PIERO BATTLE REPORTED RAGING AT BORDER TOWN

El Paso, Texas, Dec. 1, 2 a. m.—A message from Presidio, Texas, this morning states that the town of Ojinaga, Mexico, across the river from Presidio, is being attacked by insurgents. Heavy firing can be heard in the Mexican town and the residents are crossing the river in a terror stricken condition. Deputy Collector Weisger, of the United States, is en route to Ojinaga, accompanied by a detachment of the United States army, to protect the customs house at Presidio. It is stated that the jefe politico at Ojinaga is arming and drafting all able-bodied men into service to protect the town. The postmaster at Presidio has been notified not to send mail, and the river is the exchange of mail has been ordered temporarily suspended. Presidio and Ojinaga are ports of call for the Rio Grande, and the customs houses are said to contain valuable property. Presidio is on the Rio Grande, 250 miles east of this city.

Chihuahua, Dec. 2.—The defeat of a detachment of government troops at Piedras on Tuesday is admitted by those in authority here. The government is without details of the fight, however, and reports brought in by passengers from the west vary and contradict each other to a great degree.

According to the most consistent information the government troops who met defeat were a band of 150 who left the train at San Andres nearly two weeks ago, when the coaches were attacked by revolutionists. They escaped at that time, and up to last Tuesday had been moving west, gaining food and water in precarious fashion.

Hunger, it is said, drove them to Piedras where insurgents were known to be. The revolutionists, by a long-range fire, drove them close to the town where the former attacked in force, firing from roofs and windows. The two officers at their head were killed and a number of soldiers reported anywhere from nine to twenty. Several prisoners were captured and are said to have followed the Latin-American custom of joining the enemy. Governor Sanchez explained to the Associated Press correspondent today that he had no reliable information from the officers he had without reliable advice. He understood, he said, that about fifty of the soldiers made good their retreat and were endeavoring to return to Chihuahua.

The governor confirmed the report that reinforcements are expected here daily to garrison the town while the force of 800 troops now here proceeds along the Mexican and North Western railway in an attempt to secure the disaffected district. He anticipates severe fighting of a guerrilla nature in the mountains.

Paine alarms of fighting within easy riding distance of here, have been frequently increasing among foreigners a feeling of pleasurable excitement rather than alarm. The foreigners would not be unduly frightened even if the city itself were taken. The revolutionists have given many assurances of their friendliness for that.

An example occurred today. A factory superintendent on the outskirts of the town telephoned in that he had been for some time moving around a distant hill. Two shots, possibly signals, he said, had been heard, and a detachment of soldiers were on their way out to meet the enemy.

It was the lunch hour, and most people waited to complete the meal before starting for the scene. Automobiles and cabs were called in regulation and a large number of persons took the five-mile trip. They found three miles grazing on a mountain side—nothing more. Such occurrences are growing more frequent, but each time the self-made revolutionists makes the trip hoping to have plenty of money. Business, they said, has been greatly depressed by the business and excitement of laborers. There is no truth in the report that mines in the Madera district are short of food. The mines in that section usually have a supply sixty days ahead of present needs.

A story of the situation comes from Madera. At that point a store owned by a German named Junk was entered by revolutionists recently. Two locks were broken and his stock of dynamite and caps taken. The next day a leader of the insurgents appeared with a list of the goods confiscated. It tallied exactly with one made up by the storekeeper. The insurgent produced a large roll of money from which he paid the usual price of goods. He then insisted on paying for the broken locks, explaining that he and his comrades had plenty of money.

The revolutionists are by no means solely of the poor class. In fact, the small ranch owner is said to be largely represented. The insurgent commander at San Andres is Francisco Valdez y Vasequez, a chemist and assayer of this city, who is also the author of a book on assaying. The usual trains now move on the railroad. They are scrutinized at various stations, but are otherwise unmolested. There is no truth in the report that the government of this state has been changed, or that a change is expected. The son of Enrique Creel, foreign minister, who was reported missing a week ago, has been heard from and is perfectly safe.

No demonstration was occasioned here by the inauguration of President Diaz at Mexico City.

REINFORCEMENTS ARRIVE TO GARRISON CHIHUAHUA

Chihuahua, Mexico, Dec. 3.—While the news commission was conferring with the revolutionists along the railroad line today, 800 troops under General Navarro, left here for the purpose of subduing the insurgents in the mountains adjacent. Reinforcements have arrived here from the City of Mexico to garrison this city.

The commission telegraphed today from San Andres that the members would proceed to Guerrero to treat with revolutionist bodies there. Unconfirmed reports have been received here that Guerrero had been attacked today.

The departure of troops on the heels of the commission is believed to indicate that that body carries a message more in the nature of an ultimatum than an olive branch. It is believed here that the proceedings will develop a battle by Monday or Tuesday.

DENIED GOVERNMENT IS TREATING WITH REBELS.

Mexico City, Dec. 3.—General Manuel Gonzalez Cosío, minister of war, denied knowledge of a commission named by President Diaz to treat with the revolutionists at San Andres as stated in a dispatch from Chihuahua. General Cosío said that any commission has been named for the nature alleged in the dispatch and much less that it has been sent to confer with the rebels under a flag of truce. He said that he has been sent to confer with the rebels under a flag of truce. He said that he has been sent to confer with the rebels under a flag of truce. He said that he has been sent to confer with the rebels under a flag of truce.

Washington, Mass., Dec. 3.—In a speech delivered here today at a special session of his three days' speaking tour of Cape Cod, Governor-elect Eugene N. He said his action in opposing the senator was based on the fact that he was without precedent, and he believed the success in this direction of Governor Hughes of New York.

LIFE IN PRISON FOR JOSEPH WENDLING

LOUISVILLE CHILD
SLAYER CONVICTED

Circumstantial Evidence Satisfies Jury of Guilt of Frenchman on Trial for Brutal Murder of Little Girl.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire]
Louisville, Ky., Dec. 3.—Joseph Wendling tonight was found guilty by a jury of the murder of eight-year-old Alma Kellner and his punishment fixed at life imprisonment. The jury was given the case at 6:30 o'clock this afternoon and announced the verdict at 10:30. Wendling was talking to his wife, Mrs. Madeline Wendling, when the verdict was announced. He remained perfectly calm.

"I either killed the little girl or I did not," said Wendling. "They should either send me to the electric chair or turn me free."

The verdict came after a day spent in argument by attorneys and the reading of instructions by Judge Gregory. Although there were four possible verdicts the jury might have returned under the instructions of the court, the verdict was merely "murder."

The evidence presented against Wendling was purely circumstantial. Since his arrest and throughout his trial he denied any knowledge of the fate of the Kellner child.

Witnesses testified, however, that Wendling, then janitor of St. John's Catholic church, was seen in the church the morning Alma Kellner went there to mass.

Alma Kellner was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kellner of this city and a niece of Frank Fehr, millionaire brewer, who spent much time and money in the search for the child and in the prosecution of Wendling.

Alma Kellner was last seen in St. John's Catholic church December 5, 1909, where she had gone for mass. When she failed to return home after several hours, her family became alarmed and notified the police. They first believed the child had been kidnapped and numerous rewards were offered for her return. On May 30th the mutilated body of a child was found in a cellar under the music room at St. John's Catholic church. The body was accepted by the Kellner family as that of their child.

Circumstantial evidence pointed to Joseph Wendling, former janitor of the church, who had disappeared on January 14, as the murderer. A search was started for him which led to New Orleans, through Texas, and finally to California where he was captured on June 30, the arrest being made in San Francisco.

Chief of Detectives Carney, of this city, who personally conducted the search for Wendling, had almost given up the hunt when he located Mrs. Cora Munro, a milliner at Huron, Mo. Wendling had known Mrs. Munro in Texas and had proposed marriage to her.

Mrs. Munro denied any knowledge of Wendling, but on his visit Captain Carney found a post-card from Wendling mailed to California. Carney telegraphed his information to the San Francisco police and the arrest followed.

Once back in Louisville, attorneys for Wendling, who is a Frenchman, attempted to have the case tried in the federal court and with six of his own countrymen on the jury. The federal court sent the case back to the state court.

The trial began Monday and has been one of the most celebrated held in this state.

STEAMFITTERS AND CARPENTERS ARE SUSPENDED

Organizations Expelled From Federation of Labor for Failing to Obey Orders of Superior Authority.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire]
St. Louis, Dec. 3.—The building trades department of the American Federation of Labor today suspended the International Association of Steam and Hot Water Fitters and Helpers, and the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America. The action was taken according to W. J. Spencer, secretary of the department.

Because the unions failed to obey what is known as the Tampa decision. James Kirby, president of the building trades department, is a member of the ousted carpenters, and it was that the suspension of the union he represents precludes all hope of his reelection on Monday.

The steam and hot water fitters were barred from membership because they persisted in doing work which the plumbers and gas fitters claimed as a part of their duties. The carpenters' suspension was caused by a protest of the sheet metal workers. The suspension by the department will prevent all local unions of the two trades from acting in all councils of the building trades department.

A system of universal working grade was adopted by the department.

CENSUS SHOWS 91,193,490 PEOPLE

UNCLE SAM'S FAMILY
SHOWS 20 PER CENT GAIN

Oklahoma and Idaho Lead in Growth of Population While
Iowa Is Only State to Show Decrease.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire]
Washington, Dec. 3.—The population of the United States should be 91,193,490 if the rate of increase shown by states on which complete returns have been received and tabulated by the census office, is maintained.

Counting New Mexico and Arizona for political present purposes as states, the full returns of the enumeration have been tabulated for 32 out of the 48 and the District of Columbia. They show a grand total of 86,555,178, an increase of 25,289,636 for the same area in 1900.

There is a gain of 20 per cent over the 75,994,575 indicated by the census of 1900. A corresponding increase for the sixteen remaining states would bring the figure for the entire country up to the number stated.

The states not yet announced are: Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Montana, New Jersey, North Dakota, North Carolina, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Of these, it is expected that Texas and Washington will show very large increases.

Georgia, New Jersey, Montana, Utah, Wyoming and the Dakotas will go beyond the average, so that there is little doubt that the exact grand total will be even more than the present tabulation indicates.

It would not be surprising if the aggregate would be almost 91,500,000, a million and a half more than has been generally estimated.

The aggregate increase in the thirty-three grand divisions accounted for is 11,555,542. Oklahoma, with 199.7 per cent and Idaho, with 101.3 per cent, are the only states whose increases have run over 100 per cent, and Iowa is the only one which has shown a decrease.

LAWYERS WRANGLE OVER LIFE OF YOUNG GIRL

Prosecution Seeks to Show That Hattie Le Blanc Denied in English the Charge of Murdering Her Employer.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire]
Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 3.—The feature of the single session today of the trial of Hattie Le Blanc, the French-Canadian girl of 17 years, who is on trial for the murder of Clarence B. Glover, a Waltham laundry proprietor, a year ago, was an animated legal controversy between District Attorney John J. Higgins, the chief prosecuting officer, and Melvin M. Johnson, chief counsel for the accused girl.

The contest was over the admission of evidence which is considered of extreme importance to the prosecution. This evidence concerns the statements alleged to have been made by Hattie Le Blanc in the Waltham police station immediately after she was discovered hiding under a bed in the Glover home on the night following the murder.

The argument between counsel was precipitated when one of the witnesses, Samuel B. Elmore, Mrs. Glover's attorney, was on the witness stand and was questioned as to what Hattie said at the police station.

It transpired that Hattie was asked the direct question: "Did you shoot Mr. Glover?" "No," replied the girl in English. She also said, "I had no revolver to kill with."

This was brought out during the arguments before Judge Bond and the jury did not hear the evidence. Mr. Johnson objected to the introduction of the question and answers bearing on these statements on the ground that his client did not understand English at that time and that whatever she said was said through an interpreter. This interpreter is now in Canada and has refused to come to Massachusetts to testify in the case.

The district attorney maintained that the prisoner understood English at the time of her arrest and to support his contention he introduced Sheriff Fairbanks, who has had charge of the prisoner for more than a year and Dr. Citty, the jail physician, who also has had conversations with the girl.

The district attorney also asked for a writ of habeas corpus for the appearance in court of Mrs. Elmore, a convicted murderess who is serving a life sentence in the Cambridge jail and the district attorney wishes to show through her testimony that the defendant could speak and understand the English language.

Judge Bond announced that he would render his ruling on the question of admitting the evidence on Monday to which date he ordered court adjourned.

OLIVE BRANCH HELD OUT TO INSURGENTS

TAFT SUMMONS LEADERS TO WHITE HOUSE CONCLAVE

Cummins Holds Out Little Hope of Agreement and Declares
Progressive Program Will Be Pushed.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire]
Washington, Dec. 3.—In what was said to be an initial effort to bring about a semblance of harmony in the divided republican forces of the United States senate, President Taft invited several regular and progressive leaders to the White House today.

The presence of the regulars who dropped in singly and in pairs attracted little attention. But political Washington began to sit up and take notice when Senator Cummins of Iowa, the recognized leader of the insurgent's wing in the senate, arrived.

He was quickly followed by Senator William A. Borah, of Idaho, progressive. Later came the information that Senator Bristow of Kansas had been invited, but had failed to put in an appearance.

The president did not attempt to bring the senate leaders together in one big conference. There were two in his private office at one time. He saw Senators Cummins and Borah together and then had a private word with each alone.

In insurgent circles it was said the preliminary conference with the president had given no definite promise of success.

The president was reported as conciliatory and is said to have declared he was anxious to do all in his power to bring about unity of action in the senate.

A leading member of the progressive wing in the senate was asked for an expression as to the outlook for bringing the regulars and insurgents together.

He shook his head.

"Such a thing is possible," he declared, "but it certainly is not probable."

This opinion was echoed by others. At the White House it was not admitted that President Taft was making a special effort to bring the insurgents and progressives into line. It was declared with a great deal of emphasis that Messrs. Cummins, Borah and Bristow had been invited to call only as a part of the president's plan to consult as many as possible of the senators and congressmen regarding recommendations in his message and the legislative program for the coming session.

It was pointed out that the president had consulted with Senators Lodge of Massachusetts; Root of New York; Nelson of Minnesota; McCummers of North Dakota; Curtis of Kansas; Smoot of Utah, and representatives from various sections of the country. It also was said that several of the house insurgents were to be invited to conference next week.

Senator Cummins' call was the first he made in a year. He made no effort to conceal that his visit was due entirely to the president's invitation.

As he was departing with a copy of the president's message in his hands the senator remarked upon the fact that it had been a long time since he had visited the executive offices.

"But you probably will come oftener in the future," was suggested.

"I wouldn't predict that too strongly," he said. "I am always glad to come, however."

"Your conference with the president was a pleasant one?" he was asked.

"This conference with you gentlemen is very pleasant," the senator replied.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire]
Washington, Dec. 3.—Major General Wesley Merritt, U. S. A., retired, died today at Natural Bridge, Virginia. General Merritt was a resident of the District of Columbia at the time of his death.

It was announced at the war department tonight that pursuant to the last request of General Merritt, the body will be buried on the military reservation at West Point and the entire strength of the cadets there will act as escort to the grave. Secretary Dickinson has issued the necessary instructions.

General Merritt was the military commander in charge of the first detachment of United States troops who landed on the Philippine islands and the land operations against Manila were conducted under his direction.

He was born in New York June 18, 1834, and appointed to the military academy from Illinois in 1855, graduating and becoming a brevet lieutenant in the Second dragoons July 1, 1860. He served throughout the Civil war with great distinction. He was retired from active service in 1890.

uncovered and said good bye, declaring he could not discuss his visit. Senator Borah said he would have a further conference with the president next week. He had little to say.

Reports of the conference spread quickly through the city, however, and it became known that the president practically had offered the olive branch to that progressive with many of whom he had not been on the most cordial terms.

The insurgents of both houses probably will hold a caucus before a conference on any course of action. Their tone tonight was hardly conciliatory.

"The fact that this is the short session of congress, with the time for legislative action limited, will not prevent the bringing of important legislative proposals to the attention of the country and congress," said Senator Cummins shortly after leaving the White House.

The senator gave the first outline of a program that is to be followed after further consideration of a tariff law by the so-called progressives in the session that opens Monday. It is the plan of these members to urge the further consideration of a tariff law similar to that embodied in the Beveridge bill and to draw attention again to measures for further control of common carriers.

"It is not probable that any measure of first importance can be passed by congress at this season," said Senator Cummins. "Those of us who are known as progressives will stand firmly, however, for the consideration of a tariff commission bill and the enactment of legislation that places the tariff commission upon what we term a satisfactory basis."

"We will urge the adoption of a resolution for the election of senators by direct vote, and also the passage of a measure providing for the valuation of the physical property of railroads and common carriers and an inquiry into the investment represented in the properties of common carriers. We also will urge the enactment of a law to limit the issuance of stocks and bonds of common carriers."

"It is unlikely that many of these measures will make their progress at this season, but a little consideration given them will be so much gained. There will be less work to do at another time."

The senator made it clear that the aggressive senators will not await the report of President Taft's railway securities commission before urging another bill for the control of the issuing of railroad stocks and bonds.

TRAPPERS SLAIN BY INDIANS IN FAR NORTH

Fairbanks, Alaska, Dec. 3.—Indians in the Mount McKinley district, 125 miles from Fairbanks, are reported to have killed six white trappers. The information was brought here by John McLeod, a trapper, who said he and his party, only four, had been driven from the extermination of game.

Mrs. T. P. O'Connor Arrives.

New York, Dec. 3.—Mrs. T. P. O'Connor, the American wife of the Irish senator, arrived here today by the steamer Minneapolis to write a book about Americans and the country they live in. Mrs. O'Connor, though born in Texas, has lived in England for the last twenty-six years.

The main work of our staff had been divided into three main parts, he said, requiring three sets of investigators of different types. The first part is the collection of facts regarding each of the various industries, the character and localization of its production at home and abroad, statistics of output, imports and exports, rates of duty reduced to ad valorem terms, and the like.

The second part of the work is the collection of data regarding costs of production at the mill. The third consists of obtaining information from the best experts available regarding home and foreign prices, local variations in each industry, and the general conditions of competition at home and abroad.

The first part of the work, he said, can be pushed rapidly, but the second part, and to some extent, the third, must be concentrated for the time being on a few main lines of inquiry, and carried out with caution.

The speaker mentioned the different groups of investigators in each field and referred to the fact that experts on cost accounts would in a few weeks have the actual conversion costs at the mill of every leading pulp and paper plant in the country, and would then be ready to take up at once the next schedule.

"You can appreciate the necessity we are under of concentrating our chief efforts on a few main lines," said Mr. Emery. "Naturally, everyone who has some personal grievance, thinks his particular schedule is the one that needs immediate revision, but we have had a vast amount of earnest and public spirited advice as to what we ought to take up first and exactly when we ought to have the work completed."

Whether or not, we decided to concentrate for the moment on schedule K (wood and iron), and schedule C (farm products). Preliminary work is being done on schedule A (chemicals); schedule G (metals and manufacturers of) and schedule I (cottons). And the more detailed work on these will begin as soon as possible.

"Furthermore, we are obtaining many special reports from technical experts, both at home and abroad, covering a wide range of articles in other schedules which will lay the basis for more detailed investigation."

"At the moment, besides the members of the board, the statistician and the strictly administrative force, we have four chiefs of investigation, eight trained investigators employed on the first part of the work and about an equal number of clerks to assist them, about a dozen consulting or technical experts, and a part of the time to the third part of the work or to reports on special topics, and twelve men in the field getting actual cost figures from the books of individual producers."

"There has been," said Mr. Emery, "much misunderstanding about hearings before the board, and many manufacturers have wondered how we can be investigating their schedules without consulting them. The answer is that we consider it waste of time for all parties concerned to have them appear before us in formal hearings till we have first made a thorough study of the industry and know just what we are after. When this has been done we shall invite the testimony of all interested parties. We shall by our results openly on the table for any one to criticize, amend or disprove."

The speaker then urged strongly the necessity for maintaining a sane sense of proportion regarding the influence, whether for good or evil, of tariffs and of tariff investigations. "Just as there are some who give practically all the credit for prosperity to tariff making, there are others who give it to the tariff making. A flight from Memphis to New Orleans at the conclusion of the local meeting is being planned.

ity to the tariff, and others who think the tariff the cause of most misfortune," he said, "there are those who think an impartial investigation of the tariff is a measure to all business and others who think that such an investigation will, by some magic process, at once make every man's income adequate for his expenditure and solve the long-standing problem of making both ends meet."

Many economic theorists have attempted to find the philosopher's stone by means of which prices could be made high to all who wish them high, and low to all who wish them low. It would be a fine thing if the farmer could always get two dollars a bushel for his wheat, and the working man pay only a dollar a barrel for his flour. Many people are inclined to hold a government responsible which does not accomplish such feats of alchemy, and the work of any government agency is greatly hampered by the absence of a sane understanding of what it can, and what it cannot do.

Mr. Emery showed the difference between European and American methods of tariff making and pointed out that the reason why such elaborate investigations had not been necessary abroad was because in those countries there were bodies of government officials of a permanent non-partisan character who have devoted themselves solely to the study of those questions for a quarter of a century.

"The tariff question is one of business and not of mathematics," said Mr. Emery. "The problem of how far an industry needs protection to keep it in sound condition, and what the effect of its decay would be, cannot be settled by any algebraic formula. None the less such material, when directed by impartial men of common sense who know the conditions of competition in each industry, and checked by the knowledge of those who have followed an industry for a lifetime, will furnish a body of knowledge on which tariffs can be made which will have the full confidence of fair-minded men."

Mr. Emery spoke of the great difficulties involved, especially in getting accurate cost figures, in view of the fact that in many lines the manufacturer has cut himself out of the picture, and also in view of the fact that figures of relative cost were not in themselves an adequate basis for tariff judgments. He frankly admitted that in the case of some of the tariff schedules, the tariff was either impossible or unnecessary to attempt such calculations.

Discussing the existing powers of the tariff board to secure information Mr. Emery stated that the tariff board has the power to call for books and examine witnesses under oath, and that it has the power to call for books and examine witnesses under oath, and that it has the power to call for books and examine witnesses under oath.

On the question as to what use would be made of such findings, Mr. Emery said that, whether the tariff board reports to the president or to congress, the influence of its investigation into facts would come from the influence of unbiased and unimpaired truth in making their effective. "These," he said, "are the only facts that will be of any use. The tariff board should be able to get the truth, and the tariff board should be able to get the truth."

Chairman Emery concluded by summarizing the various different methods of tariff making, and pointing out that the tariff board should be able to get the truth, and the tariff board should be able to get the truth.

NO EDUCATIONAL QUALIFICATION IN ARIZONA

Convention Decides Not to Rush Constitution By Attempt to Disfranchise Spanish Speaking Voters.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 3.—The educational qualification for voters, which it has been freely predicted, would cause congress to reject Arizona's constitution, was stricken from that document today after a lively fight.

The progressive democrats divided on the question, advocating the qualification that all voters be able to read, and the debate was heated. The provision was moved under today by a vote of 10 to 14, and the amendments providing qualifications of future voters were also defeated.

Delegate Connolly, almost succeeded in getting through an amendment to the constitution which would have given a general franchise to voters. His amendment actually passed, but as soon as the convention realized the effect of the amendment, the ball was thrown in to nullify the measure, coming up immediately for final passage, was voted down.

Final passage was effected today of the constitution system with its restriction of the provision that only taxpayers shall vote at bond elections, the corporation regulation measure with an amendment imposing an annual tax of $10 on all foreign and domestic corporations, and that prohibiting labor contracts which waive the right to damages from injuries or death.

The tax placed upon corporations, it is estimated, will cover the cost of the salaries of all state officers as well as disbursements of the state. The measure was passed by a vote of 10 to 14, and the amendments providing qualifications of future voters were also defeated.

On the question as to what use would be made of such findings, Mr. Emery said that, whether the tariff board reports to the president or to congress, the influence of its investigation into facts would come from the influence of unbiased and unimpaired truth in making their effective.

EPIDEMIC OF BANK ROBBERIES IN TWO STATES

Money Vaults Looted by Daring Bands of Thieves Who Successfully Elude Pursuers.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Kansas City, Dec. 3.—Two gangs of bank robbers who have successfully looted money vaults in northern Kansas and southern Nebraska, and then in automobiles eluded the officers, seem to have been responsible for blowings safe early today at Inavale, Neb., and Hanover, Kan.

While the gang was working along the Nebraska-Kansas line, another attempt to rob the Stark state bank at Stark, a mining camp in southeastern Kansas. At this place the safe blowers were frightened away after having pushed a charge of dynamite in the vault door.

At Hanover a motor car carrying five passengers was seen early today, and within thirty minutes the vault of the First State bank there had been robbed of $13,500.

A car carrying officers started in pursuit of the fugitives.

During the last few months the banks of several small towns around Hastings, Neb., have been robbed, and in nearly every case the robbers have escaped in automobiles.

CLOSE VOTE IN ELECTION FOR PARLIAMENT

FOES OF GOVERNMENT GAIN THREE SEATS

Result so Far Shows Plurality of One for British Administration; Both Sides Disappointed With Showing.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) London, Dec. 3.—Including those unopposed, 125 members had been elected to the new parliament at the close of today's poll.

The Standing of the Parties. Government coalition: Liberals, 51; Labor, 7; Irish nationalists, 2. Total, 60.

Opposition: Unionists, 82. The unionists gained seven seats, six from the Liberals, Stafford (south), Ashton-under-Lyne, Warrington, Darlington, King's Lynn, and Grimsby, and one from the Labor party (Wigan).

The Liberals won four seats from the unionists, Manchester (southwest), Rochester, and the Peckham division of Lambeth and Epsom. So that the gain of the unionists is three seats net. This result is not quite up to the expectations of the unionists, but at that if the current continues to run in their favor, the government would be placed in a very awkward position, and in all probability would resign.

Neither party received the lead from London and Manchester that it desired, although on the whole the government came off the best, since it succeeded in holding the northwest division of Manchester against A. Bonar Law, one of the chief exponents of tariff reform, who was greatly assisted in his campaign by Mr. Balfour's pledge to submit the question of protection to a referendum.

The unionists reported the return of a majority of unionist free traders, of which there are many in Manchester, to the unionist party. In London the Liberals held their own and a little more.

Captain Norton, Dr. T. J. Macnamara, and C. F. G. Masterman, junior members of the government, all held their seats and helped to win Peckham. In addition, the Liberals held Haggerston, the Right Hon. Augustus Birtrell, chief secretary for Ireland, and the Right Hon. J. E. Hothhouse, financial secretary to the treasury, maintained their own position in Bristol, but were unable to improve conditions for liberalism.

On the whole, there is an extraordinary similarity in the majority as compared with the election in January, though fewer persons voted.

The weather was very cold and wet, which militated against a large vote. A few hardy enthusiasts gathered in Fleet street, but the downpour of rain drove them to the shelter of the music hall where the returns were shown on screens.

At a late hour the result in Epsom showed an unexpected Liberal gain. H. St. Maur being elected over the unionist, Hedlake.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Houston, Texas, Dec. 3.—Miss Bertha Woodworth, daughter of W. W. Woodworth, a prominent member of the Texas Oil company, was attacked by Lloyd H. Shaffer at her home here early today and it is believed received fatal wounds.

Shaffer used a razor and afterward slashed himself, probably fatally.

It is reported that the couple had been engaged to be married but Miss Woodworth had recently broken the engagement.

The young woman and her mother were startled by the sudden appearance of Shaffer with a razor in his hand. He calmly announced he had come to kill Miss Woodworth.

The women fled to the second story porch, Shaffer pursuing her. On the edge Miss Woodworth leaped to the ground, Shaffer following her, slashing her throat.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) New York, Dec. 3.—Wilbur Wright, who arrived here tonight, gave his first account of the cause which he believes led to the death of Ralph Johnston, who fell 800 feet to his death at Denver on November 17.

Johnston was a Wright relative. "I thought it all out," said Wilbur Wright. "Hitherto I have expressed my opinion, because I wanted to analyze the probabilities. The day before Johnston started for Denver, I said to him, 'Ralph, you must be serious trouble. You took unnecessary risks at Boston and at Belmont and against definite orders, and it must stop.'"

"On the day he was killed, he was doing all right. On the day before, though, he had discovered a standing order to land at the Wrights' instead of at the hotel. The result was that he ran into a fence and broke a wing. I think there must have been some fault in the wing which failed him the next day when he was killed."

WATERAPPLICATIONS ARE REJECTED BY SULLIVAN

Most of the Rejections Are to Pave the Way for Ratification of Applications by the Same Parties Later.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal) Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 3.—Territorial Engineer Vernon L. Sullivan today rejected many water rights applications, but in most of the cases the rejection is a matter of form to clear the way for the ratification of applications by the same parties or for similar purposes. Pointer et al., of Liberty, San Juan county, for failure to complete, Nos. 22 and 237, the Glen Farm company, for power and irrigation, because the 500-foot dam proposed is impractical and another application is pending for a more feasible project, No. 481, Hardwick and Highsmith, rejected, because of supreme court ruling that seepage water is not subject to appropriation.

The last advice from the isthmus regarding the movement was that about 100 of the boilermakers had not struck, but had quit work and were departing for the United States because their demand for increased wages had not been granted at once.

No effort was made to keep these men in the government employ.

LITTLE CHILD COMES TO LIFE IN COFFIN

New York, Dec. 3.—Just as the undertaker put out his hands to lift the body of three-year-old Lillian Vland today to prepare her for burial, the child sat bolt upright in her winding sheet, opened her eyes and cried: "Mamma, I want my mamma, I'm cold."

A doctor was brought and said he believed the child's life had come back permanently. The girl had been in the coffin about 15 minutes. This afternoon she stiffened and it was believed she was dead.

The Efficacy of Tact

There's one tiny word in the modern vocabulary containing in its four letters the secret of social success, and other secrets, too. What subtle essence of personality wins this girl more friends than that one? Is it because she is so bewitchingly dark? Mercy me, many prefer blondes, so that cannot be the reason. Down on the corner lives a girl attracting all ways a boy of masculinity, yet she isn't pretty, not brilliant (that's what all the girls will tell you) while just around the corner dwells there still another girl. Quite a beauty, too, but somehow a "rose left blooming alone."

And the eternal question, why, oh why? It's tact. A serious young man full of kindly sentiment was left alone with a young woman who can always think of something to say. "At last," said the young woman, by way of making small talk, "I know what's the matter with me; science has made the discovery."

"Yes," encouraged the young man. "You worry too much, and worry, especially worry about the same thing, destroys the brain cells. This is a scientific fact, just made known. The constant worry on the same subject acts like the constant tapping of a hammer on the same group of brain cells, and you know that we learned at school how 'little drops of water, etc.' This is the reason scientists say that worry sometimes kills."

"Ah, yes; too bad," said he vaguely. "But why do you worry?" "Just because I can't help it, I'm so unhappy."

"But why? What do you worry about?" with true masculine perseverance.

"Because—because I'm not beautiful. And she turned expectant eyes on him. "Oh," comforted the young man kindly. "I wouldn't do that. You wouldn't feel so badly about it. You know the old saying, beauty's only skin deep."

A beautiful girl without a doubt. The music seemed waiting one into a maze of movement and happiness. She was envied by the other girls because her escort was so good looking and such a dandy dancer. She should have been superbly glad, but that horrid dressmaker had botched her gown. It didn't fit in the back, and she had to tuck it in places and she felt confident pink wasn't her color anyhow. Then, girl fashion, she confided to another girl her disappointment over her gown and how the ball was spoiled since she was sick over the fit and hang of her dress.

"Why you poor thing," said she to whom the dire troubles were confidentially told. "It's a beastly shame. You do look worried, and so pale. Well, the way that gown fits is the best I've seen. It's a cinch I'll have a right to pass on the constitution as a model."

There's a woman in this town whose name appears often on this page who has a fondness for Navajo blankets, which fortunately her pocketbook enables her to gratify. The other day a lady went to call. "O you have so many blankets!" she smiled with a hint of interrogation in her voice. "Do you know I don't care for them at all. Of course they are expensive and pretty in a barbaric fashion, but they don't appeal to me at all. It's my aesthetic sense, 'I put mine,' she loftily finished, 'on the top floor in my husband's den, where no one goes but the men in search of a quiet game of cards or a smoke.'

It is requested that all items for the society department be in not later than noon on Saturday.

that set (with emphasis on the that). "Isn't it surprising?" "Not at all."

"Well, I seem to me— (of course not) "Do you think?" "No, I don't."

"Etc., etc., and then some."

That is how society spent the week.

Oberammergau Passion Play

More than a passing show of interest is being manifested in the production next Sunday evening of the Oberammergau Passion Play at Elks' theater.

That the affair is to be for the benefit of St. Joseph's hospital, an institution reflecting credit and honor on the city, argues for a large crowd. Besides, the fame of Father Riley as an orator has spread and few will miss the opportunity of hearing him explain the wonderful presentation of the scenes which in reality attracts people from all over the world. He will vividly depict the surroundings of the little Bavarian village and dwell at length on the customs and characteristics of the people. At the end he eulogizes the American flag, placing it only second to the cross of Calvary. Those who have heard Father Riley can well imagine the eloquence with which he will present this bit of oratory. He has a wonderful command of language, teeming with beautiful thought and poetic idealization of the commonplace. His voice is magnificent and carries sonorously and he seems in his portrayal of scenes and words as much actor as orator. Father Riley is one of the orators who can hold his audience in tense silence and expectation and his vivid impressionistic style cannot but please.

Rev. Dr. Riley is a writer of note, though his writings appear under a pseudonym, and he is often called the "poet priest." It's an opportunity for Albuquerqueans that they cannot afford to miss and it's likely a crowd of house will hear the gifted orator. A small part of the affair is the social concert which is to be furnished by the best musical talent of the city. The program will be rendered by Mrs. Charles A. Frank, soprano; Mrs. Roy McDonald, soprano; Mrs. S. B. Miller, contralto; Mrs. John Dolan, alto; Mrs. Robert Smart, alto; Mr. Robert Smart, tenor; Mr. Charles Milholland, (Baltimore, Md.) basso; Mr. H. G. Ballard, baritone; Mr. Charles Andrews, tenor; accompanists, Mrs. Frank Kurzman, pianist; Mr. John D. Clark, violinist, with the Cavanaugh-Fuhrmeyer select orchestra of ten pieces.

Dance for Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bren

There was a delightfully informal dance last evening in the Elks lodge rooms under the auspices of the dance for Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bren, who are spending today in the city. The music was exceptionally good and everyone seemed in happiest mood and inclined to show Mr. and Mrs. Bren appreciation of their efforts in making the annual show such a success and they are held in high regard by the entire ones of Albuquerque. Quite a number of Elks and their "dears" attended.

Word received yesterday from Santa Fe was to the effect that "The Inside Inn," presented at the Capital city Friday evening scored a big success. The theater was sold out by early afternoon of that day and standing room was at a premium. The communication further stated that Mrs. John Colbert of this city, who played the part of Vivette, the erstwhile Boverly Girl, in Albuquerque, with such huge success, had scored another hit in the part at Santa Fe. George Rankin also took of this Santa Fe production and with the same success achieved in the local performance. The other parts were splendidly taken by Santa Fe people. Ernest Landolf, one of the headliners in the local production, went to Santa Fe to see the "Inside Inn" as presented in that city.

Monday Club

The Monday Afternoon club, which is one of recent organization, devoted to the study of card playing, and not one of dilly-dallying intention at first, has this evening, not in usual solemnity, but in a jolly little club and the sessions are not partaking of any Blue Monday sentiment, which probably doesn't exist except in the minds of some. Say those devoted to labor's career.

Miss Knight was hostess at the George Campbell home where she resides and the afternoon was considered the "good time" point of view, a huge success. There was a dainty bite to eat, so called, really several times several bites which is as much a part of a party as the guests.

Mrs. Rogers is to do the honors for the club tomorrow at her new home on North Fourth street.

For an Out-of-Town Guest

Mrs. Bert German, 324 S. Edith, was a delightful hostess for the week for her niece, Edna Carter, of Chicago, who has recently attained to the wisdom and discretion of thirty years. The gifts received were no small part of the pleasant social event and the games were followed by a supper which was decidedly the best part of the proceedings. Decorations were of red carnations in abundance, used effectively with smilax. The guests were Marion Hopewell, Hazel Carnes, Irene Miller, Florence Miller, Dorothy Birdsall, Louise Schroder, Mildred Thorpe, Mal-

Lower Five Hundred

Quite a fancy card party of the week was given by Mrs. C. E. Lowber, Wednesday afternoon, at her pretty Highlands home, at 119 South High street. The progressive five hundred game, played at nine tables, in the final score won Mrs. J. F. Luthy the prize which was an exquisite Japanese tea tray. The house decorations were beautiful in the extreme, consisting of English ivy used throughout the whole interior in lavish profusion, the greenery contrasting effectively with great clusters of roses.

Card Party

Another small affair though partaking of the joy of "getting together of a congenial few" was given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. S. T. Cann. Five hundred was the amusement feature and Miss Jo Campbell proved the lucky player, capturing the first prize, a dainty hat pin holder, while the consolation went to Eugenia Kehler. A delicious and varied course luncheon with carnation and greenery a-plenty finished the day, with covers laid for Miss Hazel Knight, Miss Margaret Kehler, Miss Eugenia Kehler, Miss Jo Campbell, Miss Julia Pickard, Miss Florence Pickard and the hostess.

Victrola Recital

First Friday means business session at the Women's club and there was no literature, music or "spread" the past week. The music study class had an exceptionally interesting meeting Tuesday with slides in the form of papers on the life of two famous composers, Saint Saens, by Miss Carol Strong, and Massenet, by Miss Lillian Hesselsten. The music was from French operas on the Victrola which was loaned by Mrs. Winchester, who personally conducted the recital.

Miss Dee Hostess

Miss Rose Dee was one of the delightful hostesses of the week, entertaining informally at her home Saturday afternoon. The guests were Mrs. Francis Wood, Mrs. W. R. Mattoon, Mrs. Recknagel, Mrs. Blitner, Mrs. Lowber, Mrs. Venable, Miss Nancy Hewitt, Miss Blanche Perkins, Miss Robertson and Miss Reynolds.

Tuesday Club

The Tuesday Literary club held a program of literary and social enjoyment at the home of Mrs. R. A. Frost the past week. Mrs. A. E. Walker conducted the class study and the following program was ably rendered: Contemporary history, Mrs. Newcomer; paper, "The Reformation in Germany," Mrs. McMillen; talk, "Heroes of the Reformation," Mrs. Hickley.

Personal Mention

J. J. Duffy, fiscal agent, left yesterday evening for his home in Washington, D. C., where he will spend the holidays. Rumor hath it, and Mr. Duffy, when confronted with the charge, pleaded "guilty" that Mr. Duffy will return a Benedict. The big event is to happen about New Years and the young couple will make their home in Albuquerque. E. A. Meiser, assistant chief of accounts, department of agriculture, arrived from Washington a few days since to relieve Mr. Duffy who has departed for Christmas with the home folks and an incidental matrimonial venture.

Mrs. Elmer Evans left the first of the week for a visit with relatives in Trinidad. The smart social set with which Mrs. Evans has become identified since she came to the city last winter as a bride, are regretting her departure for California. Mr. Evans, formerly general superintendent of the American Lumber company, is now prominently connected with the Pacific Lumber company at Scotia, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Evans will make their home in the California town, which is located near San Francisco.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Vaughn for the marriage of their daughter, Kathryn, to Allan E. Keller. The wedding will occur the evening of December 15 at 8 o'clock at the Vaughn home, 403 South Armo street.

Miss Florence Owen went to Helen during the week after an extended visit with the family of Harry P. Oliver.

Mrs. Hildegard Grunfeld has returned from the various California resorts where she has spent some months.

Dr. L. T. Ritchie, who has been a practitioner in this city for several months, leaves today for Trinidad where he is to open offices. ALBUQUERQUE NEW MEXICO

DO IT NOW.

The annual time has arrived when it becomes the duty of the newspaper to suggest to the Christmas-present-buying public to get busy early and do their shopping while there is plenty of time to wait on every one properly without rushing the salespeople to death. The clerk and the smiling lady behind the counter, who patiently show you the goods and look pleasant while you haggle, deserve to have time and strength left to enjoy their Christmas; and it is only ordinary, everyday unselfishness to give them the chance. It is greatly to your own interest to do your buying now; you can get what you want and get it promptly, and everyone who will heed the admonition to shop early will do his or her part toward making it easier for the merchant and his employees at Christmas time.

Perhaps you have been asked to "shop early" so regularly each year that it doesn't "sink in." But it is just every bit as important this year as any other year, and probably a bit more so. There is a little story in the Saturday Evening Post by Rupert Hughes, entitled "No. 318." It tells of the heart-breaking conditions of the Christmas rush therein depicted are peculiar to the bigger cities. If you read it you will get a new idea of what you owe to the shop girl in general, and without all you can to make her Christmas a merry one.

MORE SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION.

Another democratic editor has gone up in a terrific fit and smudge. This time it is the picturesque editor of the Deming Headlight, who has exploded. Mr. Shakespeare, believed to be no relation to the late William, thinks we should turn down statehood, and wait until we get a more liberal enabling act, that forsooth the people will not be "coerced" into voting for this constitution.

So far the local anarchist has not endorsed this detestation. It may be expected to do so. The most painful feature of the Deming editorial is the ruthless manner in which the Headlight steps on our respected friend, Mr. Walton. We are assured that Mr. Walton won't sue us for libel if we publish it merely as a literary gem, and to demonstrate the ingratitude of men; and we should certainly hesitate to endorse these revolutionary sentiments which are as follows:

The Headlight is in receipt of a long-winded article marked, "Call for Democratic Territorial Convention," and a request to publish same, which the Headlight respectfully declines to do.

This convention is called by "Samuel Walton," chairman. The gentleman who has worked the demerits of New Mexico to a finish, and it is now high time for him to come down, rest, not out, or do something so that a true party man can be placed at the head of the demerits of this territory.

The demerits of New Mexico need no convention of a lot of renegades, cowardly double-dealers, or whatever one cares to call them, to tell the true demerits of the territory. If Walton and others like him who have declared for this constitution think they are all there is they will find different.

How is that for party harmony?

MORE BRILLIANT LOGIC.

We do not object to their including these minor details but we do protest at the entire omission of principles that are of vital and fundamental importance to the welfare of the community.

This is the conclusion of another letter, published in this issue, from an officer of the Santa Fe W. C. T. U. It is presumed that the correspondence in behalf of the organization, we hesitate to believe, however, that the entire W. C. T. U. would commit itself to any such wholly intolerant and libelous attitude. It bears out, however, our previous statement, that in the eyes of the prohibition radicals, everything else in the constitution save prohibition is a minor detail. This communication holds that the people should be allowed to decide for themselves whether prohibition should go into the organic act; and that the action of the delegates shows fear to let the people act.

We would respectfully suggest that

If the people had wanted prohibition in the constitution, when they elected their delegates, they would have pledged them to prohibition. How many, we again respectfully inquire, were thus pledged? Why, may we ask, did we hold a convention if it were a foregone conclusion that the delegates would not represent the people? Why turn down statehood, the only chance of statehood, and send these delegates back to put prohibition into the constitution, if they do not represent the people? If those delegates were not prepared to do their whole duty, we are asked, why did they go to Santa Fe?

Who is to judge whether they did their whole duty; the radical prohibitionists, or the people?

"The law should be amendable," says the letter. It is admitted by the opposition that it is one of the most easily amended in the United States. Congress and the president, it says, exported us to write the constitution twice and made provision therefor. Again the query, who will pay for it? Statehood, we are repeatedly informed, will come any old time and a year or two will make no difference. As a matter of well known fact, if the constitution goes over to the next congress we are lost.

It is stated that the only thing that will "bring the issue" at the polls will be "bribe."

The elections in New Mexico are among the best conducted in the country and liquor has less to do with voting than in almost any other state. We are warned to place the prohibition issue out of politics, by putting it in the constitution. Like Oklahoma, perchance, where the state has been torn for years with the fight to eliminate the prohibition plank?

"Prohibition," it is declared, "is the chief essential of self government." Are we to let posterity make their laws by doing it for them in the constitution?

Constitutional prohibition has elicited about the poorest set of arguments we have ever had the pleasure of reading.

In conclusion we would repeat that this paper recognizes the menace of the nation evil and is pleased to see the steady advance of the "dry sentiment" in the southwest. We repeat, however, that prohibition has no place in the constitution, that putting it there would have been a grave mistake, and that if the people want prohibition under the new state, they will exercise the privilege of self government and pass a prohibitory law. And until a majority of the people does this, a minority has no right to seek to dictate to the people what laws they shall make. The petitions referred to are signed, it is alleged, by 10,000 persons. And there are a third of a million in New Mexico.

REVOLUTION FROM THE SEA.

It really looks as if nations of Portuguese blood should scuttle their ships and quit the sea. Their navies have never done them any good and they have three: attacked the government—twice successfully. Brazil has just bowed the knee to the mutineers of her battleships and only a few weeks ago the government of Portugal was overthrown by a revolt of the navy. Going back ten or twelve years, we see another rebellion by the ships in the harbor of Rio Janeiro, and though it was unsuccessful, it was not quickly suppressed.

The trouble doubtless lies in the exposed positions of the capital cities and in their importance as compared with the balance of the country. Both Lisbon and Rio Janeiro are on the ocean and exposed to attack from the water.

A revolution on land is bad enough, but it must be sustained by a large number of the people—probably by a majority—in order to be successful. On the land, force can be opposed by force, and if the revolutionists have not a force strong enough to indicate a strong public sentiment they will fail. But revolution from the sea, where capital cities are exposed and where their fate is the fate of the nation, can be carried to success by lawless men backed by no popular demand, acting for a bad as well as a good purpose and governed by designs little better than piracy. If a capital city is to be held so sacred that its capture means the capture of the government, the capital should be removed inland, out of the reach of pirates.

President Diaz, it is reported, is now endeavoring to placate the rebels and is proposing terms of peace. His emissaries to the revolutionists traveled in a train flying the white flag. We believe, however, that the white flag does not, in the case of Diaz, mean the white feather, and that such action is prompted by magnanimity and business sense rather than by weakness. It is a sign of the times, however, that persuasion is supplanting the bayonet.

New let us recognize the share of Mrs. Walton in the production and the harvest of genius. Mrs. Walton has received due appreciation—we need not wait so long to say a word for Mrs. Walton. The wife of a genius often pays heavily for what the world receives as a benefaction.

PUBLIC FORUM

More on Prohibition.

Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 2, 1910.

Editor Albuquerque Morning Journal: In your editorial "A Square Deal," Dec. 1, you (I cannot but think unemotionally) misquote me seriously in some things.

The prohibition and local option idea and the petitions for statewide prohibition were referred to committees of which the majority of the members were men interested in the saloon traffic, and we do not believe any fair minded person would say that this was a "square deal."

As to whether the will of the people on much figure, was evidenced by the fact that the request of over ten thousand people asking for the submission of prohibition to a vote of the entire people was ignored.

This was all the prohibitionists asked—that the people should be allowed to decide this question for themselves. That it is one of utmost importance to them we do not think any one will undertake to deny. Neither do we believe any one can show that the women, the children and the homes of New Mexico are safe while the liquor traffic is permitted to carry on its business of creating drunken, abusive husbands, and fathers, and of turning out criminals of every degree and form of viciousness. It is a brave man who would undertake to say that the product of the saloon is any harm to the homes or to society at large, in any community.

Prohibitionists may be radical; no doubt are—we plead guilty to that charge. If you believe anything at all to believe it will be called radical. That political definition is "one who believes in radical changes." We certainly believe in a radical change in the management of the liquor traffic. However, we are always ready for conviction, and if we do not already have, are willing to try and get a grasp of the "whole" situation.

It is also a mistake to say that we would dispense with the remainder of the constitution. We would like to have in some other important and essential things some of which have been omitted in the one under consideration, and personally the fear of a little so-called legislative matter would not frighten us (the line separating legislative matter and fundamental law seems to be such a variable one, that a little one, one side or the other, would do no great damage and if it seemed a question of saving the whole people and one that was entrenched in politics and was able to buy and sell about for political purposes, corrupting politics and degrading the voter, then it would seem the better part of wisdom to graft and political wire pulling, so that the protection of the people would not be left in such precarious circumstances.

If we have any conception at all of the end desired in writing a constitution, it is that it should be a document securing the best conditions for self government to the people, and everything conducive to that end would belong in the constitution or fundamental law. We believe—provisionally at least—that it is the duty of the people to decide whether or not they wish to have the right to decide whether or not so important a measure should be a part of their fundamental law, just as they have a right to pass on the contents of the constitution as a whole.

We did not make the "terrific statement" that our files and petitions were referred to a committee composed "entirely" of saloon men. What we did say, if you will carefully read the article, was that a majority of the committee were men interested in saloons.

This statement was, and is, true, and if that is a square deal, then the square deal is another thing of which we have failed to grasp the meaning.

If it is a positive fact that a majority of the people approve the action of the delegates in this, why fear to allow the people to speak for themselves. We have failed to find any one yet, in our conversations with people in general, who has not expressed himself as believing this would have been the fair thing—to say the least.

We have not said a majority of the people of New Mexico would vote for prohibition—though we certainly believe, they would do so if sober and uncorrupted—what we do say is, that a matter of this momentous importance to the welfare of the whole people, should be settled by the people themselves, and not by a few men, who are in every personally interested in the perpetuation of this evil.

The private desires of these men should not be considered. Thinking men in politics is a menace to good government, and as long as everything pertaining to it is left to the legislators, it will remain in politics.

The Journal says that to allow the people to vote on separate submission would complicate the issue and bring confusion to the polls.

We contend that if a man is capable of voting yes or no to "For or Against the Constitution," then he has brains enough to vote yes or no to the proposition of statewide prohibition. If he has not, then he belongs in the class denominated in Article VII, as "idiots or insane," or, he is full of that "boose" which we are contending renders a man unfit to fill his place in society as a voter, citizen, father, husband or son. The complicating and befogging element would be "boose" furnished by the saloon.

We have the temerity to express ourselves in believing that it would be better for New Mexico to come into the union sane and sober with just laws for her people a year from now, than it would be to get in at once under any conditions.

Now Mexico is going to get statehood, if not this spring, then the next fall after waiting so many years, a death more or less is not of life and death importance, but it does seem important that the laws under which a people must live for the next century should be amendable if necessary, and that an un-bearable burden of poverty, crime and wretchedness should not be saddled upon the people, especially if it is in the will of the people to do so.

Evidently the president and congress of the United States suspected that the first constitution written would not embody the entire rights and wishes of the people, and they explicitly provided that if it did not, the should re-write it, and it is the right and prerogative of the voters, sanctioned by President Taft and congress, to refuse it if it does not satisfy them, and that it shall be re-written for their benefit, and not until it has been rejected the second time, has any one a right to say that statehood has been defeated, or that any one who opposes the constitution in its present form is trying to defeat statehood at the present time.

The men who accepted the position of delegates to the constitutional convention, did so under the terms of the enabling act, which they surely understood, and they should be prepared to do their whole duty. If they were not so prepared, they should have declined to serve at all.

We do believe that good, honest and conscientious men may differ with us as to the best methods of regulating or suppressing the saloon evil. We are pleased to see that the Journal recognizes that it is an evil to be regulated and eradicated, and when it goes this far it is only one more step to concede that the saloon product and the saloon influence is demoralizing and a menace to the welfare of the men, women and children.

It was simply asked that the people be allowed to say yes or no to prohibition. We also consider the subject of money important in the fundamental law, then that of the salaries of officials, the salaries of legislative employees, the attempt to keep the legislative body from legalizing embodiments and many other things which need both legislative and which are usually entrusted to legislative enactment.

We personally do not object to their including these minor details, but we do protest at the entire omission of principles that are of primal and fundamental importance to the welfare of the commonwealth.

MRS. H. G. GRAHAM.

The School Lands.

The Editor of the Morning Journal: In his answer to my criticisms of his address at the open house last Monday night relative to public school lands, the Hon. H. B. Ferguson does not deny that he misstated the law and the facts, but reiterates what he said about paying the Colonizer bonds in land, when he knows that they cannot be paid in land, but that the land must be appraised and sold at public auction.

"To the highest and best bidder," as stated in section 16 of the enabling act. The same section and act also provides that "Every sale, lease, conveyance, or contract of or concerning any of the lands hereby granted or confirmed, or the use thereof or the natural products thereof, not made in substantial conformity with the provisions of this act, shall be null and void, any provision of the constitution or laws of the said state to the contrary notwithstanding."

"It shall be the duty of the attorney general of the United States to prosecute, in the name of the United States and in its courts, such proceedings at law or in equity as may from time to time be necessary and appropriate to enforce the provisions hereof relative to the application and disposition of the said lands and the products thereof and the funds derived therefrom."

"Nothing herein contained shall be taken as limitation of the power of the state or of any citizen thereof to enforce the provisions of this act." The constitution provides that the state shall accept the land on the terms offered, and the enabling act provides that we can get them upon no other terms. What better protection can the lands have? The United States donates the lands, and at its own expense protects them and the interests thereof.

Section 6 of the enabling act also provides: "That the grants of sections 2, 16, 22, and 36, to said state, within national forests now existing or proclaimed, shall not vest the title to said sections in said state until the part of said national forests embracing any of said sections is restored to the public domain; but said granted sections shall be administered as a part of said forests, and at the close of each fiscal year there shall be paid by the secretary of the treasury to the state, as income for its common school fund, such proportion of the gross proceeds of all the national forests within said state as the areas of lands hereby granted to said state for school purposes which are situated within said forest reserves, whether surveyed or unsurveyed, and for which no indemnity has been selected, may bear to the total area of said sections when unsurveyed to be determined by the secretary of the interior, by protraction or otherwise, the amount necessary for such payments being appropriated and made available annually from any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated."

The United States (forest service officials, located in this city, give the total area of forest reserves in New Mexico to be 11,374,564 acres, or 14.5 per centum of the acreage of the territory. The total acreage of the territory being 7,839,650 acres, according to the above authority, about one-seventh of our common school lands, or over one million acres are reserved for an indefinite period.

Mr. Ferguson says, "Why not wait, say, ten years," before selling? That is just what the constitution provides, except lands contiguous to other state lands, or lands that will sell for ten dollars per acre. In addition to the reason given by the committee on public lands for reporting that school lands contiguous to other state lands might be sold before the expiration of ten years, was that a section of school lands might fall within a large area or crossing lands and no cattle or sheepman would care to buy the grazing lands unless he could control the whole area. This committee, which contained such able democrats as A. H. Hulse, C. E. Briggs and A. H. Harter, reported in favor of this article with the republicans, and it is reasonable to suppose that if there were "jokers" in it they would have discovered them. The enabling act reads, "Lands east of the line between ranges 15 and 19 east of the New Mexico principal meridian shall not be sold for less than five dollars per acre, and lands west of said line shall be sold for less than three dollars per acre, and no lands which are or shall be susceptible of irrigation under any projects now or hereafter completed or adopted under legislation for the reclamation of lands, or under any other project for the reclamation of lands, shall be sold for less than twenty-five dollars per acre (the line mentioned above lies about one hundred miles east of Albuquerque)."

Under such terms and restrictions it will be most difficult to sell any large portion of the lands within the next twenty-five years, in the opinion of the best judges in the territory.

It makes all the difference imaginable between cold, hard facts and figures and vague indications.

TUESDAY CONCERT OPENS SANTA FE SEASON HERE

Former Albuquerque Woman Heads Musical Troupe Appearing at Reading Rooms This Week.

The first of another splendid series of attractions at the Santa Fe reading rooms here is booked for Tuesday night, December 6, and that it will have a large and appreciative audience goes without the telling. The Chaffin Concert and Variety company, whose soprano singer and manager is Mrs. C. D. Whitcomb, formerly of this city, will give "the latest in music, the greatest in literature and the funniest in comedy." In addition to Mrs. Whitcomb, the company includes the following:

Miss Ruth Wilton Wilson, contralto; Miss Gladys Keith Muir, violinist; George M. Calfee, baritone; George W. Calfee, pianist; George Smith, monologist; Edgar Kennedy, tenor.

In his opening announcement, Superintendent E. H. Huser of the Santa Fe reading rooms says:

"The concert last season was all high grade. This season it is in my mind to make them still higher. The appreciation of the company was as marked, and the success as phenomenal that it will require every effort to score higher, but I am promised help from all the bureau east with hosts of the leading entertainers from the whole world. I am placing the California Concert company first because they are all stars and in both solo and concert work they rank the very highest. If you study the personnel of this company carefully, you will discern something distinctly Santa Fe about many of them. When you laugh and feel happy at the concert, you will turn your eyes up and say: 'That sounds like an old Santa Fe friend of mine.' And so you will give them all a Santa Fe welcome, and the first concert company will be the harbinger of many to come."

LIBRARY STATION MEETS DEMAND

Liberal Patronage Shows Distributing Depot Will Increase Circulation of Books.

The distributing station for the public library, recently established at the office of W. P. Metcalf, 221 West Gold avenue, is much appreciated by the general public, judging from the falls at the office for cards, books and a number of books left to be returned. The new arrangement is of great advantage to the people living on this side of the tracks, as they can telephone for any book desired, and have it left at the distributing office or return their books at the same place, thus saving the trip up the hill. A messenger is employed by the library to bring the books back and forth. The new office will, without doubt, greatly increase the amount of books distributed by the public library.

RAPID PROGRESS ON HANDSOME BUILDINGS

Sidewalks Going Into Place Around Federal Building and Masonic Temple Is Growing Apace.

It now begins to appear that there is a real prospect of the completion of the beautiful new federal building, at the corner of field avenue and Fourth street, and the past few weeks have seen more real progress than for a long time, at least as the finishing touches go on the work appears to be moving along with more celerity. The broad cement sidewalks around the big structure are well along toward completion, and with the partial removal of the unsightly board fence and classic appearance of the completed edifice begins to become evident. It is not too much to say that this will be one of the handsomest street corners in the southwest, the fact that the building sits comfortably back from the street lending it the effect so noticeably lacking in other buildings here.

The work on the Masonic temple, at the corner of Central avenue and Seventh street, is also moving rapidly and the workmen will be ready in a short time to place in position the immense sixty-foot white pillars at the front of the building, which will be two stories in height, and make the south facade most imposing. Masterfully, believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me." For sale by all dealers.

ALBUQUERQUE MAN TELLS OF MEXICAN RIOTING

Frank Moore, formerly of Albuquerque, now in Mexico City, says all danger has passed.

All the disturbances in the City of Mexico against Americans and the Diaz government are at an end and the Americans have not been harmed in the least, according to a letter received by "Spot" Moore from his brother, Frank Moore, who is engaged in the automobile business in the Mexican capital. Frank Moore is a son of George H. Moore of the South Sixth street and will be remembered by many friends in Albuquerque.

In his letter he says the disturbances in the City of Mexico were comparatively insignificant and no apprehension was felt by the American residents. Mr. Moore's daughter was on the street car with other American children when rioters stoned the car as a part of their protest against the burning of a Mexican in Texas. This car carries the children of American through the city to the American school each day. Mr. Moore says some apprehension was felt by Americans after the stoning of the car and the attack on several American business houses but the police and soldiers were in perfect control of the situation and at no time was there any great danger for foreigners in the city.

The New Mexico exhibit at the land says George Craig, who has returned the show to see what New Mexico had to offer visitors. He went to the show on New Mexico day and had to wait a long time to get within seeing distance of the New Mexico exhibit.

It attracted so much attention that only part of the crowd could be accommodated. The Hopi Indians also made a big hit, says Mr. Craig, and as they were located next to the New Mexico exhibit, assisted in drawing attention to the Land of Sunshine.

When your feet are wet and cold

Oberammergau Passion
Play to Be Reproduced

Story of Great Drama of Ba-

Which Are to be Given at the Elks' Theater Sunday Night
Next, Accompanied by Lecture and Sacred Concert.

(By Rev. Dr. Riley.)
The interest of the world was again attracted in 1910 to the small village of Oberammergau in the Bavarian Alps, and the performance of the Passion Play.

It has been nearly three hundred years since the village declared that by the plague, and the beginning of the decennial custom of showing the Passion of our Lord upon the stage originated from a vow of the pious inhabitants that if the plague would stay, in thanksgiving for the mercy of God's mercy they would perform the scenes of Christ's Passion every ten years. Through many discouragements they kept the vow and the play was given in the churchyard to a devout audience of fellow townspeople and the peasants of the surrounding country, many of whom walked fifty miles to attend. Great spiritual refreshment was derived from the performance. The Oberammergau Passion Play is a masterpiece of dramatic art and the performance of the play is a religious duty for all Christians.

Anything you can do to favor our interests in this matter, will be greatly appreciated.

Very truly yours,

TEXAS TO HAVE NEW
BASEBALL LEAGUE

San Antonio, Texas, Dec. 3.—A third new baseball league will be at work in Texas in 1911. The new circuit being organized by C. H. Gebelinger of San Antonio will be called the Texas Association of Professional Baseball Clubs and will be rated in class D, with eight clubs.

The tentative franchise holding towns are:

Denison, Sherman, Paris, Corsicana, Palestine, Tyler and one other to be named later.

CONFERENCE COLLEGE
TEAMS BAN OUTLAWS

Chicago, Dec. 3.—Members of the Western Intercollegiate Athletic association today unanimously adopted resolutions forbidding "conference" teams playing games with institutions outside of the association. This is the most drastic action taken since 1908 and bars the University of Michigan.

Unless Michigan comes back into the conference the resolution ends forever its hopes of scheduling athletic contests with conference colleges.

A move to adopt rugby football was instituted when Professor Ehler of Wisconsin introduced a resolution which was adopted for the appointment of a committee to investigate rugby and report back to the committee. Professor Johnston of Indiana introduced a resolution to prevent gambling at athletic contests.

Johnny Conlon Gets Decision.
New Orleans, Dec. 3.—Johnny Conlon of Chicago, holder of the 175-pound championship, was given the decision over Charley Harvey of New York at the end of their ten-round bout there tonight. Conlon's fighting was far superior to that of his opponent.

ITALIAN SOLDIERS FALL TO DEATH FROM BIPLANE

Rome, Dec. 3.—An aeroplane carrying an Italian officer and a private fell from a height of eighty feet at the military grounds at Cesena today. Both men were killed instantly.

The aeroplane, a Farman machine, was in charge of Engineer Cammarosa and the accident appears to have been due to an attempt to make a short turn. Cammarosa is the third Italian officer to be killed in an aeroplane accident in the last few months. Lieutenant Vivadi and Lieutenant Saglietti both met death while making flights.

ONE OF CASSIE CHADWICK'S
VICTIMS IN POOR HOUSE

Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 3.—The trial of poverty-stricken bank depositors left the late Cassie Chadwick, who died in the Ohio penitentiary a few days ago, one of the victims of the "poor house" system.

She was one of the oldest alumnae of Oberlin college and a club woman, went to the Massillon state hospital. She was committed after an inquiry quickly conducted at Elyria, the county seat, last night.

The look of her fortune in the wrecking of the Citizens' National bank here, was responsible, the doctors told Judge Hoffman, for Mrs. Marshall's condition.

Every family has need of a good, reliable ointment. For sprains, bruises, soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains there is none better than Chamberlain's. Sold by all dealers.

TOTAL OF $1,201 RESULT OF BLOCK DAY EFFORT

Elaborate Plans for Annual Meeting of Young Women's Christian Association on Dec.
12 Made.

One of the most interesting features of the Young Women's Christian association held yesterday afternoon was the report by Mrs. George S. Klock, chairman of the Block Day committee, who reported a total of $1,201 collected as a result of the recent unique Block Day campaign for funds carried on by the organization. This sum includes various credits and the cancellation of a hundred dollar note.

The other members of the committee in charge were Mrs. George S. Klock, Mrs. John Mordy, Mrs. E. A. Field and Mrs. W. H. Barney.

It was decided to hold the annual meeting a week from tomorrow, December 12, at 7:30 p. m. in the Presbyterian church. Reports of the year's work will be given on that occasion by the committee chairman, the president, treasurer and general secretary.

There will be a good musical program under the direction of Mrs. McDonald. A new board of managers will also be elected, each one-third of the body to serve respectively for one, two and three years.

At the meeting yesterday a committee was appointed headed by Mrs. Klock, to adopt plans as to the future work of the organization and the budget for the coming year.

The Y. W. C. A. Creed.

I believe that home must always be the center, but not the limit of woman's life.

I believe in equal rights in the family for father and mother; in intelligence, affection and filial respect.

I believe in nine-tenths of the members doing the work and one-tenth the criticizing, instead of the reverse.

I believe no woman has a right to accept an office or a place on any committee unless she can serve faithfully, promptly, intelligently, and is willing to stand by the results of her individual action.

I believe that women should have a moral responsibility regarding financial matters in the prompt payment of dues and pledges and a comprehension that this work, like all others, cannot be carried on without money.

I believe in the value of a minute, and that thievery of time on the part of one late member from those waiting is reprehensible.

I believe that members should refrain from whispering during the meeting.

I believe no woman should seek or use official position for self-aggrandizement, or membership in the association for stepping stones only, but that she should utilize her opportunities for the advancement of life.

I believe the character and name of each individual member should be as carefully guarded by all other members as are those of the family; and that the use of dishonorable methods in our society will be the death knell of pure, womanly organization.

I believe the golden rule for Y. W. C. A. members should be "Do right unto others regardless of what others do unto you."

Adapted from Mrs. Robert Burdette.

BOY SCOUTS "HIKE"
TO TIJERAS CANYON

Juvenile Organization Taking Firm Hold Among Albuquerque
Youngsters; Its Laudable Purposes.

A number of the enterprising youngsters of the city have become imbued with the "boy scout" spirit and have organized the Albuquerque Boy Scouts. The boy scout movement was originated in England by General Baden Powell and in the last year or so has spread through all parts of the United States. It has been widely discussed in magazine and periodical and is endorsed by leading men of the United States army, including Lieutenant General James R. Chaffee, General Wood and General Clarence Edwards.

The local organization has been under way two weeks, and the first "hike" was made yesterday when the boys walked out to Tijeras canyon and back. They took their lunches and reported a glorious day and are most enthusiastic over the venture.

James Trainor is the commander-in-chief; Maurice Barth, sub-officer, and Frank O'Reilly is acting as secretary and treasurer. The board of managers is composed of: Leonard Putney, as chairman of membership; Grant Mann, house chairman; Harold Sellers, expedition chairman; Robert Putney, discipline chairman.

The new movement is a laudable one and deserves the encouragement of the elders whose aim should be to help the boys to be "good scouts."

The organization stands for the good and the right, and its purpose is to inculcate principles of honor, loyalty, industry, helpfulness, courtesy, cleanliness of speech and thought, thrift, cheerfulness.

A few of the rules which the boys are pledged to live up to are these:

"A scout's honor is to be trusted. A scout never to break his honor by telling a lie, or by not carrying out his order exactly when trusted in his honor to do so, he may be directed to honor over his scout badge, and never to wear it again. He may also be directed to cease to be a scout, if he is found to be in his country, his

Can Aid the Shopper Looking for Christmas Gifts.

The already large stock of the Learnard-Lindemann company has been added to in anticipation of the holiday trade until the line of musical instruments and music is undoubtedly the most complete ever brought to Albuquerque. Special opportunities are thus offered for the selection of Christmas gifts that will be prized by the recipients when long remembered. Included in the list to select from are the famous Farmand-Collins interior player pianos, which anyone can play. These, Grand and Lane and many other makes. Musical instruments of every sort are in the stock, and the store carries a complete line of music, the old as well as the newest, just from the publishers. Special prices on all of them will be purchased this season. Any piano or other instrument selected as a Christmas gift will be held until the day before Christmas if desired and delivered then.

While the reputation of Learnard-Lindemann is well known in Albuquerque, the firm's business has steadily expanded to include every part of New Mexico, and this store has a large out-of-town trade.

From as far as Roswell, Hatch, Silver City, come orders in this line, which has achieved its extensive out-of-town business as it has its local trade, by means of dealing and by keeping on hand a stock of goods comprising exactly what the stores offered. No store of this kind in many larger cities.

There is no boy who lives up to their code who will not grow into the good citizen.

New Pumping Plants in Mimbres Valley Every Day

Former Mississippian Installs Plant at Bottom of 60 Foot Pit Which Lifts Thousand Gallons a Minute; Other Irrigation Projects Near Deming.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal) Deming, N. M., Dec. 3.—James L. Gray, former hardware man of Union, Miss., is installing a large pumping plant on his place, ten miles southwest of Deming. His pit is dug to the 60-foot level, at the bottom of which he will install his pump, and he has let a contract to Burney and Ithia to bore on down 140 feet so as to let his well get the benefit of the lower stratum of water-bearing material. Equipped with a No. 6 pump and 40 horsepower gasoline engine, which Mr. Gray has already ordered, he will get about one thousand gallons of water per minute, sufficient to reclaim his 140 acres of land.

Case Brothers have been testing out their well six miles east of Deming for the last two weeks. They borrowed an engine for this purpose—a 20 horsepower Gray Motor. This engine failed to develop power enough to thoroughly test the well. The P. K. Woods pump is capable of delivering one thousand gallons per minute, but as the well pumps down, the speed of the pump cannot be maintained so as to pump its full capacity, owing to the shortage of power. At the 46-foot level, however, the pump delivered 550 gallons per minute measured over a well. This does not take the well down to the bottom of the first stratum of water-bearing material, so that it is evident that with sufficient power, the well will deliver in the neighborhood of 1,000 gallons per minute. Case Brothers intend to put in a large acreage of beans, potatoes and alfalfa next season. They will also put in a small orchard.

Prof. J. P. Holliday, lately of Indianapolis, Nebraska, has let a contract to Carlton and Oliver for a well 150 feet deep on his place, four miles east of Deming, recently purchased of G. M. Sadler. Prof. Holliday has ordered a 40 horsepower engine, and will install a No. 6 pump. He has a force of Mexicans at work grubbing off the mesquite preparatory for next season's planting.

W. R. Burney, whose serious condition was reported yesterday, died at 2 o'clock this morning. His death was the result of a horse-kick in the abdomen. He was ill one week. Mr. Burney came here from Texas three or four years ago, homesteaded a quarter section of land six miles east of Deming, and later went into the well drilling business, the firm being Burney and Ithia. He was buried this afternoon under the auspices of the Methodist society.

J. A. Wood and R. D. Donohue, both of Albuquerque, N. M., filed today on claims about thirteen miles south of Deming to the Mountain View neighborhood.

ARNOLD ACQUITTED AT ROSWELL

Found Not Guilty of Murder of Luckie; Charge to Jury Lasts Forty-five Minutes.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal) Roswell, N. M., Dec. 3.—After a trial of several days, the case of William T. Arnold went to the jury last night, and a verdict of not guilty was reached at 11 p. m. today. Arnold was accused of murder for killing A. S. Luckie last summer, on one of the ranches of the Turkey track outfit in Chaves county. They were fellow employees of this outfit.

The charge to the jury by Judge William H. Pope was the longest on record, being forty-five minutes in duration.

Jaffa, Prager & Co., on December 15, will take over the management of the Grand Central hotel, of which they are owners, and which has been in the hands of J. M. Manning for about a year. The building will be renovated and improved.

The board of education met last night to consider means of raising $15,000 to complete the new high school building. When completed it will cost $50,000. A plan is being made to have prominent citizens sign notes to secure the payment through future bond issue.

Undaunted by the revolutionary times in Mexico, Walter Fritz and T. L. Browning, two Roswell boys, started last night for a point near the City of Mexico. They have cattle business there, and believe they can make the trip in safety if they keep out of the revolution. They expect to be gone two months.

ATTEMPTED HOLD-UP AT VAUGHN ENDS IN A FLUKE

Mail Wagon Escapes; Cow-puncher Arrested on Charge of Robbery; Complicated Cow Case Finally Settled Amicably

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal) Vaughn, N. M., Dec. 3.—Wednesday morning about 2 o'clock, as H. W. Wiseman was driving the Garlington transfer bus to the Rock Island depot, he overtook two men walking north. One of them caught the bridle of one of the horses, but the other fellow failed to get a hold, and the horses sprang away and were soon at the depot. The man who failed to catch the bridle was roundly cursed by his partner for being slow. As no pistols were drawn and no demands made upon Wiseman, he is at a loss to know what was intended on the part of the strangers, whom he says were in good English.

On the bus was three loads of mail. If robbery was intended, it was a "hum" attempt and evidently the work of novices.

Bride of a Day.
Mrs. Victoria Gallaga (nee Montoya) who was married Saturday at the school house, died suddenly Monday night of heart failure, and was buried in East Vaughn cemetery on Thursday. The bereaved husband has the sympathy of all citizens.

Wedding Postponed.
The wedding of R. W. Wiseman and Mrs. Lela B. Moore, which was to have taken place Wednesday evening, was postponed at the eleventh hour.

Messrs. Ricardo Montoya, David Croppin and Jose Rodriguez are leaders in a movement to organize a Mutual Protective association in Vaughn. It is believed the association will organize with fifty-five charter members. The first meeting will be held Saturday, December 10th. It is the intention of the association to purchase two lots and erect a building for their use.

Will Get $200 Rebate.
Before East Vaughn was incorporated, the population of Vaughn numbered over 1,000 souls. The price of a license to sell liquor was then $400. The law reads that where the population of a town is less than 1,000, the license fee shall be $200. Mr. Brown paid $400 for his license after East Vaughn became an incorporated town.

The incorporation of the one town makes the number of inhabitants in each less than 1,000. According to a calling of Attorney General Frank W. Chase, Mr. Brown will soon receive a rebate of $200. All those saloonkeepers who paid $400 while the two towns were as one, are not entitled to any rebate.

Dedicated Rail.
Messrs. Hallows, Lucas and Garlington dedicated the new bank building on Cedar street by giving a ball Wednesday evening for the music, order and number in attendance was a big success. It was somewhat of a "rush order" affair, but nevertheless about 100 of Vaughn's best people were present and a very enjoyable evening was passed. Messrs. Ambrosio Gallegos and Aurelia Lucero furnished good music.

Jack McCraig Jailed.
Jack McCraig, who spent ten days in Vaughn recently, was arrested in Santa Rosa, Tuesday, on two grave charges. It is alleged that he robbed a postoffice and blew up a safe in upper Colorado about a year ago, and more recently stole a carload of horses at Oklahoma City. He was taken to the Tucuman jail to await the action of the grand jury.

Cow Case Is Complicated.
Len, Lucero and Furgenda Sals, two young men of Puerto de Luna, were arraigned in Justice Hall's court, Wednesday, on the charge of stealing a cow from Juan E. Griego, of Vaughn. Lucero and Sals sold to B. P. Straughan five cows for $100. One of them was branded "E. G." (the two last initials of Mr. Griego) and a bar underneath. The lady claimed the brand was "86." Justice Hall dismissed the case on lack of evidence.

Then it was that the following committee was sent to the carrol to investigate the matter: Mariano Escobar, Juan Enjorjas, Martin Serano, Sheriff J. M. Casaus and his deputy, Pelagario Casaus. Sheriff Casaus engaged a barber to shave the half of the cow's brand. The first time the above named men swore that the brand was "86 bar." The sheriff and his deputy swore that it was "E. G. bar."

Mr. Griego then secured a writ of replevin for the animal, but before the writ was served the father of the young Sals appeared and paid $20 for the disputed property and the costs of the case, and everybody was happy except "dad."

FORD OUTCLIMBS BUICK CAR AT SOCORRO

Local Chaffeur Defeats Winner of Vanderbilt Cup in Up-Hill Race by Half a Mile.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal) Socorro, N. M., Dec. 3.—The auto race between Magdalena and Socorro was pulled off here this afternoon. The race was a hill climbing contest between a Buick and a Ford. The Ford won, having climbed 3 1/2 miles, beating the Buick by 1/2 mile.

Gardner Brothers of Kelly, agents for the Buick, brought out G. Robinson, an expert chaffeur, and the winner in the Vanderbilt cup 1910, but he lost the race to Jim Gibbons of Socorro, who drove the Ford.

Teachers to Organize.
J. A. Torres, county superintendent of schools, has issued a call to all teachers to meet in Socorro December 25th and form a teachers' association to affiliate with the New Mexico Educational association. The call is made for 10 o'clock in the morning of that date and they will leave in the afternoon for Las Vegas and attend the New Mexico Educational association meeting, which will convene on December 25th.

Prisoners Lodged in Jail.
Two men were brought in from Mogollon and lodged in the county jail. It could not be learned what the charges were against them. One was a white man while the other was colored.

DEPUTY SHOT DEAD BY AN ASSASSIN

ENEMIES REVENGED ON MORA COUNTY OFFICER

Robert Sammon, Fearless Foe of Lawbreakers, Murdered From Ambush in Cold Blood Near Ocate.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal) Las Vegas, N. M., Nov. 3.—Shot through and through by unknown assassins, the dead body of Robert Sammon, a well known resident of Mora county, was found by the roadside this morning, two miles from his home at Ocate. It is presumed that Sammon was murdered from ambush while on his way home during the night. Two bullets from a rifle or large caliber had penetrated vital spots and death was apparently instantaneous. Sammon, who was deputy sheriff for eastern Mora county, had been active and fearless in suppressing lawlessness of late, and the only apparent motive for the murder is revenge on the part of some person or persons whose hatred he had incurred. The murdered man was about fifty years old, leaves a wife and several children. He operated a large saw mill near Ocate. Sheriff Andres Gandert and a posse left Mora tonight for the scene of the crime to investigate the killing and search for the perpetrators.

DECEASED KILLED MAN

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal) Springer, N. M., Dec. 3.—Robert Sammon, who was shot from ambush at five o'clock yesterday evening while riding one of the trails near his sawmill, was forty-nine years old and leaves six children. Sammon, according to the story which reached here, was able to ride home after being shot and died at 7 p. m. Sammon, who was fearless and at times overbearing, had incurred the enmity of a number of the natives. He was for a time in the employ of T. B. Catron and active in election matters. He operated a large saw mill near Ocate, this occurring near Ocate some four years ago.

SAMMONS FULLY EXPECTED ATTEMPT ON HIS LIFE

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal) Wagon Mound, N. M., Dec. 3.—Bob Sammons, news of whose murder reached here this afternoon, was one of the best known characters in New Mexico. He owned several sawmills in the mountains and was well to do. He was made deputy sheriff only a short time ago and had trouble with the lawless element, so that he fully expected to be killed, and carried heavy life insurance, for the benefit of his wife and five children.

The detailed story received here has created considerable excitement. Sammons, it is said, with his eldest son, a boy of sixteen, was returning to his ranch from the Ocate post-office and had almost reached home when a volley of shots crashed out of the bushes and timber along the road, and Sammons fell from his horse. The boy ran for help, and soon returned with friends. Sammons was still alive, but died in a few moments.

Evidently the murderers took no chances, as Sammons was reputed to be a dead shot, and was said to have killed several men. Three years ago he was tried for the murder of John McHenry, but was acquitted on a plea of self-defense.

An inquest will be held Monday and sensational developments are expected.

BANK OF SPRINGER ROBBED OF ONE SIX-SHOOTER

Two Hobos Held as Suspects; Building Entered But Vault Is Too Tough a Proposition for Thieves.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal) Springer, N. M., Dec. 3.—Some time last night the bank of Springer was entered through a side door, the robbers having previously made an ineffectual attempt to open a window. They finally got nothing but a revolver, being unable to open the vault, and rifling only what desk drawers they could open. While there is no certain clue two hobos are being held on suspicion of knowing something about the job. The Santa Fe hotel house and Link blacksmith shop had previously been broken into by the robbers who secured tools with which to tackle the bank. The attempt was not discovered until 7 o'clock this morning. It is believed the marauders were novices at the business.

MEXICAN OFFICERS WANT PRISONER AT SOCORRO

Garcia, Arrested at Mogollon, Said to be Fugitive from Casas Grandes for Taking Part in Revolution.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal) Socorro, N. M., Dec. 3.—Pomposo Garcia, one of three prisoners brought here today by Chief Deputy Sheriff Baca from Mogollon, and lodged in the county jail, is a much wanted man, according to the story told of him, and in addition to being held on a charge of having secured money under false pretenses, is declared to be a fugitive from Mexico. It is said that the Mexican authorities at Casas Grandes are anxious to obtain custody of Garcia because of his recent participation with revolutionists in Chihuahua.

On the way from Mogollon, it is said, that Garcia made several threats to break away from the deputy sheriff, and that extraordinary precautions had to be taken to keep him from carrying out his threats. At Silver City the sheriff of Grant county and other officials, realizing that Garcia might make good his threats, assisted the deputy to keep him in custody.

Alex. Davis, a negro, one of the trio of prisoners, is charged with having brutally assaulted his wife and endangered her life.

The third prisoner, William Smith, formerly lived at Kenney, where he was employed as a miner. It is said that he was entrusted by a friend with a sum of money to be placed in the bank, but that he failed to deposit the money, and took it with him when he left. He after arrived at Mogollon and was arrested on a charge of embezzlement.

On the way to Mogollon, Deputy Sheriff Baca picked up two other prisoners, said to have been at Mogollon without paying their hotel bills, and took them to the Mogollon jail.

FATHER MOOG IS ACQUITTED AT LAS VEGAS

Evidence Shows Parish Priest Arraigned for Embezzlement Used Money on Property of the Church.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal) Las Vegas, N. M., Dec. 3.—The trial of Father J. P. Moog, parish priest at San Miguel and San Jose, San Miguel county, on the charge of embezzlement, came to an abrupt end in the district court at Las Vegas today, when the district attorney secured the dismissal of the case. The trial began this morning and considerable evidence had been introduced when the action was concluded. Father Moog was accused of having collected from his parishioners $300, which, it is said, was to have been used in making improvements on the sisters' convent of the parish. It was charged Father Moog used the money in repairing and repainting his own residence.

After the trial had proceeded for some time, inquired if it could be shown that the priest used the money for his own personal use, the evidence showing that he used it for church purposes in repairing the pastoral residence. The district attorney then stated that this would be difficult to show, and moved the dismissal of the case.

CIVIC IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY BOOSTS CLEANLINESS

Every Citizen Urged to Act as Committee of One for Sanitary Betterment of Albuquerque.

Editor Morning Journal:

A move in the right direction is now being made in the city officials whereby the health and cleanliness of the city is not only being considered, but steps are being taken to make it clean and beautiful. The first step in making "a city beautiful" are cleanliness and order, always. This is the work the Civic Improvement society has taken up, and is deeply interested in. It is more than glad that the city fathers have taken the matter in hand and will see the work carried through as it should be, and by the right people, those in office, that will enable them to bring the law to bear directly upon the subject. Those that make the laws are the ones to enforce them. The public is always ready to do the right thing, but how much quicker they will do when the law follows directly upon their footsteps. Let them have all the aid from individuals it is possible to give. It is for the good of all, therefore all should consider it their duty to help in every way to bring about the desired results. Whenever one sees an untidy spot, an unclean street, gutter, alley or dirt heap, let him report it to the proper authorities and in that way help as much as though he had removed those things personally. In contagious diseases let the individual report all seeming signs of quarantine that come within his observation, and let him feel that it is a duty he owes his neighbors, as well as his family, to keep a watchful eye on all such cases within his vision as much as though he were especially appointed for that purpose. How often we hear of scarlet fever patients being seen in their yards and often seen talking with passersby before the quarantine has been raised. Such behavior is not only a disgrace but a danger to the community. It is not a question of personal feeling. It is a right duty that should be performed without delay. Right is right, and the only way to do right is to do it. When it comes to the lives of our children there can be no hesitation. The Civic Improvement society will most gladly work in any way they can for the health, cleanliness and order of our city. It is for our children, it is for our future, it is for our children. It is for our children.

Parents are civic improvement workers in their own homes, teaching their children cleanliness and order out of doors as well as in. Let each child and parent see that their own yard and surroundings are kept irreproachable. The children will soon learn to give their yard a look each day to see there is nothing unclean or disorderly left around.

With a certain place for the rubbish and that made away with at frequent periods, it will take but a very little time to keep the yard in an orderly condition at all times, and the child will soon reach the stage where disorder and unclean conditions are both distasteful and unbearable. Let us all help. It is for our selves. It is for our homes. It is for our children. It is for our neighbors.

CARPENTER SHOOT TO PAY TRIBUTE TO DEPARTED BROTHERS

Santa Fe Employee Is Hero of Near-Hold-Up, Which Has Unexpected Ending; Highwayman Escapes Alive.

Editor Morning Journal:

When A. N. White, foreman of a Santa Fe carpenter crew, stepped out of a work car standing in the yards just south of the Coal Avenue viaduct and started along the track toward the depot, he had no thought of being the hero in a near hold-up, and he was considerably surprised, therefore, when he walked under the viaduct and a rough voiced stranger stepped out from the shadows and confronted him.

"Throw up your hands," gruffly commanded the stranger. There was a glint in the shadow to indicate that he held a leveled revolver, but Mr. White was not at all impressed. Instead of reaching for the floor of the viaduct as requested he reached for his hip pocket and fished out a 35-caliber Colt.

"Bang! Bang! Two shots rang out upon the still night air, which wasn't so still as it might have been, owing to the activities of the 'goat' bawling back cars about the yards. The shots came from the revolver held by Mr. White and pointed in the direction of the bandit. The bandit yelled, as though in agony. Then he turned and withdrew swiftly and silently into the shadows, whence he came.

Mr. White waited a moment for the dying gasp of the bandit. It came not. Then the hero of the night, who had pocketed his revolver and calmly continued his way to the depot, where he reported the incident and turned over his gun, offering to give himself up or do whatever would be required in case it developed that one or both of the shots from his trusty weapon had taken effect in a vital part of the highwayman's anatomy.

Santa Fe Officer Kroh hurried hastily to the scene and with a pocket flashlight he carefully hunted for the dead bandit. There was no dead bandit, not even a drop of blood to show that he had died, and Officer Kroh so reported.

Elks Lodge of Sorrow; Impressive Service to be Held This Afternoon at Opera House.

The Elks' Lodge of sorrow meets today.

Passing in the hurry of life which brings oftentimes easy forgetfulness of those who have passed away, the Elks drop a tear of memory on the lives of the departed. It is an annual custom and one combining the finer elements of fraternity with the nobler feelings of good fellowship. The members departed have joined in the joy of the living and it is essentially fitting that the living wait but a moment on the crowded highway to give a thought to the dead.

Last year there were those who joined in the sentiment of the day whose name will be called, among the missing, and no one can say whether all who join in the sweetly solemn thought of the memorial services to the departed will participate in the coming year. This is one of the most impressive customs of Elksdom.

The program today will be as follows:

Voluntary.....Petite

Fuhrmeyer-Cavanaugh Orchestra.

Funeral March (Elks entering).....Chopin

Wright's Trading Post.

One of the finest stocks of Indian and Mexican goods ever brought to Albuquerque is displayed at Wright's Trading Post, the unique store of Charles A. Wright, at the corner of Third street and Gold Avenue. This store is achieving a continent-wide reputation for the values it gives in this class of goods. The old adage, "bought in the morning and sold in the evening," is being applied to the purpose, and the interior is arranged to display the stock to excellent advantage. So much attention has been attracted outside of Albuquerque that the Dry Goods Reporter recently devoted a page to telling of it.

In view of advices from Mexico that the war probably will be no more drawn work, zepelines, gold and silver work, etc., shipped from that country to this before Christmas, people desiring this beautiful work should make their selections early. Wright's Trading Post is fortunate in recently having stocked up on all these lines. The store carries a new stock of gold and silver flags, work, and other novelties, and the quality of the line is complete, including handkerchiefs, shirts, towels, dresses, centerpieces, tablecloths, napkins, etc. Mr. Wright is confident that his line is complete, which he has taken a great deal of time in selecting, is the finest every brought to Albuquerque. In Navajo blankets his stock is the most complete ever shown, from which complete sets of clothing, including shirts, trousers, and hats, can be selected. A special low rate is now being made on the blankets and also on Chimayo pillow tops, couch covers, dress covers and rugs. The prospective purchaser should certainly make an early inspection of this excellent stock. Store will be open every evening until Christmas.

Welvert's Millinery.

The Welvert's Millinery is making a special low rate on hats for the remainder of the month, as Mrs. Welvert expects to be absent from Albuquerque for some time after the first of the year, and desires to reduce as far as possible the large and complete stock she now has on hand. Hats are priced at $1.25, $1.50, $2.00, and the lines offered at these prices include some great bargains. This sacrifice sale is one of the greatest opportunities ever offered, and the careful buyer and the public is invited to call at Welvert's and see the quality offered at the prices quoted above. The price on everything in this store has been cut to move the goods, and the bargains offered will be a surprise to shoppers.
