ROOSEVELT'S LIBEL SUIT AGAINST EDITOR NEWETT BEGINS AT MARQUETTE

AND PROPHETS PREDICT THAT IT WILL BE A "HOT ONE" BEFORE IT ENDS, AS FAMOUS ROUGH RIDER IS DETERMINED TO END, ONCE AND FOR ALL, THOSE "DRINK STORIES" CIRCULATED BY ENEMIES.

CARLOAD OF WITNESSES AND MANY NEWSPAPER MEN ARRIVE

Marquette, Mich., May 26.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, accompanied by a retinue of friends, witnesses and newspaper men, arrived here this morning. His suit for $10,000 damages charging libel against George A. Newett, publisher of the Ishpeming Iron Ore, is scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock this afternoon, with the selection of a jury.

The forenoon proceedings in court occupied less than a minute. "Roosevelt vs. Newett," read the clerk of the court from the calendar. "The plaintiff is ready," said Attorney W. S. Hill.

"The defense is ready," repeated Attorney W. P. Belden. Judge Flannigan then announced that the case would begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Suit Began at 2 p. m. The libel suit brought by Col. Theodore Roosevelt against George A. Newett, proprietor of the Ishpeming Iron Ore, began before Judge Richard C. Flannigan this afternoon.

At 2 o'clock the court called the case of "Roosevelt vs. Newett," in which Col. Roosevelt is asking $10,000 damages for the publication by Newett last October of an editorial charging Col. Roosevelt with drunkenness. The regular venire of 36 men came into court immediately and the work of selecting a jury began.

Many Women Present. Before the case was called the court room was filled with spectators, including many women, mostly seated in the balconies. The corridors outside were thronged with others anxious to be the first to enter when the doors were opened to the general public. Judge Flannigan announced that none would be admitted after the regular seats had been filled. Colonel Roosevelt, who arrived here early in the day, accompanied by former members of his cabinet, and a number of witnesses, arrived at the court house shortly before the case was called. He drove up in an automobile, and walking between the two secret service men, went into the court room. His arrival was not attended by any demonstration.

The room remained perfectly quiet as Col. Roosevelt entered. He took a chair beside William H. Van Benschoten, of New York, one of his lawyers. He listened attentively while the names of the veniremen were being called by Clerk Jenks.

No Greetings. The defendant sat at a table, with his lawyers, to the right and somewhat in front of the plaintiff. Neither appeared to see the other.

Attorney Pound thought that the opposing lawyers had some advantage in having a table near the jury box.

and, receiving permission from the court, moved to a more favorable position, facing the box.

The clerk put the names of the veniremen, each written on a slip of paper, into a tin box and after shaking the box began to pick out the names one by one until twelve men were seated in the box for examination as prospective jurors.

Nature of the Suit.

Attorney Pound then explained to the men the purpose of the suit. "This suit," said Mr. Pound, "is brought by Theodore Roosevelt of New York, against the defendant, Newett, charging libel. I think that is all I need to say at present, and I will proceed to question you."

Joseph Robear, 25 years old, a teamster, said he lived in Ishpeming. Asked whether the fact that the alleged libel took place in Ishpeming would influence him in forming an opinion, Robear replied, it would not.

Not a Joke.

"Do you look upon the publication of such a statement about Colonel Roosevelt as a joke?" "No, I would not consider it a joke."

WANTS INSURANCE FOR PROTECTION EXEMPTED

PRESIDENT OF THE N.Y.L.I.C. MAKES REQUEST OF SENATE SUB-COMMITTEE HANDLING INCOME TAX SECTION.

SPIRITED EXCHANGE OVER CAMPAIGN GIFTS

Washington, D. C., May 26.—Darwin P. Kingsley, president of the New York Life Insurance company, appeared today to the senate sub-committee handling the income tax section of the tariff bill to exempt all insurance written for protection and mutual benefit and not for profits. He had a spirited exchange with Senator Williams over campaign contributions disclosed in the Hughes investigation several years ago.

"When your company paid $250,000 to a campaign fund," asked Senator Williams, "none of that money ever was participated in by the policyholders, was it?"

"No, it was not," said Mr. Kingsley. "Then that proved that your company's assertions that policyholders participated in all the earnings of the company was false, didn't it?"

"It proved," Mr. Kingsley retorted, "that the judgment of this company's officers who paid this campaign contribution thinking it was necessary to protect the assets of the company, was bad."

"It proved more than that," asserted Senator Williams. "It was absolute dishonesty. I was a policyholder and a Democrat and you took part of my money and gave it away to protect me against my own party. But has all that sort of thing been done away with?"

"Absolutely," replied President Kingsley. He explained laws which prohibit it.

President Kingsley submitted a detailed statement of his company's business and resources to show that it conducted business actually on a nominal basis. The total assets of the company last year were $719,000,000 and he declared not a dollar was kept back from the fund in which policyholders participated.

SUFFRAGETTES NOW ATTACK GOLF LINKS

St. Andrews, Scotland, May 26.—Two militant suffragettes attempted early today to damage the golf links here and so interfere with the opening of play for the amateur golf championship of the world.

The women were intercepted near the seventeenth green by the night guards, who have been on duty in considerable force for over a week owing to threats of militant leaders. One of the women escaped but later was caught. She was liberated after being searched.

MAY RE-SELL PATENTED ARTICLES AT CUT RATES.

Washington, D. C., May 26.—Patented articles sold under price restrictions by manufacturers may be resold by retailers at cut rates. The supreme court so held today in the case of a newly patented nerve tonic. Safety razors, talking machines and thousands of other patented articles are affected by the decision.

CORONER'S INQUEST ON THURSDAY WILL FIX GUILT FOR LONG BEACH HORROR

Los Angeles, Calif., May 26.—Coroner Calvin Hartwell and District Attorney John D. Fredericks conferred today with reference to handling the inquiry into the pier disaster Saturday at Long Beach which cost lives and was decided that there would be no jury investigation.

The coroner, it was said, was vested with powers sufficient to cover the case and the right to obtain prosecutions for manslaughter if the evidence developed at the inquest, which begins Thursday, warrants such action. The coroner will go into all phases of the disaster and will delve into the history of the municipal pier and the city auditorium, the construction of which was accompanied by charges of graft. The structures were completed in 1905 and 1906. J. B. Losce, a member of the city council at that time, and Mayor Eno, were charged with having accepted bribes from the contractor. Losce was the only man brought to trial. The jury disagreed and without going to trial a second time, Losce turned $10,000 into the city treasury. No action was taken against the contractor, John Baird, and the structures, as built, were accepted.

The allegation that since the building of the pier it never has been systematically inspected will also be probed by the coroner's jury. Experts will be appointed to examine the damaged pier and report on its condition. One expert will be named by Mayor Hatch, of Long Beach, another by the British consulates which were celebrating Empire Day when the disaster occurred, and the third will be selected by Coroner Hartwell and District Attorney Fredericks.

Long Beach, Calif., May 26.—Evidence to be presented Thursday at the inquest over the 36 persons who lost their lives in the collapse Saturday of a portion of the municipal pier will hear directly upon the question of who was responsible for the condition of the structure which proved too weak to withstand the weight of several thousand men, women and children, who had gathered to celebrate the birth anniversary of the late Queen Victoria.

Broken timbers, showing evidence of decay and the corrosive action of salt air from the ocean were under guard today awaiting the requisition of the coroner's jury. Several construction engineers, among them Luther Munson and J. P. Kennedy, who were appointed on behalf of the city of Long Beach, began an official inspection and investigation.

One of the principal witnesses before the coroner's jury will be James Twombly, member of the Long Beach board of public works, who, according to Mayor Hatch and his colleagues on the works board, was charged with the duty of inspecting buildings.

Coroner Hartwell said that he was working in accord with District Attorney John D. Fredericks, who personally inspected the scene of the disaster yesterday.

Daughters of the Empire and Sons of St. George, the two principal organizations which had charge of the Empire Day celebration which ended so tragically, started a campaign today for the relief of the victims.

MURDER TRIAL TO BEGIN IN NEWBURG

BURTON W. GIBSON, A LAWYER, IS CHARGED WITH CHOKING AND DROWNING MRS. SZABO—EYE WITNESS ON STAND.

Newburg, N. Y., May 26.—When the trial of Burton W. Gibson for the alleged murder of Rosa Szabo was resumed today, John Minter, of Greenwood Lake, the only eye witness of the fatality, was subjected to a close cross-examination.

Minter said he watched the boat containing Gibson and Mrs. Szabo at a distance of three-eighths of a mile. It appeared to him that Gibson seized the woman and pushed her overboard. Then Gibson, he said, went overboard from the other side of the boat, swam to the boat and upped it and then appeared to pull off the Jersey of his bathing suit.

The state charges that Gibson choked the woman, pushed her overboard, jumped overboard from the opposite side of the boat, upset it and tore off his Jersey to make it appear that he had lost part of his suit in a struggle to save the woman.

The defense is that the death of Mrs. Szabo was an accident.

LOVETT CONFERS WITH M'REYNOLDS

Washington, D. C., May 26.—Robert S. Lovett and N. H. Reynolds, representing the Union Pacific railroad, conferred with Attorney General McReynolds on plans for dissolution of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific merger, which may be submitted to the department of justice within a few days.

It is understood here that the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific interests have not agreed on a method of dissolution. The plan of the Union Pacific is expected to represent the view of that road on the disposition of its $126,000,000 of Southern Pacific stock and also its view of the proposed transfer of the Central Pacific to the Union Pacific. The Southern Pacific is averse to surrendering the Central Pacific.

GOVERNOR OF ARIZONA GUARDS CONVICTS AT PEN.

Phoenix, Ariz., May 26.—Armed with rifle and revolver, as regulations require, Governor George W. P. Hunt mounted guard on the penitentiary walls at Florence for two hours yesterday while the convicts and their guards enjoyed a concert by vaudeville performers in the prison mess hall.

It was hot on the wall and the scales at the capitol showed today that the governor had lost two pounds of his ample averdupois.

NECK DISLOCATED, McCARTY WENT TO HIS DEATH

HEART FAILURE WAS NOT THE CAUSE
DECLARE PHYSICIANS WHO CONDUCTED AUTOPSY ON PUGILIST'S BODY.

PELKEY AND OTHERS ARE ARRESTED

Calgary, Alberta, May 26.—Warrants were issued early today for the arrest of Tommy Burns, who staged last Saturday's prize fight in which Luther McCarty met his death; William McCarty, McCarty's manager; Referee Ed. Smith, and several trainers and attendants.

This development followed an order from the attorney general at Edmonton, Alberta, that all principals in the arrangements for the fight be arrested and the northwest mounted police were instructed to execute the order immediately. It is understood that the men arrested will be charged with complicity in manslaughter.

Arthur Pelkey, McCarty's opponent, who was arrested on a charge of manslaughter, will be given a preliminary hearing in police court at 11 o'clock this morning, but owing to the decision last night of the physicians who conducted the autopsy that McCarty's death resulted from dislocation of the neck and not heart failure, as had been at first announced, it is anticipated that the hearing will be adjourned awaiting the result of the coroner's inquest, which will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Wrestler Had Better Luck.

Montreal, May 26.—The injuries which Stanislaus Zbykos sustained in a wrestling match Saturday night with Constant Le Marin are inconsequential and consist only of a "slight erosion" instead of a serious fracture of the skull, according to a bulletin issued by Zbykos's doctors today. The erosion, they added, was at the seat of a cut over the eye which the wrestler received by tumbling out of the ring. No complications are expected, though the patient will not be able to wrestle again for 8 or 10 days.

Le Marin asserts that he did not foul Zbykos and says he may contest the decision given Zbykos, inasmuch as it was based on Le Marin's alleged foul.

AN ERROR CORRECTED.

In Saturday's issue of The New Mexican, in the write-up of the school exercises, the biographical sketches of the Seniors appeared under the authorship of Miss Miriam Cartwright. This is an error. The sketches were written by another member of the class, and as Miss Cartwright was mentioned in almost complimentary manner in the article, she naturally wishes to be absolved from the position as author of the write-up. The error occurred from the fact that her name was the first one appearing and she was credited with being the writer. The New Mexican gladly makes the correction in justice to Miss Cartwright, that position and not be under charge of giving self praise in the mention of the members of the class.

FLAYS FRIEDMANN "CURE" AND ASKS THAT PUBLIC BE SAVED FROM FRAUD

DR. JOSEPH F. O'CONNELL, HEALTH OFFICER OF PORT OF NEW YORK, SAYS OPERATION OF TURTLE SERUM SEEMS TO ACCELERATE RATHER THAN RETARD RAVAGES OF "T. B."

SCORES OF ADVERTISEMENTS THAT RAISE FINAL AND PITIFUL HOPES

New York, May 26.—Dr. Joseph F. O'Connell, health officer of the port of New York, sent a letter today to Health Commissioner Lederle requesting him to submit to the board of health at its next meeting a resolution prohibiting the administration of the Friedmann treatment for tuberculosis in New York, until such time as those interested affirmatively in its administration shall notify the health department of "innoculated character."

"The report of the investigator of your department," reads the letter, "whose peculiar experience with tuberculosis gives his reports compelling force, are all to the effect that the dangers which might be apprehended in such a form of treatment are actually present therein. He finds that the patients subjected to this treatment have not improved but have lost ground to an extent greater than might be expected from natural ravages of the disease."

Dangerous Results.

"He finds that where the tuberculosis had affected one side prior to inoculation with the serum (sic) there was after such inoculation an unusually rapid development of the tubercular process on the hitherto healthy side, which indicates that the operation of the alleged cure had a tendency to accelerate rather than retard the progress of the disease.

A Cruel Fraud. "It seems to me that it would be culpable for us to longer hesitate, and that our duty now is to insist upon such a regulation and supervision of this enterprise as shall prevent the perpetration upon the public of a dangerous and cruel fraud. We can not overlook the fact that this treatment has been exploited much after the manner of the exploitation of many so-called mining securities and other financial schemes from which the credulous public has suffered."

Awakens Pitiful Hopes.

"The wide advertisement of the serum has had an effect of awakening a final and pitiful hope in the breasts of the desperately ill, which shroud and conscienceless men might turn into an immense financial profit. There has been time and opportunity in plentiful measure extended to Dr. Friedmann and those who propose similar remedies for tuberculosis to demonstrate the therapeutic value of their treatments, but there has been no such demonstration of value. On the other hand, we have before us reports of the gravest character."

COURT'S DECISION HITS MORE THAN 10,000 FARMERS

Washington, D. C., May 26.—More than ten thousand farmers on reclamation projects of the west will be affected by the supreme court's decision today that they must pay to the government the cost of maintaining and operating the various reclamation projects, pending their completion.

The decision is in the suit by D. P. Baker and other farmers on the Sunny Side Unit of the Yakima, Washington, project to have the reclamation service enjoined from cutting off the water supply to enforce collection of such charges, imposed under instructions from the secretary of the interior in 1902. Nearly a million dollars have already been collected by the government. Half a million more is about due.

Justice Lamar announced the court's unanimous decision and declared that congress intended the settlers should pay the cost of maintenance and operation.

Denver, Colo., May 26.—The decision of the supreme court in the Denver Union Water company case is the outcome of the action of the voters at an election held May 17, 1910, when the company's application for a new franchise was defeated, together with an alternative proposition to purchase the corporation's plant for $14,400,000 and an amendment to the city charter was adopted creating a public utilities commission with a view to constructing municipal water works.

On September 6, 1910, the taxpayers voted for an issue of bonds in the sum of $8,000 for the building of the city plant. On the day before, however, Judge Robert E. Lewis, in the United States district court had issued an injunction, on application of the New York Trust company, first mortgage bondholder of the Denver Union Water company, restraining the city from issuing the bonds. On May 19, 1911, the United States circuit court of appeals upheld Judge Lewis. The case was then taken to the supreme court of the United States.

The New York Trust company maintained that the city had made a contract with the water company to purchase its plant or renew the franchise upon its expiration on April 10, 1910.

SIRINGO, DETECTIVE---COWBOY AND AUTHOR, WEDS FAIR WIDOW

Charles A. Siringo, of Santa Fe, author, ex-detective, cow puncher, rancher and good fellow went east a bachelor—and returns home Wednesday a benedict.

Miss Alta Smith, society editor of the "New Era," published at Hot Springs, Arkansas, tells the glad news in the following dispatch:

Hot Springs, Ark., May 26. Telegraph Editor, Santa Fe New Mexican: Charles A. Siringo weds Mrs. Helen

Partain of Bay City, Texas, at the Majestic hotel at 4 o'clock in the presence of guests. The Rev. Alonzo Monk officiated. Bride wore elegant lavender gown. Leaves Wednesday for Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Success is the above story of the function, Miss Smith forgot to add that now the mystery of Siringo's long journey to Texas and his prolonged sojourn there despite the hot weather is solved. It was a romance!

GEORGE A. NEWETT, DEFENDANT.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT, PLAINTIFF.

Examined by William P. Belden, counsel for Newett, Robear was asked:

"Would the fact that the plaintiff was a president of the United States affect you any different from what you would feel if he were a plain citizen, like Mr. Newett?"

"No, that fact would not affect me. You would not be influenced by the fact that he has been president?"

"No sir."

Hugo Erickson, of Ishpeming, the next to be examined, said he did not know the defendant, had neither business nor social relations with him.

"Would it make any difference to you that one party to the suit was a resident of the state of New York and the other a neighbor?" asked Attorney Pound.

"No," replied the witness.

"If a newspaper declared that someone is guilty of murder or burglary, would you regard it as a joke or a serious matter?"

KNOW IT WELL.

A familiar burden to many homes. The burden of a "bad back." A lame, a weak or an aching back often tells you of kidney ills. Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Here is Santa Fe testimony. J. T. Sandoval, 115 Ortiz St., Santa Fe, N. Mex., says: "A dull pain in the small of my back, sometimes extending into my bladder, caused me a great deal of suffering, particularly when I took cold. I was bothered mostly in the winter, and in addition to the pain in my back, there were symptoms of inflammation of the bladder. The kidney secretions were highly colored and when passed were attended with a scalding pain. I never used another remedy that acted as satisfactorily as Doan's Kidney Pills. They proved to be just the medicine my case required and the complete cure they brought me, has led me to recommend them on more than one occasion."

R. W. BARRY KILLED IN COUPLING CARS

R. W. Barry, conductor on the Santa Fe branch between here and Lamy was accidentally killed Sunday morning at the latter place, at about 10:15. The accident was a distressing one and has cast a gloom over his family and many friends here who have known him for many years.

Mr. Barry and Charles A. Haynes went out on their run together yesterday, as usual, leaving here shortly after eight o'clock. The train crew were switching in the Lamy yards at the time of the accident and had a coupling to make with the third car from the engine. The cars being switched were coal cars, and the engine had been given to slack the engine ahead. Mr. Barry told Mr. Haynes to let off the brakes while he, Barry, made the coupling. The supposition is that the knuckle out of the draw bar had dropped down, and that Mr. Barry reached down to get it when he became caught between the couplings, and was instantly killed. His remains were brought to this city and put in the care of C. F. Rising, the undertaker, who prepared them for interment.

Mr. Barry was about 55 years old and leaves a wife and three daughters, one living here with her mother, at their home near the depot, and the other two older girls being at school in Kansas. It was only Saturday last that the New Mexican published an account of Miss Esther Barry's musical accomplishments at the Ottawa university, in that state.

Mr. Barry had secured transportation and was soon to take a trip east to Buffalo, New York and Washington, and had planned to stop and see his daughters in Kansas.

He will be taken east for burial, either to New York or to Illinois, where he spent the earlier part of his life. Mr. Barry had been a resident of Santa Fe for the past 15 years and the sympathy of the entire community is extended to his family in their bereavement.

SOME ADDITIONAL HISTORY BY AN INTIMATE FRIEND.

Mr. Richard Wilson Barry was born fifty-seven years ago in New York City.

He began railroading twenty-nine years ago for the Santa Fe system. After securing a common school education he took a course in the Gem City business college at Quincy, Ill. He was married to Miss Elizabeth Rodney, twenty-three years ago last December in Kansas City. Four children were born to them, Frances, Esther, Gladys and little Grace who preceded her father to their heavenly home by eight years. Mr. Barry came to Santa Fe fourteen years ago the fifth of this month. Frances and Esther Barry graduated from the Santa Fe high school four years ago and in the following September entered Ottawa university of Ottawa, Kansas, from which institution they will be graduated next week. The sad news of the death of their father was wired to them yesterday but it is feared that it did not reach them in time to take the afternoon train and will probably not arrive before tomorrow evening.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at St. John's Methodist Episcopal church, the Rev. J. M. Shimer officiating.

The family expect to leave for Hillsboro, Ill., Wednesday afternoon or Thursday morning where interment will be made in the beautiful family plot. The remains of little Grace will be taken and be interred with her father.

Mr. Barry had two brothers and one sister still living and two brothers and a sister who have passed on to the great beyond.

Mr. Barry was a good man, a believer in Christ, but rather secretly as Nicodemus old old.

He always attended church when his arduous duties would permit, and loved to talk with his intimate friends about religion and the Bible.

After the burial, the family expect to return to Santa Fe for a short time and then return to eastern Kansas where they will probably make their future home.

BAPTISTS ELECT OFFICERS.

Detroit, Mich., May 26.—The principal business today before the session of the Northern Baptist convention, which has been in session here since last Wednesday, was the election of officers of the convention and co-operating organizations, the report of the laymen's movement, and the report of the general apportionment committee.

Work for the New Mexican. It is working for you, for Santa Fe and for the new state.

THOUSANDS MAKE A PUBLIC ACT OF FAITH

CORPUS CHRISTI PROCESSION, WITH ARCHBISHOP PITAVAI CARRYING THE HOST—HELD HERE UNDER IDEAL WEATHER CONDITIONS.

PONTIFICAL HIGH MASS AT CATHEDRAL

Corpus Christi, one of the chief festivals of the Roman Catholic church, instituted in 1264 by Pope Urban IV in honor of the Blessed Eucharist, falls on the Thursday after Trinity Sunday. The day is sometimes observed, however, on the following Sunday with a procession to enable the faithful to make a "public" act of faith.

Hundreds of people turned out yesterday to see thousands of Catholics, men, women and children, nuns, priests and prelates, make a public act of faith in the real presence of God in the Blessed Eucharist, which was carried in solemn procession through the streets of this Ancient "City of Holy Faith."

To those who have the Catholic faith, the ceremony was a beautiful and consoling one. To the spectators, who share not this belief, it was striking, original and spectacular.

There was one feature of the procession which appealed to everyone—and that was the beauty of the little children, dressed in white, their flowing hair crowned with flowers, and their baby hands strewing rose petals before the Sacred Host. Their cherubic faces and innocent eyes lent a heavenly touch to the picture.

Services Begin.

The high mass in honor of Corpus Christi was celebrated at the Cathedral of St. Francis at 9:30 a. m. The church was crowded long before that hour, however, and hundreds of people, including a number of ladies, had to stand up. His Grace, the Most Rev. J. B. Pitavai, archbishop of the archdiocese of Santa Fe, pontificated, his rich voice filling the great edifice as he chanted in Latin certain portions of the mass. The vicar general, the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Fourchegu, the Rev. Father Koppers, the Rev. Father Cellier and the Rev. Father Deracher took part in the ceremony. His grace preached a short sermon, appropriate to the occasion.

The music following the mass was of exceptional brilliance, the soloists possessing voices of wide range and singular sweetness.

Procession Begins.

It was 11 o'clock before the procession began to form, the cross bearers and acolytes leading it. Then came the children of the Sodality of Mary, carrying their banners; the sisters and young ladies of Loretto Academy; the sisters and children of St. Vincent; the girls of the parochial school; the sisters and children of St. Catherine's school; the ladies of the confraternity of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, and then the ladies of the cathedral.

Following them came the band, the members wearing red uniforms, and playing religious airs.

More sodalities followed, including that of St. Joseph. The boys who are pupils of the parochial school, came next, forming a long line. Towering above these came the athletic looking boys of St. Michael's college, followed by Christian brothers wearing their black garb, and the college alumni.

Then came hundreds of men of the cathedral, carrying their hats in their hands, and their lips moving in prayer.

Following these came the guard of honor of the Blessed Sacrament, and then the little girls strewing flowers. The girls performed their task in relays, the tinkling of a silver bell in leading that others were to take their places. Young men carrying baskets of flowers walked on either side, and frequently replenished the little baskets carried by the girls. Then came the directors of the procession and members of the cathedral parish.

The altar boys in purple cassocks and white surplices, followed with censors, which they waved incessantly in front of the Sacred Host. Then came the pallium bearers, carrying the canopy over the archbishop, who held in both hands the ostensorium containing the consecrated host. Near the archbishop walked the vicar general and priests of the cathedral.

Bringing up the rear of the procession were members of the cathedral choir, under the direction of the Christian Brothers, who chanted as they walked.

Visits Two Altars.

The procession passed out of the cathedral, continued up Canyon road where the first stop was made at an improvised altar at the residence of Francisco Delgado. Psalms were sung, as in the beginning of the service, called "Benediction," and the celebrant, with the faithful, bowed down in homage to the Eucharist. As the procession continued, one's eye could see that a stream of people nearly a mile long, had preceded the celebrant. The procession passed down Palace avenue and made the next stop at the altar erected in front of the Sena residence, not far from the post office. There the faithful again knelt down, a psalm was sung and the benediction was again given by the archbishop.

The procession returned to the cathedral where benediction was given for the third time, ending the ceremony.

Cleans Blood Through Kidneys

A Most Important Function and One to Be Carefully Guarded.

The purpose of the kidneys being to filter the blood the question of treating a supposed kidney weakness should be considered carefully. Instead of drugs and alleged kidney stimulants the better plan is to purify the blood with an antidotal effect such as you get from S. S. S.

It should be remembered that the kidneys are made up of a fine network of blood vessels, and it is to stimulate the functional activity of kidney tissue through this capillary net work that S. S. S. shows one of its most remarkable effects.

The medicinal value of the components of S. S. S. is relatively just as vital to healthy kidney action as the nutriment obtained from grain, meat, fats, sugars, or any other part of our daily food is to the natural reconstructive requirements of the tissues. And there is one component of S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating the cellular tissues of the kidneys to a healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. Thus, in cases of rheumatism, cystitis, chronic sore throat, huskiness of voice, bronchitis, asthma, and the myriad of other reflex indications of weak kidney action, first purify your blood with S. S. S. so it will enable the tissues to rebuild their cellular strength and regain their normal health.

Ideal Weather.

The weather proved ideal for such a procession, and the thousands who walked bareheaded did not experience any inconvenience. It was an orderly procession, all the arrangements having been made with skill and carried out without a hitch.

The people who lined the streets remained from long talking, realizing the solemnity of the ceremony, which they were witnessing. Occasionally the "click-click" of a kodak and camera was heard, but there was no event to mar the beauty of the celebration. Cedar trees lined the way of the procession and added to its beauty.

And thus the feast of Corpus Christi, "Body of Our Lord" was celebrated for the six hundred and forty-ninth time in a public manner—a custom which still obtains in Catholic countries, but which is rarely seen in these United States.

THEY THREATENED WOODROW WILSON

Newark, N. J., May 26.—Seeley Davenport and Jacob Dunn, mountain choppers of Wharton, N. J., were convicted by a Federal grand jury of sending threatening letters to Woodrow Wilson while he was president-elect.

In the case of Davenport the jury recommended mercy. The communications mailed to Mr. Wilson were received by his secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty, in May and November of last year, and demanded money in sums of $1,000 to $5,000 under a penalty of death.

The jury deliberated two hours. Davenport and Dunn were found guilty on all counts of the indictment. They were remanded for sentence. They face a minimum penalty of 29 years in prison and a fine of $4,000.

The Santa Fe New Mexican Habit.

A man of our acquaintance, who might not be suspected of knowing much about his wife's hats and gowns, has lately acquired the habit of studying the advertising pages of THE SANTA FE NEW MEXICAN. The result is that he has enjoyed no little amount of profitable diversion in helping his wife make her spring selections of hats and shoes and other apparel.

By friendly co-operation and discussion of the many attractive offerings, he proved himself of great assistance to his wife and turned many weeks of irritating shopping experiences into a pleasant pastime.

He has demonstrated to his own satisfaction that, by a systematic study of the advertising columns of THE SANTA FE NEW MEXICAN, one may save time, money and patience in spring shopping. Also, that it is a very good habit to take THE SANTA FE NEW MEXICAN home each day or to have it delivered regularly, where it may be read thoroughly in the quiet of the home circle.

INCOMPETENT LEADERS CAUSE WORRY

FOR PRESIDENT WILSON—THE SENATE SEEMS SHORT ON LEADERSHIP—DEMOCRATS FALL EASILY INTO PITFALLS BY REPUBLICANS.

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, D. C., May 26.—President Wilson is having difficulty in restraining his impatience at the incompetent leadership of the Democratic majority in the senate. Simmons is a weak leader. By virtue of seniority he has become chairman of the finance committee and therefore normally competent to lead the majority as a guinea pig is to go to war. He has stupidly played into the hands of the Republicans and messed up the tariff situation in a tangle of dilatory filibuster. He has fallen into every pit dug by Penrose, Smoot and Gallinger, even following the Aldrich precedent of holding secret conferences between the Democratic section of the finance committee and the lobbyists and other representing corporate interests seeking a modification of the proposed law. If Simmons has been acting in good faith he should, of course, have reported the house bill at once from the finance committee and begun the open discussion. Now the bill is in secret conference with the prospect of at least a month's delay before the open filibuster which will be started as soon as it reaches the floor of the senate.

Even Penrose is able to make a monkey of Simmons. The other day when Penrose offered a resolution asking for the names of corporation representatives who had been in private conference with Simmons and his confederates, Simmons stumbled head over heels into the trap and opposed the resolution, much to the glee of Lodge, Smoot and others, who spent a merry afternoon girding the victims of this stupid leadership.

Hoke Smith tried to save the situation by announcing that his section of the committee was holding open meetings and welcomed newspaper men, but even then Simmons did not see the avenue of escape. Reed, of Missouri, tried to divert attention by digging up the old charges against S. N. D. North, and repeating for several hours the history of the Dingley and Aldrich tariff legislation. This, of course, was what Penrose wanted—delay. It postponed action on the tariff and several other vital matters like Kern's investigation into the West.

Unless somebody will call Simmons and put him on the top shelf there is no telling what will happen to tariff legislation in particular, or the Democratic fortunes in general.

Another excellent appointment made by President Wilson is that of Louis Post, editor of "The Public," to be assistant secretary of commerce. Louis Post is one of our best citizens. For years he has published at a loss the paper which maintains the most accurate perspective on political events of any publication in the United States, and the viewpoint from which events are seen is that of Democracy with a small "d." It is to the credit of Mr. Wilson that he has recognized a man who never has sought recognition and never has held office nor sought office. Mr. Post is a resident of Chicago where his little weekly paper is published.

The burning question in Washington is whether $2000 a year is sufficient for a cabinet officer to spend for rent. Vice-President Marshall started the game by announcing that he would not spend over $1800 and he is still looking for a house. The secretary of labor, Mr. Wilson, is living at a hotel because he can not afford exorbitant house rent. Mr. Daniels says he will try to bring his rent allowance within $2000. Champ Clark is for the $2000 proposition and so is Mr. Redfield, although he is able to pay more. Mr. Bryan has exceeded the speed limit and rented a house which is to cost $1000. This is excused, however, by the fact that he is secretary of state and is bound to do a considerable amount of entertaining. He has taken Mrs. Logan's house on the brow of a 14th street hill. He also can afford the expense, being now as a result of lecturing and newspaper work, a member of the capitalistic class. The real estate men think cabinet members ought to pay ten of twelve thousand dollars a year for a house and many who have been interviewed say it is not possible to obtain one suitable for entertaining at a less figure. Mr. Marshall replies, "Well then, I won't be entertaining."

The Fels bulletin calls attention to the marked difference between Seattle and Vancouver in the matter of building operations, to the credit of Vancouver, where in 1912 building permits were issued for improvements to a value of $19,388,332, while in Seattle improvements for that year totaled only $8,315,325. In Vancouver there is no tax on improvements. Since 1910 all such tax has been removed. They began removing the tax in 1901, when 50 per cent of the tax on improvements was taken off, and in 1904 another 25 per cent was removed. When this tax removal started in 1901, Seattle was building at the rate of $1,500,788, and Vancouver only $731,716. In 1912, the Seattle figure showed $8,315,325, while those for Vancouver, where in 1910, two years previously, all taxation had been removed from improvements, were $19,388,332.

MRS. STEVENSON ANSWERS MISS TRUE

COURT EVIDENCE TO PROVE WHO OWNS RANCH.—ALSO TO PROVE "WHO WRONGFULLY AND FRAUDULENTLY OMITTED TO CONVEY" CERTAIN PARTS OF RANCH PURCHASED.

SOME SIDE-LIGHTS IN THE TESTIMONY

The Stevenson vs. True mandamus case which has occupied the attention of Judge Abbott in the district court last week will be closed today.

An hour's argument pro and con a mandamus will be heard this morning and the decision will then be awaited from the judge.

Much that occurred during the hearing was very tedious, alike to the participants and to the public that heard it, but there were some things of interest.

The objections raised by the attorneys from the plaintiff, Mr. Renahan, as published last Saturday in the New Mexican, involves the whole matter at issue. Miss True's testimony regarding the meeting is asked to be stricken out because there was no reliable proof of a donation on the part of Mrs. Stevenson or her representative, at the meeting of ditch commissioners. Judge Abbott said that he did not understand that there was any offer and acceptance of the action there in the meeting.

Upon this point hinges the whole case, the plaintiff claiming that the ditch commissioners had no authority to levy upon her, and the defense claiming they had.

Miss True testified that she was uncertain as to whether or not the Stevenson ranch was government property or who was the proper person to require to pay dues, taxes or charges, in explanation of her having sent a letter to the Smithsonian Institute in which she referred to the Stevenson farm as the government farm. On cross-examination she admitted that she had been used by Mrs. Stevenson to buy the place for her, and that Mrs. Stevenson had furnished the money in a sum approximating $4800. She further admitted that she, Miss True, had caused the title to said farm to be taken in the name of her mother, Frances D. True, and that the latter was directed by decree of court in the case of Stevenson vs. True, Clara D. True, et al., as result of a suit, to convey the substantial property to Mrs. Stevenson. In connection with this evidence Mr. Renahan, attorney for Mrs. Stevenson, offered in evidence the decree of the court in the latter case, called the "old Stevenson True case," and particularly that clause thereof which is found on page 175 of record K, in the office of the clerk of the district court for Santa Fe county which is in words and figures as follows:

"2. That the defendant, Frances D. True, should have conveyed to the plaintiff, Matilda Cox Stevenson, the tracts of land illustrated and marked on said exhibits Nos. 7 and 8 as F. G. M. O. and P., and the tract described as lying east of the Rio Grande river, but she wrongfully and fraudulently omitted to convey to the plaintiff the tracts marked on the said exhibits Nos. 7 and 8 as F. O. and P., in which wrongful and fraudulent omission the defendant, Clara D. True, was the active agent, and aided, assisted and abetted, knowingly and wilfully."

Miss True, in her testimony, said that in sending to the Smithsonian Institute, of which Mrs. Stevenson is an employee, the notice referring to the headgate as an obstruction and the sum of $31 as in arrears on account of the bureau farm, she was actuated by the desire to bring the matter home to somebody or anybody who would pay the amount, and did not want to take chances on Mrs. Stevenson, substantially, because she had heard and known so much about her not meeting her bills.

Pressed on cross-examination for information as to whom Mrs. Stevenson had failed to pay, Miss True named her sister, who was formerly Mrs. L. M. Randall. In this connection Mr. Renahan, for Mrs. Stevenson, offered in evidence the judgment in case No. 6417, in a suit brought by Mrs. Randall against Mrs. Stevenson for wages claimed by the former as housekeeper. The judgment, on page 181 of the said record, found the issue against the plaintiff, Mrs. L. M. Randall, and in favor of the defendant, Mrs. Stevenson, and dismissed the case with costs.

Mr. Renahan also offered in evidence the judgment of the court in the case of Frances D. True against Matilda Cox Stevenson brought by the former to recover pay for services as alleged employee of Mrs. Stevenson, who filed a counterclaim against the plaintiff. The substantial parts of the judgment are:

"The court finds in this action upon the proofs, that the defendant, Mrs. Stevenson, directly and indirectly through the daughter of the plaintiff, Clara D. True, outside of the purchase of the lands involved in cause No. 6398, delivered to the plaintiff, Frances D. True, in cash, for expenditure upon and about the lands of the defendant, involved in No. 6398, the following sums of money, to-wit: $338, $100, that is to say, $438; that from the lands of the defendant, Matilda Cox Stevenson, the plaintiff sold alfalfa and hay to the value of $255.68, retaining and spending the said sum in divers and sundry ways, and including the cash aforesaid, had and received of and from the said defendant to be expended or accounted for to her benefit the sum of $838.68.

"That the plaintiff in this cause, Frances D. True, with reference to the aforesaid receipt and expenditure stood in the place of the defendant Clara D. True, in cause No. 6398.

"That the defendant, Mrs. Stevenson, should have and recover of and from the plaintiff, Frances D. True, as for moneys had and received by the said plaintiff from the defendant, Matilda Cox Stevenson, and not accounted for, the sum of $263.82, her damages with interest thereon from the first day of June, 1908, at the rate of 6 per cent per annum until paid.

"It is therefore considered, ordered and adjudged, that the plaintiff, True, take nothing by her action, but that the defendant, Stevenson, go hence, thereof without day; and it is further considered, ordered and adjudged the defendant have and recover of, and from the plaintiff, Frances D. True, the sum of $263.82, her damages with interest thereon, at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, from the 1st day of June, 1909, until paid, together with her costs in this behalf to be expended and to be taxed, that is to say, ninety-two and one-half per cent of trial for witnesses, stenographers, clerks and sheriff's fees pertinent to said trial, not including the costs immediately pertinent to the institution of said three suits, Nos. 6398, 6417 and 6418, and that she have execution thereof.

(Signed) "JOHN R. McFIE, Judge."

Some Side Lights in the Testimony.
Mr. Renahan asked Miss True if she was so uncertain about who owned the ranch that she had to send letters all over the country. The evidence shows that Miss True sent part of her communications to Mrs. Stevenson direct and part to the government bureau by which Mrs. Stevenson was employed.

Asked by Mr. Renahan if she had made any filing for water rights with the state engineer, Miss True admitted that she had not.

Judge Abbott remarked that regarding the purchase of land (by Mrs. Stevenson from the Trues) and then Miss True's letter to the government, it did look as if there was some spite work on the part of Miss True, and if it was spite work it ought to be shown. This remark was made on objection of the defendant's attorney.

There was a sarcastic sally, following Mr. Crist's remark about opening the door, in the admission of testimony, Mr. Renahan remarking something about the difference of opening the door and spawing all over the floor.

Asked to tell who or what evidence Miss True had that Mrs. Stevenson was running her ranch at government expense, and to specifically state as to who intimated such things, the attorney for the defense, Mr. Crist, objected to such questions on the grounds that there were business reasons why

Mrs. True did not desire to answer, Judge Abbott overruled the objections, saying that as far as business was concerned it would have to stand aside, as business was not as necessary as the truth.

Mr. Renahan and Mr. Crist had a lawyers' bout of words in which the former said that this suit was only the beginning and that there were damage suits and criminal suits coming enough to keep Crist busy for a couple of years.

Ben Sherman, who had been a star witness and whose witty testimony was published a day or so ago, was on the stand again Saturday.

Asked by Mr. Crist how high a certain part of the gate was that was constructed by Mrs. Stevenson, Sherman replied, "three feet."

Mr. Crist asked him if he measured it.

Sherman said that he didn't.

Mr. Crist then asked him how he knew that it was three feet.

Mr. Sherman replied that he was just six feet tall and that the gate at that part was just half as tall as he was.

On further examination Mr. Crist said something to Sherman about being careful not to perjure himself. Ben, who is red headed and as "quick" with his mits as he is with his tongue, made as if to physically resent the imputation, but Mr. Renahan objected to the remark of the attorney for the defense and it was stricken from the record.

THERE'LL BE BIG DOINGS IN CHATTAHOOGA WHEN THE CONFEDERATE VETERANS GATHER THERE

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 26.—The reunion of the United Confederate veterans, to be held in this city May 27, 28 and 29, is expected to be the most memorable affair in the history of the organization. There will be a larger attendance than at any previous reunion and the people of Chattanooga are planning to entertain them on a lavish scale.

There will be a three days' round of social gaiety, with dinners, lawn fetes, entertainments, balls and receptions galore. All the social leaders of the city have entered into the plan with enthusiasm, and if any veteran or any relative or friend of a veteran has a dull moment it will be him or her own fault.

The athletic field of the University of Chattanooga has been turned into a huge dancing pavilion to accommodate 6,000 people. Here will be held the chief function of the reunion, the

After them will come the maids of honor, Miss Anne Henry of Brandon, Miss, and Miss Florence Haldeman, of Louisville, and the matron of honor, Mrs. Z. C. Patten, Jr., of Chattanooga. Each accompanied by a distinguished veteran. A complete list of those who will participate would embrace the beauty and chivalry of the whole south.

TAGGED BY WILSON "FOR VALOR."

CAPT. VAN SCHAICK, U. S. A., DECORATED THREE TIMES BY GRATEFUL GOVERNMENT—TWICE BY NICE SHINY TIN CANS AND THEN WITH A MEDAL OF HONOR.

(By A. F. Ferguson.)

Taking two strikes from Fate and King out the third one for a home is the way the world's best story tellers would put it. But in this particular instance it might be said that the interested party whiffed twice when opportunity was putting them over and then got tagged at the plate after a bit of daring workmanship on the paths.

And as a result the person with which this has to do will be compelled to go through life wearing that tag—a tag that is generally called a Congressional Medal of Honor, the principal feature of which is a laurel wreath and words, "For Valor."

President Wilson did the tagging and a lot of handsome men and women stood around and smiled when it happened. That is, all of them smiled and looked pleased except one, to-wit: Captain Louis J. Van Schaick, U. S. A., about whose perfect 28 figure the medal and ribbon were draped.

Nothing only that you pronounce it Van Skoyk—the A being silent as in "white feather"—let the mind wander back to a beautiful May morning in '97 when all the world was glad and the little birdies were a-twitter with the effulgence of spring.

Note the exception of the rising tide of gladness in a pale youth standing on the railway platform at Garrison Station, N. Y. The only reflection warming rays awoke about his disconsolate figure were the brilliant barbs from a large and luminous cat that had just been attached to his person by sundry learned professors of West Point.

With his pride making a large bulge in the vicinity of his right hand vest pocket Louis J. Van Schaick was going home after a year of vainly trying to make good as a cadet.

Being a glutton for punishment he put in a month studying and came back again, remaining this time until January, 1899, when the professors attached the second can and turned him out in a cold, cold world. This time Van Schaick made up his mind that, since the government seemed so fond of decorating him, he was going to give it a regular job doing it—but in a different way. He secured an appointment as a second lieutenant in the army and was sent to the Philippines.

Van Schaick performed the well-known stunt of bringing order out of chaos so many times that the insular government came to regard him as its champion pacifier and kept him running hither and yon until it almost

One of the biggest of the fighting generals of the army once referred to him as a sample of the highest type of a soldier America could furnish. Twice he was recommended for the Medal of Honor he has just received. Once for charging a whole army of revolutionists single handed and putting them to flight. He wears one of his fingers a bit shorter than it really ought to be as a memento of this occasion.

About a year ago he took a long leave of absence—the first rest he had known except when in the hospital recovering from wounds. At its conclusion he reported for the annual physical examination army officers are required to undergo and the examiners found his body so covered with scars that they wondered how he could possibly perform active service. And so they recommended that he be retired. This brought his record up before General Wood and the general staff. Wood read it in a daze and didn't waste any time getting together the proper authorities to award Van Schaick the medal so long denied him. Also the matter of retirement was forgotten indefinitely.

And now the valiant captain is back in the army. When he gets himself up in his glad rags for a festive occasion he breaks all precedent in medal wearing, despite the fact that he has only two. One of these is the Congressional Medal of Honor. The other is a Congressional Medal for Saving Life claus so many times that the insular government came to regard him as its champion pacifier and kept him running hither and yon until it almost

PITTSBURG O. K'S. MEMPHIS BARS. FANCY DANCES

Memphis, May 24.—The "Bunny Bug," the "Texas Tommy," the "Turkey Trot," the "Grizzly Bear," the "Broncho Hop" and other modern dances, with certain plays, have been placed under the official ban by the Board of Theatrical Censors of Memphis. In communications addressed to theatrical managers of various Memphis playhouses, John M. Dean, secretary, expressed the will of the Board of Censors in stating that in a spirit of friendliness for the mutual welfare of the public and show people, it would become necessary to eliminate suggestive signs, acts and dances. The modification and curtailing of certain features of acts and scenes were also recommended. Abbreviated costumes intended to display nudity, with vulgar songs were criticized.

SHAKE-UP FOR CHICAGO CUBS

Chicago, May 24.—"One of the biggest baseball deals of the year between the Cubs and an eastern club is in the making, and unless all present plans go astray it will go through this week. When it does it will strengthen the Cubs 100 per cent and will mean a complete reorganization of the West Side team. This was the gist of an announcement made by Charles W. Murphy, owner of the Cubs. "No names can be given out for the present," said Mr. Murphy. "It might spoil all of manager Evers' plans so we are going to keep quiet until all of the details are agreed upon. All I can say is that the deal will bring at least two pitchers to the West Side club and the men we part with will not injure the hitting or fielding work of the Trojans. What Mr. Murphy means by a complete reorganization is not known, but it is reported that both the owner and manager of the West Siders are dissatisfied with the work of several of the stars in days gone by. They are of the opinion that these players are not putting forth their best efforts for the club. They are the athletes slated to go. "In my opinion," continued the owner, "the eastern teams are not a bit stronger than the Cubs, at least they didn't show it in the games that I saw. We, of course, lost the majority of our battles, but, just the same, I believe class will tell in the end, and the Cubs have plenty of that."

THE DODGERS ARE DOING ALL RIGHT JUST NOW

(By Hal Sheridan, in Kansas City Star.) New York, May 26.—Once upon a time there was a decrepit baseball team known as the Brooklyn Dodgers that played in an old ball lot shot full of holes from the rifling batters of opposing teams that the players had to hobble over the field like ants running a marathon over a Swiss cheese. Then a good fairy named Charles Ebbetts came along and built a new park, all dolled up with a grandstand that cost much money. This good fairy had been hanging around the team for those many years, but it was the first new park he had built. When other teams came around, as they are wont to do at ball parks, these same Brooklyn Dodgers, who always before had helped and run when approached by a stranger or even by their step-brothers, the Giants from across the Big Bridge, proceeded to lick the very daylight out of them. At first these strange, unheard of dollops excited merely scornful laughter and the wise ones said it was an accident, a flashing in the pan, but with each succeeding team these erstwhile lowly Dodgers licked, the impression began to grow that they were going some, and, miracle of miracles, eighth wonder of wonders, they do say now, and they're serious when they say it, that Brooklyn may be reckoned with the contenders for the pennant. Moral: Why not? By diligently scrapping away the cobwebs of the past, some of the oldest inhabitants may remember that at this stage of the National league race one year ago the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Boston Braves were floundering and had a very close acquaintance with last place. The Braves, being conservative souls, have not seen fit to change their ways, but what the Dodgers have done in the way of jockeying for position in the early weeks of the present season's scramble has brought delicious joy to the heart of Good Fairy Ebbetts and caused all other team managers and owners to gnash their teeth while awake and see things while asleep. The Dodgers have shown that they have built up an air-tight defense. With Jake Daubert at first, Cuthshaw at second, Fisher at shortstop and Red Smith at third, team play has been perfected. Cuthshaw covers a world of ground at second and in that immediate vicinity. In the outfield the Dodgers have a real outfielder in Stengel, who is establishing a record as a fence buster this season. Wheat has not been batting up to his usual standard. With Wheat going naturally there will be another argument why the Dodgers should keep going. Hummel completes a much better than average outfield according to his work of this season.

One of the failings of the Dodgers at one time was their failure to hit behind Nap Rucker. But Rucker won three of his first six games this season. One of the three losses was that thirteen inning duel with Old Master Matty. Rucker has been going good after a fair start and Ragon has been pitching air-tight ball. Allen is fast developing into a star left-handed, and though he ought to spin along nicely in hot weather. Stack and Curtis are in pretty fair shape and Yingling, Hall and Wagner look really better than they ever have. Wagner came from New Orleans with a reputation as good as that carried in by Demaree, now with Giants.

TRIAL OF THE ALLEGED "FORTY THIEVES" BEGINS.

San Francisco, Calif., May 26.—The first of a series of trials growing out of relations of the police with a gang of bunco men, known as "forty thieves" was begun today in superior court before Judge Dunne, with Frank E. Esola suspended patrolman as the defendant. Selecting a jury occupied the day. Because of the startling charges made by convicted members of the gang and the assertion of the district attorney that he has against him a police slush fund of $50,000, the case has aroused great public interest, which in turn has been reflected in pitched hostilities ramifying into the mayor's office, the grand jury room and police headquarters. Esola is charged specifically with the larceny of $900 from Charles Foida, in December, 1912. Five other officers are also under indictment for grand larceny. Four of these pleaded not guilty. Esola and two other officers are charged with conspiracy, making eight under indictment. HE WILL CONSIDER. Washington, D. C., May 26.—Representative Neely, of Kansas, asked President Wood today to direct Attorney General McReynolds to foreclose a mortgage on a 100 mile strip of railroad owned by the Missouri Pacific between Atchison and Waterville, Kan., to recover $1,500,000 alleged to be due to the government from aid by bonds issued in 1862. Mr. Neely has a resolution in congress to the same effect, but believes if he can interest the president it will be unnecessary to wait for action by congress. President Wilson promised to take the matter under consideration.

SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN DECISION IN DENVER WATER CASE.
Washington, D. C., May 26.—The supreme court held today that the city of Denver in taking steps looking toward the erection of a municipal water system was not compelled to buy the private plant of the Denver Union Water company, or renew the company's 1890 franchise. The court held that the contract between the city and the company was limited to twenty years.

The court said that while it was true no time limit was fixed by actual words in the ordinance of 1899, granting a franchise to the water company, yet some force should be given the words that the franchise was granted "to such extent as the city may lawfully grant the same." Furthermore, the court added, the term of the franchise "was not left undefined or in doubt, for the charter the city gave explicitly declared, 'all franchises and privileges granted by it should be limited to twenty years.' "We are clearly of the opinion that these claims are ill-founded," said Justice Vandewater, in passing on the claim that the city must either extend the franchise or buy the private plant.

"In the absence of some stipulation to that end the city would be under no obligation to purchase or to renew, nor would it be entitled to do either. There is no stipulation purporting to impose such an obligation."

WILSON APPOINTS A COLLECTOR FOR MONTANA.
Washington, D. C., May 26.—President Wilson sent to the senate the following nominations: Appraiser of merchandise in the district of Portland, Oregon, George E. Welter.

HUERTA SEEMS SICK OF HIS JOB

FRIENDS SAY THEY THINK HE WILL AGAIN DON MILITARY REFORM—WHO WILL TAKE HIS PLACE?

Mexico City, May 26.—General Huerta is chafing under the restraints imposed by the duties and ceremonies attending his office as president, and some of his old friends in the army will not be surprised if one day he grows off the tri-colored band and again dons the military uniform. It is said that the president, not fully satisfied with the progress which is being made against the revolutionists, is seriously considering the resignation of his office in order personally to direct the campaign.

That the army has not made any great advancement in restoring peace is evident, and Huerta, who planned and carried out the campaign against Orozco a year ago, is pardoned by his intimates for believing that he could do the job more expeditiously. "I am not a man of governmental affairs," said Huerta recently in the course of an impromptu after-dinner speech. "I am a soldier, and every time that I see a body of men entraining, I long to go with them into the field."

Who would take Huerta's place as provisional president is a matter of much speculation. His inability to find a man who would satisfy the people and display the requisite executive ability is what may prevent Mexico's soldier-president from abandoning the palace. To place Felix Diaz in the presidency probably would not improve the situation greatly, and certainly it would not please Diaz, since his occupancy of the provisional post would greatly lessen his chances of holding it as an elected incumbent. The selection of Francisco de la Barra would please many of his intimate friends, but the Catholic party has its eye on de la Barra as a candidate for the presidency at some future time when elections can be held. Once it was suggested that General Gormiero Trevino take the provisional presidency. But the general is getting on in years, and in addition, he does not want the place.

Whether Huerta would do any better, however, in the field than his officers now are doing is regarded as by no means certain. He probably has an influence over the army greater than that of any other general, but the army today is a poor thing compared with that left by Porfirio Diaz, notwithstanding that Diaz's army was far less efficient than he considered it. It has been demonstrated that the army is not a unit of loyalty, and the introduction into its ranks of thousands of ex-rebels appears not to have greatly strengthened its loyalty, and to have lowered discipline and efficiency. Its minister of war, Huerta might direct all phases of the campaign, but as a simple general in the field he could direct only a small part, and what he might accomplish in one region might easily be offset by what transpired in other parts of the republic.

Huerta and Diaz believed in February that they had restored Mexico to a peaceful condition, and they probably did not dream that the counter-revolution ever would assume the proportions it has today. There is no doubt, now, however, that the number of rebels is greater than the number of the government's troops, and it has become practically a matter of money which side will win. May began with the government still on the defensive, but making promises of the early inauguration of a terrible campaign against the rebels. It was believed in the capital that by that time the rebels would have exhausted their supplies of ammunition and would be unable to buy more, or to get it across the American boundary line even if they possessed the necessary means to purchase it.

WILSON FEELS KINDLY TO PROJECT FOR U. S. TO BUILD RAILROADS.

President intimates to Senators Chamberlain and Jones that He Would Like to See U. S. Handle Alaskan Projects.

Washington, D. C., May 26.—President Wilson told Senators Chamberlain and Jones today that he felt kind toward the proposal for government construction of railroads in Alaska. The two senators sought the president's views on securing Alaskan legislation during the present session. Mr. Wilson expressed hope that a bill might be passed but made it clear that in view of the urgency for tariff and currency reform, he would be unable as yet to recommend action, intimating that if the Alaskan question could be disposed of without interfering with those two subjects, he would lend his support to a bill within the near future.

TEA PLANTATION WILL BE SHOWN AT SAN DIEGO.

San Diego, Cal., May 26.—Sir Thomas Lipton, prince of sportsmen and international tea merchant, will install tea-plants from his plantation in Ceylon, at the San Diego 1915 exposition as a part of the exhibit that will show a tea plantation exactly as they are in Ceylon. A. J. Whitelaw of Chicago, western agent for the merchant-yachtsman, was in San Diego a few days ago, and after a careful investigation of climatic conditions, as well as the magnitude of the exposition, announced his plans respecting the exhibit. It is the plan of Sir Thomas Lipton himself, to bring together at the San Diego exposition all the component parts of the tea industry, uniting them in a single exhibit which will show the tea plants growing, the leaf in its various stages between the picking, and the brewing, including the curing, packing and shipping, and finally the brewing, and all done by native Singalese and Ceylonese.

In direct line with this concession, will be the one representing the various industries of New South Wales, representing which P. E. Quinn, Australian commissioner representing New South Wales, is now also in San Diego. Mr. Quinn, in common with Sir Thomas Lipton, and many others, has been deeply impressed with the plan first evolved by President D. C. Collier of the exposition, to make the whole theme of the 1915 show one of processes, and is altogether likely that the entire exhibit of New South Wales will be a practical out-of-doors demonstration of the industries of that great country, as the agricultural products of that part of the antipodes correspond to those of southern California.

Owing to the fact that southern California climate, and especially that of San Diego, admits of the growth of such a wide range of plants, a splendid opportunity is offered many countries for exhibits showing their agricultural and horticultural products in the growing, thus making a much larger array of out-of-doors exhibits than has ever been offered or attempted before at a world-exposition.

Among the countries taking the fullest advantage of this is Hawaii which is preparing to transplant a wide range of growing things, including fruits, native woods and flowers to the San Diego exposition grounds.

The Hawaiian exhibit will include native dwellings, erected by native hands, and a general expose of native industries, and native life, lived and acted, just as it is in Hawaii.

Louisville, Kentucky, May 26.—Rudolfo, with Loftus up, won the first running for the Kentucky handicaps—America's richest turf classic—at Douglas Park this afternoon, going the mile and a quarter in 2:05 4-5 a track record. Ten point, the eastern crack, was second and Any Port third. The race was worth about $10,000 to the winner.

SCHEME TO REDUCE COST OF LIVING

Washington, D. C., May 26.—A sharp cut into the high cost of living through the elimination of the middleman and the direct delivery of farm products to the consumer is the aim of the "pepper and salt company" in which many prominent people are said to be interested, among them Gifford Pinchot, former chief forester and P. W. DeGraw, former assistant postmaster general.

The "company" today applied to the commissioners of the district for space in the municipal market in which to receive and disburse wares to its stockholders.

The plan is to cater to 10,000 families in the beginning, who will be sold farm products at slightly above cost. The customers will be supplied through 300 of the best housekeepers in selected localities, who, for their services, will receive their food supplies free and in addition be paid a nominal salary. It is proposed to inaugurate the new plan by the middle of June.

U. S. Takes a Hand.

Washington, D. C., May 26.—Dipping one hand into the Atlantic ocean and the other into the Pacific, to transfer fish, the United States government, it was announced today, proposes to undertake a practical measure to cut down the high cost of living. Lobsters from the Atlantic will be shipped across the continent to Pacific waters in the hope that they may multiply, while Pacific salmon will be cultivated off the rock bound coast of New England.

The interchange will be under the direction of the bureau of fisheries. Several carloads of breeding lobsters will be shipped to Washington, Oregon and California points each season and placed in waters to be selected for their suitability. The bureau announces that the transplanting will not be dropped before the experiment is tried long enough "to establish a flourishing colony or to demonstrate the futility of the scheme."

The stocking of New England waters with Pacific salmon will be brought about by the transfer of many billions of salmon eggs from Pacific waters to sports off the New England coast. These Pacific salmon are expected to replace the native salmon, which practically have disappeared.

THE WEATHER

The weather yesterday was ideal—the temperature ranging from 58 to 75 degrees and the humidity was but 31 per cent.

On Saturday the temperature reached 76 degrees at 4:05 p. m. At 8 a. m. today the mercury registered 56 degrees. In other cities it was as follows:

Amarillo, 66; Bismarck, 46; Boise, 58; Cheyenne, 45; Dodge City, 62; Durango, 41; Flagstaff, 42; Grand Junction, 60; Helena, 51; Kansas City, 66; Lander, 46; Los Angeles, 54; Modena, 48; Phoenix, 66; Portland, 58; Pueblo, 52; Rapid City, 50; Roseburg, 52; Roswell, 58; Salt Lake, 60; San Francisco, 50; Spokane, 56; Topeka, 58; Wheeling, 45.

Forecast
 For Santa Fe and vicinity: Partly cloudy, but generally fair and continued warm tonight and Tuesday.
 For New Mexico: Tonight and Tuesday fair; not much change in temperature.

Conditions
 The weather continues warm and conditions somewhat unsettled over most of the western country this morning, but showers have been light scattered, and mostly confined to southern Kansas and eastern New Mexico. No pronounced centers of low barometer are present, although a slight depression is passing eastward from Missouri. Conditions favorably cloudy but generally fair weather in this section tonight and Tuesday.

A party of Albuquerque people came up from that city last Saturday evening and spent Sunday here. Among them were Herbert Brooks, of the San Jose market, Frank Stortz, secretary of the Albuquerque Elks lodge, Mrs. Stortz and child, and Miss Lillian Sylvester.

C. E. Boulden, revenue agent on accounts from Washington, D. C., was here the past week looking over the revenue office. Mr. Boulden has been in Santa Fe before and is always glad to visit the old capital.

Harry Lee, clerk of the federal court, and Manuel Otero, revenue collector, with their families, took a trip yesterday to the Pecos and picked up a little fishing. The load of trout, however, that they secured did not require an extra automobile to bring them home.

Mrs. L. C. Armijo, state librarian left today for Roswell, to attend the graduation exercises of her son, Antonio Luna, who will be graduated from the New Mexico Military Institute, at that place, next Wednesday. Mrs. Chavez also has another son, Chavez Armijo, who is in his freshman year at that institution.

Wm. M. Scott, traveling agent of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, returned Saturday from a trip to Taos county. It was his first visit to that section of the state and he was more than delighted with what he saw. He was in Taos and the towns adjacent and in the Taos mountains. Mr. Scott thinks that part of the state is destined to a great future agriculturally and otherwise.

ANOTHER CHAPTER IN "ARSON-TRUST"

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 26.—Another chapter in the so-called "arson trust" in the central west was started here today when David and Benjamin Rosenberg and Benjamin Franklin were placed on trial before Judge Eggeman in the circuit court, charged with arson. The men are alleged to have had their clothing store here set on fire that they might collect illegally insurance money on their stock.

Boston, Mass., May 26.—Further evidence intended to show the connection of President William M. Wood, of the American Woolen company, with the alleged conspiracy to "plant" dynamite in Lawrence to discredit textile strikers during the industrial troubles of 1912, was introduced by the prosecution at today's session of the trial of Wood, Frederick E. Atteux and Dennis J. Collins.

Checks and vouchers showing payments to Atteux by the American Woolen company with Wood's approval have been presented and District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier endeavored to establish a relation between these payments and the alleged conspiracy.

William H. Dwell, treasurer and director of the American Woolen company, who was the principal witness at Friday's session, was questioned further by the district attorney today.

LORIMER AGAIN.

Mr. Lorimer announces that he will try for the position of senator again against Mr. Sherman. He is quoted as saying that he will put the United States senate, which expelled him, on trial. And he will ask the people of his state to vindicate him, and to condemn the members of the National senate.

Poor old Illinois! When the title of "Sucker State" was given, the one who gave it must have been a soothsayer, and had the power to see into the future. Certainly, in one form and another, the state has had her trials, and not the least of these is the prospect of being forced into a Lorimer campaign.

It is a matter of argument, however, as to just whom will be placed on trial should the ex-senator attempt to vindicate himself in the manner selected by himself. It is a question if the state of Illinois will not be a trial rather than the United States senate, and the jury will be the American people.

This is a time when the placing of the responsibility will be easy. There will be no legislature to put the blame upon, and no accusations of bribery of members of the legislature will appear in the case when it finally comes up for trial. The whole responsibility will be upon the people of Illinois and nowhere else. If Lorimer is chosen senator, they will watch the parties who will bring it about and the eyes of the nation will be upon them.

In this one contest alone will the value of the recently adopted constitutional amendment show its value, for it is, in a sense, a test case. While elections of senators in other states, will be watched with very great interest, this particular one will arouse the attention of the whole people. They will want to know if in any other state, there is still left the spirit of the old regime, or if the new impulse toward better things and more honest elections has taken a strong hold.

It is inconceivable that the people of Illinois will elect William Lorimer to the senate of the United States, and if they should, it is clear that his usefulness as a public servant would be absolutely nil.

HE MADE GOOD.

Behind a recent wedding in the quaint town of Hingham, Mass. lies a romance and a lesson of universal interest.

Three years ago the groom, a rich man's son, met the lady and tumbled head over heels in love. Wanted her to marry him right off; felt he couldn't wait. If he hadn't been, at bottom, a good deal of a fellow, and she a girl with a level head, there might have been an elopement, some family bitterness and perhaps a quick follow-up in the divorce courts—such things have happened, you know.

But the girl said "wait," and what is more, the lad's "old man," a two-fisted, practical-minded chap, who had been through the world's rough and tumble, said, too, with rather more emphasis.

He told son he liked the girl and would be glad to have her for a daughter-in-law; but he'd be switched if he'd let a son of his run so fine a girl into the noose of matrimony until the aforesaid son had shown his ability to paddle a canoe built for two.

He had had to work like blazes for what he had got, and son would have to do likewise if he expected to get anything from dad.

Kind of rough, unfeeling talk to hand out to a youngster palpitating with love's young dream.

But as we have said, the lad had real stuff in him. He winced and flared up and shed a boast or two; but after a heart-to-heart confab with HER, he lit out and that was the last dad heard from him for quite a while.

One day a bronzed and sturdy young man entered father's office. It wasn't a case of the prodigal son. No siree! He'd been in a southern lumber camp, had begun on the ground floor and had worked up until he was boss of the patch. He had money, nerve, self-respect and bright prospects and he incidentally called to invite dad to the wedding.

Dad went. And took a check and a heart replete with gladness. For he had helped to make a man of a boy who, if dad had been easy and tender, might and probably would have been spoiled.

THEY OBJECT TO PAGE.

The London Trades Council has adopted a resolution, in the name of its membership of 50,000, urging the British government to refuse to receive Walter H. Page as ambassador from the United States, on the ground that Mr. Page is an opponent of organized labor. This action was taken as a result of letters received from a state council of New York city. In addition to communicating with the British government the council has sent a copy of the letter to President Wilson.

International relationships are having new notes injected into them with in the last few years.

Once a man was selected as ambassador to Austria and was declared unwelcome on account of his attitude toward a certain religious denomination and the United States yielded somewhat reluctantly to the request of the withdrawal of the name as it seemed at least unpolitic to force an unwelcome minister upon a friendly power. Later, Henry W. Blair, was nominated as minister to China, and a protest was made on account of his unfriendly attitude toward the old eastern empire while he was in the senate. In that instance, also, the name was withdrawn.

Here is a new feature injected and by a private organization.

It is a matter requiring the most careful consideration. The protest comes from an organization over which an ambassador has no jurisdiction; and in which national questions are not involved. The selection for such a position covers too broad a field for individual choice or organization preference, no matter what the organization may be. It is a thing to be gravely considered if an appointment of this character is to be governed by opposition of this kind.

It would be setting a peculiar precedent and is far reaching in effect. The new president is facing some rather intricate problems.

The Roosevelt slander suit in Marquette, Michigan, beginning today will be the cause of a great deal of discussion and intense interest. It is time for something to be done, but it is now declared that a technical legal matter is coming up. It is just what the term "drunkness" means.

Missouri is calling for 2,000 strawberry pickers. We hope the state gets them and then a few consignments could be shipped to Santa Fe. Wherever our strawberries have been coming from there must have been a drought or a blight or some destroying element.

A Michigan school janitor was kicked in the stomach while helping to whip a pupil. This shows what is likely to happen to a fellow when he tries to do things outside his sphere.

Of course, an umbrella and a raincoat are both valuable and convenient. The only trouble is that they are never in the right place when wanted.

Now, if Bob LaFollette would follow the example of Tom Marshall, and speak the "last word." But it is doubtful if Bob can do that.

It does not look, at this stage of proceedings, as if Hobson and Sisson would be quite able to bring on that war.

If things keep on in the direction toward which they are tending that Underwood bill will have to be amended to be called the Woodrow bill.

AS THE BYSTANDER SEES IT

Roswell Wants It, Too.

"The Record has no desire to criticize the city administration, but it is common with the great mass of people of Roswell we would like to see a little better sprinkling of the streets. This spring is quite dry and the streets are in a very dusty condition."

The above mild and gentlemanly protest I have taken from the Roswell Record, but it touches so directly our condition here in Santa Fe that I thought it might be well to quote it. I did not know before that other places in the state that were possessed of sprinkling carts, did not get the benefit of them and that the citizens at other points were forced to wade through dust and eat it and choke on it and curse at it.

I must say that I am in sympathy with any editor who begs for the advancement of the sprinkling cart in his town, and I fail to see the object in owning one if it is not put to any use.

The cart can really bring so much of comfort to a community when in operation, and is so utterly an useless asset when stored away that I don't see the object in owning one at all if it is not put to the uses for which it was intended and for which it was purchased.

So we of Santa Fe, without any desire to criticize the city administration, just like Mason, of the Roswell Record, would "like to see a little better sprinkling of the streets."

So, with due humbleness, we ask the members of our city council if they won't please bring out the water wagon and give our streets a bath. I have been a long time now since one has been given them, and I think no one will deny that they are at least soiled and in need of a little attention.

The steam roller was good, as far as it went, but we want the water wagon.

Where Were They?

I was a little surprised last week to note that the meeting at Roswell of the merchants' association of the state failed to be attended by a single representative from Santa Fe.

A week ago yesterday four automobiles came down from Raton with nine men merchants from that city on their way to Roswell. No invitation was extended them, as far as I have been able to learn to stop over in Santa Fe and have a reunion or a meeting or a consultation, or a stay over night.

They went to Lamy to stay. On their return, they stopped again at Santa Fe. Evidently no one asked them to. As far as they were concerned, we of the Ancient City are off the map.

The next meeting of the association goes to Raton. Santa Fe did not even ask for it. Was it not worth while or was it too much trouble to extend an invitation, or what was the reason?

Raton got the next meeting. What was the reason? They went out after it, decorated with big badges and each member of the party filled with enthusiasm and earnestness and a desire to put Raton to the front among the cities of the state.

Maybe, by 1914, we will wake up suddenly to go to Raton and try and get the 1915 meeting in Santa Fe. This gives us a little time to think it over.

Puzzle Solved.

There are a great many puzzling things in this world that go a long time unsolved. One is that which has been so much bruited: "Why do women get off street cars backwards?"

Now a Brooklyn woman has broken silence to reveal the long-hidden secret. She says it is because women carry their parcels in their left hands. This makes it necessary for them to use the right hand in grasping the car rail when dismounting—and thus they face the wrong way and must get off backwards.

That only goes to show how small a thing can sometimes rectify a big one.

All a woman has to do to change this condition of affairs whereby she is thrown down in the street, bruised, mutilated or badly injured, is to change hands and carry her parcels in the right hand when she gets off a trolley. It seems to me that this is a simple method of righting a thing that has caused physical pain, anger and damage suits in the courts.

As I read of the Brooklyn woman's explanation, I thought how many of the worrisome things in life could be avoided by a little care, a little diplomacy, a little foresight and a little common sense.

There is really so much in this good old world that can be turned to injury and trouble and pain if we let it, and there is so much that can be made a joy and a happiness and an advantage

AMONG THE EDITORS.

If we make even a slight effort to make the most of it. The women and the street car exit is a fair example—just the use of the right hand instead of the left in carrying a bundle for a moment, when it may prevent injury and grief.

Won't Stay.

After this country has spent eight billion dollars on good roads nobody will care to stay around home any more.—Willard Record.

Couldn't Raise Spinach. Fortunately the baseball magnates do not have their way or there would not be enough rain in the land to raise a mess of spinach.—Springer Stockman.

Just As Good. There is this much satisfaction in an old straw hat, that after the season is a few days old, it looks just as good as a new one.—San Marcial Standard.

Just As Well. The final tariff speeches, addressed to empty benches, will probably be as effective in determining the votes as those delivered at the beginning.—Alamogordo News-Advertiser.

Here, Too. In most all towns in New Mexico a general "cleanup" day has been set aside and properly recognized. What's the matter with having a day of like resemblance for Cimarron? What paper the burro hasn't eaten could be collected and burnt.—Cimarron News-Citizen.

In Purple Sox.

Hitherto the members of the printing fraternity in Deming have behaved themselves in a manner beyond reproach, with the exception of a few tramp typewriters who, on occasion, might dally with the winecup. But when a printer appears in the house of prayer in purple silk half hose he is liable to bring the rest of the guild into disrepute.—Deming Herald.

On The Map.

Gallup is growing in every way, we are soon to be on the two greatest highways of the United States. The Santa Fe transcontinental railroad and the transcontinental ocean to ocean highway for the automobile traffic. Let's have an up-to-date school building to show the visitors. We now have the poorest they will see west of the Mississippi river in a town of this size.—Gallup Republican.

The Governor Right.

Certain of the newspapers of the state never miss an opportunity to hit at Governor McDonald. The Albuquerque Herald is one of the most conspicuous of these papers and in the refusal of Governor McDonald to interfere in the hanging of the murderer Delgadillo, the Herald saw an opportunity to get back at the governor and it took it. But developments show that the governor was right and the Herald was wrong, as usual. No doubt if the governor had interfered the Herald would have taken the other side and condemned him for sentimentalism. But that is the Herald all over.—Roswell Record.

Good Advice.

As the camping out season is at hand and many people will be going into the hills, a few regulations concerning forest fires are in order. Be careful with matches and cigarette stubs. Don't build a larger camp fire than is necessary. Never leave a fire until absolutely sure it is put out with water or earth. Never build a camp fire against a tree or log. Don't build bonfires, for the wind may come up and carry it beyond control. If a fire is discovered that cannot be easily put out, get word to the nearest forest ranger or state fire warden as quickly as possible.—Silver City Independent.

FARMER'S WINE MAKES BOYS DRUNK

West Chester, Pa., May 26.—John I. Daly, a farmer in London, British township, this county, has been held on the sum of $500 to appear at an ether hearing on the charge of giving liberal quantities of wine to several schoolboys of a nearby public school thereby making them drunk to an extent that they were obliged to be taken to their homes in a wagon. Earl Newin, one of the lads who was furnished the wine died, and it was thought that possibly the wine had been the cause of his death. On investigation and after a consultation with Doctor McGraw, of Avondale, it was found that the boy died from a case of chronic diabetes.

LURE OF DESERT HAS FATAL POWER

Chicago, May 26.—Details of the tragic death of May Allport, Chicago pianist, who expired at Tfax, Tunis, after having been drawn too far inland through the lure of the desert were received in letters to friends here.

At the same time it was announced by Dr. W. H. Allport, a brother, that Miss Allport's body will be brought to Chicago from its resting place in Northern Africa, and that the personal intercession of William J. Bryan, Secretary of State, with the French Colonial Department, has been made for this purpose.

An extraordinary parallel of the Allport tragedy is found in the death of Mrs. Hugo Mansfeldt, of San Francisco, who died near Tunis, Algeria, April 25, 1913. Both Miss Allport and Mrs. Mansfeldt were accomplished musicians and both were lured to the scenes of the "Garden of Allah" by their artist's temperaments. They died within 150 miles of each other under similar circumstances.

COMMERCE CLUBS TO MEET AT CLOVIS

(From Clovis Journal.)

The following clubs have responded to invitations and will be represented, while others are yet to be heard from: Tucuman, N. M.; Herford, Texas; Artesia, N. M.; Albuquerque, N. M.; Liberal, Kan.; Roswell, N. M.; Deming, N. M.; San Marcial, N. M.; Socorro, N. M.; Amarillo, Texas.

It looks like the big commercial club meet which is to be held in Clovis on June 6th is going to be a real big event and will represent the active commercial organizations of twenty or more cities and towns of the southwest. Responses have come from many Texas towns and practically all of the leading towns in the Pecos valley have signified their intention of hearty co-operating with Clovis in making this meeting a great one.

The Roswell papers are giving much notice to the meeting to be held here, and yesterday the Morning News carried a long editorial on the subject. Amarillo promises to co-operate as does also many of the towns on the line of the Santa Fe this side. There will be a railroad traffic manager here and they will meet with the representative business men from over the plains and Pecos valley country to discuss the matter of freight rates in and out of here. The purpose of this meeting is simply to get together the business and trade interests of the new southwest for the purpose of devising better and more efficient means of getting the true story of the possibilities in our country for the home-seeker and the investor, to those who would come or who have money to invest. It is hoped that by co-operation much good can be accomplished, as doubtless it can be.

The committee composed of A. E. Curran, C. A. Scheurich, Fred W. James, T. J. Mabry and H. L. Patton have prepared a tentative program for the occasion, which will insure the visitors a good and profitable time during their stay in the city.

The following is the program: Selection by band. Welcome to Clovis, Mayor E. R. Mart.

Address of Welcome, B. O. Oldham, president chamber of commerce. Response, by visitors.

Necessity of Organization, Clymer Golden.

Selection by band.

NEWS OF THE STATE

Headed East.

A colored knight of the ties, who of course gave the name of Johnson, was given his choice between working ten days on the chain gang or leaving town in an hour, by Judge Rogers yesterday. He took the latter alternative and headed east for the Tarheel state.

—Deming Headlight.

Peculiar Accident.

Mrs. H. R. Sheppard had her hand severely cut Saturday evening. It seems that the lock on the door didn't work as it ought to and she tried to force same with a butcher knife, which slipped and cut a severe gash in her hand. Dr. Hackney was called and dressed the wound.—San Marcial Standard.

Good Prospects.

There are the brightest of prospects at present for an immense fruit crop over this section of the state. Trees are loaded down with blossoms and buds at present and if nothing happens they cannot hold the fruit when it matures. The fruit crop is assured now unless something in the way of a hail storm or very late frost catches it.—Springer Stockman.

Eye in Sling.

Doug. Anderson is carrying his left eye in a sling. He was fixing something about a corn springer when a heavy steel spring let go and took him a glancing blow just over the left eye and putting the eye out of business for some time, though, by good luck, not putting it out altogether. He had to have the gash in his eye sewed up.—Olar Progress.

Relieved.

The cattlemen of this section are relieved. James Phillips came to from Deming and offered $27.50 for yearlings. He did not seem very anxious to buy, but was willing to give that price, as a special accommodation to his Lordsburg friends, as he had a place where he could place them. He was confident that after the new tariff law got in full effect that the price would be still lower. The men who had refused $29 a few weeks ago seemed to agree with him, and they were all ready to sign the contract, and he had no trouble getting all he wanted. Lordsburg Liberal.

Railroad Talk.

Big Springs has recently closed a contract for a railroad from that place to Tucumania, N. M. Work will begin on the road soon. Big Springs is to give a bonus of $75,000 and a right-of-way through the country. The road is to be built from Tucumania to San Antonio, Texas, and it will open up the west and connect a country heretofore isolated and it will enable this section of the country to get early and cheap vegetables directly from the coast gardens. Also fresh fish. It would give easy communication with foreign countries making it easy to market cattle and horses raised here, in foreign countries.—King Progress.

Narrow Escape.

Mrs. Alice Ruth Moore had a narrow escape from burning to death shortly before noon today, and as it was, received injuries from which she will be several weeks recovering.

Mrs. Moore was cleaning a dress with gasoline in the rear yard at the J. Y. Thornton place on North Pennsylvania, when in some manner the cloth began to blaze, and soon the clothing she was wearing was ignited. She fought the flames valiantly, rolling on the ground and beating herself and had the fire nearly exhausted when her plight was discovered by Lola Thornton, who rendered valuable assistance. She was severely burned about the face, hands and feet, but the attendant physician expresses no doubt but that she will recover.—Roswell Record.

machine and set of gang plows, consigned to the Gila Farm company at Gila, arrived here last week and passed through town Thursday, en route to their destination. Each of the three pieces of machinery is the largest of its kind ever shipped to this section of the southwest. The tractor, which made the thirty mile trip to Gila on its own power besides hauling out the shredder, closely resembled a full fledged locomotive as it wended its way up Broadway. It is of 110 horse power, weighs 19 tons, and has rear wheels which are nearly 8 feet in diameter. The machine has a horizontal boiler, and is surmounted at the rear by a car similar to that of a locomotive. Besides housing the engineer and fireman, the cab is so constructed that it combines the facilities of a tender for fuel and water also. Owing to the great weight of the tractor and the excessive width of its tread, a gang of men had to go over the 30 miles of road widening the narrow places and strengthening the culverts. A tank wagon with a supply of water accompanied the tractor on its trip.

The gang of ten plows which the tractor will pull will have a capacity of from 30 to 40 acres daily. The shredder will prepare the crops and lead them into the silos, a chain of which is understood to be planned to be built.—Silver City Independent.

Fire At Central.

Murray Brothers big mercantile establishment at Central suffered a fire less Thursday afternoon, when the oil house, two adobe warehouses and the harness room were totally destroyed by fire.

The fire originated in the oil house and was discovered at 4:30 in the afternoon. J. T. Murray and employees of the store fought the flames as best they could, but could do very little as they had no fire fighting apparatus. Colonel Bushnell, commandant at Fort Bayard, a mile away, upon hearing of the fire, ordered out all of the available men at the post and the fire fighting apparatus, including the chemical engine. The men responded at once, and soon several hundred fire fighters were on the scene. By their efforts, the fire was confined to the rear of the store building among the warehouses and the store itself was untouched.

W. D. Murray, who was in Silver City at the time, was telephoned and he left by auto, being out there a few minutes after the fire started. It is impossible at this early time to estimate the loss, but it will probably be heavy.—Silver City Enterprise.

BIG DOIN'S ARE PLANNED BY BRYAN

Washington, May 26.—Secretary Bryan is planning to make the formal announcement of ratification of the seventeenth amendment to the constitution, providing for the direct election of United States senators, a memorable event, marking as it does the culmination of a movement first instituted in Congress 87 years ago.

The date for the signing of the proclamation will be agreed upon with Representative Rucker of Missouri, who was Chairman of the House Committee which reported the resolution submitted to the State Legislature for ratification during the last Congress.

Although the first resolution for the popular election of Senators was introduced into the House in 1826, such a measure did not reach the Senate until 1859.

Then the proposition met with senatorial disfavor during the next 6 years, or until February, 1912.

The amendment, which thus will be officially announced, will be the second one so promulgated this year, the first being that providing for the income tax, which was announced by Secretary Knox in the last days of the Taft administration.

Until then the constitution had not been amended since the famous fifteenth amendment at the conclusion of the Civil War.

FLAGLER'S FOLLY PROVES TRIUMPH

West Palm Beach, May 26.—Henry M. Flagler, who died here, built the Florida East Coast Railroad and later erected the Ponce De Leon and Alcazar Hotels at a cost of $30,000,000. His greatest achievement was the extension of his railroad from Miami to Key West. For many years his plan was ridiculed as impracticable and was the "Flagler's folly." The opening of this "overseas" line is regarded as one of the engineering triumphs of the age.

Though he owned a magnificent yacht, Mr. Flagler never visited Europe, nor did he ever travel as far west as the Rocky Mountains.

THEY ARE BUSY IN AND ABOUT THE WINDMILL CITY

Deming, N. M., May 26.—The New Mexico Implement company is finishing its extension of shop and warehouse. In a few days it will have a full line of farming implements which will be handled in connection with engines, pumps and repairs for free engines and pumps handled. This company has the state agency for the Fairbanks-Morse gasoline engine and also for the Lane & Fowler pump. A large perforating machine was received today and will be set up within the next few days. This machine has been especially designed by Mr. Layne of the Layne & Bowler company for

The purpose of making all kinds of well screen. It is so arranged that any kind of perforation can be made. All of the casing which the company will handle will be received in the sheet and made up in the shop. The company will also manufacture the famous Layne shutter screen which is rapidly coming to the front as one of the best screens ever devised. A representative of the Layne & Bowler company is here for the purpose of installing this unique device and teaching an operator. The New Mexico company received today, also, a car load of pumps ordered by the Rio Mimbres Irrigation company; also a seven-stage centrifugal pump for Dr. Marsh who lives at Syndas. When the shop is fully equipped with drill press, lathe, pipe threader, etc., the Layne & Bowler pumps will be assembled there. Heretofore these pumps have been assembled and shipped complete, but heretofore it will only be necessary to ship the various parts thus reducing the freight rate and furnishing employment for a number of men here in Deming. Another feature which this engineering company is going to install is a complete irrigation well in their yard contiguous to their shop and warehouse. A regular irrigation well will be put down a sufficient size to accommodate any pump. An engine foundation will be made with the holes drilled in the bed plate to accommodate any size engine, so that when a customer desires to see an engine or pump or motor tested out, such machinery will be installed in this well and an actual test be given. Of course, a well will be installed and a vacuum gauge so that a scientific test can be made at any time upon any piece of pumping machinery.

The work is progressing very satisfactorily on the Rio Mimbres Irrigation tract 12 miles northwest of Deming. There are 60 men now employed on the work. Two well-drilling outfits and a 60-horsepower tractor engine. The temporary camp is located a few miles this side of Deming and consists of dining hall, rooms and tent house that serve as sleeping quarters. Things are very busy at the demonstration farm. The 50-acre field of alfalfa is being cut now, and the yield promises to be at least a ton and a half to the acre. Many fruit trees have been set out and are making a remarkable showing. Something like 20 acres are devoted to the experimental or yard and vineyard. Vegetables of all kinds are being tested out in a most thorough and scientific manner. Superintendent Hammon, who is an agricultural expert of international reputation, has charge of the demonstration work. A flood water ditch 1 miles long, leaving the river at the old Jacobson place, is being constructed by means of 60 h. p. traction engines and elevator grader. This ditch will be fully 20 feet wide and of ample dimension to accommodate a large amount of flood water. However, the main irrigation will be by means of wells and the flood water will be merely supplemental.

Yankee & Co. will open a first class restaurant in Deming on June 1st, having rented one of the Tracy buildings on Pine street. The restaurant will make a specialty of chop suey and noodles and will be a regular metropolitan eating house. Bing, who has had a number of years experience as manager of one of the best Chinese restaurants in San Francisco, will manage the new restaurant here in Deming.

Joe Linecum has about completed installing his fixtures, etc., in the new Lannigan building on Silver avenue for the Sideboard restaurant which will be opened for business in a few days. Mr. Linecum has had wide experience in the restaurant business and heretofore has conducted one of the best and most up-to-date restaurants in the town. In his new quarters he will doubtless receive a most liberal patronage.

C. E. Miesse and a number of buyers from the north arrived in Deming Friday and are looking over the Mimbres valley and the tract of the Alfalfa Farms company 14 miles east of Deming.

The new front of the chamber of commerce was completed Saturday for the purpose of displaying products of the valley with prism lights above the show window. An extended awning will be attached to the front of the building in keeping with the more modern business buildings which have been constructed in Deming recently.

Change of Bank's Name.

An amendment has been filed with the state corporation commission changing the name of the Citizens' Bank of Des Moines, New Mexico, to the First State Bank of Des Moines, New Mexico.

Many Arrests by Mounted Police.

Charles Lambert, mounted policeman, made several arrests last week. He took Elisario Baldonado, of Colfax county, into custody, on several charges. First he was charged with carrying concealed weapons and the larceny of personal property. He was sentenced to serve eight months in the county jail. Juan Espanosa was also arrested in that county charged with conculing, and committed to 30 days in jail. Juan Garcia and Ada Rockwell of Cimarron, in the same county are also held on similar charges as those made against Juan Espanosa and Officer Lambert expects to gather in about 20 others wanted on the same charge.

New Mercantile Firm.

The Penasco Valley Mercantile company located in Hope, Eddy county, has filed articles of incorporation with the corporation commission. The new company has been capitalized for $50,000 at $100 per share, and R. J. T. Elms is named as agent. The following are the stockholders and directors of the company, with the amounts of stock subscribed by each: R. J. T. Elms, $2,500; Tom Larremore, $2,500; H. M. Gage, $1,000; D. L. Elms, $2,500; J. E. Elms, $2,500; total $20,000.

County Institutes.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Alvan N. White left yesterday to attend the county institute of Colfax county, held this week at Raton, which is being conducted by Superintendent T. W. Conway. Miss Manette Myers, director of industrial education, who left for Raton last week will also be present.

Four counties will hold joint institutes at Silver City this week, being those of Grant, Luna, Sierra and Otero counties, which will be in session two weeks. The summer session of the State Normal school will also be held there and be in session some eight weeks.

Seven teachers from San Juan passed through here the past week on their way to attend these institutes and the summer normal. They were: Superintendent Earl Douglass, of Aztec, Miss Ruth Jackson, Earl Jackson, Miss Susetta Young, Miss Bess Martin, Miss Lilly Colton and Miss Ruth Hartman.

Most of the county institutes throughout the state will open next Monday.

Jury in Federal Court Discharged.

The jury in the federal court was discharged last Saturday afternoon. Judge Pope thanked them for the efficient manner in which they had considered cases that were brought before them.

Damages of $5,000 Awarded.

The case of Burley Roe against the Santa Fe railroad for damages, which was tried in the federal court last week resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff of $5,000. Roe sued for $35,000 on account of injuries received to his eyes from the explosion of a water glass, in the engine on which he was firing. H. B. Jamison of Albuquerque, conducted the case for the plaintiff. There were several expert oculists called to testify in the case who came here from Los Angeles. Chief Surgeon Morrison of the coast division of the Santa Fe was also a witness.

Erickson thought it was serious. Attorney Belden asked him if he had a preconceived opinion of the case. "No," came the reply. "Have you any prejudice as to the right of a newspaper to comment on the actions of a public character?"

"No." "If we should prove that what the defendant wrote against the plaintiff was true, would you have prejudice against the defendant?"

Belden had great difficulty in making the defendant understand. The latter stood nervous and silent in the jury box while Belden maneuvered to convey his meaning. Being unable to get an answer, at Judge Flannigan's suggestion, Erickson was passed over temporarily.

Charles K. Rutledge, of Ishpeming, son of a minister, who formerly lived in Ohio, said he was an automobile repair man.

"Are you a subscriber of Mr. Newett's paper, Iron Ore?" asked Mr. Pound.

"Yes, my father is, and I know Mr. Newett and repair his automobile. Your friendship with the defendant would not bias you in the trial of this case?"

"No, I think I could try it fairly." "What do you think of the law of libel? Is it a joke or a serious matter?"

"I think it is serious." "If a man published something untruthful about another, you think he should be punished?"

"Yes, I do." Rutledge was excused by the plaintiff's counsel for cause.

"T. R. Listens." Colonel Roosevelt, sitting about 20 feet from the jury box, listened attentively to the examination of the witnesses.

Frequently he leaned over to talk to James R. Garfield, who sat beside him, or looked about the court room, nodding to people he recognized.

Mind Was Made Up.

William J. Irving, a miner of Republic, near here, came to Marquette county from Armagh, Ireland, and is employed by the Cambria Mining company. He developed under questioning by Mr. Pound. He does not read "Iron Ore," the paper in which the alleged libel appeared.

"Have you any opinion which would prevent you from giving a fair trial?" asked Pound.

"I've made up my mind, yes sir." "Challenged for cause," snapped Pound.

"Excused," said the court, and the miner departed.

William Pryor, a clear skinned young man in a business suit, thought he could be fair and that libel is a serious offense.

"Would you have any hesitation in awarding satisfactory damages to a man, if, in your judgment, he was libelled?"

Objection was made by the counsel for defense that this was presuming a verdict of guilty.

Pryor said he had no prejudice against the publication of criticism of candidates for office.

"Or against the characteristics, habits and conduct of candidates?" "Not in such a case," answered Pryor.

Thomas Howard, a farmer, said he was not prejudiced against either of the litigants. He would award adequate damages if it was proven that a man was damaged by libel.

"Would the fact that the plaintiff had been president of the United States influence you in giving Mr. Newett the verdict?"

"Yes, it would."

"Now, if Mr. Newett said the plaintiff was a drunkard and Mr. Newett proved he was a drunkard, would you hesitate in finding a verdict accordingly?"

"No, I wouldn't hesitate then." William Stanway, a clerk, a native of Cornwall, England, was asked "It has been charged that the plaintiff was an habitual drunkard, and the defense is that the charges are untrue. Would you be able to give the suit a fair hearing?"

Counsel for the defense objected to the question as to being an habitual drunkard.

Stanway said he would give it a fair hearing. He added he had no preconceived notions as to the merits of the case.

History of the Case.

(By W. H. Auburn.) Marquette, Mich., May 26.—This week a Marquette county jury will undertake to determine whether Theodore Roosevelt is a drunkard.

That is, provided, 12 open-minded men can be found in the county. This is an excitable and opinionated section, where Bull Moose and Republican hate each other enthusiastically.

Col. Roosevelt's civil libel suit against George A. Newett of Ishpeming, editor and owner of Iron Ore, is set for trial May 26. It is based on Newett's statement published October 12, 1912, that "Roosevelt gets drunk and that not infrequently, and all his intimates know it."

And it is going to be a merry old trial, that will echo in every corner of America. Both sides are going to fight it to a finish, and both appear confident.

Col. Roosevelt himself is here to direct the battle. He is determined to crush, once for all, the rumor whispered against him often, but never, perhaps, blurted out so boldly as in Newett's paper. He has retained Attorneys James H. Pound of Detroit and W. S. Hill of Marquette, and has brought legal reinforcements from New York.

The colonel will also have a spectacular array of witnesses. There is talk of a special car full of notables. Marquette expects Gifford Pinchot, General Leonard Wood, Surgeon General Rixey of the United States navy, Albert Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews, Lyman Abbott, editor of the Outlook, and others of national fame, who will presumably testify to Roosevelt's sobriety. And there will be a bale of depositions of the same tenor.

Newett is busy, too. In the matter of depositions, Editor Newett is on the job, too. He has just been out west gathering a lot of them. And his lawyers, W. P. Belden, of Ishpeming, and Horace Andrews, of Cleveland, have been very busy in the east and the middle west taking down the testimony of volunteer deponents, who are said to agree with Newett's estimate of the colonel.

The depositions will make entertaining reading for the American people. And for that reason, Judge Richard C. Flannigan, the prim, scholarly republican justice who will hear the case, is keeping them sealed for the present. He doesn't want any possible juror to know what's in them beforehand.

Roosevelt, of course, will be the central figure of the trial. But Newett will share the limelight. And this intelligent Irish editor, who has dared to bait the colonel single-handed, is regarded here as a sort of hero.

Not that the populace loves Newett. He isn't a popular leader, exactly. Many people in this Bull Moose stronghold call him a reactionary. Anyhow, he has trained with the standard Republican punch, and been a member of the ruling clique in Marquette county overthrown by T. R. last fall.

Besides, men of Newett's truculent character and vocabulary make plenty of enemies. But his foes respect his scrapping qualities, and his friends swear by him. And Newett stands by his friends.

That's what got him into the mix-up with Roosevelt. The colonel had jumped onto Congressman H. O. Young, of Ishpeming, Newett's life-long friend. It was at a political meeting in Marquette, October 9.

Roosevelt, in a sermon on the text, "Thou shalt not bear false witness," tawled out the congressman as an attorney of the steel trust. Thereupon one John R. Van Evers arose up in meeting and told Roosevelt he was a liar, who knew, or ought to know, that Young had dropped his steel trust work when he entered congress ten years ago. And then Friend Newett wrote the piece for his paper, which appeared three days later, repeating that the colonel was a liar, and adding by way of good measure, that he was a drunkard, a blasphemer, and a hard loser.

Roosevelt's Reply.

Col. Roosevelt, in his libel suit, passes over the charges that he "lies and curses in a most disgusting way," saying that such averments are "in some measure a matter of opinion." But he insists that the drunkenness charge is a false, scandalous, malicious and defamatory libel, and asks $10,000 damages.

The defendant replies that the accusation was true, and therefore was legitimate campaign material, and he expects to prove it.

Newett, who started as printers' devil at 16, and at 56 has a modest fortune made out of his printing shop, his mining paper and general mining interests has been accused of being a tool in this matter, for the steel trust is powerful political enemies of the colonel. He protests, however, that he has spoken and acted only for himself.

He adds that voluntary contributions amounting to several thousand dollars have poured in upon him, in sums from $1 to $500 to help pay the expenses of the trial, and that he has returned every dollar.

Newett disclaims any personal grievance. He was postmaster of Ishpeming for four years, and was appointed by Roosevelt. He has never run for an elective office.

"Roosevelt couldn't have picked a tougher man to tackle anywhere in the United States," says a Marquette business man. He's a fighter almost to the Rooseveltian sort. He's a good hunter, too, who loves the open, and a strong, unassuming man. Really he's about the liveliest wire in the upper peninsula.

NO DECISION IN THE RATE CASE

Washington, D. C., May 26.—No decision in the state rate case was reached by the supreme court today.

WALL STREET.

New York, N. Y., May 26.—Absence of confirmatory developments in the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific situation and other conflicting conditions brought about a degree of depression to the early session of today's stock market. The Harriman stocks and a few other prominent issues made gains at the outset, but these were soon affected by selling much of which seemed to have its origin in the short interest.

Canadian Pacific lost two points with one point loss in Union Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio and Rock Island preferred. St. Louis and San Francisco second preferred, which opened with a smart advance, soon fell back to a level approximating its recent low record. Brooklyn transit steadied on its higher dividend rate.

The market closed heavy. The dullness of the last hour was relieved by a sharp advance of 7 points in Virginia-Carolina preferred, the balance of the list touching the lowest prices of the session.

Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific, Reading and St. Paul reflected further pressure.

Union Pacific received another setback at midday upon publication of April earnings, showing a very nominal gross increase and a fairly large loss in net. Everywhere the market continued dull and heavy.

AN INFERIOR COURT ASKS SUPREME COURT TO REVERSE DECISION.

Unique in Legal Battles is Struggle of Gompers and Co-Workers To Get Decision Reviewed By Highest Tribunal.

Washington, D. C., May 26.—The district supreme court here, which originally sentenced Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, the labor leaders, to jail, for contempt of court, filed a petition with the supreme court of the United States today asking the highest tribunal to review the decision of the district court of appeals, which affirmed the conviction of the three men, but reduced their sentences. At the same time the high court had under consideration a writ of error presented by attorneys for the convicted men.

Gompers originally was sentenced to 12 months, Mitchell to nine and Morrison to six. The district court of appeals affirmed the conviction and reduced Gompers' sentence to 30 days and Mitchell's and Morrison's to a fine of $500 each.

Attorneys for the labor leaders ask a review and reversal of the lower court on many grounds. The district supreme court, against which it is alleged the men committed contempt in the noted duck's stove and range case, asks review on the ground that the court of appeals had no authority to reduce the sentences after affirming the convictions.

Those best informed on the history of jurisprudence in the supreme court of the United States know of no other instance in which one inferior court has applied directly to the highest tribunal to reverse another inferior court.

ARGUMENTS ARE HEARD.

Denver, Colo., May 26.—Arguments were heard by the state supreme court today on the application for a writ of supersedeas by Richard J. Bolles, president of the Florida Fruit Lands company. Recently a district court jury in Colorado Springs returned a verdict of $150,000 against Bolles in favor of Wm. O'Brien for attorneys fees.

MRS. JACK GARDNER TO RIDE ELEPHANT IN CHARITY PAGEANT.

Noted Boston Society Leader Will Appear as a Bejewelled Oriental Princess With Hamilton Fish as Body-guard.

Boston, Mass., May 26.—Mrs. Jack Gardner, the Boston society leader, and owner of the famous Italian palace in the Fenway, is to be seen here tomorrow riding an elephant. She has been engaged to take a leading part in a pageant on the Larz Anderson estate for the benefit of a children's hospital and clad as an oriental princess, richly bejewelled, she will ride on the howdah of an elephant with 250 other society amateurs also taking part in the pageant.

On a second elephant, if another can be obtained, Hamilton Fish, Jr., will accompany Mrs. Gardner as an oriental bodyguard and several society women will ride in Persian costumes on circus camels.

SAVED FROM JAIL.

Washington, D. C., May 26.—President Wilson today granted an indefinite stay of sentence to Dr. Theodore Kharras, of Elmira, New York, convicted at Omaha, of using the mails to defraud and sentenced to four months' imprisonment and $400 fine.

Kharras sold stock in a company promoting an invention which Congressman Bremmer and Baker of New Jersey, told the president today, had since proved successful. The president's action saved Kharras from going to jail tomorrow.
