MISSOURI TROOPS ON TRAIN

Secretary of War Directs That Dead Be Buried With Military Honors, and Railroad Be Prosecuted for the Disaster.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 21.—One man is dead and two are fatally injured, as the result of a wreck this morning on the Chattanooga, Rome & Southern railroad, between Chattanooga and the volunteer camp at Chickamauga Park. The dead and injured belonged to the 1st regiment of the Missouri volunteer infantry. The list of fatalities is:

George Walker, artificer, company D, dead; Alfred M. Lane, private, both legs broken, will die; Harvard Barlaski, private, leg broken, internal injuries, will die; E. R. Richards, 1st lieutenant of company H, badly cut about arms and shoulders; R. U. Feidell, private, badly cut about the body; Private Ed. Lavingsburg, three ribs broken; William Moffatt, of the Chattanooga Times, badly injured about the body; Engineer W. C. Wheeler stuck to his post and escaped with only a maimed ankle. He and the fireman were at once arrested. They are censured by the soldiers for running so rapidly with a special train ahead. All the horses of the officers, valuable animals, were killed. Many others are badly but not fatally injured. The train on which the most damage was done was carrying the 1st Missouri infantry from Chattanooga to the Park, the last car being loaded with horses, and the military train which was standing just beyond the crossing of the belt line, half a mile from Rossville, was crashed into by the regular south bound train. It is said there was no flagman on the military train. The shock was very severe. The locomotive of the regular train was jammed into the horse car, and this car was completely wrecked, as was the baggage car, the next one forward. The man killed and those badly injured were all on the horse car.

Composed of Young Men From St. Louis.
St. Louis, May 21.—The 1st Missouri volunteer infantry, whose train was wrecked near Chattanooga today, is composed of the flower of St. Louis young men.

Railroad to be Prosecuted.
Washington, May 21.—Secretary of War sent the following telegram to Major General Brooke, commanding at Chickamauga Park: "The Associated Press reports a disaster to the 1st Missouri volunteer train this morning near camp, reporting the death of five men and the injury of several others. The secretary of war directs that every care be taken of the wounded, the dead buried with all honors of war and immediate steps be taken to prosecute the railroad responsible for the disaster."

FIREMEN CAUGHT IN FLAMES.

Burning Buildings in Brooklyn and Toledo
Proved Traps for Brave Men.

New York, May 21.—There were two serious conflagrations in Brooklyn today, and at each, one fireman sustained injuries which are likely to prove fatal, and several were badly hurt. One fire was in a big frame tenement row on Calver street, which threatened many people asleep. A ladder upon which three firemen were at work, broke and Henry Rinchenberg, who fell three stories, was probably fatally hurt. Henry Callison was internally injured and William Thomas suffered a fracture of the leg. The loss is $100,000.

In a fire a little later in a concert hall and saloon on Green Point avenue, John Carter, a fireman, came in contact with a live wire which shocked him so badly that the surgeons say he can scarcely recover. Fireman Peter Hunt's rubber boots were melted and one leg badly injured.

Two Men in the Ruins.

Toledo, O., May 21.—Three firemen were caught by a collapsing floor at a fire in the Dow-Snell building this morning. Herman Bishop was rescued at 2:30 o'clock badly bruised, but will recover; Kaiser Tripinski and O. S. Willis are still in the ruins. The loss on the stock and buildings will aggregate $300,000. At 2 o'clock the firemen reached the two men. Tripinski is alive but very seriously injured. Willis was killed when the floor fell, as his body is crushed.

SAMPSON-SCHLEY

Key West Correspondent Indulged in Speculation and Dreams—Things
Expected to Drop.

THEORIES ON SPANISH FLEET

According to Best Information Fleet of Seven Vessels in the Caribbean Sea—
Second Section of Four Ships
Following.

Key West, Fla., May 19 via Jackson-ville, Fla., May 20 (delayed by transmission).—Tonight sees the close of the most intensely anxious and vexatious day at Key West known since the war began. Everything indicates the proximity of a big naval battle, but with an unseen foe who may appear at any one of the several points and possibly strike a blow and get away before a force can be massed to crush them. Daybreak found Commodore Schley's squadron, which sailed from Hampton Roads on Friday, anchored off Sand Key light house, six miles below Key West. They had joined Captain Sigbee's big greyhound, St. Paul, which leaving the Roads a day later than they had, beat them here almost a day and a half. Admiral Sampson's fleet arrived here at 5 p. m. This confirmed the forecast made in these dispatches on Sunday last as to the whereabouts and intentions of these two fleets. All this was interesting, but not a word was allowed past the censor's office. Every officer ashore was on the alert for orders to hurry aboard his ship. Men of the Bancroft, Castine, Helena and Wilmington received "hurry" orders about 6:30.

Where the small boats went is still a mystery, all being too slow to act as scouts in a hunt for the Spanish fleet and not strong enough to do more than help at Havana.

The most plausible theory advanced to account for their odd departure was that they were to form a second line of scouts to the southwest, where the Cincinnati and Vesuvius are supposed to be watching the narrows of the Yucatan channel.

It may be candidly admitted that all discussion of the Spanish fleet here is speculative. The understanding here is that Admiral Sampson counted confidently on finding the Spanish squadron bottled up in San Juan, as did Admiral Dewey the Spaniards at Manila. It was not until daylight of the morning of the bombardment that he learned the harbor was empty.

In the meantime, according to the best information here, a fleet of seven Spanish ships, probably including the Viscaya, Oquendo, Cristobal Colon, Maria Theresa and three destroyers, has been moving west along the southern shore of the Caribbean sea. Later reports from Male St. Nicolas, Cape Haytien and other points make it seem probable that a second section of the squadron, probably including the Cardinal Cisneros, Pelayo and Christina Regenta, are following in the wake of the first.

ADMIRAL SAMPSON AFTER THEM.

Cape Verde Fleet Located at Santiago de Cuba—American Warships in Pursuit.

New York, May 21.—A Washington dispatch to the World says: Secretary Long has received a cablegram from Rear Admiral Sampson announcing that his scouts have located the Cape Verde fleet at Santiago de Cuba. A message sent from the cable station from Male St. Nicolas, Cape Haytien, to the American commander was close on the heels of the Spaniards. Knowing Admiral Sampson could be depended on to prevent Admiral Cervera from sailing north, orders were at dispatched to Commodore Schley, at Key West, to sail around Cuba and capture or destroy the Cervera's fleet and capture or destroy it. Commodore Schley was instructed to use his utmost endeavors to prevent the Spanish fleet entering the harbor at Cienfuegos or Havana. Admiral Sampson and Commodore Schley were informed of each others movements. It is expected that Admiral Sampson will come up with Admiral Cervera first.

No Response to Private Inquiries.
(Copyright by Associated Press) King-stone Jamaica, May, 21, 10 a. m.—
Private telegraph inquiries concerning the Spanish squadron, said, be at Santiago de Cuba, have failed to bring any response, although the cable is in working order.

PECULIAR STORY FROM MADRID.

Reported That Spaniards and Cubans Are Negotiating to Make Common Cause
Against America—Claim Blockade
is Not Effective—Admiral Camara to Sail Under Sealed Orders.

London, May 21.—A dispatch from Madrid to the Evening News says the Spanish ministers declare that nothing officially is known as to the result of the negotiations going on with Cuban insurgents to induce them to make common cause with the Spaniards against the Americans, although some of the ministers claim to believe the negotiations will succeed. It is hinted the negotiations are conducted by Senor Leon y Castillo, ambassador at Paris, with a Cuban representative at the French capital.

Opinion in London Concerning Admiral Cervera.

According to the best expert opinion in London, if Admiral Cervera has gone to Santiago de Cuba, he has made a fatal mistake. Vice Admiral Philipp Howard Colum, of the British navy, now retired, writes that he is convinced the Spanish admiral is now unlikely to strike at all.

Eluded the Blockading Fleet.

Corunna, Spain, May 21.—The Spanish auxiliary cruiser Montserrat, arrived here unexpectedly last evening from Cienfuegos, having escaped the American blockading fleet. Large crowds thronged the quay and the crew received an ovation. The people embraced the captain and officers, and popular demonstration followed.

Claim the Blockade is Not Effective.
Madrid, May 21.—The newspapers here are using the assertion that the Spanish auxiliary cruiser Montserrat "three ran the blockade on the Cuban coast" as a text for articles declaring the blockade ineffective. It is asserted the Montserrat has landed 15,000,000 pesetas, 1,000 soldiers, 100 guns, 15,000 rifles and a quantity of ammunition in Cuba.

No Rioting in Spain.

It is announced that perfect tranquillity prevails throughout Spain, in spite of war, the fact that famine is imminent, and that Spanish trade is ruined.

Another Madrid Victory.

A dispatch from Havana says that two American ships again shelled Guantanamo yesterday without doing any damage.

To Sail Under Sealed Orders.

Admiral Camara has returned to Cadiz. His fleet will, it is said, sail under sealed orders.

MUSTERING PROGRESSING RAPIDLY.

By Next Week the Work Will Be Finished—
Monterey Ordered to Manila—Blockade to Be Made Complete—Havana in Great Distress.

Washington, May 21.—One hundred and three thousand volunteers have been mustered into the service of the United States, according to reports which have reached Adjutant General Corbin. By next week the officials hope that every man of the 125,000 called for will have taken the oath. Mustering in the regular army branch, with a view to increasing it to the 4,000 men war strength, authorized by the new law, continues satisfactorily in all directions. Arrangements are making for recruiting "immune" regiments in the gulf states.

Will Re-enforce Asiatic Squadron.

The Navy department at 4 o'clock posted the following bulletin.
"U. S. S. Monterey has been ordered to Manila to re-enforce the Asiatic squadron."

No More Vessels Allowed to Pass Blockade.

Chicago, May 21.—A special to the Journal from Washington says: The Navy department will grant no more permits to vessels of any of the nations to pass the blockade and enter Havana. The naval officers on the blockade united in a formal protest against allowing information to be carried to Havana right under their guns.

Rioting Threatened in Havana.

A special to the Journal from Washington says that secret information received by the War department is to the effect that serious rioting is imminent in Havana. Food is much scarcer and the distress greater than is generally reported.

SATURDAY, MAY 21.

True patriotism will not down. A New York man, who was rejected by the surgeons and could not enlist, has swapped his wife for a gun.

About $200,000 in prize money will be divided among the officers and men in Admiral Dewey's fleet. Not a bad windfall for these gallant men.

The Spanish governor general of Manila is a man of a very sanguine and happy disposition; he really believes he can hold out against Dewey and Morritt.

The 1st Colorado Infantry, sent to the Philippine Islands, contained many very courageous men. A lot of them got married in Denver just before leaving for service in Asia.

Mr. W. Jennings Bryan is making a grand stand play to get the people of this country again interested in him. No go for the present, old man, you will have to wait until this cruel war is over.

They are extremely particular at the War department at Washington. The secretary of war has issued permits to accompany troops to Cuba to 80 journalists, 22 newspaper men and one reporter.

The Astors, the Goulds, the Vanderbilts and other millionaires are giving the government generous support in these trying times of war. Wonder what the Populists of the country think of this state of affairs?

Mr. Bryan is of the opinion that the present war should be over within six months; he is evidently afraid that the administration will endeavor to prolong it until after the year 1900 and thus knock him out with malice aforethought.

Captain General Blanco takes the cake. He beats the average Democratic New Mexico campaign orator hollow. The captain general now says that he has plenty of provisions for six months in Havana and that the inhabitants of that city are happy, contented and well fed.

Joseph B. McCullagh, deceased, for many years managing editor of the St. Louis Globe Democrat, was of the opinion, the most valuable characteristic of a successful newspaper man was to know where hell would break out next. Such a faculty would come in mighty handy these war days.

Lord Wolsey, commander-in-chief of the British army, has none but words of praise for Admiral Dewey and thinks the American army will be victorious in its engagements with the Spanish troops. General Wolsey is a gentleman and a scholar and knows a good thing when he sees it.

Aid and comfort to the enemies of the United States may be given in a speech in the United States senate, in dispatches in yellow journals, in editorials, in stealing important news of movements of troops and ships, just as it may be given in cipher dispatches to the war office in Madrid. It will be well to remember this.

Financial crackiness still holds dominion in the United States senate. Some of these free silver men who are opposing the well thought out and matured plans of the administration to raise revenue for the conduct of the war, will find their mistake in the sweet by-and-by, when they will be relegated to well deserved obscurity of private life. It is a long lane that has no turn and although the people's turn in the case of United States senators comes only once in six years, to be sure, the people get there in the long run.

The newspaper men of the country are all right. The first company to be mustered into the service of the United States in the southern states was company A, 1st regiment Louisiana Infantry, at New Orleans. One of the best things about this company is that it is nearly all made up of employees of the Times-Democrat. The night editor of that paper is captain, the city editor, first lieutenant; assistant city editor, second lieutenant; mail clerk, orderly sergeant; telegraph editor, second sergeant; machineist, third sergeant; and nearly all the corporals are reporters and many of the privates are printers from the office of the paper. Another good thing about the company is that it is composed of yellow fever immunes. The name of the company in the regiment is the "Times-Democrat Rifles" and the regiment is to be one of the first to go to Cuba. You can bet a $10 bill to a 5-cent nickel that the Times-Democrat Rifles will give a splendid account of themselves during their term of service, for intelligence, perseverance and energy count in war, just as they do in newspaper life.

Chauncey M. Depew is opposed to the permanent occupation of the Philippine Islands by this country. So are a good many other people of all political complexions and shades, but this matters not. Manifest destiny will prevail and must prevail. Timidity or selfishness or peace at any price sentiment can not and will not prevail. The opposition to the manifest destiny of the United States will fall again, as it has fallen time and time already. Through this war with Spain there will be an increase of territory under the American flag and there this newly acquired territory will remain.

Summer Excursions from the East.

The summer excursion season is fast approaching, and because of the war with Spain, the Rocky mountain country will come in for an unusual number of visitors from the east during the heated term. Western railroads have announced round trip rates for all points in the west and southwest which are considerably less than the regular fare, and already the west bound trains are loaded with sightseers and pleasure seekers. In the past year there has been a noticeable increase in the number of persons who come to New Mexico to spend their vacations, and each visitor, on returning to the east, becomes a walking advertisement for the climate and scenery of the territory, and during the coming summer the fame of the climate and scenery of New Mexico will become widespread in the cities on the lakes and Atlantic coast.

In this work the reduction of rates on the railroads assist very materially. The distance from New York to New Mexico is about the same as that from the Atlantic coast to Europe, while the dangers incident to travel, particularly in times of war with a foreign power, in coming to the resorts of the southwest are very much less; this taken in connection with cheap rates of travel, will bring many people to this section of the United States who have never been west of the Alleghenies. They will learn that enjoyable days can be spent in the mountain cities, Santa Fe particularly, where trout fishing is nearby, and where the fresh air and cool temperature will form both an agreeable and healthful change from the heat and dust and noise of their city homes; where camp life is free from insect pests, supplies are convenient and plentiful and the sighing pine trees lull to rest and bring dreams of a blissful hereafter.

The policy of the railroads in making the southwest accessible to the traveler of modern means will result in a better knowledge of the country, bring health to thousands who are almost despairing and will meet with approval in every quarter.

The Result of Neglect.

The announcement that "it is beginning to be realized that the shortcomings of our military service are so many that delays are inevitable and that much work will be necessary to put the nation in efficient fighting shape," will prove a disagreeable surprise to those Americans who have spent the better part of the past 30 years boasting that "Uncle Sam can whip the whole creation." Still, there is nothing surprising about it. For many years this country has lived in peace with the rest of the world; the little standing army, the greater part quartered in isolated frontier posts, has been looked upon as an expensive plaything by the majority of the people, and instead of being kept in fighting trim has been placed on as inexpensive a scale as possible. True, in the past decade there has been a general awakening to the necessity for building and maintaining a strong navy for coast defense purposes, but the army has been, in a large degree, neglected. Another thing which militates against any rapid movement by the armies of occupation, is that but once before in the history of the United States, have troops been sent into distant lands and different climates. For foreign services the army is totally unprepared as regards equipment, and all things necessary for such work, uniforms, camp equipment, and transportation facilities, must be supplied, which is no easy task when tens of thousands of men must be provided for.

An effort is already making to throw the responsibility for the inefficiency of the army to meet the requirements of the present emergency, upon the officers who are in charge. But the officers are shameless nonentities, prompted by a desire to find a scape goat for the negligence and carelessness of the senators and representatives who have controlled the finances of the nation for the past quarter of a century. The men who have occupied seats in the halls of congress, term after term, upon the questionable reputation of being watchdogs of the treasury, are the ones who should bear the brunt of the disappointment and chagrin of the people. To maintain an army, no matter how small, on an efficient footing, requires money, and the officers in the service have had no opportunity to acquire themselves of their responsibility in a creditable manner, because of the lack of that great requisite.

However, the end is not yet, neither is the war lost, and a few weeks' time will work wonders in straightening out the snarls. Of money for military purposes there is now no lack, and the accumulative momentum of activity in preparation will soon place both the volunteer and regular branches of the military arm of the government in a creditable and efficient shape.

MINING MATTERS

Gold Production of the United States for 1897, Exclusive of the Klondike—Colorado Leads.

HANOVER MINE SHUT DOWN

New Mexico's Gold Production Steadily Increasing—General Activity Throughout the Territory—Exodus of Capitalists from the East.

Interest in New Mexico mines continues unabated. Each day marks the arrival of one or more capitalists at Santa Fe who branch out in various portions of the territory in search of mining investments that have been presented to them by operators or promoters, and it is reasonable to suppose that other localities are enjoying the same distinction.

The Klondike craze has abated and a majority of the companies which guaranteed to pay dividends are levying assessments instead, and the steamships that sought the Pacific in order to accommodate the passenger rush are seeking employment elsewhere. The Colorado gold boom has not injured mining in the states and territories. It has intensified the interest of investors and now those who built high hopes on the Klondike are satisfied to look up legitimate mining at home and place their money where reasonable profit is to be obtained from safe investments.

The "Mineral Industry" has just completed statistics giving the mineral production of the United States during 1897. The production of the Klondike, $2,500,000, is not included, for that is conceded to Canada. The figures show that the United States is still in the lead of the gold producing countries, having produced nearly $60,000,000. To be exact, the report reads:

"The gold output of the United States in 1897 reached a total of 2,864,576 fine ounces, or $59,210,793, an amount which exceeded by $6,324,586, or 12 per cent, the high total of 1896, and by $12,380,595, or 24.6 per cent, that of 1895. This increase keeps the United States at the head of the gold producers of the world, its total for 1897 exceeding the $50,618,679 reported for the miners of the Transvaal by $8,592,116; while it was more than $7,781,036 than the total production of the seven Australian colonies. No other country except Russia approaches these three leading producers in the amount of gold furnished. Our total was somewhat over one-fourth of the entire gold production of the world."

The year did not mark any new discoveries of great importance. The gain has been due to the industrious exploiting of old mines, the extension of workings, closer savings of values, and the improvements in metallurgy which have made possible the opening of new mines which were formerly unprofitable and the extraction of gold from ores formerly considered too low grade to be profitable.

Colorado now has the lead as a gold producing state and California ranks second and Dakota third.

The production of gold in the United States for the years 1895, 1896 and 1897 was as follows:

	1895.	1896.	1897.
Alaska.....	$1,615,300	$2,075,700	$2,700,000

Grand total.....	$51,330,427	$57,497,323	$70,212,304

Note—1 oz. gold $20.17; 1 kgm. $644.00.
*Included in the statistics of Colorado.
South Carolina, North Carolina, Georgia and Alabama.

The statistics do not show what proportion of the production came from placer and what from lode claims. The gold reported from the United States, however, does not represent the total quantity turned out by our smelters and refiners. There was a further quantity of 544,993 fine ounces, or $11,091,599 reported, which came from foreign ores and base bullion treated in this country. This brings the total amount of gold refined and put into merchantable form in the United States in 1897 up to 3,440,559 fine ounces, or $71,302,394. The gold from foreign ores was therefore about one-sixth of the last total given—about one-fifth of the output of both came to this country for final treatment. Nearly all the British Columbia ore are sold to our smelters, only a very small portion going to Great Britain, generally in the form of copper matte, carrying some precious metals.

The silver production of the United States for 1896 and 1897 was:

	1896.	1897.
Alaska.....	$100,850	$108,885
Arizona.....	1,242,000	$1,401,000
California.....	15,297,500	15,437,500
Colorado.....	18,545,128	19,143,600
Idaho.....	3,253,400	3,641,400
New Mexico.....	469,700	511,339
Nevada.....	803,200	845,310
Utah.....	5,653,128	5,800,000
Oregon.....	49,968	51,151
South Dakota.....	201,600	201,700
Texas.....	393,143	393,143
Washington.....	134,438	148,539
Other States.....	48,347	50,115
Total.....	$39,245,992	$44,074,235

Note—The average value in 1896 was $71.1 cents per ounce, and 60.34 cents in 1897.

The total production of silver in the United States in 1897 of domestic origin was 56,457,293 fine ounces, or $44,074,235 at the commercial value of 60.35 cents per ounce. This was a decrease from 1896, a small one only, the difference being 2,031,518 ounces, or 3.4 per cent. The difference in value was much greater, the average commercial price of the metal having been 60.45 cents per fine ounce in 1897, and 67.1 cents per ounce in 1896.

numerous New Mexico placer fields. While the statistics do not show it, a conservative estimate would place New Mexico's gold production doubled in 1897.

For the month of April, the director of the mint gives the total coinage as $9,235,690 of which but $948,000 was in silver.

The Hanover mine at Hanover has suspended operations for the present. The term of the present lease expires next month and the present lessees would be forced to do a vast amount of development before producing more ore.

This they refuse to do without an extension of their lease. About 50 miners are thrown out of employment. It is not known whether the owners will work the property or a new lease be granted. The Hanover is one of the richest copper mines in the territory.

FROM OUR VOLUNTEERS.

Indian Territory Contingent Has Arrived—Drill and Practice Marches.

Roosevelt Very Popular—Personal Notes.

Special to the New Mexican.

San Antonio, Tex., May 17, 1898.—Two troops arrived here this evening from the Indian Territory. These troops complete the regiment. It was thought that most of the Indian Territory boys would be Indians, but not more than a dozen are of Indian blood. They are in charge of Lieut. Capron, who will be adjutant of the regiment. All the boys are exceedingly glad over the arrival of the troops "L" and "M," for this is an indication of our early departure from here. The new fellows seem to have stood the trip well, and they look as though they will make good soldiers. As all supplies are in readiness it will not take long to equip the new arrivals. The rifles and pistols have not been issued, but they are on the ground and will be given out tomorrow. The regiment is the possessor of two rapid firing naval tripod guns. They are so made as to be easily packed upon mules, and they have a firing capability of 400 shots per minute. At this rate it will not take long to kill the entire army of Spanish soldiers.

The troops are well drilled and are anxious to see Cuba. Many of the officers at Fort Houston, who have viewed the practices, have expressed their surprise at the aptness which we have shown in learning military tactics. Night before last a crowd of people of the city, accompanied by an excellent band, came down to serenade Lieut. Col. Roosevelt. After the band had finished playing the "Star Spangled Banner," our comely commander, who was in his quarters and made us a pithy talk, which was direct to the point. He showed how necessary it was for us to learn to drill and to pay close attention to everything that concerned us. He pointed out how important it was for us to act collectively, not individually, and that our organization must be perfect. He then finished by saying: "The war cry of the heroes of Texas, as they fought and bled, was 'Remember the Alamo,' and every time that cry went up victory was achieved, and the Alamo was avenged. Men, when we land on the shores of Cuba, let us never for a moment forget our beloved countrymen who were blown to atoms by a dastardly foe, and let our war cry be, 'Remember the Alamo,' and let us never fail nor call for quarter as long as one of us remains."

When his last words had fallen upon the crowd, loud cries, "Remember the Alamo" and "Long Live Roosevelt" rent the air, and when the band struck up "Dixie," that soul inspiring tune which drove the half fed confederates to battle upon battle, the atmosphere fairly shook with the huzzahs of southerners and northerners. The entire regiment took a six-mile march this afternoon, under the supervision of Lieut. Col. Roosevelt. He showed his satisfaction in the way the boys drilled by "setting 'em up" to all of us, and I can assure you that several hundred cheers were sunk in a very few moments. It actually looked like a naval war.

NOTES.

Sergeant John V. Morrison is quartermaster sergeant of troop I.

Ralph E. McFie is troop clerk of troop E and does first-class duty as such.

The issue of horses to the men has not yet been completed, but about 50 horses per day are being shod and then given out.

The officers and men of the volunteers from Santa Fe are all well, except Will Hogle, who is somewhat under the weather and on the sick list.

Privates Numa Frenger and Darwin Casad, of troop E, have been transferred to troop I. The boys would have preferred to remain with troop E.

The San Antonio correspondent of the London, England, Standard, talks rather slightly of "Teddy Brownies." If sent to Cuba the regiment will make a record that will change the correspondent's opinion.

It looks to the NEW MEXICAN as if in the organization of troop I, the men having been taken from the New Mexico quota, the three commissioned officers of the troop should have been chosen from New Mexico also.

The following is the consent written on the enlistment paper of Sergeant Garfield Hughes, of Albuquerque, by his father, Hon. Thomas Hughes, editor of the Citizen: "I hereby cheerfully give my consent to the enlistment of my son in the U. S. service. It is my earnest wish that he will keep up the fighting reputation of the Hughes family."

COURT NOTES.

Trustee Will Be Appointed in the Gudsorf Assignment Case—Judgment Rendered Against Guillermo Trujillo.

In the Alex. Gudsorf assignment case from Taos county, the hearing of Judge McFie for several weeks past, it has been agreed by the persons interested that an order shall be made transferring all real estate and all personal property not administered upon, from the control of A. Scheurich, assignee, to General E. L. Bartlett, as trustee under the terms of the proposed settlement, by which Mr. Gudsorf agrees to pay his creditors 25 per cent on the dollar in addition to the amount received from Mr. Scheurich, assignee, on that portion of the estate administered. Mr. Scheurich retains his former position of assignee, although relieved of the custody of the estate, pending the settlement of his accounts as assignee.

In the District court for Taos county, Barton Bros. have been granted a judgment against Guillermo Trujillo et al., for $118.58, for money due on a promissory note.

The Gudsorf assignment case, which has been before Judge McFie for four weeks, has taken up much time and the judge has worked assiduously to arrive at a conclusion. The case is not yet settled and it is not known how much longer it will continue.

Judge McFie has issued an order compelling J. H. Crist, master, to appear before him within ten days and produce papers in the case of Jose Maria Bernal vs. Marcelina Bernal, divorce proceedings.

AN ASPEN MAN'S VIEWS.

J. H. Devereux Thinks New Mexico An Ideal Place and Santa Fe the Proper Residence Town.

J. H. Devereux, of Aspen, Colo., who has been in the city some days, conferring with Hon. T. B. Catron and mining men from various territorial points, expressed himself as delighted with the climate, scenery and people of Santa Fe. "People who do not care to live in a colder climate," he said to a New Mexican reporter, "could not find a better place to reside. While territorial industries are yet in their infancy, every inducement is offered capital for investment and conservative business men can find safe and profitable investments in all industries represented here. New Mexico is certainly an ideal place for all classes to locate in." Mr. Devereux goes from here south to inspect some mining property. He was a former resident of Globe, A. T. For a number of years Mr. Devereux has been prominently connected with some of the leading business projects of Aspen, Colo., and is a director of the Electric Light and Water Works companies of that city. He is also prominently associated with Colorado mining enterprises and is a stockholder in the Milline Mining company, of Aspen.

Death of Samuel E. Black.
The news of the death of Samuel Emerson Black, which occurred at the sanitarium this morning at 12:30 o'clock, brought sadness to many in Santa Fe. The deceased was born in Fayette county, Kentucky, near the city of Lexington 31 years ago. About five years ago he entered the Agricultural department at Washington, and three years later was transferred to the weather bureau and sent to Denver because of ill health. In September, 1896, he was assigned to duty in the Santa Fe office of the weather bureau, reaching this city on the 5th of that month.

During his residence in this city he made many warm friends and became a universal favorite. Although of a companionable disposition, gentlemanly in his deportment and conversational, he was reticent concerning his own life and rarely if ever mentioned affairs pertaining to his family, and on that account almost nothing concerning his relations is known, except that he has a brother living somewhere in the east. This morning the Agricultural department in Washington was telegraphed to learn the whereabouts of his brother, but no reply has been received.

Three weeks ago he was taken down with malaria fever, the attack not being considered serious, and last night it was thought he was much better. Shortly after midnight a hemorrhage of the lungs came on, and the end followed in a few moments. Unless instructions are received to the contrary, the Bar association, of which he was a member, having been admitted here, will have charge of the funeral, which will take place some time Monday.

All members of the bar are earnestly requested to meet at the office of Catron & Gortner, at 7:30 this evening, to take the necessary steps toward conducting the funeral ceremonies of Samuel E. Black, deceased, under the auspices of the local bar.
