HUERTA DENIES HAVING MADE DEMANDS

REPORTS THAT HE HAD INSISTED ON RECOGNITION UNDER THE PENALTY OF SEVERING DIPLO-MATIC RELATIONS WITH THE U. S.
PROVE UNTRUE.

SITUATION, HOWEVER, IS VERY DELICATE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—The United States will await the final outcome of negotiations between John Lind and Provisional President Huerta before taking further steps in its policy toward Mexico. Last night's reports of an ultimatum by Huerta demanding recognition and intimations that he might hand Charge O'Shaughnessy and William Bayard Hale their passports, were denied in official dispatches from the American embassy today, while their authenticity was disclaimed in Mexico City.

President Wilson, Secretary Bryan and administration officials, generally, however maintained a waiting mood and counseled a like course with senators of the foreign relations committee, who agreed with them and quietly threatened outbreaks on the senate floor.

Charge O'Shaughnessy cabled Secretary Bryan from Mexico City early today that President Huerta, through Foreign Minister Gamboa, emphatically denied there was "any foundation whatever" for the statement that Huerta had issued an ultimatum to the United States demanding recognition with the alternative of handing Mr. O'Shaughnessy his passports.

A dispatch from John Lind informed President Wilson and Secretary Bryan that he had been in conference with Provisional President Huerta at an early hour today. He characterized his reception and conference with Huerta as cordial.

Last night's dispatches attributing the announcement by Minister Urrutia of an ultimatum by Huerta stirred official circles here deeply. Secretary Bryan, an early riser, read the morning newspapers and hurried down to his office where he found the reassuring cable from Charge O'Shaughnessy and then went to the White House to confer with President Wilson. While there the message came from Mr. Lind, telling of the conference with Huerta.

Charge O'Shaughnessy's dispatch, backed up by Mr. Lind's served to dispel the impression the first news dispatches had given and the official views switched around to a general belief that while the situation was a delicate one, there was hope of some satisfactory conclusion so long as conferences were continuing between Huerta and Lind.

Senators Lodge and Stone were shown the following cablegram to Secretary Bryan from Charge O'Shaughnessy, dated last night and received at 4 a. m. today.

"The correspondents have cabled that the Mexican government has stated that its note to Lind demands that the United States recognize the Huerta government before 12 o'clock n. d. t. today, or a statement practically to that effect.

"I brought the matter to the attention of the minister of foreign affairs at 10 p. m. He immediately saw the president and the minister of government, Senor Urrutia, who is supposed to have given out the statement and he authorized me to deny this statement to my government as having any foundation in fact."

The senators were also shown a dispatch from John Lind, in which he said he spent two hours with Huerta at his suggestion. Very cordial.

The message was received at 2:20 a. m. today.

The senators conferred briefly with President Wilson and as they left the White House said they were satisfied that alarming reports were not justified. They still were hopeful that Mr. Lind's efforts to bring about an amicable understanding would be successful.

Both senators were acquainted with the contents of Huerta's note to the American government cabled by Charge O'Shaughnessy to the state department. Although the tone of the note is scornful in its rejection of American suggestions, nothing in it related to an ultimatum or a demand for recognition.

A general disposition in the senate to demand some definite statement from the administration was headed by Senators Lodge, Bacon and Stone who had direct information from the White House.

Senator Penrose had prepared to speak again on his resolutions asking for reports on Mexican conditions and the official status of William Bayard Hale. Senator Lodge urged him to delay and after a conference between the two on the floor, Senator Penrose took his seat without raising the Mexican question. Later he asked that his resolutions be allowed to go over for two or three days without action. The resolutions were taken to protect Americans in Mexico, also went over without debate. Conferences took place on the senate floor throughout the session and a disposition on the Republican side not to force a discussion of the situation, but to await developments, grew stronger.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETS TONIGHT

The meeting of the chamber of commerce tonight will be one of especial importance and interest. Aside from the matters of business that will be brought out, in the routine and in the reports of the various committees there will be another matter along the very lines that we have been endeavoring to work which will be talked over and explained.

Forest Supervisor A. G. Ringland is in the city and is going to explain how cooperative work can be undertaken between the chamber and the forest people in the publicity line which will be of inestimable benefit in getting our resources and our great advantages before the people of the whole country.

It is most urgently requested that as many members of the chamber as possible turn out this evening and take part in this movement which is intended to aid along those lines which we have been working and which will bring to our city that prestige and notice which we have so long desired and for which we are now striving.

Supervisor Ringland spoke this morning of the newly awakened spirit in Santa Fe and he expressed a desire to help it along in every possible way. In addition to the matters of business and the heart to heart talks along progressive lines there will be a luncheon served which will add to the pleasure and sociability of the occasion and aid in making the evening a helpful one.

Let everyone turn out.

COMMUNICATION IS RESTORED WITH JUAREZ

CHIHUAHUA IS AGAIN IN TOUCH WITH THE BORDER CITY, AND NINE TRAINS OF PROVISIONS,
THIS AFTERNOON.

REBELS ARE ACTIVE ON THE WEST COAST

El Paso, Texas, Aug. 19.—Telegraphic communication has been restored with Chihuahua and nine freight and passenger trains are ready to leave Juarez for the south at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, the time set for the departure of the trains, but delays incident to the loading of provisions, the mobilization of 2,000 troops which will accompany the trains as an escort and the switching of the large number of cars with a limited equipment of engines in the Central yards, may cause the departure to be delayed.

No reports have been received from the south of Villa's presence along the railroad, although a scout train will be sent ahead of the caravan to make sure that there are no rebels along the track below Rancharia. A troop train will also bring up the rear of the trains.

The provision trains will carry more than 200,000 pesos worth of goods when they leave Juarez. All of this is insured in Lloyds against revolution losses. Included in these provision trains are a number of refrigerators and cars of American meats. The 1000 sacks of mail will also be taken across the river from the transfer office in El Paso.

General Francisco Castro, Colonel Juan N. Vasquez and the other commanders of the troops in Juarez, held a conference this morning for more than two hours regarding the plan for the troop train movement, and the course to be pursued in the event of an attack from the rebels.

Rebels Active.

Hermosillo, Sonora, Aug. 19.—The constitutionalists of the state of Sonora have begun an active campaign, according to official statements here today, and already have driven the Huerta forces from Topolobampo and have captured Mocorito.

The advance of the insurgents upon Sinaloa city and Culiacan also was reported.

General Oregon announced that he would leave immediately for the front.

Trevino Summoned.

Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 19.—General Foremost Trevino, one of Mexico's foremost soldiers, who came to Los Angeles on a visit several weeks ago, has been summoned to the City of Mexico, by Provisional President Huerta, according to statements published here today and now is on the way to the Mexican capital by way of Monterey, his old home.

HARRY K. THAW NO AGREEMENT DIGGS BLAMES ARRESTED IN CANADA IN THE STRIKE MATTER IT ON THE GIRL

HE CROSSES THE BORDER IN SAFETY
BUT IS RECOGNIZED BY A NEW HAMPSHIRE SHERIFF, WHO GIVES
ORDERS TO HAVE HIM ARRESTED AND HELD.

EXTRADITION HEARING TO BE HELD TO-MORROW

Cotuit, Quebec, Aug. 19.—Harry K. Thaw is under arrest here. He will be arraigned at Sherbrook as a fugitive from justice in the United States. The final disposition of the prisoner, however, rests with the dominion government.

Thaw was arrested this morning at Hermenegildo-Garfido, a village near here. An hour before he had driven across the line from New Hampshire. He admitted his identity and complacently declared that he could not be extradited as he had committed no crime.

Two men, who are supposed to have accompanied Thaw in his spectacular flight from the insane hospital at Matteawan, N. Y., last Sunday morning were in his company and were also detained.

They were charged with "being under suspicion of having committed an offense in another and friendly nation."

The two men, one of large build and the other a smaller man, at once retained counsel and refused to disclose their identity.

The $500 reward for Thaw's arrest belongs to Sheriff B. H. Kelsea, of Cotuit, N. H., who recognized Thaw on a Maine Central railroad train last night. After the fugitive had left the train at Herford, Kelsea pursued him to Hermenegildo-Garfido, where, at the request of the sheriff, a Canadian constable placed the fugitive under arrest.

Hermenegildo-Garfido is a small village two miles south of this place and Thaw was brought here. Though he had already admitted his identity to Sheriff Kelsea, he at first denied that he was the man who escaped from Matteawan. Later he freely admitted the facts, of which the police were already convinced. He said, however, that he would fight any effort to extradite him and retained Attorney Shirliff of this place to look after his interest. Shirliff had a long conference with his client before he was arraigned at Sherbrook this afternoon.

Thaw probably will be taken from Sherbrook to Montreal. Hector Verret, king's counsel at Cotuit, acting for Sheriff Kelsea, who is the actual complainant in the case, Kelsea charged that Thaw is a fugitive from justice and demanded that he be held for the United States authorities.

The police immediately after Thaw's arrival here, about 6 o'clock this morning, sent a message to Superintendent Kleb, of the Matteawan hospital, notifying him of the arrest and giving a description of the prisoner. The superintendent replied, asking that the man be held.

Thaw's companions were not put in jail, but appeared to be under surveillance, presumably in custody of their counsel.

Thaw was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Dupey this afternoon and was remanded to Sherbrook jail. He will appear before Judge Mulvena, extradition commissioner, probably tomorrow.

In charge of officers Thaw left here shortly after 2 o'clock for the Sherbrook jail. He said he would resist any attempt to take him to the New York state boundary line.

Pittsburg, Aug. 19.—A telegraphic request was received here today from Harry K. Thaw asking that a large sum of money be sent him at Cotuit, Quebec, where he was captured early today.

KIDNAPPED SON IS FOUND AFTER 17 YEARS

Watertown, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Word reached here today that Frederick Brousseau, aged 24, who was kidnapped by gypsies nearly seventeen years ago, has been restored to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Brousseau of Sissonville, N. Y. They had long mourned him as dead.

OPERATORS REFUSE TO RECOGNIZE THE UNION IN SOUTHERN COLO-RADO COAL FIELD, ALTHOUGH A CONFERENCE MAY BE ARRANGED
SOON.

FEDERATION CONDEMNS THE COAL OPERATORS

Trinidad, Colo., Aug. 19.—A resolution pledging the support of the Federation of Labor in the event a strike is called in District No. 5, by the United Mine Workers of America and also condemning the policy of the coal operators in importing armed guards precipitated a lively fight among the delegates to the eighteenth convention of the Colorado Convention of Labor soon after the opening of the second day's session today.

The resolution introduced by Adolph Germer, a delegate from the miner's union, Germer was strenuously opposed by Eli Gross, a Denver delegate, who charged that Germer was attempting to "railroad" action. Gross maintained that no action should be taken until the committee on resolutions had submitted a report.

The Germer resolution was finally passed on roll call by an overwhelming majority.

State Labor Commissioner E. V. Brake this morning presented a formal recommendation to the coal operators and the directors of the Trinidad Chamber of Commerce that steps be taken at once to disarm all the armed guards and deputy sheriffs not local citizens as a means of preventing a repetition of Saturday night's riot.

A brief conference between State Labor Commissioner E. V. Brake and W. J. Murray, general manager of the Victor-American Fuel company and a refusal on the part of Frank J. Hayes, vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, to accept Brake as a mediator were the only developments early today in the labor situation in the southern coal fields, where a strike of between eight and ten thousand men is threatened unless the operators will agree to recognize the union.

Vice President Hayes this morning had nothing to add to the ultimatum he delivered to the coal operators in a public address last night. He hinted, however, that overtures had been made, but whether by the unions or the operators, he would not state. So far the operators have refused point blank to meet Hayes as a union representative, but some hope is entertained that an informal conference may be arranged within the next twenty-four hours. When the delegates to the Colorado State Federation of Labor met this morning for the second day's session, there was prospect of a fight over credentials.

A jury of business men has been empaneled by Coroner B. B. Sipe for the inquest into the killing of Gerald Lippitt, the union organizer who was shot and killed Saturday night by two Baldwin-Felts guards.

DOZENS KILLED WHEN DYNAMITE EXPLODES

CARLOAD ON STREET CAR TRACKS
OF MEXICO CITY SET OFF BY COLLISION.—THIRTY BODIES HAVE BEEN ALREADY RECOVERED.—MANY MORE ARE DEAD.]

Mexico City, Mex., Aug. 19.—An explosion on a car loaded with dynamite on the tracks of a street car company in a thickly settled portion of Tacubaya, a suburb of the capital killed or injured more than 100 persons, chiefly women and children, early today. Thirty bodies already have been taken from the ruins of the houses. Scores of wounded are lying in the streets.

The disaster is said to have been caused by a car loaded with iron pipe crashing into the dynamite car. For a radius of 500 feet from the scene of the explosion, not a house was left intact and not a vestige of many of the buildings remained. Most of the dwellings were of adobe construction and those nearest to where the car stood were converted into heaps of clay and dust, under which it is estimated scores of victims will be found. The persons killed belonged for the most part to the laboring class.

QUARREL ON TRAIN RESULTS IN SHOOTING.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 19.—While east-bound train No. 2, of the Salt Lake route was speeding across the desert early today, John Bertallo whipped out a revolver and emptied it at his two companions. Passengers in a panic fled into the other coaches. When the train crew entered, they found George Lochner and Gerro Floundry lying in the aisle, the former mortally wounded.

Bertallo was put in the Millard county jail at Delta, Utah. The two wounded men were brought here.

TESTIFIES IN HIS OWN DEFENSE TODAY

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 19.—Maury I. Diggs, former state architect of California, took the witness stand in his own defense today and told his story of the motives impelling what he called the "Reno escape."

His midnight flight across the Nevada state line, from Sacramento to Reno, with Marsha Warrington, Lola Norris and F. Drew Caminetti, which resulted in the present trial under the Mann white slave traffic act.

"What did you call it?" asked Judge Van Fleet, interrupting the testimony. "An escape," repeated Diggs, looking the judge squarely in the eye, and speaking in a clear, confident voice.

"Proceed," directed the court, without comment.

All his testimony went to prove that he was worried, harassed, taunted from every side by the consequences of his own misconduct, and that his only thought was to get out of town, give the scandal surrounding him a chance to die down, and then come back to his family and business.

In direct contradiction to the testimony of Miss Warrington and Miss Norris, who have sworn that they left home against their judgment and desire, and only when marriage had been promised them, Diggs named Marsha Warrington as the one who had insisted that they go.

As early as January 31, he testified she had said to him, "You're a piker. We girls have framed this, and you fellows have got to go along with us." Diggs was perfectly master of himself. He spoke with a clear voice, in an easy, free but earnest manner, looking for the most part directly at his counsel, but sometimes turning his large eyes to the jury and sometimes dropping them to his carefully manicured finger nails.

"On March 3," testified the defendant, "I remember talking about my fix with Miss Warrington. 'I've got to go away from here,' I told her. 'Things are getting too hot for me. We'd better disconnect.' She didn't want me to go. I told her that I had to—that I had a future, a family and a business to protect and that I was going to Los Angeles for a while and give the public opinion a chance to die down."

"A few days later she called me up and asked me why I was still in town. I told her that I had some buildings under construction and that there were details in connection with them I had to look to."

"About a week before we went to Reno, Diepenbroek, my landlord, told me that the janitor of the building, and the policemen on the beat had complained to him about my taking girls to my office."

"The same week I took an auto ride with Miss Warrington on the upper Stockton road. We saw another machine behind us and I told her it was my father with an officer of the juvenile court. We traveled fifty miles an hour for some minutes and left them."

"My father was in town then and I knew he was looking for me. I believed what I told the girl. She said: 'Believe me, you're not going away and leave me here.' 'Do just as you please,' I said. 'I'm going and I'm going alone. I've got too good a family here. I've got to think of them. I've got lots before me in this town and I want this to blow over.'"

"Marsha said no, she's got to go, too, and Miss Norris with her. Miss Norris never would have gone to Reno if Miss Warrington had not insisted on it, from the first."

"I got the machine," continued Diggs, "and rode around in it all day, calling on O'Brien's saloon from time to time. 'That father of yours is a terror,' O'Brien said to me. 'He's running around here like a maniac.'"

"It's places like this that ruin young men," said he. "I'll have you closed if it takes the last cent I've got."

"I went into hiding. What O'Brien told me on top of what Denipenbroek had said, scared me. I told O'Brien I'd heard my father was looking for me with a policeman, and he said that was true."

"Later I learned from my uncle that my father was at home and I came out of hiding. Miss Warrington and Miss Norris had visited me at my hotel."

"On March 3rd I met Caminetti and Marshall Diggs, my uncle, with Miss Norris and we talked things over. Miss Norris suggested that I leave town. I explained the difficulty of doing this. Business men had put several thousand dollars in contracts in my hands. 'My uncle said that I had to go home to my wife and quit running around and leave other women alone,' Miss Norris suggested that I'd best leave town. My uncle told me that my wife knew all about my affairs. The next day, Monday, Caminetti came to my hotel and said: 'That father of yours is a terror. He called me on the phone to ask where you were and when I told him I didn't know, he called me a liar and told me he'd have me fired out of my job, that I wasn't fit to be working for the state board of control.'

"Can't tell me his wife said that she told him that she was going to Judge Hughes for a warrant, that things had gone far enough."

"On Wednesday night, before we left for Reno, my uncle prevailed on me to go home. As I was entering the house I met Caminetti leaving. He wouldn't speak to me."

"I had dinner and went down town again. 'Can't tell me that my wife had been saying to him: 'You've been a snake to me for years,' he said she told him, 'now I'm going to show you what a real serpent is. I'm going to cause you untold trouble.'"

"Can't tell me she called him to the house by the telephone. He said he was so scared when he went in that he hid behind a door when he saw her coming until he was sure she didn't have a gun."

"That same night I saw O'Brien, too. He told me that he'd heard through Marsha Warrington's uncle that her father had said he'd heard she was going with a married man, that he was suspicious of me, and that he'd sworn if he ever found us together he'd kill us both."

The direct examination concluded without any questions about the purchase of tickets to Reno, the trip on the train or the three days' in the Reno bungalow.

SULZER REFUSES TO OBEY ATTORNEY GENERAL

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 19.—That Governor Sulzer will decline to abide by the opinion of Attorney General Cardozo, declaring Lieutenant Governor Martin H. Glynn to be the acting governor of the state, and will seek a court decision, was the general opinion expressed in official circles today. Both Mr. Sulzer and his counsel declined to discuss the attorney general's findings.

GREAT EXCITEMENT PREVALES IN DISTRICT

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 19.—John Place, Socialist member of the British Columbia parliament; Arthur Jordan, secretary of the Nanaimo Coal Miners' local, and Joe Angelo, leader of the foreign element in the strike at Nanaimo were arrested at Nanaimo last night with forty others implicated in strike disturbances.

They were charged with taking part in an unlawful assembly. This and the flooding of the Western Fuel company's mines today and the discovery of a pile of ammunition at Ladysmith have thrown the district into a state of great excitement. Surrounding the Nanaimo Athletic club, where five hundred miners had gathered to discuss the terms of the proposed agreement with the management of the Jinglepot mine, four hundred soldiers, under the command of Colonel Hall, barred every avenue of escape and took every man in the building into custody. They were removed in batches of ten under guard to the court house, where they were searched. Those who could be identified as having taken part in the disturbances of last week were arrested and after having been separated from their companions, were marched under a strong bodyguard to the provincial jail. The others were liberated.

When the news of the roundup became known, there was a general rush in the direction of Athletic hall, but the sentries from the Highland brigade drove the crowd back. Men and women were in the crowd and their cries and sobs could be heard on all sides.

"It's places like this that ruin young men," said he. "I'll have you closed if it takes the last cent I've got."

"I went into hiding. What O'Brien told me on top of what Denipenbroek had said, scared me. I told O'Brien I'd heard my father was looking for me with a policeman, and he said that was true."

San Francisco, Aug. 19.—"What did your husband do to you?" asked the desk sergeant of Mrs. H. Martin when she inquired at police headquarters today how to get a warrant for his arrest.

"He threw me off the cliff into the ocean," answered the young woman calmly.

She was estranged from her husband, but last night she consented to walk with him on the beach. They talked over the differences until they had reached the Cliff House.

"So you won't take me back?" asked the husband.

Mrs. Martin said her next sensation was that of struggling in the breakers, at the foot of the cliff.

Edward Smith, who happened to be star-gazing on the sands, saw her fall and brought her to shore unhurt. The husband escaped.

32 MISSING IN A STEAMER WRECK

THE PURSER LOSES ALL LISTS, BUT STEAMSHIP COMPANY'S PAS-SENGER LIST SHOWS THAT A LARGE NUMBER ARE STILL UNACCOUNTED FOR.

WILL SEND DIVERS TO SEARCH FOR DEAD

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 19.—Thirty-two surviving passengers of the steamship State of California are on the way to Seattle on the steamship Northwestern, and eleven are in a hospital in Juneau, with only one of them in danger. There are ten bodies of passengers on the Northwestern.

One of the four unidentified women whose bodies were recovered was Miss Blanche Fridt, a teacher in the State Normal School at Monmouth, Oregon. Her family live in Valley City, N. D.

Captain Cann will return to the scene of the wreck.

The Pacific Coast Steamship company checked up the list of its passengers again today and still place the number of dead at 32. The company will send three divers north by the steamship City of Seattle, sailing tonight to make a thorough search of the hulk and bring out all the bodies.

List incomplete.
Juneau, Alaska, Aug. 19.—The list of known dead and missing who were on the Pacific Coast Steamship company's steamer State of California when she struck a rock and sank in Gambier Bay Sunday morning, today stands unchanged with ten bodies recovered and fifteen passengers known to be missing and given up for dead. Whether more passengers than the fifteen whose names appeared in the list of missing are among those whose bodies were taken down with the wreck is uncertain, as Purser L. I. Coughlan saved no records and is not sure how many were aboard the ship when it went to its doom.

To the best of Coughlan's recollection the State of California left Seattle with 53 passengers. Nineteen more boarded the steamer at Prince Rupert, B. C., and several others took passage at Ketchikan, Alaska, and other ports on the way north, but how many or who left the steamer at the several stops along the coast he does not remember.

Examination of the hospital list, where eleven survivors were taken, added to names to the list of passengers saved. They are George O'Dell, a Kansan, enroute to the Sushanah gold field, and Alvan Vinedge of Seattle.

The eleven survivors treated in the hospital are:

H. R. Andrews, suffering from shock and exposure.

Alvin Vinedge, Seattle, severely bruised.

Mrs. Belle Drake, Des Moines, bruised.

Lawrence Ferris, New York, knee badly sprained.

Nans Johanson, third engineer, head cut.

Pilot McGillivray, rib broken and body bruised.

George O'Dell, Kansan, head cut.

Mrs. Peter Olson, shock and exposure; not expected to live.

Peter Olson, Tacoma, shock and exposure.

C. D. Shaw, Sidney, Australia, head cut.

Mrs. M. J. Tracy, stewardess, shock and exposure.

The State of California is a total loss with everything on board, including cargo, mail and express, and personal effects of the passengers. Those who survived, escaped only with the clothes they had on when the steamer struck. Many were in their night robes.

THE FLY ON THE SCREEN THIS WEEK

Manager Stanton, of the Elks, has agreed to co-operate with the Woman's club in the crusade for cleanliness and will exhibit, at the Elks theatre, on Friday and Saturday evenings next a film of pictures on the subject of the fly, and his relationship to the present day conditions in the city of Santa Fe.

The picture will be run in connection with the regular films of the evening which are the nights for running the Pathe pictures.

This crusade of the ladies is for the purpose of endeavoring to bring about better conditions here and these pictures will tell us why this movement is needed here in our city.

You can see it pictured out on the evening of Friday and Saturday of the present week.

WILSON GETS CREDIT FOR PERSISTENCE

BUT WOULD RECEIVE MORE IF HE WOULD PUT ON A LITTLE MORE PRESSURE AND GET CONGRESS BUSY ON NECES-SARY LEGISLATION.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—President Wilson is receiving deserved credit generally throughout the country for the skill and determination with which he is forcing congress to action upon his legislative program, but he would deserve, and get, much more credit if he would extend his line of pressure upon his Democratic followers in the house and the senate to the point of making them give some where near decent and adequate attention to the absolutely necessary business of the government.

In an extremely important respect the record of the Democrats from the time they took charge of the house in the 62nd congress down to date is one of scandalous inefficiency and incompetence. The long session of the 62nd congress met in December, 1911. The fiscal year expired on June 30, 1912, but in those seven months the Democrats had displayed such inefficiency and incompetence that they had not passed the annual appropriation bills absolutely necessary for the maintenance of the government. Repeatedly charged with this gross inefficiency, the only explanation they have ever made was that they were busy making a political record on the tariff, and other things. In other words, their explanation is a confession of guilt of the precise charge.

The United States government is the greatest corporation in the world. Congress is its finance committee. There is not a corporation, partnership, firm or individual doing business in the world that could exist from one week's end to another with such scandalous inefficiency in its financial management.

In 1912 it was not until September that all the appropriation bills were passed. On two or three occasions it had been necessary to pass special resolutions continuing the old appropriations temporarily—a makeshift device of procrastination and inefficiency.

Now this special session of the 63d congress, with the Democrats in control of the house, the senate and the administration, gives another exhibition of the absolute disregard of the Democrats for the financial obligation and honor of the government. The Democrats did not pass all their appropriation bills during the regular session, and two or three of them have had to be put through at this special session. Now it has been found that even in these belated bills sufficient provision was not made for some of the humblest of the government employees, who work at the lowest wages. There is no money now to pay the charwomen who scrub out the capitol and the offices of members, and the page boys are still waiting for the wages they earned last June.

Yet, these Democrats, whose incompetency is thus proved by repeated evidence, are cheerfully setting themselves to the business of reforming the currency and banking systems of the United States, and brag that they know how to control corporations.

CALL HOURLY TO COLLECT BILL LANDS IN JAIL

Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 19.—Three weeks ago Vernon McCrumb, a grocer set out to collect $13.75 from Homer Miller, wealthy business man and owner of a splendid home on Hill street in the exclusive residence section.

McCrumb declared that the wealthy Mr. Miller had owed the $13.75 for three years, and Mr. McCrumb and his wife began calling at intervals in an auto delivery wagon to obtain settlement. While Mr. McCrumb would rap loudly on the front door Mrs. McCrumb would sit in the auto and toot the horn three times. Then they would drive away.

Last week they increased the frequency of their visits to one a day. The Miller front door remained impassive. The $13.75 was still unpaid. Yesterday Mr. McCrumb notified Mrs. Miller that thereafter he would call once an hour.

"For 20 years, if necessary," added Mr. McCrumb.

An hour later up drove the McCrumb. Mr. McCrumb rapped while Mrs. McCrumb tooted and the neighbors snickered. Mrs. Miller waited until the McCrumb auto had chugged around a corner, then she sought Attorney A. J. Sawyers.

"You can't stop his coming—by law," said the lawyer. "Try strategy." Mrs. Miller put some strategy in a bucket and hid behind the door. When the persistent Mr. McCrumb stepped jauntily up and knocked, to the accompaniment of a tooting auto horn, he got so much strategy down his shirt front that it took him the rest of the day to dry off. He did part of the drying off in a justice court, getting a warrant for assault and battery.

A jury acquitted Mrs. Miller. McCrumb is expected to appeal.

The Millers, several years ago, figured in a number of sensational suits. Involving W. J. White, the Cleveland chewing gum king. They are prominent socially in this city.

CITY SCHOOLS WILL OPEN SEPTEMBER SECOND

SCHOOL BOARD SO DECIDES LAST NIGHT—ALSO HIRES TRUANT OFFICER,
ACCEPTS TWO RESIGNATIONS AND ELECTS TWO NEW TEACHERS.

DEPARTMENT WORK WILL BE DONE THIS YEAR

School will begin Thursday, September 2nd, in the city schools. So decided the board of education at their meeting last night. And furthermore all the children of school age in the city are invited to participate in the coming term. If the invitation to attend does not bring them, the truant officer will, for the board last night hired John V. Conway as city truant officer, and he will make it his business to see that every child of the required age attends school.

Two resignations were received from among the teaching force last night. Miss Marie Green who wrote that she had accepted a position in Birmingham, Ala., her home city, and would stay there. Miss Etta Moore was elected in her place. Miss Green's resignation being accepted with sincere regrets. Miss Clara Palm, who for the past two years has been in charge of the kindergarten work, also tendered her resignation, stating that it was imperative that she remain with her mother, this winter, at their home in Texas. Miss Helena Randall, a former Santa Fe girl, was selected for the kindergarten work. Miss Randall is a graduate of the University of Colorado, and for the past year has had special training in kindergarten work and the Montessori method, and presents especially good recommendations for the work she is to do here.

The board decided that the rooms would not be assigned until next week, when a special meeting will be held for that purpose.

It was also decided by the board to do departmental work this year in the 6th, 7th and 8th grades. This is the first time this work has ever been done in the local schools.

The teaching staff as now selected is as follows:

J. H. Wagner, city superintendent of schools; George Lougee, principal; Miss Elsie Staley, assistant principal; Miss Marie Sena, Stella Hutson, Marion Bishop and Mrs. Mary Martin, members of the high school teaching force.

Grade teachers—Misses Alberta Smith, Frances Abbott, Ada Harvey, Helen Gilderleeve, Nellie Harrison, Lela Laws, Minnie Laws, Etta Moore and Helen Randall, kindergarten.

In the southside school, Misses Louisa Schneppe and Juanita Sena will be the teachers.

The old building, west of the high school has been redecorated throughout, and is now in splendid shape. The floors have been refinished and oiled, and the walls decorated, and it is said to be a very marked improvement.

DANCE ON CAVE-IN TO SAVE LIVES

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 19.—Dropped 40 feet into the earth while ascending Locust mountain, John Coggin, a Philadelphia vacation visitor, and his dog, spent the night in tangoing out of danger as successive slides of earth threatened to bury them alive.

Coggin's adventure occurred in a hole over the old Koh-in-Noor workings. A hole 10 feet in circumference and 40 feet deep held him prisoner. Coggin cried for help, but was unable to make himself heard. Becoming hoarse and exhausted after two hours, he lay down, with the dog to await daylight, but hardly got himself settled when the sides of the breach started to cave in again, and he was kept busy silencing and dodging falling debris at different intervals until 6 o'clock in the morning, when he again cried for help.

Peter Becker, watchman at Neis-winter colliery happened along and heard him. Becker notified John Brown, Alex Maze and Horace and Joseph Scott. A rope was lowered to Coggin, who first sent his dog up and was himself pulled to the surface, when he fell exhausted from the awful shock. He is uninjured.

TAKES JOY RIDE ON ITALIAN ENGINE

Williamson, W. Va., Aug. 19.—After taking a party of three friends on a joy ride in an engine he stole from the yards of the Norfolk & Western railroad and running at a speed said to have been 100 miles an hour, John Meadows, a drunken engineer, came to grief when another engine sent in pursuit crashed into his engine and both were crushed.

Meadows pulled out the throttle in the 20 miles he traveled out of the city, and it was on the return trip, six miles east of here, that the crash with the engine taken out by the foreman of the roundhouse, who had gone in search of the joy riders, occurred. Meadows failed to fire up and he was returning at rather slow speed, and to this fact is due the saving of his life as well as that of the roundhouse foreman, Meadows was painfully injured, but disappeared after the wreck, and was found later asleep in the woods. His companions were not long on the return trip. Meadows de-

RED LARGE PIMPLES ALL OVER FACE

Festered and Came to Head. Scratching Made Sores. Caused Disfigurement. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Face Now Clear.

1413 E. Genesee Ave., Saginaw, Mich.—"Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me of a very bad disease of the face without leaving a scar. Pimples broke out all over my face, red and large. They festered and came to a head. They itched and burned and caused me to scratch them and make sores. They said they were not serious. At night I was restless from itching. When the barber would shave me my face would bleed terribly. Then sores would form afterwards, then they would drop off and the so-called seed warts would come back again. They were on my face for about nine months and the trouble caused disfigurement while it lasted.

"One day I read in the paper of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I received a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and it was so much value to me that I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment at the drug store. In about ten days my face began to heal up. I kept on using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a very short time after the sores dropped off the red spots where they were vanished also. My face is now clear of the warts and not a scar is left." (Signed) LeRoy C. O'Brien, May 12, 1913.

Cuticura Soap 25c and Cuticura Ointment 50c, are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

ANDREWS STORE BURGLARIZED LAST NIGHT

The Andrews grocery store on San Francisco street was burglarized last night, $12 in cash taken from one cash register, the office thoroughly ransacked for other valuables, and a liberal supply of groceries carried off. One cash register the thief could not break open, although he had worked on it quite a while with a screw driver, and luckily the burglar was not a yeggman, or at least he did not have his nitroglycerine along for the big safe was not bothered.

Entrance was obtained from the back of the store, by breaking through a window and then opening the back door.

In speaking of the burglary this morning, Mrs. Andrews said that in her opinion the robber was an American. She was unable to give a detailed list of the missing groceries, but said the clerks kept reporting all morning that this article or that article was missing or had been tampered with.

Mrs. Andrews says she believes that an attempt was made to break into the Andrews residence last night also, but that the marauders were frightened away.

AUTO BANDITS GET AFTER COWS

Battle Creek, Mich., Aug. 19.—"Auto bandits," of Chicago who used the gasoline conveyances to move jewelry, have been outclassed by two enterprising crooks in this city, who use an auto to steal cows.

One bull is missing from the farm of Henry Cox, four miles south of here, and only the tracks made by an auto across the field and barnyard give the local authorities any clue.

Another cow on the adjoining farm of Winton Adams, was found with a broken leg early Thursday and the same auto tracks were seen there. Deputy sheriffs believe that in trying to load the one owned by Adams, they accidentally broke her leg.

NOTICE OF CONTEST.

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Santa Fe, New Mexico, August 19, 1913.

To John Jacob Luxem, of Santa Fe, New Mexico, Silver City, New Mexico, Contestee:

You are hereby notified that Roland A. Avery, who gives Santa Fe, New Mexico, as his post-office address, did on April 19, 1913, file in this office his duly corroborated application to contest and secure the cancellation of your desert land Entry No. 8550, made May 15, 1908, for W 1-2, Section 23, Township 15 N., Range 9 E., N. M. P. Meridian, and as grounds for his contest he alleges that said entryman has wholly failed to expend one dollar per acre per year for the second and third years since making said entry; that said entryman is not a resident of the State of New Mexico; that he has done nothing and expended no money or actual cash for the purpose of improving and reclaiming said land since the first year of his entry; that the amount of $1440 shown by claimant's second annual proof to have been expended was not an expenditure of actual cash as required by the desert laws.

You are, therefore, further notified that the said allegations will be taken by this office as having been confessed by you, and your said entry will be canceled thereunder without your further right to be heard herein, either before this office or on appeal, if you fail to file in this office within twenty days after the FOURTH publication of this notice, as shown below, your answer, under oath, specifically meeting and responding to these allegations of contest, or if you fail within that time to file in this office due proof that you have served a copy of your answer on the said contestant either in person or by registered mail. If this service is made by the delivery of a copy of your answer to the contestant in person, proof of such service must be either the said contestant's written acknowledgment of his receipt of the copy, showing the date of its receipt, or the affidavit of the person by whom the delivery was made stating when and where the copy was delivered; if made by registered mail, proof of such service must consist of the affidavit of the person by whom the copy was mailed stating when and the post office to which it was mailed, and this affidavit must be accompanied by the postmaster's receipt for the letter.

You should state in your answer the name of the post office to which you desire further notices to be sent to you.

CLANCY ON LEGISLATION

NEW MEXICO'S NEEDS DISCUSSED.

EDITOR'S NOTE—The address of Frank W. Clancy, attorney general of New Mexico, read at the annual meeting of the State Bar Association in Raton, is declared to be of intense interest, not only to lawyers, but to the voters and tax payers of the Sunshine State. At the suggestion of several persons who heard the address read, the New Mexican will print the address in full, but dividing it into three parts.

Part I was printed Saturday, August 16; Part II appeared yesterday, August 18. Today Part III ends the address.

CLANCY RAPS AT STATE SENATORS.

"Senate Bill No. 184 was intended, as it had become apparent that we could not get any substantial change in the present system of assessment, to simplify and make less cumbersome that system, and to get rid of a number of provisions which have in the past troubled and embarrassed ALL OFFICIALS concerned with the administration of the law. This object is DEFEATED by the act which DID pass.

"The removal of the judiciary from politics was made the subject of a short bill which was introduced at each of the two sessions of the legislature. Although this was one of the matters as to which a PARTY PLEDGE had been given, no attempt was made to report any substitute for it, and the common talk about the legislature was that political managers wanted the active assistance and the money contributions of candidates for judgeships, and would not consent to the passage of any act in fulfillment of the party pledge.

"The only objection to the second of these bills (regarding elections) that I ever heard was one which I was told came from managing politicians who said they would not be able to know whether purchased voters actually voted as they had promised or not, and the successful management of elections would be interfered with.

"Improper control of elections and election machinery is almost as important to large, selfish and unscrupulous interests as are the subjects of assessment and taxation.

"Other instances of disregard of the public good might be multiplied.

"A bill to regulate the traffic in intoxicating liquors was introduced in the house at the first session of the legislature and was considered and discussed in committee with great zeal and interest but its passage was obstructed and by the advocates of so-called temperance.

"It appears to be the fact that both liquor dealers and prohibitionists desire the least possible amount of regulation of the saloon business, although from directly opposite motives.

PART III

In the last days of the session the controlling powers seemed to realize that something must be done with regard to the subject of taxation, and taking senate bill No. 184 as a foundation, there was evolved and presented to the legislature the measure which now appears as Chapter 84 of the Laws of 1913. A comparison of that act as it now appears on the statute books with senate bill No. 184 will show that in almost every instance where there is a departure from the provisions of the original bill, it has been in the direction of weakening and confusing the whole matter, and the result is that the state board and the courts will have much to do during the coming year in attempting to ascertain what the condition of the law really is. Every member of this association who has had anything to do with the assessment of property since that act was passed can testify as to the numerous difficulties which have beset him and which greatly tend to increase the chances of success in efforts to avoid assessment and taxation.

"Senate bill No. 184 was intended, as it has become apparent that we could not get any substantial change in the present system of assessment, to simplify and make less cumbersome that system, and to get rid of a number of provisions which have in the past troubled and embarrassed all officials concerned with the administration of the law. This object is defeated by the act which DID pass.

"One argument recently made before the State Board of Equalization carried to its logical conclusion, would negative that any valid assessment whatever can be made for the year 1913, although in my opinion, the argument is not well founded, but is based upon a literal reading of some sections of the new law which require impossibilities as far as the year 1913 is concerned, coupled with the absolute repeal of previous laws on the subject.

"An interesting phase of this question is to be found in what the State Board of Equalization attempted to do and the treatment which it has received from the legislature. In February, while the legislature was in session, that board in the discharge of its duty as to the fixing of values upon corporate property of certain kinds, attempted as far as was possible with the limited information it had, to ascertain and fix the full real value of those properties as required by the law then in force, and indicated its purpose to try to bring the assessment of all other property as near to that standard as possible. In order to give effect to this purpose it is obvious that the board would need the use of a considerable amount of money to make investigations and secure needed information, but as a result of what the board attempted to do the legislature passed an act which appears as chapter 81 of the laws of 1913, imposing much additional labor upon the board and requiring the assessment of property at one-third of its actual value, while it appropriated for all expenses of the board the meager sum of $200 per annum. It would seem that the activity of the board in trying to enforce the law was offensive, and the effort was to discredit the board by requiring of it the assessment of property, and at the same time disabling it from properly performing such duties. As a further result there was adopted by the legislature a joint resolution for a constitutional amendment to be voted upon at the next election by which the State Board of Equalization would be wiped out of existence, and the legislature would be practically left free and untrammelled as to all matters of assessment of property for taxation.

The Judiciary.

"The removal of the judiciary from politics was made the subject of a short bill which was introduced at each of the two sessions of the legislature, by which candidates for judicial office, except justices of the peace, were forbidden to take part in election campaigns or to contribute to the expense thereof. No attention was given to this bill in the first session of the legislature, but in the second session the judiciary committee of the senate reported it with the recommendation that it should not pass, and no further action was ever taken upon it. Although this was one of the matters as to which a party pledge had been given, no attempt was made to report any substitute for it, and the common talk about the legislature was that political managers wanted the active assistance and the money contributions of candidates for judgeships, and would not consent to the passage of any act in fulfillment of the party pledge.

As to Elections.

"As to the subject of elections, two bills were introduced at each session of the legislature, and they appear as senate bills Nos. 69 and 99 of the second session. Senate bill No. 69 was for the purpose of regulating primary elections as to which it provided in substance, while preserving the convention system of making nominations, that the primary elections of all parties should be held on the same day, and during the same hours of the day, at the same place in each precinct, with a separate ballot box provided for each party so that the voter could be allowed to vote only with one party. Registration was required and the ballots, officially printed, were to be in different colors for the different parties. It is hardly necessary to point out the advantage of such a system over that which now prevails. Senate bill No. 99 provided for the calling and conduct of elections with provisions for what might be called a modified Australian ballot so as to secure secrecy and the independence of the voter.

"Objection was naturally made to the first of these bills by those who advocated what are known as direct primaries, but they were equally unable to get any consideration for their bills providing for such primaries. The only objection to the second of these bills that I ever heard was one which I was told came from managing politicians, who said they would not be able to know whether voters actually voted as they had promised or not, and the successful management of elections would be interfered with. No man ever told me that he himself had such an objection but it was said that some other people so objected.

"Improper control of elections and election machinery is almost as important to large, selfish and unscrupulous interests as are the subjects of assessment and taxation. That the refusal to consider any legislation on this subject, and there were numerous other bills introduced, was a flagrant violation of a pledge in the party platform, appears to have been of no consequence to the ruling powers.

Disregard of the People.

"Other instances of disregard of the public good might be multiplied, but these samples of matters which were taken up by direction of this association, ought to be sufficient, and I will refer to only one other, relating to a matter in which I have taken great interest and to which I have devoted a great deal of time.

Liquor Traffic.

"A bill to regulate the traffic in intoxicating liquors was introduced in the house at the first session of the legislature and was considered and discussed in committee with great zeal and interest, but its passage was obstructed both by the liquor interests and by the advocates of so-called temperance. As to this subject I have had the pleasure of being denounced by the temperance advocates of prohibition as the hired tool of the liquor dealers, while the liquor dealers I am told have declared with profane emphasis that the villain was trying to ruin their business. At the second session I was led to believe that it would be better for the success of the bill that it should be introduced in the senate, and it there appeared as senate bill No. 64, but it was promptly and effectively attended to by reference to a committee, the chairman of which has been identified with the sale of liquors and who would never call a meeting of his committee for the consideration of this bill. The purpose of the bill was to obtain strict and complete regulation of the business by a state central authority, accompanied by high license.

"It is true that the legislature has enacted two laws on this subject which appear as chapters 76 and 78 of the laws of 1913, but they contain almost nothing on the subject of regulation, and are more local option laws which at best can only apply a remedy for saloon evils, at the will of the people, in restricted localities. They can operate only as small patches upon the body politic without effecting any general change in conditions. It appears to be the fact that both liquor dealers and prohibitionists desire the least possible amount of regulation of the saloon business, although from directly opposite motives.

"I bring these matters before the Bar Association not for any purpose of unkindly criticism of the legislature, or of its members, many of whom had no idea that they were being 'worked,' to use a common colloquialism, but in the hope that our members may be able through the influence which they undoubtedly can exert, to obtain in 1915 some legislation for the public good on the subjects hereinbefore mentioned and on many others of great importance, of which I wish I had the time properly to speak on this occasion. Such subjects do not, or ought not properly to involve any questions of partisan politics, and their introduction at this time, and place ought not to be objectionable to anyone upon that ground.

"As it is practically difficult to obtain copies of bills introduced and not passed, I will submit herewith for the information of the association, copies of the bills hereinbefore referred to, which are senate bills Nos. 5, 11, 12, 183, 184, 3, 69, 99 and 64, which I have fortunately been able to preserve, and I trust that they may receive sufficient consideration by our members so that the association can next year, before the meeting of another legislature, make intelligent and specific recommendations."

FUNDAMENTAL CHANGES IN THE BILL

MOST OF THE CURRENCY AMENDMENTS WERE SUGGESTED BY BANKERS—PROGRESSIVE FRIENDS OF PRESIDENT NOT PLEASED—WILSON SAYS BILL MUST PASS BEFORE ADJOURNMENT.

(By Gibson Gardner.)
Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—More favorable sentiment among the national banks has been created for the administration's currency bill by changes made in the Glass committee. Nearly twenty amendments, some of them quite fundamental, were added before the bill went to caucus. Most of these amendments were suggested by the bankers.

Less enthusiasm exists among the more progressive friends of President Wilson for this new currency measure. The increased credit which the original bill promised to the commercial world now seems doubtful. There is no disposition to take snap judgment on the measure and the public is at a disadvantage in judging it on account of the secret dealings of the Democratic caucus, whose debates, if published, would throw much light on the subject. Some suggestions in criticism, however, have been made, as follows:

The amendments to the bill have removed all possible competition between the regional reserve banks (proposed in the bill) and the national banks. Credit would be just as much controlled by national banks as it is now. The federal reserve bank is to be controlled by nine directors, who are chosen by the national banks. These directors would make sure that the federal regional reserve bank would not do any business which would interfere with the profit-making operations of the national banks.

The proposed act is permissive and not compulsory on the federal reserve bank in the matter of extending credit to its customers. The customer is obliged to do business with a national bank and cannot do business directly with the federal reserve bank. It can be refused or made the object of discrimination under the proposed law just as he can be at present. The law says particularly that all applications for credit or currency are obliged to have the endorsement of the national banks which are members of the reserve association.

Even in rediscounting paper for national banks, which is made compulsory upon the regional reserve bank under one section of the act, there is a provision in addition that this discount must take place at a rate from one to three per cent higher than the rate prevailing in the community. This insures complete monopoly of the discount rate by the national banks, since the regional reserve bank, compelled to charge a higher rate, could not compete.

The proposed law will afford an opportunity for the circulation of a larger volume of currency. This currency, however, will go through the national banks as it does at present. In time of stress the act will afford some elasticity to the currency, and in this respect the bill is good. In fact, the bill as it stands is rather unimportant. It probably does no harm and will have little effect on the banking system. Certainly it is proposed by the banking world as a whole. The bill places more actual money at the bankers' call and makes it possible for them to avail themselves of more instruments of credit to secure actual money. In this respect it will make possible the doing of a larger business by the national banks and will enable them to make a larger profit. This will incidentally reflect favorably upon general commercial business.

The provision placing control of discount rates and supervision over securities offered as a basis for currency circulation in the hands of a federal board is no longer looked upon as in the least radical. In circulating money the government naturally is entitled to its supervision. The addition of a general advisory council of twelve men from the national banks to sit in with the government's board of seven will increase the bond of sympathy between the national banks and the government's money issuing board.

Since the bill emerged from committee consideration, criticism has been confined to insurgent Democrats who seek the extension of government favor to rural credits. Representatives Henry and Eagle, of Texas, and Ragsdale, of South Carolina, would like the government to issue money on the basis of warehouse receipts for cotton, wheat and other agricultural products. Their demand has been met by the president's suggestion that the next big job to be undertaken by the administration will be the passage of some law dealing with rural credits.

The president is still insistent that the currency law be passed before adjournment. In the senate there is a very restive feeling and efforts are on foot to secure a recess of that body until fall.

SAWYER OUTFITS FOR HIS HIKE WITH THE GOLD STAMPEDERS.

Daily New Mexican Correspondent who Has Joined the Big Gold Rush to the New Field in Alaska Tells of the Supplies He Had to Buy and How He'll "Pack" It Across Scenic Passes.

(Editor's Note: E. O. Sawyer will write for the New Mexican about the big gold stampeders to the new Klondike in Alaska and write the romance of the trail, camp and diggings for the readers of this newspaper. When he has finished with the gold rush, Sawyer will travel over Alaska by trail, horse and write articles about this great empire which Uncle Sam is soon to develop. The following article was written before his departure from Seattle.)

(By E. O. Sawyer.)
Seattle, Wash., Aug. 19.—"What have you in the way of a pack horse, say about 500 to 1000 pounds," said I to the fat man who presided over the big and little horses in a South First street sales stable, about 15 minutes after I had received instructions by wire from the editor of the New Mexican to get under way at once for the scene of the new gold strike at Shushanna, Alaska.

"We sold out our last pack horse that is in fit condition for the Alaska trails, yesterday," replied the fat man. I had said nothing about Alaska, and this man's powers of observation interested me so much that I asked him how he knew I wanted a pack horse for the Shushanna trip.

"Haven't I sold 50 pack horses in the last two days to gold rushers. Nobody that has the price of a pack horse is going any place else," he replied.

Several hours later, after receiving similar replies and excuses from men who were just out of pack horses "fit for Alaska," it became apparent that the rush from Seattle for the gold fields was more than a mere "report." It was a fact.

I had just about decided to wire my resignation to the editor, go into the pack horse selling game, import "em from eastern Oregon and get rich, when the very animal for which I was searching was trotted out of its stall in a suburban livery stable.

My horse purchased for $80, I proceeded to lay in supplies—saddle, pack bags, blankets, poncho, hand axe, 150 pounds of assorted food.

Wait a minute now, I said 150 pounds of food. Enough to last a man two months and then some if he shortens up the rations. Yes, I expect to be on the trail only three weeks during the round trip to the gold fields. What's the answer?

Suppose an early blizzard puts the Scorial passout of the running so far as coming out and I have to return by the long trail via Whitehorse or go clear to Dawson? Or suppose I should fall and break a leg? Each man in there is carrying his own food, and on a gold rush it's survival of the fittest. Ask the "sour doughs" who saw many a poor fellow fall by the trail on the way to the Klondike and die. Die because no one could spare him food and be sure of his own life.

Yes, the developed and settled parts of Alaska are just as civilized and as much more safe places to live than Chicago or New York, but on a gold rush into a new section—well, some things make man hark back to the brute in a day, and a rush for a new placer gold field 150 miles from the nearest mining camp is one.

So I am going to take 150 pounds of food. I have decided not to take a gun. All the rushers for gold will carry them to protect prospective gold claims from "claim-jumpers," so if I need one to hunt with I can borrow it. A horse can only pack 200 pounds over Scorial pass, and a gun would mean that much less food.

Sometimes the symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble are so plain no one can mistake them. Backache, weak and lame back with soreness over the kidneys, sharp pains, rheumatism, dull headache and disturbed sleep, are all indications of a trouble that Foley Kidney Pills will relieve quickly and permanently. Try them. The Capital Pharmacy.

Gold at Red River.

Great interest is manifested in the Red river mining camp, 12 miles east of Questa, and the camp will soon come into prominence as one of the great gold fields of the west. A lump of gold weighing 22 pounds, the product of mining 75 tons of ore from the Caribei mine was on exhibit last Wednesday by H. L. Pratt, president of the company. The Caribei bears every indication of a wonderful producer. At present a four and a half foot vein is being followed, which assays $151 to the ton for the whole width of the vein. This is not thought to be the richness of the mine, as very much richer ore has been taken out, and the tendency is to increase values as the work of development progresses.—Questa Gazette.

50% INCREASE

since March 1, 1912, in the number of direct branch offices of the Remington Typewriter Company in the United States.

The importance of this fact to the typewriter user lies in the expansion and development of Remington Service Efficiency.

The two factors of Remington Typewriter Supremacy are Quality and Service. The one goes with the sale; the other follows the sale. The one is in the machine; the other is back of the machine. And both are essential to the permanent satisfaction of the typewriter user.

The great expansion of the Remington Sales Organization has advanced our service facilities beyond any standard attained or attainable in the past. This service goes everywhere and it covers everything. ## NEW EXPRESS RATES GO INTO EFFECT AT ONCE

THE WELLS FARGO TRAFFIC MANAGER WIRES THE CORPORATION COMMISSION THAT THE NEW RATES ARE EFFECTIVE ON ONE DAY'S NOTICE.

HEARING WILL BE ARRANGED VERY SOON

The new Wells Fargo express rates published in this paper yesterday will be put into effect immediately, on one day's notice, according to a telegram from N. K. Lockwood, of San Francisco, traffic manager for the company received today by the state corporation commission. This will mean that the fruit and express shippers, if they find any relief in the new rates will be able to begin shipping immediately under the new rates to points in New Mexico. The commission's order designating the new rates will be No. 47.

Equally important with this announcement was that made by Mr. Lockwood in the last part of his message when he says: "Will be glad to confer with your commission at the earliest possible date as it is our desire to co-operate with you."

This means a hearing on the express rates subject at an early date which will probably mean permanently lowered rates on express shipments within the state, while the interstate commerce commission will probably see to it that lower interstate rates go into effect soon.

PRESIDENT OF ROCK ISLAND IS SANTA FE VISITOR

H. U. Mudge, president of the Rock Island system, with headquarters at Chicago, arrived in the city last evening on horseback. Mr. Mudge did not come from Chicago in this manner, however, but only rode over from his summer cottage on the upper Pecos, near Cowles, where he had been spending the past few weeks. It's only 28 miles, but it seems a great deal further, according to Mr. Mudge. The particular reason for Mr. Mudge's visit was a certain requirement of the New Mexico corporation laws which requires corporations doing business in the state, either to file certified copies of the articles of incorporation, if incorporated in some other state, or to file their articles here if a New Mexico corporation. There is a little piece of the Rock Island in eastern New Mexico running into Tucuman, and it for some reason or another is not properly registered with the commission. However, as a result of Mr. Mudge's trip, everything will be fixed up satisfactorily.

Japs Want to Locate Armory—Yesterday two Japs, strangers in the city, entered the Elks club house and asked Steward Frank Sturges if this building (meaning the club house) was the armory. He replied that it was not. They then asked him where it was located, and he showed it to them from the rear windows of the club house. Thanking him they left, presumably for a close inspection of said armory.

LIGHT SHOWERS FALL, BUT MIDDLE WEST STILL SUFFERS

Kansas City, Aug. 19.—A few more light showers fell at scattered points in Missouri and Kansas last night, but according to reports to the weather bureau here and at Topeka, drought conditions in southeast Kansas in the vicinity of St. Joseph, and in the Wichita district are little better than before the first showers which fell last Saturday. Rains served to modify the temperature, but water supply for vegetation and live stock remains a serious problem in the greater part of Kansas, northern Oklahoma and western Missouri.

Wichita today reported the temperature about 10 degrees below the blistering heat of last week, but actual damage from drought rapidly increasing.

PAVING & SEWERS ARE DISCUSSED BY COMMITTEE

THE STYLE OF PAVING SELECTED AND BOND ISSUE OF $6,000 FOR SEWER SYSTEM WILL BE EMBODIED IN THE REPORT TO CITY COUNCIL.

WILL BE OF GREAT VALUE TO SANTA FE

The committee of five from the city council and five citizens who were named to confer with the state engineer and report recommendations to the council, regarding paving and the proposed new sewer system, met yesterday afternoon. After a lengthy meeting the committee decided to recommend to the city council the adoption of a form of paving costing $1.70 a square yard, with a concrete base. This will be used in paving the remainder of the streets around the plaza and around the capitol grounds. This paving however, is contingent upon the paying by the property owners interested of half the cost, which provision is found in the law passed by the last session of the legislature.

Regarding the sewer system, the committee will recommend a bond issue of $6,000, a relatively small amount considering the good that will result. With this bond issue it is contemplated that a main line on Don Gaspar avenue, another on Galisteo street, can be built, while the north side sewer known as the De Vargas hotel system and the present sewer which empties near the house of Marcelino Garcia, can all be connected with the sewer system to be constructed for the state buildings and the whole line run at least two miles below town. The last legislature passed the law authorizing the city to connect with the state sewer system which was provided for by appropriate legislation. It is estimated that the total cost will be about $15,000, of which the city's part will be $8,000, which it is proposed to be raised by bonds. This however, is up to the people to decide and the committee appointed Arthur Seligman and Judge R. H. Hanna as a committee to handle the publicity in connection with the bond issue election.

All the above recommendations will be made to the city council at its meeting tomorrow evening.

FRIEND OF THE "FRIENDLESS" IS IN SANTA FE

To work for the friendless—for those "strangers in a strange land" who know not where to lay their head or grasp a welcome hand—that is the mission of the Rev. Edward A. Fredenburgh who is in the city.

He has become the general superintendent of a movement which is organized in twelve states and which has lines out in five more. The title of his association is "The Society for the Friendless" and he has just selected A. E. P. Robinson of this city to be superintendent for New Mexico.

The purposes of the society are the "prevention and cure of crime, the reclamation and restoration of the criminal and the relief of the friendless and distressed. Other objects are prison reform, prison evangelism and prisoners aid."

WALL STREET.

New York, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Crop news, the principal market, factor recently was relegated to second place today and the Mexican situation furnished the chief speculative material. Early reports of the Mexican ultimatum were succeeded by more reassuring advices and the market grew quieter after the first downward rush.

No substantial recovery was effected, however, and before noon prices drifted to a still lower level, although pressure was not great.

Shares of railroad and industrial corporations with large interests in Mexico bore the brunt of the selling, and their weakness made short sales elsewhere profitable. Smelting broke 3 points, Amalgamated and Union Pacific and the list generally from 1 to 1 1/2.

Copper stocks were especially affected by the possibility of the shutting off of supplies by the suspension of mining in Mexico.

Bonds were irregular.

Better weather news which was reflected in lower prices for wheat and corn failed to ruffle the stock market, which continued in a state of inaction. The buying seemed to have wholly disappeared, but bears were just as cautious in putting out stock, causing a virtual deadlock.

The market closed steady. Nervousness among the shorts caused a better inquiry for stocks and prices improved slightly. Losses in Reading and Steel were reduced to small fractions and some other favorites also made up about half of the day's decline.

GOOD ROADS DAY ON THE SANTA FE TRAIL

BOOST FOR SANTA FE AT MEETING TO-NIGHT

DR. BROWN OF WATROUS WORKING HARD ON PROPOSITION TO MAKE WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, THE DAY FOR EVERYBODY TO WORK ON THE SANTA FE TRAIL.

Dr. W. T. Brown of the Valmore Industrial Sanitarium at Watrous, is still boosting good roads, and his latest idea promises to bring results if he gets any help in the idea at all. Present prospects are that his idea will be adopted all along the Santa Fe Trail and on the appointed day, a great deal of work, while only a temporary improvement, will be done.

In speaking of the idea of a road day, Dr. Brown, in a letter to the New Mexican, says:

The date of the Santa Fe Trail Good Roads Day has been changed to Wednesday, September 10th. Everything is coming along splendidly and it is going to be a big success. I wish you would help us boost it. The plan is to divide the territory into districts and plan the work thoroughly in advance. The work between Santa Fe and Las Vegas to be done by the Santa Fe-Las Vegas contingent, helped by everybody along the line as, for instance, Lamy, Pecos, Rowe, Ribera, Valley Ranch, etc.

The committee from Santa Fe to have charge of the work, say, as far as Fulton and the Las Vegas committee from Fulton to Las Vegas. The Watrous committee will take care of the road from Las Vegas to Dog Canyon, and Wagon Mound from there on.

The Las Vegas committee, headed by Mayor Taubert, will go over the road thoroughly about August 27th. They will make a complete log of their part of the road, laying it off in sections, making a complete list of the work to be done on each section, figuring the number of men required on each section, the material required for culverts, etc. Signboards will also be placed at all road crossings. It is hoped that the Santa Fe and Las Vegas contingents will make a strong effort to secure the cooperation of everyone along the road between those two cities.

JOHN M. EARNEST DIED THIS MORNING.

John M. Earnest, an old and respected citizen of Union county, but a resident of Santa Fe for the past year, died at his home in this city at 5 o'clock this morning. Mr. Earnest had been in poor health for some time. The funeral will be held Thursday morning at 10 a. m. The deceased was born October 4th, 1841, at Germantown, Pa., and for many years past had lived at Clayton.

Howell Earnest, state traveling auditor, is a son of the deceased, and two daughters, Mrs. R. P. Ervin and Mrs. W. H. Brown, reside in this city. The traveling auditor, who was in Clayton on business, has been wired and he will arrive here tomorrow morning. No. 3 having been asked to pick him up at Trinidad.

MANY PROBLEMS COME UP FOR DISCUSSION, INCLUDING SELECTION OF A PERMANENT SECRETARY. —A. C. RINGLAND WILL TALK TO MEETING.

SEWERS AND PAVING WILL BE DISCUSSED.

Many important problems confront the members of the Santa Fe Chamber of Commerce tonight.

One of the most interesting matters to come up will be the selection of a secretary. Several names have been mentioned in connection with this appointment, but the favorite candidate seems to be George H. Van Stone, formerly of Santa Fe, and well known throughout the state.

A regular program has been arranged so that the meeting tonight will cover a lot of ground. There will be discussions of the trunk sewer to be built under the capitol, the paving of streets, and other improvements and the report concerning the Lake Peak trail.

Ringland to Talk.
A feature of the meeting will be the talk of Arthur C. Ringland, district forester, who is anxious to cooperate with the chamber in securing publicity in forestry matters, so that progress may be made along certain lines of interest to residents in this region.

Membership.
A vigorous campaign to get more members for the chamber is to be waged. Several well known men have applications for membership which will be announced tonight, but the chamber is anxious to perfect arrangements so that many more persons may be interviewed and encouraged to join this organization.

Unsolicted applications have gladdened the hearts of the boosters. Here is a letter which has just been received and which shows the spirit which will make a greater Santa Fe:

"Please find herewith my application for membership in the Chamber of Commerce with check for three dollars for one quarter dues.
I am a booster for Santa Fe, and desire to do all that I can to forward the interests of the city. If there is anything I can do to help, call on me."
—Very truly yours,
"A. C. THOMAS."

Praises Envelope Scheme.

Mr. Thomas adds in a postscript: "Your envelope scheme is a GOOD ONE and when you get them advise us, we shall be glad to use them."
Mr. Thomas is connected with the Rio Grande Live Stock company, and he recognized the importance of sending out information about the city on the front and back of envelopes, a scheme worked with such success by San Diego which is probably the most talked of little city in America.

Santa Feans who are interested in the growth of this city are invited to turn out tonight and help make the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce a rousing one.

The organization is open to all who served in foreign territory, including China, during the period of the Spanish war and the Philippine insurrection.

STOMACH TROUBLES

Mr. Ragland Writes Interesting Letter on This Subject.

Madison Heights, Va.—Mr. Chas. A. Ragland, of this place, writes: "I have been taking Theodor's Black-Draught for indigestion, and other stomach troubles, also colds, and find it to be the very best medicine I have ever used.
After taking Black-Draught for a few days, I always feel like a new man."
Nervousness, nausea, heartburn, pain in pit of stomach, and a feeling of fullness after eating, are sure symptoms of stomach trouble, and should be given the proper treatment, as your strength and health depend very largely upon your food and its digestion.
To get quick and permanent relief from these ailments, you should take a medicine of known curative merit.
Its 75 years of splendid success, in the treatment of just such troubles, proves the real merit of Theodor's Black-Draught. Safe, pleasant, gentle in action, and without bad after-effects, it is sure to benefit both young and old. For sale everywhere. Price 25c. N. C. 12.

A STRONG INDICTMENT.

It is certainly refreshing to hear from a public man as candid and forceful a speech as that by Attorney General Clancy, read at the meeting of the Bar Association at Raton last week.

It was courageous and it was timely. It struck with vital force squarely at the things which need to be brought to the attention of the people of this state.

We have been careless and wholly neglectful of our needs and blind to the conditions by which we have been surrounded and we ought to be awakened by those things which were so cogently and so caustically presented by a man who is pre-eminently qualified to judge.

We endeavored to put before the readers of this paper last winter and spring the exact conditions under which we were operating and the manner in which the legislature was being manipulated, and it is a matter of congratulation to have that position which we then took, upheld by one of the ablest and most respected officials of this commonwealth.

We all knew there was a lobby. We knew that it was exerting a subtle influence over the members. We knew that it was not going to be possible to get any legislation that was in the interest of the people alone, but that other interests would always have the right of way, and that any apparent concession to the rights of the citizens of the state would be so hedged with sinister language and with so-called "jokers" that all its value would be destroyed.

These words of Attorney General Clancy form a very strong indictment: "We have heard much recently of an 'insidious lobby' which seeks to interfere with congressional legislation, but the adjective used is not adequate to a proper description of our New Mexican lobby."

"Small in number, it was not only insidious, but continuous, persistent, artful, subtle, intelligent, acute, astute, adroit, able, efficient, ingenious, quiet, ever-watchful and effective."

The grand jury of the citizens of New Mexico well know the truth of it and they have it in their power to rectify it and see that it can not be charged against those who, in the future, are chosen to make our laws.

Paste in your hat this sentence and look at it often so that you will not forget it: "The greatest legislative need of New Mexico is a legislature."

We have had it only in name and it is high time that we had it in reality. We have been burdened with a lobby, but not blessed with a legislature. Is it not time that we abolished the former and selected the latter?

THE PRODIGAL SON.

It looks as if the G. O. P. is to have another recruit and that he may be picked up by the leaders of the old organization to run for governor of the old Bay State.

This man is none other than Eugene N. Foss, the present and sometime executive of Massachusetts.

Governor Foss is peeved. The cause is Wilson and the tariff. It will not be a strange thing to which the governor returns if he again enters the corral of the elephant as he has been there before and left to get elected to congress in the then Republican district.

The desire to again get back into the old alliance is based on an entirely selfish motive as the governor is afraid that the present tendency of the Democratic party is toward the injury of the business in which he is engaged and it leads one to wonder if his nomination at Baltimore last year, which at one time seemed quite probable, would not have raised a merry war in the Democratic organization as Foss does not appear to look at public matters from any more broad standpoint than the effect of any legislation on his own individual interests.

He is now convinced that "at least the present national leaders of the Democratic party offer no hope to the country of a sane tariff revision."

The drift of things points more and more toward a new line-up in the next election and more and more it is becoming apparent that party lines are growing less binding and that men are going to cast their ballots independently of their former affiliations.

Just what effect this action of Foss will have on the political situation in Massachusetts it is difficult to tell at this time, but it is apt to cause a great deal of friction and means a three-cornered contest in the Republican primaries, as two other candidates have already announced themselves. It is rather doubtful if they will be willing to stand by and see the fatted calf handed out to the returned prodigal without a vigorous protest.

However, politics make strange bed-fellows and it may be that Foss will be permitted to lie down with his former comrades without a protest, and may be handed out the plum which he is seeking as a reward for his return.

STRAWS INDICATIVE.

Everywhere you hear complaints at the growing cost of government in cities. In New York it is chronic. Yet during the past seven years the increase in land values in that city, as reflected in the increase in assessments, has by almost 10 percent exceeded the entire cost of the city government.

Land values are made, not by individuals, but by the community, by all. They could, therefore, justly be taken by all to pay the community expenses. If they had been so taken in New York the past seven years, no other taxes would have been needed. Every working man in that city would have gone tax free.

The bulk of the increase in land values is pocketed by a few. By folks like the Astors, successful land speculators or the endowed children of pioneers who got in on the ground floor. The many get little of it and the little they get is like the prize in the lottery, which baits in vastly more money than it compels the insiders to pay out.

But most of us have in us the hope to own a home, and of course if there is to be any unearned increment flying around in connection with the land values in that home, we should want our share. It is upon that lottery ticket that the big speculators base their chances of beating back the land value tax movement.

Thus far they have succeeded, aided by popular neglect to study the subject. But signs multiply that the folks are becoming interested. U'Ren, running for governor on a land value tax platform in Oregon, and Fagan running on it for mayor in Jersey City, are straws indicative.

Now they are trying to arouse a sentiment in favor of knee breeches for men. If this fashion is not checked somewhere, we will have to increase the size of our insane asylums or invent some way to make the income of men keep up with the pace set by the fashions. This thing is getting beyond the joke point as many of our men already have bought their fall suits.

A New York youth has been given five months in which to marry or lose an inheritance of $10,000,000. One thing is sure and that is, that he won't have to look around any to get the girl and he won't have to spend any large amount of time courting her.

"Words are very serious things at times," says Senator Bacon of Georgia. From the amount of words that are injected into the Congressional Record it would appear that words are very cheap at times, as well.

Governor Sulzer sees the difference in being inside of Tammany and inside the tiger. One must stay inside the one to be able to stay outside the other apparently.

Fishing in its prime. The Pecos River the best trout stream in the Southwest. The Valley Ranch offers the best accommodations and best location for fishing.

CORRECTED.

"How did you come to fall in the water?"
"I didn't come to fall in you boob! I came to fish."

AS THE BYSTANDER SEES IT

She Will Be Perfect.

They are going to try the experiment of the ages down at Bryn Mawr college. They are going to start out to make a perfect woman out of the girls upon whom the experiment is to be tried. If the trial is successful think where the boys of today will be when they come to get married. The plan is this:

They will take twenty young girls as nearly perfect physically as they can get, ranging between 10 and 12 years of age, and train them for seven years in elementary tactics and bring them up as women should be educated.

The pupil in the open air school who has passed the best tests after seven years' work will receive a $2100 scholarship for her course at Bryn Mawr. She will receive not only her tuition but all her expenses for four years.

Among the things these girls are to learn to make them physically perfect and beautiful are "Jacques-Dalacroix eurythmics." A graduate of the Jacques-Dalacroix college at Hollerud, Germany, will come here to train the candidates in perfect body movements.

Of course the plan at the present time is to make these young ladies physically perfect, but when they get this accomplished they will go farther and make her perfect in every way and where will that leave poor, imperfect man, and what kind of a showing will he make in the same house with a perfect piece of humanity. Of course there are a lot of us who married before Bryn Mawr thought of establishing this method of making womanhood perfect and we thought, and still think that we found the perfect woman some time ago, but this new scheme is for the benefit of those who might not have been so fortunate and it is to make the thing general instead of just a sporadic case now and then.

It would change things a lot though, to have a world of perfect women, and would make the average man feel that he really belonged back in the cave dwellers age.

Still Going Up.

The news notes say that broom corn is $28 a ton down in southwest Kansas. That means I suppose that brooms are going up now and that it is going to cost more even to keep clean. I wonder where this price business is going to end anyway. We are told that the cost of beef is going to be way up in the skies the coming winter because the feed is short as a result of the drought, and now they are starting a coal strike and that will be the grounds for an uprise in coal and so goes the story on every hand with the poor ultimate consumer getting his all the way down the line. This cost of living matter has ceased to be humorous and the jokers are not quite as free with it as they were when it first began to be noticed and we did not know just how far toward the moon the cow was going to jump, never dreaming that the creature was going to try to go clear over it, as Mother Goose told us she could do.

We are meeting with things these days that even the famed story teller of childhood hours, with all those fanciful details, never dreamed of, and the old lady was some dreamer at that. The first thing we know we will be giving an exemplification of that little tale about Old Mother Hubbard who went to the cupboard and, like her we will find not even a bone, because there will not be anything that even suggests meat about the whole premises.

These are sure strange days upon which we have entered, and one wonders where the end lies, and what there is ahead for the ultimate chap who has to pay the bill. Most always when a thing goes up there comes a time when it has to come down, but up to the present day there seems to be a way by which the things we eat can stay up without limit, as to time, or the distance to which they can go.

A Peril Brought Home.

The recent death of two rich leaders of society in New York in an automobile collision with a fast train on an unguarded grade crossing on Long Island promises to have more effect toward abolishing such death traps than scores of humbler killings, of which the world has heard little.

For a tragedy in their own circle brings home to the directors of our railroads the peril in the operation of swift trains at grades across busily traveled intersecting highways.

Yet life was not more sweet to S. Osgood Pell and William Laimbeer, multimillionaire brokers, than to Mike O'Toole, hodgecarrier, and Felix Levinsky, pack peddler, run down by the iron horse quite as ruthlessly some months before.

And while Pell and Laimbeer will be mourned in their fine homes no doubt as keenly as O'Toole and Levinsky in humbler abodes there will be this difference: In the fine homes the visitation of the angel of death will not take from any inmate a crust of bread, but in the humbler abodes, to sorrow will be added the frightful problem of non-support for the wives and orphaned children.

Yes, life is sweet, all life. Therefore let's be more careful how we protect it.

AMONG THE EDITORS.

Don't Average Right.

Taking the county as a whole there are 110 persons to each auto. That would give Roswell about seventy autos instead of about five or six times that many, the number now here—Roswell Record.

Fine Specimen.

Senator Myers of Montana declares that his constituents are in favor of free wool. Montana is a sheep state, but Senator Myers says the wool-growing industry, with a hundred years of protection behind it, is a dying industry, and he favors a change to free trade. Senator Myers is a fine specimen of untutored Democrat.—Clovis Journal.

Will Wonder Why.

When the present long, hot, dreary, some, unpleasant summer has passed the average citizen will wonder why in the dickens he didn't have sense enough to know better than to put in a garden.—Springer Stockman.

Till the Wind Changes.

The action of Governor Hodges of Kansas, in refusing to proclaim a day of general prayer for rain, saying that while he believed in the general efficacy of prayer he excepted the case of flood or drought, reminds us of the old Illinois preacher, who, when faced with the same request, took a squint at the heavens and remarked: "Brethren, prayer is all powerful, but I think we might as well postpone it in this case until the wind changes."—Roswell News.

Sensational.

If one were to judge by the newspapers, war with Mexico is not only imminent, but unavoidable. Fortunately for the good of the people the newspapers are not arranging matters between these two countries. The flaring headlines stand over articles which are mostly guesswork from the part of newspaper correspondents. A news item that said there was no danger of war would not be as sensational as one that declares war to be inevitable.—Silver City Independent.

Value Not Volume.

Recently, so it is said, while two men and two women of Newport's fast and fashionable set were in bathing, some miscreant stole their clothing and valuables which had been left in the bath house. That seems almost incredible so far as the clothes are concerned, for the apparel of women in the fast set is popularly supposed to consist of three layers of transparency, and sometimes only two, and therefore of not much use to cover the person of an ordinary woman.

But perhaps what the clothing lacked in volume it made up in value.—Silver City Enterprise.

The Reason.

The enormous outflow of American citizens and American money to the cheap and fertile lands of Western Canada is one of the important factors that has been strangely overlooked in diagnosing the business stagnation in American real estate in the past two years. The loss of a couple of million American families, carrying with them the price of that many American farms, is in itself enough to account for a very widespread curtailing of trade.—Deming Headlight.

BEAST SPRINGSON JUDGE LINDSEY

WHEN HIS BACK IS TURNED--THE TRUTH ABOUT THE EFFORT TO RECALL LINDSEY IN DENVER--CAN HE WIN THIS, HIS TENTH BATTLE, AGAINST SOILED MILLIONS?

We presume our readers have been surprised and also puzzled by recent brief news items to the effect that a movement has been started in Denver for the recall of Judge Ben B. Lindsey, famous as father of the juvenile court and as vanquisher of "The Beast" in many hard fights. Surprised because we had all of us thought that Judge Lindsey had earned lasting security from attack; puzzled because the news dispatches tell of a Denver woman's organization is urging the recall.

The daily New Mexican has been to some pains to investigate this movement against Judge Lindsey in his home city. It is perhaps difficult for an outsider to properly gauge sentiment and motives in another community, but in this case the Daily New Mexican has had the assistance of the Denver Express and its editors and the truth is:

"The Beast" is out of its lair again! The attack is being directed in the name of the Woman's Protective league and in an alleged effort "To secure the legal protection of girl children." An investigation of this organization shows that it is ruled practically by one person and that that person is backed in this vicious attack on Judge Lindsey by one E. K. Whitehead, president of the state bureau of child and animal protection, and long an enemy of the juvenile court judge.

Before the state bureau of child and animal protection was established it was the Humane society, headed by Whitehead and backed with the private subscriptions of William G. Evans, president of the Denver City Tramway company; Walter Cheeseman, head of the Denver Union Water company; and other prominent beneficiaries of special privilege. Whitehead is the respectable person, the "white shirt front" which you always find is thrust forward when special privilege has some piece of work to be done in which it must not show itself.

The whole attack on Lindsey is based on alleged records kept in a jail blotter, of something like 90 cases in his court in which men and boys were charged with crimes against girls. This jail blotter record was printed in pamphlet form over the name of Women's Protective league and distributed by tens of thousands, on July 4.

It did not take the Denver Express long to discover who obtained the misleading jail figures when the absolute true and official court records were just as available. Nor did it take long to run down the man who arranged for the printing of this "Women's Protective league" pamphlet and who stood good with the printer for the expense.

It was "White Shirt Front" who did it all! The genteel Whitehead forsooth!

Very well; we now know who Judge Lindsey's assailant is and who that assailant's friends are. Also we know that the Women's Protective league might as well be counted out of the case.

Now as to the charges. The Denver Express looked them up. Whitehead went to the jail blotter, which is kept, as in all jails, by a turnkey, or somebody who makes some sort of a record of what becomes of all prisoners brought in. This record Whitehead took for his misleading pamphlet attack.

But the Express editors went to the official records, the court minutes kept by the clerk, and they found altogether different story about these 90 cases, or thereabouts, in which Judge Lindsey was charged with making but sixteen convictions. Here is the official court record:

Fifteen cases dismissed outright by a former district attorney.

Nine defendants found not guilty by a jury.

Three tried by Judge Lindsey and acquitted.

Three confessed to the district attorney with the understanding they would be allowed to go on probation.

Four were sentenced to the penitentiary, three to the county jail and 11 to the state reformatory.

Thirty were released on probation and report regularly to the court, the probation acting as a suspended sentence.

Two were tried in another county.

EVERYONE WELCOME!

Six were tried in other courts. Two skipped bond. Two charges were changed to assault and battery.

There were cases among those placed on probation where parents of both boys and girls asked that prosecutions be dropped. In a number of instances, youths and young men married the girls whose names appeared in the charges against them. Then again, there were boys arraigned who were too young to prosecute for any serious offense.

To the mind of most readers the publication of the official court records should have smashed the whole movement. But the "Beast" never says die when there's a chance. "Make it stick, anyway," said Lindsey's enemies and if you go to Denver today you will find traction employees, political henchmen of special privilege, petty politicians, made and female, pointing to the misleading jail records which special privilege's "White Shirt Front" dug up.

In this attack, as in others, the "Beast" with characteristic bravery, sprang at Lindsey when his back was turned. At the moment when the charges were published, the judge was in a hospital at Battle Creek, Mich., hovering between life and death from an operation. Also he was crippled financially. Nine campaigns against the "Beast" in 12 years doesn't spell "bank account." It spells "debts." And Judge Lindsey was still paying debts when he went to Battle Creek for his operation. Now he has more debts.

Can he afford another fight? The "Beast" thinks not. So the order is, "Make the jail records stick and we'll supply the dough to beat him!"

This recall fight against Judge Lindsey is a national fight. If Lindsey is recalled, special privilege everywhere will be strengthened.

But his overthrow will be a blow to every juvenile court in America.

It will be a blow to every honest, unbought official. It will be a stunning blow to the progressive and common people of this nation.

We feel with the Philadelphia North American that Judge Lindsey should not be compelled to pay all the expenses of this, his tenth, battle against special privilege. We hope that progressive men and women of this city who believe in Lindsey and his work and who can afford to do so, will contribute their mite in this fight against the soiled millions of the cowardly "Beast."

It will not pay you to waste your time writing out your legal forms when you can get them already printed at the New Mexican Printing Company.

Heat a Menace to Lives of Old Folks

Sickness and Misery Result From Clogged Bowels in Hot Weather

People advancing in years should be very careful of their health during the hot months, as heat has a very enervating and weakening effect on them. One has only to look at the daily list of fatalities to elderly people reported by the papers to realize that these are the hardest months for them to overcome.

The easily digested foods should be eaten, and then only sparingly, and alcoholic beverages and iced things should be avoided as much as possible. Exercise should be taken daily in the shade. Most important of all in the maintenance of health and vigor at this time is to avoid constipation, with its accompanying headaches and muscular and blood congestion. This is accomplished by the timely use of a gentle laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is the ideal laxative for elderly people, as it is mild, tastes pleasant and does not gripe. Best of all, it contains valuable tonic properties that build up and strengthen the system.

Elderly people should avoid strong physics, cathartics, purgatives, salts and pills, as they are a shock to the system. In the opinion of reliable people like Mrs. C. J. Nicholas, 2010 Emerson St., Berkeley, Cal., who esteems it a benefit to mankind, and Ida C. Millsack, 210 N. Law St., Allentown, Pa., who declares that her stomach and bowels are now in perfect working order. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the right remedy to use. It can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. The latter size is bought steadily by those who already know its value.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it, postpaid, by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 418 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

NEWS OF THE STATE

Nothing Like It.

There is something radically peculiar about this city and this country. Whether its climate, the people, the scenery or the altitude, it would be hard to judge—but anyway, there is something. This week two families, former residents of Springer, returned to make their homes in the city, both declaring that there is no place like it, nothing that just fits the requirements.—Springer Stockman.

Found Rich Copper.

Jas. T. Fulton and J. L. Abreu spent several days in the mountains looking up mining claims. It is reported they found some good property with a large body of copper and will employ a few men developing the same at once. The writer is to be informed when the property is located properly, so that he can make another fortune. Should the News not be printed next week, the readers will know that the writer left in quest of the fortune.—Cimarron News.

An Empty Jail.

We wonder how many counties in the state can boast of the showing the Curry county is making in the matter of its prison record? There has not been a prisoner in the Curry county jail since the 20th day of June. The doors were opened and left unlocked when the boys sentenced to it were taken from it nearly two months ago. "We have a pretty peaceable community as well as a mighty good one," said County Sheriff L. L. Moyer to a Journal reporter.—Clovis Journal.

Successive Misfortune.

John Peters, the poultry man on F street had the misfortune to step on a rusty nail one day last week and was laid up for several days. During his absence from duty, the rig used to deliver poultry and eggs was run into the rear of the Schadel cafe and thrown into a deep gulch. Twelve dozen eggs were scrambled, as well as the rig, but the horse escaped unscathed. A bystander who saw the accident declares the dad who was driving the rig jumped forty feet when the collision occurred.—Silver City Enterprise.

The Barbed Wire Agony.

While John Gist and Tom Loveless were planning to go fishing Thursday night the horse that they were driving became frightened and ran away. Both men had a hold of the horse at the time but their combined efforts could not hold him. The horse got away, tore up the buggy and cut himself completely to pieces on a wire fence. Severe cuts around the throat and legs caused the animal to bleed to death in a few hours after the accident happened.—Roswell News.

Road Days in San Juan.

Road Day last Friday was the start of a movement for better roads in San Juan county. The road from Farmington to Fruitland was cleared of all boulders and every chuck hole was filled and the bad place just out of town was filled in with shale. Culverts were also put in where needed. The teams of the lower country were busy, the ranchers being in the midst of a delayed hayed with rain threatening, but they will all turn out when they can. The 29th and 30th of this month will again be observed as road days. If it is practical a road day will be set aside once a month and if this is done we will have some of the finest roads in the state in the course of a year or so, with the help of the road commission.—Farmington Enterprise.

A Touching Story.

A heroic struggle for life, a devoted friendship with calm preparations for death when the battle promised to be a losing one, is the romance which surrounded the last act in the drama of the lives of two men who now lie side by side in the Silver City cemetery. The story is an unusual one and reads more like fiction than cold, hard facts. Dallas P. Ellis and Richard H. Baldwin were two adventurous Americans who tried their luck on the big ditch at Panama. Both were seized with tuberculosis in that humid climate and both disregarded the warnings of failing health until the disease had reached a far advanced stage. Then as a last resort they started for Silver City to fight the disease under the best possible conditions. They arrived here in January. On the 25th of March Ellis died and Baldwin attended to the details of his funeral and was the sole mourner to follow the remains to their last resting place.

Two months later Baldwin went to the undertaker and ordered a duplicate of the casket in which his friend had been buried; arranged the details of his own funeral, secured an adjoining plot in the cemetery, to that in which his friend lay, and paid for it all. Two weeks later he was dead. All the details were carried out as had been ordered, and the only possible mourner was the comrade beneath the clay in the adjoining plot. And so the two friends finishing their life's journey together.—Silver City Independent.

RALPH C. ELY BACK FROM TRIP

THE PRESIDENT OF THE STATE FAIR COMMISSION TELLS OF THE TRIP ABOUT THE STATE AND OF THE FAVORABLE CONDITIONS.

Deming, N. M., Aug. 18.—Hon. Ralph C. Ely, president of the New Mexico State Fair commission, has just completed a tour up and down the southwestern in the interest of that institution. Incidentally Mr. Ely has gathered some information concerning New Mexico calculated to make the average New Mexican sit up and wipe the dust out of his eyes. He covered as far as Tucumcari, and found out a lot of things of interest. "I have understood from time to time," says Mr. Ely, "that dry farming which is practiced in the northeastern portion of the state, was not altogether successful and that a great many farmers had gone away. It is true that several more than usually dry years were pretty discouraging, but it is also true that nobody knew just what could be done to the best advantage in the dry farming sections and there were a great many of the farmers who were not familiar with the methods of cultivation which are employed in sections where the rainfall is barely adequate under the most scientific methods. I find that a great many of those who have remained are very hopeful. They have introduced the silo and there are several in the vicinity of Tucumcari, likewise in the vicinity of Roy—I didn't get to Roy—and every one of the farmers who has a silo attained good results last year, and all those who expect to put in a silo this year are confident of increasing the net profit of their farming considerably. Many are grazing their cows on native grass and supplementing this with ensilage. They have a creamery at Tucumcari which is making 5,000 pounds of butter per week and the spirit of the local merchants is such, I am told, they don't sell any other butter, until they are absolutely compelled to by the demands of certain customers.

"There is an experiment station at Tucumcari that is doing very nice work indeed, and which is exceedingly helpful to the farmers of that locality. It is now maintained by the federal government, but was first established by the people of Tucumcari. Then it was helped a little by the state through the agricultural college. Prof. Mundell is a very accurate observer and evidently a thrifty man of the world who has some good common sense. When a farmer doesn't know just how to do a thing or just what to do, if he gets in touch with the director of the experiment station, he is sure to get good ideas that will fit his condition. Such a man as Mr. Mundell and such work as is being done by that station ought to be had in every county in the state. It wouldn't cost much and it would avoid the loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars every year. Business men of all kinds can afford to stop and think what it means to them. A farmer can never afford to buy a thing with money which he doesn't make on crops which fail. He becomes a good customer only through the successful operation of his farm, and a man who doesn't know just how to do a thing in the farming line can be instructed by a trained man employed by the community a good deal cheaper than he can be permitted to go back east and a new man found to take his place. There is bound to be a limit to the importation of new men, but there isn't any limit whatever to the development of his state through the successful operation of farmers who are already here, or of those who will be induced to come here by their success.

"The people of Santa Rosa showed me possibilities in their community which surprised me. They drove me several miles down the valley east of town and the orchards and alfalfa fields were beautiful. The most impressive thing to me was the abundance of water available for the irrigation of bench land on each side of the valley. It isn't going to be many years before people recognize this avenue for growth, and when they begin spending a little money in this development around Santa Rosa will be wonderful. One young orchard and garden plot belonging to Mr. J. W. Wood has been in cultivation only about four years, and has paid a splendid profit since the first year. Mr. Wood was in poor health, when he located there and has grown strong and rugged from his outdoor life. That may be the best result of his farming, but it is wonderfully encouraging to know that he has so handled his little plot of ground as to make it pay him the first year. I naturally compare any man's water supply with the water available from a pumping plant, and he has a stream with probably five hundred cubic feet per minute. The ground was quite rough and uneven to start with, and he has conducted his water along high lines, cementing where seepage was too heavy. You can find just such evidences of the certain results following thrifty intelligent cultivation in every community which I visited.

"At Carrizozo the business men this year have made up a little pool and have just started an experiment farm, pumping their water. The resources around Carrizozo are surprising; some of the best apples in the whole state are found in the valley up around Lincoln. Last winter's freeze hurt the fruit pretty generally throughout the state, but it wouldn't surprise me a bit if Lincoln county made one of the best showings at the state fair of any of the counties of the state. Tularosa has wonderful soil and an abundance of water for all of its present operations. It boasts of two of the biggest and best chicken ranches in the state. I had time to see only one of them, but the operations of Mr. R. S. Connell, if widely known, would give a great impulse to the raising of poultry. He counts his hens by the thousands and his arrangements are so simple that one isn't impressed with the intricacy of the business itself so much as he is with the ease of it. Mr. Connell makes money not only out of his chickens, but from flowers, which he raises for the Chicago market, as well. He is an unusually resourceful man and furnishes an example in a half dozen lines of endeavor which is an inspiration. He is coming to the state fair to talk about the commercial side of the poultry business, and the information which he can give to the man who is interested in the chicken business will be invaluable. By the way, the poultry department, under the supervision of Mr. John Roth, is going to be one of the strongest departments of the fair. It don't take as much capital to get into this line of business as it does into some, and with a little money and thrift, we can make it one of the great industries of the state.

"Things have been a little quiet in Alamogordo for a few years, but they are just beginning to pick up. It is largely a pumping district, similar to Deming. I saw several of their wells and things look very promising. The best feature of Alamogordo, from my point of view, is that their own people are doing their development. The banker has his farm. Several of the town are putting a little money into small outlying orchards and vineyards every one of which looks fine. When a community believes sufficiently in its resources and possibilities so that its own people are spending money along these lines, there is no reason to doubt its ultimate destiny. Apples, peaches, pears and grapes are replacing mesquite all around that beautiful little town, and Alamogordo will come to the state fair with tangible results showing the reason for the faith of its people in the resources of that locality.

"C. L. Ballard, of Roswell, chairman of the New Mexico Cattle Sanitary Board, has consented to act as superintendent of the range cattle department of the state fair and is going at the work of his department with a zest. Mr. Ballard is known all over the state and by reason of his official position is in perfect touch with the range cattle industry. We will undoubtedly have one of the biggest stock shows ever seen in the southwest. Of course, there will be some stock brought in from the outside, but the big end of the show will come from our own ranges and farms. Mr. Ballard hopes to introduce the raisers of thoroughbred Hereford and Durham cattle in the state to the range stock men in such a way that New Mexico will ultimately produce its own thoroughbred bulls from its ranges. At the present time, so far as thoroughbred cattle are used at all, they come to us very largely from Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri. They might just as well be raised at home, and the great sum of money paid out every year for this high grade stuff kept here. We are very fortunate in having the assistance of Mr. Ballard in this connection."

Mr. Ely's next itinerary will be up the Rio Grande as far as Bernalillo county, then across on the cut-off to Clovis, thence down the Pecos valley to Roswell and Carlsbad. Mr. Ely expressed extreme gratification at the attitude of the Agricultural college toward the state fair, who are going to use the state fair as a means of reaching the people and establishing more intimate relations with them.

R. Bedichek, secretary of the Deming Chamber of Commerce, leaves here Sunday evening for Mountainair where he will address the chautauqua, his subject being "Harmony—A Community's Chief Asset."

The Board of County Commissioners canvassed the returns of the recent election held to determine whether or not a county high school is to be established in Deming, and the returns show only two votes against the proposition in the county. At the meeting of the board of trustees of the Methodist church, a contract was let to Gus Wehnhömer for an eight-room parsonage to be built of brick and modern in its appointments, on the site of the present parsonage. The bids of several contractors upon examination showed a variation of only eight dollars. The parsonage will cost $2,500, and work will be begun on the same at once. Elmer Evans, from Roy, N. M., has

Grandma Talks About Babies

Has a large Circle of Listeners Who Profit by Her Wisdom and Experience.

In almost any settled community there's a grandma who knows Mother's Friend. Not only is she reminiscent of her own experience, but it was through her recommendation that so many young expectant mothers derived the comfort and blessing of this famous remedy.

Mother's Friend is applied externally to the abdomen, stomach and breasts, always at pain, avoids all nausea, and prevents caking of the breasts.

It is quickly and wonderfully penetrating, permits the breasts to expand without the strain on the ligaments, and prepares the system so thoroughly that the crisis is passed almost without the slightest distress. Thus there need be no such thing as dread or fear. No better nor more cheering advice can be given the expectant mother than to suggest the use of Mother's Friend. She will take courage from the beginning. The days will be cheerful, the nights restful. Thus the health is preserved, the mind is in repose and the period is an unending one of quiet, joyful anticipation.

You can obtain Mother's Friend of any druggist at $1.00 a bottle. Do not forget, no matter how far you are, do not forget to be supplied with this greatest remedy ever devised for motherhood. It is unfailing. Write at once to Bradford-Regel Co., 1231 Laurel Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their very interesting and instructive book of advice for expectant mothers.

Forecast. For Santa Fe and vicinity: Partly cloudy and threatening with local thunderstorms tonight or Wednesday. For New Mexico: Generally cloudy with local thunderstorms tonight or Wednesday.

Conditions. Low barometer is general over the southwest and the southern Pacific coast this morning, while high barometer covers the far northwest. Light scattered showers have occurred in New Mexico, southwest Colorado, Kansas and North Dakota, and much cloudiness is reported from the southern Rocky mountain region, and the southwest. Cooler weather prevails in the far northwest, but over the Missouri valley, plains region and southwest little change has occurred. Conditions favor threatening weather in this section, with local thunderstorms tonight or Wednesday.

"Tales of Honey and Tar" from West and East. Wm. Lee, Pasadena, Calif., says, "It gives universal satisfaction and I use only Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for my children." E. C. Struck By Lightning. Last Sunday afternoon William Tippet, the seventeen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Plum Tippet, was killed by lightning near Steeplecock. Young Tippet and two other boys were riding horseback up a trail, one behind another, when the bolt of lightning struck. Tippet was killed instantly, as was his horse, and one of the other horses. All the horses were knocked down, and the other two boys were shocked, but fortunately, not killed. The funeral was held Tuesday.—Lordsburg Liberal.

TRUTH TRIUMPHS. Santa Fe Citizens Testify for the Public Benefit. A truthful statement of a Santa Fe citizen, given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine.

A Santa Fe citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills. Could you demand more convincing proof of merit? Thomas Baca, Cerrillos St., Santa Fe, N. Mex., says: "Backache annoyed me off and on for two years. Although I never had to lay off from work, some days I worked when I didn't feel able. It was a question of bearing the trouble the best way I could. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me and I was well for six months. Hard work in the mines brought on another attack of the trouble, but that was entirely cured by Doan's Kidney Pills. I have recommended them before and my faith in their merit is just as strong as ever."

REULBACH-STACK TRADE A GOOD THING FOR THE TENNIS BRIGADE IS ORDERED OUT

Once an important cog in the "Cub machine," in the days of Chance, Kling, Brokn, Sheppard, Tinker and the others of that merry crew of pennant winners, Ed Reulbach is now with Brooklyn.

And Stack who did not pitch well enough for Chicago or Philadelphia to keep, not to impress upon Charley Ebbetts the fact that he was a star, is wearing a Chicago uniform.

Reulbach did not win for the Cubs this year; he felt that he could not give the club his best efforts and this feeling so affected him that he was valueless in the box. And yet he seemed to have the same old curves and speed.

The old trick of masking waivers upon a player had, in the hope of bringing him to a realization of his failure, was resorted to in vain. Then Reulbach was traded for Stack and right away both showed a reversal of form, and pitched splendid ball.

Stack broke in as a Cub with a two-hit game which made Murphy grin and probably caused Ebbetts to gnash his teeth; it is easy to imagine the feelings of each. Then Reulbach came along with a three hit victory for Brooklyn and the smile and frown changed habitation.

Two magnates feel satisfied, two managers realize their pitching departments are strengthened and two pitchers are effective where they were useless, so everyone is happy.

The answer seems to be that a little change once in a while is a good thing for the best of men.

REHG GOES TO RED SOX.

Indianapolis, Aug. 18.—Walter Rehg, left fielder of the St. Paul American Association team here now, today was traded to the Boston American League club. Manager Friel of the St. Paul club said that he was to get $10,000 worth of players for Rehg, but he refused to give the names of the men.

GRIFFITH LANDS A STAR.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Capital bugs are anxious today to get a glimpse of Harry Hedgcock, a mammoth right-hander recently purchased by Clark Griffith for delivery at the close of the Virginia league season, and who yesterday hung up what is believed to be a new record. Pitching both games of a double header for Petersburg against Richmond. Hedgcock allowed but one hit in the eighteen innings, and in the first game made the hit that won for him.

The second game was a no-hit, no-run contest. Hedgcock's second game of this character in two weeks.

"BASEBALL'S BEST POSTED WOMAN" PICKS GIANTS TO WIN THE WORLD SERIES.

"It Will Be Hardest Fought Series in History of Sport—It Will Break the Tie Between McGraw and Mack, and Series Will Go to Sixth Game Before Giants Win. I Wouldn't Miss It for a Small Fortune," Says World Famous Fannette.

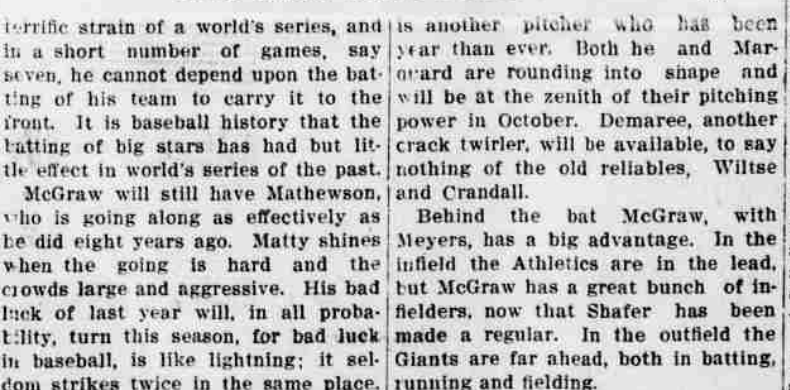

(Miss Emma Carus, the famous New York musical comedy star, and "Baseball's Best Posted Woman," who is one of the country's very best little fannettes of fannies, gives some excellent arguments why the New York Giants should defeat the Athletics for the world's championship this fall. Miss Carus has long been a student of the game, and recently umpired an entire game between two semi-professional teams to the entire satisfaction of both. She has never missed a world's series since 1905, and during her long runs in New York has closely followed the work of McGraw's men.)

(By Miss Emma Carus.)

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 19.—According to present indications, the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Athletics will clash for the third time this fall in the annual world's series. I am picking the Giants to win. I believe that McGraw will be able to repeat the crushing defeat he administered to Connie Mack back in 1905. I am picking the Giants solely on their pitching staff.

Connie Mack this fall will be without the services of the man who, in the opinion of experts, is the best big league pitcher in the American league—Jack Coombs, the Main collegian who won three straight from the Cubs when the Athletics and Chance's men clashed a few years ago; who broke the hearts of the Giants two years ago by defeating them in 11 innings after Baker made his memorable home run at the Polo grounds, and who later in the series suffered an injury from which he has never fully recovered.

This point alone spells the doom of the Athletics. Mack has Bender and Plank in his veteran corps, but Plank can never be depended upon for more than one world's series game, and Bender is not as good as he was two years ago. He has gone the way of the usual Indian who has been successful before the public. With the exception of these two men, Mack has no pitcher who has been through the terrible strain of a world's series, and in a short number of games, say seven, he cannot depend upon the batting of his team to carry it to the front. It is baseball history that the batting of big stars has had but little effect in world's series of the past. McGraw will still have Mathewson, who is going along as effectively as he did eight years ago. Matty shines when the going is hard and the crowds large and aggressive. His bad luck of last year will, in all probability, turn this season, for bad luck in baseball, is like lightning; it seldom strikes twice in the same place. Marquard, erratic and temperamental, showed to grand advantage under the strain last year, winning all his games against the Boston Red Sox, and I believe he will hold the Athletics batters helpless this year. Mack's men are never any too strong against a left-hander of Marquard's ability. Tesreau through the fire and will be better this is another pitcher who has been a year than ever. Both he and Marquard are rounding into shape and will be at the zenith of their pitching power in October. Demaree, another crack twirler, will be available, to say nothing of the old reliables, Wilkes and Crandall.

Behind the bat McGraw, with Meyers, has a big advantage. In the infield the Athletics are in the lead, but McGraw has a great bunch of infielders, now that Shafer has been made a regular. In the outfield the Giants are far ahead, both in batting, running and fielding.

I look to see the series go into the sixth game before the Giants win the four necessary battles. It will be the hardest fought series ever known in the history of the sport, as McGraw and Mack have clashed twice before, breaking even, and this time it will miss it for a small fortune!

BIG MANEUVERS PLANNED BY GENERAL MARCH FOR SATURDAY AFTERNOON TIME 1:30 TO 7 P. M.; PLACE, SANTA FE COURT.

General March has ordered out the tennis brigade.

That is the word which has gone forth, front Washington avenue to Lincoln, and all around the Santa Fe club house, verandas and lawns.

General March is chairman of the athletic committee and he wants to find out just what is the numerical strength of the racket cohorts.

To put the local club on a "war" footing, so that its athletes will compare favorably with those of other cities, is the dream of the new chairman.

"On Saturday," he said this morning, "there will be a tournament in which every clubman who is willing to hold a racket may participate. Only club men will play Saturday for it is desired to find out their accomplishments and allow every member to participate in the joys of pure science."

"I have figured out there are a dozen clubmen who have been playing tennis and every one of these is hereby urgently invited to show up Saturday afternoon. Their names: Tolls, Wilson, Oakley, Espe, Moulton, Gov, Otero, Judge Collins, Wright, James Seligman and Arthur Seligman. That's ten. Then there is a newspaper man and myself."

After Massie and Hughes.

"But I wish to see even more than twelve on the firing line. Let us hope that Dr. Massie and Levi A. Hughes will turn out, too, and join our canvas clad brigade."

"I do not think of any others just at this time, but if you or any other member of the club do, please add the name to the list which will be posted on the club's bulletin board today."

"Therefore, make it plain in the sporting columns of the New Mexican that Saturday afternoon is to be Santa Fe Club Tennis Day with Racket King."

"When does this great match begin," asked the sporting reporter.

"At 1:30 p. m.—certainly not later," replied the general. "It will keep up all afternoon, each player having a chance to show his skill near the net. Of course the game will be stopped by 8 o'clock to allow the club men to go home to put on that sack suit for the Paul Wungchmann reception, dance and social."

The general is busy today "maneuvering" to get various yards of chicken wire to sandwich the tennis court.

Benchies, Too.

It is said that by Saturday two wooden benches will be in readiness for the tennis enthusiasts who will be the audience.

Dr. Rehs stated today that he is keen to see the racket fiends move out to the court every afternoon this week so that their handicaps in a tournament may be ascertained.

PLAYER AT BEST AT PAST 30 YEARS

New York, Aug. 18.—Bill Dineen was discussing Nap Lajoie and the Frenchman's remarkably good work this season despite the advancing years when he made a statement that a baseball player should be at his best when he is past 30.

"Usually," declared Bill, "the public thinks any player brought up from the minors is a youngster, but such is not always the case. Many a man who has made good in the big leagues has been in bushes for season after season before he had a chance to break into big league baseball. And even had he got in sooner many a one of these so-called 'youngsters' could not have made good. He develops his ability in the minors, and don't think minor league experience lent just as valuable in his way as that gained in the big leagues."

"Now, Nap Lajoie always takes care of himself, and that's why he's such a star now after seventeen years in big league baseball. But any player who looks after his physical condition should do his best work after he has passed 30, excepting pitchers, of course, for ten or twelve years' wear and tear on the arm puts any but the most remarkable hurlers out of business."

THE PITCHERS FEAR EACH OTHER.

Philadelphia, Aug. 19.—Reb Russell engaged in a hot argument the other day regarding the ability of pitchers to hit. According to the young Texan, he fears the ordinary pitcher up at bat as much as any other man on a team.

"I've found it true you have to curve the ball to a pitcher the same as the rest," exclaimed Reb. "Give him a fast straight one in the hopes of fooling him and he'll frequently hit it a mile. In pitching I work the same against the pitches as the others. I don't believe in taking any chances with them."

Although he didn't mention the fact Russell himself is a dangerous batter and many times this season has demonstrated the truth of his own remarks by slapping out a hit when it's needed.

It will not pay you to waste your time writing out your legal forms when you get them already printed at the New Mexican Printing Company.

GOOCH DEFEATS DOHRER AT POCKET BILLIARDS.
On Saturday night Charles Gooch, the local pocket-billiard player played a match game with Stanley Dohrer and it resulted in a victory for Gooch by a score of 200 to 73. Gooch was handicapped by playing 200 to 150 for Dohrer, but at no time was extended to the limit, and ran out his string of 200 with a good average.

TWENTY ROUND BOUT IS TO BE STAGED

LAS VEGAS WANTS TO SEE IF GOVERNOR M'DONALD MEANT IT WHEN HE SAID BOUTS SHOULD BE LIMITED TO TEN ROUNDS.—GOVERNOR HAS NOT GIVEN ANY ORDERS ABOUT COMING BOUT.

East Las Vegas, N. M., Aug. 19.—A test of the police power of the government of this state will be made tonight in the attempted staging of a twenty round boxing contest. Since the stopping of the Flynn-Johnson fight there have been none in New Mexico of more than ten rounds.

There is no anti-boxing law but at that time the governor announced ten rounds would be the limit under penalty of police interference basing his claim on the general police power given him in the constitution.

Tonight's contestants are Stanley Youkam of Dallas, and Battling Kelly of Denver.

Captain Fred Fornoff of the mounted police stated this afternoon that Governor McDonald had not given him any orders regarding the Youkam-Kelly fight, that he was not going over and so far as he knew no member of the mounted police would be present. Governor McDonald is at his ranch near Carrizozo and could not be reached.

TENNIS MATCHES CONTINUED TODAY

Newport, R. I., Aug. 19.—At the resumption of the elimination matches in the tournament for the national tennis championship today, Clarence G. Griffin decided that in view of the strenuous doubles match tomorrow, a match with Dean Mathey today would be too much of an exertion, so he defaulted. His team mate, John P. Strachan, arrived at the opposite decision and his victory over A. E. Kennedy in straight sets, 6-1, 6-4, 6-1, was the first match to be recorded in the day's play. The fierce smashing of Strachan decided the contest.

FATHER AND HIS TWO DAUGHTERS DROWN.

Stockdale, Texas, Aug. 19.—Allie Burris, 17 years old, and her sister, Annie, 15, leaped into the river near here today to save their father, who was endeavoring to rescue Arthur Jackson and lost their lives. Burris was rescued by a passerby.

CITIZENS AND SOLDIERS CLASH.

Honolulu, Aug. 19.—As the result of several clashes between citizens and soldiers on leave, in one of which a Japanese hack driver was killed, General Funston today ordered that post commanders classify all enlisted men according to the records of their conduct.

IF UNCLE SAM RECOGNIZES ANYBODY IN MEXICO, HERE'S THE MAN.

This is Gov. Venustiano Carranza of the state of Coahuila, Mexico, who is also commander-in-chief of the rebel forces which held most of the northern half of the country. Gilson Gardner says that if President Huerta continues obstinate, the United States will probably recognize the belligerency of the rebels. This will permit Carranza to ship across the border rifles, cannons, aeroplanes and all the shooting irons he wants, and that, of course, will give him a fine edge on Huerta. Also, such recognition will enable the honorable rebel to borrow money, which will be a great comfort to him, being a Spanish-American.

DENVER DOES NOT NEED FUNDS.

Denver, Aug. 19.—The Denver Clearing House association today decided not to participate in the proposed government loan of $50,000,000 for moving crops. The action of the clearing house does not debar banks from participating in the loan individually.
