"BUTCHER," IS NEW TITLE FOR THE COLONEL

Coloradoan Calls Roosevelt
"Blood Soddan" After Reading His Story of Killing Birds on Their Nests in Africa.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)
Denver, Nov. 3.—"Blood soddan butcher." That is what Colonel Theodore Roosevelt is called by E. K. Whitcomb, secretary of the Colorado State Bureau of Child and Animal Protection, in the October issue of the bureau's bulletin, published today.

It is not Colonel Roosevelt's recent assaults on the Tammany Tiger which has aroused Mr. Whitcomb's indignation, but the former president's African jungle exploits as related by Colonel Roosevelt himself in the July Scribner. The bulletin's description of his killing of two birds for three days to kill them on their nests in the specific birds for Mr. Whitcomb's charge.

"He tells us how glad he was when the stricken bird fell in the dust and describes its death cry," Mr. Whitcomb goes on to relate. "He is not ashamed of it, does not blush his companions to scorn but boasts of it, glories in it, with his own hand writes down and publishes it, so that all the world may know him for the heartless, blood soddan butcher he is."

A man capable of such a thing as this he tells of himself, is so destitute of common humanity, so devoid of a moral sense, so selfish and brutal as to be capable of any action which is urged by his desire and ambition, regardless of any rights which cannot protect themselves. Mr. Whitcomb further remarks that Mr. Roosevelt is of the stuff that could find it easy to chance served—to evade through laughter to a throne, and about the gates of mercy on mankind."

ACTRESS' FRIENDS
PRESENT GIFT
Ellen Terry, the Recipient of
"Book of Welcome" Containing Signatures of Many Noted People.

New York, Nov. 3.—President and Mrs. Taft, Mayor and Mrs. Gaynor, J. P. Morgan, E. H. Gary of the United States Steel corporation, William Dean Howells, the author, and 500 other friends of Ellen Terry, united in surprising her this afternoon with a "Book of Welcome."

Miss Terry arrived here today from Chicago and had no feeling of the presentation awaiting her. When she stepped to the platform of the Hudson theater to deliver her lecture on "Shakespeare's Heroines Triumphant," the audience rose and cheered for five minutes. Tears of gratitude came to Miss Terry's eyes, but she deferred any formal acknowledgment and began her lecture.

Just as she was to leave the stage, Kate Douglas Wiggin, the author, stepped forward, carrying the "Book of Welcome," and turning first to the audience and then to Miss Terry, read a profusion of her own to the signature, closing with a quotation from one of Miss Terry's most famous roles as follows:

"Since that star dawned away which you were born into this present moment, dear Ellen Terry, such of us could have said as Portia to Bassanio:

"One-half of me is young, the other half your youth and as all yours." Percy Mackaye, the poet and play-wright, then read a sonnet. "To Ellen Terry on her return to America," which was written in the book and the presentation closed.

Miss Terry seemed in as good voice and to be as fresh and vigorous as twenty years ago, although she is now 62 years old. Other names from the world of art, literature, the stage and society included in her book are: Mrs. August Belmont, Mrs. Clarence Mackay, John W. Alexander, Charles Dana Gibson, Norman Hapgood, Albert Shaw, Hamilton Holt, Daniel French, E. H. Bradford, Samuel Untermyer, Henry Clews, Otto H. Kahn, Henry W. Taft, Lyman Abbott, Dr. Henry Van Dyke, Julia Matthews, John D. Rockefeller, Minnie Maddern Fiske, John Jacob Astor and Nathaniel M. Butler.

WOMEN TESTIFY IN TIMES INQUIRY

Eleven Witnesses Appear Before Grand Jury Investigating the Times Disaster.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)
Los Angeles, Nov. 3.—Mrs. Clara Coplan, wife of one of the men named in connection with the alleged dynamiting of the Times newspaper plant here, was the most important witness called before the special grand jury today. Two other women, Mrs. A. A. Pessant, wife of a Corbin Hotel keeper, and Mrs. Emily Stuprich, whose husband conducts a hotel in San Luis, also testified.

In all there were eleven witnesses called before the grand jury during the day and Deputy District Attorney McLaughlin was assisted in his examination of them by Earl Rogers, who conducted the inquiry for evidence in the case and who after appearing as a witness yesterday, took part in the grand jury proceedings today as a special deputy district attorney. He received his appointment yesterday from District Attorney Frederick.

Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Pessant and Mrs. Stuprich were the first women witnesses called upon to testify, and after their interrogation this afternoon Mrs. Pessant spoke down and went. She cried for half an hour while sitting in the court room of Presiding Judge (Judge) and she was finally comforted by Mrs. Coplan who showed no signs of having undergone an ordeal at the hands of the questioners in the grand jury room.

Another important witness who testified was John C. O'Brien, owner of the South San Francisco estate in which the dynamite was said to have been secreted by the suspected trio—Schmidt, Bryce and Coplan. Then came George A. Dixon, assistant manager of the Hotel Argonaut, in San Francisco, where the alleged plotters are said to have lived while they were operating the lunch parlor.

The last witness of the day was Harry Piper, the janitor who was shown the lunch room wrap-ups later found with the dynamite in South San Francisco.

ARIZONA TO ABOLISH GRAND JURY

Yavapai Delegate Arraigns Courts for Usurping Power in the Use of Injunctions.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)
Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 3.—Declaring that Arizona's constitutional convention in the first amendment which has the power to carry out the pledge in the national declaration of independence, the Yavapai county delegate, J. C. Condit, in a speech in the convention today in which he arraigned the courts for usurping power never given them, in withholding from persons rights guaranteed by the federal constitution.

The speech was a defense of the proposition introduced by him and which was vigorously supported by the judiciary committee. It was a feature of the debate in which the democratic members of the convention arraigned others of the majority.

Mr. Condit said the democratic party was committed to the policy of checking such usurpation to the courts. In many instances, he declared, the courts have arrogated the rights of individuals at the expense of special vested interests.

Mr. Cunningham, chairman of the judiciary committee, defended the judiciary, declaring the pending clause in the proposition providing for impeachment and removal is too drastic. He characterized the entire proposition as a retrogression to the dark ages.

The proposition was finally defeated by a vote of 18 to 23. A virtual abolition of the grand jury system was decided upon by a vote of 22 to 12 in the final passage of Delegate Lynch's proposition. It provides there shall be criminal trials only by indictment or information after a hearing before a magistrate, but a superior judge is given power to call a grand jury session.

Marriage Ceremony Is Performed in Scotland With Greatest Secrecy.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)
Edinburgh, Nov. 3.—According to the Scotsman, Frank J. Gould of New York was married at Edinburgh on October 28.

In making the announcement the Scotsman says: "The lady, singularly enough, bears the same name and surname as Mr. Gould's wife."

In the entry in the sheriff's record, however, the names given are simply Gould and Kelly.

The ceremony which followed the Scottish procedure—a simple declaration before witnesses and sheriff, was conducted with the greatest secrecy. After the marriage the couple went to Alibonford, the former home of Sir Walter Scott, which Mr. Gould recently acquired as a residence.

Frank J. Gould, first wife was Miss Helen Kelly, a daughter of the late Edward Kelly of New York. The marriage took place in 1901. Miss Helen Kelly-Gould was granted a divorce in May 1909.

GETNAW WINS 100 MILE RACE AT ATLANTA

With Bared Heads Drivers Wait Until Funeral Services for Livingstone Are Ended Before Starting in Contest.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 3.—A drama new to American automobile racing was enacted on the speedway just before the start of the 100-mile race today.

With the strains of "Nearer, My God to Thee," floating from the grandstand band, nine big racing cars lined up at the starting wire, their engines stilled for fifteen minutes while their drivers with bared heads waited for the last prayer to be said in another part of the city at the funeral of At Livingstone, who was to have started in the 100-mile race, but who was killed in practice here two days ago. After the hymn there was a long silence respected by all the thousands in the enclosure.

Suddenly the bands started a two-step, the engines coughed, and Livingstone, the "king of the dirt track," had passed forever from speedway events. New speed kings were throwing the clutch into position and the big race was on.

Joe Dawson, in a Marmon, jumped into the lead and held it for ninety-eight miles, when he was nearly two minutes ahead of the official American record for 100 miles for class B cars. Then a shaft broke, and he stopped at the pits for repairs. Six miles behind was his nearest rival, Getnaw, Fordor and Knight's Westcott car, which for more than ninety miles had been running nose and nose, often with scarcely an arm's length separating them. In the last half mile Getnaw pulled ahead and won by 100 yards from Knight.

Dawson returned to the race just in time to take third place. He was in the lead at the start, but was overtaken by Marmon and Burdett's Ford-Harvard, both contenders up to the twentieth mile, were hopelessly handicapped by bearing and tire trouble respectively. Time of winner, 1:26:17.62.

There was nothing badly about the breeze which blew across the course today. It chilled the drivers and things did not warm up until Burman, left at the post by a quarter of a mile in the ten-mile free-for-all, got striding hot under the collar. His temper was evident in his action. He was started finally by a daring feat of his mechanic, Howard Hall. Burman's trouble was in stopping his engine dead by throwing on the high speed too quickly.

Hall seized the cranking rod, and with the speed still on, gave the engine its first turn. His arm was wrenched painfully by the jerk from the engine, but this same jerk helped to toss him to one side out of danger as the car leaped forward straight toward him. Burman, still visibly agitated, drove madly, passing every driver except Caleb Bragg in a flat in the first mile and a half.

Bragg's engine worked badly and Burman won easily.

The race will continue for two days more. Tomorrow there will be eight events, featured by a 200-mile race.

STREET CAR MEN IN PHILADELPHIA MAY STRIKE AGAIN

Another Walkout to Take Place Monday Is Rumored but Denied by Leaders of Former Strikers.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Philadelphia, Nov. 3.—C. O. Pratt, organizer of the Amalgamated Association of street and electric railway Employees and the leader of the street car men in their recent strike, who has been making speeches for the Keystone party candidate was arrested tonight while he was on his way to consult with other reform leaders.

The warrant charged "breach of peace."

After his release Pratt said he had been the victim of a "frame-up" and that the detectives were anxious to secure any papers which he might have upon the person showing the plans of the men regarding another strike.

The report of the board of arbitration to whom the term "loyal men" in the recent strike agreement had been referred was expected today and a meeting of the union car men had been called to hear the report. It is rumored that a strike may be called for next Monday but the leaders of the former strikers say that the subject is not being considered.

At a mass meeting of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company's employees held tonight, the men gave their executive committee under the national officers power to call a strike of the motormen and conductors whenever they deemed it expedient.

The same men were denied to like authority a short time before the strike last February.

Delegates representing 441 Angora goat breeders in thirty-two states were present. El Paso, Texas, was recommended to a committee as being a suitable place to hold the 1911 meeting.

$25,000 SUBSCRIBED TO BUILD NEW RAILROAD FROM ARTESIA TO HOPE

Artesia, N. M., Nov. 1.—The people of Hope, N. M. and this place have already subscribed over $25,000 in cash toward building a railroad to connect the two cities. The people around here are tired of waiting for that long promised Short Line and they now purpose to build the road themselves—at least a section of it. It took only a few hours to raise the $25,000, most of it being placed in Hope.

Estimated Cost.
The subscriptions are on the following basis: Watered land within one mile of town, $10 per acre; watered land within two and a half miles, $7.50 per acre; watered land further out, $5 per acre.

The cost of building the road from Artesia to Hope will be about $119,000, or about $1 per foot. It is estimated that $75,000 can be raised in the Hope community and $25,000 in Artesia.

Land Values Enhanced.
There are 12,000 acres of land under the Hope community ditch estimating that each six hour right will water eighty acres of land. The most pessimistic will tell you that a railroad will enhance the value of this land on an average of $25 per acre. The railroad then will enhance property values around Hope at least $300,000.

Plan of Operations.
The subscription plan provides for payment in cash or 7 per cent mortgage notes, payable in one, two and three years from January 1, 1911. When subscriptions to the amount of $100,000 shall have been received a meeting to perfect temporary organization shall be called at Hope, N. M. The officers elected at this meeting shall have full and complete control of the funds subscribed and power to build the railroad. Each vote shall be based on $100 subscription.

People to Own the Road.
Those who have studied the proposition believe they can take the notes and mortgages, put them up as collateral and borrow enough to complete the road half way and then bond that part of the road for enough to complete the line into Hope. The bonds will be retired as the one, two and three-year subscriptions come in. In this way the people of Hope and Artesia will own and control the road in addition to receiving the advance on their land and the facilities and conveniences that the road will surely bring.

"Just say he was always faithful to his trust."

"And shall we mention the name of the trust?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

NEWS WRITER SAYS BRADY'S STORY IS CORRECT

He Knew Details of the Maine Explosion and Secretary of War Had All Information Then Obtainable.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Meriden, Conn., Nov. 2.—Former State Senator Francis Atwater of this city, who was publishing a newspaper at Havana, Cuba, at the time the Maine was blown up, commenting on the statement of Colonel Brady yesterday at Kansas City to the effect that the ship had been blown up from the outside and that the government knew the details of the happening years ago, today affirmed the story.

Mr. Atwater says he sent a cablegram to this country on November 4, 1898, telling of Zaldy's destruction of the warship, and his accomplices, the information, according to Mr. Atwater, having been given him by a detective who told him also that Zaldy had been poisoned and that one of his accomplices stood ready to confess the full details of the plot.

At that time all the information obtainable, Mr. Atwater said, was sent to the then secretary of war, but while the letter was acknowledged, no further notice was taken of it so far as Mr. Atwater knew.

EACH CANDIDATE TRIES TO ELECT OPPONENT

Muncie, Ind., Nov. 2.—"Any party that didn't have any more sense than to nominate me for the position of justice, ought to see elected a man like Joseph Zehner, even though he is a democrat."

That is the kind of a stump speech Isaiah Daddleton, republican candidate for justice of the peace in Delaware township, this county, has been making. He has been working hard for the election of his opponent, Joseph Zehner, and Mr. Zehner has been working just as hard to try to elect the republican candidate.

The campaign has become so warm that both have been indulging in personalities—each deprecating his own ability and lauding his opponent. The campaign is no joke with the two candidates, although it affords humor for the entire county, as the office pays little and would interfere with the business interests of the candidates.

LAUGHS TWELVE HOURS OVER A HORSE TRADE

Lawrenceburg, Ind., Nov. 2.—Trading a mule for a "shaved tail" horse appealed to the humor of S. H. Schrap of this city and he began laughing. He laughed nearly an hour with the tears rolling down his cheeks, and still he did not stop.

His friends becoming alarmed, summoned a physician, but the physician could not stop the hearty "ha, ha." When six hours had passed and Schrap still was convulsed with laughter, another physician was called and still the horse trader's merriment continued.

An electric battery was brought in to play and just as the merry laugh had rounded out twelve hours, the trader was given a heavy electric shock. The "ha, ha" ceased and Schrap fell over exhausted.

It was thought for a time that the man would die, but today he shows no ill effects from the long laugh.

CHINESE APPEAR WITHOUT QUEUES

San Francisco, Nov. 2.—In compliance with an imperial edict Chinese Consul General Lo Yang Yew and the entire staff of the local consulate appeared today without queues and attired as Americans, causing a mild sensation in the Oriental quarter. The edict just promulgated from Peking which led to this change, provides that all members of the diplomatic and consular service of China shall get off their queues and adopt the dress and customs of the country in which they reside.

JOBBER REFUSED TO BUY FROM OUTSIDER

Witness in Bath Tub Trust Inquiry Says Retailers Wouldn't Patronize His Firm When He Failed to Sign Agreement.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Pittsburg, Nov. 2.—After four days inquiry into the operations of the alleged combination of enameled iron ware companies, called the "bath tub trust," Edwin L. Wayman was excused today by the government whose special attorneys are investigating an alleged violation of the anti-trust laws.

Wayman today made further explanations of contracts by which jobbers were licensed to sell the goods of the sixteen defendant companies. Correspondence between Wayman, as commissioner for the alleged combination, and the Western Supply company of St. Paul was introduced to show that Wayman insisted on the St. Paul firm selling only the goods of the concern in the combination.

George H. Bailey of the Bailey Farwell Manufacturing company, of this city, followed Wayman. He identified correspondence with the Day Ward company of Warren, O., through which the latter refused to sell to Bailey's firm unless it signed the publisher's agreement.

John A. Kelley, secretary of the Iron City Sanitary Manufacturing company of Pittsburg, whose firm did not go into the combination, identified the Day Ward of jobbers, and told of Wayman's conversation with him about signing the agreement.

Kelley also told of several manufacturers objected to the agreement as illegal.

Mr. Kelley also said that some of the jobbing firms that bought goods of his firm prior to June 6, 1910, declined to do so after he had refused

A Safe, Quick Way to Clean Silver

(Recommended by H. Gold Dust Tins)

Instead of scouring and rubbing each piece of silver after each meal, put the silver in a separate tin by itself; cover with lukewarm water, to which a tablespoonful of Gold Dust washing powder has been added. Set the pan on the range and let the water get to boiling point; lift the silver out, wipe each piece with a soft linen cloth and polish with a chamolin skin. Silver that is seldom used should be wrapped in Canton flannel.

DRY COUNCIL AT ROSWELL MOVES CAREFULLY

Committee on Commission Form Petition Granted More Time to Deliberate on Proposed Election.

(Special Correspondence in Morning Journal)

ROSWELL, N. M., Nov. 2.—More time has been granted the committee of the city council to which was referred the petition of 579 voters for an election on the commission form of government. A special meeting will be called as soon as the committee is ready to report. The commission form of government, it is pointed out, might bring back licensed saloons to Roswell, and the present "dry" council will move circumspectly.

The banquet of the B. Y. P. U. last night was the feature of yesterday's program in the denominational week and missionary round-up of the Baptist church.

Federal court has adjourned until Monday next, but Judge William H. Pope is occupied with the trial of cases in chambers in the territorial court.

Judge Pope has appointed W. A. Duns, receiver for the defunct New Mexico National Life Insurance company. This was to have been a Peas valley institution. About 14,000 shares of stock were sold and about $20,000 was paid in. All this, it is said, was spent by the promoters in promoting the company except about $2,000.

ONE MATCH SAVES SUPERVISOR FROM FRIGID DEATH

Forest Service Official Drops Into Creek and Escapes Freezing By Means of Last Bit of Sulphur.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal)

Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 2.—A lonely match, just a pinch of sulphur, and a couple of inches of fragile wood, was probably what saved Forest Supervisor Thomas Stewart of the Peas valley from freezing to death the other night.

Details of Mr. Stewart's narrow escape were brought by rangers who came to the city this week on business at the local office in the federal building. It appears that Mr. Stewart was out deer hunting and darkness overtook him. He continued in pursuit of a fleet-footed animal, when suddenly he lost his footing and fell into Horse Thief creek in the Peas valley. He was drowned to the skin and with the wet clothes began to freeze, numbing him. "I wasn't in and his hands and arms were practically paralyzed.

George Judson King, Busy As Defamer of New Mexico

Supported By Evening Organ in Albuquerque Slanderer of New State and Its People Sneers in Southern Newspaper at "Mexican Delegates"; Publishing Broadcast Over the Country Scurrilous Libels That He Dare Not Print in New Mexico.

"In Taft's name, Gang is Raping and Trying New State of New Mexico for Delivers To Special Privileges." It is to be framed, said he, "so says our George Judson King in four column headlines in the Mobile 'Register' of Mobile, Alabama. This campaign is placed over several columns, in its leading southern newspaper, of denigrating falsehoods about the proceedings of the constitutional convention in New Mexico. It appears that this George Judson King, whose staff has been captured by the evening paper in Albuquerque, and who has constituted himself an extraordinary authority to the people of the territory, is basing his campaign on the blackening of the name of New Mexico and of her people over the United States, publishing libels that he dare not publish in New Mexico. Hand in glove with such men as these, the evening newspaper, purporting to represent the sentiments of the self-respecting denizens of the New Mexico, has been giving aid and comfort to the enemy and assisting in the propaganda to bring New Mexico into contempt before the country by disseminating falsehoods about her.

The story is accompanied by photographs of Charles A. Spiess, the discredited member of the "Old Guard," whose influence in the convention has been nil, but who is represented as leading in the operation of hoisting the flag.

There is also a cut of H. B. Ferguson, featured, the "leader of the progressives," but who has in fact done little, but admit that the progressives are progressive; and a picture of the constitutional convention with a legend, which sneers because there are "Mexican delegates," and "imperialists."

Here follows Mr. King's article. It will arouse the greatest indignation among the people of New Mexico republican and democratic alike.

Santa Fe, N. M., October 23.—Like a withering blight on the heart of every true progressive in the convention, elected to draft a constitution for the proposed state of New Mexico, falls the conservative shadow of President Taft.

The advantage of his contemporaries, references to the constitution of Oklahoma as a "zoological garden of legislative freaks," the "old gang" is preparing to frame as "organic law" that will deliver the state, roped and tied onto their tender care, open the vast natural resources of the state to infinite plundering, and give free rein to the railroads and other special interests for years to come.

The Santa Fe railroad and other corporations. The Santa Fe makes boast that it does not tamper with the politics of its employees, and, in beautiful conformity to this laudable principle, President Ripley sent out from Oklahoma, prior to election, a letter "To all Employees" containing these significant words:

"The Santa Fe has no candidate for office. . . . But I do not hesitate to say that its interests and yours will be conserved if its employees cast their votes solidly against those who stand for anti-railroad legislation."

Whether or not the railroad men played officers, others did. There were thirty-one lawyers, five convention men, and five other persons, "a safe and sane" constitution to delight the heart of President Taft. There are seventy-one republicans and twenty-nine democrats, and "party" lines are strictly drawn.

There was some faint hope that enough "insurgent" republicans would join hands with the democrats to secure a few progressive reforms. Without the recall, the initiative and referendum. But this hope died when the "insurgents," who before election promised such brave things, in caucus could muster only eighteen votes against fifty-one for the corporation candidate for president officer. The party whip then cracked on the floor of the convention and the "insurgents," every man of them, voted for the aforenamed choice, the convention, Charles A. Spiess, "The Black Eagle from San Miguel," a railroad lawyer and politician, whose corrupt political methods no one denies, and of which he boasts.

Of the twenty-nine democrats, it is surprising, though true, that only two or three have shown inclination to serve anything less than the whole people. Their candidate for president was H. B. Ferguson, the initiative and referendum, and who is universally respected because of high character and real service to the people of the territory.

The most powerful republican leader is Charles Springer, a stockman, known as the representative of the "allied corporation interests," the lifting of whose eyebrow is of more consequence than hours of oratory by any other delegate. Another powerful factor is Judge H. L. Waldo of Las Vegas, chief counsel for the Santa Fe Railroad system in New Mexico. He is not a delegate. He sits in his room at the Palace hotel and never goes near the convention hall. He does not have to. The leaders come to him.

The only lobbyist for the common people I have been able to discover are four men sent by the railroads, who are asking for the initiative and referendum, a railroad commission and an employers' liability clause.

The chairman of all important committees are corporation men and all committees are safely majoritized by members of the "old gang." It takes thirty members to order a roll call on anything save the final vote. The folks back home can never find out how those delegates voted, as there will be no records. Thus effectively the tracks to be covered.

When arriving here I was told by an "insider" that the new constitution would contain nothing radical. "It is to be framed," said he, "so that there will be nothing open to attack."

"What, for example?" I asked.

"Well, the initiative and referendum, the recall, direct election of United States senators, direct primary, prohibition, taxation funds and corporation regulation and so on. We are going to have a safe and sane constitution," he concluded, as naively as if he had just coined the phrase.

There is no question that he spoke the desire of the masters of New Mexico. Oklahoma is constantly held up as an abhorrent example to shun, and "President Taft" is a club to smash progressive or anti-corporation ideas on sight. "Please Taft or we won't get statehood," is the constant threat.

There is but one obstacle in the path of the "old gang"—the people. This constitution must go to a referendum vote, and there's the rub. The time spirit which is raising so much distressful hub in sundry parts of this continent is abroad in New Mexico. The people are alive to what this constitution means, and they know its making is in the hands of the people.

How far dare we go and not spoil the game? For how much concession will the people stand? are the questions the observers up in the look-out are trying to divine. It would be said to have the constitution rejected by the people; sadder still for the democrats to sweep the decks at the next election and cast the old crew into the sea. Well, all every delegate has political aspirations.

Especially vexatious in this question of the initiative and referendum. Twenty-three republican delegates were forced to promise their people they would vote to put this "safe guard" in the constitution or stay at home. But the "insurgents" don't want it. Hence the referendum may be thrown as a sop to the people in "properly restricted form," but the gang is dead set against the initiative, especially on constitutional amendments.

The whole struggle is the world-old fight between privilege and the common good. Privilege holds this convention in the hollow of its hand, but since political futures, both of individuals and parties, tremble in the balance before the rising tide of public opinion, the outcome is difficult to divine, though at present the outlook is not reassuring, save to the standpatters.

Under the accompanying photograph of the convention Mr. King says:

"There are a large number of Mexican delegates, and all business is conducted in both English and Spanish. One interpreter stands by the president officer, and another by whatever delegate is speaking, a procedure unique in American assemblies."

Under the sub-head "Who's what in New Mexico," this interesting falsifier has the following:

What the Democrats Demand.

The initiative and referendum. The recall. Primary elections. People's choice for United States senators. Abolition of election frauds. Corporation commission. Elected judiciary. No gerrymandering.

What the Republicans Stand For.

A constitution without the initiative and referendum. No railroad and corporation commissions. Without popular election of senators. Without prohibition. Without primary elections. Without taxation "fads." Not "to scare away capital."

TEST WELL AT BARD CITY DEMONSTRATES A BIG WATER SUPPLY

(Bard City News.)

The Bard City test well, commenced about two weeks ago for the purpose of demonstrating that there was water here in sufficient quantity to irrigate by the well system, so far has proven a grand success and has surprised even those who were confident that the test would be a success. The well is eight feet square, and they went down exactly twenty-eight feet. The water is coming in so fast that it is impossible to proceed with the work until arrangements can be made to pump the water out.

It was the intention to go down fifty feet but it will not be necessary. The well is on the Allred place and it was expected that about three feet of water would be reached before the water in any quantity could be struck. In fact the water that is coming up now boils through the sand. It is believed that when the space is cleared to the actual water that it will not be necessary to go any farther.

The subject of well irrigation has been occupying the minds of the people around here for some time and it will now be carried to a practical solution. The success at the recent county fair has given the farmers much encouragement and they declare that with the well irrigation system introduced much better results will be obtained. Many of them will endeavor to introduce the system as soon as they are ready for the next year.

Don't Cackle.

The best way to help your town grow is to cry—Springer Stockman.

THRILLING TALE OF ROOSEVELTIAN COUP D'ETAT

PRESIDENT TAFT EXILED;
THEODORE FIRST CROWNED

Emperor Having Bully Time;
Rockefeller Takes Refuge in Sanctuary and Won't Come Out; Hearst Under Arrest.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal.)

London, Nov. 2.—The arrest of the presidential family in their beds at 5 o'clock in the morning by the adherents of Colonel Roosevelt and the prompt proclamation of the emperor "Emperor of America," are related with a wealth of detail in the latest issue of Punch or the London Chronicle.

Some of the details of the Rooseveltian coup d'etat, as seen by Punch's correspondent at Washington are as follows:

"This morning, Mr. Roosevelt, by a daring coup de main, has overthrown the republican institutions under which these states have existed for 124 years, possessed himself of the supreme executive power, and has promptly been proclaimed emperor of America."

"This astounding revolution has so far been unaccompanied by any effusion of blood. The secret, though it had been known to 100 conspirators, had been well kept, and the strong measures taken by His Imperial Majesty and his friends paralyzed the spirit of resistance that might otherwise have manifested itself."

"At 5 a. m. the White House was surrounded by a strong detachment of Rough Riders and Mr. Taft and his family were arrested in their beds. They were subsequently conveyed to an unknown destination. At the same time the vice president and the members of the cabinet were seized and imprisoned. The chiefs of the army and navy have already sworn allegiance to the new sovereign."

Populace Shows Acclaim.

"At 10 a. m. His Majesty, attended by a prince of the imperial house accompanied by a brilliant staff, rode through the streets of Washington amid deafening populace acclamations."

"Holding before the capitol, he made an impassioned speech, calling on all those who valued stability of government and believed in his policies to rally round his throne and his person."

"He had, he said, intrusted the preservation of public order to the editorial board of the Outlook, and any complaints ought to be addressed to them, though, for his part, he could not conceive that any loyal subject should want to complain of anything. The great policy of conservatism would now be carried out."

"His Majesty concluded by saying that he was having a 'bully time.'"

"Later, the New York American, in a special edition published at midnight, calls upon the populace to rise against the usurper. Hearst has been arrested and will be tried on the charge of treason."

"W. J. Bryan, in an interview declared that he suspected the emperor from the beginning. The triumph of the democrats, he thinks, is now assured."

"The Evening Post announces that the Emperor is an unscrupulous pretender, and declares that no self-respecting American will consent to bow the knee to him. The office of the paper has since been destroyed by an infuriated mob."

"Mr. Rockefeller has taken refuge in a church and refuses to come out. The Emperor is now engaged in comparing a message of 100,000 words strongly affirming both the Monroe Doctrine and his own right to empire and crown. As soon as the message has been delivered Congress is to adjourn for an indefinite period."

Spectator Knew it All.

Punch follows this dispatch with an alleged extract from the Spectator of the following Saturday. The proprietor and editor of the Spectator is St. Lee Strachey, a personal friend of Mr. Roosevelt. The extract says:

"We cannot pretend to be surprised by the news which has reached us from America this week that Mr. Roosevelt (if we may be pardoned for speaking of him by the name which he now merged in a more splendid and, we believe, a more appropriate title) should assume the imperial purple."

"It cannot startle anyone who has made himself conversant, as few have, with the news which has reached us from America this week that Mr. Roosevelt (if we may be pardoned for speaking of him by the name which he now merged in a more splendid and, we believe, a more appropriate title) should assume the imperial purple."

"There can be no harm in saying that during his recent visit to this country Mr. Roosevelt expressed to a few intimate friends his contempt for all non-despotic systems of government, and that he was determined to shake off republican institutions men of sense and of honest capability would come by their own."

"This was his ideal, and we could not help feeling—the expression was his own—that it was a 'bully' ideal."

"We cordially congratulate His Imperial Majesty and his loyal subjects on what has taken place."

"We are among those who believe that His Majesty is, with perhaps the exception of the Archbishop of Canterbury and Mr. William Higginbotham, the greatest, strongest and most statesman-like man in existence."

Needs More Railroads.

Arizona is in need of more railroads to insure the development of our rich mineral districts now lying inactive for the want of transportation. Our people want every means of protection against freight and passenger rates, but at the same time they will want nothing in the way of regulation which would discourage the investment of capital in the new lines of railroads so badly needed here.—H. NINE RANCH OWNERS ARE INDICTED FOR LAND GRABBING

Omaha Grand Jury Charges
That They Conspired to Drive
Homesteaders From Rich
Valleys in Nebraska.

(The Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 2.—Indictments returned by the federal grand jury Wednesday against nine ranchmen of western Nebraska were made public today. The indictments charge conspiracy by the defendants to drive from their claims at the points of guns homesteaders who took quarter sections of semi-arid land under the Kinkaid homestead law.

Those indicted are Perry S. Yeast of Kearney, Neb., his son Frank W. Yeast, Leslie E. Hallinger, M. C. Mahol, Emil Anderson, William Z. Emerson, Harry Sutton, Boone B. Hawthorne and Dr. Harry H. Huff.

Huff and Sutton are members of the state militia board. Yeast, one of the largest ranch owners in the state, was convicted two years ago of fraudulently securing title to homestead land and paid a fine and served a jail sentence.

There are four counts in the indictments and the specific overt acts mentioned indicate an unusual frontier condition.

According to the charges Yeast and his associates carried their efforts so far as to secure the incarceration in the insane asylum at Hastings, Neb., of one of their alleged victims.

When the Kinkaid homestead law passed many persons went to Grant, Banner, Garden, Cherry and other western Nebraska counties and took up quarter sections. The land is in the sand hills country but contains many fertile valleys.

Several big ranchers, among them Yeast and his associates, have heretofore depended on this valley land for their hay and winter feeding and the settling of the homesteaders was resented.

The indictments charges that a band of about thirty persons, headed by Yeast, went to the homes of many of these homesteaders and by intimidation and threats forced them to leave their claims.

The specific case of C. J. Duvasher is mentioned in detail. It is charged that Yeast and the other defendants, accompanied by a band of cowboys, visited Duvasher's home, destroyed his buildings, broke up his machinery, cut his horses to pieces, and in other ways mistreated him. Later, according to the indictment, Yeast conspired with members of the county insane board and secured Duvasher's incarceration in the asylum.

The insanity commissioners, it is alleged, went through a mock examination, declared Duvasher insane and issued a warrant for his arrest. This was served and within an hour he was rushed off to the asylum without being permitted the advice of counsel.

Duvasher's case was brought to the attention of the superintendent of the institution. He at once decided Duvasher was not insane and the latter was released through habeas corpus proceedings.

According to an official of the institution the present indictment covers one of the most remarkable attempts at land grabbing which has recently been brought to the attention of the department. A letter written to President Taft by one of the victims is said to have caused the investigation which resulted in the indictments. A special grand jury was summoned to consider the evidence.

Many thousand acres of grazing land is contained in the tracts in question.

OKLAHOMA CITY IS DEAD AGAINST PROHIBITION

Local Option and High License
Only Sure Cure for Booze,
Says Business Men in Leading Paper.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.)

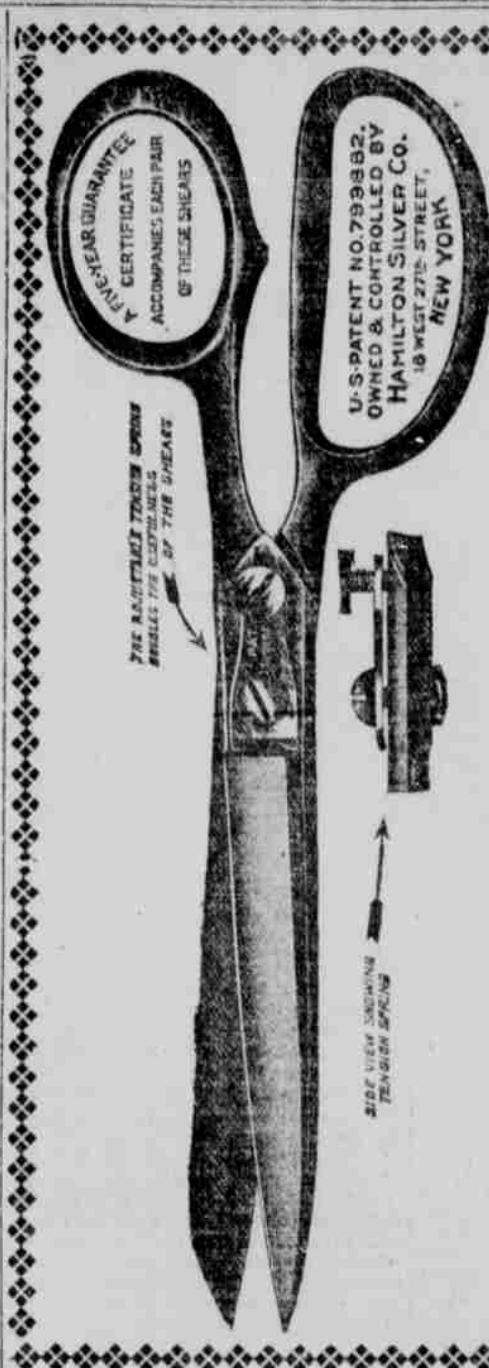

Oklahoma City, Nov. 1.—Prominent men who have helped build Oklahoma City are opposing state wide prohibition, as made clear in the following interviews given out by the Oklahoma Business Men's college and published in the Daily Oklahoman.

E. T. Ryan, of the real estate firm of Campbell and Ryan of Oklahoma City, former vice chancellor of Epworth university, says:

"Three years ago I did everything I could to obtain the passage of the prohibition clause of the constitution, but I am going to vote for the local option and high license bill initiated by the people this fall."

"In the former fight I did everything in my power to obtain the passage of the law, hoping that we would get prohibition, but I see that state wide prohibition is a failure and now the question is not one of sentiment but one of practical regulation of the saloon."

"I have come to the conclusion that the best method of controlling the liquor trade, by the way, is not by the use of the high license bill, but by the use of the local option and high license plan. That will eliminate the bootlegger and saloon keeper, the leeches of prohibition. They are not made over saloon keepers. The legitimate saloon keeper of territorial days has in the majority of instances, fought out some other line of business.

"The bootlegger is the barroom boater and the gambler. Gambling houses, saloon houses and places for the sale of liquor have increased in number in Oklahoma City under the state wide plan. Real estate and other business men would welcome the change to the system of the well regulated saloon."

"I have seen both methods of controlling the sale of liquor in the cities and have come to the conclusion that it is not a question of sentiment but one of regulation."

"I am still a prohibitionist and would vote for prohibition in a local option campaign, but I believe that we can get better results under the local option plan instead of state wide prohibition for the state."

Better for City.

C. F. Colcord, one of Oklahoma City's town builders and founders, head of the Colcord investment company, and owner of the $350,000 fourteen story Colcord building, Grand and Robinson avenues, says:

"Oklahoma City would be far better off morally and financially with the local option and high license plan of regulation than with prohibition. Prohibition has been a miserable failure and the conditions which exist are rotten. It has been a flat failure in Oklahoma."

"Boys of the city would not go into an open saloon to drink where everybody could see them, but they will hide in these bootlegging joints behind screens and curtains where they know they cannot be seen. They do it too."

"I have been regulated with Kansas for a period of 25 or 30 years and am conversant with the state wide prohibition there. It has been a flat failure. The local option, high license plan of regulation would be immeasurably better and a great improvement on the horrible conditions which exist in the gambling house, bootlegging joints and saloon houses. Liquor is sold in all of them."

"Business conditions in Oklahoma City would be improved by the adoption of the local option plan and a healthier tone given to trade from many angles. The business men of Oklahoma City want the bootlegger, the joint keeper, the gambler put out and they know that such cannot be so long as state wide prohibition is in. It is not a question of sentiment. It is a question of practical application of a law to fit conditions."

Makes Dope Funds.

"Prohibition makes dope funds," was the statement of Superintendent Peter N. Bowser of the Oklahoma City board of health. "That is the one condition which is always found in the prohibition state. Wherever there is the bootlegging system, there the percentage of drug funds is the greatest. Statistics bear this statement out."

"It is but necessary for a prohibitive man to consider the true nature of the situation and he can very readily understand the cause of so many persons becoming addicted to the habit. It is because of the vile and poisonous dope sold by the bootlegger under the name of whiskey, gin or beer."

"The drinker's system is wrecked by the use of the impure liquor, by the drug ingredients and then the saloon begins to crave something stronger and stronger. At last the dope is tried. The drinker finds that it is just what he has been wanting. It seems for a long time. Once started on this road to ruin, it is only the strongest will that can resist their steps before they land in the mad house or die on the streets."

"It would be surprising for the people of this state to know that the bootleggers' whiskey has started hundreds in that direction already. I favor a local option and high license system of regulation."

"Never did a drop of liquor touch my lips. Neither do I use tobacco, and I see no crime in the use of liquor."

Those were the words of Seymour Heyman, one of Oklahoma City's leading Masons, prominent merchants, and a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

"I am positively opposed to prohibition, and I am in favor of the local option and high license bill initiated by the people."

"The well regulated high license saloon under the local option plan is far more a moving than the blind of the gambling house and the bar room."

"I do not use liquor because I do not want it, but if you should attempt to say to me what I should eat, drink, wear or say, I would believe that you were infringing on my inalienable right of American citizenship. This is the boasted land of free thought, free speech and free worship. It ought not to become one where the personal privileges of the individual is limited. That is a defiance of the sense of our American independence."

"If I desired to use liquor I certainly would resist any attempt of any man to curb my desires."

"Prohibition has caused a disrespect for law and order in Oklahoma with a certain class of men. The public officials are held to scorn by the bootlegger and the man who wants a drink. Regulate the saloon and regain the respect for the laws of our statute books. Wipe out the face of prohibition."

ALBUQUERQUE NEW MEXICO

ROOSEVELT AND HIS PARTY.

The conclusion is growing more and more inevitable that Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, in allowing his personal ambition and personal aggrandizement to blind him to the duties of real statesmanship, is accomplishing little but damage to the republican party. It is becoming more and more evident that the "new nationalism" is only Rooseveltism and that its cardinal tenets of disrespect for the courts and contempt for the opinions of those who differ with you are not the cardinal principles of republicanism.

It is interesting, in the following from the Philadelphia Ledger, to see how the greatest newspapers of the country are aligning themselves in the present campaign:

Senator Root's last and seemingly desperate appeal to the republicans of New York is in the nature of a warning. If they allow the party to suffer defeat now, he tells them, it will be regarded as a defeat of the Taft administration, and the party may have to throw Taft over and accept Roosevelt or some other "Moose" to save it in 1912.

This evidently represents Mr. Roosevelt's attitude correctly. He is not at present a candidate for president. He is only holding himself in readiness to take advantage of the political confusion which he is helping to create.

It is unnecessary to question Mr. Root's present sincerity, whatever be thought of his logic. He makes the best plea open to him as a party man. Mr. Taft, he says, if his administration shall continue successful, will be the natural candidate of the party for re-election; but if these elections show that he is unable to hold his party together, it may be driven to turn to Roosevelt or an even more radical leader.

This threat may imaginably have influence in some other states to rally conservative republicans to their party ticket. In New York it cannot carry weight, for the reason that Mr. Roosevelt has there so conspicuously thrust Taft aside and made himself and his personal power so paramount an issue that it is impossible now to eliminate him from the campaign, and that upon the defense of the administration lies the defense of the party.

It is quite true that Roosevelt sought and accepted the help of the administration in his fight for control of the party convention, and that he is still evidently trying to keep his lines of communication open. None the less, his almost contemptuous unfriendliness to Taft has not been concealed, and his general attitude toward existing conditions is fundamentally antagonistic to everything for which the administration has conspicuously stood.

The election of Stimson could not be regarded as an endorsement of anything or anybody, but Roosevelt, while his defeat will be regarded as much less a democratic victory than a repudiation of Roosevelt's disruptive ambitions.

This issue has been drawn so plainly in New York by the explicit denials of Roosevelt that there is no possibility of changing it. After doing all that was possible to injure the administration, it is too late to call upon its friends for aid. They will not be persuaded that Roosevelt will be any easier to beat in 1912 if allowed to have his own way now. These all signs tell that they are going to beat him now, and to rely upon the sober judgment of the country for the vindication of Taft, both now and hereafter.

WARNING TO ARIZONA.

The magnificent reputation of the minority by the majority in the New Mexico constitutional convention has been contrasted several times with the demerit of the democratic majority in the Arizona gathering toward its republican minority.

Thus that seriously confronts our convention. It is true, but unfortunate, that the president has the power to set aside our constitution and thus defeat our hopes of statehood. The people of Arizona are suffering from self-government; that is, our every business interest demands a more stable form of government, and this can only come through statehood.

If Arizona was a state of the union our population would double in one year, and capital always follows in the wake of population. Knowing this to be true, the question before the convention today, is: What is best for Arizona?

The people of this territory voted for the initiative and referendum. They are entitled to this by all the rights that belong to citizens of this republic, and we are firm in the belief that the initiative and referendum, properly incorporated in our constitution, will not be sufficient to beguile executive disapproval, and even at the risk of defeating our hopes for statehood we advise to obey the mandates of our people.

After this, we may make haste slowly. Do not permit legislation, or worse, to find a place in this document.

While the people of Arizona voted for a progressive constitution, they did not do it with an idea of either slapping President Taft in the face or defeating statehood, but to formulate a constitution that would be in harmony with the progressive spirit of the age, and thus secure its admission as a sovereign state.

The Democrat would dislike to have the president set aside our constitution on some of the many inconsequential provisions that are before this convention. Such an act would be a serious disappointment to the people of the territory and place the democratic party in an unfavorable light before the people of Arizona.

In this connection the Phoenix Republican says:

Even the most radical of the democratic papers are now demanding of the constitutional convention that it shall refrain from loading the constitution with all the junk that has been proposed. The democratic brethren seem to have awakened too late to a realization of the fact that when burning matches are recklessly thrust into dry grass a bigger fire than was intended may easily result.

A GROUCH IN EL PASO.

For some reason or other the El Paso Times has assumed an attitude of unqualified hostility to New Mexico and New Mexicans, and apparently is hesitating at nothing to vent its ill nature as regards things in this commonwealth. The action of the constitutional convention in de-manding, on our eastern boundary, the land that rightfully belongs to us, elicited a rather violent outburst. The latest is something which strangely resembles the staff recently inflicted on the people of New Mexico by the evening sheet in this city, but it is hard to see how an El Paso newspaper should take such a venomous interest. The Times says:

Recent events in the constitutional convention now in session at Santa Fe seem to demonstrate that there is no hope for anything but a machine-made constitution, which will favor the bosses who are in control of the situation, and to the limit just what they are there for. They are making the constitution for the new state strictly in accord with their own ideas and on the principle of "the public be damned."

This is the kind of history that is now being made in New Mexico, and it is the kind that does not comport with the wishes of the people, the dignity of the new state, or the general interests of the situation. It promises a blighted state on New Mexico's history, and it is a situation that is sincerely to be deplored by all who have the interest of New Mexico at heart.

It is a matter that pertains wholly to the people of New Mexico, however, for by their votes they have perpetuated this ring control and invited the conditions that have naturally arisen. The pity of it is, that it could have been so different, if the people of the new state had not been so blinded to their real interests and opportunity.

How does this "machine-made constitution" favor the classes as against the masses? By reason of its referendum? Because of the fact that the judges are to be elected by the people and that the corporation commission, chosen by the voters, is to have powers as extensive as in Texas? Is it because these machine politicians will incorporate an employers' liability act? How is the public being "damned"?

The Times is also asked for a bill of particulars. What is wronging the people in New Mexico? Is the Times, like the minority leader, one of those professional "admitters"? Are the "bosses in control of the situation," such men as Scales, Carson, and others the Old Guard which has been compelled to concede to the wishes of the progressives?

RUNNING AMUCK.

The great danger to the people at large likely to result from placing tributory judges in charge of important public affairs and in attempting to supplement time tried judges of government with dreamers is being exemplified here in Arizona. Democratic issues as to the judiciary in Arizona at Phoenix, have resulted in the following comment from the El Paso Herald:

If Arizona inserts in her constitution a provision for the "recall" of judges, providing for the recalled judge being elected by the people, it is almost certain that President Taft will veto the measure. It is impossible to overceive of a man of his judicial training and temperament tolerating such an outrageous violation of the fundamental principles of republican government.

It is probable that the full effect of such a "recall" provision has not been realized by the convention committee, and that the convention as a whole will refuse to make any such radical departure from the well established principles of the fundamental law as applied in the other American commonwealths. Among the officials of state or nation, the judges above all should be safe from interference of popular impulse, and subject only to the calm, deliberate scrutiny of the electorate under laws calculated to promote judicial independence.

The natural and necessary corollary or sequence of such a measure as is proposed in the Arizona constitution, is a popular referendum or initiative to reverse any judgment of any court at any time or motion of a minority acting on impulse and disregardful of consequences.

The proposition to "recall" judges at any time during their term, tends to destroy the independence of the judiciary, and unless one is willing to admit that our whole American governmental system is wrong, such a tendency must be vigorously combated.

INDIAN ARRESTED WITH FORTY-TWO DEER HIDES

U. G. Paisano, Well Known Casa Blanca Red Man, Charged With Violating Game Laws.

Charged with violating the game laws, U. G. Paisano, a Casa Blanca Indian, is languishing in the city jail, having been arrested at Colono yesterday afternoon by James M. Platero, a deputy game warden. It is alleged that Paisano and his brother, Albert, slaughtered deer in the Mogollon mountains, killing more than the number allowed two men per law. A haul of forty-two deer hides was stored in the jail here, being found, according to Platero, in Paisano's possession at the time he was arrested.

Paisano, who is well known in Albuquerque, is a graduate of Carleton Indian school, at Carlisle, Pa., and speaks excellent English. Last night he said that he and his brother Albert were with a herd of twenty-four Indians on a hunt in the Mogollons. Altogether the band killed a number of deer. The Paisanos were sent on ahead to Casa Blanca with the hides and meat, traveling on horseback. The rest of the hunters traveled slowly behind on foot. Everything went along in good shape until the Paisanos collided with Platero near Colono yesterday. Platero arrested U. G. Paisano and Albert, and according to Platero, the younger man took with him a number of deer skins and a quantity of meat.

Since the wild deer season has been open, Casa Blanca has almost been depopulated of them, nearly all of whom have gone to the Mogollons, about one hundred and fifty miles south to hunt deer and other wild game. The Paisano party is the first one to return. Paisano last night was optimistic over his arrest and said he could show the authorities that neither he nor any of his party had killed more game than is allowed by law.

Cottolene

Comes from the Land of Sunshine

The very source of Cottolene inspires confidence in the product. It is pure. It comes from the cottonfields of the Sunny South and from cottonfield to kitchen human hands never touch the oil from which Cottolene is made.

Being a vegetable product, Cottolene is pure—and just as digestible as the purest olive oil. You can never be sure of this when using lard, which is simply hog fat—an animal product.

Cottolene is immeasurably superior to lard from a health standpoint. It makes pure, digestible, nourishing food, and food which any stomach can digest.

Rincon, N. M., Nov. 3.—Onions, celery and cantaloupes are the big money-making crops in the Rio Grande valley, here as well as around Albuquerque, and the onion raisers particularly in this farming district show strikingly what reasonable cultivation this industry can and regular vegetable land before it along the Rio Grande valley. The Rio Grande valley is the valley land of the onion and it is a crop which should receive particular attention from new farmers settling up and down the river.

Everybody knows that this has not been a fair average for the valley farmer. Nevertheless, the balance appears to be on the right side of the ledger with all who have reported to us.

Onions, cantaloupes and quince are the growing men who come to this section from Illinois a little less than a year ago. They decided to try their luck on a rented ranch, rather than buying. Naturally their experience can not be taken as a sample of what can be done at the home, where they are not only able to grow but to prepare and sell all the things they grow and in addition to have a home market for their produce in a large city.

Wall Street.

New York, Nov. 4.—The speculative element advocating higher prices for stocks rallied their forces today and lifted quotations. The professional grounds for the movement were the steel and copper trade advances.

The advance in the steel trade was based on the statement of the Iron Age that buying steel mills by the railroads for 1911 had begun. On the side of the copper trade there were reports of the some of the principal producers holding for higher prices and of sales to foreign buyers of large amounts for delivery in December and January. London reported a decline in the price of copper metal today and this had the effect of retarding the movement in copper securities.

The call money market did not show the expected relaxation, the rate holding at 4 per cent or above for the first time in the fall season. The weekly statement of the Bank of England disclosed a large reduction of "other securities" reflecting repayments by the money market to the bank by reason of the easing of the outside money market.

RURAL TEACHERS ARE BEST EVER SAYS STROUP

County Superintendent Returns From Extended Trip Through Mountain Districts; Attendance Very Satisfactory.

"The mountain districts have the best set of teachers in the history of the county schools," said County Superintendent of Schools A. B. Stroup yesterday after returning from a several days' trip which took him through the remote districts, including La Madera and Sedillo, Escobedo, Chilili, and also Barton, San Antonio and San Antonio.

"The teaching corps is excellent all the way through and they are doing a fine work," said Mr. Stroup. "The attendance is also better than ever this year, owing largely to the enforcement of the compulsory education law. At Chilili, for instance, where there were twenty pupils last year, this year there are sixty-four."

Superintendent Stroup announces a meeting of teachers to be held at his downtown office Saturday morning at 9:30.

BAPTIST YOUNG FOLKS' SOCIAL IS ENJOYABLE

Mr. and Mrs. Means entertained the Young People's Society of the Baptist church in a most charming manner at their home on Monday evening. The social committee planned a Halloween entertainment which was carried out in some very amusing details. Mrs. Means had decorated the house in a most unique manner, with green hanks and black and white lanterns. Upon entering the hall a tall ghost with a ghastly grin welcomed the guests.

A short time after the guests had assembled, two more ghosts arrived on the scene, causing great merriment among the young people. Later in the evening the lights were turned out, and the guests sat around an alcohol filled listening to ghost stories and weird and fanciful yarns, prompted by the occasion. One of the most amusing features of the evening was the initiation into the Ghost and Shoe fraternity. For further particulars concerning this social organization consult Dr. Burton, who is now a fully initiated member.

Delightful refreshments were served later in the evening, and about 11 o'clock the guests dispersed, vowing that Mr. and Mrs. Means were royal entertainers, and that the social committee of the B. Y. F. U. had assisted them most ably.

The attendance on this occasion was unusually large, a number of guests being invited for the evening.

AGED LADY UNABLE TO FIND SON WHO IS ILL HERE

Mrs. Mary Mason, Eighty-Five Years Old, Travels From Fulton, Mo., to See Her Sick Boy, Whom She Cannot Locate.

Traveling from Fulton, Mo., to Albuquerque, to be at the bedside of her son, Henry N. Mason, Mrs. Mary Mason, eighty-five years old, arrived in the city Wednesday evening and found upon her arrival that she did not know her boy's address, or the names of any of his acquaintances here. Mrs. Mason spent yesterday in a futile attempt to locate her son, whom she says, telegraphed to her a week ago that he was very ill, asking her to come and see him before he became worse. Young Mason, who is twenty-four years old, came to Albuquerque about four months ago, hoping to improve in health. For a time he improved, but during the past month, according to Mrs. Mason, he fell ill and the telegram she received from him in Fulton a week ago, convinced her that she should be with him.

Mrs. Mason spent six days on the road, being obliged to stop at several places on the way because of heart trouble. New friends in Albuquerque yesterday assisted Mrs. Mason in her efforts to locate her son. The sanitarians were asked if they had a patient answering Mason's description, and physicians were also asked concerning him. Up to last night, however, no one had been found who knew where the young man lived. If any reader of the Morning Journal knows of Mason's whereabouts and will give the information to this paper, it will be re-memorated to his mother.

Mr. Otto Paul, Milwaukee, Wis., says Foley's Kidney and Urinary Pills are more than the best. He writes: "All those that bought it think it is the best for roughs and colds they ever had and I think it is still more than the best. Our lady had a bad cold and it cured him in one day. Please accept thanks." J. H. O'Reilly Co.

AFTER SUFFERING ONE YEAR

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Milwaukee, Wis.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman and I would like to tell the whole world of it. I suffered from female trouble and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all decided that I had a tumor in addition to my female trouble, and advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I hope I can help others by telling them what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. Emma J. J. First St., Milwaukee, Wis.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

SAVAGE DOG TEARS AT CHILDREN IN SCHOOL ROOM

WILD UPROAR RESULTS; DIRECTOR KILLS CANINE

Presence of Mind of Teacher at Barelav Saves Many From Injury; One Small Boy Badly Bitten on the Knee.

Foaming at the mouth and snarling, a dog which had all the indications of being rabid, rushed from a rear door yesterday morning into the school room at Barelav, where Mrs. Lowry is in charge of fifty small children. Before the savage beast was killed by a school director, it had thrown the school into a panic, torn the clothes of a number of pupils and bit one boy severely on the knee. By the time Mrs. Lowry perceived the dog it was well in the room and had crawled under one of the seats. The children in the nearby seats were told to quietly move, but when obeying instructions, the dog snapped and tore at the clothes of several, inflicting a wound on the knee of one little boy. Despite the efforts of the teacher, the children, badly frightened, were screaming and rushing for the doors. Quelling them as best she could, in a remarkably short time the room was emptied of the children and the dog shut inside. One of the school directors, Mr. Gabeldon, was sent for at once, and on his arrival at the scene of excitement procured a gun and shot the dog from a window. Miss Ruth Goss is the second grade teacher, and was in the next room. Her pupils were frightened by the commotion in the adjoining room, and the children were in such a state of excitement that the whole school had to be dismissed for the day. Only one child was injured to the extent of bringing blood, and he was given immediate treatment. It is feared by the people residing in that locality that other dogs may be affected, and they are keeping a close watch on the canines.

Mrs. Lowry deserves great credit for her presence of mind in dealing with the frantic children, and the quickness and dispatch with which she emptied the room, doubtless, saved many of them from serious injury.

Wise Talks by the Office Boy

George was coming west to seek his fortune. On the eve of his departure he said to the sweetest girl in the world: "You'll be true to me, won't you, darling?" "Yes, George, if— if you're successful."

There is no question about George's success if he works hard and keeps his face and conscience clean. If a young man is strictly honest, not afraid of work and possesses a happy disposition, you can bet ten to one he'll win. The days of "wooden nutmegs" have passed into the fossilized past. The man who is tricky in business is a back number. Straight dealing is the new slogan in business. It costs money to be a provocator. It won't be many years before even the big department stores will never wilfully publish an untruth, because the public are getting educated, because moral ideas have progressed, because it costs too much to get caught, because advertising is taking a serious place in commercial life, and because it won't pay to publish a page of advertising in several papers and have everybody doubt its truth. We believe in the old-fashioned straightforward way of doing business. It's the only old-fashioned thing we have in this shop.

Come in this week and look around. We can show you something classy in a new fall suit that will put you in good humor and the price will put you in line for thanksgiving.
