SALARIES BILL IS VETOED AND HOUSE STOPS ITS PASSAGE

SENATE SENDS MEASURE BACK, THE OBJECTIONS OF THE GOVERNOR OF NEW MEXICO NOTWITHSTANDING, BUT EFFORT TO HURRY IT THROUGH LOWER BRANCH RESULTS IN SUDDEN CHANGE OF HEART BY OLD GUARD.

BURSUM AND SPIESS CONSPICUOUS ON FLOOR WHILE MAJOR "ORATES"

Governor McDonald has vetoed the county salaries bill officially known as senate bill No. 104.

The wild news swept from one county to another yesterday evening by telegraph and telephone and caused a general slump in the feelings of many of the foremost county officials. This feeling of dejection was added to by the information that while the senate had promptly passed the measure over the governor's veto by a vote of 19 to 5, the Old Guard leaders had failed to muster a sufficient vote in the house and the house had suddenly adjourned without taking any action on the bill. The Old Guard leaders assert that they will have the votes to crowd the bill through on Monday. Opponents of the bill assert that the house will not pass it over the governor's veto. Governor McDonald says nothing except to state that his veto message is self explanatory.

There were three versions in full force and effect Saturday morning—the last day left to the governor for action on the bill. The first and most generally circulated one was that the governor would let the bill become a law by limitation; another was that he would sign the bill but this report was not given general credence. The third was that he would veto the bill. But it was the general report among county officials that the governor had given up and that he was going to let the bill become a law and take no action on it.

The governor did not discuss the salary bill but in some manner whereby information has a habit of "leaking" at the state capital, members of the Republican majority apparently apprehended that a veto message might be in store for them because when the senate met Friday afternoon, a recess was taken and the Republican members immediately went into caucus. They re-entered the senate chamber about in time to hear the veto message which had just been sent up from the executive office.

As soon as the message had been read, Mr. Holt, Republican floor leader, arose and moved that the bill be passed, the objections of the governor to the contrary notwithstanding, which is the usual motion to pass over the veto.

Then began a debate which lasted nearly two hours at the end of which the bill passed the senate by a vote of 19 to 5, sufficient to put it into effect without the approval of the governor.

The vote stood:

Ayes: Abeytia, Bowman, Burns, Clark, Crampton, Doepf, Gallegos, Hart, Hinkle, Holt, Hilde, Laughren, Miera, Navarro, Page, Pankey, Romero, Sulzer and Walton.

Nays: Alldredge, Barth, Evans, McCoy, Mabry.

Democrats voting with the Old Guard Republicans were: Doepf, Hinkle, Walton.

Mr. Hinkle defended the bill by asserting that he believed it was the best bill obtainable and that he did not believe that any better measure could be secured. He said that the members had worked for five months on this bill and that he believed its defeat would mean a higher salaries bill.

Senator Barth spoke at length against the bill, characterizing it as an injustice to the taxpayers, a political measure which had been largely influenced by the office holders and asserting that its provisions as to treasurers, assessors and sheriffs were too high and that not sufficient pay was given for county school superintendents.

Mr. Holt replied to Mr. Barth defending the measure, denying that it was political in nature and asserting that it was the combined work of both Republicans and Democrats, that the influence of county officials had not figured in its making and that it was a good bill. He asserted that as compared with the bill by Senator McCoy which he characterized as the bill advocated by the governor, this bill was but $2,100 higher and that the sum was not sufficient to warrant further waste of time. He urged the passage of the bill as an equitable measure, which rendered adequate pay to county officials and at the same time did not work an undue hardship on the taxpayers.

Mr. Mabry opposed the bill and upheld the veto of the governor while Mr. Doepf asserted that the bill ought to be passed over the governor's veto and that it was as good a bill as could be secured. He denied that its salaries were exorbitant.

When the veto message was read in the house, Mr. Chavez moved that the measure be taken up for consideration. There was an almost unanimous vote to take up the measure, the Democrats voting for its consideration for the purpose of getting the measure before the house, as was explained by Mr. Smith.

BUT LLEWELLYN MOVED TO ADJOURN THE HOUSE.

Apparently confident that they had votes sufficient to pass the bill, the stand pat element at once began maneuvering towards that end. Major Llewellyn opened the bill by a short speech in which he asserted his great friendship for the governor and his steadfast resolve never to vote for anything that would separate the governor from any of the functions of his high office. He said he had known the governor for 32 years and that he lived in Lincoln county when the governor first came to New Mexico. But he urged the passage of the bill as asserting that the house could not afford to waste any more time on the salary bill. He said that by comparison with the old fee system it saved so much money that the people would welcome it. He quoted fluently from Mr. Holt's speech in the senate a short time before.

In the meantime Mr. Bursum, Mr. Spiess, Mr. Holt and others were conspicuous about the house.

BLANCHARD THROWS DOWN GAUNTLET.

W. E. Blanchard, house member from Lincoln county, delivered what was probably the ultimatum of the Old Guard Republican regime in the house following the speech of Mr. Llewellyn. He asserted that it was this bill or a higher one—that the house members could take their choice and that if they did not vote to pass this bill, they would not pass any other bill. This bill or nothing, was a concise summary of Blanchard's remarks.

Mr. Chrisman, erstwhile good government member from San Juan county probably advanced the most unique of all the arguments used in favor of this bill. He asserted that he favored the county salaries in the measure because the county officers would expend the money in their home counties, they would not take it to Japan or China as did the orientals employed in California but would put it into circulation among the merchants and people generally.

These remarks were heartily applauded by some of the house members. But at this point something appeared to have happened to the movement to pass the bill over the veto of the governor. Mr. Llewellyn suddenly moved to adjourn the house. The motion to adjourn would have carried the house in recess until 10 o'clock today. Mr. Chavez, more thoughtful of the situation than Mr. Llewellyn however, moved to adjourn until 2 p. m. Monday and this motion was declared to have carried on a viva voce vote.

The veto message of the governor is as follows:

Santa Fe, N. M., Feb. 29, 1913.
To the Honorable President and Members of the Senate:

I return herewith without approval Senate Bill No. 104, entitled "An Act Relative to Salaries of County Officers."

This action is taken with much regret, some satisfaction and a full realization of the responsibility which it involves. The regret is not only on account of the temporary disappointment to county officers, but also because of my desire to avoid such a disagreement with the legislative branch of our state government. The satisfaction is from the fact that the issue is now clear cut, distinct and definite. With the exception of the changes in the salaries of the officers of Sandoval county, this is practically the same bill as was passed last June, and which I then felt it my duty to disapprove after the most careful consideration. My responsibility, as I understand it, is to all the people of New Mexico rather than to a few who are especially interested in this legislation. The issue, as it appears to me, shall all of the county officers serve the people for proper and reasonable compensation, or shall the taxpayers be compelled to contribute unfairly, in some cases, to those whom they have selected as their servants.

During the constitutional convention and afterwards in the campaign for the adoption of the constitution, it was generally claimed that the salary system for county officers would be a great saving over the old fee system. When the people adopted the constitution it was with that understanding and belief. The provisions of this bill must, as it seems to me, be a disappointment to them, because, instead of the expenses of the county government being reduced, they will be considerably increased.

In view of the great tax burden under which the people are laboring, and of which they bitterly complain, it seems to me that we are not justified in providing $10,000 annually for county officers in excess of liberal compensation for the work performed, which is done by this bill. This occurs chiefly in counties of the first and second classes, though there is considerable of it in the third-class counties.

Assessors alone, in all the counties, would obtain $18,000 more than justice and fairness would give them.

In first-class counties $4000 is provided for treasurer, while it is well known that in four of the six counties in this class the work is practically entirely done by deputies who receive from $1200 to $2000, leaving a net sum to the treasurer of from $2000 to $2800 for bearing the honor conferred by the people.

Sheriffs in first-class counties would receive $2500 salary, in second-class counties $2000 and in third-class counties $2000.

Under the head of jailer, third-class counties are allowed only $400, which is not sufficient to employ a man who can be considered safe for handling prisoners; and at the same time $800 is provided to pay a deputy district clerk in each of these counties, when it is a well known fact that, except during terms of the district court, there is very little work to be done.

The county officers are presumed to give their entire time to the performance of the duties of their offices, and in counties where a competent man is unable to perform all the duties of his office, provision should be made for deputies whose compensation should be distinct and separate from that of the county officers.

I believe this bill is wrong in principle and unfair in the details as they have been worked out. A net salary should be provided, so far as practicable, for all county officers, and compensation in each case should be commensurate with the services to be performed.

ANOTHER VETO BY GOVERNOR TO SENATE

EXECUTIVE DISAPPROVES OF APPROPRIATING $500 MORE ATTORNEY FEES FOR HOUSE MEMBERS ACCUSED OF BRIBERY.

BIG CALENDAR IS TAKEN UP TODAY

The governor this afternoon sent to the legislative senate, his second veto message in two days when he disapproved of senate substitute for house joint resolution number nine, giving four house members arrested at the first session on charges of bribery $500 for additional attorney fees.

The governor vetoed a similar provision at the first session of the legislature. He gave as his reason for the second veto that he had been unable to find any developments during the year that would cause him to change his mind. The veto message was referred to the committee on executive communications. It was as follows:

Santa Fe, N. M., Feb. 28, 1913.

The Hon. President of the Senate and Members of the Senate.

I return herewith without approval Senate Substitute for House Resolution Number Nine (9), entitled "An Act Appropriating Five Hundred Dollars to Reimburse J. P. Lucero, Manuel Cordova, Julian Trujillo and Luis R. Montoya, members of the house of representatives for fees paid to attorneys employed to defend them against certain charges preferred against them in said house of representatives."

This is an appropriation of Five Hundred Dollars to pay fees for attorneys employed in the defense of the said Lucero, Cordova, Trujillo and Montoya against certain charges preferred against them in the house of representatives at the first session of the state legislature. The appropriation then made called for One Thousand Dollars to pay attorneys for the defense and Five Hundred Dollars to pay attorney fees for the state to prosecute.

I struck out and disapproved Five Hundred Dollars allowance formerly made for the defendants, making the sum allowed them for attorney fees equal to that appropriated by the state for an attorney. It seemed to me then, and does yet, that Five Hundred Dollars was a reasonable and sufficient sum for this purpose.

After considering the case from the beginning and when the appropriation was formerly made, I am unable to find anything in developments that have occurred since that time to cause me to change my opinion as to what was fair and reasonable between

PROHIBITS SAY IT IS A VICTORY

PASSAGE OF HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 20 PROVIDING FOR STATE WIDE PROHIBITION AMENDMENT PLEASES WHITE RIBBONERS.

The prohibitionists are greatly pleased over the passage by the house yesterday of a resolution providing for the submission of an amendment to the state constitution for state-wide prohibition. They assert that this is a victory for prohibition and that it will eventually result in the people registering at the polls their verdict on the liquor traffic in this state. The adoption of this resolution—House Joint Resolution No. 20—was followed by the tabling indefinitely of the county option bill by Mr. Chrisman.

The passage of the bill was preceded by much oratory both for and against the amendment, but the vote resulted 35 in the affirmative and 10 in the negative. The roll call stood as follows:

Ayes—M. C. de Baca, Boulware, Burg, Carter, Campbell, Casados, Chrisman, Clancy, Cooney, Cordova, Evans, Gage, Garcia, Goodell, Gurule, Hilton, House Llewellyn, Lobato, Lopez, Manzanares, Martinez, Moreno, Mullens, Nichols, Rogers, Skidmore, Smith, Toombs, Tucker, Tully, Vargas, Young and Mr. Speaker.

Nays—M. E. Baca, Blanchard, Catron, Chavez, Lucero, Montoya, Quintana, Sanchez, Tripp and Trujillo.

There were a large number of temperance advocates on the floor of the legislative house during the consideration of the measure and its passage was marked by an outburst of applause. The prohibitionists opposed the county option measure in the form presented in the house and contended for straight out prohibition by a vote of the people.

The house yesterday passed H. B. No. 206, by Mr. Toombs—Creating a fund for the encouragement of agricultural, horticultural industries, etc.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

There will be an important meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock and all members of the organization are urged to make a special effort to be present. This session is one of the most important in the history of the Chamber of Commerce and it is considered so vital that every member having the good of the city at heart should be there. The death of John S. Harris, secretary of the chamber, has left the organization without any one in charge of its office and there are other matters that will admit of no delay. Many matters will be discussed at the meeting Tuesday that can not be delayed for another session and those who fail to attend will miss an important session.

TAFT PRESENTS MEDAL TO HERO

Washington, D. C., March 1.—President Taft today presented to Captain Arthur H. Roston the gold medal authorized by congress for his courage and gallantry in rescuing the survivors of the Titanic and bringing them safely to New York on his ship, the Carpathia. The president made a brief speech, quoting the report of the senate investigating committee to show the bravery, the painstaking care and the kindness exhibited by Captain Roston. It was a record, he said, worthy of the best traditions of England's seafarers.

Captain Roston, in reply, thanked the president, congress, and the people of America.

These men and the state. Respectfully,

Governor.

WASHINGTON IS READY TO WELCOME A NEW PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., March 1.—All ready to welcome a new president next Monday and to inaugurate the following day, Washington was draped today in all its patriotic finery and every incoming train poured in crowds of the visiting advance guard.

Cadets from the Georgia Military Academy and Culver Military Academy of Indiana, raced into the city at an early hour for the honor of being the first to arrive among organizations that are to march in the inaugural parade. The boys from the south and west arrived at about the same time and paraded the streets throughout the day.

Vice-President-elect Marshall welcomed the Culver cadets in front of his hotel early in the day. The boys from his own state are to act as his official bodyguard throughout the inauguration ceremonies. After saluting the future vice-president, the cadets, followed by the boys from Georgia, marched through the Court of Honor in front of the White House and then through the corridors of the treasury building.

The new vice-president, who had

PROPHETS PICK CABINET FOR MR. WILSON

Washington, D. C., March 1.—Several Democratic leaders in congress known to enjoy the confidence of President-elect Wilson, declared today they were confident that Henry Jackson Waters, president of the Kansas State Agricultural college, at Manhattan, Kansas, was foremost in the president-elect's consideration for the post of secretary of agriculture.

Mr. Waters, a Missourian by nativity, is said to have the friendship of Speaker Clark, as well as of William J. Bryan. Department of agriculture officials here regard him as one of the leading agricultural scientists of the middle west. Those leaders who knew of his candidacy today considered his selection as practically settled.

IS IT REDFIELD?

New York, March 1.—The Brooklyn Eagle makes the unqualified announcement this afternoon in a special dispatch from Washington, that Representative Wm. O. Redfield of Brooklyn has been offered and has accepted the position of secretary of commerce in Woodrow Wilson's cabinet.

Representative Redfield declined today to admit or deny that he would be a member of President Wilson's cabinet. His name was persistently speculated in the house as a very strong possibility for the post of secretary of commerce, but to all his colleagues he stated that he knew nothing about it.

"I have nothing to say," was his remark when told of the published announcements.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

SENATE.

Senator Martin issued call for Democratic caucuses for March 5.

Adopted conference report on army appropriation bill, carrying $94,266,145.

Philbinster by Senator Newlands prevented adoption of river and harbor appropriation bill conference report.

HOUSE.

Passed Webb liquor shipment bill over president's veto, 344 to 95.

PIE COUNTER LOOKS GOOD TO MANY

AFTER SIXTEEN YEARS AWAY FROM IT, DEMOCRATS FOREGATHER WITH MUCH PLEASURE—COLFAX COUNTY ROW TAKEN UP.

GOOD ATTENDANCE AT THIS MEETING

The pie counter looks good to the faithful members of old Democracy if one were to judge by the candidates, brothers of candidates and sons of candidates foregathering in Santa Fe today.

"What office are you a candidate for" was a frequent question heard in the hotel lobbies this morning. The meeting of the Democratic state central committee and its executive committee here today is one of the largest in years and there was plenty of Democratic enthusiasm when the members assembled in the supreme court rooms at the capital.

There are a number of important questions up for consideration. First in importance, is the question of federal appointments and there are numerous candidates for each job. This afternoon J. H. Crist offered a resolution.

GALVESTON HEARS THE HAUGHTY TREAD OF SOLDIERS BRAVE

BIG MILITARY MACHINE WHICH WILL BE SECOND ARMY DIVISION IS BROUGHT BY MANY TRAINS—MAJOR GENERAL CARTER, IN COMMAND, DIRECTS EACH UNIT BY TELEPHONE AS IT ARRIVES.

AMERICANS IN MEXICO CITY ASK UNITED STATES TO AID IN PEACE

Texas City, Texas, March 1.—The big military machine which will be the second army division was today poured into Galveston and Texas City by trains which at times choked the various lines of railway which converge here.

Soldiers marching, horses in troops and great loads of equipment quickly spread from the railway terminals to the appointed places in Camp Crockett at Galveston and the headquarters camp here.

Major General Wm. H. Carter, commanding the second division, established his headquarters temporarily in an office building. He directs each unit by telephone as it arrives and moves into place.

THIS GOVERNOR SAFE.

Tucson, Ariz., March 1.—Governor Jose Maria Maytorena, deposed governor of Sonora, has arrived safely at a small American border town near Nogales, Arizona.

Automobiles set out today from here to meet him. The governor's family already is here. Hermosillo, the Sonora state capital, is reported quiet today.

Washington, D. C., March 1.—A request to the people of the United States "to extend all possible aid and encouragement to the Mexican people in their efforts to establish good government" is contained in a resolution published by the American colony in Mexico City today.

The Americans held a mass meeting last night. Speakers deprecated the publication in the United States of articles misrepresenting the Mexican people. Statements that during the street fighting American citizens sought safety under the British flag also were denounced.

United States Ambassador Wilson was praised by the gathering "for noble and patriotic services."

General Campos and his force of 1200 men, seasoned by a year's service in Orozco's army, will join the government troops under General Aubert in a campaign against the rebel governor, Carranza, in the state of Coahuila, according to war department advices today from Torreon.

With this additional force, General Aubert will have approximately five thousand men in his column and should have little difficulty in suppressing the revolt. Carranza is supposed to command only 2000 men.

Alberto Guajardo, a commander of irregulars, and a close friend of Carranza, has joined the Coahuila rebellion. He occupies, with 600 men, the mining camps at Las Esperanzas, Muzquiz and Ahuita.

Francisca Villa, who has re-entered Mexico, is thought to have joined former Governor Maytorena, of the state of Sonora, who is in possession of Agua Prieta, Nacozari and Fronteras, on the International border.

DR. FRIEDMAN WILL CONDUCT PUBLIC CLINIC IN NEW YORK

New York, March 1.—The widespread attention which has been drawn to tuberculosis serum of Dr. Frederick Friedman, the German bacteriologist will be brought to a climax next week. The announcement is made today that Dr. Friedman will open offices and for two weeks conduct public clinic here, the poor as well as the rich will be treated, the serum to be admitted free to those who cannot afford to pay for it.

A number of American physicians will be permitted to attend the clinic to assist in diagnosing the cases and to watch them afterward, and learn Dr. Friedman's method. He has claimed that within a week the beneficial effects of the serum will be apparent.

COMPETITION CLOSES WHICH APOSTLE OF PURITY IS A JUDAS?

Next Monday at two o'clock the stigma will be lifted from forty-eight innocent men. The one guilty will be shown up. If a legislator wrote a telegram to himself from his constituents the searchlight of publicity will single him out from his fellows.

If there is a Judas among the forty-nine Apostles of Purity, who sit in the house of representatives, why has he not stepped forth with manly courage and admitted his guilt, instead of allowing his associates to rest under a stigma which was his alone? Many have gone so far as to doubt whether the fraud could ever have been committed. But now all doubt is at an end. No less an authority than the president of the Western Union Telegraph company

3,500 REBELS SURRENDER. Official reports state that 3500 rebels have surrendered in the states of Puebla and Vera Cruz, 1900 in the state of Mexico, and a number of small detachments in many of the other states.

General Felipe Angeles, who was this week appointed military attaché to Belgium, was today formally charged with the "unwarranted execution of Miguel Garduna, during the fighting in the capital." Garduna's uncle is governor of the state of Mexico.

Although the government troops have taken possession of the city of Aguas Calientes, Governor Fuentes de las has made his escape to the hills with a small following. He took all the available state funds with him.

GOZALEZ IS FREE.

El Paso, Texas, March 1.—Abraham Gonzales, the Chihuahua governor deposed and jailed, is a free man today at Chihuahua City. Charges of sedition held against him by the military authorities are said to have been cancelled on promise that Gonzales would use his influence to make peace in the border state. Before his release yesterday he issued a proclamation in which he accepted the Mexican City government. The former governor, it is said, will make a tour of the state and attempt to establish order by argument.

Already many groups of state troops have mutinied and a new revolutionary party called Constitutionalists, has sprung up.

ORDERED TO MEXICO CITY.

Douglas, Ariz., March 1.—Mexican Consul E. V. Anaya, was today formally accused by his government of having "aspired to bring about intervention by the United States and was ordered to appear in Mexico City to answer the charge. Instead Anaya turned over his office to his vice consul and announced himself resigned with intentions to remain on this side of the border.

U. S. SAILORS ARRESTED.

Vera Cruz, Mex., March 1.—The arrest by federal soldiers early today six American seamen from the Ward liner Monterey, following the firing of a shot near the custom house, brought a vigorous protest from William Canada, American consul. The men were thereupon released and an apology offered by the military commander. Evidence showed they were all unarmed and sober.

DECLARED A HOAX.

San Antonio, Texas, March 1.—The purported resignation of the late President Madero was today declared by R. V. Pesquera, a member of the Mexican chamber of deputies, to be a forgery by those who killed Madero, aimed to give the color of legality to the Huerta administration. Pesquera is now a refugee in San Antonio. He asserted that Madero and Vice President Suarez were killed because they refused to resign.

YOUNG FELLOW. WATCH ANGLE AT WHICH SHE WEARS HER TAM O'SHANTER THIS SPRING.

THE TAM O'SHANTER
HAT NOW "HOT RIGHT OFF
THE BAT" WILL SAIL OUT
AS A "FLY TO THE OUT-FIELD" AS SOON AS SPRING PLAYS.

Probably the most popular early young man, to find out if she loves spring hats for the young girl and you. You will only have to tip off the youthful matron will be the Tam angle at which she wears her Tam O'Shanter.

It has been wearing itself into the good graces of femininity all through the winter, and Easter will probably see it in all its glory.

The athletic will wear it in knitted wool, or very light peanut straw and the girly girl will drape it up with roses as pink as her cheeks and some of them will even place a lace frill on the inside to fall over their faces and shade the sparkle of their eyes.

There never was a hat made that could be more rakish or coquettish than a Tam O'Shanter. But under no condition can it be dignified; therefore women over 30, beware!

The Tam reflects the mood of every girl who wears it and if it becomes as popular as fashion designers seem to think it will, you won't have to look into your sweetheart's eyes
ever.

ABOUT TAM O'SHANTER.

Robert Burns tells us that his doughty hero, Tam O'Shanter, wore a head covering which Burns calls
"his guld Blue Bonnet."

It was the Scotch cotter's hat, but the modern Tam O'Shanter cap is always dented in peculiar angles, for Tam had had "reaming swats," that drank divinely the night that he danced his famous turn with the warlocks and witches. It is in Burns' famous Tam O'Shanter that the oft quoted stanza appears:

But pleasures are like popples
spread,
You seize the flow'r: its bloom is shed;
Or like the snow-fall in the river,
A moment white—then melts forever.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Mrs. W. C. McDonald will be at home on Monday afternoons in the future and Governor and Mrs. McDonald will be at home on Monday evenings.

FIFTEEN CLUB.

The Fifteen Club met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Harroun, Mrs.
Newhall presiding. The program consisted of quotations; a paper, "Is there a criminal class?" by Mrs.
George Marsh. The program followed with a reading by Mrs. Pope, the subject being "King Solomon of Kentucky," by James Lane Allen. "Current Events" closed the program. The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. Laughlin.

SURPRISE PARTY.

The members of the Eastern Star gave a surprise party Tuesday night to Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Cooper, the newly weds who have many friends in Santa Fe. The surprisers took with them two handsome cut glass souvenirs which they presented, Mr. Justice F. H. Hanna making the presentation speech. Refreshments and music followed and everyone had a most enjoyable time. There were two score or more persons in the party. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper expressed their appreciation to their friends for the kind wishes extended them.

WOMAN'S CLUB.

An interesting business meeting of the Santa Fe Woman's Club was held on Wednesday at 10 a. m. at which time delegates were elected to attend the State Federation meetings at Albuquerque on March 24th. Mrs. L. C.
Collins, Miss F. W. Conrad and Mrs.
W. H. Pope are to go as delegates and Mrs. J. R. McFie, Mrs. C. A. Haynes and Mrs. J. W. Mayes as alternates.
Among the reports received by the club at this meeting was that of the chairman of the school visiting committee who reported the school building still without any fire escapes. As the building is only provided with wooden staircases and wooden steps

the lives of all the children upstairs are continually in danger. The child welfare department stated that these fire escapes had been promised to the Mothers' Club last year. It seems as though something should be done at once to prevent the further endangering the lives of all the school children of Santa Fe.

A most interesting program was given by the music class of the art and literary department of the club at the home of Mrs. I. H. Rapp Thursday afternoon.
Next Wednesday evening at 8 p. m.
there will be an Indian evening in place of the drama day named in the club calendar, at which time each member will be entitled to one guest.
The very attractive program for that date includes Indian tales told by Miss L. Hutson; a group of the Cadmon-Fletcher songs sung by Mrs. Worth and some delightful Indian music played by Mrs. J. W. Giddings. There will also be five Indian Indians who will dance during the evening.
The second of a series of two mass meetings under the auspices of the Santa Fe Woman's Club will be held on Monday evening at 8 p. m. These meetings are for the presentation of knowledge concerning the legal status of women in New Mexico and are of state-wide importance. Hon. E. C.
Abbott, Hon. F. W. Clancy and Hon.
J. R. McFie are to present the subject on this occasion. All are invited and urged to attend, as the meeting will be open to all interested in this vital matter.

Through the kindness of the Woman's Board of Trade the Camp Fire Girls met at Library hall Wednesday evening, held an important business meeting and enjoyed a short drill.
Mrs. John W. March was unanimously elected guardian by Troop A, thus making three guardians in charge of the Santa Fe Camp Fire. There are two troops. Twenty-seven girls signed ring-cards, which the guardian will send to C. F. G. headquarters, New York City. On receipt of these cards, properly filled and signed by a registered guardian, each girl is entitled to receive a silver ring, after repeating the seven-fold law of the Camp Fire. She then becomes a wood garden. Every girl of Troop A present at the rally ordered and paid for a copy of the Camp Fire Book, an interesting and instructive manual of information. Miss Dolores Bergere accepted the office of treasurer of the organization. Dues from each member will be ten cents a month. A supply of large colored beads to be awarded for honors has been ordered,
and the Camp Fire girls are planing to win honors as rapidly as possible. Elective honors are divided into seven groups, about thirty in each group. These groups are named as follows: Home Craft, Camp Craft, Hand Craft, Business, Nature Love,

Health Craft and Patriotism. Camping, drilling and other features under
"Camp Craft" will receive due attention, but there is no intention of neglecting the other six groups with their respective requirements. To win the rank of Fire Maker, which entitles the victor to a silver bracelet, twenty honors are required and not more than five elective honors may be chosen from any one group. The rank of Torch Bearer is merited by still greater achievement. The Torch Bearer receives an emblematic pin.
On Saturday, March 8, Troop B
(Miss Alice Kaune, guardian will meet again. Troop B is doing good work.
On Saturday, March 8, Troop A, composed of girls of high school age, will meet at the school grounds at 10 a. m.
under the direction of Miss Katherine Muller and Mrs. J. W. March.

The motto of the Camp Fire Girls is "Work, Health, Love." Their call,
"Who'll," includes the first two letters of each of these words. Social and undenominational in character, the Camp Fire organization is one to which all girls may belong. It is so simple that it may be carried on by any group of girls; so adaptable that it fits the needs of rich or poor, in summer and in winter, indoors and outdoors; so universal that any girl in it is on an equal footing with any other girl in the country; so beautiful in form that it attracts and holds the affections of girls; so useful in content that it serves the needs which various organizations working in the interests of girls are striving to meet.

We need a good room or hall for our "Camp Fire" meetings; and therefore we appeal to you who are members of the school board and to the Woman's club and the Woman's Board of Trade of Santa Fe to help us find such a place—a shelter which the girls may call their own. If they are to show efficiency and stand equal chance with the Santa Fe Boy Scouts of winning the handsome silver trophy
now on exhibition, a common rendezvous centrally located is all important.

Plans have been under way for several months for a public celebration on July Fourth, in which the boys and the girls of Santa Fe are to be the sole actors. Let them demonstrate their ability and their efficiency in a public contest on the school grounds.
Following are the suggestions, made in part by Mrs. J. W. Mayes at the Wednesday evening rally, for this Fourth of July program; that there be a parade of Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls, patrol formations, fancy grills, athletic feats, setting up exercises, exhibits prepared by Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls, actual demonstration of the winning of honors by the girls and public examination of some of the Boy Scouts.

After the decision of the Judges on July Fourth, the silver trophy donated by Mr. J. H. Toulouse will be awarded to the organization which has shown the greater efficiency.

Parents and friends of the boys and girls of Santa Fe are requested to assist in carrying out the above mentioned Fourth of July celebration. Encourage the young people now.

LIGHT

IN THESE DAYS OF MODERN METH-ODS, Electricity plays a most important part. The grandfather would be amazed at the radiance of the mod-make the home more homelike—to make the home the most pleasant spot on earth for father, mother and children. Good light that is easy on the eyes is very much to be desired.

"SLIM, NOONAN TELLS MARY BOYLE O'REILLY OF MEXICO'S MAN OF A MYSTERY,' WHO BOTTLED UP IN DUSTY BASIN, DAREN'T MOVE NORTH OR SOUTH

INCIDENTALLY, THE FILIBUSTER'S WORDS KALEIDOSCOPE INTO A FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY WHICH POINTS THAT THE PRESENT WAR IN MEXICO—AND, MAYBE, INTERVENTION—HAS BEEN PLOTTED FOR A LONG, LONG TIME!

(By Mary Boyle O'Reilly.)
Mexico City, Mex., March 1.—"Slim" Noonan, American citizen, soldier of fortune, filibuster, with a price of $10,000 on his head, leaned forward, elbows on knees.

"I'm sorry, m'am," he explained, with anxious politeness, "but I never told a story-book story in my life!"

Contrition suited him so fittingly that I laughed.

"Don't try," I said, "just tell me how you have made the Mexican consul at El Paso a fugitive—and 'the man of mystery' in Mexico."

EX-CONSUL LLORENTE.

A compelling Irish smile wrinkled "Slim's" thin, tanned face.

"Gracias," he said, sweeping a cavalier's gesture of thanks, "that's easy."

Followed a pause while a gentlemanly reflection on the astonishing conspiracy soon to create international concern.

Then "Slim" Noonan began, speaking slowly, explicitly, as one who realizes the significance and the danger of his words.

"In June, 1912, I was working in the Mexican secret service for ex-Consul Enriquez C. Llorente under a man named Hall. The job was getting evidence against Mexican revolutionists attempting to smuggle arms and ammunition across the line from El Paso.

One day the consul asked me to find four fearless men willing to do dangerous work and to force on the country side. His scheme was to break the neutrality laws.

"Why?"

"Oh, just to start a war with the United States and solidify all Mexicans under Madero."

"There was Mahoney, McDonald and Charpentier, who had been everywhere, seen everything—warranted always to turn up where rough work waited to be done!"

"We saw Señor Llorente and he told us:

"I want you fellows to go down to the heart of the rebel country where rebels patrol the railroads night and day. I want you to blow and burn Mexican Central bridges till I call a halt. The pay is $2000 and your outfit."

"Then he gave us $900 for the outfit."

"So, on June 12, 1912, we piled the stuff in an auto and slid for Yisotte."

"Then we crossed to the Bonche mountains, down into the flat rebel country and for twenty-four days there was a merry old time burning bridges, running rebels, destroying telegraph instruments, pulling down wires—all to bottle old man Orozco and Salazar, the rebel chief in Juarez."

"They're the ones that fight for the common folks, you know. The Wall street bunch doesn't have a look-in with them!"

"Put us down for a dozen bridges—the one at Barretil alone was 400 feet long!"

"Along about June 25th McDonald got shot. That was hard luck. Anything Mac pulled on was gone."

"After resting two or three days in an abandoned mine we hit for the border, but when we got our glasses on the line there were American soldiers standing shoulder to shoulder—waiting."

"So we hung out until dark and over we went down to the Rio Grande valley. There is a ranch house over to Young's seven miles from anywhere, and in it a lady from Vermont that came here for her health. The owner being away, she acted timid when the four of us rode up, hungry as bears, our lips puffed out with thirst."

"Well, we drew off and elected Mahoney to go and calm the woman. But first we carried him up."

"Now Mahoney is a great man round the ladies and before you could speak she had us in to a sit-down of bacon, pancakes and coffee."

"When we sensed that we didn't look like human beings no more, I voted to report to Consul Llorente!"

"He acted very arbitrary, refused to talk, said he called off the deal. Then I says, 'How about pay?'"

"I don't think you have anything coming to you," he says.

"What?" says I—and no more!

"Charpentier was at the interview and he got me out quick."

"We'll take him down the line, only not now," says Charpentier. "Let's go into town." And we did, saying a few prayers for Enrique C. Llorente!

"But 'Charp' had to cool off tanking up till he got arrested. And that was the last I saw of Charpentier for many moons!"

"Pretty soon Consul Llorente sent for me."

"Slim," he says, "I want you to go to Sonora and look up 2500 stand of arms and 35,000 rounds of ammunition shipped to the governor by the federal government and lost track of."

"So I went, never thinking, till the consul at Nogales, an Americanized Mexican, tipped me a hint."

"Your life is in danger," he says.

"I want you to go to Sonora and look up 2500 stand of arms and 35,000 rounds of ammunition shipped to the governor by the federal government and lost track of."

"Do I look it?"

"United States Senator Fall, who knows Llorente, demanded a speedy trial."

"The three came into court on October 12th. United States secret service man, Thompson, summoned me as the chief witness. The United States district attorney, the United States marshal and the whole lot was there!"

"And I put it to them like this: 'Do you expect me to squeal on my pals? We went into Mexico under Consul Llorente's orders—and we never got paid!'"

"So the United States district attorney went into court."

"Your honor," he says, "the chief witness fell down—the government has no evidence on which to convict."

"Gentlemen of the jury," says Judge Maxey, "I instruct you to acquit!"

"On February 1 of this year McDonald swore to a complaint in the United States court charging Mexican Consul Llorente with conspiracy to smuggle arms and ammunition in breach of the neutrality laws."

"The fourth happened to be a Mexican holiday and Llorente was at a 'reasta' in the federal camp across the river. When the United States marshal went to the consulate to serve the warrant Llorente heard of it—and he never came back!"

"Four days he hid in Juarez. Then he hid for Alberto Madero's ranch at Chihuahua. Alberto Madero is uncle to the shot ex-president and military President Huerta would go a long way to catch him!"

"He and Llorente cannot go south to Mexico City, nor north to the border."

"Warrants to right of them, warrants to left of them!"

"Well, don't ask me. That Mexican put a price of $10,000 upon our heads."

"I want you to go to Sonora and look up 2500 stand of arms and 35,000 rounds of ammunition shipped to the governor by the federal government and lost track of."

A STUNNING WHITE STREET SUIT.

Simplicity will mark all the new spring street frocks. Very few, however, except the "strictly tailored," will have a bit of draping somewhere.

The model shown is of white broadcloth with a simple velvet and "sew-in" sleeves. The skirt is straight with a "lap" in front, from waist to hem, under which the other side is caught up with three pleats. There is a white silk sailor collar and the blouse and undersleeves are of black lace. The belt is simply stitched broadcloth.

The one touch which adds individuality to this gown and marks it with the stamp of "style" is the black velvet ribbon which is brought from under the collar and tied at the belt in a stiff bow.

A black straw hat with a black feather and white chiffon draped about the crown and black patent leather low shoes with white uppers completes this costume, which can be made easily at home for little cost.

SPORTING NEWS

HERE'S THE TRUTH ABOUT THAT QUEER FRANK CHANCE DEAL.

IT WAS A MASTER STROKE OF GENERALSHIP BY AMERICAN LEAGUE MAGNATES THAT OUTWITTED MURPHY.

Speaking of the American league signing Frank Chance, the Base Ball Magazine for March says, in part: "By masterly maneuvers, baffling to the public, but apparent to the person who analyzes, one of the ablest managers the game has known has been railroaded out of one major into another."

"It was a master stroke for the American league. For the National it was the most colossal blunder in the record of the organization."

"Four months ago the public was startled by the announcement that Frank Chance had been summarily dismissed. The storm provoked was a protest from a long suffering public. The fans united in branding the name of C. W. Murphy to high heaven."

"A rumor appeared 'there was the slightest possibility that Chance might go to New York.'"

"As press-agenting it was a master-piece."

"Then it leaked out that Frank Farrell would confer with Chance in Chicago. That Ban Johnson and Comiskey resided in Chicago was mere coincidence."

"In Chicago, Farrell induced Chance to sign, although the Californian declared, while headed east that he was making the trip merely to tell Farrell he would not sign. Ban Johnson was sick and saw Chance only for a few minutes, Comiskey was not mentioned."

"Why refer to Johnson and Comiskey? Because when everyone was shouting they acted. They engineered the deal."

"In 1904 the Giants refused to play a world's series. McGraw maintaining the American league was a high grade minor. In the last two years McGraw lost two world's series."

"Three years ago the National had the edge on managerial brains, in Chance, McGraw, Clarke and Griffith. The American had two, Mack and Jennings. Stahl had not then arisen. Today Griffith and Chance are also in the American league."

"The American league was never well balanced. Failure to have a winner in New York meant the annual loss of $250,000. Once the Highlanders were favorably established, they would divide with the polo grounds the patronage."

"What would any business man have done in Johnson's place?"

"Chance and Murphy were not friendly. Friction fretted Chance."

"Johnson probably never approached Chance, but it is easy to reconstruct what happened. The New York opening was shown Chance. He saw opportunity to go to the richest city in the world at a princely salary and to secure stock in the club. He had everything to gain."

"Nothing simpler than the break with Murphy, Chance fomented the discord and Murphy vented his wrath by asking for waivers. He may have enjoyed himself by thus playing right into the hands of the men who were outwitting him."

"Chance went home in a rage. He directed some shafts at Murphy and washed his hands of base ball. The rest was up to Johnson and he played his hand with skill. Several National league clubs did not want Chance. Pittsburgh had Clarke; New York had McGraw. St. Louis' heart was on Huggins; Brooklyn would have taken him, but does any human being imagine even dynamite could pry from the owners of that club more than enough to buy gasoline for Chance's car? Boston was disorganized, and so was Philadelphia. This left only Cincinnati."

"Garry Hernan has long been associated with Johnson on the national commission. Whether this influenced the deal is conjecture, but when Chance went to Cincinnati, Hernan turned him over to the American league. We pass this with haste. It's deep water."

"Such was the Chance deal. By intricate but beautifully simple stratagem, the American league strengthened at the expense of its rival."

"There are able magnates in the National. Dreyfuss is successful; Hermann is deservedly popular; Murphy is the most unpopular man in base ball, without a doubt. He has done as much as any man can safely do to outrage popular approval. The Fogel affair is the most disgraceful in base ball for a generation. St. Louis is the laughing stock of baseball. "There is something radically wrong with the National league."

WOLGAST FAILED IN GOOD SHOWING

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 28.—Willie Ritchie and his manager, Billy Nolan, are not much interested in the result of the Wolgast-Murphy battle in San Francisco last night. "We did not expect Wolgast would get as good as a draw," said Nolan, speaking for both. They arrived here today to begin a week in the Broadway Theater, Ritchie apparently being kept in a safe, for Nolan would not let anyone see him.

"Murphy is not entitled to the next match with the champion by drawing with Wolgast," said Nolan. "Wolgast is not big enough game. Rivers, Mandot and Murphy all look alike to Ritchie, and all better than Wolgast. Ritchie is willing to take on any or all of them, and even Wolgast again, but he won't do anything until the end of his theatrical engagement."

THERE'S ONLY ONE RONEY'S BOYS CO.

(From Lyeenmite and Talent.) "Every first-class article for human wear and consumption is counterfeit, but a spurious concert company booking dates and traveling on the well-earned reputation of another is something new, or until a few years ago, when Henry B. Roney discovered that there were three or four companies traveling in different parts of the country under the name of 'Roney's Boys.'"

"When it is known that Roney and his boys are out on their winter tour, these snide companies even steal round behind him and play in Chicago vaudeville houses as 'Roney's Boys,' giving on the bills a very common misspelling of the name, with intent to deceive the public, and just escaping prosecution by the technicality of adding an extra 'o' to the name. A. Y. M. C. A. secretary recently refused to engage the company, because 'Roney's Boys,' he said, had lately played there in a low vaudeville 'tent show,' when, as a matter of record, the genuine company had not appeared in that town for six years. And this, too, after Manager Roney has for years refused all overtures of the vaudeville circuits, and when offered great inducements and told it was not a matter of money at all, replied: 'Neither is it a matter of money with me. You can't have 'Roney's Boys' on the vaudeville stage at any price.'"

THE EVOLUTION OF A QUAKER.

From having been born and raised as a Philadelphia Quaker, with all that word implies in its strict sense to being the foremost American baritone singer on the operatic stage presupposes a wide gap filled with varied experiences of an unusual nature; this is true of David Bispham's career.

As he expresses it, "The music was there and came out of my throat; there was never a desire to make music with my fingers." The mystery of it is that so strong a love for musical sounds should have been inborn in the lad whose ancestors on both sides of the house were for many generations Orthodox Friends. On the maternal side, music was looked upon as wrong, if not sinful, and a musical instrument of any description was never seen in the home of his mothers people. The paternal ancestors were, however, less severe, and his father's chosen instrument was the flute. So the little David grew to be a sizeable lad with his mother's soft admonitions in his ears, thees and thous on his lips, and adhering to the simple tenets of his forefathers in all but music, which was ever calling to find its outlet.

REPORTER WAS MIXED UP ON THIS STORY.

Vera Cruz, March 1.—The false report published in America that one had been killed and three wounded by shots from the battleships engaged in target practice off this port, was based on the fact that some laborers at Alvarado, 30 miles to the south of Vera Cruz had attempted to break an unexploded shell from a Mexican gunboat.

DIED OF THIRST IN DEVIL'S CANYON.

Race, Arizona, March 1.—Exposure, hunger and, worst of all, thirst, killed Ernest Sutton, of Denver, in Devil's canyon. His body was brought here today, and with it Edward Gardner of Los Angeles, who is in a serious condition.

The two left here several days ago trying to make their way on foot to Miami. When no word of their arrival had been received, a rescue party was dispatched.

CROW IS APPOINTED.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 1.—The Missouri supreme court today accepted the resignation of Judge Henry Timmons, of Kansas City, as special commissioner to take the testimony in the contempt cases against William R. Nelson, owner and editor of the Kansas City Star. The court appointed Charles C. Crow, of St. Joseph, commissioner and extended the time to take the testimony until March 25.

ASKS WILSON TO BOOST FOR SUFFRAGETTES

Washington, D. C., March 1.—The message which "General" Jones' band (called from New York to deliver to President-elect Wilson) was made public today. It is an appeal signed by Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Woman's Suffrage association, urging Mr. Wilson to recommend equal suffrage in his inaugural address and "to use his influence throughout his administration in favor of a constitutional amendment. Plans for delivering the message have not yet been arranged."

Newspaper men and others who have been in Washington and are familiar with inaugural addresses and know how many days or weeks they are in type before delivery, must smile at the above dispatch.

REAR ADMIRAL DENIES STORY OF ACCIDENT

Washington, D. C., March 1.—Rear Admiral Fletcher, commanding the American battleship squadron off Vera Cruz, Mexico, in a dispatch to the navy department today, emphatically denied published reports that one person had been killed and three injured by the explosion of a shell fired from one of the battleships during target practice yesterday.

Rear Admiral Fletcher says there is no foundation whatever for the story. He points out that the sub-caliber practice of the Georgia and Nebraska which was made to appear responsible for the accident, took place at sea, out of sight of land and more than 2 miles from La Piedra, where the shell was said to have exploded, and adds: "The greatest care was exercised to see that no boats were in line of our sub-caliber fire or anywhere near."

He adds that the Nebraska sailed to Tampico at noon yesterday to permit the Virginia to go down to Vera Cruz for coal.

DR. BILES WAS PERTURBED

Denver, Colo., March 1.—Dr. John A. Files on the floor of the house this morning walked over to the desk occupied by F. B. Tait, shook his finger under the nose of Representative Tait and said: "I want you members of this house to look at this face. Especially do I want you to look at this face. If Sampson had had that jaw all the Philistines would have been killed." The house was discussing a medical bill and Tait opposed it. Biles accused him of having fought every bill urged by the medical profession.

The house today passed on third reading the bill defining a legal fence, and providing that a farmer who erects a legal fence may recover damages if his crops are injured by range stock.

BUSINESS LIGHT IN WALL STREET

New York, N. Y., March 1.—The stock market closed firm. Consideration of the excellent January report made by a number of large railroads today and satisfactory trade reviews to the week overcame the temporary heaviness caused by reports of a government suit against the Corn Products company.

Business was light. Early losses were confined to moderate limits and before the session ended the average price level rose above yesterday's close. Exceptional strength was displayed by the copper group. Bonds were steady.

WITNESSES SAY SWOPE DIED NATURAL DEATH.

Kansas City, Mo., March 1.—Testimony tending to show that Colonel Thomas H. Swope and Christian Swope died of natural causes was introduced today by the defense in the Hyde murder trial. Dr. John W. Perkins, placed on the stand by the defense said that from the symptoms displayed either of the men could have met a natural death. That typhoid fever had caused Christian Swope's death and uremic poisoning the Colonel's, was the purport of his testimony.

PRISON STRIPES TO BE RESTORED IN ARIZONA.

Phoenix, Ariz., March 1.—Governor Hunt's "honor system" of dealing with convicts is at an end, if the report of the legislative committee today is adopted. After investigating the conduct of the state penitentiary at Florence, the committee recommended that prison stripes be restored, that no convict be allowed outside the prison walls without a guard, or unless with the approval of the state board of pardons and parole.

TURNER WILL HAVE BULLY BOOK TO WRITE.

Girard, Kans., March 1.—John Kenneth Turner, an American writer, imprisoned in the City of Mexico during the recent revolt, was released, tortured and threatened with death, escaped without result to the American ambassador, according to a letter received here today by Fred D. Warren, editor of the "Appeal to Reason," and credited by Warren to Turner.

JOE RIVERS WEDS.

Los Angeles, Calif., March 1.—Joe E. Rivers, the Mexican lightweight pugilist, became a married man today. His bride was Pauline Sleri, a native Californian of Mexican descent, who was Joe's schoolmate before he entered the ring.

WILL CALL ON CHINA'S HEAD AND MIKADO

San Francisco, Calif., March 1.—An American delegation numbering 25 to the world's Sunday school convention to be held in Zurich, Switzerland, in July, sailed for the Orient today to study Sunday school conditions in the far east on their way around the world.

H. J. Helntz, of Pittsburgh, who heads the party, is chairman of the World's Sunday School association commission on the Orient. Audiences have been arranged in advance with the governor of Hawaii, the emperor of Japan, the governor general of Korea, and the president of China.

The members of the party all come from eastern states and were entertained here for several days before they sailed.

LOST FORTUNE IN MYTHICAL RACE BETS

Pueblo, Colo., March 1.—Jacob Harder, a wealthy ranchman of Ritzville, Washington, complained to the police at 2 o'clock this morning that he had been fleeced out of $25,000 in Denver by three men he met at Los Angeles a week ago.

The alleged swindle, he said, had been worked by means of supposed bets on a mythical horse race. He said his companions, after getting the money, started with him on a train, as he supposed, for Chicago. They left the train at Colorado Springs and he found he was bound for Fort Worth, Texas. He got off at Pueblo and went to the police station.

RIVALS OF THE SIAMESE TWINS

Pueblo, Colo., March 1.—Twin girls more remarkable as a freak than the famous Siamese Twins were born to Mrs. Joseph Grebec, of 1228 Berwind street, this city, but died at birth. The children weighed seven pounds and were joined at the breast bone in such a manner as to constitute almost one trunk for the two infants. Otherwise both children were normal.

Local doctors claim that it is the first case of the kind recorded in this country.

Mrs. Grebec is the wife of Joseph Grebec, driver of a grocery wagon and is the mother of five other children.

MORE SOLDIERS FOR RUSSIA.

Paris, March 1.—The Russian government has decided to add three new army corps to the peace footing of the active army, according to a dispatch to the "Temps." A majority of the Dumays is said to approve the project.

"SPARKS FROM WIRE" ABOUT NATIONAL GAME.

Detroit, Mich., March 1.—The Detroit American league baseball club announced today that Catcher Stange has accepted his 1913 contract under the old terms. He will report at Gulfport soon. Cobb, Crawford and Dubuc, the other regulars who have been dissatisfied with the terms

A dispatch from Gulfport said that Manager Jennings announced today that Cobb has notified him that he will join the team and take part in the spring training. Nothing was said about the contract which Cobb has declined to sign.

SUGGESTION OF SPIES RAISES A RIOT.

Los Angeles, March 1.—Shouts of "liar," threats of battle and a final admonition by the court that further exchanges between opposing counsel would result in punishment for contempt, punctuated today the second trial of Clarence S. Darrow, on a charge of jury bribery.

Darrow was under cross examination. Deputy District Attorney Ford asked whether he had ever employed spies in the office of a detective agency before the McNamara trial began.

Earl Rogers, Darrow's chief counsel, leaped to his feet with a volley of objections. There was a swift exchange of heated language and above the sounds of the colloquy came the shout, "you're a liar," from Ford. The prosecutor repeated the epithet and Rogers hissed, "Come outside."

"Both of you are in contempt and will be punished if you do not stop immediately," the court broke in. Quiet was at once restored.

Darrow may remain on the stand until Monday. Night and day sessions probably will be held in order to give the case to the jury by the end of the coming week.

CHAPTER NO. 4.

"WHY, THAT KID'S THERE!" SHOUTED BILL.

Developing along natural lines in work and play, Jimmy Doolan when he was 13 years old was the best known ball player in Lennox county. City teams that used to come out to Sterry Center to play the rubes, went home bewildered after facing the rapid shoots, the zipping speed ball and the cross-fire of Jimmy Doolan.

Jimmy did practically all of the manual labor about the farm now, but he was a fine, big fellow and made short work of the many tasks. Work done, you'd find him with a baseball in his hand. To see him in action you could get the idea he was a finished twirler. They say Bill Hardy, the baseball scout, is responsible for that. The veteran player hadn't been home this summer, but he had given his protegee many ideas the year before and had tipped him to all the tricks of the pitching trade.

One Sunday afternoon Jimmy was pitching against the Jordan Factory team from the city, when Bill Hardy came along in Old Man Dawson's wagon. Bill was going to look up a young pitcher in a league close by and thought he would drop in on the folks over Sunday.

"You don't mean to tell me that big lad with all that speed is Jimmy Doolan?" asked Bill, as he watched the young marvel mow down the clever city ball players.

"Sure you're born, Bill," replied Asa Dawson.

"Why, that kid's there," shouted Bill, and he swore under his breath. "Dye know, Asa, I believe Jimmy might make good in the big league if he had a chance. I'd be a swell scout, I would, to have somebody come along and grab off this beauty, after I have rotten him about ready for the market."

"Asa, I'm going to have that bucko on the Giants, if it's the last thing I do in baseball. And I'll have him up there next year."

LOW WAGES LEAD TO WHITE SLAVERY.

Chicago, March 1.—Fifteen hundred white men and three hundred negroes live off the earnings of "white slaves" and women of the underworld in Chicago, according to testimony given today by a former cadet to the state commission investigating vice conditions in Illinois.

The witness was listed as "H. R. F." and declared that he knew what he was talking about as he said he had been in close touch with the underworld for many years.

Lieutenant Governor Barrett O'Hara, who is head of the commission, after hearing testimony which tended to show that many victims of white slavery took their first downward step because of low wages, ordered that a list of these employees be prepared and subpoenas issued for their presence before the committee.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment.

Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

WILSON IS OUT:
FIELDER IS IN

Trenton, N. J., March 1.—Woodrow Wilson reached Trenton from New York today in a drizzling rain, drove in a one-horse cab from the station to the state house and there turned over to James Fielder, president of the senate, the governorship of New Jersey. For three days—until he becomes president of the United States—Mr. Wilson will be a private citizen.

It was almost noon, the hour at which he ceased to be governor, when Mr. Wilson entered the building. A crowd of thousands raised a cheer as the governor made his way to the senate chamber, where Senator Fielder was awaiting him.

The ceremony was brief. Senator Fielder took the oath as acting governor—his official title will be such until his successor, elected next fall, takes office. A round of cheers was given when it was over.

WILSON'S SPEECH.

Trenton, N. J., March 1.—Woodrow Wilson, soon to be inaugurated president of the United States, formally turned over at 12:30 o'clock today the office of governor of New Jersey to Senator James F. Fielder, president of the state senate.

"The people of this country are going to be served by conscience and not by expediency," was the assurance which Mr. Wilson gave in an impromptu speech of farewell.

The president-elect was cheered by a big crowd as he came into the assembly chamber, followed closely by Mr. Fielder. After the latter took the oath of office, the president-elect was invited to address the joint session of the legislature. His speech was brief but impressive. He spoke in measured tones and with apparent emotion. It was his farewell to the state.

Governor Wilson said: "I cannot pretend that I am not moved by very deep emotion today. I had not expected to say anything. It would, indeed, have been my preference not to say anything, because there are some feelings that are too deep for words and that seem to be cheapened by being put into words.

"I already loved the state of New Jersey when I became its governor, but that love has been deepened and intensified during the last two and a half years. I now feel a sense of identification with the people of this state and the interests of this state have seemed to enlarge my own personality and which have been the greatest privilege of my life.

"Therefore, in handing the seal of the state to the new governor I want to utter these words of poignant regret:

"That I cannot serve this great state any longer. I wish for the moment that the traveling from New Jersey were less facile than it is, and yet I have the greatest feeling of confidence in the man to whom I am about to hand this seal. I have been associated with him with unusual intimacy of counsel. I have found in him qualities of honesty and courage which commend him more than any other qualities in public life.

"The necessity of public life is courage, and the man who has courage, is marked for distinction; the man who has not is marked for extinction and deserves submergence.

"The people of this country are going to be served by conscience and not by expediency. When you strike a man of courage you feel you have struck the bedrock of our institutions. It is, therefore, with a feeling of confidence and affection for him, personally, that I hand him the seal of office."

Governor Fielder made a brief inaugural address extolling the achievements and character of the retiring governor and bespeaking New Jersey's wishes to him for a successful national administration.

Arm in arm, Mr. Wilson and the new governor walked from the executive chamber to the governor's office, through a cheering crowd. Both reviewed a street parade of marching after which Governor Fielder returned to his office where an informal reception was held.

The president-elect returned to his home in Princeton by automobile "to rack up" for the trip to Washington.

SAYS COMPANY HELPED REDUCE COST OF LIVING.

New York, N. Y., March 1.—E. T. Bedford, president of the Corn Products Refining company, issued today a statement commenting on the government's suit in which he maintains that the defendant concern has had only a "fair share of the country's business" and has been a factor in reducing the cost of living. "We state these facts," he said, "in the hope that our shareholders, particularly the small holders, may not get unduly alarmed in consequence of this action and be induced to part with their holdings at less than their value."

PROCEED, GENTLEMEN

Attorney General Clancy has given his decision regarding the province of the coal oil investigating committee.

As the people of the state expected, Mr. Clancy gave an opinion that was absolutely fair and one that tended toward the higher interests of better conditions and open conduct of affairs, together with honest action and justice.

It was what the citizens of New Mexico would expect from the attorney general's office, though it may not have been just what was desired by certain individuals.

At all events, the decision leaves the way open for a full, free and exhaustive examination of the affairs of the oil inspector's office, concerning which the people of this state would like to learn more.

Inasmuch as an effort is being made by the members of the legislature, certain members, at least, to re-establish the office of coal oil inspector, it is well to know how this office was conducted in the past and, if possible, try to profit by past shortcomings and provide that the money coming in from inspection of oil and gasoline be put in a channel where it will be of some use other than that which is wholly individual.

That the oil and gasoline coming into New Mexico, needs inspection there cannot be any doubt, but the inspection should be real, not imaginary, so that when a report is made of oil inspection it will really be evidence that someone has seen the oil.

So, for future enlightenment and better service, as well as for the value gained from a knowledge of past methods of conducting this oil business, the committee should, by all means, proceed with the oil investigation by calling to the witness stand the principals in the oil inspection proceedings covering the time which the Llewellyn resolution was intended to cover.

Let us have publicity of the fullest kind.

Let the people know how their business has been conducted, for it certainly was their business.

The state oil inspector was a state official even though the money collected through his office seems to have had no connection with the state. If the bill re-establishing the office of state oil inspector becomes a law, it should provide that money collected aside from reasonable salaries and expenses, shall go into the state treasury.

So let the investigation of the state oil inspector's office go on.

Proceed, gentlemen.

MISPLACED CONFIDENCE

It turns out that, after all, the Coal Oil Fund belonged to the Coal Oil Inspector, and not to the "Tax Payers."

The New Mexican would have suspected this from the beginning had it not been for the confidence which was placed in the legal pre-eminence of the gentleman who brought the resolution of investigation.

Major Llewellyn is a distinguished lawyer and a statesman of vast experience. A mere glance over the long list of public positions which he has filled would impress even the most unimpressible. A man who has been Speaker of the House of Representatives, who has been District Attorney and United States Attorney, must have known the difference between a public and a private fund.

We cannot believe that the Major was ignorant of this distinction. We cannot believe that he did not take the trouble to inform himself before bringing so serious a charge against innocent and respected citizens of this state. What, then, could have been his motive? Are we driven to the reluctant conclusion that in order to gratify a personal animosity and to pose as an apostle of political purity, Major William Henry Harrison Llewellyn, chose deliberately to delude, dupe, mislead, and take in not only the members of the legislature, but the press and the public, who leaned upon his wisdom?

NOT FOR THE MORGUE

It is unfortunate that some bills that are really of much importance, cannot be given a little more publicity. Some of them are slid through either or both houses without debate or explanation and others are silently but speedily skidded to the morgue without a word further than a motion by Mr. Holt.

When the bill which practically abolishes the traveling auditor, one of the most important of our state officials and one of the most valuable, came up in the house, not a word was said about it other than a protest entered by Representative Clancy, who laid bare its intents, but it was speedily passed, under orders, probably, and now is in the senate, in all likelihood to be handled in the same noiseless manner.

This is not a morgue bill.

It is wanted for an evident purpose.

It is strange, that this economical legislature, which wrinkles so from expending money for the printing of a bill which is not popular with the powers, should so willingly and unflinchingly pass a measure which throws out a system of uniform county accounting, already established by statute and erects another at additional and useless cost to the taxpayers, for some reason that no one seems willing to explain, some occult reason, known only to its instigators and supporters.

This is but another turn in the political game, and perhaps it is wise for the gangsters to play the limit this session, as it will be the last where their authority will be as extreme as now.

There is a method for removing the breath of life from this bill, however, which will likely be used before the last hand is played in this interesting game.

YOU CAN'T PATENT MEN

You can't make good men by passing laws. No law will make a man temperate in his eating, his smoking or in his drinking. Something more is required than a mere statute. It is the will, the desire of the man to comply with the letter and spirit of the law.

And it is likewise so of cities. Municipalities are made up of men. They have, in many ways, the strength and the weakness of men. It is well to remember this when planning for municipal reform. Neither the commission government plan, the federal plan nor any other patented scheme of government will of itself automatically make cities better.

You can't adopt a new charter and then sit back supinely and expect a revolution to occur. No matter what form of government a city has, two things are imperative: necessary in order to bring about reforms:

Good men, honest men must be chosen to office.

The whole citizenship must watch closely the actions of their officials and bring upon them the full force of an active, wideawake, democratic public opinion.

When the legislative oil committee starts work again, it is more than likely that there will not be such excited anxiety to summon newspaper men as witnesses since the experience in the case of Brian Boru Dunne. The average newspaper man usually knows too much of the inside machinery and that is not what seems to be wanted. There is evident fear that someone not intended, may get caught in the gear of the machine.

A magazine writer who has gone "back to the farm" tells about sixteen hours of "nothing but play." There is a mistake about this. The writer was an agriculturist, not a farmer, or he would have been less poetic in his description of farming.

A Boston school principal is being sued for slapping a pupil's ears. Another evidence of an advanced age, we presume. In past years a teacher could do anything he wanted with a boy's ears, even using them as handles to lift a fellow off the floor.

REMARKS FROM THE SIDE LINE

Tóme su asiento!

General Díaz is now a candidate for the presidency of Mexico. The general must feel despondent.

Mr. Dunne testified that Mr. Andrews said Mr. Roosevelt was a poor politician. That is probably correct—from Andrews' point of view.

"We must do our duty when we see it," said Hon. John Baron Burg in speaking of the salary bill vetoed by the governor yesterday. Yes, John.

Fifteen persons were cremated in a hotel fire in Omaha. This is another striking example of the danger of remaining over night in Omaha.

Mr. Blanchard asserted that the legislature could either pass the salary bill over the governor's veto or pass a higher one. Go tell it to the sheep, Blanchard.

The passage of the county salaries bill over the governor's veto in the senate yesterday is significant. It will be more significant at the next general election, too.

The house has adopted a resolution to submit an amendment to the state constitution to the people at the next general election, providing for state-wide prohibition. The people have a lot to answer for.

Every time they have another battle in Turkey, the Ottomans try to arrange peace by surrendering a little more territory. It looks like it would pay the allies to keep the war going.

Some of the weekly press still refer to New Mexico as a "territory" and one weekly ran an official directory recently with some federal officials who have not held office for nearly two years.

The house refused to adopt a resolution by Mr. Blanchard to stop the probe into the coal oil inspector's office. This, major, means that the house is not in favor of stopping the probe, we apprehend.

Maybe the activities of Spies, Bursum and others on the floor of the house yesterday when it was proposed to pass the county salaries bill over the veto of the governor, explains the lengthy visits by those gentlemen to Santa Fe.

When the old guard saw that the county salaries bill was not likely to pass the house, the veto of the governor to the contrary notwithstanding, it hastily secured an adjournment. An adjournment has saved the Old Guard's goat more than once, lately.

Despite the strenuous efforts of Spies, Bursum and their henchmen on the floor of the house Friday, the county salaries bill was not put over. The house members are awakening to the fact that they do not have to follow the leadership of the remnants of the once G. O. P. There is nothing left but the remnants.

THE TWO CHARLIES.

Says Spies to Springer,
"We've gone through the wringer.
And all our supporters are looking quite blue.
I often wonder
Just what in thunder
Inspired old Dwight when he sent us Boru!"

Says to Springer to Spies
"We appear to be geeze
Since that fool resolution was voiced by the 'Major'."

Let's think up another
To cover the other
For house resolutions are now quite the rage!"

ALTHOUGH TIED HAND AND FOOT HE GAVE ALARM

New York, March 1.—In broad day light today three men entered the branch store of a big retail cigar corporation on a busy corner in the theatrical district, took the clerk by surprise at the point of a revolver, bound and gagged him and rifled the safe of its contents, about $300. Employing the cash register also, they fled undisturbed.

Albert Jacobson, the clerk though tied hand and foot with wire, managed to roll along the floor to the door and attracted the attention of the pedestrians by laboriously tapping on the glass panel with his manacled hands. From his description of the robbers the police are trailing them.

AS THE BYSTANDER SEES IT

SARAH PADDEN IN "KINDLING."
There must be a tremendously gripping interest in a play that depends wholly upon the story and the acting to carry it through, without the necessities of rich scenery and striking costumes.

Such a play is "Kindling." The play is set in one room, and not an attractive room,—just a city tenement, up stairs, with broken plaster on the walls, the plainest of furniture, and the garments of the poor, save when the wealthy owners of the pitiful tenement swept in, clothed in their up-the-avenue finery.

"Kindling" is a very strong, a very intense, a very absorbing play. It has a lesson that the poorest student may easily learn, and though it is one of those plays which touches the springs of tears, it has laughter in it as well. As presented at the Elks last night this remarkable play delighted a large audience. It had a cast of characters that was adequate in every particular.

Sarah Padden, as Maggie Schultz, the girl driven at bay by the pressure of bitter circumstances, is an actress of rare accomplishments. Her portrayal of a difficult character was finished to the last degree, in reading of lines, in action and in striking facial expression. All through this tense play, Miss Padden had the admiration and sympathy of her audience, and when she closed the play with the wistful expression: "Heinie, perhaps there's roses in Wyoming," there was not a person in the audience who did not hope that Maggie Schultz would find them.

The cast supporting Miss Padden was excellent. Mr. Barker, as Heinrich Schultz, gave a portrayal of the honest laborer with skill and well restrained force; Miss Ripley, as Mrs. Bates, the kind hearted Irish woman, whose hard life failed to sour, kept the audience laughing at her sallies of wit; Mr. Hamilton, as Steve, the conscienceless thief and all around rascal, missed nothing in his portrayal; Mr. Anderson, as the plain clothes man, was finished in all that he did, carrying a nonchalant air with the keen spirit back of it; Miss Garnett, as Alice, the true friend of Maggie, and Mr. Nickelow, the interne, were excellent and the balance of the cast was abundantly satisfactory.

GOOD ADVICE.
Good advice sometimes comes from strange and unexpected quarters and from queer sources, but that is no valid reason for its non acceptance.

If the devil himself gave good advice that is no especial reason for not making use of it, but as he never gave any of that kind to me and as I never heard of his giving such kind of talk to anyone, I do not know as there is any use in dragging the devil into this little dissertation on a good thing.

Here is a bit I found in a newspaper the other day:

"Boys, don't smoke, drink or chew and don't swear. Always remember that home is the best place to stop o' evenings. Depend on your mother and ask her for advice when in trouble."

That sounds just like the things our Sunday school teacher used to tell us, when we used to sit squirming about in our seats, half listening to what the good lady was saying to us, and half wondering how it would seem to do those very things she was telling us we must never do.

But it was not a Sunday school teacher that said this, nor yet a preacher. It was Bob Fitzsimmons. You know about Bob. His profession used to be to give upper cuts, put eyes in mourning, keep the other fellow from getting under his guard in the roped arena, for big pay. You remember he gave that solar plexus to Jimmy Corbett.

The remarks above quoted Bob delivered in Paterson, New Jersey, the other night to a crowd of youngsters, and with his experience in life, perhaps he is not so poorly qualified to speak to boys as many a man who has not seen anything of the seamy side. Experience is a great school and the man or woman who has had it, can speak from actual knowledge and not from hearsay. So when Bob Fitzsimmons gave the advice which he did the other night, he spoke as a student in the broad school of experience, and his advice is worth heeding.

Every man knows this—that to keep close in touch with the mother makes a better boy. She knows. She never fails. She is always true. She is the best friend in the wide world.

Yes, Bob Fitzsimmons told the truth.

TRADE MARKS.

When a man or a company or corporation discovers something especially good, he puts his own trade mark on it and when the public have grown to know and recognize this mark they buy that brand of goods.

This is true of the "United Play Company." Three men formed this corporation. They determined to put on the road only companies of high grade. They determined to give the patrons of the theatre throughout the country nothing but the best. They selected high grade plays and employed finished players with the result that when an attraction appears under the "United Play Company" management, it is a guarantee in itself.

Already, this season, Santa Fe has been favored with several plays under this management and each one has stood the test. They gave us "The City," "The Third Degree," "Granstar," and last night "Kindling."

Hereafter, when the theater patrons of our city see this trade mark—"The United Play Company,"—it will be an apparent guarantee of something good. It does pay to get a good reputation on anything we do. People soon recognize it and soon take advantage of it. It is the same in effect when we do poorly, or do not tote fair. Perhaps this quality is noted first in the average run in the world more quickly than the good, but a trade mark is recognized very soon and the people are influenced by it, and so it does pay to have one that speaks for good and wins confidence. After all, good is recognized in the world, even though we often think we are degenerating and that everything is bad.

If everyone really tried to put a good trade mark on their conduct and character it would make a big difference in our little old world, and would pay, just as it pays a company or a corporation.

LAME DUCKS IN CONGRESS WILL LOSE SOFT JOBS

Washington, March 1.—Congressional lame ducks who sought to create $7500-a-year jobs for themselves on the payroll of the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco have given up the fight, at last, so far as that payroll is concerned.

They are now looking around for something else promising. The effort to obtain a government appropriation for the exposition has been transferred from the house, where it failed, to the senate, where an amendment containing the provision will be offered to the sundry civil appropriation bill.

Senator Perkins' bill as favorably reported by the exposition committee provides for a government appropriation of $1,500,000, a reduction of $500,000 from the amount proposed in the house.

The government commission of seven officials named by the president and paid by the exposition company, as proposed in the bill introduced by Representative Rodenberg, of Illinois, is missing from the Perkins measure. In its place is a commission composed of a state department, an army and a naval officer.

Rodenberg's bill was referred to in the house by Representative Fitzgerald as the "lame duck bill," and it was defeated largely because of the understanding that statesmen involuntarily retired from congress by the people were to receive the $7500 jobs proposed.

If the senate should approve the Perkins appropriation, the house will oppose it on the grounds that San Francisco promised to ask for no financial aid from the government.

HE KISSED HER AND THEN FLED

Camden, N. J. March 1.—Just two kisses were all that a burglar stole from Mrs. Mary Young, of 2204 Federal street, when his invasion of her home awoke her about 2 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Young has been confined to her bed for a number of years. She was awakened by a slight noise in her kitchen, and a moment later saw the intruder enter her room, and come to the side of her bed. Holding a revolver near her head, the man touched her on the arm.

"What do you want?" she asked. "I want a kiss," he replied. Pressing the revolver closer to the woman's head, he leaned over and kissed her, first on the forehead and then on the lips.

Saying good-night, the intruder left the room as quietly as he entered. Several minutes later the woman, who had become hysterical from fright, managed to get up courage to call her son, who made an investigation and found the intruder had gone, leaving behind him a bag of loot he had collected.

It will not pay you to waste your time writing out your legal forms when you can get them already printed at the New Mexican Printing company.

NEWS OF THE STATE

WILL INVESTIGATE FURTHER.

Sheepherders are reported to have found the skeleton of a man about fifteen miles southeast of the Gran Quivira. The person appeared to have been dead for about six months, no clothes were found or other identifications, and the bones of a wagon which had been burned were found a short distance away. George Spence, Jr., brings in the report and a further investigation is to be made.—Carriazo Outlook.

THEY LIKE ESTANCIA VALLEY.

The party that came from Texas about two weeks ago, mentioned at the time, have practically decided to locate here, and it only remains for them to find something that suits. They have decided that the country is all right. The party consists of A. B. Bagley, J. H. Epps, E. D. Mallock, T. A. Willbanks and M. S. Graves, all from Kress, Texas. They want to devote their attention largely to live stock.—Estancia News-Herald.

THIEVES PRESENT.

A bunch of thieves have been unusually busy in Endee and surrounding country during the past month. Houses that were temporarily vacant have been stripped of their furnishings, and in some instances parts of the buildings have been carried off, and in a few cases the doors and windows, sashes and casings being carried away.

Judging from the number of hen roosts being robbed, it seems the bunch are eating chicken three times a day.—Endee Enterprise.

A BOOM FOR COLFAX.

Colfax county is entering into the most important months in its history. Not only does the reader divine the changes for the better, but every indication points to opening and development of new business that will necessarily follow the campaign now in the fighting. Once get the large holdings in Colfax county returned for assessment in proportion to that which the small property owner pays, and it will mean either immediate sale of that property or hurried development. Either way it will rebound to the advancement and progress of the county.—Raton Reporter.

SEVERELY BURNED.

James P. Walker met with a rather severe accident last Saturday morning in a peculiar manner. He had been suffering from rheumatism, and one of his feet was badly swollen. He had swathed it in flannel and was bathing it with alcohol. Some of the fluid had reached the floor and a match was applied to it. The flame was immediately communicated to the saturated rag around the foot, and before the fire could be extinguished the foot was seriously burned. Mr. Walker has to get around with the aid of crutches and is unable to wear his shoe.—Carriazo News.

A MIXED CONDITION.

With high state officials muddying the water and the salary bill lightly suspended in the ozone; with the joker ruthlessly rescued from the finance bill; with the legal fence bill deposited without honor upon the sis and the logging bill gasping for breath in the committee room; with the house passing some measure to tickle its constituents and the senate giving them a Leathian bath to titillate its constituency and railroad legislation being mixed and intermixed by the officials and the representatives of the unions, things move on at the legislative assembly in what has been called an even tenor—a sort of runic roll.—Alamogordo News-Advertiser.

A LESSON IN IT.

Here is an experience which ought to put confidence in the weak-kneed homesteaders, who can see no future for this country. Grandpa Cooper, who proved up last year and went back east by team last fall, tells us that he went past the farm he owned in Greer county, Okla., 25 years ago. After living on this farm for several years he decided it was no good and never would be so he pulled up stakes and left the farm without trying to sell it. When he got back there last

A TEN CENT BOX OF "CASCARETS"

Keep Your Liver and Bowels Active and You Feel Bully For Months.

Put aside—just once—the Salts, Cathartics, Pills, Castor Oils or purgative waters which merely force a passageway through the bowels, but do not thoroughly cleanse, freshen and purify these drainage or alimentary organs, and have no effect whatever upon the liver and stomach. Keep your inside organs pure and fresh with Cascarets, which thoroughly cleanse the stomach, remove the undigested, sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry it out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels. A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Bloating, coated tongue, indigestion, Sour Stomach or constipated bowels. Cascarets, being in every household, Children just love to take them.

HOW ONE WOMAN WON

Her Health and Strength Back Again by The Use of Cardui.

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from this city, Mrs. E. C. Corum writes: "I was all weakened and worn out with womanly troubles. My husband brought me some Cardui as a tonic, and, from the first day, it seemed to help. I had almost lost my reason, but, thanks to Cardui, I did not. Soon, I felt and looked like a new woman. I think the remedy is wonderful. I recommend it to my friends, for I have received great benefit from it." Cardui acts specifically on the weakened womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and building them up to health. It helps to refresh the worn-out nervous system and relieves the effects of overwork, both mental and physical. Fifty years' successful use fully prove the merit of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women. In every community, there live some who have been benefited by Cardui. The beneficial effects of this time tested woman's remedy, soon show themselves in many different ways. Try it.

NEVER AGAIN WILL THIS MAN INVOKE THE LAW

Detroit, Feb. 28.—Orville Traster, 502 Clinton Street, has concluded that the life of a plain law abiding citizen who works zealously to see the city ordinances enforced is no path of dalliance.

Several weeks ago Traster, according to his story, informed the board of health authorities that a next door neighbor was guilty of violating a scarlet fever quarantine. The authorities made things rather lively for the neighbor, it is said, and Traster avers he swore revenge if it took him a score of years.

The other day Traster received a notice that the neighbor had purchased the house he was living in. February 21 Traster received another communication from his neighbor, this time a court summons to vacate for non-payment of rent. Traster declares the rent was not due until February 20 and he had not paid because he was in doubt as to whether or not to pay it to the former owner.

Now Traster is facing the prospect of being ejected into the cold world as he has not been able to find a landlord who is willing to have him as a tenant because he has three children. "And all because I did my duty as a decent law abiding citizen who did not like to see my own and other people's children imperiled by a quarantine breaker," he mournfully concludes.

A MESSAGE TO RAILROAD MEN.

E. S. Bacon, 11 East St., Bath, Me., sends out this warning to railroaders everywhere. "My work as conductor caused a chronic inflammation of the kidneys and I was miserable and all taking Foley Kidney Pills I began to regain my strength, and I am better now than I have been for twenty years." Try them. For sale by all druggists.

NO MORE MOVIES FOR VASSAR GIRLS

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Feb. 28.—Vassar college students seeking pleasure of the campus must not find it in the "movies" of Poughkeepsie or temporary suspension of their punishment. Notices will be their punishment. Notices to that effect have been posted in all the halls and on the press boards in the main building.

Young women from the college swarm into the city every afternoon and attend shows at the local theaters, some of which are exciting. Then, it is said, they return to the dormitories and regale their friends with mimic reproductions of the "photo plays" they have seen, all of which requires time, which the faculty does not feel should be spent in such manner.

Probably 300 girls daily contribute to the coffers of the various picture shows and since the college has been "snapped" in the action for the shows and other historical spots along the Hudson have been photographed for the film companies, attending the moving pictures halls has become a real rage at the college.

THE SOCIETY FOR PRESERVATION OF ANTIQUITIES

A meeting of the incorporators of the Society for the Preservation of Spanish Antiquities, for purposes of organization was held last evening in the supreme court room at the capitol, and notwithstanding various other matters which claimed the attention of the great mass of our citizenship, the meeting was both large and enthusiastic.

It was called to order by Hon. Felix Martinez, who made an address full of sentiment as well as practical suggestions, and the same was received with applause. He then called upon Governor L. Bradford Prince to explain the objects of the society and the necessity for early action in order to save many of the most interesting Spanish antiquities from destruction. The society then adopted its by-laws and proceeded to the election of officers. Felix Martinez placed in nomination L. Bradford Prince, as president; B. C. Hernandez nominated Felix Martinez as first vice-president; Lieutenant Governor E. C. de Baca nominated Bronson M. Cutting as second vice-president, and they were all unanimously elected. Benjamin M. Read was elected secretary and Hon. Antonio Lucero, treasurer.

After a number of addresses on the importance of the objects of the society it was determined to invite the members of the legislature and other guests to a collation to be given at the Palace hotel this evening at 8 o'clock, and a committee, with Antonio Lucero as chairman, was appointed to complete arrangements.

ANITATOR IS HEIR TO $500,000

Boston, March 1.—John J. Quinn, a janitor has been notified he is heir to $500,000 left him by his grand father, Edward Quinn. The grandfather, after serving as a sergeant in the Irish section of the British army, went to Australia, where he accumulated the fortune.

Quinn received the news through a firm of Australian lawyers. He is 32 years old, has a family, and was born in Boston. When asked what he would do with the money, he said:

"I want to be an engineer, the kind that gives advice to other people, you know—a consulting engineer." Quinn plans to start for Dublin with a firm of Australian lawyers.

IN SUCH PAIN WOMAN TORE HER CLOTHES

Testifies She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Malone, N. Y.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has certainly done me a lot of good. I first heard of it when I was a girl and I always said that if I ever had female trouble I would take it."

"I suffered from organic inflammation and would have spells when I would be in such pain that I would tear my clothes. One day my husband got the neighbors in to see what the matter was but they could not help me. My first thought was for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I sent my husband out for it and took it until I was entirely cured. I am a woman of perfect health and my health and happiness came from Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine. You may rest assured that I do all I can to recommend your wonderful medicine to my friends."—Mrs. FRED STONE, Route No. 3, Malone, N. Y.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

BRANDED GIRL WITH HOT IRON

Thompson police received a letter from Mounted Policeman Lambert stating that a little girl, near Taylor, N. M., has been attacked by a woman at whose house she was staying and that the woman inflicted a wound on the child's stomach, using a hot iron. The first news of the cruelty reached the secretary of state, Hon. Antonio Lucero, who received a letter from P. A. Carter, agent of the El Paso and Southwestern at Taylor. The letter was turned over to Captain Penoff who at once put Lambert on the case. The little girl was taken to Springer where she was given a good home, with people who do not vent their ill temper at the ironing board.

KNOW IT WELL.

Familiar Features Well Known to Hundreds of Santa Fe Citizens. A familiar burden in many homes. The burden of a "bad back." A lame, a weak or an aching back. Often tells you of kidney ills. Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Here is Santa Fe testimony. J. T. Sandoval, 115 Ortiz St., Santa Fe, N. Mex., says: "A dull pain in the small of my back, sometimes extending into my bladder, caused me a great deal of suffering, particularly when I took cold. I was bothered mostly in the winter, and in addition to the pain in my back, there were symptoms of inflammation of the bladder. The kidney secretions were highly colored and when passed were attended with a scalding pain. I never used another remedy that acted as satisfactorily as Doan's Kidney Pills. They proved to be just the medicine my case required and the complete cure they brought me, has led me to recommend them on more than one occasion."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents, Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

U. S. SEEKS TO DISSOLVE THIS SYRUP "TRUST"

New York, March 1.—Dissolution of the Corn Products Refining Co., an alleged starch glucose, and syrup "trust" is sought by the federal government in a federal anti-trust suit filed here today charging the $80,000,000 combination with entering conspiracies and contracts to destroy competition in violation of the Sherman law. It is alleged to have kept the prices of corn products at unreasonably lower figures to harass and discourage independent manufacturers.

Controlling 66 per cent of the entire American production of starch and glucose and 80 per cent of the interstate trade in mixed syrups, the alleged trust is charged with fixing resale prices; with manufacturing cheap grade candy at unreasonably low prices in retaliation against confectioners who buy starch and glucose from independent concerns; with practically suppressing the private brands of mixed syrups of grocers by quoting low prices on its own syrups; and with unlawful threats and contracts to destroy competition.

Aside from dissolution, the government asks for an injunction prohibiting the alleged restraint of trade. The suit recalls the long drawn out fight between the department of agriculture and the Corn Products Refining company over the branding of its corn syrups.

It is alleged that the defendant combination dismantled many of the starch and glucose factories it absorbed, selling the properties in most instances under covenants that the land conveyed should never, or not for a long term of years, be used in connection with the manufacture of similar products. The alleged trust and its predecessors are charged with having taken contracts from officers and directors of certain absorbed companies, not to engage in the business for a period of years.

When the Royal Baking Powder company acquired control of the American Maize Products company, the defendant combination, it is alleged company threatened to engage in the making of baking powder, resulting in an agreement whereby the Maize company sold to the defendant the surplus product not consumed by the Baking Powder company. To suppress competition, the combination is alleged to have employed the firm of Stein, Hirsch and Company in 1908, and 1909, to sell glucose at low prices, as independent manufacturers.

When the National Candy company organized in 1906, the Clinton Sugar Refining company, whose output would come in competition with that of the Corn Products Refining company, the latter, the bill says, informed candy manufacturers throughout the country that unless they bought a sufficient percentage of the glucose they needed from the defendant combination, it would go into the candy business itself, in competition with them. In consequence, it is alleged, the Corn Products Refining company acquired control of the Novelty Candy company to retaliate against the National Candy company, and manufacturing purchasing glucose from independent manufacturers.

Until prohibited by the interstate commerce commission the company is alleged to have secured from railroads an excessive share of the through rates on account of its own switching lines, which was alleged to amount to rebates.

"I understand it is the contention of the government that the several reorganizations, (which include that of the Corn Products Refining company), were in an attempt at monopolization. It is generally known these were necessitated as a result of overproduction and were acts of the shareholders. In result they conclusively proved this is an industry, consuming little more than one per cent of the corn produced that cannot be monopolized but these acts of our predecessors—the present management of this company cannot be held responsible for."

"At our invitation and by an agreement with the attorney general, the attorney in charge, at which his associates, has occupied rooms in these offices for over two months. They have been given every facility for making the most thorough examination possible; they have had possession of our books, letter files, minutes and records of meetings, etc."

BUT ONE BODY IS TAKEN FROM HOTEL RUINS

Omaha, Neb., March 1.—An all night vigil, during which an extra squad of police, fire companies and a thousand morbid curiosity seekers were present, brought to light but one victim of the fire in the Dewey hotel. Although it is believed a score lost their lives in the flames, only four thus far are accounted for. Three of these lost their lives attempting to escape and one was taken from the ruins during the night.

The one body thus far uncovered was that of a woman, identified as that of Miss Florence Bonnevill, sister of the wife of the hotel proprietor. A letter addressed to Miss Flora E. Wilcox was found near the body recovered. It was dated Harlan, Iowa, and a return notice on the envelope gave the name of Herbert McConnell, 47 Main St., Harlan, Iowa. It was signed, "Lovingly, Mamma."

Omaha, Neb., March 1.—The half burned register of the hotel was recovered from the debris today. It shows that if all the guests registered were in the building when the fire occurred they numbered about sixty. It is claimed that many guests were unregistered. Only ten names could be deciphered. Most of the guests gave Omaha as their homes.

One man was registered from Lindsey, Calif., but his name could not be made out. Fifteen guests were registered as with their wives.

"SUFFRAGETTES" SEEK SOLDIERS FOR PROTECTION

Washington, D. C., March 1.—Women from all parts of the country flocked into Washington today to participate Monday in the Woman Suffrage pageant to emphasize on the people generally, and the incoming congress in particular, the "nation-wide demand for an amendment to the constitution of the United States enfranchising women."

The parade will form at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon at the peace monument under the west front of the capitol.

Impressed by the crush in the streets yesterday which the police were powerless to control, Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the Joint Suffrage Procession committee, renewed efforts today to procure a military escort for Monday's pageant. She had a conference with Secretary Stimson, urging the need for a military force to aid the police in clearing the street. The secretary said he would see if the request could be complied with. It had been refused previously because all available troops will be preparing for the inauguration parade on the following day.

IT WORKED BOTH WAYS.
Washington, D. C., March 1.—Hard coal companies increased the wages of their employees at the rate of $4,000,000 a year by the strike agreement of last May and increased the price of anthracite to consumers $12,450,000, according to a report based on an investigation by the bureau of labor, submitted to the house today.

BATTLESHIP MEN WILL WAGE WAR IN SENATE

Washington, D. C., March 1.—The two battleship men and the one battleship men in the house prepared today for a fight on the naval bill.

The senate last night restored many of the original provisions struck out by the house, and when the bill came back to the speaker's desk today, it provided for two battleships, six torpedo boat destroyers, four submarines, one transport and one supply ship.

The plan of the house leaders in charge of the bill was to disagree to the senate amendments and send the bill to further conference, but some of the two battleship men in the house planned to make a fight to occur with the senate amendments. With these battle lines drawn, Representative Padgett, of Tennessee, chairman of the naval committee, was ready to ask either for a suspension of the rules to get quick action on the sending of the bill to conference, or report to a special rule from the rules committee.

HOUSE PASSES WEBB BILL O'ER TAFT'S VETO

Washington, D. C., March 1.—By a vote of 244 to 95 the house today re-passed over President Taft's veto, the Webb bill prohibiting shipments of intoxicating liquors into "dry states." The senate passed it over the veto last night and the bill now becomes a law. Only one other time in the last fifteen years has congress overridden a president's veto. That was when the Rainey river dam bill was passed over President Roosevelt's disapproval.

President Taft based his veto almost entirely upon the ground that the bill was unconstitutional in that it virtually delegated to the state's control of interstate traffic in liquor when, he said, that control was vested solely in congress. Attorney General Wickersham had given an opinion also holding the bill unconstitutional and that the president forwarded to the senate yesterday with his veto message.

The senate re-passed the bill promptly last night and early today house leaders favoring the measure led by Representative Clayton, chairman of the judiciary committee, and Representative Webb, one of its framers, began working for an immediate passage. Debate was limited and the house re-passed the bill with a wide margin over the necessary two-thirds vote, as the senate had done.

Supporters of the bill say it will make effective the prohibition laws of "dry states" which they say, now are violated because intoxicants are shipped to private individuals and have the effect of nullifying the local laws.

PABLO VALDEZ RETURNS AS TELEGRAPH OPERATOR.

Pablo Valdez son of Hon. Zacarias Valdez, representative in the last territorial legislative assembly from San Miguel county, has arrived from Emporia, Kansas, where he went through a preparatory course as telegraph operator. Mr. Valdez has accepted a position as telegraph operator with the Western Union Telegraph company in Las Vegas. His many friends congratulate him on his success. His father has been his guiding star in all his efforts.

"All is Well That Ends Well"

Along with dyspepsia comes nervousness, sleeplessness and general ill health. Why? Because a disordered stomach does not permit the food to be assimilated and carried to the blood. On the other hand, the blood is charged with poisons which come from this disordered digestion. In turn, the nerves are not fed on good, red blood and we see those symptoms of nervous breakdown. It is not hard work that does it, but poor stomach work. With poor thin blood the body is not protected against the attack of germs of grip—bronchitis—consumption. Fortify the body now with

BAKING POWDER

Perfectly pure, unquestionably wholesome. A pure food factor ante-dating all pure food laws. Indispensable for raising finest cake, biscuit and pastry.

No Alum. No Lime Phosphates

Be on guard against alum in your food. Prof. Johnson of Yale College says he "regards the introduction of alum into baking powders as most dangerous to health."

Read the label. Buy only where Cream of Tartar is named.

DREADNAUGHT LAUNCHED.

Wilhelmshaven, Germany, March 1.—A new dreadnaught for the German navy was launched here today in the presence of Emperor William. She will be the first warship to carry a battery of 14 inch guns. Her exact dimensions have not been made public but it is reported that she displaces 25,000 tons. She was christened the "Koenig."

SEALED PROPOSALS.

Up to and including March 15, 1913, bids will be received at the office of the Superintendent Pueblo Indian Agency, 508 West Silver Ave., Albuquerque, N. M., for the construction of a school building at Paguate, N. M. Plans may be seen at the Superintendent's office or the office of this paper. For full information address Superintendent's office.

That the committee make no recommendations for appointments to federal jobs but that the broad highway to the White House be left wide open and unobstructed so that every candidate could secure what endorsements he deemed necessary and present them at Washington. Another resolution was offered, simply making it the sense of the meeting that no endorsements be made. The committee was discussing the proposition this afternoon.

The question of the county chairmanship row in Colfax county is one of the real questions of grief before the committee at this time. At the session this morning, the following committee was named to hear the Colfax county disputes and to take such testimony and make such recommendations as might be deemed proper: James G. Fitch, Frank Delgado, J. H. Crist, Charles Easley and N. B. Laughlin.

The opposing factions from Colfax county are headed by Dr. C. B. Kohlhausen and John Morrow.

At the morning session E. D. Tittman brought up the question of permitting the state chairman to have power to make additional appointments to the state committee which power, it was indicated by the minutes, was given him at the meeting in Albuquerque last fall. After some debate on the subject which arose over the approval of the minutes of the prior meeting, A. H. Hudspeth, the state chairman, himself offered a resolution which would deprive him of that power but the committee refused.

ed to adopt the resolution and after more debate, the minutes were agreed upon and approved.

GRIEF IN STORE FOR SOME DEMOCRATS.

It is reported that a resolution will be offered before the committee adjourns in which members of the Democratic party in the legislature who voted to pass the county salaries bill over the veto of the governor will be severely censured. There is even a report that an effort will be made to read them out of the party. Nothing in that line had developed this afternoon, however, and it was asserted that an effort was being made to prevent the bringing of such a disagreeable subject before the committee.

FELIX MARTINEZ IS TAKING ACTIVE PART.

Felix Martinez, of Colfax county, but who spends much of his time in El Paso, and whose name has been prominently before the public as the Democratic candidate from New Mexico for ambassador to Mexico, is in Santa Fe and is taking an active part in the deliberations of the committee and in Democratic politics generally.
