FOURTEEN TEAMS TIED IN SIX-DAY BIKE RACE

Record Breaking Clip Maintained By Hardy Riders in Madison Square Garden Contest.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)
New York, Dec. 5.—All the fourteen teams remaining in the six-day bicycle race were tied at midnight tonight at the close of the twenty-fourth hour with 522 laps, 7 laps. This is only one lap less than the record set by the former record for the hour, made by Anderson and Cannon in 1909.

Although the pace set all day and last night was a record-breaker, only one team had dropped out by midnight. The terrific six-day race, which began at 10 o'clock and continued until 10 o'clock and midnight, was a record-breaking event. The leading riders in these teams to reach a lap were Ratt and Stoll, Ratt and Loran, and MacFarland and Clarke at Watkinson. But in every instance their efforts were futile, and the fourteen teams were tied at midnight.

Nearly nine thousand persons in the garden cheered every time a team was in progress. The most remarkable thing about the event so far, is that not a single accident had occurred. The weather was perfect, and the race was a success. The teams were tied at midnight, and the race will continue tomorrow.

BELMONT DENIES USE OF MONEY AT ALBANY

Never Contributed Single Dollar for Purpose of Influencing Legislation, Declares Jockey Club President.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)
New York, Dec. 5.—I cannot make too emphatic the statement I have never directly or indirectly, in person or through any corporation or individuals, contributed, authorized or advised the expenditure of a single dollar improperly to influence legislative action, nor have I been asked to do so.

August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey Club, makes this statement in a letter to M. Linn Bruce, chief counsel for the legislative investigating committee before which he was a witness last week.

The letter was made public tonight with a brief letter from F. K. Sturges, treasurer of the Jockey Club, saying that he himself was in error when he testified recently that James W. Wadsworth, Jr., speaker of the state assembly, recommended as counsel for the racing interests E. T. Coyne of Livingston county. This recommendation, he adds, came from the elder Wadsworth, state commissioner of racing.

Mr. Belmont's letter says in part: "The great bulk of my time is devoted to the management of my banking and railroad interests and I have no interest in the racing industry. I have never contributed a single dollar to the racing industry, nor have I been asked to do so."

The fourteen teams continued even at 2 o'clock this morning, the twenty-fourth hour having traveled 556 miles, 2 laps. The former record was 555 miles, 2 laps made by Ratt and Loran last year.

WON BLUE RIBBON WITH HORSE HE DIDN'T OWN

Another Stunt of Boy Financier
Now Being Sought By Police
Revealed Through Complaint of Angry Creditors.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)
New York, Dec. 5.—Through the complaints of angry creditors here it became known today that on the Saturday before the National horse show opened, Robert E. Davis, the Boston boy financier who is being sought out on a charge of larceny, entered a coach and four he did not own for the classic Arrowhead cup.

With J. H. Coulter of Boston on the box and Morris Howland, one of the best known whips in the country, beside him, he took second place in competition against Alfred Cayenne Vanderbilt and Paul Sorg. Coulter, with that, he protested the winning of the cup, and the whole matter went before the judges, who finally ruled that the protest of the Arrowhead cup was not valid, the name under which Davis looked in the official catalogue was unregistered, and confirmed Paul Sorg in first place.

The coach and four are the property of Coulter, who innocently agreed to drive for Davis for a single consideration of $10,000. Davis had been paid and the New York police said today that in their belief Davis has gone to Mexico.

The details came out today through counsel for George Watson, another well known horse dealer. Davis appeared at his stable early in November and sought to buy a handsome pair for $4,500. He tendered a check, but Watson refused to make delivery until he had heard from the bank. It came back marked no funds. Later Davis appeared in a $2,500 touring car which Watson accepted in exchange for "Ayrshire Queen," a valuable mare. On the appearance of the Boston dealer who sold the car to Davis, Watson learned that it had been paid for in part only and the dealer held a mortgage to secure the balance. The machine has been restored to the owners and Watson has received his mare back.

RECEIVER ASKED FOR BY DAVIS'S VICTIMS

Boston, Dec. 5.—Besides the criminal charge of larceny of $10,000, the evidence before a grand jury shows the existence of some eight racing associations in the territory of Greater New York and vicinity with but one of which, the Westchester Racing Association, have any connection.

"I also have been chairman of the board of stewards of the Jockey Club since its organization 15 years ago," says Davis. "I have been chairman of the board of the Jockey Club since its organization 15 years ago, and I have been chairman of the board of the Jockey Club since its organization 15 years ago."

"My interest in racing as a sport has prompted me to maintain a general and not a special supervision of the racing industry. I have been chairman of the board of the Jockey Club since its organization 15 years ago, and I have been chairman of the board of the Jockey Club since its organization 15 years ago."

"This money was paid him by the legislature of 1908, which passed the bill authorizing the racing industry. I have been chairman of the board of the Jockey Club since its organization 15 years ago, and I have been chairman of the board of the Jockey Club since its organization 15 years ago."

"No suggestion was ever made to me that his bill covered any proper disbursements, or that our money had been in 1907 or in any other year. I have been chairman of the board of the Jockey Club since its organization 15 years ago, and I have been chairman of the board of the Jockey Club since its organization 15 years ago."

"In 1908 the Hart-Agnew law having been passed while I was in Europe, I undertook on my return, after consultation with my associates, the dissolution of such portion of the $40,000 testified to before your committee in public and legal sessions, as I might be able to arrange, and the funds of money paid out from such fund have been correctly given you."

"If in no way shirk my share of the responsibility, but that the public should be persuaded in a belief that I have been chairman of the board of the Jockey Club since its organization 15 years ago, and I have been chairman of the board of the Jockey Club since its organization 15 years ago."

Vall as Colonel Clewley's successor. "I am firmly convinced," says Mr. Mudge, "that the publicity thrown upon corporation affairs has had no harmful effect and can have none. In the case of the railroads it has been beneficial. The roads have been hurt by other things than the publication of the truth. They have been seriously handicapped by an ignorance of the railroad question upon the part of the general public, an ignorance due in part to the inability of the public to get the facts and in part to the efforts of certain classes of politicians to keep them from getting the facts."

"To sum up, however, I believe that all corporations whose securities are widely scattered, of which some direct or indirect contact with the body of our people are under the broad statement that publicity not only will not harm, but will help them."

Members of the Illinois Manufacturers' association claim credit for a victory in Washington on the subject of publicity of the returns of corporations paying the federal tax. They insisted that only those corporations which should be made to disclose their secrets to the public at large, and that all other corporations should be required to report only to their own stockholders.

Western men, like Reynolds and Mudge, are of the opinion that it will not be long, however, before even the so-called close corporations will find it to their benefit to take the public into their confidence.

DOUBLE TRACK WORK MAKES ASH FORK A BIG STORAGE POINT

Ash Fork, Ark., Dec. 4.—Ash Fork is one of the largest storage points along the Santa Fe railroad at the present time, for material to be used in double-tracking that road. Trains of cars loaded with ties are arriving daily, and hundreds of thousands are being piled in the yards. In a short time steel rails will begin to arrive, and with the other material, will make that place the distributing point. Japanese oak ties are used. They are landed at Redondo from the Orient, and are considered the most durable of any.

The big concrete bridge east of this place is also going up rapidly. At other points east of Ash Fork, the force of laborers is being increased, and during the next few months will be reinforced by several hundred men. The gigantic undertaking is progressing rapidly and over 6,000 men are employed.

Arizona Highway Progressing.

Nine miles of the Arizona highway from Prescott to Flagstaff, under the direction of the Arizona highway board, was officially turned over to the board of control this week. Further work for the winter will be discontinued, and the grade will be completed by the end of the year. The highway board, which is in charge of the project, will keep it in repair. The Johnson-Shen company has made a splendid record in building the road, and many deserved compliments are being extended to the management for the care and proficiency displayed. Mr. Shea will make Prescott his permanent home this winter, and it is probable his firm will be reorganized in this section for the work that is to begin next year from the city north and south. The sentiment is expressed that wagons of less than three and one-half inch tires should not be permitted to traverse it for the present.

fore specified in the will that Mr. Schroeder's two sons, Carl and Julius, should die, the fortunate one to have the first choice of certain specified property. The property described by Mr. Schroeder in his will, consists of two houses, believed to be located on South Broadway in this city. The curious testament is written in old style German and was penned January 1, 1899, being witnessed by Adolph Harsch and E. H. Harsch. The document was translated by Otto Dickmann, several days ago.

The will was presented for probate yesterday and Judge Mora fixed February 6, 1911, as a date for the hearing. John F. Schroeder was appointed special administrator. A copy of the will is as follows:

"While I write this, two men are standing alongside of me, namely Mr. Adolph Harsch, senior, and Mr. Adolph Harsch, junior. They will testify to their signatures that I have written it and certainly with a clear mind and full knowledge."

In Albuquerque I have two houses on a lot 20x142 feet. Of these, my son Carl Schroeder shall receive one, and my other son, Julius Schroeder, the other. They shall throw dice. Who in three times will throw the most eyes, selects the first house. Then I have a slaughter house with about three acres of land with it. This goes to both sons for division. Should there be cash money or trifles, it goes in halves. So written, January 1st, 1899.

SALOONKEEPERS FAIL TO POST WARNINGS FOR MINORS, IT IS ALLEGED

The grand jury Saturday returned an indictment against David Perea, a saloonkeeper of Los Grigeros, charging that he failed to post a notice warning minors that it was illegal to sell liquor to them. It is said that the indictment of Perea is only a beginning and that a number of indictments will be returned against other saloonkeepers whom, it is alleged, have failed to observe the law in this particular. Perea was arrested and later released on $100 bond.

Karsten of the Varsity senior class, has passed the Rhodes scholarship examinations, qualifying him as eligible under the Rhodes foundation for a course of study at the English institution. While Mr. Karsten has not been yet formally elected, that matter will be attended to and he will enter Oxford next October. Mr. Karsten is receiving the congratulations of his friends. He came to the University of New Mexico from the University of Illinois and had also done some work at the University of Chicago. The present is his second year at the Varsity. MANAGER OF LOCAL POSTAL OFFICE PROMOTED

R. H. Hawkins, for Many Years in Telegraph Service Here, Becomes Assistant to Superintendent in Denver.

It is announced that R. H. Hawkins, for the past ten years manager of the Postal Telegraph company office, has been promoted to be assistant to Superintendent W. C. Black, of the Postal company, with headquarters in Denver. The change will become effective January 1, and Mr. Hawkins will be relieved here by H. E. Rensau for a number of years manager of the telegraph department for Nelson, Morris & Co., in Chicago. Mr. Hawkins' numerous friends and business associates in Albuquerque will be glad to learn of his well deserved promotion, but will regret that it will necessitate his removal to Denver. For fourteen years a resident of Albuquerque, Mr. Hawkins has practically grown up with the city. During the entire time of his residence here he has been connected with the telegraph companies, for the past ten years being a valued employee of the Postal company. It is doubtful if there is any other man in the west who is such an expert electrician and telegraph engineer as Mr. Hawkins and that he will make good in his new position is a foregone conclusion. The major part of his new duties will be to inspect the various offices of the Postal company in the Denver district, which includes Albuquerque, and to make such improvements in the service as he deems advisable. To Mr. Hawkins' untiring energy and unusual ability is due the fact that the Albuquerque office of the Postal company is known all over the system as the "model Postal office." That Mr. Hawkins will continue to ascend the ladder and that his ability will continue to be recognized by the Postal company is the wish of his many friends in Albuquerque.

man, who "put San Diego on the map." Mr. Collier is en route to Washington, where he will assist a number of prominent Californians in the work of presenting and pressing to official recognition the claims of San Francisco as an ideal place for the holding of the Panama exposition in 1915. The Californian while lauding San Francisco to the skies, will incidentally take time to tell "who's who" in the national capital a few things about New Orleans, La., and why it should not be favored as a place for holding the big exposition when there is such a place on earth as San Francisco, Cal.

Mr. Collier spent but a few moments in Albuquerque but may stop here a day on his return trip to the coast. Alone and unaided, Mr. Collier conceived the idea of holding the Panama exposition in San Diego in 1915. He beat the San Francisco people to it and was successful in placing San Diego's claims before the public in such a persistent way that residents of the Golden Gate city and of northern California became exceedingly alarmed. Delegations called on the governors of California, Oregon, and San Diego and San Francisco, each asking him for his support of their town as the exposition city. The rivalry between the two cities for the exposition became intense. It was New Orleans against San Francisco and San Diego against them both. After San Diego had become advertised to the world as the logical place for the exposition, and every newspaper had "San Diego" splattered over every edition, Collier coolly broke it to the uninitiated that San Diego didn't care for the exposition. It was just a clever advertising scheme and Mr. Collier had "worked" San Francisco and New Orleans to a finish in gaining a great deal of publicity at very little expense.

San Diego, however, is to hold some kind of a Panama exposition in 1915, which will be in the nature of a display of the products of California and of the countries which will be put in direct communication with the Pacific coast as the result of the completion of the Panama canal. It will not be the real Panama exposition, however, the San Diego people wisely knowing that a big exposition is just a little too big for that town. San Diego is now for San Francisco, first, last and all the time for the exposition and Col. Collier is devoting a great deal of his time and energy convincing everybody and everything that San Francisco is the logical place for the big show and that New Orleans would be a very inappropriate town in which to hold the attraction.

Wise Talks by the Office Boy

The thrifty housewife had just handed the diligent tramp a nickel and couldn't resist the temptation to ask him what he was going to do with it.

"Well, mum," said the hungry one, "if I buy a touring car, I won't have enough left to pay my chauffeur; if I purchase an aeroplane, there won't be enough left to hire an aviator; so I guess I'll get a schooner, for that I can handle myself."

I've been working on the big pipes this week. You know a plumber has to know a lot about pipes, as well as another people, and while I am learning the plumber's trade I want to know all about it. I hear of another good trade that's coming in now—trust busting. A few years ago some wise ducks made a pot of money getting the trusts together, and now some of this same bunch are helping to join them asunder. We are all progressive around this clothing and men's furnishing business, but I think I'll stick to the pipes. Every shoemaker to his last, and every plumber to his pipes.

Well, it's no pipe that we have a splendid line of men's and youth's clothing to offer you this fall. It is so good that I won't attempt to describe it, but will invite you to call and inspect the good goods for yourself. It gets monotonous to be singing the praises of even the best things on earth, so we'll swap jobs if you'll let us. You'll do the praising all right.
