LOBBY COMMITTEE HEARS INSIDE STORY HOW GAME WAS PLAYED

MARTIN M. MULHALL BEFORE SENATE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE TELLS HOW THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MANUFACTURERS DEFEATED UNFRIENDLY CANDIDATES AND ELECTED ITS MANY FRIENDS TO CONGRESS.

THE HOUSE INVESTIGATORS TRY TO GET MULHALL ALSO

Washington, D. C., July 12.—With Martin M. Mulhall, one-time chief lobbyist for the National Association of Manufacturers as the prize, the senate and house lobby investigations continued their contest today for first testimony from the star witness. The senate won.

Surrounded by guards to ward off subpoena servers from the house, Mulhall continued his story before the senate committee, reciting details of the fight he alleged the manufacturers financed to beat Representative Hughes, of New Jersey, now a senator, to re-elect Nelson W. Aldrich as senator from Rhode Island and re-elect former Representative Littlefield, of Maine. Mulhall talked of "inside work" and "outside work," of a bookkeeper at the American Federation of Labor, whom he charged with later becoming a paid spy for the manufacturers' association and of N. C. Downes, private secretary to former Senator McComas, of Maryland, who he alleged was taking pay from the manufacturers' association when it was trying to beat McComas because of his eight-hour labor bills; Mulhall's testimony may cover several days.

The house committee meanwhile foiled in its attempts to get first testimony from Mulhall, made formal demand on the senate committee for its list of witnesses, yet unheard and planned to meet later today to discuss further action.

Under subpoenas to appear at the same hour before two separate congressional committees in session at distant ends of the capital, Martin M. Mulhall, who is testifying as to the alleged "lobbying" activities of the National Association of Manufacturers, today faced a puzzling situation. The tangle was the result of a clash of authority between the senate and house investigators.

Both committees met at 9 o'clock, but Mulhall and J. H. McMichael appeared at the senate committee room and were placed under guard of an assistant sergeant at arms.

Mulhall finally resumed the stand and took up the identification of his letters which he began at last night's session. Mulhall identified more letters showing his relations with Marshall Cushing, secretary of the Association of Manufacturers. He testified he had an understanding with Cushing that he was to receive $100 a week and $10 a week for expenses for "general field work and lobby work in Washington."

Mulhall testified further of how he worked to defeat the late Senator McComas of Maryland, although he said as the senators friend. He said he had received 500 letters from Cushing directed against McComas.

A letter to Senator Foraker, September 13, 1904, referred to a suggestion that Mulhall go to Rhode Island to help Senator Aldrich in his campaign. He testified he went later at the request of Aldrich.

"He asked me to get into touch with the labor men to get their support."

A letter of introduction for Harry K. Kurten, given by the Council of Allied Building Trades of Philadelphia was offered in evidence. It was signed by Kurten as secretary. Kurten was engaged, Mulhall testified, in the fight against William Hughes, then a representative and now a senator from New Jersey.

"Were you sent to help beat Hughes by the National Association of Manufacturers?" asked Mr. Reed. "Why did they want to beat Hughes?"

"On account of his holding a union card, being affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and his activity on the floor of the house and with the labor leaders in Washington."

Kurten was given credentials, Mulhall said, so he could get into union labor meetings to oppose Hughes.

"The work of this kind was always secret," said Mulhall. "It was done under cover."

"Did you pose as a friend of the labor organizations and thus work against these organizations from the inside?" asked Senator Cummins.

"Not at that time."

Chairman Overman of the senate committee, sent a formal notice to Chairman Garrett of the house committee at 10:30 o'clock that the senate committee would insist on keeping Mulhall as a witness until it had finished with him.

Chairman Overman assured the house committee that the senate investigators would release Mulhall later subject to a house subpoena and make available to the house committee order "any and all papers now or which may come into our possession in connection with this matter."

Mulhall identified a letter from James J. Ridge, outlining work done by Ridge among Rhode Island labor unions in 1904 in behalf of Aldrich's candidacy. Mulhall testified giving Ridge $600 which he got from Cushing, secretary for the manufacturers, to help Aldrich in his campaign for re-election. In a letter relating to Ridge it was said "The senator is well pleased with the work of your friend."

Attorney McCarter tried to have the committee keep out testimony by Mulhall relating to conversations between Cushing and others which he had not actually heard. The committee refused.

A reference to President Taft came in connection with notations on the back of one of the Mulhall envelopes. The following names appeared: C. D. Freestone, Columbus Buggy company; Col. W. H. Morgan, Alliance, Ohio; John N. Taylor, East Liverpool, Ohio; D. J. Sinclair, Steubenville; H. M. Hanna, Cleveland.

"These five names were submitted to me by Senator Foraker of Ohio to hand to President Taft at an interview I was to have with him at his summer residence in 1910, concerning the campaign in Ohio," Mulhall testified. The committee did not develop the point further.

Testifying further about the campaign against Hughes, Mulhall swore he went to Palmer in New Jersey to aid Hughes opponents. He hired six union men to work against Hughes and paid them altogether about $1800 which came from the National Association of Manufacturers through Cushing. The union men in the pay of the National Association of Manufacturers, Mulhall said, took possession of 75,000 circulars sent into the district by the American Federation of Labor to aid Hughes and turned them over to the Republican campaign committee. He named the following as the men he hired to work against Hughes: Michael Collins of Philadelphia; Jacob Cassleer of New York; Wm. J. Ryan of the Electrical Workers union, in New York, and George Burke of Paterson.

Mulhall did not recall the names of two others.

Mulhall thought that George Burke, who voted in Hughes district a deputy collector of internal revenue, was on his payroll in the campaign against Hughes.

"You bribed these men to vote against Hughes?" asked Senator Cummins.

"I don't know whether you can call it bribery or not—they were paid a weekly salary. That money was spent in legitimate work—that is what they called it. It has been done by both parties for years. Ryan was on my list for about fifteen weeks altogether, first at $40 and then $60 a week," said Mulhall. He added that Ryan was "on the list" to do general political work in labor ranks engaged in helping to beat Hughes.

Senator Reed asked if the National Association of Manufacturers "went generally into politics" and supported the Republican organization or whether it singled out individual men throughout the country whom it supported. Mulhall said it generally supported the Republican ticket and particularly opposed Democrats who were too actively opposed to its position on labor questions.

Efforts to control Senator McComas on labor legislation were further shown by another letter December 15, 1904, apparently to Mulhall, and which was written by Cushing. It urged Mulhall to deal with McComas on the supposition that the latter wanted a federal judgeship in prospect.

"He (McComas) needs to understand," the letter added, "that the industrial needs of the country are more thoroughly organized than ever before and they will have none of him or his 8-hour bill. All the same they are not vindictive and if he honestly means to let up you, of course, can promise to do anything that you can to remove any of the obstacles that you can from the path of his ambitions."

Other letters from Cushing to Mulhall developed the extent to which Mulhall was working with various political factions in Maryland, either trying to "select a winner" or abate McComas actively in support of the 8-hour bill. Many of the men he mentioned in his letters as opposed to the 8-hour bill in the associations campaign against that measure were

MEXICAN NEWSPAPERS CONTINUE TO INFLAME ANTI-AMERICAN SPIRIT

EL PAIS AND OTHER MEXICO CITY PAPERS TRYING HARD TO BRING ABOUT WAR WITH THE UNITED STATES.—BIG DEMONSTRATION IS PLANNED FOR TO-MORROW, AND GRAVE FEARS ARE ENTERTAINED THAT TROUBLE IS BREWING.

AMERICAN MINING COMPANIES ARE LOOTED AND BURNED BY REBELS

Mexico City, July 12.—As an indication of the fervor of patriotism that has been aroused in Mexico, the department of the interior announced today that representatives of 30,000 workmen had appealed to the government for military instruction in order that they might be ready to fight for the national existence.

The newspaper El Pais says it has been visited by a committee of women school teachers who offered to enter the ranks of the army and fight in case of an international conflict.

The students of the federal capital are organizing a demonstration for Sunday in which they have invited the workmen and all other classes to participate. Although the organizers have cautioned those who will participate to keep order, there is grave fear on the part of conservative Mexicans and also among the American colony that the demonstration will provoke serious trouble.

In spite of the protests of Ambassador Wilson in regard to the attitude of the newspaper, especially of El Pais, that journal devotes its first page to the anti-American movement, its articles being highly sensational.

In its editorial columns it cautions prudence, but utters a strong intimation that the time is near when Mexicans must fight the United States. It urges the public not to place itself in the position of having provoked a war and to leave the responsibility to the United States. It declares that a "great wave of patriotic enthusiasm has been aroused throughout the country."

Ambassador Receives Letter.
Mexico City, July 12.—An anonymous letter was received by Ambassador Wilson today and was immediately referred to the Mexican foreign office for investigation.

Mining Camps Looted.
Gundalajara, Mex., July 12.—Rebels today looted and burned the camps of the Boca Ancha Mining company, a Chicago concern, and of the Gold Standard Mining company, a Philadelphia firm at Concho, in the east of Chihuahua. The buildings of the Gold Standard company were destroyed, and those of the Boca Ancha badly damaged. American officials escaped from the place before the arrival of the rebels.

Down Grade Saved Rebels.
El Paso, Texas, July 12.—A wild ride down grade saved most of a constitutionalist troop train, which federalists ambushed at Castano yesterday, according to reports reaching here. The federalists turned heavy artillery into the train, smashing the engine and several cars of supplies. Constitutionalists aboard the train cut loose eight cars, allowing them to back down grade into Monclova. Several constitutionalists were killed.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—American Consul Luther Ellsworth at Piedras Negras today received instructions to demand the release of L. L. Davis and John Rives, American prisoners of constitutionalists near Monterrey. Their place of residence is not known.

users would amply take care of interest and sinking fund on bonds for the purchase of the old plant and the building of the new one. That these bonds, backed by the credit of the city, would find ready sale. While I am not altogether converted to municipal ownership, I do believe that this scheme could be best carried out under this method.

I am not an engineer and my views as above set forth may be proven erroneous, but I firmly believe them to be sound; anyhow, they are worth consideration, and possibly, investigation; because, if sound, the possibilities for benefit to this town from their realization are simply enormous.

Let us at least make the effort to return to the native people that which we have probably unjustly taken away from them—their chance to make a living especially, if we find it good "business" as well as good morals to do so.

Assume for the sake of the argument that these long suffering farmers should go into courts and make a fight for their possible rights; or suppose some sharp speculator should buy up these now practically worthless lands and make and sustain his right to water for them, what would it then cost this city to get its necessary water? "Opportunity is half behind" and we might well take strong hold of this particular proposition by the forelock.

PEACE WILL BE BROUGHT BY RUSSIA

ALL BALKAN STATES HAVE AGREED TO RUSSIA AS INTERMEDIATOR.—FIGHTING, HOWEVER, CONTINUES IN SOME PLACES.—BULGARIA SUSPENDS NEWSPAPERS.

Sofia, July 12.—All the belligerents in the Balkan war have given Russia full power to find a way to bring hostilities to an end.

Newspapers Suspended.
Vienna, July 12.—A message from Sofia says that the populace of the Bulgarian capital is in ignorance of the actual military and political situation in the Balkans. The government has suspended the newspapers so as to prevent unfavorable news from spreading while the war office continues to issue reports of the successes of the Bulgarian armies in the field.

Until last evening the inhabitants of Sofia knew nothing of the action taken by Roumania whose troops have crossed the Bulgarian frontier and occupied considerable territory.

Greeks Take Seres.
Saloniki, July 12.—The Greek troops have fully occupied the town of Seres, recently in the hands of the Bulgarians, and martial law has been proclaimed there.

The number of Greek residents massacred by the Bulgarians before they left Seres was 200, including most of the prominent citizens.

Premier Repudiates Responsibility.

Sofia, July 12.—Premier Danoff today repudiated in a speech in parliament responsibility of Bulgaria for the occurrence in the Balkans.

"The question of who had provoked the present hostilities would, he said, be decided by a proper inquiry."

Pointing out that he had accepted Russia's offer of mediation immediately after it had been proffered the premier said that as early as possible he had ordered a suspension of operations and had thus not only accepted mediation but had put an end to the sanguinary conflicts insofar as it lay in his power to do so.

Negotiations Off.

Constantinople, July 12.—Negotiations between Turkey and Bulgaria regarding the future frontier between the two nations have failed.

The government sent a note to the commander of the Bulgarian troops last night demanding evacuation forthwith of all territory south of the line running from Enos, on the Aegean sea, to Midia, on the Black sea. Otherwise they would be driven out by the Turkish troops.

General Izet Pasha, commander-in-chief of the Turkish army, has left for the front.

The landing of Greek troops near the Port of Dedegatch, on the Aegean sea, causes the Turkish government anxiety.

Unofficial Protest.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—A petition from prominent Bulgarians to President Wilson protesting against alleged violations of the rules of warfare by the Greek forces at Saloniki will not elicit a reply from the state department because of its unofficial character. It is believed to be a circular cablegram addressed to all the powers merely as a matter of information.

Greece Agrees To Peace.

Athens, July 12.—It is semi-officially announced that the Greek government had replied to the Russian proposal for the cessation of hostilities that peace must be concluded on the battlefield. The proposal of Russia was supported by Great Britain and France.

It is reported that the Greek troops today occupied the town of Drama to the northeast of Seres, hitherto held by the Bulgarians. They are also said to have taken possession of the Port of Dedegatch on the Aegean sea.

Riots in Sofia.

London, July 12.—Rumors of tumults in Sofia are telegraphed by the Vienna correspondent of the Central News, who reports that a mob stormed the government offices and came into contact with the troops who fired a volley, killing many people. It is also rumored that the royal palace is surrounded.

BANDIT TRY TO ROB SUMMER HOTEL

KILLS WATCHMAN, BUT SHOT ALARMS GUESTS AND ROBBER FLEES, HAVING TAKEN NOTHING OF VALUE.—NOT CAPTURED YET.

Colorado Springs, July 12.—A masked man attempted to hold up the night clerk at the Cliff House, a fashionable summer hotel at Manitou, 12 miles west of here, early today, shot and killed Night Watchman C. Whitehead, and escaped to the hills. A posse was sent in pursuit, but up to 9 o'clock this morning had found no trace of the man. Several suspects were taken into custody, but none have been identified as the would-be hold up.

Walking past a number of guests on the porch and in the lobby, the bandit, shortly before 1 o'clock this morning, covered Night Clerk Con. Casson and Night Watchman Whitehead with a revolver and ordered them behind the counter. Whitehead made an attempt to escape through a cloak room door, but a bullet from the bandit's gun dropped him dead.

The shot aroused the late guests and without attempting to secure any money or valuables the bandit rushed through an outer door, jumped a high porch railing and disappeared in the darkness.

PRESIDENT RETURNS FROM OUTING TODAY.

Cornish, N. H., July 12.—President Wilson will return to Washington tomorrow much benefitted by his outing. Today he motored to Hanover for one more golf game.

ATTENTION!

Through a mistake the name of the Guadalupe church was used in connection with the carnival now running here. The benefit is for the Tuesday club instead of the church.

The above notice was handed to the editorial staff this morning. The New Mexican has no desire to enter into this controversy, or misrepresent anybody, nor does it desire to be made the goat. An inspection of the contract for the payment of a per-centage reads with "Guadalupe church." This is all we care to say, pro or con on the matter.

WATER SUPPLY TURNED OFF IN SILK STRIKE.

Paterson, N. J., July 12.—Paterson's long drawn out strike of silk mill workers developed a new and serious complication today with the cutting off of the water supply in the houses of hundreds of idle families. Many landlords have carried tenants for months without rent, meantime meeting the water bills.

A health department order issued today demands that property owners turn on the water within 48 hours. Special police have been assigned to see that the order is enforced.

"MY DEAR CLARENCE" LETTERS

SHOW HOW TAINTED NEWS CAN BE INJECTED INTO NEWS PAPERS—A CHAPTER IN THE LOBBY INVESTIGATION.

(By Gilson Gardner.)
Washington, D. C., July 12.—How "tainted news" is injected into newspapers in consequence of the lavish use of money by lobbies like that operating for the sugar trust is shown by letters which have just been made a part of the record in the senate's lobby investigation. This particular chapter shows how a clever newspaper man was hired to give pointers to veteran lobbyists in the particular specialty of getting stuff into print.

The sugar trust was starting on a publicity campaign. A presidential election was impending. Henry T. Oxnard and C. C. Hamlin were organizing the sugar campaign from the national capital.

From these letters just printed in the record, it appears that in October, 1911, Clarence C. Hamlin, representative of the sugar trust, had made an arrangement with Mr. "X," correspondent of the Times-Star, to take a trip through a number of states with a view to securing publicity for propaganda desired by the trust. On the 7th of October, Hamlin writes Mr. "X": "For fear I may not see you enclosing herewith list of agricultural papers in the territory we would cover in case we make the trip contemplated. If we could reach these people it would be the best possible kind of work."

On the letterhead of the Times-Star, dated from its Washington bureau in the Post building, "X" answered:

"My Dear Clarence, Glad to see that you won't get busy on the person-interview idea. There's no reason why it won't work away from us as well as at home. A day or two ago I shot off another sugar story to the Times-Star and the Indianapolis News—one about the one-germ seed quest. Will send you copies when they are printed. If you have any idea, shoot 'em on to me and I'll grind them out in addition to the bunch of stuff I am preparing preliminary to the 'crusade'."

The next letter, written October 18 by Mr. Hamlin and addressed to Mr. "X" at the Washington bureau of the Times-Star says:

"My Dear Bob: I have yours of the 16th instant inclosing clippings for which accept thanks. When my statement was given out I assured that the A. P. would handle 650 words, and the clipping you inclose shows how well they carried out their part of it. For your information I am inclosing a copy of my complete statement sent from the Denver Republican, which, of course, carried the whole story. I think it was carried in this form by none but the Colorado papers. The more I think over the plans outlined by us in Washington the more I believe it is the thing to do, and it meets with the approval of our people with whom I have been able to talk. I am ready to start in with this campaign at any time, and am anxious that you should make arrangements to get away as soon as possible any time after the 29th instant. The statement in the morning papers that the president's trip will be prolonged is rather disturbing, because I feel it is important that we should get to work at once. Am writing you today asking you when you think we can start. It will be agreeable to our people to pay you $125 per week and expenses while engaged in this campaign. Want to thank you for what you are doing with your paper, and shall be interested in seeing the stuff you are getting together. I am going to work at once on the same lines myself."

This is followed by a letter dated October 21 to "My Dear Clarence," as follows: "This is to inclose some clippings about bees as an object lesson of the way things get around in the print business. As I told you I frequently exchange stuff with the Indianapolis News. The two articles inclosed were printed in that sheet. I have a copy of the second yarn—one germ seed—to the Brooklyn Eagle as well. The Eagle printed it, and, as you see, the Post here copies it. I'll venture to say that all in all a dozen different papers will be carrying the articles within a week or two."

Two days later correspondent "X" was so pleased with his success in getting his sugar copy printed that he wrote as follows to "My Dear Clarence: I trust the clippings meet with your approval. My idea of your needs in this cause is that you should gradually hammer into the public intelligence not so much a loud demand for higher tariff or no tariff tinkering, but the conviction that the beet-sugar industry is an American institution of tremendous importance to the west and middlewest; that all good Americans should do their utmost to help it along; and that there is big money in it for every man that plants a beet."

As soon as this percolates through their skulls not an M. C. west of the Hudson will dare vote for a tariff reduction. Of course an occasional stinger in the shape of a promised scrap, like that given out by you the other day, will help immensely, but for the most part I do not think I'd feature the thing as a matter of dollars and cents in which the association is interested. Your enemies would have too good a handle to lay hold of. The Beet-Sugar Trust will be their howl. 'Why, what's the difference between that and the Refiner's Trust?' Let's down 'em both for the consumer.' So, in our travels here and there, I'd reiterate the latter part and I think the best part of your Colorado Springs interview, to-wit, the farmer's end. Ring the changes on that phase. Show how a farmer may convert a few dozen of unproductive acres into a paying beet farm, how a few sensible farmers can pool their issues, establish a factory, and be the upbuilders of a great section of a state. The conservation end that you mentioned in your interview is worthy of good display on its own merits. The conservationists are strong throughout the west. Make them boost your crusade by appearing to boost theirs. In your hotel interviews around the beet-sugar states or the potential beet-raising states seems to me it would be an excellent idea to say that you are in town to consult a number of prominent men with a view to acquiring a tract of land to go into the beet-raising business. Every paper thereabouts that goes in for local improvements will editorialize to beat the band, and almost before they know it they'll be planting beets and making them into sugar-on paper, anyway. You can get all the newspaper space you want if you only give the papers something they think will make a hit with their readers' pockets. Just about this time it seems to me we ought to get a good deal of space in the Sunday papers—the magazine sections—if we go after them. Have you any real good pictures of the process from seed to granulated? Pictures of the work in the fields, the gathering, shipping, transportation, slicing, etc.? If you have, send me, say 15 or 20 sets and I'll write a story, duplicate it, and send it to as many papers, beginning, say, at St. Louis, and traveling west and north to the coast. If I enclose a note to the Sunday editor telling him that he can have the story and pictures gratis I'll guarantee that we can land three-fourths of them. I hope you can wait for me until about the middle of the month, but if you don't I do not see why you can't start out and do it with my valuable assistance. I'll furnish you with bunches of words to hand to them, anyhow enough to keep you going until I join you. Of course it will be impossible for me to leave here before the president gets back. I was put here to hold the bag until he returned, and even if you could offer me 10 times the amount of your figure—which is very satisfactory, indeed, by the way—I'd have to wipe away a large tear and decline."

Other work interfering it was necessary for correspondent "X" to furnish a substitute to Hamlin and on the 26th of October he wrote as follows: "My Dear Clarence: Inclosed please find a few samples of the stuff I am writing. Will send you another bunch tomorrow or next day. I have a first-class man for you in the shape of Frederick W. Steekman, until recently correspondent for the St. Louis Republic. He is now trying to arrange his affairs so that he can go with you, if you want him."

WILLS NOTHING IF HER GIRLS WED

Bellefontaine, Ohio, July 12.—One of the most remarkable wills ever admitted to probate in this county was filed here. The will was made by Jane Lake, late of Richmond, who left considerable property to her three daughters—Lina, Nora and Ida. The provisions of the will are that the estate shall be equally divided among the three daughters on the condition that none of them will marry. If one of them marries her share of the estate goes to the two remaining girls. If all three should marry the entire estate is to go to the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

VALLEY AFFAIRS AROUND DEMING

Deming, N. M., July 12.—Hank Jacobs, a former Iowa and Idaho farmer, after two years experience in the Mimbres valley, developing farming property, has begun to develop a third farm about seven miles west of Deming. He has 120 acres of this quarter section cleared, and about half of it plowed, leveled and ready for water. He is sinking by a novel method, an irrigation well which will deliver, when completed, 800 gallons of water per minute. He is sinking this well by means of a bucket pump and is now down 81 feet with a six foot pit, and has a drilled hole in the bottom of the pit to a depth of 200 feet.

Ther Sherman and Jacobs place, four miles west of town, holds the record so far as is known on economic delivery of water. A test run was made a short time ago of 50 hours, using an oil engine and bucket pump, and 46 gallons of 6-cent fuel was consumed. The pump was delivering 425 gallons of water against a head of 81 feet. In the 50 hours 1,275,000 gallons of water were delivered, or 2.5 acre feet, bringing the fuel consumption down to about $7.00 for an acre-foot of water delivered against a head of 81 feet. There may be instances of lower fuel cost, but none has so far been brought to public attention in this valley. This plant is irrigating 50 acres of alfalfa on the Sherman-Jacobs place.

The Jacobs' home place, five miles west of Deming, shows the results of careful farming. Mr. Jacobs is harvesting oats this week that are yielding 75 bushels to the acre after acting as a nurse-crop for alfalfa for several months. Mr. Jacobs says that no one should try to seed raw land to alfalfa, that no amount of labor will put raw land in shape for alfalfa the first year. He believes thoroughly in the corrugation system for watering alfalfa, and a glance over his field would almost convince anyone that he is right. Besides some 30 acres of oats and alfalfa seeded together, Mr. Jacobs has considerable acreage in Indian corn, milo maize, and two varieties of wheat, one of which, the North Dakota blue stem is especially promising. In addition to about 50 acres in the crops above mentioned, Mr. Jacobs has 40

BABY BADLY BURNED ON BACK

From Shoulders to Ankles. Skin Red and Blistered. Cuticura Ointment Cured in Two Weeks.

15 North Ash St., Spokane, Wash.—"My baby was sick and I had to give him baths and rub him with alcohol and one evening by mistake in the dark I grabbed the bottle that contained carbolic acid and rubbed some on before I noticed my mistake. Baby was burned on the back from shoulders to the ankles. The skin was red and blistered. He suffered quite a little. A neighbor told me about the Cuticura Ointment so I purchased a box at once. I just put the Cuticura Ointment on twice a day and the burnt skin all came off and left no scar. It was only two weeks before he was cured." (Signed) Mrs. J. H. Lambert, Mar. 28, 1913.

HAIR FELL OUT GRADUALLY

Valley Center, Cal.—"My trouble began on my head with itching first thing. Next my hair began falling. My hair was getting dry and lifeless and thin and it fell out gradually. Right away I began to use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, used only one cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment and inside of three weeks I was well." (Signed) Gregory Omaha, Mar. 28, 1913.

Cuticura Soap (25c) and Cuticura Ointment (50c) are sold everywhere. A single set is often sufficient. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp, and prepared for beans which will be seeded at the proper time.

Mr. Jacobs has also interesting advice concerning the harvesting of alfalfa. He declares that it should not be cut until two-thirds in the bloom, and that the hay should be stacked and allowed to go through a sweat before baling. This, he says, prevents mold-burning and makes a weightier and better quality of hay.

WILLS NOTHING IF HER GIRLS WED

Bellefontaine, Ohio, July 12.—One of the most remarkable wills ever admitted to probate in this county was filed here. The will was made by Jane Lake, late of Richmond, who left considerable property to her three daughters—Lina, Nora and Ida. The provisions of the will are that the estate shall be equally divided among the three daughters on the condition that none of them will marry. If one of them marries her share of the estate goes to the two remaining girls. If all three should marry the entire estate is to go to the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Lake was a man-hater. For some reason she would not tolerate a member of the male sex in her house, neither would she allow her daughters to have any men friends.

The Waste That Haste Makes

To busy people the most valuable thing in the world is time. We may lose our money, our friends or our umbrellas and possibly get them back again, but an hour once gone is gone forever.

That is rather a sobering thought.

But this does not mean that we must conduct our affairs in wild haste, because there is almost as much time lost in a lifetime by misdirected energy as there is by idleness.

In order to get the best results in using time, it is necessary to plan first and act afterwards. In that way we may avoid any superfluous motions.

Take for example one field of activity—the purchase of all the articles for our daily use. We have all wasted precious hours scurrying here and there, uncertain what we wanted and where to find it. Finally we have returned home and announced triumphantly that, "Just by luck I ran across the very thing at So and So's." That little expression, "just by luck" shows lack of forethought and does us no credit. If we had spent ten minutes reading the advertisements in THE SANTA FE NEW MEXICAN we could have planned the shopping trip intelligently beforehand and saved our time, energy, and some money as well.

ATTEND BALL GAME.

New York, N. Y., July 12.—Baseball circles today enjoyed stories of the experiences yesterday of the 60 visiting Russian teachers who lately arrived in New York and who attended the ball game between Chicago and New York.

The Russians sat up late the night before to hear their interpreter lecture on the fine points of the American pastime. The interpreter, Borres Marchess, during the game, sat in the midst of the party at the polo grounds and explained the plays. His compatriots seemed to enjoy themselves greatly. One young woman was eager to know why the players "chattered" all the time, putting the question as she pointed to a New York player who was coaching on the side lines.

Another woman teacher, seeing one of the players run back to second, when the ball beat him to third, wanted to know if it was not considered disgraceful for a man to retreat from his goal and fall short of his goal in the sight of everybody.

LOBBY COMMITTEE HEARS INSIDE STORY HOW GAME WAS PLAYED

"strictly honest in that position," he thought. "Others pretended to be honestly opposed to it but you have them to," suggested Senator Walsh.

In a report February 5, 1905, upon political developments in Baltimore Mulhall quoted George B. Squires, a bookkeeper for the American Federation of Labor, on the support that the labor forces were giving McComas and the fight they were making for anti-injunction and 8-hour legislation. Cushing had instructed him to "keep in touch with Squires" to find out what the American Federation of Labor was doing.

"Was Squires acting in good faith or was he a spy in the Union headquarters employed by the National association," asked Senator Cummins. "Not at that time, but later on he was acting as a spy for Cushing in the American Federation of Labor," replied Mulhall.

The campaign in support of Representative Charles B. Littlefield in Maine was taken up in other letters. A Cushing letter to Mulhall, June 9, 1905, said: "I guess it is better for you to stay out of the Central Labor Union."

"A number of labor union workers were engaged in the fight for election in the union," explained Mulhall, "and I was taking an active part in seeing that we got officers elected who were on our side politically. The work was all done from the outside."

The Cushing letter added: "You

Hooray! Baby To Rule the House

No Longer Do Women Fear The Greatest of All Human Blessings.

It is a joy and comfort to know that those much-talked-of pains and other distresses that are said to precede child-bearing may easily be avoided. No woman need fear the slightest discomfort if she will fortify herself with the well-known and time-honored remedy, "Mother's Friend."

This is a most grateful, penetrating, external application that at once softens and makes pliant the abdominal muscles and ligaments. They naturally expand without the slightest strain, and thus not only banish all tendency to nervous, twitching spells, but there is an entire freedom from nausea, discomfort, sleeplessness and dread that so often leave their impress upon the babe.

The occasion is therefore one of unbounded, joyful anticipation, and too much stress can not be laid upon the remarkable influence which a mother's happy, prenatal disposition has upon the health and fortunes of the generation to come.

Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers, thousands of whom have used and recommended it. You will find it on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle. Write today to the Bradford Regulator Co., 130 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a most instructive book on this greatest of all subjects, motherhood.

want to manage it some how that while Stone (former Republican collector of the port of Baltimore) may think you are warning up to him, it will be the fact in reality that he is warning up to you.

Several letters related to the activities of Mulhall and Cushing in the political situation in Maryland during 1905. In one it was set forth that Carl C. Downes, discredited the attempt to re-organize the Republican party in Maryland with the aid of "Williams, General Gary, Bonaparte and Clarksen," all Maryland Republicans, "in an effort to show the manufacturers and others that the Republicans of Maryland are united enough and can win."

The association got after Representative Frank C. Wachter, of Maryland, Mulhall said.

"Wachter was not up to the mark in Washington. He dodged too many votes on labor bills," said Mulhall.

The inquiry shifted to Albany, N. Y. The introduction of a bill in the New York legislature by Senator Page which would have placed the burden of proof upon the defendant in cases of injury from negligence was discussed.

"Cushing sent me to oppose the bill as something that ought not to pass at that time," said Mulhall.

Senator Cummins asked who Mulhall saw in Albany when he worked against the bill.

"You didn't have to see many people in Albany at that time to stop a bill of that kind. I saw Boss Barnes."

"Through him you defeated the bill?"

"I believe I did. I knew him for many years."

"You told him you were working for the National Association of Manufacturers?"

"Yes sir."

When Senator Reed came to letters about a strike in Philadelphia, Mulhall, thought Attorneys McCarter and Emery were whispering about his testimony "over the shoulders of senators."

"I see gentlemen sitting behind you," he said to the committee, "interested in strikes and I would like to be cross examined now about these letters. This is a fight to the finish and all I want it to be is a square fight. It is no laughing matter. The fight has only begun."

The strike Mulhall referred to occurred in 1906. He swore Secretary Cushing had instructed him to go to Philadelphia and take a part in trying to break it.

To "cover up" his real activity, he said, Cushing gave him a letter appointing him on an arbitration board.

"I had Collins and Price and several others to whom I paid money weekly," said Mulhall.

Mulhall testified his activities were directed toward preventing sympathetic strikes in Philadelphia, keeping track of what the unions were doing and to control the central labor union of Philadelphia through men in that union.

Before the committee took a recess, Jackson H. Ralston, an attorney, appeared for the American Federation of Labor. He said the federation would aid the committee and produce all books and information in its possession bearing on the inquiry. His request for appearance was taken under advisement with that of McCarter.

The senate committee re-assembled at 2:30 p. m. and adjourned to 10 a. m. Monday. Mulhall, it was announced, had gone to New York. He will return Monday.

The House committee's session. The house lobby committee being unable to get Mulhall, held an open session at which James A. Emery, counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, promised that organization's co-operation in the investigation. Chairman Garrett issued subpoenas for two men named Springer at Baltimore, said to be relatives of Mulhall. The committee did not divulge any details regarding them. They will appear probably next Tuesday.

Chairman Garrett announced that witnesses would be allowed counsel but that counsel could not cross-examine except by permission of the committee.

HOW'D YOU LIKE TO HIKE WITH MISS GLADYS?

SHE'S ONLY GOING TO WALK SOME 3000 MILES AND ALREADY 1000 LADS WANT TO HOOOF IT ALONG WITH HER.

New York, July 12.—Miss Gladys Mason, vegetarian and pedestrian, is embarrassed. She asked for one man and got 1000. And still they're coming.

Miss Mason is the New York girl who announced recently that she was going to take a little stroll from her home, at 214 W. 85th street, to San Francisco. Also that she wanted to hire a guard and manager—an athletic young man who liked walking and didn't mind a jaunt like that. And she complained that she hadn't been able to find one.

It pays to advertise. As soon as Miss Mason's complaint broke into print, applications for the job began to pour in at the rate of 100 or more a day.

assembled in the Lake Michigan city to struggle for medals and honors. The biggest point winner of the meet was H. P. Drew, the marvelous colored sprinter, who won the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Drew was a member of the American Olympic team last year.

Kelley, the coast flyer, was another star performer, winning the 120-yard high hurdles from the fastest field that ever ran in the event in this country. Kelley won in the last stride, fairly throwing himself upon the tape ahead of the next man.

Miss Mason will be accompanied by a maid, as well as her manager. But she went on insist on the maid walking all the way.

She is distressed by many of the letters from men who want the job of managing her and her trip.

"I would like to hire them all," she says, "for most of them seem to need employment. But what could I do with 1000 men? I'm not doing any General Coxy stunt."

BIG BENEFIT GAME FOR JOHNNY MARES

Tomorrow at the college grounds a benefit game of baseball will be played between the Elks' team and the Champion White Sox, and all the boys have been selling tickets with much success and there promises to be a record breaking crowd when the umpire calls: "Play ball!"

The Elks' team will present their solid lineup which it has not had an opportunity of doing before this season: "Ed" Safford has once more regained his former class and the long rest has done wonders for his arm, and he will be in the box for the Elks; Joe Berardinelli will be at the receiving end, and the other positions will be filled as follows: Keefe, ss.; Dunbaugh, 1b.; P. Berardinelli, 2b.; Clancy, 3b.; F. Digneo, lf.; Koch, cf.; Frye, rf.

The White Sox have secured the services of our old time team-mate "Jim" Lopez, and we all know that he delivers the real goods; that wonderful little catcher, Griego, will be at the receiving end, and the balance of the team will be as follows: J. Alarid, ss.; F. Ortiz, 1b.; Garcia, 2b.; H. Alarid 3b.; J. Ortiz, lf.; Rivers, cf.; Baker, rf.

The First Regiment band has volunteered to give a concert before and during the intermission in fanfairs, and with pleasant weather it is doubtful if the grand stand will hold the crowd. The game will be called at 3 p. m. sharp, and the admission will be only 25c. And it is all to go to Johnny Mares, who lies ill in the hospital.

BIG AUTO RACE WON BY GEORGE BEILLON.

Longon, France, July 12.—Georges Beillon the French automobilist, today won the grand prize of the Automobile club of France over the Picardy 29 lap circuit of approximately 570 miles in seven hours, 53 minutes, 56.45 seconds.

Jules Goux, the Frenchman who won the recent 500 mile race at Indianapolis, was second in 7 hours 56 minutes, 22 seconds.

A tire of the machine driven by the Englishman A. Lee Guinness burst while passing over a bridge, the car skidded and killed a spectator. The driver was not hurt.

Prof. J. B. Vaughan, of the history department of the state agricultural college left for his home at Las Cruces last night, coming here from Taos, where he had attended the Taos county institute.

Mrs. C. F. McKay was operated on at the sanitarium this morning, and this afternoon is reported as rallying from the shock and doing as well as could be expected. Her friends anticipate and hope for a speedy recovery.

Senator Thomas Benton Catron, who has been in the southern part of the state for the past week or ten days, on legal matters, arrived in the city yesterday and will remain for a few days, prior to his return to the national capital.

Mrs. Allen Austin, who has been visiting in Santa Fe for the past week, a guest at the new DeVargas, leaves for Albuquerque today, where she will visit for a week with her sister, Mrs. Perrinott, after which she will continue her journey to the coast for the summer months.

Mrs. Frank Latham, of Albuquerque, accompanied by her friend Mrs. Ralph Hutchinson, also of Albuquerque, with their children, are new arrivals in Santa Fe, coming here to get away from the extreme heat of the Duke City, and it is needless to say they are finding relief in the delightful weather with which the old town is blessed.

Stakely Ligon, employed in the government biological service, was in the city today on his way to the Jicarilla reservation. He is going through New Mexico by pack train having come from the Gila reservation. Mr. Ligon is getting statistics on bird breeding in this state, making a specialty of our water fowls, and will later publish a book covering his observations and investigations. He has a series of most interesting pictures taken on his trip.

Miss Clara M. Wood was married in Portland, Oregon, on the 8th of July to Mr. Joseph C. Cutcher. The ceremony took place at St. Mary's cathedral in that city in the presence of a few friends and relatives. The parties have been friends for a number of years. They became engaged last March when Miss Wood visited in Portland. Miss Wood was for three years employed as stenographer in the surveyor general's office in Santa Fe. They will live on their ranch near Portland.

A. J. Lilly, among his friends "The Duke" who has been rusticiating in Santa Fe for the past year leaves for Redlands, California, tomorrow evening where he will engage in the automobile business. Mr. Lilly's health has been completely restored by the delightful climate here and he feels he can now resume active business without endangering his health. During his sojourn in Santa Fe he has endeared himself to a large circle of friends and acquaintances, and he was one of the most active and energetic members of the Ladies' Aid society.

James J. Goutchey, the popular chief clerk of the United States internal revenue office, who has been seriously ill for the past week at his home on Lincoln avenue, is now convalescent, and although not seeing visitors it is hoped that he will be on duty again within the next week or ten days. Working over time in winding up the year's business in that busy office, coupled with the extreme hot weather brought about a collapse; and although blessed with a rugged constitution and the picture of health Mr. Goutchey could not stand the strain. His legion of friends will be glad to see him out again.

Mrs. James B. Read, was the hostess at a linen shower, Wednesday afternoon, in honor of Miss Carolyn Krachenberg. Twenty-five guests were present and showered the bride-elect with beautiful linen and good wishes. Another shower was given Friday afternoon by Miss Edith Hampel, in honor of Miss Krachenberg, who is to be married Wednesday, July 16th, to Mr. Eugene Hampel. The house was tastefully decorated with sweet peas and daisies. After several games of cards delicious "eats" were served. The guests had a jolly time while Miss Krachenberg opened the many useful gifts.

The fact that the car was not trimmed for fast driving, that the roads were in bad shape after the rains of the past few days, and also the fact that he carried two passengers with him, all tend to make the run all the more remarkable. Mr. Stern hopes sometime in the future to break the record, and here's good luck to him.

WHAT DO THEY WANT?

If Theodore Roosevelt stays in the United States he is criticized by the journals which oppose him as being a political disturber, an iconoclast, a fomenter of trouble in the commercial world, a selfish politician, seeking only his own advancement.

If he travels abroad he has given up hope of the Progressive party and is running away in a cowardly manner trying to escape destruction when the temple falls.

The Detroit Free Press, a bitter enemy of Colonel Roosevelt, speaking of his contemplated South American trip, says:

"Does Mr. Roosevelt read the warning notice? Does he understand that if he stays here he will be linked to a disappearing political movement and may disappear with it? If he stays away for two years and the Progressive party shrivels up and vanishes, he can come back with freedom to arrange his own political future without relation to entangling alliances of the past. It would be a new deal and he could ask for new cards from the deck. Is that why the foreign trips are being announced?"

What do his opponents want? It looks as if they were working on the "He'll be damned if he does; he'll be damned if he doesn't" theory."

The trouble with all these journals which are telling of the disintegration of the Progressive party is that they are afraid it isn't going to disintegrate.

They tell now of the "disappearing enrollment" among Progressives. They quote the conditions in Massachusetts and Michigan; in New England and the west. They think they see a decrease in enrollment.

It is not so much what the enrollment is as what the vote is. Herein lay the surprise last fall. Herein it will lie again.

In speaking of the Progressive situation the other day, in an interview on his way west, Colonel Roosevelt expressed full satisfaction and mentioned this phase of the question—the enrollment and the actual vote.

The fact is that the organization was never stronger and never was more active work being done. In New England particularly, the meetings held are surprising the friends of the party, and rockribbed Massachusetts is in a ferment, while New Jersey was never more thoroughly stirred.

Whether Colonel Roosevelt is at home or abroad his heart is with the Progressives, his influence is felt in his own country and the movement will go forward.

LEST WE FORGET.

Civic matters in Santa Fe have been so active very recently, with the ever interesting water question and its sudden and rather startling developments that we must have a care not to draw away from the work before us in keeping the publicity work for the Ancient City prominently in view.

In this activity, of course, the water question is directly involved, for we must be assured of an ever pure water supply and a sufficient storage for our water, and we must be assured, as well, that all negotiations toward the establishment of a corporation for water control, be it municipal or private, is free from the taint of corruption in any possible manner, as any corruptly organized corporation is likely to give corrupt results.

Thus this investigation started by the chamber of commerce and entered upon by the city council in conjunction, should be pushed to the very limit, and no stone should be left without turning it over to find if anything is concealed under it. The committee of commerce has been doing its work consistently and the council committee will be expected to do the same, meeting in joint session. But while this is being done, and while the question of our water is kept still in view, let us not forget that other proposition, so clearly set before the chamber of commerce meeting, of getting Santa Fe before the world as a healthy city and, perhaps, carrying out the suggestions of Mr. Mythen of establishing a health school here.

The conditions in the east are such that the people of that section need Santa Fe. They need us for their protection and benefit as much as we need them for our growth and prosperity.

Thus, let us not relax our efforts in this endeavor to bring Santa Fe to the attention of the people of the east, and not forget that this, too, as well as the water question, is a thing to be considered in the advancement of this beloved city where our interests and our hopes lie.

We are started on the right road in these important matters and we must not deviate from it.

WHOSE BUSINESS.

Usually the annual meetings of large industrial corporations are stupid statistical affairs. The yearly report generally tells how much business has been done, how much money taken in, how much spent and how much left for dividends or surplus. Then the policy of the management is ratified and a motion to adjourn is carried unanimously.

We are just beginning to have annual meetings in which there is discussion of how the business affects the men, women and children whose living depends upon it.

Two years ago the annual meeting of the steel trust was rudely disturbed by a stockholder who wanted to know if it were true that thousands of men were being demoralized by overwork and underpayment.

As a consequence of this startling innovation a welfare commission was appointed to look into this usually neglected phase of American industrial enterprise. Its looking hasn't led to much betterment as yet; and it took threats of a lawsuit to get the management to refer to the stockholders some data touching labor conditions. But today a part of the steel trust's annual report is given over to the issues of humanity—labor is slowly forcing recognition.

And now comes a woman stockholder to the annual meeting of the General Electric company to ask if it is true that many of its 60,000 employees are exposed to the poisonous dust of copper oxide and that their petitions for redress of this grievance have remained unanswered by the management. She also wants to know how many lives have been lost in the company's various plants during the past decade and how much has been paid out in compensation.

She requests the directors to say whether they think it is desirable to earn dividends and accumulate surplus by overtime and night work instead of enlarging factory facilities so that goods may be produced in eight hours of daylight.

That is not the only leading and pointed query in her quiver. She wants to know if the management considers the employment of women at heavy manual work in factories advantageous to the American family and if the surplus from which a 50 per cent stock dividend was recently declared was accumulated to any extent by methods which left a burden of social wreckage to the maintenance of which the company did not adequately contribute.

No longer, it seems, is business merely "business." It is coming to be the broadest possible concern of humanity.

Boise Penrose now declares he is progressive, but to the casual observer it does not appear that he can progress rapidly enough to win the senatorship again.

If General Huerta is trying to act as a safety valve on the Mexican situation, he is likely to blow off any minute. They're a big head of steam on down there.

When congress is planning to adjourn September 1, are the members taking into consideration the fact that Senator LaFollette is going to make a speech on the tariff?

Strange as it may seem, the threshold of success seems to prove a stumbling block which throws many a man down.

Suggestions to the Single.

Did you know, young bachelor men and bachelor maids, that you were in a dangerous position and were taking long chances in not getting yoked up?

Dr. Drake of Chicago, has discovered that the death rate of male bachelors is nearly 30 per cent higher than that of married men, while among women, the death rate of spinsters exceeds that of wives by 40 per cent.

What do you know about that? The bachelors "I'll give you if you don't watch out," and if you want to avoid this 30 and 40 per cent business you better get into the matrimonial field before it is everlastingly too late.

Dr. Drake's statement knocks another guy haired joke squarely out of the ring. It's been going the rounds for years and years—that rich bit of humor about men being bothered to death by the wives' worries and extravagances and idiosyncrasies, or the wife sent to her grave by man's hard heartedness and indifference. Now, our humorists, whose side-splitting jokes have been so greatly enjoyed by us for so long back, will have to turn their attention elsewhere and level a few of their shafts at the unmarried people who beat us married folks by a 30 or 40 per cent speed to the end of the race.

This little lesson which I am handing out to you is particularly applicable to the city of Santa Fe, as the proportion of bachelors and bachelor maids is far beyond the average in places of our size and far beyond what it should be in any place. I just thought I would give Dr. Drake's deductions so that our unmarried people could understand the chances they're taking.

Health Code.

The Japs and we Americans are not chumming just now, but we would do well to follow their official health rules in some particulars at least. Here they are:

1. Spend as much time out of doors as possible. Bask much in the sun and take plenty of exercise. Take care that your respiration is always deep and regular.
2. As regards meals, eat meat only once a day and let the diet be eggs, cereals and vegetables, fruits and fresh cow's milk. Take the last meal as much as possible. Masticate your food carefully.
3. Take a hot bath every day and a steam bath once or twice a week if the heart is strong enough to bear it.
4. Early to bed and early to rise.
5. Sleep in a very dark and very quiet room, with open windows. Let the minimum sleeping hours be six or six and one-half hours. In case of woman eight and one-half hours is advisable.
6. Take one day of absolute rest each week in which you must refrain from even reading or writing.
7. Try to avoid any outbursts of passion and strong mental stimulations. Do not tax your brain at the occurrence of inevitable incidents or on coming events. Do not say unpleasant things nor listen, if possible, to avoid it, to disagreeable things.
8. Be married! Widows and widowers should be married with least possible delay.
9. Be moderate in the consumption of even tea and coffee, not to say tobacco and alcoholic beverages.
10. Avoid places that are too warm especially steam heated and badly ventilated rooms.

We think that seventh rule is a peach. And the eighth one isn't slow. For that matter, they're all good.

Men And Women.

I sometimes wonder if writers of books, that is novels, really express their own thoughts in the words they put into the mouths of their characters, or if they try to say something smart, or what it is.

I saw a few excerpts published, the other day from the works of women novelists. Here is one from Mrs. Humphrey Ward in "The Mating of Lydia."

"It's no use deceiving ourselves," she thought. "There's precious little chivalry now! Men don't idealize women as they used. They're grown far from suspicious and harder. Perhaps because women have grown so critical of them! Anyway, something's gone—what is it? Poetry? Illusion? And yet!—Why is it that men still put us off our balance?—even now—that they matter so much less, now that we live our own lives, and can do without them?"

Perhaps, if Mrs. Ward's heroine had thought a little harder, she might have looked at the other side too. Today's women are not those of yesterday. They have lost a lot of that quality of femininity they used to possess. They go about blowing up things, planting dynamite, making political hikes and do stunts that do not call out any particular amount of chivalry on the part of the men. They don't let the men use it if they have it. If anything has gone, the women have driven it away. The very fact that the sighing heroine says they can get along without us shows that the fault is not all ours. We do not feel that way. We cannot get along without the women, and we know they cannot get along without us. A lot of such talk that gets into novels is tommyrot.

Today's life is swift, we all know. But all the sentiment has not gone out of it.

May Own The Country.

Should Mexico continue to borrow money and quickly spend it, may prove a solution of the situation down there by the confiscation of the entire country by its creditors, who naturally select a man to look after their interest and it might not be one to the manor born.—Rock Island Tribune.

That Standard Oil.

Minnesota has petitioned congress and the different states to unite against the Standard Oil company. That company may some day find itself in the position of the little darkey in the story who hooked a "water-million."

"He ate the rind and pieces, He finished it with vim; And then that watermillion Just up and finished him."

Watered millions may prove just as fatal to Standard Oil.—Silver City Enterprise.

The Editor Too.

A big bunch of fellows have been hopping around town with a cane or a crutch and a number of others are not able to get out of bed on account of a seige of rheumatisms that is going the rounds just now. Even the editor had a game leg during the week, and had to put a prop under one side to keep up.—Gallup Independent.

More Responsive.

The fact that in the future, senators will have to be elected by popular vote instead of through state legislatures, has served to make them more responsive to the public will, and those who are in a position to know, are asserting that no Democratic senator can be re-elected who voted against the pending tariff bill or who votes to amend it with Republican aid so as to make it objectionable to President Wilson. He seals his doom when he opposes Wilson.—Willard Record.

More High Class Cows.

More high class dairy cows must be the slogan of the farmers of the entire San Juan basin. The larger part of the San Juan basin raises feed only by means of irrigation, and with the present population having but a limited market for most of the things raised here, it behooves them to get down to business in a practical manner—that is, to raise all that is possible on every acre of land and get it into such shape as will bring profitable returns. There are not many real good dairy cows in this section and the opportunity for several breeding farms of this kind could not be better. Durango creamery will take all the butter fat it can get, and offers to the industrious farmer a monthly payroll. And the farmer sure needs the payroll.—Aztec Index.

MODERN LESSON TO BE LEARNED

The Barings were, in their prime, the greatest bankers in commercial paper in the world. It is not too much to say that commercial credit depended upon them. Their prestige was international and there was universal confidence in their stability and integrity.

About 25 years ago Lord Revelstoke, at the head of the great firm, was visiting a German watering place, where he met one of our leading American bankers. Naturally their conversation drifted into the discussion of the financial situation, and in the course of the talk Lord Revelstoke remarked that he intended during the next ten or fifteen years to enter extensively into modern financial banking.

From that time the character of the business of the Barings began to change, and from being the greatest merchants in commercial credits they put their resources more and more into fixed forms of investment, into speculative ventures in securities and into the promotion of financial enterprises.

What was the result? In 1890 the whole world was startled by rumors reflecting upon the credit of this house, therefore considered invincible, and its failure was only averted by the most strenuous efforts of the Bank of England, with the aid of the strongest bankers of London. Even the fact that the great house was in trouble was sufficient to produce a panic.

Its actual failure would have caused the direct financial catastrophe in a century.

Such were the consequences of a change from commercial to financial banking, from employing the resources of credit to facilitate the transportation and marketing of commodities to putting these resources into fixed forms of investment, from changing the assets of the firm from a fluid into a solid shape.

We refer to this striking chapter in financial history simply because it illustrates one of the peculiar dangers of our own times. Unquestionably the special temptation to which our banks are now subjected is the temptation to turn from commercial to financial banking; to change from the buying and selling of commercial credit into investments in securities and loans extended to promote financial enterprise; in short, to change their business from that of commercial banks to that of finance companies.

JANITOR TOO BUSY GETS NO BRIDE

Detroit, July 12.—Janitor's jobs and Cupid don't get along together, so Joseph Stecker who is caretaker of the Goebel building at 56 Cadillac square, is minus a fiancée.

Joseph thought he was to wed Miss Stella Bronson of Denver until Monday when a reporter informed him that his bride-to-be had refused to have the ceremony performed. She said Joseph failed to show up for the wedding a few months ago and so it was all off.

Stecker didn't deny it, nor did he appear to mind the sudden change of his intended's mind. He was mopping the stairs of the Goebel building when shown the dispatch that shattered his romance.

"Well, if she's changed her mind, we'll let it go at that," he said, and went on mopping.

The jilted suitor said he had just returned from Denver and that he was to have obtained a license as soon as he heard from the lady. He thought everything was lovely while on his visit there and declared he had made full explanation of his failure to connect with the altar on the former occasion.

"I had so much work to do that I couldn't get away for the wedding," he said. "She was to write me this time when we were to be married and I was to bring her here for the ceremony. No, I haven't heard from her but maybe she has changed her mind. Maybe she'll change it back again."

He continued to mop the stairs. Miss Bronson met Stecker while he was in Denver a year ago. Most of the courtship was by mail. Stecker lives at the Goebel building.

OFFICIAL. 4 STATE OFFICERS DISAGREE OVER BONDS

SHALL THE PERMANENT SCHOOL FUND BE INVESTED IN ROAD BONDS?—MARRON SAYS NO ATTORNEY-GENERAL AND SECRETARY OF STATE SAY YES.

OFFICIAL LETTERS IN CASE GIVEN BELOW

The controversy over the investment of the permanent school fund in the state highway bonds, between O. N. Marron, state treasurer, on one side, and Governor McDonald, Attorney General Clancy and Secretary of State Antonio Lucero, does not seem to be settled, although Joint Resolution 14 of the Laws of 1913 makes it the duty of the four gentlemen above named to invest the school funds, and three out of the four vote to invest in the highway bonds. Just what the outcome will be cannot be said just at this time, but as there is a great interest in the matter over the state, the following correspondence is printed for the information of all interested:

Santa Fe, N. M., July 7, 1913.
Hon. F. W. Clancy,
Attorney General,
Santa Fe, N. M.

Dear Sir:
I am firmly of the conviction that the investment of the permanent school fund of the state in the securities offered under House Joint Resolution No. 14, by the banks offering the highest rate of interest in the bids opened on Tuesday last, the first of July, is the best and safest investment that could be made of these funds.

In the resolution rejecting these bids, which is as follows:
"Resolved, That all of the bids received from the various banks, for deposits of the permanent school fund be rejected for the purpose of investing said fund in the state highway bonds, the difference in the rate of interest received, which would be about four cents per annum per capita of school children as shown by the last enrollment, being so small as to be more than offset by the benefits to be derived from the construction of highways to the schools themselves as well as to all other interests."

You do not base your disapproval of these securities upon the ground that they are not safe or that they would not bring the largest returns to the permanent school fund, but solely upon the ground that it was for the purpose of investing these funds in the highway bonds.

I deem it to be my duty, under the law, to most respectfully decline to invest these funds in the highway bonds for the reason that the highway bonds yield only 4 per cent while the bank securities offered will average more than 6 per cent and for the further reason that the value of the highway bonds, measured by the best bids obtained therefor, is only 77, while we would be required to pay par of 100.

I respectfully request, therefore, that you indicate to me whether or not you deem these bank securities offered to be unsafe. In the event that you approve the same as to their safety, I will make the investment in the proper bank securities.

Very truly yours,
O. N. MARRON,
State Treasurer.

Hon. O. N. Marron,
State Treasurer, Santa Fe, N. M.

Dear Sir:
We find that your letter of July 7, which was sent to each of us individually, was evidently intended for our joint consideration, and we therefore now make joint answer to it.

In your letter you state that you are firmly of the conviction that the investment of the permanent school fund of the state in the securities offered by the banks offering the highest rate of interest in the bids opened on July 1, is the best and safest investment which could be made of the fund, and you therefore say that you deem it our duty to decline to invest the funds in the highway bonds for the reason that the highway bonds will average more than 6 per cent, and you request that we indicate to you whether or not we deem the bank securities offered to be unsafe, and say that in the event we approve the same as to their safety, you will make the investment in the proper bank securities.

We decline to pass upon the question as to whether the bank securities are unsafe or not, as it is no part of our duty to do so, nor have you any right to demand of us that we should pass on that question especially after we have united in rejecting the bids of the banks for the avowed purpose of investigating the funds in the state highway bonds.

We cannot find any provision of law giving us any authority to make any investment of this fund except as directed by us, nor are you in any way charged with any responsibility as to such investment. No investment of the fund can be made in any securities unless they are first approved by the governor, secretary of state and attorney general, and if there should be any resulting losses from such investment the state must reimburse them, but there is nothing to make you officially or personally liable for what is done.

Therefore, we now say to you that, under existing circumstances, we approve of the investment of this fund in the state highway bonds, and that we will not approve of its investment in any other securities at this time.

We desire to add, in response to your statement as to the desirability of accepting the offers of the banks, that in our judgment your position is not well taken. In the first place, as pointed out in the resolution rejecting the bids of the banks, the difference in the rate of interest, which would be received on the highway bonds, and the amount which would be received from the banks if their bids were accepted, is so insignificant as to be unworthy of consideration in view of the general benefit to the state and to the schools as will be investing this money in the highway bonds. The difference would be about 4 per cent per annum for each school child according to the last enrollment in the state and would have no perceptible effect upon the maintenance of the schools. This difference will probably be less in the future as the number of school children can be expected constantly to increase. In addition to this the highway bonds are more desirable as an investment because the income will be certain for a series of years, while there is no certainty or reasonable prospect that the high rate of interest bid by a few of the banks will be continued for any length of time. It must be that when banks bid as much as 6 per cent for the deposit of money, it is done to meet some temporary emergency as no safe and careful banker will pay such interest upon deposits in New Mexico. As you are aware, on time certificates of deposit the usual rate of interest is only four percent, and it is the general opinion among bankers that more cannot safely be paid. As a consequence of this, and as there is no obligation on the banks to continue the deposits upon the terms offered for any length of time, we can reasonably expect that when the emergency to meet which these offers are made has passed, the deposits will be surrendered. Attention should be called to the fact that the majority of the offers made were at rates much below those of the few banks which you desired to accept, and that some of the most prominent and strongest banks in the state made no bids at all.

It is the opinion of all well-informed and public-spirited citizens that nothing will conduce to the general improvement and development of the state as much as the construction of good roads, and such general improvement and development will benefit the schools immensely more than would the small difference in the interest upon the permanent school fund between an investment in the highway bonds and in the bank deposits, even if we could be assured of the permanency of the income from the banks.

It is evident that at the present time the highway bonds can not be sold in the bond market for cash at par in accordance with the terms of the statute authorizing their issue, and that as a result, no funds will be available from that source for the prosecution of work on roads except by the making of this investment therein of the permanent school fund. We are informed by the state engineer that the need of this money is great and urgent, so that we are convinced that the course we are taking is imperatively demanded by every consideration touching the general welfare of the state, including the interest of the schools.

Very respectfully,
W. C. McDONALD,
Governor of New Mexico.
ANTONIO LUCERO,
Secretary of State.
FRANK W. CLANCY,
Attorney General.

It is said that Chicago capitalists are back of the enterprise and that the land intended to be improved is in Mora county.

State Highway Designated.
At an informal session yesterday at which they listened to the arguments of P. H. Bailey, H. R. Hannum, A. P. Williams and Jos. F. Bennett, the State Highway commission decided that a road on the west side of the Rio Grande, 23 miles long in southern Dona Ana county, should be designated as a state highway and as such would come in for a share of the state and county highway money. The petitioners represented the West Side Improvement association.

OFFICIAL. GARCIA VS. GARCIA CASE GOES TO THE JURY

ON TRIAL IN THE FEDERAL COURT FOR THREE WEEKS.—ARGUMENTS CLOSED YESTERDAY AND JUDGE INSTRUCTED JURY TO-DAY.

SENSATIONAL INCIDENT HAPPENED YESTERDAY

Judge W. H. Pope formally charged the jury this morning in the case of Florence Lillian Garcia vs. Petra Garcia, et al., which has been on trial for almost three weeks in the federal district court here. Inasmuch as this is a case in equity, a jury was not necessary, but the judge stated that he had seen fit to call them in order that they through their combined judgment might aid him in determining the verdict in this matter.

In order to give him the help asked for, he propounded the following interrogatories to them and asked them to retire and consider them:

Is the plaintiff in this case the child of Elias G. Garcia?

Was Elias G. Garcia the author of plaintiff's exhibit No. 144b, dated at Albuquerque, April 8th, 1909?

Is plaintiff's exhibit No. 144a, being the envelope in which the letter of April 8th, 1909, was received, in the same condition now as when first introduced in evidence?

Was Elias G. Garcia the author of plaintiff's exhibit No. 145, dated April 25th, 1909?

Was Elias G. Garcia the author of plaintiff's exhibit No. 146b, dated at the Kaiserhof hotel in Chicago, March 8, 1910?

Was the Elias G. Garcia the author of letters not now in existence, but received by Bessie Wilson after April 8th, 1909, in which both she and her sister testify the expressions, "Our little baby," "My little Lillian," and others were used with reference to the plaintiff?

If the above question is answered affirmatively, state whether all of these expressions were used, and if not all, which ones were used?

If you have found that Elias G. Garcia was the author of the exhibits above referred to and used the expressions above given, answer this further question, did Elias G. Garcia mean by these exhibits that the plaintiff was his child?

Loaded with a copy of the above, some 150 exhibits in the case, and several microscopes and reading glasses the jury retired at 10:30 this morning to consider this matter.

Referring to the interrogatories above, the whole case hinges on the question of whether or not the plaintiff, a little golden haired 4-year-old girl, is the daughter of E. G. Garcia. Referring to exhibits 144a and 144b, 145 and 146b, it may be said that they are the very foundation of the case of the plaintiff being letters written wholly in typewriting even to the signature, but letters in which the parentage of the plaintiff is alleged to be acknowledged. A sensational scene came up yesterday afternoon in this connection, the defense, Judge E. A. Mann, openly charging that exhibit 144a had been tampered with, and that 144b was a forgery. The exhibit 144a referred to is the envelope in which Mrs. Wilson testified she received the letter, referred to as 144b, from Mr. Garcia. Judge Mann called attention to the fact that there was no seal on the envelope, two one cent stamps. He claimed that persons interested in the plaintiff's case had affixed one of the one cent stamps to a one cent letter which originally contained no writing and only an Easter card, and had forged the letter admitting the parentage of the child. He pointed out that an Easter card had been sent to Stella, Bessie Wilson's sister, in an envelope on which there was only a one cent stamp. This he insisted lent color to the charge of tampering with the letter which he insisted had been done. He pointed out that the lower one cent stamp had been affixed over the mark of the cancelling stamp, showing conclusively that it had been put on subsequent to the mailing of the letter. Apparently he was on the right track, until one of the jurors in examining the letter discovered the fact that both of the one cent stamps had been added to the letter, and there was still plainly visible on the envelope the scalloped edges and a faint pinkish tinge showing where a two cent stamp had been scraped off the letter to make room for the two one cent stamps. This proved a boomerang, and whereas the original contentions of Judge Mann had been proven wrong, he practically destroyed the case of the plaintiff, the juror's discovery that there had originally been a two cent stamp on the letter, and that the envelope had evidently been fixed up since introduced in evidence, to correspond with the argument Judge Mann was making, resulted in grave suspicions regarding the defendants' side of the case. All the attorneys interested then took the stand in turn and gave their testimony in regard to the letter, and following the charge of the judge to the jury, this morning, Judge Mann rose and stated that on behalf of the attorneys for the defense he "demanded a full and complete investigation into the incident of yesterday" above referred to.

Judge Pope said that he would take the request of counsel for the defense under advisement and let them know later his decision regarding an investigation.

In his charge this morning Judge Pope went into the law points concerned and the facts introduced pretty thoroughly, his charge taking just an hour. He, for the benefit of the jurors, called attention to the law regarding common law marriages, it being the contention of counsel for the defense that shortly prior to the birth of the plaintiff, Tony Wilson commenced living with the mother of the plaintiff and that this constituted a common law marriage and that any issue was the offspring of these two. The judge admitted that the presumption in law was that it was their child and he admitted that this presumption had to be overcome, to prove otherwise, which might be done, he said, by proving that conditions were such at the time conception must have occurred that it could not be Wilson's child.

Evidence of this sort had been introduced by the plaintiff.

Briefly the history of the case began with alleged illicit relations between Garcia and Bessie Speick as early as 1902 continuing through until the baby was born. Evidence was introduced to show that she had been pregnant before, but that he had introduced her to submit to an operation. When she became pregnant in 1908, it is alleged that he again insisted on an operation, to which she refused to submit, and this resulted in a quarrel which established strained relations between them. However, he sent her to Salt Lake where the baby was born, and sent her $50 a month for a considerable period after that time. In June, 1909, shortly after her baby was born, she was married to Tony Wilson.

The case contains many sensational allegations, and has been hard fought on both sides.

ANDRES CALLES IS CAPTURED AT NOGALES

Andres Calles, a life prisoner in the state penitentiary, who escaped last November from that institution in company with Ben Wyant, serving a five year term, has been captured and is in jail at Nogales, Arizona.

Warden McManus received a wire from the police there to send the prisoners picture. It arrived this morning and is almost an exact copy of his picture in the records here. It is said there is no doubt whatever as to his identity. A member of the mounted police will be sent after him probably tomorrow. Calles was captured in Juarez several months ago, but broke jail just the day before Captain Porroff with extradition papers arrived from Mexico City. Wyant was arrested at Grand Island, Neb., a few weeks ago, and is again safely within the walls of the local prison. Jose M. Fernandez, the only other man not at a road camp, who has escaped since Warden McManus has had charge, was also captured after about three weeks of liberty.
