LOBBY HEARING LISTENS TO MULHALL

SELF-STYLED LOBBYIST GOES ON STAND TO REFUTE ATTACKS ON PERSONAL CHARACTER.—DENIES HE ATTEMPTED TO SELL LETTERS

SIMPLY WANTED TO SERVE THE PUBLIC

Washington, D. C., July 14.—Martin M. Mulhall, self-styled lobbyist for ten years for the National Association of Manufacturers, interrupted the senate lobby investigation today to reply to what he declared were personal attacks on his character and his purpose in the expose.

He denied that he had tried to sell the great mass of papers and letters which were recently published, and which now are in the hands of the senate committee. Later, he said, he proposed to introduce witnesses and letters to show that he had been engaged for months in "trying to give away" the great file of correspondence which has brought officers of the National Association of Manufacturers and labor leaders and congressmen into prominence. Mulhall's statement was made in connection with his request that he be allowed to read a letter he had written May 16, 1913, to Perrin Maxwell, editor of the Hearst Magazine, urging him to have William R. Hearst make the mass of letters public through his publications. This letter reiterated former statements that the writer did not want money, but wanted to get the lobbying documents published as a "service to the public."

"I have attempted for the past two months to give them away," Mulhall told the committee.

"I never had in mind the question of the money I would receive for them."

"But you did sell them later to the New York World?" asked Senator Reed.

"I will offer further papers and witnesses on that point," said Mulhall. "I did not sell them. I felt into the hands of a gentleman named Barry who came over to look at the letters for Mr. Hearst. I have learned since that he is what is known as a newspaper tipster. The letters were given to the New York World, but later Mr. Barry came and wanted me to break the contract with the World, saying he could get $750,000 for letters of the National Association of Manufacturers."

"I said that the letters were not for sale; that the National Association of Manufacturers did not have money enough to buy them; that I had no proposition of blackmail in connection with them."

At this point Mulhall's statement was interrupted by the committee. He said he wanted Editor Maxwell and Louis Seibold of the New York World, and other witnesses called in his behalf. Mr. Seibold is already under subpoena by the committee.

The house committee appointed to investigate the Mulhall charges was unable to proceed today owing to monopolization of the witnesses by the senate and is considering taking a recess for two weeks.

Washington, D. C., July 14.—Martin M. Mulhall, who acknowledges himself to have been one of the chief lobbyists for the National Association of Manufacturers, was on hand today when the senate investigating committee met, prepared to make additional disclosures concerning the alleged activities of "big interests" in shaping legislation.

John Mitchell, the labor leader, was subpoenaed for today. Former Congressman George A. Pearre of Maryland, was excused until Monday and Mitchell was told to come back July 25, when Samuel Gompers has been directed to appear.

Mulhall's first testimony today related to letters from Marshall Cushing, secretary of the National Association of Manufacturers, suggesting a campaign against Pearre.

"Why did you oppose Pearre?" asked Reed.

"On account of his stand on the injunction bill, same as I did McComas," said the witness.

The plan by which Mulhall and the officers of the Philadelphia Typothetae proposed to break down the printers' strike there in 1905 was outlined in a report Mulhall identified as one he had made to John A. McIntyre, secretary of the National Typothetae.

The report to McIntyre told of an arrangement with employment agencies by which men could be secured, who were encouraged to go on strike as soon as the labor unions suggested it.

Details of the fight against Pearre were brought out through a letter from Mulhall to M. C. Holtzman of Cumberland, Md., dated April 27, 1906, which outlined a plan "to send you all the labor organizers you wish, and guarantee all of them to be first class men," to organize the fight against Pearre.

A letter to Mulhall from C. P. Holtzman, at Cumberland, said that the anti-Pearre organization was costing $200 a day and much "persuasion" was necessary.

"What do you mean by persuasion?"

asked Senator Nelson.

"Money," said the witness.

"Had a large colored vote that needed seeing often," he explained.

"You had to see the colored voters over and over again," suggested Chairman Overman.

"Yes, the last fellow who got 'em had 'em on election day."

On June 14, 1906, Cushing wrote to Mulhall telling him that he could point out that Pearre was "playing both ends against the middle," Cushing wrote:

"You ought to point out to all such people—that is, those who naturally ought to be against Pearre—how he is trying to play both ends against the middle; that he is attorney for the Baltimore and Ohio and could not excuse himself as a paid employee if he does not oppose legislation when it comes to a show down."

"So while Pearre is playing both ends against the middle, perhaps you can play both ends against the middle on your own account."

A letter from Holtzman to Mulhall June 24, 1906, urged the latter to help immediately to raise funds for the final effort to beat Pearre at the primaries. It is said that Pearre was working "the labor racket" with great success and that the "federal office holders" are supplying the money.

In a letter to Cushing in April, 1906, Mulhall wrote of a conference on March 22, between President Roosevelt and Samuel Gompers, at which the latter said, Gompers declared that if labor were not favored more in legislation, it would carry on a campaign to elect labor men to congress. Mulhall wrote Cushing that he had found that the "threat of Mr. Gompers was being carried out to the best of his ability," and added that the Gompers "labor leaders are doing their utmost to turn their labor organization into the Hearst movement in Philadelphia."

"I am perfectly confident that Mr. Gompers and his labor leaders can be badly beaten if the movement is taken hold of in time," Mulhall wrote.

"I know if you take hold in the right way," he concluded, "no more delegations like the one that called with Gompers on the president will ever be gotten up and I know that the splendid organization you have got in the National Association of Manufacturers can easily put those people out of business."

In July 1906, Mulhall began to write and receive letters about campaigns in Pennsylvania congressional districts, and he wrote to Cushing:

"It might be of some interest to you to show you what the Gompers people are doing in this state. They have nominated President Thomas D. Nichols for the tenth congressional district of Pennsylvania on the Democratic ticket and I should predict now that unless there is very good work done in that district we will have a red hot agitator in the next congress. There are about 40,000 miners in that district and Nichols is their ideal. Besides, John Mitchell is pledged to come into that district and work for the Democratic ticket."

"I hope Mr. Sherman and the Republican congressional committee will get busy in the near future."

Mulhall said the Sherman referred to was the late vice president. Some of the congressmen who Mulhall said were on the "Gompers blacklist" were given in a letter from him to Cushing as follows:

"The principal parties that he will attempt to defeat this fall will be Chairman Jenkins of the house judiciary committee, Speaker Cannon, Congressman Dalzell of the Pittsburgh district, and Congressman Littlefield, of Maine."

Senator Reed brought in the name of former Congressman Nicholas Longworth and P. H. Goebel of Ohio, when he put in the record an article from a Philadelphia paper August 8, 1905, in which Longworth and Goebel were said to be opposed by the American Federation of Labor.

"Longworth had been a pretty good fellow when you went to see him for the National Association of Manufacturers?"

"I had never met Mr. Longworth up to that time," said the witness.

Correspondence submitted dealt at length with Mulhall's efforts in behalf of the National Association of Manufacturers to bring about the re-election of Congressman Littlefield and to defeat the present congressman Daniel McGillicuddy.

PRESIDENT GIVES PARDONS TO TWO BANKERS

Washington, D. C., July 14.—President Wilson today granted unconditional pardon to William F. Ketterbach and Geo. H. Kester, each sentenced to five years imprisonment for making false reports to the comptroller of the currency on the condition of the Lewiston, Idaho, National bank of which they were president and cashier, respectively. They were convicted April 4, 1911, but have not served any of their sentences.

PRESIDENT WILSON SENDS NOMINATIONS TO SENATE.

Washington, D. C., July 14.—The president today made the following nominations:

Secretary of the legation of Paraguay and Uruguay, H. F. Arthur Scheinfeld of District Columbia.

ROADS ANSWER REQUEST OF UNIONS

WILL NOT BE COERCED INTO PAYING THEIR EMPLOYEES WAGES OUT OF ALL PROPORTION TO SERVICES RENDERED.

CONFERENCE CALLED BY PRESIDENT WILSON

New York, N. Y., July 14.—The eastern railroads involved in the wage controversy with the trainmen and conductors issued a statement through the conference committee of managers, saying that they were still unwilling to proceed under the Erdman act. This is the roads reply to the ultimatum submitted by the unions yesterday.

The statement says that the committee's policy has never changed, that it has consistently refused to be "coerced through threats of strikes into 'paying railroad employees wages out of all proportion to the duties performed. The managers have been consistent in contending that the Erdman act does not protect the interest of all parties concerned."

"Should the Newlands bill be enacted into law, the committee will, of course, be willing to submit to arbitration by a board provided in the Newlands bill, all questions of rates of pay and working conditions of conductors and trainmen."

The conference committee of the railroad managers today received from unions formal notification that the strike vote had been ratified yesterday. The statement recites that the general committee of the union meeting subsequently, "have unanimously approved the strike vote" and have authorized Messrs. Lee and Carleton to "fix the hour at which these organizations will retire from service."

The letter says that Lee and Carleton have at the earnest solicitation of disinterested interests been authorized to attend today's conference at Washington, and add:

"The local committees have returned to their homes under instructions not to return to the service pending further instructions and we sincerely trust that crisis may not be precipitated by an effort to compel any of those committees to comply."

Most of the delegates who attended the convention that ratified the strike vote left the city late last night. The general committee of 190 is still here. Lee and Garretson expect to return to New York tomorrow morning, and before leaving they said that the hour for calling the men out, in the event that no settlement could be reached, was unknown to anybody except themselves.

Confere at Washington.

Washington, D. C., July 14.—Whether a strike of trainmen and conductors of the eastern railroads may be avoided was the subject of a conference at the white house today between President Wilson and representatives of the employees and the railroads concerned. President Wilson, Secretary Bryan, Chairman Newlands of the senate interstate commerce commission, Chairman Clayton of the house judiciary committee and Republican Leader Mann represented the government; President Samuel Rea of the Pennsylvania, Daniel Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio; George W. Stevens, of the Chesapeake and Ohio; W. C. Brown, of the New York Central lines, and Frank Trumbull, chairman of the board of the Chesapeake and Ohio, represented the railroads, and Presidents A. B. Garretson, of the order of Railway Conductors, and W. G. Lee, of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, represented the employees.

Today's conference between the railroad men and the president concerns two bills pending in congress for amendment of the Erdman act providing for arbitration of wage disputes. It is understood that both the brotherhoods and the railroads are satisfied with the Newlands bill, already passed by the senate, but that the Clayton bill, introduced in the house, largely at the instance of Secretary Wilson, is not so satisfactory.

The latter proposes that the secretary of labor should be included as one of the official mediators. There has been considerable objection to that feature.

Acceptance by the house of the Newlands bill, as it passed the senate, which has been approved by the civil association, would undoubtedly remove the possibility of a strike.

President Wilson on his arrival from Cornish, N. H., had before him a pile of documents on the situation which he said he would examine before the conference.

Senate Will Consider Act.

Washington, D. C., July 14.—At President Wilson's suggestion the senate today agreed to meet tomorrow to consider amendments to the Erdman act. Senator Kern telephoned the suggestion from the white house, while the conference between the president and railway officials and employees was in progress.

President Wilson's conference over the railroad situation began promptly at three o'clock. Twenty persons, including Democratic and Republican leaders in congress, crowded into the president's room in the executive offices. It was the largest conference held here since the Wilson administration began.

Don't Think Strike Likely.

Several railroad engineers in this city declared today they did not believe the older men in the conductors' or trainmen's organizations would strike. One engineer said:

"You don't suppose a conductor who is now between forty-five and fifty years old is going to strike?" he asked. "They would be foolish to do so. Where could he get a position paying him as much money as the railroads are giving him? The conductors and trainmen are now the best paid men on the railroads for the service they perform," he declared, "and I don't believe the railroads will give them their demands."

Willing to Arbitrate.

The unions are willing to meet the railroads in an effort to settle all differences by means of arbitration under the Newlands amendments to the Erdman act, according to the announcement of A. B. Garretson, and W. G. Lee, heads of the Railway Trainmen, who are here to attend the White House conference. The announcement of the railway managers, they said, was a complete reversal of their previous declaration not to arbitrate.

The conference between President Wilson and presidents of the four large eastern railroads and representatives of the Conductors and Trainmen's unions late today reached an agreement on the provisions of the Newlands bill, amending the Erdman act, as it passed the senate. Senator Newlands announced that the bill would be passed by the house tomorrow with only a few minor changes.

MANY PAPERS LITTER PRESIDENT WILSON'S DESK

Washington, D. C., July 14.—When President Wilson reached his desk today after a brief vacation at Cornish, N. H., in addition to the conference regarding the threatened strike on the eastern railroads, he found much business awaiting his attention.

White House officials and cabinet officers are refraining from sending the president much material requiring thought or attention, but when he returned he found an accumulation that would awe the ordinary man.

It will take him many hours to sign the commissions to officers, to army and navy positions, the letters, telegrams and documents that will be waiting him. If his picture could be taken behind the pile of these documents that were on his desk, providing they are all put there at one time, his body and face would be concealed.

In the Roosevelt administration an old and careful White House official estimated that "the colonel" signed his name between 50,000 and 60,000 times each year, or a total of much more than 200,000 during his incumbency of office. Sensible legislation and departmental reorganization since that time have both reduced the number of presidential signatures necessary, but there has been an increase in the number of postoffice appointments, army and navy promotions and other business that will keep President Wilson's pen at work fully as many times each month or year as was that of Colonel Roosevelt.

Mr. Wilson writes his name in an easy flowing, bold style. Signing "Woodrow Wilson," he wrote thirteen letters. Colonel Roosevelt signed "Theodore Roosevelt," seventeen letters, a little more labor each time than Mr. Wilson gives. President Taft's "Wm. H. Taft" brought the word below that of either of the others, cutting more than half on Colonel Roosevelt and nearly half the trouble of President Wilson.

"William McKinley" is the way President McKinley signed during his four and a half years in office. That gave him fifteen letters to write.

A president must put his name to every commission for a postmaster in addition to sending their names to the senate for action; do the same for every army and navy officer receiving promotion; sign the commission of every graduate from West Point and Annapolis; sign all personal letters, many autographs and hundreds of miscellaneous documents, together with messages to congress, all laws passed by that body and too many other things to mention.

President Wilson has no particular idea for disposing of the several hundred documents a day that must bear his signature. He does it occasionally when he arrives at his office early in the morning before his visitors begin to arrive; sometimes in the afternoon when there is a spare minute, but not often at night. He is not a night worker. He reserves the evenings for pleasure with his family or friends or for reading. He does not care to consider business at night unless the circumstances warrant.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

House.

Not in session; meets at noon Tuesday.

Received answer to Tillman resolution information on armor plate from Secretary Daniels, urging investigation cost of government armor plate factory.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota assailed agricultural schedule in a speech on the tariff bill.

Lobby investigation committee continued hearing Mulhall testimony.

UNSPEAKABLE CRIMES ARE CHARGED

GREEKS CIRCULATE STORIES OF THE BARBARITIES OF THE BULGARIAN TROOPS, BUT KING FERDINAND DENIES AND ASKS INVESTIGATION

PEACE DOES NOT SEEM TO MATERIALIZE

Saloniki, July 4.—The sacking and burning of the town of Seres by the defeated Bulgarian army and the accompanying outrages on women and atrocities on men, were fully confirmed today in a dispatch from a well known Greek correspondent.

The retreating Bulgarian soldiers, he telegraphed, opened a cannonade with four field guns from a hill above the town on Friday. At the same time bands of Bulgarian soldiers scoured the streets, pillaging and burning until the greater part of the town was blazing.

Even the foreign consulates in Seres were not spared, according to the correspondent. The Austro-Hungarian consular offices were plundered. The bank of Athens, the Oriental bank, the Palace of the Metropolitan, the great synagogue, all the schools, tobacco warehouses of the American, Austrian and German companies were burned after they had all been pillaged. The American Tobacco company alone suffered to the extent of $1,000,000.

Many people were crucified, hacked to pieces or burned alive by the madmen Bulgarians, who committed incredible outrages on women of all ages, many of whom died. The condition of those who escaped is lamentable. Rich merchants are dying of hunger, while wretched mothers are trying to find covering and food for their naked and starving children.

Did Not Hear of Losses.

Officers of the American Tobacco company said today that they had received no private advices concerning the destruction of their warehouse at Seres, Macedonia. They were inclined to doubt that the loss was a million dollars, as stated in cable advices.

Bulgarians Deny Excesses.

London, July 14.—King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, in a long message dispatched from Sofia on July 12, informs the Evening News:

"The stories and reports which the Greeks and Servians have been circulating in Europe concerning alleged outrages committed by my troops on the Greek and Servian populations in Macedonia are absolutely unfounded and are published with the object of creating a bad impression."

King Ferdinand told of the liberties enjoyed by the people of Adrianople without regard to their nationality and closes with the allegation:

"Systematic attacks and persecutions have been directed against the Bulgarian element in Macedonia by the Servians and the Greeks. The districts of Kastoria, Florina and Vodena have been cleared of all well educated men and the prisons of Saloniki are overflowing with innocent Bulgarians. Great numbers of Bulgarians have been transported from their homes in the country to Greece and to the islands of the Aegean sea. The same cruel regime has been applied to the Bulgarians in the regions occupied by the Servians. Purely Bulgarian town of Kukush has been completely burned by the Greek troops."

Thousands of refugees, King Ferdinand concludes, are arriving in Sofia, "gave terrifying accounts of the horrible deeds committed by the Servians and the Greeks. The Bulgarian government is ready to come to an international inquiry which will enlighten the world concerning the stories of these excesses."

Bucharest, Roumania, July 14.—The Bulgarian minister to Roumania and the staff of the legation left today on a special train for Sofia. The report that detachments of Roumanian cavalry have occupied Dobrich, Balchik and the surrounding villages is officially confirmed.

Saloniki, July 14.—The Austro-Hungarian and Italian consuls stationed in this city have gone to Seres to verify the stories concerning atrocities committed by the Bulgarian troops, and to aid their citizens."

FRANCE MAY NOT INSPECT U. S. POWDER MILLS

Washington, D. C., July 24.—Secretary Garrison has declined a request of the French government for permission to have some of its ordinance officers inspect the processes of American powder manufacture. The original request covers not only the government factories but the great private corporations which make the larger part of the smokeless power of the government.

The secretary's declination as to the lack of reciprocity on the part of the French government, which has declined to allow American ordinance officers to examine French ordinance factories.

POTTS FIGHTING AGAINST ORDER RETIRING HIM

Washington, D. C., July 14.—At the navy department today it is declared that the case of Capt. Tempie M. Potts, recently retired by action of the plucking board, is a closed incident, so far as that department is concerned. With the approval of the president and in full compliance with law, it is stated, the name of Capt. Potts was transferred to the retired list July 1, and it is stated further that it cannot be restored to the active list except by specific direction of congress.

In the present status of the case, it is further declared, it is beyond the power of the president to restore Capt. Potts to the active list, even if he should desire to recall and reverse his action in approving the order of the retirement of that officer.

Following the retirement of Capt. Potts, however, the president again sent the name of Capt. Boush to the senate for promotion to the grade of rear admiral from the date of the retirement of Rear Admiral Mertz, thus advancing the date of his commission as rear admiral from June 15, as confirmed, to March 26. That nomination is now before the senate and it is confirmed would leave no vacancy in the list of rear admirals to which Capt. Potts could be appointed, even if the authorities were inclined to that line of action.

Although not admitted by friends of Capt. Potts, it is reported that they are disposed to make an effort to prevent the appointment of Capt. Boush to the vacancy to which Capt. Potts would have been entitled had he remained on the active list. In case they were successful in that endeavor it is admitted it would add another complication to the already tangled case of Mr. Meyer's aid for personnel. Beyond the fact that Capt. Potts has obtained a certified copy of his record from the department the officials there say they have no knowledge whatever of his actions or purposes since his retirement.

That Capt. Potts is not even considering an appeal to the courts to go into his case was stated today by a close advisor of the retired naval officer. It had been suggested that he might go into court to test the constitutionality of the personnel law, or might apply to the Court of Claims to review the case.

Capt. Potts has not taken any affirmative action since his arrival in Washington, but is spending his time going over the records at the Navy Department, considering precedents and studying the law. He is expected to take definite action within the next week.

Capt. Potts has let it be known that his first action will be the placing of all information in his case before the president and asking for a review by the case of the entire matter. Since the case has already been before the president twice in other forms, men at the navy department do not expect that the president will take any action.

TRAVELER IS FOUND DYING IN JUAREZ, MEX.

El Paso, Texas, July 14.—J. Jacobs, from Switzerland, disappeared from his wife between trains at the Union station Saturday and was found in jail in Juarez today and brought to El Paso in a dying condition. He was stark naked, his body cut by pieces. Juarez police said they found him that way. He told the El Paso police that he slashed himself with a broken bottle. He could not remember where he left his clothes, money and watch.

The police was asked to look for him by Mrs. Jacobs who said they were from Salinas, Cal., en route to Switzerland. Her husband left her at the Union station while they were waiting for a train.

Mrs. Jacobs had a hard time getting anyone at the Union station to understand her. She could speak only Swiss and Italian and efforts to get her to understand English or German were unavailing.

INVESTIGATING GRAFTING IN HAWAIIAN ISLE.

Hilo, Hawaii, July 14.—Special guards were assigned to those concerned in the prosecution of the graft investigation into the affairs of Hawaii county as the result of an attempt last night to kill Deputy Sheriff Edward K. Simmons, an important witness for the prosecution. His residence was dynamited, but Simmons and his wife escaped serious injury.

The cause of the investigation ordered by the legislature was the recent confession of Auditor Charles K. Maguire to the speculations totalling $80,000. He was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

ROOSEVELT PLANS TRIP INTO NO MAN'S LAND.

Williams, Ariz., July 14.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt will rest at Grand Canyon three or four days before starting on a 150-mile ride, he announced last night. He was met yesterday by Nicholas Roosevelt, his nephew, who has been arranging the trip. The ex-president plans to cross the canyon by mule back, hunt bear and lions for a week or two and then ride to Gallup, crossing the Colorado river at Lee's ferry.

ELEVEN DIE IN INTERURBAN WRECK

ELECTRIC CARS BETWEEN LOS ANGELES AND VENICE COLLIDE—ELEVEN ARE KILLED AND 150 INJURED—INVESTIGATION BEGUN TODAY.

FOUR DEAD ARE AS YET UNIDENTIFIED

Los Angeles, Calif., July 14.—Corrected list showed today that 11 persons were killed last night in the wreck of two electric trains between this city and Venice, as three cars ran into a stalled train. Twenty passengers were seriously injured, several fatally, and 150 others bruised and cut.

Investigation was begun today to fix the blame for the Pacific Electric accident last night at Vineyard station, where 11 were killed and nearly 150 injured. The curve in the tracks of the Venice shortline at that place partially is held responsible for the failure of the motorman to see the stationary cars with which his train collided. His body was not found in the debris. Carroll Bartholome, conductor of the last car of the stationary train, said today he made an effort to "flag down" the approaching cars, but that the motorman failed to observe his signals. Of the dead, four men remained unidentified early today, two Japanese and two whites.

The known dead:

Miss Edna Alter, Pasadena.
Ollie W. Axley, San Francisco.
Miss Veronica Miller, Los Angeles.
Merle Evans, Los Angeles.
William Taylor, address unknown.
Jacob Barman, address unknown.
Edward Murray, Canada, Calif.

The names of few of the injured were known early today. It was thought virtually all were from Los Angeles or vicinity:

E. A. Rye, Torrance, Mexico, both legs broken, internal injuries.
Mrs. Johnston, Youngstown, Ohio, internally injured.

P. R. Forrester, motorman of the flyer, whose failure to observe signals, is thought to have caused the accident, disappeared after the crash. He was located today by company officials.

Helen Kane, of Escanaba, Mich., was reported today as probably fatally injured. Her body was crushed.
C. B. Craig and his wife, of Detroit, were internally injured and their condition is serious.

Miss Ingeborg Swenson, of Chicago, had a knee fractured.
L. T. Denton, Kansas City, leg and ribs broken.

To "horse play" by youths who played with the train whistle, is attributed the loss of eleven lives and the injuring of some hundred and fifty persons late last night. Two Pacific Electric trains collided, telescoping two cars and wrecking another at Vineyard station, near the city limits.

Three trains loaded with excursionists to the beach at Venice, sixteen miles from Los Angeles, had stopped at a curve where a switch is turned. The last train began moving forward while the two foremost trains remained at a standstill.

Carroll Bartholome, the conductor of the last car on the center train, jumped on the track with his light to "flag" down the approaching train. Some youths on the car, say passengers who escaped death, pulled the whistle in just. This, it was explained by railroad men, was misinterpreted by the motorman of the moving train as the signal to go ahead.

ANNUAL REVIEW OF THE FRENCH ARMY TO-DAY

Paris, July 14.—The presence of detachments of native regiments from the French colonies in Africa, Tongking, Annam and Madagascar lent unwonted interest today to the annual review at Longchamp of the garrison at Paris, by the president of the republic on the anniversary of the taking of the bastille in 1789.

After the presentation to the president of the colors of the forty regiments on parade and the inspection of the escorts, all the troops marched past. The native detachments were given the place of honor at the head of the column and received a tremendous ovation. Another feature of the review which made a great hit with the onlookers was a detachment of military dogs, who marched past in perfect order.

During the review, five army aeroplanes darted here and there over the heads of the troops while a military dirigible circled and maneuvered around the track.

MIMBRES VALLEY IS ON THE BOOM

Deming, N. M., July 14.—Fred D. Jack has received a transfer from the immigration department allowing him to have charge of the work at San Diego, Calif., instead of Deming, N. M., where he has been stationed for the last five years. Mrs. Jack is now in San Diego and will be joined by her husband in a short time.

F. R. McFeaters, superintendent of the Union Railroad company in Pittsburgh, also president of the Mimbres Valley Alfalfa Farms company, and also E. C. Brown, chief surveyor and engineer for the Carnegie Steel company, have just completed their inspection of the work of the Mimbres Valley Alfalfa Farms company, which is developing the 10,000-acre tract of land 12 to 15 miles east of Deming. These gentlemen while here also investigated the general conditions of the valley as well as the special work which their company is doing. Both of these gentlemen expressed themselves as highly pleased with the agricultural prospects of this valley. Furthermore, they were delighted with the progress which has been made by the general manager, C. E. Miesse, and Superintendent J. M. McTeer with the reclamation work on the tract. Mr. Brown stated that he did not see how it was possible to accomplish so much work and do it so well in so short a time. Messrs. McFeaters and Brown, who constituted a committee from the Pittsburgh capitalists who are financing this development, will have a very encouraging report to make to their associates in Pittsburgh. They left Deming this morning.

Dr. A. E. Montenyohl performed the delicate operation of skin grafting for Jose Meranda. He was assisted by Dr. F. D. Vickers and Dr. P. M. Steed. The operation was performed Thursday morning at the ladies' hospital. Meranda is in a very critical condition on account of electrical burns received three weeks ago. His left hand has been amputated. As a last resort to save his life some 25 square inches of skin was removed from the leg and placed on the abdomen, where the worst injury occurred.

The Lilly Austin Bridge club met at the A. W. Pollard residence last Wednesday evening. Friday evening the member were entertained at the home of H. H. Kelly.
The Tuesday Embroidery club was entertained at the home of Miss Clayton Foulks. Delightful refreshments were served at the end of a most enjoyable afternoon. Those present were Kathleen Sullivan, Carlou Bruce, Jessie Guinsy, Dora Terrill, Isabel Selver and Catherine Laughren. Miss Nellie Chapman and S. C. Pierce were quietly married Monday evening by the Rev. Z. Moore at the parsonage. The bride taught school at Columbus and the bridegroom is a farmer, living near Iola.

Edwin J. Keough, who has been prospecting here several days, left the city Sunday morning for El Paso and forgot $100 in travelers' checks under the pillow of his bed in the Carson. In El Paso the forgetful one remembered his cash and wired to the hotel. Mrs. W. G. Mangum, the hostess, went up to the room and found the money undisturbed. Monday the checks were sent to Mr. Keough through the First State bank. In return Mrs. Mangum received $100 for her honesty.

E. P. York, colonization agent for the Rio Mimbres Irrigation company returned to the city after spending two weeks in Colorado and middle western points.

W. H. Patterson, Mrs. Patterson and Jim Patterson left the city in a motor car Tuesday for their ranch, near Lordsburg, to spend the summer.
Miss Catherine Sheppard, of Joplin, Mo., is here visiting Miss Esther Boile. Miss Sheppard attended school here when her father was manager of the Harvey house.

R. C. Ely, chairman of the state fair commission, left the city Saturday evening for Albuquerque, where he will transact business in connection with the great show.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Tilley left Tuesday for New York City and points in Canada. They will be gone about six weeks. Mr. Tilley's two sons, Merton and Hilton, will return with them.

WILL REPUBLICANISM SURVIVE

Views of Caspar Schenck of Iowa regarding present conditions and future prospects.

Should the Republican party be revived?
Let the answer come—not from its present or expectant officeholders; not from those who, for one purpose or another, secretly name its caucus delegates; not from the beneficiaries of its petty spoils—public printing, campaign fund, state employment, or what not. Least of all, let it come from those who blindly worship their party name.

Let it come from the young voter, just out of school, with the inspiration of his country's history fresh in mind. Let it come from the grizzled veteran, the war Democrat and him who stepped out of the "compromise" ranks to march with Fremont in '56. Let it come from the mothers and the grandmothers of tomorrow. Let it come from the patriotic 99 per cent of independent men and women whose only desire for themselves and their posterity is for a better, happier America, one which shall be more than ever a synonym for righteousness and opportunity.

The inquiry is a timely one. The vote last November stood approximately as follows: Democratic, 6,400,000; Progressive, 1,300,000; Republican, 3,300,000. It was on every Taft man's lips during the campaign that third parties never survive. That has been the inevitable rule. President Foss, of Antioch College, in his admirable work on Political Theory and Party Organization, said (page 200):

"Of the less than a dozen third parties which have existed at one time or another in the life of the nation, not one lived to pass from the stage of third party to that of first, or even second, in national affairs. * * * The Republican party was not an exception. It never was a third party. In the first election in which it took part it reached the position of second party and in the next it became first."

That was written in 1910. In 1912 the Republican party became third party. History shows these precedents: In 1823, the anti-Masons carried one state, Vermont, with about three per cent of the total electoral vote; the American party carried one state in 1856, with two per cent of the electoral vote; the constitutional union party carried three states in 1860, with twelve per cent of the electoral vote, and the populists carried four states in 1892, with five per cent of the electoral vote.

The Republicans last fall, fortified as they were in power after sweeping the country in 1904 and 1908, carried Mormon Utah and anti-Mason Vermont with only one and one-half per cent of the electoral vote.

The problem is to raise the wreck to first place in the nation. Will it be worth while? I submit that it will not.

The Republican party can never be a real national organization. To the south it is the party of blood. It could not hope to carry an old southern state in a hundred years. Human nature forbids.

The Roosevelt administration made the stockmen and the waterpower men in the national forests pay the government for what they got. The supreme court has since declared that it was right when it did so.

The Roosevelt administration asserted that no claimant to public land had any vested right in it until he got his patent. The supreme court has since decided that it was right.

The Roosevelt administration made regulations under the law governing Indian lands, coal lands, and the national forests. The right to do so was attacked, among others, by the state of Colorado, but the supreme court has sustained the Roosevelt position.

The Roosevelt administration put forth the theory that the president is the steward of the public welfare and must do everything necessary to promote that welfare that is not actually forbidden by law. This theory was bitterly fought by all manner of men who had got rich, or who desired to get rich, at the public expense, and by reactionaries like Taft, but the supreme court has since sustained it.
The Reclamation Act was attacked and sustained. The guardianship of the federal government over the persons, property and rights of the Indians was attacked by the Democrats of Oklahoma and sustained.

TRYING TO GET KALEM FILMS SHOWN HERE

One year ago last week, the Kalem picture people spent a week here taking Indian dramas before a moving picture machine. The manager announced that the pictures would be shown first in Santa Fe. As yet the pictures have never appeared in the local play house, and President Dorman took the matter up with the company and received the following reply:

New York, July 7, 1913.
Chamber of Commerce,
Santa Fe, New Mexico.
Dear Sirs:
Replying to yours of the 1st inst., we are more than surprised that the picture we made at Santa Fe has not been shown in your town. We will take the matter up with the main office of the General Film company and learn why it has been omitted. It is possible the theater in your city runs what we call "independent" films and for this reason was not eligible for licensed service, although had the proprietor wished, it seems to us that arrangements could have been made. You are no doubt aware that the General Film company office in Texas is operated by a receiver under appoint-

Pruritis a Severe Form of Eczema

A Method of Home Treatment that is Very Effective.

There is probably no other remedy so well known as S. S. S. for the blood. And for this reason it is the one remedy invariably called for in treating pruritis and other skin diseases. But there are many people who do not insist upon having S. S. S. and are easily persuaded to try something else "just as good," so they are told. If your blood is thin; if your skin is irritated with eczema, lupus, tetter, psoriasis, or any other blood humor; if you are troubled with pimples or boils, do not permit yourself to be talked into buying something else, but insist upon S. S. S. It is really a remarkable remedy. It contains one ingredient, the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutriment. And the medical elements of this matchless blood purifier are just as essential to well-balanced health as the nutritious elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food. These facts are brought out in a highly interesting book on skin diseases, compiled by the medical department of the Swift Specific Co., 184 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It is mailed free, together with a special letter of advice, to all who are struggling with a blood disease.

ment of the state. This is brought about under the extraordinary laws in Texas which permit the confiscation of the property of a non-resident. We will write to the receiver today, however, and make an effort to have the film shown in Santa Fe.

We appreciate very much the courtesy you extended to us when we made the picture at Santa Fe last year and we gave your town wide advertising. This film was sold all over the civilized and semi-civilized world, and Santa Fe today is known to millions of people who probably never heard of it before the advent of the picture.

We would be unable to take advantage of your kind suggestion for this season as all of our camera operators are busy in other parts of the country.
Very truly yours,
KALEM COMPANY.

What's in a Name?

Shakespeare wrote: "The choicest treasure mortal times afford is spotless reputation."

Whether we are in business or in a profession, whether we are large or small, if our success depend upon our dealings with the public, a fair and honest reputation is indeed a choice treasure.
To have no reputation is almost as undesirable as to have a bad one.
Sometimes an enterprising manufacturer arranges to distribute his product through an equally enterprising retailer. In this way two substantial reputations unite in a common cause. Each strengthens and fortifies the other.
The retailer who has not yet enjoyed the benefits of selling a nationally known article and of being helped by the manufacturer's "spotless reputation" tacked onto his own is overlooking one of the finer points in latter day merchandising.

FIRST AMERICAN CITY ADOPTS TOM JOHNSON'S IDEA TO SELL BONDS IN FRANCHISES TO ITS OWN CITIZENS.

ST. PAUL OFFERS THEM AT PUBLIC SALE AND DOES A LAND OFFICE BUSINESS WITH MR. COMMON PEOPLE.

St. Paul, Minn., July 14.—St. Paul is selling its citizens an interest in their town.

Up in this Minnesota city they believe they have found the solution for two problems of high importance to every municipality in the country:

An absolutely safe investment for the odd nickels and dimes of the common people that assures interest at 4 per cent from the moment the money is invested.

An inexhaustible supply of funds with which to operate all municipal enterprises.

The idea of enabling just common folks to participate in the ownership of their city originated with Tom L. Johnson—the great mayor of Cleveland. It was one of the last schemes he figured out before his death. He had no time to put it into operation in Cleveland. But he told a friend about it. The friend wrote it down and passed it on to the people of St. Paul when the time came for it to be used. And St. Paul is using it. This is the idea as Tom Johnson dictated it to his friend and as the friend passed it to St. Paul officials:

The savings of the common people of this country form the ocean of credit upon which all great financial enterprises are based. It builds the railroads and the factories. The people put it in the savings banks in the form of small sums. It is borrowed from the banks in large sums by the financial magnates. As a matter of fact the real money in this country belongs almost entirely to the poor people who save only ten or fifteen dollars at a time.

The common people of this country, by combining such cash sums as they have saved up, could raise a bigger sum of ready money than the Rockefeller, Goulds, Vanderbilts and all the rest of the millionaires combined could produce in ten times the time it would take the workmen to complete their fund.

Now when a city issues bonds, as it does, for almost every public improvement, these bonds are sold to the highest bidders. Sometimes they go at their face value. Mostly the city must pay a premium to get the money right away. The bonds are good for a term of years and bear interest from 7 to 7 per cent. The bonds are usually in large amounts—$1000 or something like that. They are seldom less than $1000. This makes it necessary for a wealthy firm or corporation to bid on them. Then when the bond dealers get them they sell them, charging their customers a premium in order to make a profit. Municipal bonds are a safe investment, because they form a first mortgage on every piece of property in the city that issues them. They are a lien on the tax collections. In order to buy these bonds entire or in large blocks, the capitalist must use the people's money—savings in the bank. And in order to make money on them after they are bought they must sell them for a price greater than they paid for them.

Now, said Tom Johnson, why not let the people who save a little money buy these bonds themselves direct from the city, cutting out the various manipulations and commissions?

Of course, the average workman does not have enough cash money to buy a thousand dollar bond. So the Johnson scheme called for the purchase of city bonds by a board or committee of officials authorized by law to deal with such matters. Every Ohio town and county is authorized to select what they call a sinking fund commission.

The Johnson scheme called for the purchase of city bonds by the sinking fund commission or some similar body. In St. Paul it's a committee composed of the mayor, the city treasurer and the city comptroller.

The commission holds the bonds and issues certificates which represent fractions of each big bond. These certificates sell in units of $10 each. They bear 4 per cent interest from the minute they are purchased until the minute they are redeemed. They can be redeemed on demand—just like a check on a bank. For instance, a person can purchase a ten dollar certificate today and then tomorrow get his ten dollars back with interest at 4 per cent for the 24 hours the city has had the use of his money.

The attractive features to the poor man are that he can get his money any time and that while the city has his money it draws interest instantly. A chart in the office of the St. Paul sinking fund commission shows the exact interest on $100 for every single day. Smaller sums are figured the same way.

It has been charged that in certain cases where cities desire to enter upon municipal ownership enterprises they have been unable to sell bonds to carry the enterprise through. The Tom Johnson idea is to offer such bonds for sale in small certificates to the general public.

St. Paul opened its popular bond-certificate selling department July 1. In three days it had sold $260,000 worth of certificates. The first day's sales amounted to $90,000. The first hour's sales were $16,000, representing the value of 75 certificates. Of course, the people of St. Paul do not expect to do a business of almost $100,000 a day every day in the year. But they believe they can reasonably expect an average of $30,000 per month.

The cost of operating this scheme is practically nothing. The bookkeeping involved amounts to very little and it is believed that one clerk can attend to it all.

Cumberland, Md., July 14.—Peter a handsome black sixteen-hands horse, after spending 12 years in the Fire Department of this city, and then being shunted aside, dropped dead when he saw a fire engine drawn by three big bays dash by on their way to a fire. According to a veterinary surgeon, Peter died of a broken heart.

A short time ago Peter was adjudged unfit for further Fire Department duty and was sold to the Builders' Supply Company for use as a truck horse.

Peter has been ailing since the day he was removed from No. 1 Engine House and from the companionship of his old comrade.

BENEFIT CONCERT ON JULY 25

The concert to be given at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, when Miss Gertrude Concanannon will appear in company with another artist of note, will be given July 25.

This concert will be a treat for anyone who cares for good music. It is for the benefit of the Child's Welfare department of the Woman's Club and the price of admission is low enough so that it should appeal to all. It is one dollar for the swinging chairs on the main floor and 50 cents for the remaining seats in the house. Of Miss Concanannon, Musical America says:

On Saturday, March 30, Gertrude Concanannon, an American pianist, was heard in her own concert in the Sing Academy. Miss Concanannon, who was assisted by the Philharmonic Orchestra, played the following program: Concerto in A Minor, Op. 23, Schumann; Fantasia on Hungarian Folk-melodies, Liszt; and Concerto in A Minor, Op. 16, Grieg.

Most conspicuous in Miss Concanannon's playing is her impulsive temperament which, however, is kept within artistic bounds. Miss Concanannon possesses an exquisite touch, has sound musical talent and imbues each of her renditions with an interesting personal note. In Miss Concanannon's rendition of the Liszt Fantasia her splendid pianistic temperament was given the opportunity to assert itself to the very best advantage. In the concluding Grieg concerto, the pianist had full command of her resources.

Following is the list of patronesses for this splendid concert:

AGED MEXICAN WOMAN WHOSE THREE CHILDREN WERE KILLED BY "LEOPARD MAN," DEDICATES HER LIFE TO KILLING SLAYER

SENORA SOSCA, WHO SWEARS TO KILL JUAN SOTO FOR THE MURDER OF HER THREE DAUGHTERS.

Fitting like the spirit of Vengeance, she cannot creep too quietly for me. I feel young again, senor. I also can creep stealthily, silently, and some day he will feel the pains my children felt when they cried to me for help, and I couldn't help them."

Her faded eyes had witnessed the most horrible sight that ever tortured a mother. She had seen all her children butchered by a madman on her doorstep, while she stood helplessly by.

The police wouldn't let her accompany them on their hunt. She waited until they were gone, waited crouching by her hearthstone, crooning a savage dirge, glittering eyes fixed on a blank wall, staring while her gnarled fingers gripped the handle of a knife.

She intends to follow, and hunt, and lie in wait until her path crosses that of the leopard, and then—"Vagale Dios."

"The police, they stop. They can't find him. But as for me, I will never stop. He is stealthy and creeps like a cat. He leaps like the leopard. I saw him sitting upon the shoulders of my darling Perfecto, striking her with that red knife while she tried to run to me.

WHITE SOX TWELVE, B. P. O. ELKS FOUR

(By Daniel C. Ortiz.)

The Johnny Marez, benefit game yesterday afternoon between the champion White Sox and the Elks came to a sudden ending in the first half of the seventh inning when Joe Berardinelli the Elks' catcher who was at the bat was hit by one of Jim Lopez's fast curves. Berardinelli was not badly injured but was not able to play any more. The game was then stopped as the Elks had no other catcher. When the game was stopped the score was 12 to 4 in favor of the White Sox. Jim Lopez pitched for the White Sox and was in great form, although a little wild, having one bad inning. Besides pitching a masterful game, Lopez also carried the batting honors. Scoring two home runs and a single out of four times up. Fred Dignoe was in the box for the antlered tribe and although very wild he showed that he possesses some pitching talent. The game was very slow and not very interesting on account of the one-sided score. The Elks were badly handicapped by the absence of some of their star players. The White Sox also had to use two new players. Although the crowd was one of the largest of the season, it was not as large as it should have been. Being a benefit game there should have been a record breaking crowd, but it came very far from it. Oswald Dignoe handed the indicator and gave general satisfaction to the players and the fans.

The Santa Fe band the best band in the state, donated their services yesterday and rendered delightful music before and during the game. The feature of the game was the pitching of Jim Lopez, who outside of one bad inning pitched wonderful ball. In the first inning after a run had been made on a free pass and two errors, he struck out the next three men in a row. In the sixth inning he retired the side on three pitched balls. Other features were the batting of Garcia, J. Berardinelli, J. Alarid and H. Alarid. The fielding of Groves in left field for the Elks also featured.

Score by innings:
Elks ... 103 000—4 8 6
White Sox ... 331 032—12 15 3
Batteries—Dignoe and Berardinelli, Lopez and Griego.

CANOE RACES FOR INTERNATIONAL TROPHY

New York, July 14.—P. Britton, the Canadian challenger for the International Canoe Trophy, and Leo Freide, the American defender, who won the first tilt on Friday, planned to meet again this afternoon in the second race of a series for the cup.

GRIFFITH STILL HAS A CHANCE

By E. A. Batchelor, in the Detroit Free Press.

For genuine, blown-in-the-bottle optimism, Clark Griffith is entitled to the first prize and there is no second.

With the Nationals 13-2 games behind the Athletics and the season half over, Griffith refuses to concede that Connie Mack is certain to beat him out. He still insists that Washington has a fighting chance. The "Old Fox" is much elated over the recent good work of his club and says that if the Mackmen dare indulge in a slump, he will be on their backs like mink on a setting hen.

"Do I concede first place to the Athletics?" said Griffith on his arrival in Detroit. "Not much will I concede them anything. We are very much in the race yet and if the leaders falter we'll give them the battle of their lives. Mack's pitching staff is in a very bad shape and every man on the club is worried to death. The club is fighting its best now and holding nothing in reserve, for the men themselves realize that they are likely to hit the slide at any time."

"Connie has only two pitchers, Bender and Plank, who can be depended on to finish a game. Every one of the others gets knocked out almost every time he starts. Bender, who can't stand much toil, is warming up practically every day and Plank is setting too much work for a veteran. Suppose that one of the infielders should get hurt and be out of the game for a couple of weeks. It would not take any time at all to lose that lead and if we once get even with them we'll certainly beat them."

"I am willing to bet money that from now on we will win more games of ball than Connie Mack's club. Of course we will have to do this in order to out down that big lead and if the Philadelphia keep on having good breaks in the luck we will be unable to get to them. But just wait, and see if something doesn't happen to those runaway leaders."

"As for Cleveland, which happens to be ahead of us, I am not worried a bit. We will beat that bum ball club surely and even if we don't finish first we will be second. My club looks very much better now than it did when we were here in May or when the Tigers beat us three in four on our own grounds. Both of these times we had stars on the sick list and my outfit is one which is badly crippled when any of the regulars is out. Foster and Gandil were missing when we played here, while in the series at Washington, Shanks was in bad shape and Foster hadn't returned to the game."

Griffith is much pleased with the showing of Joe Boehling, his young pitcher who has now won nine in a row. "This lad, who is only 22 years old, was picked up on the sandlots of Richmond, Va., last season and Griffith was been working patiently with him ever since, firmly believing him a big league star. One of Joe's strong points is his splendid control. He seldom passes a man and doesn't have to let up on his speed to get them over either."

IS HANS WAGNER THROUGH PLAYING?

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 11.—The downhearted admission of Manager Fred Clarke that he "fears" that Wagner may not play as a regular again, at least not for the remainder of this season, came as a final and crushing blow to the hopes of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Those close to the affairs of the club have known for some time that Wagner while brave and hopeful in public, has in private despaired of his injured knee. Since the beginning of the season it has shown no signs of betterment; it has, if anything, developed more serious symptoms. It is now conceded that unless Wagner's injury is miraculously healed, his days as a regular player are over.

The news from President Lynch that Wagner's understudy at shortstop, Viox, has been suspended for three days for his run in with Umpire Quigley, was a further disheartener.

"That was my reason for shifting Miller to shortstop and putting Hyatt on first base," explained Manager Clarke. "I fear that Wagner will not be able to come back as a regular and that it will be merely a case of in and out with him during the rest of the season. Consequently, we have got to find a new shortstop, and I thought first of developing Miller into one. Hyatt was injured, however, and I'll have to send Miller back to first base. I have decided to let him remain there and make a shortstop of some other player."

"We are after every ball player in the country who looks as if he might help us and we are sparing nothing to patch up the weak spots," was the comment of President Barney Dreyfuss.

LEACH CROSS AND MATTY BALDWIN TO MEET.

Los Angeles, July 14.—Matty Baldwin and Leach Cross have been matched for the heretofore open date of July 29. That sounds pretty good after so much trouble over filling it. "Uncle Tom" McCarrey made arrangements yesterday afternoon by wire for the meeting, and the match was closed in record-breaking order. Sam Wallach, the dentist's manager, answered McCarrey's wire at once, accepting the date, and apparently there will be no hitch in drawing up the articles. Cross was anxious to sandwich in a date or two before Labor day, and the Baldwin proposition came just in time.

MORE WARM WEATHER PROMISED THIS WEEK.

Washington, July 14.—Warm and generally fair weather except for local thunder showers, is promised by the weather bureau for the coming week.

"A disturbance now over the northern Rocky mountain region," says the weekly bulletin, "will develop eastward and will be attended by local thunderstorms that will occur today over the northern plains states. Another disturbance should appear over the extreme northwest about the end of the week, bringing local showers in that section."

"Warm weather will continue over the southwest and over the southern districts west of the Rocky mountains, while over the plains states and the great central valleys higher temperatures may be expected during the earlier part of the week, followed by some moderation after the middle of the week, and by another rise over the northwest by the end of the week."

FLYING BOATS MEET WITH MUCH TROUBLE.

Muskegon, Mich., July 14.—Two of the three aviators entered in the Chicago-Detroit flying boat contest were flying northward this afternoon.

Beckwith Havens, who was held up more than two days at Pentwater with mechanical trouble, resumed his flight about 1 o'clock this afternoon. He expected to stop at Manistee. Glenn L. Martin left here within an hour after Havens and soared away from Pentwater.

Roy Francis, however, was not so fortunate and it was announced that he would pack his boat and return to Chicago tonight.

CHANCE DOES NOT NEED HELP FROM THE OTHERS

New York, July 12.—"The story recently published that I had asked President Ben Johnson to use his influence with Connie Mack for the purpose of obtaining one or more of the Athletics' outfielders is a lie. I did see Johnson a short while ago, but the subject of players was not mentioned."

"I am not looking to any manager in the American league to help my club. Any time you ask a rival manager to hand you over a player it is the same as if you gave him two tens for a five."

"The New Yorks may finish in the second division, and in last place, but you will not hear me squeal, and you may quote me as saying so; neither will I ask any American league manager to help me."

Frank Chance, former Cub pilot, now manager of the New York Americans, made the foregoing statement in an interview.

"My pitchers went badly at the start and the club did not show much hitting strength, but I have made a few changes and will institute more before the season closes. I do not think the New Yorks will finish in last place," Chance added.

For years a National league player and manager, Chance, was is thoroughly qualified to talk on the subject. He was asked point blank if the brand of baseball in the American league was faster than the baseball played in the parent organization.

"I cannot see much difference," stated Chance. "I believe that the American league pitchers are better than those in the National league, but outside of that there is little to choose."

Asked why it was that this season the games played in the National league consumed less time than those in the American, Chance replied:

"Up to this year it was just the opposite—American league games were hustled through quicker than the games played in the National. I cannot explain it. I reckon it's just one of those things."

In discussing the umpires of the American league, Manager Chance said:

"You may put me on record as saying that of all the umpires I ever saw in my life Silk O'Loughlin is positively the worst."

"I don't go around crying about the umpires as a rule, but O'Loughlin is the limit. Some of the decisions he has given against our club have been the limit. I believe that Silk must be going blind."

HARNESS RACES ARE POSTPONED—HEAVY TRACK

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 14.—All events for the opening day of the second week of the grand circuit races at Brumot's Island here this morning were postponed because of the heavy track. Today, the card was for the 2:24 trotters. In this, Lon McDonald's Baron Todd; Walter Cox's four-year-old Judson Girl, a locally owned horse; Ed. Geer's Bertha Carey, and Tommy Murphy's Mundy C., are expected to show the fast going.

The feature race of the day, however, is the Iron City 2:05 class pacing for a $3,000 stake, in which the circuit's best side wheelers are entered.

Tuesday, one of the biggest stakes of the week will be the Fort Pitt $5,000 stake for pacers.

The Pennsylvania $5,000 purse for 2:10 trotters will be run Wednesday, while the same day the Keystone $3,000 stake for three-year-old trotters is on the card. The professional driver's stake for 2:15 trotters is the first race Thursday, while the DuQuene, 2:07 class trotting, another fast class, will be run Tuesday.

WHITE SOX BUY MILWAUKEE OUTFIELDER.

Chicago, July 14.—Larry Chappelle, the sensational outfielder of the Milwaukee team of the American association, was sold to the White Sox of this city today. For him Connie Mack gives Outfielder Beall, a catcher whose name was not made public and a "cash consideration." Chappelle is to report at once.

He has been batting around .350 and fielding with the best of them and practically every club in the major leagues bid for him.

RED SOX WIN AGAIN.

The following communication was handed into the sporting editor this morning and he gives it verbatim: "The Red Sox win another game Saturday by a score of 22 to 16. Young Arce struck out ten blues men."

Here is a candidate for the big arena. All the clubs in the leagues way up, are after pitchers. A flinger who can get ten strike outs in a game is on the road to larger fields.

MISSOURI VALLEY TENNIS TOURNAMENT STARTS TODAY.

Kansas City, Mo., July 14.—Fifty players will start today in the Missouri valley championship tennis tournament on the courts of the Kansas City Athletic club. The entry list is greater than in any previous year. Among the prominent players entered are Charles Speice, Oklahoma champion, and Jack Cannon, Kansas City Athletic club, winner of last year's finals.

A PRESSING NECESSITY.

In whatever position the Lauterbachs, the Lamars and the Mulhalls are left by their testimony before the investigating committee at Washington, and however they may be regarded by the American people, they have done some good.

They have forced us to look into those things which have so long been concealed, things which were generally believed to exist, but regarding which no proof could be offered as the tracks of the marauders were well covered by the operators, both in and out of congress, the "agents" and the principals.

What has been exposed, even if but half be true, is disgusting and startling. It shows the utter ruthlessness of the system. It shows the contemptible disregard for the people of this country. It shows that greed was the main object of those who would control our legislation and the extremities to which they would go to keep that control.

In the face of this, do not the American people feel the tremendous and pressing necessity of a new deal.

Do they not see that both the old parties, under the old leaderships, are totally unworthy of confidence, and that they should give way to any organization which gives promise of an honest administration of affairs and a regard for the interests of the people of this nation?

For years this condition has existed. For years we have been under the control of a grinding, conscienceless, selfish set of men who cared for no one else or for any other interest and advancement than their own.

The methods adopted have not been localized. They are general. We have felt the influence of them in New Mexico where the long-established and recognized leaders of the Republican party have shown a selfish and relentless tyranny that has been almost beyond belief.

It is time, with the disclosures that have been made, of the methods used by leaders of the two old parties, for a revolt that will sweep the leaders forever from their powerful position.

We need this movement in the country at large. We need it in New Mexico.

THEY WILL MAKE HEADWAY.

This month automobile parties of women are going about Massachusetts in a campaign for "votes for women." An auto dashes up to the public square of a trim little village, a fair bugler lets out a blast from a horn, the curious inhabitants assemble, and a speaker then arises and argues the cause.

That's sensible and American and, we doubt not, effective. Much better, isn't it, than breaking windows, burning buildings and hurling bombs? To be sure, if you couldn't get a hearing for a cause that you deemed vital, if those in power used their power to suppress free speech, laugh at your protests and trample fair dealing under foot, you'd probably soon feel militant enough to do most anything.

And so, while we don't like the British militants' way and wish that the ends they are seeking could be gained by more decorous methods, we can't feel that they're wholly to blame—much the greater part of the blame, it seems to us, belongs upon the chucked-headed British Tories who aren't willing to have a debatable proposition fairly debated.

But maybe we're just a little proud of the fact that there is a willingness to hear real argument in America and that no cause, however unpopular at the start, can be stopped if it have merit in it.

Those women from Boston who are making the automobile tour of their state aren't just women; they are women just like our mothers, wives or sweethearts. And the very fact that they are sufficiently interested in a subject to go to all that fuss to let other people know about it raises a fair presumption that their argument is worthy of careful attention.

You don't always get what you want as soon as you want it; but we'll wager that those New England suffragists will make headway.

THAT VACATION.

The executive head of one of our largest corporations, a man who had worked his way up from the bottom, went to Europe the other day to be gone a month, and the fact was widely heralded, for it was his first vacation in 30 years.

Poor chap! Think how rusty he will be. He won't know how to enjoy his rest, now that he has got it. The chances are that he will be worrying all the time lest things will go wrong while he's away.

What's the sense in slaving like that? Of what value is a success that leaves one squeezed dry?

Moreover, the man who can't take a vacation for fear that things won't go right appraises himself as a failure as an executive. The test of efficiency in a human organization is its ability to move smoothly when persons change. It would be a poor railroad that would have to stop running trains because the president of the road was too sick to attend to business. The Britisher who rebuked his new American steel plant superintendent for sitting at ease in the front office, pipe in mouth and feet on table, forgot that while the Yankee was thus relaxed the plant was running smoothly and making its maximum of profit, otherwise the superintendent would have been, coat off, in the mill, looking for the source of the trouble.

Work while you work and play while you play and make play of your work whenever you can. But don't forget that all work and no play means humanity going to seed. Drudgery isn't work. It's hell.

ARKANSAS IN TROUBLE.

Arkansas Democrats are in deep distress and unless the courts intervene, are likely to be out of the running entirely in the election a few weeks hence, having no candidate for governor on the ticket. There were too many candidates and if any of the Democratic persuasion are voted for, their names will be written on the ballot.

Hence the woe and the mourning of the faithful. The Progressives are regularly on the ticket and have a candidate for governor in the field. The Republicans are likewise situated, but the chances are in favor of the Progressives, and what would old, rock-ribbed Arkansas do with any other than a Democratic executive in the chair at the capital?

Truly, we are facing troublous times politically, and neither of the old parties seems to be able to get its bearings clearly established. The Republicans went squarely upon the rocks last fall and the Democrats are among the breakers.

It looks as if the time were ripe for a new alignment and for the continued growth of Progressivism.

The old parties are both under suspicion and the people are doing a large amount of real, hard thinking.

And the man in the canoe, with all the lessons of the years before him, cannot believe, apparently, that he cannot come in collision with a lake steamer and get away alive. We are in the very midst of the silly season.

It is not easy to understand why America seems to want Jack Johnson back. If any other country wants him let it have him. We ought to be willing to pay $15,000 to have him stay abroad, than to put up that much to have him come back.

A Cincinnati man claims he has invented a process of making beer at home for one cent a glass. Well, aren't the brewers doing that, too?

According to the accused congressmen and ex-M. C.'s Doc Cook is just a fakir member of the Ananias club compared to Col. Mulhall.

AS THE BYSTANDER SEES IT

About The Time.

If the initiative and referendum could be invoked in Santa Fe, the first effort under it would be to have passed a city ordinance prohibiting the location of a carnival company outfit in the very center of the residential portion of Santa Fe.

The past week should have taught a lesson. The "benefit" must be very great to some one to offset the disadvantages, discomforts and expense of such an exhibition.

Any stranger coming up Washington avenue yesterday morning and looking at the lot in front of the De Vargas hotel, would have thought that we used that spot as the city dumping ground. It was nothing short of a disgusting spectacle and a disgrace to the city. Later in the day the wind came up and blew across the ground cleaning up the papers and lodging them in the yards on Washington avenue, strewn them along Marcy street and depositing an accumulation in front of the Santa Fe club that made it look like the back alley of a tenement district in New York City.

The discomfort of a week's exhibition to the residents of Santa Fe living any where within two blocks of the exhibition grounds, I pass over, as only incidental to the question as to the value of such things to the city itself. Where does it get anything? Where does the money go? Who pays for the clean-up afterward? How does the city impress visitors in the days succeeding the departure of the show? Where do our business men who help to pay taxes and support our city government come out? Wherein are the resident taxpayers benefited? In a word, what's the reason for the admission of shows of this character in Santa Fe, located for a week's stand in the center of the city? Won't someone please tell.

Yourselves And Your Neighbor.
 Emory J. Haynes, of New York, has this to say to each of us: "Really you ought to treat yourself better, man. You are bigger than anything you ever took in your hand. The shovel, the hammer, are trifles in comparison with you. The only satisfactions, perfect satisfactions, that you have are certain movements of the infinite mind within you."

That is really a broader proposition than it looks to be, and it is not as selfish as it looks at first blush, either.

Of course you have got to look out for you. That is one of the big essentials in life. If you and I do not look out for ourselves, no one else is going to do it for us. I do not take it that Mr. Haynes, of New York, when he offers the suggestions above written means "everyone for himself and the devil take the hindmost." It's not exactly that, but you've got to look after self if you ever get anywhere.

About treatment of ourselves, we all differ materially. To some of us it is unbridled license of our desires and to others it means restraint of them, but from whatever viewpoint we regard the matter, what we do personally has its reflection and its influence.

Evil living goes beyond our own immediate little circle in which we move. So does good living. We cannot, by any possibility, be merely our own architects. We do help build beyond our own little temple, whether we try to or not. For this reason it pays, from whatever standpoint we look at it, to build substantially and well.

Authority.

Testimony given in a divorce suit pending before Judge Murphy of Detroit, is to the effect that a most estimable housekeeper became a terminant wife who caused the plaintiff more trouble within five minutes than he had known during the two years she had been a paid inmate of his household.

I never could understand why some people were so fond of authority and how little they seemed to be able to endure prosperity. It must be what we call "temperament," which seems to be a sort of general term that may mean a lot or may mean very little although in its use it is evidently intended to cover a good many things.

People, some of them, struggle desperately to attain power and when they once get it they seem to have absolutely no idea of how to use it.

In some ways it is a necessary thing and in many ways it is dangerous, depending to a large extent, upon the hands in which it is placed.

The woman in Detroit who made the quick journey to the divorce court as soon as she was given a little authority, is a fair sample of what fools people can and do make of themselves when a little power comes into their hands.

It is somewhat like dynamite. Handled with care and judgment it is harmless enough, but in the hands of a novice, a careless person or a fool, it is the most dangerous material on earth.

It seems strange why any person should get so excited over a little brief and often petty authority, but after all, only cheap people do it. Like this one whose authority over a servant or two lost her a chance for something in life many another has thrown away opportunities because they couldn't stand power.

The Best Method.

No better financing for the benefit of the whole state can be imagined than the investment of the surplus of one state fund in the bonds of another state fund, therefore, the action of the governor, secretary of state and attorney general in voting to invest $129,000 of the permanent school fund in state highway bonds will meet with hearty approval. Actions of this kind will soon put to rout the financial jokers who think they have a right to manipulate the state's securities for their benefit.—Raton Reporter.

STRANGE SEQUEL TO A SAD STORY

Cincinnati, July 14.—The dispatch from Huntington, W. Va., detailing the story of Mrs. A. C. Janas, who claimed that she had been drugged on the train by a woman, robbed of $2,000 and taken to Maysville, will probably have an unexpected sequel.

The Federal authorities in Covington, yesterday received word from Huntington that a woman mentioned by Mrs. Janas had gone to the police and told a story that put an entirely new light on the affair. Two prominent railroad conductors are said to be involved.

Sawyer Smith, Assistant District Attorney of the Eastern District of Kentucky, when asked in Covington about the possibility of a prosecution under the Mann white slave act, said: "If the facts are stated in the alleged confession, it would come under the jurisdiction of the Eastern District of Kentucky, and there will undoubtedly be an investigation to ascertain if there has been any violation of the statute governing white slavery."

GIRLS FIGHT WITH FISTS ON STREET

Detroit, July 14.—As oblivious to time and place as though they were in their own backyard, two little girls fought a battle royal in Woodward avenue Tuesday afternoon.

Coming from a department store the girls, neither older than 8 years, turned south on Woodward avenue, at State street, discussing some weighty problem. Soon the discussion had become an argument and then the climax was reached, for one miss forgot all the world but her one disturbing element in life just at that time, and with a quick jerk, took a package from under her companion's arm. Right then it was time to call the flying sparrow, for the fray was fast and furious.

As the package left the hand of the besieged there was an instant signal for war, and there on Woodward, amidst the roar and traffic and changing, swirling hums, passing both ways, the girls, shorn for a moment of all conventionality, pulled hair, bit right and left and aimed as best they could for a black eye. No one interfered and the desire to "cease fighting" came as suddenly as the "call to battle" arrived.

While the wee ladies did not continue with arms entwined, they did walk together as far as one could see, righting their hats and attempting to rearrange their dresses.

Several persons who stopped to watch the "little militants" were much surprised as the little fighters themselves and one man leaned against a post and said: "Well, I'll be doggoned. Them's regular fighters, ain't they? Bet that saucy miss in blue would lead a husband a gay life. I'm glad they ain't my kids. I'd lick 'em both."

OPERATIONS IN THE OIL FIELDS

Artesia, N. M., July 14.—Operation on a large scale will begin at the Bell well next week. A standard rig is now being installed at the well. New casing is on the ground, sucker rods, packers, pumping machinery and everything is now on hand and the work of bringing in this oil well will soon be under way.

The well is 1200 feet deep and for three years has produced both oil and artesian water. The water will be eliminated and the oil brought in. The Pecos valley company started a new well yesterday and the first day's drilling took them down 40 feet. This is on the territory lease. The same company is installing their rotary rig on the Altu lease and this will begin operation early in the week. The same company is installing a very fine new drop rig in the Martin lease and this will be soon into oil sand. This lease has been developed to 800 feet by the rotary, but as the oil comes in between 800 and 1000 feet, good judgment caused the taking out of the rotary and putting in the drop as with the latter, a safer log of the well may be kept.

This company, within a week, will have three rigs in full operation. The pumps are constantly operating on the Brown well owned by this company and here is produced, daily, approximately several thousand barrels of oil at the Devore No. 1. New casing is being put in preparatory to placing another packer.

The oil situation is better than ever with great activity. The Doheny people are working day and night and new materials have arrived for pushing downward without cessation.

FINDS HER FALSE TEETH IN DUMP

New York, N. Y., July 14.—"Big Bill" Edwards, the street cleaning commissioner, has been asked to recover rubber plants from the city dumps by Brooklyn women; he has received complaints about cats crawling over house roofs; recently he was asked to "come up here right away and take those nasty creepy caterpillars off our trees, but the strangest demand yet made upon him was telephoned in this afternoon.

"About 10 minutes ago, Mr. Commissioner," said a woman over the phone, my servant put my teeth in the rubbish. She held the teeth in one hand and a dustpan full of rubbish in the other. The cart rang the bell and the girl threw the teeth into the dustpan. I can hardly make myself understood over the phone now without my teeth. You see I suffered so greatly from my own teeth that I had to have them drawn and the false one—well, won't you please hurry up and get your men to find my teeth. The commissioner caused the dumps to be searched and the teeth were found and restored to their owner.

NEWS OF THE STATE

New Diversion Dam.

The work on the new diversion dam on the Cimarron river for the Springer Ditch company is progressing very rapidly. Douglas Wright, the superintendent, informs us that they will be far enough along with the construction to divert water into the ditch next week.—Springer Times.

Mining Development.

J. W. Searl, manager of the Copper Pullion mines in the Organ mountains, says they are continuing development work on this property and have sunk a shaft to the depth of 49 feet, opening up what looks like a very good lead of ore.

They have also done some prospecting on the farther edge of the property and Mr. Searl thinks this will develop a richer grade of ore than the present workings. It will be some time, however, he asserts, before the properties will be in condition to commence shipments.—Las Cruces Republican.

Big Land Deal.

A. B. Clow, president of the Seven Rivers Oil company, arrived from Texas last Saturday and has been busy concluding arrangements for transfer of his company's leases to the Doherty interests. Mr. Clow has been a consistent worker for development of the valley's oil interests, and believes that the new arrangements will mean some very decided development in the field right away. The leases of the Seven Rivers Oil company cover a section of country that has for years been considered the very best oil district of the entire valley, and now that ample capital has been enlisted for its exploitation, there is no reason why the actual juice should not be brought to the surface.—Artesia Advocate.

Backed A Hack Into Fence.

Because the horses of a team driven by Forest Rangers Bailey and Tom West wanted to each take different roads, a hack containing six people was dumped over on the road between Clouderoot and Highrolls. The accident occurred at the fork of the roads, just below Snow's place. Fortunately no one was hurt, although the wagon rolled over and landed up against the barbed wire fence. In the hack were Richard York, of Mayhill; Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Taylor, of Tularosa, and Miss Watters, of Weed, and the two rangers. The party was returning from the celebration at Alamogordo. The men were helped in righting the hack by L. Ehnborn and Nat Wilson, who were motoring up from El Paso in their Overland "45."—Alamogordo News-Advertiser.

Six Men Arrested.

A rough and tumble fight about two o'clock yesterday morning resulted in the arrest of six men for gambling, one for conducting a gambling game, and one for fighting. Fines of $5.00 and costs were assessed in the gambling cases, the assault case drew a bond in the sum of $1000 to await the action of the grand jury, and the charge of conducting a gambling game was withdrawn.

Three negroes from one of the camps north of town were spending the evening in town, and after several trips to the saloon and visiting around awhile, they were invited to join a card game. They accepted the invitation, and after playing awhile, became involved in a fight. One of the white men took a hand in the affair and one of the negroes was almost killed.

Assistant District Attorney O. L. Phillips came down from Raton to handle the assault case before Judge Hudkins and following the trial, he had all six men arrested for gambling.

Mr. Phillips says he will arrest every man caught gambling in Colfax county. The law against it is plain, and he will proceed against violators of the law, regardless of creed, color or previous condition of servitude.—Maxwell Mail.

Men Drop 100 Feet.

As the result of accidents in the Ernestine mine last week one miner is dead and three others seriously, if not fatally, injured.

The first accident occurred about 3 o'clock Wednesday night when a mass of rock became loosened and dropped out of a pillar in what is considered to be the safest part of the Ernestine mine. In its descent the rock fell on one of the miners and injured his spine so badly that his lower limbs have since been paralyzed. But little hope is held out for his recovery.

The other accident occurred Thursday afternoon. A foreman and two assistants, all timbermen, were working on a stull when the same suddenly gave way with a crash, precipitating the men about 100 feet to the ground below. The foreman was instantly killed by the fall, while one of the workmen had his skull fractured so badly that his life is hanging in the balance. The other workman was badly bruised and possibly injured internally, though it is not anticipated that his injuries will prove fatal.

The coroner's jury attributed the second accident to the men's own carelessness in disobeying the rules for underground work. All those involved in both accidents are reported to be Mexicans.—Silver City Independent.

Story of the Accident.

The Fourth of July celebration in Estancia was marred by a terrible accident, in which John Mares, of Santa Fe, sustained injuries which may cause his death, though late reports encourage the hope that he may recover.

At an early hour, E. N. Peden, Robert Taylor and Mose Derusha were firing some cannon shots, using for this purpose a large mass of iron with a hole drilled in it which was used for some purpose about the railroad shops. The hole was filled with explosives and then capped with an other heavy piece of iron. The boys got as much noise out of this contraption as would be afforded by a 4-pound cannon. They had fired a number of shots and had everybody in town and within several miles around awake, when the improvised cannon burst. They were doing the firing in the middle of the square between the Holloway store and the Valley hotel. Mares was standing near the entrance to the pool hall and barber shop, perhaps one hundred feet distant. One of the flying fragments struck him, breaking his arm in two places, tearing a hole in the abdomen just above the right groin and shattering the upper part of the hip bone.

He was taken to the office of Dr. Wiede Randers, where he was given the best treatment possible and made ready for the trip to Santa Fe where he could be placed in the hospital. Meanwhile an engine was fired up and a special train got ready, and at ten o'clock he was started for Santa Fe, accompanied by Dr. Wiede Randers and a number of the railroad boys and members of the ball club.—Estancia News-Herald.

SURGEON'S KNIFE REFORMS A MAN

Lansing, Mich., July 14.—Black Bart Holzhay, who was sentenced to Marquette Prison in 1896 for life for highway robbery, was released after having served 24 years of his sentence. His criminal career was one of the most spectacular of any every recorded in the United States.

Holzhay's exploits in the woods of Northern Michigan and Wisconsin rivaled those of Jesse James. He held up stage coaches and waylaid travelers. When received at the prison he was illiterate, ill-kempt and gave the prison authorities much trouble.

A surgical operation changed his character completely, and since then he has been a model prisoner, studying hard and gaining education.

THE WEATHER

Saturday and Sunday were clear and warm. The high temperature Saturday was 86 and Sunday 90, although a cool breeze from the mountains in the later afternoon, brought pleasant relief. The average temperature yesterday was 78 degrees, just nine degrees above the 41 year average for July 13. The humidity was low, averaging 30 per cent for Saturday and 34 for Sunday. There was no rain on either day and a wind that reached 30 miles an hour at 4:55, blew for a considerable time from the

WILL HOLD FAIR AT FARMINGTON

Farmington, N. M., July 14.—At a mass meeting of the citizens of this place held Thursday night in Allen's opera house, it was decided to hold the 20th annual Farmington fair. Orval Packetts was chosen chairman and Wm. Butler as secretary of the meeting. Committees for the various departments of work were appointed. The dates will be the 11th and 12th, Thursday and Friday, of September. The fair will be held rather early this year as Aztec is to have a fair also this year, and dates had to be arranged that would not interfere with the Aztec, Durango, Shiprock or Albuquerque fairs. The ladies have agreed to the exhibits, and are now busy making preparations. A feature of the fair this year will be San Juan day, which will be held on the second day of the fair. A big picnic dinner will be given in the great cottonwood grove at the fair grounds, and sometime during the afternoon or evening a program conducted by the old time pioneers will be held.

While the fair will be but two days this year, it is planned to make them two of the most interesting days San Juan people have had in many a year.

CHILDREN'S EVIDENCE MAY SEND THEIR OWN FATHER TO GALLOWS FOR THE MURDER OF THEIR MOTHER.

Lower Left—L. A. Larsen, man charged with killing his wife, and his two children, Luella, 17, and Cyrus, 12, whose evidence may help to send him to the gallows.

Seventeen-Year-Old Daughter and Twelve-Year-Old Son, Chief Witnesses Against Parent Who is Accused of Awful Crime.

Los Angeles, July 14.—A son and a daughter may put the hangman's noose around their father's neck, for the murder of their mother. They are Luella, 17-year-old daughter, and Cyrus, 12-year-old son of A. L. Larsen, accused of murdering his wife in the hills near Casa Verdugo, a suburb of this city.

"Good bye, Luella. If I am murdered, remember it will be your father who killed me. Don't let him escape."

These were the last words spoken by Mrs. Larsen to her daughter just before she went into the Glendale hills with her husband where her body was found a few days later by ranchers.

"When my mother said this it frightened me," said Luella. "I asked her why she said such a thing and she replied that my father had asked her not to tell us children where they were going."

"When I came home from work about 10 o'clock that night, my father had returned, but mother wasn't there. When I asked him where she was he said that she had gone to San Francisco. I told him that I didn't believe him.

"We didn't tell you kids," he explained, "because we didn't want you bawling around to go with her."

"But why would she go to San Francisco without changing her clothes and taking other garments and money?" I asked.

"Oh, I gave her plenty of money, and she will buy clothes when she gets there," he answered.

"Then he said that we would all go to San Francisco in a couple of weeks and meet mother."

Mrs. Larsen was beaten to death with a beer bottle. The crime is one of the most brutal ever perpetrated in this city.

Near the body was found a receipt bearing Larsen's signature and he has been identified by a number of people in that neighborhood as the man they saw going into the hills with a woman.

In his locker in the barbershop where he worked was found the watch which his wife wore the day she was killed.

Police maintain that Larsen killed his wife because he was in love with another woman. A woman frequently called him on the telephone at the shop and once called for him in person.

OFFICIAL. INJUNCTION ASKED IN FAIR CASE

FARMINGTON FAIR DIRECTORS SEEK TO RESTRAIN COUNTY COMMISSIONERS
FROM APPROPRIATING $500 FOR AZTEC FAIR.—HEARING SET FOR AUGUST 4TH.

The strained condition of affairs existing in San Juan county over the question of a county fair, Farmington having given a fair for years, and the last legislature passing a law which makes it possible for county fairs at the county seat, Aztec, to be given $500 for the payment of premiums on agricultural, horticultural and live stock exhibits, has resulted in the Farmington directors asking Judge E. C. Abbott of the first district for a restraining order prohibiting the $500 for the fair at Aztec. Judge Abbott granted a temporary order and will hear the arguments as to whether the injunction should be made permanent or not on August 4th at Aztec.

Wm. Butler, W. H. Harrington, and George K. Griffin, three directors of the Farmington fair, asked for the injunction. The grounds alleged for the injunction are at least two direct prohibitions in the state constitution. The Aztec boosters have set the date of the fair for September 17th, 18th and 19th, and are said to have the promise of Governor McDonald that he will attend on those dates. It is known that the governor has never been in San Juan county, and for this reason he is counting on attending.

One of the constitutional prohibitions is alleged to be found in Art. IX, Sec. 14, which says:

"Neither the state, nor any county, school district or municipality, except as otherwise provided in this constitution shall directly or indirectly lend or pledge its credit or make any donation to or in aid of any person, association or public or private corporation, or in aid of any private enterprise for the construction of any railroad; provided, nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the state or any county or any municipality from making provision for the care and maintenance of sick and indigent persons."

A decision on this matter will be watched with interest by the various fair associations over the state, although so far as known there is no objection to the workings of the law in any of the other counties.

Referring to the correspondence printed in Saturday's New Mexican regarding the investing of the permanent school fund in the state highway bonds at a 4 per cent instead of in various banks at around 6 per cent, the controversy does not seem to be closed by any means and the matter will probably be taken to the supreme court before it is settled. This paper tomorrow is promised additional developments in the matter.

Santa Rosa Rico, of Dona Ana county, was appointed a member of the mounted police force Saturday by Governor Wm. C. McDonald.

Armed with a requisition on the governor of Arizona, C. L. Lambert, of the mounted police, left yesterday for that state and will bring back with him Andres Calles, an escaped prisoner from the New Mexico state penitentiary, who is now in jail at Nogales, Ariz.

Incorporation papers were filed today by the Capital Peak Mining company. The office of the company is located on the company's property in Socorro county, 22 miles west of Three Rivers, N. M., which is the postoffice of the new concern. Ed. D. Fry is named as the statutory agent. The company is incorporated for $200,000, divided into $10.00 shares. Of this amount $100,000 is subscribed, divided among the following incorporators: Ed. D. Fry, Three Rivers; Wm. G. Luttinger, El Paso; Lester G. Thomasson, Chico, Calif.; Anthony L. Maynard, London, Eng.; Anthony J. Luttinger, El Paso, Texas; and H. R. Fry, of Lordsburg, N. M. Active mining operations are contemplated in the immediate future, it is reported.

Amount Turned In.
The amount turned into the state treasury from the insurance department by Jacobo Chaves insurance tax money was $9,077.77. This was handed in today.

Clerk and Carrier Examination.
A civil service examination for clerk and carrier in the local postoffice is announced for August 9th. Further information may be obtained from the local civil service board.

Medical Board Meets.
The state board of health and medical examiners is in session this afternoon at the senate chamber of the capitol. In addition to routine matters, a number of physicians will be examined for licenses to practice in this state.

Verdict for Plaintiff.
A verdict for the plaintiff was rendered today Saturday in the case of Garcia vs. Garcia in the federal district court. The jury found for the plaintiff in every one of the eight interrogatories propounded by Judge Pope. In effect, this declares Florence Lillian Garcia the daughter and heir of Elias Garcia, deceased. She will inherit an estate valued at about $75,000, it is said, although in the neighborhood of $15,000 has already been expended in court costs in the suit.

It will not pay you to waste your time writing out your legal forms when you can get them already printed at the New Mexican Printing Company.

GRINER WRITES THAT HE IS IN KANSAS

John Griner, the cowboy who was reported lost, has been discovered. He is in Kansas, but not at the home of his mother, but at a small town a few miles away. Griner disappeared in June, and although his horse was found in one place and his saddle in another, he was never found and foul play was feared. Later it was said he had been found—that he was in Kansas at the home of his mother. Letters from his mother at Eudora, Kansas, say, however, that he is not there, and again the hunt started over the territory between Tularosa and Cutter, trying to locate the missing man. But no sign of him has been found there.

Saturday the mounted police here received a letter from W. L. Ritch, the cowboy for whom Griner was working in which was enclosed a letter from Griner. In this letter Griner says that he is in Kansas, but does not know how he came there. He says the last thing he knew he was riding "Trusty," a 7-7 horse, in the Cottonwood draw near Tularosa. He says the horse must have stumbled and landed him on his head for he has severe headaches, and has been weak and sick. He hopes the horse and saddle have been recovered, and stated that he was going to work with a threshing outfit the next day at $2.50 a day to earn enough to return to New Mexico. This letter was dated July 5. Immediately upon its receipt, Mr. Ritch says he wired transportation and expense money to Griner, and told him to come home immediately. Since that Mr. Ritch had not heard from him, although it was about time for Griner to have arrived. Since this letter Saturday from Mr. Ritch nothing further has been heard here, although Griner is probably in New Mexico by this time. Many of the weekly papers of the southern part of the state had stories of his continued disappearance together with the denial of the fact that he was with his mother in their last week's issue, and this had the effect of starting out searching parties for him again.

A second letter from W. L. Ritch received on the noon train today, says that John Griner arrived at the ranch Saturday from Kansas. Griner still insists that he does not know how he came there, and that his last definite recollection is that he was horseback about six miles west of Tularosa.

Among those noticed in and around the ranch and on the river were: Judges Hanna and Roberts, J. E. Wood, Nathan Salmon, Dr. Rolfe, E. C. Burke, G. Volney Howard, Alfred Rolfe, Mrs. I. B. Hanna, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hanna, of Lamy, Ed. Safford, Mrs. Nora E. Summers, Mrs. G. F. McNitt, Jack Akers, Harry Dunbaugh, and others. This has become the popular Sunday resort for Santa Feans, and the surroundings, together with the excellent trout fishing and to its attractiveness.

GEORGE ARMILLO GETS BULLET WOUND IN LEG

George Armillo, city marshal, was shot in the right thigh about 7 p. m. Saturday evening, when his police revolver, dropped from his pocket during a scuffle at the Star barns, exploded. The bullet entered the leg just above and back of the knee, ranging upward, broke the thigh bone, and lodged in the flesh on the inside of the upper thigh. The injured man was removed to the sanitarium where the broken leg was set, and this morning he was reported doing as well as could be expected, although he said he was getting very tired of lying on his back, a position made necessary by the splints on his leg. As yet the bullet has not been probed for, although as soon as possible attempts will be made to remove it.

Saturday the Star barns rented a horse and buggy for the afternoon, and so the story goes, when six o'clock came, the marshal's office was telephoned to send a man to get the horse and buggy which were still being driven around the plaza. Marcos Rael responded, and with Mr. Armillo picked up the outfit on the plaza. Armillo driving the rig to the barn. There Armillo left it, but the man who had rented the outfit commenced to abuse W. A. Williams, the proprietor, it is said, and Armillo turned back to stop the quarrel. Armillo suggested that the man move on, which he refused to do, and the marshal took hold of him, to shove him out of the stable. In the scuffle, Armillo's revolver fell out, striking on the handle and discharging the bullet upward into his leg.

ENGLISH WOMEN DEFY ORDERS OF GOVERNMENT

London, July 14.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and Miss Anne Kenney, militant suffragette leaders, defied the government today, by appearing at the weekly meeting of the women's social and political union. Miss Kenney was arrested during the uproar caused by a clash between the police and sympathizers with the suffragettes.

After the meeting Mrs. Pankhurst evaded the officers but she was captured later in the day by a detective who saw her leave the place in a taxi and pursued her in another.

The two vehicles engaged in a wild race through the crowded streets, but the fugitive militant leader was at length run down and taken to jail.

Mrs. Pankhurst said she had come to the meeting against her doctor's orders but that if she was well enough to be tortured in prison by Reginald McKenna, the home secretary, she was also well enough to attend a meeting of her comrades.

Holding up two of her licenses under the "cat and mouse" act Miss Kenney asked for bids for them and they were sold by auction for $30 each.

Mrs. Pankhurst had been received with an ovation by the meeting. She leaned heavily on a table as she addressed a few fervent sentences to the audience. She said:

"I am a rebel as is Sir Edward Carson. Both of us are rebels because there is no other way open to us to redress our grievances. I would sooner be a rebel than a slave. I would rather die than submit. I mean to be a voter in the land of my birth or die. My challenge to the government is 'Give me freedom or kill me.'"

Sylvia Pankhurst was released from Holloway jail last night as the result of her hunger strike. Miss Pankhurst was sentenced on July 8 to three months imprisonment for incitement to commit disorders on June 29, when she led a mob to Downing street to attack the official residence of the ministers.

CIGAR STAND PHILOSOPHER TRIES SUICIDE

Denver, Colo., July 14.—Depressed because with all her erudition and knowledge of arts and sciences she was forced to clerk in a cigar stand, Bertha Wilcox, 23, committed suicide yesterday near Golden, a suburb of Denver by shooting herself twice through the head. Since the death of her father, A. B. Wilcox, once a prominent musician of Chicago, three years ago, the Wilcox family has been in straitened financial circumstances.

Miss Wilcox was a student of philosophy old and new, and ardent in her support of the theory of the transmigration of the soul. In a note book found in her hand bag, lying by the body, were written the thought that she was working an injustice upon humanity by permitting her brilliant mind to be embodied in the personality which, through chance, prevented her from giving her best to the world and expressing the belief that her mind and soul, transmigrated to another and more sturdy body, would be of greater benefit to her fellow beings.

The family of Miss Wilcox, while expressing grief at her death, declare they sympathize with her beliefs and do not blame her for her rash act. A letter written by Miss Wilcox, announcing her act of suicide and addressed to her mother in Denver follows:

"Be it known to you that as I write this it is my intention to go from this world. The immediate cause you will doubtless guess. The next reason will become apparent as you think calmly, that as my existence is quite useless to any degree of importance even to any real appreciable extent, I find that life in a world where I am unable to adjust my poor existence to the scheme of life therein, has become intolerable, so, by my own hand I intend to free myself, knowing that I must live at least until I have expiated all the sin wherewith I am defiled. I do not imagine where I shall continue to live henceforth, but I cannot imagine a more wretched mental torture than I have already endured."

"My hope is, therefore, that when I have lived to expiate the sins which I believe it may be that I shall be permitted to dissolve into that universal essence of life and lose entity or personality, in short, to reach Nirvana. "The soul may be finally dissolved as a metal in a furnace is merged into common mass. I am a being which is deficient in detail and essential. As to this shape of my existence in this world, all for which you are responsible, it will die when this present existence ends. The shape of my body and mind for which you and my father were responsible, will die when the breath goes from me."

Here follows an unattested will, which bestows the girl's books, of which she seems to have many, upon her surviving relatives, chiefly to one sister, Kathrynne.

IRISH HOME RULE IS AGAIN BEFORE HOUSE OF LORDS

London, July 14.—The home rule for Ireland bill came up today before the house of lords for second reading, for the second time under the provisions of the parliament act which permits the passage of bills over the heads of the peers within a specified period.

The Marquis of Greve, secretary of state for India and liberal leader in the house of lords, in moving the second reading, remarked that the government regarded the opposition motion that the bill be submitted first to the people as a demonstration against the parliament act rather than as one against home rule.

Lord Lansdowne invited the government to withdraw the home rule bill from the action of the parliament, and before it became a law to dissolve parliament.
