

9-5-1990

Honduran Government To Crack Down On Black Market Currency Exchange

Deborah Tyroler

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalrepository.unm.edu/noticen>

Recommended Citation

Tyroler, Deborah. "Honduran Government To Crack Down On Black Market Currency Exchange." (1990).
<https://digitalrepository.unm.edu/noticen/4352>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Latin America Digital Beat (LADB) at UNM Digital Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in NotiCen by an authorized administrator of UNM Digital Repository. For more information, please contact amywinter@unm.edu.

Honduran Government To Crack Down On Black Market Currency Exchange

by Deborah Tyroler

Category/Department: General

Published: Wednesday, September 5, 1990

On Sept. 3, Central Bank president Ricardo Maduro told reporters that the government has launched an all-out effort to restrict the black market dollar trade. He said the Central Bank, Treasury Ministry, court system and the armed forces would participate in the new "war." ACAN-EFE cited independent sources as saying that the black market controls 60% of foreign currency exchange operations in Honduras. (Basic data from ACAN-EFE, 09/03/90)

-- End --