CARS TO RUN TO HIGHLANDS IN THE NEAR FUTURE

Trolley Line Sold to Albuquerque Traction Company for $5750; Completion of System Starts at Once.

WORK OF EQUIPMENT TO BEGIN IN FEW DAYS

Citizens' Traction Company Offers to Cancel Nearly Half of Price if System is Extended to the University.

As the result of the sale last night of the electric properties of the Citizens' Traction and Power company to the Albuquerque Traction company for $5,750, $3,200 in cash and a one-year note for $2,550, work will be started in a day or two on the completion of the line in the Highlands, the installation of poles and wires and other necessary equipment, to the end that trolley cars may be run to the south end of South 24th street in the shortest possible time.

A proposition by the selling company to cancel the $2,550 note if the system is extended in a year to the university will be made to the Albuquerque Traction company today, and there is a possibility that such an extension may be included in its plans. The old company has already formulated plans for the building of its own power plant as soon as possible and further improvement in the service.

TRACTION COMPANY OFFER UNANIMOUSLY ACCEPTED

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Citizens' Traction and Power company last night at the Commercial club, it was unanimously voted to accept the offer of the Albuquerque Traction company to buy the Citizens' Traction and Power company for $5,750. The offer of the Albuquerque Traction company was read at the meeting in the form of a letter from that company. The purchasing company offers to pay $3,200 cash and tender a note for $2,550, payable in a year from date, bearing 8 per cent interest. After the reading of the offer it was moved by Attorney John A. White to accept the offer. The vote was taken and proved unanimous.

WILL CANCEL NOTE IF LINE IS BUILT TO UNIVERSITY

Colonel D. K. B. Sellers then moved that the directors be instructed to ask the Albuquerque Traction people if they would consider a proposition to extend the system to the university. The contract of the Citizens' Traction company in one year's time, if the Citizens' company would cancel the note for $2,550; and that in case such a proposition was accepted, as an additional stockholders' meeting at once to vote on the matter. This motion was passed unanimously and the proposition will be made at once to the purchasers of the line. Whether it will be accepted is problematical, as it is understood the present power plant would not push a loaded car up the steep hill to the university, and such an extension would require a general enlargement of the company's facilities.

A. W. Hayden presided at last night's meeting.

CAN START WORK IN 24 HOURS, SAYS CHADBOURNE

"With the acceptance of our offer for the Highland property and the concluding of the negotiations with the Citizens' company, we are prepared to put men to work on the completion of the line in twenty-four hours, or at the most a day or two," said Manager M. O. Chadbourne of the purchasing line, last night.

"Our object will be to have cars running into the Highlands in the shortest possible time. Most of our staff will be here in thirty days and a place in forty-five days, if shipments are in anywise prompt. The switch connections with our old line will be the only possible means of serious delay. If we can get them here, as we should, in ninety days, it will not be much longer than the time before we are ready to run cars into the Highlands."

Mr. Chadbourne says that it will cost his company nearly $4,000 to put the line in shape for actual use, the wire and accessories alone costing between $2,000 and $4,000. The poles and other equipment are all ready to be installed, so there is no prospect of delay in starting the actual work.

From Mr. Chadbourne it was also learned last night that the company has been planning for some time the building of its own power plant, and a general improvement of the service. While new cars may not be placed in service at once after the completion of the new line, it is the intention of the company to secure new rolling stock in the near future.

WITNESSES IN MURDER TRIAL ALLEGE ATTEMPT WAS MADE TO BRIBE THEM

Paris, Ky., Dec. 14.—A sensation was sprung in the trial of the four men of Breathitt county who are charged with the murder of John Almer here today when two of the leading commonwealth witnesses, William Sudham and Russell Sizmore filed affidavits that A. S. Johnson, a friend of the deceased, attempted to bribe Sudham to leave Paris and not testify against the defendants. It was alleged in the affidavit that the attempted bribery took place in the corridors of the court house last Monday just before the trial started.

POLICEMAN SHOTS BROTHER OFFICER

Houston, Texas, Dec. 14.—Mounted Officer Lubbock, of the city police force today shot and probably fatally wounded James Fife, also a mounted officer of the city.

Fife was with Lubbock's daughter on the streets when the latter met them and opened fire. Miss Lubbock ran to her father and endeavored to keep him from shooting. The attentions of Fife to Lubbock's daughter were objectionable to the latter.

PROPOSED INCREASE IN LUMBER RATE DELAYED

Chicago, Dec. 14.—During an interstate commerce commission hearing today, counsel for western trans-shipment roads appeared and announced that the contemplated raise in rates on hard wood lumber to the Pacific coast would not go into effect until after a hearing before the commission which has been arranged for some time in March. The increase proposed was ten cents a hundred-weight, making the rate eighty-five cents.

YOUNG WOMAN GUILTY OF MURDER

HATTIE LE BLANC ACQUITTED BY JURY

Judge Overrules Motion of Prosecutor to Hold Little French Canadian Girl as Witness Against Mrs. Glover.

(By Morning Journal Special Lensed Wire)

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 14.—Hattie Le Blanc's plea that she be allowed to go back to her home in West Aitch, C. B., with her father, was granted today when a jury, after deliberating an hour and a half, decided in her favor. The jury found Hattie Le Blanc guilty of the murder of Charles F. Glover, a laundryman at Waltham.

The verdict was so popular that the traditional decorum of a Massachusetts court was swept aside while men and women cheered, whistled and wept for joy. The demonstration continued for fifteen or twenty minutes and the court officials were powerless to stem the enthusiasm.

Immediately after the girl had been discharged for meekness, Assistant District Attorney Wier endeavored to persuade Judge Bond to hold Hattie as a witness to give evidence before the grand jury, which might warrant the indictment of Mrs. Lillian M. Glover, the widow of the murdered man, who had been accused by counsel for the defense of being the real culprit in the case.

Judge Bond declined to grant the request, saying the evidence presented against Mrs. Glover in the present trial was insufficient to convict and that if a jury in his court should convict on such evidence the judge would not set aside the verdict.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

Washington, Dec. 14.—Mild filibusters marked the session in both houses of congress today. In the senate practically the entire time was taken up by Senator Bristow of Kansas, whose opposition to the French spoliation claims included in the omnibus claims bill prevented the passage of that measure. What for an hour threatened a renewal of the bitter fight on the rules marked the opening of the business of the house when opposition developed to the taking up of the bill or the modification and revision of the laws relating to the judiciary. Speaker Cannon declined to decide whether the house could take up a measure from the calendar which it had up for consideration on the previous calendar Wednesday. Accordingly the house was adjourned.

MISSOURI PACIFIC SHOP STRIKE TO BE CALLED OFF

St. Louis, Dec. 14.—The strike of the Missouri Pacific machinists, boilermakers and blacksmiths which has been in progress for nearly seven months, probably will be called off tomorrow, according to a statement of James O'Connell, president of the International Association of Machinists here tonight.

REVOLT RAGES OUTLOOK DARK IN HOLY LAND IN EVENT OF WAR

ATTEMPT TO DISARM BEDOUINS RESISTED

Turkish Officials and Soldiers Slain By Wild Tribesmen of River Jordan; American Tourists Robbed.

(By Morning Journal Special Lensed Wire)

Jerusalem, Dec. 15.—Reports from the Syrian Vilayet where Bedouin revolts have recently been reported, indicate that the uprising is a serious one. Many Turkish officials have been massacred and at several military posts the troops were annihilated.

An Englishman, who was an eye witness of some of the scenes of the uprising, brings a detailed account to this city. Several companies of troops, he says, had been sent out with field guns to effect the disarmament of the Bedouins. The troops were successful in small companies among the various tribes in the district east of the Jordan when the revolt broke out.

The revolt was carefully planned, and executed. The Bedouins were led by Chief Mejilla of El Korak, whose father was a desert chieftain of international prominence.

The Bedouins, objecting to the disarmament program, planned an armed resistance, and attacked the troops simultaneously at all stations north of Macan.

They were successful at every point, completely annihilating the troops, capturing sixteen field guns and killing many of the Turkish railway employees. The victorious revolters then moved on El Korak, a town of about 2,000 inhabitants, located twenty miles east of the Dead sea. Here, too, they were successful. They massacred the governors and their families, looted and burned the government buildings and robbed eight American tourists. The latter suffered no personal injury, however.

FIRE BREAKS OUT ANEW IN DEVASTATED TOWN

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 14.—Fire which destroyed a portion of the business section of Louisville, Ky., early today broke out anew tonight, and fire fighting apparatus from this city was rushed there by special train.

Tonight's fire started from smoldering embers of the morning blaze and was extinguished before firemen from this city reached the scene. Two brick and two frame structures and their contents were destroyed.

MRS. EDDY LEAVES BULK OF ESTATE TO CHURCH

Ten Thousand Dollars Each Go to Son and Grandchildren; Will Filed for Probate.

(By Morning Journal Special Lensed Wire)

Concord, N. H., Dec. 14.—"For the purpose of more effectively promoting and extending the religion of Christianity as taught by me," Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy in her will, filed here today, makes the mother church of Boston her residuary legatee, after various other bequests are paid.

Among these is one of $100,000 to the Christian Science board of directors to be held in trust to provide free instruction for "Indigent Christian Scientists."

In addition the previous gift to her son, George W. Glover, of Lead, S. D., of $10,000 is given him in the will and the same sum is given each of his five children.

Er. J. Foster Eddy, her adopted son, gets $5,000; Calvin A. Frye, $20,000, and there are several more bequests of $1,000 to $5,000 each to relatives and to attendants of the Eddy household.

By codicils, Mrs. Eddy directs that an indebtedness upon the church edifice of the second church of Christ Science in New York shall be cancelled from her estate, and bequeaths her "crown of Diaz" breast pin to Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson of New York.

Conservative estimates in advance of the official appraisal of the Eddy estate place its value at $1,500,000.

ENGINEERS DECLINE TO ARBITRATE DEMANDS

Chicago, Dec. 14.—Engineers of sixty-one western railroads who submitted a strike ultimatum to the managers on Monday, today sent an ultimatum to the managers' committee, refusing to arbitrate their demand for increased wages. The communication was in answer to one sent by the managers' committee yesterday, which, while not only offering arbitration, paved the way for conferences.

Confidential Report Sent to Congress

(By Morning Journal Special Lensed Wire)

Washington, Dec. 14.—A report from the war department showing how the country was inadequately protected against invasion from foreign governments was sent to the house today as a secret document, and after several conferences and hurried telephone messages, was returned to the war department because the house could not receive a secret report.

Members of congress who saw the document before its withdrawal say the report of Secretary Dickinson points out that the country is wholly unprepared for war; that there is a woeful inadequacy of men, guns and ammunition; that the army should be reorganized and that a council of national defense, with a secretary of war at its head, should be created by congress.

The report of General Wood, marked "confidential," dealt with the same matter and gave official administration to matters that are of more or less common knowledge among army and navy experts in this country and abroad.

In fact, the real significance of the document is that it makes official the whole subject of national defense, told where the weak points lay, and laid particular emphasis on the possibility of attack from the Orient. He did not give vent to any alarm, but talked about the official prudence of taking immediate action to guard against any possible trouble from Japan or China.

Representative McLaughlin of California, the author of the bill to create a council of national defense, already well known among army and navy officers.

General Wood, before the house military committee, furnished some interesting information. He discussed the whole subject of national defense, told where the weak points lay, and laid particular emphasis on the possibility of attack from the Orient.

ENTRENCHED REBELS SHELLED BY NAVARRO

PIERSON ROAD SENDS OUT ANNOUNCEMENT THAT NEITHER GOVERNMENT TROOPS NOR INSURGENTS MAY USE ITS LINE.

(By Morning Journal Special Lensed Wire)

Mexico City, Dec. 14.—A special to El Heraldo Mexicano this afternoon from Chihuahua says the main body of revolutionists who retreated toward Ciudad Guerrero after Sunday's battle, had been attacked at that place and that the conflict was still in progress.

It is known, the dispatch says, that for three hours after Sunday's rout of the rebels, the federal forces pursued them, capturing many prisoners. General Navarro then gathered his detachments together and after a short rest took the road for Ciudad Guerrero, determined to press his advantage before the rebels had time to concentrate and entrench themselves.

The fight was said to have begun last night, but to have ceased when darkness came. This morning the attack was renewed, General Navarro having posted his artillery in a favorable position to take the rebels' stronghold. The revolutionists were estimated to be about 900 strong and were said to be making a stubborn resistance.

MEXICO NORTHWESTERN DECLARES NEUTRALITY

El Paso, Texas, Dec. 14.—A message received today at the local office of the Mexico Northwestern states that by agreement no troops or war supplies either for the federal or insurgents will be transported over the road in Mexico. It is stated that the insurgents will not molest the road providing this rule is strictly adhered to. The Madera branch of the Mexico Northwestern has been partially controlled by the insurgents for nearly a month.

FAMINE THREATENED IN STORM SWEEP SPAIN

Barcelona, Dec. 14.—Storms are flooding a large part of the country and the situation is becoming desperate in the provinces of Malaga, Seville, Valladolid, Badajoz, Zamora, Oviedo and Coruna.

Practically all the crops have been destroyed and the people are threatened with famine. Many villages are now submerged and countless bridges have been swept away. Railroad and telegraphic communications are broken everywhere and it has been found almost impossible to send assistance to the sufferers.

The British steamer Gravina dragged her anchor at Coruna and was dashed against a jetty. The Norwegian steamer Hifi is reported ashore at Orotava, Tenerife, and is regarded as a total loss. Four of her crew perished.

BAD ACCIDENT ON SANTA FE LINE IN OKLAHOMA

One Man Killed; Thirty-One Injured When Cars Jump From Bridge Into River.

(By Morning Journal Special Lensed Wire)

Davis, Okla., Dec. 14.—One man was killed and thirty-one were seriously injured when three cars of a south-bound Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe train were thrown from a bridge and into the Washita river, five miles from here, this afternoon. The accident was caused by a broken tie.

The dead was FLOYD GOAN of Davis, Okla., an Indian.

Among the seriously injured are: Robert Etheridge, Mills county, Texas.

P. Jackson (colored), porter, Cleburne, Texas.

W. B. Rice, Elkins, N. M.

A. L. Rice, Elkins, N. M.

Practically everyone on the train was hurt, but most of them in a minor degree.

The smoking car, the baggage car and the first car plunged from the track forty feet into the Washita river, landing bottomside up. The engine did not follow them, and the Pullman and the other passengers cars kept the track.

The injured will remain here until the bridge, which was almost totally demolished, has been repaired, and then they will be taken to a hospital at Temple, Texas. Two of the injured may die.

WILLIE HOPPE WEDS GIRL WHOSE LIFE HE SAVED

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 14.—Willie Hoppe, the billiard expert, was married this afternoon at the cathedral to Miss Alice Walsh, only daughter of Thomas Walsh, a wealthy clothing manufacturer of New York. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. P. C. Gavan, chancellor of the archdiocese of Baltimore.

bride. The couple came to this city from New York today, accompanied by Miss May Maxwell, friend of Miss Walsh, and by Hoppe's manager, B. L. Monk. Those with Baltimore friends were the only witnesses.

A necessary preliminary to a marriage under such conditions being the assent of the pastor of the bride, this was obtained from New York by long distance telephone. The first meeting of Hoppe and Miss Walsh is said to have taken place three years ago at Atlantic City, when the young lady's life was saved by Hoppe.

MISS GOULD'S BARON FOUGHT IN THREE WARS

London, Dec. 14.—The engagement is announced of Lord Ouseley and Miss Vivian Gould, second daughter of George J. Gould, of New York. Lord Ouseley, fifth Baron Ouseley, succeeded to the title a short while ago through the death of his father, an Irish-born December 5, 1888. He is a lieutenant colonel of the seventh Hussars and a member of the distinguished service order.

He has fought in many campaigns, serving against the Mad Mullah in Somaliland, in the Matabele war, and in the Boer war.

He is a polo player and a cricketer and is keenly interested in hunting and racing.

NO CHANGE IN STANDING OF BRITISH PARTIES

London, Dec. 14.—The results in the general elections announced tonight leave the position of the rival parties unchanged. This is:

Government coalition—Liberals, 223; Nationalists, 61; independent nationalists, 9; laborites, 38. Total, 331.

Opposition—Unionists, 251; Coalition majority, 80.

PINCHOT PUTS IT SQUARELY TO CONGRESS

CANNOT DODGE ISSUE ON BALLINGER REPORTS

Deposed Forester Declares Cause of Those Who Attacked Secretary of Interior is Cause of the People.

(By Morning Journal Special Lensed Wire)

Washington, Dec. 14.—"Congress cannot now fairly avoid the responsibility of ruling on the reports of the committee," declared former Forester Gifford Pinchot today in discussing the recent report of the majority of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee.

Mr. Pinchot said that from the beginning it was known that the report would be and that the "standpat majority" did only what was expected of them.

Pinchot now centers in the question of what action congress is going to take on the report," continued Mr. Pinchot. "When a court appoints a master to take testimony, find facts and make recommendations, the court is bound to consider the master's report and make a final decision. In this case congress is the court and it cannot fairly avoid the responsibility of ruling on the committee's reports."

He said the public was entitled to know which of the three reports congress approves.

"Certainly the standpatters in congress who believe in the Ballinger kind of conservation should have a chance to go on record to that effect," he continued. "The question whether Mr. Ballinger is an unfaithful public servant is of little consequence compared to saving the country in Asia and the water power rights for the people."

"If these are saved, the men against whom the majority of the investigating committee have decided will win, no matter what the resources are lost to the people, these men will lose, too. That is what the fight is about."

HOMESTEADERS GRANTED EXTENSION OF TIME

Washington, Dec. 14.—A bill allowing homesteaders an extension of time for establishing residence on their locations from December 1st to May 1st in answer to the winter hardships in their sections, was favorably reported by the house committee on public lands today. The bill also permits those who have already established residence to continue the passage of the bill until May 1st.

To Pool Wool Crop.

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 14.—The Kentucky Wool Growers' association today decided to pool the output of 1911 which it is estimated will amount to 2,000,000 pounds.

Foss Quits Directorate.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 14.—The directors of the Chicago Junction Railways and Union Stock Yards company have accepted the resignation of Governor-elect Eugene N. Foss, as a director. In the recent campaign Mr. Foss was charged by the republicans with being a director of a "corporation owned by the beef trust."

Mr. Foss presented his resignation last spring, but its acceptance was deferred until now.

Stock Exchange Closes December 4. New York, Dec. 14.—The board of governors of the stock exchange voted today to close the exchange on Saturday, December 24, preceding Christmas day. The exchange accordingly will be closed from Friday afternoon until Tuesday morning.

TEN MILLIONS TO FURTHER UNIVERSAL PEACE

Andrew Carnegie Gives Tune in Bonds to Be Used in Propaganda for Abolition of War.

LEADERS IN NATIONAL LIFE NAMED TRUSTEES

Estimated Annual Income of Five Hundred Thousand Dollars Made Available for Promotion of Human Happiness.

(By Morning Journal Special Lensed Wire)

Washington, Dec. 14.—Surrounded by twenty-seven trustees of his choosing, comprising former cabinet members, former ambassadors, college presidents, lawyers, and educators, Andrew Carnegie today transferred to them $10,000,000 in five per cent first mortgage bonds, to be devoted primarily to the establishment of universal peace by the abolition of war between nations and such friction as may impair "the progress and happiness of man."

When war between nations shall have ceased, the fund is to be applied to such altruistic purposes as will "best help man in his glorious ascent upward and upward," by the banishment of the "most degrading evil or evils," then harrassing mankind.

A resolution of thanks was presented by Joseph H. Choate, former United States ambassador to Great Britain, which was adopted. John L. Cadwalader of New York proposed that a committee of seven be appointed to consider the subject of the organization of the body of trustees, the form of charter to be obtained and other details of organization.

This was adopted. Senator Elihu Root of New York was unanimously selected permanent chairman and James Barry Scott, solicitor of the state department, was chosen permanent secretary of the board until a more definite organization is effected.

Mr. Carnegie declined to be included in the future organization, but expressions of gratitude were uttered by many of the trustees at the meeting who look forward to continued advice from the donor.

Exactly what purposes will be served by the gift and its estimated income of $500,000, the trustees could not say, as the whole project has been forward under the most general terms, leaving wide discretion and comprehension in the fulfillment.

Coming only a day before the opening session of the American Society for the Judicial Settlement of International Disputes, an organization which is co-operating with Secretary Knox in the movement for the final establishment of a court of arbitral justice, the gift is based on the assertion that the newly created commission will lend such aid to the project as will be incident to the accomplishment of world-wide peace through judicial channels.

It is known Mr. Carnegie will explain further the purposes of his gift at the opening session of the American Society for the Judicial Settlement of International Disputes to be held tomorrow night.

James Brown Scott, president of the society, will preside, and Joseph H. Choate and Andrew J. Montague, formerly governor of Virginia, who are trustees of the new peace fund, also will make address.

CALIFORNIA TRUSTEE ACCEPTS APPOINTMENT

San Francisco, Dec. 14.—W. Foster, the California trustee chosen by Andrew Carnegie as one of the trustees entrusted with the disposition of the $10,000,000 to be used for the promotion of international peace, said today that he had accepted the trusteeship and would aid in the disposition of the fund on lines acceptable to the donor. He said that Mr. Carnegie had outlined his plans to him in confidence last November.

NO MONEY BALM FOR DISTURBED SPIRITS

Federal Court in Alaska Decides Against Claim of Indians for Desecration of Graveyard.

(By Morning Journal Special Lensed Wire)
Seattle, Wash., Dec. 14.—The United States district court at Valdez, Alaska, has decided unfavorably to Chief Goodrich of the Copper River Indians in his suit against the Copper River railroad for $10,000 for damages caused by the railroad running its line through the ancient Indian graveyard at O'Brien creek. The railroad dug up and re-buried the bones of the Indians and this re-burial, the court considered sufficient. It was recommended by the Indians that it would be necessary to propitiate the spirits of the dead for the indignity to their bones and they proposed to spend $10,000 in a pot-batch, or feast to conciliate the disturbed spirits.

SPORTS

NATIONAL LEAGUE
RETAINS LYNCH
AS PRESIDENT

Boston and St. Louis Teams to Change Hands; Schedule
Committee Named to Fix
Dates for Season.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)
New York, Dec. 14.—Robert L. Hedges notified the annual meeting of the National League of Professional Baseball Clubs today that he had received an offer for his majority interest in the St. Louis club, and with the consent of the league, he would accept it.

The league appointed a committee, consisting of President Dan Johnson, President Charles Comiskey of Chicago and President Frank J. Farrell of New York, to consider the offer and report tomorrow. It was commonly understood that the sale would be approved and that the St. Louis Americans would change hands.

The identity of the persons making the offer was not made public, but it was intimated that the sum involved would amount well into six figures, and that John R. Bruce, a wealthy stockholder, would increase his holdings.

The Boston National league club also is in process of sale. William H. Russell and James H. Phelan were to have paid today $150,000 for the majority interest held by John P. Harris, but were able to show only $60,000 in cash.

They had an option which Harris said he was willing to extend indefinitely, but he would take no less than the sum originally stipulated. The matter stands in that position now, with only this much definite, that Fred Tenney will be manager next season, no matter who is owner.

Thomas J. Lynch was re-elected president of the National league for one year.

His acceptance belied reports that he would not take such a short contract. An effort was made so to change the constitution, that a president might be elected for more than one year. To do this required an affirmative vote of six of the eight members.

On the proposition the vote stood five to three. The National league appointed a committee to confer with the American league on conflicting Sunday dates with the minor leagues, particularly in the west.

Murphy, Ebbetts and Fogel with their three votes, again won a victory in defeating a resolution to amend the constitution so that the schedule committee should be composed of one from each of the leagues, and in February they will confer with Ban Johnson and the two will promulgate the schedules for both major leagues.

The league adopted a resolution allowing the acceptance by players of prizes, such as were contested for by Lajoie and Cobb last season.

Under the by-laws of the American league, the old directorate, consisting of representatives from Boston, New York, Cleveland and Chicago clubs, retired today and representatives of St. Louis, Detroit, Washington and Philadelphia, will take their places.

Vice-President Somers of the American league was re-elected.

Both the American and National leagues received a petition from the Western and Three I leagues to retain their present classifications. Under the recent census the Western league would lose its rating in class A, and the Three I would go back from class B to C.

Both major leagues appointed their presidents to confer on the matter with a recommendation that the Western and the Indiana, Illinois and Iowa leagues retain their present ratings. Under a lower rating the majors would not have to pay so much for drafted players.

Canadians Find Racing Unprofitable. Montreal, Dec. 14.—At the annual meeting of the Montreal Jockey club today, it was announced that while the two race meetings under the new law had shown a fair profit, fourteen days of racing in a year did not produce sufficient revenue to pay interest on the investment.

WORK BADGER GAME. ON WASHINGTON MERCHANT.

Handsomeness Young Woman and Male Companions Held for Forcing Victim to Sign Check at Point of Revolver.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)
Washington, Dec. 14.—A daring and sensational "badger game" has been unearthed by the Washington police resulting in the arrest of Mrs. James B. Knott, a handsome young woman; her husband, his brother, Benjamin, 32 years old, and Alton A. Armstrong, 20 years old.

All are held under a charge of blackmailing, except Benjamin K. Knott, who is under $1,000 bond to appear as a witness. The complaint in the case is Henry Rosenthal, senior member of a mercantile firm in this city.

Rosenthal alleges, and the alleged confession made to the police by two of the most arrested confirms his statements, that he was surprised in the room of Mrs. Knott, in one of the most fashionable apartment houses of the city by her husband, who presented a revolver to his head and demanded under pain of death, he sign a check for $5,000.

Under the persuasion of the weapon, Rosenthal complied.

Knott thereupon exhibited photographs of Rosenthal and Mrs. Knott that had been taken in her room. The police found a brilliant mercury light suspended above the bed in the apartment and a hole in the wall separating it from an adjoining room through which the pictures had been taken.

At this stage in the proceedings Armstrong and Benjamin Knott entered the room, and according to Rosenthal, began to quarrel. The plan to force him to pay his way out of the difficulty in which he found himself.

Rosenthal told the story of the affair to his partner, who arranged for a coup by the police. He took Rosenthal to arrange with Knott to call at the store to receive $2,000 which he would be able to pay in cancellation of the $5,000 check.

When Knott appeared a detective was on hand, heard the conversation between Knott and Rosenthal and the arrests followed.

EXPLOSION COSTS
DOZEN LIVES

Only Two Men Escape From Flaming Death Trap, One of Whom Dies on Reaching Surface.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)
Norton, Va., Dec. 14.—An explosion in the mine of the Bond Coal company at Greene, six miles east of here, this morning, cost the lives of twelve of the fourteen men in the workings at the time. Only two escaped, one of whom died shortly after being taken out.

Because of the gaseous condition of the mine, the rescue work had to be stopped tonight, and the other bodies will not be brought out before morning.

The explosion came without warning, and it is believed to have been caused by an accumulation of gas set off by "blowing" coal. The air shaft was thought to be in good condition and nothing of the kind was expected.

The same mine, however, had a similar explosion three years ago, in which six men were killed.

Only slight damage was done to the mine.

MAN WHO ROCKED BOAT
AMONG THE DROWNED

Everett, Wash., Dec. 14.—Seven men, if not more, were drowned yesterday when a twelve-foot launch, containing eleven men, was engulfed in the Snohomish river below Marysville.

Besides the six reported dead last night, the body of an unidentified man was found today. He was one of three men who rocked the boat. A crippled boy named Fitch was on the boat and is missing.

The men were loggers, bound from Marysville to Everett to continue a season of revelry.

POLICE UNABLE TO FASTEN CRIME ON PRISONERS

Two Men Held for Quadruple
Murder Near Kansas City.
Protest Their Innocence.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)
Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 14.—Though none of the clues on which the police have been working, have brought new developments in the mystery surrounding the quadruple murder on the Barnhart farm south of here last week, two men are detained for investigation by the authorities. John Feenle, arrested by the Kansas City, Kan., police is still held, and it is said, he will be turned over to the authorities of Johnson county, Kan., tomorrow.

Sam Bailey, arrested here on suspicion, was questioned today, but he maintained his innocence. He will be held by the police until a chemical analysis can be made of the stains believed to be blood, which were found on his overalls.

The story circulated late today that the body supposed to be that of George Barnhart, was the body of a former farm hand, is not believed by the police. Shortly after the bodies were found neighbors positively identified that of George Barnhart.

CONSERVATION CONGRESS
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Doc Molnes, La., Dec. 14.—President Henry Wallace of the conservation congress, today announced the executive committee of the association, as follows:

J. B. White, Kansas City, chairman; J. M. Tait, Portland, Ore.; E. L. Worsham, Atlanta; George C. Pardee, Keokuk, Ia.; H. H. Hensley, Idaho; N. Y. Frank C. Gould, Denver; C. J. James R. Garfield, Cleveland; O. W. Williams, Ft. Collins, Colo.; W. H. Moore, St. Louis, Mo.; Baltimore, Md.

Messers, Page, Garfield, Pardee, Gould and Worsham are the members of the committee. Clifford Pinchot has written Mr. Wallace a letter highly commending the selection.

Kansas City, Wash., D.C. and Providence, R. I., already have applied to the committee for the next regular meeting of the congress.

AEROPLANES WON'T
SUPPLANT RAIL

Air Craft Will Never Come Into General Use as Freight
Carrier Declares Aviator Mars
at Phoenix.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 14.—"People all over the world are now investing in aerial transportation, companies and they're all being lured," declared J. C. Mars, the aviator who flew at the fair grounds Friday and Saturday afternoon. Just before his departure Fresno.

"Aeroplanes will never be used to carry freight except to points inaccessible to railroads," continued Mars. "There's nothing in this talk about the aeroplane displacing railroads. They can't do it, and they won't—at least not until you and I and everyone else now living are dead. I don't think it will ever come even then."

"It is true that aeroplanes can be used to great advantage in reaching mountain peaks and other places that can't be reached in the ordinary ways. It will even be possible to carry light pieces of machinery and in this way the aeroplane may become useful to mining companies. But for all ordinary purposes of freight the aeroplane is practically worthless."

Mars was asked his opinion of the statement made by an aviator in the east a few days ago that aeroplanes will never become popular as a means of locomotion until they can go faster than automobiles or railroads.

"Aeroplanes are designed for scout work," he replied. "They will not be used for passenger carrying for a great many years. But in war the aeroplane is today indispensable, not as a fighting machine but for scout work. It is now possible to launch a machine from the deck of a battleship or a light aircraft carrier and to fly over a hundred miles around can be swept with a pair of glasses. A fleet of battleships fifty or sixty miles away is quite plain by use of a pair of binoculars. It is a little more difficult at that distance. When Cervera's fleet was bottled up in Santiago harbor and the Americans did not know where the Spanish ships were, they could have been seen by anyone in an aeroplane at a height of 10,000 feet.

Mars said that it is much safer to fly at a height of two or three thousand feet than near the ground. If an aviator loses control of his machine at a high altitude he has some chance to regain control before he strikes the earth, while if he is flying low he has a much shorter time in which to make for land. Another advantage is that he can coast a long distance of flying high and stands more chance to pick out a favorable landing place.

OPTION SECURED ON SITE FOR FEDERAL BUILDING AT LAS CRUCES

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
Las Cruces, N. M., Dec. 13.—The U. S. ranch, which is owned by Norwood Hall, on the west side of the Rio Grande, has shipped six carloads of fine fat steers to Kansas City. As the pasture on the ranch is excellent at present and the cattle in fine shape, other shipments are to follow.

School superintendent J. Howard Wagner last Saturday received the sad news that his brother, Professor Clyde L. Wagner, superintendent of public schools at Attica, Ind., had been accidentally killed while out hunting. Professor Wagner left for Indiana immediately.

The appropriation of $15,000 for a federal building is not quite sufficient to tempt the gentleman from Washington, who was here recently, to make a selection out of the numerous bids submitted to him. The people got together and secured the option on a site, the southeast corner of Main and Griggs streets, for $20,000, making up the difference by private subscription.

GOES 800 MILES
FROM FREDONIA
TO FLAGSTAFF

Remarkable Trip of Plucky
Ohio Girl From North of Canyon to Take Examination for Teachers.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 13.—Miss Corrie E. Fish, a frail, slender little Ohio girl who left her home town more than two months ago to teach school in Fredonia, Ariz., traveled from her new home, three days by stage and three days by rail, through three states and one territory, in order to reach Flagstaff, 130 miles away on the cross files, and take the examination that would entitle her to a teacher's certificate.

The journey of Miss Fish has few parallels in the history of the west, even in the days before there were any railroads. Though she traveled through the wildest country now remaining in America, she met with no accidents, and though she saw many Indians which her eastern training and rearing led her to fear, she was never molested in any way. In fact, she found that the trip was as safe as her friends in Fredonia, where it would be, though it was very fatiguing and to travel 800 miles to reach a place only 120 miles away was a decidedly new experience for her.

News of Miss Fish's remarkable trip has been brought to Phoenix by Kirk T. Moore, territorial superintendent of public instruction, who was in Flagstaff last week, when the quarterly teachers' examination was held at that place. Among those who took the examination was Miss Fish, and as soon as she had passed in her papers she commenced the long journey back to Fredonia, where to join the young ladies who are in the latest style approved by Ohio and Arizona authorities.

Fredonia is the largest of two small settlements situated in that part of Arizona known as the Grand Canyon. Six weeks ago the trustees of the Fredonia school engaged her, by mail, as a teacher. She had had several years' experience and they considered her unusually fortunate in securing her services. She was a little timid about venturing into the west of which she knew so little, and her heart almost failed her when she stepped out at Lake railroad at a little station away in the Colorado desert, and boarded the stage for Fredonia.

Three days from the time she left the railroad, Miss Fish reached Fredonia. In the midst of the wilderness she found civilization. In that settlement, almost at the northern edge of Arizona, she found a hospitable people anxious to make her welcome.

But in order to hold her position she had to have an Arizona certificate. Flagstaff was the nearest place where she could take the examination, and the road to Flagstaff was 225 miles long, winding through the wildest, roughest kind of country. Moreover, the Little Colorado river, a stream of shifting, treacherous quicksand at all times, and particularly unsafe at this season, lay between there and Flagstaff, and the only way that she could cross the intervening space was by private arrangements. She decided to go by stage to the railroad, as she had come, and circle around to Flagstaff by rail.

Boarding a Salt Lake train at the point where the stage crossed the road, Miss Fish traveled through Utah, across Nevada to Leavitt, Cal. There she took a train on a little desert railroad and crossed to Torrey, on the main line of the Santa Fe. From that point she traveled westward, across the Colorado river and through Mohave, Yavapai and Coconino counties to Flagstaff. She had covered nearly 300 miles in six days and was only 120 miles from the place she had started from.

Ed Jones, school superintendent of Coconino county, had twice visited the Fredonia school during his last day in the office. Each time it took him seven days to go there and back, traveling on horseback and in rigs. From the little Colorado at Lee's Ferry, angles up into Utah City, and then south to Fredonia. Some of the road is decidedly rough, but on all sides is some of the grandest scenery to be found in the world.

Whenever an election is held it costs the county $20 to get the returns from Fredonia. A man is sent out from Flagstaff and he starts back the day after the election with all the books and records thereof, losing his own vote.

Though Fredonia is in an out-of-the-way place, its school is an excellent one in every way. Two teachers are employed and last term forty pupils were enrolled.

That part of Arizona lying beyond the Grand Canyon is as little known and as sparsely settled as any in the United States. It is a hunter's paradise, swarming with deer, wild turkeys and other game.

FIRST APPEARANCE OF NEW PAPER
TOMORROW

Colonel J. G. Albright Ready to Launch New Mexico Democrat With Large Subscription List.

The New Mexico Democrat will make its first appearance tomorrow, Colonel J. G. Albright, one of the pioneer newspaper men of New Mexico and a writer of force and ability, will direct the destinies of this new journalistic venture and it is safe to say that it will be a success from the start, and that the New Mexico Democrat will be a welcome semi-weekly visitor in the homes of a great percentage of the citizens of Albuquerque and the territory in general. Already a large subscription list has been secured and it is daily growing in length. The advertising patronage has been such as will insure the financial success of the paper, and it is not unlikely that it will be changed into a daily ere many moons have passed. There is a strong demand for a democratic newspaper in Albuquerque, and the New Mexico Democrat better qualified to meet this demand than is Colonel Albright.

HOLIDAY CAUTION
DON'T START
ANYTHING

Seasonable Warning From District Inspector of Rocky Mountain Fire Underwriters Association.

L. P. Terhune of this city, district inspector of the Rocky Mountain Fire Underwriters' association, issued the Morning Journal a copy of a circular issued from his office which should be heeded at this time, especially by the merchants. It is as follows:

Christmas Decorations and Displays.

We desire to call attention to the danger to life and property from the unsafe arrangement of holiday displays and decorations in public buildings, churches, and especially in mercantile establishments.

The common use of tinsel paper, cotton, chess-cloth, festooning, greens, harvest specimens and other inflammable materials is extremely dangerous, especially when used in connection with electric lighting wires or lamps of any kind. It is practically impossible to make displays of this nature without a decided increase in the fire hazard. One of the conditions of every fire insurance policy is as follows:

"This entire policy, unless otherwise provided by agreement, endorsed hereon or added thereto, shall be void if the hazard be increased by means within the control or knowledge of the insured."

Therefore, under a strict interpretation of the conditions of the policy, such displays would render the contract of insurance void, unless the policy is endorsed with special permission for the increased hazard, which will generally be granted only in consideration of an additional premium commensurate with the hazard.

All extensions, temporary work or additions to electric or power service, such as extra lights, mirrors, lamps and small power arrangements for automatic displays or any other alterations of electric installations, should be installed only by competent electricians, and should be inspected before any electric material is placed in position to electric light, or fastened to electric wires or fixtures. Frequent checks, cords, cut-outs, switches, fuses, motors or any electrical fittings with exposed contacts should not be used in show windows, and same should never be covered over with decorative material.

Precautions should be taken to prevent the accumulation of light packing materials, rubbish and other inflammable stuffs in basements, packing and shipping rooms, under counters and in pits of elevator shafts. Where false fronts, ceilings, elevators and partitions are used in windows, the space behind same should be perfectly clear and free from waste material and same should be so arranged as to allow proper accessibility. Do not store stock or material on stairways, landings or steps. See that fire doors and shutters are in operative order, and if not automatic, detail an employee to close them before leaving premises each night. After closing for the day, an employee should be detailed to go over the entire building, and report conditions to the management, and night watchman should be instructed to make a similar report.

Note location of fire apparatus in the store, see that such apparatus is in working order, and prepare to use the same in case of fire. Request customers to refrain from smoking, or holding lighted cigars or cigarettes while in store. ("No Smoking") cards should be posted conspicuously.

In addition, the danger to property from displays referred to, the danger to life in crowded stores or places of meeting, by reason of a panic occasioned by a fire, even though it be small and easily controlled, is also serious. Immediate attention given the suggestions contained herein may be the means of preventing a fire in your particular property. Very truly yours,

M. L. BURNS, Manager.

For Business Use

There are a great many places and occasions when the possibility of getting extra heat immediately effects an economy by decreasing the discomfort of the worker. In the office, in the early morning or late at night, before or after the steamheat is on, it is of importance to have extra heat. In the builder's outside office, in the shipping room, in the checker's shack, on exposed lofts, in railroad stations, in studios, the is often a necessity. It is safe, smokeless and odorless. Apply a match, and it gives heat quickly. With four quarts of oil it burns nine hours. Has automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be cleaned in an instant.

It has a cool handle and a damper top. An Indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font. The filler-cap is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for reworking.

The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in Japan or nickel. It is strong, durable, well made, built for service, yet light and ornamental.

Governor Mills to Speak at Good Roads Meeting at Commercial Club Tonight

Executive Deeply Interested in Completion of Camino Real Between New Mexico Capital and Her Commercial Metropolis; Territorial Engineer, County Commissioners and Others Will Be on Hand and Meeting for Better Highways Should Be a Rousing Affair.

[Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal]
Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 14.—"I am going down to Albuquerque tomorrow night and will help boost for good roads," said Governor W. J. Mills today. "The completion of the Camino Real between the capital and Albuquerque is a most important undertaking in which I am deeply interested. It will be of inestimable benefit to both cities."

HOUSING MASS MEETING EXPECTED AT CLUB TONIGHT

It is expected that the mass meeting of citizens called for the Commercial club this evening will mark the turning point in the road situation in central New Mexico. The governor and Territorial Engineer Vernon L. Sullivan will demonstrate their enthusiastic interest and desire to co-operate by attending in person and will have something to say of great interest to local boosters. The movement to complete at once the great north and south highway between Santa Fe and Albuquerque, has gained such headway that there is no stopping it, and the ball will be set rolling a good deal faster at the meeting tonight. The committee which went to Santa Fe and secured a promise of $4,000 aid from the territory will make its report; the governor will give some expert information, and ways and means of raising the $6,000 needed, from this city and county, to complete the work to the Bernalillo county northern boundary will be discussed. The county commissioners, who have already expressed their desire to co-operate fully and heartily in the project, will be present. The meeting is expected to crystallize in definite action which will assure the completion of the stretch of road between here and Algodones without delay. Sandoval county has agreed to do its share on the route through that county, and the matter is now right up to the local people as far as this city and county are concerned.

TOURIST RUSH TO THE SOUTHWEST WILL BREAK ALL PREVIOUS RECORDS

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 13.—Local railroads are preparing to handle the largest crowds of tourists from the east in the history of the southwest. Already the traffic has witnessed a noticeable increase during the past few weeks, but it is expected that directly following the Christmas holidays there will be an unprecedented influx of winter visitors from the colder sections.

Just now a visit to the local depots at the arriving time of trains making connections with those from the main lines reveals more activity than has existed for several months. All the trains are heavily loaded and the quantity of baggage incoming taxes the capacity of the crews at the stations.

Even at this date it is reported that hundreds of reservations have been made and the railroads that operate special excursions to the Pacific coast and points in the southwest are preparing to run two or more trains than they did last year. A feature in the large increase of tourists from Colorado. To meet this new demand the Santa Fe has arranged to add an extra sleeper to its California Limited three times a week after January 15th. The California Limited has been carrying its capacity from the east to Ash Fork for the past two weeks and a goodly percentage of this travel has been diverted to this city. Immediately after January 1st the Santa Fe will begin running a second section of the limited train from Chicago four days a week. Last year this travel was handled in a second section twice a week.

The Southern Pacific is doing much now to induce transcontinental travelers to ride over its lines, cutting down the running time of several of its trains and extending the runs of some of its trains to take in cities not heretofore included. There have recently been several important changes in the arrival and departure of trains, the majority of which were made to better accommodate this unusually heavy traffic. And Phoenix and the Salt River valley is receiving its share of the benefit therefrom.

TRAINS WILL RUN TO ENGLE DAM IN 20 DAYS

Santa Fe Company Laying
Track Rapidly on Spur to Site of Elephant Butte Reservoir.

[Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal]
El Paso, Dec. 14.—In twenty days trains can begin running over the government road to the Engle dam site, Alti but about five or six feet of the road bed is completed and the Santa Fe road began laying track Saturday.

Dr. Brady, who is interested in the roadbed project, accompanied by City Auditor Booth, spent Sunday at the dam site. They returned to El Paso yesterday and Mr. Booth in conversation with a Times man, said:

"Dr. Brady's company has completed the construction of the Engle roadbed, except about five or six feet of very heavy blasting; and it is the finest piece of roadbed I have ever seen. At several points the grading was very heavy, cutting for cuts 60 feet deep through solid rock. But the roadbed will be completed ten days inside of contract time."

"Saturday the Santa Fe road began laying track as the bridges are practically completed and in 20 days the road should be completed and ready for operation; and they cannot begin delivering the machinery and building material any too soon to please the engineers in charge of the work, as they are eager to get the necessary buildings, shops, etc., up and ready for the reception of the mass of material and machinery to be used in the construction of the dam."

The engineers are busy surveying and fixing their grades and a long line of flags gives you an idea of the contour of the dam. It is a very busy place out there and I was told that if I would call again next July I would find a busy camp, of about 2,000 people doing things to the old river bed."

The first of the year will witness still greater activity at the dam site. Material for the shops, warehouses, and quarters will begin to arrive and then those buildings will be erected and the machinery installed. Then will come trainload after trainload of cement and other material and implements to be used in the construction of the dam.

HITCHCOCK ORDERS INQUIRY INTO MAIL ROUTE

SPECIAL INSPECTOR WILL INVESTIGATE MATTER

Delegate Andrews of Opinion
That Roswell-Vaughn Auto
Service Will Be Re-established
Soon.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal]
Roswell, N. M., Dec. 13.—Delegate W. H. Andrews last night telegraphed from Washington that he had just had a final interview with Postmaster General Hitchcock on the subject of the Roswell-Vaughn automobile mail stage. The postmaster general is anxious to do all he can for New Mexico on this proposition and has ordered a special inspector to come out and go over the case. The route was discontinued, the postmaster general states, on account of a bad report by an inspector. Delegate Andrews says that he is satisfied that the route will be re-established.

WALTER LESLIE IS INDICTED FOR ROBBERY

Charged With Stealing $300
From Bluewater Postoffice;
Two True Bills by U. S. Grand Jury at Socorro.

[Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal]
Socorro, N. M., Dec. 14.—The United States grand jury this morning reported two true bills. One was against Walter Leslie, who is indicted for the theft from the postoffice at Bluewater of $300, nearly all of which was recovered from the defendant when arrested at Albuquerque. This boy was presumed to be one of the fugitives from the reform school at the time an assault was made upon the superintendent, drifted into Bluewater in a hungry and half-famished condition. He applied to the postmaster there for work, who, after considering his tale of woe, gave him a position in the grocery store attached to the postoffice, furnished him with a complete outfit of clothes and put him on the road to become a good citizen. It is alleged he decamped with nearly $300 in currency and two pay checks.

The other indictment is against Ben Wales, who is in custody in Gallup and is charged with selling liquor without a license.

Sheriff Gerónimo Sanchez a week or so ago brought two prisoners from Moquillon and later contracted pneumonia. The sheriff was confined to his bed for several days, but is now able to be up and about and attending to his duties.

The quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger from pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. B. W. L. Hall, of Waverly, Va., says: "I firmly believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me." For sale by all dealers.

BLOOD OF HUSBAND SAVES LIFE OF HIS WIFE

Remarkable Operation at El Paso Transfuses Quart of Life-giving Fluid From One
Artery Into Another.

[Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal]
El Paso, Texas, Dec. 14.—For the third time A. J. Jenkins of Corona, N. M., today submitted to an operation at the Providence hospital by which blood from his arteries was infused into those of his wife, who was at the point of death from intestinal disease. She was so weak that she was not expected to recover consciousness when the operation was performed.

The man and his wife were placed on operating tables opposite each other and his artery connected with that of his wife by a tube. A quart of blood was transferred in this way and Mrs. Jenkins immediately revived and is expected to recover.

$70,000 CHUNK OF YELLOW GOLD

Largest Single Bar of Bullion
Ever Brought Into Kingman
Gives Innocent Bystander Shock.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal]
Prescott, Ariz., Dec. 13.—While in Kingman, a few days ago, E. S. Clark, attorney of this city, says that he had the first opportunity in his life to see what a big gold mining proposition is capable of doing, when he looked at a $70,000 bar of gold bullion that was received in that city from the famous Tom Reed mine. This immense amount of gold was the result of an "old timer's" run of a ten-stamp mill, and while it created considerable comment, there was no surprise expressed over the massive size of this production.

"In fact," Mr. Clark says, "gold shipments into that city are of such frequent occurrence that it takes a big bar to create ordinary interest, and instead of exciting the people, the occasion is regarded as more of a matter of fact condition to be regularly expected."

This bar is said to have been the largest single one ever brought into Kingman, and a strong guard was employed to safely land it at its destination. It went to the mint on the next train.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal]
Roswell, N. M., Dec. 13.—Delegate W. H. Andrews last night telegraphed from Washington that he had just had a final interview with Postmaster General Hitchcock on the subject of the Roswell-Vaughn automobile mail stage. The postmaster general is anxious to do all he can for New Mexico on this proposition and has ordered a special inspector to come out and go over the case. The route was discontinued, the postmaster general states, on account of a bad report by an inspector. Delegate Andrews says that he is satisfied that the route will be re-established.

Representatives Sent to Democratic Convention Instructed to Vote Against Endorsing Constitution.

[Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal]
Socorro, N. M., Dec. 14.—Last night the democrats of Socorro county held a convention for the purpose of sending delegates from this county to the convention at Santa Fe on the seventeenth of this month. There were about eighty present and two or three rousing speeches were made, among the orators being Colonel Greenwald, Mr. McCrea and one or two others. Mr. McCrea spoke at great length, pointing out to these present those parts of the constitution which he considered favorable to the citizenship of New Mexico, and then attacked the article on the militia. A resolution was presented to the convention, saying in part:

"Be it resolved by the democratic party of Socorro county in delegate convention assembled that, whereas in the election of delegates from this county to the constitutional convention we took the broad view that the framing of the proposed constitution for the state of New Mexico was not a matter of party politics, and united with the republican party of this county in the nomination and election of delegates to said convention; the two democratic delegates being pledged to their constituents to advocate and work for certain progressive measures, have faithfully carried out their pledges in this respect."

Here follows a section which complains of the omission of the initiative.

"And be it further resolved, That we appeal to all liberty-loving people to study the proposed constitution and take advantage of the right of the referendum given to us under the enabling act, in voting for or against this constitution as their good reason and sense dictates."

"And be it further resolved, That the fifteen delegates elected by this convention to attend the constitutional convention at Santa Fe be instructed to vote against the approval or endorsement of the constitution by the democratic party of New Mexico."

As a matter of fact the delegates from this county were not pledged to their constituents for any specific measures, and went to Santa Fe as delegates to the constitutional convention uninstructed. The delegates elected at last night's meeting were as follows:

Leopoldo Contreras of La Jara, A. Gonzalez of Limlar, Benjamin Sanchez of Polvadera, E. W. Eaton of Socorro, J. A. Lave of Socorro, T. W. Mollay of Socorro, M. V. Borrado of Magdalena, E. Barajas of Milligan, M. McCrea of Milligan, J. McGee of Kelly, John Greenwald of Socorro, Max Montoya of San Antonio, T. O. Remond of Pecos, Thomas Marron of San Marcial.

While the resolution adopted by the convention in words indicates the democrats of Socorro county are in favor of instructing their delegates against the constitution, it is believed the county democracy generally prefers having the matter kept out of party politics.

Another expensive move. They have gotten themselves the original Newbury Trio. That boosting gem.

Dress Rehearsal for Clever Play

Assures It Will Be a Genuine

The dress rehearsal for "The Toastmaster," the university play, last evening went with a remarkable "go," and the cast in their individual work and the play as a whole promises to be one of the best amateur affairs ever staged in the local theater. The sale of tickets has been exceptionally good, and it is expected a full house will greet the performance this evening. Miss May Rose is capable in her work as director and has worked hard to make the play the most successful attempt of the University Dramatic club. The students have worked hard in the interests of the enterprise, not only the principals, but others taking minor parts, and all others who have charge of the decorative effects and who intend to make the college scenes realistic in the details of arrangements.

service will begin organizing its dam-building force to be ready to begin construction work on the dam when the water falls early in June.

Mr. Booth says that all along the line on their return from Engle, upper valley farmers were eagerly inquiring as to progress being made on the dam, which is to make a veritable garden of the Rio Grande valley from Ilinocon to Fort Hancock.

The reclamation people are hurrying to have everything ready to begin rush work on the dam as soon as the spring flood gets out of the way. They will soon need a number of carpenters to go to work on the shops, warehouses, stables, general quarters and office buildings, and this work will have to be hurried for the reception of the machinery and material, which must be on hand before work starts on the dam.

It is understood that the reclamation engineers in charge of the work, hope to make such progress on the dam during the dry season that they can keep the work going without any serious interference from high water.

SUNNY MONDAY

SUNNY MONDAY Laundry Soap contains a wonderful dirt-starter which saves half the rubbing. It will double the life of your clothes. Its real virtues may not be apparent the first time you use it. You have perhaps been washing your clothes with a heavily-resined soap, and it will take some time for Sunny Monday to undo what the resin soap has done. But after three or four washings you will notice a decided difference in the whiteness of your clothes.

Sunny Monday will not shrink your flannels.
Sunny Monday will not make your woollens harsh and "nettle."
Sunny Monday will not fade your colored goods.

BUSINESS GOOD ALL OVER ROAD SAYS MR. RIPLEY

BELIEVES RE-ACTION IS NOT UNLIKELY, HOWEVER

President of Santa Fe Spends Night in Albuquerque on Way to Santa Barbara, Cal., Where He and Family Will Winter.

Edward Payson Ripley, president of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and a national figure in railroad affairs, arrived in Albuquerque on train No. 1 and will leave some time this morning for Santa Barbara, Cal. Mr. Ripley was met here last evening by Arthur D. Wells, general manager of the Santa Fe coast lines, who arrived yesterday from Los Angeles, and by Captain A. H. Payson, assistant to Mr. Ripley, who makes his headquarters in San Francisco.

When seen in his private car last evening, Mr. Ripley expressed himself as well satisfied with business conditions at present, but gave it as his opinion that there will come a reaction within the next few months which may cover a year or even more. "Business all over the Santa Fe system has been splendid for some time past," said Mr. Ripley. "Our gross business for last October was the largest in the history of the road. November was also a banner month, and although I have not yet received the actual figures, believe it will be a record-breaker. December thus far is showing well, and if it continues to keep up for the next fifteen days, as it has for the first part of the month, we will not have any cause to complain."

"Unsettled political conditions will be responsible for any reaction in business which may come," said Mr. Ripley, when asked what he believed will be the principal factor in a general slump throughout the country in the event it comes.

Mr. Ripley is accompanied to Santa Barbara by Mrs. Ripley, their daughter and grandchild. The president of the road said that he was enjoying excellent health, and certainly looked the part.

"Been playing golf lately?" queried the reporter, noting the healthy complexion, evidently due to sun and wind. "No, very little golf and lots of hard work," replied Mr. Ripley, as he directed the pyrotechnic display of a black stogie, while reclining comfortably in a large leather covered chair in his car. "I've worked harder for the last two years and played less golf during that time than for some years. I feel fine and the hard work is responsible for it."

Commenting on conditions in New Mexico, Mr. Ripley said that he was good thing that the Belen cut-off is completed and in operation. "It would be absolutely impossible for the New Mexico division to take care of the traffic," said Mr. Ripley. "With the Belen cut-off as an outlet we handle the business very satisfactorily."

Mr. Wells, general manager of the coast lines, and Captain Payson, Mr. Ripley's assistant in San Francisco, both agreed with the president that there was plenty of business to keep both the main line and the cut-off in continuous operation, and that both lines were necessary for the successful handling of the traffic.

When asked as to conditions on the coast lines, Mr. Wells said that business had been unusually brisk in October, November and thus far during December. "The citrus crop began to be moved in southern California November 1," said Mr. Wells, and it is estimated that 40,000 cars will be shipped before the season is over. The Santa Fe is getting a good share of the business and handled on an average of eighty-five cars a day during the past week.

Business in San Francisco and northern California is now as good as it might be, according to Captain Payson, who will leave with Mr. Ripley and Mr. Wells this morning for the coast.

"Retail merchants in San Francisco are complaining of dull times," said Captain Payson. "Business on the road is good. San Francisco is making a strong pull for the Panama exposition in 1915, but it is not yet an assured fact that we will get it."

HILL FINDS WEST MORE PROSPEROUS THAN EAST

Spokane, Wash., Dec. 14.—Financially, conditions west of the Rocky mountains are better than in the east," said James J. Hill of the Great Northern railway, who passed through this city on his way to the coast.

"Are you taking any defensive steps to check the proposed invasion of the Harriman system into this territory?" he was asked.

"We are holding up our hands," stated Mr. Hill with a twinkle in his eye. "We are like Crockett's coon. They don't have to shoot. Ask us and we'll come down. We are ready to give up the field."

CHRISTMAS TRADE AT MATSON'S IS GETTING BRISK

Gift Store Mecca of Holiday Shoppers; Beautiful Ladies' Hand Bags Strong Drawing Card.

Business is brisk this week in Albuquerque's Christmas Gift Store—Matsen's. If you see any gentleman or lady hurrying briskly down the boulevard with a Christmas expression on his face, believe it will be bound Matsenward. There's a reason and a very good one. If you have ever been there—and everybody has—you don't have to be told.

One of the irresistible magnets which draws the Christmas shopper this week to Matsen's is the splendid line of ladies' hand bags, ideal for Christmas presents. Matsen is offering them for the Yule trade at twenty-five per cent off regular prices on the entire line. They come in seal, silver seal, alligator-skin with German silver trimmings and many other attractive styles.

Among the other things which you want to mark down in your little note book are the percolators and famous Sterno brand chafing dishes, a beautiful line of them, which are offered at twenty-five per cent below the regular price.

OPPOSITION TO THE CONSTITUTION IS SLIGHT

Col. M. L. Stern, Delegate in the Convention Which Framed Act, Returns From Tour of Southern Part of Territory.

That there is but little opposition to the constitution in the southern and western part of the territory, and that what opposition exists is due to ignorance of just what the constitution contains, and does not contain, was declared yesterday by Colonel M. L. Stern, a member of the constitutional convention, who returned yesterday from an extended visit to Mesquite, Silver City, Steins Pass, Las Cruces, Deming and numerous other towns in various parts of New Mexico.

"A campaign of education would not be a waste of time in the southern part of the territory, for the purpose of explaining the constitution," said Colonel Stern yesterday. "I found in nearly every place I visited that the majority of the people understood the constitution and are going to vote for it. Some few voters, deceived by demagogues, have arrived at erroneous conclusions regarding some of the provisions of the act. The false impressions, however, are easily corrected by any one at all familiar with the constitution. I believe that the majority for the constitution in the southern part of the territory will be large."

While on his trip, Colonel Stern made a number of speeches explaining the provisions of the constitution and was successful in clearing up many debatable questions raised by those anxious for correct information.

DR. GRAY IS HANDED BOUQUET BECAUSE OF BULLETIN

"Interesting and Scholarly Monogram That Every Teacher in New Mexico Should Read," Says Santa Fe New Mexican.

By letter and in person, Dr. E. McQueen Gray, president of the University of New Mexico, has received numerous congratulations and compliments as the result of the recent publication of a University of New Mexico bulletin, "Latin in the Secondary School." The Santa Fe New Mexican of yesterday has the following to say in a leading editorial complimentary to Dr. Gray and the bulletin:

"The president of the University of New Mexico, Dr. E. McQueen Gray, a classical scholar and practical educator, in the latest bulletin of the University, enters into a defense of the study of Latin in the public schools. The keynote to his defense is the following:

"Herein consists, as far as the schoolboy is concerned, the main benefit to be derived from learning a foreign language—an increased knowledge of his own. It is the best if not the only way of correcting the easy and natural methods of the habitual misuse of the English language prevalent in our schools."

"This, no doubt, furnishes the reason for an often observed fact, that the foreigner who learns English in his youth, generally speaks and writes it more correctly than does the American youth who had not been taught another language. Dr. Gray continues:

"Divide a class and let some of the pupils study English alone and the rest some other language in addition. The foreign language students, in the hands of a competent instructor, will rapidly outstrip the others in accuracy and depth of knowledge of English."

In New Mexico, an additional reason presents itself for the study of Latin, for that tongue is the basis of Spanish. It is easier for the English-speaking child to advance upon Spanish by the Latin route than it is by direct attack. As Dr. Gray maintains, Latin is not a "dead" language, for "it forms both foundation and fabric of such modern tongues as French, Spanish, Italian, Portuguese and is the very framework of our English speech." There is another practical reason for continuing Latin in the high school curriculum and Dr. Gray puts it as follows:

"Besides, Latin is essentially logical; it demands clarity of thought and definiteness in statement of all who use it; so that the mere practice of translation—and in particular of composition—reacts upon the mind of the user in a manner unobtainable by any other language. Greek, for all its delicacy of phrase and harmony of expression, makes no such widespread intellectual improvement as Latin does. The sense of positive values—order, sequence, direction, power—are but a part of the Latin heritage. The value of the study of Latin does not consist merely or even chiefly in the acquisition of another literature and an increased knowledge of our own language, but in the effect upon the student's mind of contact with the Roman intellect and the Roman habit of thought."

It is an interesting and scholarly monogram that every New Mexico teacher, in fact, every one interested in the problems of "practical" education should read. For Dr. Gray sets out to the satisfaction of the practical use of Latin and does not dwell on the other and very strong ethical arguments, those of the wider culture and the deep satisfaction that comes to him who can read the classics in the tongue that they were written.

MESA VERDE RUINS BEING RESTORED IN COLORADO

Archaeological Society Expend $1,500 and Does Splendid Work in National Park Just Outside New Mexico.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal] Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 14.—Jesse Nusbaum, official photographer of the School of American Archaeology, today mailed to Dr. Edgar L. Hewett at Washington, an album of superb photographs showing the spectacular cliff dwelling ruins in the Mesa Verde National Park, just across the New Mexico boundary in Colorado. Side by side, are shown the ruins before restoration, and after restoration by the staff of the School of American Archaeology, and they furnish a striking proof of the value of the work done this fall at an expense to the Colorado Archaeological society of only $1,500.

The School of American Archaeology accomplished a striking work of restoration of prehistoric ruins in the Mesa Verde national park this fall. But a few more years and these spectacular ruins would have crumbled entirely to ruin, but now they have been placed in condition to defy Father Time for several more centuries and if cared for as they are bound to be, in a national park, will endure for all time unless some catastrophic overthrows them. Work of a similar nature was done by the school in the canon of the Rito de los Frijoles this summer, only twenty miles west of Santa Fe, in the restoration of a wonderful ceremonial cave, which together with the circular communal ruin more than half excavated, forms the most striking prehistoric remnant in the cliff dwelling region.

PUBLIC MAY NOW LOOK POSTOFFICE IN THE FACE

After Many Moons Ugly Board Chrysalis Is Shed by Handsome New Federal Building; End Almost in Sight.

At last! Hurrying humanity may now pause and look the federal building in the architectural physiognomy without a high board intervention flaunting gay minstrel and demoralizing whisky adds in the countenances of the gazers.

That fence, long a familiar landmark of the eye-sore variety which has served for the protection and general discomfort of the passers-by, reached yesterday the desired stage of passing. It is gone and again the exemplification of the trite truism, "All things come to those who wait."

We may now walk south from Central avenue on Fourth street without treading the broad expanse of road which wrought such sad havoc with the newly acquired shins. We may now omit the occasional swear word which generally accompanied the going, that is, with the men. For after weary months of waiting there is a smooth pavement and an unobstructed view of the big building which is in the last stages of architectural development.

Passing blithely around the long unused corner, we may even indulge dreams of the next Yuletide when the crowds will pass in and out the portals with the packages of the season. For now that the populace may peer within, all the busy preparations and a few of the commodities of existence, such as radiators scattered about, look as though dreams might come true.

FRANK SHEARON IS DEAD IN SANTA FE

Clerk of First Judicial District Court Dies of Heart Disease Suddenly Last Night; Well Known in Albuquerque.

[Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal] Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 14.—Frank W. Shearon, thirty-four years old, clerk of the first judicial district court, died suddenly last night at 10:30 o'clock, death having been caused by heart failure. Mr. Shearon retired

FREDERICK WARDE HERE DAY AFTER CHRISTMAS

Noted Actor to Appear in Matinee and Night Performance in Strong Presentation of "Julius Caesar."

According to arrangements made by wire with Manager Frank Stortz of the Elks' theater yesterday, Frederick Warde, the famous Shakespearean actor, will "appear" here in a "Christmas matinee" and also a night performance, the afternoon and evening of December 26, the day after Christmas. Warde is winning golden opinions all over the country this season and it is believed the Albuquerque theater-goers may look forward to something really worth while on the aforementioned date. Warde has made perhaps his very best success in "Julius Caesar."

Mr. Shearon came to New Mexico five years ago from Fairbury, Neb., first residing in Albuquerque and later in Santa Fe. He became prominent in politics and about a year ago was elected secretary of the territorial republican central committee.

He is survived by a wife, who is at present in the east, and other relatives in Nebraska.

NEW SANITARIUM FORMALLY OPENED

Many Attend Spanish Supper in Dining Room in Handsome New Building Erected Adjacent to St. Vincent's.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal] Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 14.—The formal opening of St. Vincent's new sanitarium was held last night, with a bazaar, a Spanish supper and music by the military band. There was a large attendance and every detail of the affair was looked after so that it proved a splendid success.

Every one admired the beautiful building. Under the soft glow of many electric lights, and with the tasteful decorations of the room in which the bazaar was held, the new sanitarium was a bower of beauty. Certainly the dining-room in which the supper was served was excelled by no other in the southwest and it was heart failure. Mr. Shearon retired

ALBUQUERQUE NEW MEXICO

TURN OUT TONIGHT.

What we believe to be the most important meeting held in the interest of good roads in this county is to be held tonight at the Commercial club, and it is desired that every good roads booster be present. The committee which recently went to Santa Fe in automobiles and secured such generous assistance from the territory will be present and make its report, and the governor and territorial engineer will make a special trip here to tell the people of Albuquerque some things about good roads.

Albuquerque and the county have a big opportunity now for a ten strike in the good roads matter. The territory has generously offered to help out in building the Camino Real, through this county to Albuquerque, to the extent of $4,000. Active and enthusiastic co-operation between Santa Fe and Albuquerque is now assured in the partly finished project of a great connecting highway. Not the least of the attractive features of the proposition is that it will give Albuquerque a splendid road out North Fourth street into the valley north of this city, something that will prove of inestimable benefit to the business interests of Albuquerque.

Every man in this city and county who is interested in progress and prosperity should attend this meeting.

DEMAGOGUERY.

The attack on the article of the constitution regarding the militia, and the attempt to misrepresent its meaning for political capital, is about as near the accepted definition of the word demagoguery as anything we have seen. There is excuse for those who, without second thought, accept the demagogue's misrepresentation as the fact; there is no excuse for the man, who knowing the truth, gambles it intentionally to play upon the prejudice of his audience.

The Morning Journal, in common with Mr. Clancy and Mr. Stover, and others, was at first inclined to treat the agitation regarding the militia article as a joke. Remarkable as it may seem, however, this purely pro forma provision of the organic act has been believed by many to contain the sinister and menacing "joker" alleged by Mr. H. B. Ferguson, who, being a constitutional lawyer, and a member of the constitutional convention, could hardly fail to know the meaning of the article and its purpose.

The contribution by Delegate Francis E. Wood in this paper yesterday, we believe, will make the proposition clear to the dearest. The militia is the militia and nothing the constitutional convention could say could affect its status. It is the whole body of people capable of bearing arms who may be called on for military duty. The national guard of New Mexico consists of the enlisted, organized citizen soldiery, just as it always has consisted and always will. The organization, discipline and equipment must conform to that of the regular army, in order that, as soon as the national guard companies may receive equipment and ordnance from the government, and that in time of war, when the government calls on each state governor for the state's quota of troops, the latter will know what an army officer means when he gives an order and how to execute an order, and will be equipped to execute it.

We would hasten to reassure those who have had visions of being drafted or conscripted into military service to let daylight into their fellow citizens, that there is no possibility or danger of anything of the kind.

Besides formally stating a fact, this article of the constitution does nothing aside from seeking to give the legislature power to exempt citizens from service in the militia, which as you will find in the constitution of the United States or in any dictionary or encyclopedia, is the whole body of citizens capable of bearing arms.

Under the new constitution, the status of the militia and of the national guard will be precisely what it is in any other state. As in other states the governor will be the commander-in-chief of the national guard, as he always has been.

If there are any persons who do not fully understand what this article means, we shall be glad to hear from them and elucidate further, although the absolute simplicity and clearness of the article and its formal nature make further elucidation difficult.

This paper has always stood up for the straightforwardness of the gentleman who is now, with apparent deliberate intent, seeking to read a false meaning into this article to arouse opposition to the constitution which he is so bitterly fighting.

We believe, however, that unless he sets himself right on this proposition, insidious doubts of his absolute good faith will begin to arise in the public mind.

CONDEMNING THE PEOPLE.

Mr. H. B. Ferguson just now conducting a fight on statehood into which doubtless there enters a strong motive of personal bitterness, insists that he is in favor of statehood.

Analysis of his position, however, shows that he is making as his chief argument, the charge that the people of New Mexico are not fit for statehood.

He assumes, and has assumed all along, that every state official, from the governor down, is to be corrupt, mercenary and untrustworthy, and in league with the powers of darkness; that every member of every legislature is to be venal, purchasable, and committed body and soul to everything that will oppress and abuse the people of the commonwealth who elect him.

Under the constitution, nearly every officer is to be elective, including the judges, the elective judiciary being in line with the desires of the democrats. Nevertheless, Mr. Ferguson thinks the terms of judges are to be too long.

He assumes, in short, that no man is to be trusted, whether he be in executive, legislative or judicial capacity. They are all "unco weak," he says. In the final analysis, Mr. Ferguson believes that the men who shall be elected by the people to take charge of their affairs under the state government will be all weak, bad men.

Does Mr. Ferguson wish us to understand that the people of New Mexico are unable to elect good men to office, or that there are no good men to elect to office?

Rather a complimentary estimate of the average New Mexican, of his character, ability and judgment. If we are unable to govern ourselves, for heaven's sake let Mr. Ferguson come out frankly, say it all up, and say we are not fit for statehood, and that he is against admission to the union to the last ditch.

ENLIGHTENMENT.

A vote against the constitution is not a vote against statehood, for the enabling act provides that the governor shall reconvene the convention within twenty days after an adverse vote has been recorded. A vote against the constitution is a vote to get what you believe to be best for all the people, nothing more, nothing less.—Farmington Times Herald.

Oh, is that so? If one had only known of it before. By the way, who says for that second convention?

A MATTER OF COMPARISON.

The taxpayers of the territory will hardly grow enthusiastic when they read the judiciary clause in the constitution. They know something of the cost of our courts and with eight district judges and three supreme judges all on high salaries and the United States paying none of them, the burden will be a plenty. The salaries alone will aggregate $154,000 per year.—Farmington Times Herald.

How shocking. And if that eminent jurist, Mr. William H. Taft, had his way, the total would be about $100,000. Comparatively speaking, the $154,000 is not so bad—and then it is a good idea to make the salary large enough to attract able men.

JUDICIAL TERMS.

The statement is being made in some quarters that the six and eight year terms provided by the constitution for the new state of New Mexico are too long.

It is held by many eminent students of government that the elective system for judges is a mistake. Our constitution, however, has provided that the judiciary be elected by the people. To make the term of an elective judge short, it is believed, would realize the evils claimed by the opponents of the elective system. In this connection there is much to think about in the following letter from Mr. H. A. Rich, head of the Lawyers' Co-operative Publishing company of New York, which letter was quoted recently by Attorney General Clancy:

There can be no possible question that the election of judges is a very unfortunate method of selecting them in all cases. It is very short, if not in all cases. In states like New York, where the judges of the supreme court are elected for fourteen years, the condition is much better. Especially is this so when, at present, the people have become thoroughly hostile to political influences in the selection of judges. It has become substantially the rule in this state, when the term of one of these judges expires, to give him a non-partisan nomination and elect him without contest. An exception to this was made at our last election when a judge who had been elected fourteen years was re-elected by the bar association on the ground of his record and was beaten by a literally overwhelming majority in a district where the normal majority of his party was no less overwhelming the other way.

It would be too much to say that politics has nothing to do in this state in the selection of judges. Unfortunately it has a good deal to do in some cases. But the time has gone by when a judge can be elected if the impression gets abroad that his nomination was chiefly due to political influences. The state bar association perhaps did not lead in this movement to repudiate political influences in judicial selections, but it has become now thoroughly alive to the importance of this movement and very refreshing in the frankness with which it speaks on the subject.

My own impression from observation of these matters is our own state is that there is too much to be said in favor of appointments as against elections where the elections are for such long terms as fourteen years, with a non-partisan re-election practically assured, to every good judge, and especially where the temper of the people is such that a purely political nomination to the bench is likely to be defeated. In either case, an enlightened and alert public sentiment is the main safeguard against political selection of judges. But short-term elections are certainly fatal to any high service on the bench. It may be doubted also whether short-term appointments would be much better. Possibly appointments are better than elections in any case, but long terms for judges seem to me much more important than the question whether they are chosen by appointment or election. A long term, especially when good service insures re-election, makes a judge independent of the politicians, and a complete assurance and refutation of the attack. I will quote the salient features of Mr. Ferguson's article and the constitutional provisions pertinent, and I think your readers will be able to determine from them the justice and the honesty of the criticism.

Public Forum

In Dollars and Cents.

Editor Morning Journal:
It is estimated by those who oppose the constitution that it will cost the people $100,000 more to conduct the affairs of the state than it now costs to pay the expenses of the territory. If that is true, we have to admit, let us do a little figuring on the credit side.

If we are admitted to statehood we get one million three hundred and fifty thousand acres of land for our several state institutions. Admitting that it will take the proceeds of three hundred thousand acres to pay the railroad indebtedness of the counties of Santa Fe and Grant, we have left of the million acres approximately that portion seven hundred thousand acres; and with the appropriation for common schools, "sections two and thirty-two in every township in said proposed state," I quote the language of the enabling act, we have over six and a third million acres, which if sold at the MINIMUM price would net the state over twenty millions. This sum of twenty millions of dollars invested in four per cent securities would give us an income of eight hundred thousand dollars. Deduct the one hundred thousand for extra cost of statehood and we have to our credit seven hundred thousand dollars, do we not? This in dollars and cents means nothing of the real advantage of self-government.

PHOENIX SEWER PROBLEM REACHES WASHINGTON

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 13.—The Phoenix sewer problem has reached the nation's capital, but it is in a different form from the one that is worrying the Young Men's Phoenix club, the board of trade, city clubs and various private citizens, to say nothing of the city council.

Uncle Sam owns a building site in Phoenix. This will surprise no one. But it is not so well known that one of the main purposes of the Phoenix Sewer and Drainage company crosses the site, about six feet under the surface. That sewer main is going to be in the way when the foundations of the building are laid.

Some time ago the treasury department wrote to Postmaster McClintock, custodian of the site, asking him to see the sewer company and persuade it to allow the main to be laid around the building, so that it would not interfere with the foundations. The postmaster saw P. A. Lack, principal owner of the sewer system, who offered no objection. In fact Mr. Lack wrote to the department that he would permit Uncle Sam to make a curve in his main.

But two or three days ago Mr. Lack received an urgent telegram begging him, imploring him, to allow that sewer main to be taken up and laid around the spot upon which the federal building will stand.

Washington hasn't half as much cause to be worried over the sewer problem as has Phoenix.

GAS, INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA VANISH

Just a Little Diapiesin Will Make Your Out-of-order Stomach Feel Fine in About Five Minutes.

Nothing will remain undigested or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapiesin occasionally. This powerful digestive and antacid, though as harmless and pleasant as candy, will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you can eat.

But what your stomach craves, without the slightest fear of indigestion or that you will be bothered with sour risings, Belching Gas, on Stomach, Heartburn, Headaches from Stomach, Nausea, Bad Breath, Water Brash or a feeling like you had swallowed a lump of lead, or other disagreeable miseries. Should you be suffering now from any stomach disorder you can get relief within five minutes.

If you will get from your pharmacist a few cases of Paper's Diapiesin you could always refer to the table with a hearty appetite, and your meals would taste good, because you would know there would be no Indigestion or Sleepless nights or Headache or Stomach misery all the next day; and, besides, you would not need laxatives or liver pills to keep your stomach and bowels clean and fresh.

Paper's Diapiesin can be obtained from your druggist, and contains more than sufficient to thoroughly cleanse the worst case of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. There is nothing better for Gas on the Stomach or sour odors from the stomach or to cure a Stomach Headache.

You couldn't keep a handkerchief or more useful article in the house.

Constitution Itself the Best

Reply to Those Who Slander It

By Delegate Francis E. Wood

Editor Morning Journal:

I have been requested from several sources to answer the Ferguson article in his recent article. There is little to add to Mr. Clancy's letter in the way of general comment. The constitution itself furnishes a complete answer and refutation of the attack. I will quote the salient features of Mr. Ferguson's article and the constitutional provisions pertinent, and I think your readers will be able to determine from them the justice and the honesty of the criticism.

Mr. Ferguson:
How many political court clerks (may the legislature create) and at what salaries and fees? How many district attorneys and at what salaries and fees? Will these officers be elected or appointed?

The Constitution:
Article 10, section 1.—The legislature shall create six salaries for all county officers. No county officer shall receive to his own use any fees or emoluments other than the annual salary provided by law, and all fees earned by any officer shall be by him collected and paid into the treasury of the county.

Article 6, section 24.—There shall be a district attorney, for each judicial district. He shall be elected by the voters of the district, prior to his election and who shall be the law officer of the state and of the counties within his district. * * * and receive such salary as may be prescribed by law. He shall have the power to provide for the election of additional district attorneys in any judicial district and to designate the counties therein for which the district attorney shall serve.

Mr. Ferguson:
The provision as to district court clerks is absurd.

The Constitution:
Article 22, section 2.—A county clerk shall be elected in each county who shall * * * perform all the duties now performed by the clerks of the district courts and clerks of the probate courts. * * * The object is to have the salary of an additional clerk. The provision has been in use in New York for years and works perfectly there. Fearing that it might develop objectional for some of these restrictions so that we can sell enough school land to create a badly needed fund for the support of our schools.

Mr. Ferguson:
The referendum is a mere make believe. * * * Six thousand voters must sign any petition to amend a law and these must be scattered over nineteen counties. The legislature * * * will doubtless require that each signature must be verified.

Comment:
It takes more signatures than that to amend a law in Oregon. Oregon and every other state requires verification of signatures. If a law is contrary to the wishes of any considerable number of the people, there will be plenty of individuals in every county anxious to circulate petitions for its repeal, without any material expense. One voter in ten only is necessary to put a law to vote.

Mr. Ferguson:
Think of the long railroad trips. * * * the expense, time and labor required in getting six thousand signatures.

Comment:
If there is any widespread demand for the repeal of a law, any widespread feeling that it is bad, a few positive stamps and a half dozen public-spirited individuals in each county will get the signatures.

Mr. Ferguson:
Section 3 gives the legislature power to invent and specify other subjects of taxation.

Comment:
The state of New York for years has raised all its state revenues from direct taxes laid by wealthy individuals and corporations. Sections 2 and 3 were written in against the opposition of the so-called interests, so as to be sure our legislature would have the same power. It is one of the best clauses in the constitution to protect the small taxpayer.

Mr. Ferguson:
Section 10 does not require any interest to be paid by banks holding the same on deposit.

The Constitution:
Article 8, section 10.—All public moneys not invested in interest-bearing securities shall be deposited in * * * banks * * * and the interest derived therefrom shall be applied in the manner prescribed by law. Any public officer making any profit out of public moneys, or using the same for any purpose not authorized by law, shall be deemed guilty of a felony.

Mr. Ferguson:
If any railroad fails to obey any order of the commission * * * the only help for the commission is to remove the whole cause to the supreme court. Thereupon the railroad may appear and for the first time put in its evidence.

The Constitution:
Article 3, section 7.—In the event of removal by the commission, upon failure of the company, corporation or common carrier, no additional evidence shall be allowed.

Mr. Ferguson:
This peculiar proceeding will render every effort to get relief from unjust rates very expensive and subject to vexatious and long drawn out delays.

The Constitution:
Article 11, section 7.—The supreme court for the consideration of such causes arising before it shall be in session at all times and shall give precedence to such causes.

Sec. 4. The attorney general of the state shall be the attorney for the commission.

Mr. Ferguson:
A strenuous effort was made by Hudspeth to give the legislature power to amend this provision.

Comment:
The sole object in placing this provision in the constitution was to take it from the legislature. To permit them to amend it would permit them to destroy it. If Mr. Ferguson was honest he would be the first to denounce the Hudspeth proposition.

Mr. Ferguson:
Most difficult and impractical of amendment the powers in control evidently intended to make it.

Comment:
A majority of each house of the second legislature and the legislature elected each eight years thereafter can propose amendments and the people can ratify them at the first election thereafter. At all other times two-thirds of any legislature can propose amendments.

Only three states in the union have constitutions more easily amended and two of these are commonly said to have no constitution at all.

Mr. Ferguson:
Some of the most inveterate bosses wanted it that way (all officers to be elective), knowing their power.

Comment:
A fair sample of how easy it was for the convention to please Mr. Ferguson. He was supposed to favor elective everything.

Mr. Ferguson:
The school land joker. Any school lands may be sold if located contiguous to other lands.

The Constitution:
Article 21, section 9 adopts all conditions of the enabling act, and makes them part of the constitution.

Section 16 of enabling act which gives the lands prescribes:
"Lands east of line between ranges 18 and 19 shall not be sold for less than $5 per acre and lands west of said line shall not be sold for less than $3 per acre, and land irrigable under any project for reclamation of lands shall not be sold for less than $25 per acre."

The section further requires that such lands shall not be sold except at public auction to the highest bidder, after due advertisement. As better lands than any we will get and in private hands, are now going begging at $3 per acre, our chief trouble will be to get Congress to remove some of these restrictions so that we can sell enough school land to create a badly needed fund for the support of our schools.

Mr. Ferguson:
All citizens between the ages of 18 and 45, not exempt by law, are by this constitutional enactment drafted or conscripted (it is not a voluntary matter) into the state militia, and while in such service he is under the same discipline as the soldiers of the regular armies of the United States.

Comment:
The downright falsity of this criticism was shown in my article yesterday.

Mr. Ferguson:
The referendum is a mere make believe. * * * Six thousand voters must sign any petition to amend a law and these must be scattered over nineteen counties. The legislature * * * will doubtless require that each signature must be verified.

Comment:

Comment:
A majority of each house of the sec-

much pleased to have so provided were it not for article 1, section 3, of the United States constitution which reads as follows:

"The senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, chosen by the legislature thereof."

Second—A secret ballot, direct primaries and a corrupt practices act.

The Constitution, Article 7, section 1—"The legislature shall enact such laws as will secure the secrecy of the ballot, the purity of elections and guard against the abuse of the elective franchise."

The constitution of no state of the union goes farther than this. Each of those provisions requires a whole code of regulatory and penal provisions to make them effective. Not even Ferguson proposed to put them in the constitution. They concededly have no place there, and would have doubled the size of the document.

Third—The Initiative. A majority of the convention were elected as opposed to any initiative. Mr. Ferguson and a small minority of the democrats who followed him would consent to nothing but the Oregon plan or worse. Two packages of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets cured me."

Fourth—The Recall. No one, not even Ferguson, so much as suggested or proposed the recall, either in convention, committee or elsewhere.

"I had been troubled with constipation for two years and tried all of the best physicians in Bristol, Tenn., and they could do nothing for me," writes Thos. E. Williams, Middleboro, Ky. "Two packages of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets cured me."

Nature As She Is Faked

A Corn Rainbow.

August McGowan has in his office a string of Indian corn which is bright enough to be used in a winter garden, for it is a thing of beauty, being patriotic as well, for it has in charmingly distinct colors, the red, white and blue. Some of the ears seem to have taken the colors red, white and blue, and some of the yellow, of various shades of yellow, generally considered a good thing to possess a yellow streak, but one could endure it more easily if it were as pretty in color as this Indian corn.

What need or method of cultivation the Indians use to get these unusual and beautiful colors, does not seem to be generally known, but pink people or corn meal might become a popular dish if this may colored product could be put on the market. For Americans are always after something distinguishing. The string of corn is really worth seeing, and ought to have been on exhibition in Chicago on New Mexico Day.—Tos Valley News.

A Rip-Roaring Coon.

The Questa Gazette wants to know what kind of a coon it was that the town party went after in a corner of weeks ago. Nobody knows, for nobody ever saw it. It may have been an imaginary coon, the outgrowth of some one's overwrought imagination, seen in a pipe dream or a bottle vision. If it came from either of these sources, it was this kind of coon—a rip-roaring, ring-tailed coon, with a head like a rhinoceros, legs like a rabbit, a body like a box constrictor and a color like a boiled lobster. But no one of the party ever tried to describe this coon, and what it looked like will forever remain a mystery to those of an inquiring mind who want to know the geology of this much hunted coon.—Tos Valley News.

Wall Street

New York, Dec. 14.—Apart from its slightly better tone today's stock market differed in no essential feature from that of the preceding days. Business was at much lower ebb, though displaying a broader tendency, which took in such specialties as General Electric, Western Maryland and American Beet Sugar but the bulk of the trading was limited as usual, to less than half score of active issues.

The annual report of the Southern Pacific company for 1909-10 showing earnings at the rate of almost 13 percent of the common stock, an increase of about 3 percent over the previous year, imparted a firmer tone to the Harriman group. The gain, however, represented in large part the cash received by the Southern Pacific for its former holdings of Wells-Fargo stock.

Money in London was in excess of demand and the lower private discount was probably based on expectations of a further reduction of the bank rate tomorrow. A small addition to the Bank of England's gold holdings was announced. In his market London bought sparingly of the Harriman issues, United States Steel and Amalgamated Copper.

Foreign exchange advanced almost as sharply as it declined yesterday, implying that the fall was almost entirely of speculative origin. Nevertheless, the rate is still within the import point and the belief that some engagements will be made before the expiration of the year still prevails.

Chicago Board of Trade

Chicago, Dec. 14.—Important resting orders to buy wheat overcame organized selling opposition today and the market gradually hardened. Lack of rain was reported to be injuring the winter wheat in Illinois. At the close prices showed a net advance of 5-8 to 1-8. Latest figures for corn were 3-4 to 7-8 to 7-8 higher than last night, oats were up 1-4 to 3-8 to 1-2 and provisions dearer by 1-2 to 1-2 to 1-2.

Wheat ranged from 95 5/8 to 96 1-2 and closed 7-8 up at 96 3-8 to 96 1-2.

May corn fluctuated between 47 and 47 7-8 and closed 3-4 to 7-8 net higher at 47 3-4 to 7-8. Cash corn 5-8 to 1-8. Latest figures for corn were 3-4 to 7-8 to 7-8 higher than last night, oats were up 1-4 to 3-8 to 1-2 and provisions dearer by 1-2 to 1-2 to 1-2.

May oats sold from 34 to 34 3-8 to 34 1-2, and in the end was 3-8 to 34 1-2, and in the end was 3-8 to 34 1-2.

Hogs today for the first time this season closed profitably cut up to make contract provisions. After trading easier, pork was 30 to 37 1-2 more expensive than twenty-four hours previous; lard was up 1-2 to 1-2 and a rise of 1-2 to 2-8 in the cost of ribs.

FIRST RATE TOBACCO IS GROWN IN ARIZONA

Prescott, Ariz., Dec. 13.—Returning from the winter camp of John Dick and John Hanlon, near the Hasampampa, a few days ago, A. D. Barnhart states that he was never more agreeably surprised, if not astounded, at what was revealed to him when he inspected the small strip of land under cultivation by Mr. Dick, and was presented with a sample of tobacco that was grown there, and which he brought with him to the city.

Mr. Barnhart states that the tobacco growth is plainly in evidence, and that the twist he has in his office is a product of the handwork of Mr. Dick. In other lines an interesting situation was presented, that of articles raised indigenous to the soil of that elevation, consisting mainly of vegetables, which in season are grown in abundance. Irrigation of the land is had from a long tunnel, which is carried to the tract by gravity. Mr. Dick is the sole occupant of the camp and combines horticulture with mining.

Mr. Barnhart states that any who desire to call at the place and sample the weed, which he says has more strength than is ordinarily attached to the plug tobacco sold in the stores of the city. It is regretted that his tobacco plantation was not made known in time to receive recognition at the last territorial fair at Phoenix, which would have added another fragrant laurel to the wreath of the first county prize for Yavapai.

Manufacturers Become More Conservative Since Democratic Victory in Recent Election and See Gloomy Outlook.

A few firms have had a fair business with French worsted spinners who have taken fine and medium territory to a fair extent, but there have been no important transactions in other kinds of either domestic or foreign wools and as a whole the Boston wool market has been very quiet and uninteresting for a week past, says the Boston Commercial Bulletin. According to the experiences of some dealers the week has been the dulllest of the year. Outside influences such as tariff agitation and the season of foreign markets have been the chief factors, but a considerable percentage of machinery in the mills of the country not running, consumption is moderate and in line with the world's markets. Manufacturers will not listen to higher prices, claiming that the condition of the goods market does not warrant them. If double the quantity of goods now being sold could be moved at present prices their mills would be justified in the use of higher material, say leading manufacturers, but as prices have to be cut to get new business or to move accumulations mills are not in a position to pay more for their wool than they are.

However, when all the adverse features are considered there is a good deal to be said in favor of the confidence of most wool dealers. They point to the hardening tendency of foreign markets and the great disparity between values here and abroad is reason for their belief in the easy maintenance of current values and possibly higher prices when good domestic wool is available.

The local wool market has not been in as satisfactory condition as it was the first of this and the entire preceding month. Still some wool has moved and the mills and the dealers express the opinion that a feeling of uncertainty still keeps the manufacturers running close to shore and not stocking up on their goods nor on wool.

Thanksgiving may have had something to do with the comparatively light sales of the past week, for where there were only a few small orders booked the mills were closed for the remainder of the week, giving the operatives short vacation, and including all kinds of wool the sales were less than half the quantity of those of the four preceding weeks.

It is thought that very few of the mills have drawn the supply of wool or a good part of it from this market have any large amount of stock on hand, and unless they curtail production they are quite likely to require wool. Still the dealers realize that the manufacturers will not make many wools unless they have orders for them, and the merchants can only hope for a better trade than now exists when the orders for woolen goods increase very materially.

Philadelphia Wool Market.

The domestic wool market showed some improvement in the larger inquiry and sales, as compared with the preceding week, particularly for original as well as graded territory wool. The worsted mills in some instances have been in negotiation for large blocks immediately following the election when the sellers were offered below the asking price. Instances are noted where consignors have made slight concessions, and the buyers have also raised their offers which has resulted in bringing both parties together and some large sized blocks were taken by the local as well as nearby mills. The market continues active in spots and some sellers, while holding for former asking prices, are not anticipating any further advance for sometime. This year some of the larger worsted mills, formerly using fine Australian wool, have bought almost exclusively domestic territory and fleece wools. This has increased the demand for domestic wool and is gradually absorbing the comparatively limited stocks of good staple wools.

We say, with a clear conscience, we have the best 50c and 40c wools in the world. Write to H. L. Trimble & Co., 113 North Second St.

NORMAN MAYO IS LAID

TO REST IN FAIRVIEW

Impressive Services at Funeral of Well-Known Young Man Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral of Norman Mayo, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mayo, whose death occurred last Saturday as the result of an unfortunate and universally regretted accident, was held from the family home, 1425 West Central avenue yesterday afternoon. A large number of friends attended the funeral, many of them present being close personal friends of the dead young man, indicating his wide popularity.
Archdeacon W. E. Warren, of St.
John's Episcopal church, officiated and delivered an impressive sermon.
Many carriages followed the hearse bearing the casket to Fairview cemetery, where interment was made.
Many beautiful wreaths of flowers were laid on the casket as a final tribute to the memory of deceased.
The pall bearers were close friends and companions of young Mr. Mayo in his life time. Those who officiated were: Messrs. Chester See, Ernest Landolf, Louis Howden, Robert C.
Hopkins, J. Wallace Hesselden and John D. Hughes.

ALBUQUERQUE'S DRY GOODS SHOP

An ideal shopping center for the ready selection of practical gifts of distinctive merit in style and quality at moderate cost.

Useful Gifts

It is a great pleasure when shopping to buy in a store where lines have been carefully chosen, rather than to make purchases from enormous stocks that have been indiscriminately selected. We have borne this in mind while preparing for those who put a great deal of individual thought in their selections.

Dainty Neckwear

What gift would be more appreciated by the average girl or woman, than dainty neckwear?

Stocks and Jabots, Bowes, Coat Sets and Dutch Collar Sets may be had at our Neckwear Section in the most varied designs and styles, many of which are exclusive with us.

Ribbons in Novelty Gifts

Ribbons form a very important part of the holiday gift-making and are especially interesting to the woman who enjoys making the dainty little novelties for the holidays. We show an unsurpassed assortment of warp printed and Persian Ribbons, together with a stock of the staple Satin or Taffeta, the range of which, embraces almost every shade for matching purposes.

Silks for Gifts

Silks for the holiday gift more than ever this season. Why?
This and the coming spring season will be one of Silks for all kinds of wear.

Poplins, Satins, Crepe de Cashmere, Marquisettes for afternoon and reception wear.

Kimono Silks in handsome designs, 32 inches wide at 65c a yard.

25 exclusive Silk Waist patterns in plaids, Persian and Roman stripes, priced from $5.00 to $7.50.

Wool Dress Goods

In colors and black,
