BRIEF WIRINGS

Another Squeeze.
NASHVILLE, Sept. 2.—Machinists and other shop hands, numbering 600, employed in the Louisville & Nashville shops at Decatur, Ala., struck yesterday.

Cholera.
LONDON, Sept. 2.—The port of Grimsby is infected with cholera. Eighty cases have been reported there.
New York.—One of the suspicious cases at Jersey City has been pronounced by Dr. Edson to be genuine Asiatic cholera.

Another Gone Down.
DENVER, September 2.—The Denver Savings Bank, with a capital of $250,000, has assigned. The liabilities are $670,000 and the assets $300,000 consisting of $120,000 cash and $800,000 notes and securities, which are perfectly good, but cannot be realized upon on account of the present depression.

Sunday School Growth.
St. Louis, Sept. 2.—The International Sunday School convention has brought here 1,500 delegates. The Statistical Secretary E. Payson Porter, of New York, reports: Sunday schools in the United States and British America, 130,179; teachers and officers, 1,372,558; scholars, 10,870,104; total, 12,242,662. In 1875 there were 63,272 Sunday schools, 788,805 teachers and 6,062,061 scholars, a total of 6,850,869.

CONGRESSIONAL

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Senator Vance made an earnest speech for silver yesterday. Senator Cockrell presented a statement of the production of coinage of gold and silver from 1873 to 1892, which showed a production of gold amounting to $2,210,900,365, while the coinage amounted to $2,787,714,872. Of silver the production was $2,400,760,533, and the coinage was $2,322,693,351.

Senator Hanchbrough presented an important amendment to the repeal bill. This amendment provides that the secretary of the treasury issue silver certificates of suitable denominations to replace all classes of gold or paper money, including bank notes of less denomination than $20 and purchase on the 1st and 15th of each month sufficient silver bullion to coin the same into standard dollars $12½ grains, as a basis for circulation and redemption, at par, of the certificates.

HOUSE.

Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, offered an amendment to prevent the committee on currency and banking from reporting at any time the bill to repeal the tax on state bank circulation, but finally after discussion, withdrew his amendment.

Mr. Springer offered an amendment giving cloture power to those committees which have a right to report at any time. This was promptly voted down.

Mr. Hepburn offered an amendment requiring the speaker to recognize the member first addressing him on any subject. This was also vigorously opposed and lost.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

OPINION OF SENATORS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Senators Wolcott, Teller, Stewart and Jones, the silver leaders in the senate, assert that unconditional repeal cannot pass the senate. All four declare that there will be no vote on this question, no matter how hard the opposition may fight, until some substitute question is brought forward for a compromise. They think that the administration cannot lead nor drive the Democratic members in the upper branch as was the case in the house.

APPOINTMENTS.

The president has sent to the senate the following nominations:
Register of land offices: Edward Phillips, of Louisiana, at Natchitoches, La.; R. W. Patterson, of Georgia, at Enid, O. T.; J. E. Malone, of Wisconsin, at Perry, O. T.; Wm. Hammock, of Tennessee, at Woodward, O. T.; F. P. Alexander, of Texas, at Alva, O. T.
Receivers of public money: J. J. S. Hassler, of South Dakota, at Enid, O. T.; J. H. King, of Alabama, at Perry, O. T.; J. H. Patton, of Indiana, at Woodward, O. T.; R. H. Allen, of Mississippi, at Alva, O. T.

Agents for Indians: E. L. Thomas, of the Indian territory, at the Sac and Fox agency in Oklahoma; R. M. Allen, of Illinois, at the White Earth agency, Minnesota; Peter Couchman, of South Dakota, at the Forest City agency in South Dakota; J. A. Smith, of Mississippi, at the Yankton agency, South Dakota; Beal Gaither, of Oregon, at the Siletz agency in Oregon; H. E. Williamson, of Arkansas, at the Quapaw agency, Indian Territory; Frank Dale, of Oklahoma, to be chief justice of the supreme court of the territory of Oklahoma; Henry W. Scott, of Oklahoma, to be associate justice of the supreme court of the territory of Oklahoma.

CAPITAL NOTES.

The president and his family are again at the White house, and in good health. According to the program mapped out in holding the elections in the different states in the west, silver men expect that the Populist movement will sweep both of the old parties out of existence. The silver men, especially the Populist members, in the house and senate expect to score their first victory in Virginia this fall.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder.

The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum
Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard

At the cabinet meeting yesterday all the cabinet officers were present except Sec. Smith. The silver question was discussed with reference to the chances for repeal by the senate, and the assistant expressed himself as satisfied that his recommendations would be carried out. Another most important question considered was the condition of the treasury, but no definite plan of relief was discussed with any view to immediate action.

IT WAS A TERROR.

700 Lives Lost and $20,000,000 of Property Destroyed at the East.

New York, Sept. 2.—From Savannah to Boston, along the coast, is one scene of desolation, death and suffering. It is estimated that 700 people have lost their lives by the storms of Sunday and Tuesday and the loss to property will amount to $20,000,000 or more. All the crops on the coast islands are destroyed. There are 10,000 destitute negroes on the Carolina coast. A Port Royal dispatch says that out of 600 drowned along the Carolina coast only twenty-five were whites and five were women.

KINGSTON IS IN IT.

The Smelter to Resume at Once—Late Ore Discoveries Bring Good Cheer.

Work was commenced on the sixty ton smelter at Kingston by tearing down the old furnace and water jacket and the place gotten in readiness for the new jacket and furnace which will arrive there to-night. W. J. Leber, the New Jersey silver refiner, is superintending the work in person, and besides these changes, several more are to be made and new machinery is to be put in. Contracts have been let out for large quantities of cord wood, and this in itself has started a number of men to work. Many of the mine owners have gone to Kingston out ore and a month's supply will be delivered in the yards at once and the supply kept up.

The starting up of the smelter, or its being put in readiness to do so, has given new life and activity to the entire district and surrounding country, and the general aspect of Kingston to-day is bright and full of promise.

The Grey Eagle and Kangaroo Mining companies resume operations on Monday next.

Very flattering news comes up from the gold mines at Animas Peak of some new and good gold strikes and to be of a lasting and permanent character are reported. The placer miners, who are working with pan and rocker, are said to be doing unusually well.

The Opportunity mine is reported to have made an unusually rich strike in its 400 foot workings.

TERRITORIAL TIPS.

LAS VEGAS LOCALS.

Isaac Flood at the springs, intends to run a conveyance from the resort to town, daily.

Mrs. Henriette Hume Pettijohn has been granted a legal separation from her husband, Dr. J. B. Pettijohn.

The railroad men around town are discussing the question that if the railway orders should unite, they could purchase the Montezuma hotel, at an outlay of $1 each, and make of it the grandest sanitarium in the world. Something may come of the discussion.

Dr. Charles Bowmer, of Mora county, says that he has not seen so favorable a season in New Mexico, as is the present, since twenty years ago. The natives say that good grass is assured for the next three or four years; and if a too-early frost does not come, all New Mexico stock will be well-fat all winter.

The live-bird shoot came off Wednesday afternoon. Messrs. Oldham, Quinley, Crispell, Jilson, Haefer and Dr. Williams participating. The shoot was for ten birds each, and the score stood: Haefer 10; Winters, 9; Oldham, 9. From this the score declined to Williams, 2.

ALBUQUERQUE ATOMS.

The A. M. E. church is to give a fan drill.

Mining matters are attracting much general attention here at present.

The Citizen will meet hard times with a new dress and a big reduction in subscription.

F. M. Rose will next week let a contract for a fine residence to be built for Mrs. S. E. Rose on Copper avenue.

When Chas. F. Hunt returns from Antelope Springs, he is expected to bring sensational news with him. The owners of the ranch are in a big row.

The Times' voting contest for a free trip to the World's fair was settled yesterday. Miss Mabel Hawley and Mr. A. T. Finical were the winners.

SILVER CITY SIFTINGS.

No robberies have been committed in town since the arrest of Potter last week. D. C. Hobart accompanied Mrs. Hobart and son, who have gone on a visit to Velasco, Texas, as far as El Paso.

The public schools of this city will open next Monday. The attendance promises to be larger than usual.

Fruit growers from different parts of the county are in town almost every day with fruit which is now being sold at very reasonable prices. Apples of good quality have been sold as low as 2 cents a pound from the wagon. Grapes, peaches and pears are in the market in great variety and the fruit is considerably above the average in quality.

Grass is headed out on the ranges and in many places is knee high. There will be plenty of opportunities for hay cutters to make money and they will soon commence to secure the crop. Native hay has always commanded a good price here, and if enough can be cut in this country this year to supply the home demand there will be a large amount of money kept at home which would otherwise be sent to Kansas, Colorado or the Mesilla valley for hay.

RATON RANGINGS.

The Misses Boggs will open an educational institution in Raton October 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Add. Walker arrived home Saturday well pleased with their trip to the World's fair and other eastern points.

The second annual convention of the Colfax county Sunday School association was held in the M. E. church at Raton on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Mrs. F. M. Walters met with quite a painful accident Sunday. She was out driving and her horse fell, throwing her and the baby out of the cart. The child was unhurt but Mrs. Walters was quite severely bruised.

Mrs. Annie W. Jordan
Of 165 Tremont St., Boston, was in very poor health, from bad circulation of the blood, having rush of blood to the head, numb spells, and chills, and the physician said the veins were almost bursting all over her body. A collision with a double runner brought on neuralgia of the liver, causing great suffering. She could not take the doctor's medicine, so took and soon fully recovered, and now enjoys perfect health. She says she could praise Hood's Sarsaparilla all day and then not say enough.

HOOD'S PILLS are hand made, and are perfect in composition, proportion and appearance.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every Post Office in the Territory and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the southwest.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 2.

SILVER is sound enough money for this section of the country.

SILVER first, protection next; that's what the great west will have to look after.

The fight for statehood is on again. Carry it along and be not weary in carrying it along.

It is a long lane that has no turn and it is high time that a turn in the New Mexico statehood lane was reached.

DELEGATE JOSEPH had not much to do with Mr. Miller's appointment. He supported Mr. Paulin. Score another one for the delegate.

"NEITHER a borrower, nor a lender be." It's easy enough not to be a borrower these days, for you can not borrow money, no matter how hard you try.

The Ohio wool growers are to meet to consider the political situation. This bodes no good to Mr. Cleveland's free trade candidate for governor of Ohio.

On yesterday this journal published the result of the business before the court of private land claims since its organization for active work. The record is a very creditable one. The court is doing very good work for New Mexico.

A New York paper asks: Will Cochran leave Tammany? We do not know and we do not care a continental red cent; but it looks as if he had already left Tammany and was booked for a lot of government pay under Grover Cleveland.

The next appointment on the tapis for New Mexico is the one of chief justice of the territorial supreme court. Gird up your loins and start in; the candidates as far as can be learned are Thomas Smith, of Virginia; Henry L. Warren, of Albuquerque; H. L. Pickett, of Silver City; E. V. Long, of Las Vegas, and J. D. O'Bryan also of Las Vegas; who will get there? Quien sabe!

The Southern Pacific railroad is still discharging men and reducing salaries of poorly paid employees; but salaries of the nabobs, directors, managers and the like are not reduced by it; sumptuous and costly special cars are still being used by favorites and satellites; richly paid and lazy officials of that road still lord it over the people of the section through which the road runs; is it not about the proper time for the people and voters of California, Arizona and New Mexico to arise and teach this overbearing, malignant and selfish corporation a much needed lesson?

SECRETARY MILLER.

Mr. Lorion Miller, of Albuquerque, has been appointed secretary of New Mexico in place of the present incumbent. For his own sake and the sake of the people of New Mexico, the New Mexican hopes and trusts that Mr. Miller will prove a good official. The office is a very important one. Mr. Miller has the ability to fill the office and fill it satisfactorily. He will be judged by his official record and his actions.

A bitter fight has been made on him by several leading men in his own party. On the other hand he was supported by Gov. Thornton and other leaders. He has been successful in the fight. And now let him be as successful in the performance of his duties and the people will approve.

NEW MEXICO A HUMMER.

It is within the bounds of reason to assert that New Mexico is to-day in better condition, physically and materially, than any other state or territory in all the broad west. Whatever may be the fate of silver, New Mexico to-day presents conditions to the investor, the home-seeker and the capitalist that can not but be attractive, if such parties will but look into the facts.

The gold mines of the territory were never so prosperous as now; and as for silver, this metal is here so happily combined with gold and lead and copper, that, as a rule the prices touching these other minerals govern, hence even with silver verging close to 80, no material injury can be worked to our mining industry.

With farm products and fruits this has been the season par excellence with New Mexico. The range live stock have not been in so good condition for ten years, and on the whole the territory is going into the fall season with prospects brighter than ever. There is really, therefore, no occasion for longer crying hard times in New Mexico. We lead the west as a territory and as a state we shall be a hummer.

ASSESSORS COMPENSATION.

The New Mexican elsewhere in this issue publishes a statement showing how the amounts of the assessors stand with the territory for commissions on assessments. In this connection a word or two upon the subject of the compensation of assessors will be found very timely.

The assessed valuation of this territory for the present year and on the returns made on March the first of this year will be about $10,000,000 and on this the average taxes for territorial, county, school and city taxes will amount to 4 per cent or a little over. Therefore the annual tax levy will amount to $800,000 and over.

On this amount under existing statutes, assessors are to receive 5 per cent of the amount assessed and collected; the law also provides that it shall be assumed that 75 per centum of the taxes levied are collected and that the assessors shall receive immediate pay for this amount, that is, pay as soon as the assessments are made and the assessment rolls are complete and approved by the proper authorities.

On $800,000 of taxes the assessors at 5 per cent will receive $40,000.

Is not this a very large sum to pay assessors for the work done? Facts are facts and they are laid before the people; the latter must act as if there is to be a change for the better.

THE SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.

In Time.

It is all right to urge congress to "vote." But the country will not get a full measure of relief till the country votes.—Kansas City Journal.

Coming Home to Roost.

Carlisle's speech in favor of free coinage when he was senator is giving him more trouble than any other that he ever made.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Hint for Secretary Whitney.

Ex-Secretary Whitney will observe that although a Democratic congress has been in session three weeks the "lower classes" as he calls them, are still clamoring for "bread or work."—New York Press.

If not, Why not.

The Republican platform of Pennsylvania demands a per capita circulation of $40 in this country. Why wouldn't it be a good idea to begin the increase by providing for the free and unlimited coinage of silver?—Denver Republican.

Habit Conquered Once.

It must have been hard for Mr. Holman, when another name than his was read at the head of the committee on appropriations, to refrain from arising solemnly and saying, "I object."—Boston Journal.

Georgia Now Marching Through Its "Boys," said a sage old veteran to some comrades, "Hoke Smith, of Georgia, is boss at the pension bureau, and Representative Moses, also from Georgia, has now been made chairman of the house committee on pensions. Boys, I say, in '64 we were 'marching through Georgia,' but Georgia's called the turn on us at last, boys. Georgia's now marching through us!"—Oswego (N. Y.) Times.

Where to Stay in Chicago

The perplexing question which is every day asked by people who desire to go to Chicago to attend the World's fair is, "Where are we going to stay when we get there?" This is easily answered, and if you will go to the ticket agent of the Santa Fe, Mr. W. M. Smith, he will tell you.

Arrangements have been made for the distribution by the Santa Fe company of a pamphlet entitled "Homes for Visitors to the World's Fair." This is a reliable pamphlet containing the names and addresses of about 9,000 families who will furnish accommodations to visitors from May 1 to October 31, 1893. The pamphlet also contains sectional maps which will enable the intending visitor to select any quarter of the city that he would prefer. Correspondence can then be carried on and definite arrangements made so that when visitors arrive in Chicago they can proceed at once to their quarters.

Among the incidents of childhood that stand out in bold relief, as our memory reverts to the days when we were young, none are more prominent than severe sickness. The young mother vividly remembers that it was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured her of croup, and in turn administered it to her own offspring and always with the best results. For sale by A. C. A Lending Toward the Drama.
It came to pass that a certain man had a son and a daughter.

In the fullness of time the youth and the maiden evinced a wish to become histrionic artists.

Coming then before the old man they asked his advice.

Pa, they said, how shall we proceed to get engagements as leading gentleman and lady, respectively?

The father gazed upon them fondly and his face lighted with a benignant smile.

My children, he rejoined, a long course of preparation is necessary. You my daughter—

(He turned to the radiant maiden.)
—must marry unhappily, and you, my son—

(His eyes rested proudly upon the youth)
—will have to issue challenges to all the pugilists in your class.

In this day and generation the old man was considered to know his business.

Have Luck.
A man went out to fish one day;
He fished with might and main,
And empty-handed went his way,
Which filled his heart with pain.

"How now? How now?" the good wife said
"Where are my fish to fry?"
Her husband simply hung his head
And said, "No fish have I."

Set Him Right.
Geo. Augustus Sala, the well known English writer, on his last Australian trip, wrote as follows to the London Daily Telegraph.

"Especially have a pleasant remembrance of the ship's doctor—a very experienced maritime medic indeed, who tended me most kindly during a horrible spell of bronchitis and spasmodic asthma, provoked by the sea fog which had swooped down on us just after we left San Francisco. But the doctor's prescriptions and the increasing warmth of the temperature as we neared the tropics, and, in particular, a couple of Alcock's Porous Plasters clapped on—one on the chest and another between the shoulder blades—soon set me right."

The Dogs' Accents Might Be Spoiled.
"What a love of a dog!" exclaimed a caller at a Jefferson-ave. mansion as a bundle of hair and ribbons trotted into the room.

"Yes, but he's a dreadful care," sighed the mistress of the household, sadly.

"What do you mean?" asked the visitor in surprise.

"Why, you know I bought Bijou in Paris last summer, and he doesn't understand a word of English, so I had a French maid for him all winter, but last June she insisted on marrying some horrid creature, and now we have a French Canadian girl, and she worries me dreadfully."

"Does she abuse him?" asked the visitor indignantly.

"Oh, dear no, she's as kind as can be, but these Canadians speak such poor French—suppose she should ruin Bijou's accent! It makes me sick to think of it!"—Detroit Free Press.

Scientists May Differ.
As to the causes of rheumatism, but there is no difference of opinion among them as to the danger which attends it, the symptoms by which it manifests itself, and difficulty of dislodging it in its chronic stage. Several mineral and vegetable poisons are prescribed for it, but none of these has been shown by experience to possess the same efficacy as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This benign specific depraves the blood by promoting vigorous action of the kidneys, which strain from the blood as it passes through them the rheumatic virus when it exists in the system. Physicians of eminence testify to the value of the Bitters in rheumatism, and the professional opinions regarding it are borne out and corroborated by simple popular evidence. The Bitters remedy chills and fever, liver complaint, dyspepsia and constipation.

When Times are Easier.
Spreading his handkerchief over the carpet with courtly grace the duke knelt at her feet.

The damsel before whom the seion of a noble race thus prostrated himself was vividly affected.

"Light of my life!"

The duke's manner had none of the indecision that confesses the tyro.

"My coronet I offer to thee."

"Your highness—"

She was toyng nervously with the gilt trimming of her hop-sacking gown.

"I must have time."

The light of exultation shone in his eyes.

"And when," he eagerly demanded, "may I know my fate?"

"My lord—"

Her glance fell.

"What margin must you have to make it a December delivery for that coronet? Pa says he can't afford a real ducal son-in-law until money is plentiful."

And the duke more than ever felt like a stranger in a strange land.—Star-Sayings.

Immense, that's What they All Say.
It is customary in these later days to express our perfect satisfaction with a thing by saying "It's immense!" It's so expressive that nothing can be added.

Geo. J. Fink, Philadelphia Pa., says, "My wife has been taking your New Cure for the Heart and says it is immense! She has not been troubled with pain or smothering spells since using it." Juo. L. Roberts, Stratford, Pa., says he is 75 years old, and has suffered from heart disease over 40 years. I purchased a bottle and received almost immediate relief. I continued to use the medicine and was entirely cured. TIMES HAVE CHANGED.
Out of the past he strayed
In silver armor clad,
Wondering but undismayed
To find the world gone mad
And unto hearts amazed
With cruel love of gold
He called in beauty's name
To battle as of old.

Lo! the dull world passed by,
Nor listened to his cry.

But one who sat alone,
Wary and sick at heart,
Leaned from her desolate throne
High o'er the crowded mart
And sighed: Methinks I hear
A voice still long ago dead
The homage dear, so dear!
I nevermore shall know.

But the blind world passed by,
Nor heard the lady's sigh.

A WAR TRAGEDY.

In the mountain regions of Tennessee more than at any other point along the border line between the hostile forces the tragic elements of the civil war were brought close to the people. Elsewhere there were places made vacant by the struggle, other regions suffered more from cannon and the devastation of marching armies, but up in the mountains civilized warfare gave place to the strife of savages, and instead of a war of states there raged battles between neighbors and relatives. A well known citizen of this city recently talking over those times related this story of the passions engendered by guerrilla warfare, which, except for the use of fictitious names, he vouches for as being absolutely true:

When the war broke out, there lived in one of the interior counties of the state a well to do farmer named Jackson. His family consisted of his wife, several sons and a daughter 19 years old. He was an intelligent, upright man, was held in high esteem by his neighbors. His children received a good education, and his daughter, Nellie, was a lovable, gentle girl and the belle of the neighborhood. She was a strong country girl, of a fearless nature, and an expert shot with both the rifle and revolver.

About this time there settled in the country village nearby a young physician from a northern state. Dr. Gordon was an alert, active young man of commanding presence. He soon won the respect of those who became his patients and was meeting with a flattering degree of success in his profession. Among those he attended was Mrs. Jackson, and he of course became acquainted with the daughter. The young people soon manifested a preference for each other's society, and in a short time friendship ripened into love. The parents readily gave their consent to the union, which was to take place as soon as the young physician's practice became lucrative enough to warrant him in marrying. Thanks to his increasing success in his calling, they felt that in a few short months they would start out in life together.

The mutterings of the great struggle which had been going on for two years, or more at that time began to grow nearer as the scene of conflict drew nearer to this retired part of the country. The wider and rougher element among the people became members of a guerrilla band which established a reign of terror throughout the surrounding country. The property of those who were suspected of sympathizing with the Union was destroyed, their cattle and horses stolen, their buildings burned to the ground, and the men warned to join the southern army at once on pain of death.

Dr. Gordon was known as an outspoken Union man, and he received notice time and again that his life would be forfeited if he did not enlist in the cause of the south, but he went on his way undaunted. One day while calling upon a patient who lived some distance beyond Mr. Jackson's he was arrested by a squad of Confederate soldiers in command of a lieutenant, who at once started for the camp with their prisoner. They had to pass the Jackson place on their way and stopped for supper, which was readily served for them. Mr. Jackson called the lieutenant in command to one side and told him that the prisoner was soon to become his son-in-law and asked for his release, promising him that the doctor would take no part in the war, but would leave the country within 24 hours and would not return until the conflict had ended.

After a little hesitation the officer consented, for he was a near neighbor and knew that Mr. Jackson was to be trusted, and besides he himself was under deep obligations to the prisoner, who had been his family physician for some time. Dr. Gordon was informed that he could have 24 hours in which to leave the state. For the sake of his promised wife, who was present and added her tearful entreaties to the requests of her father, he consented to go. The Confederates departed when they had finished their meal, and after an hour or two spent in forming his plans for departure the doctor bade his sweetheart farewell and went to his boarding place. He at once began his preparations for departure.

He had just given the last instructions to his host and was about bidding the family farewell when there came a knock at the door, and in walked three of the most noted guerrillas of the band that infested the neighborhood. They were aware of the doctor's arrest and parole on condition of his leaving the place. They appeared friendly and stated that their errand was to get some medicine from the doctor for the child of one of their number. As the unsuspecting physician turned to get his medicine case from the table three revolvers were drawn, and their reports rang out simultaneously.

Every shot took effect in the doctor's body, but no vital spot was touched. He wheeled and ran to the room followed by another fusillade from the desperadoes. Running around the house the wounded man made his way cautiously in again at the back door, crept up stairs to his room and crawled upon his bed. Here he was found shortly after by one of the members of the family, who went for a physician, leaving the sufferer alone.

The three murderers, who had been searching for their victim, entered the room while the house was empty. One of them walked up to the side of the bed, and placing his revolver against his victim's temple blew his brains out. Word of the tragedy was sent to the Jacksons. Mr. Jackson and Nellie, who would not be left behind, came at once to the bedside of the murdered man. Throwing herself upon the form of her lifeless lover, Nellie clasped her arms around it and gave way to a torrent of tears.

After the first outburst she rose, drying her eyes. Then deliberately laying her hand upon the heart of the dead man and looking upward, she said distinctly and solemnly:

"Here, over the body of my murdered love I swear not to rest until I have wreaked my revenge upon the three cowards who have taken his life. I will have their miserable lives in payment for my blighted life. I call upon all present to witness my oath. God help me to fulfill it."

The body of the physician was buried, and then Nellie at once set about carrying out her oath of vengeance. Two of the guerrillas lost their lives in a clash with the Federal troops before she had an opportunity of reaching them, much to her sorrow, for she felt that she had been cheated out of a part of her mission. The third one, and the one who had fired the last shot into the doctor's head, took good care to keep out of her way. Under cover of night he came stealing back home at last on a visit.

The next day Nellie, who was unaware of his return, rode over to his house, some two miles and a half from her home, thinking perhaps she could learn something of his whereabouts. Finding no one at home, she sat down to await the return of some member of the family. While waiting a man came to the door and inquired if the man she was waiting for was in, saying he heard he had returned the night before and he wished to see him. Upon Nellie's informing him of the absence of the family, he said he thought they must have gone to the home of the man's sister-in-law, who lived about half a mile beyond, and that he would go over and see.

After he had been gone a short time, Nellie mounted her horse and followed him, fearing that he would give warning to the object of her search. On the way she carefully inspected her revolver to make sure it was in good condition.

Arriving at the house, she found a number of people gathered there, among them the wife, father and mother of the man she sought. They nearly all rose to go as she entered. Not seeing the one she was after, she inquired if he was there and was told that he was not. Glancing toward the gate, she saw him slinking stealthily toward it, trying to escape her notice. Running out quickly, she came up within a short distance of him and called upon him to stop. He turned with an oath, but seeing a revolver pointed at him wheeled and started to run.

Nellie fired at a distance of 12 paces, the shot taking effect in the back of his head. Before he fell she fired again, and he fell upon his face and knees. Three more shots were fired at a distance of five paces, two of which struck him in the back and side. Then walking coolly up to her victim's side she watched till his struggles ceased and he lay dead. She then turned and walked deliberately toward the house, but before reaching it met the wife of her victim, who came rushing out demanding why Nellie had shot her husband. Drawing herself up proudly, Nellie answered:

"You know what that man did on Dec. 13. He brutally murdered my promised husband. I have been determined to do this deed ever since, and I never shall regret it."

They threatened her with vengeance for her act, but paying no heed to them she reloaded her revolver and mounting her horse she turned and said:

"If the cowardly band wish to add to their infamy by murdering a woman, I suppose they will do so. Death would be welcome to me now that my beloved is avenged. I shall stay at home or leave, as I please, undismayed by any threats you may make." Then she departed unmolested.—New York Tribune.

Horses With Four White Feet.
In France, and I believe in European countries, it is a most ominous sign for a rider, and especially a soldier, to want a horse with four white feet. The famous general, Lasalle, who was very superstitious upon this point, never knowingly mounted such a horse. The day of his death, after several ominous events which had happened to him that day, such as a broken mirror, a broken pipe, the picture of his wife broken at the very moment when he went to look at it for the last time, he mounted a horse not for his own without glancing at his feet. The horse had the unlucky signs. Mounted upon this horse, he was struck by a shot fired at a moment when fighting had ceased by a Croat among the prisoners just taken at the battle of Wagram.

On the other hand, these four white feet are a mark and token of consideration with the orientals, who do not fail to mention the fact in the pedigrees of their horses.—L'Artiste.

Nurses' Weakness For Tea.
A paying patient in a London hospital, while bearing testimony to the kindness, attention and self denial of the nurses, remarks on the one weakness they all appear to possess. And this is intemperance—not indeed in alcoholic liquors, but in tea. In season and out of season, morning, noon and night, was the cup of tea resorted to. It seemed to be quite as much the correct thing when two nurses met for one to invite the other to come and have a cup of tea as in some circles it is for a clerk to invite his friend to come and have a drink. This excessive tea drinking is no doubt due to the long hours and harassing work of the nurses.

A little boy of Mrs. McDonald's, living near here, fell against a red hot stove and was fearfully burned. The pain was terrible, and it was thought the burn was so severe as to scar the child for life. I sold the lady a bottle of Pain Balm, which, after greasing the sore, she applied. It soon removed all the fire, and eased the pain, and in ten days the boy was well, no trace of the scar remaining. J. D. McLaren, Keyport, Clinton county, Ill. For sale by A. C. Ireland, Jr.

Great altitudes furnish a gymnasium where the respiratory organs are compelled to be exercised, and, consequently become larger and more efficient.

Altitude, also, prevents instead of inducing hemorrhages, as was the old opinion. This fact has been well established by experience and observation.

THE SANITARIUM OF SANTA FE.
Dr. J. F. Danter vice-president of the American Health Resort association says: "It is worth traveling miles to drink of such water as flow through this deep cut in the mountains and supply the city of Santa Fe for domestic purposes and for irrigation of the fruit farms. The water is absolutely pure, cold and fresh from the melting snows above, or falling from springs in the mountain side. It is free from all lime, alkali or other ingredients so very injurious to the consumptive patient. Such water is a great boon anywhere and at any time, but here, where other features of a genuine and pure air combine to produce an ideal climate, it is of special value."
