DOLLIVER DIES AT HOME IN FT. DODGE

SHORT ILLNESS ENDS CAREER OF SENATOR

Dilation of the Heart Given as Cause of Death; Was Member of Congress for Many Years.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Fort Dodge, Ia., Oct. 15.—Senator Jonathan P. Dolliver died at his residence here at 7:30 o'clock tonight while attending physician, Dr. E. M. Van Patten, was examining his heart with a stethoscope.

His death followed an acute attack of dilation of the heart which affected him about a week ago.

His physicians announced tonight that his death was directly due to dilation of the heart.

Senator Dolliver had so far recovered his strength that he was able to walk about the lawn. He had been up all day and tonight entered his sitting room for the daily consultation with his physician.

The senator informed Dr. Van Patten that he was feeling much improved and that he believed he had about recovered his normal strength. Dr. Van Patten cautioned him about becoming anxious to resume his work and then began the examination of the heart while the senator was seated in a large Morris chair.

While making the examination the physician kept up a conversation with Senator Dolliver and asked him how he was feeling.

"I am really feeling better than at any time since my recent sickness," he said. "But I suppose the twelve will be set howling about my successor, and the senator laughed. He had frequently expressed in a humorous manner his opinion of having the people pick his successor while he was yet alive. The physician continued his work with the stethoscope, counting the beats of the senator's heart out loud. He was frequently interrupted by Senator Dolliver with the declaration that he was unable to hear his own heart. When the physician had counted thirteen beats he informed the senator:

"That's good," replied the senator. "The more I have been able to count was soon."

The physician continued the examination and suddenly noticed that the heart beats had ceased. He shook his stethoscope, believing that it was defective in some way. Again applying his instrument he discovered that the heart had ceased beating entirely.

Upon looking into the senator's face he discovered that death had overtaken him. He had died without a struggle and without the least warning.

It was learned tonight that a consultation of physicians was held a week ago and that they had discovered that the senator was in a dangerous condition.

Dr. A. H. McCrea, one of the attending physicians said tonight that it was the opinion of the physicians at the consultation that the senator was in a dangerous condition.

Mrs. Dolliver was not aware of the senator's serious condition. While she had had a dread of the result she had not been told that the senator was not seriously ill.

She said tonight that the senator while in Washington studied tariff schedules constantly, taking little time to rest or sleep.

Senator Dolliver during the last week has suffered intensely with his heart and breathed with difficulty.

In response to a telegram from the senator's sister, Mrs. E. E. Graham of Evanston, Ill., the physicians answered that the senator was doing well and that there was no alarming symptoms.

The Gray Dolliver, sister of the senator, died of cancer at Morningside college, Sioux City, and Rev. H. Dolliver of Redfield, S. D., a brother, have been notified of the demise.

Senator Dolliver's illness dates back about a year and a half.

Before going to Washington for the last session of congress he had been slightly ill.

Last spring he had trouble with his eyes and submitted to an operation. A few weeks later word was received in Fort Dodge that he was confined to his bed on account of illness and it was said by his intimate friends that he was threatened with a general collapse.

At the close of congress Senator Dolliver announced that he would go to New Mexico and recuperate. He went a few weeks in that state and returned to Iowa, declaring that Iowa climate was good enough for him.

He announced before the republican state convention in Iowa that his illness had restored him completely.

At the beginning of the campaign in Washington Senator Dolliver announced his intention of entering that state to assist Senator La Follette. In the meantime, however, he had some illness and in Wisconsin Senator Dolliver became sick and returned to his home at Fort Dodge.

His illness was not regarded as serious. About two weeks ago he went to Junction, Ia., on business and while here he contracted a heavy cold. It was feared for a time that he had pneumonia. He was unable to shake off his illness and a week ago the services of physicians he took to his bed.

Physicians diagnosed his case as stomach trouble, which interfered with his heart action.

Great Man Gone, Says Cummins.

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 15.—Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa was greatly shocked upon learning of Senator Dolliver's death.

"I am profoundly grieved at the death of Senator Dolliver," he said. "The nation has lost a great man. He was finely equipped for service and his death coming at a time that it does will be a great loss to the masses of the people. He was a man who fearlessly enlisted in every great cause. I had come to admire him for his statesmanship and for his fearlessness in fighting for the cause of right and justice."

WAS STRONG FIGURE IN PUBLIC LIFE

Washington, Oct. 15.—Twice in the limelight as a strong vice-presidential possibility and in the first rank throughout his entire career in congress as an authority on tariff and railroad legislation, Senator Dolliver was one of the strong figures in public life. As an orator, he never failed to charm his audiences with his eloquence with incomparable stories of which he had an inexhaustible fund, and with his ready wit and his keen sense of humor.

Senator Dolliver was born near Kingswood, Preston county, Va. (now West Virginia), February 8, 1858. He graduated from the University of West Virginia and at twenty was admitted to the bar. He soon moved to Iowa and became a prominent lawyer at Fort Dodge. He was elected as a republican in 1888 to the fifty-first congress as a representative of the tenth district. That was his first political office and he was continued in the fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth and fifty-sixth congresses.

In August 23, 1909, he was appointed by the then Governor Leslie M. Shaw to fill a vacancy in the United States senate, caused by the death of Senator Gear. He was elected in 1907 for a term that would have expired March 3, 1913.

When the Dingley tariff was enacted Mr. Dolliver was a member of the senate committee on ways and means of the house.

He distinguished himself then for the active part which he took in making that law. Although more independent than many, he was then known as a standstill. Iowa being an agricultural state, he successfully advocated protection for all products of the soil.

During the administration of President Roosevelt in the senate, Mr. Dolliver, who had gone to the senate, filled a conspicuous role. The Hepburn-Dolliver law, amendment of the original act creating the Interstate Commerce commission, was a large extent the product of his efforts, although after that measure was reported to the senate it underwent many changes of which he did not approve.

During the life of Senator Allison, one of the standard leaders of the senate, Dolliver then the junior Iowa senator, was constantly within the shelter of his venerable colleague's confidence. It was about 4 a. m. today that the final decision to go up was made by Chief Engineer Vaniman. All night he watched the barometer and as dawn broke he decided that now was the time. Rousing the crew, who slept in the hangar, Vaniman called Wellman on the telephone at the Hotel Chalfonte and notified him that the time to start had arrived.

Wellman soon was on the way to the inlet in an automobile.

With everything ready for the world, "Let go," the crew climbed into the car hanging from the balloon.

The final "Good-bye" was said to wives, relatives and friends, and the last word to the ground was given.

On the board walk and beach was assembled a crowd estimated at about 6,000. The crowd stood in awe as the airship began to rise and sail in the fog. Then cheer after cheer followed when the craft began to disappear in the mist. Within five minutes the ship was out of sight.

Robert Miller, the wireless operator stationed here, kept calling the America, but it was not until 11:05 a. m. that there was any response. Then out of the air came this message, it first sent from an airship at sea.

"Heard northeast, all well on board. Machinery working fine. Good-bye."

After this message came frequently and all reported good progress.

Among the anxious people who crowded into the little wireless station on the pier were Mrs. Wellman and two daughters, and Mrs. Vaniman. All were cool despite the danger their husbands and father were to face in this strange voyage. Messages were exchanged between Wellman and Vaniman and their relatives.

Finally, Miller received from Wellman, late this afternoon, said the course had been laid for the north passage from New Foundland and that the speed had been cut to fifteen knots in order to save the engine.

Enough gasoline is being carried to keep the America's engines going for at least fifty days under the low speed pressure. The airship is equipped with provisions for thirty days and a twenty-seven-foot life boat is carried. If the ship gets into difficulty in the way of motor trouble to the two eighty-horsepower engines and a donkey engine, which it carries, the wireless will be depended upon to summon ships.

Should the whole structure collapse the crew will take to the life boat, and being in the track of steamers, expect to be picked up without drifting long in the ocean. If all is well to-night it is believed the America, through her wireless, is in communication with ships, and these in turn are passing the word along to ocean liners farther east.

These ships were turned over by the private individuals who collected them, through a special agent of the census bureau named Corwin, to thirty-four of the enumerators and they, under the instructions of Corwin, added the names to the enumeration by assigning them as "boarders" or "lodgers" at various houses in their districts.

In other words, no director states, the enumerators deliberately made the false statement that these persons were residents at this or that particular street number, although the enumerators kept holding what was with regard to the names as fraudulent additions.

TACOMA WILL DEMAND RECOUNT IF POPULATION

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 15.—Announcement of the census bureau's estimate of Tacoma's population brought forth a storm of protests from city officials, commercial organizations and scores of prominent business men tonight.

President George H. Burke of the chamber of commerce, which organization is in the effort to get a correct enumeration last April, makes the following statement:

"It is to be assumed that the census bureau, Secretary Nagel, and the president, desire the only justice may be done this city. To do substantial justice under the circumstances, the entire city should be recounted. To short of the responsible federal officials that Tacoma is in earnest in this matter, as president of the chamber of commerce and on behalf of that organization, I hereby guarantee the entire expense of such recount if made by the government. The commercial organizations of Tacoma undoubtedly will take immediate action demanding of the proper federal authorities that a recount be made.

WELLMAN OFF SHIP IN MARSH TO EUROPE AFTER MANY DELAYS

LONG TRIP BEGINS AFTER MANY DELAYS

Five Men in Cigar-Shaped Balloon America Were Sailing High in Air Off Coast at Last Report.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 15.—Sailing into a thick fog that hung low over the Atlantic ocean a few minutes after 8 o'clock this morning, Walter Wellman, with a crew of five men, is tonight believed to be on an epoch-making voyage to Europe in the huge cigar-shaped airship, America.

Numerous wireless messages were received during the day and the latest indicated that Wellman is tonight sailing through the darkness off the New York coast.

When making the flight are Walter Wellman, commander; Melvin Vaniman, chief engineer and next in command; J. K. Irwin, wireless operator; John Aubert and Albert Louis Loud, assistant engineers.

The start of the balloon America was one of the most dramatic events ever occurring here. Roundly criticized by people who did not believe that they would ever undertake what was thought to be a foolhardy venture, Wellman started the whole island by bringing the America out of the hangar and without ceremony going into the air.

For the last thirty days the public had expected to witness some move from the intrepid crew. Day after day it was announced that a trial flight as soon as conditions were perfect would be made.

The result of a second enumeration of Tacoma, Wash., was announced tonight. The city shows a population of 32,312, an increase of 45,258 or 120 per cent over the population of 1900.

The first figures turned in for Tacoma were 115,318. In other words, the actual population was padded to the extent of 32,266, which would have meant a further addition of 40 per cent.

These additions were made in thirty-four out of the seventy-three enumeration districts in Tacoma. In some of these districts the number reported proved to be twice the actual population.

In ten districts enumerated, the first census showed 29,733 names, whereas the correct number was found to be 14,444.

The statement issued by Director Durand consists in the main of a letter from himself addressed to Secretary Nagel and the department of commerce and labor dated October 8, in which the whole case is presented and of a brief letter from President Taft to Mr. Nagel of date October 11.

The letter of President Taft follows:

"Beverly, Mass., Oct. 11, 1910.

"I have read Director Durand's letter and agree with him that it ought to be published. The cases of all those who appear to have violated the law should be investigated by the grand jury and if sufficient evidence is found to justify it, they should be indicted and prosecuted at once. Nothing will so conduce to securing a proper enumeration as the prosecution of those who attempt a fraud upon the law."

"I am led to believe that the present census has been much freer from attempted frauds than any previous census, but the instances cited by Mr. Durand are sufficient to require the most vigilance to bring those who have violated the law to justice and proper punishment."

"Sincerely yours,

"WILLIAM H. TAFT."

Hon. Charles Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor."

The letter of Director Durand, also addressed to Secretary Nagel, sets forth that attempted "padding" of the census was brought about mainly through the use of slips printed by private individuals and containing the census questions. These were distributed very generally on street corners and elsewhere and were filled out by thousands of people who had either already been enumerated or were not permanent residents of the city and not entitled to enumeration there. It is possible that in some cases the addresses were found to be vacant lots.

These slips were turned over by the private individuals who collected them, through a special agent of the census bureau named Corwin, to thirty-four of the enumerators and they, under the instructions of Corwin, added the names to the enumeration by assigning them as "boarders" or "lodgers" at various houses in their districts.

ENORMOUS GROWTH OF SEVERAL WESTERN TOWNS SHOWN BY RETURNS, RESULTS IN INVESTIGATION BY THE BUREAU

PRESIDENT DIRECTS

GUilty BE PROSECUTED

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Washington, Oct. 15.—Staggered by the enormous growth shown by the returns of the new census for a number of western cities, Director Durand of the census bureau ordered an investigation, the result of which appeared in the announcement tonight that gross frauds had been perpetrated.

Mr. Durand gave out also a letter from President Taft directing that persons implicated in the alleged frauds be prosecuted.

Cities specifically mentioned as being affected by the frauds are Tacoma, Seattle and Aberdeen, Wash.; Portland, Ore.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Boise, Idaho and Fort Smith, Ark. It is said that there are many others.

The result of a second enumeration of Tacoma, Wash., was announced tonight. The city shows a population of 32,312, an increase of 45,258 or 120 per cent over the population of 1900.

BULLET WOUND ENDS LIFE OF KETCHEL

MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMPION

MURDERED IN MISSOURI

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Springfield, Mo., Oct. 15.—Stanley Ketchel, champion middleweight pugilist of the world, died here tonight at 7:05 o'clock as a result of being shot early today by Walter A. Hertz, a ranch hand.

The shooting took place on the ranch of R. R. Dickerson, a friend of Ketchel, near Conway, forty miles north from the house where Ketchel regained consciousness for a little while.

The pugilist died in the Springfield hospital, to which he had been rushed from the scene of the shooting, shortly after 7:05 o'clock. Three physicians were on the special.

An operation was performed at the ranch house in an unsuccessful attempt to locate the bullet.

A report from Conway has it that a 22-caliber rifle bullet, the pattern which inflicted Ketchel's wound, was found on the floor of the room in which the shooting took place. It is thought there is a possibility of this being the bullet that killed Ketchel.

Out in the heavily wooded hills east of here, Hertz, Ketchel's slayer, heavily armed, is fleeing before a pack of hounds and a posse of officers and citizens. Dickerson has placed a price of $5,000 on the dead body of Hertz. The members of the posse are armed with repeating rifles. Hertz is believed to be a desperate man and he will be fired upon on sight.

Hertz will battle for his life if he shoots at all with the revolver of his victim. After shooting Ketchel, who was at the breakfast table, Hertz turned from the house, then turned and went back into the room where Ketchel lay prone upon the floor. Reaching into Ketchel's pocket, Hertz removed the pugilist's gun, revolver and struck him over the head with it. Then he ran out.

"Ketchel can't tell me how to run my business," he shouted to C. E. Bailey, foreman of the ranch.

Investigation of Hertz's belongings has led the officers to the belief that his real name is Walter Dipey and that he is from Webb City, Mo. He has been at the Dickerson ranch since Wednesday. Letters addressed to Dipey and photographs of him were found in his grip.

The trouble between Ketchel and Hertz is said to have started when the pugilist upbraid the ranch hand for beating a horse. This angered Hertz. The incident took place yesterday. Ketchel had just come down to the ranch which adjoins one he recently purchased, to spend a few days. Hertz thought Ketchel was going beyond the province of a visitor to take him to task for his abuse of the animal.

Mrs. Goldie Smith in a statement tonight assigned another cause for the shooting.

"While I was working in the house yesterday," she said, "Ketchel insulted me; I became angry. He came into the house, and I went out and pleaded with me not to say anything to Hertz about our conversation. He said he would give me the best team of horses on the farm if I would keep quiet. I made him no promise."

"When Hertz came home I told him what Ketchel had said to me. He was very angry. I think that is what caused him to shoot me."

Officers believe Mrs. Smith's story, although they think this was not the only reason for harsh feeling between the men.

When telling her story, Mrs. Smith admitted that Hertz had promised to meet her here tonight. She took several policemen and county officials to the appointed place to await the arrival of the slayer.

Suddenly she who is a daughter of Andrew Bright, a Christian county (Mo.) farmer, she says she met Hertz about a month ago.

Receipts in Mrs. Smith's purse show she recently bought merchandise in Coffeyville, Kas. She says she conducted a rooming house there.

It was Ketchel's custom while staying at the ranch house to sit at meals with his face toward a door leading into the house, the dining room being built in an old porch. This morning his place at the table was changed, some say by Mrs. Smith, and the pugilist was seated with his back to the door.

Suddenly Hertz came through the door with a rifle in his hands and said to Ketchel:

"Throw up your hands."

Ketchel not realizing the seriousness of the situation, smiled and started to rise and walk toward Hertz. He was turned completely around Hertz fired. The ball entered Ketchel's body below the right shoulder, curved upwards and entered the lung. Ketchel fell to the floor. The nearest physician was at Conway. It was forty-five minutes before he arrived. It was hours before the special train arrived from here.

Before Ketchel lost consciousness he said Hertz had shot him.

For more than a month Ketchel had been in this region. Weakened by the of the territory. The subject was thoroughly gone over and arguments were heard for the adoption of resolutions covering a series of the school activities down to the power of premarital school directions. It is likely, however, that this committee presents its report. It will recommend an article containing only constitutional provisions and entirely devoid of legislation.

The tendency to put legislation in the constitution is strong among the delegates, but it is certain to grow less pronounced as the members after studying other state constitutions become more familiar with the distinction between constitution making and legislation. A certain amount of purely legislative matter is sure to be contained in the instrument when it is finally submitted, but by many this is justified on the ground that the people must know what they are acting on certain important subjects before they will vote for ratification.

Bill of Rights.
At a public meeting this afternoon the committee on bill of rights discussed the proposed abolition of the grand jury. The meeting was addressed by Attorney General Clancy and Justice Mechem, both of whom had been invited to give their views for the benefit of the committee in determining this important question. The attorney general, though nearly in favor of abolishing the grand jury, doubted whether it could be done at this time. He thought the people were so accustomed to this institution that they would look with suspicion on any attempt to suddenly do away with it. Mr. Clancy thought the matter was one that should not be mentioned in the constitution, but should be left entirely in the hands of future legislatures, which could, when the proper time came, make laws modifying the grand jury system or abolishing the institution altogether. He outlined the history of the grand jury system from its origin several centuries ago, as a means of protection for the people against the tyrannical oppression of kings, and declared that, while it had proved a very potent institution for the purpose, its period of usefulness had long since passed away. Mr. Clancy did not believe that the people at present stood in danger of official oppression, and if they did, he believed that the grand jury would likely be the engine used for the purpose of oppression. In the Kansas constitution, Mr. Clancy pointed out, no mention is made of a grand jury. For many years after the adoption of this instrument, the legislature enacted a law abolishing the grand jury except in special cases. The system has worked so well that only two or three grand juries have been convened since the year 1893. The great reduction in court expenses which could be made was another reason urged against the continuance of the present system. Justice Mechem, on the other hand, in the argument that prosecutors might misuse their powers in the event they were left as the sole judges of who should be prosecuted for a crime. He thought the grand jury charged with this great power would be extremely careful about the exercise of it, and he saw vasty more danger of an innocent man being wrongfully charged with crime by a grand jury of twenty-one men, none of whom could be held responsible for the action owing to the secrecy with which the law surrounds the grand jury room, than a state attorney alone. Justice Mechem also pointed out that as a general thing, prosecutors now get about what they want in the way of indictments without responsibility for any of them that may be subsequently obtained.

Judge Mechem agreed with Mr. Clancy and favored the abolition of the grand jury in all but extraordinary cases, among which he suggested should be included the official conduct of public officers. He did not believe the people over the whole territory were wedded to the grand jury system, and thought it was a sectional question which he well left to the legislature for decision.

On the question of requiring less than unanimity in the verdict of a petit jury, Judge Mechem was in favor of the plan in civil cases, but was strongly opposed to it in felony cases, and doubted its wisdom in misdemeanor cases. He thought nine out of the twelve would be sufficient to return a verdict in a civil case. The present system, said Judge Mechem, had been the cause of a vast amount of corruption and attempted corruption, and prolonged and useless litigation, but was a disgrace to our system of jurisprudence.

Mr. Clancy also favored the plan advocated in the committee and went further than Judge Mechem, in that he advocated less than an unanimous verdict in criminal as well as civil cases. He said there was nothing sacred in the number twelve and did not believe there was any danger that ten jurors would be more likely to convict an innocent man than the dozen good men, and true, which the present law requires. Mr. Clancy pointed out that there was more temptation to attempt the corruption of one or two jurors in a criminal case, in which the defendant knew himself to be guilty, than in a civil case.

The entire afternoon was taken up in listening to the views of the attorney general, Judge Mechem and the various members of the committee, and the subject was thoroughly gone over. Late in the afternoon a decision was reached. It is said that this matter is also being considered by a subcommittee of the committee on judiciary.

DELEGATE ABSENT ON ACCOUNT OF ILLNESS.
George E. Moffett, one of the delegates from Garfield county, has been stricken with typhoid fever and is lying at his home in Oro Grande, where he was taken from Santa Fe.

Emmett Patton of the Chaves county delegation is also affected by the high altitude of the capital city and his physician advised him that a further stay here at this time would be dangerous.

He is able to resume his duties within a few weeks.

Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 12.—The Arizona constitutional convention adjourned today and resumed three propositions. The first provides for the preamble which is identical with the original territorial act. The second established the boundaries of the state of Arizona. The third proposition, providing for religious toleration, but prohibiting polygamy, was introduced by the only Mormon member of the constitution, W. T. Webb, of Graham county, former speaker of the house and candidate for the presidency of the convention.

A roll was taken of the legislative committee which shows that a majority favored both the initiative and referendum. It is expected that a measure providing for statewide prohibition will be introduced Monday.

RAILROAD STRIKE IS DYING OUT

Loss as Result of Walkout in France Will Reach Millions of Francs; Strikers Stone Police.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)
Paris, Oct. 12.—Losses from the railroad strike which is now rapidly dying out, have been many millions of francs. Both Paris and the provinces suffer heavily on account of disorganization of trade and industry.

The Parisian hotels will feel the effects later, because thousands of Europeans are abandoning proposed visits in the fear that traveling in France would prove dangerous.

Three-fourths of the strikers called to the colors, responded, and this served to dishearten many of those who had left their posts. Service on the northern front in Germany, Belgium and England, has practically been restored. The western road is still disorganized, but conditions are improving. Although the strike is considered to have collapsed, reports from the provinces show that there is still persistent holding up of trains and destruction of materials. Further violence is feared and all the important stations remain in the hands of the police.

Troops and Rioters Clash.
Saint Etienne, Oct. 12.—A meeting of rioters tonight was followed by severe rioting. The mob drove heavy wagons down on a detachment of dragoons using revolvers and stones freely. A number of dragoons on both sides were injured but the troops succeeded in keeping the rioters from the stations.

PASSENGER GOES INTO DITCH AT GREENFIELD

Santa Fe Train No. 113 Wrecked Near Roswell Last Night; Engineer and Fireman Injured.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal)
Roswell, N. M., Oct. 12.—Santa Fe passenger train No. 113 went into the ditch from an unknown cause at Greenfield, twenty miles south of here at eight o'clock tonight. The engine turned over and Engineer Armstrong and Fireman J. J. Smith were injured. All the passengers escaped unhurt. A rescue train with surgeons left here at 8:40 and the passengers will all be brought back to Roswell. The exact damage and personal injuries are not known.

TEXAS CATTLE RATE CASE IS SUBMITTED.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 12.—With the final arguments of W. D. McHugh of Omaha, who claimed for the railroads, the Texas & Northwestern cattle rate case was submitted to Judges Sanborn, J. M. Senter sustained a broken line of the six New England states, together with New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and West Virginia. The state routes upon which now and rate fall in great quantities. This precipitation affords sufficient water to properly irrigate a large portion of the state. It only needs man and capital to make it one of the most productive agricultural regions in the Union. Its climate is delightful. The soil when irrigated is immensely productive. Almost all agricultural crops, including most excellent fruit and vegetables, are produced in abundance.

There are few states that have the mineral resources of New Mexico. Cattle country, alone, according to government estimates, contains thirty billion tons of high-grade domestic cooking and steam coal. This can be produced at a very slight expense.

which he made in his argument—that no one could tell exactly the actual cost of carrying any particular class of freight—was regarded by counsel of the government as an important point.

Judge Adams interrupted Mr. McHugh with a question as he was attempting to point out errors in the master's report.

"Can you figure out from anything in this record what the actual cost of carrying the traffic was?" asked the judge.

"No," said Judge McHugh. "No body can tell exactly the cost to the carrier of transportation of any particular commodity."

Strikers Hold Up Trains.
Crommelles en Paris, France, Oct. 12.—Two hundred strikers held up three trains, including the express from Paris and Dieppe here today, dragged off and assaulted the crews, looted the passengers and unscathed and damaged the cars.

CLEVER SKETCH BY FAY AND KINSMAN FOR TODAY

Talented Vaudeville Artists to Present, "A Night on the Plains in '49," at the Crystal This Afternoon and Evening.

A treat awaits theater-goers who attend the Crystal theater this afternoon or evening, an unusual clever sketch being on the program, in addition to the regular repertory of pictures. Fay and Kinsman, who have made such a decided impression, and an exceedingly favorable one at that, upon the Albuquerque theater party, will present "A Night on the Plains in '49." The sketch is an extract of Kit Carson's last scouting expedition and is filled with interesting bits of western history, which can well be appreciated by westerners. In the act, Mr. Fay assumes the character of a rough western outlaw, while Miss Kinsman plays a clever emotional scene, and the two artists blend together well and the act is really a splendid one. Fay and Kinsman have presented the sketch before numerous audiences in various parts of the country, and have received unanimous praise from press and public, not only so in western cities, where a western sketch must be able to stand the genuine test or fail miserably because of expert criticism by those who know.

The Crystal theater has been more popular than ever during the engagement of Fay and Kinsman, and it is quite likely that their new sketch will be witnessed by crowded houses.

Commercial Club of Baton Resents the Slanders.

President Wilson of Gate City Organization Sends Out Thousand Letters Branding Articles in Collier's Weekly.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 12.—President Wilson of the Gate City Organization has recently taken steps to reach the public generally by addressing to about 1,000 leading newspapers of the country a letter intended to set them straight regarding our territory, to offset the recent publication in Collier's and the New York of articles rankly unfair to us. This action is in line with the aggressive policy now being pursued by Mr. Wilson as president of the commercial club, and is greatly to be commended. Nothing is more natural than that the public, seeing these derogatory articles, and failing to observe any denial, should be misled. The statements made were true. It is of vital importance, therefore, that the denial should appear. We print Mr. Wilson's letter herewith, that our people may know how their interests are being defended.

"Baton, N. M., Oct. 19, 1910.
"Sir: I have observed articles in eastern papers, which are entirely untrue. I am sure that these articles have been without any direct intention of misrepresenting facts or of injuring the new state, but nevertheless, they are misstatements and do us much harm as though made with malicious design. It is true that New Mexico lies in the arid belt and contains much land that is, and always will be, desert, but it must not be forgotten that New Mexico contains the combined areas of the six New England states, together with New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and West Virginia. The state contains a number of high, new steppes, which are now and will be in the future, great quantities. This precipitation affords sufficient water to properly irrigate a large portion of the state. It only needs man and capital to make it one of the most productive agricultural regions in the Union. BATTLE PRACTICE SHOWS DEFECTS IN WIRELESS

Experience of Atlantic Fleet Will Result in Further Perfection of Aerial Communication.

613 Munsey Building, Morning Journal Bureau, Washington, D. C., Oct. 12.
The recent battle practice of the Atlantic fleet off the Virginia capes disclosed defects in the wireless telegraph apparatus that will be productive of renewed efforts to perfect that line of work. Naval experts would be surprised to find any troubles not susceptible of improvement as the result of the experiments and the inventive ingenuity of its men engaged, both in the practical operation of the system aboard ship and in researches looking to making the wireless one of the vital features of naval efficiency as reliable as possible.

So far the navy department has received no word in the way of reports from the fleet that would justify any conclusions as to the working fitness of the wireless plant at sea in its present state. Under the rules of the battle practice, which Admiral Schroeder, commander-in-chief of the fleet, conducted with considerable handicap in view of the heavy seas and the interference with the work of the sixteen formidable battle-ships, the flagship and the vessels of the firing squadron had to be in wireless communication during each run.

The results of the experiments which were made by the fleet are awaited with considerable interest by officers of the navy, particularly in view of published reports that the wireless is proving too delicate an instrument for the war game, and that it had been put out of gear on one of the ships after five minutes of big gun work, and had not responded to the firing squad until it took several hours afterward.

In the view of wireless experts, not alone in the navy, but as well in the army, where great steps have been made in achieving success with wireless work, the finding of defects at this time under the strain of the big firing such as has occurred during the fleet's practice is fortunate rather than otherwise, for it puts the government in possession of knowledge in detail of obstacles which the experts all along the line may now work on to overcome.

It is only a physical question, say these navy and army experts, and they add that they would be very much surprised to find anything to bear out any suggestion that the wireless could not be practically worked in wartime.

The navy department is working in the direction of providing some method of meeting the handicap of the exposure or the antennae aloft to the shots of the enemy. The object is to work out a small portable wireless set, which would be as much as possible eliminate the extreme exposure of the present high mast, but, of course, such a set—that is, a smaller mast apparatus—would mean cutting down the distance efficiency, for the high mast is vital to the sending of the flashes over long, intervening spaces. The small mast, however, might be carried for quick use in emergencies, where the enemy sighted the ship, and the regular outfit, or where the latter might be put out of commission temporarily from any cause, aboard ship or away from it.

As to air pilots it is to be offered by the Blue Hill observatory, outside of Boston, Prof. Lawrence Rotch, who is known to aeronauts all over the world as one of the authorities on meteorology as applied to aeronautics, is a work on a series of air current charts, the material for which has been accumulating at the observatory for years.

Blue Hill has for a long time made a specialty of high altitude observations, kite flying and investigations with sounding balloons. It has accumulated a lot of material which is now being worked into air current charts. These charts are intended to be the basis for the study or balloon as the current charts of the hydrographic office do for the sailor. But they will be vertical instead of horizontal. There are more or less constant currents of air at different altitudes, and if an aerial voyager can strike one going his way he has the advantage of its added speed. These currents vary in different localities, and at different altitudes. There may be a west wind blowing over Chicago at a given hour at an altitude of 500 feet and at the same time there may be a steady east wind at an altitude of 2,000 feet.

Observations have shown that these air currents are remarkably constant, and the meteorologists want to set down on charts all that is so far known about them. Of course, there is a chance for a variety of other observations all over the country, but the Blue Hill observatory is taking advantage of what is already known and putting it in shape to be of use to aeronauts.

In the near future the treasury department will make another reduction of its expense by clipping off the express charges on bank notes sent from the Chicago and St. Louis subsidiaries to Washington for destruction. This will be done by installing machines of the same type used with such success in the sub-treasury in New York. Worn out bank notes will then be cancelled in the sub-treasury instead of at Washington. The saving in express charges, which will amount to thousands of dollars every year, will be done in this way.

The government's contract with the United States Express company compels all shipments of money over the company's lines. Even if the government chooses to transfer money from one point to another by mail, or even by telegraph, the terms of the contract require the treasury to pay the same charges as would have been made if the money had gone by express. Treasury officials have decided that cancelled bank notes are not money, but merely waste paper, by installing cancelling machines at New York, Chicago and St. Louis notes will be cancelled there and sent to Washington by registered mail.

BATTLE PRACTICE SHOWS DEFECTS IN WIRELESS

this year. Requests for 1910 coins of that denomination are already coming through the banks to the treasury department. The banks say their large customers demand the new coins at holiday time for advertising purposes, and that women shoppers in particular trade where they can get them.

It is because the treasury has a stock of $20,000,000 in quarters and half dollars on hand in the vaults that it has been decided not to coin any new ones, or 1911 coins, this year. The mints are now busy to their capacity coining gold which will be needed to meet the increasing demand for gold certificates.

NOTED ACTRESS IS GRANTED DIVORCE

Reno Court Gives Mrs. Sothern Freedom From Actor Husband for Desertion.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)
Reno, Nevada, Oct. 12.—Virginia Harned Sothern, the noted actress, was this afternoon granted a decree of divorce from Edward H. Sothern, the actor, in the district court here. Desertion and non-support were the grounds on which the decree was granted. There was no contest on the part of Sothern, and the hearing occupied but a very brief interval of time. Mrs. Harned stated that her husband deserted her in June, 1909, in New York city. She said at that time her husband stated that he intended to devote the balance of his life to his profession, that he did not want any criticism and therefore he wanted to leave her. Since that time, Mrs. Sothern said, her husband has refused to live with her and has not contributed to her support. The plaintiff stated that her husband receives a salary of $100,000 for a forty weeks' engagement.

FRANCE AND COMMERCE

Wall Street.
New York, Oct. 15.—The rapidity with which prices of stocks have been carried upward this week invited heavy week end profit taking today. Misgivings of the ability of the money market to stand the strain of active speculation also induced the reduction of speculative lines. Prices were bid up again at the end of the day to a strong closing.

The demands on New York banks from the interior continue to be the exigencies of foreign money markets indicate that they will respond unwillingly to demands for relief from New York. The London money market was eased today by the redemption of $19,000,000 of treasury bills. This transaction marks about the end of the adjustment of the British government's extraordinary borrowings last year, and the budget suspension and brings the government deposits in the Bank of England back to about the normal with no prospect of further relief for the money market by large making of treasury bills. Moreover, the English bank had to part with $6,275,000 in gold for shipment to Egypt today. The amount of competition which shall develop from the continent on Monday for the weekly gold supply under whether the Bank of England's official discount rate shall be advanced to 5 per cent next week.

The firm sentiment was caused by the fresh disagreement over the cotton bill of lading controversy through the objections of cotton dealers in the south.

The bank statement disclosed that the trust companies are financing the clearing house banks. There was a decrease in loans of the banks shown by the actual condition of $10,226,699 in conjunction with an expansion in the average loan of other institutions of $12,382,000.

The limitation of the actual cash loss to three-quarters of a million dollars in face of a decrease of four to six millions of the known movements of money was unexplained by any compensating movement in the cash item of other institutions, which reported a gain.

COBB AND LAJOIE WILL BOTH GET AUTOMOBILES

But Cobb is Declared Leading Batter of American League, by President Johnson.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Chicago, Oct. 15.—Ty Cobb, of Detroit, by verdict of President Johnson today, was the leading batsman of the American League for 1916, with a winning percentage over Larry Lajoie, of Cleveland, of .097.

As the National League leaders dropped out of the contest some time ago, Johnson's announcement means that Cobb is the champion batter of the country. The automobile, the trophy over which there has been so much excitement and not a little criticism, goes to Cobb, but Lajoie, by permission of Mr. Johnson will accept a duplicate.

The records turned in by the official scorers and approved and promulgated by Mr. Johnson are:

Player	AB	RH	Per.
Cobb	509	136	.267
Lajoie	591	227	.284

Third baseman, Fredrick of St. Louis, is adjudged to be the champion fielder by Johnson.

Mr. Johnson stated that he has requested President Hedges of the St. Louis club to investigate further the charge that some one connected with his club attempted to influence the official scorer.

COBB IS WELL PLEASED

WHEN TOLD OF DECISION Philadelphia, Oct. 15.—Ty Cobb was extremely pleased when he learned that he had been declared the champion batter of the American League.

"I am glad I won an automobile, and am especially pleased that Lajoie also got one," he said. "I have no one to criticize."

MANAGER AND SCOUT OF ST. LOUIS AMERICANS LOOKING FOR JOBS

St. Louis, Oct. 15.—John O'Connor was unconditionally released as manager of the St. Louis American League baseball club and Harry Howell was discharged as scout by President Robert L. Hedges tonight. In a lengthy statement Hedges said his action was for the good of baseball.

The closing games of the season last Sunday were attended by depressing incidents," said Hedges tonight. "I am satisfied that there is no misconduct on the part of Manager O'Connor or Player O'Regan and that Scout Powell did nothing wrong in asking the questions of the official scorer, and yet because there has been so much public talk and so much criticism in the newspapers, I have decided on that ground, irrespective of any other reason, if I had any before last Sunday's game to discontinue the services of O'Connor as manager or player and of Howell as a scout or otherwise."

MENAUILLITES TAKE FIRST GAME FROM HIGH SCHOOL

Mission Boys Win From City Eleven 5 to 2; Some Exciting Plays Executed by Both Aggregations.

In a tightly contested game, the Menauillites school yesterday afternoon won the Albuquerque High school eleven by the score of 5 to 2, the mission boys winning by cleverly executed mass plays, which were successful time and again. The high school relied mainly upon forward passes, Balcomb and Hesselton playing behind the line, doing some brilliant work which kept the Menauillites continually guessing.

Bernal for the Menauillites was the bright particular star for the mission school team, his 45-yard run being the spectacular feature of the game. The exhibition was the first real gridiron contest of the season to be seen in Albuquerque, and was the first to be played under the new rules. The game was divided into four quarters of fifteen minutes each. Instead of the two halves of thirty minutes, which were in force prior to this season. The new rules are quite complicated, and considering the short time they have had for practice, the players on both sides did good work yesterday. Some of the players showed fine form, the individual playing being one of the most interesting aspects of the exhibition.

High school—Walker, center; Shufelbarger, left guard; Stachin, right guard; Ferrell and Camp, left tackle; Frank, right tackle; McGough, left end; Hesselton, right end; Espinosa, quarterback; Wisley, right half; Van Cleave, left half; Balcomb, fullback. Mission school—Sanchez, center; Bernal, left guard; Kirkpatrick, right guard; Sanchez, left tackle; Dominick, right tackle; Candelaria, left end; Bernal, right end; Rodriguez, quarterback; B. Rodriguez, right half; Bena, left half; Padilla, fullback.

CHICAGO LOSES TO ILLINOIS AFTER HARD FIGHT

Quarterback Saeler Saves Team by Drop Kick; Scores on Other Fields.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Chicago, Ill., Oct. 15.—Illinois defeated Chicago today by a score of 2 to 0 in a sensational and bitterly fought battle on Illinois field. Illinois' victory was the result of a drop kick by Otto Saeler, Illinois' quarterback, who booted the oval over the goal line in the first quarter. The advantage of the game was all to the Illinois eleven, except for the final quarter, when the Maroons became dangerous. Otherwise the Chicago team was outplayed by Illinois. The Illinois gained ten times as much ground as did the visitors. Twice the Illinois, on Chicago's one-yard line, were penalized for holding when a touchdown was certain.

Once again they were on the Maroons' five-yard line when the invaders held like a stone wall. Illinois puffed off numerous forward passes, while the Maroons were unable to make ground with this play.

Michigan, 6; Aggies, 3.

Ferry Field, Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 15.—The University of Michigan football players had to play all the forenoon and then to win from the powerful eleven which Michigan Agricultural college sent to Ann Arbor today, but they accomplished the feat with a 6 to 3 score.

The University won by gaining through the forwards on special interference formations. The forward pass paved the way to the touchdown, but it was seldom used by either team. Hill's was the important factor on the M. A. C. side.

Minnesota, 27; Nebraska, 0.

Northrop Field, Minneapolis, Oct. 15.—Minnesota took another step toward the western football championship by beating Nebraska 27 to 0 today. Minnesota completely outplayed their opponents. Minnesota made four touchdowns and McGovern kicked two field goals.

Minnesota started like a whirlwind. The first touchdown was made in three minutes of play and two more followed before the quarter ended.

Minnesota tore up the Nebraska line and used the forward pass with great effect. Minnesota secured another touchdown in the second quarter, but Nebraska seemed to grow steadily stronger, and to solve the Minnesota attack.

Nebraska showed a flash of form at the beginning of the second half by making the first down at the start, but Minnesota did not let the visitors get far. McGovern was the star of the day.

Denver, 0; Marquette, 0.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 15.—Denver University played the Marquette team to a standstill here today, the contest ending 0 to 0. The game was played with new formations and plays, made possible under the new rules, and was characterized by many penalties. Marquette's offense was brilliant, though Denver held them at critical times and forced the visitors to punt. The one brilliant play of the game was the 55-yard run of Left Tackle Elson for Marquette across Denver's goal line. It was not allowed for tripping. Twice Marquette failed in an attempt to kick goal from Denver's 25-yard line. Denver's one chance to score was lost when Crowley fumbled a forward pass on Marquette's 40-yard line, with a clear field to the goal. Unfamiliarity with the new rules characterized the entire game and fumbling was frequent.

Missouri, 5; Iowa, 0.

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 15.—The football team at the University of Missouri defeated the University of Iowa here this afternoon by a score of 5 to 0.

Curry for Iowa suffered severe injuries in the head and back and was taken from the game.

Princeton, 3; Lafayette, 0.

Easton, Pa., Oct. 15.—Princeton today defeated Lafayette in one of the fiercest battles ever seen on the Easton gridiron. Only through a field goal were the Tigers able to score and the game ended 3 to 0. There was comparatively little penalizing and no injuries of any consequence.

Harvard, 17; Amherst, 0.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 15.—The Harvard defense was riled against Amherst and got found wanting today, and as the offense was of a dashed quality, the Crimson won, 17 to 0. Most of the game was played in the rain. The critical point of the game was a nine-minute after the start, when by blocking a kick, Amherst stood on Harvard's 25-yard line with a first down. Three times the purple and white players hurled themselves against the Crimson line, losing a yard each time and finally giving up the ball on downs.

Army, 9; Yale, 3.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 15.—The Army defeated Yale here today, 9 to 3, in their annual football battle. The coaches outplayed the blue throughout. Captain Daley saved his team from a shut-out by kicking a field goal from the 25-yard line in the last quarter.

Pennsylvania, 20; Brown, 0.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 15.—Gathering strength as the game progressed, Pennsylvania piled up on Brown today a score of 20 to 0. Pennsylvania was aided in the last part of the contest by Brown's misplays.

Utah, 6; Colorado Mines, 0.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 15.—The University of Utah football team won from the Colorado School of Mines team at Cummings field this afternoon by a score of 6 to 0. The Colorado team was lighter and younger, but put up a strong defense. Neither side made a yard in the last quarter.

NON-STOP BUS NOW WORRYING THE STALWARTS

Week-End Grocery Bill Causing Republican Congressional Leaders to Lie Awake at Nights.

Morning Journal Bureau,
612 Main Building,
Washington, D. C., Oct. 15.

When all is said and done, the high cost of living is the thing that is causing the republican congressional campaign leaders the most trouble this year. They find it hard to contend against. Campaign arguments are of little avail in disposing of it. The democrats, of course, are making the most of it and touting
as much as possible.

If the republicans lose the house,
as it is perfectly clear they are in great danger of doing, it is not unlikely that the high cost of living will be found to be the real cause of
it. It is more likely to be the cause of it. That is to say, there is evidence of deep-seated dissatisfaction over living conditions in many sections where the spirit of insurgency or progressivism has little real hold.

It was entirely logical to expect when the tariff bill was passed that New England and other parts of the east which got high tariff duties they wanted would be entirely satisfied with what the republican leaders in congress had done, and that for any loss of republican strength in congress had to do elsewhere, as to the middle west. But this has not proved to be the case.

It has been a great and painful surprise to the republican congressional leaders that the east will probably throw more seats in the house to the democrats than any other part of the United States. They have reasoned that the east would not merely be satisfied with what the republican leaders in congress had done, but that it would be up in arms at the mere idea of turning house control over to the democrats. Doubtless they would have been right in their reasoning had the high cost of living not entered into the situation and proved to be so great a factor this year in the affairs of the average family.

It is the big week-end grocery bill that is making it impossible for the republican campaign to stem the rapidly running tide of opposition. This explains why it is the republicans are going to lose in numerous states where there are many high protected industries and where there are large numbers of workers obtaining their livelihood from industries that are sheltered by high duties. When the mill hand finds it is costing him more to live than he is to work, he is likely to be amenable to the argument that employment for him has been made possible only by the republican policy of protection. He becomes dissatisfied and leaps to the conclusion that it is time for a change.

The men who are most intimate with conditions in this congressional campaign do not hesitate to say that right here is the greatest difficulty in the way of a building voters. Of course, the republicans are making use of the argument that the average duties are lower under the new tariff law than the old. They take a specific article, the price of which has gone up, and they are able to show, perhaps, that the duty has not been increased.
Hence, they argue the tariff in this case has nothing to do with the higher price.

The democrats are getting around this by arguing that the high cost of living is not so much a matter of whether the tariff is a little higher or a little lower on a given product, but that the difficulty rests in the whole vast fabric of the protective system as it has been wrought out by the republicans.

A republican politician intimately concerned with the situation of the congressional campaign said the situation this year was not like the one that followed the enactment of the McKinley law. Then, the democrats profited by the discontent of the public and captured the house. It is true that in that case, the election followed close on the enactment of the new tariff measure. The public had not time to get acquainted with it.

In this instance, the people have had over a year to get acquainted with the workings of the Payne tariff law. From some points of view, it has to be admitted that the law has worked pretty well. But of what use is it to talk to a voter about how good the new tariff law is when that voter is feeling aggrieved and disgruntled because he is thinking hard on how much more it costs him now to keep his family than it used to cost?

The spread of insurgency or pro-gressivism is obviously one of the leading causes of the present discon-fident outlook for continued republican control of the house. Not the congressional campaign leaders say it is not so great an obstacle to continued republican control as many imagine. In some cases it will be only by reason of progressive ac-cendancy that the voters will consent longer to stay in the republican party. This is quite true of the states where the progressive movement is strongest and best organized, as in Kansas, Iowa, Wisconsin, and the like.

It is true that much is heard of regular republicans in districts where they have been defeated, throwing their strength to democrats for the purpose of punishing insurgents. Un-

But the congressional campaign leaders deny there will be as much of this as is generally believed. The declaration of Congressman Henry S.
Boutell of Chicago that he will run independent is being cited as a good instance of a disgruntled regular out to punish the insurgent nominee by maneuvering to elect a democrat. But against this can be cited the cases of the defeated regular members of congress in Kansas. They have given front and center and do what they can for the election of the insurgent nominees for the house. In some instances, regulars will show their bitterness at the insurgents who have won over them by refusing to do anything for party success rather than by active opposition.

For instance, it is denied here that in Indiana Senator Beveridge will be fought by "Jim" Watson and former Senator Hemenway. But nobody expects either of these men to turn a spoke to help Beveridge out. Just at this time, there is evidence of a lot of this business of disgruntled regulars sulking in their tents and refusing to aid insurgents who have won out in their states and districts. It is plain that in close districts this will prove about as helpful to the democrats as active alliance with them.

President Taft's course has on the whole been an asset to the democrats in this campaign. Some of the congressional leaders will say no frankly. That is, they say the disas-trousness with the president on the part of progressives, due, among other things, to the withholding of patronage from insurgent senators and members of the house, has hurt the party. This is in spite of the fact there was a lot of applauding among regulars at Washington when the insurgents were shut off from the patronage crib.

Then, there is Roosevelt. Eastern republicans of the regular and old-time type hate the former president more cordially than ever. They are aroused deeply by his recent western speeches, especially by his Denver speech, criticizing the supreme court and by his Osawatomie speech. They fear Roosevelt's purposes, as well as dislike his speeches. They suspect he has designs on the presidency and is looking to the nomination in 1912.
It is known that the republican congressional campaign committee is hearing a good deal from attack of eastern republicans who say they want to see the party beaten to rebuke Roosevelt. Many are not slow to ascribe the extent of the republican defeat in Maine to the Roosevelt speeches. In the west Roosevelt seems to have strengthened his party, but there is a good deal of testimony otherwise so far as the east is concerned.

PURITY CONGRESS CRITICIZES PICTURES

San Francisco, Oct. 15.—Moving picture shows and suggestive songs in public cafes were criticized at today's session of the national purity congress, B. S. Steadwell, president of the American Purity federation, presiding. He informed the delegates that he had instructed W. O. Wind and John H. Hammond of the National Association of Detectives to visit the moving picture shows and cafes of this city and make a report on their moral status before the congress adjourns.

NEGRO SOLDIER IS CONVICTED OF ASSAULT

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 15.—Nathaniel Bledsoe, a negro soldier of the twenty-fifth infantry, stationed at Fort Lawton, accused of having attacked
Mrs. Amanda V. Redding in her home near the fort last June, was convicted today of assault in the second degree, the penalty for which is one to ten years in prison.

Bledsoe, a demerol ignorant negro from Independence, Okla., came after his arrest that he became intoxicated at a brewery near the fort and that he did not remember the attack on Mrs. Redding.

After the assault an effort was made by Washington congressmen representatives to obtain the transfer of the battalion from Fort Lawton to some other post, but President Taft and Secretary of War Dickinson would not consent to this.

TWO LAND LOCATORS INDICTED AT SPOKANE

Federal Grand Jury Charges
Them With Participation in Illegal Acquisition of Rich Coal Lands.

(By Morning Journal Special Landed Wire)

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 15.—As a result of the sweeping investigation by special agents of the United States land office into alleged fraudulent acquisition of Alaska coal lands, the federal grand jury, which recently convened in Spokane, returned two indictments against William L. Dunn and Raymond Brown, prominent Spokane men, charging them with participation in the illegal acquisition of rich coal lands.

Both Dunn and Brown declare positively that no irregularities existed in their locations.

"I located forty Spokane and inland Empire people in the Dunn group in the Kayak district," said W.
L. Dunn today. "I made no locations all bona fide. I made no locations for the Guggenheims. Further statement will be made by me in court."

Brown admitted having made fifty-two locations in the Brown group of the Kayak district adjoining the Dunn group. "The men for whom I located are real live human beings," said he.
Some live in Spokane and others in eastern Washington. I deny absolutely that I made any locations for the Guggenheims. In my list of locations are many prominent business and professional men of this city."

SOUTHWEST NEWS NOTES

The Farmington Fruit Growers' association has purchased 45,000 trees of the Alameda Nursery for spring delivery and will be prepared to furnish the trade with first-class trees at reasonable prices. These trees will be shipped to Delta, Colo., and the total length is 10,000 feet. It is consigned to the Erasmie Mining company at that place, and will be used in conveying water from Harry Herrman's, about two miles north of Mogollon, to the company's mill. A large force of workmen is making rapid progress in digging the trench at Mogollon, and it is safe to predict that the pipe will be laid and in use in an incredibly short time. The water will flow through the same by gravity.

Love and Mann, as forwarding agents, began the unloading and hauling out to Mogollon of a carload of pipe has just arrived from Chicago

and the total length is 10,000 feet. It
is consigned to the Erasmie Mining
company at that place, and will be

O. W. Anthony, an old and respected veteran, died at the Soldier's Home at Sausalito, California, last Wednesday. He came to Grant county, N. M., soon after the close of the civil war and for many years had resided on the Upper Mimbres. He acquired a valuable ranch and prospered greatly, having considerable rich farming land and a large orchard, until a few years ago when the floods destroyed much of his highest land and practically all of his orchard. For the past four years he has been an inmate of the Home, although not constantly, as he frequently visits his home on the Upper Mimbres, his last visit being in January of this year.

Her health has been rather poor during the past year, and in the hope that a sojourn in a lower altitude would prove beneficial, she had been spending the latter portion of the summer on the coast of southern California, where she was joined about five weeks ago by her husband, Judge J. M. Anthony. She heard health continued to fail rapidly, she was taken to San Francisco,
where she underwent a surgical operation for intestinal trouble on the 15th of last month. For the first few days current hopes were entertained for her recovery, but she suddenly took a turn for the worse and gradually became weaker until death ensued.

Ralph Duncan, a trusted and popular employee of the Socorro Mines company, at Mogollon, met with a serious accident at the company mill last Thursday evening. In the performance of his duties he accidentally slipped and fell, both feet being caught in the cogs of the tube mill.
His feet were seriously crushed before he was extricated from his perilous position by nearby employees. He was immediately taken to the company hospital and placed under the care of the company physicians, Drs.
Parham and Kern. It was found that two of the toes on the left foot had been crushed off and for a time it was thought that it would be necessary to amputate the right foot. The latest reports are that the physicians will be able to save this foot.

The Silver Enterprise says: The news which reached here yesterday of the death of Mrs. Laura

San Francisco came in the nature of a distinct shock to this entire community.

BUSINESS COLLEGE NEWS.

Owing to the largely increased attendance and the great demand for preparatory work Manager Goodell has decided to open a preparatory department in the day school. Prof. W.
J. Kelly, who for the past two years has been an instructor in the Metuchen Normal college, Metuchen, N. J., has been secured to take charge of the department. Prof. Kelly comes well recommended and will devote his entire time to this work. The high standard which the school maintains in its commercial and shorthand departments will prevail in the new preparatory department.

Rev. J. R. Runyan gave a very interesting assembly talk to the students on Friday morning on "Why You Are Here."

A Spanish department will be organized in the evening school on Monday evening with Miss Lydia Lheureaux in charge. This department has been made necessary because of the demands of business and professional people for a course in the evening school. Instruction will be given on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings.

A U. S. printograph is the latest addition to the equipment of the school. This machine has become an absolute necessity because of the large correspondence which the school has. Students will be given instruction in its operation and it will become an important factor in the office training department.

The students of all departments met last Tuesday morning in the first meeting of the Literary and Debating club. A very interesting program was rendered and the college paper was read. The officers for October are:
President, Mary David; vice president,
J. A. Dyce; secretary, N. A. Werning.
This organization is essential to the conduct of the most interesting features of the school. The purpose of this club is to develop initiative, self confidence and a pleasing address—qualities which are absolutely essential to the successful business career. One prominent Albuquerque business man, the father of a member of this club, expressed himself thus: "That club is of great importance to you. If it interferes with your bookkeeping, drop your bookkeeping." The club meets semi-monthly and visitors are invited.

STORED CARBIDE BURNS 55 FIREMAN IN TEXAS BLAZE; A NEW TERROR

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)

Houston, Texas, Oct. 15.—That seemingly innocent component of automobile and bicycle lights—carbide —has fallen under the ban in this city and the same is likely to hold true elsewhere when the nature of that wide-spread article of commerce is better understood. Several tons of carbide were stored in a warehouse near the business district and when this building caught fire a new terror for firemen was discovered. Water thrown upon the flames found its way to the canisters of carbide and within a few minutes the flowing water was converted into an acid which ate through the shoes of the firemen and in addition a suffocating gas was generated which made it almost impossible to fight the blaze. To add to the complications the cans exploded and the water-soaked carbide burst into flames and burned for 70 hours before the flames had spent themselves. A total of fifty-five firemen were burned by the acid and gas and several will be confined to the hospital for some time. The city has passed an ordinance against further storage of carbide within the corporate limits.

Health Officers Meet in Sewer.

Health officers holding a session of their state convention in a sewer, was one of the features of the meeting of the city and county officials on the occasion of their state meeting here.
This unique convention hall was suggested by City Health Officer Larendon in order to acquaint the health authorities with what Houston is doing in the way of bettering her hygienic conditions by the building of a great sewer system. The main outlet to this storm-water drainage system is the Austin street sewer which is the largest in the southwest, being 11 feet in diameter at the outlet and 9 feet at the source. The sewer was brightly lighted and as the health officers entered through one of the manholes they were greeted by a reception committee and shown through the sewer and then listened to an address by the construction engineer.
Several hours were spent in the big sewer.

SANTA FE HARMONY CAMPAIGN ON IN KANSAS

Officials of Railroad Traveling in Special Car Discussing Grievances With Citizens in the Sunflower State.

Ottawa, Kas., Oct. 12.—The Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company closed the first day of its "harmony" campaign in Ottawa tonight. Meetings held in five towns were attended by representative men from the communities. The officials in the special car, traveling everywhere, found even those who had grievances against the company were ready to discuss them in the same spirit they show in taking up their differences with other classes of business men. The officials are greatly pleased with the day's work, and many patrons of the company have expressed themselves as favoring the efforts President Hiles is making to bring about a better understanding between the company and the public.

To make time the officials travel by special train. In the party are: C. W. Kouns, general manager; J. B. Kouns, general freight agent; M. Connell, general passenger agent; E. L. Copeland, secretary and treasurer; R. J. Parker, general superintendent Eastern district; H. V. Sharp, general superintendent Eastern lines; Western district; C. E. W. Felt, chief engineer; C. T. McEllan, superintendent Eastern division; H. A. Tice, superintendent Western division; H. B. Lantz, assistant to the general manager; A. J. James, general foreman bridges and buildings; C. E. Griggs, division engineer; John Hauke, roadmaster; H. F. E. Marsh, division freight agent; John Purcell, superintendent Topeka shops, and J. F. Jarrell, publicity agent.

The first stop was made shortly before noon at Ottawa, where a meeting of business men was held in the court house. About 100 merchants, farmers and stock shippers were present. J. L. Pettijohn presided. Short talks were made by Messrs. Kouns, Kouns, Copeland and Connell. The message which the railroad men gave was that the people who were the company desired to be square with its patrons and wanted its patrons to be frank with the company.

"If you have a grievance against the company," Mr. Kouns said, "tell it to the head of the department having to do with that subject, and it will receive prompt consideration. Don't nurse your grievance. Get in touch with us and we will help you." After the meeting the visitors called at most of the business houses and were driven over town. Gardner was the next stop. The officials were met by a delegation of citizens headed by Acting Mayor Kent and escorted up the hill where they spent an hour getting acquainted with the people. Several farmers came in autos with their families to meet the visitors.

At Edgerton, the citizens had arranged for a meeting at the state bank, but so many people were on hand that it was necessary to adjourn to a large room. Dr. S. Greer presided. This meeting was a heart to heart conference between the officials and the company's patrons. The latter were asked to state any grievances. Half a dozen shippers said they always had received good treatment from the company. Two shippers each cited a case of delayed shipments from Kansas City. General Freight Agent Kouns made notes about the cases and said they would be investigated. Several men spoke in a complimentary manner about the passenger service and General Passenger Agent Connell bowed his thanks.

An interesting meeting was held at Wellsville, presided over by Asa F. Converse, editor of the Globe. The citizens had only one request to make that was about water service at the stock yards, and General Superintendent Parker agreed to take it up for immediate consideration.

A meeting was held in the court house tonight, presided over by E. L. Jones, president of the club. Messrs. Kouns, Kouns, Connell, Copeland and Rice made talks. Tomorrow the party will visit Garnett, Iola, Ham-boldt, Erie, Girard, Pittsburg and Chanute.

"Hustler," New Frisco Train.

A new through passenger train will be put on by the Frisco next Sunday morning. It will leave Kansas City at 5 p. m., arrive in Houston at 8:30 the day following and reaching Galveston at 8:15. Among the many features announced for the train are all steel equipment, observation cars, electric light and heat, and Fred Harvey meal service.

Bonus Department Changes.

The office of the bonus supervisor of the Santa Fe coast lines, which has been in San Bernardino for some time, has been transferred to Los Angeles and H. W. Benedict, in charge of the bonus department on the coast lines, and his staff start their duties at once in the new office on the third floor of the general office building at the corner of Sixth and Main streets.

The San Bernardino "Sun" says: "The transfer is met with much regret by local Santa Fe men as it necessitates the removal from San Bernardino of three men who are among the most popular in the railroad of the coast."

W. R. Bowes, who is chief clerk and assistant to Mr. Benedict, has lived in San Bernardino for the past three years, since the office was established here, and many friends, both in railroad circles and about the city, will greatly regret his leaving. He is one of the best known railroad men of the city. Mr. and Mrs. Bowes will establish their new home in Los Angeles the latter part of the week. Y. S. Boynton, stenographer, who has been in the office for the past several months, also goes to Los Angeles. He was formerly connected with the storekeeper's office and is well known among Santa Fe officers. E. J. Serr, who has been assistant stenographer, remains here and will return to his former position as stenographer in the bridge and building department.

Business Better.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—Business with western railroads is large in volume and exceeds last year's. Traffic officials believe that even at the maximum of the fall rush of business there will be no blockades nor general scarcity of cars and motive power, as has frequently happened in previous years, as the railroads have more equipment than ever before, and are in shape to move a materially larger tonnage than is at hand at present or in immediate prospect. There is no surplus of cars on the western or southwestern railroads, and traffic is fairly balanced between east and west-bound.

Much Oil Produced.

Figures just completed in the office of F. T. Ferris, manager of Santa Fe oil properties, show that during September the wells in the Midway field belonging to the company produced 197,184 barrels or over 6,400 barrels a day. September's production was an increase of 33,242 barrels over August. In the Bakerville oil fields, 43,500 barrels were produced as against 27,125 for August. In the Olinia field the production was 63,034, a decrease from 70,154 in August.

NEWSPAPER TAKES SHOT AT STUBBS OF KANSAS

Declares Politics Motive For Rate Conference in Topeka; Anti-Trust Law Endorsement "Buncombe."

Oklahoma City, Sept. 26.—The Oklahoma prints the following interview with J. H. Johnston, who walked out of Governor Stubbs' freight rate conference in Topeka last week. Johnston was a member of the resolutions committee:

Desire for political advertising on the part of the governor of Kansas and further desire for fat fees on the part of certain attorneys of certain southwestern shippers, were the prime motives for the meeting of the southwestern shippers and state officials at Topeka Thursday, according to J. H. Johnston, manager of the Oklahoma City chamber of commerce.

Midirected sincerity on the part of some of the shippers also is attributed by Mr. Johnston as forming some of the cause for the meeting, but, he says, so far as the good accomplished, the gathering was bottomless.

"The endorsement of the anti-trust law by the convention was political buncombe," said Mr. Johnston. "For the law is a political buncombe. Its words are combination in restraint of trade, and the like, sound well, but they mean the very opposite."

Enlarging on his ideas of the merits and demerits of the anti-trust law and in presenting his theory regarding the best means of bringing about equitableness of freight rates throughout the country, Mr. Johnston said: "I protest against the resolution which states, 'we hereby declare ourselves in favor of a rigid enforcement of the anti-trust law against all combines, trusts and monopolies in restraint of trade, and petition the president of the United States to enforce vigorously and equally against rail and water carriers as well as other persons or corporations who violate these laws; for the reason that such a resolution is incompatible with the interstate commerce law, whose specific purpose is to prevent rebates to shippers and discrimination as between individuals and localities. Why? Because discrimination cannot be prevented unless uniformity is absolutely secured, not only in the making of rates, but in their publication as well. And how can uniformity be secured without conference and agreement? Is something that no practical man has yet been able to perceive. The rabid reformer and the blatant demagogue care nothing about the practicability of a proposition and hence would insist that the anti-trust law be complied with at the expense of what was much more desired—the prevention of discrimination and the securing of the same rate to all."

Against Interstate Commission. "The resolution passed is in direct conflict with the recommendation of the interstate commerce commission, which recognizes the inconsistency of the conflicting laws, and has upon more than one occasion recommended that the very law which the convention endorsed be repealed, as it relates to traffic agreements and conference between railroads and conference between shippers. This position always has been endorsed by the interstate commission. Further, one, that all agreements as might be reached between road and road should be approved by the commission before going into effect."

Not only is this stand by the commission regarding the law true, but Presidents Roosevelt and Taft have both made similar recommendations to congress, and the provision was included in the bill prepared by Attorney General Wickham and submitted to the last congress. And the bill would have passed had it not been for the unfortunate move made by the railroads at that time toward increasing several of their rates, which move so inflamed many shippers that they went before congress and insisted that the provisions be stricken out, the shortest possible time.

"Another resolution which I could not endorse in total was the one stating, 'We hereby declare it the duty of congress to enact a mandatory law making it the duty of the interstate commerce commission to make a most searching investigation into the actual physical valuation of all the railroad lines in the United States.'"

"My objections to this are that in too large an order at one time. In the end we will unquestionably have to have the valuation of all the railroads, and if the recommendation had been that such valuation should be secured as soon as practicable, I would have supported it. But my position was that we were gathered together to consider only the proposed advances in rates on certain classes and commodities east of the Mississippi river, and upon but a very few west of the Mississippi to the Missouri; and that therefore our remedy should have been directed to the disease and not to the symptoms, which might either later on at points west of the Missouri river.

Furthermore, it is not at all certain that there might not be inequity in the rate east of the Mississippi river, and the rate west of the Mississippi river. For, is it not as reasonable to suppose that the rate to Kansas City from the east is a trifle too low as it is to suppose that the rate to Kansas City from the west is about two and one-half times too high?

Competition. "In the east some years ago there was competition of the most grinding sort. In the west there was little competition. As a result there was under-rating in the east, due to this competition, and over-rating in the west, due to the lack of it. The railroads made the west stand the burden of loss in the east."

"And the rates established at that time have stayed. That is the reason why, for example, the rate on paper for 500 miles from Wisconsin points to Kansas City is 20 cents per 100 pounds, and why on the same commodity for an additional haul of 225 miles from Kansas City to Wichita is 25 cents per 100 pounds."

"In other words, is it not sane and sensible to suppose that there ought to be revision upward where former cut-throat competition got rates too low, and a revision where by reason of lack of competition the rates have remained too high."

"After giving the matter careful consideration I would seem that we have reached the point in history of rate making where we must throw off legal technicalities and forms and get down to an exercise of common sense."

Proposed Arbitration. "And to that end I would propose a board of rate arbitration, to be composed of three railroad traffic men, three shippers, and three members of the interstate commerce commission, these to dispose of the rate dock-et, raising rates on certain commodities when they are too low, and lowering them when they are too high."

"Thus would be done away long drawn and vexatious legal fights through coming directly to the question which must be taken into consideration in the final adjustment of any rate, namely—the comparison with rates on similar commodities in other localities, and with commodities of the same weight, bulk and value in the same locality, considering also risk of damage, and all other features regarding each commodity in the movement of traffic."

"I do not know that this could be done immediately. Certainly it can not be done if traffic meetings continue to endorse a law that, so long as it exists, positively prevents the creation of such a commission, as does the present anti-trust law. But I am certain that such an arrangement would result in unlimited good."

FIRST BASEMENT IN ROSWELL FOUND DRY AS ADMINISTRATION

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal] Roswell, N. M., Oct. 15.—It was always thought that a cellar could not be successfully built between the two hills in Roswell until last night when the electric pump that was keeping the new basement under the new $25,000 addition to the Citizens' National bank dry was stopped and basement was found as water-tight as a jug. The electric pump had been a half week. A basement was built in two layers, each layer being the thickness of an ordinary foundation and made of concrete reinforced with twisted steel. Between these two walls was inserted a heavy layer of heavily tarred paper. The floor was made in the same way, being eighteen inches thick and reinforced with steel. All this precaution is necessary on account of the sub-irrigation in the lower part of the city. It is the first basement in the city. The work on the super-structure will now proceed.

Land Show Preparations. The soliciting committee of the commercial club has secured $1,200 to take care of Roswell's exhibit at the Chicago land show next month. And yet to come in is the big demonstration of the Roswell Realty Board. The committee starts out today to secure the exhibit itself and enough promises have been received from the farmers to insure a prize winner.
