WOMEN TAKE ATTACK ON ASQUITH

SUFFRAGETTES RESENT AN ALLEGED INSULT

Large Detachment of Police Save Premier From Rough Handling; Campaign Is Growing Bitter in Many Sections.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) London, Nov. 22.—The political campaign is being waged with a fierceness almost unknown in London both by politicians on the stump and the suffragettes on the battlefield.

The battle of Downing street, fought this afternoon when several hundred suffragettes attempted to storm the residence, assaulted Mr. Asquith and Austin, chief secretary for Ireland, and broke many windows in the government offices, surpassed all previous spectacles of the sort. About 150 women and several men supporters are in the police station tonight.

Following an announcement by the prime minister in the house of commons that if he were still in power at the next session of parliament, the government would give facilities for the consideration of a suffrage bill, a large body of women, inflamed rather than placated by this promise, which was characterized as "nothing more or less than an insult to the cause," left Caxton hall in search of the premier.

They came upon him on the way to Downing street and immediately formed a hostile cordon around Mr. Asquith, who recently has resorted to all kinds of subterfuges to keep himself clear of the hands of the militant women. One of them, Henrietta Williams, struck the government leader, and the premier would have fared badly had not large detachments of police come to his rescue. The police had great difficulty in pushing down the demonstrators and many of the women had to be dragged from the scene with clothes half torn from their backs.

The rioting continued until evening when squads of women attacked the residence of Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, of Winston Spencer Churchill, the home secretary, and of Lewis Harcourt, secretary of state for the colonies. Stones crashed through the windows of the houses. Sir Edward Grey's hearing the brunt of the attack.

One band led by Mr. Birrell strolling through St. James' park and swayed down upon the great statesman, knocking him over the legs. When they came and the women were driven off, Mr. Birrell limped to his motor car on the arm of a policeman. Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the suffragists, was among those taken to jail. Her sister, Mrs. Grant, denied admission, threw a missile through the jail window. She was also incarcerated. Miss Grace Johnson was the only American arrested. Miss Annie Martin of Nevada, who was taken to the police station on Friday and was released, was not among those arrested tonight.

Mr. Churchill addressed a big meeting this evening from which several men adherents of the women's cause were dragged out by the police. Mr. Churchill strongly defended the position of the government, contributing to the home rule cause. The cry of American dollars was likely to be used as a rator by the liberals, he said, since Waldorf Astor had announced that he would again be a candidate for the conservatives for Plymouth.

Patterson promises to be an interesting campaign ground. Sir John Harrington, who married the daughter of Senator McMillan, having the support of the conservative candidate to John Burns, president of the local government board.

The principal move of the day was Premier Asquith's attempt to pacify the laborites by promising to introduce legislation solving the difficult which has arisen on account of the Osborne judgment, which was that labor unions could not use their funds for the payment of their representatives in parliament.

The government proposed legislation giving to trades union the right to provide funds for use in parliamentary and municipal elections and for the support of labor's representation provided there was no compulsion on members of the unions to contribute such funds.

The labor party met tonight and declared the scheme "unacceptable." The United Irish League has issued a manifesto against the lords, calling for land reform and the house of lords' annulment.

"At the door of the house of lords," continues the manifesto, "lies mainly the guilt for all these laws for an increase in land rent and for the rejection of all measures for tenant relief, whereby the great famine and the great exodus were the plain and direct consequences and to every Irishman of this generation appeal the voice of a million of our people who died of hunger and five million driven to exile to disfigure the inhospitable land to which they owed their boundless suffering."

LABOR PROVISIONS ARE ADOPTED BY CONVENTION

Kinney Proposition as Accepted Will Prohibit Employment of Immigrants in Mines of Arizona.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 22.—Matters relating to the educational system of Arizona and affecting labor, occupied the attention of delegates to the constitutional convention today. A number of provisions which will benefit labor were adopted. Foremost among these are the compulsory compensation measure and that prohibiting and nullifying many contracts signed by any employee releasing a corporation from liability or responsibility for injury or death. There was also adopted the Cullen proposition for an employers' liability provision abrogating the common law of the "fellow servant" doctrine, and removing the limit for damages in case of injury or death and the Kinney anti-labor measure in an amended form.

The original Kinney proposition, which caused more widespread comment in the territory, especially in the mining camps, than any other measure, prohibited the employment of more than 20 per cent alien labor, or the employment under ground or other hazardous occupations, of persons not speaking the English language. In the amended form, the latter portion remains and it will virtually prohibit the employment of immigrants in mines. The other part was considered a violation of the fourteenth amendment of the federal constitution and was rejected. Much time was taken up in the discussion of the educational bill and because of the equal division in the convention no progress could be made on the disposition of the provision for the segregation of white and negro children. The article adopted at yesterday's session, which provides that at the second legislative constitutional amendments may be submitted to the people by a majority vote of the members elected to each half a dozen the votes taken, but when the body reconvened for the afternoon session, the segregation was finally defeated by a vote of 22 to 21. Chairman Moore, of the educational committee, warmly espoused the cause of segregation.

The present law, which remains effective, provides that school districts may segregate the white and colored children if it is desired in that district. After a long debate, the convention tonight adopted the educational qualification in the election law provision by a vote of 25 to 21. Only the demonstrators of the convention participated in the debate. Delegate Ingraham of Yuma voiced the warning that a republican senate would never place its approval upon a constitution which would for years preclude the election of a United States senator. His argument was that the measure would disfranchise hundreds of Mexican citizens, who invariably voted the republican ticket. The measure requires that all electors must be able to read the constitution in English.

MINERS ARE SAVED FROM FLAMES BY AIR SHAF

Men Caught in Fremont Property Near Canon City By Fire Are Hoisted to Surface One By One.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Canon City, Colo., Nov. 22.—Miners caught in the working of the Fremont mine of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, which took fire from an underground fire late this afternoon, are being hoisted to the surface one by one through an air shaft which offers the only way of escape from the burning mine.

More than 150 have reached the surface and mine officials declare that all but two of the men employed underground have been completely unharmed and are safe so far. It is hoped these two also are safe. The first has been driven to the main hoist shaft by ventilating air currents, and the main shaft is now burning fiercely. Many of the miners still under ground have located themselves in chambers where the air is used and will await rescue parties before attempting to reach the air shaft. The main passages are full of smoke and they were ordered to wait until the fan at the air shaft could clear the passages before attempting to escape.

The special train carrying the rescue cars of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company and the government will arrive about 11:30 tonight. As soon as the train arrives, trained rescue men with oxygen helmets will be sent down to rescue the imprisoned miners to the surface. As soon as all have been taken out, the ventilating currents will be shut off to stifle the fire, and neither men will be sent down to fight the flames.

THREE ENTOMBED MEN MAY NOT BE SAVED Florence, Colo., Nov. 22.—At 10 o'clock last night, a fire broke out in the Fremont mine, with the exception of three men, all of the 200 men in the mine at the time the fire broke out, had been rescued.

One of the men yet under ground is known to be in the engine room, but the other two have not been located. The three men, still in the opinion of those on the scene, will be suffocated, and it is feared that the three men will also perish, as smoke is pouring out of the mine shaft and it will be difficult, if not impossible, for even the best men to venture to rescue the three victims still within.

ANCIENT CITY DESERBED BY DELEGATES

CONVENTION MEMBERS LEAVE FOR THEIR HOMES

Tired, but Happy, the Framers of New Mexico's Organic Act Quit Santa Fe After Long Session.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal)

Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 22.—Today witnessed an exodus of the delegates to the constitutional convention, but it would be far from the truth to say that the old town was resoundingly normal air of quiet. The fact is that the ancient capital of New Mexico is no longer a sleepy city. Evidence of business activity there are on all sides, new business houses and old buildings are being rebuilt, in fact there are few towns in New Mexico that can boast of better conditions than the once moribund city of the holy faith.

It was a sleepy bunch of delegates that left the capital at daylight this morning, but it was a happy bunch. The hundred men who have just completed the task of framing the constitution of the state of New Mexico have labored long and earnestly, and there will probably be but a very small minority of the people of this territory who will question the assertion that they have done well. The failure to secure direct legislation is regarded as a misfortune by many of the members of both political faiths, but there are few among them who are not willing to admit that the constitution does contain in for the best interest of the people as a whole.

Even the most insistent of the advocates of direct legislation are disposed to be satisfied with the article adopted at yesterday's session, which provides that at the second legislative constitutional amendments may be submitted to the people by a majority vote of the members elected to each half a dozen the votes taken, but when the body reconvened for the afternoon session, the segregation was finally defeated by a vote of 22 to 21. Chairman Moore, of the educational committee, warmly espoused the cause of segregation.

The scene at the vote on the final adoption of the constitution last night was one that will be remembered by those who participated in it. The document, which comprises some twenty-three thousand words, was read by Delegate Stern, and while the clock in the convention hall stood at 5:20, it was in reality 4 a. m. when the work of reading was completed and the voting began.

A. C. Abeyta was the first name called. Mr. Abeyta voted yes. Aragon, Armijo, Bartlett, Becker, the call proceeded and in every case the answer was yes. Brice of Eddy was the next name called. Mr. Brice is a democrat and the first of that political faith to be called in the roll. The gentleman from Chaves arose and explained that while the constitution was a good one, and he believed its provisions just, they did not go far enough to secure the rights of the constituents of himself, he would vote no for the reason that he believed the question one that could be safely left to the people. The call of names proceeded, George S. Brown, Fred S. Brown, Burns, Burton, Canine, Cassidy, Catron, and all answered yes until Mr. Childers of Curry was reached. Mr. Childers was not satisfied with the constitution, neither did he believe it would be long in the hands of the people, for this reason he voted no. The next delegate reached was Compton of Roosevelt. Judge Compton did not agree with his neighbor from Curry, but he thought the constitution was one of the best ever written in any state and thought the people would ratify it by almost unanimous vote. He voted yes. Davidson Quay, the next democrat, had come from home, but the people of his county were dissatisfied with the work of the convention, but he wanted staided above anything else, and voted yes. Dougherty, of Socorro, also of the minority, and an acknowledged leader of his party, deplored the absence of direct legislation in the constitution, but believed that on the whole the instrument was a good one and that the people could support it. He voted yes. Kidood of the Arrahua, a life long democrat and territorial legislator, voted yes, and seemed to consider an explanation of his vote unnecessary.

Fall, of Otero, was the first republican to explain his vote. Judge Fall came to the convention to work for the initiative, but he also came to work for other things, and he was satisfied that much had been secured. He pointed to the creation of the corporation commission, which will keep corporation influence out of the legislature, to the preference law which will place in the hands of the people the power to annual and repeal vicious laws, a power which under the territorial government was vested in the congress of the United States. He pointed to the abolition of the inquisitorial system, to the effective judiciary and anti-pass law, and believed, while he had failed to get the initiative written into the constitution, he had secured all one man could reasonably hope to secure and for this reason he voted yes and pledged himself to work for the constitution at the polls, and would demand a bill of particulars from those who charged that even interests or any other interests were the interests of the whole people had dictated one word in the document.

Judge Fall's speech provoked a spirited rebuke from Mr. Ferguson who voted no. Mr. Ferguson declared war on the constitution, he stood on a platform of direct legislation and its absence from the constitution, he considered a sufficient reason for fighting it. But there were other and weighty reasons, the speaker held for fighting the constitution. He did not want to plunge the people of New Mexico into a state of political poeage, and denounced the work of his colleagues in the convention as a clever instrument designed to enslave the people to a soulless aggregation of money. Mr. Ferguson concluded by representing about all the honesty and integrity on the score of the convention.

Dr. Garrison of Dona Ana, a republican, had gained six of the eight points on which his platform pledged him. He had worked for all of the things to the best of his ability, and he deplored the absence of direct legislation, he thought he had done as well as many men who claimed more. There were some sixty points in the constitution which Dr. Garrison thought the people would approve. Judge Hartlee of Grant, and a democrat, voted no, but reserved the right to consider the question calmly and support the constitution if his conscience and judgment so dictated. Judge Hartlee, said Mr. Ferguson, did not question the motives of any of his fellow delegates, and for himself, was here with no desire save to work for the best interests of the people.

Raymundo Harrison, democrat of Guadalupe, voted yes, because he wanted the question to go before the people. Delegate Hall of Roosevelt, thought the people of New Mexico would ratify the constitution, nevertheless he voted no, as a matter of party principle. Delegate Hinkle of Chaves, while voting no because of his opposition to direct legislation, did not square with his platform pledges, announced his intention of voting and working for it at the polls. He reserved the right, however, to change his mind. Mr. Hinkle was elected on a prohibition platform. Mr. Hadspeeth of Lincoln was strongly opposed to the constitution. He stood strongly for direct legislation and could not conscientiously make an affirmative vote for the people which did not provide for that form of government. Delegate Mabry of Curry, another democrat, voted yes. Mr. Mabry did not agree with Judge Compton that the constitution was the best ever written, but he did believe the people of his county wanted it. He would go home and vote for it and advise his friends to do the same. He gave evidence of his sincerity by coming to the convention with honest intentions. Delegate Richardson of Chaves, was another of the democrats who voted yes. He was not altogether satisfied with the instrument and did not vote to support or oppose it, but nevertheless thought it should be allowed to go before the people to stand or fall on its merits. Delegate Tittman of Sierra, voted no. He did not disapprove of the constitution as far as it went, but it did not go far enough and in his estimation the omission of provision for direct legislation was fatal to a good constitution. Delegate Walton of Grant found himself in a delicate position. As a titular head of the democratic party in New Mexico, and in view of the fact that that party had not made a decision as to its attitude on the ratification of the constitution, he did not think it would be fair for him to vote for it. He therefore voted no, with the understanding that he was a private citizen, and would support the constitution or not as he saw fit.

When the result of the vote, which stood 78 yeas to 18 noes, was announced the convention was adjourned sine die, and a hearty good night was dispensed cheering and congratulating each other on the successful culmination of their labors.

GENERAL RATE ADVANCE NOT OPPOSED

EASTERN SHIPPERS CONTINUE TESTIMONY

Witnesses Say They Would Not Object If Proposed Increase on Eastern Roads Was Made Uniform.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Washington, Nov. 22.—Testimony initiated by George W. Perkins of J. P. Morgan & Co. the New York syndicate that is said to finance and control many railroads of the country, analytic exhortation of a crude manual and mechanical methods of railroad rates, and a drifting discussion of scientific principles of business featured today's freight rate increase hearing.

It was the second day of the shippers' argument before the interstate commerce commission on the revision of proposed advances in the tariffs on a great quantity of the traffic moving over the entire official classification territory. The railroads would like to put into operation advances in rates on freight the country over and in line with this view it was suggested that part of the policy was to commit the shipping interests to testimony that there would be no complaint if the advances were made uniformly throughout the United States. The trunk line presidents have claimed that the increases are vital to their corporations.

A delegation of officials from the Grand Rapids furniture industries in Michigan appeared at the hearing. While voicing opposition to the present eastern trunk line advance plan, they testified that they would have no complaint to make if the increases proposed were not confirmed to one section.

Then, through the prodding of Attorney Lyon of the commission, it was disclosed, and admitted by two of the men called by the shippers, that the appearance of themselves and the other Grand Rapids people representing many millions of dollars of investment was at the suggestion of one of the heads of the Morgan syndicate, who thought, as a matter of fairness, the shippers should express their views.

The testimony failed to show any suggestion from Mr. Perkins that the consumers should present their views, though it was intimated that if the railroads and shippers agreed as to the sweeping increases of freight of several thousand kinds, across the continent, with an aggregate addition of millions to the railroad earnings, the burden would rest upon the consumers.

President H. M. Towne, a manufacturer and head of the Merchants' association of New York, contended the railroads should first put their own house in order, as he expressed it, before they should install modern methods of business which was just as feasible with them as with other industries and that if scientific management could not produce economies to meet the revenue needs, then freight of several thousand kinds, across the continent, with an aggregate addition of millions to the railroad earnings, the burden would rest upon the consumers.

Commissioner J. M. Perkins, who presided over the hearing, said that the shippers had made out their case so far as the workings of the scientific system of the plants described were concerned, and that it was perfectly evident that if a system worked so well in one plant, it might be worked similarly in other plants. Attorney Brandeis for the Atlantic seaboard shippers, intended to introduce General Crozier of the army, and a navy expert and other witnesses along this line, but agreed to consolidate the testimony.

Mr. Walter L. Fisher, representing the National Wholesale Dry Goods Association, the Western Association of Shoe Wholesalers, and other industries, announced that he would produce one witness, a Mr. Tittman, a veteran railroad official. Mr. Tittman is expected to give testimony to combat the intentions of Vice President Thayer of the Pennsylvania railroad, that the increases were really an adjustment of class rates as between the Western and Eastern sections of the country, and that the class commodity rates having been increased.

RECEIVER IS ASKED FOR GERMAN NATIONAL

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Receivers for the German National Insurance company, reorganized from the German Mutual Benefit association, were asked today in the circuit court by Mrs. Catherine Rieckmann, a policyholder. She charges fraud in management and in the transfer of the assets of the old company to the new at the time of the reorganization.

Specifically, she avers in her plea, that the directors of the old company, confederated to appropriate the reserve and emergency funds of the company, and that to secure release by the 4,580 members, Wisconsin and Iowa, the directors suppressed the alleged fact that they were to be reimbursed on a different basis in the new company.

The bill further charges that since the organization of the new company it has refused to pay death claims of members of the old company, except when the beneficiaries have agreed to accept a fraction of the amount named in the original policy.

TWO CITIES PLEAD FOR ENDORSEMENT

San Francisco and New Orleans Present Claims Before Commercial Congress.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 22.—The struggle to obtain the Panama canal expedition was transferred this afternoon to the convention of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress, which is in session in this city. Governor Sanders of Louisiana urged the advantages of New Orleans, and Frank H. Gould, speaker of the California House of representatives, spoke in behalf of San Francisco. Governor Sanders insisted that New Orleans is the logical point, while Mr. Gould pointed out that San Francisco has $17,500,000 to expend on it and is asking no aid of congress. The resolution indicated that the congress is divided on the subject leading to its endorsement.

A. E. Derleque, representing the American Stock association of Denver, and Congressman W. P. Borland of Kansas City, representing the Fifth Missouri district, delivered addresses before the convention this afternoon. Mr. Derleque spoke on "Live Stock Transportation," and Mr. Borland on "Inland Waterways."

Arthur F. Harris, secretary of the congress, read his annual report which was adopted, after which standing committees were appointed.

CONSPIRACY CASE INVOLVES COAL PROPERTIES

Counsel for Vorhees Et Al Putting Up Strong Fight for Prominent Clients; Boy May Die From Runaway Accident.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal) Las Vegas, N. M., Nov. 22.—In the United States district court today, T. R. Catron of Santa Fe, attorney for A. C. Vorhees, indicted with others for a conspiracy to defraud the government on the demurrer. The jury was retired this morning in charge of the bailiffs while the argument proceeded. Mr. Catron is putting up a strong fight for his client, claiming the indictment was so faulty as not to furnish ground for holding Vorhees for trial.

District Attorney Leahy, in his argument, strongly opposed Mr. Catron's position. Should the judge rule against Vorhees, the trial will then proceed, and is expected to be a hard fought one.

The conspiracy case involves coal lands in Colfax county, which were filed upon five years ago.

The grand jury this morning returned four true bills, one of which was made public. Judge Roberts was wired from Santa Fe that he will be here Monday to preside at the November term of the San Miguel county district court. It is believed the grand jury will complete its labors and be discharged by tomorrow night and the court will have finished its work by Saturday.

Boy May Die From Injuries. A serious accident occurred in Las Vegas last night, when Orlando Rogers, aged 10 years, was thrown from a delivery wagon by a runaway horse and received injuries which may prove fatal. The lad was driving a delivery team belonging to R. L. Richmond, and the horses became frightened and ran west on Bridge street. When near the place the vehicle collided with another conveyance, driven by W. R. Hinesman. The collision upset the Richmond wagon, threw young Rogers to the ground, lighting on the back of his head. He was picked up and carried into the Red Cross drug store and a physician called. Later on he was taken home. At first it was believed that his skull was fractured and that he could not recover, but he is really easy today and hopes are held out by his physician for his ultimate recovery.

Mr. Otto Paul, Milwaukee, Wis., says Foley's Honey and Tar is still more than the best. He writes us, "All those that bought it think it is the best for coughs and colds they ever had and I think it is still more than the best. Our baby has a bad cold and it cured him in one day. was due there at 11 o'clock this morning, and officials say they do not know where the train is.

The railway, however, is not working. Residents of Eagle Pass who have relatives in Torreon and other points along the Mexican International line, have not been able to get word from them for three days.

Troop L, of the United States cavalry, and the command of Lieutenant Campbell, arrived in Eagle Pass at 6 o'clock this afternoon and is unloading at this writing.

A high Mexican official said today that in his opinion Gen. Diaz regime was over. In their efforts to secure the overthrow in Ciudad Portillo Diaz, the American, in business there, was required to report for duty and to head patrol. Upon explaining that he was not a soldier of Mexico, the request was withdrawn. Despite all this, he is being made to capture revolutionists, beyond bringing in a Mexican or two occasionally, and leading them in jail, the disturbers managed to escape.

The Mexican troops has just been ordered to Cuatro Ciénegas.

West Licaudales, a New Orleans business man, who arrived in Torreon, confirms the report of a clash between federal soldiers and revolutionists.

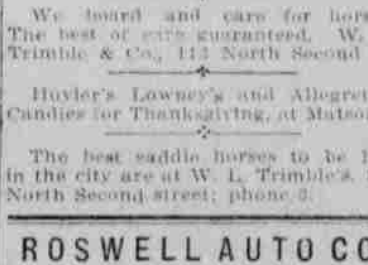

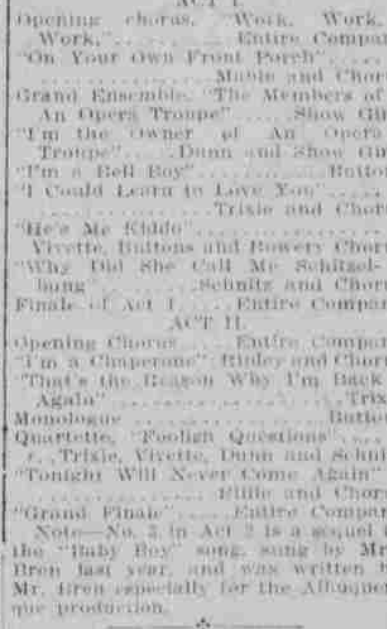

The government forces apparently were beaten and the rebels incited to further action. When he left Gomez Palacio and the rebels had not advised him where they had not ad-

The sale of Vaughn town lots at the corner of Second street and Central avenue yesterday and today shows the kind of enterprise on the part of the promoters that insures a bright future for the little city. Vaughn, three miles away, is the terminus of a fine wagon road, and the wagon shot hauled across one end to keep the snow out. Now it is a prosperous town of 2,000 people and growing rapidly. A third railroad from Laramie to Colorado will be built through Vaughn, which will be the division point. It is a sure thing that there will be a city east of the mountains between Glenside and the Rio Grande, and Vaughn, the crossing of the divide, is the best place to locate. It will in all probability be that place.

In the party are W. D. McElree, of Glenside, and O. Brown, of Vaughn, owners, and H. R. Herndon, also of Vaughn, H. Scott Knight, of Albuquerque, is conducting the sale.

THE GREAT RAILWAY CENTER Of NEW MEXICO

Reasons Why Vaughn Must Become the Great Railroad Center of New Mexico

First, it is centrally located, has an outlet to all points of the compass, and is bound to become a wholesale center and distributing point.

Second, there is no other town in New Mexico which has two trunk railways, and these are among the greatest in the United States.

Third, the character of the improvements put in by both lines of great railways is such as is not enjoyed by many cities of 50,000 inhabitants, and is a guarantee of the faith that the managers of the roads have in the location.

Fourth, the new Santa Fe line from Las Vegas to Roswell crosses here, the survey party being now (Nov. 21) in Vaughn. The division point of the new line is at Vaughn, and the Santa Fe is preparing to install a machine shop and repair plant there.

Fifth, the situation as regards the E. P. & S. W. division point at Vaughn is as follows: The divisions at present are: Tucumcari-Duran, 120 miles; Duran-Carrizozo, 70 miles. To remove the Duran division point to Vaughn would make the distances and operating cost as follows: Tucumcari-Vaughn, 100 miles; Vaughn-Carrizozo, 90 miles. The change will mean a saving of 40 operating miles to the E. P. & S. W., and their pipe-line constructed last year enables them to set their division point where they please. We believe that this division point will come to Vaughn.

WHAT WE HAVE

The Vaughn Improvement Company owns in fee simple the magnificent tract of land laid out as a townsite, located in the loop between the main lines of the Santa Fe and Rock Island railroads at Vaughn, N. M. Its location makes it easily accessible to both the Santa Fe and Rock Island depots. Business lots are 25x140, residence lots 50x140 feet. The business streets are 80 feet wide, except Grand Avenue, running through the center of the townsite from east to west, which is 100 feet wide. The townsite was virtually sold out, except residence lots in the East and West Additions, when title was obtained to the 40 acres adjoining on the north all the principal improvements of the Santa Fe railroad. This has been platted into business lots, and added to the Vaughn townsite under the name of the "Santa Fe Addition." It will be readily seen that this tract now being offered is absolutely the choicest business location of our great railway center, near the Santa Fe depot and division yards. The population of Vaughn is now near the 2,000 mark.

AS AN INVESTMENT

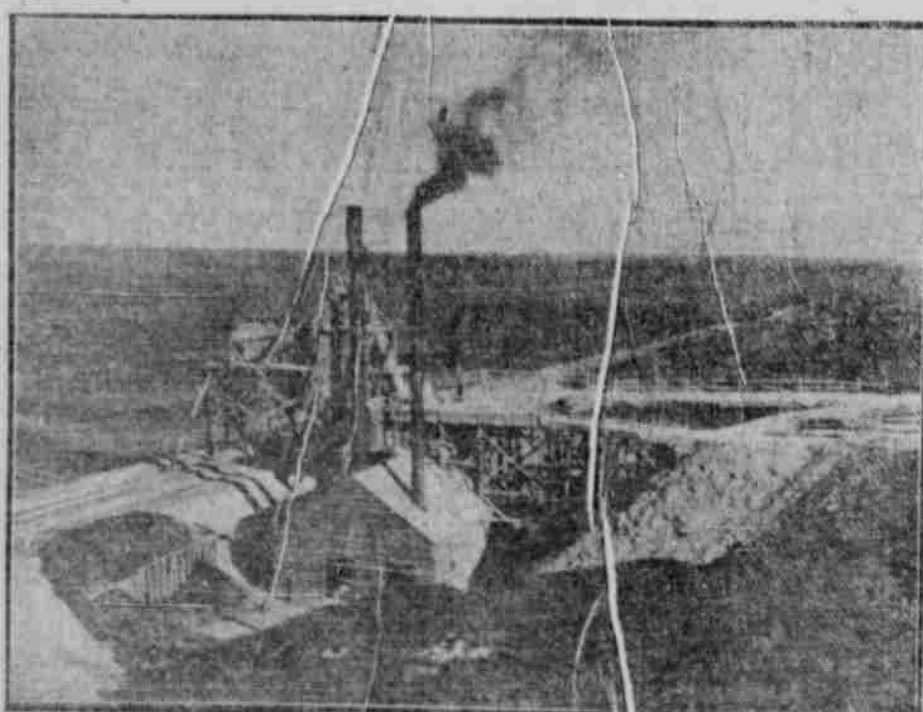

Money invested in the right thing at the right time always brings big results. In many instances it makes fortunes for the investor. Vaughn has distinctly made good so far; it may truthfully be said that there is not a single lot in Vaughn, previously sold under our auction plan, that is not worth at least twice to five times the amount paid for it. Since we made our sales the Santa Fe Railway has put on a full force of operatives at its division point here; we have a superintendent and a full force of dispatchers. The magnificent round house and Harvey House are in use now. All the above things, which were only in expectation on our former trips, have become realities. We hope for a Rock Island division point in the near future, as this is the only logical point for the division, and the land already deeded to the railroad company for trackage.

THE WATER SUPPLY FOR VAUGHN

The ditch for the E. P. & S. W. Railway Company's pipe-line, from Carrizozo, is finished past Vaughn, and the pipe-line, carrying by gravity the snow water of the Rio Bonito, has been in use almost a year. When granting the water right, the U. S. Department of the Interior expressly stipulated that the water was to be used for railroad and "domestic" purposes. The Santa Fe's pipe-line from Negra, 22 miles west, will soon be in operation. However, everybody has cisterns, which supply every need with the best and purest water in the world, and this has made it unnecessary to apply to the railroad company for water. Water for domestic purposes can be found at 200 to 400 feet. The heavy snowfall during the winters enables our farmers to plant crops early, and we look forward to most bountiful yields in every line. The country for miles around Vaughn is a rolling prairie. Nearby is found timber, which consists of cedar and scrub pine, or pinon. In almost any direction desirable land can be found, which can be taken for homes under the U. S. homestead law, where men can make for themselves and families a comfortable support, and after five years residence and cultivation (or 14 months by continuation) can secure patent from the government.

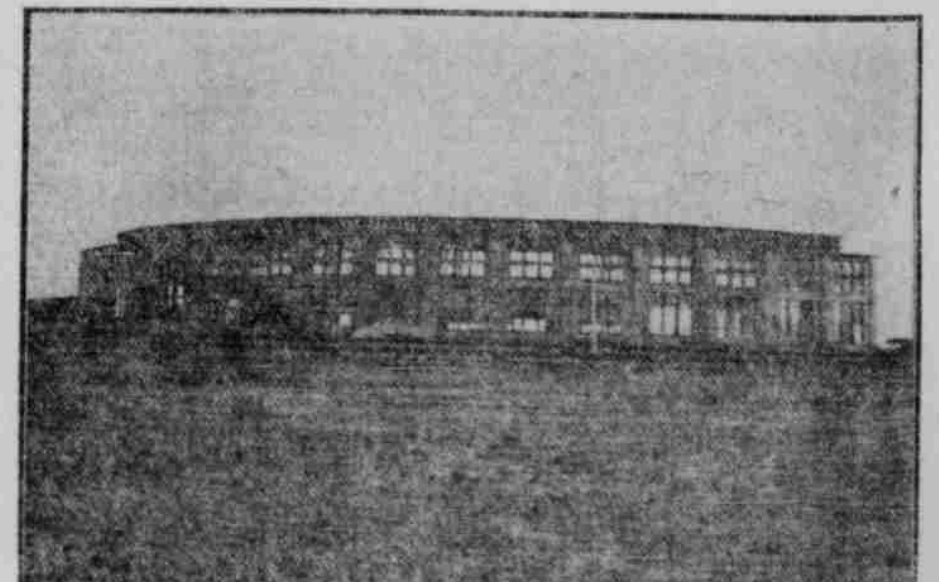

WHAT WE NEED

Wholesale Houses to make use of our splendid Railroad facilities. More Retail Stores—Dry Goods, Groceries, Hardware, Implements, Furniture, Lumber Yards, Hotels, Boarding Houses, Blacksmith Shops, Brick and Cement Workers. Labor of all kinds must find employment for a long time to come, at good wages, and every newcomer has a chance to file on a quarter section of the thousands of acres of Government land near Vaughn.

PRACTICAL PLAN TO RESTRICT THE SOLICITING

COMMITTEE REPORTS A SUPERVISION SCHEME

Club Secretary Authorized to Pass on All Schemes; New Mexico Annual Fair Subject of Interesting Discussion.

That all ticket selling, fund soliciting or advertising schemes in this city must require the written endorsement of the Commercial club secretary, was the recommendation made at the club meeting last night by the special committee appointed on this matter. The report met with the approval of the club and the plan, it is believed, will go far toward correcting the abuses to which this practice has been subjected. The report of the committee was as follows:
Albuquerque, N. M., Nov. 21, 1910.
We, the undersigned committee, appointed by the president of the Commercial club of Albuquerque, N. M., to formulate a plan to restrict the promiscuous soliciting of funds and ticket selling among the business men of our city, do hereby recommend:
That the secretary be appointed by the club to investigate and pass upon all ticket selling, soliciting of funds and advertising schemes with full power to give the party or parties applying to them the endorsement, in writing, of the club on propositions of this nature found to be worthy the patronage of the business men of this city.
We further recommend that the club furnish all members with cards to be put upon the walls and other conspicuous places of the business houses and offices of members of the club, the cards to read as follows:
This office will not recognize requests for donations, purchase of tickets, special advertisements, etc., unless solicitor presents the written endorsement of the Commercial club of Albuquerque.
We are confident that these recommendations, if adopted, will be a proper solution of policy No. 6, and that they will not work a hardship or interfere with any worthy project or institution in this city, and that they will benefit our business institutions.
The club meeting last night proved a highly interesting and profitable one. The New Mexico fair problem came in for a lengthy discussion on all sides and various matters of considerable importance were taken up, the attendance of members being large and representative.
The committee on the soliciting card consisted of Messrs. C. O. Cushman, C. A. Matson, Frank H. Strong, John Lee Clarke and Walter Jaffa.

Wise Talks by the Office Boy

I heard a sailor tell a story about a woman who fell overboard in mid-ocean and how a great shark came up and looked her over and went away. He said it was a "man-eating" shark. There are an awful lot of sharks in our kind of business, men who will tell you anything they think is necessary to clinch a sale. Our store is run on exactly the opposite line. You get the exact truth, without any tricks or arguments. No salesman is permitted to take any advantage of you or bully you into buying something you know you ought to pass up. Our attitude to every customer is: "Be kind and obliging, so he'll feel that he was never treated as well in any store before." Our prices are the same to one-time customers as they are to all-time customers. We don't give discounts or trading stamps or anything except honest value, but we give lots of that. Every article we sell is building over with value. No matter what you buy from us, compare it with the next best to be found in town at the same price. See the difference for yourself. Some of you folks may get the idea I'm talking a lot of hot air, that the other stores give as good values as we do. Put us to the test. Comparison is what built our business. We sell everything including shoes.

Just a word about advertising. Stores, like individuals, must vary in their viewpoint. So with their expressions—the manner in which they would impress their readers with the offerings in their advertisements. Sometimes genuine sincerity runs into enthusiasm which is exaggeration and overstatement. We censor our own advertising and strike out any suggestion of exaggeration. In offering anything to the shopping public, we keep well within the truth and a liberal margin for safety. It is our aim when those who have read our advertisements come to buy those items which have interested them, they should enjoy the full pleasure of finding all they expected. It would be greatly appreciated if, in any instance, you are disappointed, you would take the trouble to inform us.
