Metropolitan opera house was opened with Christine Nilsson and Sembrich as the great attractions. Abbey, Schoffel & Grau were the managers. The war was fought as bitterly as that now being waged between Heinrich Conried and Oscar Hammerstein, but the city was not big enough for the strife and the losses were tremendous.

Grau introduced the De Reszkes, Eames, Poncon, Melba, and Calve to the American public.

QUAKER CITY WILL DON PURPLE AND GILT

Philadelphia, March 26.—Not since the great centennial exposition in 1876 have the business men of Philadelphia made such elaborate preparations for decorating their establishments as are now under way for the convention and reunion of the Elks, which is to be held here during the week beginning July 15th next.

Not only will the merchants and thousands of people in the principal residential sections add in beautifying the city for that occasion, but the authorities, it is expected, will take official cognizance of the convention and expend thousands of dollars in decorating and illuminating the "Public Buildings"—the largest and costliest municipal structure the world has ever seen. The electrical display on this one building will be worth traveling miles to see. In addition the committee is planning for numerous novel effects in the matter of evening and daylight decorations, and the court of honor which will be erected for a distance of almost half a mile on Broad street promises to be the most magnificent piece of artistic work ever attempted on a public highway.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn boys grown back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pang of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, I can cure all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as if by magic. And when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

UNIVERSITY OF NEW MEXICO

The catalogue of the University of New Mexico for the year 1906-07 has just been issued from The Citizen Publishing Company's job office. It is a pamphlet of 111 pages, exclusive of cover, and the mechanical work is very creditable to the office of issue.

The prefatory address is quite important, though consisting of but fifteen lines, and it would be well to read this address and wide circulation throughout the country. It sets forth the fact that many young men and women in other sections of this nation, whose ill health prevents them from pursuing their college studies, can here recover health and secure a collegiate education at one and the same time, the climatic conditions being most healthful, and the cost of attending the institution but small.

The university contains five distinct departments—college of letters and science; school of engineering, including civil, electrical, mechanical and mining; school of education; preparatory school; commercial school. There are fourteen members of the faculty, two of whom were added at the commencement of the present year.

A careful examination of the aims and methods of the university, of the courses in the several departments, of the appliances for instruction, as set forth in the catalogue, can but favorably impress anyone familiar with the better class of educational institutions, while every evidence confirms the fact that the university is doing a work worthy of the present day and highly creditable to the territory of New Mexico. But two things are needed—more money with which to make larger advances along present lines, and more age to give it a wider reputation. No doubt both of these needs will diminish rapidly in the near future.

The list of pupils aggregated 141 this year, as against ninety last year, thus showing a growth of 56 per cent. This is highly gratifying and promises well for succeeding years. The alumni of the university is already about 125.

RAILROAD RETALIATION

Three of the railway systems of Colorado have entered upon a protracted plan of retrenchment by cutting down the working week of their shopmen to five days instead of six. The roads which have done this are the Union Pacific, the Rio Grande and the Colorado & Southern. These roads are owned by the Harrimans, the Goulds and the men of that stripe. Hence, there is no talk of retrenching in the overgrown salaries of the plutocratic officials, where millions of needless expense could be cut off; but the reduction of wages is fastened upon the laboring men, where a reduction of 20 per cent will yield but little to the roads, while it reduces the laborer to the verge of want.

Then, too, no one can believe that retrenchment is necessary. As the Denver News says: "There is much ground for the belief that the reduction in hours is a part of a plan to make the public feel the weight of the railroad's displeasure, to show resentment at the steady progress of railroad legislation." Furthermore, as the News says: "There is work in plenty. There is not a road in the state which has enough cars in actual service. There is not a road in the state which could not use more engines to good advantage. The shippers of Greeley have been tearing their hair for months because they could not get cars fast enough to save their crops. So were the shippers of the best fields, and of the western slope, and of the Arkansas valley. The shortage was everywhere; and, though the traffic is a shade less overwhelming now, everyone knows what it will be like by fall. And the state is constantly filling up with people; more people mean more traffic, and more traffic should mean the employment of more shopmen, not of less."

ABE RUEF THE BOSS

As this notorious, if not noted, citizen of San Francisco is now in the lime-light of penal prosecution, the following account of him from the New York World will be of interest to Citizen readers:

Ten years ago he was a third-rate lawyer with a moderate practice and one of a number of ward leaders who served the republican-Southern Pacific machine when republicans were in the minority in San Francisco. He had graduated from the University of California, so he represented one type of the scholar in practical politics. When the union labor movement took the form of a formidable political party he picked up Schmitz, a theater orchestra leader, and helped make him mayor. Ruef still calls himself a republican. Schmitz in return made Ruef his legal adviser. Schmitz's re-election confirmed Ruef in possession of the city government, and the earthquake and fire only broadened their opportunities for graft.

Ruef had a genius for organization. When the police began to interfere with the saloonkeepers, Ruef, as the mayor's legal adviser, acted also as their legal adviser. Enormous fees for his services looked safer than weekly or monthly blackmail. The resorts of vice, cheap and fashionable, soon recognized his extraordinary skill as an attorney. There was trouble about building permits and Ruef intervened for more big fees. To get along with the police, the saloons and disorderly houses found it expedient to pay excessive prices for liquors, cigars and cigarettes and glassware to certain firms favored by the Ruef-Schmitz administration.

The charges against him include the bribery of the board of supervisors to grant franchises to the United Railroads, the Home Telephone company and the San Francisco Gas & Electric company. Ruef seems to have known just what price each supervisor could be bought for and how often he must be bought. Of course, his own services were not disinterested, and the corporations naturally fixed the terms of their own franchises.

While Mr. J. M. Murdoch was in the city last evening, he had several conferences with some of the directors of the Commercial club, all of whom look upon his enterprise of colonizing the Sedillo grant as of very great interest to Albuquerque. This vast body of land lying so close to this city and with direct railway connections here, if developed and colonized as Mr. Murdoch proposes, cannot but be a very large factor in the development of Albuquerque. If Mr. Murdoch needs any encouragement to carry through his scheme, this city should not be slow to give it. As the case stands now, Mr. Murdoch owns the land and he is going forward in a systematic and scientific way to determine its possibilities for water, upon abundant development of which the enterprise will alone depend for success.

New Mexico: Has Governor Hagerman been called to Washington to explain to President Roosevelt his actions in connection with the land deal of the Pennsylvania Development company, which was the subject of an investigation by a committee from the house of representatives, and other official acts? There is a well defined rumor about that the executive of the territory has gone there instead of to his father's ranch in the Pecos valley, as given out when he left the capital. It is also reported that he was accompanied by Attorney General Reid.

Chattanooga Times: Mr. Hearst having declared the other day at the meeting of the Independence league leaders of New York, that the time had come when the organization should act independently of the old parties, he may very properly be regarded as having formally apostatized and will therefore no longer be an embarrassing figure to the national democracy. It is intimated that Mr. Hearst has an ambition to found a new party to which he may attract the fag-ends of the older organizations—republican, democratic, populist and union labor—in that way hoping to at least hold the balance of power. The project, if that be really it, is an ambitious one and has some possibilities in the north and west where his newspapers are widely read and have more or less influence with the elements he expects to control. In other words, the founder of the cult himself declared, Hearstism "has now reached the point in power and numbers where it can stand alone and advance its principles independently of any other party or organization."

SERVICE PENSION MAKES BIG INCREASE IN APPROPRIATIONS

Seventeen thousand a day is the rate at present which applications and letters seeking information relative to the new service pension law are being received at the pension bureau. Since the law became effective February 6, it is estimated that more 100,000 communications concerning it have been received. Commissioner Warner said that there were in the office something like 60,000 letters that have not been opened.

"We are temporarily swamped," the commissioner admitted, "but we expect to pull out from under the load in a couple of months and then everything will be running along as smoothly as usual."

It is estimated by Commissioner Warner that the service pension law will involve an additional expenditure to pensioners of the Mexican and civil wars of $3,000,000 a year. He had asked congress for an appropriation of $137,000,000 for the payment of the pensions next year, but in view of the passage of the bill, the amount was increased to $145,000,000.

The working of the law, it was explained by Commissioner Warner, is extremely simple. In fact, so free from complications it is, that it is only necessary for the applicant, if he is already on the pension roll to fill out a prescribed blank which is furnished by the bureau for the asking.

The law itself, contemplating the lack of necessity for red tape, provides that no pension attorney, claim agent or any other person shall be entitled to receive compensation for services rendered in presenting claims to the pension bureau, or securing any pension under the service law.

The application blank properly filled out, is sent to the bureau, and the information contained on it is compared with the documents and papers on file, in connection with the individual case of the applicant. If they coincide nothing but to grant the pension remains to be done.

If the application is for an original pension, a longer time is required, it being necessary to compare the information with the records at the war department and, perhaps, to ask the applicant himself for additional proof.

One of the features of the law which distinguishes it from all other laws relating to government pensions, is that it entails no medical examination. Thus is eliminated what is perhaps, the greatest cause of delay in obtaining pensions.

Rank in the service is not considered by the law. It provides simply that any person who has served ninety days or more in the civil war or sixty days or more in the Mexican war, receiving an honorable discharge, and who is sixty-two years old or over, is eligible to receive a pension as follows:

In case the applicant has reached the age of sixty-two years $12 a month; seventy-two years $15 a month; seventy-five years or over $20 a month. The pension is provided, shall begin from the date of the filing of the application.

The application and letters are being taken up in the order of their receipt by the pension bureau. At present most of the work falls on the force of the correspondence division, which practically has been doubled, the clerks being drawn from other divisions. —Newton Republican.

GOOD MANNERS ARE LARGE ASSET TO ANY BUSINESS MAN

We are apt to think that if there is any place where good manners are of little consequence, it is in every day business, where cold calculation so largely takes the place of feeling.

But the truth is that nowhere else are manners of such importance as in every day dealings.

There is no capital and equipment any young man can have in business that will pay him a better dividend than good manners. There is no possible calling for which this does not better fit him.

If he has brains, the world owes him something, but unless he has good manners he will have a hard time collecting it.

Don't make the error of supposing that brains are everything. You may have the best set of brains in the town, but if you haven't also the manners of a gentleman nobody is going to appreciate you.

Did you never notice that the men who employ large forces of intelligent people look at an applicant closely, ask a few seemingly unimportant questions, and promptly employ or dismiss him?

They don't sound his brain depth; they don't obtain his biography; they don't inquire into his social standing; they size him up from his manners—and if he is cheap glib on the surface they don't look for gold beneath.

The employer knows that if an applicant's manner strikes him favorably it will also favorably strike people with whom he comes into contact in his work. And nobody knows better than a big business man that a favorable first impression means half the sale.

Your manners are the outward indication of what you are within, in the estimate of most people, and if your manners are disagreeable few will take the trouble to examine into you any further.

The consensus of general opinion is that the man who goes about with perceptive quills as his manners hasn't any brains worth bothering about.

DON'T TRY TO BE A POUTER PIGEON BUT EXERCISE BODY

"Chests out, stomachs in," has been the cry of the British drill sergeant since the battle of Waterloo, and before that.

For more than a hundred years the pigeon-like practice of puffing out of chests has been the rule of the English army. And to a considerable extent also the practice is followed in the American army.

This time-honored pose has just been abolished in the English drill regulations.

Experts and medical officers have pronounced the system to be unscientific, a perversion of nature and harmful.

Instead of strengthening a man undue puffing out of the chest weakens him because it throws a strain upon the heart. Knotty muscles over the chest, vaulted as strength indicators, tend to the down the heart. That organ does not get enough room to work in.

Hereafter the Swedish system of gymnastics and drill are to be used by the British drill masters. The Swedish system brings all the muscles of the body into harmonious action and improves the whole physical condition.

Do not make pouter pigeon of yourself. Do not use any system of athletics or gymnastics that tends to undue strain upon certain muscles.

Many of the so-called physical culture exercises are harmful because of excess in single directions. The all-around training of the body requires all-around exercises.

NEW STRIKE OF OIL IN FARMINGTON DISTRICT

San Juan People Sanguine of Securing Either Water or Oil.

So far this week additional strikes of oil have been made at the well, says the Farmington Enterprise. Also a two-foot vein of coal has been encountered, and on Wednesday another demonstration of gas was discovered. The material is of a black, graphite formation and contains strong traces of oil, and the future developments look bright. Those directly interested are quite hopeful of future results.

Further sinking may produce a flow of artesian water, as symptoms point to that end, and such is greatly wished for. First-class water is a boon to any community. Let us drink to its realization!

"My dear Mrs. Smithers, you're such an optimist!" "I am."

"Yes, of course. You think he will arrive there."

"Wise old landlord is ours," remarked the man who had been at the winter resort for several weeks. "Everybody here has an appetite like St. Bernard dog, and believes it is due to the climate."

"And isn't it?" asked the newcomer. "Bless me, no. It's because the old fellow won't give us anything to eat."

"Aye, a most remarkable piece of acting!" exclaimed London Stormes, the eminent tragedian. "E'en Mansfield, were he at his best, could not excel it. By my soul, it was well done!"

DRY FARMING TO BE DISCUSSED AT CONVENTION

At the meeting of the Chaves County Farmers' Institute society last Saturday, expressions of deep interest in the dry farming congress to be held the last day of the stockmen's convention, the 13th of April, were taken advantage of. It is not often that Mr. Campbell comes so far without price, and it is still less often that he is supported by such strong men as Prof. Hinsley and Prof. Vernon, the trained specialists of the New Mexico College of Agriculture, whose services are practically dedicated to the cause through the far-seeing wisdom of the regents, under the presidency of Hon. G. A. Richardson, of Roswell.

There will be two sessions of the congress, morning and afternoon, as arranged by Secretary J. A. Graham, of the Roswell Commercial club, devoted first to a thorough demonstration of the Campbell method by Mr. Campbell himself, followed by general discussions, and the fullest opportunity for the asking of any questions that may be suggested by the local conditions of soil and climate.

The afternoon session will be addressed in plenty of time for a trip through the irrigated farms that have made Roswell famous and which will be infinitely more productive when the principle of rational conservation of moisture is more thoroughly applied. The same thing is true of the whole Pecos valley, which is the most promising field for scientific soil culture in all of arid or semi-arid America.

The sessions of the congress will be open to all who desire to attend, and notwithstanding their extreme value, will be free to all. This fact, together with the very low rates allowed by the Santa Fe, should cause a very large attendance from all parts of the three valley countries. The endorsement of the congress by the farmers' societies is in itself one of the most encouraging signs of a successful meeting, and proof in itself that the farmers recognize the attractions as being too valuable to be missed.

HOW TO START A SUCCESSFUL LIFE BY PROF. STERLING

Faculty and Students Hold Interesting Meeting at High School Building.

Superintendent Sterling addressed the high school assembly, seventh and eighth grades of the Central building this morning. The topic discussed was "How to Start a Successful Life." He read selections from an interview of Orson Swett Marsden with Marshall Field, in which Mr. Field stated what he considered to be the beginning, turning point and underlying principles which contributed to his success. Prof. Sterling's remarks began with the story of Apelles, the great artist, who traveled over Greece studying the fairest points of beautiful women, getting here an eye, there a mouth and there a nose, here a grace and there a turn of beauty for his famous portrait of a perfect woman, which enchanted the world. Great men represent some element of greatness, only by scrutinizing the lives of great men and selecting their strong points and combining the great elements from each into a composite unit, may we obtain an ideal character. We should therefore learn to read what great men say with discrimination—with mental reservation.

When Mr. Field was asked, "What were your equipments for success?" he answered: "Health, sound principle and ambition."

Mr. Sterling impressed the thought at this point that a sound body and good health are a large capital to the youth, but without ambition and a sound moral character this capital is forfeited in the long run, and the added thought that the young men and women of today are coming upon the stage of life not when all the great opportunities have been taken, but rather at a time when greater fields of opportunity and usefulness are opening up than former generations have ever seen.

In conclusion, he urged the young people to cherish high ideals—to aim high, and remember Marshall Field's belief that perseverance was the most fundamental element in his success. "Begin now by making your lives felt right here in the high school. Your interests and the interests of the city demand a larger high school. Your influence can bring it to pass. Organize a 'high school boosters' club and go to work in earnest, and it shall come to pass." By unanimous vote an organization of the above title was effected, with Miss Mayme Reed as president.

BIG IMPROVEMENTS FOR LOCAL SANTA FE SHOPS

Machine Department to Be Extended to Second Street. Officials Non-Committal.

On the recent visit to the city of Alfred Lovell, superintendent of motive power for the Santa Fe, plans were exposed, which, if carried out, mean an addition to the local shops costing several hundred thousand dollars. Though Mr. Lovell made statement to the press to the effect that the Santa Fe was not making any improvements, it is positively known that he and Mr. Kouns, superintendent of transportation, and Mr. Willie, of the Baldwin Locomotive works, spent several hours at the shops and while there frequently examined a roll of blue prints, which they carried with them. These plans are said to call for an addition on the west side of the machine shops, extending to Second street or equal to the addition just made to the transfer table. The building will be of cement, stone and iron and equipped with machinery to some extent heavier and more capable of handling the big engines, which are being placed on the western divisions, than the machinery in use at the local shops at present.

When the work of construction will be begun is only a conjecture, and cannot be found out, as it seems, the lips of all parties are sealed as to proposed plans pending the result of the present turmoil on Wall street and a subsidence of the present labor troubles. The latter reason may be attributed to the non-committal mode of Mr. Lovell, when seen by the reporter last Friday.

SPOKE OF PARALYSIS RESULTS IN DEATH

Sad Ending of Visit of William Gillman to His Children.

William Gillman, of Los Angeles, died at the home of his son, Carl Gillman, 1806 West Railroad avenue, at 10:30 o'clock last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillman came to Albuquerque a few days ago with the intention of visiting their two children in this city for a month or six weeks. Saturday morning he and his wife went to the home of their daughter, Mrs. M. Nash, where they took dinner, and it was just after returning to the home of his son, Carl, at about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, that he was stricken with paralysis.

This was the second attack the man had suffered during late years. The first one, however, was not nearly so severe. The stroke which came Saturday and from which the man never rallied, despite the unceasing efforts of physicians, seemed to settle in the throat and his last moments of life were one continuous struggle for breath.

Immediately after the man was stricken his daughter, Mrs. Daniels, of Los Angeles, was wired and she arrived in this city this morning. The remains will be returned to Los Angeles for burial, and the funeral party, composed of the widow, Mrs. Daniels, Mrs. M. Nash and Carl Gillman, will leave on the flyer tomorrow.

Mr. Gillman formerly resided in Albuquerque and was widely and favorably known here. About ten years ago he was in business here and his many friends will receive the news of his untimely death with sincere regret.

Carl Gillman, Mrs. M. Nash, both of this city, and Mrs. Daniels, of Los Angeles, are the only surviving children.

The deceased was a native of Illinois and was 67 years of age at the time of death.

WILLIAMSPORT PEOPLE NOW SOLE OWNERS OF NELLY BLY

Lordsburg District Undergoing Extensive Development.

Lordsburg, N. M., March 26.—J. W. Cristman, W. H. Agor, and F. E. Diefenbacher, of Williamsport, Pa., all of whom are largely interested in the North American Copper company, have been in town this week looking after the company's properties. This company has recently paid off all the purchase price of the Nelly Bly mine, and now own it. The money for the purchase of the property came from the mine. According to the original contract made by the company with Messrs. Blackburn and Campbell, 75 per cent of the proceeds of the ore shipped should be paid to them, the payment to apply on the purchase price. The company had to put up the money needed, besides the 25 per cent of the purchase price, to pay miners and other expenses. It has done this and now has the property clear of all debt, and ready to make money for its stockholders. Sinking has now commenced on the property, and has reached a new depth of fifty feet below the old workings, and is in good ore. Mr. Agor, who has had much experience in mining, informs the Liberal that in his estimation there is on the top of a larger ore body than has been discovered in the mine.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY EXHIBITION

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE MARCONI WIRELESS GIVE FREE DEMONSTRATION AT COLOMBO HALL, EXPLAINING IN SIMPLE LANGUAGE MANY OF ITS MYSTERIES.

J. J. Kelly and E. N. Mayer, electrical engineers and representatives of the Marconi wireless telegraph system, arrived in the city yesterday from San Francisco. Tonight and Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights they will give free demonstrations of the working of the wireless system at Colombo hall. The men carry with them a complete set of wireless apparatus exactly similar to that used at the regular wireless stations. On the stage they will throw a railroad switch by the wireless method, transmit messages and otherwise demonstrate clearly how the system works.

The public should not miss the opportunity of seeing wireless in full operation. Tonight at Colombo hall, Marconi wireless will be explained and operated by engineers, with complete sets of instruments. The Marconi company are now installing stations all through the United States. At a much reduced rate of operation work is being pressed forward to meet the western Union and Postal in competition. This wonderful system, which has given satisfactory service for the last five years on ocean steamers, making sea travel less dangerous; furnishing daily associated news in mid-ocean.

Mr. Kelly lectures and Mr. Mayer makes the practical demonstrations on the stage. The operations of the wireless are explained simply and clearly with a freedom from technical language and the lecture will be of intense interest to everyone.

FIRST JUDICIAL COURT HEARS GONZALES CASE

In the First Judicial district court at Santa Fe yesterday the principal matter of importance was the trial of Manuel Gonzales, an ex-policeman, charged with an attempt on the life of his sweetheart, Miss Francisquita Trujillo, on the night of June 22, 1906. The Trujillo woman was wounded by a shot from Gonzales' revolver and at the time she complained that the policeman had deliberately shot her but yesterday she was on a different tack and when placed upon the stand said everything possible to shield the defendant. The case consumed the entire session of the court and a number of witnesses were called before the court was adjourned for the day.

MERIDIAN ESTABLISHED IN LIBRARY GROUNDS

Mark is 35 Degrees, 5 Minutes, 1 Second; and 106 Degrees, 38 Minutes, 30 Seconds.

The following self-explanatory letter was received by Chairman Hanley, of the street committee of the city council:

Mr. P. Hanley, Chairman, Street Committee, Albuquerque, N. M.: Sir: In compliance with your request made through the Hon. W. H. Andrews, this survey has established the public library grounds at Albuquerque a meridian line for the use of the city officials and surveyors generally. The position is not an ideal one, owing to the disturbance which may be caused by the electric lines running in an easterly and westerly direction, a few feet south of the south station, but it is believed that their effect on the magnetic needle will be negligible.

The probable error of the line is less than five seconds of arc, an amount inappreciable by the surveyor's transit. The south mark for the line is situated seven feet west and five feet north of the southeast corner of the public library grounds and is marked by a cast stone set three feet in the ground, with top projecting about two inches, in the center of which is cemented an aluminum tablet marked with the latitude 35 degrees, 05 minutes, 01 seconds, and the longitude 106 degrees, 38 minutes, 30 seconds. From this point the following true bearings were noted for reference:

Flagstaff on public school, north 14 degrees, 37 minutes east.

Southeast corner library building, north 41 degrees, 29 minutes west.

Cupola Occidental building, north 88 degrees, 50 minutes west.

True bearing of Edith street, north 9 degrees, 12 minutes east.

The north mark is 159 feet due north from the north mark near the north edge of the grounds, and is a cut stone set three feet in the ground with an aluminum tablet set in the center of the projecting top.

The magnetic variation as determined at the south monument is 13 degrees, 40 minutes east, as determined at the north monument, is 13 degrees, 50 minutes east, for December, 1906. This variation will increase about 3 degrees annually.

E. P. WEED IS COAL AND SOIL ADJUDGED INSANE WILL BE DEVELOPED

Schoenberger Wins the Case J. M. Murdock Proposes to Reclaim Antonio Sedillo Land Grant.

E. P. Weed, the man who became insane and escaped from the sanatorium, was this morning adjudged insane before a commission in the district court and the court ordered that he be taken to the asylum at Las Vegas.

Weed, though violently insane at the time of his rash actions, has quieted down wonderfully, and it is hoped and believed that a few weeks' treatment in the asylum will restore him to his normal condition. He will leave tomorrow morning for the asylum and will be in charge of Rev. Hammond and a Mr. Votaw.

The case of W. J. Schoenberger vs. H. Benjamin & Co., was concluded this morning and the jury returned a verdict for $130 for the plaintiff. This case grew out of the sale of the property in question by Constable James Smith, and the plaintiffs alleged that the property, or its equal value in money, be returned to the plaintiff. Attorney Klock & Owen represented the plaintiffs and W. C. Heacock represented the defendants.

The United States grand jury made its final report this morning and was dismissed for the present term. The report contained a number of indictments.

The territorial grand jury also returned a number of indictments this morning.

Suits entered in the district court today were as follows: Elmer Hagg vs. American Cigar Co. y Montoya, and Madeline Stoll Dempsey vs. David H. Dempsey.

OLD CITY HALL MUST SERVE TWO MONTHS LONGER

At a special meeting of the city council, called late yesterday afternoon for the purpose of discussing the city hall question, it developed that the present building is to serve that body for at least two months longer.

The building committee, which was named to make some arrangements for headquarters for the council until after the proposed new city hall had been voted on, reported that it had conferred with Messrs. Otero and Attorney Childers and that an agreement had been reached, whereby the city is to use the present building for two months longer at a monthly rental of $45.

Such action was about what had been expected of the committee, since it would be difficult to secure entirely new quarters for the council and then too, it was thought best to use the old building until after it is known whether or not a new one is to be had.

A WOMAN WOULD GIVE $100,000 FOR THE HEAD OF THIS CHINAMAN

There's a Price of $100,000 on His Head.

Special Correspondence.

New York, March 26.—Having fled from the wrath of the dowager empress of China, the greatest private citizen of China, Kang Yu Wei, is living in secret in this city.

There is a price on his head—$100,000 offered by the empress for his return to China, dead or alive.

Kang Yu Wei was the head of the reform movement in China. His downfall came when he was forced out of the emperor's council of ministers for his advanced ideas. The emperor of the empress believed that he will strive to arouse the Chinese of America against the government at home. The empress has begged the United States government to keep Kang Yu Wei under constant surveillance while he is here. With his agents he is believed to be busy drilling and organizing Chinamen here and quietly securing stores of arms and ammunition.

The empress brought about the Boxer disturbances because of Kang's activity in modernizing China. He fled from China at that time, only to return after the troubles were over. Nearly all his fellow agitators were executed.

Don't think that piles can't be cured. Thousands of obstinate cases have been cured by Doan's Ointment. 50 cents at any drug store.

Home Insurance the Best

WE CANNOT refrain from again saying something about Home Insurance. Every time that the proposition presents itself of the tremendous amount of money that is being sent out of New Mexico and Arizona for life insurance to eastern cities, the conviction comes home with increased force that a home company ought to be patronized and the money remain in the West.

The revelations of the past year of the way the enormous surplus of the big Eastern companies has been handled and speculated with ought to emphasize the fact that the people of the West should stop pouring their money into Eastern channels when it can be placed in home insurance, and every dollar of it kept and invested at home.

It is gratifying to note that home insurance is year by year receiving more and more its just deserts. Statistics show that during the past year home companies far exceeded foreign companies in the amount of business written. Why cannot this same record be made here? It can if every individual who takes out a policy the coming year will carefully weigh the proposition of the value it is to keep his insurance at home before he puts his name to the application of any insurance company.

The Occidental Life Insurance Company of New Mexico and Arizona is owned and controlled by the leading business men of the two territories, and offers exceptional opportunities to ambitious and capable men and women to sell its policies.
