LIENTE

(HOT SPRINGS.)

THESE Celebrated Hot Springs are located in the midst of the Ancient Cliff Dwellers, twenty-five miles west of Taos, and fifty miles north of Santa Fe, and about twelve miles from Barranca Station on the Denver & Rio Grande Railway, from which point a daily line of stages run to the Springs. The temperature of these waters is from 90° to 125°. The gases are carbonic. Altitude 6,000 feet. Climate very dry and delightful the year round. There is now a commodious hotel for the convenience of invalids and tourists. These waters contain 1,696.34 grains of alkaline salts to the gallon, being the richest alkaline Hot Springs in the world. The efficacy of these waters has been thoroughly tested by the numerous cures effected in the following diseases: Paralysis, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Consumption, Malaria, Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, Syphilis and Mercurial Affections, Scrofula, Catarrh, La Grippe, all Female Complaints, etc., etc. Board, Lodging and Bathing, $5.00 per day. Reduced rates given by the month. This resort is attractive at all seasons and is open all winter. Passengers for Ojo Caliente can leave Santa Fe at 10:30 a. m. and reach Ojo Caliente at 5 p. m. the same day. Fare for the round trip from Santa Fe to Ojo Caliente, $7. American Army Advancing on Santiago

"Teddie's Terrors" Made a Forced March--Spaniards Abandoned Juragua In Great Haste--Skirmish Between Insurgents and Spanish Soldiers--Santiago Will Soon Fall.

On board Associated Press dispatch boat Dauntless, off Juragua, June 23, via Port Antonio, Jamaica, June 24.—The advance of the American army has reached the edge of the table land in which the harbor of Santiago de Cuba lies. Here, seven miles from Morro castle as the crow flies, the main portion of the troops have halted and the Spaniards are in full retreat toward Santiago de Cuba. They may attempt a surprise, but a decisive engagement is not expected for several days. General Lawton's brigade, which rested last night at Demajayabo, four miles west of Balqueri, resumed the march at daylight. Before noon his brigade, consisting of the 22nd infantry, 1st infantry, the second Massachusetts volunteers, with several companies of the 8th cavalry, half of the 4th cavalry and several companies of the 25th colored infantry occupied Juragua, five miles beyond, and the American flag was hoisted there.

The Spaniards retired before the advance which was covered by Cuban skirmishers, burning blockhouses as they went. Colonel Wagner, with a small reconnaissance party of about 40 men brushed against the flank of the retreating Spanish, 200 strong at Firmeze. A dozen shots were fired by the Spaniards as Colonel Wagner fell back. Before General Lawton could bring up the 22nd regiment the Spaniards had decamped westward. Juragua was abandoned by General Linares and 1,200 Spanish troops with such haste that they had no time to burn the town, though ineffectual attempts were made to destroy the locomotives of the railroad and rolling stock.

General Linares retreated to Seville six miles west of Juragua by road, and nine miles from Santiago. A detachment of 170 Cubans under Colonel Aguirre collided with the Spaniards' rear guard. The Cubans lost two men killed and have seven wounded. The Spanish loss is not known.

General Chaffee, with the 9th cavalry, the remainder of the 8th and 4th, the 7th, 13th and 17th infantry, reached Juragua at dark. General Bates, with the reserve of the 20th infantry, and Colonel Woods' rough riders, dismounted, with the dynamite gun, hurried forward from Balqueri at 3 o'clock, proceeding by forced marches. When the couriers brought the news that Juragua had been occupied, the troops which had not disembarked their troops, steamed to Juragua with the view of landing them there, but a heavy sea beating on the beach made it impossible to get the boats through the surf. Dispatches from General Linares, which have been captured, indicate the Spaniards were ordered to retreat toward Santiago. The insurgents expect the first land will be made at Seville. General Lawton's men are badly fagged by forced marches and the intense heat. Their rations are almost exhausted. There were two casualties during the landing of the troops at Balqueri. Corporal Cobb and Private English, of troop D, 10th cavalry, (colored) fell between a lighter and the pier. Captain O'Neill, of "Wood's rough riders" plunged into the sea to the risk of his life, but the men were crushed before he reached them. Captain O'Neill is the former mayor of Prescott, Ariz.

Several horses and mules were drowned while swimming ashore through the surf. General Garcia's army of 4,500 men is to be conveyed by the transports from Acapulco and landed at Balqueri tomorrow, to join the 1,200 men under General Castillo and co-operate with the American troops.

Useless Efforts to Defend Santiago.

Port au Prince, Hayti, June 24.—According to advices received here this morning, the Americans will soon be masters of Santiago de Cuba, in spite of the steps taken by the Spanish military commanders and Admiral Cervera to defend the place.

MILITIA CALLED OUT.

Strike at Oshkosh, Wis., has Assumed a Serious Aspect—State Troops Necessary to Protect Workmen and Property.

Oshkosh, Wis., June 24.—Militia have arrived from Milwaukee. The strikers planned an attack on the factory of the Pine Lumber company, but when they reached the grounds the soldiers stood ready to receive them and the mob abandoned the cause. The strikers fighting aggregated nine non-union men, more or less disabled. Only one killed was a striker, James Morris, who was trying to force his way into the McMillan grounds, and was struck on the head by an engineer employed in the mill. The five factory men will start up again under the protection of the militia.

Reported Defeat of Derwishes.

London, June 24.—A dispatch from Cairo to the Pall Mall Gazette, says it is reported there that the Khalifa has abandoned Omdurman, the derwish stronghold near Khartoum, and fled southward.

BURSTING OF A SHELL

On the Battleship Texas Kills One Man and Wounds Eight.

New York, June 24.—A dispatch to the World from Santiago de Cuba, June 24, says: One man was killed and eight wounded aboard the Texas. The battleship at the time of landing troops, went to Matanzas to make a feint attack upon the fortifications there in connection with the land force of Cubans under General Rabi. The Texas silenced the Socapa batteries. Just as the action ended a shell entered the battleship and exploded. Casualties: A. R. Blakey, of Newport, R. I., apprentice, first class, dead. Wounded—R. C. Engle, seaman, New York; H. A. Gee, apprentice, Philadelphia; J. E. Lixley, landsman, Norfolk, Va.; G. E. Mullen, apprentice, New York; J. E. Nelson, apprentice, New York; R. R. Russell, apprentice, Philadelphia; W. J. Simmonson, seaman, New York; A. Googvist, seaman, New York. Russell is very seriously wounded. Others will all recover.

Germany Will Not Land Troops.

Washington, June 24.—The Associated Press is able to state on authority that permission to land marines or troops at Manila has not been sought by the German ambassador here, of the state department, nor has any such permission been granted. In fact there have been no overtures exchanged on the subject.

ADOPTED BUSINESS METHODS.

Convention of Federated Women's Clubs Will Tax Members Ten Cents Each Annually.

Denver, June 24.—The General Federation of Women's clubs was placed on a strictly business, instead of a semi-charity, basis by the decision of the convention today to tax the thousands of clubs in the federation at the rate of 10 cents per capita annually. The new provision will go into effect in 1900 and will bring in $5,500 a year. The educational conference, in charge of Miss Margaret J. Evans, of Minnesota, and the conference on "Club methods" with Mrs. Cyrus E. Perkins, of Michigan. In the chair, were held this afternoon.

Another Spanish Fals.

St. Thomas, D. W. L., June 24.—No information has been received here which tends to confirm the report from Madrid that some Spanish warships at San Juan de Porto Rico had been engaged with an American cruiser.

DISORDER PREVAILED.

Copyrighted by Associated Press.—Madrid, June 24.—The debate in the chamber of deputies yesterday on the Philippine question, was marked by great disorder. Senator Romero y Robledo, the Conservative leader, attacked General Polavieja, the former minister of war, for treating with General Aguinaldo, the insurgent leader, and was interrupted with shouts of "That is untrue." A scene of the greatest confusion followed and the sitting was suspended. When business was resumed Senator Robledo asked if the government desired peace or war. If peace, he added, Spain would better negotiate directly with the United States, as the powers would demand a broker's commission in case they intervened. Senator Robledo censured the minister of marine and Admiral Cervera, accusing the minister of having granted unpatriotic interviews. Captain Aunon defended the navy, and said Senator Robledo's remarks were insulting and characterized the published reports of interviews with him as "distortions." The reporters left the chamber and only returned at the close of the minister's speech, which concluded with the announcement that Admiral Camara was on the way to the Philippines to defend the Spanish flag. An uproar was occasioned by Senator Salazar, the Republican leader, who denounced the attempt to close debate. He loudly exclaimed, "It is an outrage," and was commencing an attack on the monarchy when his voice was drowned by shouts. When order was restored the president announced the chamber would meet in secret session to discuss internal affairs.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

Washington, June 24.—Senator Hale reported from the naval affairs committee a bill conferring authority on the president to appoint five cadets, during the next year to the naval academy. Mr. Hale said it was particularly designed to enable the president to appoint to the naval academy a son of Captain Charles V. Gridley, commander of the Olympia, flagship of Admiral Dewey, who died recently at Kobe, Japan. Mr. Hale (Tenn.) objected. The bill went over.

The bill to increase the efficiency of the quartermaster's department of the army and authorizing the secretary of war to make such a distribution of the force as he may deem expedient, was passed. The senate agreed to the conference report on the bankruptcy bill.

The bill to increase the efficiency of the substance department of the army, making provision for the appointment of 30 assistant commissaries of subsistence, with the rank of captain, was reported and read.

The bill relative to the engineer corps, recently reported, was passed.

Appointment of Indian Agent. The president has appointed Elwood Hadley agent for the Indians at the Pima agency in Arizona.

Cortes Suspended.

Gen. Miles Will go to Cuba. Washington, June 24.—General Miles, in command of the army, will go to Cuba to direct the military operations in the field, after preparations for further expeditions by the way of Newport News and Tampa are perfected.

HOBSON AND MEN SAFE.

Admiral Sampson Has Learned That the Gallant Crew of the Merrimac is Well—Confined in Santiago.

Washington, D. C., June 24, 10 a. m.—The State department has just received the following cablegram: Plaza del Este, June 24.—From a flag of truce I learned today that Lieutenant Hobson and companions are all well. They are confined in the city of Santiago four miles from Morro. (Signed) "SAMPSON."

ACCIDENT TO MILITARY TRAIN.

Engine Jumped the Track and Toppled Over—Engineer Killed and Fireman Will Die—Soldiers Uninjured.

St. Joseph, Mo., June 24.—As the second section of the Burlington train carrying the Torrey cowboy regiment, cavalry, from Fort D. A. Russell to Jacksonville, Fla., was pulling into the St. Joseph Union station this morning, the engine jumped the track and after plunging through the earth for 30 feet, toppled over on one side. Engineer John W. Fuller, who bravely remained at his post, was killed. Fireman George Cristman was so badly scalded that he will die. Three cars of horses were derailed but not one animal was scratched.

NEWS FROM HONOLULU.

In Event of Annexation It is Believed Hawaiian Regiment Will be Hurried to Philippine Islands.

Honolulu, June 15, via San Francisco, per steamship Peru, June 24.—The U. S. S. Mohican arrived from San Francisco on the evening of June 15. Orders have been issued requiring all members of the Hawaiian National guards, active and honorary, to report immediately to the commanding officers, the amount and character of any and all equipment in their possession. It is believed that in the event of annexation the local regiment will be hurried to Manila.

Washington, June 24.—Admiral Sampson is in constant cable communication with the Navy department. Six dispatches were received in rapid succession through the early hours today. Only half an hour elapsed between the filing of the last message by the admiral and the receipt of it in Washington. The dispatches made requisition for supplies of every description and indicated needed repairs, mostly of a minor character, to the vessels of the fleet. Not a word was said as to any engagement by the troops under General Shafter. A dispatch to General Greely, chief signal officer, from Lieutenant Colonel Allen, in charge of the telegraph communication with the army, dated at Plaza del Este, indicating that he is making arrangements to extend communication along shore far as Agudadores, about 16 miles farther westward than Plaza del Este.

San Francisco, Cal., June 24.—According to the latest advices obtainable, the next expedition to the Philippines will sail on Monday or Tuesday next and General Merritt will follow a day or two later on the Newport.

That Cadiz Fleet Again.

Washington, June 24.—The State department has received advices confirming the report that the Spanish Cadiz squadron is in the Mediterranean moving eastward. A dispatch came from the agent of the department in Algiers as follows: "Captain Monon, of the English steamer Hampton, informs me, based on the 22d at 3 p. m., of Pampelleria, a Spanish squadron bound east, of 15 ships, including transports, laden with troops and three torpedo boats."

MADRID TALKS YELLOW JACK.

Dispatches From Spanish Capital Say That American Soldiers Have Been Attacked by Yellow Fever—Plan of Campaign.

Madrid, June 24.—It is announced here from Cuba that yellow fever has already attacked the members of the American expedition at Santiago. Dispatches from the Spanish military commander at Santiago say the Spaniards may fall back before the Americans, but only until they are out of the reach of the ships' guns. The Spanish commander at Siboney was killed during the recent fighting there. Colonel Aldea, it is added, defeated the insurgents at Puerto Cabrera. The Spaniards admit that during the recent bombardment by the American fleet, they lost one man killed and had three wounded. On the other hand, they claim the Spanish shells severely damaged the Indiana's port side, and say three shells struck the Texas.

Exploring Expedition Sailed.

Christiansburg, Norway, June 24.—The Arctic exploring ship Fram, having on board Captain Otto Sverdrup's expedition to the Arctic regions, sailed from here this morning.

TEACHERS SHOULD KNOW ENGLISH AND SPANISH.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction Holds This to be Necessary in Certain Districts.

The following opinion has been rendered by Hon. M. C. de Baca, territorial superintendent of public instruction: OFFICE OF SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION, New Mexico.

Mr. Julian J. Trujillo, Kelly, N. M. Santa Fe, N. M., June 11, 98.—Dear Sir, I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 9th inst. inquiring the meaning of the provision of the school law of 1891, "That in school districts where the majority of the children are of Spanish speaking parents teachers should know both English and Spanish." In reply I have to say that the only construction that can be placed on said provision is, that in such cases the teacher should have a knowledge of both languages in order that he might make himself understood to all his pupils and also in order that he might be able to use the Spanish books adopted by the territorial board of education. As to whether Spanish can be taught in the public schools I have to say that while there is no specific provision of law requiring that Spanish should be taught, still section 1520, of the Compiled Laws of 1897, provides "That it shall be the duty of the superintendent of public instruction to recommend the most approved text books, in English or English and Spanish, for the common schools of the territory after the same have been adopted by the territorial board of education, etc." In view of the fact that the said territorial board of education adopted text books in Spanish and in English (a list is inclosed herewith) it becomes the duty of teachers to use said books in the public schools and, therefore, the teaching of the Spanish language is compulsory in order to carry out the plain provisions of the law authorizing the adoption of text books as above stated. Very truly yours, M. C. de Baca, Superintendent.

Vacancy in Bureau of Immigration.

Captain W. H. H. Llewellyn, commanding troop G, 1st U. S. volunteer cavalry, now in the field in front of Santiago de Cuba, has tendered his resignation as a member of the territorial bureau of immigration to Governor Otero and the same has been accepted. No appointment to fill the vacancy has as yet been made. Captain Llewellyn is of the opinion that it will be several months before he will be able to return to the territory and that some person, who can give his time and attention to the duties of the position, should fill it.

MORE TROUBLE FOR SPAIN.

If the Cadiz Fleet Has Really Started For Manila, An American Fleet Will Visit Spanish Seaports.

Washington, June 24.—It is authoritatively stated that if the Spanish Cadiz squadron once passes into the Suez canal, a powerful American squadron made up from Admiral Sampson's best ships will start at once across the Atlantic, enter the Mediterranean and bombard the Spanish seaports. Various conditions have been made to show this plan to be entirely feasible.

LANDING OF TROOPS.

Progress of Work as Told in Delayed Message—Cubans Joining Gen. Shafter's Forces—Men Well and in Good Spirits.

Copyright Associated Press.—On board Associated Press dispatch boat Dauntless off Balqueri, June 23, by way of Halifax direct cable. Before sunset last night over 4,000 men of the 16,500 on board the transports, went ashore. General Kent, with seven transports, will remain west of Santiago as a feint, until the remainder of the troops here are landed.

General Garcia arrived at camp before dark; 1,500 of his Cubans are expected to effect a juncture with General Shafter's men today. As soon as the various commands were landed yesterday, they were pushed out in the direction of Santiago. At dark the transports were and were strung out in a column three miles long, the front resting at Demajayabo and the rear column within a mile of base at Balqueri in the following order: Colonel Wagner, with reconnaissance party at Demajayabo, a mile from General Lawton's headquarters; 23d and 24th colored infantry, resting at a small creek, 2d Massachusetts, 13th infantry, 1st battalion, two companies 10th infantry, 2d battalion, 4th infantry. General Bates' men, who are on reserve, and General Lawton's "Wood's rough riders" dismounted, and fragments of several regiments, bivouacked at Balqueri last night.

The landing proceeded until dawn. The men slept on the bare ground, some under tent flies, some under the starlit canopy. In the morning they washed and were in good spirits. The only disagreeable feature was the mosquitoes and land insects. All the men are anxious to get at the foe and the regiments are to be pushed on to support General Lawton, as fast as they are landed. The aggressive attitude of the army on land has been exceedingly gratifying.

GERMANY WILL NOT INTERFERE.

Assurances Received From High Official Source That That Government Will Maintain Strict Neutrality Regarding the Philippines.

Washington, June 24.—At today's cabinet meeting it was announced that the secretary of state had received assurances that Germany has no intention of interfering with the policy or plans of the United States in regard to the occupation of the Philippines Islands. Its attitude will continue to be one of strict neutrality. This statement, coming from a high official source, is accepted by this government in perfect good faith and regarded as final and conclusive.

ALL ABOARD FOR THE SACRAMENTOS.

First Mile of Track on the A. & S. M. R. R. Completed and Work Pushed Right Along—First Division to be Completed by September 1 Coming.

El Paso, Texas, June 24.—The first mile of track on the Alamogordo and Sacramento Mountain railroad was laid and completed yesterday and engines are now running to the end of the track from the depot at Alamogordo. The first division of the new road to the summit of the Sacramento and into the magnificent timber belt in that region will be completed by September 1, as a large force of men and teams is engaged in the work and as General Manager John A. Eddy is pushing the work with great energy and vim.

The United States will soon make official surveys of the whole Sacramento mountain section, and settlers are flocking to that favored section and taking up homestead claims in great numbers. The new road will be one of the most picturesque in the United States and will show scenic attractions superior to those of the famous Yosemite country in California and fully equal to the grandest on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad in Colorado.

AN OPERATION AVOIDED.

Mrs. Rosa Gaum Writes to Mrs. Pinkham About It. She Says:

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I take pleasure in writing you a few lines to inform you of the good your Vegetable Compound has done me. I cannot thank you enough for what your medicine has done for me; it has, indeed, helped me wonderfully. For years I was troubled with an ovarian tumor, each year growing larger until at last I was compelled to consult with a physician. He said nothing could be done for me but to go under an operation. In speaking with a friend of mine about it, she recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, saying she knew it would cure me. I then sent for your medicine and after taking three bottles of it, the tumor disappeared. Oh! you do not know how much good your medicine has done me. I shall recommend it to all suffering women.—MRS. ROSA GAUM, 720 Wall St., Los Angeles, Cal.

The great and unvarying success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in relieving every derangement of the female organs, demonstrates it to be the modern safeguard of woman's happiness and bodily strength. More than a million women have been benefited by it. Every woman who needs advice about her health is invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass.

FRIDAY, JUNE 24.

The mining paper of New Mexico par excellence—the SANTA FE NEW MEXICAN.

The Omaha people have grit. Despite the war, they are making the people of the country remember that there is an exhibition being held in their town.

The stock of Irish bulls is not yet exhausted by any means. A few days ago an Irish member in the British parliament, in speaking of Mr. Gerard Balfour, said: "He is iron bound in red tape."

If stories about lots of provisions being on hand, could feed the people of Havana, what a nice time Captain General Blanco would have of it, for he is just now engaged in sending out reports that there are enough provisions in Havana for 300,000 people for 12 months.

The celebration of the first settlement of New Mexico by the Spaniards, which is to be held under the auspices of the New Mexico Historical society and the New Mexico Pioneers at Chamita and San Juan on the 13th of next July, promises to be a grand success and an occasion of much enjoyment and benefit to those who will participate in the event. It is to be hoped that the people of New Mexico will attend in goodly numbers.

The major generals and admirals in the editorial offices of the yellow and free silver papers throughout the country are still highly indignant at the conduct of the war and are just hitting the administration right and left under the belt and above the belt. The funny phase of the situation consists in the administration going right along and minding its own business, just as if no yellow and free silver journals existed.

Some of our esteemed contemporaries in the yellow and free silver papers, who nearly always run up very good majorities for the Democratic or Populists, are engaged in giving the Republicans of New Mexico glorious and wonderful advice and making most powerful and eloquent suggestions to them these fine June days. But it was ever thus, human nature is human nature in New Mexico as well as in other parts of this beautiful hemisphere.

The bill granting the territory of New Mexico certain lands for the support of its public institutions and schools in advance of statehood, which has passed both houses of the present congress, has been signed by the president, and is law. This is good news for the territory. There is still time to save many valuable sections of land for the territory by wise and judicious selections of the number of acres granted in the bill. The public land donations have proved and are proving of much value to all the western states and there is no good reason why this should not also be the case in New Mexico.

Senator Stewart, who represents the rotten borough of Nevada in the senate of the United States, a commonwealth that casts about one-fourth the number of votes that the territory of New Mexico does, is still yelping about the crime of '73, but in the meantime is drawing very handsome dividends from his San Miguel silver mines in Mexico. The senator is consistent that is sure; the more silver sells for, the more he will make; as far as the country and the war and the support of the administration, why, those things are of no consequence when it comes to large dividends for the silver mine owners. The miners themselves are also not taken into consideration. The owners of the mines are "the people."

Spain's Helpless Condition.

The political and civil condition of Spain is so deplorable, that even the American people cannot but feel sorry for that ill-fated country.

The few men of affairs in the nation who really appreciate the hopelessness of waging the war with the United States longer, desire peace, but they fear the condition of Spain would be worse should an effort be made to procure peace. Misled by corrupt officials, deceived by a venal press, and in their ignorance possessing no conception of the vast difference in strength and resources between the two countries, the masses of the Spanish people have all along believed that the war would result in a defeat of the Americans, and in a great measure restore the lost prestige of their land. Any negotiations for peace at this time would be a confession of defeat, loss of colonial territory and utter humiliation. The temper of the people will not permit of voluntary cessation of hostilities and would bring on a revolution which would complete the downfall of the ruling house.

The pretender is also watching an opportunity to enbroider the land in civil war in order to further his ambition to wear a crown. The first sign of absolute weakness on the part of the present government would be seized as that opportunity. The discontent of the army is such that no reliance can be placed on it in case trouble should come internally. The Weylerites also have a grievance which they are nursing against a turn of affairs when it would be safe for them to attempt the overthrow of the little king's power. Under these circumstances the statesmen consider the unsatisfactory state of the present time preferable to the uncertainties of revolution, and will allow the war to drag a time longer in the hope that some unforeseen happening in the near future will help them out of the dilemma now confronting them.

Bankrupt, robbed by dishonest officials, betrayed by her own nobles and utterly helpless, as she is, Spain dare not think of peace for fear of enemies at home, and it may become necessary for the United States to send strong fleets to bombard the coast cities in order to bring the masses to their senses and make peace possible, and perhaps prevent a civil war which will be awful in its results, although the latter does not concern this country in any great measure.

A Suggestion to Patriotic New Mexicans.
The experience of the past three days, in mustering the 75 men wanted to bring the 1st regiment of United States volunteer cavalry up to the maximum in numbers, has opened the eyes of those persons who are interested in enlisting the men to a serious defect in the arrangements under which the work is done: that of a lack of funds for the care of the men who are willing to go to the front in defense of the country and in behalf of freedom, from the time they leave positions for that purpose until they have been accepted by the mustering officer and enrolled, when the government assumes the expense. It is neither right nor just that men, who are willing to answer to the call for troops, should bear their own expenses while awaiting examination. But the national government makes no provision to meet those expenses, and as no appropriation has been made by the territorial legislature for that purpose, the necessity for it not being known when the Thirty-second assembly was in session, there are no funds available for the care of volunteers for service during the interim mentioned.

Before many days have passed it will become the duty of this territory, under the apportionment of troops under the president's second call, to enlist a large number of men for service in the war, and money for that purpose will be sadly needed. There is but one way for it to be obtained, and that is for citizens to advance it to the governor, and to wait until the next session of the legislature for the appropriation. The proper appropriation can be made from territorial funds. In Colorado, when the first call for troops was made, that state was in the same position. In regard to necessary money as is New Mexico at this time. Governor Adams' friends actuated by purely patriotic motives, advanced the large sum required out of their own pockets, until the legislature meets next year, when it will be returned. The wealthy residents of Colorado are no more patriotic than hundreds of wealthy residents of New Mexico, and the New Mexican believes that when the real situation is understood by the property owners, business men and capitalists of such cities as Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Las Vegas, Raton, Silver City, Las Cruces, Roswell and others, they will come to the rescue of the fair name of New Mexico and place the necessary money in Governor Otero's hands to care for the men who will present themselves for enlistment in the infantry, soon to be made. Governor Otero has no easy task on his hands in the fulfillment of the promises which have been made by the press of the territory that thousands of loyal men stood ready to answer any call that might be made upon the people of New Mexico for aid in the present war, and the purses of those who have the means and who cannot go to the front in person, ought not to be withheld when there is need of temporary assistance.

In advancing this money no risk will be taken. The Thirty-third legislative assembly of New Mexico will not be lacking in territorial pride or national patriotism, and one of the first acts of that body will be to provide for the return of the funds. Again, the tax payers will gladly stand the expense which will be incurred in the enlistment of additional troops. They feel that the reputation of the territory, and the honor of the inhabitants, are at stake.

An opportunity is now presented for the wealthy portion of the New Mexico people to show its patriotism, and for the sake of all that true Americans hold sacred, it is hoped that a hearty response will be made to this appeal to aid the causes of humanity and freedom.

OFFICE FITTINGS.

300 YEARS AGO

New Mexico Will Celebrate The Founding of the First Settlement Of White Men.

Governors Adams and Otero, With Many Other Prominent Men, Will Be Present, and Special Trains Will Run From Santa Fe.

(Denver Daily News.)

Governor Adams has accepted the invitation of the Historical society of New Mexico to be present at the commemoration of the 300th anniversary of the founding of the first settlement of white men in New Mexico. The celebration will take place July 13 on a spot in the valley of the Rio Grande river, where in 1598, Onate stopped on his long journey from the Spanish province of Mexico. The northward march of the adventure was brought to an end at the mouth of the Chama river and there he founded a town which he named San Gabriel. The settlement flourished for a few years, but Santa Fe was more favorably located as the principal town of the territory, and San Gabriel became a heap of ruins. The little railway station of Chamita, on the Denver & Rio Grande road, marks the spot of the first settlement of the territory.

Few men take a more lively interest in the historical development of the west than Governor Adams, and it is expected that he will deliver one of his characteristic historical addresses at the time of the celebration. Governor Otero, of New Mexico, will assist in the program. Colonel J. Francisco Chaves will speak in behalf of the pioneers, who first carried civilization into the southwest. Judge W. F. Stone, of the court of private land claims, will present one of the interesting phases of the subject, and Hon. L. Bradford Prince will have general charge of the program. Special trains will be run from Santa Fe, 35 miles distant, and a large attendance from different parts of the territory is expected.

Cradle of Human Race.
It has been said that New Mexico contains more remains than all the remainder of the west put together. An investigator of Albuquerque has found what he considers indisputable proofs that New Mexico was the cradle of the human race. Beneath the volcanic flow, he has found evidence of human occupation antedating by thousands or perhaps millions of years the ruins which challenge the traveler in the numberless valleys and mountain canons of the southwest. The first authentic account of the great region which has witnessed the development and decay of prehistoric races was that written by the historian of Coronado's celebrated march. Coronado set out on his expedition in 1540 and although the trip was a failure, it was one of the most interesting and romantic exploits ever attempted on the western continent. The location of the city of Quivira, which Coronado claims to have discovered far to the east of the mountains, may ever remain an enigma to the student of history. It is perhaps better informed than any other man upon this subject, and in his history of New Mexico he graphically describes the march of Coronado and the wonderful city which many writers have located on the Missouri river at Council Bluffs.

Quite was a wealthy citizen of Zacatecas, Mexico. He became deeply interested in the vast region to the north and in stories of gold which were related by returning adventures. Under permission of the viceroy of Mexico he started at the head of a command of 700 soldiers and 130 of his own men to explore the terra incognita and establish a permanent settlement. The party traveled up the valley of the Rio Grande, stopping at one of the pueblos to give the priests an opportunity to instill into the idol worshiping natives the fundamentals of Christianity.

According to the best estimates, that have been made the cavalcade arrived at the mouth of the Chama river early in July, 300 years ago, and there set up the cross and the farmers began to cultivate the soil. Many of the adventures washed the sand for gold, and their labors were not unrewarded. Others opened lode mines in districts now mined by modern methods. A detachment of soldiers undertook to imitate the example of Coronado and started on a trip 600 miles across the buffalo plains in the direction of the reported city of Quivira. The city was reached at last, after untold sufferings, and a lasting peace was signed between Spain and the Quivirans. The route pursued passed over practically the same ground as was afterwards followed by the Santa Fe trail.

Although the dreams of Onate were never realized, owing to the mistakes of the Spanish leaders and their thirst for gold, the attempt marked the beginning of efforts which after numerous disasters and privations resulted in the permanent introduction of civilization. One of the remarkable features which will be illustrated at the assemblage of July 13 is the pertinacity with which the descendants of the native race have adhered to their primitive customs. Notwithstanding all the efforts which have been made, it is doubtful whether any change has been effected in their religious belief. Governor Prince has made a large collection of stone idols used by the natives in their peculiar ceremonies, and he finds that they are just as dear to the heart of the Pueblo Indian today as to the heart of his forefathers 300 years ago.

300th Anniversary of the Permanent Settlement of New Mexico, Chamita, N. M., July 13, 1598.

For the above occasion the Santa Fe Route will place on sale tickets from all points in New Mexico and El Paso, Tex., to Santa Fe, N. M., at one fare for the round trip, to be valid July 13, good for return passage July 14, one fare or less for the round trip will be made from Santa Fe to Chamita.

C. H. Laidlow is developing the Black Knife property near Fairview.

Webster, Orchard & Bennett are developing an iron lode near Hillsboro.

Ashley & Madden have found encouraging placer prospects on the Vermejo, in Colfax county.

Development is showing the Miners Union and Mogul claims, Cochiti district, to possess fine ore.

The Red River smelter will blow in as soon as satisfactory contracts have been signed by the mine owners.

M. Gilmore, of Denver, is in La Belle looking for mining properties and may erect a reduction plant there.

The North smelter last week made a copper shipment to Kansas City. One other shipment went to Denver.

The ditches for the water to supply the new 200-ton custom mill at the Crown Point mine, Cochiti district, are being constructed by F. L. Frazier.

The Bland mill is working steadily on Lone Star ores and is demonstrating beyond doubt that the Cochiti ores are susceptible of profitable cheap treatment.

Alex. Conrad and James Sherlock, owners, last week opened a rich body of ore in the Aunt Betsy claim, Cochiti district. The vein is 20 feet wide. It will be extensively developed.

J. C. Turner has resumed the work of driving the Lillian tunnel at La Belle. The tunnel is now in 800 feet and two leads have been cut, but the work will be pushed until the Edison vein is encountered.

Last week's output of Hillsboro mines was: Wicks, 10 tons; K. K., 10 tons; Richmond, 10 tons; Happy Jack, 5 tons; Snake Group, 40 tons; Opportunity, 10 tons; Sherman, 5 tons; Prosper, 5 tons; Rex, 5 tons. Total output since January 1, 3,530 tons.

It Made No Difference.
And may I—may I ask your father's consent, dear Miss Jane?
Pop's gone to war, but that don't make no difference—you'd have to ask maw anyway.

Hard Luck.
Mrs. Hobsleigh—Does your daughter expect to graduate from the high school this year?
Mrs. Wedgwood—She did expect to, but our dressmaker is sick, and I'm afraid Jessie will have to put it off until next term.

Dangerous Apparitions.
Every one in a while a ghost crops up in the columns of the daily or weekly press. This ghastly spirit sometimes assumes the part of a promenade on some lonely road, who terrifies belated travelers out of their wits. Few people credit these blood curdling accounts of the doings of his ghostship, but there is a tenement which is unquestionably haunted at times. When a nervous malady attacks the human tenement the manifestations are most appalling, and usually most violent at night. Sleeplessness, if nervousness is disregarded, becomes chronic, and the entire system suffers in consequence. For disturbance of the nerves Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a thorough remedy, and it also is for malaria, rheumatism, dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness.

A Shattered Romance.
Edith—I suppose you are getting lovely letters from your soldier admirer.
May—Dear me, no; he turns out not to have a soul above the salt pork which he complains they are feeding him on.

Mr. John Bevins, editor of the Press, Anthon, Ia., says: "I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in my family for fifteen years, have recommended it to hundreds of others, and have never known it to fail in a single instance. For sale by A. C. Ireland.

Every Inch a Duchess.
First Duke—Why don't you travel incognito, as I do? It's far pleasanter.
Second Duke—Yes, but my wife always goes with me, and I married an American.

I was seriously afflicted with a cough for several years, and last year had a more severe cough than ever before. I have used many remedies without receiving much relief, and being recommended to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, by a friend, who, knowing me to be a poor widow, gave it to me, I tried it, and with the most gratifying results. The first bottle relieved me very much and the second bottle has absolutely cured me. I have not had as good health for twenty years. I give this certificate without solicitation, simply in appreciation of the gratitude felt for the cure effected—Respectfully, Mrs. Mary A. Beard, Claremore, Ark. For sale by A. C. Ireland.

Discouraging.
Bob—What's the matter? Has the waitress refused you?
Dick—Well, I don't know as you could call it a refusal exactly, but we had hardly got seated in the parlor before she said it was a pity that all our best men had gone to war.

Bad management keeps more people in poor circumstances than any other one cause. To be successful one must look ahead and plan ahead so that when a favorable opportunity presents itself he is ready to take advantage of it. A little forethought will also save much expense and valuable time. A prudent and careful man will keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house, the shiftless fellow will wait until necessity compels it and then ruin his best horse going for a doctor and have a big doctor bill to pay, besides; one pays out 25 cents, the other is out a hundred dollars and then wonders why his neighbor is getting richer while he is getting poorer. For sale by A. C. Ireland.

Quite a Difference.
What are you doing now? asked the leading lady.
What am I doing? echoed the subreptic. I wish you to know that the son of a millionaire is a 'who' and not 'what.'

Circumstances Favored Him.
Mr. P. Ketcham, of Pike City, Cal., says: "During my brother's late sickness from catarrh of the bladder, Chamberlain's Pain Balm was the only remedy that gave him any relief." Many others have testified to the prompt relief from pain which this liniment affords. For sale by A. C. Ireland.

The Only Way He Knew.
Kind Old Party to sobbing urchin—My little lad, you shouldn't cry that way.
Urchin—What other way kin I cry.

MY LITTLE LOVE OF LONG AGO.
My little love of long ago
(How sweetly fly the tired years),
She told me solemnly and low
Of all her hopes and all her fears.
She feared the dangers of the way,
The striving and the working day,
That waited far across the sea,
The loneliness of missing me,
The loneliness of missing me,
My little love of long ago.

For she had faith in everything
(How sweetly fly the tired years),
A heart that could not help but sing
And blossomed out amid the flowers.
My loving was its best refrain,
My loving was its saddest pain,
She solved it all upon my knee,
The loneliness of missing me,
I kissed and comforted her so,
My little love of long ago.

My little love of long ago
(How sweetly fly the tired years),
Such little feet to stumble slow
Along the darkest of life's ways,
While time and distance and the sea,
Or my poor, careless heart maybe,
Could not have told from spring to spring
We long went a-wandering!
Saddened all is not to know
My little love of long ago.
—Post Wheeler in New York Press.

INVISIBLE FRIEND.

The members around the clubhouse fire were talking of the prospects of the spring road races, and from that the conversation turned to road racing in general, and every member had some experience to tell. Only the wheelman who had traveled was silent, as was his wont until stirred to tell some tale of wild adventure by the questions of his companions, who seemed not more than to half believe his stories and yet to feel that they were really true, such indisputable proofs did the traveled one always present. On this occasion it was the club's road race champion, a member who wore a string of century bars three yards long, who said sarcastically, "I suppose you've been the greatest road racer of all of us, haven't you?"

"I won't say that exactly," replied the wheelman who had traveled, "but there was a time when I would have backed myself against the best man in the business. That time has passed and will never return, but if I should tell you the story you wouldn't believe it, so what's the use?"

"Come on, tell it," broke in the bugler. "Don't mind him. He thinks he's the only tune the orchestra can play just because he's got a few bars."

The wheelman who had traveled put his hand in his pocket and drew out a plain leather pipe case. Without a word he opened it and passed it to the club captain, who examined it curiously, for the traveled one's manner presaged a story.

"I don't see anything about road racing in that," remarked the captain.

"What's in it?" asked the champion liar.

"Nothing apparently," responded the captain, and, in fact, the case appeared to be empty.

"Feel of the inside," suggested the wheelman who had traveled. The captain obeyed the suggestion and started as though he had been struck.

"Why, there's a pipe there, but I can't see it," he exclaimed.

The other members felt of the inside of the case, and, sure enough, plain to the touch, but at the same time absolutely invisible, was a pipe. The wheelman who had traveled took the case, lifted something out of it apparently and held it up. His hand appeared to be empty.

"What is it—a fine piece of glass?" asked the member with the pink golf socks.

"Not a bit of it," answered the possessor of the wonderful pipe. "That pipe is a relic of the most faithful friend I ever had and one who saved my life on more than one occasion. I never hear road racing spoken of without thinking of him. Give me some tobacco, some one, and I'll tell you why I prize this pipe so highly."

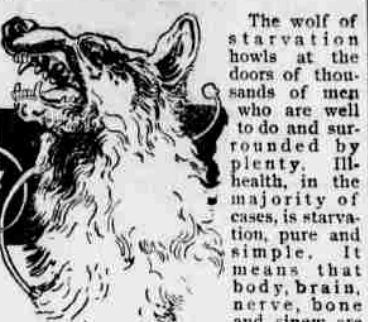

The other members watched him curiously as he rammed the tobacco down into the empty air apparently, and they shrank away from him as though he were something uncanny as they saw the smoke rise from a distance of several inches from the smoker's mouth, but the member who had traveled settled back in his chair and began:

"It was in the winter following my disastrous experience at ostrich farming in Africa that I decided a change of air would be necessary, and I consequently went to Australia, where it was then summer, of course. I had an idea that there might be some good touring in that country, and I took my wheel along as a matter of course. I landed at Melbourne and found the town very dull. I wheeled along near the coast to Sydney and found it no livelier there, so I made up my mind to strike for the interior of New South Wales. I was warned that it would be dangerous to venture far into the bush alone, but I had plenty of nerve in those days and started out feeling better than I had ever felt in my life.

"The trip was wild enough to suit the liveliest imagination, and I thoroughly enjoyed myself. I passed through the heart of the kangaroo district and often stopped to watch the amusing antics of those clever animals, which can leap 40 feet at a jump and are as strong as a horse.

"One day I was standing by my wheel watching a herd of them when all of a sudden they seemed to become alarmed at something and went off toward the horizon in great leaps until every one of them had vanished. I was wondering what had scared them when I felt a hot breath on the back of my head. I looked around with a start, but saw nothing. I heard, however, what sounded like an animal panting for breath directly in front of me, and I will confess that I was thoroughly frightened. I attempted to show no signs of fear, however, although my hair rose so that it threw my cap off, and I stood there perfectly motionless, hoping that whatever it was would go away and leave me alone. All sorts of thoughts went through my head in that brief instant. I recollected all the stories I had ever heard of men and animals that could make themselves invisible, and while I had never believed any of them I remembered that some scientific men had held that it was possible for organic matter to become as transparent as inorganic under certain conditions and prevent neither of the phenomena of refraction and reflection of light. I was convinced in a moment that some beast possessing such qualities was confronting me, I felt a hairy paw caressing my hand. Instead of being frightened at this unexpected demonstration I was reassured, for there was something in the touch that assured me that my life was in no danger, but that on the contrary the thing, whatever it was, was trying to make friends with me. I grasped the paw in my hand and was reassured by what sounded like a grunt of whose existence I had no longer the slightest doubt.

"Resolved to ascertain what kind of a thing this was, I drew it closer to me and began to feel of it. The thing stood perfectly quiet, and it was not long before I recognized the fact that it was a kangaroo of enormous size, but absolutely invisible.

"Well, to cut a long story short, the kangaroo developed the strongest attachment for me and followed me wherever I went. I trained it to tow me up hills and sometimes across the level plains, its easy method of progression by great jumps carrying me along far more swiftly than I could have pedaled. If the kangaroo strayed away, all I had to do was to whistle, and it would come to me, bounding across the open with great leaps, the progress of which I could trace by the depression in the grass where it alighted, although I could not see the beast itself.

"One day we struck a gold mining camp, and I decided to stay there for a few days. On the first night of my stay, however, I got into an altercation with one of the miners, who was intoxicated, and he drew his revolver and fired at me. My faithful kangaroo, unseen, stepped between us and received the bullet himself, as I afterward learned, although it was a mystery to me as well as to the bystanders that I did not fall with a bullet in my brain. At the same instant the kangaroo struck out with his powerful hind leg and caught the miner full in the solar plexus, knocking him out completely. The whole affair was so sudden that none realized what had occurred, and some were inclined to believe that the ruffian had had a stroke of apoplexy. I went to my hotel, and they took the miner to his shanty.

"Along toward morning I was awakened by my host, a decent sort of escaped convict, and informed that the miner had died and that some of his friends were going to carry out the design which he had formed before his death of killing me. 'I don't dare lend you a horse,' said the man, 'but you get on your wheel and ride away as fast as you can, or they'll catch you sure.'

"I started out promptly, for I did not want to be the object of a vigilance committee's deliberations, and was soon wheeling over the plains. I had my faithful kangaroo at my side, and I noticed that he coughed and appeared, from the sound, to be spitting blood. This puzzled me at first, but I quickly realized that he must have been shot in the lung, and I felt more sorrow than I can express at the thought.

"I was setting a pretty good pace, but it was not long before I heard the sound of hoofs far behind me, and looking back I saw four horsemen following me at full gallop. I realized that they were the dead miner's friends, and also that there was no chance of escaping them, for my wheel was in bad condition, sadly in need of oiling, and it was impossible to ride it over the rough surface of the trail as fast as the swift bush horses could gallop. There was only one thing to do. I called the kangaroo toward me and attached my stout garrobo lariat to his enormous tail, tying the other end to the head of my bicycle. I chirruped, and the faithful beast started off with leaps and bounds that nearly unseated me, but I managed to stick on, and soon saw that I was distancing my pursuers. I was not satisfied with that, however, but resolved that I must not slacken speed until safely beyond their radius of action. I urged my invisible motive power on to greater efforts, and before sundown we were more than 200 miles away from the mining camp.

"It was just as the sun was sinking over the trees that the kangaroo stopped short, and as I rode forward the wheel struck his prostrate body. I dismounted and knelt beside him. As I did so I felt the warm lifeblood pouring from a great wound in his side, heard a faint moan, and then the poor beast licked my hand, gasped convulsively and died. He had given his life to save me."

The wheelman who had traveled paused, knocked the ashes from the invisible pipe, replaced it in its case and wiped away a tear.

"But what of the pipe?" asked one of the members.

"Oh, yes—the pipe. Well, I rode on toward civilization, not daring to stay in those parts much longer, and the following spring I went over the same ground again with a large party. We found at the spot where I had left the dead kangaroo the skeleton bodies of four horses and their riders. I realized at once what had happened. My pursuers had followed me, their horses had stumbled over the invisible body of the dead kangaroo, and they had all been killed. The fact that the neck of each corpse was broken proved my theory. I groped among the bones for those of my faithful friend and soon found them. I placed several of them in my traveling case, and when I returned to Buffalo I had this pipe made from two of them. The rest I mislaid and have never found them. I may stumble across them some day."—Buffalo Express.

SOME LITERARY LEAVES.

They Were Taken at Random From an Author's Notebook.
Patriotic poetry closed two points lower than pork last week and wasn't half as tilling.

The Periodical Magazine has promised to send me a check by the 18th. My creditors, however, take no stock in literature. They tell me my future is too promising.
The Story Magazine has accepted two articles of mine, for which they will pay on publication. But to save me I can't persuade the gas company to have no fears about the gas bill.
I very much fear I'll have to stop burning the midnight oil. I can stand it all right enough, but the grocery man says that he can't.
I have received $10 in the last three months for two literary articles, but the physicians and undertakers inform me that business is exceedingly dull in our lines.
I have been writing a serial for the Housemaids' Own Magazine, but have struck for higher wages, having left the heroine on a rock 1,000 miles above the sea level, with a mad bull rushing toward her and no tree in sight. If I don't get $3 more per chapter, she can stay there and take her chances.—Atlanta Constitution.

"Charley!" said Mrs. Snaggs in the middle of the night.
"What did you wake me for?" growled Snaggs.
"Are you really anxious for war and would you go to fight?"
"Certainly I would, but I don't want to be waked up at 2 in the morning to assure you of my patriotism. Let me go to sleep."
"Well, Charley, if you really want to fight, you might begin by taking your revolver and killing that burglar I hear prowling about downstairs."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

TWENTY-SIX VOLUNTEERS.
More Recruits Expected This Evening—Fine Lot of Men Sworn In.

The examination and enlistment of recruits for the 1st U. S. volunteer cavalry by Captain Cooper, mustering officer, goes right along. Yesterday afternoon 12 men were sworn into Uncle Sam's service as follows: James P. Gibbs, Joseph Gessler, Alfred J. Conover, Charles W. Jacobus, Arthur T. Anderson, Frederick W. Dronk, William R. Gibbs, Patrick A. Wickham, Charles M. Townsend, Harry Pierce, Lee C. Rice, Benjamin S. Sawyer.

This forenoon the following were examined and sworn in: John W. Bullard, Walter C. Burris, George Thompson, Ernest C. A. Barber.

This makes 14, and in addition to those sworn in yesterday forenoon, the total number is 26. A detachment of 20 men, anxious for enlistment, is expected to arrive this evening.

The volunteers so far enlisted are above the average and are fine lot of young, active and intelligent men.

COMPLIMENTS ON THE COMPILED LAWS.
From many sources complimentary letters concerning the volume of the New Mexico, 1897, Compiled Laws are being received by the public printer, J. D. Hughes, under whose personal supervision the mechanical work was done. Here is one in point:

W. D. Washburn, Esq., a prominent Chicago lawyer, head of the well known law firm of Washburn, Secor & Munger, who purchased a copy from the territorial printer, writes: "General Bartlett and his associates are to be warmly congratulated upon the arrangement and handling of the subject matter and the public printer is to be greatly complimented upon the typography and mechanical execution of the work. It is certainly a beautiful volume."

CLOSING EXERCISES OF FAIR LORETTO

Never in the history of Loretto in Santa Fe, has a larger crowd assembled to witness the closing exercises always so entertaining as that which congregated Wednesday evening at the occasion of the forty-fifth commencement of the Loretto academy. A most interesting program was ably carried out.

The opening selection was Melotte's "Il Trovatore," by Misses M. Tipton, M. Hubbel, D. Smith, L. May, G. Zaczynski, and J. Smith. It was very creditably executed.

Crowns were then conferred for superior literary merit on Misses A. McNulty, J. Smith, and D. Perea.

Second literary honors were awarded to Miss L. May.

The "Prettiest Song of All" was sweetly sung by the juniors and minims. Some of the little voices are most charming.

Miss D. Perea handled the subject of her essay with much skill; the theme was "Self Improvement in Poetical Form."

"Our Volunteers' March," executed by Misses G. Zaczynski, L. Bergmann, M. Hubbel, L. Gonzales, M. Tipton, and C. Becklett, was well applauded.

Miss Jessie Smith's recitation of "The Crown" was excellent and the young lady was very frequently applauded. She recites most excellently.

Miss M. Tipton performed an instrumental solo in a manner creditable alike to her musical talent and careful training.

The "Harvest Drill" by 12 misses was heartily applauded.

The medley waltz was one of the most beautiful performances of the evening. The perfect harmony of the various instruments itself commends the musical knowledge of the performers.

A very popular feature of the program was the essay entitled "The Spirit of Our Republic," by Miss L. May. It was well rendered and heartily applauded.

Miss G. Zaczynski in her recitation entitled "The Diver" displayed much power as an actress. She has a very good voice.

Little Nina Perea, as usual, captivated the audience by her clear and feeling recitation of "The Frolic of the Figures."

A concert recitation, "Flag of the Rainbow," delivered by nine misses, was very interesting.

The closing song, "Till We Meet Again," was sung most feelingly; Salut A Pesh closed the instrumental selections.

Miss Agnes McNulty's valedictory was an excellent composition charmingly rendered, and well worthy in every respect of teachers and pupil.

"The Holy City," sung by Miss Laura May, was one of the best numbers on the program. It was well received and the young lady was called out twice. She has a splendid soprano voice.

The floral gifts were beautiful, particularly those of Miss Jessie Smith, Miss Laura May and Miss Lulu Hudgens.

Miss Lulu Hudgens as Goddess of Liberty was very impressive.

MINOR CITY TOPICS.
U. S. weather bureau forecast for New Mexico: Fair tonight and Saturday.

The excursion to San Juan today was mightily well patronized. Advertising is a great thing for railroad business indeed.

Citizens should help the Ladies Soldiers Aid society of this city, by every possible means. The society is doing patriotic and laudable work.

The patrons of the Santa Fe postoffice are much pleased with the new order of things. The new electric light arrangement gives great satisfaction.

All sorts of justice of the peace blanks, deeds, options, power of attorney and legal blanks for sale in quantities, great or small, at the New Mexican Printing company's office.

Charles Scheurich has moved into the rooms in the Kahn building, formerly occupied by Dr. J. B. Brady, who is now in the field as one of the hospital stewards of the 1st U. S. volunteer cavalry.

Probate Judge Telesforo Rivera has appointed Mr. C. M. Conklin administrator of the estate of Joseph Field, deceased, in place of T. P. Gable, removed. There are some accounts held by the estate yet to be administered.

The 5-months-old baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lamberton, who died on Wednesday, was buried from the family residence yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The remains were interred in Fairview cemetery.

W. B. Childers, attorney for complainants, Geo. Hill Howard, attorney for defendants.

Divorce case of Gregorio Griego vs. Adalaida Valdez y Griego, Taos county, is on hearing today before Judge McFie. Catron & Gortner for complainant, Judge N. B. Laughlin for defendant.

The case of Thomas Smith, N. B. Laughlin and C. H. Gildersleeve, against Santa Fe county, complainants claiming $14,500 and eight years interest as a legal fee, will come up before Judge McFie on tomorrow. District Attorney C. A. Spiess represents the county.

In the habeas corpus proceeding in the Erb-Ormerod case, in which F. G. Erb was held under bonds to appear before the District court for obtaining money under false pretenses, Judge McFie yesterday afternoon, discharged Mr. Erb, on the ground that there was no cause for action. The case of S. Arnold against Mr. Erb was remanded to justice court for hearing. W. B. Childers appeared for Mr. Erb, and A. B. Renahan for the complainant.

The Bill is Signed.
A Washington dispatch announces that the bill granting to New Mexico about 2,000,000 acres of public lands for the benefit of territorial institutions and the public schools of the territory, has been approved by the president and is now law.

INFANTRY FROM NEW MEXICO
Four Territories to Furnish One Regiment—New Mexico's Quota Fifteen Commissioned Officers and 424 Enlisted Men.

Regiment to be Mobilized at Whipple Barracks.

Governor Otero this afternoon received official notification from the adjutant general of the army, that under the president's second call it has been determined to call for one full regiment of infantry from the territories of New Mexico, Arizona, Oklahoma and the Indian Territory, and that New Mexico should furnish 15 commissioned officers and 424 enlisted men, being the maximum of three commissioned officers and 100 enlisted men authorized by law and three regimental field officers. This will give the territory one major, one assistant surgeon and one staff officer in addition to the company officers.

Captain D. D. Mitchell, 15th infantry, at Fort Wingate, is appointed mustering officer and 2d Lieutenant J. K. Moore, 15th infantry, is appointed acting quartermaster and commissary of subsistence for the mustering.

The companies, as fast as enlisted and organized will be sent to Whipple Barracks, Prescott, A. T., where the regiment will be fully equipped, armed and drilled.

Governor Otero has not fully decided as yet upon a course of action where and how the four companies from New Mexico shall be recruited and who shall be commissioned as officers, and may leave the matter in abeyance until the 75 volunteers for the 1st U. S. volunteer cavalry are enlisted and sent to Tampa.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MATTERS.
Superintendent Baca Returns From a Tour of Inspection—Normal Institutes to be Held.

Hon. Manuel C. de Baca, superintendent of public instruction, has just returned from an extensive trip through the counties of Dona Ana, Grant, Sierra, Valencia, Bernalillo, San Miguel, Colfax and Mora. He has visited the superintendents of said counties for the purpose of making arrangements for the holding of the county normal institutes. Mr. Baca has taken hold of the duties of his office with great enthusiasm and is using every effort to arouse popular interest in the normal institutes, as he is convinced that very great benefit will be derived from properly conducted institutes. He is very much interested in securing the very best talent obtainable for conductors of institutes.

Mr. Baca will start at once for the counties of Taos, Rio Arriba and San Juan, and his aim is to visit personally each county before the institutes commence.

San Juan Excursion.
The train which left the D. & R. G. depot this morning for Chama carrying excursionists to the Indian festival at San Juan was crowded, over 200 tickets having been sold. The regular train which left at 10:10 carried quite a number more who did not care to spend the entire day at the pueblo. These excursions grow in popularity every year, and General Agent Helm is more than pleased with the success of this one.

Wallace C. Fenderson Dead.
A San Francisco dispatch announces that Wallace C. Fenderson, who was last year connected with this paper for six months, as city editor, died in the Occidental hotel in that city on the 20th inst., from morphine poisoning, the drug having been used supposedly to allay pain. Fenderson had been connected with various newspapers in California, Colorado, this territory and Arizona for about ten years. His specialty was railroad reporting and at the time of his death he was press agent of the Stockton & Tuolumne Railroad company at Sonora, Tuolumne county. He also did special work for the San Francisco and Sacramento morning papers.

The Cattle Sanitary Board.
Owing to the non-arrival of Mr. F. J. Otero, one of the members of the territorial cattle sanitary board, there was no quorum of the board present here yesterday and no meeting was held. There was also more time required in order that a decision on some legal points concerning the duties of the board might be had from the solicitor general. Hence Chairman W. H. Jack has called a meeting of the members to meet here on Thursday, June 30th, for the transaction of business. A quorum will then be present and the matter of the tax levy for the 4th fiscal year and some other important matters will be disposed of.
