WILL BE A MISTAKE

A Fool's Opinion Concerning Coming of Spanish Torpedo Boats—France Not Concerned.

GOMEZ CAN'T SEE END OF WAR

United States Has Bought First-Class Torpedo Boat—Spain Contends Maine Explosion Was Internal.

Key West, March 25.—It was not until today that the news of the departure of the Spanish torpedo flotilla from the Canary islands became known among the naval officers here. It created an intense feeling, especially among the officers of the torpedo boats in this harbor. One of the most prominent said today: "If the United States allows these Spanish boats to get to Porto Rico it will be the biggest mistake ever made. Only two torpedo boats in the navy would have any chance of getting away from the Spanish torpedo boat destroyers, while the Iowa, New York and Indiana, lying out there six miles off the land, would practically be at the mercy of a dozen Spanish torpedo boats which could be run over from Porto Rico in a short time, should war be declared. We have no protected harbors here and we have not a single torpedo destroyer, and unless a fleet powerful enough to be proof against these torpedo boats is quickly concentrated in these waters, or unless the Spanish flotilla is warned to keep further away, I should judge it would be better to take every United States warship as far away as possible from this menacing force which Spain intends to concentrate within such a convenient distance as Porto Rico."

New York, March 25.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Havana says: Word has been received by the Tribune correspondent direct from General Gomez. He is planning an insurgent campaign which will follow the expected recognition of Cuban independence by the United States. He did not think Spain would immediately accept of intervention or mediation, and believed recognition of independence would follow the refusal. General Gomez does not look for an early ending of the Cuban war. He hopes the United States will not become engaged in war with Spain, and believes that the ultimate solution of the Cuban problem is the payment of an indemnity to Spain for Cuba's independence. He says Cuba would perhaps be willing to pay Spain $500,000,000 under a guarantee by the United States.

Maine Report in Hands of the President. Washington, March 25.—Lieutenant Commander Marix this morning delivered to Secretary Long the report of the Maine court of inquiry.

The report of the Maine court of inquiry is in the hands of President McKinley. It was delivered this morning by Lieutenant Commander Marix, judge advocate of the court of inquiry, to Secretary Long, and by the latter taken to the White house and handed to the president. Lieutenant Marix accompanied Secretary Long to the White house.

The report was carefully read in the presence of all the members of the cabinet, and a general discussion followed. Lieutenant Commander Marix, in answer to several queries, explained some matters not fully covered by the report. No statement will be made by any cabinet officer as to the contents of the report, until it is transmitted to congress on next Monday.

Change in Fleet. The cruiser Cincinnati and gunboat Wilmington will probably be added to the flying squadron and also the Bancroft now on the way across the Atlantic. An official order was issued today detaching Captain Chester, commander of the Cincinnati, from the south Atlantic squadron. The effect of this order is to remove the Cincinnati from the south Atlantic service, and to make her available for the north Atlantic station squadron.

New Commander of Flying Squadron. Commodore Winfield Scott Schley, at present connected with the house board, has been ordered to the command of the flying squadron at Hampton Roads with the Brooklyn as his flag ship. His command at present comprises three vessels, the Brooklyn, Columbia and Minneapolis, ocean gunboats, but in a short time the squadron will probably be swelled to about a dozen ships. Commodore Schley refused to talk at all concerning the rumors that the flying squadron might be sent out to interrupt the Spanish torpedo flotilla. The battleships Texas and Massachusetts will join the flying squadron.

Relief for Fleet at Key West. By directions of President McKinley, Secretary Long has spent more than $1,000,000 in the purchase of 12 speedy yachts and sea going tug, which will be at once converted into torpedo boat destroyers and picket boats. They will be sent to Key West.

Will Require Ten Days for Cross Ocean. Naval experts believe that under ordinary circumstances it will take the Spanish flotilla about ten days to make the journey across the ocean, but it is exceedingly likely that it will actually require several days longer.

It is understood that some correspondence with Spain through Minister Polo, considering the movements of the Spanish flotilla is not unlikely. What representations, if any, he made can not be ascertained.

First Class Torpedo Boat Bought. London, March 25.—Lieutenant Commander Colwell, the United States naval attaché here, bought for the United States a first class torpedo boat, built at Stettin, for Germany. The United States cruisers San Francisco and New Orleans were expected to sail today, but will probably postpone their departure until tomorrow.

Report of Maine Court of Inquiry.

Washington, March 25.—The board of inquiry into the loss of the Maine finds that the explosion which destroyed the Maine was from the OUTSIDE, but does not fix the responsibility for the disaster.

It does not express an opinion as to the character of the explosive, but the testimony goes to show that it was a powerful submarine mine, the exact character of which is not determined by testimony, although the belief was expressed that it was what is known as a floating submarine mine.

There were two explosions, the board finds. The first was from the outside and set off one of the smaller magazines.

DAVID COLLINS SEAGER ARRESTED.

Former Resident of Bland Arrested for Obtaining Goods by False Pretenses in Denver.

Denver, Colo., March 25.—David Collins Seager, of Boston, Mass., and later of Bland, N. M., is under arrest charged with obtaining goods under false pretenses. He said he was the secretary of the Bland Mining company and furnished offices sumptuously in the Boston building without paying a cent, at the same time he was singing in a local concert hall at a dollar a night. He claims to have wealthy relatives in Boston and that he represents $75,000 worth of property in the Cochiti district, of which the Posey mine is the chief shipper. He says he recently lost $18,000 in gambling. His letter heads give the names of Horace Porter, president; Ed. C. Porter, treasurer, and D. C. Seager, secretary, of the Bland Mining company.

Live Pigeon Shooting Contest.

Y., won the trophy with 23 straight kills. In the 100 bird match between Captain J. L. Brewer and Frank S. Parmelee, the latter won with 94 birds, Brewer killed 90.

INDICTED FOR FRAUDS.

Number of Former Brooklyn Officials and Contractors in Trouble.

New York, March 25.—In the King's county terminal court today, 14 or 15 indictments were handed down against former city officials and contractors in Brooklyn. It is also said the indictments charge conspiracy, by which the city was defrauded of $80,000 by means of fraudulent contracts.

Theodore B. Willis, a former commissioner of public works in Brooklyn, and William E. Phillips, police commissioner of the greater city, are among those indicted. They appeared in the criminal court and furnished bonds in $50,000 each. Willis stated that he is innocent of any wrong-doing. The indictments are against former City Works Commissioner Theodore B. Willis, Police Commissioner W. E. Phillips, Robt. W. Fielding, former deputy city works commissioner; Oscar Knapp, former water purveyor; Fred Milne, inspector; former Alderman Clark, A. L. Jensen, clerk in comptroller Palmer's office, and an official in former Auditor Stone's office, name not known.

More than 300 box cars have been destroyed and the city is without light or water supply. The loss in Muskingum county is estimated at $1,000,000. Two thousand people are sheltered in public houses and the market house.

SUICIDE OF PHILADELPHIA BANKER.

Cashier Hopkins, of People's Bank, Shot Himself—Affairs of Concern in Bad Shape.

Philadelphia, March 25.—John S. Hopkins, cashier of the People's bank, committed suicide by shooting, and did not die from heart disease as announced yesterday by the family. The statement that the bank would remain closed pending an examination of its affairs and the assignment made by the Guarantors' Finance company, has caused considerable agitation in financial circles. It is learned that the bank is the creditor of the finance company to the amount of $500,000, and the securities are practically worthless. The loan was obtained from Cashier Hopkins by Richard Loper, general manager of the finance company. The liabilities of the bank are about $1,600,000. The bank had $600,000 of state bonds on deposit. Hopkins was Senator Quay's fiduciary agent.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Proceedings in House of Representatives—Emergency Resolution Introduced.

Washington, March 25.—The house today closed the general debate on the navy appropriation bill, after Representative Foss (Ill.) had made a strong plea for a powerful navy. The bill was then considered under the five minute rule for amendment. Mr. Stewart (Rep., N. J.) said that whatever the Maine report was, congress should declare Cuba free. Mr. Bartholdt (Rep., Mo.) pledged the foreign born citizens' support to the flag. Representative Hartman made a speech attacking the Republican party. Populists middle-of-the-road delegates numbering 20 left the hall. The platform demands the free and unrestricted coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the consent of foreign nations; opposes government by injunction; condemns as dangerous the packing of the Supreme court with corporation lawyers, and demands an initiative and referendum. A conference commission on the distribution of officers was appointed.

When they reached the tunnel they were unloaded and after being kept there for 15 days the railroad company shipped them to Los Angeles and sold them for 10 cents less on the hundred than Mr. Kleinwort had paid for them in Arizona. Besides, the company charged him for the freight and the expenses of keeping the cattle at Ash Fork and made him an offer which, by accepting, Mr. Kleinwort would have been out over $400 on the transaction. Mr. Kleinwort refused to settle on any such basis, and has placed the claim in the hands of attorneys.

FRIDAY, MARCH 25.

Dos't judge the size of a man's brain by the amount of noise he makes.

The Austrian reichsrath has reopened. So has its monkey and parrot time.

Black Jack has been killed again. It is hoped he will remain dead this time.

A man never knows how mean he is until he runs for office or edits a newspaper in New Mexico.

The two most awkward things known is a crowd of Democrats holding a caucus and a bachelor holding a baby.

President McKinley is the right man in the right place. The people of this country made no mistake in electing him.

From all indications the county seat war in Colfax county between the ambitious towns of Raton and Springer goes merrily on. No bloodshed as yet, however.

Despite fake reports, it may well be assumed that the European powers will let well enough alone and will let this country and Spain settle their differences without interference.

New Mexico troops acquitted themselves nobly during the war of the rebellion. In case of war with Spain, New Mexico troops will again acquit themselves nobly and valorously.

The people of this country will feed the starving Cubans when Spain likes or dislikes it. When the people of this country make up their minds to do a thing, they do it. That's a way they have.

A correspondent asks the query: how long should a man live? Depends mostly on the man himself. There are several men in New Mexico who would do the state a service by slipping off this earthly coil.

True to her threat, Miss Bradley christened the Kentucky with water. Several male Kentuckians got even by bursting a few bottles of old Bourbon against the Kentucky's sides on the occasion. The bourbon was given as a "chaser."

The administration's Cuban policy is well defined and is being consistently and rationally carried out. The policy has been for intervention when the time seemed ripe for such action. It was and is a policy dictated by statesmanship and by humanity and serving the best interests of this great country.

The Infanta Eulalia is doing her level best to give the people of this country a black eye with the crowned heads of Europe. But her work will cut very little ice in that direction. Some of these self-same crowned heads feel rather shaky themselves these days and have to stay right close to home to keep their heads on their shoulders.

The fact that the city of Santa Fe has not had a good system of public schools open for at least nine months each year, has been a great detriment to its prosperity and well doing and still remains so. The tax payers and property owners of this city should get a move on themselves and, for their own good and for their own well being, nominate and elect good and public spirited citizens as members of the city board of education at the coming city election next month. The best citizens in town should be willing to serve on this board and should be proud to serve on it. Good public schools are absolutely necessary for Santa Fe.

A man may be a learned professor at Harvard or Yale or some other university and may know a good deal about Latin and Greek and Hebrew and Sanskrit and Assyrian and Phoenician and the like and still be a good deal of an ass. A case in point: During a recent lecture at Yale university Professor Arthur T. Hadley said:

"It is improbable that the Spaniards blew the Maine up. On the evidence submitted thus far we have no grounds to believe that the vessel was blown up. International law will not allow us to recognize the independence of Cuba. War with Spain would be the result. All the nations would be allied against us. Each nation should mind its own business."

When this learned jack made these statements, he knew nothing of the result of the investigations of the naval court of inquiry, he knew nothing of the attitude of the European powers and he had forgotten, that international law is made by nations and for nations and not nations for international law. An ass is an ass, be he a professor or no.

JAMES A. DAVIS, industrial commissioner of the A. T. & S. F. railway, has informed the Commercial club at Albuquerque, that it is proposed that 10,000 acres of land will be planted in sugar beets, certain capitalists are ready and willing to put up the money for the erection of a large beet sugar factory at Albuquerque. It is understood that the Albuquerque people are at work in the direction indicated. Right here it may be well to remark, that the project of the location of a beet sugar factory near this city is progressing slowly and if, at the proper time, the right sort of aid can be secured from property owners and citizens of this city and valley, it may be a success. It is also proper to remark, that there is plenty of room for a dozen extensive beet sugar factories in New Mexico. Come these must, and come these will, and the communities, that are most enterprising, most attentive and liberal, will secure such a boon.

English and American Alliance Not Necessary.

Lord Charles Beresford's proposition for an alliance between Great Britain and the United States has created considerable interest and discussion of the matter in the past few days, but the scheme does not meet with much favor in this country. Several United States senators have been interviewed on the subject, and they express themselves as opposed to a formal treaty, looking to the offensive and defensive attitudes of the two countries as to the rest of the world, as involving inconvenient entanglements for this country and as impossible and impracticable.

The reason that many intelligent Americans argue against such a treaty is that it is in a sense unnecessary and superfluous. The two nations are at present abiding by satisfactory agreements, made from time to time in the past, which are sufficient, and behind all diplomatic understandings exists a sentiment, the outgrowth of natural ties, a common history and devotion to common principles, especially of law and government, which binds the country more firmly than would any number of parchment treaties with any possible display of seals and signatures.

If each and all of the United States senators were opposed to any treaty with England, and the British parliament, in both its branches, was absolutely hostile to the United States, this feeling and sentiment of the people of the two countries would remain unaffected. It is based on humanity and common sense.

There always has been in England a class—the limits or extent of which it would be very hard to estimate or define—which may be described as anti-American, or, as the class itself would say, anti-Yankee, and there is and always has been a class in the United States which can never see the British lion without a desire, at least, to give him a tail twist, but neither in this country nor in Great Britain do these hostile classes represent the people, the whole people, who control, and whose voice is final. These minorities make a good deal of noise, but that only illustrates the maxim, "The shallows murmur when the deeps are dumb."

It is becoming the custom to speak of the English-speaking people of the world. It is not only the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the United States that are considered now, but great empires, beside, covering the larger area of the earth. War between the United States and Great Britain, which simple and thoughtless people talk about sometimes, would wrap the world in flames. Peace between these nations is a guarantee that the greater portion of the land and water of the globe shall know nothing of war's alarms and sufferings. Not only good-hearted and high-principled human beings, but all claiming a modicum of common and ordinary sense, should wish that peace to be perpetual.

Insurrection to Be Crushed.

The Cuban rebellion is to be ended at once. General Blanco has made his plans to that end, and also for the "stealth and last time" announced that the Cubans will be pacified in short order. The plan is this: A big army from the west of the island and another from the east will march to meet somewhere in the interior, and everything in the shape of insurgent forces will be crushed when the two come together. Surely a plausible plan, and looks like business. The Cuban war is to be wound up instantly, and any and all cause for interference on the part of the United States in Cuban affairs done away with. The question which this aggressive plan naturally raises is: If it can be carried out now, why was it not put into effect three years ago? For that matter, why did not Spain's greatest soldier, Martinez Campos, do it? Why did not Weyler do it? Weyler certainly did all he could in that direction.

Campos took the field in Cuba and sought to find and force a fight with the insurgents. They evaded him, wore out his army in leading them over the meanest country in Cuba, and Campos returned to Havana convinced that no Spanish force could catch and crush the Cuban army. He advocated what Spain would not then consider, a measure of real autonomy. Then he went home and Weyler appeared. Weyler's scheme was a trocha, or a series of trochas, defended lines across the narrow parts of the island, which would separate the two insurgent armies. One after another insurgent force passed through the trocha until it became counted as no more effective than a fence with missing panels. The Spanish forces concentrated in the coast cities, and concentrated all the non-combatant Cuban people, men, women and children they could drive in, within the coast city limits, there to starve to death. As a means of killing off the non-combatants this policy has been a success. Four hundred thousand innocent and harmless men, women and children have perished under it. But as a war measure it has had not the least effect. From time to time, at a critical stage, the Spanish commanders in Cuba have laid out some great plan to crush the insurgents, all having one and the same purpose—delay on the part of the United States in taking up the Cuban question. Now, on the eve of the rainy season, when Spanish military operations must of necessity be suspended, a new plan is outlined. The trouble with Spanish plans is that they have heretofore been numerous, have all been cocksure things, and have all proven absolutely ineffective, have been flat and complete failures.

General Blanco's new plan promises the same measure of success that attended the efforts of his predecessors, and no more.

ARIZONA LAND GRANTS.

Cases Before the United States Supreme Court on Appeal—Attorney Reynolds in Unique Position As Defender of Santa Ana.

Special Correspondence New Mexican. Washington, March 21, 1898.—The Supreme court of the United States gave its entire attention last week to the following cases, coming up from the court of private claims, and all located in Arizona:

The United States vs. E. B. Coe, the Algodones grant, of about 20,000 acres, made in 1838, by Jose Justo Millo, a state officer of the general treasury, and covers a tract of land at the junction of the Gila and Colorado rivers, where the town of Yuma is located. Before filing the suit the claimants released the townsite. The claimants won in the court below and the United States took an appeal, and contended that the state officer did not have the power to make the grant; that the grant was anti-dated; that claimant had failed to take possession; that there was no record; that at the time the officer attempted to make the grant he was in rebellion against the general government.

Santiago Alinsa vs. United States for the Sonora grant of 13,000 acres, made by an Intendente in 1821, and completed in 1825, in Pima county. This grant was rejected in the court below and was appealed by the claimant. The United States contended that the officer did not have the power to make the grant, and that in 1825, Santa Ana, who was ruling Mexico at that time, declared this and other similar grants void.

United States vs. Malish & Driscoll. This suit is for the Canoa grant of about 60,000 acres. The United States contended that the state had no power to make the grant; that it was not located in accordance with the Gadsden treaty of 1853; and that it was one that fell under the condemnation of Santa Ana. The claimant won in the lower court and the United States took an appeal.

Canon vs. United States. This case is for the Santa Rafael del Valle grant, of 20,000 acres. The United States contends that the state had no power to make the grant, that it was not located according to the Gadsden treaty of 1853; and fell under the condemnation of Santa Ana. The claimant won in the lower court and an appeal taken by the claimant.

John Perrin vs. United States. This suit is for the Babocomari grant, for 130,000 acres, but the plaintiff only asks for 30,000 acres. The contention by the United States is the same as in the case above. This case was rejected in the lower court and an appeal taken by the claimant.

William Faxon vs. United States. This case is for the Tumacacori, Huebahl and Calabasas grant of 83,000 acres. The grant was made by the Intendente of Tumacacori. This suit was won by the United States in the lower court and appealed by the claimant.

In all of these cases M. G. Reynolds, Esq., attorney for the United States with the court of private land claims, appeared for the United States.

In presenting the government's contention in this litigation, Mr. Reynolds was in the unique position of a defender of Santa Ana; claiming that however much his course might be subject to condemnation from a moral standpoint, nevertheless, considering the effect of his decisions, they were justified because he was in power; in control of the nation and was dictator; and the proper attitude of the United States in considering their legal effects was one which forbade them any consideration of the matter as between Santa Ana and his Mexican subjects. The United States was also obliged to concede the validity and binding force of all the Santa Ana's law, because it dealt with him in the treaty, received the land from Mexico with him as its political head and paid to him the consideration of $10,000,000. Thus tacitly recognizing his authority as chief executive of the Mexican nation and could not now question his authority.

New Mexico Educational Institutions.

Next September New Mexico will have in operation a territorial university, two normal schools, an agricultural college, a school of mines, and a military institute. If the youth of the territory do not get a higher education it is their own fault.—Roswell Register.

Settled and Well Settled.

The question of the location of the capital of New Mexico is settled, at least so long as New Mexico remains a territory. Delegate Ferguson's bill locating the capital at Santa Fe has passed and the capital removal question will not be before the next legislature. One source of revenue, at least, has been removed from the reach of thrifty legislators.—Silver City Eagle.

Time Will Tell.

The indications are that the counties of Dona Ana, Grant and Sierra will make a better showing for the Republican party at the coming election than they made in the 1896 election.—New Mexican.

Health Improvement at Roswell.

There is no boom going on in Roswell, but there is a steady and healthy improvement manifest on all sides that speaks well for the town. Since January 1, 1898, there have been contracts for $20,000 worth of improvements in the way of new houses, artesian wells, etc., in the residence portion of town, and several more contracts will be let in a short time. Roswell is not standing still by any means, nor is there any property to be bought for less than its actual value.—Roswell Register.

New Mexico's Semi-Centennial.

A meeting has recently been held at Santa Fe to consider arrangements for the proper celebration of the 50th anniversary of the federal annexation of New Mexico to the United States. It is being urged by the pioneers of the territory and by all citizens who take an interest in the history and progress of the west. Utah's semi-centennial was celebrated in July last, and New Mexico is next on the list. Another decade must elapse before Colorado can have such a celebration under its own flag.

Brigadier General Stephen W. Kearney, in command of the army of the west, entered Santa Fe on June 18, 1846, and took possession of the city and of the then province of Mexico in the name of the United States. A provisional territorial government was organized with Charles Bent as governor. General Kearney's column was composed of 800 regulars and the First Missouri mounted volunteers, under command of Colonel Alexander W. Doniphan. A few weeks later the Second regiment of Missouri volunteers, under command of Colonel Sterling Price, arrived at Santa Fe and remained as a garrison. General Kearney, with the regulars, marching on to join Fremont in California, and Colonel Doniphan and his regiment continuing on their celebrated march to Chihuahua and thence across northern Mexico to the Rio Grande.

The treaty of peace with Mexico was signed at Guadalupe Hidalgo on February 2, 1848, ratified by the United States March 10, 1848, and ratified by Mexico May 24, 1848. By that treaty the United States acquired possession of all or parts of the following states and territories: California, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Wyoming, Arizona and New Mexico. All claims by Mexico to the state of Texas were also relinquished by the same treaty.

CHILKAT CHARLIE EXPLAINS.

He Tells the Minister Why the Klondike Miners Left the Church.

"It appears to me," remarked the Rev. Mr. Tupper today to one of his parishioners, "that there has been a sudden falling off in the attendance at our place of worship. Have you any idea as to what may be the cause of this defection?"

"Well, parson," replied Chilkat Charlie, "I have an idea. It is because the boys here quit going to church. The fact is, I don't think they'll be back just yet."

"Indeed!" exclaimed the dominie. "I rather wished myself upon that sermon. What fault do they find with it? Was it not orthodox?"

"You've got me there, parson. Not being a connoisseur in such things, I can't exactly say whether it was orthodox or homely, but anyways it struck me as not being so. I reckon well suited to the needs of this here community."

"Ah, I see. I presume I failed to clothe my thoughts in sufficiently simple language."

"No, that wasn't the trouble, parson. The boys ain't so slow but what they kin see most any kind of talk, even if they air a little knobless about their own language. But that sermon of yours wasn't exactly the kind that would make 'em want to follow the straight and narrow path, if yer'll excuse me for bein so free. Yer see, yer ain't on no pray book about the New Jerusalem bein paid with gold and all that, and then yer went on to say that the other place wuz full of everlastin fire."

"But surely there is nothing wrong in that."

"Mebbe not, parson, mebbe not. I don't say but what that kind of talk might ketch the people in the States, but up here in the Klondike country it's different. I heard some of the boys say after the sermon that if it come to a choice between gold pavements and everlastin fire they'd take the fire every time. And yer kaint blame 'em for that. They're considerin the thermometer is down to 50 below zero, and still a-droppin'."—New York Sunday Journal.

Recognized by the Description.

Algernon—I am engaged to the dearest girl in the world. She is absolutely without faults.

Reginald (suspiciously)—Is that so? Algernon—I should say it was. That girl is simply perfect. You should hear her laugh. Her tones are like silver.

Reginald (aggressively)—See here, what have you been doing? Algernon—Getting engaged, my dear boy, to the sweetest girl on earth. Why, her eyes are as tender as—June morning. Yes, as a June morning. I don't see what I was living for before I met her.

Reginald (decisively)—Now, let us up on that. And if I ever hear of you speaking to that girl again there's just one way for us to settle the matter.

Algernon (surprised)—Why, what for? She's the dearest, sweetest girl in the world.

Reginald (wildly)—Yes, you sound well. But that's the very girl I'm engaged to myself.—New York Sunday World.

Reassuring Her.

"I got so downhearted sometimes, doctor, that I am almost on the point of desisting of being cured by medicines and all and going to the faith healers."

"Humbly, my dear madam! Transparence humbly! Here is something that will do you more good than all the faith doctors in the world can do you."

And he gave her a bread pill.—Chicago Tribune.

From Little Willie.

"I had an adventure the other evening," said Miss Autumn to a neighbor on whom she was calling. "It was quite dark and I saw a strange man just ahead of me, and I ran until I was nearly exhausted."

"And did the man get away from you?" asked little Willie, who was listening.—Chicago News.

Slightly Involved.

"You didn't remain very long at the party?"

"No," replied Willie Washington. "I came away as soon as they began asking questions. When there are so many other things to worry over, I don't see why one should fatigue his intellect to find out what is the difference between something and something else which never resembled it in the first place and whose difference doesn't make any difference anyhow."—Washington Star.

Grounds For Divorce.

Singularly (to friend recently married)—Why, old man, you look sad and dejected. Have you met with a disappointment in your matrimonial venture?

Wederly—Alas, yes! My wife cannot sing.

Singularly—Can't sing? Why, man, that ought to cause you to rejoice. I think you are to be congratulated.

Wederly—But the trouble is that she thinks she can.—Chicago News.

THE SEVENTH Beet Sugar factory in the United States was erected at Eddy, New Mexico, in 1896, and made its first "campaign," beginning November 15th, 1896, and closing February 15th, 1897.

THE CONTENT OF "SUGAR in the beet" of the crop grown in the Eddy and Roswell sections of the valley has proven to be more uniformly high than any other part of the United States.

FORTUNATELY the land is blessed with just the fertility to produce high grade beets, and

MORE FORTUNATELY the Peos Irrigation and Improvement Co. and the Roswell Land and Water Co. have an irrigation system of great magnitude, covering a vast body of the BEST SUGAR BEET lands on earth. The water is applied to the crop WHEN NEEDED.

THE SUN SHINES more hours in the day and more days in the year in Eddy and Chaves counties, New Mexico, than in any other section of the west.

GOOD SOIL makes the seed germinate.

WATER makes the plant grow.

SUNLIGHT puts the sugar in the BEET.

THE ONLY THING left to be desired that the Peos Valley has not got on hand is abundance in PEOPLE. We need thrifty farmers; 500 heads of families each on a 40-acre farm.

NO FINE print or conditions of sale of beet and fruit lands were ever made.

186 separate analysis, chiefly carload lots, showed AN AVERAGE of 17.01 per cent sugar in beet; 84.1 per cent purity.

THIS REMARKABLE RESULT was accomplished by raw farmers, unacquainted with the culture of beet root, on new land and under very trying circumstances, as the factory was not assured until May, and a majority of the acreage was planted between JUNE 1st AND AUGUST 10th.

Sheriff Hubbell Discourses Entertainingly on the Situation in That Thriving City, and Thinks the Democrats Don't Out Much Los.

Hon. Thos. Hubbell, of Bernalillo county, who was in the city in an official capacity, speaks enthusiastically of the Republican situation in Albuquerque and feels confident that the city election will "go right" by a good majority. The Republicans are well organized and will doubtless put Mr. F. W. Clancy in the field for the mayoralty, while T. N. Wilkerson is said to be the best horse in the Democratic race. The convention of the Democratic party will be held on the 26th and of the Republican party the 28th. The Democratic nominee to be is a high license advocate and the issue is not acceptable to the people of Albuquerque.

Mr. Hubbell says: "The present revenues of the city are about $16,000 and the high license plan would reduce them to $9,000, necessitating a heavier city taxation and probably working a hardship on the various departments that

GRANT COUNTY CATTLE INTERESTS.

An Arrest for Stealing Cattle—Large Sales the Past Ten Days—High Prices Prevail.

E. E. Burdick, of Deming, has been arrested for cattle stealing. From what could be learned of the case it seems that Burdick some time since sold the O-O brand of cattle to J. N. Upton, retaining a lien upon the herd and giving a contract of sale, but no bill of sale until the final payment is made. Upton delivered to Burdick in part payment another herd and brand of cattle and has contracted to sell a portion of the O-O herd, sufficient of the proceeds to be paid to Burdick to extinguish the debt and lien held by him. To all of these transactions Burdick was an acquiescing party. Upton has frequently been informed since the trade was made that Burdick was appropriating to his own use, numbers of the cattle transferred to Upton. On Monday last Upton learned that Burdick had taken four bulls and two cows belonging to the O-O brand and after branding them was driving them to his range on the Upper Gila. Upton had a warrant issued for the arrest of Burdick, and in company with a constable followed the trail and caught up with Burdick above Georgetown. He had the cattle in his possession when found.

A. H. Thompson, of Deming, on Monday closed the deal with Volney Rector for his entire brand, amounting to about 2,500 head, at $20 per head for everything branded. Mr. Thompson buys for Stanley, of Pueblo Colo.

Geo. W. Gregg and a number of other cattlemen in the vicinity of Lake Valley sold to Butler & Jones, of Kinsley, Kas., this week, all their yearlings at $18. Capt. Stanley bought of the West Hachita Stock Co., 3,000 head of stock cattle. Consideration, $60,000; cattle to be delivered in May.—Silver City Eagle.

A SIMPLE, HARMLESS REMEDY.

Yet It Cures the Worst Cases of Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

Dr. Jennison, who has made a life study of stomach troubles, says: All forms of indigestion really amount to the same thing, that is, failure to completely digest the food eaten; no matter whether the trouble is acid dyspepsia or sour stomach, belching of wind, nervous dyspepsia or loss of flesh, appetite, a person will not have any of them if the stomach can be induced by any natural, harmless way to thoroughly digest what is eaten, and this can be done by a simple remedy which I have tested in hundreds of aggravated cases with complete success. The remedy is a combination of fruit and vegetable essences, pure aseptic pepsin and golden seal put up in the form of pleasant tasting tablets and sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. One or two of these tablets should be taken after meals and allowed to dissolve in the mouth and mingling with the food in the stomach, digests it completely before it has time to ferment, decay and sour.

On actual experiment one grain of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 3,000 grains of meat, eggs and similar wholesome foods.

It is safe to say if this wholesome remedy was better known by people generally, it would be a national blessing, as we are a nation of dyspeptics and nine-tenths of all diseases owe their origin to imperfect digestion and nutrition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a secret patent medicine, but a 50-cent package will do more real good for a weak stomach than $50 worth of patent medicines and a person has the satisfaction of knowing just what he is putting into his stomach, which he does not know when widely advertised patent medicines are used.
