All New Mexico Here to Welcome President

CHANGE IN SCHEDULE CAUSES KEEN DISAPPOINTMENT IN ALBUQUERQUE

LATEST ARRANGEMENTS BRING PRESIDENT HERE AT FOUR O'CLOCK

New Mexico Reception Committee to Greet President at Arizona Line and Strong Effort Will Be Made to Bring Train in Here in Time for Carrying Out Original Program; Stop at Laguna Pueblo Responsible for Disappointment Here.

[Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal] Gallup, N. M., Oct. 14.—(9 p. m.)—President Taft's train is now scheduled to make a stop of an hour at Laguna to enable the president to witness an Indian dance by the Laguna Indians.

This step, which has only been determined on Friday, will of necessity delay the arrival of the presidential train in Albuquerque, but just how long this delay will be cannot be ascertained until tomorrow morning.

In the meantime the New Mexico reception committee, headed by Governor Curry and President Spitz of the Commercial club, is keeping the wires hot between Gallup and Winslow in an endeavor to so arrange tomorrow's itinerary that the people of Albuquerque and the visitors assembled there will not be disappointed. The committee is satisfied tonight that the president's train will reach Albuquerque within an hour of the arriving time announced by the Morning Journal on Wednesday morning, when the time of arrival was placed at 2:55 o'clock. They are very confident that President Taft when he is informed of the change of the plans for his reception and entertainment will cordially co-operate with the committee's efforts to get him into Albuquerque at the earliest possible moment. No one seems to know who arranged for the diversion at Laguna or when it was arranged. That it was an afterthought and was not considered until today was disclosed by a telegram that was delivered to Mr. Spitz at Laguna this afternoon. To say that the members of the committee were keenly disappointed must be a mild description of their feelings because they foresaw possible disappointment for the people of New Mexico who are gathered at Albuquerque to greet the president. After further telegraphic correspondence, however, they have reached the gratifying conclusion that the threatened delay in the arrival of the president will not be serious and that the president will reach Albuquerque not later than 4 o'clock.

The special train carrying the New Mexico reception committee reached Gallup at 6 o'clock sharp and is now sidetracked awaiting the coming of the presidential train, which will reach here at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

GREATEST CROWD ON RECORD WILL GREET PRESIDENT

Although the very keenest disappointment was expressed yesterday afternoon when it became known that a change had been made in the schedule of the presidential train so as to allow the president to see the Indian dance at Laguna, the prospect still is that the greatest assemblage of the people ever gathered together in New Mexico will be on the grounds around the Alvarado hotel and the Santa Fe station to greet President Taft this afternoon. The first announcement yesterday afternoon of the changed schedule was to the effect that the arriving time would be 5:05, or about the time first scheduled. Later advice, however, indicated that the train would arrive about 4 o'clock and it is hoped, from advice received from Winslow and Gallup last night, that this arriving time will be correct. In view of the change in the schedule, however, the proposed drive through the city has been abandoned. The president will speak from the platform at the north front of the Alvarado hotel immediately upon his arrival, and will go to his rooms in the hotel following the address, unless some change should be made in the schedule today which will bring him here considerably earlier than is now expected. Automobiles will be held in readiness and in case the arriving time should be advanced the drive through the city may be made as announced by the reception committee Wednesday morning, when the news came that the president had

COOK PLANTED RECORDS ON SUMMIT OF M'KINLEY

Explorer Professes Astonishment at Affidavit of Former Guide Who Declares Top Was Never Reached.

ANOTHER EXPEDITION MAY END CONTROVERSY

Story Made Public in Newspaper Owned by General Hubbard of Peary Club Suggested as Explanation of Motives of Barrill Outbreak.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] New York, Oct. 14.—The Globe this afternoon prints a copy of the affidavit made by Edwin N. Barrill, who accompanied Dr. Frederick A. Cook at the time he announced his reaching the summit of Mount McKinley. The affidavit was made before a notary public at Tacoma, Wash., October 4, and has just been received in New York.

Barrill's affidavit states in effect that he was the only person present with Dr. Cook on the date when he claims to have reached the summit of Mount McKinley, that they did not, in fact, reach the summit and the nearest point to the summit reached was at least fourteen miles distant from the summit of that mountain, the elevation at no time exceeding 10,000 feet.

The affidavit also brings into question a number of the photographs which Dr. Cook has given as representing the summit and other high altitudes of Mount McKinley.

COOK MAINTAINS FEAT WAS GENUINE ACHIEVEMENT

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Expressing astonishment at the statement of Edwin N. Barrill, Dr. Cook today maintained that he had ascended to the summit of Mount McKinley and said further that if any expedition will follow the route he took they will find the records deposited at the summit of the mountain.

Referring to Barrill's sworn statement Dr. Cook said: "I cannot really understand why Barrill should have made such a statement as the newspaper reproduced if he were acting under normal motives. I must say that it surprises me. We were always in the friendly terms, until I knew of the conditions, under which this alleged affidavit was made. I will make no specific reply to it. My account of the trip has been published. For the present it is the bold statement of one man against another."

"If any expedition of experienced mountaineers will follow the route I took and will go to the top of the mountain I climbed they will find there records that I deposited on the trip. The summit of the mountain is in the manner described in my book 'To the Top of the Continent.'"

"I have always had the most complete confidence in Barrill and cannot comprehend why he should have sworn to such a statement. The fact that General Hubbard is proprietor of the 'Globe' throws a light on the affair which was not previously apparent. I shall see Barrill, I hope, when I reach New York, but I do not know when or where."

"It appears to me that there was money behind his statement. He was perhaps annoyed that he had not been paid his wages, but that was not my fault, and I remedied the matter as soon as I got back from the pole."

Dr. Cook said he would preserve his further comment until the time when he could be assured that the alleged affidavit is genuine and also as to circumstances under which it was obtained from Barrill.

Dr. Cook later said:

"I never even knew Barrill kept a diary. I never saw it, consequently I could not have asked him to alter anything whatever. The only thing I ever saw him do was to take sketches. Any statements of his affidavit that I suggested the changing of dates and altitude is a lie."

EXTRACTS FROM GUIDE'S DIARY TO DISCREDIT COOK

New York, Oct. 14.—Barrill in his statement published in the Globe this afternoon says that he was born in Buffalo in 1881 and now lives at Parkville, Mo. He says that he is the man referred to as Barrill, or Edward Barrill in Dr. Cook's book entitled 'To the Top of the Continent,' bearing upon the expedition to Mount McKinley. He details his first meeting with Dr. Cook at Missoula, where the latter was accompanied by Professor Parker of Columbia university, R. W. Porter and others.

The organization of the Mount McKinley expedition is given as consisting of Fred Prinz, a guide; Belmont Brown, an artist and naturalist of Tacoma; Walter Miller, photographer of Seattle; Samuel Beecher, who acted as cook; and Barrill. The party sailed from Seattle May 17, 1906.

Barrill recognizes that at the start of the trip he prepared to keep an exact diary.

The diary referred to by Barrill as attached to the affidavit is now in possession of the New York Globe.

DEAD ROBBER LOS ANGELES LAWYER

THIS IS BELIEF OF DETECTIVES IN CHICAGO

Man Who Committed Suicide After Holding Up Bank, Partially Identified as Member of Prominent California Family.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] Chicago, Oct. 14.—The Chicago police were satisfied tonight that the man who robbed the bank of D. M. Erskine and company at Highland Park, Ill., Wednesday and committed suicide when run down by the authorities was Lamar A. Harris, of Los Angeles, Cal.

Late tonight May Harrington, a vaudeville actress appearing here, told the policeman she met Harris in Los Angeles and that he had looked her up in Chicago a few days ago. She last saw him Friday, when she took dinner with him. She said she first met him in Los Angeles last August. When he found her here he entertained her lavishly and spent money freely. When Miss Harrington saw Harris last Friday he told her he was going away soon and probably would not see her again.

The police have been requested by relatives of Harris in Los Angeles for a full description of the body.

Miss Harrington's narrative of her meeting with Harris in Chicago was confirmed by Frank Deighton, an actor now in St. Louis, who met Harris in Los Angeles and also in Chicago last week, having been entertained by him at dinner on several occasions.

MOTHER TELEGRAMS TO HAVE BODY IDENTIFIED

Los Angeles, Oct. 14 Mrs. Will A. Harris, mother of Lamar Harris, the Los Angeles lawyer, suspected of being the man who robbed the Erskine Bank of Highland Park, Ill., yesterday and who killed himself when about to be captured, tonight telegraphed to Hollis Osborn, an attorney of Kansas City and a long time friend of Harris, to go at once to Chicago and determine if the dead man is Lamar Harris.

Tonight Mrs. Harris stated that the last word she had from her son came two weeks ago and that the letter he sent then was mailed at Chicago.

ALBUQUERQUE DAY PACKS FAIR GROUNDS WITH RECORD BREAKING THROG

BIGGEST DAY IN HISTORY OF THE FAIR ASSOCIATION

Especially Attractive Program Meets Enthusiastic Reception; Events This Afternoon Promise Repetition of Yesterday's Attendance; Management Will Keep People Advised of Movements of President's Train.

With the big grand stand packed to its capacity and with the people lined up five deep along the stretch from east to west things looked like the good old days at the Albuquerque fair grounds yesterday afternoon.

Things looked, in fact rather better than anything the old days have ever been able to show, for it was the biggest crowd in the history of the fair association having none and from the standpoint of the management it was so satisfactory that there is no fault to find, which is going some. In the whole grand stand and inside the whole enclosure there was not a single man during the afternoon. It was Albuquerque day and everybody paid. President Taft marched up and paid his half a dollar and so did Secretary McManus. A little later both of them paid their money to get into the grand stand. Absolutely the only people who got into the fair grounds free yesterday were the ticket takers and the boys who sold programs, cushions and ice cream cones. As a result it was a day which in the matter of gate receipts made the heart of the management very glad and it went a long way toward making the fair a financial success.

It was an enthusiastic crowd, ready to be amused and ready to give the joyful hand to each succeeding feature of the big program offered. From the baseball, which furnished abundant excitement to the Roman race, which was one of the best exhibitions of horsemanship ever seen here, from the Albuquerque Derby to the pushball game, it was a great program and one of which the fair management has just cause to be extremely proud.

Taken from start to finish yesterday was one of the biggest days the New Mexico fair has ever had. The big trades display parade in the morning was long enough to satisfy the most exacting and the streets all along the line of march were packed with spectators. It was a good pace, with just enough laugh in it to make it worth while. The parade was hardly finished when the program started at the fair grounds. It was an all afternoon entertainment and the shadows were falling when the people began to leave the grand stand. No one showing any disposition to leave before.

Things started down town about the time the fair grounds program closed and up to midnight last night carnival plans were packed as well as all of the down town streets. Taken as a whole it was one of the biggest days the Albuquerque fair has ever had. A day filled with rush and hurry and big crowds; a real holiday in which everybody closed up business and went out to join the merry-makers. Another such day and the fair could not help being a success financially and every other way.

According to the estimates of the fair management the street car management and every one else in a position to judge, yesterday's crowd at the fair grounds was the largest ever brought together. That it was well entertained is proven by the enthusiastic approval of the crowds at the grounds and on the streets last night. One of the big features of yesterday's program and one which will be repeated in the big program Saturday afternoon, was the fire drill by the soldiers, the cavalrymen leaping their horses over a flaming hurdle. It was a magnificent spectacle and it proves again that Uncle Sam's horsemen are the best and most daring riders in the world.

The Program for This Afternoon.

There is a mighty good prospect that this afternoon's program will be a repetition of the success scored yesterday. Although the change in the president's schedule has caused this afternoon's program to be somewhat different from the morning having been abandoned, the management will take every care to see that the crowds are kept fully informed of the movements of the president's train and announcement will be made at the stand or the time of arrival of the train in plenty of time to allow every one to get to the Alvarado grounds to join in the big reception to the president.

The program for the afternoon is one of the strongest of the week. In addition to the stunts by the cavalry and the relay racing, the 2:12 race, for which the $1,000 stake is offered, will be particularly interesting because of the fact that the Albuquerque driving club has offered a reward of $100 to any horse that will lower the track record for pacing horses, which is 2:15, made by Stranger O when that great horse was owned and raced by Joseph Barnett of Albuquerque. The offer is particularly interesting because it is likely to be claimed. There are several great horses entered in the race this afternoon, the tracks is very fast and one of the entries. Brewer's Kid holds the world's record on a half mile track and has a record of 2:07 1-4 on a mile.

The baseball game will be one of the exciting games of the series and taken as a whole the program is one which it will be hard to miss.

The Saturday program at the fair grounds promises to be even stronger than that offered yesterday afternoon. In addition to the regular features the fire stunt given yesterday afternoon by the cavalry will be repeated and the Marathon race will be pulled off. This race may attract the attention of the sporting world. Five of the Indians entered in this race have been training for months, running over mountain trails. They are the hardest runners in the world and the fastest. It is not at all impossible that the world's Marathon record may be broken on the Albuquerque track tomorrow afternoon.

An earnest effort has been made by the officers of the fair association to arrange an especially strong program for tomorrow. The great majority of the visitors who come to Albuquerque today to assist in the welcome to President Taft, will remain over until tomorrow to see the fair. To provide ample entertainment for these persons will be the ambition of those having the program in charge, and it is expected that more out of ten people will be present Saturday afternoon than any day during the week.

The affidavit then proceeds as follows:

The Affidavit.

On the evening of September 9, 1906, Dr. Cook and I started alone with the hope of exploring Mount McKinley. He informed me before starting that his purpose was to find a way for ascending the mountain as he and Professor Parker intended to climb the mountain the following year.

"As shown by my diary, we took the ice on September 9. From and including the 9th down to and including the 15th of September all writings in my diary are by me, but were made under the direction of Dr. Cook. I also changed the dates during this time under his direction. On September 12 Dr. Cook directed me to stop keeping my diary and leave the pages therein blank. I cannot now remember the exact dates of figures which I have in my diary before I was so directed to change them, but I know the elevation under what now appears September 12 was not to exceed 8,000 and I think it was 8,000 feet.

"We quit any further attempt toward ascending the mountain, September 15, and returned to the boat, a gasoline launch named Holshoy, which lay in the water at the foot of the glacier. We reached the launch September 19, having traveled 26 miles on the top of the glacier from the place we quit climbing.

On September 14, when at first camp returning from the glacier I decided and changed the entries therein from and including September 9, down and including September 12. These changes were made under the orders of Dr. Cook. From the 12th to the 14th was written at the first camp returning on the night of the 16th and from the 14th to and miles away. This drawing of Glacier Point and Mount McKinley shown in my diary on the fourth and fifth pages of the sketches therein and represents conditions as they appeared to me on the ground. Dr. Cook was by my side when I was making these sketches, using his instrument for the purpose of taking temperature, elevation, etc. We remained in the saddle after I was photographed on the point for half an hour, in which time I sketched as above stated and Dr. Cook used his instrument.

"When I came down from the point and handed the Dr. the flag in addition to what I stated above, he made other remarks and there was more or less talking done, which I do not now recall, but whether at that time and place or thereafter and between the 12th and 14th of the month when my diary was destroyed to fit the conditions in order to prove that this point was the top he stated to me as follows:

"That point would make a good top for Mount McKinley. It looks just about like the Gonsight peak would look in Mount McKinley, which we had been looking at from the saddle.

"In about half an hour after the picture was taken, we fixed up our packs and at about 10:20 or 11 o'clock on September 14 we started down and around on the place designated on exhibit O as sixth camp, the doctor saying that he wanted to go around there in order to get further upon the main glacier so as to get a good view of the northeast ridge leading up to the summit of Mount McKinley, so as to ascertain if that ridge was connected solid with the top of the mountain so that it would have an appearance similar to the description he would have to give in his writings. As the doctor had seen the mountain from all sides excepting this and this was the side where he proposed to climb that he had climbed it, he wished to know the nature of the ridge leading up to the top of the mountain so he could write about it as it appeared.

"In doing this we took in the balance of the 13th and all of the 14th and 15th of September and, at the eighth camp on September 15, Dr. Cook made his observations of the ridge. We then turned back from this camp because we had both fallen through crevasses as correctly stated in the diary and we considered it too dangerous to proceed further south with snow shoes, as the doctor had obtained a good view of the ridge, which was all he wanted.

"I was with Dr. Cook continuously every day in the time he was attempting to ascend the mountain in the year 1906, and the nearest point to the summit of Mount McKinley which we reached was at least fourteen miles from the summit, and at no time did we reach an elevation of 10,000 feet and the doctor told me when we were at the place where my picture was taken that we were not over 8,000 feet high. I neglected to state that on the 16th of September and on the evening of September 9, Dr. Cook asked me if I was willing to stay with him. I said 'yes,' when he said, 'I will see that you get $200 extra for doing so.'

"The photograph opposite page 121 in Dr. Cook's books above mentioned and named therein as the eastern cliffs of Mount McKinley are not sketches, but are a part of the peaks above mentioned and drawn by me in my diary attached hereto.

"The photograph opposite page 92 in Dr. Cook's book was taken the evening of the same day that he took me with the flag at what he claims as the top of Mount McKinley, and was taken at camp six, shown on attached exhibits C and D. The cap in this picture is noted therein to be 5,000 feet. This being so the point where my picture was taken with the flag should not exceed 7,000, as the 5,000 foot camp was established from 6 to 8 hours after my picture was so taken.

"The drawing shown opposite page 204 of Dr. Cook's book above mentioned is entirely false as we never built a snow house on the trip, although the diary as dictated by the doctor says so, nor did we shake hands or have any similar ceremonies as stated in the diary.

"The drawing shown opposite page the doctor's book is also false. We never climbed anything half as steep as there shown and never established any camp or slept as there shown.

"The photograph opposite page 226 in the doctor's book entitled 'In the silent glory and snowy wonder of the upper world, 15,000' was taken two or three hours before the taking of my picture with the flag, and was taken in the amphitheater about a mile northeasterly of the point where it was so photographed."

MEXICAN ARRESTED FOR INSULTING THE FLAG

Fellow Countryman at Roswell Causes Arrest of Pancho Gonzales for Swearing at the Stars and Stripes.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)

Roswell, N. M., Oct. 14.—Pancho Gonzales was arrested here today on a territorial warrant in which he is accused of insulting the American flag. The warrant was issued upon complaint of Castro Juarez, who alleges that Gonzales cursed and applied epithets to both the American and Mexican flags at the Mexican celebration of Mexican independence here September 15 and 16. Gonzales was arraigned in justice court this morning, pleaded not guilty and gave bond for his appearance at a preliminary trial Saturday. Juarez was one of the men in charge of the Mexican celebration.

RANCHER ARRESTED; TO FACE CHARGE OF MURDER

Nestor Bustos of Rociada, San Miguel County, Accused of Stabbing to Death Marcelino Archuleta at Dance.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal)

Las Vegas, N. M., Oct. 14.—Enrique Sem, deputy sheriff of San Miguel county today arrested Nestor Bustos, a prominent ranchman, on the charge of having murdered Marcelino Archuleta. Complaint was made by members of the Archuleta family. Bustos was arrested while working on his ranch near Rociada and made no resistance.

Archuleta was mortally injured at a dance at Rociada on September 5, and it is alleged that the wounds were due to dagger thrusts, the dagger being used by Bustos. The matter was kept quiet, it being thought that Archuleta would recover.

LAWYER'S VOTE IS CINCH FOR GAYNOR

WOULD DO ANYTHING TO GET HIM OFF BENCH

This is Opinion of Mr. Ivens as Expressed at Meeting of Hearst Adherents in New York City.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

New York, Oct. 14.—Two candidates for mayor of greater New York kept up the agitation of the campaign by speeches in Manhattan and Brooklyn tonight.

William J. Gaynor, democratic nominee, made his first appearance in Manhattan. Otto T. Barnard, republican nominee, made a series of speeches in Brooklyn. William R. Hearst, independent, did not speak, although a mass meeting in his support was held at Cooper Union.

The greatest interest was centered in Gaynor's appearance in the expectation that would answer in detail the charges against him, the most serious of which is the insinuation that he favored the race track element and attempted to frustrate the enforcement of legislation designed to check betting. His hearers were disappointed for he did not reply to the charges at length but declared that his record must be the answer to his detractors.

At the Hearst meeting William M. Ivens, republican, yet a supporter of Hearst, was one of the principal speakers. It had been predicted that he would make additional charges against Gaynor but he confined himself to reviewing Gaynor's record in general.

"I shall keep on going through his record day after day," said Ivens, "until he has reached the final hour which precedes his political funeral. There are at least 6,000 members of the bar who would vote for Gaynor for mayor, for no other reason on earth except to get him off the bench. He is an intellectual freak."

William A. DeFord told of a conversation with Randolph Block, a former Hearst employee, and an adherent of Gaynor, in which Block is quoted as saying: "Judge Gaynor expects to be elected governor and then president of the United States and he wants to take the nomination for mayor from Tammany hall in order to work out this ambition."

Two unusual incidents disturbed the Hearst and Gaynor meetings. At the former DeFord began a denunciation of Stat. Senator Patrick H. McCarron, who is ill. It was however, interrupted dramatically with the exclamation, "McCarron is dead." An immediate hush fell over the assembly and DeFord apologized with an explanation that he was attacking McCarron's principles and not McCarron the man.

It was a militant suffragette who disturbed the Gaynor gathering. Gaynor had barely got under way when a woman rose in the audience and called, "How about woman suffrage?" She was Miss Maud Malone, a familiar figure at political gatherings.

"The question which you ask me is not pertinent to this meeting," said Gaynor, showing some embarrassment. "But I shall ask you in order to prevent any further interruption to go first and consult my wife."

Still Miss Malone refused to be seated, and after consulting with Herman Ridder, who presided as chairman, a policeman escorted her from the hall.

Gaynor's speech was a plea for "personal liberty" and a "liberal construction particularly of the Sabbath observance laws." He attacked Police Commissioner Bingham, who is now campaigning against Gaynor, as a "strut-about." "A head butler from the White House, brought here over the heads of 5,000 better men than he, who introduced militarism, which never would be tolerated in Russia."

In discussing the cleaning up of the city he paid a tribute to former President Roosevelt and his work while municipal officer in New York.

Hannan in his speech avoided personal attacks as he has done all along, but severely criticized Tammany hall in general.

DEAD ROBBER IS LOS ANGELES LAWYER

She refused to state what the contents of the letter were.

That Harris was in desperate straits for money was indicated in letters received by his young wife here some weeks ago, in which he wrote her from New York that he must have money at any cost.

Harris was about 30 years of age, cultured, well educated and of elegant address and an orator of repute. His father, Will A. Harris, a prominent attorney of this city, who died suddenly a few months ago, was a confederate veteran and one of the most distinguished orators of the California bar.

The younger Harris was possessed of a brilliant mind and charming personality. At one of the universities in Mississippi he was a social favorite and graduated with high honors. He always, however, was of extravagant habits, and reckless tendencies.

DETROIT WINS
THRILLING
CONTESTHONORS EVEN IN BATTLE
FOR WORLD CHAMPIONSHIPYesterday's Game Marked by Rough Work; Players Carried from Field Unconscious; Detroit Goes Baseball Mad.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 14.—Detroit kept in the great world's baseball championship by defeating Pittsburgh 5 to 4 today in a battle rife of sensational and thrilling plays, and tonight the two teams are tied with three each. The seventh and deciding game will be played here Saturday.

A four inspiring rally in the 9th inning by Pittsburgh was stopped after one run was scored, but three Detroit players were injured in attempting the rush of Pittsburgh.

Tom Jones, the Detroit first baseman, was the most seriously hurt. His neck and spine were injured in a collision with Wilson at first base, and this resulted in Pittsburgh scoring its run of that session. Charles Schmidt, catcher, had his right leg badly gashed in blocking Abbatichio off the plate in the final inning.

The play that furnished the threatening edge of the National league champions, resulted in the injury of George Moriarty, when he caught Wilson trying to steal third in Abbatichio's strike-out. In the same inning Moriarty's left knee was badly hurt when Wilson slid in to the base. Tom Jones was so badly hurt that he was carried from the field unconscious. He recovered in the club house. He was taken home in an ambulance and it is practically certain he will not be able to play Saturday. Schmidt, it is thought, will be able to play and there is no doubt that Moriarty will be in the battle. The injury to Jones necessitated shifting of Hoffman Crawford to first base, D. Jones to center and Melvin to left.

The Pittsburgh team got away in the lead by smashing out those four hits off Mullin in the 1st inning. After that, Mullin was invincible until the sixth, when he weakened enough to get into a dangerous situation only to extricate himself by another exhibition of clutching. Detroit scored 1 run in the first inning and batted Willis off the day by scoring two runs in the fourth and another in the fifth by terrific batting. Camnitz succeeded Willis and Detroit batted him hard enough to get another run in the sixth. Camnitz was withdrawn when Hyatt batted for him in the seventh and the veteran Abbatichio stepped in to bat, scoring. The ninth inning rally of Pittsburgh was fraught with tense moments and dramatic incidents. The one tied meant the probable winning of the championship by Pittsburgh, as a single would have tied the score and two batters perhaps, put Pittsburgh in the lead.

Pittsburgh went to bat with the score 5 to 2 in the last inning. Miller started with a single to right, and Abstein put another in the same place, sending Miller to second. Wilson placed a bunt in front of the plate, and Schmidt fielded it to first, but the collision with Wilson caused Jones to lose the ball, Miller scoring and Abstein moving to third.

The delay occasioned by Jones' injury gave Mullin a hard earned opportunity to recover his balance. Gibson grounded to Crawford, who had succeeded T. Jones at the first base and the star fielder made a great stop and threw to the plate. Wilson placed a bunt in front of the plate, and Schmidt fielded it to first, but the collision with Wilson caused Jones to lose the ball, Miller scoring and Abstein moving to third.

Wilson placed a bunt in front of the plate, and Schmidt fielded it to first, but the collision with Wilson caused Jones to lose the ball, Miller scoring and Abstein moving to third.

On the third strike Wilson tried to steal third base, but was caught. Schmidt to Moriarty, ending the game with a victory for Detroit. The crowd rushed in the field and the players were jostled about the mob in cheering Detroit supporters anxious to clasp their hands and congratulate them. The injured Moriarty was surrounded by a crowd of sympathizers and an attempt was made to carry him off the field, but the big pitcher evaded his admirers.

Today's game has set Detroit baseball mad again. The interest in the series was beginning to wane somewhat because of the long drawn out fight and the decisive victory of Pittsburgh yesterday, but tonight conditions are changed. Everyone in the city believes Detroit will be the next world's champion.

The waiting interest in the series is clearly shown by the fact that only 10,325 persons saw the game. The receipts for the day were $12,417.50.

of this the National commission receives $1,215.75, and each club owner $5,622.87. This brings the total attendance for the series up to 127,882 for six games. This is an average of more than 21,000 each game and a record of the world championship series. The total receipts are $118,625.50.

The game was played with the thermometer near 40 degrees above zero, and with a chilling southwest wind sweeping the field. The sun, however, warmed the atmosphere and it was really the best baseball day Detroit has had for the series. Although it was a long way from being good baseball weather, Hons Wagner played a marvellous game in the field, but made only one hit in four times up. In the field he was everywhere and did his best to stop the Detroit team from scoring. He covered third, retiring Detroit players twice by crowding Byrne out of the way and taking the play himself. In the fourth inning he faced Tom Moriarty, hit and retired Detroit.

Amid in the sixth session he covered third and took Camnitz's assist, retiring Schmidt.

Mullin, Schmidt, Crawford and Bush were the bright stars for Detroit. Mullin's wonderful pitching after he had been unmercifully hammered in the first inning, was a revelation to the spectators. Four hits were made off his delivery in rapid session at the opening of the game, but between the first and ninth inning he allowed only two one sack hits.

The ninth opened with three sack hits in session by Pittsburgh, but again Mullin stopped his hard hitting opponents before they could reap any advantage from his short lapse.

One of the most sensational plays of the game was a double play by Schmidt and Bush in the sixth. With Mullin on first Abstein lifted a high fly, which Schmidt caught with his left hand and Bush caught Crawford's second, after the catch, but a wonderfully fast catch and a great one-handed catch and sweep back wards by Bush caught Mullin off second and after the Pittsburgh man had made a desperate slide, Schmidt played a wonderfully fine game all the way through and saved Mullin two three wild pitches by his catches.

If a ground ball for Mullin and Detroit in the first inning, Byrne singled to left as a starter, and went to third on a bounding hit along the first base line by Leach. Clarke singled to left, scoring Byrne, and sending Leach to third. Wagner shot a hot double to the left field and Leach and Clarke scored easily. Mullin then staid and Miller was an easy out. Leach and Miller started going, going to third. Abstein struck out and the inning was over when Wilson went out Mullin to Tom Jones.

Detriot made no run in the first. After D. Jones lined to Miller Bush walked and Cobb struck out. Crawford continued to third on the throw to the plate.

Detriot tied the score in the fourth. Crawford drew a base on balls, as a starter and went to third on Delehan's single to right center. Moriarty singled to right and Crawford scored. Detriot tied the score by going to reach third, Miller to Wagner. T. Jones singled past Byrne and Clarke let the grounder get away from him, Moriarty scoring the tying run. T. Jones going to second, Schmidt walked and the inning ended with both Mullin and D. Jones tied to Clarke.

Detriot took the lead in the fifth by scoring one run. Bush opened with a single to center and Cobb was out to Abstein. Unassisted, Bush went to second. Crawford shot a hot liner to Wagner, which the latter dropped, but he covered it in time to throw Crawford out at first, Bush advancing to third. Delehan hit a two bagger along the left field foul line, scoring Bush. Moriarty walked, but Byrne ended the inning by making a spectacular catch of T. Jones in high twisting fly that he got near the pitcher's slab. Detriot got another run in the sixth. Schmidt opened with a two bagger to right, but was caught at third on Mullin's grounder to Camnitz, Wagner covering the base. D. Jones forced Miller, Abstein to Wagner. D. Jones stole second, and Bush drew another base on balls. T. Jones hit one with a crack that could be heard far outside the grounds, and it went far into the crowd, for a certain home run, but it did not go for the ground rules, which cut it to a two-bagger. D. Jones scored and Bush went to third on the hit, but the inning ended when Crawford flied to Leach. There was no more scoring until the ninth.

JOHNSON TO CARRY
THE FIGHT TO KETCHELBig Black Announces Intention of Fling After Opponent from First Tap of Gong; Both Men Nervous.

(By Morning Journal Special Licensed Writer)
San Francisco, Oct. 14.—Jack Johnson and Stanley Ketchel, principals in Saturday's match for the heavyweight championship, spent a strenuous day in their respective training camps. Neither needed any additional work, for both are in the pink of condition, but they worked furiously under the command of the moving picture operator, who spent the greater part of the day taking the pictures which will be used as an introduction to the great fight pictures.

Ketchel has surprised the pugilistic world by announcing that he will not carry the fight to his opponent, as has been his custom in all of his previous matches. He declares that Johnson as the champion must do the leading and says that he will not tear into the big fellow unless the latter shows unexpected weakness from the start.

On the other hand Johnson's manager asserts that his man will go after Ketchel after the sound of the gong to score an early knockout. When reminded that the picture privileges might suffer if an early knockout existed, Manager Little declared that even the prospect of this loss would not prevent the champion putting his opponent down for the count in the first round if possible.

Setting on the big match showed an increase today but the odds remain to 4 with the champion on the long end.

Although no change in the odds occurred, it is believed at the pool rooms that the flow of short and money which began today will soon cause a shortening of the price. Considerable money is being wagered on the even proposition that Ketchel will stay for fifteen rounds against the champion.

Both of the fighters are palpably nervous at the use of the battle and of the two Ketchel seems to show the greater strain. Johnson weighed today and tipped the beam at 156 pounds, or two pounds lighter than he expects to be when he climbs through the ropes Saturday. Ketchel remains in his announced weight of 175 pounds. This he declares to be his natural weight and the point at which he feels strongest.

DISAGREEMENT BETWEEN MEN JEOPARDIZES FIGHT

San Francisco, Oct. 14.—As a result of a disagreement between the principals over the status of the forfeited money of $10,000 it looked for a time tonight as though the Ketchel-Johnson fight would not take place. Willis Britt, Ketchel's manager, stated later that an agreement had been reached, however, and declared that the battle would be fought on Saturday according to schedule.

The first word of the controversy came from Promoter Coffey, who announced that unless he brought Johnson to terms there was little prospect that the fight would occur. He hastened to the negro training quarters immediately afterward. The forfeited money was posted several months ago, Johnson placing his $5,000 in the hands of an eastern stakeholder and the other entrusted to his William Naughton, a local sporting writer. It was understood that this money was to be placed as a side bet.

Johnson demanded today that the money be gathered into one man's hands. Britt and Ketchel demurred as the odds are three to one against them today and they declined to place their money at even odds. Johnson insisted and Coffey dashed to the front to patch up an understanding. It is said that Naughton has transferred the money to his hands but it is not possible to learn who the new stakeholder is. In view of Britt's declaration there is room to believe that Ketchel has acceded to Johnson's demands, but there is still a feeling of uncertainty in local sporting circles.

Honey's Candidacy Sustained.

San Francisco, Oct. 14.—Francis J. Honey was sustained today as the candidate for the democratic party for district attorney at the coming municipal election when the recent demand by Charles Fickert, republican and union labor member for the same office and Honey's only opponent, was completely defeated. The vote resulted in a gain of 84 votes for Fickert, reducing Honey's majority to 24.

ROMAN RACE BRINGS THE
GRAND STAND TO ITS FEETSoldiers Furnish Most Exciting Event on Yesterday's Racing
Program; Miss Prism Wins Albuquerque Derby. Magnificent Racing Card Today.

Thursday's racing program proved the strongest of the fair meeting. Not only was the Albuquerque Derby an exciting event, but the relay races were good and the Roman race with five entries from the United States cavalry troops, was one of the most thrilling exhibitions of daring horsemanship ever seen here.

The Derby was won by Miss Prism, a two to one favorite, who galloped away with the $400 purse without difficulty from a field that at one time promised to give her a run for the money. Dick B. was second and Stella third.

Joe Wells won the four and one-half furlongs from Ed B. in a driving finish, with Donny Turner third.

The 2:20 trot was won by Harold in straight heats, with Ochoa second and Hybrid third.

Lulu Horst took the 2:25 pace without difficulty, from Nancy C. who was not up to her performance of Tuesday, when she furnished one of the most exciting races of the week with Miss Edgar. Robert S., an Albuquerque horse owned by W. L. Trimble, took third money in this race and Miss Edgar fourth.

The Ford steeple, which took first money in the race on Wednesday, wound up in third place yesterday. Margaret Platero coming in an easy first and F. G. Pabano second. The race was as hard ridden as on Wednesday, but the Ford string was not up to the running furnished by his speedy competitors.

The Roman race, aside from the Derby, was the feature of the afternoon. Five entries started, each rider riding two horses with a foot on either horse. It was one of the most spectacular races ever made here and although it went for only half a mile it was the big event of the afternoon. Trumper Joe Durey won the race with Theo Lee second and Trumper Donnelly third.

TODAY'S PROGRAM THE STAR OF THE WEEK

Today's racing program is far and away the best of the week. First on the program is the great 2:12 pace for which the fair management has offered a purse of $1,000. There are six starters in this race and one of them, Brewer's Kid, a favorite, is the holder of the world's record for the half mile. Brewer's Kid has a mile record of 2:07 1-4 and in order to encourage the fans this afternoon the Albuquerque Driving association has offered a purse of $100 to the horse that will lower the track record of 2:12 held by Stranger O. The track is fast this year and it is not improbable that the mark may come down.

The 2:12 race is enough harness racing for one afternoon and is the only race scheduled to go.

The following running events will be pulled off.

Mile Handicap, purse $150.—Name of horse, Bird of Paradise, owner, Frank Martin, colors, black with yellow dots; weight, 160.

FOR DEATH OF GIRL

Detroit, Oct. 14.—Dr. George A. Fitch, of this city, was tonight arrested in connection with the death of Miss Mabelle Millan of Ann Arbor, whose dismembered body was found tied in meeks in Keweenaw creek, labor day. Dr. Fitch was arrested soon after the finding of the body and an attempt was made to prove that the girl had died after an operation in the doctor's office.

While holding the physician under $10,000 bail for some time the case was allowed to drop until yesterday, when Police Judge Stein resumed investigation of the tragedy.

Joseph W. Leach, an automobile driver, who is said to have been frequently hired by Dr. Fitch, is believed to be the principal witness upon whom the police rely in their resumption of the case.

STAMM BALLOON SUCCESSFULLY INFLATED; AERONAUTS MAKE ASCENTS

Perseverance of Local Aviators Has Its Reward: Thousands See Big Gas Bag Make Two First Ascents With Stamm and Blondin and Many Will Take Advantage of Chance for Trip in a Captive Balloon Today.

The longevity and perseverance of Joseph A. Stamm and Roy A. Stamm was rewarded yesterday when the big Stamm balloon at the corner of Central avenue and Sixth street was successfully inflated and made two ascents to a height of 100 feet or more, carrying first Mr. Blondin and then Mr. Stamm. The gas generator worked perfectly and twenty-six or thirty hours work filled the bag sufficiently so that it was buoyant enough to carry up our men or more. The men worked at the generator all night last night to get the balloon entirely full and it is expected to be pulled hard at its ascents this morning. The gas bag responds instantly to each shift of ballast and was an evenly poised yesterday that it would almost hang stationary in the air. At 7:20 this morning the balloon, held by a strong rope, was attached to a steam winch, will be ready for passengers. The ballast will be adjusted that the pull on the rope, which will hold the bag, will be sufficient to keep the cable taut. Two passengers at a time may ascend, each party being accompanied by a pilot. The rope is 1,200 feet in length and passengers will be taken to any height they wish from fifty feet to a thousand.

The first ascent was made between 8:30 and 9:00 a. m. and in ten minutes a crowd of nearly a thousand people had gathered at the corner of Sixth and Central, where the balloon is located. Only forty pounds of ballast was used yesterday, so even the balance of the balloon.

When fully inflated this morning the buoyancy will be greatly increased, but there is plenty of ballast and the balloon will be under perfect control.

It will be absolutely safe for passengers to go up as often as they wish, said Mr. Stamm last night. "Every precaution will be taken and as the cable is new and strong and the ballast is a downy ballast of the same size, there is not the slightest danger. We hope that as many people as possible will avail themselves of the opportunity to go up in the air and get a real bird's-eye view of the city."

Meantime, Stamm and Blondin expect to make a long trip in the balloon at the end of the fair and everything appears promising. The silk fabric of the bag is in excellent condition in spite of its two years' storage. The equipment for the ascent is complete and they anticipate a trip that will take them several hundred miles at least. They have shown commendable perseverance and have gone to considerable expense to get the balloon inflated and the captive airship should be thoroughly satisfactory today and the rest of the week.

Change in Schedule Causes Keen Disappointment

convinced to hasten the trip so as to arrive here at 2:15. This party at the time was accurate, as is shown by the telegraphic correspondence which Secretary Kelly of the Commercial club made public yesterday afternoon. The stop at Tucson was unnecessary, and as the Arizona train was late, had not been determined upon until yesterday. Should the further change be made in the schedule, Friday, following the efforts of the reception committee, the drive through the streets will be made, but the prospect is that the train will not arrive before 4 o'clock and then it will be too late to undertake the drive, following the president's address.

Program for the Evening.

Immunities upon his arrival. President Taft will be escorted to the stand at the north entrance to the Alvarado hotel. "There he will be greeted by the crowd who have been looking forward to his coming for weeks."

In addition to the reception committee and the members of the president's party, a limited number of New Mexico men will be on the speaker's stand. The entire free around the stand will be roped off and guarded by the United States marshals and by a picked detail of forty men from the two Santa Fe militia companies who arrived here last night. Within this space will be a guard of honor, consisting of the members of the Grand Army of the Republic of New Mexico, and in front of the old soldiers the newspaper men from Albuquerque and other New Mexico towns will be placed.

This west of the hotel has been cordially received for ballast made of the Alvarado hotel manager and that of the Commercial club, which will be adjusted. Admission here will be by card as will be the entrance to the speaker's stand and to the rest of the grounds of the hotel. The arrangements for guarding the entrance to the hotel are complete, the local police and members of the grand army and a number of New Mexico soldiers are being kept on duty upon surrounding the hotel grounds.

Meantime, Stamm and Blondin expect to make a long trip in the balloon at the end of the fair and everything appears promising. The silk fabric of the bag is in excellent condition in spite of its two years' storage. The equipment for the ascent is complete and they anticipate a trip that will take them several hundred miles at least. They have shown commendable perseverance and have gone to considerable expense to get the balloon inflated and the captive airship should be thoroughly satisfactory today and the rest of the week.

welcome him in behalf of the people of Albuquerque and the territory. The mayor's remarks will be very brief. The president, following his address, will retire to his rooms in the Alvarado and will remain there until 1 o'clock, when he will receive the guests at the Commercial club banquet, which will take place in the west veranda of the hotel, which has been turned into a banquet hall for the occasion. The banquet will begin at 7:20 o'clock. Governor Curry will act as toastmaster and the brief list of toasts will include a welcome in behalf of the Commercial club by President Spitz, and responses by H. O. Burson, T. B. Carson, Judge A. H. Paul and O. N. Marron.

The president will be invited to look in on the Montezuma ball. His acceptance, however, will not be known until after the address this afternoon. If so his stay will be very brief and he will go to his car soon after the banquet. The president's train will leave at midnight for El Paso and the morning making meeting with President Diaz.

Committee Of for Gallup.

The New Mexico reception committee for Gallup at 1:15 yesterday afternoon, traveling in a special train made up of a coach and the private car of Col. W. S. Hopperwell of the New Mexico Central railroad. At the last moment Col. Hopperwell was unable to accompany the committee because of business engagements. The committee is composed of Governor Curry, President Spitz of the Commercial club, Hon. Salmon Lunt, national committeeman of New Mexico, H. O. Burson, chairman of the republican committee, Robert W. H. Andrews, Mayor Philip H. Lester, Judge J. A. Abbott, Captain Clark M. Carr and Florence Sullivan. The committee's car will be attached to the president's train at Gallup this morning.

TRUMPET PROGRESS

OF DIAZ THROUGH MEXICO.

El Paso, Oct. 14.—No crowd had ever received a more magnificent salute than that accorded to President Diaz in the city of Chihuahua yesterday and today. His arrival on a special train of five coaches at 2:21 was heralded by the blowing of every whistle and the ringing of every bell in the city, and the booming of cannon. He was met at the foot of Juárez, when he was escorted by a military band to the city.

He began his triumphal march through the city. The avenue was lined by nine arches, erected by the different industries of the city, the sidewalks, windows, roofs were packed with spectators of every people, the streets were thronged with the throngs of a city of 100,000. The last three blocks of his progress was that of a large number of school children singing the national song. Arriving at the governor's palace, where by the guest of Governor Crespo, President Diaz was the secretary of the Chihuahua Chamber of Commerce, where he was met by the local and city officials. They followed the magnificent electrical display. Every building of any size was equipped by every line to electric light, the red and white the most beautiful appearance. The display in the main plaza was especially fine.

The governor's palace was surrounded by a large electric star, on each side of which was a Mexican eagle with the serpent and cactus composing the Mexican coat of arms, the electric light displaying the national colors. A reception was held at the governor's palace last night in which Chihuahuenses vied with each other in doing honor to their president.

After an automobile trip to the great public works near the city President Diaz was escorted to the Theater Herold, where on behalf of the President Diaz, composed principally of Americans, he was presented with a magnificent loving cup and another on behalf of the Chihuahuenses, with a certificate of membership in the club which conferred on a plate of gold.

Tonight President Diaz was the guest of honor at a banquet of 200 guests.

His train leaves Chihuahua, early tomorrow for Juárez and will arrive there early in the afternoon.

ICE CREAM CONE STAND DESTROYED BY FIRE

Exciting Time Occurs When Fire Department Makes First Run Down Central Avenue.

There was quite a lot of excitement on Central avenue at 9:10 last night, when a small ice cream cone stand in front of the Pacific theatre caught fire and the second street and Highland fire companies made a head-on breaking dash for the scene of the blaze. The fire was extinguished with chemicals. An immense crowd gathered between Second and Third streets and watched the fire men work into smoke.

Modern Irrigated Farming Takes Hold in Central Rio Grande Valley

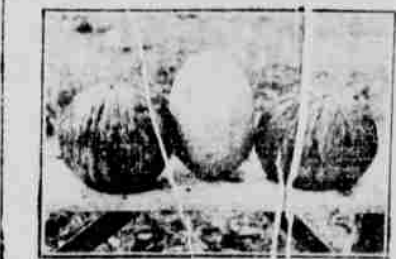

Southwestern Irrigation, Land and Power Company Putting Four Thousand Acres Under Cultivation With Most Modern Methods and Up to Date Machinery. A Result Getting Enterprise Which Means Much For Development of the Valley.

Modern irrigation and modern farming methods have at length taken hold in the Central Rio Grande Valley and a new era of farming has opened here. This is shown by the operations of the Southwestern Irrigation, Land and Power company, an Albuquerque corporation and an enterprise, owning 1000 acres of fine irrigable land between Los Lunas and Elgin and owning among other properties the famous old Huning ranch and the full rights of the Huning irrigation canal from which was taken for this year's irrigation.

With the aim of getting the entire acreage under cultivation as quickly as possible the company has taken right hold of the most modern methods. The company has recently added to its equipment a 20-horse power traction engine and separator which was used in threshing this year's crop and with the traction engine, from twenty to thirty acres of land are being turned under every day and being prepared for the 1910 crop. It is a big irrigation enterprise right at Albuquerque's door, and its certain success means much in encouraging the development of the valley. The company has had little to say of its work and its plans thus far, but it has already spent much time and money in straightening and deepening ditches, leveling the lands and getting things in shape for rapid and successful operation.

A feature of this year's production is an imported Italian melon, known as the Casaba. Not over a quarter of an acre was planted to Casabas; an acre and three quarters being planted to Rocky Pards and other melons. However, none of the other melons produced as did the Casaba, the quarter acre yielding between two hundred and two hundred and fifty good marketable melons, weighing all the way from seven and a half to twenty lbs.

Casaba Melons Grown This Year.

The company's fair exhibit is partially made up of this melon and shows the quality of the melon. This melon is used when it can be secured in quantities in the dining cars of the Chicago-California limited, trains and all along the Santa Fe road in the Harvey eating houses and hotels where only the best meals are served at fancy prices.

"In Arizona at the present time," says a representative of the company, "these melons are bringing a dollar each and find a ready market."

The following varieties were raised this year: J. M. Hyland, J. M. Hyland, preferred, the Golden Seal, The Speckled Beauty, The Santa Claus and the Winter Casaba. The Casaba is an excellent shipping melon and the Winter Casaba is noted for its keeping qualities. This melon can be stored until Christmas day and, in fact, is a much better and more delicious melon than when taken from the vine in the fall.

The corn raised by the company this year was exceptionally good, the production being sixty-five bushels to the acre. The ears are round and large. That a large acreage should be put in corn in this valley is shown by the fact that a large part of the corn locally consumed is shipped in.

It is difficult to say which is the most profitable in the valley, wheat or alfalfa. At present alfalfa is bringing from $1.10 to $1.25 per ton in car load lots. The alfalfa crop of the Southwestern company has also done well this year.

New Mexico irrigated land is coming more into the lime light and is proving to be a profitable investment. Under the methods adopted by this company farming here will bring results.

ESPAÑOLA COWPUNCHER TRIES TO SHOOT OUT LIGHTS OF GOTHAM

Festive Ranchman Attempts to Paralyze Hudson-Fulton Celebration With Six Shooter With Disastrous Results: Great White Way Won't be Extinguished.

The interesting and thrilling spectacle of a New Mexico cowpuncher endeavoring seriously to shoot out all the lights of the Hudson-Fulton celebration edified the people of Gotham recently, according to the following from the New Mexico Herald:

Espanola, Rio Arriba, New Mexico, is a live town, but the lights go out there some time every night. They have not gone out in New York for a long while, but Herbert P. Conger, fifty-two years old, ranchman of Espanola, did not know that. He was born on the Hudson and went to be a cowboy when he was a lad.

Way off in New Mexico he heard that there were to be great things in New York for the Hudson-Fulton celebration and decided to pay this city his first visit in thirty years. Conger arrived without a rifle or a pistol and saw no necessity for disarming with his hip pocket furniture of one Colt's revolver, about two feet long, and of Drednought caliber.

In Espanola on festive occasions it is bad form to go home while any lights are burning in Main street. Conger tried to live up to the best traditions of Espanola while in New York, but after a week he began to wobble. The lights of Broadway proved on his mind, and last night, about ten o'clock he remembered that when any celebration in Espanola does not like, a light he puts it out.

Relieved by this happy thought, he took a station in front of the Flatiron building and began a sincere effort to shoot out the hundred thousand electric lamps which line Fifth avenue, Fifth street and Central Park West, from the Washington Arch to 140th street. His aim was not of the best, however, and his target, very high. He tried a lot of peaceful discharges, but did not ring the bell on any lamps. Places from which it was impossible to see Fifth avenue at all jumped instantly to a prompt beyond any demand by the most restless spectators last week.

All members of G. A. R. Warren Post, all visiting comrades and former Union or Confederate soldiers are requested to meet at Old Police hall on Second street, this Friday afternoon at 2:30 sharp to march in a body to the Alvarado hotel to hear the address of President Taft. In order of H. B. Stewart, post commander J. G. Caldwell, adjutant.

Visitors to the fair should remember to call at the Alhambra studio, 121 1-2 north Third street, for holiday photographs.

GREATEST PRIVATE IRRIGATION PROJECT IN NEW MEXICO IS INCORPORATED AT QUARTER MILLION

Ex-Governor Otero Heads Company Which Will Complete the Great Urton Lake Project in the Pecos Valley and Reclaim 71,000 Acres of Fertile Land; Construction Work Alone Will Cost Two Million Dollars.

A tremendous water storage and irrigation project probably the most ambitious ever attempted by private capital in New Mexico is about to be started in the Pecos valley, to cost at least two millions of dollars and to reclaim 71,000 acres of land with water from a reservoir carrying nearly 200,000 acre feet of water taken from the Pecos river.

This time-consuming undertaking is the Urton Lake project, formerly started by the Reclamation service of the government and relinquished at last to the Carey act board. This week in Santa Fe the Urton Lake Land and Water company, capitalized at $250,000 filed incorporation papers in the office of the territorial secretary. The company is headed by ex-governor and territorial treasurer Miguel A. Otero as president. Lloyd Sigler of Salt Lake City, Utah, secretary, and L. B. Melville of Denver, secretary. These officers will also constitute the board of directors. The new company will take over at once and push to completion the Urton Lake irrigation project begun by the government in 1903, but abandoned by reason of the lack of funds. The reclamation service completed surveys, plotted the land and positively determined the feasibility of the project. The new company under the provisions of the Carey act, recently made applicable to the territory has made its formal application to territorial engineer Vernon L. Sigler, who has it under consideration.

By means of a huge storage lake and supplementary canals the system will distribute water taken from the Pecos to the lands, which its partly in Chaves and partly in Goshute county in the vicinity of Fort Sumner. These lands have been turned over to the territory and in accordance with the provisions of the Carey act the application seeks to have the lands surveyed. The company has prepared a bond in the sum of $50,000 to turn over to the territory in case the application is approved. There is little doubt of an early favorable report from the engineer.

When this is received work will start at once. The company now has engineers in the field plotting the lands and doing other preliminary work. The work will be done under direction of the territorial engineer in co-operation with the Reclamation service experts. Bonds for $200,000 will be issued by the company, having been made by the east for the underwriting of the bonds.

A diversion dam 27 feet high, and 400 feet long will be built in the Pecos river. From this dam will extend the widest diversion canal in the world, sixty feet in width and 37 miles long.

This canal leads to the Urton lake bed, where the water will be stored. The capacity of the lake is 190,000 acre feet.

Two main outlet canals will extend from the lake to the lands to be irrigated. The diversion canal alone will cost approximately a million dollars. Solid concrete and steel is to be used entirely in the building of the dam and canals.

H. T. Henderson, president of the Henderson Engineering company, of Durango, Colo., will be consulting engineer in charge of the work. Mr. Henderson built the million dollar Montezuma project in the Montezuma valley, Colorado; the two million dollar plant of the Alamosa river company at Durango; the Alabama Northern railroad, the $400,000 Ignacio project in the Pima river valley and many other big enterprises.

Lloyd Sigler, secretary of the company, is president of the American Column and Trust company of Denver and Salt Lake.

It is interesting in the Green River project of Utah, where 200,000 acres are being reclaimed in the Poudre project in Colorado; the Ignacio project, where he brought in 1500 colonists and the 1000-acre Pecos-harmon orchard of Green River, Utah, the largest peach orchard in the world.

L. B. Melville, the first surveyor of the new company, is head of the law firm of Melville, Sackett and Calver of Denver. He is a member of the Western Irrigation and Colonization company of Denver, which company has extensive experience in irrigation work.

The Bitulithic Pavement

The One Pavement That Is Durable, Sanitary, Noiseless, Dustless, Mudless and Resilient

It Is Durable Because:

It is constructed of selected hard crushed stone of varying sizes, producing a maximum of inherent stability, and a minimum of voidage with absolute uniformity throughout the entire surface.

It Is Sanitary Because:

It is absolutely non-absorptive and excludes all water and other filth by reason of the voidage being perfectly filled with a water-proof bitumen.

It Is Noiseless Because:

Each particle of material aggregate is encased in a film of bitumen, and the particles being from one inch down in size, prevents the annoying resonance emanating from other forms of roads, being equally silent as a dirt or macadam road.

It Is Dustless Because:

The application of the flush coat stone roughens the surface and holds the fine dust, which is one of the greatest annoyances from other classes of roads.

The Bitulithic PAVEMENT

Is now in use in upwards of two hundred cities of the United States and Canada, covering more than 850 miles of thirty-foot roadways. This development has been accomplished in eight years, beginning in 1901, in the face of the organized opposition of both the "brick" and "asphalt" trusts, and can be due to but one cause---the absolute MERIT of the PAVEMENT itself.

As a representative of the Bitulithic Pavement in Texas, we do not ask you to accept our statements, but refer you to any citizen or official of the Texas cities where we have operated, namely--El Paso, Dallas, Fort Worth, Paris and Marshall.

It Is Mudless Because:

Experience has demonstrated that the Bitulithic Pavement can be kept free from mud and filth as cheaply as any other form of road, being non-slippery. The Bitulithic Pavement carries more water than any other form of road and for this reason can be cleaned with less labor than any other pavement.

It Is Resilient Because:

The pavement having inherent stability permits the use of a soft bitumen, and with a slightly roughened surface, horses travel with perfect confidence. The great liability to be stuck by some other form of road cannot be measured, but in the case of the horse care, when non-resilient pavements were used in the tracks of horse cars the average service life of street-car horses was about five months. That rate applied to travel over non-resilient pavements, measured in dollars, becomes appalling. All persons interested in the humane welfare of "man's best friend" will surely favor the resilient pavement that offers a pathway across the natural earth that can be constructed, and still stand heavy travel.

ALBUQUERQUE - NEW MEXICO

GREETING TO THE PRESIDENT.

One of New Mexico's best known citizens, Hon. B. S. Bodey, formerly delegate in congress from this territory, and now federal judge of Porto Rico, sends the following greeting and welcome to President Taft, on the part of the people of New Mexico:

Mr. President—We, the people of this the oldest of the territories greet you!

We realize that in you we have a friend whose great influence will be exerted in the passage of our long delayed enabling act. We feel that you agree with us that more than sixty-three years (August 1846 to October 1898) is too long a time to deprive citizens of the United States within the outer confines of the main continental portion of this great nation of a state form of government. That to have our enabling act pass one hour or the other of congress twenty-three times, and both houses twice—only to fail on the calendar or in conference, is enough to tax the patience of any people. We ask you to tell this nation as only a president can, what our present fitness is. We point to the fact that we fought to sustain this country's flag in two wars, and therefore have to ask no man's leave when we say we believe it is our right to assume among the states of the union the equal station that of right belongs to us. Hope deferred has but strengthened us in the belief that we of right ought to be free and independent.

We call your attention, and through you that of the nation, to our recent great progress. To the intelligence and number of people, to our system of schools and our educational institutions, and to the way we taxed ourselves to build them, and are looking ourselves for their support. We submit with confidence our vast area, our illimitable resources in pasture, timber, coal, minerals and actual and possible irrigation projects, and to our vast flocks and herds as well as to our cities, towns and villages.

We call your attention to our record as a peaceful patriotic and law-abiding people.

Therefore, we hope and feel that the specific promise of the platform upon which you were elected will be kept, and furthermore that because of the delay we will not be deprived of the patronage often tendered us. In hand and money for the support of our schools and institutions, and that it will neither be skimped nor denied to us.

Our confidence is increased when we see at the head of the nation, a man who has been such a friend to other dependencies, and therefore we feel that the nation's promise to grand and patient New Mexico, will soon be realized, and that during the present congress your signature to our enabling act will bring us into the fold of self-government, which our citizens through two generations have pleaded for in vain. Again we respectfully say that we the United States and its president.

San Juan, Porto Rico, Sept. 29, 09.

EXPANSION OF BUSINESS.

The report of the national comptroller of the currency for the last week ending September 1 shows an astonishing expansion of business. Judging from the total of loans made by the national banks, that is to say in the period between June 23 and September 1 the volume of loans was increased by $12,288,000, and comparing the figures with those of September 1 last year the increase in loans was $28,128,000.

A CASE FOR THE HAGUE.

The papers on the part of the United States in the case of the Newfoundland fishery arbitration, between the United States and Great Britain, were delivered by the American authorities a few days ago to the British Embassy in Washington, and those on the part of Great Britain were forwarded at the same time to the American Embassy in London, by the British Foreign Office.

This is the first step in the arbitration of the Newfoundland fishery dispute which has been pending between the two governments for years. It is the first case between the United States and Great Britain to be referred to the Hague Court for arbitration, under the general arbitration treaty of April 4, 1888. In four months the counter claims of each government will be exchanged, and two months later the entire matter will be submitted to the Hague Court.

The American case is a voluminous document of about 200 printed pages, and it includes all the diplomatic correspondence, treaties, acts, and regulations of both governments. The arbitration tribunal, which will be composed of five members, will meet at The Hague on April 4, 1910, to enable each side to present printed and oral arguments in support of its case. The issues involved are due chiefly to disagreements as to the intent and meaning of the provisions of article 1 of the treaty of 1818. Seven specific questions are submitted for arbitration.

A MARKET FOR MOONSHINE.

A letter from Atlanta, Ga., dated Monday of this week, says: "Many hundreds of gallons of mellow 'moonshine' whiskey, made of Georgia corn, was auctioned off by the government officials at the federal building today. The whiskey was captured in recent raids on illicit distillers. Hundreds of people attended the auction and the liquor brought good prices, some selling for $1 a gallon."

"It was a startling scene, for here was seen enough even whiskey being sold in the capital of a prohibition state. Several well-dressed policemen paced back and forth on the corner below, but their presence seemed to have no effect on the bidding. Since the advent of prohibition revenue men report a tremendous increase in moonshining."

GREAT IS CHICAGO.

There are a great many eccentricities of genius, and in an editorial dealing with one of the most conspicuous of these, the Chicago Inter Ocean says:

"Having decided to eliminate the study of algebra from the eighth grade of the public schools the authorities immediately in charge had to look about for a suitable substitute."

"After giving the matter full consideration, the superintendent and his committee agreed that the study of 'Chicago' would be the very thing. And study 'Chicago' the pupils will if the trustees take to the new idea."

The public school authorities of Chicago, while conceding that there are many great things to be studied in the public schools, are evidently of the opinion that the greatest of these is Chicago. But if an outsider might be permitted to make a suggestion, would it not be a good idea to give a little attention to English, grammar, even in Chicago? To know the English language, and know it well, is regarded as quite an accomplishment in some parts of the world, if not in Chicago.

THE NATIONAL GUARD.

With a view to providing San Francisco with the most adequate and efficient body of citizen soldiery in the United States, prominent wholesale and retail merchants will shortly offer to their employees a substantial inducement to enlist for service in the National Guard of California.

The proposal will be no less than a contract in writing providing compensation for those who enlist and who are required to serve on active duty in the National Guard, whether in domestic insurrection or in war with a foreign foe.

Moreover, it was agreed that employees should be permitted to attend all maneuvers and practice marches without losing their pay. The money which will be paid to the guardsmen will be in addition to that which they receive from the state. With this double compensation they will be placed on a better financial basis than the officers and men of the regular army.

A VOICE FROM ALASKA.

Alaska has no ambition, for the present at least, to become a state, but she appeals to congress and the president to give her a better form of government of some sort—a nearer home government—Washington, she contends, is too far away to deal in a satisfactory manner with her local affairs, and she feels that the territorial government which New Mexico enjoys is just what she needs. We are willing, it is true, that the state after having been worn by us for more than sixty years, is somewhat threadbare, but if our sister of the northwest can patch it up as to make it presentable, she is welcome to it. We long ago got over any "hankering" for it, but it is said that the president does not share up in any notion to degree in the Alaska view of case, and is not expected to recommend any radical change in the present form. It is true, as suggested by an exchange, that some residents of Alaska may be impatient of government at far distance, by a congress preoccupied with many other affairs, but it is not clear that this condition would be improved by turning over to a small electoral, in the neighborhood of Alaska the legislative control of all the vast territory extending from British Columbia to the Arctic. Instead, the president suggests a special bureau in Washington, which would receive reports from local officials in Alaska and present to congress the ascertained needs of the territory. Local legislation could be assigned to a local commission.

MEANS MUCH TO THE TOWN.

The best item of good news for Albuquerque that we have had in a long time is the reported adjustment of its difficulties by the New Mexico Central railway company, by which it will be able to resume active operations in the way of constructive work. In a very short time. The enterprise has been tied up by various complications for a long time past, and there have been so many reports of a resumption of work, which have all failed to materialize, that a great many people had almost lost faith in the ultimate construction of the line, but the few who were on the "inside" have never doubted the final outcome, because, they said, so much money had already been invested in the enterprise that the owners of the stock could not afford to leave it in its present unprofitable condition—and it really looks now as though their judgment of the situation had been correct. There seems to be, at least, a reasonable probability that things have now been arranged so as to insure the early completion of the line to the Hagan coal fields and to Albuquerque.

Medical journals have a "fruitful" theme in the recent accident in Paris of Edmond Hauhin who killed his wife at her own request because she was a hopeless invalid. The verdict of the jury met with hearty approval from the populace, which had been kept informed of the progress of the case and evinced a deep interest in its outcome.

The biggest prosperous class in the eastern republic is made up of farmers, and they are today buying diamonds, automobiles and other articles of luxury with a free hand. Secretary Wilson, of the Department of Agriculture, explains it thus: "Why, folks, in the east do you know what luxury is? They move so fast as to find out."—Washington Herald.

The recent mortality of governors of states has been striking. Within a year Govs. John A. Johnson, of Minnesota; George L. Lilley, of Connecticut; Samuel B. Cogswell, of Washington; and John Sparks, of Nevada, have passed away. This is certainly an extraordinary number of gubernatorial deaths.

What a fierce time the common people do have in this world anyway. If they eat white flour, they will get appendicitis. If they eat corn bread, they will get pellagra. If they eat beefsteak, they will get in the poorhouse.—Washington Herald.

ARIZONA CERTAIN OF HER ADMISSION THIS WINTER

Delegate Believes That Remaining Opposition is Negligible; Banking on Taft's Assistance.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14
Arizona will be admitted to statehood at the next session of congress, declared William H. Haring, a well-known lawyer of Tucson, Ariz., who has been stopping in Washington for a few days. He is registered at the Arlington hotel.

"All possible hostility to the measure introduced by Delegate Cameron so far as the Senate is concerned is a matter of no alarm whatever," continued Mr. Haring. "Mr. Cameron is confident that after the house passage the bill he has introduced, and which will come up on the calendar in the first days of the December session, will go through the upper house in its course at the earliest possible moment. He has no unnecessary delays and hesitations at it touching that body."

The issue of Arizona's admission is one that is supported by President Taft openly and unabashedly, and in addition to this it is now generally conceded in all circles of public life that the territory should be given the gift it has been striving for so long.

Arizona is rapidly coming to the front in its industrial taking and the regard extended to it by congress is plainly indicative that it is entering on a path that will give it material and permanent consideration in its efforts for self-government. The revenue it yields in mining and the heavy agricultural resources it has developed through water storage on its arid lands make the issue of admission an argument that is unanswerable, and I believe that the lawmaking bodies of Washington will recognize the futility of placing any barriers in the road to consummate the object that is now before them and will pass the bill as it reaches them."

IDEAL RESORT TO BE ESTABLISHED AT ALAMOGORDO

BEAUTIFUL HOTEL AND COTTAGE COLONY

Pittsburg Man Decides to Accept Presidency of School for Blind and Will Assume Charge at Once.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal]
Alamogordo, N. M., Oct. 12.—O. D. Warnock, architect and builder, has about completed the plans for the new hotel and the cottages which will be erected and put in readiness for the opening of next season. H. La Salle, an expert engineer, has completed the survey of the town and cottage colony, and has also made the survey for the big lake.

Herbert H. Fisher, one of the four owners of the property, said yesterday that the actual construction would be commenced at the earliest moment possible and rapidly carried to completion. In the construction of the hotel and the cottages no detail will be omitted which could add to the convenience and comfort of the guests. For the entire town there will be electric light at a cheap rate, wired from the gigantic hydroelectric power plant less than a mile distant. There will also be a perfect system of sewerage which will insure sanitary conditions. The hotel will have hot and cold water piped into every room. The cottages will be one, two and three room, and possibly a few four room, all with fine spring water piped in.

Already trails for horseback riding and roads for driving have been laid out. The new "Scenic Highway" between Alamogordo and Chidolof, will probably be about completed by the opening of next season, and will put the new resort in quick communication with both Alamogordo and Chidolof.

The building of this fine resort will insure to the people of this section a delightful place to escape from the heat of valley and plain, even though Chidolof should not be restored by next season.

R. B. Pratt, assistant superintendent of the Western Pennsylvania Blind Institute at Pittsburg, will return to Alamogordo Thursday to accept the superintendency of the New Mexico Institute for the Blind. Mr. Pratt, on his previous visit to Alamogordo, was unable to come to any agreement with the board of regents as to the general business policy of the institution.

En route home, Mr. Pratt wrote to Mr. Wallingford from some point in Illinois, that after three days' careful consideration of the proposition offered he had become convinced that their plans were better suited to western conditions, with which he was not familiar.

Immediately upon his arrival Thursday Mr. Pratt will meet with the active work of assembling the faculty, and make such other arrangements as are necessary to open the school. It is hoped that the school will be open by November 1.

The Otero County Advertiser is unflinching a junior linotype machine, which will be installed as early as possible. Mr. Byers, publisher, threatened some time since to install one of these machines, and then take the heads off his country correspondents. He seems to be making good on his threat.

Mr. McMillan, cashier and ticket agent at the El Paso & Southwestern station, leaves today for a thirty-day vacation, which he will spend in Illinois, Pennsylvania and New York. His desk will be filled by Ed. Monroe, who has been relieving W. J. Davis as manager and second ticket operator for the Postal.

[Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal]
Laguna, N. M., Oct. 13.—Pete Martin, Indian policeman, is displaying the loss of more large well-developed fowls and his once well-filled chicken house is empty and cheerless, where once was the merry cackle of the pullet and the chattering of bold Chantrelles. During the second night of the stopover of the troopers of the Third Cavalry from Fort Wingate on route to Albuquerque, a sinister deed was accomplished in the once happy confines of said chicken house. The six ducks and their were broken open and when Martin went to greet his chickens in the morning he was confronted by a vacant henhouse. Tracks of footstepers accompanied by marks of spurs—presumably trooper spurs—were followed by Mrs. Martin, who is somewhat of a trailer.

The police was littered with the heads of decapitated fowls and feathers, telling a tale of murder and mutilation. The signs to Mr. Martin read only too clearly. By a strange coincidence the trail led directly toward the camp of the cavalry. Martin is suspected of having cooked his chickens there, but has not openly avowed this. He has a deep sympathy of the people of Laguna in his bereavement. It is said he will interview the commissary department of the Third Cavalry when the soldiers return, with what object cannot be conjectured.

Fight Against Blackleg Among New Mexico Herds on in Earnest

CATTLEBOARDWORKS HARD TO WIPE OUT DREAD DISEASE

Inspectors in Campaign to Aid Stockmen in Eradicating the Plague Which Is Reaching Threatening Proportions.

One of the most important matters before the New Mexico Cattle Sanitary Board during its sessions in Albuquerque this week is the progress of the campaign inaugurated against the plague of blackleg among New Mexico cattle. The board is doing everything possible to spread information regarding the disease and its method of treatment and the force of eighteen field inspectors are taking especial care to locate all infected animals.

Territorial Cattle Inspector E. E. Van Horn, recently returned from the Pecos reserve, where he found the disease had broken out among the Closson, Arnold and other herds. He killed quite a number of cattle and had their carcasses burned, the latter proceedings being one of the most important points in stamping out the trouble. He will receive a shipment of vaccine in a few days from Washington and return to the Pecos range to vaccinate all the cattle grazing there. Forest rangers are instructed to co-operate in the campaign.

Blackleg is practically incurable and the cattleman's only resource is to at once vaccinate all the infected herds.

Once an animal becomes infected with the germ the latter multiplies into the millions. Once it is found that an animal is affected the only safe method to prevent the disease from spreading is to kill the animal and burn the carcass, hide and all on the spot where killed.

The disease this year has become so prevalent owing to the richness of the range, the rich feeding causing the cattle to get overly fat, thus inviting the blackleg germ.

The following valuable information is being disseminated by the secretary of the Cattle and Horse Growers' association among the New Mexico stockmen:

What Is Black Leg?

Blackleg is disease affecting young cattle, not over 2 per cent being found in animals over three years of age, and fully 80 per cent from eight to twelve months old. Under eight months, the cases are very rare. The disease is in practically all cases, absolutely fatal.

The symptoms are few, the animal showing little sign of sickness until it is far developed. On the ranges a lameness in the forefeet and legs is generally the first symptom noticed. The animal will probably be dead in twenty-four hours. It is easy to tell an animal that has died of black leg for, owing to the immense amount of gas found in the body, both before and after death, the body is distended to a remarkable degree, the legs being widely distended, and sinking out from the body very differently from a death by any other disease.

On pressing the skin on the forehead, sharp cracking sound will be heard, due to the pressure of gas underneath the skin, while a knife is driven into it a dark frothy liquid will flow very slowly.

A small number of the bacilli family. These bacilli are in the soil, left there by the death of some blacklegged animal. How long they will live in the soil is not known, but it is certainly for many years.

The disease is not contagious, that is, carried by contact from one animal to another, but is infectious which means that one single animal in a thousand may have it and not another animal die from it.

The gentleman who gives his discovery to the world quotes the fact that in Texas of two herds on opposite sides of a wire fence, one lost many animals by the disease, while the other lost none. Easily explainable by the fact that one pasture was infected with black leg while the other was not.

How do Cattle Get Black Leg.

Only in one way—through the skin and into the blood. A calf lies down in a spot infected with the bacilli of blackleg left there possibly years ago by some animal that died of the disease. A cut made by wire, or a gore from a horn offers a place for the disease to enter the system. The calf affected with the minute bacilli gets in the wound and so into the blood, and the animal is infected. Or it gets it through licking the ground for salt or alkali, the animal having a cut or sore on either the tongue or inside the mouth. This leads many cattle men, posted on the disease, to feed salt only in boxes or troughs.

The Oklahoma experimental station has done some very excellent work in black leg investigation and their bulletin on the subject is extremely interesting.

Two calves were placed side by side and fed vaccine matter without ill effects. Then a slight cut was made in one's tongue and both fed vaccine again. The one died and the other did not. Then earth mixed with the vaccine matter was rubbed all over

IT would surprise you to know how many manufacturers of furniture use Ivory Soap to give a finishing touch of beauty to the things they make.

This is the recipe:

Dissolve one-fourth of a cake of Ivory Soap in boiling water. Add a pail of warm water, in which put two tablespoonfuls of kerosene. Stir thoroughly. Wash furniture with a soft cloth. Dry with another soft cloth.

Ivory Soap 99⁴/₁₀₀ Per Cent. Pure their hides without effect, but when a small cut was made in the animal's hides and the rubbing repeated, both died.

If our experimental station would do some work along these lines they would find a fine field. I should like to see them bury three animals that died with the disease and after a year dig down and take some of soil and rub it in a wound on a yearling and note the results and keep this up for several years to determine just how long the bacilli will live, and lose none of his death-dealing powers. This experiment has been tried with anthrax, a disease very closely akin to black leg, and the bacilli were found to be alive and deadly ten years after the animal was buried.

Popular Theories.

One man, when black leg breaks out in his herd, gets after them with a whip and a horse and runs them for two hours.

Another immediately moves them to a new pasture.

A third rowles them in the shoulder with a rag soaked in garlic.

In each case, when no more die, they claim their system a success.

All authorities are perfectly agreed that an animal infected with black leg bacilli, except where purposely inoculated as a preventive, never or seldom recovers.

The disease is extremely prevalent in France and Switzerland, and it was three French veterinarians who, in 1883, discovered that by inoculation animals could be made immune and later on K.H. a German scientist, perfected their plan.

How to Prevent Black Leg.

There is but one way and that is very simple and easy. Vaccinate them against it the same as you vaccinate yourself against smallpox.

This is done by crowding the animals into a small chute, ten or a dozen at a time, and by means of a small hypodermic syringe injecting into each one a dose sufficient to give it a mild case of black leg.

This is easily and quickly done, the writer having vaccinated 400 yearlings in a day with three men's aid.

They can, of course, be thrown and doctored, but the chute is so much easier and quicker that it should always be used.

Having filled your chute as closely as you can crowd them, get right astride of the chute over the animals and lean down and take up the loose skin just back of the shoulder or in front on the shoulder blade with your left hand. Force the small needle into and through the skin, insert the needle into the syringe and force down the piston of the syringe to the stop, which allows one dose to enter the wound.

Work backwards over them until all are doctored, both their tails for a tally mark and get another bunch in and repeat the process. Have a man within reach with the bottle of fluid matter so you can quickly refill the syringe, which holds five doses.

How to Get Vaccine Matter.

You can buy either of the patent remedies, named above, but your Uncle Sam will furnish any one who applies for it at you need, free gratis.

All you have to do is to sit down and write a letter to the Hon. Secretary of Agriculture at Washington and ask to be furnished with so many doses of black leg vaccine matter as you want, too, for you are bound to spill some of it. Send this letter to Delegate W. H. Andrews and request him to forward it to Washington with his approval. He will cheerfully do so and, in two weeks you will get a little tin box from Washington containing a lot of neat little envelopes, plainly stamped, and a set of printed instructions telling you just how to use it. Meantime you should have got your druggist to order you a hypodermic syringe for black leg use, order half a dozen extra needles, too, while you are at it, for they have a happy faculty of dropping out of your clumsy fingers into the corral dust and are lost forever.

This outfit won't cost you over $5, and should not cost but $2.50, and any man with intelligence enough to read English and brand a calf can make the medicine and use the syringe.

When to Vaccinate.

The time to vaccinate is when your calves are over eight months of age. However, most of us wait till we begin to find them dead on the ranges and then we "run for the doctor."

If you will do this (and we all do), better have your outfit all ready to use at any rate, for the vaccine matter will keep a long time and not lose its strength—a year at any rate—and then when you do want it, you have it right at hand ready to use and stop any more from dying.

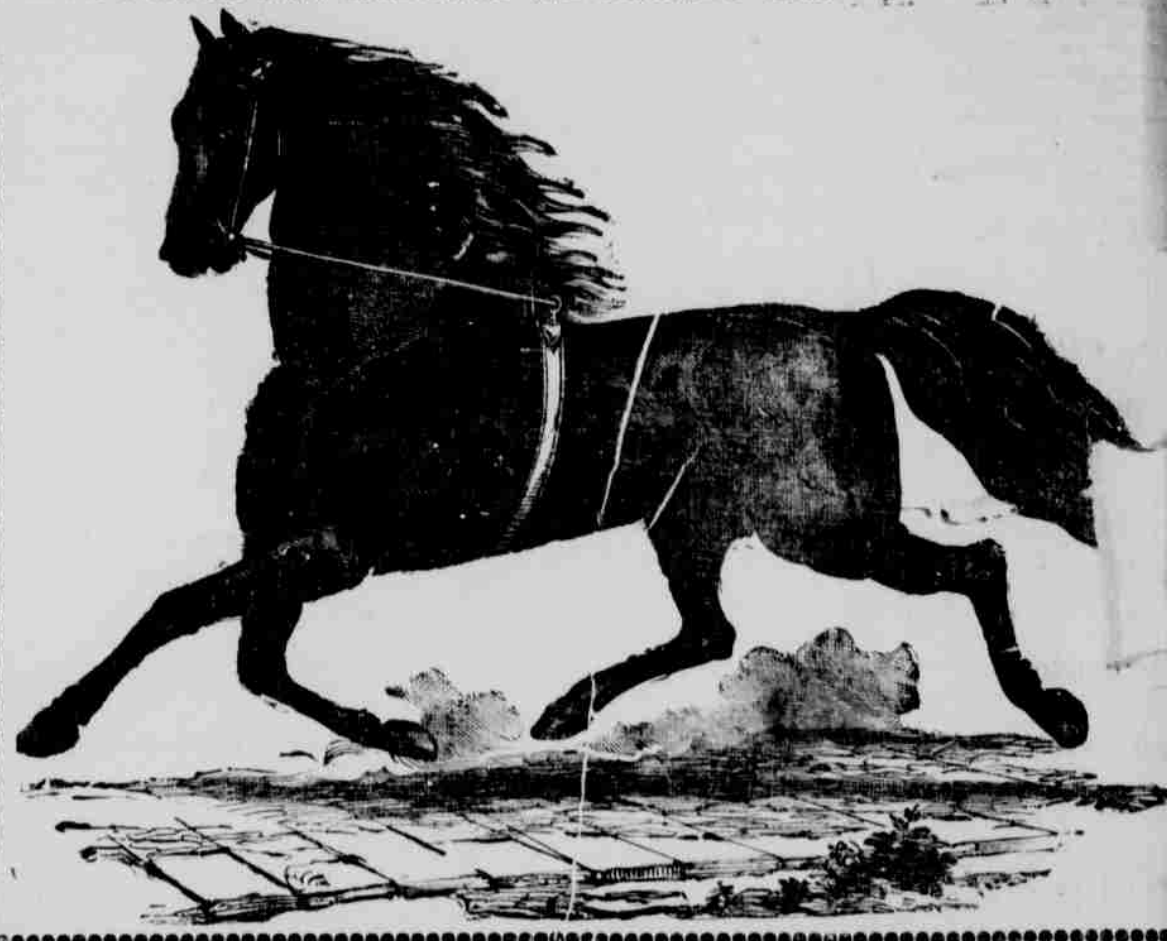

However, if it is a regular thing on your range you will make big money doing it regularly, at least once a year.

The purpose of this bulletin is not to quarrel with the learned druggist, who so kindly gave his new remedy to the cattleman, but to prevent the cattle owners in the territory from being misled by his statements.

His remedy is an excellent thing to feed cattle in the spring, anyhow. The salt they all need, the sulphur is ex-

Starting with nothing, is not easily headed in a financial way, and his second ten thousand is not much of a problem. ¶ The town that grows to 20,000 population from a cornfield, with no mining or other booms, no railroad competition, located in a sparsely settled and undeveloped territory, must have had a reason for its growth. ¶ How much greater today is the reason why Albuquerque should make a large city. ¶ The territory is fast settling up, statehood assured, capitalists investigating our undeveloped resources, the Albuquerque Eastern in sight, and the well known fact that the big snowball is never eclipsed in its onward course by the little fellows, makes it morally certain that

The annual Industrial and Trade have been one of the most elaborate and spectacular processions ever wit-men and representatives of local industries, out shone their best previous efforts and the results were beautiful and unique.

The crowds began to gather early and by 10:30 a. m. the parade finally started there was a jam of people in the downtown district and a line of spectators extending from the downtown park, where the procession turned back to disband.

In addition to the long and varied and gorgeous line of floats, the parade was made noteworthy by the participation of the Santa Fe band, Leardand and Lindemann first and second bands, Cooke's band, Nat Reuss carnival band, Indian school band,
Troops I and M of the Third Cavalry.
The full park train of sixty-five mules and accessories; the city fire department with four wagons, and the Santa Fe fire department preceded by a young lady on horseback with a handsome red banner bearing the Santa Fe trademark.

The procession was led by the city police department under Chief McMillan, Marshal Maynard Gimsel, and Aide H. O. Wright, the fair officers, mayor and aldermen in carriages, and Troop I of the Third Cavalry under command of Capt. McCoy. The mounted police in command of Capt. Fornoff, sheriffs under Sheriff Jesus Romero, cattlemen, traveling men, fraternal societies, and Nat Reuss' carnival in line made the parade an unusually long varied and picturesque affair.

Leutenant sterling led the sixth division with Troop M of the Third Cavalry.
The Floats.
It would be impossible to describe in detail all the floats. Suffice it to say that they were gotten up with great originality and elaborate care and reflect the greatest credit on the local business men. The Santa Fe Railroad and line of Pueblo Indian women in full fledged passenger train emerging from the Rabbit tunnel, with the les-

Becker-McTavish company, was here yesterday taking in the festivities.
J. C. Spears of Gallup, tax inspector, and one of the leading cold follows of the territory, returned home last night after attending the grand meetings of the order here.

W. D. Newcomb and John E. Grief-fith, well known citizens of Saguaro, were in the city yesterday, and led in the routing for the Saguaro ball team in the game against Albuquerque yesterday.

The meetings of the Royal Neighbors of America here, from 10:30 a. m.
to the second and fourth Fridays of each month in the Odd Fellows hall at 230 p. m. Mrs. C. A. Frank presides, Mrs. Jessie H. Clifford recorder.
The Ladies of the Maccabees have made a big hit with their attractive "Red Tent" at the fair grounds, and it has proved a haven of refuge for many fortune seekers at the park.
Next expenses are being distributed by this enterprising group of ladies and yesterday some 1,200 ladies had called and registered at the tent.

According to notices received yesterday, Samuel M. Birds of Oklahoma, who will coach the University of New Mexico football team here this season, was at Las Cruces, N. M., yesterday and is expected to arrive here Saturday night to at once take charge of the varsity team and train them to make a record-breaking season this year.

NOVEL WINDOW SHOW

One of the prettiest displays in the city during the week is that in the window of Ferguson and Knicker's

The central feature is a beautiful porcelain doll, dressed in white silk and imperious Columbia, wearing a gold crown and in the act of placing in the national flag a big golden star. The display has attracted a great deal of admiring attention.

Send "Santa Fe all the Way." The W.
C. T. U. float "Isabella the First lady" was a beautiful thing. Little girls dressed in white labeled as various states occupying a white decorated wagon followed by "New Mexico" id-
wagon followed by "New Mexico" id-company had a picturesque array of labeled wagons. Wright's laundry float had a fine Pueblo Indian women in bright blankets carrying tinajas on their heads, which attracted much favorable attention.

The American Lumber company had a wagon bearing an immense sixteen foot pine for some five or six feet in diameter, containing according to the legend 1343 feet of lumber board measure.

The Hubbs' laundry company and Imperial laundry had all their wagons in the line gayly decorated. Two mon trucks carried a huge ledger advertising the Hubbs' laundry.

The Commercial Life insurance company was represented by an immense decorated wagon, carrying General Manager J. H. O'RIELLY, and a big corps of his insurance men. The Alvarado Bottling works had a float advertising cleverly the merits of Coyote Mineral water. The Crown Bottling company and Albert Eber had clever furniture float. One of the most interesting displays was a big float of the Matthews Jersey Dairy, carrying a real genuine cow milked by the electric mechanical milker in use at the dairy, a big ice cream float, followed by the milk wagons of the company.
Beaumont's dairy also had a display.
Springer, the transfer man, got plenty of attention by just a wagon bearing the mammoth "pushball" used in the games at Traction park. The C. and
A. Coffee company, the Clearview
Dairy, Wood's Ice Cream cones, Strong Brothers, Glass and Fischer, the Whitney company, Joffe Grocery company, J. Kober and company, Leard and Lindemann, and others all had creditable displays.

The girls of the Second Ward school dressed in white made a hit by singing the national anthem in the procession.
The Civic Improvement society also had one of the prettiest features of the parade, a line of little girls, dressed in white, each bearing the cannon, the proposed flower for the new state of New Mexico.

One of the most effective floats was the automobile appropriately decorated, carrying a number of the Ladies of the Maccabees—Mrs. Anna E.
Bourne, territorial commander, Mrs.
Sarah Goodrich, Mrs. Ida Mason and Mrs. Maudie Orth, with Willie Goodrich as mascot.

Governor George Curry and General
E. D. Thomas, commander of the Department of the Colorado, U. S. A., General John Borradale, retired, and Deputy W. H. Andrews, reviewed the procession from a reviewing stand on Central avenue.

The division marshals were as follows:

First Division—Jay A. Phillips.
Second Division—W. H. HUBBS.
Third Division—J. A. McPherson.
Fourth Division—J. M. L. S. and George E. Wickham.
Fifth Division—N. H. HUBBS.
Sixth Division—Major H. Perry, H.
O. Wright, as aide.

The management of the Leader stand on Central avenue, very kindly opened and decorated the reviewing stand for the parade.

SCHOOL CHILDREN MUST VACCINATE SAYS MR. CLARK

Territorial Superintendent Instructs Teachers to Deny Admittance to Pupils Who Haven't Received the Virus.

The following circular letter to county superintendents issued by territorial school superintendent James E. Clark will be of considerable interest to the public:

Gentlemen:—
Chapter 103 of the Laws of 1903
Chapter 17 of the Laws of 1901, provide that all children of school age in each county of the territory shall be vaccinated against smallpox. An occasional difficulty has arisen concerning the interpretation and enforcement of these laws, and upon request I am submitting the following interpretation.

Each teacher of the public school crude, village, town, or city, shall deny admittance to his school to all children who are not so vaccinated.
Every child admitted to the school should be required to present statement from a reputable physician illness to practice in the territory of New Mexico certifying that said child is properly protected by vaccination; said certificate specifically stating that the child has been effectively vaccinated (having well pronounced scars) within a period of five years previous to the date of entrance upon the school—or that such child has been vaccinated either with or without pronounced effect, within a period of twelve months previous to entering the school.

"S. B.—It is the consensus of opinion of physicians of the United States that an effective vaccination protects the child against smallpox for a period of at least five years.

At the beginning of the school year and at such other times thereafter as it may be deemed advisable the teacher shall make report to the county superintendent of schools giving the number of children who have been vaccinated within a year and the number of children who have presented certificate certifying to effective vaccination within a period of five years, together with a list of names of parents who refuse or fail to have their children vaccinated.

It becomes the duty of the sheriff or any constable whom the sheriff may designate to arrest such parents or guardians and upon conviction they shall be fined not less than twenty-five ($25) dollars nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars or be imprisoned as provided by law.

The fine collected for violation of this act shall become a part of the school fund in the district in which the offender lives.

The county superintendent of schools is required to enforce the law touching the vaccination of children attending the rural schools under his supervision.

In incorporated cities and towns the boards of education are required to enforce the law.

Section 12, Chapter 131, Laws of 1903, provides a penalty ($25 to $500) for the failure of any member of a Board of Education, or any county superintendent, to perform his duty.

Vaccination may be performed by imposed under or by virtue of the law, the county health officer or by any reputable licensed physician.

The expense of vaccination of children in indigent families may be met as provided in Section 26, Chapter 103
Laws of 1903.

County superintendents are hereby urged to make special effort in the enforcement of the laws concerning vaccination against smallpox and to visit the various districts in which difficulties arise over the enforcement of this law with a view to a settlement of such difficulties without recourse to the courts.

Yours very respectfully,
J. E. CLARK,
Territorial Superintendent Public Instruction, Dept. of Education,
Santa Fe, New Mexico, Oct. 11, 1909.

Hon. J. E. Clark,
Terr. Supd. of Public Instruction,
Santa Fe, New Mexico.
Dear Sir:—

Your circular letter addressed to County Superintendents of schools on the subject of vaccination and the instruction thereto, meets with the approbation of this office, all matters pertaining thereto appearing to be fully set forth. Very respectfully,
H. CLANCY,
Assistant Attorney General.

local ability who stands highly in the business world.
Ex-Governor M. A. Otero, for nine years the chief executive of New Mexico, is known to every one in the territory. The fact that he has been chosen as president of the new company, augurs well for its success.
The land which the company proposes to irrigate will be available for settlement purposes immediately upon completion of the company's project.
The settler can then obtain the land at a cost of fifty cents an acre, which money goes to the territory, and by agreeing to pay his prorata share of the cost of constructing the project, which will irrigate the land. This water right cost, however, will not be made payable in a lump sum, but the settler will be given ten years at least,
in which to make the payments, reducing the obligation an easy one.
Mr. Stiger figures that the land under the project will in the near future rise to a value of $200 to $1000 an acre.
From 12,000 to 15,000 people it is expected will colonize the project, and the settlers on the lands will be of the thrifty energetic type for which eastern and southwestern New Mexico is famous.

VETERAN EDITOR OF NEW MEXICAN IS DEAD

Col. Max Frost Passes Away at Santa Fe After Long Struggle. Masons of Territory Will Have Charge of Funeral.

[Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal] Santa Fe, N. M., Oct. 14.—Col. Max Frost, the veteran editor of the Santa Fe New Mexican and for many years a prominent figure in New Mexico public affairs, passed away at his home here last night at 10:30 o'clock after an illness extending over the past ten years and against which he has made a most remarkable struggle. Col. Frost is survived by his wife and a son, Graham Frost. For the past nine months Col. Frost's condition has been critical and his life has been hanging by a thread for several weeks. His death was expected.

Standing high in the councils of New Mexico Masonry, a past grand master of the New Mexico grand lodge and a member of the thirty-third degree of the Scottish rite, the funeral, which will take place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, will be under the direction of the Masonic fraternity. Grand Secretary A. A. Keen of the New Mexico grand lodge at Albuquerque today issued a call for a meeting of the grand lodge at Santa Fe Sunday to attend the funeral.

Col. Frost was one of the most remarkable characters in the public life of the west. Interested in the Santa Fe New Mexican and political affairs in the territory for almost a quarter of a century, for the past ten years he has been blind and deprived of the use of his lower limbs by a partial paralysis. Yet up to within the past few months he has retained not only an active grasp and complete direction of the affairs of the newspaper which he made, but a very considerable influence in the affairs of the territory. Col. Frost held a number of public offices during his residence in New Mexico; was adjutant-general for several terms and for years was secretary of the bureau of immigration, where he did a great deal of work in advertising the territory.

Long and Varied Career.

Colonel Max Frost was born in New Orleans on New Year's day in 1852. His parents died while he was a boy his father being killed in battle at the age of 38 and his mother dying when she was 48 years old.

There were three brothers and three sisters.

In 1876 Colonel Frost arrived in Santa Fe and secured a position as chief clerk in the signal service of the United States army, supervising the building of a telegraph line through a country infested with Indians, in what is now Union, Quay and Guadalupe counties. Colonel Frost covered every foot of the line also from Santa Fe to El Paso, and to Phoenix, Arizona. After serving for a few years as clerk in the office of the United States surveyor general, and as deputy surveyor he was appointed adjutant general by Acting Governor William G. Ritch and reappointed later to the same office by Governor Lew Wallace. He was retained in office by Governor Lionel Sheldon after active and successful campaigns against cattle rustlers and renegade Indians, principally in San Juan county.

In 1881, just before the assassination of President Garfield the latter appointed Colonel Frost register of the land office at Santa Fe. President Arthur confirming the appointment. This necessitated Colonel Frost's resignation to adjutant general of the territory, but he retained the colonelcy of the First regiment of Infantry of the National Guard until 1886. Change of administrations, resulted in the retirement of Colonel Frost from the United States land office. Since then he has held no federal office but for more than twelve years was secretary of the territorial bureau of immigration.

Colonel Frost was a member of the territorial central committee of the republican party for more than twenty-five years and its secretary for twelve years. He also served for years almost continuously on city and county republican committees. Served as county commissioner, school director and in numerous minor political and official capacities.

As a newspaper man Colonel Frost began as correspondent for the Santa Fe New Mexican, becoming later special contributor and editorial writer. He bought the company in 1883, and assumed editorial control, which he retained with the exception of three years until the present year. Before 1883 he was associated with W. H. Balthache in the publication of the Evening Review in Albuquerque, which was merged with the New Mexican in 1883.

Mr. Frost became a master Mason at the time of the formation of the Grand Lodge of New Mexico in 1877. He took degree after degree steadily and held numerous offices in the Blue Lodge, and the Grand Lodge, and finally attained his goal of 32nd degree and inspector general for the jurisdiction of New Mexico.

Colonel Frost was an Odd Fellow and passed through the chairs. He was a member of the Board of Trade and took an active interest in the work of Women's Board of Trade, it being due to his efforts that $1000 were gathered towards the erection of the public library. He was treasurer of the New Mexico Historical society for years and gave much of his time to its work overseeing personally the publication of its many historical bulletins. He belonged to the Archaeological society and other similar organizations.

Colonel Frost was married early in the 80's to Miss Lydia Hood, who died soon after the birth of a son, Graham Frost. His second marriage was with Mrs. Maud Paine of Kansas City, who survives him.

Cartwright & Brother to declare the Taber-Vort company of Glorieta, Santa Fe county, a bankrupt, Judge John R. McFie today declared and adjudged the company a bankrupt and referred the matter to referee in bankruptcy, E. A. Johnson of Santa Fe.

Elected Captain of Company F.

Collector of Internal Revenue H. P. Bardshear has consented to accept commission as captain of Company F, First regiment of Infantry of the National Guard, stationed at Santa Fe.

Law Files Petition.

This morning Robert Law, former president of the New Mexico Central railroad, through his attorney, Col. George W. Pritchard, filed a petition in the First District court asking for a rule to show cause why a receiver shall not be appointed for the New Mexico Central railroad, which Law alleges owes him back salary amounting to $28,000. Law further alleges that the road is insolvent.

Seek An Injunction.

A petition has been filed in the district court by the following as plaintiffs: Leandro Lovato, Apolonio Lovato, Antonio Lovato, Erigida Lovato, Matias Urioste, A. B. Benahan and J. B. Pluvial, asking an injunction against the following defendants: Lucia Lacasagne, David M. White, J. W. Reynolds, superintendent of the New Mexico penitentiary, and others. The petition seeks to have the parties enjoined from removing clay from properties of the plaintiffs, known as the clay bank.

Judge McFie has issued an order on the defendants that they show cause by October 20 why an injunction should not be granted.

Wants Decree Modified.

Mrs. Josefa Herrera Velarde has filed a petition asking that the divorce decree granted some time ago be modified and that her former husband, Juan Velarde, be punished for contempt of court, not having paid the alimony provided in the decree.

DR. WU DISGUSTED WITH SPIRITUALISM

Washington, Oct. 14.—So far as the spirit world is concerned, it will have to worry along hereafter without recognition or assistance from Dr. Wu Ting Fang, Chinese minister to the United States. The diplomat was discouraged by the publicity given his recent investigation of the occult and the detailed account of his experience with a medium Wednesday night when the alleged spirits of his mother and President McKinley talked to him. It was given out at the Chinese legation that Dr. Wu had discontinued his inquiries into spiritualism into which he had been led, it was intimated, by the interest shown in it by such men as William T. Stead and Professor William James.

New York, Oct. 14.—The upturn of prices of stocks continued today in a diminishing volume of business, but expanding in a buoyant upshot in the last hour. There was a considerable demand from an uncovered short interest.

Their buying to cover seemed to be prompted, to a large extent, by the perception that the rise in the Bank of England discount rate was of small effect on securities markets, owing to the clearness with which it had been foreseen in the action of the private discount rate. The advance in the English bank rate of a half per cent a week ago was regarded as no more than a normal reflection of the hardening tendencies of fall money markets. The quick consequence of a further rise of a full 1 per cent, bringing the rate to 4 per cent, must be accepted as evidence of abnormal conditions.

Today there were further large withdrawals of gold, making it doubtful whether even the present rate will be sufficient for the protection of the London gold supply.

Advices from London today pointed to the possibility of an early additional advance.

Previous liquidation evidently had served to relieve the local money market so far that room was left for the recovery in prices. United States Steel especially was vigorously strong and the aggressive manner in which it was absorbed and bid up has a reassuring effect on sentiment toward the whole market.

The announcement of the absorption of the control of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas in the interest of the Hawley and Rock Island parties opened up a substantial extension of the ambitious railroad project of former interest and suggested some re-arrangement of the railroad affiliations. The various elections to fill vacancies left by the death of E. H. Harriman also directed attention to the subject of railroad alliances and pointed to the dissolution of some of the projects attributed to the late financier.

Western Union enjoyed the benefit of the good annual report. Closing prices:

FLIGHT FROM ST. LOUIS TO RICHMOND WINS CUP

New York, Oct. 14.—A. Holland Forbes, setting president of the Aero Club of America, who won the Latham cup by making a flight of 241 miles from St. Louis to Richmond, Va., returned to New York tonight.

"One only difficulty," said Mr. Forbes, "was when it grew cold. Moisture somehow got into our ballast and when we started to pump it out we found it frozen. We had to break it up with a hammer. Our drinking water froze, too, but thawed out in the sun next day."

We landed at Richmond, mistaking it for Norfolk and thinking we were close to the ocean."

New President of Dartmouth.
Hanover, N. H., Oct. 14.—The most distinguished assemblage Hanover has ever seen honored Dartmouth college and the new head of the historic institution today when Dr. Ernest Fox Nichols was inaugurated as Dartmouth's tenth president. More than a hundred colleges, American and European, were represented. In his inaugural address Dr. Nichols approved of athletics and declared that something must be done with the curriculum and with the idle student.

REBELS OVERCOME GOVERNMENT ARMY IN NICARAGUA

Nineteen Soldiers Slain in Bloody Battle at Greytown; Principal Seaport in Hands of Insurgents.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire]
Colon, Panama, Oct. 14.—A dispatch received by wireless from Bluefields, Nicaragua, says General Chamorro, a rebel leader, marched on Greytown and attacked and defeated the government troops, nineteen being killed. General Estrada is reported to be marching on Cape Gracias, where two thousand government troops have been concentrated to oppose him.

The dispatch says the revolution appears to have been well planned and broke out simultaneously on the Pacific and Atlantic coast. Cortes, the principal port on the Pacific coast of Nicaragua, is in the hands of revolutionaries. Juan Estrada, who with General Chamorro, organized the uprising, is one of three brothers whom President Zeledon has always regarded as his staunchest military friends.

These are conflicting reports, but it is said that it was due to a rumor that Zeledon intended to depose Estrada, who is active in the army. Another report is that Zeledon secretly indicated the trouble, hoping thereby to be able to get rid of the country and then peacefully depose Estrada. The Americans at Bluefields are reported to be waiting over the turn of affairs.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Robert Keller, self-confessed burglar, was today sentenced to an indefinite term in the state penitentiary after being found guilty of stealing seven cents.
