IF!—BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

Was on deck now and could see those Franklin Stoves at Goebel's which are named after him, he would indeed be surprised, but the low price at which they are sold would cause him to drop his loaf of bread from under his arm and take a stove for the winter, instead of trying to depend on a fire-place.

BRIEF WIRINGS

Crime in the Strip.

Guthrie, O. T., Oct. 14.—J. L. Stevens, a settler at Perry, was murdered by sneak thieves last night.

A Print Killed.

Kansas City, Oct. 14.—Chas. B. Etne killed Anton Schuck in the Belvidere hotel this morning. Both are printers.

Shot His Wife for a Burglar.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Julius Kruszinski shot his wife last night. He mistook her for a burglar. Her recovery is doubtful.

Provision Market.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Wheat is lower and dull; Dec. 64½. Corn heavy and lower; May 41½. Provision lower; Jan. pork, $14.40; lard, $8.47½; ribs, $7.48.

Lost in the Mountains.

Rawlins, Wyo., Oct. 14.—Four hunters named Douther, Reynolds, Mack and Brown are lost in the wilds of Routt county, Colo.

A Wife Murderer Sentenced.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—The jury in the case of Xavier Oertel, on trial for the murder of his wife last April, found him guilty and recommended a life sentence. A motion for a new trial was made.

FOREST FIRES.

A Colorado Town in Danger—Thousands of Acres of Timber Burned.

Sikeston, Colo., Oct. 14.—A terrific forest fire has been raging on the head of Lime Creek, on Sultan mountain, five miles from here. Several thousand acres of valuable timber have been destroyed. The smoke here is unendurable.

Bank Statement.

New York, Oct. 14.—The bank statement issued to-day makes the following showing: Reserve increase, $5,267,000; loans increase, $2,374,000; deposits increase, $12,260,000. The banks now hold an excess of legal requirements of $33,896,000.

Another Failure.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 14.—The Kentucky and Indiana Bridge company, bonded for $2,000,000 and owned entirely by home capital, has passed into the hands of a receiver by reason of the default of interest on its first and second mortgage bonds, amounting to $40,000.

A Wall Street Move.

Omaha, Oct. 14.—On a plea in equity filed in the United States court yesterday Judge Dundy appointed S. H. H. Clark and E. Ellery Anderson of New York and Oliver W. Mink of Boston receivers for the Union Pacific road. The application was made by the executors of the estate of Frederick L. Ames. At headquarters here the blow has been expected for several days.

All in the Family.

Philadelphia, Oct. 13.—A strange complication of marital relations has been ultimately adjusted. The sequel to the trouble between Mr. and Mrs. Charles McAllister, which commenced at Bar Harbor last summer, was furnished yesterday afternoon by the New Jersey court of appeals, which granted a divorce between Mr. McAllister and his wife, and ended last night by the marriage in Baltimore of Mr. McAllister to Miss Olive Wilkinson of that city and the marriage in Paris, almost at the same hour, of Mrs. McAllister and Walter Wilkinson, the latter a brother of Mr. McAllister's new wife.

Nabbed by Waterbury.

Tucson, Oct. 14.—Postoffice Inspector Waterbury has caused the arrest of A. H. Chaplin, postal clerk on the run between Benson and Nogales, for robbing the mails. Chaplin has been on this run about two years and in that time thousands of dollars have disappeared. It was almost impossible to get money from two points along the road between the two points and the outside world. Waterbury has been working on the case for days, and when he confronted Chaplin with his crime he weakened and confessed. His previous record is bad.

The Irrigators.

Los Angeles, Oct. 14.—At the irrigation convention yesterday the platform committee reported. The platform declares that water in natural channels and beds is not private property and can neither be bought or sold; that streams rising in one state and flowing by natural course through one or more states must be conserved and equitably divided under federal authority; storage reservoirs are indicated; congress is asked to order a scientific investigation for the purpose of reclaiming arid lands; and the government is petitioned to devote a portion of the money received from the sale of lands for that purpose.

ALL FOR EFFECT.

Wall Street Makes a Raid on Silver—And Crows It Down 5 Cents.

New York, Oct. 14.—With the hope of forcing congress to pass the repeal bill the Wall street speculators are bearing silver to-day and a drop of 5 cents took place this morning. Silver is quoted at 70½.

WASHINGTON BUDGET.

The Silver Monsters Masters of the Situation—Failure of Another Night Session.

Washington, Oct. 14.—The president remains firm for unconditional repeal and Senator Voorhees will hold out as long as he can keep a quorum.

There was another attempt at holding a night session last night, but shortly after midnight the senate took a recess without accomplishing a single result beyond a demonstration to the country that the silver men were capable of starving off a vote on the Voorhees bill indefinitely.

This has dampened the enthusiasm of the weary and broken repeal senators, and they have returned to the fight discouraged. Meanwhile the efforts of the compromisers to find a common ground goes on. The basis seems on the Harris and Vest amendments, but there is a wide difference of opinion as to whether a bond provision should or should not be adopted. If the president continues to reject all propositions looking to compromise, nothing is left but an adjournment of congress unless the leaders should decide to go ahead and pass a compromise measure and send it to the White house and place the responsibility of vetoing or signing it at Mr. Cleveland's door.

In the senate this afternoon Morgan defended himself against the charges of the New York and Alabama press and denied saying he would vote against the repeal bill, but said he would vote against the Voorhees substitute which he regarded as a cowardly makeshift.

Three notices of the offering of resolutions to amend the senate rules were given to-day.

A WISE MOVE.

The following resolution offered by Senator Manderson is pending in the senate:

Resolved, That the committee on Pacific railroads be directed to investigate and report to the senate if the Union Pacific railroad company had passed into the hands of a receiver, and if so, by what action, and under what circumstances, and what steps were necessary to protect the interests and secure the indebtedness of said railway company to the United States.

LYING HIGH.

The state department has received the following from the U. S. consul at Guatemala city:

"The president of this republic this day (October 12), declared himself dictator and assumed control of the government. He dismissed the extra session of congress and ordered a new election."

Stock Markets.

New York.—The stock market shows a decided downward tendency. The U. S. P. dropped off ½, and the general list fell ½ to ¾. Hooking Valley stocks rose 2 points, however, on account of a favorable court decision.

ENGLISHMEN DISPLEASED.

Kept from the Yacht Race—The English Yachtsmen Speak Out.

London, Oct. 14.—The general verdict is against the performance of the English cutter in the yacht race. The News says: Yesterday's race proved that the Valkyrie has not been sailing in anything like her usual form. The experiment of lightening her was as singular as it was unwise. The Times says: "The Valkyrie's performance yesterday suggests a doubt as to whether the two previous disappointments did her justice. She is a better boat to windward than the Vigilant. That is the best test of a boat."

A FEARFUL STORM.

The National Capital and Other Sections Suffer Greatly—Incidents and Accidents.

Washington, Oct. 14.—A terrible storm raged last night throughout this section of country. The damage here has been greater than during any storm for ten years.

Associate Justice Brown of the supreme court was standing in front of a large plate glass window at his residence. It was blown in on him and an artery in his head cut. He nearly bled to death before surgical aid could be had. This morning he is reported out of danger, although he will be confined to his room for some days.

The walls of the Calvary Baptist church blew down without injuring anyone. The police and fire alarm telegraph systems have been utterly ruined. The damage is the worst they ever suffered. The capital city lay all night without protection alarms of any sort.

The rain was so terrific that the addresses on letters in the street drop boxes were unrecognizable.

The Pennsylvania railroad was the worst sufferer. Its tracks were washed out worse than ever was known.

Chicago.—Telegraph business here from the storm area is twelve hours behind. New York.—Only six wires are working out of the Western Union office this morning. All business is delayed and the inconvenience to business is great. The telegraph communications were wrecked by last night's storm.

Cumberland, Md.—The Baltimore express from Chicago was ditched by a landslide seventy miles east of here. The train was running fast, and Engineer Doyle and Fireman Fennell were fatally injured.

During the storm last night two daughters of Hon. A. H. Cofforth, of Somerset, Pa., attempted to ford the Little Capapon and were drowned.

A HORRIBLE MURDER.

Indian Tactics Tried to Conceal the Deed—A Pennsylvania Tragedy.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 14.—John Shoemaker, a confectioner here, was brutally murdered this morning by Edward Sloan. He hammered his victims head with a monkey wrench, and then dragged his body a long distance behind the house to convey the idea that he had been kicked to death by a horse. The deed, however, was witnessed by a boy and Sloan was promptly arrested.

SUIT DISMISSED.

A Long Contested Mining Suit in Socorro County Terminated Suddenly.

Special to the New Mexican.

Silver City, Oct. 14.—The celebrated "Consolidated" case, its proper title being Eberle vs. Carmichael, involving the title to the Consolidated and two other adjoining mines situated in the Mogollon district, and which has been hotly contested for the past two years, has resulted in the dismissal of the suit at complainant's cost.

The Eberle side was represented by Hon. T. B. Catron, of Santa Fe. The consolidated people by Hon. H. L. Pickett, of this city. Mr. Pickett deserves a great deal of credit for the able manner in which he handled the case, and brought it out a winner for his clients. These mines are the greatest in the district and the operation of them will add a large amount of business to this bustling camp.

In a Quandary.

Grover Cleveland gave it out cold that no drinking man would be appointed to office by him. He also announced that gamblers need not apply. Whether this was done to disarm competition or as a bluff, in view of the New Mexico appointments—Albuquerque Democrat.

To cure nervousness your nerves must be fed by pure blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood. Take it now.

AMIZETT'S HUM.

What is Going on in the New Gold Camp in the Taos Mountains.

Special Correspondence New Mexican.

Amizett, Oct. 12.—Amizett is still coming to the front. Gaudin Bros. are building a large cellar for the purpose of storing potatoes and vegetables. Above this they will erect a large two-story building for the purpose of storing hay and keeping mining tools and groceries. The stamp mill is pounding away on low grade ore from the Frazier property. This, however, is only being run through for the purpose of filling the amalgam plates, so that when the rich stuff is run through every man will get all that is due him from his ore. Mr. Harris, the manager, is now inclosing the mill, and as soon as the building is completed proposes to make a trip to Denver to superintend the shipment of the two concentration tables.

The Little Lily is showing a good streak of tellurium gold, free gold and brittle silver. The vein is only open eleven feet, but shows a pay streak of eighteen inches.

In the Gold King camp they are driving a cross-cut tunnel to reach the main vein and have about 130 feet yet to go. The lode is looking better and the ore is growing richer as the first shaft descends, and the tunnel is expected to strike it just right. A new boarding house has been erected here and the men no longer live in tents.

The miners up here propose to celebrate the arrival of Miss Amizett Sheurich, the first baby born in the camp, by giving her a handsome christening present. She is the pet of the camp.

The way to measure prosperity is by actual accomplishment. Fourteen teams loaded with lumber and merchandise pulled in to Amizett between 2 p. m. Tuesday and 9 a. m. Wednesday. This does not look as if business was quiet. This is about our average.

A Novel Souvenir Spoon.

THIS SPOON, as a souvenir of Arizona, is decidedly unique and appropriate. It is distinctly Arizona, picturing a scene that is an every-day feature in the streets and towns of the territory. A Pima Indian woman is represented, supporting on her head an olla, which rests upon a twisted wisp of bear grass, and awaiting a customer for her ware. Statuesque and graceful as is the figure, it is perfectly true to nature, having been designed from a photograph taken from real life for the purpose.

The olla (usually pronounced o-ya) is a large jar or bowl of pottery for containing and cooling drinking water. It is altogether an Indian invention, and is made of a mixture of clay and sand, the material being moulded exceedingly thin by the deft hands of women, and baked to a brilliant red.

In this climate, receptacles for cool water are indispensable in every household and thus the dusky maid and her tray find a ready market for them in every town.

It is no uncommon thing to see four or five of these children of nature, picturesque in their gaudy colors advancing with stately tread down the street, each with an olla on her head, as represented in this charming Souvenir.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 14.

They do say that Voorhees threw up both hands to the western men.

That Neal of Ohio is a gone gosling, seems to be generally admitted by the most vigorous anti-McKinleyites.

Congress might just as well take a recess. It hasn't accomplished anything up to date. No wonder the members are tired out.

After a nine weeks tug of war silver is still ahead. May she stay there is the "daily prayer" of the west. Mr. Cleveland's letter to Gov. Northern to the contrary notwithstanding.

The 576,000,000 acres of the arid region would furnish a farm of little less than ten acres for every man, woman and child in the United States. How is this for wealth?

The winning of three straight races by the Vigilant has set the American eagle to screaming over on the Atlantic coast at a lusty rate. The English cutter had the fairest sort of show and has been squarely beaten, both in a light wind and a semi-gale.

THE GULF ROUTE.

The shipment of 5,000 tons of Rocky Mountain hay to Liverpool via the deep water harbors on the gulf marks an epoch in the history of southwestern agriculture. This gulf route forms the natural outlet for the products of the central west and sooner or later it must come into popularity. The railroad corporation that fosters and encourages this traffic shows substantial friendship toward the west and southwest.

A DEBAUCHERY ENDED.

The Union Pacific railway is at last thrown into the hands of a receiver. It was built through government aid as a public necessity, not only of economic but military importance. The whole people bore the burden of its costly construction. From almost the start it has been mismanaged in the interest of the Gould family. Its purpose as a public benefactor has been lost sight of. Now that the government through its directorate may resume control let the change be thorough. The road should be remodeled to its first purpose. A great opportunity presents itself to wise statesmanship.

PRESERVE THE FORESTS.

There is now pending in congress a general measure of forest reservation. Its particular provisions are unknown; but as a general proposition nothing is of more importance to the arid region. The mountain forest is the natural reservoir. It preserves unmelting and without evaporation the winter snows. Take for instance the Santa Fe and Nambé water sheds. The first is a verdurous forest. The second has little more protection than is given from so many telegraph poles. On the first the water comes down gradually during the crop season. On the latter it is merely a spring flood. If the best conditions for irrigation are therefore to be preserved so must be the forests. A law that will preserve the mountains from ruthless invasions of the lumbermen will be of untold benefit. It will make water storage easy, preserve the splendid climate of New Mexico, and keep a necessary store of timber for generations yet unborn.

ROTTEN BANKS.

The New Mexican has frequently of late called public attention to the necessity of more stringent laws for the inspection of national and state banks and the better protection of depositors therein, and it has cited numerous cases where in serious loss could have been averted had the law makers hearkened to the voice of the people and done their duty. It now calls attention to a case near home that should serve to make the members of the next legislative assembly in this territory—whoever they may be—register a solemn vow to do their duty in this respect toward their constituents. Reference is made to this remarkable statement made by U. S. District Attorney A. J. Evans, of Texas, after an investigation into the affairs of the institution referred to: "The El Paso National bank had a capital of $150,000. On the day it failed the president, the cashier, the near relatives of the president and cashier and the employees in the bank owed the bank the sum of $129,812.80, or $9,812.80 more than the capital of the bank."

HE DEFIES THE LAWS.

Sec. Carlisle has at last given to congress the official figures of the silver purchases since July 1, as follows:

	Ounces.	Cost.
July purchases.....	2,218,987	$1,585,239
August purchases.....	3,534,497	2,997,341
September purchases.....	2,768,428	1,988,429

Totals.....8,521,912 $6,570,009

It will be seen that the average purchase price was 74 cents per ounce. Now, the law provides that the secretary of the treasury shall purchase each and every calendar month 4,500,000 ounces of fine silver "at the market price." The only limitation of such price is that it shall not exceed the par value of coin, or $1.29 per ounce. Up to this limit the purchase is mandatory, and a special currency is provided for that purpose.

Mr. Carlisle has elected to fix the "market price." He says the reason he has omitted to purchase the balance of 4,576,892, is that it was not offered at market price.

Let it be supposed that Mr. Carlisle was acting as a broker for a silver dealer, and he received orders to purchase 4,500,000 ounces of silver per month at market price. Silver was for sale. Mr. Carlisle neglected to place his client's order, and lost resulted thereby. Would it excuse him from answering in damages to say, "I did not consider the market price just?"

Mr. Carlisle is guilty of another grave delinquency. The want of currency has been a serious evil during the panic. By his action he has hoarded over $3,500,000 during these three months. Had he not impeded and bearded the market silver would have risen considerably. It may be assumed therefore that this figure may be increased.

Mr. Carlisle stands in the light of any other law breaker, and should be visited with the same public odium and punishment. His career is ended.

Press Comments on Territorial Affairs.

A Democratic View of It.

If the senate keeps up its present lick much longer, President Cleveland will have to fall back on 1892 to get something on which to base his Thanksgiving day proclamation.—Albuquerque Times.

And It Is a Good Law Too.

The school law requires that all children of proper age shall attend a private or public school, for at least three months of each year. For failure to do this, a parent or guardian may be fined $10 and costs.—Las Cruces Independent Democrat.

More Woe for Union County.

J. Felipe Buen took the job of transcribing the Union county records for something like $300, though other bids amounted to $1,800, but the clerks of the three interested counties have wisely concluded not to permit of the books of record being taken out of their respective offices for this purpose. In this county there is an instance where an entire leaf was torn from a record book, thus entailing expense and labor upon the owners of property.—Las Vegas Optic.

Barred Only by Age.

There is consternation about the court house to-day. In his argument last night in one of the numerous Edmunds cases before the court this term the new United States district attorney contended that it was not necessary to prove any particular adulterous act, but the fact of an adulterous disposition and the opportunity were sufficient evidence of guilt. This will catch everybody who is not barred by the age limitation.—Albuquerque Citizen.

In Spite of Hard Times.

The rains of the past week have done some injury to individuals; but, upon the whole, they have been of untold benefit. The grass is finer than has been known during the past ten years, and the added moisture at this time will increase it in quality and quantity. It also saves an expense in irrigating for fall plowing. It looks as if nature and the elements have combined to make New Mexico blossom in spite of hard times.—Roswell Record.

A Boyant Feeling.

The cattle men of central and southern New Mexico claim that they have enough grass on their ranges to carry their stock through without perceptible loss, for at least two years to come, even should there not fall another drop of rain in the meantime, which, of course, is out of the question. There is a boyant feeling among all classes of gentlemen, which is well grounded in the face of the recent rains, and there is no reason to believe that this feeling will change within the next three years at least.—Stock Grower.

Another Advocate.

New Mexico should be admitted to the Union as a state. The conditions are better than those of Wyoming were when she was recognized. The citizens of Mexican descent are all loyal, industrious and reasonably intelligent. We should like to see a strong provision in any state constitution for New Mexico, Arizona, Utah and Oklahoma recognizing the public control of natural waters and providing for the local administration of all waters and works their ownership and supervision. It is time that the territorial system was ended.—Irrigation Market.

A New Rival for Alfalfa.

The Sheeney field-pen is a crop that has never, so far as we know, been tried in this valley. It is raised extensively in Mississippi, and other southern states, and is there considered the best and most profitable forage crop that can be grown. It is sown broadcast in April, and will mature in about three and a half months, making an average of twenty bushels of kernels, and two tons of hay to the acre. Stock of all kinds are very fond of both the kernel and the vine, and it is very nutritious. Mr. E. L. Widly, an old Mississippi farmer, will put in several acres of these pens here next spring, and we predict that the crop will prove a success. If it, in any measure, approaches the growth attained in Mississippi, it will prove to be a more profitable crop than our hitherto unequalled alfalfa.—Koswell Record.

The New West.

The new west is a region of aridity. It is one of sublime scenery and almost perfect solitude. It is endowed with climatic conditions everywhere helpful rather than hindering to man. It holds great material capabilities. Its mines of precious metals have within forty years revolutionized commerce and traffic. Its resources in the useful minerals are already beginning to astonish the investor. And the bold announcement that, with the use of water in irrigation its lands may be made to support in plenty 20,000,000 families, or 100,000,000 persons, has struck those who read and listen in order to understand and not to sneer, with a bewildering sense of astonishment. But it is true, and whatever concerns the shaping and making of such results, is a matter of the weightiest importance.—K. J. Hinton in the Arena.

Legal Notice. District Court, Santa Fe County, vs. Santa Fe Electric Co., Defendant.

Master's notice of sale of mortgaged premises and property.

J. Edward L. Bartlett, the special master duly appointed by and under the decree of foreclosure and sale made and entered in the above entitled cause, at the June term, A. D. 1893, of the above named court, that is to say, on the 29th day of June, A. D. 1893, do hereby give notice pursuant to the order and direction of said decree, that I will, on Thursday the 19th day of October, A. D. 1893, expose and sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, at the front entrance door of the Santa Fe county court house, in the city of Santa Fe, in said county of Santa Fe, N. WOOL AND AMOLE.

A Scouring Plant for the Former to Utilize the Latter—Points on a Promised New Industry.

Representatives of eastern capital have been in the city for several days quietly making inquiries regarding the location here of a note-worthy enterprise. It is no less than a project to establish a wool scouring works, with a view to eventually adding other features, such as the manufacture of blankets and woolen goods.

The country tributary to this market produces annually about 20,000,000 pounds of wool. This figure would be materially increased if facilities were afforded to increase the profits. The freight on wool to the Atlantic seaboard is 3 cents per pound. By scouring this product here at home 33 1/2 of the present freight would be saved. In other words, good scouring works would save the sheep man at large $200,000 on freights alone. The better price that would be commanded by the prepared and sorted wools would raise this figure at least another $200,000.

Here therefore is a chance to save and earn $400,000, which being kept at home, would go into the annual circulation of the territory.

Las Vegas has had a small $25,000 scouring plant for several years past. It was burned down, last spring with great loss but was immediately rebuilt, and has made a handsome profit over all investments.

Water is an essential element in such an enterprise; impure or alkaline water is unfit for this purpose, and the absolutely pure water of the Santa Fe canon is one of the inducements offered that few localities in the southwest can compete with. Another feature to be considered is the use of the amole plant in this connection, the root of which is found in such abundance in the mountains adjacent to this city and which for its superior saponine purposes has no equal.

Here is a chance for Santa Fe. If they take up this project in a fair spirit, and deal with the matter from a comprehensive view, there is a surety that an important industry will be established here. In its ultimate possibilities it will employ hundreds of men and women, raise the general prosperity of this territory, increase the flocks and enhance their value. It remains only that Santa Fe shall grasp the opportunity of the moment.

In the figures as to shrinkage given above the estimate is purposely lowered. The percentages of shrinkage of American wool range from 22 to 65 per cent; while the price of the secured material ranges higher than wool in the grease, from 40 to 71 cents. These are reliable figures and the gentlemen to whom is submitted the proposition to establish this new enterprise here are invited to prove them up by a study of the facts.

SATURDAY SALAD.

A SPICY EPITOME.
Washington, D. C., Oct. 12.—My Dear Janet: Knowledge comes but wisdom lingers—and the amount of both commodities which I received in a jewelry store to-day, will abide with me forever. I was waiting for the man of science to regulate my watch, when in came, two very pretty and fashionably dressed young women, who asked to see spoons, or something suitable to give an infant. The obliging clerk immediately produced trays of shining treasures, supposed to be sacred to infancy, mugs, rattlers, bells, and the two fair ones dived into their contents.

"O dear," sighed one, "is it not bewildering to choose a present—I really don't know what to get—they are all so prett—"

"I wonder," said the other, "if all this talk about silver has anything to do with Mrs. Cleveland's baby. Of course, every body will have to send it a present."

"Certainly not," replied No. 1 in a tone of severe reprimand, "a lot of people want us to use silver money, and a lot more want us to have gold. For my part, I would a great deal rather have gold, especially when it will be just as cheap as silver, wouldn't you?"

"Well," answered No. 2. "I don't understand, exactly; do you mean, that gold spoons, and jewelry and all that, won't cost any more than silver ones do?"

"Yes, that is just it—and isn't it unreasonable for those men in congress to be making all this fuss?"

"Well, I should say so," replied the other damsel with great energy. "I used to say I was for silver, but now I am out and out, a gold bug."

And then, having purchased a mug of monstrous proportions, they both turned themselves off, leaving me to ponder dimly on the outlook for silver after losing such an intelligent and earnest advocate from its ranks."

Knowing your abiding interest in the raiment of Vanity Fair, I must tell you about a frock which is much admired just now. It is a princess robe with trailing moss roses; short puff sleeves are of ombre velvet, and there is a richly embroidered bolero over a vest of creamy lace. A dainty Parisian toque of white loops, pink and green ends and a touch of brown, is a proper accompaniment to this exquisite carriage costume. This particular gown and hat you may have for $250, for it adorns a wax figure in the Boston dry goods house, but one like it can never be reproduced; Felix will make no more, because, poor man, he is dead. Hats this winter are to be very small, except in the matter of price, which waxes always larger when times are dull. Wraps are of generous proportions, and are mostly made of dark rich cloth, fur trimmed or braided. Dress makers and the fashion papers say that satin will be used for outside garments, but up to date no satin wraps have made their appearance. Dresses of combined black and white, called megpie, are considered chic, and all the ultra fashionables have ordered one.

The society damsels of Washington are not like "Sollita Soprannista Ann," who had a soul above the frying pan. To attend a cooking school is the proper caper. Large classes take daily lessons in the mysteries of the culinary art, and it is getting to be an understood thing that when a young lady joins such a class, she is engaged, or about to be. It seems strange that love should prompt anything so prosaic as cooking, but this is the age of utilitarianism. The Episcopal

Home for the aged has the best known school here and has some swell pupils. Mrs. Levi P. Morton was a generous patron; and many of the choice viands served at her noted entertainments were made by the fair hands of her guests. Rumor says that a demure little maiden captured the heart of a brave and bronzed warrior by confessing to the authorship of some delicious salad. Also, for romance and roses, moonlight, dim lights and low music, when Cupid takes the form of shrimp salad!

Mrs. Stevenson has been giving her views on social ethics lately. She seems in favor of simplifying the erstwhile lavish entertainments of official society. She says she is not in touch with crushes, as evening receptions always are, nor with late dinners—so she will confine her gaieties to the afternoons at home, luncheons and the returning of calls. Let us devoutly hope that she will not have imitators or it will be all in vain that we have smartened up our ball dresses and laid in a supply of evening slippers. If all accounts be true, Mrs. Whitney and Mrs. Thornton will have no successors as ball givers. The present leaders vote dances a nuisance and mostly like Mrs. Stevenson go in for the drags, or like Mrs. Biss for mind culture and vocal music. So, my dear Janet, I fear that to the frivolous mind, New York will this winter, offer superior attractions.

If you wish to be in "our set" you must part your hair in the middle, have short loose curls on each side and the back hair gathered into a high empire knot. You must have a set of gold hairpins and a huge comb to match. One of the newest things in hairpins is a star with a diamond in the centre. Therecomb has a row of stars and shines like the firmament. The cost of these little trinkets is only $200, still many of the girls are wearing them.

Washington has been learning something about the "Land of the White Elephant." All of the big lights of theosophy are here, and are enlightening our dark minds on the subject of their mystic religion. September 16 and 17 the Theosophical society had a grand rendezvous in Chicago, and I believe, they count converts by the score in consequence. Prof. Gundera Nath Chakravarti, a high caste Brahmin, is considered a curiosity. A Brahmin of his class can not cross the seas without sacrificing his caste, so we don't see such a gun every day. But this zealous professor thinks more of his creed than his rank, so he is here, lecturing in English, writing in Sanskrit and teaching a new system of mathematics, all on behalf of theosophy. The sweet face of Annie Besant is familiar to all newspaper readers. She is one of the great women of the age in spite of her heathenish religion. But, my dear Janet, I have no intentions of converting you, I shall close. With much love, your friend, MARGARET BRENT.

Hon. S. E. Tipton, of Watrous, stole quietly down to the Meadow city Wednesday afternoon and captured a fair, lovable prize in the person of Miss Jennie Hogsett. The marriage was solemnized at the east side parish church by Rev. Father O'Keefe in the presence only of a few immediate relatives and friends. After the ceremony a quiet reception was held at the residence of A. A. Wise.—Las Vegas Optic.

Cards were received here yesterday announcing the tidings that Mr. James Leon Salomon and Miss Ruth Van Ben theusen Stevenson would be joined in wedlock at Salt Lake City on the evening of Tuesday, October 24. The fair bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. L. Stevenson, of Salt Lake, and is a descendant of the old Knickerbocker family of New York, a very charming and talented lady. Mr. Seligman is the elder son of Hon. B. Seligman, of this city, and a young gentleman whom everybody in Santa Fe, his birth place, esteems and admires. That the lines of these two young people may be ever cast in pleasant places is the wish of all Santa Feans.

Messrs. Cooley Beaver, Thos. A. Goodwin and J. W. Eaton left this afternoon for a duck shoot at Pena Blanca.

Clean rags are wanted at the New Mexican press rooms and a fair price will be paid for them in small or large quantities—needed in the business.

In obedience to instructions from the county commissioners, County Clerk Romero is prodding up the county road supervisors. Good and timely action this.

Mr. Menash, well known as a first-class mechanic, now has charge of Mr. Spitz's watch repair department. This class of work, engraving, etc., will henceforth be made a specialty at this establishment.

The county authorities have notified the Santa Fe Southern narrow gauge and the A. & T. S. F. railroad companies to plow fire guards on either side of their road in Santa Fe county.

At the Exchange: R. B. Bullock, J. P. Bullock, Joe Mulhatten, James P. Loe, Louisville, Ky.; George H. Francis, San Francisco; C. B. Huggett, Kansas City; George Fisher, Creede; Charles Haspelmath, Lamy.

The Woodruff cottage on Don Gaspar avenue has been converted into a veritable brown stone front by Steve Lacasaigne. It is one of the prettiest, as well as comfortable, new homes in town, and is a fair illustration of what may be done by the intelligent use of adobe and mortar.

The New Mexican's Weekly Spanish edition, which gets closer to the hearthstone of the masses than any other publication in New Mexico, was issued at noon to-day. It goes into every county in the territory, and as an advertising medium has no superior.

The city council meets on Monday night next. Those having bills against the city and who failed to comply with the rule and place them in the hands of the clerk prior to noon to-day, will get no action on such bills on Monday night.

Passenger traffic on the narrow gauge is showing a material increase of late. Many people are coming to New Mexico from Colorado points in anticipation of a hard cold winter up there. Not a few of them are interested in the statehood movement and declare they have come to stay in anticipation of its early coming.

Eulogio Romero, of La Joya, Rio Arriba county, came in from Pena Blanca this morning, where he recovered two sorrel horses that had been stolen from him Wednesday night. A man giving his name as Anastacio Martinez sold them to Co. Comr. Luciano Ortiz, at Pena Blanca, for $27. The thief escaped and the buyer is out his $27.

The goose-bone weather prophets call attention to the fact that sparrows are selecting winter quarters in protected places, and ground animals are burrowing deep in the earth, all of which is regarded as a sure sign of a long, cold winter. It is a well recognized fact, however, that all signs fall in high altitudes. Last year the corn husks were extraordinarily heavy, and so were the coats of the deer and other animals in the mountains, yet the winter was particularly mild. Signs don't go here.

Messrs. Demetrio Leyba, Gregorio Chavez, Jose Leon Madrid and Francisco Chavez, well known rancheros from the Galisteo district, are in the city making purchases. They say the people of south Santa Fe county are going into the winter with better prospects than for years. Grass is abundant; lots of hay has been cut and stacked; the corn, bean, and fruit harvest has been excellent and peace and good cheer is the order of the day. Santa Fe county is all right.

Poisoned by Scrofula.
Is the sad story of many lives made miserable through no fault of their own. Scrofula is more especially than any other a hereditary disease, and for this simple reason: Arising from impure and insufficient blood, the disease localizes itself in the lymphatics, which are composed of white tissues; there is a period of foetal life when the whole body consists of white tissues, and therefore the unborn child is especially susceptible to this dreadful disease. But there is a remedy for scrofula, whether hereditary or acquired. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which by its powerful effect on the blood, expels all trace of the disease and gives to the vital fluid the quality and color of health. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not accept and substitute.

LAND OFFICE DECISION.
What Constitutes Cultivation Within the Meaning of the Desert Land Law.

The general land office has recently rendered an important decision as to what constitutes cultivation under the Desert Land act, in a case where it was claimed that the raising of hay crops for two seasons was sufficient. The commissioner decides that this is not sufficient and says: "The term cultivation in the Desert Land law is held to mean the tilling of the soil by agricultural processes in order to raise crops; not mere irrigation. It is impossible to determine in this case whether the hay raised was the product of native grasses or not. If it was, though produced by irrigation, there has not been such cultivation shown as is required." This decision will have a widespread effect and it means that proof must show the planting of seed and the resultant crop on one-eighth of the land sought to be patented.—Irrigation Market.
