DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR STANDS SQUARELY BEHIND GOVERNOR OF NEW MEXICO

Secretary Ballinger Emphatic in the Declaration That Retirement of Mr. Curry Was Not Forced and That No Attention Had Been Paid to Charges Against Him; No Official Notification of Resignation Had Reached Washington Last Night.

GOVERNOR'S DECISION CAUSES GENERAL SURPRISE AND REGRET

Men in Touch With Affairs Political Unanimous in Opinion That Change in Executive Office at Present Time is Unfortunate for Welfare of Territory; Hope Expressed That Governor May Be Induced to Retain Office Until Statehood is Attained.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—Secretary of the Interior Ballinger said tonight that he had received no official notification of the resignation of Governor Curry of New Mexico and denied emphatically that the governor had been asked to resign. While in the west, the secretary said, charges of some kind of a character had been made against the governor, but he indicated that no serious attention had been paid to them and that no official attention of any kind had been given to them. The secretary, in addition to making it plain that there had been no official intimation as yet of the governor's decision to retire from the office, reiterated that he had not been asked to resign and it was made apparent that the charges which have been placed before the department of the interior are not considered serious and that they have had no connection whatever with the announcement from New Mexico that the governor has determined to quit the office.

MEMBERS OF ADMINISTRATION HEAR FINAL WORD FROM GOV. CURRY

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 27.—The morning Governor Curry called into his office the members of his official family in Santa Fe and explained to them the reasons for his intention to retire from the governorship next spring, substantially as he told them to the Morning Journal yesterday. The governor made it plain that his intention is irrevocable, although many of his friends have urged him to reconsider. The officials were deeply touched by the remarks of the chief executive and Hon. Nathan Jaffa, secretary of the territory, expressed the sense of loss felt in the governor's contemplated retirement, a loss not only to the men who have been associated with him in the administration, but to the people, and the territory. He assured the governor that his determination to retire and devotion of his official family and expressed the general regret that his decision to retire is not to be changed.

From all parts of New Mexico today have come messages to Governor Curry pledging him support if he will consent to remain in the office, but the governor has made it plain that his duty to himself makes it impossible for him to reconsider and that it is necessary for him to retire. It is necessary for him to retire in order to pay attention to private affairs. The governor, however, will not retire before March first, if then, and the exact date will not be determined until the governor's request to be relieved from the office reaches Washington.

GENERAL SURPRISE AND REGRET AT RESIGNATION

In political circles in Albuquerque yesterday the final announcement of Governor Curry's determination to leave the office in the spring brought forth expressions of surprise and regret. The expressions came not only from men who have been closely associated with the governor, but from others who have not at all times been in close accord with him in matters of policy and administration. But all agreed that his determination to retire was unfortunate for the territory and to be regretted.

Delegate William H. Andrews expressed the general feeling when he said:

"The governor's announced determination to retire from office in the spring is a surprise to me and a source of regret. It is to be deeply regretted from every point of view. Governor Curry's administration has been satisfactory to the people of New Mexico. He has been very faithful in his attention to the exacting duties of the office and it is to be regretted that he feels it necessary to retire. I sincerely hope that the announcement is not final and that the governor may be induced to remain in the office, at least until the territory is admitted to the union."

FRAUD IN SELECTION OF JURYMEN CHARGED

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Violation of the law governing the proper drawing of grand and petit jurors is charged against the jury commission of Cook county in an official report made by the October grand jury before Judge Richard S. Stuthill today.

The system of jury drawing is characterized as "fraught with fraud and irregularities and the open charge is made that the selection of jurors was not in accordance with the law but purely resting on the personal choice of the jury commissioners and their employees."

HOSTS OF TEMPERANCE TO GATHER IN WASHINGTON

All Congressmen on Water Wagon to Be Honored Guests.

Washington, Oct. 27.—Reformers from throughout the world are to meet here December 12 to 17, to discuss reform measures. This meeting is set for the second week of the next session of congress, in order to give congressmen who are total abstainers an opportunity to be present.

Those in charge of the arrangements are sending to the attorneys of the honor interests and to their principals invitations to appear at the meeting and explain their business. Among the national organizations that have promised to send delegates and speakers to the convention are the Anti-Saloon league, Women's Christian Temperance union, Good Templars, National League of the Sons of Temperance, Inter-Church Temperance federation, Blue Ribbon army, National Lord's Day alliance, National Purity federation, National Vigilance league and the National Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor.

BLOODSTAINED AXE PRODUCED IN COURT

Woman On Trial for Murder Cringes at Sight of Her Alleged Weapon.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 27.—In the trial of Mrs. Minnie Arbogast, on the charge of having murdered her husband, Louis Arbogast, last May, the state today produced the blood stained axe with which it was alleged the killing was done.

The weapon was identified by Louis

Arbogast, son-in-law of the defendant, who said he found it in the cellar of the Arbogast home on the day of the murder.

During the testimony Mrs. Arbogast leaned toward Mrs. Morrissey, the woman companion who has been attending her, and clung to her hand.

St. Louis, Oct. 27.—Lengthy arguments in the suit of fifty-nine western and southwestern railroads to restrain the interstate commerce commission from enforcing its order prohibiting an advance in freight rates on cattle, ended here today. James A. Sedden of St. Louis, special master for the United States circuit court, is empowered to render a decision in the case. The case is the outgrowth of an advance of $6 a carload made in 1903.

WARSHIP WILL BEAR BODY OF ITO

POSTHUMOUS HONORS FOR MURDERED PRINCE

World Wide Condolences Pour In to Tokio; Government Seeks to Unearth Source of Assassination Plot.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Tokio, Oct. 27.—The body of Prince Ito, the murdered elder statesman of Japan, will be taken aboard the Japanese warship Iwate, at Dairen and will be brought to Japan accompanied by a full suite representing the nation. The body lay today in a simple white pall. Guards surrounded the hotel and only the prince's personal staff was admitted.

Throughout the day telegrams poured into Tokio from every country of the world and the officials of the foreign office are busily engaged in answering them.

Before the official announcement of Prince Ito's death difficulty was encountered, which was of a purely technical nature, in avoiding acknowledgment of the statesman's actual demise.

This was obviated later when the death was officially announced, an ordinance being simultaneously issued and ante-dated, bestowing unusual honors, of these being advancement from Junior to the first grade in the court rank. Those closest to the throne said that the emperor is deeply affected by the assassination of the prince. He has asked for every detail and apparently is unable to understand why the murder was committed, in view of the evident popularity of Prince Ito. But when informed of all the facts so far as they have been learned here, the emperor ordered that there must be no change in policy toward Korea.

The emperor of Korea has called his sympathy to the emperor of Japan as well as to Prince Ito, at Oiza. The assassin probably will be tried at Dairen, nine alleged accomplices have been arrested and it is believed that the investigation will show that the plot was hatched at Seoul.

The Japanese authorities are determined to unearth the source because the assassination of Prince Ito is believed to have been planned by the same persons who planned the murder of Durham White Stevens, the former diplomatic adviser to the Korean government, at San Francisco, in 1905. The newspapers here comment on the escape of one of the associates of the convicted murderer of Mr. Stevens.

The leading statesman of Japan who have been interviewed on the subject assert that the death of Prince Ito will not affect the avowed policies at home and abroad. While Prince Ito was powerful and popular, the general policy of the Japanese government today is not dictated by the elder statesman but by the active politicians who are determined to follow peaceful development.

NERVE FAILED THREE TIME MURDERER

PATRICK M'MAHON CONTEMPLATED SUICIDE

After Killing Two Sisters and Brother-in-Law the Kansas Farmer Feared to Face Death Himself.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Kansas City, Oct. 27.—Patrick Lamb, arrested in connection with the triple murder to which James McMahon confessed at Kansas City, Kan., yesterday, was released from custody by the authorities tonight. He had been taken to the Kansas penitentiary at Lansing with James and Patrick McMahon for safekeeping.

Lamb was employed by the McMahon brothers on their farm. He admitted telling several falsehoods to help James McMahon establish his innocence of the crime prior to his confession. Lamb will be a witness at the trial.

The McMahon brothers are still at Lansing. They likely will be returned to the jail in Kansas City, Kan., in a few days.

This morning James McMahon talked freely with newspaper men regarding the crime. He added but little to what he told in Kansas City.

"I expected to kill myself," said the prisoner, "but lost my nerve."

"Do you want to go back to Kansas City?"

"I would just as leave; I don't care about anything."

"I would have given myself up if any innocent man had been arrested," he continued.

Patrick McMahon was very dejected.

"I never suspected by brother," he said, "I didn't think he would do such a thing. It's a wonder he hasn't killed me."

LOEB RETAINS GRAFTERS IN OFFICE

NEW YORK COLLECTOR DEFENDS HIS ACTION

Dishonest Weighers Promised Immunity and Retention in Positions for Testimony Will Be Kept on Payroll.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

New York, Oct. 27.—It takes a grafter to catch a grafter in the United States customs service, says William Loeb, Jr., collector of the port of New York, in an official statement issued tonight. Notwithstanding Federal Judge Holt's opinion the four weighers who confessed and testified in the trial of the Muscogee, cheese importers, which was concluded today, will hold their jobs. Judge Holt, before disposing of the case today, which resulted in the father's acquittal and the son's incarceration in the penitentiary for life, denounced the retention of the four weighers as an injustice to the government and an insult to the honest men in the service.

Mr. Loeb quickly said in reply:

"The views of such a distinguished judge are entitled to highest respect and it is not my purpose to make it a subject of controversy, but it seems to me Judge Holt can hardly have understood the situation.

"It was deemed imperative to break into this combination to get the truth from somebody on the inside who knew; to get in an entering wedge and break down this system. It was then decided to secure the testimony of several weighers by promising them immunity and retention in the service."

"It was not a question of choice between having all honest men in the government service and keeping four men admittedly dishonest in the service, but the choice of keeping four dishonest men in the service where they could be easily watched or allowing a great many dishonest men to remain in the service and have them and all the corrupt merchants who had bribed them escape punishment at the hands of the criminal law."

The administration decided on the former course and its decision was based upon the highest motives.

"It is deemed only just to the administration that the public should have this statement when it reads Judge Holt's opinion."

In remarks following the verdict, Judge Holt criticized the announced decision of the government to retain in the customs service the weighers who during the trial had confessed to frauds by which the Muscogees profited.

"Before finally disposing of this case, I have something to say in regard to the three government witnesses."

"I never before in all my experiences heard of the practice of continuing in the government service men who have confessed to frauds in that service."

"I wish to express my strong disapproval of continuing such men in the government service. I say it is a discredit to the government to do so, I say further that it is wrong to compel honest men to act in the company of such men who have confessed to such frauds."

NEW MEXICANS HONORED BY DRY FARM CONGRESS

Prominent Among List of Officers Named for Coming Year by Gathering Now in Session at Billings.

ORGANIZATION DECLINES TO CHANGE ITS NAME

Vote Taken on J. J. Hill's Proposition Shows Northwest Empire Builder in Hopeless Minority.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Billings, Mont., Oct. 27.—The feature of the fourth and fifth sessions of the fourth dry farming congress was the speech of James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway. His talk this afternoon was devoted to a showing of the results of the dry farming movement in Montana and he proved by figures that the state of Montana is now to be classed as an agricultural state.

Mr. Hill had a little bad luck because he wanted the name of the congress changed from dry farming to something that would be less suggestive of barren land. In this he was not entirely alone, but when the vote was taken it proved that there were too many against him. The vote to let the name stand was 372 to 148.

Addresses were delivered at today's sessions by Thomas Cooper, assistant to the president of the Great Northern railway, Professor W. M. Gardiner, of the United States department of agriculture, Professor J. C. Pittenger, of the University of Wyoming, Professor Walter H. Olin, vice president of the dry farming congress, Denver, Professor H. W. Campbell, of Lincoln, Neb., E. R. Parsons, Parker, Colo., C. H. Worm, Clovis, N. M., and Professor W. H. Fairfield, superintendent of the experimental farm, Lethbridge, Canada.

The adoption of the report of the executive committee, which embraced the new constitution of the congress and the election of officers, occupied the most of the morning session.

The officers of the congress for the coming year, as announced by the report of the committee on nominations, which was adopted, thereby electing the officers, named the following:

President—F. W. Mondell, Wyoming.

First American vice president—Frank C. Bowman, Idaho.

Second American vice president—H. H. Hooten, New Mexico.

Third American vice president—R. W. Thatcher, Washington.

Foreign vice presidents—George Harcourt, Alberta, Canada; W. R. Motherwell, Saskatchewan; Senor Ingauru, Yndia, Mexico; Laszlo Goych, Hungary; Dr. Theodore Krzyshofsky, Russia.

Among the members of the executive committee are J. D. Tinsley, New Mexico; A. L. Mordt, Oklahoma; G. A. Martin, Texas.

At the afternoon session H. W. Campbell, known as the "father of dry farming," delivered an address, in which he attacked Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture. He repeated the warning he had given at previous congresses, warning too fast and insisted that the new settlers of the dry lands must be educated to their work or failure will come to them.

Mr. Campbell, whose experimental farm operations have covered twenty-six years, took occasion to answer Secretary Wilson, who was quoted recently as saying that "the Campbell system of dry farming is wrong and hurtful," and that the methods followed by the dry farmers will destroy the fertility of the soil."

"I regard it as exceedingly unfortunate," said Mr. Campbell, "that encouragement from official sources should be given those who are crying down and belittling the work that I and all of us have been doing in recent years in relation to dry land tillage."

BALLINGER IN WASHINGTON PROCLAIMS POLICIES

Interior Secretary Returns from Extensive Trip Over Western States and Inspection of Public Domain.

DEEPLY INTERESTED IN RECLAMATION PROJECTS

Believes Congress and People Will Endorse His Attitude When Truth Is Known; Indian Schools in Bad Condition

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Washington, Oct. 27.—A declaration of future policy in administering affairs of the public domain was made today by Secretary of the Interior Ballinger, who returned to Washington last night from an extensive tour of inspection through the west.

The statement is written in the United person and takes up the various features of the department's work, devoting particular attention to various reclamation enterprises and especially to water sites on public domain.

"The secretary reiterates 'without fear of contradiction' the statement hitherto made in his behalf, 'that since his incumbency no water power sites on the public domain theretofore withdrawn have been secured by private parties and that he has energetically made every effort, by temporary withdrawals, to segregate existing power sites on the public domain, in order to enable congress to legislate for their more prudent disposition.'"

Secretary Ballinger states that during his trip "most of the principal government reclamation projects have been visited, some of them with the senate committee on irrigation. The water users and settlers upon the reclamation projects have been conferred with, as well as the government officers in the field, respecting existing projects, as well as questions which may involve the improvement of the service and the advancement of the settlement."

Respecting reclamation work, the studies made by the secretary have inspired him, the statement says, "with an ambition to complete existing projects as rapidly as business and money available will permit and he is earnestly in favor of securing authority from congress for the issuance of bonds against the reclamation funds to give the service the means whereby all existing projects can be speedily completed and necessary extensions undertaken."

The secretary declined to discuss any phase of the controversy regarding conservation policy which has been agitated since the issue of himself and Gifford Pinchot, the government forester. He made it plain that he will deal with conservation in his annual report, to which he soon will give attention. He declares himself in hearty accord with President Taft as to the undertaking of irrigation work only where probable benefits outweigh the expenditures of the funds and "independent of local or political considerations. Every measure to be adopted on the ground that it will be useful for the whole country." The secretary expresses confidence that when his attitude is known the people and congress will be in hearty accord with the administrative policy of the interior department. In his report, Mr. Ballinger declares, "he will place special emphasis upon the right use and disposition of the coal, phosphate, oil and other mineral deposits, water power sites and other important natural resources of the public domain. The activities of the department, the secretary declares, will also show an aggressive and untiring effort to prevent the illegal and improper disposition of the public domain."

Mr. Ballinger describes himself as "keenly alive to the importance of the reclamation work in restraining flood waters and protecting the great river basins of the west from destructive floods. He made a special study of the conditions on the Colorado river and the Rio Grande involving the appropriation and right use of these waters within American territory before their passage in Mexico."

As regards the Imperial valley in California, which takes its irrigation waters from the Colorado river, Mr. Ballinger believes those interested in the Imperial valley, in order to obtain a permanent water supply, ultimately will have to take their waters from the Laguna dam. He says the department stands ready to do whatever it can to facilitate the establishment of a permanent supply for the people of this valley. A great deal of misunderstanding exists regarding the department's attitude, the secretary says, adding that the government has at present no control over or connection with the private companies interested in the canals and irrigation systems supplying the Imperial valley.

The condition of the Indian schools inspected was described by the secretary as "a disgrace to the nation." He declared some of them were nothing but mere rat traps, foul with age and unsanitary.

He is in full accord with the commissioner of Indian affairs in his attempt to overhaul the field service and secure greater efficiency and a more pronounced advancement of the Indians.

The secretary is very emphatic in his commendation of the personnel of the engineers and subordinates in the reclamation service and for the high type of construction and durability of the work on the various projects, for which they are responsible, as well as their general efficiency and integrity. The secretary is desirous that the work shall be prosecuted with such dispatch as to enable the government to avail itself of the opportunities and beneficial use of waters in the western states, large undertakings may be availed of and which, he says, are generally within the ability of private enterprise.

ASCENT OF MOUNT MCKINLEY EASY

Portland Business Man Discredits Story of Alaskan Prospector Who Claims to Have Watched Cook Fail.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Portland, Ore., Oct. 27.—Waltman T. Wade, a business man of this city, who spent the summer of 1906 on the base of Mount McKinley, today gave out a statement in reply to the affidavit made on October 24, by Jacob Suter, of Bellingham, Wash., who said that Dr. Cook did not ascend Mount McKinley.

Mr. Wade says that if Suter saw Dr. Cook make both attempts to scale the mountain he must have traveled 166 miles to do so. Mr. Wade adds that Mount McKinley can be ascended from the southeast, as Dr. Cook claims to have ascended it.

Wade continues: "While I did not see Dr. Cook, I am satisfied that he would have had no very great difficulty in making the ascent at this point."

"Now, I state said Dr. Cook when he first started it is impossible for him to have seen him making the last attempt, as it is at least 100 miles distant. No man could have made the trip and packed provisions on his back and I was the only man who had horses east of the Tokashito that summer, except Dr. Cook."

As for Suter's statement all around McKinley, we traveled for a hundred miles from the Tokashito to the middle fork and never saw a sign of any white man having been in that vicinity.

"Furthermore, it is a matter of record among the miners and Indians that we were the first party ever to go through that section of the country."

COOK BECOMES MEMBER OF BUTTE REPORTERS' UNION

Missoula, Mont., Oct. 27.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, his private secretary, Martin Lonsdale, and his confidential agent, arrived in Missoula tonight. He was greeted at the station by the business men at Butte. Three or four thousand gathered at the station and listened to a brief talk by the explorer. A handsome copper plate engraved with an inscription naming Dr. Cook as the discoverer of the pole not making him an honorary member of the Newspaper Writers' union No. 21, of Butte, was presented to him. The crowd cheered the doctor wildly and he was forced to shake hands with two or three hundred persons.

Dr. Cook declines to discuss the polar or the Mount McKinley controversy, asserting that what he has to say about these matters he will say in his lecture in Hamilton tomorrow night and Missoula Friday night. He announced, through his private secretary, however, that arrangements have been completed for the expedition to Etah to bring back the Eskimos who were with him on the polar journey. Knud Rasmussen and the doctor's special agent will head the party which will sail for Etah in May.

Dr. Cook will lecture to the students of the University of Montana tomorrow. In the evening he will discuss the Mount McKinley matter at Hamilton. Returning Friday to Missoula he will deliver his polar lecture and on Saturday morning will start for New York.

the riverways. They have spent much money, but have not entered into a general plan. We all realize that if we do anything effectively and economically it must be a general plan. If it is proven practical, I believe it ought to be done and that quickly. We ought to treat it like we have treated the Panama canal base, but not in a piece-meal. Let us center on a general plan and issue bonds."

In opening the Y. M. C. A. at Memphis, the president used a gold key, which he kept as a souvenir. He mentioned that he once opened the doors of a Y. M. C. A. building in Shanghai for China. The association, he said, holds out a useful hand to young men from the country who move to cities, where they are exposed to temptations while away from home influences.

ZELAYA MUST STEP DOWN: ULTIMATUM OF INSURGENTS

Nicaraguan Rebels Determined to Invade Capital and Force President to Resign at Point of Bayonet.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Bluefields, Nicaragua, Oct. 27.—(Via Wireless, via Colon).—General Estrada, leader of the revolutionaries, has sent the following dispatch in response to telegrams received from President Zelaya's friends in the interior condemning the action of the revolutionaries:

"We are sure of victory. We fight not against Nicaraguans nor Liberals, but solely to seek the solution of a desirable situation in the country. If Zelaya resigns we will lay down our arms at once. Not having honor or patriotism, he will not do this and we will arrive at Managua and force him from the presidency, which he so deserves, at the point of the bayonet. He destroys society and men's civilization. We will fight against brothers and fathers if the nation or the nation so requires. It is our irrevocable decision."

The message was signed by General Estrada and other liberal leaders. Most of the troops defeated in the engagements at San Carlos have joined General Chamorro, who is guarding the coast from attack by way of the San Juan valley.

Three Handed Fight for Mayor in New York Goes Merrily on; Men Who Bet Pick Gaynor to Win.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

New York, Oct. 27.—Despite a rain tonight, a mayoralty candidates delivered collectively sixteen speeches. Otto T. Hannard led with nine curt, business like addresses in Harlem and the Bronx; William R. Hearst spoke three times and William J. Gaynor spoke four times. Big crowds greeted the speakers.

A meeting which Hearst addressed at Carnegie hall was announced as a democratic mass meeting and the editor, although he made an attack on Tammany, devoted the principal part of his address to emphasizing that he was for all time a democrat, but an exponent of independence in politics.

"Three years ago I ran for governor on the independence party ticket," he said, "and the democratic party endorsed me, seeming to see a true democrat in the candidate and platform of the independence party."

He continued as he outlined what purported to be his clashes with Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany hall, disagreements which he said resulted in his refusal to be dictated to by the leader and his ultimate defeat because Tammany scratched him.

"I was slaughtered and sacrificed in New York city," he said, "on every dead wall flamed a giant poster, 'How to cut Hearst and vote for Hughes.' To every Tammany voter was sent a sample ballot, 'How to cut Hearst and vote for Hughes.' For all this advertisement and information, Tammany paid the bills."

Hearst sought to draw a parallel of the case with that of William J. Bryan, who he said was knifed by Tammany in New York after having been endorsed at the democratic national convention. In this instance, he added, Tammany footed the bills for advertising how to vote for Chandler for governor and for Taft for president. He concluded with the statement that if elected he would fight Tammany, not for revenge, but for the good of the city.

Judge Gaynor's remarks were largely addressed to foreign audiences, and he consequently dwelt particularly on the personal liberty issue so dear to the continental mind.

The "white slave" charges as made by a writer in McClure's magazine, were denounced by the judge as well as by the other speakers. Although there has been less betting on the result of the campaign than on any previous election in many years, such wagers as have been laid, have been generally with odds favoring Gaynor. A lump $10,000 was left with the proprietor of an uptown hotel today to be wagered even that Hearst would be elected. A bet of several thousand dollars was made at another hotel that Justice Gaynor would win by 140,000 plurality.

BILL DEVEREY BREAKS OUT IN SUPPORT OF TAMMANY

New York, Oct. 27.—William S. Devere, former chief of police, ended a period of political liberation tonight and came out in favor of the Tammany ticket with denunciation of those who have brought "white slavery" into the campaign.

"I bet $100 to a button," he said, "that there are not five red lights in the east side from Fourteenth street to the Battery. To charge Tammany hall with having systematized the red lights is an utter lie. The only meaning a red light has in New York now is to show where there is a hole in a street. This thing of attacking the since the war and say that he opposed these influences in Japan, which wished to renew the conflict. They describe the Prince's death as a loss to Russia as well as to Japan. The Novoe Vremya says it was the victim of a blinded patriotism on the part of the Koreans who thought they were benefitting their fatherland, but who would find though the man died the principle for which he stood still lives.

The Russ says Ito was the victim of the Imperialist policy with which his name was associated though not altogether justly by the Koreans.

HAWAIIAN KOREANS PRAISE ASSASSIN'S WORK

Honolulu, Oct. 27.—The Korean patriotic league has issued a circular expressing satisfaction at the assassination of Prince Ito. It says, amongst its columns:

"It is not known to us who the patriotic Korean was who shot Ito, but whoever it was did it for the sake of his country and his name will be written with honor in our history forever as an example of self-sacrificing patriotism before 20,000,000 of slumbering people."

Now is the time for our 20,000,000 of people to secure their independence. Ito is dead. He brought to our country the rule of Japan and enslaved the people. His selfishness has received its reward. His crimes were unpardonable and what happened to him was a fitting reward for his treachery and a just punishment for the theft of our country."

KOREAN RESIDENTS OF SAN FRANCISCO RETICENT

San Francisco, Oct. 27.—Korean residents here are not inclined to discuss the killing of Prince Ito, or to express themselves upon the action of the Honolulu Korean Patriotic league in issuing a circular approving of the deed. The New Korean, the local weekly, was issued today. While it printed the news of Ito's murder, it made no editorial comment.

TEXAS COURT PUTS CRIMP IN OIL CONCERN

Security Company Fined $75,000, Charter Cancelled and Perpetually Enjoined from Operating in State.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Austin, Texas, Oct. 27.—Judge Calhoun, of the district court here today, entered an order, assessing the Security Oil company with penalties of $50 a day from July 23, 1903, to November 6, 1907 when an injunction was issued stopping an alleged violation of the anti-trust laws.

The fine aggregates $75,000. The charter was cancelled and the company perpetually enjoined from doing business in the state.

The Navarro Refining company was penalized $50 daily from October 12, 1907, to November 6, 1907, amounting to $1,500. This charter was also cancelled and the company ousted.

Gay Collet, of Austin has been appointed receiver for both companies with instructions to advertise the properties for sale on December 7.

A judgment of $60,000 against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, will be enforced in garnishment proceedings against the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe railroad.

A judgment of $75,000 against the Union Tank line will be collected if the receiver can dispose of the property in hand to pay the fine.

GEBHARDT MAY BE LATTER DAY BLUEBEARD

POLICE SUSPECT ISLIP MAN OF MANY CRIMES

Inclined to Believe His Arrest Will Explain Mysterious Disappearance of Two and Possibly Three Other Women.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

New York, Oct. 27.—Frederick Gebhardt, alias Mueller, self confessed Islip, L. I. murderer, may have a claim on the title, "Bluebeard," according to a statement made tonight by Captain Coughlin of the Brooklyn detective force. Two other mysterious murders of women will be investigated before the prisoner is put on trial for his life, and in view of his uncertain matrimonial career the police believe two and possibly three additional cases in which women mysteriously disappeared, will be cleared up.

It was reported today the prisoner confessed to the coroner that he killed two other women, but this could not be confirmed.

Captain Coughlin said: "Gebhardt admitted enough to put several new clues at our command, and we hope to get further admissions from him as soon as we have followed these clues up."

According to the police Gebhardt served nine years in Sing Sing for swindling a New York woman out of $240 on a promise of marriage. He went to prison under the name of Schaeferlein in 1896 and was released in 1905. At the time of his trial for this offense it was shown he already had a wife in New York and at least one wife in Germany. The prisoner is said to have operated under six names while other marriages, as yet not proved absolutely, figure in his record. His career, particularly since his release from prison, is being looked into by detectives.

The inquest over the body of Anna Luther, the German girl whom he admits having shot, will be concluded Friday.

CUBAN OFFICERS FIGHT BLOODLESS PISTOL DUEL

Havana, Oct. 27.—The dispute between Secretary of State Justo Garcia Velez and Secretary of Sanitation Mathias Duque, whose resignations from the cabinet were accepted by President Gomez last night, culminated today in a duel with pistols. The men exchanged four shots but neither was injured.

The action of the president in suddenly accepting the resignations is believed to have resulted from the decision of the court of honor to which the matter was referred, that a duel was necessary for the vindication of the honor of both, in consequence of insults passed during the discussion of matters connected with Secretary Duque's department.

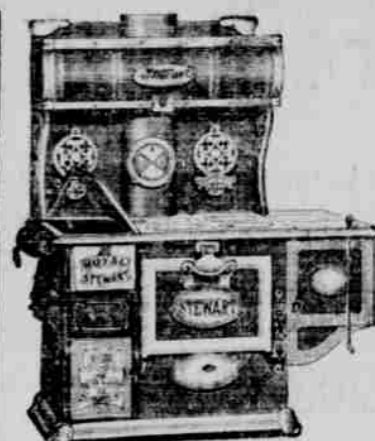

Senor Velez, it was said, either would be reinstated or appointed minister to Berlin.

NAVAL OFFICERS IN GREECE DEFY THE GOVERNMENT

Demand for Dismissal of Unpopular Admirals Leads to Small Sized Revolt; Recalcitrants Quit Athens.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Athens, Oct. 27.—Government by ultimatum took another sensational turn today. Some thirty officers, supported by the military league have been for some time demanding the dismissal of a number of the highest officers in the navy on the ground of incompetence as a preliminary to the reorganization of the navy.

The minister of marine has constantly declined to accede, and the league last night presented a twenty-four hour ultimatum.

The premier tried to meet the case by promising to submit a bill altering the age limit for superannuation from 65 years to 68 years. The military league declared this was inadequate and tonight thirty naval officers quit the capital and repaired to Salamis about 10 miles from Athens and not far from the arsenal.

Although their number is small they are backed by the military league, and are thus powerful. It is believed that the cabinet will be compelled to grant their demands. Intense excitement prevails.

Game Between 'Varsity and Cadets Saturday Should be Battle to the Finish

U. N. M. ELEVEN IS PREPARING FOR HARD FIGHT

GRIDIRON BEING WORKED INTO GOOD CONDITION

Arrangements Being Made to Accommodate Large Crowd of Spectators; Contest Will Be Best Game of Season.

The University of New Mexico football eleven, which went down to defeat before the El Paso Military Institute at El Paso Tuesday, returned to the city yesterday morning. The boys were not at all discouraged at the outcome of the game and have made up their minds that it will be a vanquished bunch of cadets that will return to El Paso next Sunday morning after their appearance against the Varsity here next Saturday.

The Traction park gridiron, on which Saturday's battle will occur, is being put in fine shape and it is expected that a fast game will be played. The gridiron is being thoroughly drained and sanded and it will indeed be a field before tomorrow night. Ample arrangements are being made for the accommodation of a large crowd of spectators. The side lines will be close to the race track fence and the game can be witnessed to good advantage from the grandstand.

Coach McBirnie had his men out for a short time last night and made a number of changes in the lineup. Mr. McBirnie had a splendid opportunity to observe what the various players could do in the El Paso game and the changes yesterday were the result of his observations.

The squad will turn out for a stiff

EXPECT NEW RECORD AT VANDERBILT CUP RACE

New York, Oct. 27.—This year's Vanderbilt cup race will be the best, fastest and safest contest of the kind ever held in this country, says W. W. Vanderbilt, Jr., today, after he had watched some of the drivers out for trial spins preparatory to Saturday's event.

"I am convinced a new American road record will be made by the winner. The altering of conditions of the race so that only stock cars will compete this year, is, in my opinion, a distinct advance. Under the new rules the contest will show that the American built car is now on even terms with the foreign machines."

"My original idea was to develop the product of the American manufacturer, and put on a level with the foreign makers. Factories in France lead the world in the manufacture of automobiles, largely because of the information which their makers gained through road races. Now the American builder is beginning to show them."

FORTY PERISHED IN WRECK OF HESTIA

Six Half Starved Sailors Taken from Rigging Monday; Only Survivors of Crew of Ill Fated Liner.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire]
Eastport, Me., Oct. 27.—Six men who, half starved and benumbed from exposure, were rescued from their perilous position in the rigging of the steamer Hestia Monday, are believed tonight to be the only survivors of the 41 men and boys who were aboard the Donaldson liner when she struck the jagged Old Proprietor ledge off Seal Cove, Grand Manan island, Monday morning.

Three bodies came ashore on the southwest shore of Nova Scotia today, two in a boat which drifted on the beach near Yarmouth, and the third in another boat which was found near Salmon river.

Recovering somewhat from their experience the rescued men were able to give more definite information regarding what took place after the steamer went on the ledge.

Male Stewart said the Hestia reached the end of her last voyage Monday morning instead of Tuesday morning, as had previously been supposed, and that he and his five companions, who were unable to find places in the boats which were launched when it was decided to abandon the ship, remained holed up in the rigging for thirty-eight hours without food or water before they were taken off by life savers.

So far as can be ascertained, those on board the Hestia comprised Captain Newman, a crew of thirty-five, three cabinmen and two boys.

The revised list makes a total of thirty names, but it is believed there were at least ten more whose names are not known here.

DRUMMER SLIPS ONE OVER ON 'VARSITY FOOTBALL MEN

Represents Himself to Be Walter Steffens, Former Star Quarterback for Chicago, and Gives U. N. M. Boys Much Sage Gridiron Advice.

While travelling onward over the broad and beautiful country that lies between El Paso and Las Cruces Tuesday evening, looking in the luxurious equipment provided by the Santa Fe railroad for holders of first class tickets, discussing the reasons for their defeat on the gridiron by the El Paso Military Institute that afternoon, several members of the University of New Mexico football team were approached by a dapper young man who manifested much interest in football matters. After a few brief preliminaries, the gentleman introduced himself as Walter Steffens. He modestly admitted that he had played a little football on the Chicago University team during his college life and stated that he still kept track of athletics. The name Steffens in football is the same as Sterling on silverware and in very few moments Mr. Steffens had been presented with much ceremony to every man on the football squad and every one else in the car who cared to meet him. Among those who were glad to meet Mr. Steffens were Coach J. O. Miller and Mr. Redding, both gentlemen belonging to the Aggies team at Mesilla Park. When the train made a brief stop at Mesilla, there were a bunch of football enthusiasts at the station to give the Varsity men a yell through town.

Coach Miller, however, instructed the Aggies to cut out the yell and meet Mr. Steffens, '98 star quarterback for Chicago. The husky farmers were awfully pleased, don't you know, to meet Mr. Steffens and nearly mobbed him in their efforts to catch the golden words of football advice which fell from his lips. After leaving Mesilla, Mr. Steffens was monopolized by the Varsity men, who gathered around him in a circle, blocking the aisle of the car, listening to his explanation of trick plays, forward passes and a modest recitation of some of his most famous one hundred yard runs when the score was five to nothing in favor of Minnesota. It was with great mutual reluctance that Mr. Steffens and the Varsity boys separated for the night, but they were ordered to their berths by the Pullman conductor and they had to go. Before retiring, however, Mr. Steffens promised to make a break in his journey to the Pacific coast and spend a day in Albuquerque and watch the Varsity team work out.

Bright and early yesterday morning Mr. Steffens drove to the University campus and watched the eleven go through their maneuvers. His fame had preceded him and there were groups of open-mouthed freshmen on the ground anxious to catch a glimpse of the man who had been picked last season as a member of the all-star American team.

It so happened, however, that several Varsity boys and one or two members of the faculty had seen Mr. Walter Steffens play quarter back more than once. Two men knew him by sight and one was personally acquainted with him. Vague doubts began to form themselves in the minds of the Varsity men as to the genuineness of the gentleman claiming to be Steffens. Politeness is one of the chief characteristics of U. N. M. students, however, and Mr. Steffens was permitted to offer a great deal of advice as to the best way to play real football.

Finally Mr. Steffens departed for the city, immensely pleased with the University. Before leaving he complimented the football men on their form and predicted that they would end the season in brilliant shape. Several seniors, who have read the entire works of Sherlock Holmes, began to have their suspicions about Mr. Steffens. Telephones were put into commission, people who had seen Walter Steffens play were cross examined and the affair was run to earth in true detective fashion. The final truth of the matter was that it was discovered by one of the students that the man representing himself to be Steffens was not Steffens at all, but a traveling salesman named Stossel.

Various angry crowds of football players began to hunt the town for Stossel or Steffens. He was finally located in a clothing store selling a line of goods to the proprietor. At the sight of the Varsity men he collapsed.

"It was all a joke," declared Stossel. "I didn't mean anything by it. I saw you fellows in the car there on the train and it just occurred to me that I would have some fun if I represented myself to be Walter Steffens. I'm awful sorry I did it now." Seeing that several of the students would be delighted to use him for a football Stossel became frightened and declared that if he was left unattended he would send them all kinds of presents and college posters for their rooms just as soon as he got back to New York.

Realizing that they had been stung good and plenty the students slowly marched out of the clothing store, sadder and wiser for their somewhat amusing experience.

"I'd like to know," said Lawrence Selva, star center for the Varsity, as the bunch reached the sidewalk, "if some gink is going around the country representing himself to be Lawrence Selva, the great center of the University of New Mexico eleven."

People Driven From Homes by Deluge in Mexico Watch Adobe Villages Melt Before Raging Waters.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire]
Mexico City, Oct. 27.—A deluge fell from San Juan Huastla, says the Orizaba river, there continues rising and the condition of the poor has reached the starvation stage, owing to the impossibility of obtaining provisions. The total damage will exceed $5,000,000.

The towns of Toluque, Cuamactlan, Estapilla, Cuero and Carmen are all flooded and the inhabitants have abandoned their homes. Corpses are a total loss in this section. The market height of the water in Cuero and Carmen was thirty-two inches while in Toluque the water stood six and one-half feet in the main streets.

Trees and drift wood floated through villages, destroying adobe houses and forcing families into the water.

Many houses have been robbed while the occupants are away. In San Juan Huastla the burning of Cuernavaca and of Santa Cruz are completely inundated.

ALBUQUERQUE - NEW MEXICO

AN INTRICATE PROBLEM.

A curious question has been raised by a project to pipe water to Sinton Island from driven wells in New Jersey. Upon this Newark and other cities are naturally alarmed for their own water supply, and want the state to forbid this diversion of its subterranean waters. It appears that there is no legal provision for this, and it is suggested that the governor may call a special session for the purpose. A somewhat similar emergency arose in New York, when a corporation began driving wells near Saratoga, and threatened to divert the water from the springs which are the life of that resort. The company could not be forbidden to take water from its own property, and there was nothing for the state to do but appropriate the land for public use and save the water to Saratoga. The increasing complexities of modern life raise new legislative problems at every turn.

COMING TO SCHOOL.

The Pacific Mail steamer China has just brought to San Francisco from Shanghai forty-seven young Chinese, the first contingent of students sent to America by the government of China in accordance with the arrangement entered upon at the time the United States announced its determination to relieve China of the payment of the Boxer indemnity. These students were selected out of 400 applicants, by competitive examination. They represent the cream of the young China which has been getting its education at the foreign schools located at the different educational centers throughout the empire and in them is the germ of the future remaking of the world old empire itself.

LADY EMPLOYEES.

Wandering through the huge white marble buildings of the department of agriculture at Washington you see many women in neat white aprons, some of them more girls, bending over microscopes and test tubes, save the Boston Post. Their activities seem very mysterious, but when you inquire you learn that they are engaged in original research work relating in one way or another to farming or gardening.

THE CANAL WILL BE DONE.

While the engineers in the field have for several years past named January 1, 1915, as the earliest possible date of completion of the Panama canal, Governor Blackford of the canal zone, who is taking a well-earned rest in this country, is even more sanguine. He says the canal will be finished by the end of the year 1912. He supports his conclusion with the fact that the 26,000 men at work are making the dirt fly at the rate of 4,000 cubic yards per month. After the world has waited four centuries for the waterway, it is gratifying to be assured of the speedy consummation of the most audacious engineering enterprise ever undertaken.

A PEACE MOVEMENT.

Edwin Sims, the Boston publisher, whose enthusiasm of war has taken such forms as suggesting that war poetry be written of schoolbooks and children be drilled in the use of the sword, has now given a practical direction to his propaganda by devoting $100,000 to promote the cause of universal peace. It is Mr. Sims' aim to "teach the business men of the world in a great permanent association which shall have for its object the suppression of war."

This is more to the point, says the New York World, Commerce and conquest have always been the main causes of war. Back of most signs of strife has been the commercial watershed—trade follows the flag. The wars of Venice and Genoa were waged for monopoly of trade with the east. The Crusades, notwithstanding their religious inspiration, were in effect armed expeditions to provide western commerce with an "open door" through Syria to the orient. Our "French and Indian" war was a mere incident in a struggle for world commerce. The Revolution and the rebellion were due to commercial causes. Napoleon's failure was a failure to control the trade of Europe. No doubt in addition to the fact that launched a decree of a seaport on the eastern shore of the Mediterranean.

War being thus on a commercial basis, what better remedy for it than a union of commercial interests to secure peace? Conditions of trade intercourse have changed, and in the intelligent view it is no longer by devastation, by ruining a rival nation's trade, that the invader's business interests are best advanced, but by the promotion of reciprocal relations. Trade organization on a smaller scale to secure moral reforms has been effective. There is the recent example of the combination of British interests against slave-grown coconuts.

A Hague conference of captains of industry convinced that this is the true law of international trade, that war after all has a paralyzing rather than a stimulating effect on commerce, could do much to influence the disarmament of nations. Once that principle is established, "no war or battle round" will be heard of the world around. Such an attitude for war might seem to lack the high ideals which have inspired previous peace movements. But of its effectiveness there can be no question.

A MORAL UPLIFTER.

The Philadelphia Public Ledger chronicles a report from New York to the effect that a distinguished philanthropist of great wealth, who has retired from business, intends to devote the remainder of his life to the improvement of the moral standard of the schools of the country. His immediate project is to publish, at his own expense, a series of pamphlets for free distribution among all the schools of the United States. These publications will deal with abstract moral topics, illustrated with brief biographies of famous Americans. The work is to be carried on in a systematic manner, from city to city, with a force of special agents, who will place the material in the hands of the teachers.

HOW TO FIND WATER.

It is reported that successful tests have been made of an apparatus invented by M. Dierker, one of the city engineers in Paris, by which the microphones are used for discovering subterranean water. The apparatus consists of an acoustic cone with a small cone fitted inside. The base of the small cone is turned toward the narrow end of the acoustic cone. A speaker over the cone prevents the air outside from causing a noise by blowing the apparatus.

To use the apparatus a hole is dug eight or ten inches into the ground, or it can be placed in a receptacle holding water which is flat on the ground. The acoustic cone is placed in the hole or water and rubber tubes, the ends of which are placed in the listener's ears, conduct the sound. The sound of subterranean water, thus heard is continuous and is particularly intense when the water falls in a gully.

The apparatus was successfully used a few days ago in a valley in the Marine department, where thirty farmers were greatly inconvenienced by having to depend on the river some distance away for their water supply. After three days' searching water was heard at what proved to be a depth of about sixteen yards.

OF ONE MIND.

Discussing Judge Anderson's decision, the Springfield Republican thinks it is "reason for public rejoicing" that the Roosevelt Panama case is meeting with an uncontentious reception in the courts. Expressing his own opinion of this prosecution, it says: "President Roosevelt was really in this matter of a course of action worthy of the most unflinching firmness that ever existed, and the success of his cause would be the most helpful thing conceivable for the conservation of government in the United States into a self-perpetuating autocracy."

PUT IN WINTER QUARTERS.

It is rather startling to learn that the custom of putting their children's clothes on their bodies for the winter season is sufficiently general among foreign mothers in our western cities to make the text of an advertisement before the American Hygiene association. In the case of the European foreign quarters in our great American cities there is a peculiar close interrelation between cleanliness and conditions that make for disease and self-respect.

AN ECHO OF THE REBELLION.

The state commander of the loyal Legion of the United States has issued a circular reminding reasoners declaring that it is the sense of the commandery that be memorial to anyone for whom distinction is claimed because of treasonable service against the nation should be permitted in the national capital. This is in protest against the proposed appropriation by congress of money for the erection in Washington of a statue in honor of Robert E. Lee.

Another resolution asks, that the wearing by any officer or employee of the national government, while on duty, of Confederate insignia or uniforms, be prohibited.

There is grave doubt as to the wisdom of such a policy, and it is very unfortunate that anything should be done, on either side, to make it a matter of public discussion, and thus keep alive the prejudices of the war. The true policy, on both sides of the line, is to do all we can to forget the great struggle, and let it go quietly into history.

Captain Forrest of the United States army, who was killed in the battle of Shiloh, was the first to be buried in the national cemetery at Arlington.

the Irishman's fien than any other man in the territory. You may hear of him at Etanola this morning, at Loringburg this evening and at Chaston tomorrow. But that's what he's here for.

The Philadelphia Public Ledger says: "It is better to have one happy man than a dozen grouchy ones," which goes to show that there are just like people—and the moral of this is, keep away from the devil and the grouch, but if you have to associate with one of the other, avoid the grouch.

She San Francisco Call says if Miss Maybelle Gould sticks to the resolution that an American is good enough for her, the chances are that she will be more happily married than her aunt the Princess de Sagan. There are plenty of undesirable Americans, but tired foreigners who marry for money are about the worst material for husbands the market affords.

Little Side Talks With the Editors

Not So Slow.

What in Heaven Do They Want?
A recent judicial decision in Chicago promulgates the doctrine that a woman can slash her husband's clothes to pieces and rifle them of any money therein, and in doing so she is strictly within the law. And yet women are still clamoring for their rights.—Tugboat News.

Pearly on the Ragged Edge.
Mr. Roosevelt is taking things easy since he has given Pearly power to act for him in consigning folks to the Ananias club. So far the thing works beautifully, but the prospects are that Pearly in his excitement will get so close to the edge that he will tumble over into the club's preserves himself.—El Paso Times.

A Tugboat View.
In regard to the connection between President Taft and submergence, we believe too much is expected of Mr. Taft personally. The enemies of New Mexico statehood are Senator Aldrich, one of the senate, and Senator Beveridge, chairman of the territorial committee. With the politicians out of the senate statehood is a mere Tugboat Tribune.

Do Better Next Year.
It is very much to be regretted that "old Valencia" was not represented at the twenty-ninth annual territorial fair to an exhibit of her resources. It is no use of talking otherwise, but if the people of Valencia had taken up the matter in time we would have the pleasure of recording the best exhibit on view at the fair. Let us all remember this next year and be there "with the goods" which we have.—Belen Tribune.

A Profitable Fair.
The value of the fair to Quay county is not to be overestimated. Quay is the one typical dry farming county in New Mexico, and such a collection of men have gathered here to produce an amount of intelligent effort to produce as fine crops as any country can show. Quay county is the meeting ground for all the products of the fair. At your fair, the crop plant of the north is being shown with the cotton plant of the south.—Olathe Progress.

A connecting link between the last century and the present one was broken last week by the death of Kofa, near Yuma, of a Mexican woman, Paquela Riena de Ramirez, on October 7, the one hundredth anniversary of her birth. The certificate of death, which was sent to Yuma to be filed by the county health officer, set forth the fact that Paquela Riena was born on October 7, 1809, the child of Francisco Riena and Trinidad Salas de Riena. The aged woman had lived for fifteen years in America, and had been for the past three years a resident of the Kofa district. She leaves a husband yet older than herself.

HOW TO SAVE THE FRUIT TREES FROM THE RABBIT PEST

(Experiment Station Bulletin.)
Mesilla Park, Oct. 28.—Many fruit and shade trees are lost annually by being gnawed by rabbits. The season in which most of the damage is done is during the winter months. As that season is approaching it would be well for the orchardist to have in mind some form of protection for his trees in order to prevent such a loss.

With regard to remedies, there are several advocated and these are usually of two kinds. The trunk of the tree is either painted with some solution or wrapped with some material. Many patent protectors are on the market such as wire coils and thin sheets of wood. The wire coil protector slips over the tree and can be left on the year around and until the trunk is removed. The wire coil protector slips over the tree and can be left on the year around and until the trunk is removed.

Paint the trunks of the trees with white wash. White wash is made by mixing one part of lead to four parts of water. The wash is put on with an ordinary paint brush and the trunk of the tree should be covered as high as the rabbits can reach. It should be renewed if there is any indication of injury to the trees by rabbits. One-half pound of Paris green may be substituted for the arsenate of lead.

Wrapping trees with paper.—The trunks of the trees are wrapped with paper, the paper being tied on with cord to hold it in place. Old newspapers may be used for the above purpose, the care necessary being to see that the paper entirely covers the trunk of the tree, high enough to prevent the rabbits reaching the exposed portion above the paper.

The two last remedies mentioned and described were used during the past winter and spring at the station and they gave entire satisfaction. The latter method of wrapping the trunks of the trees with paper is the cheaper of the two and if the proper care is exercised in putting on the paper, no other method will be necessary.

The paper should be removed in the latter part of spring after danger from rabbits gnawing the tree is past.

The planter should not fail to pay particular attention to this matter of protecting his trees during winter. A tree care expended along this line will save his trees from injury and will more than pay the expense.

The time to begin this protection is just as soon as the leaves fall and before any damage is done.

CATTLE GROWERS APPRECIATE SERVICE

President of New Mexico Organization Expresses Thanks for Good Reports of Meeting.

That the cattlemen of New Mexico who recently attended the annual convention of the New Mexico Cattle and Horse Growers association here appreciate a good newspaper is shown by the following little note received by this paper from the president:

"Cimarron, N. M., October 25, 1909.
—I wish to personally express to you my great appreciation of the excellent press service given the New Mexico Cattle and Horse Growers Association during our recent meeting. The fact that the common did not turn out in as large numbers as we hoped for, in no way indicated a lack of interest in our excellent organization."

I firmly believe that we are here to stay, and I particularly desire to thank you and your assistants for the excellent press service, which enabled me to send a clear report of our meeting to every member throughout the territory, by mailing them a copy of the 'Journal'.

"Believe me to be,
Cordially yours,
"GEO. H. WEBSTER, JR."

GOVERNOR CURRY HAS MADE GOOD

The announcement that Governor Curry will resign January 1 has caused widespread consternation among the business interests of the territory, and many of the most substantial men in New Mexico are urging him to stick to his post. His administration has been clean and honorable and a change at this time could only result in misfortune to the territory. True, his able advocacy of honesty in all governmental affairs has earned for him the dislike of certain politicians, who have thrived on graft in the past, and they have done what they could to embarrass the Curry administration and are still doing it. They alone would rejoice if the governor would resign. When Governor Curry first went into the office of chief executive of New Mexico he was confronted by a condition that had never before been equaled. His honesty of purpose and superior tact have brought about a desirable condition from what had before been extremely chaotic, and it is reasonable to say that no governor has ever had more unanimous support from the people. Both President Taft and Secretary Ballinger had ample opportunity to discover this fact during their recent visit here, and both expressed their satisfaction over the manner in which territorial affairs are being handled. Governor Curry has made good as governor and the business interests demand that he remain in office until we get staidhood, when the people will gladly make him the first governor of our new state.

The blacksmith blacksmith planted blow on blow, but the little miser never budged an inch. "Run, ye fool!" hissed a friend. "Ye stand no chance here. Run!" But the little miser as he received heroically a smashing left hook answered in a low voice: "Run? No! I've got my foot on a 10-cent piece!"—Washington Star.

CAUSES 95 PER CENT OF DISEASES

Advice Concerning Stomach Troubles and How to Remedy Them.

Do not neglect indigestion, which leads to all sorts of ill and complications. An eminent doctor once said that ninety-five per cent of all the ill of the human body have their origin in a disordered stomach.

A physician who made a specialty of stomach troubles, particularly dyspepsia, after years of study perfected the formula from which Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are made.

Our experience with Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets leads us to believe them to be the greatest remedy known for the relief of acute indigestion and chronic dyspepsia. Their ingredients are soothing and healing to the inflamed membranes of the stomach. They are rich in pepsin, one of the greatest digestive aids known to medicine. The relief they afford is almost immediate. Their use with persistency and regularity for a short time brings about a cessation of the pains caused by stomach disorders.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will insure healthy appetite, aid digestion and promote nutrition. As evidence of our sincere faith in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, we ask you to try them at your risk. If they do not give you entire satisfaction, we will return you the money paid us for them, without question or formality. They come in three sizes, prices 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. OMAHA BANDITS ON TRIAL FOR UNION PACIFIC HOLD UP

Witnesses Positively Identify Men Who Pulled Off Daring Job on Overland Fast Mail.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Omaha, Oct. 27.—Several witnesses here today at the trial of the alleged Union Pacific train robbers positively identified some of the prisoners as having participated in the hold-up. G. G. Whitmore, chief clerk of the fast mail car, identified D. W. Woods as one of the robbers. M. C. Rush, railway mail clerk, identified Fred Torgensen as another. Arthur J. Niles and Arthur L. Drebert, mail clerks on the car that was robbed, gave testimony this afternoon. They told of being forced from the car at the point of a pistol but neither could identify any of the suspects. William T. Canada, chief of the Union Pacific detective service, testified that he went to the scene of the hold-up with Captain Mooten and a squad of policemen an hour after it occurred. He identified pieces of a torn envelope he found near the scene of the robbery and told of finding other articles which might serve as clues to the robbers. The prosecution has 117 witnesses.

Pecos Valley Millionaire Land Owner Leaves Vast Estate to Widow; Sons Appointed Executors Without Bond.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Roswell, N. M., Oct. 27.—The will of the late James J. Hagerman, millionaire and father of ex-Governor H. J. His sons, Governor Hagerman and Percy Hagerman, of Colorado, are made executors without bond.

WOMAN PASSENGER IN WRIGHT AEROPLANE

College Park, Md., Oct. 27.—Mrs. Van Deman, wife of Captain Ralph C. Van Deman, twenty-first infantry, U. S. A., occupied the passenger's seat beside Wilbur Wright when he ascended in the government aeroplane here today. For four minutes she experienced the sensation of soaring in the air, sometimes sixty feet above the ground. This was the first time a woman had ascended in a heavier-than-air machine in the United States. The Wright brothers, having resisted a multitude of feminine importunities for aerial excursions. "Oh," exclaimed Mrs. Van Deman, when she returned to the ground, "now I know what makes the birds sing."

Cured of severe compound cold and cough by

Vinol

"From Dec. 20, '08, to March 1, '09, I had three bad colds, one on top of the other. I got so weak I could hardly get around. Nothing seemed to help me until I began to take Vinol. The change was magic. Three bottles completely fixed that compound cold and stopped the terrible cough—and what surprised me most, at the same time it cured me of a severe stomach trouble that has bothered me for 20 years."

Vinol is certainly a wonderful medicine.

Mr. Toppan is one of Lynn's most prominent and highly respected merchants, whose word is as good as his bond.

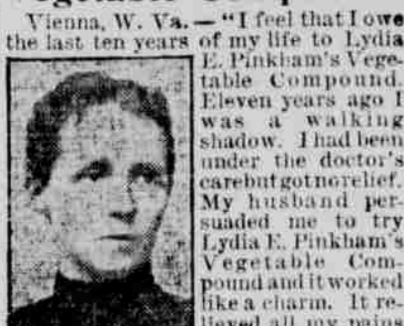

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains the two most wonderful tonics—the medicinal, strengthening, body-building elements of Cod Liver Oil and Tonic Iron.

Vienna, W. Va.—"I feel that I owe the last ten years of my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Eleven years ago I was a walking shadow. I had been under the doctor's care but got no relief. My husband persuaded me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it worked like a charm. It relieved all my pains and misery. I advise all suffering women to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. Emma Wheaton, Vienna, W. Va. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any similar medicine in the country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaint, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every such suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. details in the management of the machine prior to their ascension. They had a successful ascension, but after being in the air three minutes the machine descended rather suddenly in a remote part of the field, one of the supporting wires had given away and upon hearing it snap the officers had promptly pulled the lever to make a landing. The damage was trifling. His pupils have progressed so far that Mr. Wright announced his intention of abandoning them for several days, allowing them to use the aeroplane at their disposal.

LETTERS BARE ICE MONOPOLY METHODS

New York, Oct. 27.—Extracts from letters written by officials of the American Ice company to agents and customers were read in court today as evidence that the company was guilty of illegal monopoly in its dealings with independent producers and retailers. The state's attorneys presented evidence to show that the American Ice company, in order to enforce its monopoly, "cut the knife into the Maine ice industry, keeping the crop down to a minimum and allowing most of its ice houses in Maine to rot and fall down."

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK CAMPAIGN IS DELAYED

WILL WAIT FOR EXPECTED CURRENCY LEGISLATION

Next Year's Postal Card Contract Will Provide for More Attractive and Artistic Product.

Morning Journal Bureau, 413 Markey Building, Washington, D. C., Oct. 24.

There will be no currency legislation at the next session of congress, and until that legislation is out of the way no effort will be made to give consideration to the postal bank scheme which was introduced as vigorously while Secretary Meyer was postmaster general. A statement to this effect has been made by Congressman Weeks of Massachusetts.

Mr. Weeks is a member of the house committee on banking and currency, of the monetary commission which is investigating the entire system of banking laws in this country and abroad, and was recently appointed chairman of the house committee on postoffices and post roads. All three committees are closely related and the statement by Mr. Weeks that no currency legislation will be attempted by Senator Aldrich makes it seem certain that the major portion of the next session of congress will be devoted to the corporation legislation which is being prepared by President Taft and the members of his cabinet.

As chairman of the postoffices and post roads committee, Mr. Weeks will have jurisdiction of any legislation pertaining to postal savings banks. He is himself a banker and has given the subject considerable study. He represents the statement that one of the reasons which prompted Speaker Cannon in giving him the chairmanship was to make certain that the postal savings bank measure would be buried. Mr. Weeks says that his mind is open on the post project of Secretary Meyer, but he does not believe it would be wise to establish any new form of banks until the monetary commission makes its report.

"The commission," says Mr. Weeks, "has ample power to consider not only the currency system, but the entire banking system of the United States, and it will have a carefully considered report to make at the earliest possible moment. If the tariff had been under consideration this past summer, I have no doubt that the monetary commission would have been ready to report at the coming session of congress, but owing to many members being intimately occupied with tariff matters it has been impossible for the commission to do any work recently. It is, therefore, probable that a report cannot be made until a year from this winter, but in either case it does not seem to me that it would be wise or sensible to undertake the establishment of another form of banks when the monetary commission will be likely to cover the whole subject."

Chairman Weeks' statement would indicate that the fate of the postal savings bank will rest entirely with the monetary commission. There is no doubt that the commission can treat the matter if it sees fit, and as Mr. Weeks is a member of the house postal committee, will not make a favorable report on any such legislation referred to his committee, the advocates of the postal savings bank will have to wait until the special commission of which Senator Aldrich is chairman. The commission is fully empowered to consider the desirability of establishing a bank of central issue, which would be a bank of foreign countries; the desirability of changing the location of the reserve fund, and the desirability of changing the location of the reserve fund, and the desirability of changing the location of the reserve fund.

NEW POSTAL CARD TO BE MUCH MORE ARTISTIC. The millions of users of the government postal card will no doubt be pleased to learn that very soon their "little squares" will begin to supply them with a one-cent message bearing upon which they can really write with pen and ink—and that, too, without its being necessary to use a stub pen. It is a fact, long recognized, that one stock used in them at present is of a very inferior quality.

The familiar spectacle of a postal card bearing a message which appeared to have been written with a writing pen and finished with a stick—and a very blunt one at that—will soon be one of the relics of by-gone days. The new commonplace design used to give evidence to the fact that it is a "postal card" is supplied with all necessary postage will give way to one of some artistic merit. Another fact, and one which has been greatly appreciated by the government, is that the postal cards supplied by the government to its patrons are very much inferior to the cards of some foreign governments.

These facts have been brought very forcibly to the attention of Postmaster General Hitchcock, and they so impressed him that, when the question of arranging for the manufacture of postal cards after the expiration of the current contract, December 31 of the present year, was taken up, he gave to the commission having the matter in charge instructions which were very definite. The new cards, coming out of which will give the public a much more attractive and, one might almost say, a more dignified postal card than to which they have been accustomed.

After the end of the current contract period the entire work of manufacturing these cards for the government, as well as the supplying of them to the patrons of the postal service as at present, will be done by federal employees, excepting only what might be termed the preparation of the raw materials, among which the principal items are paper and ink. At the present time this is done by private contractors, and all work in connection therewith, from cutting the press and reducing the logs to pulp to the boxing of the cards for shipment, is done in the woods of Maine, the town of Stamford Falls being accredited with the phenomenon of having within its confines a spring from which flows a stream of postal cards at the rate of nearly three million every twenty-four hours. The logs from which the pulp is made are treasured from the picturesque mountain sides far above the little city and transported to the mill droes again. With the placing of this raw material in the mill where the process of converting it into postal cards is begun, and before they leave this quiet village these Maine logs have been metamorphosed into silent messengers which are destined to bear to mankind tidings of joy and of despair, of sunshine and of sorrow, of success and of failure. But with the expiration of the current contract the scene will shift. The postal authorities will forget the romantic Maine village, and those whose duty it is to distribute the postal cards to the various parts of the country will turn their eyes to that great government work shop known as the government printing office, the greatest primary of the world. When the making up of the new postal card contract was taken up by the officials of the postoffice department the question was at once asked as to why the work could not be as well or better done at the government printing office than by private contract. The result was that the public printer was invited to submit an estimate on the work, and when the bids were opened and compared with the figures submitted by that official it was found that it would be to the interest of the government to print its postal cards.

How many have thought that there were nearly a billion cards used each year or that nearly ten million dollars were spent every twelve months for what appears such a trifle. This means that in order to produce the cards as rapidly as they are used it is necessary to print, bind and pack for shipment approximately three million cards every twenty-four hours.

A New Conception of Death. Full indeed are the men and women of this age—say 25—who have not yet contracted the mania that will kill them, according to that distinguished scientist and physician Dr. Felix Reebault. Normally, as contemporary investigators are beginning to find out, it takes twenty years for a fatal malady to kill a patient. It may take thirty years. The popular impression is that a man may only require a year, or die in six months. To be sure, a man may be killed or a child may die in a few months at the age of one year. But ordinarily speaking, all deaths are very slow indeed, and about ninety-five per cent of civilized adults are now stricken with a fatal disease. They do not know it. They may not suffer from it. In due time they will have their cases diagnosed as cancer, or as tuberculosis or diabetes or what not. But so inveterate are current misconceptions of the nature of death that the origin of the fatal malady—in time—will be misapprehended by from ten to thirty years.

In the case of human beings death caused by some specific malady. This malady is as likely as not to be caused—what is called "cured." The "cure," however, no matter how skillful the treatment or how slight the disease, has left a weakness behind it in some particular organ of the body. One of the organs is, if not prematurely worn out, at least so worn that its resistive powers are greatly diminished. As we in this way when we have reached a certain age possess an organ that is much older than the rest of the body, it is not surprising that the

STAMPEDE TO YUMA RESERVATION

Hundred Thousand Applicants Expected to Be on Hand at Opening of Lands Next February.

Phoenix, Oct. 25.—Coincident with the visit of Secretary of Interior Ballinger to Arizona comes the announcement that the long-looked-for opening of the Yuma reservation lands will begin February 20th next.

During the next three months Yuma will experience a steady arrival of land seekers and investors, bent on getting into the game early. It is estimated that not less than 100,000 homesteaders will want to file on 4440 acres of land which will be thrown open on February 5, and as there must be many thousands who cannot hope to be successful, as but 472 people can draw 20 acres each, it is a necessary conclusion that there will be many thousands of disappointed and disappointed investors.

One of the facts brought out for the first time by the announcement just received from Washington is that the portion of the Yuma Indians for 10 acres each as against a acre originally intended has been allowed, and 450 Indians will now get 6000 acres and the white settlers 9440 acres. Those who have been watching the progress of the Yuma section are declaring that the opening of these lands is the key to the future, but one other thing remains to be done and that is the early construction of the archon under the Colorado river, bringing with it gravity water for the Yuma valley, and that nothing then can prevent the beginning of an era of great prosperity.

Other Lands to Open. Regulated Frank Parker has received from Land Commissioner Donnell of Washington, D. C., an order opening for entry the lands lying north of the Arizona canal that the department of interior recently announced would be returned.

The lands were withdrawn several months ago by the reclamation service when it was supposed that they might be necessary to carry out the Roosevelt project.

According to the order sent by Commissioner Donnell to the Phoenix land office, the lands will be thrown open to settlement until February 5 following.

According to the conditions, this land can be taken up either under the desert land or the irrigated land, and settlers will be permitted to file on as much as 320 acres. The four-acre minimum allotment rule will prevail, and those who prefer to buy the land in that manner will not have to wait the five years otherwise required.

Estimates of the land that has been returned by the government runs as high as 150,000 acres. The area includes Paradise valley, which is considered rich in agricultural possibilities. Experts say that plenty of water can be obtained in wells.

This land will not be irrigated, by the Roosevelt dam, which accounts for its being turned back by the government.

SUGAR TRUST MEN SEEK NO UNDUE ADVANTAGE

Decline to Take Refuge Under Decision That Statute of Limitations Bars Their Prosecution.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] New York, Oct. 27.—John E. Parsons, counsel for the American Refining company, was quoted here today as saying that he and his fellow directors who were indicted in the Pennsylvania Sugar company conspiracy case, will not take advantage of the statute of limitations as construed recently by Judge Holt of the United States circuit court. Mr. Parsons is said to have put the decision a serious test for the courts to construe, as follows:

"It would not seem good sporting indeed for us to take shelter behind this technicality. We will fight the thing out."

GOVERNMENT TO APPEAL FROM SUGAR TRUST DECISION

Washington, Oct. 27.—The government will at once institute an appeal from this decision, announced Attorney General Wickham today in reference to the action of Judge Holt in the circuit court at New York, sustaining the plea of the statute of limitations interposed by the defendants Kiesel and Harned to the indictment against them jointly with the American Sugar Refining company.

The attorney general said Judge Holt's decision was of far-reaching consequence.

is not the same thing as a conspiracy in restraint of trade.

"Where the law says every person who engages in a conspiracy to restrain trade, is guilty of misdemeanor, it means so long as the conspirators are continuing in a course of conduct which restrains interstate trade or commerce, they are violating the act."

"Where the restraint may be terminated by their voluntary acts, the statute of limitations does not begin to run in their favor until they perform the act which terminates the restraint and allows the current of trade which they had interrupted to resume its course."

Judge Holt's strictures against the increasing tendency of public prosecutors to indict for conspiracy when crimes have been committed is not understood as applicable to this prosecution in view of the fact that the only crime of which the defendants in this case could be accused was that created by the anti-trust act, namely of engaging in a conspiracy in restraint of trade or commerce among the several states."

CENSUS MEN ARE TO BE CHOSEN BY THE SUPERVISORS

Officials Must Shoulder Responsibility of Getting Satisfactory Enumerators Says Director.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal] Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—United States Census Director E. Dana Danratt stated today that the primary responsibility for securing efficient enumerators must rest with the supervisors of the census.

"It has been suggested from time to time," said the director, "that more efficient enumerators might be secured by competitive examination, open to everybody. There is no doubt that if the expense and time required were not prohibitive, it would be advantageous to hold such an examination, although it would be necessary, instead of merely selecting those whose ranking in the examination was the highest, to refer all candidates who passed to the supervisor, and allow him to select those whose personal characteristics, such as cannot be tested by any written examination, were most suitable. The difficulty with such an open examination is the expense and delay involved. It is probable that for the 55,000 places there would be several hundred thousand candidates, and the grading of their papers would require a large force for a long time. At some future census this plan might be attempted, but it cannot be attempted at the present census within the limits of time and appropriations set by law."

"The Census Bureau does, of course, undertake to protect itself," he continued, "against such obviously incompetent enumerators as the supervisors, through political influence, or through oversight, may happen to choose. At the best census the enumerators recommended by the supervisors were all subjected to a two-examination, and the same policy will be pursued this time. About one-sixth, or 2,000 of the candidates selected by the supervisors were rejected as a result of this test in 1900. It may be wise to make the test at the present census a little more severe than at the 1900 census. At best, however, such an examination can do no more than eliminate those who cannot write clearly and who are clearly lacking in an understanding of their duties. It can do little to assure the selection of men of industry, neat, or honest. The judgment, efficiency, and integrity of the supervisors must be the prime reliance for securing enumerators who possess these fundamental qualifications."

"I hope and believe that the supervisors of the present census are of the whole a higher type of men than those at any preceding census. The compensation offered to supervisors is somewhat more than ever before, but it is not really an adequate remuneration for men of the character needed. I believe that a very considerable proportion of the supervisors who have been appointed are men who in their regular occupation or professions are able to earn much more than the supervisor's pay, and who have accepted the position because of the honor and responsibility involved, or from patriotic motives. There has, however, been no new departure with respect to the general method of selecting supervisors, save only that in large cities, or most of them, selections have largely been made independently of political recommendations.

"It may be well to recapitulate here to explain the reason why so-called political recommendations must be sought in the appointment of supervisors in most of the districts. The supervisor, in order to do his work properly, must be a resident of the district over which he has charge. This position is not one which can be filled by civil service examination. A supervisor should be a man of executive ability, with a long time at a post of trust, and he should be a man well known in his community. Indeed, men of the type desired would not, in most instances, be willing to submit themselves to a civil service examination. Neither the Director or the Census, his superior officer, the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, nor the president, can possibly have personal acquaintance throughout the country with the men suitable to fill these positions, nor even with men outside of political positions, whose advice they can seek. The representative of the district in congress or the party leaders in the district have the necessary knowledge of local conditions and local men, and it is not only natural but practically necessary that matter of good administration should be left to them to make recommendations for positions of this character."

"Fortunately, members of congress and party leaders are coming more and more to appreciate the importance of accurate census statistics. The spoils of appointments is growing constantly less dominant. The director of the census has done everything possible to impress upon these officials the importance of securing the best supervisors. The importance of the census is being more and more appreciated by the people. The census is becoming more and more a part of the life of the nation. The census is becoming more and more a part of the life of the nation. The census is becoming more and more a part of the life of the nation."

The Best Cough Syrup is Easily Made at Home

You can make a full pint of cough syrup in five minutes by this recipe—enough to last a family a long time—at a cost of only 25 cents. It is not only cheaper, but better, than the cough medicines you buy. Its taste is pleasant—children like it. It stops obstinate coughs in a hurry, and is splendid for whooping cough.

Put 2 1/2 oz. of Pinex in a pint bottle and fill up with granulated sugar syrup made as follows: Take a pint of granulated sugar and 1/2 pint of warm water and stir about 2 minutes. Take a teaspoonful every one or two or three hours. This recipe will not work with any of the weaker pine preparations. Use the real Pinex itself, which is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway White Pine Extract. All druggists have it, or can get it easily on request. Strained honey can be used instead of the syrup, and makes a very fine honey and pine tar cough syrup.

FALL STYLES IN STETSONS

Note these fine points: The style, the character of the shoe, they stand for the Stetson idea. The Stetson Model fits perfectly more different foot-shapes than any other ever made. Because the Stetson Model provides for those shape-differences of the feet so often overlooked, it is the most popular last in America.

PURCHASE OF BACA BIG CHAMPIONSHIP GRANT MAY MEAN PLANT HERE

General Belief That Building of Railroad from Jemez to Domingo Station Means Sawmill in This City.

The surveying party now in the field between a certain point on Baca Grant No. 2 in the Jemez mountains and Domingo station, on the main line of the Santa Fe, forty miles north of Albuquerque, is making rapid progress with the line being run between those two points, that the line will undoubtedly be built providing cost of construction be at all reasonable, and that the building of the line will mean the building of a large saw mill in Albuquerque to care for the timber output, were the interesting statements made yesterday by a man who assisted in conducting the negotiations between the Baca grant and the Pennsylvania capitalists, which recently resulted in former lieutenant governor Charles W. Stone and associates purchasing the property.

The deal was closed some two weeks ago after lengthy negotiations. A surveying party and grubbing party were placed in the field two days after the sale had been consummated. These parties have been working industriously since and have partially completed the work they set out to do.

Mr. Stone, who organized the Redondo Development company, which took over the Baca grant property, left ten days ago for his home in Warren, Pa., but it is understood that he will return to Albuquerque in the near future and receive the report of the surveyors and grubbers. Before leaving Mr. Stone stated positively that the Redondo company did not care to have any false impressions go out regarding the development of the Baca grant, stating that immediate development work was not being considered.

The work in progress however has naturally given rise to the general rumor that actual development of the property is being at least planned regardless of the date at which the owners intend to really start the operations. The fact of the purchase itself naturally gives rise to the presumption that the purchasers are going to take out the timber. It is thought reasonably certain that the spur from the Jemez country to Domingo station will be built and there is a persistent report from more or less credible sources that the new owners of the grant are considering the establishment of a large saw mill of the southwest and it is to be hoped that plans for the Redondo road and mill will be consummated during the present year.

The Baca grant, which was purchased by the Redondo people is one of the largest single tracts of standing timber in the United States today, it being estimated that there are 400,000,000 feet of solid timber on the grant.

The building of another large saw mill in Albuquerque would make this city the center of the lumber industry of the southwest and it is to be hoped that plans for the Redondo road and mill will be consummated during the present year.

ENROLLMENT IN DISTRICT SCHOOL BEATS RECORD

Far and Away Largest Yet Says Stroup; Result of Compulsory Education Law.

That the recent indictments of a number of Bernalillo county parents for refusing to send their children to school according to law have been productive of wholesome results, is indicated by the record breaking attendance which has manifested itself in the past two weeks in the various county schools.

"They are packing in like sardines over at Atrisco and Rancho de Atrisco," said County Superintendent of Schools A. H. Stroup last evening after just returning from a visit across the river. "The attendance in the rural schools will be far and away the greatest on record and what we are going to do with them all is a problem. Provision will be made at once, however, for plenty of room for the year in the history of the county schools from present prospects."

TO HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICES IN DECEMBER

Elks' Lodge Appoints Committee to Arrange Program in Memory of Deceased Members; Five Candidates Initiated.

At last night's meeting of Albuquerque Lodge 461, B. P. O. E., committees were appointed to prepare a program and arrange other details for a memorial service in memory of the deceased members, the service to take place in Elks' opera house, Sunday, December 1. It is planned to make the coming service very solemn and impressive.

Proceeding the business session last night, five candidates were initiated into the order. R. H. Crews, a well known young attorney was one of the chief victims and was put through all the stunts of the ritual. The other candidates were A. Singer, L. H.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 27.—With warrants charging them with receiving money when the bank was insolvent, Walter H. Moore, Henry Moore, E. E. Lytle, Leo Friddle and W. Cooper Morris, of the defunct Oregon Trust and Savings bank, which failed here August 28, 1907, were placed under arrest last today. The arrest came as the result of a complaint sworn to by Abraham Hinkle, of Corvallis, Ore., one of the depositors in the bank.

Municipal Judge Bennett fixed their bonds at $5,000 each.

All the accused men secured bondsmen tonight and were released from custody.

The failure of the bank created a great sensation. It had thousands of depositors, including many poor persons. Upon an investigation by the receiver it developed that immediate sums of money had been loaned out principally worthless securities and in some instances merely on the note of the borrowers.

Wonderful Moving Picture Film Shows Heavy Stars and Exciting Scenes on the Diamond

The fans in Albuquerque who did not have the opportunity to see the whirlwind finish in the World's Championship baseball series this season may get a chance to see Pirates wallop the Tigers by the historic score of 8 to 0 in the greatest game in the history of baseball tonight at the Pastime theater. Manager W. C. Robinson has secured a wonderful moving picture film of the great game between Pittsburgh and Detroit which is well worth as thrilling as the real thing. It shows the game every play, clearly and distinctly—the vast crowd of over 20,000 people who saw the finish. "Base" Adams the Louisville wonder of the American association tearing them off for the Pirates and Wilf Hill Donovan of the Tigers living up to his wild and woolly name, and all the other celebrities who covered themselves with glory on this field or everlastingly went down below with the muffs.

This film is a wonderful and a dramatic thing and no fan or private citizen should miss it.

CARLISLE MEN ARE DOING WELL IN SOUTHWEST

Current Number of "Indian Craftsman" Tells of Graduates Who Are Winning Way in World.

The October number of "The Indian Craftsman," the artistic publication of the students of the United States Indian school at Carlisle, Pa., has a number of notes of graduates which will be of interest in this section.

"The Indian Craftsman" is published by the Indians themselves and is a beautiful specimen of artistic make-up and fine typography. The leading article in the October number is "With the Plute Indians," an interesting description of this interesting southwestern tribe by Walter Runke. Among the personal notes of alumni are the following:

Supervisor Charles E. Dagenett made Carlisle a short visit the past month while on his way from Buffalo to Washington. Mr. Dagenett is always interested in the work of the institution, sufficiently so to make us a visit whenever in this part of the country, and we are always glad to have him come. He is one of the most prominent alumni of Carlisle.

Joseph Porter, one of the apprentices of our printing department, and a member of the Navajo tribe, has accepted a position with the Bulletin Publishing company at Billings, Pa. He starts in at $12 a week and we expect him to "make good." He has done excellent work at his trade during the past year.

Joseph Ruiz, a Pueblo Indian of the class of '02, is doing well as a carpenter. He owns his home, which he built himself. For a while after leaving Carlisle he was assistant disciplinarian at Albuquerque. A letter received from the large mill company for which Mr. Ruiz is working in Las Cruces shows that he has been very successful and that they hold him in high esteem. He started to work for these people four years ago at $1 per day, and was gradually promoted until at present he is getting $4 per day.

George Pratt, a Pueblo Indian of the class of '02, is at present doing good work as a deputy forest ranger on the Manzano national forest; he is also deputy game and fish warden of Valencia county, N. M. His work is thoroughly appreciated by the forestry authorities. It is his duty to look after about 200,000 acres of Uncle Sam's forests. His home is at Grants, New Mexico.

OFFICERS OF INSOLVENT BANK HELD FOR FRAUD

Portland, Ore., Oct. 27.—With warrants charging them with receiving money when the bank was insolvent, Walter H. Moore, Henry Moore, E. E. Lytle, Leo Friddle and W. Cooper Morris, of the defunct Oregon Trust and Savings bank, which failed here August 28, 1907, were placed under arrest last today. The arrest came as the result of a complaint sworn to by Abraham Hinkle, of Corvallis, Ore., one of the depositors in the bank.

Municipal Judge Bennett fixed their bonds at $5,000 each.

All the accused men secured bondsmen tonight and were released from custody.

The failure of the bank created a great sensation. It had thousands of depositors, including many poor persons. Upon an investigation by the receiver it developed that immediate sums of money had been loaned out principally worthless securities and in some instances merely on the note of the borrowers.

ENROLLMENT IN DISTRICT SCHOOL BEATS RECORD

Far and Away Largest Yet Says Stroup; Result of Compulsory Education Law.

That the recent indictments of a number of Bernalillo county parents for refusing to send their children to school according to law have been productive of wholesome results, is indicated by the record breaking attendance which has manifested itself in the past two weeks in the various county schools.

"They are packing in like sardines over at Atrisco and Rancho de Atrisco," said County Superintendent of Schools A. H. Stroup last evening after just returning from a visit across the river. "The attendance in the rural schools will be far and away the greatest on record and what we are going to do with them all is a problem. Provision will be made at once, however, for plenty of room for the year in the history of the county schools from present prospects."

TO HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICES IN DECEMBER

Elks' Lodge Appoints Committee to Arrange Program in Memory of Deceased Members; Five Candidates Initiated.

At last night's meeting of Albuquerque Lodge 461, B. P. O. E., committees were appointed to prepare a program and arrange other details for a memorial service in memory of the deceased members, the service to take place in Elks' opera house, Sunday, December 1. It is planned to make the coming service very solemn and impressive.

Proceeding the business session last night, five candidates were initiated into the order. R. H. Crews, a well known young attorney was one of the chief victims and was put through all the stunts of the ritual. The other candidates were A. Singer, L. H.

GENERAL REYES IN LONG CONFERENCE WITH DIAZ

Mexico City, Oct. 27.—General Bernardo Reyes, who was recently granted indefinite leave of absence by the legislature of Nuevo Leon from his duties as governor, quietly entered Mexico City at midnight Monday, passed Tuesday conferring with President Diaz and took part in a triangular conference with the president and General Jose M. Emilio, sub-secretary, who has been named as governor ad interim of Nuevo Leon. General Reyes refused to see any representative of the press and declared he would not make a statement until he had finished his conference with President Diaz.
