FALL MEN WORKING TOO STRENUOUSLY TO LOOK JUST RIGHT

STATEMENTS THAT THEY HAVE ENOUGH VOTES CORRALLED TO ELECT ON FIRST BALLOT APPEAR PECULIAR IN LIGHT OF CONTINUED EFFORTS TO LINE UP THE BOYS FOR TO-MORROW

ENTIRE OLD GUARD MUST SWALLOW FALL IF COMBINATION WINS OUT

In view of the repeated statements that Albert Bacon Fall has enough votes pledged to elect him on the first ballot tomorrow noon, the strenuous work being done by the Fall adherents ever since the now famous caucus of a few nights ago, is causing opponents of the Three River statesman to view the line up with suspicion.

For it seems that some of the legislators who were put down on the list as Fall men, are not quite so much Fall men as his supporters profess to believe and that before the question of the senatorship comes to a showdown, there may be many changes in the line up.

That the old guard leaders realize that they are on thin ice and that if they hold their votes together until Tuesday noon, they will accomplish wonders, is indicated by the fact that they are ceaselessly at work.

Bursum, Spies, Springer, Fall and a coterie of lesser lights, are constantly on the alert; every effort is being made to put on a bold front and create the impression that the election of Mr. Fall on the first ballot is the one sure thing in all the world.

What has brought the old guard to the unanimous support of Mr. Fall is a question of more than ordinary interest just at this time. It is a well known fact that a year ago, Mr. Fall had some bitter opponents in the republican ranks. He was too inclined to hold some views that some of the old guard could not stand for and not inclined to hold some views that others of the old guard deemed absolutely essential in a senator. But it has all vanished. The bosses who stood behind Andrews—one and all, now seem to have flocked to the Fall standard and are anxiously working to try and corral enough votes to put him over.

The fact that Senator Fall, who has repeatedly asserted that his second election was legal and that there was no question but that it would stand before a senate committee, indicates such willingness to be elected again, has also raised a question in the minds of his opponents as to his ability to retain his seat without he is regularly elected at this session.

The democrats thus far, have not showed their hand. They have been watching the amusing situation with a critical eye and "sawing wood." The progressives in both the senate and the house have been doing likewise. It is therefore highly probable that when the election of a senator comes before the legislature at noon tomorrow, there will be a few surprises that were not counted upon, when the love feast caucus was held a few nights ago.

Ancient Santa Fe is as full as ever of political rumors and to give them publication would be a waste of time and words. The usual rumor monger is at his best with the senatorial game in progress but he is falling this time to influence votes or intimidate those legislators who might be inclined to be weak kneed.

One thing is certain however, and that is that the injection of the senatorial contest into the situation as it has been injected by the old guard, has resulted in delay to legislative matters of supreme importance. Whether or not it eventually will result in the selection once again of Albert Bacon Fall to the U. S. senate, is purely a matter of conjecture at this time, despite assertions to the contrary.

But the situation to date, has served to show the desperate condition of the old guard, when political hatchets once so sharp and shiny are so suddenly shorn away in order that one and all may stand behind Mr. Fall whereas one year ago, Mr. Fall's political scalp was in high demand by some of the men who stand today as his most ardent supporters.

Bursum, Spies and Springer united behind Fall for senator, is a sight that is calculated to at least start inquiry. It has developed a situation, unique in New Mexico politics.

BITTER DEBATE IN HOUSE ON RESOLUTION.

The first gun in the senatorial fight which is billed to open tomorrow at noon, was fired in the house this afternoon about three-thirty, when a resolution was sent to the desk of the speaker bearing the names of Campbell, Carter, Evans and Rogers "and others" and after paying a tribute to the Spanish-American, it declared that it was the sense of the house that a Spanish-American be elected as United States senator.

The resolution was the signal for a bitter oratorical contest which began when Major Llewellyn charged that the whole matter was a political trick and was designed to affect the senatorial situation and for no other purpose. He declared that the democratic members of the house had no love for the Spanish-American, but that they were trying to hoodwink them into a political trap.

GREGORY PAGE

SPRINGS NEW ONE.

The senate was in session only a short time this afternoon, a feature being the introduction of two new legislative matters by Gregory Page that caused the stand pat leaders to accuse him jokingly of having bolted the old guard. One was an amendment to the constitution for a short ballot providing that only the governor and lieutenant governor shall be elected and that the governor by and with the consent of the senate, should name all other state officers. The other was a county ballot providing that only county commissioners should be elected and all other county offices abolished. A number of other minor bills were introduced. Mr. Holt presented a bill to amend the state and county indebtedness measure, passed at the last session of the legislature.

EDITOR PLEADS FOR WILSON LAW OF '94

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—Frank P. Bennett, of Boston, editor of the American Wool and Cotton Reporter, argued for the re-enactment of the Wilson law of 1894 at the outset of today's tariff hearing. This was a plea for entire removal of duties upon wool and a reduction of the tariff upon woolen goods to fifty percent. He said that would be in the interest of both the manufacturers and of the sheep husbandry in the United States and declared that the wool tariff distorted sheep husbandry by encouraging growers to keep unprofitable animals.

The duty of 33 cents a pound, now assessed upon scoured wool, had imposed a tax of nearly $100,000,000 upon the American people, beside hampering manufacturers, the witness said.

DARROW TRIAL IS RESUMED

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 27.—The second trial of Clarence S. Darrow, on a charge of jury bribery, was resumed today with good prospects for the completion of the jury before night, two places remained to be filled in the jury box, although it was almost certain that the defense would exercise its right to excuse John Farley, the septuagenarian, by means of a pre-emptory challenge and create vacancy. The state has now used two pre-emptory challenges and the defense five.

Speaker Bacon adopted a rule of permitting everyone to speak who desired to be heard before he would permit any member to speak twice on the subject.

At four thirty this afternoon, Mr. Vargas offered an amendment to the resolution to place the words "Republican standpatters" wherever the words "Spanish Americans" appeared in the resolution.

A feature of the debate was the tribute paid to Miguel A. Otero, Marcos C. de Baca and Speaker Roman Liberato by Mr. Rogers who asserted in his remarks that the democrats would support any of those men for United States senator in preference to some stand pat, ring controlled republican.

The debate throughout was bitter but was conducted along parliamentary lines and there was no approach to personal violence as has been the case during several stormy scenes in legislatures of the old territorial days.

An interesting feature of the occasion, was the presence upon the floor or the house of a number of old guard bosses who took the republican party down to defeat in the last election.

At five o'clock, the debate was still in progress and the resolution had not yet reached a vote. The resolution offered by the democrats was as follows:

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 12.

Be it resolved by the house of representatives of the second session of the first legislature of the state of New Mexico:

Whereas, the ancestors of the Spanish-American people of New Mexico first raised the standards of civilization and planted the cross of christianity on the soil of this western continent, and

Whereas, succeeding ancestral generations braved the wilds of the mid continent, reclaimed the soil of New Mexico from the dominion of the wild beasts and the savage and made it a fit place for the habitation of civilized man, and

Whereas, many of these memorable ancestral pioneers were martyrs in the cause in which the Ever Blessed Redeemer of the world was the first and consecrated the domain of our Sunshine-State with their blood to the Christian civilization of the masses, and

Whereas, more than sixty-five percent of the people of New Mexico today are the direct descendants of those historic conquistadores and belong by blood and language to that venerable race whose undying glory it was to discover and open man's last and greatest continent, and

Whereas, New Mexico is the only state in the American union that is distinctly dedicated by history to the noble achievements of the Spanish race, and

Whereas, a race with such a glorious past and such a preponderance of population in the state today is entitled by every consideration of history and current times to have a representative of the race in that august legislative body of the world, the United States senate; and

Whereas, the Spanish-American people of the state have many men who are competent to fill that exalted station in patriotism, integrity and ability.

Now Therefore Be It Resolved that it is the sense of this house that a Spanish-American citizen be elected at this session of the legislature as United States senator from New Mexico for the term beginning March 4, 1913.

SUFFRAGETTES DECLARE FOR WAR

SORTIES AND RIOTS "TO BEGIN AT ONCE," ARE PLANNED TO AID ENGLISH WOMEN TO CAPTURE THE MUCH WANTED VOTING PRIVILEGE

London, Jan. 27.—A declaration of guerrilla warfare by the suffragettes, including sorties and riots, to begin at once, was made by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant leader, at a meeting this evening.

"CARRIE NATION" ATTITUDE.

London, Jan. 27.—Mrs. Pankhurst called for the names and addresses of those who were "prepared to take part in the gallant onslaught."

The suffragette leader declared that there were many women who were prepared to endanger their lives in the cause.

Miss Annie Kenny, who has been very prominent in the maneuvers of the militants added that the women would "make the lives of public men impossible and in reply to an inter-upter said:

"If you are a shopkeeper you had better look out. It is not just your windows which are going to be attacked. It is something else. We are going to get this question settled once for all."

Many shops immediately began to board up their windows.

The precincts of the house of commons presented many of the features of a well defined encampment when the house met this afternoon to bring to a conclusion the current chapter of the work for the enfranchisement of women. Mounted and foot police were to be seen everywhere in great strength.

After the speaker's ruling, it was only a question whether the cabinet would announce its capitulation before or after the vote which had been taken on Sir Edward Grey's amendment. The amendment called for the omission of the word "male" and thus practically introduced adult suffrage.

At the opening of today's session, Premier Asquith asked the speaker to state again in more definite form that if any of the women amendments were carried, the franchise bill would become substantially a new bill and would have to be withdrawn.

This done, Mr. Asquith announced that the cabinet would not prolong the discussion under the circumstances but would drop the bill. The government, he added, would at its own time and within the lifetime of the present parliament proceed with bills dealing with electoral reform and plural voting.

BILL IS DROPPED.

The British cabinet today decided to drop the franchise bill. This decision was in deference to the speaker's ruling that the form and substance of the measure would be so materially altered by the amendment granting the vote to women, that it ought to be presented in the shape of a new bill.

WALL STREET.

New York, N. Y., Jan. 27.—The hesitating tone of the Americans in the London market helped to restrict speculation here, and at the opening lower prices of Americans abroad were reflected in some heaviness among the international stocks. The market later overcame this influence and advanced, but the movement was so slight that traders found it rather more profitable to sell on rallies. Business was further held in check by uncertainty whether the supreme court would hand down today its decision in the Minnesota rate case. Bonds were easier.

The street waited longer than usual for news from Washington that no important decisions would be made today and sold stocks in the meantime. Prices, however, were not affected, speculation being too quiet to cause any decided movement.

The understone grew heavier, and there was concentrated pressure against Union Pacific, which lost a point. Recessions in other leaders averaged about 1-2 point.

JUDGE FLAYS WICKERSAM.

Dallas, Texas, Jan. 27.—Attorney General Wickersham was criticized today by United States Judge Meek, who said it was a new thing for the executive department of the federal government to intervene between a court and men.

IMPORTANT MEETING.

The Horticultural society is to hold a meeting tomorrow at the office of J. D. Sena. The rehabilitation of this society is an important matter.

Three horticultural fairs have been held here which were very successful and the result was the advertising extensively of Santa Fe county fruit. The desire is to prepare for another horticultural exhibit this year, and if possible to reawaken interest in fruit culture here and show to the world what can be accomplished along these lines.

It is hoped that the meeting will be well attended and an interest aroused that will bring this county to the front once more as a well recognized fruit section.

WORK FOR THE NEW MEXICAN. It is working for you, for Santa Fe and the new state.

ARIZONA RATE CASES HEARD

San Francisco, Calif., Jan. 27.—The United States circuit court of appeals began hearing evidence here today in the so-called Arizona three-cent rate cases, Judges Morrow, Gilbert and Deirich testifying.

Seven railroads of Arizona seek a permanent injunction to restrain the state railroad commission from enforcing a three-cent rate ratified by the people at the general election of November 5, 1912.

HOOPER IS INAUGURATED.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 27.—Ben W. Hooper, the second republican who has held the governor's office in Tennessee since reconstruction days, was inaugurated for his second term today.

RATE CASES UNDECIDED.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—Neither the state rate case nor the intermountain rate cases were decided today by the supreme court.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

SENATE.

Legislative, judicial and executive appropriation bills sent to conference with instructions to insist upon senate amendment extending life of commerce court to June 30.

Resumed consideration of Lever agricultural extension bill.

Judiciary committee approved Norris bill authorizing government to seize important merchandise controlled by a trust.

Appropriation of $50,000 for Pan-American Scientific congress in Washington urged before foreign affairs committee.

Immigration bills sent to conference again.

HOUSE.

Considered District of Columbia legislation.

Hearing on woolen schedule on tariff begun by ways and means committee.

Representative Berger introduced resolution for investigation of garment industry in New York.

Shipping trust investigating committee continued its hearing with President Preston, of the United Fruit company, testifying.

Passed bill substituting electrocution for hanging as capital punishment in District of Columbia.

HEIKE TO SERVE HIS TERM IN JAIL

SUCH IS RULING OF U. S. SUPREME COURT WHICH GRANTS NO IMMUNITY TO EX-SECRETARY OF SUGAR COMPANY.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—Charles H. Heike, former secretary of the American Sugar Refining company, has no immunity from prosecution for his knowledge of the "sugar weighing frauds" against the government, because he testified before the grand jury regarding them.

The supreme court so held today. The court held that Heike must serve his eight months' imprisonment and pay his $50,000 fine. Heike was convicted of conspiracy to defraud the government.

He had testified at a grand jury investigation under the Sherman anti-trust law, into the affairs of the American Sugar Refining company.

Later he was prosecuted in connection with the weighing frauds at the customs docks in Brooklyn.

Heike claimed he was immune against the latter prosecution by virtue of an appropriation act of 1903, which provided that those who furnished evidence in anti-trust or interstate commerce investigation should be granted immunity only against prosecutions under the anti-trust law and not for prosecution for conspiracy to defraud the government. The government also contended that to procure immunity the testimony given at the investigation must be of an incriminating character. The conviction of Heike was the outcome of a series of proceedings growing out of the sugar weighing frauds, in which the company was required to pay the government more than $2,000,000.

The government claimed that Heike, as secretary and treasurer, could not have possibly been ignorant of the frauds.

Justice Holmes, handing down the decision said it seemed that the immunity act was coterminous with the constitutional provision against a man being compelled to testify against himself.

He said, however, that it was not necessary to define exactly the limits of immunity because Heike gave testimony which did not "concern" the crime for which he was convicted nor was it relevant thereto.

FALL OF ADRIANOPLE ALONE MAY PREVENT RENEWAL OF WAR

THIS IS REGARDED AS "AUTOMATIC SOLUTION" OF PRESENT SITUATION, WHICH IN TWO WEEKS MAY LEAD TO RUPTURE OF PEACE NEGOTIATIONS AND THE ROARING OF ALLIED GUNS

NOTE RENEWING HOSTILITIES MAY BE FINISHED TO-NIGHT

London, Jan. 27.—The drafting of the note rupturing peace negotiations was begun this morning by the allies.

The committee of delegates entrusted with this important work consisted of Michael Madjor, Bulgarian minister in London, Prof. Georgios Street, Greek minister to Austria-Hungary, Dr. M. R. Vesnich, Serbian minister to France and Count Voynovich, chief of the cabinet of King Nicholas of Montenegro, with M. Politis of the Greek delegation as an advisor on questions of international law.

The committee expected to complete the note before nightfall and submit its work to a plenary sitting of the Bulgarian, Greek, Montenegrin and Serbian delegations. But even if the Balkan allies were anxious to resume hostilities, which it is currently reported they are not anxious to do, at least fifteen days must elapse before the guns can again begin to roar.

Even if the draft of the note is completed tonight, its revision to the delegations will take some time and the final draft could not be presented to the Turkish delegation and to Sir Edward Grey, as honorary president of the peace conference, before Wednesday.

As it is understood, the note will give the Turkish delegation three days in which to answer, the expiration of that period would occur on Sunday, so that the Turkish reply would not be delivered until Monday next.

Then the allied delegations will have to notify their respective governments and ask Sir Edward Grey to convene a final sitting of the conference for the official rupture of the negotiations and also in order to thank the British government for its hospitality.

This will take at least three days, making it February 6. Then the governments at Sofia, Belgrade, and Cetinje must denounce the armistice. Working with exceptional celerity, this could be done the next day, and hostilities could then be resumed on February 11, following the expiration of the four days notice required. In the meanwhile the fortress of Adrianople may fall and this is expected to become the automatic solution of the problem.

GEN. SICKLES IS SPARED ONE HUMILIATION

New York, Jan. 27.—In order to spare his old friend Daniel F. Sickles the humiliation of arrest, Sheriff Harbinger himself today personally arranged with counsel for the general to secure bail from a surety company. This will obviate the necessity of locking General Sickles in the Ludlow street jail, pursuant to an order from the supreme court issued after the old soldier had failed to account for more than $20,000 received for the New York monuments commission.

Although technically in custody for a moment, General Sickles did not have to leave his home. Sheriff Harbinger, who served the order of arrest, had purposely delayed his visit until the bonds had been perfected.

WAITERS STRIKE HAS COLLAPSED

New York, Jan. 27.—From appearances at the big hotels today, the strike of the waiters is off. Many of the former employees, reported for work this morning, and some were given their old places. Many, however, found their places filled. Those who returned to work today agreed to accept partial concessions offered by employers.

Some strikers are holding out, and some hotels are surrounded by pickets.

RECEPTION TUESDAY.

An invitation is extended to the public to attend the reception to be given at the Palace of the Governors in honor of the members of the legislature, state and federal officials on Tuesday evening, January 28th, from 8 to 11. The invitation is issued in the names of the New Mexico Museum, The Historical Society of New Mexico, The Santa Fe Woman's Board of Trade, the Santa Fe Chamber of Commerce and the Santa Fe Woman's club.

"GARY DINNERS WERE TO MAINTAIN PRICES"—COREY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—W. E. Corey, former president of the U. S. Steel corporation, began his fourth day of testimony today at the hearings in the government's suit to dissolve the company under the anti-trust law.

Redirect examination was taken up by Judge Jacob M. Dickinson, attorney for the government, who questioned the witness concerning his difference before his retirement with E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors.

"Are you peculiarly interested in the U. S. Steel corporation?" he was asked.

"One fourth of my fortune is in the securities of the Steel corporation," replied Mr. Corey.

Mr. Corey reiterated that the object of the Gary dinners was to maintain prices. Questioned about the efforts of some manufacturers to raise the price of rails from $28 a ton, Mr. Corey would not say that the Steel corporation prevented the advance.

"It may have," he said, "I was opposed to the raise myself, because I thought $28 was a fair price." He added that the corporation could make rates cheaper than its competitors.

With reference to the International steel rail pool, the witness was asked if the "understanding" with foreign manufacturers, "tended to raise the price of rails in foreign countries."

"I can't state positively that it did, but such an understanding would probably have that effect," he replied.

As to whether an "invasion of England" by American steel rail manufacturers had occurred before or after the understanding was effected, Mr. Corey said he could not remember, but presumed it was before.

John S. Grasty, professor of geology at the University of Virginia, was called at the afternoon session to testify as to the value of the iron ores held by the Tennessee Coal and Iron company at the time it was taken over by the steel corporation.

New York, Jan. 27.—Cross examined by C. A. Severance, attorney for the defendants Mr. Corey testified that after the panic of 1907, the steel corporation refused to reduce the wages of its employees, although requested to by other manufacturers who had made reductions.

"We have not gone into the question of labor," said Judge Dickinson, objecting on the ground that the question was irrelevant.

"No you don't dare to," retorted the steel corporation's attorney.

ONE DOSE MAKES INDIGESTION GO

All stomach distress quickly ended with "Pape's Diacapsin."

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain
one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diacapsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; it's harmlessness; it's certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs.
It's millions of cures in indigestion,
dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach troubles has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead,
ferments and sours and forms gas;
causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undiges-ted food—remember as soon as Pape's Diacapsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes.
It's promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

ILL FEELING OVER LINCOLN MEMORIAL TEMPLE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—Almost as much bitterness has been engendered
by the movement to erect a $2-million temple to the memory of Abraham Lincoln as the rail splitter himself found in congress fifty-two years ago.

Representatives from north and from south of Mason and Dixon's line already have verged upon personalities reminiscent of secession days,
and before the question comes to a vote the debate is likely to be enlivened
by the waving of the bloody shirt.
The opponents of the memorial
temple, recommended by the fine arts commission, of which the late D. H.
Burnham was president, and in turn
by the Lincoln memorial commission,
of which President Taft is chairman,
advocate a national boulevard from Washington to Gettysburg as a tribute to the great emancipator. This plan, it is charged, has the special backing of Maryland and Pennsylvania
real estate speculators.

In addition it is alleged that those who oppose any memorial to Lincoln are behind the Gettysburg highway plan, knowing its triumph in the house would mean the postponement of the whole preparation indefinitely.

The opponents of the memorial
temple plan prevented consideration of the bill Wednesday by a filibuster
and the northerners, led by Representative Mann, retaliated today with a filibuster of their own.

Taking advantage of every possible
technicality of the rules Mr. Mann compelled the house to put in four hours approving the journal, a formality usually completed in four minutes.

Speaker Clark was compelled to allow half a dozen roll calls of forty minutes each and the journal was only approved after the speaker ruled
one of Mann's motions as dilatory, and the appeal from the decision of the chair as "more dilatory."

Mr. Mann frankly confessed that the filibuster will be continued until the democrats in opposition consent to a consideration of the Lincoln memorial.

CLIMBS MOUNTAINS JUST LIKE MAN

Reno, Nev., Jan. 27.—Living in the mountain fastnesses in the woods,
two miles from Verdi, Nevada, hemmed in by the snow, Mrs. Darley Zimmerman Fuller, of Cincinnati and New York, has acquired a residence in Nevada for the purpose of securing a divorce from Bayard Clarke Fuller, prominent politician of New York City and former member of the board of health of that city.

Mrs. Fuller is a mountain climber, and joined an expedition of scientists who made researches in the Mt. Mc-Kinley country. She proved to be one of the bravest members of the party.
When Mrs. Fuller came to Reno she erected a cabin in the mountains oak of Verdi and established a home for herself and daughter, who is nearly five years old. In spite of the recent storms which piled the mountain
snow in drifts against the little cabin, Mrs. Fuller remained at her mountain retreat, and would use skis in order to travel to Verdi to secure provisions going alone and unprotected. Her divorce complaint has just been filed.
She asserts her husband deserted her.
She asks custody of the daughter.
The marriage took place in Cleveland,
Ohio, seven years ago. Mrs. Fuller was formerly Darley Zimmerman, of Cincinnati. She is a young woman of attractive beauty.

MUST STOP SMOKING.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, wants better air in the senate chamber. With this in view he introduced a resolution forbidding smoking in the senate
at any time by any person.

At present the only time senators can smoke on the floor is when the senate is in executive session. The cloakrooms are used at other times.
The resolution was referred to the committee to be appointed to investigate a means for better ventilating
the senate.

SIMPLICITY TO BE WATCHWORD

THE BIG FEATURE OF THE INAUGURAL SEASON BEING GIVEN UP, IT IS THE INTENTION TO CARRY ON EVERYTHING
ON THE SIMPLICITY PLAN.

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, Jan. 27.—President-elect Woodrow Wilson did well to give up the inaugural ball. He favors simplicity. There is nothing simple about this quadrennial performance. It has always been a rather complicated affair.

In the first place the affair grafted on the government by using the pension office. This has always necessitated the interruption of business for about ten days with incidental damage to the pension building which the government afterward was called upon to pay. Every time the appropriation has been made members of the committee have sworn that that time should be the last.

In the second place the affair was a graft upon the general public. People were charged five dollars for a ticket, in return for which they could not get a chance to dance because the floor always is too crowded. They could not get near the refreshment room for the same reason and they generally could get no more than a passing glimpse of the president-elect, who, with his wife, is accompanied to enter about 11 p. m. and exit about 11:02 p. m.

The music has generally been granted from the marine band and the Fort Meyer barracks, together with a volunteer organization of singers. Owing to which various grants the inaugural ball usually turns out "a financial success." The last one paid a profit of $24,000.

Now, it is important that the inaugural ball should pay, since a profit is relied upon by the prominent citizens who have "public-spiritedly" subscribed to the "expenses" of the inaugural ceremonies, but who never expect to pay their subscriptions, and in past years have not been called upon to do so. From the inaugural ball and the profits of the concert where the Marine band and other public wage-slaves play, and to which the public is admitted at a dollar per head (the last performance netted $14,000), the inaugural managers pay for the construction of the grandstands which, after reserving for themselves and friends the choice seats, they sell to the general public at from $2 to $5 a seat. These are constructed along the public reservations and in front of public buildings,
the property of the government,
which privilege they get without charge.

Thus it happens—or has happened in past years—that the inaugural ceremonies pay their way and this is one reason why prominent citizens tear one another's hair, as in the recent Jordan-Stellwagen-etc. exhibition in order to get the appointment as chairman and managing committee
for this event.

Imagine the consternation in the minds of these gentlemen when Woodrow Wilson's order for simplicity came along. But think what their sufferings were when he directed that the inaugural ball be cut out!
With this affair abolished the prominent citizens who had subscribed to the inaugural might have to pay the amount they subscribed and which had stood opposite their names in the enlarged type in the local daily press. Dreadful thought!

That is why the inaugural committee has suddenly lost its interest and enthusiasm. They met, after the note received from Trenton, and solemnly resolved that the whole affair was up to congress. If there could not be a ball, of course there could not be a reception in the capitol and of course a reception in the capitol changed the jurisdiction
from the local merchants to the members of the house and senate. They washed their hands of all responsibility.

But so did congress. Murray Crane and Lee Overman said it was true they are members of a committee on inauguration, but they never had anything to do with managing the ceremonies and find nothing in the constitution to justify activities on their part in this behalf, especially when the elected candidate is a progressive democrat. So now it is up to the suffragettes, who have got permission to use the avenue and who are prepared to do a fine stunt on inauguration eve. It is understood that one of the symbolical floats in their parade will represent a committee of Washington's prominent citizens digging down into their pockets and paying subscriptions to the inaugural fund. The person taking this touching part will wear crepe.

Pimples Source of Great Danger

May be Means of Absorbing Disease Germs in Most Unexpected Manner.

Bid Farewell to All Blood and Skin Diseases.

The research laboratory of The Swift Specific Co. has collected a vast amount of information regarding the spread of blood diseases. In thousands of instances the most violent types have been the result of coming in contact with disease
germs in public places, and the apparently insignificant pimple has been the cause. It spreads with astonishing rapidity, even infecting the entire system
in a few days.

It is fortunate, however, that there is a remedy to cope quickly and thoroughly with such a condition, and thanks to the energy of its producers the famous S. S. S. may now be had at almost any drug store in the civilized world.

This preparation stands alone among specific remedies as a blood purifier. It is somewhat revolutionary in its composition, since it accomplishes all that was ever claimed for mercury, iodides, arsenic and other destructive mineral drugs, and yet it is absolutely a purely vegetable product. There are more cases of articular rheumatism, locomotor ataxia, paralysis, neuritis and similar diseases resultant from the use of minerals than from disease germs direct. These facts are brought out in a highly interesting book compiled by the medical department of
The Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg.,
Atlanta, Ga. It is mailed free, together with a special letter of advice to all who are struggling with a blood disease.
Get a $1.00 bottle of S. S. S. to-day of your druggist. It will surprise you with its wonderful action in the blood.

DEATH'S CUE CALLED HIM.

London, Jan. 27.—August Van Blieck, famous violinist and actor, died
on the stage at the Brighton Hippodrome.

When half way through the performance of the "Master Musician"
Mr. Van Blieck fell back in his chair and was carried off the stage while the curtain was being lowered. He had been appearing for some time against his doctor's advice and his wife's entreaties.

Van Blieck, who was 62 years old,
gained wide fame through his play,
"The Broken Melody," in which he had appeared more than 6,000 times.
By a tragic coincidence, the actor
had reached a point in the sketch where he was supposed to fall back in a chair, overcome by illness and hunger, when the actual collapse occurred. The audience left the theater without knowing of the real tragedy.

AGED MAN HURLED OFF CAR.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—A man nearly 75 years old boarded a car at Sixty-first street and Michigan avenue. He felt in his pockets. He had no change and offered the conductor a $5 bill. According to witnesses the conductor used abusive language and while the car was in motion threw the aged passenger to the street. The man's head was badly cut by the fall and he was unconscious when taken away in an ambulance. Passengers called a policeman and asked him to arrest the conductor. He refused.

JUST AS EASY FOR LUTHER MCARTY TO BUST

HEARTS AS FACES, DECLARES WOMAN WRITER

THREE FRIENDS.

After Following New Heavyweight Champion, Estelle Lawton Lindsey, New Mexican Correspondent, Tells of Some of the Amusing Events When Feminine Admirers Trained Cowboy-Fighter.

By Estelle Lawton Lindsey.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 27.—Luther McCarty, heavyweight champion of the world, ex-cowboy and all-around good fellow, has punched his way into the affections of femininity as easily as, with his good right fist, he went through the face and pugilistic reputation of the sad-eyed sport, Al Palmer. McCarty is in the east now.

It is a startling leap from the back of a Nebraska broncho to the limelight of international pugilistic fame, reflected in the myriad facets of a diamond-studded belt. Luther McCarty took it with a nonchalant smile, finding it pleasant, no doubt, but wisely concealing his satisfaction.

Venice likes beauty; Venice, by the way, is a seaside resort of Los Angeles.

Luther McCarty took a daily run on the Venice beach. Was it his fault that his splendid person was of more interest than griddle cakes? There are husbands generous enough to exonerate Luther from all blame for scorched cakes; all that can be charged against him is that he runs—and smiles. The heads, young and old, sleek and fluffy, dark and fair, pop out of windows automatically as Luther runs, just as they nod automatically while he dances.

ADONIS, ALAS, IS MARRIED. True, many men dance on the floor of the pier pavilion, but there is dancing and dancing. Six feet three of flexible muscle devastating over a polished floor in corduroys, flannel shirt, flying bandana and high-heeled cowboy boots, set off with jangling spurs, is not common even in California, and when the man inside the costume is the man on the inside of the champion's belt—well, the havoc, the wide-spread devastation, the wreckage of affection can only be compared to the carnage committed on the countenance of the aforesaid Palmer.

The feminine flutter of the beach towns crystallized into an admiring circle about the flying spurred feet, then somebody threw a bomb; the pugilistic Adonis was married. There was a wife, had been a separation, would be a reconciliation. Alack and alas—but the ladies might look; and 265 pounds of prizefighting cowboy fills the eye satisfactorily.

Luther McCarty carries his honors solemnly. I saw him run the gauntlet on the pier on an evening when the wind gave all its energies to crinkling up the marrow in your bones. I, with the other folks on the pier, was waiting to see the lion. Groups of girls and women ranged themselves along the fronts of the concessions, and I gathered that something was brewing.

Suddenly a great touring car sped purring on to the pier and the girls all gasped. In a flash that auto had gathered a tall tale into a comet of the first magnitude.

"There he is," sighed a gum-chewing lassie to her bespectacled neighbor. "Ain't he just grand?"

"He sure is," was the fervent response, "an' just look at them clothes. I bet he's going to a supper at the Ship cafe."

He did not go to the Ship cafe. Instead he and his manager pursued their undisturbed way toward the end of the pier, followed at a respectful distance by the component parts of the comet's tail.

"Aw," jubilated a freckle-faced miss, "he's going to be photographed. They are going in the gallery," and the satellites surged toward the photographer's. Half way they encountered the manager of greatness returning to the waiting auto, and turned to investigate the why of affairs. In a few seconds the manager returned to the gallery bearing with him a velvet box.

"It's his costume," said Freckles, ecstatically.

"Aw, so fall off the pier," sneered the cap. "It's the belt. Let's go in." Naturally I tagged along. There was no one in the reception room of the place, but the girls, not to be daunted, begged to be allowed to witness the photographing.

"But, ladies," protested the photographer, rumpling his locks wildly. "We will be quiet, we just want to look on," explained the girls.

"But these are business photographs," argued the artist.

"Yes, sir, but we won't bother anything," they persisted.

"You don't understand," wailed the photographer of royalty. "Mr. McCarty is going to wear his belt—and—er—"

"Ladies," said the manager politely, appearing at the door, "I am sorry, but Mr. McCarty is wearing the diamond belt, his own looks, and not a great deal besides. These are sporting page pictures, and—" but the girls had fled.

Half an hour later the hero passed between the lines of waiting admirers stopping in friendly fashion to speak and exhibit the precious belt. Caesar, his bulldog, trotted at his heels, and I was informed that a monkey named "Jim Flynn" waited the return of the champion at his splendid apartments.

The last I saw of the heavyweight he was ambling down the street, and a girl at the salt water table stand reached across the counter and gave him a parting tap on his victorious arm.

Now, I submit that busting Nebraska steers may be fine for a healthy occupation and some exciting, but it can't be compared to "busting" prize pigs and the excitement that follows such events for "busting" hearts.

FEARS ATHLETICS, TIGERS 2ND DIVISION

Holland, Mich., Jan. 27.—Neal Ball, hero of the unassisted triple play and a member of the champion Red Sox, called on his many friends in Holland last week.

Ball at one time was the star pitcher on Holland's independent team and, as a member of that team, was pitted against the All-Americans in a game at Grand Rapids which he lost by a 2 to 1 score.

Ball is wearing a diamond-studded emblem presented by the national commission to each member of the world's champions and another containing a still larger diamond presented by the Boston club to each of its members.

Ball believes the Red Sox will repeat next season, but looks for Connie Mack's Athletics to give them a close shave. Washington does not look nearly so dangerous to him as the Athletics and he expects the White Sox to beat out the Senators.

According to Ball's way of figuring, Detroit will head the second division with Cleveland, St. Louis and New York fighting it out for the other three positions.

Lajoie Signs A Contract

Cleveland, O., Jan. 27.—Napoleon Lajoie will be a member of the 1913 Naps. The great second baseman affixed his signature to a Cleveland baseball company contract at the office of President C. W. Somers, Cuyahoga building.

The terms of the document were not announced by Larry, who wore a broad smile of satisfaction, and President Somers also appeared to be happy. It is believed the big fellow signed for the same salary that he has commanded for several years, $5000 a year. It was the fourth contract that Larry signed with the Cleveland club.

There has been considerable talk since the close of the season that Larry would be traded or sold by President Somers, but the Naps' owner never had any intention of disposing of Cleveland's baseball landmark. There also had been some rumors that Larry's salary would be pruned by one-third or one-half if he was retained by the Naps, but once again the wisecracks were off in their reckoning.

President Somers considers Larry a valuable asset to the Naps and pays him a salary commensurate with his playing ability and drawing powers both at home and on the road. It is a certainty that Lajoie will receive $9000 for his services the coming season and it is probable that he not only signed for the coming season but 1914 as well.

IN SPITE OF MUFFED FLY. Los Angeles, Jan. 27.—Fred Snodgrass, center fielder of the New York Nationals, whose muffed fly ball in the deciding game of the world's

DON'T WANT MUCH FOR EARL MOORE

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 27.—Manager Doolin, of the Phillies, today declared he is prepared to have a trade talk with Johnny Evers, of the Cubs, providing Evers sees his way clear to give the Phillies Third Baseman Zimmerman and Pitcher Cheney in exchange for Earl Moore.

The Cubs have been after Earl Moore for some time, and while before there has been an awful howl from the Philadelphia fans when there was any talk of trading the old stand-by pitcher, both Locke and Doolin are prepared to tell the fans that they could get the best end of the deal suggested.

"I haven't any deal on with the Cubs just now," said Doolin, "but may have later. Sometime ago Manager Evers wrote me suggesting a trade. He said he had a surplus of outfielders and wanted some pitchers. He also suggested that I had some pitchers I might let go, and that I appeared to be in need of outfield material. I haven't replied to the letter yet, but Zimmerman and Cheney for Moore wouldn't look so bad to me."

Moore hasn't given the Phillies any real high-grade twirling for the last two years. Last season he just started to hit his stride when a hot liner hit his pitching hand, and he was put out of commission for several weeks. But even now, by the fans, Moore is looked upon as one of the pitching stars of the Phillies.

President Locke returned from Pittsburgh today, but failed to make any announcement as to the plans of the spring training trip on which the Phillies are scheduled to start on February 25. It now looks as if the team would go to Southern pines, where Doolin will have to house the members in three or four cottages, being unable to get accommodations for them under one roof.

STONEWALL INFIELD INTACT.

Philadelphia, Penn., Jan. 27.—Frank Baker, the home run swatter of the Athletics, has attached his name to his contract, keeping intact the infield valued by Connie Mack at $100,000 of any man's money. In sending in his contract Baker explained that he had been away on a duck-hunting trip and had put his signature to the contract immediately upon his return.

FAVORS ELECTROCUTION.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—Electrocution instead of hanging would be the punishment for first degree murder in the District of Columbia if a bill passed by the house today, and already passed by the senate, is signed by President Taft.

INSURGENTS SAY THEY'VE WON A "VICTORY"

Denver, Colo., Jan. 27.—The chief clerk and docket clerk will make up the day's calendar of bills in the order in which they are reported from committees. This was the announcement made by Speaker O. C. Skinner today in connection with the attempt of the so-called "insurgents" to enlarge the committee on rules, which heretofore has made up the calendar.

With the promulgation of this order the "insurgents" let it be known that they considered it a victory and would discontinue their efforts in regard to the rules committee.

Under the speaker's ruling the docket will be made up by Chief Clerk R. P. Rubin and Docket Clerk Ethel Brandt.

Mrs. Frances Lee today offered a resolution in the house providing for an investigation into the affairs and management of the State Insane asylum at Pueblo. The resolution is similar to the one presented by Senator Helen E. Robinson, and defeated in the house last week after it had passed the senate.

The senate this morning took up the reply of the supreme court, in which the court refuses to take jurisdiction in the controversy over the succession to the lieutenant governorship.

In its reply, the court asked the senate to withdraw its request for an opinion. Over this there was a spirited debate. Senator Parrish declared the senate was a coordinate branch of state government with the supreme court, and that tribunal had no right to say he doubted as to the succession to the lieutenant governorship was not a "sufficiently solemn occasion" to call for an opinion.

"The court should be reminded that the senate is the only body that has power to impeach," he said.

Senator Gorman said the court was hiding behind its judicial dignity and should be compelled to render an opinion.

Senator Tierney introduced a resolution declaring it to be the opinion of the senate that the occasion upon which the court was asked to render judgment was "solemn." Finally this resolution, together with the request of the supreme court, was referred to the judiciary committee.

INSURRECTIONS IN PHILIPPINES ARE DENIED

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—Manuel E. Quezon, the Philippine representative in the house, made a speech today denying the reports that Aguinaldo and other native leaders were forming a revolution.

Quezon discussed reports, published today, of a battle between American troops and Moro natives, in which several troops were killed.

"Coupled with this report," declared Quezon, "was the statement that Aguinaldo and other Philippine leaders were engaged in political activities and are preparing for war. This is not true. For the last two months, since the democrats won at the polls, those reports have come from the Philippines, because the democrats are pledged to give the Philippines their independence."

"These encounters between Moros and American troops have therefore been concealed when it was in some body's interest to conceal them and they are now given out when it is somebody's interest to give them out."

"The Filipinos are not preparing for war. They have faith in the American people and they expect their liberty at the hands of the American people. Especially they will not fight since the democratic party, pledged to Philippine independence, is coming into power."

Quezon pledged the fighting force of the Philippines to the United States, "if you ever get into war with the east."

GRAUSTARK AT ELK'S THEATRE FEBRUARY 7

The above likeness of the popular author Geo. Barr McCutcheon is an exact reproduction of the only likeness of him made in recent years. McCutcheon having an aversion of being photographed, the above sketch was made by the well known pen artist James Montgomery Flagg who caught McCutcheon in a characteristic attitude. McCutcheon is in Europe at present, at the seat of the Turko-Balkan war, getting material for a new novel, Miss Grace Hayward the dramatist of McCutcheon's most popular book "Graustark" the dramatization of which appears at the Elk's theatre on February 7th will dramatize the new novel, and will leave for Europe shortly to go over the scenes and locale of the story, in order to get the proper atmosphere and local color for the dramatization. The United Play company will produce the new play early next season.

TWO SOLDIERS WERE FROZEN TO DEATH.

Billings, Mont., Jan. 27.—The bodies of two privates of the company of soldiers stationed at Fort Yellowstone, in the Yellowstone national park, were found frozen to death today, twenty-five miles from the fort. The men left the fort on duty January 22, during a blizzard.

"ABSTAINERS" WIN VICTORY IN IOWA

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 27.—The temperance advocates in the lower house of the Iowa legislature won a decisive victory over the liquor forces today, when the vote was taken on the memorial to congress asking for the enactment of the Kenyon-Shepherd bill, prohibiting the shipment of liquor into dry territory.

The resolution for the memorial was adopted by a vote of 70 to 24.

The senate designated tomorrow as "refugee day" when it adopted a concurrent resolution to hear Mrs. G. Willard Stout, of the Illinois State Federation of Women's Clubs on the subject.

OPPOSE SHORT HOUR LAW

Denver, Colo., Jan. 27.—Trainmen employed by the Denver City Tramway company have decided to protest against the passage of the bill introduced by Representative Kavanaugh, of Colorado Springs, providing that no person in the employ of a street railway company shall work more than ten out of every 24 hours.

The men claim they are satisfied with present working hours and stand to lose 40 cents per man a day if the bill as now framed becomes a law.

Railroad representatives filed protests against bills before the joint labor committee providing for three brakemen on freight trains of 25 or more cars. On the other hand the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen argues that the bills should be made to include both freight and passenger trains.

FORESTERS FROM SEVEN STATES MEET IN DENVER.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 27.—Methods of aiding in the settlement of home-steads within the limit of national forests, were discussed today at the annual convention of forest supervisors of district No. 2. The forest service was given an appropriation by congress last summer of $35,000 for the purpose of classifying forest lands available for agriculture. An appropriation of $100,000 has been asked of congress at the present session.

Until recent months, the policy of the forestry service was not to segregate agricultural lands until application for homestead rights was made. The present system, however, is to classify the land in advance, and throw it open to entry.

The convention which opened here today consists of delegates from Colorado, Idaho, Wyoming, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Minnesota, and Michigan.

THORP'S STATUS TO BE DETERMINED.

New York, Jan. 27.—Whether the Indian marvel, James Thorpe, is to be branded as a professional or exonerated of charges brought against him, may be soon known. The registration committee of the Amateur Athletic union took up his case at a special meeting here today.

Glenn Warner, the Carlisle coach, arrived in New York today and immediately held a conference with J. E. Sullivan, secretary of the A. A. U. Should the charges of playing professional baseball be sustained Thorpe will lose his title as the world's champion amateur athlete and will be deprived of the trophies he won at the Olympic games.

FOUR DAYS' DEBATE ON HOME RULE BILL.

London, Jan. 27.—The four days' debate in the second reading stage of the home rule bill began in the house of lords this evening. The adoption and the rejection of the measure were moved in speeches along familiar lines.

As the rejection of the bill in the house of lords is certain, and as its defeat will produce no immediate political consequence, the upper house was not crowded and the debate was languid.

The two major league clubs play almost 2500 games each season, and no better illustration of the battle between batter and pitcher can be given than the statement that in the two leagues but 10 one-hit games were pitched last summer.

Cy Morgan, of the Athletics, pitched the first one-hit game of 1912, and Washington was his victim. This was April 12; the score was 3 to 1 and Morgan fanned 11 Senators.

May 9, Otto Hess, of the Boston Nationals, held the Cubs to one hit, winning 2 to 1.

June 23, Jimmy Lavender, of the Cubs, held Pittsburgh to a hit, winning 3 to 0.

June 29, Joe Wood, of the champion Boston, held the New York

Yankees to a single in seven innings, winning 6-0.

July 6, Jean Dubuc, of the Detroit club, beat the White Sox 4-0, allowing one hit.

August 16, Walter Johnson, Washington, held the White Sox to a hit, winning 4-0.

Art Fromme, of the Reds, held the Giants to one hit August 27, winning 2-0.

On September 18, Carroll Brown, of the Athletics, held Chicago to a lonely hit in eight innings, winning 12-0.

September 25, Carl Weiman, of the Browns, held Chicago to one hit in seven innings, winning 12-0.

Ralph Works, former Detroit pitcher, with Cincinnati, held the Cubs to a hit in seven innings and won 12-1.

JUDGE RICHARDSON FAVORS IT

THE LEGISLATURE IS URGED TO ESTABLISH A "CAPITAL CITY IMPROVEMENT COMMISSION TO FURTHER THE INTERESTS OF SANTA FE AS THE CAPITAL OF NEW MEXICO"

The following interesting and valuable letter has been received from Judge Richardson, of Roswell, touching a question that is just now uppermost in the minds of the people, not only of Santa Fe, but the state at large:

"Roswell, N. M., Jan. 21, 1913. Hon. A. B. Reichen, President Chamber of Commerce, Santa Fe, New Mexico.

"My Dear Sir: Referring to the matter of the Capital City Improvement Commission, about which there was some talk at your splendid banquet in Santa Fe a week ago, you are advised that it is my idea that the legislature should be persuaded at its present session to enact a law providing for such a commission of three members to be appointed by the governor, one a resident of the city of Santa Fe, one a resident of the county of Santa Fe outside of the city and one from the state at large. It should be the duty of said commission to take charge and to further the general improvement of the city of Santa Fe as the capital of New Mexico.

"There should be some streets widened; some new ones made and all of them well paved and the general pavement conditions of the city improved. There should be a system of boulevards around and through the city; a third of the expenses of this improvement should be borne by the city, a third by the county and a third by the state. Now, some might suggest, and I am not unfriendly to that feature of it, that one half should be borne by the city and county and one half by the state, using the convict labor on the part of the state. Of course, I am assuming that very soon Santa Fe and Santa Fe county will be relieved of its old railroad bonded indebtedness and that this slight additional expense in this improvement would not be very heavy upon the taxpayers. I would not impose it all in one year, but would have it run through a period of from seven to ten years.

"I see many evidences of civic improvement about Santa Fe accomplished and others outlined by her citizens. I realize that it has been somewhat of an uphill proposition and I would like for some of her dreams, as well as the dreams of some citizens outside of Santa Fe, to be realized within the few brief years allotted to a few of the state citizens who are interested. In carrying out the plan of improvement, I would preserve all of the ancient landmarks and many of the old features of the city just as much as possible. It is true we want new ideas and modern thought in many things, but it is not the writer's intention to destroy the old, but to preserve the ancient.

"The capital city belongs to the state and the people of the state. Her citizens go there for public business and it should be an attractive and comfortable place for the entire year and I believe a plan can be adopted and worked out that will make Santa Fe the prettiest capital city west of the Mississippi river.

"The movement should be state-wide and therefore in connection with the improvement of the Capital City, I suggest that all of the state roads be radiated from that center to reach not only the cities of the state, but to reach the 'beauty spots' and 'rest places' such as the Jemez, the Upper Pecos, the Gila and the Mescalero park (Lincoln county) and many others for which we hope very soon to secure through congress the recognition of as national parks. A plan and an operation similar is now being attempted in Colorado. Enclosed you will find a clipping from the Denver News of recent date with reference to Estes park to be called the Rocky Mountain National park. Of course, this national park proposition must be taken up through congress, but our plan of state capital and state-wide improvement, such as I have indicated, should now be taken up and rapidly pushed along some such lines as I have indicated. We realize that very soon congress is going to do something in a large way along the line of 'good roads' and general internal improvement of like character. New Mexico must be in line to receive her part and to get full benefit from this movement. I am one of those who believe that very soon a movement will be made for a transcontinental road and we must try to bring it our way and to secure our part of all of those things that naturally follow a national movement of this kind.

"It is time that New Mexico people should be at home and looking after the affairs of their own household. I sometimes think that too many of us spend too much time and money elsewhere and that some of our national officials are not quite close enough to the interests of our own people or some of these things would be now well under way. While I desire to advance and to shake up the old bones, I, at the same time, want to preserve to our people the ancient landmarks of our ancient valuable history, in other words, to blend the old and new.

"Something has been said and some idea has been abroad that I had advocated a separate district for Santa Fe similar to the District of Columbia, and that it be put under a commission form of government; that was not my idea at all and that is a matter, I think, entirely with the people of Santa Fe as to what form of government they desire. I do not think the citizens of the state outside of Santa Fe should have anything to say with reference to Santa Fe's form of government.

"It has seemed to me that Santa Fe was not in position to move in these matters because it might be taken that they desire a local advantage and therefore you will pardon this voice, apparently from the wild, which is lifted not only to help Santa Fe, but to build a great new state.

"Very truly yours,

EVOLUTION OF DESIGN WILL BE STUDIED

A class is to be organized by the School of American Archaeology for the study of the Evolution of Design.

Mr. K. M. Chapman, whose work in primitive art is well known to those who attended the summer session of 1911, will conduct the work.

Mr. Chapman has devoted much time to the subject and during the past year has continued his work in the museums and libraries of the east.

While the greater part of the course will bear upon the design of the prehistoric and modern Pueblos, much ground will be covered in preliminary work which reveals in a fascinating way the growth of decorative systems among various primitive peoples.

The library of the school now contains many valuable works bearing upon the subject and the growing collections of the Museum of New Mexico afford much new material for the work.

A meeting will be held at the museum for the purpose of organizing the class on Thursday, January 30th, at 5 p. m. All who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

"NOT IN POOL," SAYS PRESTON

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—Andrew Preston, of Boston, president of the United Fruit company, operating 81 steamers in the freight and passenger trade between the United States and the West Indies, told the house shipping trust committee today that his company was not a party to any pooling arrangement or agreement as to rates and service and received no rebates or special rates from railroads.

Mr. Preston, questioned about the organization of the United Fruit company, with a capital of $20,000,000 and its absorption of fruit companies with steamers between the West Indies and New York, Boston and Philadelphia denied that the company used unfair tactics to crush rivals.

DIVORCE CASE CONTINUED

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 27.—Judge Oscar M. Head, in the circuit court today continued until February 7 the hearing of arguments on motion of State's Attorney Hoyne, to expunge from the records all proceedings which resulted in the granting of a divorce to Mrs. Grace Brown Guggenheim from William Guggenheim on the ground that the decree was obtained fraudulently. The hearing was postponed at the request of Attorney S. S. Gregory, one of the counsel for Guggenheim, who said he was engaged in the trial of another case. Representatives of State's Attorney Hoyne were in court to proceed with the arguments and opposed the delay.

TAFT COMMUTES SENTENCE.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—President Taft today commuted to 18 months the sentence of six years imprisonment on William Adler, a New Orleans banker convicted of misapplication of funds of a national bank. Adler has served about a year.

Nature's Remedies For Disease.

Every Fall in olden times the family medicine chest was replenished with roots, herbs and barks, nature's remedies for disease. Scullap for nervousness, Pennyroyal for colds, Clover Blossoms for the blood, Thoroughwort for colds, Wormwood and Balm of Gilead Buds for sprains, and so on. It is interesting to note that the most successful remedy for female ills the world has ever known had its origin nearly forty years ago from roots and herbs and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made today in immense quantities from those same roots and herbs with extreme accuracy, care and cleanliness. The standard remedy for female ills.

A SCHOOL FOR JUDGES

The fine work of getting rid of unjust judges is proceeding hopefully in America. But—and it is a big but—we are not doing very much to establish sources of a better crop.

What will it profit a people to oust a backward-minded or class-biased judge if there isn't a supply of better material with which to replace him? The medical schools are turning out doctors with a passion for social service; doctors who are so keen to help to prevent diseases that they are actually working themselves out of fees. Even the theological schools are graduating young men for the ministry who think a great deal more of the rights of humanity than of the way to get a fat living by cultivating the rich.

But where is the American law school which makes protection of human rights its chief objective; which trains its pupils to face with sympathy and insight the new needs of our industrial civilization?

Must we go to Imperial Germany for a lesson? In one of the German states there was the head of a school of law a man with an unusual vision. Instead of keeping his pupils in the class room to dig and dose among dusty books, he sent them out, during the later months of their schooling, out into the factories and workshops, to mingle with the workers and to study at first hand the operation of Germany's social and industrial legislation.

There they learned what law books couldn't teach. They learned the human problems of industry; the new facts in a changing order which call for the rehashing of legal concepts.

It wasn't long before these young men were writing reports on factory laws and regulations—reports full of meaty and momentous suggestions. Skilled experts backed by plenty of money had taken care to present ably the employers' side before the makers and interpreters of the law. These young men took it upon themselves to learn and to present, not as partisans, but because they believed in justice, the largely unrepresented side of the workers.

It came to pass that the makers of judges in Germany were impressed by the novelty and value of this field work of these modern-minded law students. And it wasn't long before the investigators were being named for positions on the bench. Thus, without planning, but quite as a matter of natural evolution, what had begun as a school for the training of law-years changed over into a school for the training of judges.

As he sentenced his 34,000th man to a term in the house of correction a Boston judge was asked by a social worker if he had ever visited the prison. "Why, no," he replied. "Why should I?" Yet every day he was dooming fellow humans to that grim and futile place. Perhaps that was one reason why a Boston lawyer asked the Massachusetts legislature to require every judge to serve a term in jail before being permitted to send others there.

We need in this country some genuine schools for judges.

THEY ARE MEETING DEFEAT

The progressive party won a notable victory in South Dakota last week in the election of Thomas Sterling to the United States senate. Mr. Sterling has allied himself always heretofore with the republican party, but is a genuine believer in progressivism and will be in the ranks of the progressive movement in the next congress.

He succeeds Gamble, a thorough standpatter, who has been with his party always, right or wrong, unwavering in his allegiance to orders of the party leaders and one of the loudest contingent which has disintegrated with remarkable rapidity as each election has occurred.

One after another these men have fallen under the peoples' score and have been utterly repudiated. Barrows of Michigan, Curtis of Kansas, Bulley of Connecticut, Briggs of New Jersey, Paynter of Kentucky, Brown of Nebraska, Gamble of South Dakota, one after another, as their time for reelection came have been decisively defeated and marked with the disapproval of the people of their respective states.

It cannot be said that there is no significance in this and it cannot be denied that the American voters are watching the record being made by their chosen representatives, and are taking the ultimate action into their own hands.

It is not alone true of the representatives in our national legislatures, but in those of the state as well, and in the work ahead in our own legislature now in session, the members will do well to profit by the lessons that are being taught, and have some regard for things beyond selfishness, glory, or what may be deemed for the "good of the party." The demand for something beside political success of individuals or the satisfying of greed, is all too apparent to be disregarded, and those who fail to see the signs of the times will find themselves in the discard in the elections of the future.

THE SAME BOSSES

The so-called "caucus" of last week was something strange in legislative annals, but New Mexico has not yet become fully emancipated from the old caucus rule. The oldtime bosses were in the so-called "caucus," which was supposed to be for legislators only, and in spite of the stinging defeat of last fall they seem to fail to realize that a change has come.

It may as well be understood that no "reconciliation" can be accomplished, no "union" of progressives and republicans can be brought about in this state until these arrogant and discredited bosses and legislative superintendents are eliminated and a new order of things has become established.

THEY HAVE NOT LEARNED

It certainly looks, from present indications, as if another bitter defeat is in store for the G. O. P. in New Mexico, inasmuch as the old time bosses are still in the party saddle and are still engaged in moulding the work of the legislature and attempting to control the personal action of its members. So long as they are permitted to retain leadership and manipulate action, just so long will the stamp of republican organization be doomed to defeat. The people of New Mexico have had enough.

The weak knees thus early shown to be the possession of certain members of the present house of representatives in this state, will hardly be strong enough to carry them through another election, as the people will not be looking for cripples to make the race twenty months hence.

Some of our innocent and guileless legislators who have been lured into action by promises, may find, when the voters pass upon their credentials next time that the promises have lost their power to deliver the goods so freely and glibly promised.

They adjourned over 'till today. Well, of course, they needed a rest after the very arduous labors of last week. They introduced a big gist of bills, you know.

A New Haven clergyman found twenty pearls in an oyster. It could not have been at a church supper as at that gathering he could not even have found the oyster.

Queen Mary's hobby is saving silver. Only queens can do that. The rest of us have to spend ours.

How welcome must have been the "day of rest" to those poor tired, over-worked legislators.

REMARKS FROM THE SIDE LINE

Let us now hold a caucus.

A baby was sent by parcel post in Ohio. After all, the fool killer should not be entirely obsolete.

Allah must have it in for Constantinople. The city is now ridden first, then an earthquake finishes the job.

Mr. Taft will receive $5000 a year as a Yale law professor. Mr. Taft once had a better position on the bench.

Taxation is the issue in Colorado too. Colorado has produced its Goggenheims. The loss said about the New Mexico situation is real charity.

The federals and rebels in Mexico are negotiating for peace which indicates that both sides are running a trifle shy on trifles just at this season of the year.

Now that the Young Turks have control of the Ottoman empire, all Europe begins to wake up and take notice. The Young Turk, when not dead, is a bad citizen.

President-elect Wilson visited Ellis Island and saw the incoming future citizens. Did he pause to ponder on how many of them would learn to vote the straight democratic ticket?

New Mexico is a state, surrounded by land grants, divided in the middle by a tax grab and separated from the United States by a railroad rate. Outside of that we are alright, thank you.

The bath tub trust wants to know if there isn't some way by which it can escape from another government prosecution. The little fellow who "swiped" thirty dollars or thirty cents frequently ponders over much the same line of thought.

A Denver railroad official testifies that his company stopped giving passes to shippers and lost business thereby. It is too bad to see a railroad lose business through complying with the law. A burglar is in much the same fix—if he gets caught.

General Sikes, a real fighter of the great Civil war, has been arrested charged with misappropriation of funds. The general at his age, should be minding his peace with the world, but it seems that even some of our heroes, now and then go to the bad.

Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following resolution: "Be it resolved by the house and senate and everyone else that whereas, the former elections of Hon. Albert Bacon Fall were all legal, perfectly proper and strictly according to the rules of the game both before and after they were changed, that therefore it is not necessary for us to hold another election to fill the vacancy thus created, but be it further resolved that whereas, we have with us the Hon. Albert Bacon Fall, absent from the senate because of the business of the senate, and whereas, there being nothing to do except such other work as might properly come before a legislature, therefore be it resolved that we do now proceed to ballot for senator to fill the term beginning on March 4, 1913, not because there is any vacancy but because," Referred to the committee on railroads. The clerk will read the next bill.

A CAUCUS.

Hill Brogan.

He sought to wear a toga; most everybody did; for a toga was the reigning style; the regulation lid; so they held a caucus. He sought to be elected to a high and mighty place and hoped no one would beat him in the mad exciting race; so they held a caucus. He talked about the future of the state that he could make and a failure to elect him would result in a mistake; so they held a caucus. The boys all went to see it for it was quite a meet and all knew that to miss it might deprive him of that seat; so they held a caucus. Some one started talking and some one else joined in until their oratory made a loud and mighty din; but it was a caucus. And when they all had spoken and the smoke had cleared away; the stars above were dimming before the light of day; for they had held a caucus. And so he got a toga which was what he started for and the boys who held the caucus were renowned for ever more; for they had held a caucus.

EXTENDS TO PORTO RICO.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The supreme court held that the federal railroad safety appliance acts extend to Porto Rico.

AS THE BYSTANDER SEES IT

STOP THAT SMELL.

A high, poster fence may hide from sight the filthy accumulation that is unfit to be seen, but it cannot keep back the smell.

Going by the lot between the Catron block and the postoffice, on days when there is any dampness in the air, the smell is simply disgusting and nauseating.

All last summer it was an eyesore there, and a disgrace. Then the bill boards went up. This was an improvement, for anyone would prefer to look at pictures rather than garbage, and now we have something worse—a smell that would put a glue factory in the shade.

I went by that place last evening on my way to that building which is appropriated to the use of a postoffice and I held my breath when passing the bill boards after the first loathsome odor assailed me.

Here is a chance for investigation by the health department or the city and if they cannot accomplish anything, let the state board of health get into the game.

This thing is a public menace. We have citizens from throughout the state here. We do not want them to get any germs that would keep them from their public duties or prevent them from going home at the conclusion of their labors, in good health. Then besides, we do not want them to go away with the remembrance of that smell. It would not be a pleasant memory.

Here is one of our main traveled streets, and it is a shame and disgrace to compel those who traverse it to be forced to breathe that rotten atmosphere that is permeated by the stench from this particular spot. We are trying to make Santa Fe attractive and admired, and then permit a disgrace like this to remain uninvestigated on one of our public streets.

Is there no responsible authority that can abate this nuisance?

A FOOL BARON.

A German baron relieved himself of a few remarks the other day in San Francisco, and on board a boat coming over. The only wonder is that his loquacity did not get a jolt caused by the impact of an American fist with his apparently uncontrollable mouth.

To hear one speak lightly of our manhood naturally arouses the ire of any red blooded American. We have the highest type of woman in the world, in intellect, in refinement, in true womanly characteristics in courage, in sacrifice, and in the ability to do things. It is bad enough to hear one of her own countrymen speak lightly of her, but when it comes to a blatant baron, who feels cocky about his title and thinks it is sacred enough to shield him, no matter what he might say, he ought to be taught that, while he can belittle the qualities of his own race if he chooses, he cannot let his tongue run unrestrainedly on our women, whom we respect and admire.

This braying baron holds to the mediaeval theory that woman is inferior, and even speaks of the lack of "moral duty which holds man on a high plane."

Shades of Caesar! The high moral plane of man!

Why the baron ought to hand that to Life or Judge or some funny paper. That is the acme of rich humor, and the baron thought that he was saying something serious, with real wisdom in it.

Then he said: "The American woman may be beautiful—they cannot get away from that fact, can they?" "but she is spoiled." Well, if she is, it would be a good thing for some scientist to go about and spoil some of the women in other countries—the German baron's, for instance.

Then he says: "American men have made her a goddess." No, we haven't. She is that, and was born so. We had nothing to do with it.

Then this fool baron says: "In Germany we do not treat women as superior beings. We make them our equals by keeping them under our thumbs."

The baron is a bachelor and perhaps that is one reason why he talks so. He doesn't know what he's talking about. Perhaps he's not worth mentioning, anyway.

THE HEROINE'S EYE.

Among the great flood of short stories that are published in the modern magazine of today, are the ones that have the heroine's hair so wonderfully described—while in negligee costume, her hair is always hanging down her back in two long thick braids, and it should be gold to accentuate the milky whiteness of her skin. Of course this sounds more poetical than to say as we might have to in real life, "her wisp of hair was braided in a short pigtail, and her face shone with its nightly application of cold cream."

How often too, does the heroine's hair become unbound at a critical moment and fall luxuriantly to her waist, enveloping her like a soft cloud; it never says that a rat or a few puffs fell at the heroine's feet. In two recent stories, one girl's eyes were likened to large pansies, and another to a cologne puppy's, while the villainess has eyes like a hawk and an eagle.

These would all be ready money at a side show, according to their size and shape. A puppy's eyes are witless as far as expression is concerned and somewhat small; a pansy though beautiful to look upon would not exactly impress us as wanting to have eyes shaped like them; a hawk's eye, would be ludicrous set in the human face; we would far rather look into the black eye with its sparkle, or the deep blue or hazel eyes that are full of expression, unlike a puppy's.

One can hardly pick up any magazine, without running into one of these marvelous descriptions. We are glad that our girl of today outclasses any in modern fiction as to good looks, and is not in reality assessed of the puppy or pansy eye.

AMERICAN RACE IS DECLINING

Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 27.—That recent immigration is apparently killing off the old American stock, and that one of the most deplorable phases of modern American life from a eugenic standpoint is that college men and women are marrying in steadily decreasing numbers, were statements made by Walter F. Willcox, Cornell statistician and sociologist. He added:

"The large families of less desirable parents among the classes where surroundings are not the best, are placing a check on the progress of the country. Many civilized societies seem to be procuring mainly feeble or less desirable lines of descent. Thus the old American stock is apparently losing ground in the face of recent immigration."

"Every hundred men who graduated from Harvard twenty-five and thirty years ago have among them only about seventy-five living sons."

THREW A MATCH NEAR GASOLINE.

Joplin, Mo., Jan. 27.—A desire to smoke a cigarette caused the death of Clarence Moss, 18 years old, at Hattenville, Okla., south of here. After lighting the cigarette in a grocery, he threw the match onto the floor near a gasoline tank. The gasoline was ignited and an explosion followed. Moss was burned to the extent that he died a few hours later. The flames were extinguished before much damage was done to the store.

COMMITTEE IS APPOINTED.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—Senators Root, Bacon, Gallinger, Martin, Cummins, Reed, Nelson and Stone were today appointed a committee to attend the unveiling and dedication of the Thomas Jefferson statue at St. Louis, April 20, the 110th anniversary of the signing of the Louisiana Purchase treaty.

NORRIS BILL APPROVED.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—The Norris bill to authorize government seizure of imported merchandise controlled by a trust, or imported under illegal contracts, was approved today by the senate judiciary committee. The measure is aimed at the Brazilian coffee monopoly and has passed the house.

From 20 to 42 was the range in temperature here yesterday and the humidity, 56 per cent. At 6 a. m. today the mercury was 18 degrees. Yesterday was clear, warm and pleasant and scores of Santa Feans spent the day heretofore riding or motoring. On Saturday the temperature ranged from 19 to 42 degrees; the humidity, 50 per cent.

NEWS OF THE STATE

GROCERIES SCATTERED.

Mr. Holiday had quite an exciting runaway Wednesday when his team became frightened at Carl Veach and ran away. Making several circles through the town, they headed for home. George Champion rode after them and succeeded in lassoing them about a mile out of town and brought them back. Mr. Holiday gathered up his badly scattered groceries and went home rejoicing.—San Jon Sentinel.

NOT YET, BUT SOON.

George Mindeman, John Mueller, Albert Pietsch and John Eller, of Chicago spent Sunday and Monday at this place, and took a stroll down to the Tuenmeari irrigation proposition, expecting to make a great sugar beet country of this. The public need not get unduly excited over these reports, for George has been figuring on buying most of Quay county for the past three years, but up to the present he has never closed a deal that we ever heard of, but is liable to any time.—Endeavour Enterprise.

RAILROAD NEXT SPRING.

The Maxwell Irrigated Land company announces that the spur of the Santa Fe railroad, extending from the Maxwell station to the heart of the beet fields west of town, will be built this spring, and finished in time to handle the sugar beet harvest this fall. Farmers along the route of the spur have been waiting for the assurance that the road would be built before determining how many acres of beets to grow. Now that all doubt has been removed, contracts will be signed at once for beets, and it is believed that more than a thousand acres will be added to the acreage of last year.—Maxwell Mail.

BOOST SPIRIT ABROAD.

The boost spirit is abroad all over New Mexico. From one end of the state to the other New Mexico will be boosted during this year and a new era is sure to begin in New Mexico development. One could not have attended the banquet at Santa Fe given by the Santa Fe commercial club in honor of the members of the legislature, the newspaper men and boosters from the state at large and not feel that the people of New Mexico are awakening to the fact that we have here resources equal to any state in the great west and the only way to capitalize these wonderful resources is by pulling together, concentrating our efforts, casting aside sectional jealousy and working for New Mexico, first, last and all the time.—Morality Messenger.

LIVING COST LOWERED.

According to reports from various sections of the city a number of chicken and egg thieves are making a systematic canvass of the city every afternoon and night for chickens and eggs, which are being disposed of to unsuspecting grocers. In certain parts of the city it is reported that boys are stealing eggs and peddling them from house to house.

One set of boys, three in number, according to reports, sell chickens during the day in various parts of the city and then return at night and get the chickens again for their sales the next day. Another trio is looking after the stealing of eggs during the afternoon for sales that night and the next day. Within the last few weeks a number of fine pens of thoroughbred chickens have been stolen in the city, but to date no prosecutions have been brought. It is understood, however, that the officers have good clues as to the identity of the thieves and arrests of a number of boys are very likely to follow within a few days.—Roswell Record.

ANOTHER BANK.

Silver City is to have another bank, making three financial institutions for this town. The name of the new institution is the Peoples Savings bank with a capital of $50,000, divided into 2,000 shares at $25 a share. The incorporators are S. O. Baker, B. C. Mackley and W. C. Farnsworth. The new bank is negotiating for suitable quarters and will be ready for business in the near future. The incorporators are all well known and prominent citizens of Silver City. Mr. Baker was one of the founders of the National Mohair Growers' association and it was largely through his efforts that the organization was formed and maintained. He is at present and has been since its founding, the secretary of the association. Mr. Mackley has been engaged in the angora goat business near this city for the last ten years and is widely known as a gentleman whose word is as good as his bond. Mr. Farnsworth has had many years of banking experience in Camden, N. J., and Philadelphia, Pa., before coming to this city. Mr. Farnsworth is also widely known as a man of the highest integrity and strict business honesty and was for years interested in a mercantile business in Silver City.—Silver City Enterprise.

BELEN TO BE LIGHTED.

At a meeting of a number of the business men of Belen, Monday night at the Commercial club rooms, the proposition of Mr. Woy, manager of the Albuquerque Electric Light company, was presented and accepted. Mr. Woy, who represents New York capital proposes to install an electric light plant of sufficient capacity to supply current for all who will use it for some time to come. While he does not require subscriptions from local people, he said this would be preferable, thus giving home people a voice in the management of the business. Those who were present at the meeting subscribed $3,500, and it is expected that this sum will be doubled before the report is made to Mr. Woy.

Temporary organization was effected, and it is hoped to have permanent organization perfected and incorporated by March 1st. The question of erecting a complete power house was discussed, and it is probable that arrangements will be made to utilize power already established, thus saving the time of installation, as well as reducing the running expenses. It is practically assured that ere many moons, Belen citizens will be enjoying the benefits of electricity in numerous ways. So note it be.—Belen News.

STRANGE DEATH IN KENTUCKY FROM RUNAWAY

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 27.—The body of Leo Bloom, former prominent Louisville man, who was killed several months ago at Eufaula, Ala., when endeavoring to stop a runaway team attached to a buggy in which an aged couple was riding, was discovered a week ago at the instance of accident insurance companies and an autopsy was held to fix, definitely, the cause of his death. Accident insurance policies aggregating approximately $20,000 were carried by Bloom. The autopsy revealed that strangulation caused death.

No specific contention as to what was the cause of death was made by the companies. The accident companies merely demanded that an autopsy be held with their representatives present, although the verdict of the coroner at Eufaula was to the effect that it was purely the result of an accident.

The autopsy was performed in the offices of an undertaking establishment. Physicians representing the companies involved and relatives of Bloom were present.

Previous to the accident Bloom had partaken of a heavy meal. When the horses struck him particles of food were forced down his windpipe, according to the statements of physicians. At the conclusions of the investigation representatives of the insurance companies stated they would order all claims paid at once.

TOO MUCH OF RAG TIME, AND THE CHICKEN FLIP

Washington, Jan. 27.—President Taft's taste in music was criticised and the "turkey trot," "chicken flip," and other modern dances were condemned at a meeting over which Mrs. W. Murray Crane, wife of the senator from Massachusetts, presided.

"I have heard," said one of the speakers, "that one of the reasons why President-elect Wilson requested the abandonment of the inaugural ball was because of the New Year's program at the White House by the Marine Band. Out of twenty-eight numbers the majority were ragtime."

Another speaker said: "Society as a rule does not dance the new dances in an indecent way. But the little girl of the dance hall reads in the papers that Mrs. Blank danced the 'chicken flip' at her great ball and does not know that it is not the same 'chicken flip' she dances in her dance hall."

BLANCHE WON'T DARN SOCKS

Colorado Springs, Colo., Jan. 27.—Less than two months of married life has convinced Blanche Bates that the "clinging vine" type of wife, the kind she declares she expected to be when she married George Creel, a western newspaper man, a few weeks ago, does not conform at all with her ideas now that she is married.

"I wanted to be the old-fashioned clinging vine kind of a wife," said the famous actress in a talk before several hundred society women here, "and when I promised to become Mrs. Creel I fully expected to darn his socks and cook two meals a day for him, but I learned since married that the type I always admired and which I still regard as lovely and charming, is not at all practical. When I was on the stage it did not seem to me that women counted for much. Now I am ready to say they count for everything, and that they really make the resistless tide of public opinion. I am not yet ready to admit that I am a suffragette, but I am becoming one."

BRUTAL TREATMENT OF A WOMAN.

New York, Jan. 27.—After being tortured by eight men, who beat her, hurled her to the floor, placed the end of a stiletto at her throat and threatened to stab her, Mrs. Marie de Luca, a widow, 32 years old, was tied to a stove in her home and left to die from a fracture of the skull.

Detectives arrested one man, and expect to arrest the others on the strength of evidence they found in the rooms. In the struggle papers and photographs fell from the pockets of the men, apparently without their discovering the loss. One paper was a marriage license.

Mrs. de Luca lived in two small rooms. She was entering the kitchen from the hallway when she was seized and gagged. The eight men demanded to know where she kept her money.

When she shook her head they dragged her on the floor, knicked her, threatened her with the stiletto and tore most of her clothing off. Finally, one of the men struck her a terrific blow on the head and she became unconscious. The men got $150.

THAT OPEN HOUSE WILL CLOSE

WILSON DECIDES THAT HE WILL NOT KEEP OPEN HOUSE TO THE OFFICE SEEKERS—STRAIN TOO GREAT.

BY HENRY J. ALLEN
In Kansas City Star.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Is it true Woodrow Wilson is going to establish the rule of refusing to see applicants for jobs? It is said he has decided upon that policy.

Soon after he was elected he announced an open door policy for the White House. That was a kindly, intention spoken in the heyday of an hour of ease, just after the President-elect had returned from the rest and seclusion of the Bermudas. To him at that hour the open door seemed like a nice, friendly thing to have. He mentioned Grover Cleveland as having had one. Friends who have seen Mr. Wilson recently trying to work with it open even up at Trenton, now say he is going to close it, especially and particularly to those who wish office.

They say that President-elect has decided not to deal in person with any man seeking any position, and that he will soon request senators and representatives not to give letters of introduction to men who want to talk to him about getting on the payroll.

A senator who has just been in Trenton says he believes the President-elect will follow the course Grover Cleveland finally had to adopt, only he will announce it at once. Some one sent Mr. Wilson a copy of Cleveland's letter of May 8, 1883, just two months after the opening of Mr. Cleveland's second term, which began with an open door policy. In this letter Mr. Wilson sees a prophecy for himself and it is said he will take time by the forelock and close the open at the White House before he opens it. He feels that this will be less embarrassing than to have to close it, as Cleveland did, after letting it swing on easy hinges two months.

The Cleveland letter, which has impressed Mr. Wilson, reads:

It has become apparent, after two months' experience, that the rules heretofore promulgated regulating interviews with the President have wholly failed in their operation. The time which under these rules was set apart for the reception of senators and representatives has been almost entirely spent in listening to applications for office which have been bewildering in volume, perplexing and exhausting in their iteration, and impossible of remembrance. A due regard for public duty, which must be

"NO WORSE FATE THAN TO BE MARRIED TO AN AMERICAN WOMAN," SAYS TITLED BACHELOR.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 27.—Henry von Kuhlman, bachelor German baron, diplomat and army officer, arrived in this city recently after a stay in the Orient as German military attaché at Peking. He promptly startled the women by announcing through the press that all women are "bore liars." But he didn't stop there, he added insult to injury, by continuing:

"I could think of no more dreadful fate than to be the husband of an American woman."

The baron wears a monocle. After twirling the small glass eye covering, he added:

"Women are illogical, inconsequent and untrustworthy." For a member of the diplomatic service, the baron is a plain speaker.

"Women," again began the titled one, "are lacking in that sense of moral duty which holds men up to a high plane." After this shot the baron, settled himself more comfortably on the women's lounge on the steamer and took a fresh start.

"The American woman may be beautiful, but she is spoiled. American men have made her a goddess and she has made ridiculous slaves of them. In Germany we do not treat women as superior beings. We make them our equals by keeping them under our thumbs."

"Man," concluded the baron, "is woman's superior, mentally and physically. Woman knows no logic and is lacking in sense of honor. No American woman can be trusted away from her husband for more than a year."

The baron, according to fellow passengers on the steamer, talked this all the way across the Pacific. There were American women aboard who refused to accept his opinion.

There were American men there, too, who tried to pick quarrels with him, but were the baron's diplomatic training stood him in good stead.

If all accounts are true, Baron von Kuhlman had a stormy voyage. And reflected if present conditions continue and on observance of the limitations placed upon human endurance, oblige me to decline from and after date all personal interviews with those seeking appointment to office, except as I, on my own motion, may especially invite them.

CAVE BURGLAR ALARM BY FILM.

Bonton, N. J., Jan. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brower were spectators at a moving picture show here when one of the film dramas was suddenly interrupted with these terrible words thrown on the screen:

Norman Brower wanted at home at once.

The message was a burglar alarm. A 16-year-old daughter had been attacked by a burglar in the Browers' home, a mile distant, and her grandparents who had found her unconscious and bleeding from a wound in the head, had telephoned to the theatre, where the unusual burglar alarm startled the parents.

A WORD WITH WOMEN.

Valuable Advice for New Mexico Readers.

Many a woman endures with no patience the daily misery of backache, pains about the hips, blue, nervous spells, dizziness and urinary disorders, helpless of relief because she doesn't know what is the matter.

It is not true that every pain in the back or hips is trouble "peculiar to the sex." Often when the kidneys get congested and inflamed, such aches and pains follow.

You can tell it is kidney trouble if the secretions are dark colored and contain sediment; the passages are too frequent or scanty. Don't expect them to get well alone.

Doan's kidney pills have won the praise of thousands of women. They are endorsed at home—Read this Santa Fe woman's convincing statement:

Mrs. Bernarda R. de Escudero, 106 Griffin St., Santa Fe, N. Mex., says: "I have just as high an opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills today as when I publicly recommended them in January, 1907. For about a year I was bothered by dull ache and weakness across my loins and kidneys. I tired easily and any exertion brought on severe pains in my back. Hearing Doan's Kidney Pills highly spoken of, I was induced to try them. The results proved beyond a doubt that this remedy lives up to representations. The cure it has brought has led me to praise it on more than one occasion."

OFFICIAL NEWS.

At the meeting of the state board of education it was decided to make no change at this time respecting the institute plans. The plan to consolidate a number of institutes with a view of getting better lecturers was discussed, but was not adopted. The institutes will be held as heretofore. A number of conductors qualified to teach. The appointment of institute assistants was left to Superintendent White.

The new schedule of bonds for all of the county treasurers made by the traveling auditor and approved by the state superintendent of education has been put into effect.

Matters of legislation needed in the state with regard to education and the conductors were discussed.

It was agreed that the heads of all state institutions shall meet in Santa Fe February 7. It is thought that this meeting will furnish the governor an opportunity to discuss certain problems with the superintendents with a view of improving conditions all over the state.

CONVICT CAMP.

The convict camp has been moved from Santa Rosa to Elmore. So far, by order of the state engineer. The new camp will have a bigger gang of workers and important results are awaited.

CORPORATION MATTERS.

An amendment was filed in the office of the state corporation commission to the certificate of incorporation of the North American Investment company, increasing its capital stock from $250,000 to $500,000. The main office is at Tucuman and D. J. Aber is agent.

MEETING TOMORROW.

The New Mexico horticultural society will meet at the office of J. D. Sosa, supreme court clerk in the capitol, about 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. At this meeting the arrangements for a state fair will be discussed. The meeting is therefore regarded of great importance.

INSPECTS COMPANY.

Assistant Superintendent of Insurance Peter M. A. Linean has returned from Albuquerque where he inspected the Occidental Life Insurance company on which he will make an official report in a day or two. It is said he is pleased with the work of this company.

IN SUPREME COURT.

In the state supreme court, Chief Justice Roberts, Mr. Justice Hanna and District Judge E. C. Abbott, as well as Supreme Court Clerk Sosa, present, the following business was transacted:

Case No. 1489—W. J. Amberson and Sam B. Gillett, appellants, vs. John K. Candler, appellee, appeal from Dona Ana county. Appeal dismissed and judgment of the lower court affirmed. The opinion is by Mr. Justice Hanna, and is concurred in by Chief Justice Roberts and Judge Abbott.

In Case No. 1562, Thomas R. Bull, et al., appellants, vs. Francisco Ball, et al., appellees, appeal from Dona Ana county. Appeal dismissed and judgment of the lower court affirmed. The opinion is by Mr. Justice Hanna and is concurred in by Chief Justice Roberts and Judge Abbott. In neither of these cases did Mr. Justice Parker participate, being disqualified.

BANNERS ARRIVING.

The finer sanctum of Alvan N. White, head of education in New Mexico, is beginning to look like the "den" of a college student. It appears that high school students and others seeking learning have heard that Mr. White has what the artists call an "eye of observing actual color" and they are sending him their choicest and most gaudy banners. The latest to arrive is that of the Socorro high school. "Very nice banner of red and gold," said a visitor to Mr. White. "No, it's wine and canary," replied the educator, who knows the shades of "actual" color.

CORPORATION COMMISSION GETS ACTION.

The state corporation commission has just been notified by the Southern Pacific railway company that in conformity with the request of the commission, that the people living along the Southern Pacific line near Aden, in the southern portion of New Mexico, be afforded the privilege of daily train service, they have ordered that Aden be made a flag station, and that trains No. 9 and No. 10, both daylight trains will stop on flag signal.

Complaints were sent to the commission direct from the residents along this line asking the commission to take the matter up with the railroad, looking to have the above order issued. The commissioners at once got busy with the Southern Pacific road with the above result. The order is effective immediately.

This is but one of many complaints of this nature which are brought to the attention of the commission, and while they do not in some instances affect populous portions of the state, at the same time an order such as the above is a wonderful help to those who are residents of small villages or towns along the different railroad lines.

MR. CLANCY'S REPORT.

The report of Attorney General Frank W. Clancy from February 13 to December 31, 1912, has come from the presses of the New Mexican. This contains a special report on the state boundary, and with the other report is submitted to the governor. A striking feature of the report is "exposure" of the work done by the office of the attorney general. More than one hundred opinions have been handed down and over 1400 letters received by the attorney general. Mr. Clancy remarks that he needs more help now that statehood has quadrupled the work of his office.

Although tolling all hours of the day the attorney general shows no signs of nervous collapse and his friends remarked today that he still has those "Maryland" rosy cheeks.

ATTENTION, KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS!

All members of the order of Knights of Pythias, and all those who have been members but neglected to attend its meetings and lost membership therein but still have their own and the good of the order at heart, are requested to be present at Odd Fellows hall tonight, Monday, January 27, at 8 o'clock, to meet Grand Chancellor Fawcett, and to devise ways and means to have the largest Knights of Pythias lodge in the state and become better men by being active members thereof.

By order of the Chancellor Commander.

INDIANS DEED LANDS BACK TO UNCLE SAM

The Pueblo Indians of New Mexico are going to deed their lands, totaling some 175,000 acres back to Uncle Sam as a result of statehood and its citizenship responsibilities.

This announcement was made today by Francis C. Wilson, their attorney, who will leave shortly for Washington accompanied by a delegation of the Pueblos who will ask the secretary of the interior to accept the trust and hold their lands for them.

The story of how the Indians arrived at this decision, is one of the most unique in the history of the southwest and it is a procedure unheard of in the annals of the government of the United States. Whether or not the secretary will accept the lands of the red men, remains yet to be determined.

Thus far, only the Santa Clara and Taos Indians, with about 35,000 acres of land, have voted to deed their lands but one of the Indians asserted today that all of the Pueblos would eventually do so.

Fearing state government and the encroachment of the white man and protesting against being made citizens of the United States, the Indians determined to turn to the only protector they ever had known—the federal government and to turn back their lands. They were moved to do so because as citizens, they would be taxed and the old men feared they were not advanced far enough in civilization, to compete with the white farmer and live stock producer.

But one of the chief motives for this step was the fear of the white man's fire water. The old Indians learned through bitter experience of frontier days, that the sale of liquor on their lands meant that the younger men would start trouble. They knew that there could be but one end when the red man defied the laws of the white man, and that was final extermination.

So ever since statehood, councils have been held, often lasting for days.

Delegates have passed from one Pueblo to another and views have been exchanged. Some six months ago, the lead man of all of the Pueblos met in this city in conference and sent a formal protest to the government against being made citizens of the United States and asking to be retained as wards of the government.

As a result, the red men decided finally, to deed their lands to the federal government to be held in trust for twenty-five years until they had fully mastered the duties of being full-fledged American citizens and then they began selecting their delegates to go to Washington.

The old men of the Pueblos were given equal representation with the young men, so that there could be no chance for discrimination. This was done because the young men are educated, they talk English and have more modern ideas, whereas the old men live in the past and think in terms and experiences of the frontier when they were Indians and the rule of the six shooter and Winchester was the law of the land. They turn to the new situation in fear at what may happen to their sacred traditions, their homes and their lands.

The grants which the Indians seek to turn back, were given them in 1689 by the kingdom of Spain by direct deed from the Spanish crown. An act of congress confirmed the grants December 22, 1858, and community patents were issued to the various Pueblos. Under the concessions by Spain and under the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, the Pueblo Indians are citizens of the United States, because they were citizens of Spain and later of Mexico and were retained in those rights when this government occupied what is now the state of New Mexico.

"This is one of the most remarkable cases I ever had to deal with," said Mr. Wilson, "and I believe it is the most remarkable Indian land case in the history of our federal government."

Married Today—A pretty wedding was that of Miss Juanita Lopez, member of a prominent Spanish family of Santa Fe, and Manuel Garcia, a well known young man of the capitol. The ceremony was performed at the 7 o'clock mass by Monsignor Antonio Fourchegn, vicar general of the archdiocese, who took occasion to remind the bride and bridegroom that in marrying they sever many ties and assume new responsibilities. A pleasing feature of the wedding ceremony was the kneeling of the bridal party in sanctuary, bride, bridegroom and witnesses each holding a long lighted taper in the right hand during the solemn part of the mass.

Oppose Auto Tax—Following a declaration that the state tax on autos is sufficient and that an additional city tax is illegal, several auto owners of Santa Fe are presenting a "united front" when the tax collector comes around. The state tax law has been complied with generally. It is said, and now that the automobile owners have paid the $10 tax to the state, resistance is made to municipal taxation.

"SAME OLD PORK BARREL," HE SHOUTS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—Representative Callaway of Texas, attacked the democrats in the house today for their river and harbor improvement policy as embraced in the river and harbor bill.

"This bill is the same old pork barrel proposition," he declared. "I didn't expect anything else from the republicans but when the democrats come in with their pledges of economy I did expect a difference."

GRAND MARCH AFTER GIGANTIC COMPANY INCORPORATED

UNUSUAL SOCIAL EVENT PLANNED FOR TO-MORROW NIGHT IN ANCIENT AND HONORED PALACE OF THE GOVERNORS—BRILLIANT ILLUMINATION

On invitation of the board of regents of the State Museum and School of American Archaeology, the Historical Society, Woman's Board of Trade, Chamber of Commerce and the Woman's club consented to join in the reception given in honor of the state legislature and the state and federal officials in the Palace of the Governors tomorrow night from 8 to 11 o'clock.

The receiving line will form at 8 o'clock sharp in the lecture hall of the museum and will consist of the following officials of the local organizations: Governor W. C. McDonald and Mrs. McDonald, Judge John R. McFie, president of the board of regents of the museum, and Mrs. McFie; Kenneth M. Chapman, assistant director of the museum and school; Hon. L. Bradford Prince, president of the Historical society, and Mrs. Prince; Mrs. Arthur Seligman, president of the Woman's Board of Trade, and former Mayor Arthur Seligman; A. B. Renahan, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Renahan; Mrs. Nellie C. Collins, president of the Woman's club, and Judge L. C. Collins.

Promptly at nine o'clock the receiving line will "dissolve," the entire building will be illuminated and a grand march will take place starting from the lecture hall of the museum and traversing the entire building for the purpose of viewing the rooms and exhibits of the museum and Historical society.

On returning to the receiving room of the museum refreshments will be served by the ladies' committee of the museum of which Mrs. James L. Seligman is president, assisted by ladies of the other women's organizations.

BABE AND MOTHER ARE KILLED; OUTLAW ESCAPES.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 27.—In a battle between a sheriff's posse and John Baran, the outlaw, at his home near Riding Mountain today, a woman and child were shot to death by officers. In the excitement Baran escaped.

When the posse approached the cabin, Baran opened fire. Bullets were returned by the posse and firing continued several minutes. The shots from the cabin ceased and the posse stormed the house. Their prisoner had fled. On the floor was the bleeding body of a woman with whom Baran is said to have been living. Clapped in her arms was a dead infant. Both were victims of the posse's bullets.

A futile attempt was made to trace the outlaw through the woods.

COLLIER COMING TO BATTLE FOR AN EXHIBIT

San Diego, Calif., Jan. 27.—Colonel David Charles Collier, president of the San Diego exposition, and one of the leading real estate men of the coast, will arrive in Santa Fe, N. M., Saturday. Colonel Collier is deeply interested in the new state and already has made investments in New Mexico. While in Santa Fe he will doubtless work hard to interest New Mexico's legislature in the exposition San Diego is to hold all the year of 1915. The buildings for the exposition are to be finished January 1, 1914. Colonel Collier predicts that New Mexico will forge ahead faster in the next ten years than any other state in the union.

Colonel Collier is well known here where he has delivered more than one address. Throughout the country he is called the man with the soft shirt, and "the human dynamo." He is a native of Colorado and a typical high altitude, breezy westerner of tireless energy.

CONDITIONS ARE INTOLERABLE, HE DECLARES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—Investigation of conditions in the garment working industry in New York, was proposed in a resolution today by Representative Berger, the socialist member from Wisconsin. The resolution would authorize the appointment of a special committee of seven members to inquire into the conditions surrounding the garment making trade and the recent strike.

In the preamble of his resolutions, Mr. Berger sets forth that the New York clothing industry supplies the trade of a large section of the country through interstate trade; that the wages of the industry are so low, "that healthy surroundings and a decent standard of living have become almost impossible."

IDAHO WANTS HAWLEY.
Boise, Ida., Jan. 27.—Ex-Governor James H. Hawley was endorsed for secretary of interior in President-elect Wilson's cabinet by the Idaho house of representatives today. The chief opposition to the resolution came from the democratic members, only one of whom supported. The other democrats declared Hawley was not in sympathy with progressive democracy.

GIGANTIC COMPANY INCORPORATED

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER COMPANY IS ITS NAME; $70,000,000 IS ITS CAPITALIZATION TO DO BUSINESS IN NEW JERSEY

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 27.—Articles incorporating the International Harvester corporation with an authorized capital of $70,000,000 were filed with the secretary of state this afternoon. The incorporators being men actively connected with the International Harvester company, a concern already chartered, under the laws of New Jersey, with an authorized capital of $140,000,000.

In connection with the filing of the articles of incorporation there were filed with the secretary of state a letter from the International Harvester company, signed by its president, Cyrus H. McCormick, stating that the company has no objection to the taking up of practically the same title by the International Harvester corporation.

In the letter it is also stated that it is the purpose of the International Harvester company to file papers changing the title of the company to the International Harvester company of New Jersey.
