Six cases were reported in England.

Wants Damages.
CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Dr. David M. Vosburg, examining physician for the Home Life Insurance company, to-day brought suit in the circuit court for $25,000 damages against the Evening Journal for alleged libel. After the Lords.
LONDON, Sept. 13.—The national liberal federation last night issued a circular against the house of lords. In this circular the federation declares seven years discussion and eighty-two days consideration by the house of commons definitely ascertained the wishes of 30,000,000 people, yet this counts for nothing when opposed to the views of 400 conservative peers. Continuing, the circular declares that the abolition of the house of lords is now in the front rank of the liberal program, in accord with Mr. Gladstone's declaration at New Castle.

made to remove all foreign war ships out of the line of fire from insurgents' battle ships. The dispatch adds that intense excitement prevailed throughout the night in Rio.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

DUTY ON WOOL.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The ways and means committee devoted the entire day yesterday to hearing reports of the manufacturer's club, of Philadelphia, and of the Woolen Manufacturer's association, who protest against any change in the tariff rates on their respective manufactures.

To-day E. A. Hitchcock, of the Crystal Plate Glass company, St. Louis, asked the committee not to disturb the existing rates of duty on glass. Geo. Austerman, of the Chicago Furniture manufactory, asked that German looking-glass be added to the free list.

A FIGHT IN SIGHT.

The house committee on elections of president, vice-president and members of congress yesterday ordered a favorable report to be made on the bill totally repealing the federal election laws and it is the Democratic policy that it is to have the exclusive attention of the house after Thursday of this week. A bitter partisan fight is expected.

The bill will be presented to the house to-morrow by Tucker, of Virginia, and the debate will probably begin on Friday.

WALL STREET'S SCHEME.

The national congress of business men convened here yesterday. About 100 men representing boards of trade and the commercial interests of the principal cities of the country were present. E. R. James, of New York, called the assembly to order, saying the object of the meeting was called for the immediate repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act and to consider financial interests of the country.

CLEVELAND WILL SERVE.

Dr. Sphall, the new minister for the Argentine Republic, was formally presented to the president to-day. The president consented to act as a member of the arbitration council to determine the boundary line between the Argentine Republic and Brazil.

NATIONAL NOTES.

The president has sent the nomination to the senate of Charles H. J. Taylor, of Kansas, minister to Bolivia.

Charles Robinson, of New York, is said to be most likely to succeed Josiah Quincy as assistant secretary of state. He is but 24 years old.

In the house the chaplain prayed for the new child which had gladdened the nation and the home and heart of the chief magistrate of the country.

Mr. Teller will probably not be able to conclude his speech for a day or two. His address of Monday has made a decided sensation, and when completed it will prove to be one of the strongest speeches which Mr. Teller has ever made.

Mr. Murray, of South Carolina, sought to secure the immediate consideration of a resolution in the house appropriating $200,000 for the relief of the cyclone sufferers in the south. Mr. Kilgore, of Texas, objected and it went to the committee on appropriations.

Ex-Congressman Albert S. Wills, of Louisville, Ky., the new minister to Hawaii, has received his instructions and credentials from the state department and left for his home, whence he will depart on his mission by way of San Francisco.

Albuquerque Crime Notes.

Conrado Gonzales, of Albuquerque, who on the 5th inst. assassinated Estanislado Sandoval at Casa Grande, was yesterday taken by his father, Ignacio Gonzales, from Los Corrales, and given up to the sheriff in Albuquerque.

No clue to the brutal murderer of Alcarria Baca, the Santa Fe woman, in an Albuquerque house of ill repute, has as yet been discovered.

J. Edward Priest is in the Bernillo county jail, serving a sentence for assault. The case was taken to the supreme court and the decision of the lower court affirmed, wherein Priest was adjudged a fine of $500, and to stand committed until the fine is paid.

CLIMBING HIGHER.

Lead Touches $3.90 and the $4 Mark is Assured—Means More Business.

The expected further advance in the price of lead came yesterday when the price climbed to $3.90 with a firm market back of it.

Four weeks ago lead rose from $3.15 to $3.65. To-day the quotation is $3.90. There is every reason to believe that it will go beyond the $4 mark within a few days.

The cause of the rise is the fact that the lead market has long been very low. The shutting down of the silver-lead mines has virtually cut off the lead supply. The rise in lead, in the opinion of many mining men, will enable many silver-lead mines to resume work in New Mexico despite the insurrection's efforts to keep silver. Indeed, the miners are jubilant over the outlook.

MAGNIFICENT MORA

A Rich and Prosperous Region which is the Pride of All New Mexico.

Thousands of Acres of Fertile Lands Awaiting the Building of Storage Reservoirs.

Simple Irrigation Propositions and the Big Profits they Promise Promoters.

The Percheron and Clydesdale Horse Breeding District of the Southwest—An Inviting Country.

Mora is one of the most beautiful counties of New Mexico, and occupies a position favorable to agriculture and stock raising in the north central part of the territory. It comprises about 2,700,000 acres, of which three quarters are arable and cultivable if water can be brought onto the land. The climate is mild and equable, although the altitude ranges from 4,000 to 7,000 feet.

THE WATROUS VALLEY
May be taken as typical of the county and of northern New Mexico. It is watered by two streams, the Sapello and the Mora. From these the farmers have taken out small ditches and brought under a high state of cultivation over 4,000 acres, which may be divided as follows: The Clyde ranch, owned by Hadley & Hallett, about 1,000 acres cultivated; the Phoenix ranch, owned by R. G. Head, 1,000 acres; Jos. B. Watrous, 300 acres; Wm. Kroenig, 1,000 acres; Carl Wildenstein, 150 acres; Don Lorenzo Lopez, 75 acres; Don Bernardo Salazar, chairman of the board of county commissioners, 160 acres in good cultivation just across the river from the Clyde ranch; Don Santiago Bonney, 50 acres; Mr. Martinez, 100 acres; and Mrs. S. B. Watrous, 80 acres.

These lands were originally part of the John Seely grant, and to see them in full bloom of life and beauty is a wonderful sight.

LOOKING DOWN THE VALLEY
from above the Clyde ranch, wide alfalfa fields, groves of cottonwoods, small orchards, blooming gardens, and delightful homes dot the landscape.

The writer will never forget his first impression of this valley. The first view of it was as the night brightened and blushed into day. The western horizon, along the summits of the Las Vegas and Santa Fe ranges was filled with vivid white clouds, the east glowing with crimson and orange; the zenith a dark purple blue, splashed here and there with the radiant white of a passing cloud. Up and down the valley the houses and buildings were revealed as in a picture. Add to this a pure atmosphere that seared the system and invigorated it. The people of Watrous believe there is no valley in the world more lovely than theirs; and such an introduction inclines one to subscribe to the opinion.

Through the hospitality of Gov. O. A. Hadley, I was enabled to see all this country thoroughly. At the Phoenix ranch, there are 1,000 acres under cultivation and about 4,000 acres fenced. It is a cattle and alfalfa ranch of a high type, well laid out and highly cultivated. Mr. Head is not wholly dependent on the flow of the river as he has a considerable reservoir on his place; from which in the dry season he can take out his irrigation.

THE CLYDE RANCH
owned by Gov. Hadley and W. H. Hallett, is just across the Mora river, is a model in its lay-out and management. Every bit of fence timber is in place, all the farm gates are strong and self-latching, the roads well kept and the ditches clean.

In going over this place the governor showed me large fields of alfalfa that he planted a year ago on the prairie sod and on growing timothy that would run well on two tons at the second cutting then being made. Also in another field he showed me a field sowed with alfalfa on the natural sod this spring. As is well known water this year has been too scarce to use in experiments, consequently this field went unwatered until the July rains. It has been irrigated once since, and as usual with such lands the surface has split into innumerable small cracks. Through every one of these tiny fissures and shoals of the alfalfa were actually crowding. It would be hardly within bounds to endorse or advise this system of alfalfa planting. It is against all the pre-conceived ideas, but the governor says with a smile "it has been successful." What more does one want?

OUT ON THE RANGE.

Gov. Hadley has some splendid Clydesdale and Percheron horses, and further out still a fine herd of black Galloway cattle. Everything about the place is made to yield some profit. There is a small orchard on this ranch and a kitchen garden. The balance of the 1,000 acres cultivated is devoted to alfalfa and hay. It is somewhat of a question with eastern farmers if such a ranch will pay. Alfalfa this year will run at this place about four tons to the acre. The lowest price paid in winter is $10 per ton delivered baled on the cars. To put this product thus far costs the raiser from $1 to $4.50, possibly $5 per ton. The big Clyde and Phoenix ranches have more than 500 acres each in alfalfa. A net profit of $20 an acre is not to be despised, especially when it is considered that this cultivation is very sure. In the east land that will yield $20 sure net profit on any staple would be purchase price. In New Mexico similar and equally good land may be purchased for from $20 to $35 per acre.

Next year Gov. Hadley contemplates an important experiment. He will break up a small piece of alfalfa land and plant it carefully to potatoes, keeping a reckoning of all the data concerning the experiment. At Greeley, Colo., potatoes yield about $100 per acre. There is no reason why the Mora county lands should not pay equally well and raise as good if not a superior potato to Greeley.

The homestead at this ranch is a roomy two-story adobe, surrounded by a splendid lawn of blue grass and shaded by a beautiful grove of cottonwoods. There are over thirty men employed about the place during the busy season.

THE PIONEER WM. KROENIG.
On the Sapello, also has a beautiful place. Besides the flow of the stream, he saves the storm waters in an extensive system of six interlocking lakes. From these he waters crops practically similar to those of the Clyde and Phoenix ranches. Carl Wildenstein has the model farm of the valley. He has now 150 acres laid down to alfalfa and oats. Next year he proposes planting a large orchard. Among the native citizens, Don Bernardo Salazar's ranch is notable. It is well cultivated and he has a fine herd of milk and beef cattle.

From Watrous up the valley the trip is delightful. The scenery is superb. The Cueva and Golondrina valleys are passed. The high rolling means are covered a foot deep with black grama grass, and it waves in the wind like a wheat field.

AT LA CUEVA
Is the first large cultivation. This is owned by the La Cueva Ranch company and managed by Mr. D. C. Duell. It was originally the Romero estate and the Romero homestead is now the headquarters of this company. It owns 29,000 acres of this beautiful valley, and has between 3,000 and 4,000 now in actual cultivation. On this ranch, supplied from the Mora, is a reservoir covering 640 acres, from which six feet of water is available for irrigation, or 3,840 acre feet. The level of the lake is still fifteen feet below the feedway of the canal, and by an inexpensive embankment the reservoir can be made to hold twelve feet more water. Putting the proposition that eighteen feet of water may be drawn off of a surface of about 800 acres, there will be available 14,400 acre feet of water, or enough to irrigate that acreage of land. This La Cueva ranch is also a stock farm. It is easily watered, as besides the above reservoir there are three other smaller lakes. Mr. Duell has had very close surveys made of this estate and has the plans laid to put practically the whole under water. In passing it may be noted that this company, when its improvement of the present reservoir is complete, will own

THE LARGEST LAKE
In New Mexico outside of the Pecos valley. Mr. Duell also has a fine fruit garden attached to his home ranch. It is protected by a high adobe wall and shows what can be done in this country. With the splendid water facilities and good land on this ranch this valley should laugh with crops and be crowded with small farms and homes. It forms a perfect mountain amphitheatre and is lovely beyond description.

From La Cueva to Mora the road winds through a canoncito and thence through a gradually widening and cultivated valley parallel to the Mora until from the brow of a high mesa the beautiful is revealed. The quaint little town, with its handsome court house and other buildings lies at one's feet. From the west stretches a band of green threaded with silver. It is the crops on each side of the river and the sparkles of its water. In picturesque abruptness the mountains in places run down to meet the stream. In others they fall away forming wide green rincos that add to the cultivable space. The valley proper is from three-fourths to one mile wide and about fifteen miles long. There are over 6,000 acres closely cultivated herein.

These descriptions are enthusiastic, it is true, but excusable by the facts. From Watrous to Mora is a panorama of beauty that if possessed in the eastern states would be world renowned. From one divide to the other the landscape is now clothed in natural verdure. To eastern eyes it reveals nothing of its arid nature. The grama waves a foot high, water courses and bubbles in the streams, but the tenderfoot has very often trusted these signs to his sorrow. The moisture that will mature grama is not enough for crops. The almost pearl gray horizon and the deep azure of the dome of heaven, although they lend beauty to the landscape, are signs that never escape the experienced eye. They mean aridity and a constancy of sunshine that is valuable to the irrigator but deadly to eastern methods of farming.

Going from Mora down the river there are small ranches along it and its tributary streams until is reached, which belongs to the heirs of the late Enoch Tipton. It contains about 800 acres cultivated to fruit and general crops; then comes Walter Lyden, with seventy-five acres; and proceeding farther down the valley passing small ranches until Shoemaker, eight miles from Watrous, is reached. Here the valley widens out and is called Cherry valley, and there are a number of extensive ranches. The principal of which are those of Capt. Wm. B. Branson, Thomas Lester, L. C. Fort, Frank Carpenter, Judge Carson and others aggregating about 1,200 acres in actual cultivation. Commencing again and following up the Mora for five miles we come to the Loma Paria, where several hundred more acres are cultivated. Webbers old place, now owned by Mr. Bierbaum is seven miles up the river. Thence up the stream are the Golondrina and Buena Vista valleys, well cultivated.

Accurate inquiry reveals the fact that there are cultivated annually in the county. The official figures of the census put it much lower, but it is probable, the enumerators in taking account of the irrigated and cultivated land got so mixed up in varras and acres that he could not tell what he knew about it. The statistics and estimates given above are about right.

Mora county is a splendid sheep and cattle country. According to the tax returns, there are 2,112 horses and mules, 29,270 cattle and 115,151 sheep in this county. The aggregate value of which is placed at $145,991,524. These figures, however, as usual with tax returns, are much below the actual facts. There are at least twice the number of horses and mules, 250,000 sheep, a proportionately greater number of cattle. The values should also be proportionately increased. There are also a goodly number of goats, swine and burros.

Within this county is situated old Fort Union now abandoned as a military garrison. Its name is associated with much that is thrilling in New Mexican history. There is one thing concerning this county that needs correction on the part of the general government and that is the Jicarilla Apaches roam off their reservation 100 miles away, all over the county killing the game and fish. This should be stopped summarily.

There is no doubt but what Mora county in its entirety is destined to be a great agricultural and stock country. Its land is richer than Greeley, Colo., it is free from alkali, and will raise crops abundantly. Reservoirs sit on the mesa, such as the one at La Cueva are frequent, and in these can be stored without danger water to irrigate many small tracts, which in the aggregate will amount to thousands of acres. This will greatly enrich not only the farmers but the country.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 13.

A TRAGIC TALE.

A "Pome" on Hemingway and Children.

How do you do Mister Hemingway? Have you come for your health, or come to stay?

Cleveland says yes, but the Times say no. And Albuquerque swears you'll have to go. Because you knocked Mister Children out. The Duke City faithful all sink and pout. And loudly on Cleveland they shout and yell. That they don't want you here at all, at all. If you don't get out's without more ado. They'll make it exceedingly hot for you. You won't. Well, there's the loss of the show. And holds in his hand, both the high and low. He has played the game in his own old way. And Children is down in the consummation. Which is made of the rooster that crow'd last fall. And now tastes as bitter as wormwood and gall.

But what is your gain is poor Children's loss. So Democrats how to the Cleveland loss. There's no use in kicking or looking so wry. You have made your bed and there you must lie.

The money famine seems to have been declared off for the time being.

Politics is not bothering the New Mexican very much at this stage; it's statehood we want just now.

This is the territorial newspaper of New Mexico and the people of the territory should stand by it accordingly, regardless of politics.

We can not be any the worse off with statehood, let me improve our condition materially and rapidly with statehood; let's have it, and that as soon as possible.

The New Mexican's telegraph service is improving daily; it will compare more than favorably with that of any other paper in the territory; it is short, comprehensive, correct and readable.

Closure or no closure, the honorable and venerable United States senators will have their last say on the Wilson repeal bill, the president's desire to have same passed speedily to the contrary notwithstanding.

The agitation for statehood and for an early passage of the necessary bill by congress must be kept up; there is no sense in waiting for a year and a half; let's have the matter settled; the old fogies to the rear and the strong, young, active blood to the front.

The long winded yawns that are now being delivered by grave and revered senators on the silver question influence nobody; let's have an end on it; either repeal the Sherman act or let it stand; life is decidedly too short for yawning and long winded speeches.

The New Mexican's special correspondent wires the New Mexican that he has just interviewed President Cleveland concerning the stand of the leaders and bosses of the New Mexico Democracy on the Smith and Hemingway appointments; that the president with tears in his eyes and sorrow in his heart said he could not help it, and that he had made the appointments they should stand, and he wanted to be left alone to look after the new baby; this is official and settles the controversy.

The New Mexican is truly and sincerely sorry for its friends and compatriots of the Democratic faith who are dissatisfied with Mr. Cleveland in appointing Thomas Smith, chief justice, and John B. H. Hemingway, United States attorney, but what is the use of being angry anyway? Life is too short and the president's appointments will in all human probability stand like the rock of ages or the Egyptian pyramids or the temples of Baal or the Roman catacombs or something of the kind.

The Associated Press kindly informs a suffering people, that at a recent lawn tennis tournament at Newport, Miss. Taylor wore a white gown, a pink blouse and a jaunty straw hat, also that Mrs. Astor wore a straw hat with black trimmings and a striking costume of white; but what bothers the people, is the fact that the Associated Press forgot to mention who won the game. This is a great country indeed and its citizens are very law abiding, but they will not much longer submit to such tyranny and ill treatment.

MORA COUNTY.

The county of Mora comes in for a good write-up, in this issue of the New Mexican, of its magnificent agricultural possibilities and actual resources; the data given in the article are correct and reliable and have been gathered by a special correspondent of this journal, sent there at its own expense and simply for the purpose of doing good; it is the most extensive and exhaustive article descriptive of the rich Mora valley that has ever appeared in print. As usual the New Mexican is at work in this instance, as at all other times, for the good and advancement of our people and of our territory. The article will be found very interesting and fully worthy of careful perusal.

EX-SECRETARY ALEXANDER.

The office of secretary of the territory of New Mexico has been held by Mr. Silas Alexander for about ten months. He took charge of it under peculiar circumstances and owing to the sudden death of the former incumbent found matters official and business connected with the office very much complicated and disturbed. Mr. Alexander however, took hold with a strong will and firm energy and in a few short weeks had the business of the office, that was months behind, fully cleared up and all official matters connected with it in excellent running order and in convenient shape.

The office was a specially important one owing to the session of the 30th legislative assembly last winter and Mr. Alexander conducted all official matters in such an efficient and correct manner that the last assembly signed a unanimous and strong endorsement for him, the members signing regardless of politics. A large amount of money was expended by him in his official capacity, and his accounts up to the present month have already been approved and found correct.

He retires from office with the good will and respect of all those who had official relations with him; he was removed by the president for political reasons simply; he made a first class, honest and faithful official, and leaves office with the best wishes of the people for his future welfare; Mr. Alexander will settle in Socorro, where he will enter actively in the practice of law. Socorro gains a good citizen, and one who will prove an important factor in her advancement and prosperity.

Press Comments on Territorial Affairs.

A Macedonian Cry for Statehood.
The appointments that were made for New Mexico last Saturday call loudly for statehood and home rule in earnest.—Albuquerque Times.

It is to be Hoped He Will be More Successful.
Mr. Joseph is again preparing a bill asking for admission. It is to be hoped that he will be successful this time in accomplishing the great desire of the people.—San Juan County Index.

Push the Statehood Convention.
San Marcial should send a delegation to the statehood convention which meets at Albuquerque the 20th of this month. The subject will be fully discussed, and the best means for securing the desired end will be carefully sought for.—San Marcial Bee.

They Will do Well to Increase Their Patronage.
From reports in circulation it seems that the citizens of Santa Fe must increase their patronage to the Santa Fe New Mexican or that journal will move down to Albuquerque. If this be true it would seem that old age is telling on Grandpa Santa Fe.—Chloride Black Range.

Missouri Politicians on Top.
Lorion Miller, of Warrensburg, Mo., formerly a resident of Albuquerque, has been appointed by the governor, as territorial secretary. There is something queer in the fact that only men from Missouri are eligible to office in this territory. Missouri politicians will be out of luck when New Mexico is admitted.—San Marcial Bee.

A Democratic Query Answered.
The Democrat wants to know who is Hemingway. He is a young lawyer who was imported into this territory last fall to fill a federal office, and is supposed to reside in Colfax county. He is a relative of Senator George of Mississippi, and received his position because of his "pull" with the solid south.—Albuquerque Citizen.

The President Does About as He Pleases.

Friday's telegrams from Washington, D. C., announced that there is a growing disposition in the senate to oppose presidential nomination of outside parties to offices in the Territories. To citizens of the Territories there seems but little difference between appointing outside parties to offices on purely outside influence. In either view of the case, the latest appointments for New Mexico would indicate that the "growing disposition," like all other opposition to Mr. Cleveland's own views, utterly failed to influence.—Las Vegas Optic.

Prospect for Water: That's the Cry.

To assert that the prospector stands a good chance of striking it rich by digging on the mesa east of Albuquerque may cause many old miners to smile, but with due reference to their years of experience (but too often futile effort) in searching for the treasures which lie hid in nature's tills, it may be said that the prospector of water is not on any of the arid lands adjacent to this city would prove of more value to the owner than an ordinary gold mine. Try prospecting for water. Its value in New Mexico is equal to gold.—Albuquerque Citizen.

The Albuquerque Times Calls on the "Good Lord."

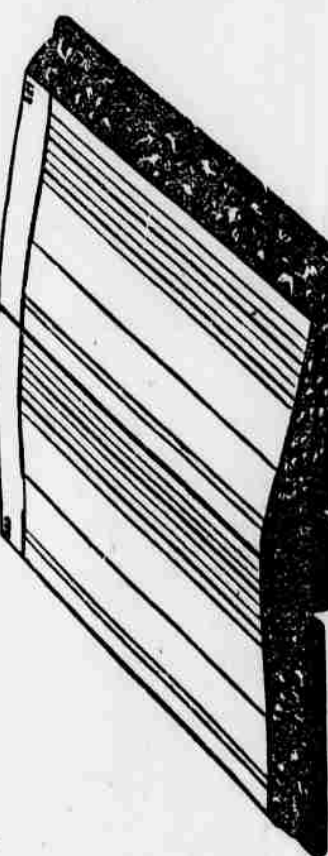

Lorion Miller, of Warrensburg, Mo., formerly a resident of Albuquerque, has been appointed by the governor as territorial secretary. There's something queer in the fact that only men from Missouri are eligible to office in this territory. Missouri politicians will be out of luck when New Mexico is admitted.—San Marcial Bee.

Is it possible that there is a newspaper man in New Mexico who does not know that Lorion Miller is a citizen of New Mexico, has been for years, is a property owner, a business man in Albuquerque, and belongs to the territory as much as any man in it except the Pueblos? No wonder that eastern newspapers make such "awful bad breaks" about us and pennyroyal statements think buffalo roam the plains, Indians dress in war paint and the Americans universally wear sombreros, revolvers and high-heeled boots and regularly kill a man before breakfast. The Bee can be forgiven for thinking that Governor Thornton appointed the secretary, but to relegate our Lorion Miller to Warrensburg, Mo. Good Lord!—Albuquerque Times.

Where to Stop in Chicago.

The perplexing question which is every day asked by people who desire to go to Chicago to attend the World's fair is, "Where are we going to stay when we get there?" This is easily answered, and if you will go to the ticket agent of the Santa Fe, Mr. W. M. Smith, he will tell you.

Arrangements have been made for the distribution by the Santa Fe company of a pamphlet entitled "Homes for Visitors to the World's Fair." This is a reliable pamphlet containing the names and addresses of about 9,000 families who will furnish accommodations to visitors from May 1 to October 31, 1893. The pamphlet also contains sectional maps which will enable the intending visitor to select any quarter of the city that he would prefer. Correspondence can then be carried on and definite arrangements made so that when visitors arrive in Chicago they can proceed at once to their quarters.

A Hint to Horse Dealers.
A subscriber writes to an editor: "I have a horse that has suffered lately from periodical fits of dizziness. Please answer through your valuable paper and let me know what I should do with him. I'm afraid he will get worse if something is not done soon."

The editor replies: "Our honest advice, based on a very careful perusal of that capital book, 'Every Man His Own Horse Doctor,' would be to take him some time when he is not dizzy and sell him to a stranger."

Caught in the Tolls.
Of that lurking foe, chills and fever, we often struggle vainly to free ourselves from its clutch. Palliatives there are without number, but if you want a real remedy, as of course you do, if afflicted with this abominable malady, hasten to procure and persistently use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. If you follow this suggestion, permanent restoration to health will reward you. Every form of malarial disease is permanently eradicated by the Bitters, which is likewise a reliable safeguard against malarial disease. Not only on this continent, but throughout the tropics, it is justly regarded as a complete antidote to malarial poison in air or water. No less effective is it for disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, rheumatism, kidney complaints and nervousness. No one sojourning in a malarial region, or who is subjected to outdoor exposure in rough weather, or to excessive mental or physical strain, should be without this fine defensive tonic.

Nothing to Be Gained by Waiting.
A lawyer of L. had among his clients a German farmer, a hard working, plain, blunt man. Hearing that he had lost his wife, the lawyer sought him out to express his sympathy. To his amazement the German replied, "But I am married again."

"Is it possible, and only three weeks since you buried your wife?"
"That is so, mine friend, but she as dead as she ever will be."

Imitations and Impostors.
The unequalled success of Alcock's Porous Plasters as an external remedy has induced unscrupulous parties to offer imitations, which they endeavor to sell on the reputation of Alcock's. It is an absurdity to speak of them in the same category as the genuine porous plaster. Their pretensions are unfounded, their vaunted merit unsupported by facts, their alleged superiority to or equality with Alcock's a false pretense.

The ablest medical practitioners and chemists and thousands of grateful patients unite in declaring Alcock's Porous Plasters the best external remedy ever produced.

Beware of imitations, and do not be deceived by misrepresentation. Ask for Alcock's, and let no other solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

An Equivalent Success.
I called her hand in marriage to implore, Quite fearful that my mission would prove fruitless; But as her father met me at the door, It was not wholly bootless.

The Noble Art of Self Defense.
Self defense is instinctive. Persons who find themselves afflicted with heart disease as manifested by its many symptoms, palpitation short breath, irregular pulse, pain in side or shoulder, another fainting or dropsy, etc., naturally desire a defense against what may terminate fatally. For the express purpose no remedy has ever been so pronounced. Dr. Miles New Heart Cure, sold by A. C. Ireland, Jr., on a guarantee. Mrs. O. F. Perkins, of Northwood, Ia., says, Dr. Miles New Heart Cure, saved her life. She suffered from palpitation and heart would frequently beat as high as 125 a minute. Was not expected to live. Was a mere skeleton, no relief from physicians. New Heart Cure cured her.

Yellowly said a short while ago that he was too poor to go to the World's Fair, but I guess he will go now.
What makes you think so?
He has just failed.

Mr. Thomas Bate, editor of the Graph in Texarkana, Arkansas, has found what he believes to be the best remedy in existence for the flux. His experience is well worth remembering. He says: "Last summer I had a severe attack of flux. I tried almost every known remedy, none giving relief. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended to me. I purchased a bottle and received almost immediate relief. I continued to use the medicine and was entirely cured. I take pleasure in recommending this medicine to any person suffering from such a disease, as in my opinion it is the best medicine in existence." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. C. That's rather curious, he said as she came into the parlor where he was waiting for her to make his proposal. What is she asked.

He was accepted.

Reached His Limit.
Did you have a nice time on the coaching party yesterday? asked Mildred. Oh, yes; we had a delightful run, replied Ada.

How far did you go? About twenty miles, and I sat on the box seat all the way.

Who drove? Charlie Meadowbrook.

How exciting! Was he handsome as ever? The loveliest sight! He looked just as if he had stepped right out of a bandbox.

And could you make him talk any? Oh—some.

Did he tell you what he said? First I asked him a question about the horses, and he answered, 'Ah, y-e-s. How sweet of him!'

Wasn't it? Then I made a foolish remark about the use of the brake, and he answered, 'Ah, no.'

Did he, really? And then I asked him another question, but he didn't say anything at all. Why didn't he hear you?

Oh, yes; but I suppose he had used up all his answers.—Vogues.

Followed the Crowd.
"Did Mr. Rakeyit go to the World's Fair?" asked the caller.

"I don't know," replied Mrs. Rakeyit, "but he saw Midway Plaisance."—Washington Star.

Among the incidents of childhood that stand out in bold relief, as our memory reverts to the days when we were young, none are more prominent than severe sickness. The young mother vividly remembers that it was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured her of croup, and in turn administered it to her own offspring and always with the best results. For sale by A. C. THE GERMAN BARBER.

I noticed as soon as I took my turn in the chair that the hand of my barber trembled. At first I thought it might be nervousness. Then I thought it might be that the poor fellow was trying to recover from too festive a Sunday. At this thought I felt sympathy. Then I remembered that I had heard that when in Germany a certain man, who had gone into a strange barber shop for a shave, had had his throat cut by a barber whose mind had become unhinged by idealistic thinking.

This reminiscence made the perspiration start out of every pore in my forehead. Just then the young German barber remarked with what seemed to be a forced smile: "Tis a painful day."

"But too hot," I murmured, watching his eye.

His hand trembled more. I grew more nervous. I turned my head toward my friend in the next chair, and was about to make an excuse to escape further ministrations.

At that moment a young blonde girl of 16 with a Marguerite plait down her back entered. She stood beautiful and hesitating a moment, looking straight and blue-eyed at my barber.

In the quietest tone my man said to her: "Ist vader tot?" ("Is father dead?") She stood without reply, with tears shining in her eyes. He knew nothing of my knowledge of German.

She sat down with tremble for her answer. His hand trembled more. I said nothing. He brushed my hair and brushed my coat.

At this moment the proprietor entered. "Ich moechte gern zuhausegehen," said the young barber, softly. ("I should like to go home.")

"Yetzt schon?" (Now already?) replied the boss, in a surprised tone. "Was loest?" (What's the matter?)

The answer came, with his girl sister looking into his tearful eye: "Mein vater ist tot." ("My father is dead.")

The boss, in a changed and gentle tone replied: "Oh, I'll get a bit to eat and I'll take your place in the shop."

The young man slipped on his coat, and taking his sister by the hand, the two went out together.

A HEATED ARGUMENT.

A Load of Free Coal Leads to International Hostilities.

Within a stone's throw of the business portion of the city, in a narrow alley, worthy a visit from the health commission, our coat wagon went on its journey of relief. On every side were the evidences of destitution. Investigation revealed that within three small rooms lived three widows with their broods of little ones. Under the American flag Ireland jostled Italy in the close quarters, and Africa touched elbows with both. There was no need of words to tell the story of want—the scene was eloquent in its mute appeal for help. In silence three piles of coal were unloaded before the door, and the wagon moved on. The inmates were then informed that the coal was for them.

"Which pile's mine?" came from the feminine representative of Ireland. "Is this pile for me, mistah?" broke in the negro.

"I take dis," said the Italian woman. She was perhaps unfortunate that they each selected the same heap as being a trifle the largest, and for a few moments the chances for a general European war loomed upon the horizon with startling distinctness.

"Here, you can't all have same pile," said the driver of the wagon. "Git out of that!"

"Who's dat yer's talkin' to, mistah? I chooses dis pile," and the colored woman made a rush for the large pile and planned herself upon the top of the heap, like a "Liberty Breeze" blowing the world, or rather the portion of it represented in the persons of her neighbors from St. Patrick's green isle and fair Italy's sunny land.

"An' will yer's come out yer porch, ye spalpeen?" said old Ireland as she reached for a lump of coal and prepared for hostilities. "It's mistah's wants dat pile, ye see!"

"Hyah, you Abberham Linkum," yelled the negro to her eldest son, "bring yer mudder dat razzar from under dat foot ob deade. I teks dis pile, I duz."

"Guess we'd better git outter this," said the driver. "That nigger with the razor is dangerous."

"Mikil, yer mither wantter see us of der shilliny yer fell heir to whin yer fether died," said the Irish lady as she flourished the lump of coal and squared around for an aim at the negro woman.

"Here, Jim, Jin, load up the coal and take it to the widow at the next corner. If she asks you for a quarter, don't hurt the old lady's feelings by refusing her."

At the mention of loading up the coal there was an immediate cessation of hostile demonstrations, although it could be easily seen that it was only an armistice.

"Ize on me own coal," said the colored woman in a conciliatory tone. "I don't want nobody to touch me or me coal, or Ize gwine ter do dirt, I is."

"Oifn not saying a word, am Oifn but a devil a one of yer's had better git me rided," said the Irish lady, brandishing her coal.

"I says nothing," said nothing, but de color mine, and my hotta southern blood mek me fight."

The driver descended from the coal wagon, shovel in hand. "Here, come off the dump, all of you. What's the matter with yones?" he asked as he advanced.

The children of the respective families had now gathered on the scene, and 50 or 75 other "Texas" ports sail in and out with ease; where fruits ripen earlier and yield better than in California, where the soil is a natural hot-bed. Fresh vegetables all winter. Coldest day in three years 25 degrees above zero. Warmest day 92 degrees. Velasco offers the best investments in the south. Write the Commercial club, Velasco Texas.

Call for Irrigation Convention.

TERMINUS OF NEW MEXICO. EXECUTIVE OFFICE. SANTA FE, N. M., August 2, 1903.

To the People of New Mexico, Arizona, Western Texas, and of the State of Chihuahua, in the Republic of Mexico:

WHEREAS, All of the citizens of the above states are actively interested in the irrigation industry, and are in a large measure, dependent upon irrigation for the development of their agricultural resources; and

WHEREAS, A large proportion of the people in the territory of New Mexico; of the western portion of the state of Texas, and of the northern portion of the state of Chihuahua are largely dependent upon the Rio Grande river for their water supply for irrigation purposes; and

WHEREAS, The greater portion of said river passes away during the season of the year which with a proper system of irrigation, which is not needed for the purpose of irrigation, could be saved and utilized, and would thereby greatly add to the wealth and prosperity of said region; and

WHEREAS, Large quantities of the water of said river which has for many years been appropriated and used by the citizens residing in the valley thereof, south of Albuquerque, for the purposes of irrigation, and upon the conditional use of which depends the life and prosperity of the community, have been wrongfully appropriated and diverted to other uses by the residents near the headwaters of said stream, in Colorado, thus causing serious and irreparable damage to the lower valley, from year to year grows greater, until the agricultural interests are in imminent danger of ruin, and such division be checked.

Noted, therefore, for the purpose of consulting together, and devising ways and means to stop such unlawful use and diversion of the water of said river, and for the purpose of securing and preserving the spring and storm water which now goes to waste annually, and of discussing and considering all important questions relating to irrigation laws, irrigation securities, irrigation methods, and to devise and agree upon some general and concerted plan of action looking to the development of the agricultural, vinicultural and horticultural resources of such region, by saving and utilizing the water thereof, a convention of the citizens residing in said portion of said states and territories is hereby called to meet at Denver, in the territory of New Mexico, on Tuesday, November 1, 1903, and subsequent days.

All persons resident within said portion of states and territories are respectfully requested to attend and participate in the said convention, and all counties, municipal corporations, irrigation, reclamation and canal corporations, board of trade and chambers of commerce are invited to send delegates thereon.

At the city of Santa Fe, New Mexico, this 21st day of August, A. D. 1903.

W. T. THORNTON, Governor of New Mexico. S. A. L. ALEXANDER, Secretary of Territory.

Grand Canon of Colorado River.
On the Santa Fe route, in northern Arizona, 1,262 miles from Kansas City, is the town of Flagstaff. A tri-weekly stage line runs from Flagstaff to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado River. Above than a mile in depth, this is the sublimest of gorges—a Titan of chasms. Twenty Yosemite might be hidden unseen below, and Niagara would look scarcely larger than a brook.

CITY OF SANTA FE.

AT THE GATEWAY OF THE NATIONAL PARK.

The World's Only Sanitarium—Statistical Information for Tourist, Invalids and Health Seekers.

Santa Fe, the city of the Holy Faith of St. Francis, is the capital of New Mexico, the center, sanitarium and Archepiscopal see. An Indian Pueblo had existed on the site previous to the 15th century. Its name was Oga-p-ho-ga, but it was abandoned before Coronado's time. The Spanish town of Santa Fe was founded in 1682, it is therefore the second oldest European settlement still extant in the United States. In 1901 came the first venture American trader—the forerunner of the great line of merchants who have made traffic over the Santa Fe trail, world-wide in its celebrity.

CITY OF SANTA FE.
The city lies in a charming nook on the west side of the Santa Fe range and is sheltered from the northern winds by a spur of low hills which extend from the mountains as far as the Rio Grande. It lies in the center of the valley at the mouth of a picturesque canon, the chief entrance to the Pecos National Park, and through which runs the Rio Santa Fe, a beautiful mountain stream, having its rise in the Santa Fe range of mountains. Its elevation is 6,895 feet. Its population is 7,850. It has good schools and churches. There is an excellent system of water works. The city is lighted with gas and electricity. It has more points of historic interest than any other place on the North American continent. Land may be purchased at prices to suit the rich or the poor. Five acres in Santa Fe or vicinity will produce more than can be produced anywhere else in the world. Our markets are close at hand and we can successfully compete with any other locality. Since the first fruit tree was planted in the Santa Fe valley there has been but one failure in the fruit crop. What place, what country can approach this record?

PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.
Among the more important public institutions located here, in spacious and attractive modern buildings, are the U. S. court and federal office building, the territorial capitol, St. Vincent's sanitarium, territorial penitentiary, New Mexico orphan's training school, St. Vincent's charity hospital, U. S. government Indian school, National medical institute for Indian girls, St. Catherine Indian boys training school, Fort Marcy barracks, St. Michael's college, Loretto academy, Presbyterian home for the aged, the school for girls, New Mexico deaf and dumb institute, New West academy, Catholic cathedral and four parish churches, Episcopal, Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational churches, the governor's palace, the archiepiscopal residence of Archbishop J. B. Salpointe and Bishop P. L. Chagnoli and many others, including first-class hotel accommodations, and several sanitariums for the benefit of health-seekers.

RESOURCES.
Santa Fe county has an area of 1,498,000 acres and a population of 10,010. The principal occupations are mining, sheep and cattle raising, stock raising and fruit growing. The valley soils are especially adapted to horticulture and there is at hand a never failing market in the mining camps. In the southern portion of the county mining forms the principal industry, the large deposits of coal, silver, iron, copper and gold, in veins as well as in the form of placer gold, at Corralton, New Placers (Dolores), Golden and San Pedro being justly noted for their richness.

THE WORLD'S SANITARIUM.
But it is to Santa Fe's superior climatic advantages, and its fame as nature's most potent healing power as a cure for consumption and other pulmonary diseases that Santa Fe bases its great future upon. The highest American medical authorities concede the superior advantages of the city's location. The requisites of a climate curative of consumption, are, according to the best medical testimony, altitude, dryness, equality of temperature, light and sunshine, and a porous soil. Moreover, if possible, there must be some tonic in the air, and such a tonic, where variety and occupation may be had, and the social advantages are good.

An eminent German authority says: "The altitude most favorable to the human organism is about 2,000 meters," somewhat more than 6,500 feet.

There are some forty various points or more or less historic interest in and about the ancient city.

The old adobe palace stands on the spot where the old Spanish palace had been erected shortly after 1625. That ancient structure was destroyed in 1820, and the present one was constructed between 1827 and 1878.

The chapel of San Miguel was built between 1626 and 1680. In the latter years the Indians destroyed the building and it was rebuilt and previously and after 1688, the only Spanish church in How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy liver. When the liver is torpid the bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons' Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.
As a general family remedy for dyspepsia, torpid liver, constipation, etc., it has never failed. It is the only medicine that has been found to be a perfect cure for all diseases of the stomach and bowels.

POLITICAL AND OFFICIAL.

Santa Fe Democrats Not in the Protesting Business—See Miller on Deck—Capital City Notes.

The statement that the Democracy of Santa Fe, either as individuals or as a party organization, has forwarded to Washington any protest against the appointment of J. B. Hemingway, of Clayton, as U. S. district attorney, is not correct. At a meeting of the Jefferson club, so the New Mexican is informed, the matter was discussed, and while those present were all loyal friends of Mr. Childers, and felt keenly his turning down for a comparative stranger, yet it was deemed best not to act upon the request from Albuquerque Democrats to join in a protest until that matter could be investigated. Accordingly, a telegram was sent by Mr. Crist, the chairman of the Democratic territorial committee, to Homer E. Byler, a well known Democrat of Clayton, making some inquiry regarding Mr. Hemingway.

The response came this morning to the effect that Mr. Hemingway has resided near Clayton for three years; has been a tax payer there for five years, and is a gentleman of standing and a lawyer of ability. The letter contained the further information that Mr. Hemingway had been a law student under the late Hon. L. Q. C. Lums, of Mississippi, and for eight years been reporter of the supreme court of that state and has the support of the solid southern delegation in congress for this position. His principal backers are Senator George, of Mississippi, his father-in-law, Senators Pugh, of Alabama and Cooke, of Texas, all of whom are members of the senate judiciary committee; also of the assistant attorney general, Chas. B. Howry, and the chairman of the judiciary committee of the house of representatives, Congressman D. B. Culbertson, of Texas. Clayton Democrats also cordially endorsed his candidacy. This information seems to have been very satisfactory to Santa Fe Democrats and the chances are that no protest will go forward from this city against Mr. Hemingway's confirmation.

THE TERRITORIAL SECRETARYSHIP.
Hon. Lorion Miller, the newly appointed territorial secretary, arrived from Albuquerque this forenoon, coming up with Gov. Thornton. The new secretary received a warm welcome at the hands of Santa Feans generally, and about noon paid a visit to the secretary's office in company with several friends and met Secretary Alexander.

Mr. Miller's commission is on the way from Washington, and is expected to reach here to night, in which event he will present the document at the secretary's office and enter upon the discharge of his official duties to-morrow.

OFFICIAL NOTES.
The postoffice at Las Vegas Hot Springs has been discontinued by order of the Postmaster general.

A telegram was sent from the Democratic members of the Las Vegas board, protesting to the senate against the confirmation of J. B. M. Hemingway, as United States district attorney.

Col. E. W. Eaton, the popular secretary of the school of mines, came up from Socorro today. This institution opened last week with six students in attendance and four more are listed to attend within a few days. Later in the fall there will be as many again enrolled and the start is counted highly satisfactory. Colorado and Montana opened their schools of mines with even a smaller number at the beginning.

Coming Weather.

Weather Prophet Hicks warns everybody that a new moon on September 10th with electric crisis of autumnal equinox about the 11th will hasten and intensify disturbances due from the 11th to the 15th. The 17th and 18th, although only "minor storm days," will be "aggravated by earth's equinox and moon's first quarter." Besides "the same causes, with Vulcan and Mercury added, will conspire for the fray about 22nd to 25th."

AGAIN IN JAIL.

Mondragon Waives Preliminary Hearing and Fails to Find New Bondsmen.

Narciso Mondragon, the defaulting city treasurer, released from jail on Sunday on a bail bond approved by the sheriff, appeared before Judge Seeds yesterday afternoon for preliminary hearing on the charge of embezzling $3,000 of the city public school funds. H. L. Ortiz appeared as his attorney. The defendant waived examination and the court required of him that he give another bail bond in the sum of $8,000 for his appearance before the grand jury in December next. The court said that if the defendant failed to appear, the amount of the bond, $8,000, would be required to justify in the sum double the amount of the bond, $16,000. Mondragon made an effort later in the day to secure bondsmen but failed, and spent the night in jail. He is still confined there, while friends are trying to secure bondsmen for him.

ROUND ABOUT TOWN.

Read the New Mexican's telegraphic news.

The attendance of pupils at the public schools continues to increase daily.

The noisy small boys continue to kick up a dust about the pagoda during the plaza cohercia.

Street improvements go steadily forward under the progressive administration now in charge of the city's affairs.

Gen. E. F. Hobart writes from Chicago that there is not a pound of wool from New Mexico on exhibition at the World's fair.

No citizen of Santa Fe need now rely upon any outside paper for telegraphic news. Since the New Mexican's telegraphic report covers the field fully and reliably.

The county commissioners are after the road supervisors with a sharp stick and propose to see to it that the canon and other county roads are repaired. This is timely.

T. F. Moore and family, formerly of Cerrillos, late of Los Angeles, arrived to-day and will make Santa Fe their home, having taken a lease on the D. H. Smith property.

Frederick Zinsner, who recently came here from Pennsylvania and purchased the Goertner orchard, is just now harvesting a fine lot of fruit. His pears are particularly nice and he has the thanks of the New Mexican for a basket of same.

For this evening's plaza concert by the town infantry band, the following program will be rendered:

March, "The Goodbye Song."
Waltz, "The Goodbye Song."
Polka, "The Goodbye Song."
Trio, "The Goodbye Song."
Solo, "The Goodbye Song."
Solo, "The Goodbye Song."
Solo, "The Goodbye Song."
Solo, "The Goodbye Song."

Billy Burton, an old time restaurateur of Las Vegas and Santa Fe, who has become an inmate of the National Military home, Santa Monica, Cal., which he calls "retiring from the world and its vanities," writes that the home is a perfectly lovely place, with a climate almost as perfect as that of New Mexico. The institution is supplied with a library, theater and bath rooms. There is a grand army post, and the band plays every day. There is a postoffice of their own—"in fact, everything that a lot of old fellows like us ought to have, and more, too."

Gov. W. T. Thornton returned from Las Cruces this morning, where he went on business connected with his Organ mountain silver-lead mines. He says the rise in lead will be of great benefit to New Mexico's mining interests. The advance in the price of this metal during the last three days added $8.50 to the value of every ton of ore extracted from the Stephenson-Bennett properties, of which he is manager.

THE LOCAL MILITIA.

Santa Fe's Company to March to the Territorial Fair in Case the Uniforms Arrive in Time.

Yesterday it was announced that 250 new uniforms for the territorial militia had come to hand from the U. S. war department. Imagine the disappointment of the local members of the national guard and their friends when, upon opening the seven cases, it was discovered that they contained only hats and shoes for the young soldiers. This was particularly unfortunate, for the Santa Fe militiamen had planned to leave here on foot on Saturday morning next and march to Albuquerque via La Bajada and Wallace to put in next week at the Albuquerque fair. Adjutant General Kuebel thinks the uniforms must certainly be on the road somewhere between here and the San Francisco quartermaster's department, and he has wired to have a tracer sent out to locate and hurry forward the shipment. If it arrives before Friday night, the Santa Fe militiamen, forty-three strong, will take the road for Albuquerque early Saturday morning.

THE RAILROADS.

About October 1 it is expected that both the broad and narrow gauge systems will materially improve their train service in and out of Santa Fe.

The San Marcial Bee is authority for the statement that Fred Harvey's dining station contract with the A. T. & S. F. has been extended for a period of ten years.

The D. & R. G. salary cut is under compromise, and next week the men are expected to take a reduction of 10 per cent. The original proposition was to make it 20 per cent.

Travel to the World's fair is heavy over the A. T. & S. F. just now, and daily complaints are heard of lack of Pullman accommodations. Freight business has also shown marked improvement since September 1.

A Choice Shipment Sent to Serve Those Who Participate in New Mexico Day at the Fair.

Saturday night, September 16, has been set aside by the World's fair management as "New Mexico's Day" at the great exposition, and the ceremonies which take place in the New Mexico building on this occasion will doubtless attract thousands of visitors.

One feature of the day's entertainment will be a feast of Santa Fe fruits that can not but elicit marked attention from all who view or taste them. In response to orders from the territorial World's fair commissioners, Mr. Boyle yesterday forwarded via Wells-Fargo & Co.'s express a shipment of 1,000 pounds of fresh fruit like of which, probably, never before left a Rocky mountain valley. In the list were:

Fifty pounds St. John Yellow Freestone peaches; 120 pounds White Heath Cling peaches; 150 pounds Magnum Bonum plums; 100 pounds Starbuck nectarines; 100 pounds Flemish Beauty pears, and 100 pounds Bartlett pears.

The fruit was all of the choicest variety. The Magnum Bonum plums were each as large as goose eggs and as yellow as gold. The nectarines were perfect specimens of what Santa Fe can produce, as were also the peaches, and the pears averaged from one-half to three-quarters of a pound each, the Flemish Beauty collection having been selected from a tree 18 years old that yielded 684 pounds of fruit this season.

Fourteen large Indian soap weed baskets were also sent with the shipment and in them New Mexicans in attendance on this eventful day will distribute to visitors these and fruits secured by the commission from other points in the territory.

Advertising that influences. It is constant advertising that produces an effect, although the spasmodic announcement may have a force peculiar to itself, writes a well-known expert. A boy sees his father every day, and is naturally influenced by the example which is perpetually before him; he goes to the theater but occasionally; the effect of the latter, being more striking, may be proportionately more effective. Many people protest that it is necessary to continue the advertising of well-known articles. They can not understand why it is continued; they declare it does not influence them, but the manufacturers know better. The man who denies that he is influenced by advertising constantly before him, declares even himself and his very protest is proof of it.

SUCCESSFUL SOCORRO.

The Banner Financial County Knows No Hard Times—Clerk Garner Talks.

Mr. J. W. Garner, clerk of the fifth judicial district, with headquarters at Socorro, is on a visit to the capital to-day. He said fat range cattle and sheep and fine crops of fruit and farm produce had kept the people of Socorro from complaining of hard times, and now that lead and silver are advancing, really a prosperous fall and winter was assured to them. The mines in the Magdalena district are displaying much activity and the big Socorro smelter is in full blast.

Socorro county, Mr. Garner added, is in better condition generally and particularly financially than any other in New Mexico. Her paper is at par and cashed on demand. This condition is chiefly owing to the long head and splendid business ability of Hon. W. W. Jones, of Fort Craig, chairman of the Socorro board of county commissioners.

New Fort Bliss.

It is rumored that on October 1, the new twelve company post north of the city, which is now nearly completed, will be garrisoned and made headquarters of the 18th infantry, which is now at Fort Clark, and will consist of the regimental staff and band and four companies. Major James Hinton, it is also rumored, will be transferred with his two companies to Fort McIntosh, where he will also have a troop of cavalry under his command—El Paso Times.

A Novel Souvenir Spoon.

THIS SPOON, as a souvenir of Arizona, is decidedly unique and appropriate. It is distinctly an Arizona picture, a scene that is an everyday feature on the streets of the cities and towns of the territory. A Pima Indian woman is represented, supporting on her head an olla which rests upon a twisted wisp of bear grass, and awaiting a customer for her wares. Statuesque and graceful as is the figure, it is perfectly true to nature, having been designed from a photograph taken from real life for the purpose.

The olla (usually pronounced o-yer) is a large jar or bowl of pottery for containing and cooling drinking water. It is altogether an Indian invention, and is made of a mixture of clay and sand, the material being moulded exceedingly thin by the deft hands of women, and baked to a brilliant red.

In this climate receptacles for cool water are indispensable in every household and thus the dusky maids and matrons find a ready market for them in every town.

It is no uncommon thing to see four or five of these children of nature, picturesque in their gaudy colors, advancing with stately tread down the street, each with an olla on her head, as represented in this charming souvenir.

Sent by mail to any address on receipt of price, $2.50. Made in Sterling only. The cut exact size of spoon.
