NEW LAWS FILED WITH SECRETARY AS FAST AS APPROVED

Governor McDonald spent today in the executive office looking over the bills which passed during the closing hours of legislature. About thirty were still to be considered by executive after noon hour today.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY BILL IS ACCEPTED IN ITS NEW FORM

Governor McDonald spent today in the executive office looking over the bills which passed during the closing hours of legislature. As fast as he approved a measure, he sent it to the office of the secretary of state, where it was promptly stamped with the time of receipt and filed.

The governor gave executive approval to a large number of measures this morning and had some thirty odd bills still before him for the afternoon. Among the bills sent to the secretary's office this morning was the new district attorney bill providing for those officials. Following are the bills filed with the secretary up until noon today:

- ### SENATE BILLS.
- No. 26—An act to authorize Auditor and Treasurer to transfer certain funds for legislative purposes.
 - No. 30, as Amended—To prohibit mutilating public records and prescribing penalties therefor.

 - No. 131—Providing for the payment of interest on the Grant county railroad bonds.
 - No. 191—Authorizing the state treasurer to pay interest on the bonded debt.
 - No. 65—To establish city boards of education.

SUFFRAGET MARCHER USED CLUB SHE SAYS

Washington, D. C., March 15.—Some samples of militant suffrage were today expounded to the senate committee investigating the disorder which attended the suffrage parade of March 3. Dr. Mary D. Mark, of Maryland, told of her physical efforts to defend the girls in the parade from the attentions of men in the crowd. Dr. Mark is a robust woman and she drew considerable applause when she said:

"Some of them attempted to manhandle me. I carried a baton and they got the worst of it." Dr. Mark said that the police all along the line displayed "jelly fish indifference."

"I marched in the Maryland college women's section," she said. "The Maryland section just ahead of us carried a large Maryland state flag. The police stood by, while the crowd, which surged close about the marchers, spat on the flag and threw lighted cigarettes and matches into it. The police appeared to get a great deal of pleasure out of the parade and the antics of the crowd. They jeered and smiled at the marchers."

"One woman who was a marshal of the section preceding mine was pinched by men all along the line of march. The police made no effort to interfere. I could see them pinch her from where I marched. She showed me her arm afterward. It was black and blue from wrist to shoulder."

Judges in the Fifth Judicial District.

- No. 53—Ceding jurisdiction to the United States over Fort Bayard military reservation.
- No. 54—Ceding jurisdiction over Santa Fe National Cemetery to the United States.
- No. 213—Authorizing the commissioner of public lands to quit claim certain lands.
- No. 171—Providing for a tax to aid public health by the drainage of swampy sections.
- No. 82—Prescribing the fees to be charged by the secretary of state.
- No. 17—Providing for additional good time for convicts.
- No. 206—Providing for county appropriation to fairs for prizes for live stock and agricultural displays.
- No. 286—Providing for the refund of moneys paid to the irrigation commission.
- No. 188—Relating to the sheriff's return on attachment papers.
- No. 350—Fixing salaries for district attorneys.

REALTY DEALER MARRIED GIRL FOR HER MONEY

Chicago, Ill., March 15.—David A. Wardell, 33 years old, a San Francisco real estate dealer, who is alleged to have used the name of Donald Coleman when he married Miss Laura Crew in Los Angeles early in February, was brought to Chicago from Rochester, N. Y., today by detectives. Three thousand dollars of the $4500 which the woman had turned over to her alleged "husband" was recovered by the police. He was booked on a charge of operating a confidence game.

Miss Crew is convinced that she was lured into a false marriage by Wardell merely for the purpose of getting her money. He persuaded her to sell her hotel business in Los Angeles when they were married, she told the police, and she trusted the proceeds, $4,500 to him when they reached Chicago last month. Wardell did not know his wife was in Chicago until she met him at the police station today. Mrs. Wardell threw her arms around his neck, declaring her forgiveness.

"You'll go back home with me and we'll live fine," said the wife, apparently forgetting that her husband was charged with a crime.

Recovering from his surprise, Wardell said: "I have only one wife and she is here." He would not talk about Miss Crew.

FOREMAN HELD FOR EXPLOSION OF DYNAMITE

Baltimore, Md., March 15.—Wm. J. Bonhardt, an assistant foreman of Stevedores, is held responsible by the coroner's jury today for the dynamite explosion aboard the British steamer, Aluma China, March 7, which caused the death of 30 or more men, the serious injury of three score others and a property loss estimated at nearly a million dollars.

Bonhardt's alleged act in striking with a hatchet a box containing dynamite, was sworn to by a number of witnesses at the inquest, is declared by the jury to have been the direct cause of the explosion.

Bonhardt was immediately arrested by order of the coroner's jury.

Employees of the concern engaged in loading the steamer were criticized by the jury for alleged ignorance of important rules regulating the handling of high explosives and for "gross carelessness in handling this dangerous commodity."

GIRLS TELL OF SHAME AND LOW WAGES

TWO WITNESSES KNOWN ONLY BY THEIR INITIALS, ARE PLACED ON STAND IN PEORIA, ILLINOIS, BY VICE COMMISSION.

YOUNG MAN GIVES HIS IDEAS ALSO

Peoria, Ill., March 15.—Many witnesses and few spectators were present when the session of the Illinois vice commission opened here today. Frank D. Young, manager of the local Woolworth store, testified that of sixty-one girl employees, the lowest wage was $4 a week. Twenty-five girls, he said, received less than $5 a week. The witness did not know what it would cost a girl to live. Young was asked if in his opinion, low wages and immorality are a cause and a result. "I think there is only slight connection," he answered.

Edward C. Heidrick, president of the Peoria Cordage company, was also a witness, and asked his son to assist in answering questions. Eighty girls are employed by the concern, at a minimum of $6 a week. Mr. Heidrick said he did not know what it would cost a girl to live in Peoria, but "son" whose initials were not announced, said that the girls could live on $6 a week—"I mean it's enough to keep them from going wrong," he said. Heidrick then volunteered the information that while he was in college in the east a thorough investigation of the causes of the social evil was made and that it showed that the chief causes of the downfall of women were drinking and lax divorced laws. The committee smiled at the seriousness of the young man.

Several girls identified by initials only testified.

"C. S." said she worked in a candy store for $3 a week and was there led astray. "P. J." with much emotion, told of her lapse from virtue because of a man friend. She was then earning $5 a week.

BIG FOREIGN JOB REFUSED BY OLNEY

BOSTON CITIZEN TENDERED POST AT GREAT BRITAIN BY PRESIDENT WILSON DECLINES TO ACCEPT.

Washington, D. C., March 15.—Richard Olney, of Boston, to whom President Wilson offered the post of ambassador to Great Britain, has declined. His letter of refusal was received at the White House today.

Washington, D. C., March 15.—Announcement was made at the White House today that the nomination of former Governor John Burke, of North Dakota, to be U. S. treasurer was this afternoon sent to the senate.

MADEROS ARE IN NEW YORK. VIRTUAL EXILES

New York, March 15.—Ten of the Madero family, all relatives of the slain president of Mexico, arrived here today to join others of the family, already in the United States and to consider where and how the Maderos may re-establish their fortunes.

The party included Mrs. Sarah P. Madero widow of President Francisco I. Madero and her daughters, Angele and Mercedes; Mrs. Francisco Madero the late president's mother; Mrs. Zirlon, his sister, and Mrs. Zirlon's four children, and one of the president's nephews. They came from Havana, which was their first place of refuge after the death of President Madero.

Many other Mexican refugees were on the same steamer, among them Jose G. Reyes, a son of General Bernardo Reyes, who was killed during the recent uprising.

STUDENTS ARE FOUND GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Hillsboro, N. C., March 15.—The three students of the North Carolina University, Ralph Oldham, Will Merzmann and Aubrey Ratch, were found guilty this afternoon of manslaughter in connection with the death of a fellow student, Will Rand, while the latter was being hauled last September. They were each sentenced to four months in jail.

Hillsboro, N. C., March 15.—The case against the three students of the University of North Carolina, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of a fellow student, Will Rand, who was being hauled, was given to the jury just before noon. An early verdict was expected.

FROST PLEASED WITH BALLINGER APPOINTMENT

Chicago, Ill., March 15.—Richard A. Ballinger's appointment as secretary of the interior pleased Elbert C. Frost, one of the five defendants on trial for Alaskan coal land frauds before Federal Judge Landis, according to a letter introduced today in evidence.

The letter was dated February 9, 1907, and was addressed to H. Osborne, a Toronto banker, who was a business associate of Frost. In this communication Frost set forth his friendship and close affiliation with the former cabinet official. An excerpt from the letter read:

"I was very glad to learn that Hon. R. A. Ballinger, of Seattle, Washington, was appointed commissioner of the general land office. Mr. Ballinger is one of the firm of Ballinger, Renold, Battle & Tennant, of Seattle, and has been my attorney there for the past five or six years and I know him personally well."

"Therefore, we will have the advantage of anything we want from the land office."

The letter came as a surprise to the attorneys for the defense. A. A. Davison, alleged "dummy entryman" and former auditor for the Frost enterprises, was called on by the prosecution to identify the letter. The witness, although evasive in many of his answers, finally identified the letter for the record.

BAD MOTHERS ARE BETTER, SAYS DR. BLUMENTHAL

Washington, D. C., March 15.—That bad mothers raise better and more vigorous children than good mothers, was the assertion made last night by Dr. Gustave Blumenthal, a noted physiologist, of Australia, before the home and school association. Dr. Blumenthal also declared suffragists were "spinners who had missed the matrimonial market." He asserted that women suffrage was a complete failure in Australia.

"Good mothers send more boys to jail and into the evils of crime," she said than do bad mothers. "The care of a bad mother is better for the child in his battles with life later on than the pampering and loving lavished on him by an overfond parent."

Dr. Blumenthal would encourage fighting among boys and said he would even go so far as to give his boy a reward for every black eye he had given his opponent without receiving one in return. He declared there were too many ladies and gentlemen and not enough men and women in the present age.

BANK CLERK GOT AWAY WITH BIG ROLL, BUT GAMBLER

San Francisco, Cal., March 15.—How much money Charles F. Baker stole from the Crocker National Bank was still a conjecture today.

"We are not yet in a position to say how much Baker is short," said H. N. Morris, the federal bank examiner.

"In fact, we are completely baffled. We don't understand yet in detail what his method was. The best estimate is that the peculations will be in excess of $100,000, but it is impossible to be more definite."

"So far as the federal statutes go, there is no possibility of prosecuting criminally the brokers with whom Baker gambled."

The bank itself is fully protected against loss by its contract with an insurance company.

Baker is confined by illness to his home, under watch of United States marshals.

WALL STREET.

New York, March 15.—The stock market closed heavy. Speculation today reflected the uncertainty as to the working out of various problems overhauling the market. Nothing definite was disclosed regarding the solution of the Harriman tangle, although advice received by some Wall Street houses favored the view that the revised dissolution plan would be acceptable to the California railroad commission.

Foreign markets reflected the dullness of the approaching Easter holidays and although London prices for Americans were easier, nothing of importance was done here for foreign account.

After early heaviness, in which some new records were made, the market soon rose above yesterday's close. In the last few minutes selling of Reading and Union Pacific was brisk.

Bonds were steady.

POLICE RELIEVE THIS WOMAN WAS ALSO AN ACCOMPLICE.

San Francisco, March 15.—Evidence in the possession of the police tending to connect Mrs. Kitty Pope, now under arrest in Detroit, with the burglaries committed by Owen Conn, of Chicago, the "hundred thousand dollar burglar," will be presented to the grand jury, in order that an indictment may be issued. The Michigan law does not grant extradition, except on indictment.

Mrs. Pope was for a time Conn's companion here. He denied that she had any share in his crimes, but the police believe differently.

ANOTHER BATTLE IS IN PROGRESS BELOW THE ARIZONA LINE

FEDERALS AT NACO BRAVELY MARCH OUT TO MEET A FORCE DOUBLE THEIR SIZE BECAUSE THEY THOUGHT AMERICANS WOULD BE ENDANGERED SHOULD THEY REMAIN IN BORDER TOWN DURING FIGHTING.

GERMAN OFFICIAL IS LOCKED UP BECAUSE HE REFUSED LOAN

Naco, Ariz., March 15.—Defying a force twice their strength the federals defending Naco, Sonora, today marched out to meet the insurgent state troops. At noon the battle was in progress two miles below the Arizona border, with the federals holding their own by advantage of their artillery.

Determined to avoid danger to residents on the American side, and at the same time refusing to surrender or flee over the border, General Ojeda is making the last stand for the Huerta government in Northern Sonora. Despite the precaution one American was wounded early in the fighting.

Fearing for American civilians and troops on the Arizona side of the line here, General Ojeda shortly after 10 o'clock gave the command to evacuate the town. With his 475 men he marched away to the southeast, leaving his fortifications and facing an enemy twice his strength.

Started by the unexpected assault of the federals Calles' forces at noon began to fall back. Bracamonte's group arrived but failed to stem the tide of retreat. Ojeda continued to force the fighting, advancing his position slightly.

The Red Cross banner is seen on the field. The wounded were many.

The fighting this afternoon was a federal doggedly pressing forward, showering the rebel positions with shrapnel and machine gun lead. Ojeda has two rapid fires besides his field pieces.

By 11 o'clock the battle was in progress two miles below the border. Ojeda's men charged to the top of a ridge of hills, dismounted and took skirmish positions. Calles' group advanced from the south and threw a smothering fire against the federal position.

Despite the distance of the fighting, one American was wounded on the line. He is A. A. Hopkins, a deputy marshal, and was wounded in the leg.

The firing was furious from the start. The federals at once brought into play three field pieces. The state troop outposts retreated in the face of the artillery fire. The federals pressed forward, encountering the main group of Calles' constitutionalists. The result was a deafening fire from both sides. Each held their positions firmly. Bracamonte's group, which was advancing on Naco at the time of Ojeda's unexpected departure, then began moving to the assistance of Calles.

By 1 o'clock the fighting was general between the 500 federals and 900 state troops. The constitutionalists were beginning to hold their positions despite the artillery fire.

Nogales, Ariz., March 15.—Day break found the contending forces in relatively the same positions as last night. Failure of the state troops to move on Naco was explained by the tardy arrival of Perfecto Bracamonte's group. On the approach of Bracamonte about 8 o'clock, making the constitutionalists nearly 1,000 strong, the leaders sent in a request to Ojeda, asking him to move south to meet the enemy and so prevent any danger to Americans. The federal commander with less than 500 men under his command, declined the invitation, saying that he would defend his position only, whereupon Calles and Bracamonte prepared to move on the town.

Nearly every Mexican spent the night on the American side and the Mexican town was given over to Ojeda and his troops. At 8:30 o'clock this morning two troops of the Fifth cavalry arrived from Forest, Ariz., to reinforce three troops of the Ninth (negro) cavalry on the ground.

Sheriff Wheeler, of Tombstone, with six deputies, arrived later and demanded on the part of the state of Arizona that no fighting occur on the line.

Nogales, Ariz., March 15.—Epes Randolph, president and general manager of the Southern Pacific of Mexico, arrived here to make a formal demand today on General Ojeda for the railway lines. The demand was either denied or ignored. The state troops holding Nogales, Sonora, are allowing no equipment of the American owned line to cross into Arizona.

The number of killed in the Nogales attack today was fixed as twenty. Two died in the hospital here during last night. The defeated federals remain here, and it is under being paid by Mexican Co. Aguilar by order of the w. ment, at Mexico City.

Tucson, Ariz., March 15.—Gerard, German consular agent at Naco, Sonora, and manager of Banco de Sonora, has been imprisoned by the authorities of the insurgent Mexican state and the bank seized, say reliable and direct reports reaching here today.

Muller is said to have aroused the displeasure of the state authorities for refusing to negotiate a loan. The bank was raided but only 2400 pesos found, Muller having made some other provision for the safety of the funds.

The German consul is cut off from direct communication with his ambassador at Mexico City. He has sent out an indirect appeal to the German ambassador at Washington.

New Orleans, La., March 15.—Plutarco Ornelas, Mexican consul here, has received a telegram from Francisco de la Barra, secretary of foreign affairs of Mexico, denying the states of San Luis Potosi and Aguas Calientes have revolted. Regarding the political situation, the secretary of foreign affairs says:

With the exception of the authorities of the state of Sonora, who are

DISSOLUTION PLAN FINALLY IS ABANDONED

St. Louis, Mo., March 15.—Chairman Lovett of the Union Pacific system announced in the federal court here today that the modified plan for the dissolution of the Union Pacific Southern Pacific had been abandoned because of the opposition of the California railroad commission.

As a result of the abandonment of the dissolution plans, it now is necessary for the representatives of the Harriman interests and the attorney general to devise a new plan that shall meet the approval of the judges of the eighth federal circuit, who are sitting in this case as the district court of Utah.

When the new plan will be ready to submit, Judge Lovett did not indicate further than to say that the supreme court had granted three months for compliance with its dissolution decree. As the dissolution decree was handed down in the latter part of December, it is thought that the new plan will be devised within a few days.

Judge Lovett said the failure of the plan was due to the opposition of the railroad commission of California to the traffic arrangement contemplated between the Southern Pacific and the Union Pacific.

"This arrangement, which provided for the preferential interchange of traffic by the two roads in the use of the short line between Oakland and Sacramento," said Judge Lovett in addressing the court, "applied only to interstate traffic, concerning which the California railroad commission has no jurisdiction."

"However, in order to satisfy the French banking interests, which hold a $50,000,000 loan against the Central Pacific, it is necessary to lease the Central Pacific to the Union Pacific. We recognize that this lease must have the approval of the California railroad commission in order to be valid and for that reason the opposition of the California commission to the preferential agreement makes it impossible for the Union Pacific to continue with the modified plan."

Judge Lovett recited briefly the history of the negotiations between the attorney general and the railway attorneys in an attempt to devise a plan that would conform to the dissolution decree.

After the plan was pretended to this court on February 24," he said, "providing for the lease by the Central Pacific of the Southern Pacific short line, the attorneys for the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific sought so to modify the plan as to meet the approval of the California board."

"This plan was outlined orally to the attorney general, but was not reduced to writing until late Wednesday."

NOT SALTS AND PILLS "CASCARETS"

If Constipated; bilious, Head-achy, Stomach Sour, Take a Cascaret.

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have back-ache and feel worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—do good—never gripe or sicken.

CARLSBAD PROJECT WELL UNDER WAY

Carlsbad, N. M., March 15.—Development of the Carlsbad project is under way in earnest. Systematic immigration work, the first in ten years, is going forward quietly, but effectively, bringing in settlers that are ready to begin improvement at once. Organization of the people of the project has brought this about in less than a year at a very small outlay in money. The Commercial club, Pecos Water Users' association and the realty board united in the campaign to settle and develop the idle lands in the project and were finally successful in securing the services of a large and well organized immigration concern, The Farmers Irrigated Land company of Kansas City. It took time to arrange all the preliminaries. But actual work in the field was started two months ago. This company has a large force of general and local agents over a wide territory. They have been bringing their agents here to look over the country that they may work intelligently. The last lot of agents has just returned home after spending several days here. The work now on in the Carlsbad project will be of benefit to the entire state as New Mexico is getting much publicity of the right kind through the Carlsbad organization and the Farmers Irrigated Land company.

Five cars of phosphate fertilizers have just been received in the Carlsbad project. The farmers are getting on a business basis and aim to make the land produce the largest returns possible. By experiments extending over a number of years, they have learned that the application of phosphate increases the yield very materially and from now on fertilizers will be used extensively. About three hundred pounds are applied to the acre on alfalfa at a cost of about three dollars, producing about two tons increase in hay.

On the farms in the Carlsbad project are going on much permanent improvement this year. Heretofore the farmers have used wooden gates in distributing the water over the farms. These were never satisfactory, causing much annoyance during the busy season. This winter concrete structures have been installed on many farms. The new gates are built to stay and are equal to the gates used by the government. The ditches are being put in first class order and made strong enough to carry the water safely. While land was cheap, little attention was paid to ditches and an enormous waste of water was the result. The business farmer sees the necessity of saving in water and the labor required in irrigating his land. The increase in land value is also making the farmers clean up and take into use waste corners that heretofore have run to weeds.

ONE IMPORTANT PIECE OF LEGISLATION

PASSED BY CONGRESS THAT EXPIRED MARCH 4 HAD TO DO WITH THE VALUATION OF RAILROADS, THOSE COMPANIES OFFERING NO OPPOSITION.

BY GILSON GARDNER.

Washington, D. C., March 15.—The most important piece of legislation passed by the congress which came to an end March 4 was that providing for a valuation of all railway properties of the United States. This is known generally as the "physical valuation" bill, but the bill, in fact, provides for a general valuation of the roads. The work is to begin at once and half a million dollars has been appropriated for the purpose.

The remarkable thing about this bill is the fact that it became law without opposition from the railroads. The railroads want this valuation to be made. They expect the result to be bracing to their credit. They need money for betterments and they say they expect to make a showing as to the actual value and the earning value of their properties which will warrant the issue of several hundred million dollars worth of additional stocks and bonds.

Mr. L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson Railway company, said to the committee when the bill was under consideration: "The railroads of this country, it is pretty generally conceded, will be called upon to raise from seven hundred and fifty to one thousand dollars annually for the expansion of their properties to take care of the business of the country. Credit is a very sensitive plant. I am not a very old man, but I can remember when the bonds and the notes—the demand notes of the United States—sold at less than 40 cents on the dollar, measured in gold, and it is quite possible that the credit of the roads might be so shaken as to amount to a public calamity. Therefore, what I think is of great importance is that in handling this question the Interstate Commerce Commission be furnished with a suitable instrument for dealing with it."

Prominent railroad officials value the properties in the United States at fifteen billion dollars. Mr. Frank Trumbull, representing the Board of Directors of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, told the same congressional committee that "the railroads of this country have a book value of fourteen or fifteen billion dollars—which far exceeds the properties of Great Britain, Germany or France."

Mr. Trumbull appeared before the committee favoring the valuation bill and merely asked that competent men be secured to make the valuation. Continuing as to the value of the roads, Mr. Trumbull said: "The railroads have cost fourteen billion dollars and the railroad men have raised this by private credit and not by government aid. We are under the necessity of maintaining credit on fourteen billion dollars of property and if this valuation work is poorly done or inefficiently done you may injure the credit of the greatest property in the world. That fact is the crux of the whole problem—maintaining our credit."

Mr. Frederick A. Delano, president of the Wabash Railroad, told the committee: "The only benefit that the railroads expect to get out of it is in allaying the feeling that seems to be so general that railway property is very much over-valued. Railway men do not think that is so. They feel perfectly confident that a fair valuation will show that it is not so. But we do not want to spend our money without results. We want to see our money spent and the government's money spent in a way that will show the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth."

The law provides that the railway valuation shall discover (1) original cost to date; (2) cost of reproduction new; (3) cost of reproduction less depreciation; (4) other values and elements of value—that is, intangible values.

Under one section of the law the commission must find the value of terminals and other property not strictly railroad property, such as hotels, restaurants, boot-black stands, forests, lands, and speculative investments. In learning the value of terminals, including terminal sites, the commission is ordered to get the value as of the time the terminal was dedicated to railroad use, and then separately, and later to consider the value which such land or improvements may have acquired as a result of the access of population and the growth of business. The commission is ordered to go into the history of early railroad grants and find how much the railroads paid for certain properties and privileges; also how much was given to the railroads in the way of bounties and subsidies by cities, states and nation.

The law requires that the work begin within sixty days after the passage of the act and that the commission report progress to every session of congress. The work is to be under the general direction of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The facts collected by this inquiry are intended to furnish a basis for arriving at a just schedule of rates. The Interstate Commerce Commission will presumably use it in making their rate orders. It will also be a basis for arriving at a fair tax valuation of railroad properties in the various states. The railroads regard this feature as favorable, hoping that any scaling down of values will scale down their taxes. On the other hand, any scaling up of values will justify a higher level of freight rates.

The railroads anticipate that the final decision in all these matters will lie in the courts and that the data collected by this valuation will

POLICEMEN GLAD THEY DIDN'T HIT

St. Louis, March 15.—Two 15-year-old boys, four loaves of bread, two police sergeants and two patrolmen formed a combination that gave residents between Fifteenth, Twelfth, Market and Chestnut streets, a fair imitation of a small-sized Mexican revolution shortly before daylight. After the fusillade the four police officers fanned themselves with their caps and were thankful their bullets all had gone wild.

Sergeants John Flanagan and Louis Lange, Central District, met at the foot of an alley on Fifteenth, between Chestnut and Pine streets. They were chatting over the night's work when suddenly two figures darted east into the mouth of the alley across the street.

Sergeant Lange took the alley and Sergeant Flanagan ran to Chestnut street and thence east. Sergeant Lange fired two shots at the figures as they ran down the alley. When Sergeant Flanagan reached Fourteenth street the two were just cutting across the street out of the alley. He fired twice. The shots attracted Patrolman Barry and Mitchell from Twelfth and Chestnut streets. They ran west. The two figures emerged on Thirteenth street, and, seeing the patrolmen running towards them, doubled back into an alley between Market and Chestnut streets. Mitchell and Barry began shooting.

Residents of the several blocks were aroused, and, with heads out of windows, wondered why all the "canonading."

The two sergeants entered the alley from the west on Fourteenth street and the two officers from the east at Thirteenth street. The fugitives were hemmed in. The police commenced a search of the dark corners of the alley. About half way they saw a form lying face downward alongside a sled. They stood the form on its feet.

"Boo-hoo, please don't shoot no more." It was a boy, shaking from head to foot. Noticing a gate near the shed open the officers went in the yard and there found the other lad and four loaves of bread.

The boys, taken to Central Station registered as George Webb, 2305 Biddle street and Henry Schaeffer, 2316 Franklin avenue. They said they had left their homes, and being hungry, had picked the lock on a bread box in front of the grocery of Thomas Fitzgibbons, 121 North Fifteenth street.

Find Your Easter Bonnet Here

BY MAYBELLE MORTIMER.

Paris, March 15.—I think the greatest difference between the American and Parisienne is in the way she wears her hat. Even the little mid-dnette, the youngest of the young-est of the apprentice girls over here, always has her hair dressed in the best possible way to show off her head gear. And that head gear is always placed at exactly the proper angle to make it look its smartest.

Rue de la Paix the other day, and I told him to sketch only the hats on the heads of working girls. Here they are—for you to look at. I do not believe that one of them cost more than 20 francs, which is about $4 in United States coin and one or two of them I know could be purchased for 15 francs.

One stunning looking blonde girl wore a boat shaped hat of brown hemp turned up abruptly all the way around. Higher in the back than in the front.

The under brim was lined with brown velvet and the only trimming was brown coque feathers hanging over the back.

Another "enle" creation was a deep blue hemp with a soft brim covered with Bulgarian ribbon, and two Num-dle quills of bright green at the side.

A hat very much in the shape of an old fashioned walking hat was faced on the under brim with black velvet and black and white broadcated ribbon.

with two black Numdle quills directly in front.

Numdle quills are the most popular of any feather trimming in Paris just at present.

Hats with no brim at all, settled down close over the head, have a band of velvet near the bottom and a stiff bow of malfine at the sides. You see many of them on young girls.

We are going to see a good many peacock feathers used as brilliant combinations of green and blue are exceedingly prevalent at present. Of course the superstitious girl won't wear them.

An Oriental turban of blue swathed with bright green crepe has two peacock feathers in the front of it for ornamentation, and the red-headed girl who wore it looked splendid.

Remember, that the more eccentricity you show in the colors of your hat trimming and the angle at which you put it on, the more stylish will be your Easter millinery this year!

Eccentricity is the decree of the Rue de la Paix!

SOCIETY

SOCIAL CALENDAR.

(Editors Note—Notices for this calendar should arrive at the office of the New Mexican not later than Friday evening.)

March 23—Sunday—"Easter."
March 25—Tuesday—Santa Fe Woman's Club have "Domestic Science Day."

CARD PARTY.

Mrs. J. P. Dumbaugh entertained at bridge yesterday afternoon. There were three tables and the card party was much enjoyed.

ENTERTAINED.

Mrs. J. B. McManus entertained at bridge last night. The affair was one of a series which Mrs. McManus has been giving.

DINNER PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. William Arrighi entertained at dinner Sunday in honor of their little daughter, Corinne, who celebrated her first birthday anniversary. Many gifts were presented the birthday-celebrant with cards attached bearing the words: "Wishing you many more," and "best wishes."

BRIDGE PARTY.

Mrs. Arthur Seligman, wife of former Mayor Seligman, of Santa Fe, entertained at bridge Thursday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Amado Chaves. There were four tables. The party was a pronounced success. Mrs. Chaves is quite popular in social circles here.

INFORMAL TEA.

Mrs. James Seligman gave an informal tea Tuesday afternoon in honor of her guest, Mrs. Amado Chaves, of Albuquerque. A number of friends attended the affair which was much enjoyed.

ENTERTAINS.

Mrs. James A. French, wife of the state engineer, is giving a bridge party this afternoon at her home on Lincoln avenue. The house is prettily decorated in a green color scheme—a St. Patrick day green. There are four tables. The affair will doubtless prove enjoyable—even without prizes.

FIFTEEN CLUB.

Fifteen Club—The Fifteen Club met Friday with Mrs. Laughlin. Mrs. Falen presided. The program consisted of quotations; a paper by Mrs. Boyle, entitled "How to Keep Young," and a reading by Mrs. Falen on "The Autobiography of an Elderly Woman." "Current Events" closed the program. The paper by Mrs. Boyle and the reading by Mrs. Falen were thoroughly enjoyed.

date. They will be married April 10, so please take note. I guessed right—once.

"To put the interesting news for mally: Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hessel-den announce the engagement of their daughter, Lillian Marie, to Mr. Albert Harrison Clancy of Santa Fe.

"Their wedding will interest Albuquerque and Santa Fe society circles alike. The bride-elect is popular here, and the prospective groom is social, political and professional circles at the capital. Both have lots of friends who will rejoice exceedingly in the announcement of the forthcoming marriage. Miss Hessel-den is a charming girl, talented in a musical way, and identified with the social activities of the young society set in this city. Mr. Clancy is the nephew of Attorney General Frank Clancy.

"The wedding will occur in this city and the young couple will make their home at Santa Fe."

FAREWELL RECEPTION.

The wives of the legislators gave a farewell reception Wednesday afternoon at St. Vincent's sanitarium to the ladies who had entertained them during their sojourn in Santa Fe. In spite of the inclement weather more than fifty ladies wearing most attractive gowns attended the function which was held in the reception hall of the sanitarium. The hall as well as the tea room were decorated in green and yellow. Mrs. Lorin C. Collins and Mrs. Howell Earnest presided at the tea table. Miss Ruth Laughlin and Miss Margaret Parker assisted. A string orchestra discoursed pleasing music during the affair. The ladies in the receiving line were Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Page, Mrs. Doepp, Mrs. Rodgers, Mrs. Downs, and Mrs. Hugu Gage. The reception was afterward declared one of the most delightful held during the session of the legislature this year.

ENGAGEMENT.

Says the Albuquerque Journal: "Lillian Hessel-den and Albert Clancy have finally agreed to announce their engagement. I foretold their marriage some weeks ago, and as luck would have it, hit on the right date."

THE HAT OF THE MOMENT!

BY MAYBELLE MORTIMER.

Paris, March 15.—Here is a photograph of the hat of the moment in Paris. It is made of hemp in any color and trimmed with Bulgarian ribbon. This ribbon is formed into a long looped bow extending far out in the back.

This simple hat will be worn this summer instead of the sailor, which Americans have been always loath to give up. It will be exceedingly becoming to any matron and any maid—more than can always be said of the sailor!

SAYS CHURCHES ARE BELOW PAR

Lansing, Mich., March 15.—B. F. Daniels, president of the City National bank, of Lansing, started the ministers of this city, when he was called in to address their union, by declaring that the church is 100 per cent below par.

"Everything else has undergone a change," said the banker, "but the church has stood still.

"The average church has a steeple on top, is open five hours a week, and closed 45.

"Churches should have a downtown center, with someone in charge who has enough tact to refrain from trying to start a Bible class the first day.

"If men of every line of industry and research had shown the same indifference or apathy to progress as the Protestant church, we would still be traveling in stage coaches and riding on canal boats."

MANY A SUFFERING WOMAN

Drags herself painfully through her daily tasks suffering from backache, headache, nervousness and loss of sleep, not knowing her ills are due to kidney and bladder troubles. SALEM MOB IS DISPERSED.

Salem, Ill., March 15.—The mob that last night threatened to storm the county jail and lynch Frank Sullivan, who is charged with attacking Dorothy Rolt, was entirely dispersed today. The four companies of the jail guard are still on duty and there seems no disposition on the part of any one to start trouble.

30,000 VOICES.

Thirty thousand voices—What a grand chorus! And that's the number of American men and women who are publicly praising Doan's Kidney Pills for relief from backache, kidney and bladder ills. They say it to friends. They tell it in the home papers. Santa Fe people are in this chorus. Here's a Santa Fe case.

Miss Adela Arias, 106 Griffin St., Santa Fe, N. Mex., says: "The splendid results I obtained from Doan's Kidney Pills several years ago has been permanent and for that reason, my confidence in them has increased. I suffered from a dull, heavy ache in the small of my back and was subject to headaches and dizzy spells. I always felt tired, had no ambition and was in poor health when I procured Doan's Kidney Pills. It did not take long to cure me and from that day to this, I have been free from kidney complaint. I willingly confirm the public statement I gave in January, 1907, telling of my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

FOUR GIRLS BARE LIVES OF SHAME

Buffalo, N. Y., March 15.—Evidence which the district attorney says is sensational, and which he says is sufficient to warrant the return of seven indictments, was presented to a special grand jury today by four girls under 16 years of age, in an investigation of underworld conditions in Buffalo.

Two of the girls are from respectable Buffalo families. Their names are being withheld. One is from Rochester and the fourth is from Niagara Falls. All have been living lives of shame for the last six months. The girls have been going about the city nights with men drinking in the back rooms of saloons and other places where entertainment is provided.

GAS EXPLOSION TOSSES STREET CAR FIFTY FEET.

Boston, Mass., March 15.—An explosion of gas in the underground excavation for a subway extension at Scollay square late today, tore open the surface and threw a passing street car about fifty feet. Several passengers in the car were slightly injured. Only one required medical attention.

SPORTING NEWS

"KEEP MOVING! SWEAT!" IS MCGRAW'S TRAINING TIP.

Pennant Winning Manager Doesn't Coddle Ball Players; Says Hard Work is Best Antidote for Sore Muscles.

Marlin, Texas, March 15.—"Keep-a-moving" is the standing order on the McGraw training program for the men who hope to be Giants in 1913.

"I BOIL 'EM OUT AND MAKE THEM KEEP MOVING," vouchsafes McGraw when asked to explain his system. "When the sun gets in its work and perspiration oozes without much effort, there's not much danger of injury from exertion, but the wind soon cools out the men who don't 'keep-a-moving' and so it is necessary for them to work steadily and sweat."

"I don't coddle my players. There's no sense in letting them lay off every time a muscle aches. Muscles are bound to ache when they begin to loosen. That's what muscles are for. Hard work is the best antidote for aches, and, you bet, my men get it in large doses. That's why they get right quickly and stay put."

Don't ask me how the team looks or what the chances are. It is easier to snatch a pennant on paper than on a ball lot. I have more youngsters than I had a year ago, but I can't tell what they are going to do until they are tried."

Anyone who imagines McGraw likes the game so well he will stick around until counted out has another thought to express. John J. admits that he has thought of the day when he will not be useful in his present capacity and has planned to beat the other fellow—meaning the New York club—to it, by getting out before he is retired.

"When I feel myself slipping I'll step out, but this doesn't mean I'll quit baseball. I will always have something to sell over the base ball counter."

"I can't imagine a man tiring of the game as long as he is successful. But the game can get away from even a baseball man. Take Charles Comiskey as an illustration. He stepped aside for Clarke Griffith, Jimmy Callahan and Fiedler Jones, because he probably realized he was losing his fighting spirit on the field."

"When I find myself marking time, I'll follow Comiskey's lead and quit. I have a contract with the Giants. Things may happen before 1913. The game is getting faster every day and you cannot make a connection with safety in baseball." "Was ambitious as a player, and I think my desire to make good has been my most desirable asset as a manager."

McGraw teaches his players that there is no such thing as luck and he seeks to eradicate the superstition that usually attach to a club. He believes figures tell the truth and that the times cut of ten the man with the best record is the best man. McGraw does not seek to restrict his players' conduct. He tells them at the start they are to live as they see fit and that unless they appreciate their responsibility and take care of themselves they will be the means of their own undoing.

"What I try to do is to get men big enough to realize that self-indulgence means failure sooner or later. When they realize that their life in fast company depends upon keeping in condition the men big enough for my team conduct themselves accordingly. I have no set rules for the training. I see that they work hard; I help them overcome faults. Some men require more attention than others to develop them to the highest point."

BOEHLER, BARBER LIKE CRAWFORD

E. A. BACHELOR.

Gulfport, Miss., March 15.—Wahoo Sam Crawford, the Nebraska tonsorialist, has a rival.

It leaked out today that there is another full-fledged barber on the Navin payroll in the person of George Boehler, one of the most promising of the young pitchers. Mr. Boehler is not only an expert in cutting hair, shaving and telling customers that they need a shampoo and some other hair tonic, but he also is the owner of one of the shops marked by the striped pole.

George has been plying the shears and the razor and subscribing for the Police Gazette for five years now and has become so expert at the trade that he can think of seven things that must be done to shave a man's hair before he has had him in the chair two minutes. He is one of the best barbers who ever rubbed aium in a cut. All this distinction in a commercial way has come to Boehler early for he is not yet 21 years of age. In fact, he is just two months past 20, his birthday falling on January 1. While he is away from home trying to prevent opposing batsmen from lathering the ball, his brother runs the barber shop and lathers the customers. Even in the winter months George does not work during the week, but takes a chair on Saturdays when the male population of Lawrenceburg, Ind., his home town, is getting all duded up for Sundays, by heck! The rest of the time the Tiger pitcher handles the cash register and sees to it that his helpdo not teach it bad habits.

How George ever can make a success as a barber is hard to figure out, for he is the original silent man. A customer might go to sleep in the chair while he is working on him and not be awakened by so much as a single comment on the weather, the crops or the fact that "the country is going to the dogs since them there Democrats was elected."

RECRUIT RINGER FOR BIG SIX

Pensacola, Fla., March 15.—If that fellow Wilson wasn't a southpaw one would swear on first glance it was old Christy Mathewson in the box. remarked a Nap vet from the bench at Wednesday's practice.

Lefty Wilson has the same build, even to the attractive shoulders, that Christy has. The start and finish of his delivery place him in the same positions that the majority of action pictures show Mathewson in. Wilson uncorked a slow ball Wednesday morning for a minute that looked promising, but the big fellow is spending his time getting his arm limbered up and is obeying Birney's orders to get the kinks out of his wing.

A YALE STUDENT MARRIES WAITRESS

New Haven, Conn., March 15.—Naomi Campbell, a tall, handsome brunette, who was a waitress in the old Eli luncheon room, on York street, is the bride of George Stearns, son of a wealthy manufacturer of Wyoming, Ohio, and a student at Yale. Announcement of the wedding was made by Mrs. Thomas Campbell, mother of the bride. The latter is 19 years old, and has been toasted in poetry and song by students of the university.

Inquiry at the residence of E. R. Stearns, in Wyoming, brought the answer that the family did not care to discuss the reported marriage of the son. A story current yesterday was that young Stearns and his bride had called at the parental residence and not pleased with the reception accorded them, had sought quarters elsewhere. A friend of Stearns assisted him financially. The young man secured a position and went to work. All information as to the whereabouts of the young couple was refused.

JUDGE LETS HIM CROSS HIS LEGS

New York, March 15.—Dr. Albert C. Rise, a physician of Babylon, L. I., crossed his legs, leaned forward and stuck both hands deep in his trousers pockets in truly professional style, while testifying in the supreme court as an expert. A moment later a court attendant, new to his duties and responsibilities, approached the witness and said in an undertone:

"Don't cross your legs here, sir, and keep your hands out of your pockets."

Dr. Rise straightened up. He nervously assumed a rigid conventional pose. The court noticed the doctor's chagrin and inquired:

"Officer, what was that you told the witness?"

"Why, your honor, I simply told him it was not customary in this court for a witness to cross his legs or to put his hands in his pockets," returned the attendant.

"You will pardon me if I dissent from your opinion sir," returned Justice Page. "Let the witness sit as he pleases. We want the witness in this court, if you don't mind, to make himself as comfortable as possible. There is certainly," added the court, his face broadening in a smile, "no harm in a man putting his hands in his own pockets."

Dr. Rise laughed heartily at the court's good natured orders and promptly resumed his easy attitude as he continued his testimony.

MOUSE MAKES A MEAL ON $18.00

Milwaukee, March 15.—If you hear a mouse at night making an undue noise in the vicinity of where you keep your valuables and you think you detect a gnawing of paper, get up and get your shotgun and lay for the little miscreant. This is the advice that C. B. Sammons, a roomer at a south side home, is giving. Sammons lost just $18 because he did not investigate such a condition.

The mouse, it was discovered, had chewed $18 in bills into little bits. Sammons will try to get back the money from Washington, where he has sent the result of the mouse's work. It is probable that he will not establish his claim successfully, for the currency is gnawed into such small bits that the denomination number is scarcely discernable.

SUFFRAGET MARCHER USED CLUB, SHE SAYS.

they believed the police had done all in their power to control the crowd. Admiral George W. Baird, retired, defended the conduct of the police, declaring that from the point at which he saw the parade they did all that could be expected.

A dramatic recital of the progress of the head of the parade through Pennsylvania avenue was given by Mrs. Richard Coke Burleson, the grand marshal, who rode on horseback. She said that for a block after the parade began the way was clear. "Suddenly I found myself in the midst of this howling mob," she continued, "there did not seem to be a policeman anywhere. The automobile platform and the mounted police seemed to have disappeared."

"I was alone, unprotected and terrified. The crowd surged all about me and between me and Miss Millholland, who rode some distance to the right. I could see her surrounded by the crowd. She was alone; not a policeman was near her. She tried to force her horse through the crowd. I was afraid the crowd would put her to the ground."

A squad of police in the hearing room, marched in review before Mrs. Burleson that she might attempt to identify a policeman, she said, had been insolent to her. She was unable to find the man.

Superb Chocolates

All other chocolates seem just ordinary after you once try Huyler's. They are just as pure and wholesome as they are delicious. We secured the agency for the Huyler line knowing there is nothing finer, and because we know too that people will unconsciously judge the value of our stock by the individual lines we carry. We will be glad to have you judge this confectionery as soon as convenient. In packages from 10c. up.

GREEKS RESENT CLAIMS MADE BY BULGARIANS.

Athens, Greece, March 15.—Strong feeling against the Bulgarians is spreading with great rapidity among the Greek population. Only the strong hand of the government prevents a violent outbreak.

The irritation of the Greeks arises from the Bulgarian claim to great stretches of erstwhile Turkish territory which Greece considers hers by right of conquest. The editor of the newspaper, Chronos, was sentenced today to a week's imprisonment for editorially denouncing Bulgarian avarice. Proceedings have been begun against several other persons for similar offenses.

THIRD DARROW TRIAL STARTS ON MARCH 31.

Los Angeles, Calif., March 15.—District Attorney John D. Fredericks said last night that Clarence S. Darrow's third trial on a charge of jury bribing in connection with the McNamara dynamite case would be begun March 31, the date set by Superior Judge W. M. Conley, who presided at the second trial. This statement was brought forth by published reports that Captain Fredericks would move for the dismissal of the indictment against Darrow.

RECOGNITION OF PRESIDENT HUERTA STRONGLY URGED

Washington, D. C., March 15.—Immediate recognition of the Huerta government in Mexico was urged on Secretary Bryan today by Major Cassius Gillette, U. S. A., retired, interested in mining properties in the republic of Mexico.

"The sooner it is recognized by the United States the more quickly will the government be able to get money and suppress the little revolution in the outlying states," said he.

Major Gillette called at the White House but did not see President Wilson. He would not discuss Mr. Bryan's view of recognition.

Government would send an expedition again to the Arctic to see if use could be made of the large tracts of unexplored territory there.

He thought that Raold Amundsen, who expects to explore the Arctic in Fram, would take "a big chance" if he allowed his ship to be frozen in the ice and drift. It might remain frozen, he said, for four or five years and drift any where.

GOVERNMENT APPEALS IN PIPE LINE CASE.

Washington, D. C., March 15.—The government today appealed to the supreme court from the decision of the commerce court in the Oil Pipe Line cases.

Because of their importance, a motion will be filed on Monday to advance the cases so that they can be heard at this session of the court.

The commerce court granted an injunction setting aside the Interstate Commerce Commission order to compel the pipe line to assume the obligations of common carriers.

Omaha, Neb., March 15.—Ernest Nolan, formerly a city detective of Memphis, Tenn., was today indicted by the federal grand jury, charged with attempting to rescue his brother, Diggs Nolan, from United States officers. Diggs Nolan was brought to Omaha from Atlanta, Ga., and convicted of fraudulent use of the mails. Ernest is charged with attempting to smuggle saws and other jail breaking tools to his brother while the latter was in jail here.

NEW COUNTY BILLS IN COLORADO DEFEATED.

Denver, Colo., March 15.—The house today killed the bills creating Sunshine and Divide counties, upon the adoption of an adverse committee report.

The house passed on second reading the Skinner bill prohibiting the publication of anonymous communications by newspapers, and making editors responsible for everything printed.

The senate in committee of the whole killed the Tierney single tax bill, postponing the final vote until Monday.

Senator J. T. Joyce introduced a resolution for the submission of a constitutional amendment authorizing $1,000,000 bond issue, the proceeds to be used in constructing buildings at the state institutions.

The house refused to concur in the senate amendments to the game law and the senate asked that the bill be sent to conference, appointing Senators Garman and Stephan as conferees.

REAR ADMIRAL MAY HAVE TAKEN POISON.

Boston, Mass., March 15.—Dr. Paul P. Dessez, of the Charlestown navy yard, has asked Medical Examiner Csgood, of Rockland, for full particulars regarding the death of Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton. Dr. Dessez said that his findings would be submitted to the navy department.

Rear Admiral Eaton was commandant of the Charlestown navy yard at the time of his retirement five years ago.

In a statement last night, Mrs. Ralph P. Redlekeys, step-daughter of the Rear Admiral Eaton, is quoted as declaring her belief that "if the rear admiral died an unnatural death he poisoned himself." She said he was fond of experimenting with drugs and was a student of their physiological effect. She said also that he had stomach trouble for years for which he took medicine.

DISAGREEMENT IN HYDE CASE PROBABLE.

Kansas City, March 15.—Disagreement loomed in the Hyde murder trial when the jury reported at 10:15 this morning that there was little chance of reaching a verdict. "I don't see any possible chance for us to reach a verdict," E. F. Wirth, the foreman, told the court. Judge Porterfield immediately sent the jurors back for further deliberation.

Later Judge Porterfield sent a marshal into the jury room to take the jurors to luncheon. The foreman said the jury would like five minutes more to consider a verdict. At the end of that time Judge Porterfield ordered the jury to luncheon. The fact that the jurors had asked for such a short time to further consider led to the belief that they are about to agree to a verdict.

WORTHY OF COMMENDATION

It is a question of men rather than a question of politics, when the action of public officials is concerned.

Whatever may be the party affiliations of a man in public office they should be forgotten in reviewing his actions and utterances, and the man alone should be considered.

It is this view we take of the position assumed by Governor McDonald during the past sixty days.

He has been the people's not the party's governor.

A strong partisan, long an active member of the Democratic party and a participant in all party councils, he has forgotten all else in his effort to take care of those things which have directly affected the welfare and the condition of the people of the state.

Governor McDonald is, today, the most conspicuous figure in New Mexico, and the prominence he holds has been achieved by attention to his public duties and the courage to do what he believed to be right.

He has won the confidence and respect of the people of New Mexico, and deserves the commendation of the press of the state, so much of it that is not bound by the collar of party, and surrounded by influences that control.

The vetoes sent to the legislature by Governor McDonald, and they have been more numerous than usual, have been clear and unflinching in the statement of reasons for a refusal to sign, but they will commend themselves to every reader who regards them from an unbiased and non-political standpoint.

The salary bills vetoed by the governor have been recognized as political measures. They were given far more time than they deserved, as bills with reasonable salaries, such as the average man in responsible position receives could have been drafted and passed in a reasonable time, had no other influences been brought to bear, other than those that should control a legislator, using his own brain and working for the best interests of the state.

From reading the reports of the present session, one would be led to the belief that the only bill of importance before this session was the bill for salaries of county officials.

They were important bills, without doubt. These officials are entitled to pay for their services, but let the responsibility rest where it should rest, and that is, on the shoulders of the members of the legislature, whose action is not to be commended by the voters of New Mexico.

The people are all in favor of reasonable compensation, but they want bills that are based on justice rather than politics.

The action of Governor McDonald in refusing to attach his signature to the measures that have other intent than the public good, deserves only commendation from all the citizens of the state.

THE FEDERAL BUILDING

The glad news is confirmed that our new federal building is a certainty and that the bill passed congress in its closing hours.

The citizens of the old city extend congratulations to Senator Catron and those who aided in the passage of this amendment, and accept with thanks.

The question of a site comes next and that is a matter of prime importance to the city. There will be diverse opinions. Personal interest will enter in and all sorts of arguments will be advanced for one and another location; but can we not forget all else in this matter except that which will be best for the city?

We must not forget that this building will be erected for all time. Some of us will not be here to witness its completion, and we are building for the future as well as for the present.

We have been long accustomed to going off in an out-of-the-way place for our post office building and a central location will be a strong consideration with us all. Let the matter be looked at from the standpoint of the good of the city and the convenience of our citizens.

Here is a question for the chamber of commerce.

A CHEAP FARCE

The curtain was rung down at noon yesterday on what was really a great legislative farce as even New Mexico ever witnessed. If there is a member of either body who can tell what has been done in the past three days, that man does not need to be a member of the legislature, but can procure a position as statistician or superintendent in any big corporation in the world.

He is a wonder, a prodigy, a miracle, and is wasting his talents on such cheap procedure as was carried out in the closing hours of the session just passed.

We want to urge upon the voters of this state to make note of the performances of Thursday night and the night before.

Bills were passed, or the record at least, will say they did, that were not read, and without any possible chance being given to know their contents.

Some laws will be in the statute books, unless Governor McDonald intervenes, that some members, at least, will declare they never heard of.

The legislature has made a contemptible farce of a sacred public duty.

Let the people of the state remember these proceedings when next they vote for members of the legislature.

THERE'S A REMEDY

There is one remedy for conditions such as existed during the session of the legislature just closed, and it lies in the hands of the voters of the state. The remedy lies in the selection of men to act as members of the legislature; men who are interested in the progress of New Mexico, and who will act on their own knowledge of affairs and use their own judgment, instead of being dictated to and supervised by others who are not even members, and who are interested only in personal matters, affecting them directly or indirectly, and the effect of any certain measure on the political party with which they are allied.

This opportunity to make the change will be given at the election next year, and if the citizens of New Mexico fail to take advantage of the lesson that has been so strongly impressed upon them, then the fault is wholly with the people themselves.

A girl in New York has declared that she cannot possibly live on $20.00 a year. Poor thing! Her testimony would have been valuable before the investigating committee, who had the working girl problem before them. That New York girl must have all the eggs she wants, and meat every meal.

It is said that President Wilson has declared his intention of spending a portion of each day at the sessions of congress. Evidently the new president is expecting to have more time to waste than most of our presidents have had.

Ex-President Taft did not take the portrait of Roosevelt away with him when he left the white house. It would not add to the peace and quietude of that private life upon which our ex-president has entered.

The exhibition shown at the capital Wednesday and Thursday nights, misnamed "legislating," ought to be a great lesson to the people of New Mexico, to base future action upon.

That pre-inauguration "open door" policy announced by Woodrow Wilson, seems to have been changed, at least as far as office seekers are concerned.

REMARKS FROM THE SIDE LINE

The senate is adjourned sine die.

Arkansas now has two claimants for the office of governor. Arkansas is not in northern Mexico.

The Old Guard may now return home and say the governor did it. The people are for the governor.

County officials who looked to the Old Guard for salaries, might do well to sit down and take a long think.

Apparently the presiding officer of the senate didn't need a clock to know when the hour to adjourn sine die had arrived.

The legislature did well to make adequate appropriations for the state penitentiary. It is an important institution.

The Aztec Democrat terms the recent salaries bill for county officers as "something of an outrage." The term is good.

The Servians have begun killing helpless peasants. After all, the terrible Turk may not suffer by comparison when all is told.

Senator La Follette was a White House caller last evening. It must seem strange for La Follette to visit the White House, again.

President Wilson will pay for the state tickets, admission to baseball games and will not retain the U. S. S. yacht for his personal use. This is unbearable.

President Wilson was at his desk before nine o'clock in the morning. The president apparently does not belong to the ancient order of office holders.

Two trusted bank clerks in San Francisco have been found short in their accounts. Trusted bank clerks sometimes are as dangerous as unloaded guns.

Casimiro Barcia obtained his seat in the Colorado legislature by fraud according to the majority report of the investigation committee at Denver. But Casimiro is still a member of the legislature.

The militant suffragettes have adopted a new system. They are now cluttering the names on residences in London. The suffragettes are daily causing people to wonder whether after all, women are entitled to votes.

According to the Deming Headlight, a saloon row in that town started over a friendly debate on the subject: "Resolved, That I can lick any man in the house." After the debate, the Headlight adds, there were no casualties and no one had lost his temper. Such is brotherly love.

AS THE BYSTANDER SEES IT

THE LOGICAL LOCATION. As the bystander sees it, the one logical location for the new federal building is the corner of Washington and Lower Palace avenues.

The school board has the power of disposition as it is school property, and as I understand it, several members of the school board favor this site and will dispose of it to the government.

If they do not, then it should be made an issue at the election for school board members next month.

This site has been surveyed and marked off and the specifications regarding it are filed with the postmaster general.

This site is so central, so beautifully located, so roomy that it stands alone, and unobstructed on all sides. It seems like an ideal location and we are fortunate in having so perfect a site to offer Uncle Sam for this important service.

Another thing is worthy of consideration by the school board and that is, that the use of this site by a fine federal building will enhance the value of other school property in the city.

Immediately after the passage of the bill the postmaster general's office took the matter up and requested Postmaster Pfeuger to prepare data and statistics regarding the best site locations. This, Mr. Pfeuger is now doing, and he will be pleased to receive any suggestions that our citizens may wish to present.

These data will be sent on at once, as the Washington department will take the matter up without delay, and a site will be chosen very soon.

This is so distinctly a public matter, so vitally connected with the city's future and attraction that every organization here and every citizen should take an active and earnest position regarding it.

It is a big thing for Santa Fe. It is not anything that private interests should invade or in which personal desires should be recognized. It is too important a matter. Let us have the best available site that can be selected, and our citizens should take hold of the matter speedily.

FIX THIS.

"The owner of the building recently occupied as an office by a livery business on upper San Francisco street, with the 'Santa Fe Livery' sign dangling from the post to which it is attached, may become any moment the subject of a damage claim, unless the danger caused by that sign is remedied. The appearance may help the scheme of 'New-Old Santa Fe,' yet it is connected with great danger."

The above was addressed to the By-stander by one of Santa Fe's old residents and it is good stuff from the standpoint of better conditions.

There is an old saying, which our grandmothers instilled into our memory when we were kids. It ran thus: "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

It is true, isn't it? And sometimes the ounce of prevention is so inexpensive and the pound of cure costs like fury.

This might be true of the dangling sign on San Francisco street. As the old resident said there might be a civil damage suit in it. There are a lot of things that our grandmothers told us that were true and a lot of things they did to us that we didn't like and a good many things they fed us, by holding our nose, that we can taste yet, but which, horrid tasting as they were, that were good for our system.

I remember that doorknob, don't you? The younger generation never tasted it, but we gray-haired fellows, we have. I did not dislike the taste of "sassafras tea" so much, and slippery elm was bulky. But castor oil! Jimmy Christmas, wasn't that, and isn't it still, the limit?

The sayings of grandmother's day, brought to mind by the dangling sign, bring with them these other thoughts, too, and we cannot fail to admit, if we are honest with ourselves, that both the admonitions and the herb concoctions did us good.

It is not always the best tasting and the most pleasant things that do us the most good, I have learned, and I guess we need "the bitter with the sweet." But this is all a digression from the San Francisco street sign.

FIX IT.

TOO BAD, WASN'T IT?

"In state department circles it was said today that Secretary of State Bryan signed unknowingly the telegram to Ambassador Wilson at Mexico City congratulating him upon his conduct in the recent troublesome times in the neighboring republic."

The above quotation is taken from the news notes of an eastern daily.

Wasn't it a shame for a Democratic secretary of state to inadvertently compliment a Republican ambassador?

As I read the above I thought, "Talk of peanut politics, if that is not about the limit of it."

The New Mexico legislature could not get any farther than that, and we have some of us thought they had about reached the end of the line in playing politics.

We are surely a narrow people if we cannot recognize good service in a public official just because he belongs to an opposing political party from the one with which we are allied.

At all events, I am inclined to think that, if William J. Bryan, American secretary of state sent a congratulatory message to Ambassador Wilson, he knew what he was doing.

If he did not, he is not fit for the position which he occupies, and only

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONERS.

MISS AURORA KEEN SABB ANSWERS INQUIRERS

(By Charles S. Rawles.)

Dear Miss Sabe: I have been troubled with a peculiar skin disease; that is, I feel as if I would fly out of my skin sometimes. Can you suggest an oil that would relieve it?

MAJE.

MAJE: Use the following ingredients: One quart of petroleum, one vote for Fall, one common sized, day-message telegraph blank, a typewriting machine and $100. Mix well and take regularly for 60 days. Actor's money or children's play money will do, as a real $100 is only a bluff anyway.

Dear Miss Sabe: I am engaged to a nice little majority, called Two. I am afraid since I have been at the capital and so long away from him that he will grow inconstant. Can you advise?

BACKHOLT.

Backholt: Two is such a small fellow I fear you can never depend on him, especially if you tell him what you have done since you have been here.

Miss Sabe: I do not understand why my wit is not appreciated. I gave the house two bills of real humor and the legislative expense fund has had a bad cramp.

YOUNG MAN.

Mr. Young Man: Never try to be funny at the expense of the people you serve. I saw the two bills. Their ingredients could never produce mirth, any more than an almanac joke of the vintage of 1855.

Miss Aurora Keen Sabe: Please tell us what is good to prevent the vetoes. I and my standpats came up here to help along legislation that would make us solid with our benchmen and workers. We fed the body politic's system through the legislative mouth with two nice high salary bills so that we could keep the office holders where they would ante up when the elephant needed hay. Both bills caused that awful affliction, the vetoes. We lashed hard to administer a two third antidote but couldn't get it in time, and the patient nearly succumbed. Yours in distress,

BUNCOMBE, SWING-HER & SQUEEZE.

Buncombe, Swing-her & Squeeze: I fear you are "too far from our rails" to do much good. The vetoes in this state have been quite prevalent recently. The ailment is harmless, however, and rather a benefit to the body politic's system once in a while. Trying to feed it a two thirds will not cure it. The best way to avoid the vetoes is to keep the system clean. Don't stuff it with indigestible foods such as high salary bills, special privilege legislation, and so forth that are not readily assimilated. Give it plenty of exercise along economical, up-to-date, progressive lines. I fear you gentlemen are behind the times as epicureans, or administrators of physical culture.

Miss Sabe: I am a statesman of great wait. I have bridged many a chasm by waiting, and I am waiting for my bridges. I had a little remedy that I wanted the body politic to try that would have rendered it immune to the baleful influences of boxing. I tried to get the legislature to take it, but it boxed the boxing bill. What can you suggest for me to do?

CHRISSY.

Dear Chissy: We advise you to study something else besides materia medica. When the body politic is suffering from appendicitis don't try to offer a cure for an ingrowing toe nail.

Miss Sabe: Please tell me what to do to keep in line with my party. I wanted to vote with it but the standard siren kept calling me the other way.

DOPE.

Dope: Attend the Roswell Military school and learn to march and keep step.

Miss Aurora Keen Sabe: Everything is going so entirely different with me and the Gop that we don't know what to do. In the good old days a few of us used to rule the state, corrupt the ballot, vote the sheep, make the laws for ourselves and not for the people. At this last session of the legislature we only succeeded in killing a traveling library bill, so that folks couldn't get their eyes any wider open, killing an Australian ballot so that the voter couldn't have the right to vote privately and uninfluenced, and as a last resource we abolished the mounted police so that we might make surer of holding dishonest elections. But we are desperate. What can we do? We can't handle and bullyrag the legislature as we used to, we have lost the governorship and the people have actually dared elect a fearless, honest, wideawake, up-to-date governor.

What can we do? Santa Fe has a militant progressive paper and is all the time attacking us. We thought of writing Mister Taft but he ain't president any more.

THE 4088.

The Boss: Well, you are in a bad fix. You might have the capital moved. The people would stand for it about as much as they would for changing the name of the state. Guess you will have to step down and out and go to work for a living.

the most bigoted people will claim that Mr. Bryan is not large enough in every way to fill the exalted office to which he has been appointed.

The only reason I am calling attention to this matter is because I was struck with the utter littleness of the item telling how Mr. Bryan was "duped."

The real fact is that we are running too much to politics in our great, splendid nation and have grown to ascribe every act of a public man to political influences, taking away every patriotic motive and giving no credit to him of trying to do the square thing.

I am willing to admit that politics form a very powerful incentive to public action. I do not believe much else was considered in the legislative session just closed and that is one reason for the extraordinary poor service rendered the state. I am only speaking as a bystander, and not as a politician or an official, for I am neither one, but I cannot help feeling that if we would dilute a little the acid of our political feeling we would get a little more benefit from the process, as a people.
