ment, Estrada's position at Rama, is now considered negotiable.

Meanwhile Estrada has sent detachments into the mountains west of Rama which have repeatedly met the government troops in small skirmishes. Always the insurgents retreated toward Rama, laying waste the country as they retreated and leaving Oseja nothing with which to feed his men. It was not Estrada's policy to contest the roads to Rama, but to bring on a general engagement at that point.

With Managua 150 miles away and the country between a waste he calculated Oseja would be compelled to risk an attack or starve.

The plans seem to have worked well. Oseja's forces half starved, foot sick and sick from terrible fevers over the mountains, are converging in front of Rama. Estrada, confident and assured, awaits the attack behind his fortifications. At Bluefields 1600 reinforcements await his call, the trip by the Rama river requiring but seven hours.

Whether Oseja has been strengthened by men from Managua is not known definitely. Spies have brought word to the opposing army that Zelaya is afraid to attack Rama, fearing they will desert to Estrada. He has soldiers and equipment in abundance at Managua but it is said, that he does not trust his generals. The report is said, in an exception. His men as a reward of victory have been promised all the loot they can collect in two days at Rama.

Since the beginning of the uprising October 11, both sides have had their eyes on Rama. To reach Bluefields the capital of the insurgents on the east coast, on Greytown, Zelaya must capture Rama. In no other way can he remain in control of the Atlantic or Caribbean coasts of the country.

Between Rama and Bluefields there is but one highway—the Rama river. This stream, navigable by canoe going down, is flanked on either side by steep escarpments through which marching is impossible. Hence Zelaya must regain control of the river.

The attitude of the United States, friendly to Estrada, has done much to fill the general of Zelaya with a fear that Zelaya's downfall is assured.

MOVING PICTURES OF ASSASSINATION OF PRINCE ITO

Enterprising Russian Photographer Secures Films of Tragic Scene at Harbin; To Be Used at Trial.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Victoria, B. C., Dec. 9.—A moving picture of the assassination of Prince Ito at Harbin is to be used in the trial of the Korean assassin, according to advice brought by the steamer Kaga Maru today. A Russian photographer had prepared to make moving pictures of the meeting of Prince Ito and Minister Kogovostoff, and caught the assassination scene upon his film.

Japanese officials obtained a film 500 feet long, showing every detail of the tragedy, and this will be exhibited in court at the trial.

Chinese newspapers fear that the death of Prince Ito will result in a change of policy by Japan toward China, owing to the military party being brought to power with the passing of Ito. The Peking Times says that while Ito refrained from making coups to boost his personal ambitions, his successors are likely to be aggressive and China may suffer in consequence.

COOK RECORDS WRITTEN IN BRONX INN

doctor now is and that he had not heard from him since Tuesday, November 23.

"My very urgent letters to the doctor have remained unanswered, although they demanded a reply from any man solicited for his own affairs."

Mr. Wack, however, did receive a letter from Dr. Cook on December 6, dated December 4 and posted December 5 in Brooklyn asking him to discontinue all expenses on the doctor's account and to forward certain papers which Mr. Wack understood to be affidavits bearing on the doctor's disputed ascent of Mount McKinley. These affidavits the doctor had originally intended to take with him to Europe, where they could be available for the University of Copenhagen if desired.

Others of Dr. Cook's friends granted tonight that Captain Lunde committed treachery with him and even occupied rooms adjoining his at the Gramercy Inn. Whether this propinquity served as an opportunity for cooperation merely, or for collusion is a point on which not even Captain Lunde cared to pronounce positively.

The captain, however, went freely into his own motives this afternoon.

"I went to Dr. Cook," he said, "thinking I could help him. A short talk convinced me he was ignorant of some of the essentials of navigation. My task enlarged, but that was no question for me to debate, so long as I was paid. Now that the servants have ceased and the doctor has disappeared I speak out."

"I supplied the figures. They were gratefully received. What use was made of them is bound to appear."

DR. TORP PERSISTS IN BELIEF OF COOK

Copenhagen, Dec. 9.—Dr. Torp, lecturer at the University of Copenhagen, said tonight that the charges published in the New York Times against Dr. Frederick Cook are based on pure fiction. Nevertheless he added he would accept the offer to examine the documents prepared by Lunde and Dunkle, which the Times has agreed to send to Copenhagen.

Walter Lunde, secretary to Dr. Cook, who brought the explorer's records to Copenhagen, also declared that the accusations published in New York against Dr. Cook were totally unfounded. He said that the papers delivered to the University of Copenhagen contained the original observations made by Dr. Cook in the expedition without alterations.

Mr. Lunde stated further that the explorer's report was founded on these and dictated by Dr. Cook to him, no other person having anything to do with it. Lunde and Dunkle, Mr. Lunde added were guests at the Waldorf-Astoria during Dr. Cook's stay there, but the explorer's acquaintance with them was slight.

The committee which will examine Dr. Cook's records is composed of the following: President, Professor Elis Stromgren, director of the astronomical observatory; Dr. C. F. Pechau, astronomer attached to the observatory; Gustava Holm, explorer; Professor A. B. Vensch, president of the school of navigation; Dr. Horder, director of meteorological officers; and Dr. E. A. Engstrom, director of land observation.

Commodore Noygaard, the noted explorer and Professor Olufsen, secretary of the Danish Geographical Society, also discredited the accusation against Dr. Cook.

The National Tidende in an editorial says:

"It is natural that calumnies should increase when Dr. Cook's papers are on the eve of examination, the object of his enemies being to influence the committee."

FUGITIVE FROM MEXICO SEIZED AT SAN ANTONIO

Indez Ruiz, Discharged for Lack of Evidence; Again Arrested on Wickersham's Order.

San Antonio, Dec. 9.—Indez Ruiz, the Mexican revolutionist, recently discharged here for want of sufficient evidence to support a charge of inciting a revolution in Mexico was today re-arrested at the instance, it is said, of Attorney General Wickersham, pending extradition.

It is alleged Ruiz participated in the Garza revolution, 12 years ago. At that time he was captured, but escaped to this country.

UNION CALLS OUT THE HOMESTAKE WATCHMEN

Lead, S. D., Dec. 9.—The executive committee of the Lead and Central City unions of the Western Federation of Miners today called out all union watchmen and others employed by the Homestake company. This order affects about 250 men who have been allowed by the mine management to work since the lockout by the mine management.

JURY TURNS DOWN INSANITY PLEA

Former Organizer Ryan of Mine Federation Pleads Guilty to First Degree Murder in Los Angeles Court.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Los Angeles, Dec. 9.—The trial of Albert Ryan, formerly organizer for the Western Federation of Miners, who killed two men and wounded a third in a local hotel on the night of July 1, last, came to an abrupt ending in the superior court today, when Ryan pleaded guilty to murder in the first degree. This plea means that Judge Davis must sentence the prisoner to hanging or life imprisonment.

Ryan was adjudged sane by a jury yesterday. His victims were Otto Miller and Harry E. Snyder.

FEDERAL MEDIATION OF TELEGRAPHERS CLASH

Chicago, Dec. 9.—Commissioner of Labor Neil and Charles Knapp of the interstate commerce commission arrived here tonight to act as mediators between the railroads and the telegraphers, who have asked for increased wages from the Illinois Central, Chicago and Northwestern, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroads. Conferences are expected to begin tomorrow.

INSIDE HISTORY OF AMERICAN VICTIM OF CRUDE LAW IN MEXICO

Thirty Million Dollars Worth of Western Union Stock in Hands of Bell Interests; To Use Wires Jointly.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) New York, Dec. 9.—A little, but not a great deal of the inside of the recent absorption of the Western Union Telegraph company by the American Telephone & Telegraph company (the Bell interests) came out today in the testimony of Theodore M. Vail, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, before the legislative inquiry held by Mr. Vail said he favored a monopoly.

Concerning the purchase of the Western Union stock from the Florida Mr. Vail said:

"There were purchased about 300,000 shares of a par value of $30,000,000 out of a total Western Union stock base of about $100,000,000. I do not care to state the price."

He repeated what has already been announced that the two companies are not to be merged as to operation and management with the exception that they will use joint wires where practicable. When he was questioned concerning the advisability of government regulation of telegraphs and telephones, state or national, Mr. Vail replied simply:

"That depends upon the regulation."

FAREWELL PARTY BEFORE FATAL OPERATION

Woman Lawyer Gives Display of Cheerfulness and Courage in Face of Death, Which is Seldom Equalled.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Springfield, Mo., Dec. 9.—Determined that none of her social obligations should remain unperformed when she died, Mrs. Alma Dodson, a social leader and the only woman lawyer in this county, invited all her friends to a farewell party and reception immediately after being informed by her physician that she must submit to an operation that would probably prove fatal.

The party was held today before the operation was performed. Friends and neighbors gathered in a large hall to bid adieu to the brave woman. Mrs. Dodson was an admirable hostess, allowing nothing to disturb the pleasure of her guests. If she felt any anxiety she gave no evidence of it.

When the party was over and she had bade her guests good bye, Mrs. Dodson calmly arranged her personal affairs and picked out the clothing in which she wished to be buried after death. She then went to the hospital and the operation which was performed there caused her death.

The funeral which was held today was attended by the members of the Springfield bar association.

COTS AND FOOD FOR TIN MILL STRIKEBREAKERS

Bridgeport, O., Dec. 9.—One thousand cots were placed inside the tin mill stockade tonight by guards in the employ of the American Sheet & Tin Plate company, where a strike has been in force for weeks, and rioting has been breaking out for the last ten days.

It is predicted that instead of dismantling the plant, it is the purpose of the company to make a final attempt to operate the mills with imported non-union labor.

Provisions sufficient to feed a small army were hauled into the stockade.

D'ARMOND'S COUSIN MEETS TRAGIC DEATH

Shocked to Death From Contact With Light Cord, While Standing in Water.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) San Bernardino, Cal., Dec. 9.—A. J. D'Armond, a cousin of Congressman D'Armond of Missouri, who was married to death a few weeks ago, met a tragic death in the store room of his place of business here tonight.

Do Armond was in the act of turning on an incandescent light attached to a long drop cord. Grasping the brass attachment with both hands he received 110 volts. At the time he was standing in several inches of water which had flooded the store room from the storm. He dropped to the floor clutching the globe and was found in that position by his son, Wayland, 12 years old, who had gone into the store to search for his father.

The Armond was one of this city's prominent and wealthy business men. He is survived by a widow and four children.

Conductor Held Responsible for All Lawlessness on His Train Until He Can Prove Innocence of Complicity.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Washington, Dec. 9.—It is said at the state department that the case of the American railway conductor, James E. Cook, who is in jail at Guadalajara, Mexico, charged with complicity in a robbery in the railroad entering that city, is taking its regular course before the Mexican courts.

The United States ambassador in Mexico has been directed to appeal to the Mexican authorities to expedite the trial. It is further stated that there is nothing unusual or irregular about the proceedings and that undoubtedly he will be given a fair trial soon.

It is explained at the state department that under the Mexican law the conductor of a railroad train by which an unlawful act has been committed, is held to be responsible for the same until his innocence is established.

Cook's home is in Daltart, Texas, and his detention without bail in the Mexican prison has been the cause of considerable indignation among the people there. Petitions were sent to Washington demanding that Cook be given a speedy trial and asking that, in the meantime, he be allowed his liberty under bail.

LITTLE LOUISVILLE GIRL HELD FOR RANSOM

Negro Servant Brings Word From Captors to Distracted Parents of Stolen Child.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Louisville, Ky., Dec. 9.—Developments late today indicate that a demand for ransom will be made tomorrow by the kidnapers of Anna Kellner, the eight-year-old girl, who disappeared Wednesday morning after leaving her home to attend mass. The girl undoubtedly is in the hands of kidnapers, according to information given the police.

Mrs. Fred H. Kellner, Jr., told the police that a negro servant girl who left the employ of the Kellner family two weeks ago had been selected as an emissary by the kidnapers. The servant came to the Kellner home and told the mother of the missing child that she had been approached on the street by "two white women," who gave her a message for Mrs. Kellner, directing the mother to meet them Friday at a common place and receive proposals for the ransom of the child.

The negro girl, after delivering the message, stated she was certain one of the "women" was a man disguised in female attire.

Mrs. Kellner, Jr., said she was standing at the top of the shaft when he heard repeated tapings that could not have been caused by anything but the picks of the entombed men.

It was agreed to adjourn until December 20 in order to give the officials opportunity to further search for the missing witnesses.

Immediately preceding the adjournment, John Sand, a miner from Spring Valley, who was among the first arriving party to enter the mine while the fires were raging the day after the disaster, testified that he had heard signals for assistance from entombed miners, but that he could get no help from officials or experts to whom he told his story.

CHERRY INQUEST IS HALTED ABRUPTLY

Juryman Decline to Return Verdict Until Authorities Make Effort to Find Missing Witnesses.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Cherry, Ill., Dec. 9.—Inquiry by the coroner's jury into the cause of the St. Paul mine disaster in which 300 men were killed came to an abrupt close today without a verdict being rendered.

The jury announced it would not consider returning a verdict until Alexander Rosenback and Robert Deane, missing witnesses either had been found or the county officials showed evidence of a genuine desire to find them.

It was agreed to adjourn until December 20 in order to give the officials opportunity to further search for the missing witnesses.

When Mr. Sherman and the speaker left they declined to comment on the conference, declaring that it was not a subject for public discussion and that if any information was to be given out it must come from President Taft. The latter declined to talk.

Leaders in congress, however, are of the opinion that the conference dealt with the legislative program to be followed in the present session.

THE BASIS OF PROSPERITY.

Secretary Wilson's annual report shows that the value of the farm products of the United States have doubled within the last ten years, and the output of the farms of the country is the corner stone of the country's prosperity. The gratifying condition noted by the secretary in his report has been brought about in two ways. In the opening up of new areas to cultivation and in the increase of the productivity of the soil. Irrigation has created farms out of deserts in the newer parts of the country, while scientific experiments have taught the farmers of the older sections better methods of working the lands long under cultivation. This is the day of specialization in agriculture as in other lines, and one of the most effective phases of the department of agriculture's work has been the instruction of the farmers in putting their holdings to the best possible use, with reference to peculiarities of soil and climatic conditions.

The farmers' enormous production means prosperity not only to them, but to millions of other people. The eight and three-quarter billions of dollars in farm produce created during the year just closed have been spent in improvements and in necessities. The country has had the benefit of the vast fortune, resulting from the sale of people and giving work to untold numbers in every line. In no other branch of industry is there so immediate and direct a connection between the prosperity of the producing class and others. The farmers of the United States as a rule invest their earnings wisely, in farm betterments and in business enterprises near their homes. They are loyal citizens, of distribution. Secretary Wilson's vast totals spell prosperity not only for the farmer, but for practically all other Americans.

GONE HOME DISAPPOINTED.

Mrs. Pankhurst, the notorious British suffragette, has shaken the dust of America from her petticoats, and gone back to England. She came over full of confidence, and went back equally freighted with disappointment—and the Washington Star thinks the failure of her mission is something upon which the women of this country are to be congratulated. At least her failure testifies to the fact that the cause of woman suffrage in this country is not being conducted on English lines, or likely to be. The English visitor found things there, not to say slow. There is not the excitement she had thought existed. The great majority of people do not seem to know that a fire is in progress. Even the women themselves show no outward sign of storm or stress, but are more self-contained in their work for suffrage than ordinarily in a struggle for a good place in the foreign country.

Evidently Mrs. Pankhurst expected too much. She had been indoctrinated both as to the American temperament and environment as respects this matter. The lot of woman in America is not so grinding as to throw her into a fury. She thinks it might be and should be improved, and is striving in the premises with that object in view, she is possessing her case with care, and according to her knowledge of the man with whom she has to deal. And she knows him better than Mrs. Pankhurst.

Before this suffrage question arose the English stood for self-possession, for steadiness of view, for unimpassionedness even in the face of great provocation. It was said of the Americans, and generally accepted abroad, that they were explosive, quick on trigger, and violent in action. The role of militant suffragette would have been assigned to an American, and New York or Washington selected as the scene of assault on public officials in an effort to rush things to victory.

But the record shows matters reversed. It is the English woman who has adopted the tactics of violence, and the American woman who is showing calmness and steadiness of action. So far nothing but riot marks the course of the English suffragettes, while the nothing but argument and quiet explanation may be set down to the Americans. Mrs. Pankhurst seems to have changed nothing by her visit. She did not communicate her spirit to her hosts. Her part at home has been prominent, and she is returning to resume it. But over here those seeking suffrage for women will probably continue in the course already selected, and, if a little slowly, still a little comfortably, bring their case into court for a decision.

NO FEAR OF THE LORDS.

We are not in the least afraid of the liberals wanting to abolish the house of lords, though we own that we are sometimes afraid of their insisting on keeping the house of lords in existence for fear that if it is abolished the nation will demand a much stronger and more efficient check on the action of the lower house.—London Spectator.

RAILROADS AND THE PUBLIC.

The railroad, says the Boston Post, whether it wishes it or not, holds different ground in the public regard from that of any other industry. It is a public service corporation, deriving its right to run trains, carry passengers and earn dividends from the people themselves. It cannot shut its doors behind the stone wall of secrecy. Much has been given to it, and much is expected of it. And in any event it cannot rightfully claim to be immune from discussion of the freest and fullest sort. If a railroad's operations are to suffer because the public is informed of them, those operations ought not to succeed.

THE HOLIDAY TRADE.

No better reflex of the generally prosperous condition of the country could be had than is to be found in the fact that reports from all the centers of trade represent the holiday business as nearly everywhere above the average, while in many places it has attained to record-breaking proportions. The holiday trade is always the first to suffer from hard times, and the last to recover. When there is a shortage in the revenue, the unnecessary articles are always the first to be cut off. Economy always begins with the luxuries, and when the demand for holiday presents becomes great it may be taken for granted that with the average citizens the period of financial depression is past. In its review of business in Chicago for last week, the Inter Ocean says: "Activity in the holiday trade was a leading feature last week. Business with jobbers and retailers has never been so large, or the variety of goods handled so great. Toys and jewelry have been taken at about the usual rate, but the substantial presents have come in for a larger share of attention than in any previous season."

WHAT YOU ARE ENTITLED TO.

According to the secretary of the treasury, every person in the United States should have a stake of $34.93 if the money in circulation on Dec. 1, 1909, were evenly divided. This is based on the treasury's estimate that the population of the United States is $9,324,000 at this time.

The monthly circulation statement, issued by the treasury department, shows that the general stock of money in the United States on Dec. 1 was $24,428,602,048, which is an increase of $112,935 since a month ago. Of this total there was in circulation $2,137,219,934, an increase of $4,331,877 over a month ago, and of $12,749,991 over a year ago. This is in striking contrast to the $816,566,721 in circulation on Jan. 1, 1909, for which comparative figures are given.

The treasury holds as assets of the government on Dec. 1 last $237,221,114, which does not include the $23,552,787 of deposits of public money in national bank depositories to the credit of the United States treasury.

THE PROPER WAY.

People will marry, in spite of all the warnings of the newspapers and the divorce courts. All the prohibitory laws that could be passed would fail to prohibit. Even those who have tried it once are not deterred from trying again, as demonstrated by the fact laid down by the elder Mr. Weller, that "more vidlers marries their single women." Then since it will be done when it is done twice well it will be done properly. To that end the Morning Journal has consulted the most eminent authority on the subject to ascertain how to have the job done in just the proper manner, and here it is:

"If a bride is to be married in a traveling dress the maid of honor should wear a light thin silk or other dressy frock. Both may carry bouquets and wear hats. The bride's mother will find a velvet or heavy silk cloth dress smart, choosing gray or light blue for the color. The brother who gives his sister away should have a frock coat, double-breasted waistcoat, light striped trousers and white necktie.

"The bridegroom and best man wear the same style clothes. The bride's parents furnish all the carriages except those for the bridegroom and best man. There must be enough for seating carriages for the party. In the chapel the bride's family sit in the front pews on the left, the bridegroom's family being on the right. At the table the bride's mother sits on the right of the bridegroom and his father at the left of the bride. It is perfectly proper to have music during the breakfast, and it would be well to have champagne, even though the girl's family do not drink it. Their glasses are filled and they make a pretense of taking it. On entering the church the maid of honor precedes the bride, following her with the best man on leaving. Some member of the bride's family must meet the maid of honor at the station when she arrives. It would not be good form for the best man to be asked to do so. If, for any reason, none of the family can go to the train an intimate friend should be asked to do so."

The foregoing instructions are complete, and all perfectly clear except that room is left for doubt as to whether the stripes on the trousers of the brother and the best man should run horizontally or longitudinally, and that might lead to serious consequences. For instance, certain gentlemen at Santa Fe who do not move in the best society, however, have their trousers striped crosswise instead of lengthwise, and if some best man, or bride's brother, should innocently adopt that style it might give rise to unpleasant criticism. Mrs. Pankhurst objects to the foregoing regulations, and insists that either the best man or the bride's brother should be a woman, to avoid discrimination on account of sex.

A TARIFF COMMISSION.

The wisdom of creating a tariff commission, such as is recommended by President Taft, has not been questioned by any one, and we doubt whether the creation of such a body will meet with any opposition. The proposition which was brought forward by some one a few months ago, for the creation of a commission clothed with power to change schedules at pleasure, met with opposition on every hand, and very properly so, since the power of making changes in the tariff should rest with the congress, alone. But the pending proposition is a very different matter. It contemplates the organization of a board of five members, who shall devote their time exclusively to a study of the tariff, with a view to its effect upon all lines of industry, and thus be prepared to make intelligent suggestions to congress from time to time with respect to such changes as may be demanded by closely observed conditions, in order to keep the various schedules consistent with themselves, and equitable at all times with respect to all lines of industry.

Representative Needham, of the ways and means committee, who has made a careful study of this matter, is preparing a bill for the organization of such a commission as the president recommends, and he is said to be confident that the measure which he will shortly introduce will meet the approval of congress and the country. He is said to have made a thorough study of the whole situation and reports from Washington give the following general outline of the plan he proposes to offer:

"The commission is to consist of five members, one appointed by the majority of the ways and means committee, one by its minority, one by the majority of the senate finance committee, one by its minority, and the fifth member by the president. The commission's work is to be kept secret so that it will not disturb business, be confined to investigation and its reports made only to congress, which alone shall have authority to give them to the public."

A LIFE INSURANCE TRUST.

It is confidently stated in dispatches from New York, that the amalgamation of the Equitable, the New York, and the Mutual, and the organization of a big life insurance trust, is the result that is likely to follow the purchase of control of the Equitable by J. Pierpont Morgan.

Such a consolidation was seriously considered several years ago, before the upheaval in the Equitable, which made so many radical changes in the insurance business. Those changes have greatly increased the probability of the amalgamation and have removed many of the conditions which then made it impossible. The advantages are said to be many and important and the objections are not insurmountable.

From a financial standpoint the consolidation would be highly desirable for those in control, as it would put the assets of $1,700,000,000 under the direction of a single group of financiers and would result in a material saving in the present distributed control. But it would be a consummation not very devoutly to be wished by the public.

THE SURE SIGN OF CHRISTMAS.

The first Christmas trees have arrived in their tight bundles, says the Philadelphia Ledger, and are awaiting the unloading from the flat cars in the railway terminals. Presently they are to be decorated and scintillate with candle light and diffuse a genial Yuletide radiance round about in homes innumerable, and in their glittering majesty they will preside over family reunions when gifts to young and old will be distributed in the very shadow of their branches.

A whole cycle of story and of poetry, from the legends of the Druids and their garlanded oak down to the last romantic fiction of the holiday season, concentrates round the Christmas tree and all that it means, and as it stands in its illumined pride and unimpaired arched vigor no one thinks of the days to come, when its needles are bare and brown, and fall in a dry shower from the branches at the lightest touch; when the tree that was so beautiful is thrust forth in ignominy, shorn of its adornment, like Samson at Gaza, to be carted away and used for firewood or thrown upon a refuse heap in some dreary, distant suburb.

The Galveston News thinks the government authorities will respect George Washington's expressed wish that no coins bearing his likeness should be minted, since it is not necessary that one who is enshrined in the hearts of his countrymen should also clutter up their pockets.

HARK, FROM THE TOMB!

Editor Morning Journal: Don Francisco, one time boss of New Mexico politics, especially in Bernalillo county, although much longer dead than poor Lazarus and in even worse condition than he was said to be, (see John N. 39), has dreamed of a speedy resurrection. In his last Spanish Americana, he has inserted a little article, all in one sentence, ostensibly concerning his brother Tom, but principally on his own account. It is to laugh! He certainly wrote it himself, because his editor, Don Nestor Mongoy, can write better Spanish. Observe how it sounds in English:

"Don Tomas S. Hubbard, who is a candidate for United States marshal, is one of the most popular and strongest men in the politics of his party. The republicans, that there is in the territory, and as to the services rendered to that party, between him and his brother, Don Francisco A. Hubbard, they have been the most solid, advantageous (or profitable) and brilliant that the said party has ever enjoyed in all its history in the territory of New Mexico, since during the time that Don Francisco A. Hubbard was chairman of the central republican committee of New Mexico the territory, said party reached its most brilliant triumphs and the greatest majorities which the party has ever achieved in its history, the last time that today was elected as delegate to congress, having been so by a majority of more than 9,000 votes, and the county of Bernalillo gave majority of 2,000 to 3,500, and it belongs to Mr. Hubbard, not only for his personal qualities and ability to discharge his duties, but for his services rendered to the republican party and for those which he will be able to render in the future."

Today congress meets in Washington for the "long session" and a long session it will have to be for the republican members to consent to statehood.

Under George Curry the expenses of the territory have increased from about six hundred thousand dollars to practically twice that sum. Such has been the administration of "retrenchment and economy."

President Taft has had so little time to devote to his duties, being occupied in running over the country, that for the first time in many years the newspapers are without advance copies of the message to congress.

POLICY HOLDERS OF PHOENIX COMPANY IN NO DANGER

AMPLE SURPLUS HELD BY NEW YORK CONCERN

New Mexico Insurance Department Allays Fears; Spanish War Veterans Organize a Camp in Santa Fe.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal) Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 9.—There has been considerable apprehension among New Mexico policy holders in the Phoenix insurance company of New York, which is now being probed, and whose officers have become entangled with the law. To allay such fears the insurance department today gave out the following statement: "We are in receipt of telegraphic advice from Superintendent of Insurance William H. Hotchkiss of New York, fully setting forth the status of the Phoenix of Brooklyn. The policy holders of the company in New Mexico need have no fear for the shrinkage of the claimed assets do not exceed one million dollars the company will still have a surplus as regards policy holders of two million, or a net surplus outside of capital of five hundred thousand dollars.

"President Evans of the Continental Fire Insurance company of New York is in temporary control and is giving his active attention to its preservation. We feel safe in allowing the Phoenix to proceed with business in New Mexico. We will be kept fully informed as to future developments."

SPANISH WAR VETERANS ORGANIZE IN SANTA FE

Last night in the rooms of the Commercial club, the Clay Green camp, No. 2, Spanish War Veterans of the United States, was mustered in by E. J. Smith, commander of the Albuquerque branch. The ceremonies of installation were very impressive, the following elected officers being sworn in for the ensuing year: Commander, Fred Mueller; senior vice commander, W. E. Griffin; junior vice commander, E. E. Van Horn; chaplain, George Armijo; adjutant, C. J. Neils; quartermaster, H. P. Bradshaw; trustees, Ed. Taffan, A. P. Griffin and J. B. Arrested by Mounted Police Mounted Policemen J. A. Beal of Douglas today reported a large number of arrests he made at Deming as follows: Lou Ott, a Chinaman, for being in the United States unlawfully; Joseph Johnson and Thomas Campbell, for being drunk and disorderly; and who were fined $10 each; George Demont, Daniel Wilson, John Cullen, Frank Latin, Christian Faulker, Frank C. Barnes, William Comer, Michael Burns, Edward Dyer, Lee De Armound, R. B. Heister and Sol Goldberg, for vagrancy.

Notaries Public Appointed

Governor Curry today appointed the following notaries public: Joel Everett Glynn of Glynn, Roosevelt county; Ernest L. W. Peck, of Fort Stanton, Lincoln county.

Fined for Contempt

In the case of the Costilla Land and Investment company et al. vs. Robert Allen, et al., the hearing of which occupied Judge John R. McFie in chambers the past three days, Judge McFie today assessed a fine of $25 each on a number of the defendants for contempt in continuing the violation of an injunction which had been issued to restrain them from further improving the property or wasting the estate of the lands in dispute until final settlement.

Sheepmen Ask for Injunction

The case of the San Juan county sheepmen against the territorial sheep sanitary board, praying for a permanent injunction to restrain the sheep sanitary board from enforcing a dipping order at this time, will come up tomorrow. It was to have been heard today, but a number of witnesses from San Juan county will not arrive until this evening.

How Samuel Bibb Brought Supplies to the Federal Army

HARDY PIONEERS FOUND PRIMITIVE PEOPLE

Tale of Commercial Pathfinder Who Freight Provisions to Isolated Detachments of Soldiers in the Indian Wilds.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)

Grants, N. M., Dec. 8.—The death this week of Samuel Bibb in San Francisco, full of years and usefulness, recalls the stirring story of the early days in Indian-riden New Mexico when the members of the Bibb family, pioneers of commerce and advance guard of civilization, came to the Navajo country and made it possible for the isolated detachments of United States soldiers in the desert to get supplies without breaking up the government. The story is a sort of an epic of the southwest and reads like fiction to the modern generation. Samuel Bibb, who leaves a wife, Pauline Bibb, was a brother of Nathan, Simon, Solomon, Joe, Emil and Ben Bibb, all of whose names are well known in western and central New Mexico, and of Mrs. Lina Weiss, Mrs. D. Beerman and Mrs. Herman Block. The funeral services were held at the residence of the brother-in-law of the deceased, J. J. Mack, with interment private.

FOUND PRIMITIVE PEOPLE IN DESERT

Samuel Bibb came to New Mexico, together with his brother Nathan, in 1857, and left for California in 1883, where he had since become a man very prominent in business in San Francisco. He was widely known as a good fellow and was of attractive personality, welcome in any part of California. He was the first man to conduct the largest train of wagons loaded with supplies for Arizona military posts in 1872. In this year Nathan Bibb opened a wagon road from the Zuni villages to Camp Apache, across the Little Colorado river, about four miles below the location of St. Johns, Ariz. In the aftermath year the Black River and White Mountain Indians had been surrounded by the First United States cavalry and Twenty-first infantry, under command of Lieutenant Colonel John H. Green, and the troops were caught in the snow, which fell to a depth of from three to seven feet in the White mountains. The matter of furnishing supplies to the troops was therefore one of untold hardship and courage, which was, however, accomplished by the aid of two troops of cavalry, which came to meet the large wagon train from this side.

The government up to this time had to pay from 15 to 18 cents per pound for freight furnished via Yuma from California and a sack of flour sold then for $10 for fifty pounds and everything in proportion.

Thus the first wagon road was established between New Mexico and Arizona and freights were thereafter immediately reduced to 2½ cents per pound, again to the government of from 15-16 cents on each pound. The development of western New Mexico dates from this time, thanks to the enterprise of the Bibb brothers who were the only bidders at the time in response to the call of the government to supply the imprisoned troops at Camp Apache, Ariz., thereby opening a new market for the pioneer population, for their corn, oats, flour and meat raised in this section, for which there previously was absolutely no demand.

When Simon and Nathan Bibb located in 1869 at Schuyler, the military post, most of them were pants made of unbleached cotton with shirts of the same material and many of them wore chongos or cues such as the Pueblo Indians wear today. A common coarse home-made woolen blanket completed the outfit with a wide brim Mexican straw sombrero for headgear. A few years after the Bibb brothers established themselves, cloth suits were introduced among the Mexican people and the women folk appeared in resplendent calico dresses and fancy shawls.

Solomon and Simon Bibb have lived here with one short intermission since 1867 and Solomon Bibb has sent 160 children of the Acoma Indians to eastern schools.

In 1869 Nathan and Solomon Bibb

JAFFA DENIES HE IS PLANNING TO LEAVE OFFICE

Secretary Disposes of Persistent Rumor That He is Going Into the Banking Business.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal)

Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 9.—Secretary of the Territory Nathan Jaffa explicitly denies the persistent rumor which has been in circulation for the past few days here and in Albuquerque that he intends to resign. Mr. Jaffa says that he does not know how the rumor originated and has at present no intention to leave the office. The story on the streets has been that the secretary was planning to resign his office in a short time for the purpose of becoming actively connected with the First National bank of Santa Fe.

ALFALFA MAIN SUBJECT OF FARMERS' MEET IN THE MESILLA VALLEY

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal) Las Cruces, N. M., Dec. 8.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Mesilla Valley Produce exchange the program for the Farmers' institute, which is to meet in Las Cruces Thursday, December 16, was outlined as follows:

Forenoon Session, 10 a. m. to 12 m.

Topic for discussion, "Alfalfa."

First—Preparation of the ground.

Second—Time of seeding.

Third—Manner of seeding.

Fourth—Cutting and curing crop.

Fifth—What can best be done with fields having a poor stand?

Sixth—How best to treat fields in which wild grass has considerable possession.

Afternoon Session, 1:30 to 3:30 p. m.

Topic for discussion: "Under existing conditions, what annual crop can be grown most profitably during next season, to bring farmers the most ready money?"

First—By the farmer of small acreage?

Discussion will be opened by Prof. Fabian Garcia, of the Agricultural college.

Second—By the farmer of large acreage?

Discussion will be opened by Oscar Snow, "the alfalfa king."

From the experience of these two men it is expected that definite facts and figures will be produced that will be of great worth to the farmers.

After the opening speeches on all topics, the meeting will be open for discussion by any and all present, so far as time will permit, and it is hoped that many of the farmers will be ready with simple, plain talks, practical and to the point, so that when the opportunity is offered, no time will be wasted.

An effort will be made to begin each session on the time announced.

GONZALES GUILTY OF MURDER IN 2ND DEGREE

CONFESSES TO WANTON SLAUGHTER OF MADRIL

Red McClure Acquitted of Murder Charge by Jury in District Court at Alamogordo; Balderama Case Next on Trial.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)

Alamogordo, Dec. 7.—The territorial court is still grinding out justice with the least possible delay. Judge Parker who is still presiding, certainly does not believe in having jurors and witnesses loafing at the expense of the territory. Judge Cooley is now greatly improved, but for fear of relapse will not resume his place upon the bench until the latter part of this week.

Two of the five murder cases have been tried and verdicts rendered while a third will be put on trial tomorrow morning.

In the case of Daniel Gonzales charged with the murder of Juan Madril the defendant confessed the murder in all of its cold-blooded, horrible details, and staked his life upon the plea of temporary insanity. The defense was ably conducted by Judge Byron Sherry, who was appointed by the court, the defendant having no funds. The jury manifestly did not consider the plea of insanity, but returned a compromise verdict of murder in the second degree. Sentence has not yet been passed by the court.

The other was the case of Red McClure, charged with the killing of J. N. Smith at Robinson's mill in the Sacramento mountains on Nov. 15, 1908. Three special verdicts were necessary to get a jury which returned a verdict of not guilty, after very short deliberation.

It is the Balderama case which will be put on trial tomorrow morning.

RICH PROPERTIES IN BEAR MOUNTAIN MINING FIELD

Remarkable Record of Silver Production Held by Mines Six Miles West of Silver City in Grant County.

In Bear mountain range, six miles west of Silver City, Grant county, New Mexico, and in Treasure peak, the highest point of the range are some rich mining properties that have a remarkable record as silver producers in the early 30's, which are now held by S. O. Smith, of Silver City, and associates, both of that city and El Paso. These include "the old man" and some newly discovered claims, aggregating 12 properties.

The Old Man Group. The Old Man No. 1 and Old Man No. 2, the Mangus placer claims, are patented claims, from which there has been extracted between $299,998 and $400,000 in silver and gold. The last eight months during which they were worked, they produced a net profit of $124,990, just before they were closed down in 1885. These mines show good returns in gold and silver, and it is conservatively estimated that there are 20,000 tons of ore on the dumps that will pay to mill and treat by the cyanide process.

Col. Jack Fleming, who for years was mayor of Silver City, was the original locator of the Old Man group and he is said to have made about $180,000 from them before he sold them to Seldomridge and associates, of Colorado.

The latter sunk an incline shaft 120 feet deep and did a good deal of development work, and are said to have shipped ore that netted them $124,990. This rich ore was found along the contact between the so-called "calico" rock and quartz, and occurred in pockets. The ore was silver chlorides and rich chunks of horn silver.

Geology.

The mineral zone lies along the western base of Treasure mountain, and the country rock is both eruptive, porphyritic and crystalline sedimentary that are strongly metamorphic. The latter are about 600 feet wide and are called locally "calico" and "ribbon" rock. These have a north and south strike, and dip nearly vertically. Parallel to these is a quartz lode 30 feet wide, and parallel to the latter is a belt of limestone 125 feet wide.

Silver Placers.

Superincumbent on these is a mass of debris composed of clay, boulders and gravel. The remarkable thing about this debris is that it was a rich placer of silver. Silver City was the liveliest mining camp in the south west in those days, and everyone believed another Comstock boom had started in Bear mountains. Nuggets and boulders of native and horn silver were thrown out from cuts and pits on the surface, one silver boulder being worth $1,000.

One open cut was made in the quartz lode, 20 feet wide, 100 feet

INVESTIGATE THE CLAIMS OF BELEN

With the inauguration of daylight train service between Albuquerque and El Paso there will come a period of prosperity to the Rio Grande valley such as it has never before known.

Belen is the newest, liveliest town on this route. With the completion of the Coleman extension of the Santa Fe it becomes an important division point on the line from San Francisco and Los Angeles to Galveston and New Orleans. It is now on a direct line from Denver and the north to Mexico. It is the crossing of the two great transcontinental highways from North to South and from East to West.

The Santa Fe railway is spending thousands in the construction of terminal facilities. New depots, both passenger and freight, new eating houses and other extensive improvements now are nearing completion.

The music of the saw and hammer is heard on every side. Dozens of residence buildings are in course of construction. Brick blocks are rising as if by magic. New enterprises are establishing themselves daily. This great activity is due not only to the fact that the town has such bright future prospects, but that the Belen Town and Improvement company is selling lots within the reach of all.

The church and school facilities are second to none in New Mexico. Seven teachers give instruction to over 200 pupils in one of the best buildings in the territory.

Four Protestant denominations are establishing work and three new churches are building or soon to be begun.

The people are friendly and social.

DEATH CLAIMS WELL KNOWN YOUNG WOMAN

Mrs. Caterina Matteucci Dies, After Brief Illness, Leaving Husband and Four Children to Mourn Her Loss.

A gloom was cast over the Italian colony in Albuquerque last evening by the news of the death of Mrs. Caterina Matteucci, aged 22 years, wife of Pompilio Matteucci, a North First street shoe dealer, who died in St. Joseph's sanitarium at 6 o'clock last evening, following an illness of only two weeks. Blood poisoning was the cause of her death. Besides the bereaved husband, Mrs. Matteucci leaves four young children motherless, the oldest six years and the youngest four months. Mrs. Matteucci's parents and one sister reside in Lucena, Italy. A brother in California is the only near relative in America. He has been notified of his sister's death by telegram and funeral arrangements will not be announced pending an answer from him.

WORTHLESS CHECK A LETTER TO SANTA CLAUS CASHED BY JEWELER

SWINDLER GETS OFF WITH $77.50 AND GOLD BROOCH

George Lampson, Seized for Crime Shortly After Its Occurrence, Has Large Bag But is Trifle Short of Cash.

George Lampson, who claims Peoria, Ill., as his home, was arrested in the Savoy bar at 6 o'clock last night by Policeman O'Grady on a warrant sworn out by Roy L. Crouch, a Central avenue jeweler, charging forgery.

According to Crouch, Lampson entered his store at 5 o'clock yesterday evening, looked at some jewelry and finally decided to purchase a brooch, valued at twenty dollars. Lampson tendered a check, drawn on the First National bank of Albuquerque, made payable to J. C. McPherson, for ninety-seven dollars and fifty cents. The check bore the signature of I. E. Smith. McPherson's endorsement was on the back, written in almost the identical handwriting used on the reverse side of the paper. Crouch sent a clerk out to find out whether the check was good or not. The clerk succeeded in getting the check cashed, after endorsing it.

Lampson gathered up the brooch and seventy-seven dollars and fifty cents and departed. The business house which cashed the check for Crouch's clerk, though the check looked suspicious to them and returned it to Crouch. Crouch in turn became suspicious and the police were notified, with the result that Lampson was arrested fifteen minutes later. Seven dollars and fifty cents was every cent Lampson had on his person when arrested. What he did with the seventy dollars, it is claimed he should have had, puzzled the police, although the man had plenty of time to cache it if he so desired. When arrested Lampson was apparently suffering from an over indulgence in intoxicants and shortly after being taken to the police station sank into a deep slumber. Chief of Police McMillin will make an effort today to locate Lampson's suit case in the hope that the missing seventy dollars may be found.

Lampson came to Albuquerque several days ago from the east. He claims to belong to several lodges, among them the Elks. Local Elks say that Lampson is in possession of some of the secret work, but doubt if he is a bona fide member of the organization as his traveling card does not bear the correct number of the Peoria, Ill., lodge to which the man claims he belongs.

He will be given a trial in police court this morning.

Carpenter Alleges That Youth Stole Gold Watch From Vest.

Manuel Perea, sixteen years old, was arrested last night by Policeman Knapp on the complaint of Frank J. McMullen, a carpenter, employed at the Albuquerque Plating mill. According to McMullen, he hung his vest on a door yesterday afternoon while doing some carpenter work, and that Perea made off with a gold watch which was in one of the pockets.

The watch was found at Perea's home. The lad denied stealing the timepiece and explained that he found it while walking along the street. He will be tried in police court at 9:30 this morning.

NUANES PRINCIPAL WITNESS FOR THE PROSECUTION

Declares that Florencio Pfeiffer Robbed Mrs. May Majoribanks and Admits His Own Guilt.

That Florencio Pfeiffer is guilty of robbing Mrs. May Majoribanks on June 24 last was the admission made on the witness stand yesterday by Procopio Nuanes, in the case of the territory versus Pfeiffer, in which he is charged with larceny from the person of Mrs. Majoribanks. Nuanes pleaded guilty to the robbery charge several weeks ago when he was arraigned and pleaded guilty to the assault charge. Pfeiffer pleaded not guilty to the assault and was convicted after a lengthy trial.

The case against Pfeiffer charging robbery was begun yesterday morning and will probably be completed some time today. Nuanes was the chief witness for the prosecution. He told a straightforward story of his actions on the night of June 24, and admitted that he and Pfeiffer assaulted and robbed Mrs. Majoribanks after looking Majoribanks in a box car near Alamo. Nuanes testified that Pfeiffer took the lead in the crime and threatened to kill him (Nuanes) if he did not assist.

Chief of Police Thomas McMillin testified as a witness for the territory stating that both Mr. and Mrs. Majoribanks identified Pfeiffer at the city police station on the morning of June 26.

Tony Guavara, a member of the police force testified that he overheard a conversation by Pfeiffer over the telephone shortly after Pfeiffer had been arrested. The conversation was in effect a warning by Pfeiffer to some friend to be careful and state that he had been at his house at 7:30 the previous evening.

Pete Zito, a bartender at the Alamo saloon, testified that Pfeiffer and Nuanes had been in the saloon and had a drink at 11 o'clock on the night of June 24, and that Pfeiffer said he was tired and that he had been to a dance in Alameda.

Carlos Lopez, proprietor of a hat tamale stand, testified that Pfeiffer and Nuanes were in his place at 11:30 going from there to a saloon near-by. At 5 o'clock the territory had not completed its case and an adjournment was taken until 9 o'clock this morning.

District Attorney Klock is prosecuting the case and Attorney John A. White is defending Pfeiffer.

Say They Are Not Guilty.

Eliseo Martinez, Prasilano Castillo and Adolfo Castillo, three men from Alameda, indicted by the grand jury for assault and battery were arraigned before Judge Ira A. Abbott in the district court yesterday morning and pleaded not guilty. They will probably be tried some time this week.

NEIGHBORS PATCH UP THEIR DIFFERENCES

The trouble between Mrs. Henry Harrison and her neighbor, Mrs. George Mannix, which led to the former swearing out a warrant for assault against the latter, was amicably adjusted yesterday morning without the intervention of the court. Mrs. Harrison withdrew the charge and now the dove of peace hovers over the neighborhood so lately the scene of bitter strife. This satisfactory state of affairs is largely due to the efforts of Chief McMillin, who presided over a peace conference yesterday which resulted in the burial of the hatchet by the one-time foes.

Chicago, where he traveled for many years for Marshall Field & Co. His health failing, he was put on the retired list in recognition of his valuable services to the Chicago concern. While Mr. Moore did not engage in active business in Albuquerque, he nevertheless took much interest in anything of benefit to the city and his death will be regretted by a large number of friends here.

Mr. Moore is survived by his wife and son, who will arrive from Wilton Junction, Iowa, at noon today and accompany the remains back to that city, where interment will be made.
