INJUNCTION PROCEEDINGS CAUSE GREAT INTEREST ---A NATIONAL AFFAIR

THE PROCEEDINGS WERE INSTITUTED BY CLARA D. TRUE, LONG A MEDDLER WITH MATTERS CONNECTED WITH THE SANTA CLARA INDIANS, AND NOW IT HAS BECOME A SUBJECT FOR THE COURTS AND THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT.---QUESTION HINGES ON DEEDING OF LAND ON THE PART OF THE INDIANS FOR A TERM OF YEARS WITH A VIEW TO AVOID TAXATION AND ESCAPE PAUPERIZATION OF THEIR OLD-TIME COMMUNITIES

RECENT COURT RULING MADE PUEBLOS TAXATION SUBJECTS

The injunction proceedings mentioned in yesterday's issue of the New Mexican, instigated by Pedro J. Baca, a Santa Clara Indian, in the district court, unfolds a story of local and national interest.

The injunction is brought with the intention of preventing the delegates from the Santa Clara pueblo, chosen by an overwhelming vote of that self-governing community, from going to Washington to take part in the hearing of the matter of deeding their lands to the secretary of the interior.

Briefly stated the injunction was instigated by one, Clara D. True, who lives adjacent to the Santa Claras and who has, for many moons facetiously dabbled in the affairs of that pueblo, turning herself a friend of the Indians, a misnomer, as indicated by recent developments.

This woman in the past obtained, through a plausible ingratiating, the following and support of a considerable number of the communal voters of the Santa Clara council. She has been opposed to the deeding of the Indian lands to the secretary of the interior. She appears on the bond of Pedro J. Baca, the lone objector to the deed.

The Santa Clara Indians, joining in the general movement of the nineteen pueblos to deed their lands for a period of 25 years to the government, thereby avoiding taxation and over-coming the pauperization of their communities, recently voted by a majority of 50 over 3, of its counsel, or communal government to send three delegates to Washington to confer, along with delegates from the other pueblos, with the secretary of the interior regarding the matter.

Pedro J. Baca, with one or two others, are the only Indians in Santa Clara who have opposed the trip. They contended that the pueblo had no right to use their money for that purpose. Over $300 has been in the fund of the pueblo treasury and was overwhelmingly voted to defray expenses of the delegates. On the objection of Baca and one other, the pueblo through its governor tendered these men their share of the amount, and propose to use the balance for the purpose for which it was voted. At the instigation of outsiders Baca refused to accept the money he and his lone follower or two, who are relatives, had paid in, and have instituted an injunction. In other words the communal government of the majority of the pueblo is thus legally opposed and defied by the minority of two or three of its members.

Victoriana Cisneros, Francis Naranjo and Juanito Naranjo are the delegates chosen to go to Washington from Santa Clara. Two of these men, formerly friendly to Miss True, like the overwhelming majority of the pueblo, have become tired of that woman's interference in their affairs and government and are thinking for themselves. Juanito Naranjo, who like Victoriana Cisneros, has attended the government school here at Santa Fe, are among the best posted Indians on their own affairs in that pueblo. Francis Naranjo is a veteran who has been governor in former times and these three men will make intelligent and able representatives of their cause at Washington. So much for the local interest of this story.

There is a more important and far-reaching interest that will extend to the attention of the entire country in the whole matter of the Pueblo Indians deeding their land to the government.

Next Sunday, the gathering here at Santa Fe of delegates from the nineteen pueblos of the southwest will be the beginning of the consummation of a plan of far-reaching benefit to these people. From here the delegates will accompany Francis C. Wilson, government attorney for the pueblos, to Washington to settle a matter of great importance to them.

Ever since the enabling act was passed by congress and in face of the legal objections that he then foresaw, Mr. Wilson has studied the situation in which he perceived the Indians would be placed, and devised the plan for the deeding of all Pueblo Indian lands to the government for a term of 25 years, with a reversionary clause.

The decision of Judge Pope in the Sandoval liquor case brought an issue upon the very point in the enabling act which Mr. Wilson had anticipated it would.

Mr. Wilson had outlined and striven for the present proposed deeding of Indian lands long before decisions similar to that rendered by Judge Pope. Before the Lake Mohawk conference held in New York in October 1911, Mr. Wilson read a paper setting forth the status of the Pueblo Indians and pointing to the remedy for the embarrassing situation in which they might some day be placed. At that time the conference, which is an international organization and has for its purpose, the consideration of means whereby to aid dependent peoples of the earth, was greatly interested in Mr. Wilson's proposed solution.

From the ruling that the Pueblo Indians were citizens and subject to the police power of the state flows the right to tax their lands and personal property which could only eventually result in a large portion of their holdings being sold for taxes, thus reducing the present self-sustaining communities to abject poverty and distress. The plan to deed all Pueblo lands to the government for 25 years, would enable the Indians in that time to be prepared to take back their lands and to have made provisions along many lines for future citizenship.

There has not been any law or ruling on the matter, but the Indians will now go with Mr. Wilson to Washington; will tender their deeds to the secretary of the interior; will go before the congressional committee on Indian affairs, and the matter will be presented to the administrative and legislative branches of the government in the fullest and most complete sense for consideration and action.

There are over 700,000 acres to be deeded. The majority of the pueblos have taken action and approved of the movement and the trip to Washington will bring a matter of no small interest before the government as well as before the people throughout the country interested in Indian affairs.

SUMNER COUNTY IS UP MANY PETITIONS FAVOR THIS BILL

The house late this afternoon passed the bill creating Sumner county. The vote stood 26 to 14, with 8 not voting. The passage of the bill was freely fore-cast this morning and it was only a question of the size of the vote. The house adjourned until 2 p. m., Monday.

Sumner county was before the house all this morning and while there was little opposition to the measure so far as oratory went, still it was apparent that Representative Clancy and the Chaves delegation were not particularly pleased at the outlook for the passage of the bill in the house.

The measure came up in regular order on the calendar. But before it was reached, there was a pile of petitions sent to the desk of the chief clerk both for and against the new county. Sixteen petitions favored the new county. Mr. Clancy asked to see them, but Mr. Manzanarez asked to have the text of each one read and it consumed an hour reading Sumner county petitions.

When the Sumner county bill, known more specifically as House Bill No. 4, came up, it was read in full. Mr. Gage offered an amendment which in effect eliminated Taiban and three precincts in Chaves county. This amendment was accepted by Mr. Manzanarez. Mr. Mullens then moved to recommit the bill on the grounds that it took considerable territory in Chaves county which, Mr. Mullens

CORONADO COUNTY DEMANDED BY THE PEOPLE

BIG DELEGATION ARE DETERMINED TO SECURE MERITORIOUS PROPOSITION AT HANDS OF THIS LEGISLATURE IN SANTA FE TO WORK FOR PET PROJECT.---SOME REASONS WHY BILL SHOULD BE PASSED.

CORONADO COUNTY CLUB,
ROY, N. M.

Roy the Proposed County Seat.
To the Editor of the Santa Fe New Mexican, Santa Fe, N. M.

Dear Sir:

We the undersigned citizens, taxpayers and legal voters, residing in and within the proposed boundaries of a new county to be named Coronado, have organized under the name of Coronado County Club, at Roy, N. M., and have elected the following officers: Rev. J. S. Russell, Presbyterian minister, president; Prof. Wm. G. Johnson, principal public schools, secretary; A. S. Bushkevitz, president and manager Roy Tel. Co., chairman Executive Committee; L. E. Aldredge, Mgr. Floresheim Mercantile Co.; A. R. Davis, Agt. E. P. & S. W. R. Co.; F. A. Roy, merchant and livestock; F. S. Brown, livestock; H. B. Jones, President Roy Trust and Savings bank, First National bank at Tucumcari, and Santa Rosa; T. E. Mitchell, livestock; Juan B. Montoya, sheep; Sol. Floresheim, President Floresheim Merc. Co. Roy and Springer; Izidro Montoya, sheep, members Executive committee; C. L. Justice, Treasurer, Roy Trust Savings bank; E. J. H. Roy, editor Spanish-American; H. Goodman, Mgr. Goodman Merc. Co.; F. H. Foster, justice peace; G. R. Abernathy, farmer, members Advertising and Finance committees.

The above elected officers are the representatives of all of the people and not in any way representing their own personal interests---that of all the people and for the general benefit of everyone situated in this county. It is not a scheme of real estate men, nor to boost or boom any certain locality; it is based upon just and legal claims, for which reasons are here given below. The town of Roy is entitled to be the county seat; it has a population of about 500; largest in the new proposed county, three hotels, five large mercantile establishments, two meat markets, 4 restaurants, 1 drug store, 1 machine shop, 1 blacksmith shop, 1 weekly newspaper, 1 opera house, 2 lumber yards, 1 jewelry store, 1 harness shop, 1 tin shop, 2 doctors, 1 dentist, 3 real estate firms, 2 United States commissioners, 1 lawyer, 4 saloons, 1 good bank, and 5 lodges. W. O. W., I. O. O. F., M. W. of A., Yeomen and Rebekahs. Roy is a great supply center for a radius of about 40 miles. It is one of the best countries where the cattle, sheep and dry farming industries prosper, where many thousands of sheep and cattle are being shipped to market, where over 500,000 pounds of wool is sold annually and where over 52 car loads of wheat was shipped out of Roy last season.

The creation of the county of Coronado is demanded by the people because it was promised us by both the Republican and Democratic leaders, it is the oldest county proposition before the legislature, having first come up in the territorial legislative assembly in 1909, and has been up before every session since that time.

We here below present statistics furnished us by the state traveling auditor, on which we further base our claims.

It will be a self-sustaining county to start out with and the citizens are capable of putting it on an economic and progressive basis.

We have a population of over six thousand people to start with---a larger population than that of many of the older counties which have

WHY WE SHOULD HAVE A NEW COUNTY.

We have in this section a small empire within itself.

It has more taxable property than any other county proposed. It can be formed without bankrupting or crippling any of the counties from which it is taken. It is urgently demanded by the people residing within its boundaries, as is abundantly evidenced by the monster petitions which they have signed and directed to the legislature heretofore.

The general public opinion is that small counties are more economical than large ones.

It will reduce one great expense---that of enormous traveling fees.

It will make a county with the seat thereof of easy access, where as matters now stand the people of this section are forced to drive from seventy-five to over a hundred miles across roads almost impassable in places, or take a trip by rail which requires several days' time and the expenditure of much money. In fact, the county seats are so far removed that a trip is prohibitive to most people.

It will be a self-sustaining county to start out with and the citizens are capable of putting it on an economic and progressive basis.

We have a population of over six thousand people to start with---a larger population than that of many of the older counties which have maintained a county government for years. Our taxable wealth is far and above that of some of these older counties.

We have $1,107,475 of taxable property and assume $23,000 of the bonded indebtedness of Mora county and $17,000 of Union county and leave Mora county with $1,289,668, and Union county with $2,267,685 of taxable property.

We have over 800 settlers from all states in the Union, who have filed and proved up on claims and most of them determined to stay with the country.

The counties from which a very small portion is taken to form Coronado are each monster bailiwicks, densely populated and rich in taxable wealth, and the part taken will make no noticeable effect in their tax income.

With the rapid growth of this section during the past year, and the thousands of acres of government land yet to be homesteaded, the wealth of the county will soon be on a par with any in the state.

It is imperative if the country is developed as rapidly as it should be. One essential feature to people of older states is means of easy access to the county seat.

The forming of new counties is in keeping with the marvelous growth of the state.

It will create a great increase in the value of thousands of acres of land, thus adding to the wealth of the state.

It will be in keeping with our form of government, to overcome the tendency of these selfish counties that would centralize the governmental power. The great American principle of local self-government will be exemplified.

The portions of counties so remote from the seat of government are forced to bear a burden of taxation for which they get little in return; and this condition is contrary to the constitutional blessing of representative government which has been the foundation of our country's greatness.

It is disgraceful to any commonwealth to force such hardships upon its citizens as the people of these remote sections of Mora and Union are compelled to endure.

It will lighten the burden of taxation of every property owner residing within its boundaries.

SENATOR DIXON ATTACKS PROPOSED SIX-YEAR PRESIDENTIAL TERM

CALLS IT A MEASURE "FOR RELIEF OF ASPIRANTS FOR THE PRESIDENCY," AND ASKS IF WOODROW WILSON IS TO BE PREVENTED FROM RUNNING AGAIN IF THE PEOPLE WANT HIM

MARTINE ANNOUNCES THAT WILSON FAVORS THE SCHEME

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.--An attack on the proposed single six year presidential term, as a measure advocated by "aspirants for the presidency" was made in the senate today by Senator Dixon, chairman of the progressive national committee, who declared he did not believe there was any great public demand for the proposed change in the constitution.

"If the truth must be stated," he said, "this resolution might better be entitled 'proposed amendment to the federal constitution for the relief of certain aspirants for the presidency of the United States.'"

The senate took up the Works resolution proposing the amendment under agreement to vote before the close of the legislative day.

Senator Paynter, Democrat, offered a provision that when the amendment should be ratified, the president then in office should be entitled to a six year term. He declared no question should be left open as to whether it applied to President Wilson.

"Wasn't it your understanding that Mr. Wilson was elected for a four year term?" asked Senator Dixon.

Senator Paynter returned that the amendment should be made so that it would take effect immediately, notwithstanding who might be in office. Senator Dixon's retort was to suggest that it be so changed that it would not apply to President-elect Woodrow Wilson. He declared that no amendment should be adopted to the constitution that would prohibit the people of the United States from expressing their own judgment as to whether a president should be re-elected.

"We are offering something that is not demanded by the people, except as that demand flows from some personal ambitions," declared Senator Dixon. "Are you Democratic senators going to embarrass President Wilson by declaring that no matter how good his administration may be, or how much the people may desire him to serve again, he shall be debarred, in order to provide an opportunity for others who want the presidential office?"

Senator Martine of New Jersey, declared Senator Dixon could "leave Woodrow Wilson out of the debate," as Mr. Wilson had announced his sympathy with the Democratic national platform, which endorses a single presidential term.

"Was there any agreement with him before he was nominated that he would not accept another term?" persisted Senator Dixon.

"I know of none," replied Mr. Martine.

Senator Dixon declared he had heard that the real author of the single term plank in the Democratic national platform was "a man whose name began with B. and was not Buckham" and demanded of Senator Martine whether President-elect Wilson had in precise language limited himself to a single term.

"I still believe that Mr. Wilson has declared his position to be in favor of a single term," answered Martine.

"I have observed in the past," retorted Senator Dixon, "that he has held different views from what he does now. Possibly that is the case in this matter."

MR. ROOT OBJECTS.

Senator Root objected to all certain proposed amendments, declaring that changing the federal constitution was so serious a matter that it should not be complicated by the consideration of the "personal interests of Wilson, Roosevelt or Taft."

An amendment authorizing the recall of a president at any biennial national election was presented by Senator Brewster.

Senator Bacon offered an amendment to reduce the proposed six year term for a president to a single four year term. It was defeated 42 to 25.

BARONIAL EPIGRAMS SATESMAN DISCUSSES "FRIENDSHIP."

Scene: The floor of the House of Representatives.
Time: 11:55 a. m., Tuesday, January 28, 1913.

DRAMATIS PERSONAE:

1. The stately Baron of Bernalillo.

2. An insignificant Admirer.

The Admirer: "Are we going to win the senatorial contest, Baron?"

The Baron: "Alas, alas! There is no hope of it. It is all settled: Fall will be elected beyond the shadow of a doubt!"

The Admirer: "Well, we'll all go down to defeat together in a good cause."

The Baron: "Hum, hum.....well, you know (how shall I put it?) Hum.....it's discouraging work to be defeated. A man must stand up for his rights and must not be BULLDOZED!"

The Admirer: Attempts to speak.

(With a noble dignity the Baron motions him to remain silent and drawing himself up to his full height of four feet nine, continues):

The Baron: "How little gratitude man receives for his noblest actions! for his most disinterested deeds! My very manhood revolts at the low motives of my fellow men. True, I would rather be a martyr than a slave....

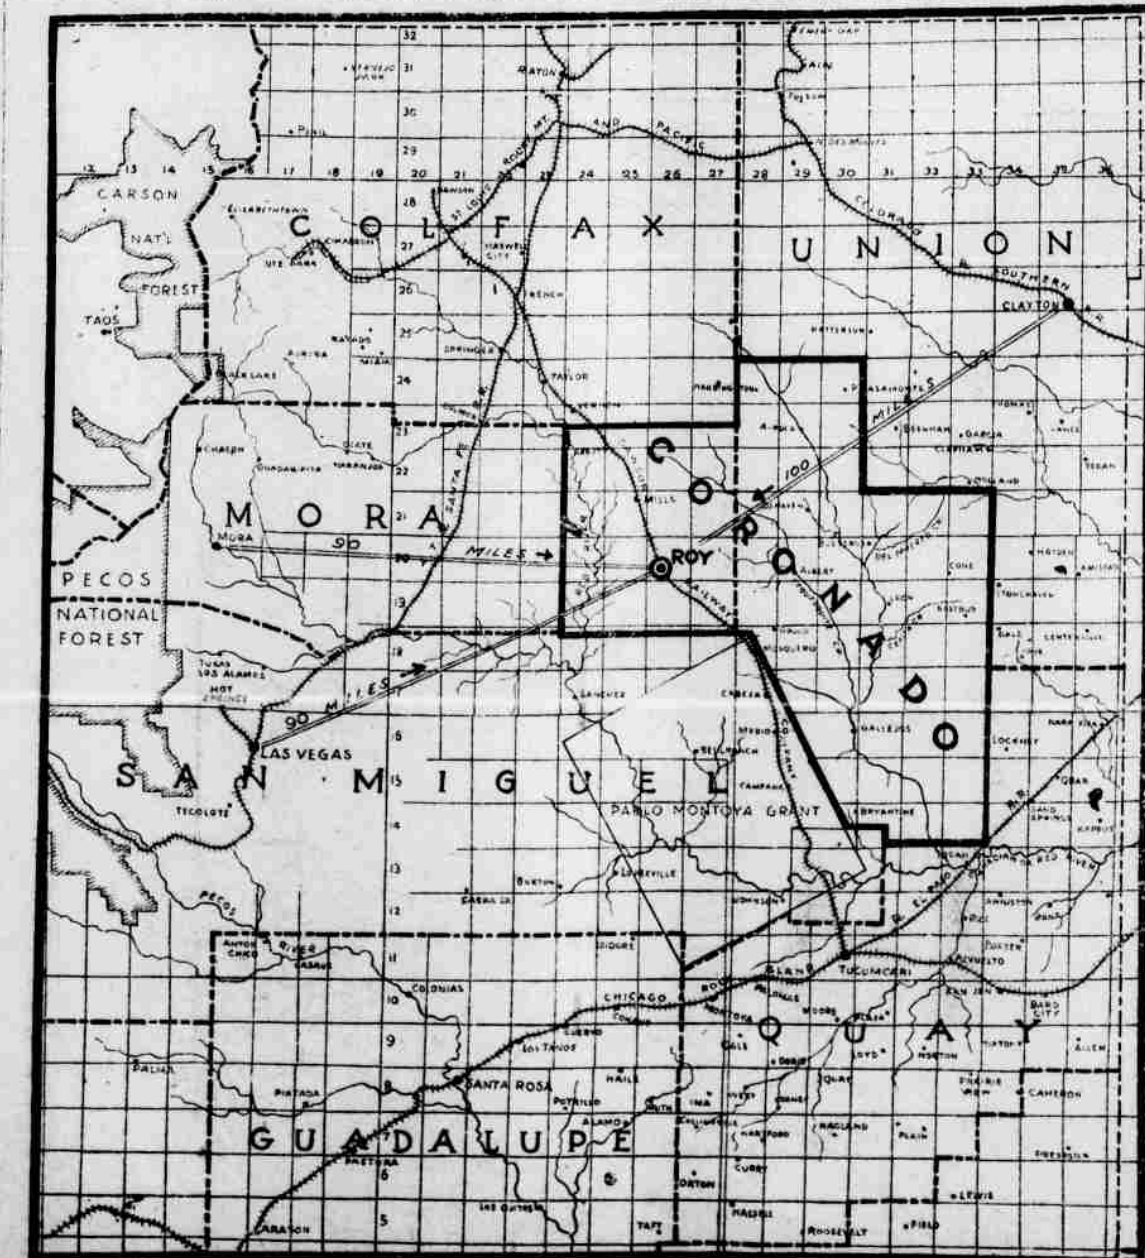

but better yet to be neither the one nor the other. For a man of delicate sensibilities, how appalling to feel himself deserted by his friends. I speak, not of true friends, but of those who have called themselves by that name! Politics is full of such, alas! It is not his enemies a man of honor need fear, but his friends. Friends? did I say? That is not the right name. How unfortunate that the English language contains no word fittingly to describe such false friends!"

(The Admirer (in a still small voice) "How about the word TRAITOR, your Excellency?"

The Baron: "Hum, hum.....Oh, well.....the house is being called to order.....I must waste no further time in conversation." (Baron takes his seat).

SEQUEL: During the vote on the Senatorship as the Baron responded to his name, the Admirer thought of some future and more emphatic terms in which to describe false friends. A letter was sent to the Baron embodying suggestions on the proper use of the English language.

Should the New Mexican succeed in obtaining a copy of this letter it will take pleasure in publishing the same for the benefit of its readers.

WHAT A COSTLY JAG!

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 30.—Charles and Fred Meekins, two boys, found a case of brandy buried on Ronoke Island, N. C., yesterday. The boys drank a bottle. It made them drunk and when they told their father of the find he investigated and found the stuff was buried during the civil war by North Carolina soldiers. The corks had rotted away from age. The elder Meekin soon spread the news and sold eight bottles of the brandy at $50 a bottle and has three left.

THE PROPHETS STILL AT IT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Following the announcement in a New York newspaper that William Jennings Bryan is to be the premier in the cabinet of President Wilson, persons here who are close to the New Jersey statesman give out that other positions are to be filled, as follows: Henry A. Morganthau, of New York, secretary of the treasury.

Representative Albert S. Burleson, of Texas, secretary of agriculture. Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, of Pennsylvania, attorney general. Josephus Daniels, of North Carolina, postmaster general. Former Senator Obidiah Gardner, of Maine, secretary of the interior. Just how far these tentative selections for cabinet positions made by Governor Wilson will suit the political leaders in Washington remains to be seen. Speaker Clark is noncommittal on the subject, although he has discussed different names with Governor Wilson.

House Democratic Leader Underwood is openly in support of Representative Henry D. Clayton, a fellow Alabamian, for the attorney generalship.

NEWS NOTES AT SAN PEDRO

San Pedro, Jan. 30.—Mrs. Dr. Logan, wife of the chief surgeon at Cahir, Utah, is here visiting her sister, Mrs. Grindley, the wife of Haines Grindley, superintendent of the Santa Fe Gold and Copper Mining company.

Mrs. Logan is completely carried away with the place, the scenery and the people. The drive from Stanley through the beautiful Estancia valley, especially, is to be remembered. She has already made many friends who hope the doctor will be unable to induce her to return to Utah.

Mrs. Arthur Geesen wife of the furnace superintendent, entertained Monday afternoon in honor of Mrs. J. Logan. Those present were Mrs. Logan, Grindley, Turner, Emrich, Hubbard, Neel, Carver, Kelly, Marsh, Olstead and Miss Bell.

Luncheon was served in a prettily decorated dining room and all enjoyed a delightful afternoon with Mrs. Geesen.

I saved a doctor's bill for one 25c bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound." No opiates. For sale by all druggists.

SUFFRAGETTES TO TRAVEL ON HORSEBACK

New York, N. Y., Jan. 30.—A coast to coast trip on horseback by women suffragettes is being planned for the spring, according to an announcement today. It is proposed to start from this city as soon as the highways in the east are fit to travel and make the equestrian journey across the continent by easy stages, scattering oratory and literature through a fruitful line of states east of the Rockies. San Francisco would be the terminus from which city the women riders would ship their horses back.

It was said at suffrage headquarters that two women had already pledged to make the unusual pilgrimage and that other women who doubted that they could qualify as "cavaliers," have agreed to furnish mounts for more agile sisters. Plans, however, at present, are only tentative.

ENGLAND NOT READY YET TO RATIFY

London, Jan. 30.—The British government has not reached a decision on the question of resuming negotiations for the ratification of the Anglo-American arbitration treaty, which Secretary of State Knox some time ago declared the United States was prepared to ratify.

Sir Edward Grey, secretary of state for foreign affairs, made this announcement today in a reply to a question in the House of Commons.

"The whole United States note will be carefully considered," said Sir Edward, "before any reply is sent to Washington."

The inquirer suggested that other powers might be asked to join in a simultaneous reply.

THIRD BANKER GOES TO JAIL

New York, Jan. 30.—Every ten days since New Year a bank president has been sentenced to jail from Brooklyn by Supreme Court Justice Crane.

The third man he has sentenced this year is William C. Cameron, former president of the Home Bank, who today was given a term of one year in the penitentiary. His bank closed its doors in January, 1908, and Cameron was recently found guilty of misappropriating $2,500,000 of its funds.

The others are David A. Sullivan, president of the Mechanics and Traders' Bank, convicted of the larceny of $20,000, and B. R. Shears, president of the Borough Bank, found guilty of misappropriating $20,000.

DARING JUMP SAVES LIFE

Stamford, Conn., Jan. 30.—Fire broke out near here today in the last car of a through train of express cars running from Boston to New York. The express messenger, after a vain effort to put out the flames, pulled the emergency brakes, but the mechanism failed to work and he was unable to get word of his plight to the cars in front. Within a few minutes he was compelled to choose between death in the flames and a leap from the door. He jumped as the train rounded a curve at 35 miles an hour, and escaped with only slight injuries.

IMMIGRATION BILL GOES TO SENATE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—The committee report on the immigration bill was again acted on today by the house. It was the third time that the measure has been taken up in the house because of the senate's insistence on further conferences. It finally was adopted after a short debate during which the bill was characterized as "un-American, un-patriotic, vicious and unnecessary, and warmly defended by others. It now goes to the senate.

OUTCOME IN DOUBT.

Berlin, Jan. 30.—The committee of the imperial parliament today killed the first paragraph of the government's petroleum monopoly bill, that providing for the establishment of an imperial importing and refining monopoly for mineral illuminating oils, and thus emasculated the measure before redemption unless a substitute paragraph be adopted later. It has become wholly problematical what will be the outcome of today's action.

"TRAITOR!" YELL SUFFRAGETTES AT ASQUITH

Dundee, Scotland, Jan. 30.—Well organized bands of suffragettes raised a pandemonium early during the ceremony of conferring the freedom of the city on Premier Asquith. The premier had hardly risen to acknowledge the honor when shrieks of "Traitor-Traitor" filled through the hall.

Stewards and policemen soon were occupied in throwing the women out of the building. Shrieks of "How awful are you brutes called men," greeted the policemen. A sharp scolding marked the passage throughout of each group.

One woman sprang over the front of the gallery and was only saved from falling among the crowded audience, 20 feet below, by the fact that several men seized her by the skirts and held her suspended.

Automatic Principles are the principles which have determined all recent improvements of the Remington Typewriter

Take, for example, that latest exclusive Remington improvement, the TABULATOR SET KEY

The Set Key of the Decimals Tabulator eliminates all hand setting of the Tabulator stops. It makes the setting of these stops for any kind of form or tabular work as quick, as easy and as simple as the operation of the Tabulator itself.

This is another important, labor saving step toward the goal of Remington effort, which is to bring every essential act in the operation of the typewriter within the compass of the keyboard. The labor saving value of the Set Key of the Model 11 Remington is attested by thousands of operators.

"KILL ME!" BEGS TORTURED WOMAN. AND MUST WE REFUSE?

Woman Suffering Incessant Pain, and Hopeless of a Cure, Says It Is the Duty of Society to Put Her Out of Her Misery.

(By Harry Burton.)

New York, Jan. 30.—Mrs. Sarah Harris wants to be put to death. And she declares that it is the duty of society to kill her.

Mrs. Harris lies on a white cot in a sanitarium overlooking the Hudson, unable to move a single muscle of her body, except those of her face and neck. She knows that she will always be helpless, and always in pain. And so she challenges medical and legal ethics, and the teachings of religion, and demands, in the name of humanity, that she be legally murdered.

"The sin against my fellow citizens will not be in having put me to death," declares Mr. Harris, "but, in the final reckoning, it will be in having let me live—in condemning me for the rest of my years to the most horrible torture in this world—a living death!"

"Euthanasia" is the scientific name for the thing which Mrs. Harris demands of us. This comprehends the painless putting to death of any incurable and has, from an ethical and scientific standpoint, been theoretically attacked and defended ever since the founding of medical practice centuries ago.

Mrs. Harris is the first woman, so far as is known, to demand publicly that this mooted principle be made actually operative upon her life.

"People would not stand aghast at what I entreat did they realize one-millionth of what I have suffered, do suffer and what I shall suffer. They would demand that legislation be enacted giving some sympathetic doctor the right to put me painlessly out of misery."

"Here I am, a 33-year-old woman, entering upon a fourth year of continuous agony. During this time, with every nerve more than alive, I have been unable to move a muscle of my body, save those of my neck. I can talk and see.

"My sole longing is for the peace of the grave, where I could sink into blessed sleep—a thing I have not known for three whole months!"

"If I were ordinarily paralyzed I should not demand death. I would have no feeling with that sort of disease and could bear with it. But my ailment is different. It has attacked the muscles. They are rotting away. This works hardship on the nerves, which gradually become uncovered. And all over my body these bare nerves jump like those in an aching tooth."

"The real feeling of the people of this country was illustrated in the approval of the acquittal in the murder trial of the Shaker in Florida, who helped a sister when she begged him to end her incurable miseries."

"Lately I read of the acquittal of a man in France who shot his wife, ill of cancer, when she pleaded with him to do it if he really loved her. All France received the verdict with satisfaction."

"These instances show that the majority does not abhor death to relieve suffering. I cannot believe doctors are unlike others in their sympathy, but that chimera, professional ethics, seems to constitute the chief barrier to a practical euthanasia law."

"Let me emphasize my cheerful willingness to submit to every test science can devise, for I would want to live if possible. But when a patient, like myself, whose mind has not been dimmed by the suffering of the body, calls for such a test, and will rejoice above all others if it brings health, the alternative of painless death at the hands of those who know how to administer it ought not to be denied if the test confirms the belief that the case is, as we already know, incurable."

"Now, in the fourth year of my awful agony, I ask every man and woman in the United States:

"Ought I not to be legally put out of my never-ceasing misery?"

"I await the judgment of the people."

SHOULD "EUTHANASIA" LAW BE PASSED?

Mrs. Harris demands that "euthanasia" be legalized; that a law be passed not only in New York state, but in every state in the union, making it permissible for physicians to end the sufferings of incurable patients by a painless death.

What do you think about it? Should the new Mexico legislature pass such a law?

Write what you think about it and send it to the editor of the New Mexican.

PAST FIFTY? YOU NEED "CASCARETS"

What Glasses Are to Weak Eyes Cascarets Are To Weak Bowels.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles. So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

CATTLE SUIT AT DEMING

Deming, N. M., Jan. 29.—E. K. Warren & Son, the Corralitos company, and the Palomas Land & Cattle company have arranged through the First National bank of El Paso and the Bank of Deming a bond for $100,000 to a replevy suit to be filed at once replevying 191 head of cattle now at Columbus, N. M., recently brought across the line consigned to P. A. Hilliard of this place. It is alleged that these cattle were stolen from these companies, and Messrs. Davis & Foster, of Colorado, are now under arrest being charged with receiving these stolen cattle, and are having an examining trial at Columbus today.

It seems that some two weeks ago Joe Cooper brought these cattle across the line, some of them having hair brands, and some with brands burned out, and received in Deming money for them from Davis & Foster, Cooper in turn paying several strange Mexicans who were here for the cattle. Only one hundred and seventy-five of the cattle were declared. Davis & Foster were arrested yesterday, and H. S. Stephenson, vice-president of the Palomas Land & Cattle company and Ted Houghton, manager of the Corralitos company, are at Columbus today attending the preliminary hearing. It seems that Joe Cooper had contracted to deliver 500 cattle on this side, and has gone back to Mexico on this errand. While several of the interested parties were down on the line last week, a Mexican came driving sixteen head up to the line, but seeing the party, he abandoned the cattle and rode away. These sixteen cattle had the brand that is on the cattle above referred to now held in Columbus. Mr. Hilliard to whom the cattle were consigned in the first place disclaims any interest in them whatever, and states that they were merely consigned to him in the interest of Davis & Foster. John L. Dwyer, of El Paso, and A. W. Pollard, of this place, attorneys for the three companies above mentioned will file replevying suit at once.

The board of directors of the chamber of commerce met this morning in the rooms of the chamber. Besides routine business, several committees reported. The committee appointed to make an offer to the farmers of the valley through the Farmers Cooperative Oil Buying association of $750 for the employment of an agricultural instructor provided the farmers put up a like amount reported that the matter was presented to the association at its meeting last Saturday, but the committee asked for more time, as the association desires to discuss the matter at its next meeting Saturday. The committee was granted further time. The committee appointed to investigate a building and loan proposition made by an out-of-town concern, reported unfavorably upon the same, the report was adopted and the committee discharged. A communication was received from the Roswell commercial club calling attention to the fact that the automobile manufacturers of our country have undertaken to aid in the construction of an ocean to ocean highway, and urging co-operation on the part of the cities on the borderland route to co-operate and secure the highway. This matter was referred to the committee of good roads.

FREIDMAN COMING TO AMERICA WITH HIS CURE

New York, Jan. 30.—Charles E. Finlay, the president of the Aetna National bank who last week offered $1,000,000 to Dr. F. F. Friedman, of Berlin, if he would bring his supposed cure for tuberculosis to this country and have it proved effective, said that he now knew that Dr. Friedman would surely bring his cure here in person and that he would sail for the United States within a couple of weeks.

Mr. Finlay does not look upon the payment of the million dollars in event that the cure is a cure, as men of the medical profession here in this country do. He says he has offered it more as a reward, and also as to make it certain that American people may have the benefit of the cure. He intends to make the cure public if it is a success and to found hospitals within and without New York where it may be administered.

"I regard it with a business man's point of view," said Mr. Finlay. "I do not stand to make a dollar by it, but it is worth while I think to find out whether it is a practical cure. It either heals or it does not heal. I agreed to pay the expenses of finding out whether it's a cure or not. That means an outlay of perhaps $40,000. But that isn't much to risk if we run the chance of getting a positive cure for the white plague."

"As regards Dr. Friedman accepting $1,000,000, I can't see why it should raise such a fuss. If he has discovered a remedy he deserves to have the money."

"My purpose in getting him to come over here is to allow him a fair and impartial trial. I understand that he has been treated rather badly on the other side and is almost without the fold. American doctors, even if they think his actions are unethical, they give him a square deal. Dr. Lawrence Brown, of Saranac, probably will conduct the tests, and he will be aided by such men as the New York medical profession shall choose to assist him."

Mr. Finlay said that what he had heard about division of opinion in Berlin over the supposed cure had caused investigation for himself before he made the million dollar offer to him. New York men whom he knew in Berlin had looked into Dr. Friedman's record and found it good. And also through his banking connections Mr. Finlay had found that the Berlin doctor was likely to be telling the truth.

"A man with a straight flush in his hand is not liable to bluff," said Mr. Finlay. "I shall do all I can to demonstrate his remedy. First we will demonstrate it in the case of 100 patients here. If entirely successful the use of the culture will be taken up in the New York hospitals. It will be made public and it will be free. When proof has been obtained, as I believe it will be, hospitals will be built outside of New York for the administration of the cure. And hospitals throughout the country will be taught its use."

"As I understand the culture is not expensive. The tuberculous bacilli are allowed to grow in a turtle, a cold blooded animal. From the turtle the germ culture, the basis of the new cure, is extracted and used for the inoculation of patients. The cure takes about six weeks, during which time the patient does not suffer. He must only remain quiet."

THEY SEE A GHOST AND CONFESS CRIME

Murphysboro, Ill., Jan. 30.—For the tenth time in 17 years a prisoner held for murder in the county jail here has been influenced to confess his crime by a strange apparition.

Sam Smith, sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment for the killing of Asa Black last November, made a complete confession of the slaying and told at the same time of a midnight visitation in his cell from the ghost of the first man ever hanged in the Murphysboro jail, Frank Jones, executed 17 years ago.

The man spent that night, according to the prisoners whose cells surround that of Smith, pleading aloud with the spirit of Jones.

"I've confessed," he shrieked out again and again. "Don't hurt me! Let me alone."

Nine other murderers held in the same cell have seen the ghost of Jones, they have declared. In the course of the 17 years since the first execution a tradition has grown up within the jail that the apparition of Jones returns to every murderer and warns him to save himself from hanging by confession of his crime.

WELL KNOWN ACTOR SUDDENLY STRICKEN

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 30.—Rowland Buckstone, most famous actor of Shakespearean low comedy roles, is a patient at St. John's Hospital here and physicians declare he is fatally stricken. In his deliriums he plays again his roles and imagines himself a star before a great audience. Buckstone was taken ill Saturday at the close of the engagement of the Sothman-Marlowe company here. His illness was almost simultaneous with that of Julia Marlowe. Buckstone has been on the stage since he was 17. Although best known for his long association with Mr. Sothman, he had leading parts in many companies and supported Mary Anderson, Dion Boucicault and Fanny Davenport.

The parts played by Buckstone were roles that are difficult to fill. Since the death of William F. Owen he has been the best comedian in his field.

WOMAN WITH GUN BREAKS UP GAME

Eaton Rapids, Mich., Jan. 30.—Over 100 Aurelius township, a bunch of the men folk congregated for a card game that had not proceeded far before it became a real poker game.

The wife of one of the members of the card party, after waiting until midnight, became suspicious.

She determined to find out if her suspicions were founded on fact, and in the middle of the night, armed with a .38 caliber revolver, walked to the neighbor's home, and unannounced made her way to the room where the men were playing, and made a serious demand that the game should cease. Before she left the room with a firm grip on her husband's coat collar, she demanded the return of every cent of money the recreant spouse had lost, and with the revolver as a persuader, collected the husband's losses.

SPORTING NEWS

CLEAN LIVING KEPT MURPHY IN FIGHT GAME THIRTEEN YEARS AND NETS HIM $480 PER MONTH.

And He Isn't Even a Near-Champion—Started Fighting at 13—Never Smoked and Rarely Drinks—Has Fought 165 Battles.

Twenty-eight years of age, 13 years in the fight game, something like 165 battles all told, wife and baby girl and an income of $480 a month from the six houses he owns in Brooklyn, N. Y. That's the story of Harlem Tommy Murphy in a nutshell—a sort of thumb-nail sketch of a scrapper who has always been a credit to the game, even if he isn't a champion and is a remarkable piece of machinery considering how long he has been identified with the sport.

For these many years they have labeled Tommy Murphy as an old man at the game, a veteran who must be beaten, but just about the time that he seems tagged for the discard he bobs up with a good showing and rejuvenates himself.

"I know I can't go on forever," he said the other afternoon in San Francisco, "and I don't expect to. If I have another year and a half I will be lucky and I will consider myself fortunate that I have had so many chances."

What is there remarkable about T. Murphy, you ask?

Nothing less than the way he has been able to keep pegging away when fighters who are far younger than himself have been dropping by the wayside all through.

"It's good living and regular habits," is the only explanation that he offers. "I drink a little beer now and then, always in fact. At the same time I can't take more than three or four drinks without being busy, and so I don't try. I never did smoke and for the past five years I've been married. We have a little baby girl and that would keep me at home if nothing else would. To me the boxing game has been kind. I started at it 13 years ago, have done practically nothing else and now have something laid aside—six houses in Brooklyn that give me a good income."

Murphy also sounds a warning that ought to be interesting. He says the average person thinks that a fighter must keep on exercising even when he has no matches.

"That's a mistake," he says. "At least I have found that it isn't necessary. Why, for the last two months and a half up to this last fight, I didn't have on a glove. When I am not in training I like a rest and change. In Brooklyn I have my own machine, and when I'm not busy around the house can go out for a spin with the family."

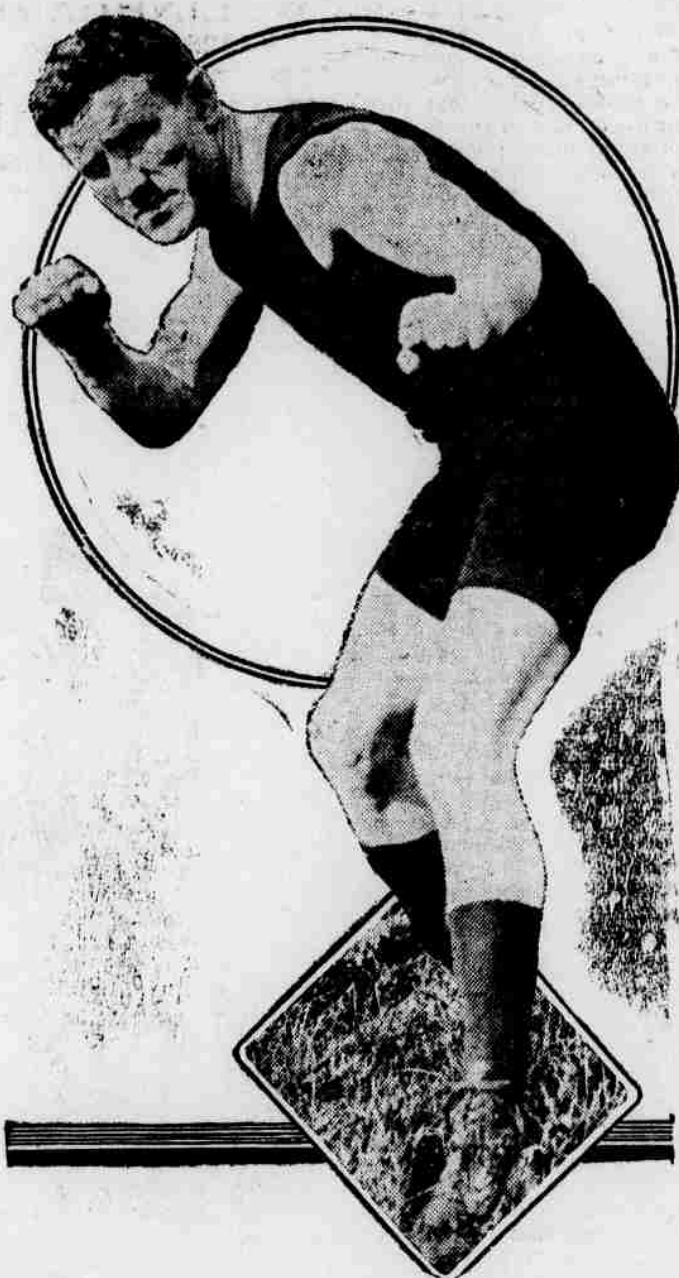

Tommy started boxing in 1895, when he was 15 years old. First of all he was born in Harlem—hence the name. He liked the game so much that he used to box in the street, and some one pointed out that he was wasting his time; that he could get as much as a dollar a fight for the same sort of work.

He opened his career as an amateur and semi-professional before the Polo club in New York. The purses ranged all the way from $1 to $3, depending upon the importance of the bout.

As late as 1900 he was still mixing boxing with work. At that time he had a night job in a glass manufacturing plant technically known to the "profession" as "carrying in and stacking." In short, he carried in the glass to the furnace for the second heating. That netted him 59 cents a night, or $3.54 a week. After that the bouts came so fast that he decided he wouldn't be a glass worker, but a boxer, and he has stuck to his self-appointed task.

"I remember one night," he told us, "when they picked out three tough fellows for me. I knocked them all out inside of three rounds. I expected $3 per man, and you can imagine my disappointment when they told me it was too much, and just gave me $3 for the whole performance."

His professional record dates from 1903, but judging from the book, he has been a busy boy. Since the book fails to show all of his battles, he estimates the grand total at close to 170. In 1904 he was meeting Frankie Nell in Philadelphia for the bantamweight title. Afterward he picked up in his weight, and for the last few years has been in the lightweight division.

Champions Haven't a Thing on Willie Hoppe, Fighter, When It Comes to Getting the Money in the Arena—He's a Real Scraper, Too.

WILLIE HOPPE.

Eighteen years old and earning $58.33 1-3 a minute sounds like a pipe dream, but it's the real goods. The lad pulling down this fairly comfortable piece of change is Willie Hoppe, king of the lightweights in San Francisco's four-round game.

For stepping twelve minutes he receives a guarantee of $500, more than some of the champions in the early days received for fighting to a finish with the bare fists. Terry McGovern, Ed. Wolgast or any of the other fighters of the wildcat order have nothing on Hoppe. He is a whole flock of triple back action windmills when he fights, hooking, jabbing, swinging and uprooting without a moment's let-up throughout the three minutes of every round. He fights so fast that he is almost completely exhausted at the end of each round, but the minute rest sends him back as good as when he started.

His recuperative power is even more marvelous than his tremendous energy. Hoppe does not waste his time boxing. He simply starts both arms going and keeps them both like a piece of perpetual motion machinery until the bell tells him to stop.

Less than a year ago Hoppe was fighting for $20 purses, but his performances became so sensational that all the promoters tried to secure his services, with the result that he is now the star of the four-rounders and is getting big money.

DONIE BUSH SAYS HE LIKES WASHINGTON

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 30.—Washington whose claim to serious consideration as a factor in the 1913 pennant race has received scant consideration from the majority of players and critics, has a champion in the person of Owen Bush, Tiger shortstop. "Watch out for the Nationals," says Donie, who blew into town recently just long enough to sign his contract. "A lot of fellows will try to tell you that the Nationals were traveling beyond their speed in 1912, and that they are due to go back into the second division this year. But you take it from me that the team which beats Griffith's outfit will represent the American league in the world's series. Honestly I believe that if Grif can develop either a capable second baseman or a star left fielder he will grab the bunting in 1913. Look over the Washington club, and aside from the key-stone sacker and the left fielder you will not find a weak spot.

"Gandil, on first, is a star fielder and a good hitter. They don't make any better shortstops than George McFride, while Eddie Foster, although inclined to be somewhat erratic, is a mighty clever third baseman and a wonder on the hit and run play. Of course there is no use in anybody trying to make out that Ray Morgan is a good second sacker. Grif himself will admit that the youngster is not out for the position. Neither is Laporte fast enough for the work, though he still can hit 'em.

"In the outfield Dan Moeller looks about as good as anybody who has broken in recently. He is a very fast judge of a fly ball and holds those that he reaches. On the bases he is continually stretching singles into doubles and doubles into triples. You have to watch him every moment or he will pull something off.

"Everybody will admit that Clyde Milan is one of the best defensive outfielders in the game. He can cover acres of ground in a sure catch and has a fine arm. On the bases he is about as troublesome a man as you can find, and his hitting is strong and usually timely.

"Howard Shanks, who played left field last year, is a weak batter, but he certainly can go and get 'em. He is about as good as anybody in the world in playing a ground ball, and cuts off many a 2-base hit by his fast fielding."

BRYAN DENIES REPORTS SENT FROM MIAMI

Miami, Fla., Jan. 30.—Declaring that Henry E. Alexander, of Trenton, N. J., did not call upon him on political business, Wm. J. Bryan today replied to reports sent out from Miami to the effect that Mr. Bryan had given assurances that he would accept the portfolio of secretary of state in the Wilson cabinet.

Mr. Bryan dictated the following: "No attention whatever should be paid to such reports as sent out from Miami last night. No friend would presume to speak for me in such a matter, and no man who would assume to speak for me can be considered a friend. I take it for granted that President-elect Wilson will give out anything he wants published and I will give out anything I want published. Neither of us should be held responsible for what anybody says. Speaking for myself, I do not care to discuss unauthorized reports. Mr. Alexander did not call upon me for political business, and our conversation was about an entirely different matter."

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Because of the lack of authoritative statement from any of the principals involved, senators and representatives were inclined to some misgiving regarding the Miami report regarding Colonel Bryan and the Wilson cabinet.

It was said, however, that Mr. Bryan had confided to prominent Democratic senators some time ago the fact that he had been offered the position and had determined to accept it, but none of the leaders today was willing to permit the use of his name in connection with it.

JEW MAY TAKE RUSSIAN NAMES

St. Petersburg, Jan. 20.—There is nothing in the Russian law to prevent Russian Jews naming their children as they please, according to a ruling laid down by the Russian senate today. The ministry asked the senate to give a decision on the subject, owing to the growing custom among Jews of using ordinary Russian first names instead of Old Testament names. The holy synod had protested against the custom.

TARIFF FOUND TOO HIGH

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Chairman Underwood stated at the opening of today's tariff hearing that the present 20 per cent tariff on harness and saddlery was too high. The statement was made while E. W. Campbell, of Cincinnati, representing a saddlery association, was pleading for the retention of the duty.

"We are not going to write a prohibitive tariff," said Mr. Underwood.

Fate favors the fond lover who has the right motives and high principles. Mr. Lorry, a typical American, loves at first sight Princess Yelive of Graustark; a western train leaves her at a way station; he wires the train and with Yelive by his side in a carriage races to the next station. He follows her to New York, thence to Europe, picks up his friend Harry in Paris and tries to find Yelive at Edelweiss under the assumed name she gave him, Guggenselocker. RENEWAL OF WAR SEEMS CERTAIN SAYS DIPLOMAT

Paris, Jan. 30.—The Bulgarian minister of finance, T. Theodoroff, who is on his way to Sofia from the London peace conference, declared today that he regards the resumption of war between the Balkan allies and Turkey as certain.

"The first engagement probably will open next Wednesday," he added.

Constantinople, Jan. 30.—The Balkan allies today gave notice of the termination of the armistice, the period of grace of four days to start at 7 o'clock this evening.

London, Jan. 30.—Events in the Balkan peninsula are moving with such rapidity that the world may soon be confronted, not with the question of peace or war, but with a catastrophe which will lead Turkey into a tremendous civil war.

Those who know the Ottoman empire believe the revolt among the Turkish troops on the Tchatalja lines was more grave than was announced in the short dispatches passed by the censor. Close observers of events in Turkey expect that similar revolts will occur in the Asiatic provinces, where the elements opposing the young Turks are stronger than in European Turkey.

Paris, Jan. 30.—At the expiration of the armistice, M. Theodoroff said, "the allies will press the siege of the fortress of Adrianople until that place falls, simply holding the Turks in check at Tchatalja lines. After the fortress had been taken all the Bulgarian siege material will be transported south to the Tchatalja fortifications.

"Bulgaria has lost 25,000 men killed since the war and half the domestic animals of the country are gone. The Bulgarian government is now maintaining 55,000 men in military service. At the conclusion of the war, the expenses of the government will remain immense until the pensions growing out of the conflict have been paid. Bulgaria does not ask for a loan at the present time, but a large loan will be floated immediately after the war with Turkey ends."

STEEL CASE IS POSTPONED TO FEBRUARY 14

New York, Jan. 30.—Hearings in the suit to dissolve the United States steel corporation were adjourned today until February 10. While the government attorneys practically rested their case today with the introduction of documentary evidence, they reserved the right to call other witnesses at that date.

The documentary evidence pertained to the financing of the American Steel and Wire company and to the so-called Jackson Wire Pools.

Counsel for the corporation stated today that their side would probably not be completed before fall. Judge Albert H. Gray, chairman of the corporation, James A. Farrell, president and H. C. Frick, a director, may be called by the defense.

GERMANY VOTES VS. GOVERNMENT

Berlin, Jan. 30.—The German imperial parliament today passed for the first time in its history, a vote of want of confidence in the government. The question before the house was the approval of the government's reply to the interpellation of the chancellor by the Poles yesterday. They asked what the chancellor intended to do to "prevent the appropriation of Polish land owners in Prussia by the Prussian government, a measure irreconcilable with spirit of the justice."

The house today carried, by 213 against 97, a resolution of disapproval of Dr. Herman Liscus' reply, in which he said that the matter was a purely internal one for Prussia and had nothing to do with the imperial parliament.

The Poles, Clericals and Socialists joined to form the majority. The Progressives in the house abstained from voting, arguing that the imperial parliament was without jurisdiction on a question regarding one of the states of the empire.

PEPPER MAKES THEN SNEEZE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—In a peppery atmosphere which kept senators at the sneezing point, representatives of manufacturers of flavoring extracts, spices and pepper, appeared today before the senate, manufacturers to ask the "net weight bill" be amended so as to permit reasonable variations.

They produced samples to show that it was impossible to manufacture glass containers of precisely the same size.

"It seems to me a hardship and an unreasonable additional cost to require the man who sells peanuts at a ball park to have the weight marked on each package," declared Senator Oliver, chairman.

MANDATE IS ISSUED IN PATTEN "CORNER" CASE.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—The supreme court today granted the request of the department of justice of an immediate issue of the court mandate in the Patten cotton corner case. The mandate is the official notification to the federal court of southern New York, that the supreme court has reversed the New York court's holding that the indictments against Jas. Patten, Eugene G. Scales, Frank B. Hayne and Wm. P. Brown for alleged conspiracy to corner cotton did not state an offense under the Sherman anti-trust law. The mandate places the case before the lower court for trial.

In the regular course the mandate would not have been issued until February 6, but Solicitor General Bullitt requested its issue stating that the statute of limitations would run before long in the case and that it might possibly be desired, in case the indictment was held bad on some points not concerning the construction of the Sherman anti-trust, to bring new indictments.

The effect of the courts action today would be to put the government in position to press the case against the defendants and also R. M. Thompson, who was indicted on the same charge, but did not question the construction of the Sherman law, as soon as the papers issued by the BILL IS REJECTED.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Representative McGuire's bill to appropriate $2,000,000 for government buildings on state fair grounds throughout the country, was rejected today by the house agriculture committee. The bill proposed that the government acquire buildings on all state fair grounds controlled by private interests.

TWO BODIES ARE FOUND.
Grand Lake, Colo., Jan. 30.—The bodies of Andrew Kushner and Thomas Dunn, were found yesterday afternoon twenty miles from Chambers lake, near the site of their cabin, which was demolished by a snow slide last Friday. The bodies found by a searching party from here, were frozen, and buried under 20 feet of snow.

He was then sent away to begin his prison term of one year for bank wrecking.

MANY BILLS ARE INTRODUCED IN COLORADO

Denver, Jan. 30.—An educational qualification for signing initiated and referred bills, is in effect, contained in one of four bills introduced in the legislative body with the endorsement of Governor E. M. Ammons. Executive support will be given in an effort to pass all four measures.

One bill makes it a felony for any person to sign a petition for initiating a law unless that person is acquainted with the provisions thereof.

It also makes the signing of another person's name a felony.

The second provides that all state departments must report to the governor at any time, upon request what they are doing and the condition of their finances and gives the governor power to use the public examiner to investigate department affairs.

The third provides for the transfer of the state supreme court and the court of appeals to the new state-nuseum building.

The fourth places all state and county officers on a salary basis.

Today being the last day in which bills may be introduced, both houses gave most of their time to the introduction of new measures.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 30.—Senator Tucker introduced a bill permitting racing meets conducted by incorporated fair and agricultural associations. It also legalizes pari-mutual betting.

The house committee on elections today submitted two reports on the test case, involving the seats of Representatives Boyle and Mayer, Republicans of Las Animas county. The majority report declares that Juan A. Torres and John Guym, Democratic contestants, failed to present evidence sufficient to substantiate their claims. The minority report upheld the claims of the contestants.

At the close of the executive session, it was said enough senators had expressed their approval of the plan to introduce 100 bills appropriating the internal improvement fund to make that plan practicable in the senate.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 30.—The senate today in executive session considered how best to handle the appropriation of the internal improvement fund of approximately $500,000. At present this money is deposited in a Denver bank. Sentiment expressed by senators favored the passage of the state highway commission bill, but the fear was expressed that if this fund was thereby turned over to the commission the measure might be referred to the voters and the internal improvement fund tied up for another two years.

Another plan provided that 100 bills appropriating a proportionate part of the internal improvement fund to the state highway commission be passed inasmuch as appropriation bills are not subject to referendum.

D. C. COLLIER SPEAKS.
The assembly in joint session heard the plea of D. C. Collier, president of the San Diego exposition, for an appropriation by Colorado for an exhibit.

LAW MAKERS ARE TIRED.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 30.—Members of the Illinois legislature met in the first joint session of the 49th general assembly today, following the breaking of the four weeks speakership deadlock last night, canvassed the vote at the last election, prepared for the belated inauguration of Governor-elect Dunne next Monday, and received the final message of Governor Deneen.

Most of the members were visibly fatigued and most of them prepared to depart early this afternoon for their homes, for the week end recess.

LIQUOR BILL PASSES.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 30.—The senate of the Iowa legislature today adopted a concurrent resolution for a memorial to congress in favor of the Kenyon-Sheppard liquor shipments bill, by a vote of 32 to 16. The house had already adopted the resolution.

INDIANS HOLD COUNCIL IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—A council of Indians here today with fifty delegates representing the Arapahoes, Shoshones, Omahas, Sioux, Winnebagoes, and Chippewas, adopted a resolution urging President-elect Wilson to appoint Thomas L. Sloan of Pender, Neb., an Omaha Indian, commissioner of Indian affairs.

The declaration was made that Indians deserved to have in charge of their affairs a man who was familiar with them and in sympathy with the Indian people.

HE HEARD ONLY WHAT HIS WIFE TOLD HIM

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 30.—A resident of this county who never heard of Clarence S. Darrow and to whom the name McNamara was unfamiliar, was found today. He is D. S. Dresbach, a dairyman, called as a venireman in the lawyer's second trial. He admits a vague recollection of having heard of the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building by explosives.

"My wife reads the newspapers and tells me about the murders and automobile accidents," said Dresbach. "Before I came here this morning, I asked her about this case and she said she did not know anything about it."

"UNWRITTEN LAW" AGAIN.
Cookeville, Tenn., Jan. 30.—A jury today acquitted Mrs. Myrtle Barnes, wife of a wealthy Putnam county man, of the charge of murdering Mrs. Della Judd. Last May Mrs. Barnes boarded a train near her home, sought out Mrs. Judd, and shot her dead. Mrs. Barnes had charged that undue intimacy existed between her husband and Mrs. Judd.

CONTINUE THE PROBE

No illusion is more widespread than that the American people are radical. They are the slowest, most conservative people on earth—until they have thought through a problem. Then they usually move swiftly enough. Today they are thinking through this banking and currency problem. It isn't a welcome task. It makes one dizzy. Most of us would far rather have gone on leaving such puzzling matters to the bankers themselves, as we used to do. But the high cost of living forced us to take notice.

And then came Sam Untermyer's money trust probe, with its revelations to the uninitiated of what the insiders had known all along—that a mere handful of men were making away with the fat of the land largely because we had let them rig up a banking system under which no other result was possible. Unfolded, the mystery became ridiculously simple. It was precisely the old, old story of the three sheils and the pea, with 50,000,000 Americans serving as "come-ons."

We're tired of being "come-ons," but we aren't yet quite sure what we ought to do about it.

The money trust probe has thus far been educational, but it hasn't scratched the surface. It has only whetted an appetite for more. John Smith, out on the prairie, and Bill Jones, in the shop, both sweating in the struggle to clothe the kids and lay by something for a rainy day, are beginning at last to see that this banking question concerns more than the captain and the squire. For the first time in their lives, John and Bill are coming to realize that it is an intimate, vital concern of their own.

Since they are to do the real work of the world, they must see to it that no slick set of confidence men are to be permitted to make off with their pay.

Their interest calls for banking that will back the farmer with a crop to harvest, the manufacturer with labor to pay while he is waiting for his output to be turned into cash, the merchant who needs credit to bridge the gaps between purchase and settlement. It is directly opposed to the peddling of inflated securities intended first as a swindling of investors and then as a basis of unjust taxation of consumers down to the end of recorded time.

John and Bill know they have been trimmed all right, all right. But they aren't yet very clear as to just how the slick ones did it. They want more facts—not more rhetoric, but more facts. The banker whom they know best—their "captain" or their "squire"—ought to be called on the stand and made to show just how the present shell game banking system works against honest community needs. Not all the gambling is done in Wall street. Aren't there little bankers in every neighborhood, riding on the people's backs? Testimony from them might be useful.

By all means let Lawyer Untermyer keep on with his good work. Under Taft he had some cards stacked against him. Under Wilson he will have the pick of the deck. Let's get to the bottom.

GIVING THAT COUNTS

We ask leave to quote something from the New York World: "The wedding was simple, in strict keeping with the life and habits of the woman whose goodness and unostentatious benefactions have won high esteem. Beautiful as were the decorations, they were comparatively inexpensive. Daintily as was the luncheon, a schoolgirl could afford to buy the duplicate of a portion and pleasing as were the arrangements, one of moderate means could match them in a miniature without unduly straining the purse strings.

"But more than all this, the bride herself added a touch suggestive of true Americanism. Shortly after breakfast, when the millionaire guests were preparing for the ceremony, she summoned her servants. As they entered her study, she shook each warmly by the hand and bade them be present at the wedding. And she later saw to it that the ceremony did not begin until every person in her employ was placed at a point of vantage."

You have guessed, of course, that this bride was Helen Gould. The money amassed by J. Gould, her father, was talented. But this daughter has shown how by simple humanity talented money can be made sweet again. It isn't because Helen Gould has given freely of Jay Gould's solid fortune to works of charity, education and benevolence that she has earned the respect and affection of millions. Rockefeller has given freely, Carnegie fairly throws his bounty around; even that old skindint Russell Sage, put his wad into a philanthropic pickle—and nobly venerate them.

Helen Gould gives more than money. She gives herself. There is no other way to win the love of a people.

The commission form of government got into the legislature earlier than was anticipated and it came from a different source than was really expected. It may never see daylight again, or, if it does, it may only come out long enough to be snuffed, but it will, at least give an opportunity for a record. Whether introduced in a spirit of levity or in earnest, the plan is one that will, one day be commonly adopted and it would be a good thing for New Mexico at any time.

Governor Wilson says he will get nine hours' sleep in the white house or know the reason why. It looks as if the governor was in for a little information that has not yet come to him.

It looks like a tame inauguration, but the fireworks may come afterward.

AS THE BYSTANDER SEES IT

WHY IS IT?

Why is it that men who are chosen to the legislature in New Mexico are willing to submit to the dictation and supervision of other men?

Why is it that senators and representatives who are possessed of thinking powers of their own, who are endowed with the qualities that are given to men to use, will permit others to do their thinking for them and humbly submit to outside direction?

One would think they would have a little pride in the matter.

Wherein have Charles Spiess and Charles Springer shown that ability and superior knowledge that entitles them to this preposterous attempt at leadership?

Where have they made their mark in any movement that is for the progress and advancement of New Mexico? Has anyone seen the names of these gentlemen connected with the booster's association? Have their faces appeared anywhere in any publication or at the head of any article that was written for the good of anybody, or that had a patriotic motive?

To be sure, they are both pictured in Vol. 1, Peterson's "Representative New Mexicans," where pictures of men and brief notices are given—sold at so much per page; but where else do they appear?

What achievements are theirs, that entitles them to become leaders of any movement or anything that is for advancement or progress, or anything that looks for the prosperity and growth of the Sunshine State?

Why should they influence and direct other men who have as good a quality of brains, if they will use them, and whose pictures are in Peterson's book, just as prominently and conspicuously as those of Springer and Spiess?

I am only asking these questions because I want to know.

Can anybody answer?

ANOTHER NUISANCE.

My attention was called to another Santa Fe nuisance on Palace avenue and I make mention of it. This is not an odor nuisance or anything like that, such as I mentioned the other

THE SWITZERLAND OF AMERICA. VALLEY RANCH, N. M.

THE RANCH OF THE ROCKIES
Open the Year Round. Illustrated Booklet Sent On Request.
THE VALLEY RANCH

day, but a menace nuisance—a danger.

In front of a vacant lot on Palace avenue is a fence, or an alleged fence, with a wire supposed to run from post to post, which it does in a roundabout way, and that roundabout way is just what causes the disturbance and is the cause of these few lines.

It seems that the wire meanders out on the sidewalk in a most inartistic and irregular way, rendering a dark night dangerous to a passerby as it offers a most encouraging chance for a trip up and a costly fall.

It might be considered all right for a Halloween trick, to put a rope or a wire over this sidewalk to floor the unsavory and bump some unsuspecting pedestrian, but to make a regular thing of laying this danger out before people who are going home in proper condition and in the regular way, seems a little unkind and may be expensive to those who are perpetrating this careless method of procedure to go on.

A little attention, a little care, a few minutes work would do away with this danger, and the street itself would be made a little more presentable, too.

We would not want a stranger to come to Santa Fe and walk up this beautiful avenue and get knocked down or tripped up by a vagrant wire that ought to be nailed up.

We are the "City With the Open Gate," but we do not want it to be open in that way—to offer damages to either our own people or those who may choose to come in.

RECEPTIONS.

I wonder why it is that men go to receptions when 999 out of every 1000 hate them worse than they hate to come home hungry to dinner and find the stove still cold and their wife at the club.

I heard one after another man say to his friend last week: "Are you going to the reception tonight?" The invariable response was: "I suppose I'll have to, but I would rather be kicked from here to the capitol than to do it."

Yet we put on our spiketails and go. The whole thing is a bore—until the dancing comes; perhaps that is the compensation.

Somebody looked in at the reception the other night, just to see how it was going. In describing the scene he said: "I saw Mr. C standing with his hands behind his back, looking bored almost to death, as he tried to talk to someone in whom he was not interested and whose chatter did not appeal to him."

There may be those who like receptions, but not many. They are stiff, at best—until the dancing begins. They're all right, then.

Of course we are expected to make sacrifices in this world and perhaps it's the thing to come home tired as a horse on a wood wagon, put on those reception togs and stand around for a few hours trying to feel chipper, and acting as if you were having the time of your life, all because someone is there who really thinks receptions are hot stuff, and is having a good time, or because the ones giving the receptions wanted to give some folks some attention and thought the best method was by the reception route.

Of course, everyone would not say so, right out, and there may be, now and then, someone who does not really think so, but come right down to honest convictions, I'll bet that there are few men who do not think receptions a bore—until the dancing begins.

FOUNTAIN FOR THE HIGH SCHOOL

A bubbling, anti-freezing drinking fountain has been presented to the Central high school by the Wood-Davis Hardware company and has proven a success thus far. It is designed so that the water will not freeze during the coldest weather. At the same time, no drinking cup is necessary and the pupils are assured a fresh drink of water at any time. The chief value of the fountain is said to be that it absolutely prevents the spread of disease in any manner and the public drinking from it are in no danger of contracting dangerous throat or mouth germs.

Other fountains will be placed in the different ward schools and probably in the plaza.

BEAT TEACHER WITH BATS. Tecumseh, Okla., Jan. 30.—Knocked down between two school benches and beaten insensible by baseball bats, wielded by two sons of J. W. Parks, Robert Adams, 19 years old, a school teacher, died yesterday.

Adams had thrashed the boys, and they left the schoolroom, returning shortly armed with bats, and in the presence of the other children, attacked the teacher.

The younger boy was arrested, but the elder escaped. The boys are 15 and 17 years old.

REMARKS FROM THE SIDE LINE

Senator Fall has done a great work for the state. He has shown us the real Burg and Llewellyn in all their glory. Others we have known.

Wall street is sadly affected by reported war news from Europe. If there is anything that will not affect Wall street, we should like some one to arise and name it.

That little comedy in two acts involving one of our most noted military geniuses and a telegraph operator, will likely prove a sort of a "melodrammer" before the third act.

The people of Bernalillo county ought, in all reason, to get out the land for Hon. Burg, the great Progressive leader, fit representative for the state fair.

John Baron Burg is a young man; but, although he is a young man, he went into the legislative session with eyes wide open. He cast his vote for Fall. It is something he will never forget—under the circumstances.

The organization of a $20,000,000 transportation company to control all lines in the rich mining fields, should be used, we presume, as another argument in favor of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The election of Fall is another argument in favor of the direct election of senators. Further arguments are Springer, Spiess, Bursum, Malagualas Martinez, Llewellyn, Burg and others too insignificant to mention.

The peace of Europe seems to be badly scrambled. Instead of trying to patch up that little row between the Balkans and Turkey, Europe had better have left the fates in the hands of the Gods.

COMMENDATORY WORDS TO THE NEW MEXICAN

Santa Fe, Jan. 20, 1913.

Mr. Editor: I think I know a good thing—sometimes—when I see it. Now, as there is nothing either good or bad, but thinking makes it so, suppose we let it go at that, to-wit: That I have seen a good thing and know it.

In your issue of last evening you handled the surgical knife with rare grace and skill, and you gently and feelingly lifted off a bit of the endermus those erst-while Progressive statesmen. Representatives Llewellyn and Burg. We were certainly true to your cause, for it was surely a pretty piece of Progressive surgery.

And then, having finished your masterly work on the operating table and left your patient to squirm under the sting, you coolly and with that unmistakable charm of yours turned to the audience and said: "No one should lose confidence in the future of the new state while it contains these two heroes—the man who gave up his principles for his constituents, and the man who gave up his constituents for his principles."

Good thing? Why, of course, it is a good thing, and I knew it when I saw it. It is a classic, and I have posted it in my hat. You have posted these two heroes as the bulwarks of our political confidence in these primitive days of our scrumptious Sunshine State and aens after you and I have been gathered to our fathers, Mr. Editor, the names of Llewellyn and Burg will go thundering down through the corridors of time as exemplars of confidence and stability in political life for the inspiration of budding statesmen in ages yet unborn. Selah!

O, fortunate New Mexico! O, bulwarks of confidence! O, blessed heroes!

But, "Oh, what must it be to be here, when on future occasions, sure to come, you take off the dermis of these heroes and hang it on the fence for us to look at as we pass by."

I makes our teeth water to think of it. Talk about good things! Um-m-m! And don't you be afraid, we'll not see it, Mr. Editor, we'll see it with half an eye when you scribble it off, because we'll be perched up on the lookout with a glass. Don't let hope deferred make our hearts sick.

Iago said "honesty's a fool, and loses what it works for." And then by and by poor, deluded Othello, when he was beginning to feel as "one whose hand, like the base Indian, threw a pearl away richer than all his tribe," said, "why should honor outlive honesty?"

Shortly before he asked this important question he said something about being made "a fixed figure for the hand of scorn to point his slowly moving finger at."

Expectantly yours,

ONE WHO KNOWS, Etc.

FEDERALS AND REBELS MARCH ON JUAREZ

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 30.—The combined rebel army failed to form for attack on Juarez before daybreak today, allowing 300 reinforcements to enter the border town and port of entry. The rebels, however, remain practically surrounding the town. American army officers watching the rebel advance from Guadalupe, thirty miles east of the Texas border declare that the line of march extended for nearly twenty miles. The insurgents marched two abreast with between one thousand and twelve hundred in the line.

While the advance reached the vicinity of Juarez shortly after midnight, General Salazar could not concentrate his forces before dawn.

The rebels disappeared today from the Texas border near El Paso, and it is believed are making a detour below Juarez to arrive in the hills southwest of the town, from which location Madero made his attack two years ago.

Reinforcements arriving today bring the Juarez garrison up to about 800 men and strong artillery defense. They consisted of about 300 men under Colonel Francisco Castro, who has been moving slowly up the Mexican Central railway with work trains. They reported meeting rebels at Alameda and routing them with the big ships cannon carried on the troop train.

The engagement occurred yesterday, after General Carraveos rebels had demanded the surrender of Alameda.

Mexico City, Mex., Jan. 30.—Two mixed columns of federal troops, including artillery have been ordered by the war department to proceed against the rebel forces menacing Juarez. General Antonio Rabago, the commander of the northern division of the federal army, whose headquarters are at Chihuahua, has been told to furnish the troops and to send them toward the north over the Mexican Central railroad.

NEW WORK FOR CANAL MEN

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Recent slides of earth and rocks into the Culbraz cut will make necessary great activity if the Panama canal is to be opened before the end of the year, as has been predicted by Col. Goethals. More than half a billion yards of earth and rock have fallen into the cut this month, and engineers fear that another impending break at Purple Hill will add not less than one million yards.

For a long time the detestable Culbraz slide on the east bank of the canal has been quiet, but on the afternoon of January 16 the earth movement began so rapidly as to carry away some of the dirt cars and completely covered all of the railroad tracks in the canal except one. Purple hill is holding back a tremendous amount of earth slowly moving toward the cuts, but the hill is showing signs of weakness and should it break away the canal prism would be almost filled at that point.

OROZCO IS NOW BACK NUMBER

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Colonel de La Fuente, released a few weeks ago from Fort Sam Houston, Texas, where he was held on a charge of violation of the neutrality laws, is again back in Mexico, as chief of staff in a new revolutionary movement headed by General Inez Salazar. Brigadier General Steever reports that Salazar was elected chief of a new revolution on Wednesday and the announcement of his appointment of Colonel de La Fuente followed. No mention is made of Orozco, who apparently has been superseded.

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 30.—Rebel agents here declare that General Orozco still is the recognized revolution leader, but that owing to his physical disability caused by an attack of rheumatism from which he has suffered since the early campaigns, he remains in hiding in Mexico.

Salazar's appointment as commander in chief merely is an expedient measure, they declare, in the present campaign. Salazar has been acting commander of the rebel forces in the north since Orozco's disappearance some months ago.

From 21 to 42 was the range in temperature yesterday and the humidity was 62 per cent. At 6 a. m. today the mercury stood at 25 degrees. Yesterday was a clear and pleasant day and the weather continues beautiful today.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast.

A little Danderine tonight—now—anytime—will surely save your hair. Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application you will say it was the best investment you ever made. Your hair will immediately take on new life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

NEWS OF THE STATE

CARS AFIRE.

On Thursday of this week a passenger coach and a combination coach, mail and baggage, of the Dawson line, were caught on fire from some unknown cause while standing in the yards, and the passenger coach was totally destroyed and the other coach was badly burned before the flames could be extinguished. It will be taken to El Paso for repairs.—Tucumcari News.

STILL HAD APPETITE.

Our old friend, M. N. Davis, had the misfortune to be held up on his way back to Spruce, Mo. They trimmed him good and proper, so that he landed in Kansas City without a cent of money, railroad ticket or trunk check. The only thing he had left was his appetite.

They had no use for that or they would have wiped that too. We imagine Uncle Miles would have been more comfortable if they had relieved him of the appetite too.—Obar Progress.

A WRECKED EXTRA.

Wednesday night about 11:15 a serious wreck occurred about three miles west of San Antonio on this division. The supposition is that a brake beam broke and fell on the rails causing the derailment of about eighteen cars of coal and merchandise. The steam wrecker and crew were called out to clean the debris, but were unable to do so before the north and south passenger trains were due. Passengers, mail and express were transferred from one train to the other at the scene of the wreck so as to cause just as little delay as possible in this branch of the service. The extra was in charge of Conductor Price. Luckily no one was injured, although the crew received a severe shaking up.—San Marcial Standard.

HAVE A KICK, TOO.

The Santa Fe New Mexican is making a great "howl" about the lack of a postoffice and building suitable for the capital city of the greatest state of the United States; we hope it will be made successful than the numerous kicks that have been made by the people of Wagon Mound. We have kicked till we felt like kicking ourselves for having kicked at all, and all to no avail. Our postoffice is a little dark, dingy corner in the back end of a grocery store, and the patrons of the office await the sweet pleasure of the opening and closing hours of the store to obtain or deposit mail, and stand patiently in line by the hour to get the mail on account of not being able to obtain lock boxes. Then if the mail trains happen to be late we wait until the next day to get mail. We have a kind of an idea that postoffices are for the accommodation of patrons, and not for officials and politicians but some people do not agree with us. We are wondering if the new president-elect can help us out any.—Wagon Mound Pantagraph.

TO HAVE CREAMERY.

Clovis has at last succeeded in getting the creamery about which much has been said lately. It is not merely a skimming station for the Albuquerque creamery as heretofore, but the plans are perfected and the machinery ordered for the "Magic City Creamery" which will be second to none in the state. Will H. Pattison, who recently opened a produce market is the proprietor of the new enterprise which promises so much in the future for Clovis. It will enable the farmers to market their cream right here at home and receive the cash for it and in addition to the creamery, Mr. Pattison will continue to handle country produce such as chickens, turkeys,

FROM SEATTLE RODEY WRITES ON TAX QUESTION

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 25, 1913.
Editor New Mexican:

When I was in Santa Fe in the latter days of December I made a few remarks regarding the tax situation in our new state, which you kindly published. Since coming here, I have noticed that the board of equalization has determined to obey the law as it has stood for years on our statute books, that is to return all property at its market value. It does make one feel like shaking hands of the members of that board for this action. Only a board having power all over the states as they have could do such a splendid thing. Heretofore no single county could return its property as the law required, without thus making itself pay an undue proportion of the territorial taxes, and so each county vied with the others, kept returning its property lower and lower, until the entire return went down from a ridiculously low figure to an almost criminally insignificant total figure. Any one who cares to verify this statement has but to examine the total returns from 1885 to 1905. Several persons in our county (Bernalillo) who were too conscientious to make the prescribed oath to their returns that the values were the true cash market values, interlined words in the printed form of the oath, such as would take the perjury out of it. These returns can be seen in the files. My recollection is that the total property return of the territory of New Mexico for many years ranked from thirty-five to forty-five millions of dollars, and in consequence the rate levy was from three per cent to seven or eight per cent. Territorially New Mexico, considering the long time she was a territory, did not waste very much money, for when she was admitted as a state, as a territory she owed but a comparatively small sum. I am not sure that this compliment could be paid to some of the counties or to all of the municipalities.

But we must be reasonable in all things, and therefore must admit that the whole blame for continued tax conditions in New Mexico as a territory could not always be entirely laid to the people. The railroads in particular were to blame for some of the trouble. In some counties they were about the only tax payers, and so tried to make their return as low as possible. They took advantage of the act of congress exempting them from taxation on their right of way through the territories, and thus largely avoided paying any taxes at all in large portions of New Mexico and Arizona. When public opinion shamed them out of this, they agreed to pay a moderate tax, which in truth was higher than other property was paying. But then they got the county commissioners of all the railroad counties and many prominent citizens to petition congress, and to press the delegates to have an act of congress passed fixing the value of the main trunk lines of railroad in the two territories at $4500 per mile for purposes of taxation. Of course it turned out that this fixed the tax values of all property until we would become a state, and it also turned out that the railroads hadn't lost any statehood for many years thereafter and their enthusiasm for that boon was not very ebullient. In the adjoining states these same trunk lines of railroad during most of those years paid on a valuation per mile varying from fourteen to seventeen thousand dollars! So it might as well be set down that up to the present time New Mexico's tax valuation is a botch of the very worst kind, and that the whole people and every property interest in the jurisdiction was and is responsible for this condition. Further it ought to be concluded that now is the time to correct it. We also ought to consider ourselves lucky that we have a territorial law left over, which fixes a proper value on property for purposes of taxation, and that this law is not rendered a nullity now by any act or acts of congress, and further that we appear to have a board of equalization composed of men who will enforce the law as it is written. More power to them. The strict enforcement of this law will be a blessing to all the people of the state, and will injure no person and no interest. It is so manifestly right to assess property for taxation at its market cash value, that like woman suffrage, there isn't a tenable argument against it. Moosback sophistry can be urged against it, but not argument. Think of it for a minute. If you own $500 worth of property and return it for $100 and pay 3 per cent tax on that your tax is $3, if you return that property at its true value of $500 and pay only a half of one per cent tax rate, you pay only the same $3 as a tax. Your taxes are not increased. Therefore you will say "what's the use then, it is as broad as it is long." Not so. The prosperity of any state is retarded or promoted as money is hard or easy to borrow. Investment is scared away or enticed by the tax rate. This is axiomatic.

The very toughest question connected with the tax matter is that often and that unavoidably directly or indirectly it results in double taxation. You may tell a money lender until you are blue in the face that although the law says that mortgages must be taxed, that still the law is a dead letter, etc. If money is worth 6 per cent and the tax rate is 5 per cent, the borrower is not going to get any 6 per cent money, not on your life, if money lender is not going to take any chance of letting his money for 1 per cent. He will pass up that tax rate to the borrower by an increased interest rate or he won't lend, and that is all there is about it. But if money is worth 6 per cent and the tax rate for all purposes in the state is limited in the organic law of the state (the constitution) at a half of one per cent, as it can be if we return all our property at its true cash value, then the money lender will willingly let his money for the 6 per cent, knowing that he is sure of 5 1/2 per cent net, and he will take pleasure in returning all his mortgages and investments for taxation. I deny that money lenders under just laws like to be tax dodgers. On the contrary they like to obey the law as a class, I am not speaking of the exceptions. Money will beg for a chance to be invested where the tax limit is a half of one per cent. That sort of a tax limit equalizes the burdens of government. It makes people honest. When tax valuations are chaotic and the property is returned at ridiculously small fractions of its true value, money (which cannot be undervalued) resorts to every expedient, even to contemptible ones to dodge the unjust burden attempted to be put upon it, and when it succeeds, as it almost always does, then all property other than money, pays an undue proportion of the burdens of sustaining the government. These things are so plain that no person of good sense can deny them. Therefore we should fix up our tax system, and do it now for the general welfare of our people and our new state.

Some careless, and some unthinking persons may say that I am a bit wild when I say that New Mexico has with its tax system property available to taxation of the reasonable value of one billion of dollars. I used to put our values years ago as low as three or four hundred millions of dollars, and at the times I did so much writing about it. I am glad to see now that Governor McDonald places it at about five hundred millions I think it is, and I am glad to know that Treasurer Marron places it even higher than that. However, and with all due respect for the judgment of those gentlemen, I still stick to my billion dollar estimate.

Situated here, away from home as I am, and without data to refer to I cannot give the values of the different property items of our state with even an approximate degree of accuracy, but I ask any one who is competent to figure it out for himself under the following heads, and he will find that the market value will foot up to my estimate: Farm lands, grazing lands, privately owned timber lands, privately owned coal lands, railroads, houses and lots, stocks of goods, mines, mining plants, cattle, horses, mules, sheep, furniture, jewelry, money, etc., etc. We have a good many cities, towns, villages and hamlets in our state, and there is taxable property and lots of it in every one of them.

I know that many good men disagree with me on this matter, but personally I am of the opinion, that if the tax rate is limited in the constitution to a half of one per cent for all purposes, then there should not be any tax exemption of any kind or character permitted at all. All exemptions are worse sources of tax dodging than even the tax on mortgages. Exemptions are holes in the ground in which much property is hidden, and we all know this. There is no need of any exemption at all, if the tax rate is only a half of one per cent. The poor person who has only $200 worth of property will have to pay only $1 as a tax, and surely all who are so poor will be willing to pay that much for the sense of helping to sustain the government which it will bring him.

I notice that Attorney General Clancy has prepared a bill on this tax matter, and while I have not given all of its provisions the examination I would like to before saying anything about it, I do believe it is a first class measure. In looking over the list of the members of our assembly I am impressed with the personnel, they

Gave Up Hope

"I suffered five years, with awful pains, due to womanly troubles," writes Mrs. M. D. McPherson, from Chadbourn, N. C. "They grew worse, till I would often faint. I could not walk at all, and I had an awful hurting in my side; also a headache and a backache.

I gave up and thought I would die, but my husband urged me to try Cardui, so, I began, and the first bottle helped me. By the time the third bottle was used, I could do all my work. All the people around here said I would die, but Cardui relieved me."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

For more than 50 years, Cardui has been relieving woman's sufferings, and making weak women strong and well. During this time, thousands of women have written, like Mrs. McPherson, to tell of the really surprising results they obtained by the use of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women.

Cardui strengthens, builds, restores, and relieves or prevents unnecessary pain and suffering from womanly troubles. If you are a woman, begin taking Cardui, today.

are a fine lot of men, and surely there will be evolved in this session a good lot of progressive and beneficial laws that will be for the benefit of all, and that will comport with modern ideas of strict fairness to the rich and the poor alike.

FATHER-IN-LAW OF THE DUKE SAYS WILSON'S TALKATIVE

New York, Jan. 30.—Eugene Zimmerman, father-in-law of the duke of Manchester, who has been stopping with the duke and duchess in Ireland, returned today by the Campania with a sheet of opinions on municipal, national and international things. He said he advocated the building of the New York subways with the money of the people, subscribed on the installment plan as this work was carried on. He believed the people would buy the bonds and that the syndicates and Mr. Morgan should be content, as they had more than enough profits in the past to invest. President-elect Wilson, Mr. Zimmerman said, was doing too much talking. He was frightening European investors in American securities; they were holding off to see what the president-elect was going to do. He would find that he could not reach the people his ideas even in four years; might be instructed himself on the subject of finance.

While at work I suffered more intensely than at any other time and I was very anxious to find a remedy that would relieve me. CLEAN YOUR LIVER AND 30 FEET OF BOWELS WITH "SYRUP OF FIGS."

More Effective Than Calomel, Castor Oil or Salt G. n. g. Cleanses the Stomach, Liver and Bowels Without Nausea or Griping. Children Dearly love it.

You know when your liver is bad, when your bowels are sluggish. You feel a certain dullness and depression, perhaps the approach of a headache, your stomach gets sour and full of gas, tongue coated, breath foul, or you have indigestion. You say, "I am bilious or constipated and I must take something tonight."

Most people shrink from a physician; they think of castor oil, calomel, salts or cathartic pills.

It's different with Syrup of Figs. Its effect is as that of fruit; of eating coarse food; of exercise. Take a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs tonight and you don't realize you have taken anything until morning, when all the clogged up waste matter, sour bile and constipation poisons move on and out of your system, without gripe, nausea or weakness. Nothing else cleanses and regulates your sour, disordered stomach, torpid liver and thirty feet of waste-clogged bowels like gentle, effective Syrup of Figs. Don't think you are drugging yourself. Being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, it can cause no injury. If your child is cross, sick and feverish, or its little stomach sour, tongue coated, give Syrup of Figs at once. It's really all that is needed to make children well and happy again. They dearly love its pleasant taste. Ask your druggist for the full name—"Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and look on the label for the name—California Fig Syrup Company. That, and that only, is the genuine. Refuse any other fig syrup substitute with contempt.

BRIDE DON'T KNOW ANYTHING OF JURIES

Kansas City Mo., Jan. 30.—If you had been married only since Christmas, would the prospect of being locked up with a jury for a month or six weeks look good to you? Now, Mrs.—but that would be telling—was certain her husband had asked for an invitation to be on the Hyde jury.

Mrs. Jurymen was so mad, too, when she arrived in the courtroom and demanded to see her husband. She'd show him how to stay away without asking her about it. But right there is where she ran up against an obstacle in the person of Judge E. E. Porterfield.

"Now, say, little woman," he said, gently but firmly, "you just go right back home, and when you can come back in a better humor you can see your husband."

She went home. She had an idea. She'd write him a letter. She did. It didn't occur to her that every letter written to the jurors is read first by Judge Porterfield. She got it back, opened and reread. And across the bottom were some more gentle but firm remarks that, when she had made up her mind to be nice, like a perfectly new wife should be, she might write to her husband with assurance that he'd get the letter.

Yesterday she arrived in the courtroom, smiling. She looked up at the court and smiled. And the court looked back at her and smiled.

At the end of the session Judge Porterfield asked if there were any there who wanted to see members of the jury. She smiled again. When the two, who have been married only since Christmas, approached each other, both were smiling, and the spectators turned their eyes away.

"Here's some clean clothes," brought up," she said.

HOW THIS WOMAN FOUND HEALTH

Would not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for All Rest of Medicine in the World.

Utica, Ohio.—"I suffered everything from a female weakness after baby came. I had numb spells and was dizzy, had black spots before my eyes, my back ached and I was so weak I could hardly stand up. My face was yellow, even my fingernails were colorless and I had displacement. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am stout, well and healthy. I can do all my own work and can walk to town and back and not get tired. I would not give my Vegetable Compound for all the rest of the medicines in the world. I tried doctor's medicines and they did me no good."—Mrs. MARY EARLEWINE, R.F.D. No. 3, Utica, Ohio.

Another Case.
Nebo, Ill.—"I was bothered for ten years with female troubles and the doctors did not help me. I was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work and every month I had to spend a few days in bed. I read so many letters about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound curing female troubles that I got a bottle of it. It did me more good than anything else I ever took and now it has cured me. I feel better than I have for years and tell everybody what the Compound has done for me. I believe I would not be living to-day but for that."—Mrs. ESTHER GREENSTREET, Nebo, Illinois.

said, might or might not be agreeable to the people residing therein. Mr. Manzanares moved to table the Mullens resolution and the house voted 29 to 7. By that hour, the house was showing signs of weariness and when some one suddenly moved to take a recess until this afternoon at 2 o'clock, the motion prevailed by an overwhelming vote.

ROSWELL A CANDIDATE FOR STATE FAIR, TOO.
Roswell, Chaves county, in the heart of the apple and alfalfa belt, was entered in the race for the state fair this morning, when Mr. Mullens presented a bill, which is along much the same lines as the Burg bill giving the fair to Albuquerque. The Mullens bill asks for $5,000 a year for maintenance which is the same amount as the Burg bill. The Roswell people have 160 acres for a fair ground about $5,000 worth of fair buildings and a good-sized race course and other equipment which may act as an inducement to the legislators to give them the fair.

The Burg bill, H. B. No. 23, was favorably reported in the house this morning by the house committee on public affairs. It asks $15,000 for fair grounds and buildings and $5,000 a year.

FALL'S CERTIFICATE IN A RESOLUTION.
House Joint Resolution No. 8, by R. L. Baca, the speaker, was introduced, read and passed in the house this morning, requiring the speaker and the president of the senate to certify the election of Albert Bacon Fall as United States senator to the governor. The resolution carried with it, the form of certificate. The only vote against its passage in the house was that of Marcos C. de Baca. Otherwise, it got 42 favorable votes.

The only House Joint Resolution was No. 7, by M. C. de Baca—Relative to the reports of members of boards of regents of state institutions.

BOARD OF EDUCATION IN NEED OF FUNDS.
The state board of education this morning sent a petition to the house asking for $1,000 to be appropriated at once for the publication of courses of study and institute manuals and other necessary printing, it being asserted that there were no funds available and that the cause of education was being severely hampered.

Among the bills introduced in the house this morning were:

H. B. No. 72, by Mr. Cordova—To provide for the distribution of funds received from the liquor traffic.

H. B. No. 73, by Mr. Padilla—An act relative to peace proceedings.

H. B. No. 74, by Mr. Llewellyn—To regulate practice before district courts in appeal cases from justice of the peace.

H. B. No. 75, by Mr. Sanchez—To repeal sections of the fence law.

H. B. No. 76, by Mr. Sanchez—To prevent the running at large of hogs.

H. B. No. 77, by Mr. Sanchez—To establish dry farming station near the county lines of Union and Mora counties.

H. B. No. 78, by Mr. Sanchez—To

DRINKING CUP

BILL IS PASSED.
Senate Bill No. 6—on the calendar this afternoon and known as the Pankey drinking cup bill, was passed by the legislative senate after minor amendments had been proposed and adopted.

The senate also passed S. B. No. 10—Fixing the time for holding court in the eighth judicial district. The bill provides for court in Colfax county on the first Mondays in May and December, in Quay county on the first Mondays in April and October. In Tros county on the first Mondays in June and November and in Union county on the first Mondays in March and September.

S. B. No. 21—A stringent white slave law, was passed without opposition. The senate also passed S. B. No. 30—An act to prohibit the publication of public records and imposing a penalty of $500 or six months imprisonment.

These bills were tabled:

S. B. No. 22—An act relative to treatment of imbeciles, certain criminals, epileptics, etc.

S. B. No. 28—An act requiring the payment of wages in money or checks of even date when employees quit employment.

S. B. No. 3, was adopted just before the senate went into recess. This resolution drops Frank Hinojosa, a clerk, and gives the position to James Baca. Mr. Baca, it is said, has been doing the work but the other man has been "officially" holding down the job without the formality of doing the work.

The senate received House Joint Resolution No. 8, by Speaker Baca—Instructing the speaker and president of the senate to certify the election of Mr. Fall and referred to the committee on judiciary on motion of Mr. Hilt.

The senate adjourned until 2:30 tomorrow afternoon.

NEW STRENGTH IN MARKET

New York, Jan. 30.—The appearance of large purchasing orders for the leading stocks strengthened the market decidedly and trading was more active with a broad upward movement. Virtually every stock commonly traded in was in brisk demand with advances reaching several points in the most active issues.

Sentiment was influenced favorably by evidence that the manipulation of can was losing its force in curbing speculation. Can forced ahead steadily, and touched 45 despite frequent lapses on profit taking.

Bonds were steady.

The market closed heavy.

A drop of 1 1/2 points in Norfolk and Western greeted the announcement of a new issue of convertible bonds. Sympathetic weakness was displayed by the general market, with the downward movement gaining momentum as prices gave way under the mingled effects of realizing and bear selling. Near one o'clock the Can stock reached best prices of the movement, 45 1/2 and 129 1/2.

Recession from the highest ran to about a point in the important shares. Realizing sales came too fast for the market to digest readily, and there was a reaction amounting to about a point in Amalgamated, Can and the Harrimans.

Weakness in Southern Pacific, which fell half a point below yesterday's closing, checked the improvement in the market. Prices sagged fractionally and dealings shrank to nominal proportions.

Taft Nominates BUT SENATE MAYN'T ACT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Nominations sent to the senate today by President Taft included: Frederick Stratton, to be collector of customs at San Francisco; D. L. Key, to be surveyor general of Oregon; Douglas W. Marsh, to be receiver of public moneys at Pierre, South Dakota.

WOMEN PLEAD FOR RELIEF.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Women dressed in the ultra fashionable and others less fortunate from shops and factories rubbed elbows pleading for needed legislation here today.

Clad in shabby black, Mrs. Grace Coulon, a Washington laundress, brought tears to the eyes of some of her listeners.

"I went to work in a laundry when I was thirteen," said Mrs. Coulon, "I got $1.50 a week when I began. For more than twelve years my highest wage was $6.50. My nerves got unstrung from the whirl of the machinery. I listened to it half of my life, and I had to quit."

Mrs. Coulon is a widow with a baby and a mother to support.

"That testimony graphically shows the necessity for the passage of this bill," declared President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor. "Real conservation of man or woman, is the highest consideration," he added.

DISEASE LED TO TRAGEDY.

Paris, Jan. 30.—A double tragedy was caused here today by a doctor's order that a man and wife would have to be separated because the woman was suffering from an incurable spinal disease.

The sick woman, Madame Paul Carriere, was told last night that she must go to a public hospital. Her husband sent their children to spend the night with an uncle. When the children left, their parents were distracted with grief, and the wife expressed the wish to die rather than be sent away from her husband. Today both were found dead in their home, the woman strangled by her husband, and the man hanging dead in a door way.

THE STATISTICS ON WHITE SLAVERY

SAMUEL P. LONDON SAYS INVESTIGATION COVERING SEVEN YEARS SHOWS NEW YORK IS THE CAPITAL OF COMMERCIALIZED VICE

New York, N. Y., Jan. 30.—With his evidence reduced to the matter of fact form of a card index, Samuel P. London, formerly prosecuting attorney of El Paso, Texas, who said he was semi-officially connected with the department of justice, at Washington, has laid before the aldermanic committee, which is investigating police conditions here, the result of his seven years study of white slave traffic. He called New York the capital of commercialized vice, and said that with the assistance of fourteen agents placed at his disposal by the government, he had carried on investigations "from Fairbanks, Alaska, to the Canal zone."

Mr. London declared that his census in New York revealed that there were 6100 men profiting from commercialized vice in which 26,000 women were involved.

The attorney charged that the police often aided the traffickers. He believed that only individual policemen were concerned in the business and doubted that the number of these officers would exceed one hundred out of ten thousand men on the force.

THIEVES STEEL ROOM FROM A HOUSE

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 30.—Of all odd booty of thieves shown in the police records, the most curious was reported today when K. A. Williams, who lives alone and works at night, complained that thieves had stolen the room of his house.

"If it rains or snows today my furniture will be ruined," sighed Williams.

Williams house is a one room affair on which he had just placed a new roof. The new timber evidently was regarded a valuable asset by the thieves.

The above story is similar to the one received from southern New Mexico a few weeks ago when the mounted police through Capt. Fornoff was implored to find the thieves who had stolen the floor from a house and walked off with the ceiling and two miles of wire fence.

DENOUNCES INTERMARRIAGE OF WHITES AND NEGROES.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Representative Roddenberry, of Georgia, on the floor of the house today made another attack upon intermarriage of negroes and whites. He discussed the marriage of George F. Thompson, of Chicago, a 42-year old negro, and Helen Hanson, a fifteen year old white girl, an epileptic, of Niles, Mich., several weeks ago.

Mr. Roddenberry declared that the ceremony was performed by Charles Agor, "a minister of the gospel—a white minister, at that, who ought to be tarred and feathered and put into exile."

"My God!" shouted Mr. Roddenberry, "that the laws of any civilized state will permit a bestial brute to have sanctioned by law his wedlock to such a child."

PROMISES JUDGE WIFE SHALL HAVE PAY CHECK.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 30.—Charles Swanson, penitent bridegroom, promised to cherish and protect Miss Mildred Meyer, choir singer of St. James Roman Catholic church in Maywood. There was fever in his "I will" unlike the drowning answers of most bridegrooms. There was a reason.

Swanson had dallied with the flowing bowl at a pre-nuptial celebration. He had been released from jail to attend his wedding and the girl had forgiven him.

Earlier in the day Swanson had promised Municipal Judge Sabath that he would never drink again, that he would be a kind and indulgent husband and that he would always hand his wife his pay envelope before opening it.

WILL WEAR A SILK HAT.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 30.—President-elect Wilson asked if he had made any further plans for his inauguration, replied that he had decided to wear a silk hat when reviewing the parade.

"I suppose I'll have to concede that much to custom," he said.

The only time he ever felt uncomfortable as governor of New Jersey, he said, was the day he wore a silk hat and sat on a horse reviewing the troops at Sea Girt, a year ago. He has worn a felt hat on every occasion since then.

TERRIBLE PLIGHT OF 130 FAMILIES IS TOLD.

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 30.—News of the plight of 130 families marooned by the flood from the Beulah crevasse in the Mississippi river levee, was received in a letter appealing for help written to Governor Brewer today.

The writer, a woman, declared many of the families were without shelter while others were imprisoned in the lofts of their homes without food. Lack of boats have retarded rescue work.

Van Horn Talks Butter—E. E. Van Horn, well known now as manager of the large creamery at Albuquerque, says that New Mexico butter is taking the lead in Kansas and in Texas as well as throughout the state. "The reason is plain, we can make better butter and get five cents a pound higher even in El Paso than other butter brings." Mr. Van Horn says that once the public becomes used to pure butter, no other will be tolerated.

Free exhibition of expert fancy shooting by the celebrated Captain Hardy of Denver. The exhibition will be of the highest class and will well be worth seeing as the many wonderful and almost impossible feats he performs with the revolver, rifle and shot gun are entirely free. The flats behind Fort Marcy have been selected for the place and Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the time.

An up to date market will be opened on Wednesday morning in the Modern Grocery. A line of the very best fresh meats, fish and poultry will be carried and your trade is solicited. The fixtures may not be in place as they could not be secured from the factory in time. They will be of the most modern and sanitary style and will help to make the Modern Grocery the best place in the city to make your purchases.

"That Palace avenue bridge just beyond the Renshaw residence is not under the supervision of the board of county commissioners," said Chairman George M. Kinsell this morning.

Mayor Lopez was mistaken when he stated yesterday that the commissioners were the proper officials to repair it. The bridge is directly under the control of the county road board, of which Arthur Seligman is chairman and Samuel Romero, of Nambé, and Nick Montoya, of Golden, the other members. It is hoped that some action will be taken to place the bridge in proper condition now that the "proper" officials have been located.

Captain Hardy, the noted expert shot of Denver, will give a free exhibition of fancy shooting with the rifle, revolver and shot gun on Saturday afternoon on the flats beyond Fort Marcy. See that you take advantage of this remarkable exhibition of skill as the captain represents the highest art in target shooting of every description.

A Zither Congress—Announcement has been received that the second annual American Zither congress will be held at Davenport, Iowa, June 2 to 4 of this year. Many states have joined this national movement and now Venezuela and other far away countries are coming in. A movement is on foot to have a New Mexico zither player run for president of the zither congress and it is safe to say Santa Fe county will stand like a stone wall behind such candidacy. A. W. Schorr, of Kansas City, now holds the honor. Only zither players are eligible. There are three in Santa Fe and quite a number in the east and in the various capitals of Europe.

The dowager Queen Margherita of Italy is one of the zither devotees and so was the late empress of Austria. It has been said that the zither of all stringed instruments sings best of the "bliss and sorrow of love."

Everyone is invited and it will cost nothing to attend, though a fee of ten cents will be charged for certain dainties that will be offered. The social is to raise a small fund for the support of the high school basketball team.

EXPLOSION MAKES MEDICO TURN A SOMERSAULT

New York, Jan. 30.—One of the buildings housing the Rockefeller Institute was shaken to its foundations today by an explosion in the chemical laboratory. The detonation warmed the neighborhood and kindled a fire in the experimental room. It was promptly extinguished.

R. R. MAGNATES RE-INDICTED.
New York, Jan. 30.—Charles S. Mellen, president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad company; E. J. Chamberlain and Alfred W. Smithers, president and chairman, respectively of the Grand Trunk railway of Canada, were re-indicted today by the federal grand jury for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law in an alleged monopolistic agreement between the New Haven and Grand Trunk.

The indictments supersede those returned several weeks ago and attacked by the defense.

J. E. Dalrymple, vice president of the Grand Trunk and Benjamin Campbell, vice president of the New Haven, are named as alleged co-conspirators, but were not indicted because they obtained immunity by testifying before the grand jury.
