Dec. 5: Honduran president-elect Rafael Leonardo Callejas described as "serious" the failure of contra demobilization. He added that for the Honduran people, the continued presence of the Nicaraguan contras is perceived as negative. In recent discussions with representatives of the General Workers Confederation (CGT), the United Honduran Workers Federation (FUTH), and the Honduran Workers Confederation (CTH), Callejas was requested to begin working toward fulfillment of the regional peace agreements, and to see the contras depart from Honduras. Ricardo Zablah, president of the Honduran Private Enterprise Council (COHEP), said a national consensus exists on the necessity of seeing the contras leave Honduras.
