Senators See Rich Mesilla Valley and Engle Dam Site

BIG RIO GRANDE PROJECT IS INSPECTED

COMMITTEE VISITS AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

Statesmen Deeply Impressed With Gigantic Dimensions of Eight Million Dollar Reclamation Plan at Elephant Butte.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal) Las Cruces, N. M., Nov. 18.—The special train bearing the senatorial irrigation committee, composed of Senators Thomas H. Carter of Montana, Francis E. Warren of Wyoming and Wesley L. Jones of Washington, Governor Curry and several high Santa Fe officials and a delegation of prominent citizens of El Paso and the lower valley country, arrived here at 7 o'clock this morning. They were met by a reception committee composed of H. H. Holt, president of the Water Users' association; Nicholas Galles, president of the Chamber of Commerce; R. L. Young, acting mayor; T. C. Phillips, manager of the Mesilla Valley Produce exchange; W. E. Garrison, president of the New Mexico Agricultural college, and William Palmer, Jr., of Rincon, the Las Cruces land and company A. of the New Mexico National guard and a large number of prominent citizens. Senator Carter of Montana made a short talk to the senators at the depot, saying that he was very glad to see them and that he was very much interested in the project. He said that he was very much interested in the project and that he was very much interested in the project.

From the army Prof. W. E. Garrison took the party to the site of the dam, where a general review of the cadets under command of Major George was held. Senator Warren was very much impressed and pleased with the showing made by the boys of the college. The special train backed to Mesilla Park and picked up the party, proceeding from there directed to Rincon, Engle and the Elephant Butte dam site.

ELEPHANT BUTTE PROJECT

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal) El Paso, Texas, Nov. 18.—Seeking to get first hand information about the actual condition of the immense project now under way in the south-west for the reclamation of the semi-arid and arid lands, the senatorial committee is today viewing what is perhaps the greatest reclamation scheme in the world, the Elephant Butte dam and reservoir project near Engle. The senators have been particularly impressed with the statistics regarding this great reservoir plan and particularly anxious to see for themselves the site of the tremendous undertaking which is to give New Mexico the greatest irrigation and water storage system on the globe, not excepting the far famed Assuan dam of Egypt. The senators have seen some big things in the southwest, having visited practically all the government reclamation projects and coming direct from the big Roosevelt dam in the Salt river valley of Arizona they are today viewing the site of an enterprise which exceeds even that in magnitude. The senators have been backed for guides, as they have been accompanied by Director of the Reclamation Service F. H. Newell and Supervising Engineer Louis C. Hill, Chief Engineer Arthur P. Davis and others.

In addition to the senators the senatorial party is made up of Steven A. Murphy of Washington, who is in charge of the trip; C. B. Eaton of Seattle, the official stenographer of the party, and George J. Scharshurg, the representative of the Chicago Record-Herald on the trip.

Governor George Curry joined the party at Deming and accompanied it to El Paso. W. E. Baker of Las Cruces also came to El Paso on the train.

After seeing the valley about Las Cruces, the committee went at once to the dam. The latter will cost eight million dollars and occupy eight years in building.

The lake to be formed by the dam will be forty miles long, will obliterate three villages south of San Marcial, N. M., and will hold the entire flow of the Rio Grande for three years. Inasmuch as water will be constantly used from it for the farms, engineers estimate that the lake will be fifteen years in filling after completion.

The dam is being constructed between two solid rock banks and the United States capital building at Washington, if inverted, would not fill the space it will occupy. The lake will irrigate 225,000 acres of land in New Mexico, Texas and Mexico, and the building of the dam fulfills a treaty obligation with Mexico.

That country complained for twenty years against the stoppage of the flow of the Rio Grande by denuding the Colorado watershed, and the matter was finally settled by a treaty, five years ago, by which the United States agreed to impound the waters of the international stream and divide them with Mexico, without cost to the water users.

Upon its arrival at El Paso the senatorial committee separately was received at the depot by a special committee of the water users' association and royally entertained while in the city. Headed by the Fort Bliss band, the senatorial committee and the reception committee were taken to the Sheldon, where an informal luncheon was served to the senators by the water users' association, and the citizens of the two valleys. After the luncheon the committee was shown to El Paso and Juarez valleys in autos and a reception was given at the Chamber of Commerce for the party in the afternoon.

Senator Carter and Governor Curry sat at the head of the long table, which had been arranged in the main dining room of the Sheldon for the luncheon. In addition to the members of the senatorial party, the following attended the luncheon: Felix Martinez, A. Courchesne, J. A. Smith, A. Krakauer, T. M. Wingo, W. Cooley, J. L. Marr, W. M. Reed, H. D. Slater, L. C. Hill, A. P. Coles, J. L. Dyer, Jack Reynolds, Thos. Franklin, Col. J. P. Huston, W. B. Latta, J. H. Nations, Geo. H. Clements, D. M. Payne, Z. T. White, H. B. Stevens, Judge A. M. Walthall, G. A. Martin, F. H. Newell, H. C. Myles, W. P. Robinson, J. F. Williams, Chas. Bassett, W. H. Burges, J. A. Happer, W. W. Follett.

Those who made the trip to Las Cruces and Engle from here were: R. F. Burges, O. H. Baum, H. D. Slater, J. A. Smith, A. Courchesne, James G. McNary, Z. T. White, H. B. Stevens, W. B. Latta, W. W. Follett, C. N. Bassett, E. K. Tallot and S. C. McCurdy.

Prominent Santa Fe officials met in El Paso to form a railroad escort for the senators over their tracks. Among the railroad officials who made up the party are R. J. Parker, general superintendent, and F. L. Myers, division superintendent at San Marcial, who arrived last night from La Junta by special train. C. W. Kouns, Avery Turner and F. M. Blasee, prominent officials from Amarillo, Texas, and J. R. Kountz, general freight agent, and J. M. Connell, general passenger agent, from Topeka, Kan., are with the party.

WHAT THE SENATORIAL COMMITTEE HAS SEEN

While in Arizona the visitors have had the opportunity of seeing irrigation works whose combined cost is many millions of dollars.

Arizona has been a large beneficiary under the reclamation law. Up to the present time the total investment in federal irrigation works amounts to approximately $10,825,000. The tentative allotments for these projects for 1909-10 are $4,080,000, divided as follows: Salt river project, $2,945,000; Yuma project, $1,135,000. The total investment up to the close of the year 1910 will be approximately $14,965,000.

Among the more important engineering features involved in the government work in the territory are the following:

The Laguna dam, across the Colorado river near Yuma, 4,780 feet in length, weighing 600,000 tons and resting on the quicksands of the river

him. Baca refused to pay commission and hence the suit.

Striped Trousers Fatal.
Deputy Sheriff Enrique Sena returned from Trinidad last night, having in custody Cipriano Martinez, who is wanted here for burglarizing the barber shop of W. T. Reed of West Las Vegas. Martinez admits he is the man wanted and has confessed the robbery.

At the time of his arrest he was porter at the Coronado hotel in Trinidad. His arrest was accomplished through a certain striped trousers he wore by which his identification was made complete.

The case will come up at the next term of court. In the meantime he will be confined in the county jail unless he gives bond.

BAD WEATHER FAILS TO HALT INSURRECTION

Cape Haytien, Nov. 18.—According to advices from Monte Cristi, Santo Domingo, the Yaqui river has overflowed its banks and inundated practically the entire town. The water in some places rose fifteen feet. The inhabitants were forced to take refuge on the roofs of their houses. Terrible misery prevails and immediate assistance is necessary. The surrounding villages have been isolated.

The insurgents are making the most of the bad weather to attack the government troops, who with the peasants are isolated in the hills without food or water.

BODY BROUGHT FROM DEATH HOLE AT CHERRY

First Successful Attempt to Enter Flame Swept Cavern Results in Recovery of One of 300 Corpses.

TWENTY DEAD LOCATED BY DARING SEARCHERS

Passageways Blocked by Obstructions Which Are Believed to Hide Remains of Unfortunate Miners.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Cherry, Ill., Nov. 18.—With the recovery of one body believed to be that of Ole Frisberg, the location of nineteen others that could not be rescued near the ventilating shaft, and a determined effort to enter the mine through the main pit, the work of reaching the 300 bodies in the St. Paul mine progressed rapidly today.

The air shaft, following the daring exploration that resulted in the location of twenty dead, was closed, and a full stream of water was directed into it. Then the main shaft was attacked. The temperature of this shaft has been well over 100 degrees, but continuous sprinkling today reduced it to about ninety degrees.

When the canvas and sand with which the pit had been closed were removed a cloud of steam rolled out, but it was only a puff. Men in helmets first descended to the fatal second gallery. They reported the mouth of the drift badly blocked by timbers and mud, but the fact that their safety lamps were not extinguished indicated the absence of black damp.

The next squad to descend went without helmets and reported conditions perfect for an attack on the flames within the gallery. Great difficulty was experienced in lowering a sufficient length of hose pipe—218 feet—into the pit and it was close to midnight before success crowned efforts in this direction. The great weight of the big tubes repeatedly broke the tackle hook and valuable time was lost.

Various crews made the descent. The report that there was little heat at the mouth of the gallery was given out, but they said search for the bodies would not be practicable until the

ROBBED AGED MOTHER AND SKIPPED

MICHIGAN FUGITIVE NABBED IN LAS VEGAS

Sheriff Identifies Man Wanted by Household Effects; Hillsdale Officer Comes for the Prisoner.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal) Las Vegas, N. M., Nov. 18.—Charged with robbing his aged and defenseless mother of all her money and valuables, leaving her alone and penniless, and coming to the southwest to enjoy his ill gotten gains, Fay Thompson was arrested here this morning by Chief of Police Coles and placed in jail. Today Sheriff Bibbins of Hillsdale county, Michigan, arrived and took charge of Thompson and will leave tomorrow with him for Hillsdale, Thompson's home. When Thompson left Michigan, arrived at his mother's home and leaving her destitute, he packed up his household effects and shipped them to Las Vegas. Sheriff Cleofes Romero, who has been working on the case for some time past, was warned to look out for certain goods, and when the goods arrived yesterday the officer was at once able to identify the owner. Thompson had been working for the past month in the harness department of Gehring's hardware store, and made a good impression on those who met him here.

SNELL GUILTY SAYS JURY IN LAS VEGAS

UNION COUNTY DEPUTY SHERIFF LOSES CASE

Convicted of Subornation of Perjury in Connection With Homestead Entry; Will Appeal Case.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal) Las Vegas, N. M., Nov. 18.—George Snell, chief deputy sheriff of Union county, residing at Clayton, indicted by the United States grand jury on the charge of subornation of perjury in connection with a homestead entry, was found guilty by the jury in the district court here, a sealed verdict to this effect being opened and read when court convened this morning. Sentence was deferred pending the hearing of a motion for an appeal by counsel for defendant. The case against Snell is the most important that has been tried at this term of the United States court, owing to the prominence of the defendant and the hard fight he put up for acquittal.

The prosecution was conducted by United States Attorney D. J. Leahy and assistant, S. B. Davis, Jr., and Special Agent of the General Land Office Theodore N. Espe. Attorney John A. Povey of Clayton represented the defendant.

INQUIRY INTO ALASKA COAL ENTRIES BEGUN

Seattle, Nov. 18.—The opening session of the inquiry into the filings on the thirty-three claims in the Katalla district of Alaska, known as the Cunningham group, which began here this afternoon, before Special Commissioner William McGee of the general land office, was devoted to the introduction of stipulations and documentary exhibits. Twenty-eight of these exhibits were produced by the attorneys for the government, the bulk of them consisting of affidavits from the claimants as to their good faith in making the filings. Numerous statements of accounts showing the sums spent toward development of claims were also included in the exhibits.

Attorneys for the government declined to state whether L. R. Glavis, former chief of the field division of the general land office at Seattle, will be called.

Prior to his removal from the office by Secretary of the Interior Ballinger, Mr. Glavis had charge of the investigation that brought about the present inquiry.

TONG FIGHTERS TO INVAD DENVER

TERROR REIGNS IN CHINESE QUARTER

Thirty Hatchet Men Sent East from San Francisco to Exterminate Members of Yee Clan, Is Report.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Denver, Nov. 18.—Denver's Chinatown is experiencing a reign of terror as the result of a warning received from San Francisco that a band of thirty hatchet men is en route to Denver to exterminate members of the Yee Tong, of whom there are nearly 100 here. This action is a result of the feud that is now raging in San Francisco between the Yee Tong and the On Yick Tong.

Ye Quong, proprietor of a chop suey restaurant, received a letter yesterday containing the warning and advising him to notify other members of the Yee Tong in Denver to be on their guard against the threatened invasion.

Ye Wah Fung, who conducts a curio store on Broadway and one of the most prominent Chinese in Denver, has also been warned that the death sentence has been passed upon him.

The letter of warning came from Chinamen, the man who started the trouble between the San Francisco Tong.

Guards have been stationed to watch for the entrance into Chinatown of every strange Chinese.

Rogers' Estate Pays Tax

Albany, Nov. 18.—State Comptroller Williams today received $42,809 from the estate of the late H. H. Rogers, in part payment of the collateral inheritance tax against the estate.

LOEB TO CLEAN OUT CUSTOM HOUSE

SIX SUSPECTED EMPLOYEES DISMISSED SUDDENLY

Declared New York Collector is Sharpening His Ax Preparatory to Separating Fifty More From Federal Payroll.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) New York, Nov. 18.—The expected shake-up in the New York customs house as a result of the sugar fraud exposure began today with the abrupt dismissal of six suspected employees by Collector Loeb.

At the same time came the announcement that a house cleaning commission of eight customs experts whose integrity is unquestioned has been appointed by Mr. Loeb to take up the work of making the New York customs house a model for the entire country.

Although the names of the six men dismissed today were not given out, Mr. Loeb said that all were customs inspectors. Four were formerly assistant weighers on the sugar docks and are now under charges being investigated by Henry L. Stimson, special counsel for the government. The direct reason for the dismissal of the other two inspectors was said by Collector Loeb to be their acceptance recently of tips from steamer passengers.

According to reports more than fifty other employees are to be ousted within a few days.

The new commission, which is expected to devise a scheme of reorganization for the customs administration at the port of New York, is headed by John C. Williams, deputy collector, and Mark P. Andrews, a member of Mr. Loeb's personal staff, of legal counsel. The other members represent the important departments of the customs service. They are: John J. Raszkiewicz, deputy surveyor; William Sprague, deputy collector; George G. Smythe, member of the United States civil service board; Matthew M. Conely, deputy surveyor; and John C. Hatherly and Stephen W. Stennett, deputy appraisers.

These eight men, known as the collector's "advisory commission," held their first session this afternoon. Their meeting lasted until late in the evening but nothing was given out as to the business that occupied their attention.

SAYS GOVERNMENT HAS STRONG CASE AGAINST TRUST

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 18.—George F. Gross, in charge of the New York district for the treasury department when the Williamsburg sugar cases were investigated, and who is now in charge of the Buffalo district, said today that the government has much evidence in the criminal cases now pending, of which the public knows nothing.

Mr. Gross said the Williamsburg cases had been referred to him with instructions to make a thorough investigation.

"Making photographs of the weighing machines with the spring attachments," said Mr. Gross, "was in line with our determination to conduct an investigation that would be productive of conclusive evidence. Richard Parr's work made it so. He is an efficient official and true to the government."

"I cannot now discuss all the evidence secured by Parr for the government. The evidence so far as it has been given to the public is in the main correct."

WEIGHERS EMPLOYED IN VIOLATION OF CIVIL SERVICE

Washington, Nov. 18.—Unclassified laborers in the New York customs house, the files of the civil service commission show, were put to work as sugar samplers between the years 1929 and 1932, in contravention of law, these positions being in the classified service.

To what extent this was done is not disclosed, but the fact is that such work was given for some time to Henry C. Cora, an unclassified laborer, whose story of alleged bribery in sugar sampling was printed today. More than this, on August 28, 1902, the civil service commission called the matter to the attention of Leslie M. Shaw, then secretary of the treasury.

An examination of the files of the commission was made today to clear the public mind of any idea that the commission had been advised that that body was aware of alleged violations of law in the sampling of sugar. Mr. Cora's communication added nothing to what already has been printed. It was dated August 12, 1902, he having previously made application for reinstatement to the position from which he had been removed in February.

Touching the sugar frauds it said: "I know of no reason for my removal except that I furnished the United States appraiser with positive proof that the United States sugar samplers were being bribed by the agents of the sugar merchants, regarding which no action has been taken by the treasury department."

While Mr. Cora was making an effort to secure reinstatement there was

UNITED STATES WAR VESSELS SENT SOUTH

TO GUARD AMERICAN INTERESTS IN NICARAGUA

Washington Aroused at Alleged Execution of Two Americans Captured While Serving in Insurgent Army.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Washington, Nov. 18.—Announcement that this government is tired of the high-handed action of the small Central American republics, particularly Nicaragua, was contained in a dispatch sent to the Bluefields Steamship company, which today sought protection of the state department from interference by the insurgents now operating against President Zelaya.

An hour later a pre-emptory note couched in diplomatic language, but none the less direct, was delivered to Senator Felipe Rodriguez, charge d'affaires of the Nicaraguan legation, demanding a full and complete explanation of the execution of the two Americans, Leonard Grace and Leroy Cannon, who were killed by order of Zelaya when they were found in the insurgent army.

Pending a satisfactory explanation President Taft has refused to recognize leader Hegera, the new Nicaraguan minister.

Mr. Taft is thoroughly aroused by the actions of the Zelayan government and apparently is determined to make American citizens much safer and considerably more respected in Central America than they have been hitherto.

The attitude of the government was clearly shown late today when the state department sent a dispatch to the Bluefields Steamship company, the headquarters of which is in New Orleans. The company's regular steamer was about to sail for Bluefields with a miscellaneous cargo, counted in which were a number of rifles and other munitions of war. The corporation was warned by agents of the Nicaraguan insurrectionary forces that the vessel would be liable to seizure and the steamship people promptly called on the state department to declare the protection this government would give in such cases.

The state department replied promptly. The answer was the result of a conference between the president and the secretary of state and carried full weight. It gave the steamship concern no encouragement and practically recognized the revolutionary forces operating against the Zelayan administration, a proceeding for which there probably is no parallel in the records of the American government.

This dispatch, directed to the steamship company at New Orleans, and signed "Knox, secretary of state," read:

"If the announced blockade or investment of the Nicaraguan port of San Juan del Norte (Greytown), is effectively maintained and the requirements of international law, including warning to approaching vessels, are observed, this government would not be disposed to interfere to prevent its enforcement. A naval vessel will be ordered to Greytown to observe and report whether the blockade is effective."

The attitude of the United States, as shown by its apparent recognition of the Nicaraguan insurrectionary forces to diplomate that this government would welcome the overthrow of the present administration there. It is well known that President Zelaya's attitude toward American interests for some time has been anything but satisfactory.

The state department today maintained a reserve that was described by one diplomat as "orchestrated." It learned, however, that both President Taft and Secretary Knox practically have determined on the exertion of some forceful moral suasion, if the Nicaraguan government should refuse to recognize the Central American states to a realization of their responsibilities.

The execution of the Americans is held here to be indefensible. In the absence of complete details this government is reserving judgment, but if the men were captured in the ranks of the enemy with arms in their hands they were entitled to military trial under international law. It is inconceivable to officials here that either man was acting as a spy for their nationality would preclude their succeeding in such a mission.

While no orders have been issued for the dispatch of war vessels other than the Des Moines and the Vicksburg to observe conditions on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, there are plenty of vessels in Caribbean waters that can be sent to the scene on the shortest notice, while there are other vessels within call on the Pacific coast. It is evident that the temper of the administration has been thoroughly aroused and if occasion warrants the state department may advise drastic action.

Last year Minister Coolidge resigned and returned from Greytown, the Nicaraguan capital. It was given out then that Mr. Coolidge returned merely because of ill health, but it eventually was learned that he was practically forced to withdraw in order to save his dignity and preserve the standing of this government. Since then there has been no diplomatic connection between the two governments except through the Nicaraguan legation here.

Attaches of the legation today declined to make any comment on the situation. The new minister, Senor Hegera, naturally refused to discuss it, as his credentials had been waived aside at the White House because of the developments of the last few hours. There was an air of genuine anxiety about the legation and from appearance the diplomats regard the situation as grave.

Financial Assistance Asked of General Public by U. N. M. Athletic Department

BIG DEFICIT IN THE TREASURY MUST BE CARED FOR

Manager Lee of Varsity Eleven Issues Stirring Appeal for Aid in Furtherance of Important Work Necessary to Growth of Institution.

To the Public:

For many years the University of New Mexico has been exerting strenuous efforts to further athletics in the southwest. She has been working under difficult circumstances owing to the small student body, the small number of competing institutions, and to the great distances between them that necessitates an expense not met with in eastern colleges.

The student body, realizing that the history of older and greater institutions shows that after their athletic have been once fairly launched they need never again cry for help, has tried with unusual efforts and against heavy odds, to build up athletic seasons here worthy of the best.

The season of 1908 marked the beginning of New Mexico's career in first class athletics. She managed to play a season of football that would do credit to the larger institutions. The season of 1909, as has been planned and so far successfully carried out, is as heavy as any schedule west of the Mississippi, and puts our University in the top ranks of football. The 1909 football season will cost the student body a little less than four thousand dollars, which they must meet themselves. It is impossible for such a season to be carried on, however, by the manager gate receipts received in New Mexico. We regret to say, not withstanding that our football is as good as the average among northern and eastern institutions, we are able to secure a crowd of some 100 people at an admission of 50 cents where eastern schools in a town the size of Albuquerque scarcely ever play before less than 3,000 people. In Denver as high as 8,000 and 10,000 people attend the games, tickets for which are $1 and $1.50. Realizing that good football warrants such receipts, New Mexico has endeavored to give its citizens good, snappy football, and has now a team that will be matched against the best in the west. No matter if they did go down in defeat before the University of Colorado, it resulted in good for the University of New Mexico. The fifteen hundred or two thousand people who witnessed that game were better satisfied and were as enthusiastic as the many thousands that witnessed the great game between Denver University and the Colorado School of Mines the same day. This is also shown by the reception accorded and credit given our team by the Colorado papers.

The general verdict, too, of the few hundred people here who have seen New Mexico play this season, is that she is playing high class football under the direction of a first class coach and that she deserves better patronage.

As we realize, this season's football has been a wonderful factor in bringing the institution before the eyes of all the great southwest in a favorable light. We believe that the students who have exhibited such loyalty to their institution by exerting themselves and attempting such a tremendous undertaking deserve the support of the citizens of New Mexico.

It now becomes absolutely necessary to appeal to the local public for substantial support and assistance in a financial way and therefore this statement is made for the information of the people of Albuquerque.

LAWRENCE LEE, Manager U. N. M. Football Team.

We appeal in all that is said in the foregoing statement and join in the appeal which is made for financial help.

FRUIT STEAMSHIP REPORTS ASTOR YACHT SAFE

Captain Declares Missing Vessel Was Anchored in Reef Harbor, San Salvador; Friends Discredit the News.

[By Morning Journal Special Licensed Wire] New York, Nov. 18.—Some assurance that Colonel John Jacob Astor's yacht Nourmahal, which has been missing in West Indian waters for ten days, safely outside the recent hurricane, was brought here today by Captain J. Durie, of the steamship Andania, which arrived with fruit from Jamaican ports.

Captain Durie, learning on landing of the Nourmahal for the Astor party, reported that on Sunday, November 14, he sighted a boat which he believed to be the Nourmahal, riding at anchor in the reef harbor at Hawks Nest, San Salvador.

Colonel Astor's friends here are inclined to doubt that the yacht seen by Captain Durie was the Nourmahal, as San Salvador is nearly 200 miles north of the region where Colonel Astor planned to cruise.

Three years ago he was accused of siding with a revolutionary party and had to leave the country. When his friends regained power he was with them and he wrote to his father that he had property worth $100,000.

An effort will be made by the parents to have the body brought here for burial.

CLAIM AMERICANS WE'RE GIVEN FAIR TRIAL. Managua, Nicaragua, Nov. 18.—Messrs. Cannon and Grace, the Americans who were executed for complicity in the rebellion, were tried at a fair court martial held under the direction of the government.

The men, it was charged, were responsible for placing dynamite mines which were intended to blow up government steamers laden with troops entering the river at Greytown.

One of the mines planted by Cannon and Grace exploded 15 yards from the steamer Danab.

When Cannon and Grace were captured they had with them dynamite machines and other accessories for blowing up vessels. The men confessed their guilt to the authorities and also in letters to their families.

Previously Cannon had taken part in a revolutionary movement against Nicaragua from Honduras. He was imprisoned several months.

The Value of Proprietary Medicines is proven by the very large percentage of physicians' prescriptions for the same remedies found in every drug store in America, but as they are written in Latin, few patients realize this fact.

The old standard proprietary medicines like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that have stood the test of time, deserve a place in every family medicine chest, and it is most certain they would not be prescribed by physicians if they were able to devise a formula equally as efficacious.

UNITED STATES WAR VESSELS SENT SOUTH. revolutionaries and has made peremptory demands upon Zelaya for explanation of the execution of the two Americans condemned as insurgents.

Two American war vessels have been ordered to proceed to Nicaragua immediately, and the meeting of the new Nicaraguan minister with President Taft has been indefinitely postponed.

The names of the men executed are Leonard Grace and Leroy Cannon. They were sentenced to death by President Zelaya's order.

The brutality of the government in ordering the execution of these men without a trial of any sort is likely to result in this government taking drastic measures.

President Taft was so incensed that he immediately announced he would have no communication with the new Nicaraguan minister.

The action of this government in sending two warships into Nicaraguan territory following the receipt of the news that two Americans had been summarily shot by order of President Zelaya, is not to be regarded as a warlike demonstration against that country. These vessels will report developments in Nicaragua as promptly as possible.

The state department has already taken steps to ascertain all the facts connected with the capture and supposed execution of Cannon and Grace, and when this information is received the government will take such action as the case may warrant.

It is learned that the determination of President Taft not to receive the new Nicaraguan minister, before Hagera, was communicated to that of field through the Nicaraguan charge d'affaires, who was called to the White house and handed a letter addressed to the minister which stated that because of the reported shooting of two Americans by the order of the president of Nicaragua, the president had decided to postpone indefinitely the formal presentation of Señor Hagera.

LEROY CANNON'S MOTHER DOESN'T BELIEVE HE'S DEAD. Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 18.—Gertie Cannon, reported shot in Nicaragua, as a result of the hurricane, was a native of this city and was 29 years old. He had been living in Central America for eight years and in that time had been heard of half a dozen times as figuring in hazardous enterprises.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel K. Cannon, received the first intimation of their son's fate from an Associated Press reporter this afternoon. Mrs. Cannon doubted the story, saying she had received a letter on October 12, which stated that her son was returning to his plantation. She said that he had written about coming home after he was released from prison but the letter told of a change of plans. Mr. Cannon said that he had been expecting his son home. Cannon left the Harrisburg High school in 1894, and tried to enlist for the Spanish war. He failed and a few years later he turned up in Nicaragua as an engineer's assistant on the canal survey. He took a great interest in the frequent revolutions and finally left the service of the canal commission and threw his lot with one of the leaders.

Three years ago he was accused of siding with a revolutionary party and had to leave the country. When his friends regained power he was with them and he wrote to his father that he had property worth $100,000.

An effort will be made by the parents to have the body brought here for burial.

CLAIM AMERICANS WE'RE GIVEN FAIR TRIAL. Managua, Nicaragua, Nov. 18.—Messrs. Cannon and Grace, the Americans who were executed for complicity in the rebellion, were tried at a fair court martial held under the direction of the government.

The men, it was charged, were responsible for placing dynamite mines which were intended to blow up government steamers laden with troops entering the river at Greytown.

One of the mines planted by Cannon and Grace exploded 15 yards from the steamer Danab.

When Cannon and Grace were captured they had with them dynamite machines and other accessories for blowing up vessels. The men confessed their guilt to the authorities and also in letters to their families.

Previously Cannon had taken part in a revolutionary movement against Nicaragua from Honduras. He was imprisoned several months.

The Value of Proprietary Medicines is proven by the very large percentage of physicians' prescriptions for the same remedies found in every drug store in America, but as they are written in Latin, few patients realize this fact.

The old standard proprietary medicines like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that have stood the test of time, deserve a place in every family medicine chest, and it is most certain they would not be prescribed by physicians if they were able to devise a formula equally as efficacious.

UNITED STATES WAR VESSELS SENT SOUTH. revolutionaries and has made peremptory demands upon Zelaya for explanation of the execution of the two Americans condemned as insurgents.

Two American war vessels have been ordered to proceed to Nicaragua immediately, and the meeting of the new Nicaraguan minister with President Taft has been indefinitely postponed.

The names of the men executed are Leonard Grace and Leroy Cannon. They were sentenced to death by President Zelaya's order.

The brutality of the government in ordering the execution of these men without a trial of any sort is likely to result in this government taking drastic measures.

President Taft was so incensed that he immediately announced he would have no communication with the new Nicaraguan minister.

The action of this government in sending two warships into Nicaraguan territory following the receipt of the news that two Americans had been summarily shot by order of President Zelaya, is not to be regarded as a warlike demonstration against that country. These vessels will report developments in Nicaragua as promptly as possible.

The state department has already taken steps to ascertain all the facts connected with the capture and supposed execution of Cannon and Grace, and when this information is received the government will take such action as the case may warrant.

It is learned that the determination of President Taft not to receive the new Nicaraguan minister, before Hagera, was communicated to that of field through the Nicaraguan charge d'affaires, who was called to the White house and handed a letter addressed to the minister which stated that because of the reported shooting of two Americans by the order of the president of Nicaragua, the president had decided to postpone indefinitely the formal presentation of Señor Hagera.

LEROY CANNON'S MOTHER DOESN'T BELIEVE HE'S DEAD. Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 18.—Gertie Cannon, reported shot in Nicaragua, as a result of the hurricane, was a native of this city and was 29 years old. He had been living in Central America for eight years and in that time had been heard of half a dozen times as figuring in hazardous enterprises.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel K. Cannon, received the first intimation of their son's fate from an Associated Press reporter this afternoon. Mrs. Cannon doubted the story, saying she had received a letter on October 12, which stated that her son was returning to his plantation. She said that he had written about coming home after he was released from prison but the letter told of a change of plans. Mr. Cannon said that he had

STATES RIGHTS IN REGULATION OF RAILROADS

Gentleman from South Carolina Accuses Federal Commerce Commission of Desire to Grab All the Power.

[By Morning Journal Special Licensed Wire] Washington, Nov. 18.—The feeling of resentment on the part of some state commerce commissioners of "hogging" all the supervisory power over railroads reached a climax at the session of the National Association of Railway Commissioners when the convention was asked to approve the Each bill of the interstate commerce commission to investigate all accidents on railroads engaged in interstate commerce.

Commissioner Earle, of South Carolina, led in the denunciation of the bill. The discussion finally resulted in Mr. Clark, of the interstate commerce commission and Commissioner Burr, of Florida, offering a suggestion that the bill be approved, if amended so as to specify it was in no way to interfere with the right of the states. This course was pursued.

Scarcely had Secretary Mosely, of the interstate commerce commission, finished the report of a special committee recommending the approval of the Each bill before Commissioner Smith, of South Carolina, objected that it would interfere with the right of the states to investigate.

Mr. Mosely said he was amazed to hear such a statement, but it was not until Commissioner Earle obtained the floor that the situation became delicate.

"We have heard you ask for uniform classification, uniform demurrage, uniform this and uniform that," said Mr. Earle, shaking his finger at Mr. Mosely.

"We are getting tired of it. Are you going to take everything? I'll tell you when I see a railroad commissioner of South Carolina, am not going to accept your uniform demurrage code."

"I don't care if you don't," retorted Mr. Mosely.

"We have authority," continued Mr. Earle. "You are trying to run the whole thing."

"No we are not," again interrupted Mr. Mosely, with vigor.

Chairman Barker cautioned Mr. Mosely against interrupting.

"Well, he was pointing to me," retorted Mr. Mosely, "and I am going to answer when he addresses me."

Mr. Earle continued that if the federal inspectors should come to some wreck in South Carolina, claiming precedence over his inspectors, they would be a fight.

"It would not be so bad," he added, "if you had competent men, but you send out inefficient, political appointees that try to lord it over us."

Mr. Mosely explained that railroads are required to report on wrecks and that he was desirous to have these reports more accurate and more detailed with a view of preventing the railroads from "lying about wrecks."

WRESTLING WITH WOMAN OVER BOTTLE OF BEER BRINGS DEATH TO FRICK. Lima, O., Nov. 18.—William Frick, 39 years old, son of the late Wooster banker, Jacob Frick, and nephew of H. Clay Frick, the steel magnate, is dying at a hospital here as the result of a scuffle last evening in the apartments of a woman giving her name as Florence Adams, of Toledo. The woman declared she and Frick were wrestling over a glass of beer when both pressed against the window frame, which gave way, precipitating them into the street.

Miss Adams told a reporter this afternoon that the fall through the window resulted during a friendly scuffle over a photograph and that no beer was served. She said she came to meet Frick by appointment.

Frick's brother and sister do not accept the name given by the young woman as her true one. They assert that Frick had $2,000 in his possession when he left home. Both of his legs will have to be amputated.

PRISONER ESCAPES FROM SHERIFF AT SANTA FE DEPOT

YOUTH GETS AWAY FOR SECOND TIME

John Molstern, Alias Truxton Holstern Makes Bold Dash for Liberty, But Is Recaptured After Two Hours.

John Molstern, alias Truxton Holstern, a 20-year-old youth, added another exciting chapter to a rather checkered career at the Santa Fe depot last night, by making a sensational escape from Sheriff Jesus Romero, who had just arrived on train No. 1 from Las Vegas with the youth as his prisoner. Molstern or Holstern, was arrested in Las Vegas last Tuesday, following his escape from the Bernalillo county jail here some ten days ago while awaiting sentence to the territorial reformatory at Springer.

Sheriff Romero went to Las Vegas Wednesday night and started back with his prisoner yesterday afternoon. The youth behaved well enough until he got on the train at the Santa Fe depot here. Handcuffed and closely watched by Sheriff Romero, the lad descended from the steps of the train car. He was followed by the sheriff, who had just jumped to the platform and was preparing to escort him to the car line on Central avenue, intending to take him to the county jail, when Holstern made a wild dash for liberty.

Romero was carrying a grip and wearing a heavy overcoat, but hastily dropped the valise and started in hot haste after his erstwhile prisoner, who had lost no time in putting as much distance between himself and the officer as possible.

Holstern cut across the depot platform to the Santa Fe baggage room, thence across the Alvarado lawn to First street, followed closely all the time by the sheriff. In his haste the sheriff failed to see an obstruction in his path and he was pitched headlong to the ground, allowing the escaped man to gain quite a few yards. When hearing Briggs' drug store, corner First and Gold avenues, Romero called to the fleeing youth to halt, which command being disregarded, he drew a .45 and took a shot at him. The shot failed to have the desired effect of stopping the runaway and seemingly put such fear into his heart that he ran all the faster.

Developing terrific speed as he rushed west on Gold avenue, the boy shot around the alley between First and Second streets, leading to Central avenue, reaching off one hundred yards in every ten seconds, till he was long, however, as he was arrested in the Arcade saloon on South First street shortly before 11 o'clock by Deputy Sheriff Dick Lewis. The youth had traveled in a circle about the town and reached the saloon, where a "pal" secured a chair and cut the handcuff chains close to the bracelets. The steel bands around his wrists were still on Holstern when taken into custody and the job of cutting the chains had been completed only a few moments before the arrest of the officer.

"I wish I had kept on going," said Holstern, when the deputy told him to start on his hike to the county jail. "If I had just kept going the way I was I'd be going yet."

Holstern declared that he would not have cared if the shot the sheriff fired at him had hit him. "I wanted to get away and I was taking the chance," said Holstern. "I didn't care whether he hit me or not."

Holstern was arrested by the city police some six months ago, charged with burglarizing the Atlantic saloon on West Central avenue. Cigars, whiskey, a pistol and other articles were taken, part of the stolen goods being found in Holstern's possession. He was indicted by the grand jury and subsequently pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge Abbott in the district court a little more than two weeks ago. Holstern, together with several other youths, was being held in the county jail awaiting sentence to the reformatory school at Springer. Being well behaved, Holstern was made a trusty at the jail. Ten days ago he scaled the jail wall and escaped, being located Wednesday in Las Vegas, where he was driving a milk wagon.

The firing of the shot after the fleeing youth on First street last night caused much excitement and a large crowd gathered to learn the cause of the commotion.

GROW HAIR ON BALD HEADS

A Remedy That Costs Nothing if It Fails to Do as Claimed.

Reocerin is one of the latest and most effective germ-killers discovered by science, and in connection with Peta Naphthol, also powerful antiseptic, a combination is formed which destroys the germs which rob the hair of its nutriment, and thus creates a clean and healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the development of new germs.

Pilocarpine is a well known agent for restoring the hair to its natural color, where the loss of color has been due to a disease. Yet it is not a coloring matter or dye.

The famous Reckall "92" Hair Tonic is chiefly composed of Reocerin, Peta Naphthol and Pilocarpine combined with pure alcohol because of its cleansing and antiseptic qualities. It makes the scalp healthy, nourishes the hair, revitalizes the roots, supplies hair nourishment and stimulates a new growth.

We want you to try a few bottles of Reckall "92" Hair Tonic on our personal guarantee that the trial will not cost you a penny if it does not give you absolute satisfaction. That's proof of our faith in this remedy and it should indubitably demonstrate that we know what we are talking about when we say that Reckall "92" Hair Tonic will grow hair on bald heads, except of course where baldness has been of such long duration that the roots of the hair are entirely dead, the follicles closed and grown over, and the scalp is grazed.

Remember, we are basing our statements upon what has already been accomplished by the use of Reckall "92" Hair Tonic, and we have the right to assume that what it has done for hundreds of others it will do for you. In any event you cannot lose anything by giving it a trial on our liberal guarantee. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Reckall Remedies in Albuquerque only at our store, The Reckall Store, The J. H. O'Reilly Co.

Little Boy Held as Hostage by California Desperado Who Threatens to Kill Child if Posse Molests Him.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)
Boise, Idaho, Nov. 18.—Holding captive a little boy whose life threatens to take, thus intimidating officers of the law, who are anxious to replace him under arrest, an unknown desperado is heavily armed and today occupies an upstairs room in the ranch house of George Coffin, three miles north of Nampa. The stranger appeared at Coffin's home at daylight and asked for food. Coffin recognized him as the man who shot and seriously injured Officer George Fleming at Nampa Tuesday morning and attempted to hold the outlaw for the authorities. The man drew a revolver and snatched up Coffin's child, carrying him upstairs. He threatened to kill the lad if he was followed. Coffin telegraphed for aid and a posse now surrounds the house.

UNITED STATES ON VERGE OF BREAK WITH CHILE

Government Grows Impatient at Tactics of Delay in Considering Claim Pending Thirty-Five Years.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)
Washington, Nov. 18.—The Alston claim against Chile for more than a million dollars, which has been pending for thirty-five years, has assumed a critical stage.

Mr. Dawson, the American minister to Chile, is now on his way to Washington, having left Mr. Pierpont in charge of the legation and it is not improbable that if the Chilean government does not consent to a final settlement of the claim within the next few days of action to a protocol for its reference to the Hague court, the American legation in Santiago will be closed and its archives placed in the hands of the American consul for safekeeping. Intimation to this effect has been given to Minister Cruz, representing the Chilean government in Washington.

This action on the part of the state department is not to be taken as a formal severance of diplomatic relations with that country, and it is not probable that Chile will withdraw her minister from Washington. No ultimatum has been given Chile but the government's purpose in withdrawing its diplomatic representatives from that country is in the way of a protest against the interminable delays that have characterized the policy of the Chilean government concerning its claim.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH EXPELS MRS. STETSON

Order of Excommunication Issued Against Powerful New York Leader Convicted of Mental Malpractice.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)
Boston, Nov. 18.—An order of excommunication against Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson of New York, for years regarded as one of the most prominent and powerful members of Christian Science, was issued today by the board of directors of the mother church of this city, the supreme authority of the organization.

In their order the directors stated that a conference of more than three days had convinced them of the truth of the charges against Mrs. Stetson, namely, that she had worked against the interests of the church and of members of the church who were not her followers, and that she had persisted in teachings and practices that are contrary to Christian Science.

ADLER'S COLLEGIAN CLOTHES

are unusual garments. If you will take the time to make a careful, critical examination, you will discover that the fabrics used are decidedly above the ordinary in quality. You will see that the workmanship put into these garments is of an exceptionally high order. You will recognize the superiority of style and the remarkably good fitting qualities.

It's only necessary for you to investigate to be thoroughly convinced. If you have not bought your winter suit or overcoat, ask your clothier to show you the Collegian fashions and request him to show you your size. The autumn and winter fashions in suits and overcoats are now being shown by the most representative clothiers in all parts of America. Prices range from $15.00 to $40.00.

A Dilemma.

"You are a lucky man," said the city dweller. "When prices are high you can raise all you want to eat."
"Yes," answered Farmer Cornish, "but when I think of what it would bring in the market I don't feel as if I could afford to eat it."

REAL VALUE OF GOOD ROADS.

Not long ago the advocates of a good roads movement, in one of the towns of Kansas, met with considerable opposition from a certain class of citizens, on the ground that it "was a waste of money to lay out so much to make roads for a few folks to use in pleasure riding in automobiles." The progressive people of the place they appointed a committee composed of reliable citizens, to visit a town in another part of the state which had been one of the leaders in the movement, and learn the exact facts in regard to the real value of good road work.

After careful investigation the committee submitted a report, based upon the unanimous testimony of citizens of the place visited, and this showed that the saving to the farmers of the adjacent country, in the actual cost of getting their crops to market, had been enough, the first year, to pay for making the roads, and that the benefit to the town, in the improved price of property, and the increase of business, had been equally as much, thus showing that the actual money value to the public had been a hundred per cent more in one year than the entire cost of the work that had been done, leaving the automobile matter out of the consideration altogether.

There is a much greater need of work of this character in the vicinity of Albuquerque than there is anywhere in Kansas, because the natural roads in nearly all parts of that state are at least passable, while here, in most cases, we have actually no roads at all—and unfortunately, nothing can be done in the way of making new ones or repairing the old ones, till we get the lands of the county surveyed and platted, so that it can be known who owns the property, and so that taxes can be levied alike upon all who are to be benefited by the improvement, and not force the few to bear the burden of the many.

The county commissioners have levied a tax sufficient to start the work of a county survey, but this cannot be made available for about a year and then it will only provide for a comparatively small part of the work each year. But a number of enterprising business men of the city stand ready to advance the money necessary to do the whole work at once, and let the county reimburse them from time to time as taxes for the purpose are collected. This opens the way to having the undertaking pushed through to completion within a reasonable time, and it is taken for granted that the commissioners will promptly avail themselves of an offer which will enable them to accomplish without delay a public measure of more importance than any other that has ever been undertaken by the county—and then we can push the good-roads movement with every prospect of success.

PLENTY OF COMPANY.

Columbia University has grown by leaps and bounds according to the annual report of its president, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, to the trustees. The chief need of the institution, says Dr. Butler, is more buildings. The many sided activities of the university and its rapid growth in every direction make the addition of new buildings imperative, and this necessity grows faster than the means with which to meet it. Columbia may at last congratulate herself upon the fact that she is not alone. Lots of us find that our wants grow faster than our wherewith.

DEATH IN THE DUST.

The federal bureau of labor, which is making a searching investigation as to the mortality from consumption in various common occupations, has demonstrated the fact that consumption is most prevalent among persons who are engaged in the so-called dusty trades, and least prevalent among those who work in the pure air and sanitary conditions of the farm and forest.

Here is a startling comparison taken from the last census. The death rate from consumption among marble and stone cutters was 5.41 per 1,000, among farmers it was 1.12 per 1,000, and among lumbermen it was only 1.07 per 1,000.

"So marked a difference as this," comments Professor Frederick L. Hoffman of the bureau of labor,

"must have an essential cause, far more profound than mere differences in social and economic conditions." He declares that dust is the chief cause of consumption, because it so injures the lungs and delicate air passages that they become most susceptible to the germs of the disease. Metallic and mineral dust necessarily inhaled by indoor workers is the most dangerous, but responsible for a large percentage of the cases of consumption is what is designated as "municipal" dust. The problem of preventing it on city streets is much greater since the advent of the automobile. How necessary it is to keep them as clean as possible is shown by the fact that about one-third of the 5,000 street sweepers of New York were found to be infected with consumption at a recent examination, although they were free from it when first employed at that work.

In Berlin the street cleaning force is free from tubercular disease. In New York it is the rule to collect the dust without previously sprinkling the streets, while the opposite rule is scrupulously observed in Berlin. Nearly 37 per cent of the deaths among New York's street cleaners are due to diseases of the lungs and air passages. This excessive mortality rate demonstrates the danger from "municipal" dust to every resident of a large city.

A DISCOVERY IN COLORS.

A correspondent of the Chicago Inter Ocean, writing from Baltimore is responsible for the statement that Dr. Robert W. Woods, professor of experimental physics at Johns Hopkins university, has made another remarkable discovery. He has photographed light waves of colors invisible to the human eye.

Before the Baltimore Photographic club Professor Woods exhibited these photographs for the first time and explained the method of their making. They are landscape photographs, in which the infra red and ultra violet rays, never before photographed and never seen, produce startling and beautiful effects—some like snow scenes.

The discovery is of value to astronomy as well as photography. Dr. Woods has already taken pictures of the moon by his new method. Professor Woods is the discoverer of a method of color photography of the fish-eye lens, of a memory-retaining telescope that promises to solve many difficulties in the astronomical line, of a screen which, placed before an ordinary incandescent light, makes the light appear like that of ordinary day, and of a method of intensifying the colors of oil and water color paintings and giving them the same relative strength they have in nature.

A PERTINENT QUESTION.

In referring to the gigantic frauds upon the revenue, by the sugar trust, which went on undisturbed for years, the New York World says they grow blacker with each day's revelation; but of far greater importance is the part that the United States government played in these transactions. Who protected the trust during all the years that it was stealing from the people of the United States? And why was it protected?

Wilbur F. Wakeman, former appraiser of the port of New York, says in an interview that early in 1892 he laid proofs of sugar trust bribery before Lyman J. Clegg, secretary of the treasury. Mr. Clegg replied, according to Mr. Wakeman: "I don't believe that my good friend Mr. Havemeyer knows anything about this matter, and I want you to give him my compliments and present the statement which you have presented to me, and tell him that if anything like this exists it must be stopped." The matter was presented to Mr. Havemeyer. The weighing frauds went on, and the government at Washington took no further interest in the case.

IT HATH A FISH-LIKE SMELL.

A special dispatch from Chillicothe, Mo., which smells decidedly fish-like, says: One of the queerest freaks from lightning in this vicinity occurred at the home of Jacob Bruner, a farmer living south of here. During a severe electrical storm a flock of ducks flew over the Bruner home, when a flash of lightning killed the entire flock, numbering fifty-six. The birds fell in Mr. Bruner's yard. To make the affair true to history Mr. Bruner should have had a shower of manna to follow the ducks.

CHAMP CLARK SETTLED IT.

Champ Clark, the democratic leader in the national house of representatives, has settled the whole political situation throughout the country—or, that is to say, he took himself competent to settle it if the republicans of the country will empower him to settle their family difficulties for them. At any rate it is interesting to know what Mr. Clark says about it. In an address before the students of the university at Ann Arbor, a few days ago, he declared:

"In a short time Theodore Roosevelt will be back in the United States running against Taft for the nomination for president.

"It will be the hottest time in a republican convention since the defeat of Grant," he said. "I am sick and tired of Aldrich and Rhode Island running the United States. There are more brains than manners in the House. The manners belong to the senate. In fact, there is not much else than manners in the senate."

In an interview Mr. Clark said: "The next house of representatives will have a democratic majority of 160. Why not? The house was democratic by more than a hundred and fifty after the Dingley Tariff bill was passed, and heaven knows, this bill is much worse. In fact, it is the worst ever passed. I continually hear the threat that unless the present members of the house are defeated for renomination republicans will vote for democrats. The trip of Mr. Taft has made little or no difference in the views of the people."

DENVER LIVE STOCK SHOW.

Preparations for the fifth annual live stock show, to be held in Denver the week of January 8 to 15, are being pushed vigorously. The indications are that the exhibit will be the greatest ever brought to the West, especially in cattle and horses, and the show management is already arranging to increase the stable facilities at the stock yards to accommodate the increased number of exhibits that will be here.

WOMEN HOMESTEADERS.

As in other states where opportunity awaited the homesteader, women have not hesitated to have the first few years of pioneering to take advantage of Montana lands. Proportionally there are as many women homesteaders in the Montana areas as there were in the Dakotas, and many of them have been successful to a marked degree. One method adopted by many young women to take advantage of homesteading opportunities is to teach school in a community while developing a farm.

CUBA DISTURBED.

Cuban dispatches say the news from Washington to the effect that Mr. Knox, secretary of state, has warned the Cuban government that the commercial treaty about to be concerted with Spain would cause the United States to abrogate its treaty of reciprocity with the island has been received with apprehension by the Cuban people. The papers comment somewhat bitterly on the matter.

TWO PREHISTORIC MONSTERS.

Two new dinosaurs have been discovered in the fossil beds of Montana by an expedition of the American Museum of Natural History led by Barnum Brown, of the Department of Vertebrate Paleontology. This discovery gives to the museum the distinction of naming two prehistoric monsters the finding of which adds to the already high scientific standing of the institution.

A GENERAL HOUSE-CLEANING.

According to reports from Washington there is going to be a general house-cleaning in the customs service that will extend to all the districts of the country, with special attention to the large ports. What has been going on in New York, is only a start and even there the scope of the house-cleaning has not yet fully developed.

Secretary MacVeagh says that he himself is not sufficiently familiar as yet with the details of what will be done to say just how far the house-cleaning will go. But he comments on the fact that in any house which runs along in an uninterrupted way for any considerable time a large amount of rubbish accumulates which it takes some time to remove.

As soon as it is feasible the sort of investigation which has been in progress at New York for some time will be undertaken at other large ports, such as Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston and San Francisco.

Bidding for the Jeffries-Johnson fight has reached the high water mark of $140,000, that amount being conditionally offered by Idaho promoters. In a telegram to "Sam" Berger, manager of Jeffries, Charles Hickey, "Harry" Robb and "Fred" Mock, directors of the Nampa, Idaho, Athletic club, offered $100,000 for the bout and declared that a present of $20,000 would be given each fighter if Governor Brady permits the bout.

An inquiry among the various constructors emphasizes the fact that the aeroplane has already reached the stage of an industry in France, and that it has assumed greater proportions than the automobile at a corresponding period of mechanical development.

At the annual conference of the general committee of foreign missions of the Methodist church held at Albany, N. Y., last Saturday, $329,238 was apportioned for work in the missionary fields of the world during the next year.

ANTI-SALOONISTS IN

BISBEE SLEUTHING FOR ILLEGAL REGISTRATION

Bisbee, Ariz., Nov. 17.—That it is suspected there have already been several illegal registrations upon the part of voters in the Bisbee precinct was the statement made yesterday by William Maxwell Burke, Ph. D., organizer for the anti-saloon cause. These cases will be investigated and if the suspicious are found to be well grounded prosecutions will follow. "It is not perhaps well known," said Rev. W. E. Spicer, "that the penalty for illegal registration is from one to fourteen years, according to the discretion of the court. In case the registering officer aids and abets such registration the penalty is as heavy for him as for the man wrongfully placed upon the registry roll. We intend to get that none of this kind of work is allowed."

"We are suspicious of a number of men who have been allowed to register and are even now investigating their past. In case we are well grounded in our suspicions and supported by sufficient evidence, prosecutions will be started."

Men have been appointed by the "drys" according to the statement of both Mr. Spicer and Mr. Burke, whose special business it shall be to watch registration and report to headquarters any illegality in its conduct. It will then be investigated and the past of each man be run down to ascertain his qualification as a suffragist.

A beginning of an active campaign upon the part of the anti-saloonists was had Sunday when four meetings were addressed by Mr. Burke. The first step toward organization of the movement was had yesterday when a meeting was held at the Y. M. C. A., and from this time on the prohibition believers will wage warfare upon their adversaries.

What's Doing all Over the Great Southwest

MILES OF ALFALFA INSURE PROSPERITY FOR ARTESIA

Surprising Development Taking Place Around Pecos Valley Town; Thousands of Acres of Vigorous Young Orchards Rapidly Coming Into Bearing; Husky Young Town Wants a New Railroad and Is Willing to Pay for It.

(Staff Correspondence.)

Artesia, N. M., Nov. 18.—Given an unlimited acreage of the richest kind of land and an unlimited supply of water with which to irrigate it and the combination spells results, ready money, prosperity. New Mexico has a good many millions of acres of the richest kind of land. The only part of the combination lacking over the greater part of the area is the unlimited water. Here in Artesia and the surrounding district occurs that priceless combination of conditions and as a result Artesia is one of the most prosperous towns of its population in the world. It is not any particular credit to Artesia that the town is prosperous. It simply could not help being prosperous if it should try and although a wide awake business community is doing its full share to build a town here and build it quick, the town would build itself, without any other assistance than that given by the water resource which is to be tapped at any point within a radius of twenty miles and which when tapped, lifts itself to the surface without a dollar of expense to the land owner, other than the first cost of sinking and properly casing his well. It is probable that there is no more ideal irrigated district in the world than the one surrounding this prosperous town. There are no ditches save those within the confines of each man's land. Therefore there are no contests over water rights; no expense of keeping up ditches, no fuss and worry about distribution of water. Every man who has an artesian well owns his own water right and plenty of it, and that is all there is to it. When he desires to irrigate his land he doesn't have to ask anybody about it. He merely steps out and turns the spigot on his artesian well, lets it flow until the supply of water is sufficient, then turns it off. One of the wisest acts of the New Mexico legislature in recent years is the one which requires careful stoppage of the artesian flow when it is not in use. There is a well inspector for each district of the Pecos valley, Chaves county and Eddy county. His business is to see that there is no waste of water. For while the artesian supply is apparently unlimited, the land owners of this section are wise enough not to be wasteful. The result is a careful conservation of water which insures that this supply never will be exhausted.

A while back—two or three years ago—several big gushing artesian wells stopped flowing—went dry. The people were scared stiff. They thought that the flow was being exhausted. The scare lasted until a wise well driller pointed out that the wells had not been properly cased. To prove it he put down a well right beside one of those that had gone dry and he got one of the biggest wells in the whole district. Wells do not fail nowadays because they are carefully and properly cased. The water supply here is as sure as that which flows down the Rio Grande or the Pecos, and in dry years, it is if anything more reliable. Just where the artesian water comes from is an engineering problem which has not yet been entirely solved. It is here and that is about all the enterprising farmer, who is coming into this district in constantly increasing numbers, desires to know.

About six years ago when the first artesian well was brought in what is known as the Artesia district, this wide stretch of country could have been bought for a song; a song at least as compared with its present value. The men who did buy land here are rich men now; for the land has jumped from five to ten dollars an acre to from $100 to $200 an acre and it is going higher, because it is worth the money.

Your correspondent was whisked through this district in an automobile a few days ago by a real estate man who had sold forty thousand dollars worth of farm property during the past four days. It was not such a very big acreage either. The real estate man didn't talk much. He let the country do the talking; and it told a story that was as convincing as the best "speller" could have recited off; perhaps a little more convincing. "It is no trouble to sell real estate here," said my pilot, "we don't even have to talk in the majority of cases. They come and see the land and then they ask the price. If they have the money they buy and that's about all there is to it."

"You are not to understand that the real estate business is a cinch here; not by any means. Our chief trouble, however, is not in getting buyers, but in getting the land to sell." He made this little speech before we had started and the first conclusion was that it was just that good boom talk that any well regulated real estate man is bound to have in store. But after we had been out for half an hour it was plain that that talk was cold, hard fact. Why any man who owns land in this district should want to sell it now is a puzzle. Probably the only reason possible would be that the owner needed the money.

We traveled mile after mile through alfalfa fields, just being cut for the FIFTH time this season. Think of that! and it runs an average of a ton and a half per acre for each cutting and alfalfa is selling at $15 a ton. It is just about like finding money. The real estate men around here have sworn affidavits from farmers who have cleared from $55 to $60 an acre a season off their alfalfa lands and who are willing to swear to it any time.

While the alfalfa is paying a nice clean profit most of the land owners hereabouts are preparing to make more money and make it quick. They are planting orchards. It is one of the prettiest sights in the whole West to spin through this country and look at the young orchards; clean and well kept, planted by scientific methods and cared for in the most approved ways of horticulture and looking as sturdy as if they were being forced in a hot house. It would open the eyes of the average farmer from the east; in fact it generally does. There are only a few orchards which make come into full bearing as yet, for the district is hardly more than five years old. But those that have come in are proving that the district is just as well adapted to fruit growing as to alfalfa. There isn't a great deal of attention paid to grain here as yet. The other crops pay plenty of money. Yet we passed several fields of the best looking corn ever grown. Under irrigation the corn grows big and produces enormously. Oats do just as well. There isn't enough money in wheat to cause the farmers to waste time on it. Wheat growing is left to the rain belt.

Artesia, the Enterprising. For a town of 2,500 people Artesia is setting the record for enterprise. Recently a desire was expressed by a church organization to establish a college in the Pecos valley. Several of the towns bid for it and bid high. Artesia beat them all. The town subscribed $10,000 in cash and gave the site and did it much as if it were an every-day matter for a town just out of the village stage to build a college. The buildings are now nearing completion; big imposing looking structures that will compare favorably with the best educational buildings in the territory.

Right on top of this, Artesia decided that its railroad rates were not satisfactory and that it was not growing fast enough. So it decided to have another railroad. The Commercial club held a meeting and came out with the somewhat astonishing offer of a cash bonus of $100,000 to the first competing line that would build in. The offer hasn't been taken yet, but bankers and other equally reliable business men declare that the money is ready whenever the railroad comes along.

The first thing the people who founded Artesia did was to set out trees. The result is that the streets are already well shaded. There are rows and rows of pretty cottages, as attractive as any one could desire.

The business district is building up solid brick structures taking the place of the first frame shacks. The town has its own water works, light plant and drainage system, and is keeping right up to the mark in municipal spirit. The schools are excellent, a new high school building is just being completed. The enrollment of the schools is increasing so rapidly that another year will see the buildings taxed even with the new one.

The fact is that this town has been in the front rank of the progressive class from the time it started. Quite a while before the territorial legislature got around to it, Artesia effectively and finally shut off gambling. The next move was a prohibition campaign which resulted in shutting up the saloons. The saloon men opposed the movement and so did some of the business men. But the "drys" won out and today every one in town is strong for prohibition, even the men who owned the saloons, and who say, at least one of them says, that there is more money in farming land and other lines of business than there is in the saloon. This is one town where prohibition has worked and proven satisfactory and there is no disposition to take the lid off.

It is a pretty interesting story, the building of this town and the development of this district. It is a story of enterprise and hustle and a full understanding of the value of natural resources such as are rarely to be found. Artesia is going to be one of the big, prosperous farming towns of the southwest. It is going to be a producer, and as such will have one of the strongest places in the Pecos valley. The town is going after a county seat. Two legislatures have been imported to create Artesia county and two legislatures have turned it down. But it is now fully realized that another legislature can not consistently do so, and it is generally believed that the next legislature will not try; for even the opponents of county division, some of whom live in Chaves county and some of whom live in Eddy, are willing to agree now that there is room for another county and that it ought to be created.

It will be safe to look for Artesia county on the next official map of New Mexico.

A Religious Author's Statement. Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books, writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed some frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy. J. H. O'Reilly & Co."

DEATH OF GLEASON DEEPLY FELT IN ALAMOGORDO

President of Santa Rosa Town-site Company and Racing Man Was One of Wealthiest Men in the Southwest.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)

Alamogordo, N. M., Nov. 17.—William H. Gleason, a prominent capitalist and business man of this city, died at Hotel Dixie in El Paso about 1 o'clock this morning. Death was due to blood poison which resulted from a mastoid abscess of the middle ear.

Mr. Gleason had an attack of la grippe in Salt Lake some three weeks ago, and immediately left for Alamogordo. On arrival here it was found that he was suffering also with a mastoid abscess of the middle ear. During this same illness he was also afflicted with erysipelas and pleurisy. Yesterday it was decided that possibly an operation might save his life and he was carried to El Paso on the limited yesterday afternoon. With characteristic gameness he made a magnificent fight for life, but the odds against him were too heavy. His wife and Dr. Otis W. Miller, who has been in charge of the case, were with him when he died.

Mr. Gleason was one of the wealthiest and most widely known men in

RAILROAD TOWN WILL MAKE NOISE LIKE CITY

Completion of New Harvey House Will Give Vaughn One of Best on the System; What Vaughn Is and Expects to Be.

(Staff Correspondence.)

Vaughn, N. M., Nov. 17.—With its population already nearing the thousand mark, Vaughn, the junction of the El Paso and Southwestern and the Belen cutoff of the Santa Fe, "the only town in New Mexico with two grand trunk lines," is invading the limelight and its rapid growth and splendid advantages of location have already attracted considerable attention. While Vaughn like the rest of its competitors in this section is a brand new town, it has one great advantage over its rivals in being, from the jump-off the junction point of the two great transcontinental lines in New Mexico—the Santa Fe and the Rock Island. This will mean much, as time goes on and the district is settled up and additional railroad ramifications cover the country. As a division point for the Santa Fe Vaughn would have considerable importance alone. The company has spent nearly half a million dollars in improvements here, all of the most modern construction as elsewhere along the "Ten Million-Dollar Cutoff," which it is said has cost nearly twenty millions. The latest Santa Fe improvement, the beautiful new $5,000 Harvey house of concrete, is practically completed and is one of the handiwork of the cutoff, which is saying a good deal.

Santa Fe reading rooms for the pleasure of the employees are nearing completion; the roundhouse of eighteen stalls is a big proposition and the company has a rock crusher here supplying ballast for the cutoff, which gives steady employment to some 200 men. There are twelve miles of railroad yards here, a fine depot, and the Santa Fe payroll is a big one, turning loose every month many thousands of dollars to circulate in Vaughn. Vaughn's strategic railroad position makes it the best point in New Mexico, for wholesale houses and there are splendid openings for any line of business. Vaughn is surrounded by the finest of the fine farming lands of the plains country with all the chance in the world to take up homesteads under the federal laws. There is a good rainfall, excellent soil, matchless climate and an altitude of 5,000 feet above sea level. The water supply is inexhaustible and in short all conditions are as near perfect as the Lord could make them.

A bank is soon to open with $15,000 paid in capital. There are first-class general stores, hardware stores and two lumber yards; good schools and a fine class of citizenship. The change of citizenship of the town of Vaughn is to be made at once and will thus add to the importance of this place.

He was president of the Santa Rosa Town-site company and owned valuable property and business interests in Alamogordo, Silver City, Cloudcroft, Carrizosa, Capitan and Santa Rosa.

Besides being a successful business man he was a great sportsman. During the racing week in El Paso last winter he was business manager of the racing association. He was also the financial backer of the sixty-day meet held at Salt Lake last spring.

He had succeeded in making his name a synonym for honesty and fairness. Everywhere he was popular. Here in Alamogordo, where he maintained a beautiful home, he was held in the highest esteem.

It is not yet known where the interment will be made, but very likely in Chicago.

MINERS CRUSHED UNDER 40 TONS OF ROCK

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT AT FIERRO MINE REPORTED

Enormous Rocks Have to Be Blasted to Recover Mangled Bodies of Unfortunate Victims.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)

Silver City, N. M., Nov. 17.—Rafael Marquez, Martin Juarez, Eufanio Duran and Juan Fernandez, employees of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, were instantly killed while working in a mine at Fierro, Saturday, when some forty or fifty tons of earth and rock which had become loosened by blasting descended on the hapless miners when they were working in the bottom of a 50-foot shaft. Seven men were in the chute, four being instantly killed and the other three who escaped with their lives seriously injured. The accident occurred at the "Eighty Six" mine.

As soon as the accident happened a large force of miners was rushed to the scene and the work of rescue began, it being necessary to blast away a solid rock weighing fifteen tons to get the body of the last man found. The bodies when extruded were crushed and mangled beyond recognition. Three of the victims were married men with families. Juan Fernandez, however, being only 21 years of age and unmarried. The accident, news of which was slow in reaching this city, was one of the most deplorable in the history of the Grant county mining district.

In the mine where the accident occurred the ore, which is practically all iron, is blasted out of the side of the mountain, when it slides and rolls down by gravity through a steep chute to a point where it is placed on ore cars and trammed to the crusher, after which it is loaded on the cars for shipment to Colorado.

At the time of the accident the men were at work shoveling ore at the lower end of the chute, the sides of which appeared to be perfectly solid and safe. At the coroner's inquest a verdict of accidental death was found.

Miner Commits Suicide. Garvino Martinez, a native of the United States and a citizen of Fierro, was found dead in his room on Tuesday with a bullet wound in his head. An inquest was held and the coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide.

Mr. Martinez was about 19 years of age and lived with his father, Lijeno Martinez, and was a miner by occupation and considered very steady. It is presumed by his friends that some trouble, real or fancied, affected his mind and caused him to commit the rash deed. The remains were buried at Fierro on Wednesday.

TELEPHONE MANAGER HIKES FOR UNKNOWN; ACCOUNTS BALLED UP

Bisbee, Ariz., Nov. 17.—Whether R. L. James, former manager of the Bisbee Telephone company, has taken himself to Mexico, to Los Angeles or to the far east, is a mystery that has remained unsolved since Thursday morning, when James took his three-year-old son and left Courtland in an automobile for parts unknown.

The books of the Courtland Telephone company are also said to be left in such a tangle that to date experts employed upon them are unable to state how they stand. It is alleged that the accounts are not as they should be, which brought on James' hurried departure. Coupled with this are domestic troubles of over a year's standing. James formerly worked for the Bisbee Improvement company in this city and was married to Miss Van Horn. About a year ago they separated, James going to California, where he remained several months. Returning to Courtland he secured the position as manager of the telephone company, and his wife, who with their young son had been living with relatives in Bisbee, went to Courtland, their differences were patched up and they lived together again.

Their married life, however, is said not to have been a pleasant one, and last Thursday they agreed to separate. Mrs. James to have the custody of their son. James agreed to pay her a sum of money, she was to return to Bisbee with the child and later apply for a divorce. He said he was going to Mexico.

He hired an automobile and when ready to leave town kidnapped his son and took him along. The driver of the machine came back to Courtland Saturday and told that he had taken him to Vail station on the Southern Pacific, this side of Tucson, where he had taken a train either for Mexico or for Los Angeles, he did not know which, and did not wait to see.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF MRS. GUNNESS IDENTIFIED

Brother Recognizes Watch of Minnesota Farmer Who Was Robbed and Slain by Arch Murderers.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] La Porte, Ind., Nov. 18.—Another victim of Mrs. Belle Gunness, arch murderer, was identified today as Thomas Peter Lion, of Rushford, Minn. Samuel P. Lion, who recently returned from a Pacific cruise of three years, today identified a watch that had been found in the burned ruins of the Gunness house as one that belonged to his brother Thomas.

On his return from the sea, Lion last week learned that his brother had gone to La Porte on April 2, 1907, following correspondence with Mrs. Gunness, whose advertisements for a husband he had read in a Norwegian paper. Thomas had taken $1,000 with him to pay a mortgage on Mrs. Gunness' farm it was learned.

In return for this money Mrs. Gunness was to become his wife.

Lion's body was one of the ten horribly mutilated ones found buried in the Gunness yard.

PREFERS DEATH TO CRYING BABY

Illinois University College Professor Swallows Poison Because New Born Child Annoyed Him.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] Champaign, Ill., Nov. 18.—Aversion to babies in the domestic life is ascribed as the cause for the suicide today of Professor Wilfred C. Wheeler, first assistant in chemistry at the engineering experiment station of the University of Illinois. The chemist's body was found on the university campus. He had taken a large quantity of cyanide of potassium.

It was said tonight that Professor Wheeler had taken his meal away from home since a baby came into the household. He could not endure the noise of the infant he had said, and even expressed a great dislike for babies.

A note left by the professor was found tonight in his desk. It directed his wife how to collect his life insurance and referred to his premeditated death as follows:

"I am tired of living, so good-bye."

RICHARD W. GILDER EDITOR AND POET DIES SUDDENLY

Famous Head of Century Magazine, Stricken While Delivering Lecture, Succumbs After Brief Struggle.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] New York, Nov. 18.—Richard Watson Gilder, editor in chief of the Century magazine since its foundation in 1881 and widely known as an author and lecturer, died unexpectedly tonight of angina pectoris at the house of his sister, Mrs. Schuyler Van Rensselaer.

Mr. Gilder was taken ill during the delivery of a lecture on "Tennyson" before the Young Men's Christian association of Orange, N. J., on Wednesday night, November 2.

This morning Mr. Gilder was resting easily. No fears were felt and at noon his wife left the house. Shortly after 1 o'clock she was recalled by an urgent message. Dr. Joseph Collins and Dr. Theodore Janeway were called in consultation with Dr. Hodgson, and it was realized that Mr. Gilder had only a few hours to live. He suffered great pain and opiates were administered freely. The end came at 6 o'clock.

Richard Watson Gilder, early showed his bent for letters. Born at Bordentown, N. J., in 1844, one of eight children, he was writing, setting the type for and publishing the St. Thomas Register, at Finching, L. I., when he was 12 years old. Four years later he united with two young colleagues in the production of a campaign newspaper supporting Bell and Everett for presidential honors. His interest in politics carried him into the great civil struggle then raging while still in his teens he enlisted with Landis' Philadelphia battery and served during the campaign of 1861 when Pennsylvania was invaded by the Confederate forces. The death of his father cut short a subsequent novitiate in the law and thrown on his own resources, the young man became first a railway paymaster and later an editor once more. In "my journalistic experiences," he tells how his duties as editor of the New York Morning Register, a daily, and "Hours at Home," a New York monthly, published by Scribner's, proved too exacting for his strength. Moreover, the Register was losing money, he wrote, "just as fast as a newspaper can lose money, which is faster than anything else in the world."

He sold out his interest but the acquaintance he made stood him in good stead, and when Scribner's Monthly was started, absorbing himself at the age of 26, in a position of honor and high literary influence. For eleven years he was managing editor of Scribner's under Dr. Holland

INVESTIGATE THE CLAIMS OF BELEN

With the inauguration of daylight train service between Albuquerque and El Paso there will come a period of prosperity to the Rio Grande valley such as it has never before known.

Belen is the newest, liveliest town on this route. With the completion of the Coleman extension of the Santa Fe it becomes an important division point on the line from San Francisco and Los Angeles to Galveston and New Orleans. It is now on a direct line from Denver and the north to Mexico. It is the crossing of the two great transcontinental highways from North to South and from East to West.

The Santa Fe railway is spending thousands in the construction of terminal facilities. New depots, both passenger and freight, new eating houses and other extensive improvements are now being completed.

The music of the saw and hammer is heard on every side. Dozens of residence buildings are in course of construction. Brick blocks are rising as if by magic. New enterprises are establishing themselves daily. This great activity is due not only to the fact that the town has such bright future prospects, but that The Belen Town and Improvement company is selling lots within the reach of all.

The church and school facilities are second to none in New Mexico. Seven teachers give instruction to over 500 pupils in one of the best buildings in the territory.

Four Protestant denominations are establishing work and three new churches are building or soon to be begun.

The people are friendly and social.

STORMY SESSION OF FEDERATION OF LABOR

Too Much Politics Trouble With Unions in Chicago Is Declared on Floor of Toronto Convention.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] Toronto, Ont., Nov. 18.—A resolution declaring that the International Association of Machinists permitted its members to take the place of union elevator constructors who were on strike for higher wages in Chicago, and asking that the machinists immediately withdraw these men from such employment, plunged the convention of the American Federation of Labor today into a debate during which it was declared that as a result of too much labor politics the labor movement in Chicago demands purification.

The convention voted to investigate the controversy. Amalgamation of the International Union of Elevator Constructors with the International Association of Machinists was recommended.

President James McConnell of the machinists association declared that the "machinery of the country is rocking with non-unionism," and appealed to the building trades department of the federation "to assist the machinists in their efforts to unionize their product."

A year's truce was declared by the convention in the dispute between the brewery workers, firemen, teamsters and engineers.

The day was given to the discussion of various jurisdictional disputes reported by the committee on adjustment.

CONVICT ROBBER IS IDENTIFIED AS MURDERER

Hold-up Man in Colorado Proves Much Wanted Slayer of Deputy Sheriff at Humboldt, Nev.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] San Francisco, Nov. 18.—By intercepting letters between W. G. Barr, of this city and his son Charles, now serving a sentence in a Colorado penitentiary for robbing a street car in Pueblo, Detective Redmond, of the local police has identified the son as the murderer of Deputy Sheriff William Larkin, who was shot to death in Humboldt, Nev., last year, and has revealed what is probably the only case on record where a father has assisted his son in the commission of a crime.

The elder Barr has been operating a real estate business under the name of W. G. Southern. When the police of Pueblo sought to identify the man whom they had arrested there for robbery, Redmond was informed that his father lived here and search established the fact that Southern is an alias for Barr. The local detective department informed the Colorado officers that their prisoner is the man wanted in Nevada for murder.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF MAYBRAY BAND

Missouri Farmer Swindled Out of $5,000 by Bogus Horse Race Tells His Experience in Federal Court.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] Council Bluffs, Ia., Nov. 18.—Judge Green, before whom John R. Dobbins is being tried on the charge of aiding in the alleged robbery of Banker T. W. Boller of Princeton, Mo., of $10,000, today overruled an objection by the defense to the introduction as a witness of W. H. Bedford of Blackton, Mo., another alleged victim of the Maybray combination. The object is to show a general conspiracy to defraud.

When Bedford was finally permitted to testify, following a long tangle of objections and motions, he told a typical story of how he had been "fleece" out of $5,000 by men alleged to be associated with Maybray.

"I knew I was bumped and decided to take my medicine—and take her straight," declared Bedford at one point of the proceedings. "I lost $5,000 and then I gave my 'Morrer' $10 to get out of town."

Bedford's testimony did not connect Dobbins with the transaction further than to show that the defendant had a large sum of money in his possession shortly after Boller had been caught in the net for $30,000.

At another point Bedford declared: "They had about $12,500 and bet it so fast that it excited a farmer like me. I signed a contract as one principal and Mr. Hemmingsway, a 'millionaire' as the other."

"Red Leo" was my horse, Barrett was my lucky. I was just a figure hand, so they got me to put up $5,000

LIVING TARANTULA AWAKENS DEAD LETTER OFFICE

Startling Display of Hosiery When Women Clerks Climb on Desks to Escape Fuzzy Peril.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] Washington, Nov. 18.—The dead letter office of the postoffice department today belied its name as a tarantula threw the clerks into a frenzy that for a moment threatened to become a stampede.

The trouble started when J. E. Davis, a clerk, tore the cover from a mysterious looking package addressed to "Dott Huggero Verity, via Leon Firenze, Florence, Italy." He found a box packed with small holes. Placing it to his ear he shook it in an effort to ascertain whether it contained an infernal machine. The lid came off. "Jumping Geeshomph!" exclaimed Davis, when he found a giant tarantula resting on his shoulder. He knocked it to the floor where it promptly bit a masterly retreat. Women clerks climbed on desks and fell over one another to escape the fuzzy peril. Never before, said a veteran employee of the department, were so many silk stockings seen in the office.

After a brief search the tarantula was discovered in a pile of mail sacks and killed.

CANNON PAYS HIS RESPECTS TO CUMMINS

Speaker Answers Critics and Denies That He Is Czar of House; Prefers Democrat to Insurgent Republicans.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] Chicago, Nov. 18.—Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the house of representatives, answered his critics with a defense of the present rules of the house and denied that the speaker was a czar, in a speech here tonight.

Mr. Cannon spoke in favor of W. J. Moxley, the republican candidate to succeed William Lorimer, recently elected senator, as congressman from the Sixth district of Illinois.

Mr. Cannon sarcastically paid his respects to Senator Cummins of Iowa and Congressman Champ Clark of Missouri, the leader of the minority in the house. President Taft, however, was praised for his defense of the new tariff law in his speech at Winona, Minn.

Mr. Cannon took as the text for his speech the following utterance from one of the campaign speeches of Dr. Carl Barnes, the independent candidate to succeed Mr. Lorimer.

"If elected on November 23 I shall join the 'insurgents' and do everything in my power to down Cannon."

Mr. Cannon started with a defense of the present house rules and stated emphatically that the house was ruled by the majority. He denied that the speaker had the powers of a czar. He said the speaker was controlled by the majority and especially at the time of his election. He also said that an active minority was an excellent thing in the house.

According to Mr. Cannon, Senator Cummins complained that no information had been placed before congress during the recent tariff revision. Mr. Cannon remarked that there had been torrents of information for any one who wanted to make use of it, and added:

"There has been no way discovered by which information can be put in

NEVADA OFFICERS HAVE LONG HUNTED MURDERER

Reno, Nev., Nov. 18.—Peculiar interest is attached to the identity of Charles Barr, by the California authorities as just announced, through the fact that all the sheriffs of this state, including Sheriff Farrell, of Washoe county, have been continually on the watch for the alleged murderer of Sheriff Lamb's deputy, William Larkin, at Winnemucca, some months ago.

It will be remembered that Larkin held a warrant for the arrest of Barr when he was arrested. As the deputy approached the fugitive Barr turned around quickly and fired at the constable, killing him instantly. Barr then escaped.

WOMEN AND CHILD HURT BY FALL FROM TRAIN

Fort Smith, Ark., Nov. 18.—Confused and believing the station they were passing was the point at which they should transfer, Mrs. C. E. Toulson and her six-year-old daughter, Josephine, were run to the vestibule of a swiftly moving St. Louis and San Francisco train as it was passing West to the ground.

Mrs. Toulson probably sustained fatal injuries. The child, though seriously hurt, will recover.

LAW SHE IN BAD

Indiana Paper Tells How Postmaster General Failed to Get Resignation of Gubernatorial Possibility.

The following from the Wabash Indiana Plain Dealer, a newspaper published in the home town of A. L.
Lawshe, now of Las Cruces, supposed probable successor of George Curry, is of considerable interest.

"That Frank H. Hitchcock had demanded the resignation of Abram Lawshe of Indiana, as third assistant postmaster general and was prevented from superseding the Indiana man in office only by the timely personal intervention of President Taft became known today. Soon after Mr. Hitchcock took office he wrote to Mr. Law-she, saying that he desired the office to be held for a prominent southern republican.

"Lawshe took the letter to President Taft. The latter promptly instructed the postmaster general to make no changes until he had been consulted. In other words, the president declined to permit Hitchcock to remove Lawshe.

"There had long been personal conflict between the two postoffice department officers. Hitchcock frequently clashed with Lawshe and the latter's friends insist, tried to override the Indiana man.

"This feeling of mutual distrust extended over into the new administration and Hitchcock was on the point of wreaking vengeance on Law-she when President Taft put his foot down. Notwithstanding Lawshe's resignation was not accepted and President Taft instructed him to go away for recreation, it is well understood that he will not return to the office.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has already selected his successor. President Taft will endeavor to find some other office congenial to Lawshe.
"While nominally Lawshe refused by wire to accept Lawshe's resignation, he was with President Taft at the time, and, it is understood, acted under the president's personal directions. The understanding is that as soon as Lawshe Taft can satisfactorily place Lawshe. Postmaster Hitchcock will be given an assistant, who is personally agreeable to him."

First Rehearsal for the Elks' Spectacular and Record
Breaking Minstrel Show to Be Held Tonight.

The first and most important rehearsal for the big Elks' show which is to be held November 24 at the Elks theater, will take place tonight at the theater, and a large crowd is expected to listen to the instructions of Mr.
and Mrs. Joe Bray of Kansas City.
These people will arrive at noon today and will be met by the committee which has the show in charge.
Mr. Bren will spend the entire afternoon in going over the detail work with the committee, giving them full instructions, and seeing that everything is in shape for a big rehearsal tonight. Mr. Bren has the reputation of pegging away until he has everything satisfactory, and judging from his past efforts he has accomplished wonders out of raw material. With the splendid talent he will have to deal with here Mr. Bren should make this show the greatest he has put on in all his seven years of traveling.
There will be plenty of novelties in this show, as the committee believes from the correspondence they have had with the director that it will be one continual round of novel numbers from beginning to end. There is one thing certain, everybody is going to put his shoulder to the wheel and make it one glorious success.

Good Stationery

Shakespeare says:
"Costly thy habit as thy purse can buy,
But not expressed in fancy; rich,
not gaudy.
For the apparel oft proclaims the man."

The same is equally true in selecting your stationery. Your letters are your agents. They represent you. A letter written on first class stationery always classes the writer as a person of taste, just as decent clothes make people regard you as a thrifty, prosperous person. Our line of fancy boxed stationery cannot be exceeded anywhere. If you want the best, we have it, and if you want something cheap we can supply you at the lowest price.

We also carry the celebrated Duke City linen in pound paper at 25c per pound. This is excellent value, attested by the enormous sale we have had on it the last year. Envelopes to match, 10c per package.

Did you ever use one of those leather bound lap desks? They are a most convenient arrangement. It holds paper, envelopes, inks, stamps, pen, etc., etc. Everything you need.

HOLOCAUSTS

Fire Underwriters' Association
Issues Circular of Timely Warning to City Officials of Albuquerque.

To take time by the forelock and avert as far as possible the annual fires and accompanying loss of life and property resulting from the igniting of Christmas decorations, the engineer of the Rocky Mountain Fire Underwriters' association transmits to the chief of the Albuquerque fire department and other officials, the following circular letter and personal communication:

"Denver, Colo., Nov. 16, 1909.
"To City and Lighting Company Officials, Albuquerque, N. M.
"Gentlemen:—We will appreciate your assistance in distributing warnings as to the use of temporary holiday decorations in those places where they will do the most good.

"A portion of the precaution could be inserted in some daily newspaper a few weeks before Christmas.
It might be of considerable advantage and precaution in the use of trail decorations may be the means of saving both life and property."

"Thanking you in advance for your co-operation, we are, yours very truly,
"J. CANADA.

Christmas Decorations and Displays.
We desire to call attention to the danger of life and property from the fire hazards of holiday displays and decorations in public buildings, churches and especially in mercantile establishments.

The common use of tissue paper,
cotton, cheese cloth, festoonings, greens, harvest specimens and other inflammable materials is considered extremely dangerous, especially when used in connection with electric lighting effects and other common lights;
it being practically impossible to make displays of this nature without a decided increase in the fire hazard. One of the conditions of every fire policy is as follows:

"This entire policy, unless otherwise provided by agreement endorsed hereon, or added thereto, shall be void if the hazard be increased by means within the control or knowledge of the insured."

Therefore, under a strict interpretation of the conditions of the policy, such displays would render the contract of insurance void, unless the policy is endorsed with special permission for the increased hazard, hazard, which will generally be granted only in consideration of an additional premium commensurate with the hazard.

All extensions, temporary work or additions to electric lighting or power service, such as extra lights, miniature lamps and small power arrangements for automatic displays or any other alterations of electric installations, should be installed only by competent electricians, and this office should be duly notified of any such alterations. In order that proper inspection can be made. Light fabrics, cotton batting, decorative paper and celluloid ornaments should not be placed in close proximity to electric globes, or fastened to electric wires or fixtures. Ordinary flexible cord, cut-outs, switches, flashers, motors or any electrical fittings with exposed contacts should not be used in show windows, and same should never be covered over with decorative material.
Series lighting in which current is supplied from any other source, except low voltage batteries, is not permitted, as any undue rise in voltage introduces one of the most serious fire hazards.

Precautions should be taken to prevent the accumulations of light packing materials, rubbish and other inflammable stuffs in basements, packing and shipping rooms, under counters and in pits of elevator shafts.
Where false fronts, ceilings, elevations and partitions are used in windows, the space behind same should be perfectly clear and free from waste materials, and same should be so arranged as to allow proper accessibility.
Do not store stock or material
