BRIEF WIRINGS.

Thurlew Weed's Daughter.
New York, Nov. 2.—Thurlew Weed's eldest daughter, Ann Harriet, died this morning, aged 74.

Going Right Up.
New York, Nov. 1.—Silver continues its upward tendency and is to-day quoted at 69 cents per ounce. Lead 9.50.

Got Together.
Cincinnati, Nov. 2.—The Ohio & Mississippi railway has been absorbed by the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern.

A Morning Blaze.
Zanesville, Ohio, Nov. 2.—The immense mill of the Gus Herdman Lumber company was destroyed by fire early this morning. Loss, $75,000. No estimate of insurance has been made.

A Texas Wreck.
Hearne, Texas, Nov. 2.—The Great Northern road's east bound passenger train was wrecked last night, the track spreading. All the coaches were overturned. None were killed, but eight were seriously and fifteen slightly injured. None will die.

A BAD MAN'S FATE.
The Notorious Abe Redmond, of Virginia, lynched by an Orderly Mob.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 2.—The notorious Abe Redmond was hanged by a mob last night. He was arrested yesterday by a posse. A few days ago he beat a negro fearfully without the least cause and was acquitted for want of evidence. He then boasted that he had committed the deed; was re-arrested and sent to jail. Last night a constable took him home for safe-keeping and at midnight the door was broken open by an orderly crowd, the guards overpowered and Redmond lynched. He had spent a fortune on lawyers. He was who killed his father in a quarrel, burned houses, poisoned cattle and horses, stabbed an old man to death and committed many other crimes.

A Rush to the Coast.
San Francisco, Nov. 2.—For weeks an army of unemployed men have camped on the new postoffice site and secured food from charitable merchants. Trouble is feared as the ring-leaders include several dangerous socialists. The streets are crowded with unemployed and more are coming in every day, attracted by false reports of work on the mid-winter fair buildings.

Gold Shipments.
New York, Nov. 2.—The Bank of England has reduced the price of American eagles to 76s 9d. The meaning of the bank's action is interpreted here as being a move on its part to protect its supply of sovereigns in view of the threatened withdrawal of gold from the bank in the immediate future for shipment to the United States, which London seems to consider certain, despite the fact that the current rate of exchange does not admit of a profit on such transactions.

THE CAT OUT.
An Englishman Explains Why London Wanted Silver Repeal to Pass.

New York, Nov. 2.—A Washington special to a morning paper gives an interview with Morston Frewan, the English bi-metallicist, who is now the guest of one of the members of the British legation. Frewan says:

"If the price of silver bullion falls, as I expect will be the case, that drags down the exchange rate with the far east, which is already at a snapping point, and we shall have a panic in London before New Year's, a panic you would feel to every corner of this continent."

"Then you don't favor the view that the repeal of the act will bring buying orders from London to Wall street?"

"No. London will be the seller for a long time to come. We are in great trouble in Australia and India. Our export trade with China, Singapore and South America is already paralyzed by the fall of rates of silver exchange. London has been praying that you would stop your silver purchases, thinking that then your stock market may recover that she may send you home your securities realized at higher prices. We are in no position to buy. The great English manufacturing fortunes have suffered terribly. When we in England have financial troubles, times are bad and prices are depressed so that your exports to England fall off and your imports remaining the same, gold leaves you. To borrow gold in England and to bring it here inevitably turns the balance of trade against this country."

Helicopter at Sea.
Havana, Nov. 2.—The steamship City Alexandria, was burned on the Cuban coast. Sixty persons were drowned.

Later—A boat containing an officer and eleven others arrived this morning from the wrecked ship. The cause of the fire was an explosion. They say sixty persons were drowned, but this is not credited. This afternoon tugs arrived here with nineteen survivors on board.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Judge Collier Confirmed by the Senate To-day—Congress to Adjourn To-morrow.

Indian Depredations Repeal Bill—Silver Men Meet—Nominations and Legislation.

Washington, Nov. 2.—The senate to-day confirmed the nomination of N. C. Collier to be associate justice of the New Mexico supreme court.

SENATE RULE CHANGES.
Senator Blackburn, chairman of the committee on rules, has introduced, and the senate adopted, the following resolution, which was undoubtedly inspired by the recent discussion of the rules during the past few weeks:

That the committee on rules be instructed to inquire and report to the senate what revision or amendments to the rules, if any, should be adopted to secure a more efficient and satisfactory disposition of the business of the senate.

NOMINATIONS.
The president has sent the following nominations to the senate:

Henry L. Davies, of Massachusetts, M. S. Kidd, of Indiana, and Archibald S. McKennon, of Arkansas, to be commissioners to negotiate with the five civilized tribes under the provisions of the act of congress approved March 3, 1893.

William B. Anderson, of Illinois, to be pension agent at Chicago.

George Purper, of Georgia, to be agent for the Indians of the Umatilla agency in Oregon.

CONGRESS TO QUIET.
Congress has agreed to adjourn to-morrow afternoon.

SILVER MEN.
The silver advocates held an important meeting to-day and agreed to keep up the fight for free coinage, being yet hopeful of good results.

Senator Teller leaves for Mexico to-night and Senator Wolcott sails to-morrow for Europe.

TO-DAY'S LEGISLATION.
The senate to-day passed the bill increasing the number of army officers to be detailed as military instructors from 75 to 100.

In the house the cyclone relief bill was passed.

CROWDING THE WEST.
The bill introduced by Congressman Black, of Illinois, ex-commissioner of pensions, to repeal in toto the Indian depredation act of 1890, is attracting considerable public attention and causes claim agents much trepidation. It has been referred to Chairman Holman, of the committee on Indian affairs, and as its passage would relieve the government of vast obligations, it is likely to receive much support from the members of that committee.

A DOUBLE GUARD.
The Chicago Creek in Danger from Before and Behind.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Prendergast, the slayer of Mayor Harrison, is in grave danger. His fellow prisoners are clamoring for his blood. The jail is being closely guarded both outside and inside.

Later—Prendergast was arraigned in court this morning and was so nervous that he almost collapsed. He had to be supported and further time for the examination was granted.

A Tragic Affair.
Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 2.—At Buok Creek Edward Cool, 30 years old, while intoxicated shot his landlord below the heart, missed his landlady, and shot Obadiah Haller, a saloon keeper, in the right thigh. Haller grabbed Cool and held him till an officer came. At the jail Cool cut his throat twice with a pocket knife, but is not dangerously injured. His victims will recover.

The Grand Trunk Wreck.
Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 2.—The last two bodies taken from the railroad wreck were sent to their destination to-day. These are supposed to be husband and wife. Identification is impossible.

Dividend Passed.
New York, Nov. 2.—The directors of the Rio Grande Western road have passed the dividend on preferred stock due to-day. This company gets its traffic from the same sources as the D. & R. G. line which has had heavy losses during the past summer.

STUDENTS ON A TEAR.

Ann Arbor Town Sacked Last Night by 600 College Boys.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 2.—After midnight last night 600 students sacked the town. Their bonfires consumed a tool house, fences and much portable property. They stoned and rotten egged the street cars, and many playing glasses windows were smashed. The city marshal had been suspended; the mayor was away from town and only two policemen were on duty.

Fatal Explosion.
New York, Nov. 2.—Three men were killed and eight injured by a boiler explosion this morning.

Grain Way Down.
Chicago, Nov. 2.—Corn and wheat are firmer. May wheat 42½.

A Fatal Collision.
Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—The Doylestown express and Germantown express on the Philadelphia Reading railroad collided this morning. One passenger was killed and three dangerously injured.

Prosperous Methodists.
St. Paul, Nov. 2.—The general committee of the Methodist church, in session to-day, appropriated $2,500,000 for church extension work during the ensuing year.

A Tenement Blaze.
New York, Nov. 2.—A midnight large tenement on 3d street caught fire. It was filled with sleeping tenants who were hustled out in scant attire. Six firemen were overcome by gas and four were removed to the hospital. Loss about $3,000.

The Closing Figures.
World's Fair Grounds, Nov. 2.—The official figures of paid admissions to the fair up to Monday, the closing day, 21, 469,461. Adding the number admitted on passes, the total is swelled to 27,589,041. It is considered by exposition statisticians that these figures beat the record made at Paris, all things considered. Paris, showed a total of 23,149,353, but there were practically no free admissions, while here over 6,000,000 were issued. The total receipts of the Paris exposition were $8,300,000. The returns are not yet all in for the World's Columbian Exposition, as the amount of salvage, etc., is to be added, but the receipts will not fall far short of $14,000,000.

COAL MINE FEDERATION.
Denver, Nov. 2.—State Coal Mine Inspector Reed, of this state, is endeavoring to form a federation of miners in Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Texas and states west of the Mississippi river, embracing them all in one organization. This is the result of the recent trouble among coal mine operatives. The new federation will number 10,000 miners.

Big Money Going into the Development of Western Irrigation Enterprises.

The development of irrigation in this country goes on in spite of hard times. Col. R. J. Hinton, the irrigation expert, has been keeping for six months a record of constructions and projections. "My list," said he, "shows 150 organizations formed, a capital of $60,000,000 and 5,000,000 acres reclaimed. This is a matter for astonishment, when we consider that paralyzing conditions have prevailed. At least $20,000,000 of this capital is in enterprises for the reclamation of tracts of 3,000 acres, 5,000 acres and 10,000 acres.

It represents neighborhood or community progress in irrigation. The present development is largely in Colorado, Central California and Idaho. In Washington the development is something enormous. In 1889 there were not 26,000 acres under ditch in Washington. Now there are 260,000 acres, and the capitalization amounts to $7,000,000. Washington has 1,500 miles of main ditches building, and as much more projected. In southeast Oregon and in parts of New Mexico, away from the railroads, there is surprising activity in irrigation development. Along the valleys of the plateau region of Arizona settlers have gone and made use of the localities adapted to irrigation. Recent trips into the interior of Utah and Nevada by railroad men show a condition of things of which nothing was known. Little settlements and communities have been formed in portions of Utah and Nevada, which were supposed to be uninhabited. Thousands of people are in these out-of-the-way regions, utilizing the valleys and developing hundreds of little irrigation systems. This work is going on in so many places and with so little noise that the rest of the country does not begin to appreciate the magnitude of it as a whole."

TERRITORIAL TIPS.
ALBUQUERQUE ATOMS.

The ball given at the Armory by the ladies of the Public Library Association was a grand success socially and financially.

The Edison phonograph at the Council was tapped by some slick rascal for all the change in the slot box, amounting to about $1.50.

Mrs. May P. Joy, aged 36 years, died from consumption. She came here from Denmark, Lee county, Iowa, on August 10, 1893, being hopeful that a change of climate would benefit her.

Chas. Zeiger, ranchman and merchant, exhibited at his Council a species of Spanish radish that tipped the scales at four pounds. The immense radish was ent in two and was found to be crisp and solid.

L. C. Barr, according to the statement given by Mr. Wilson, is in the hands of bondsmen in Denver, and his shortage is not provided for. The chances are that Mr. Barr will be tried for embezzlement.

W. B. Childers, attorney to Receiver Schofield, of the Albuquerque National bank, is in Denver on legal matters connected with the J. A. Johnson injunction suit. He is expected home to-night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bourke have come up from Las Lunas, their fine ranch south of the city, and have taken apartments in the residence of Mrs. Thomas on West Lead avenue.

A painful accident occurred at the residence of Mrs. J. M. Perea on west Tijeras avenue. Mrs. Perea's youngest daughter, little Miss Quenna, was playing with some matches, and from a lighted match her clothing caught fire. Her screams brought to her rescue her mother, but not till the little one's hands, face and legs were painfully burned. Dr. Wroth was hastily summoned and dressed the wounds.

KIDDY ECHOES.
Land admirably suited to prune culture can be bought for $30 per acre on long time. This price includes perpetual water rights, and is under the perfect system of irrigation which has made the Pecos valley famous.

J. J. Hagerman, C. B. Eddy and a party visited the six mile dam and the Seven Rivers reservoir dam yesterday. Mr. Hagerman is well pleased with the way the work is being done and says the work will be finished long before it will be needed.

A petition signed by sixty or more residents, requesting the removal of the separate Mexican school, which has been established in the southwest portion of town, to some other location, was presented to the school board last week. The request was refused on the ground that arrangements had been made for lease of the building which could not be altered without much trouble.

M. Francois Gos, of Arribes, France, who is connected with the government agricultural school at that place, made a short visit to this valley last week, and was entertained and shown through the country near here by A. A. Mermoud and Ferdinand Foor, with the latter of whom he had previous acquaintance. M. Gos is commissioned by the French government to examine into the subject of wild vines and viticulture in this country for the benefit of French agricultural science. He praised the appearance of vines and soil at the Grande vineyard very highly.

The Catholic church will be placed upon a fifty foot lot two blocks west of the Methodist church, the location having been donated by the Town company, which gave each denomination a site for building. The Catholic hospital will probably be further west, upon the high ground in that direction. The citizens have subscribed liberally to build a church.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every Post Office in the Territory and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the southwest.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2.

THE GOLD PRODUCTION IN NEW MEXICO is on the increase; let the good work continue.

STATEHOOD FOR NEW MEXICO must be had, and in order to get it, it must be worked for.

THE JIG IS UP; no more purchases of silver by the treasury department; and now what next?

IT WILL TAKE A MAN with a very vivid imagination to get up a truthful Thanksgiving proclamation this year of our Lord.

TWO YEARS OF Democratic rule has doubled the state taxes in the state of New York; is there any comment necessary?

THE MINERS OF NEW MEXICO must pay attention to gold mining and to prospecting for gold leads; lots of them here for the finding.

THE IRRIGATION CONVENTION at Deming will do this territory some good; the delegates appointed to it should attend in person if possible.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND made quick work of it yesterday in signing the Voorhees repeal bill; he rejoices now; the future, however, alone can show the effects of the law, and whether there was cause for rejoicing.

IT SEEMS AS IF the copartnership that has heretofore existed between the southern and western free silver senators has been dissolved by the force of circumstances and by official patronage.

LOOKING AT the vote of the house of representatives on the Voorhees repeal bill, it must be acknowledged that Mr. Cleveland comes mighty near being the Democratic party of this great and glorious country.

A BILL providing for an income tax on all incomes that amount to over $2,500 per year will, in all likelihood, be reported from the house committee on ways and means at the coming session of congress; the measure will provoke a bitter fight and its fate is mighty uncertain.

DELEGATE JOSEPH's bill for the admission of New Mexico has been favorably reported to the house; small favors thankfully received; larger ones in proportion, and now here's hoping that the bill will pass and that the statehood campaign will be on in full blast a year hence.

SENATOR VOORHEES' physician has advised him to leave Washington at once and seek fresh air. He has decided to spend sometime at Snickersville, Va. This appears to be a very good place for the senator under the peculiar circumstances.

THE NEW MEXICAN's daily telegraph service is steadily improving; the latest news of the day are given its readers every afternoon; in every other respect it is a first-class newspaper; support it and you will be helping yourself, your city, your county and your territory.

THE RAILROADS should make lower rates to New Mexico; it would benefit them and benefit us; this is the grandest winter climate in this country and low rates should be made in order that the people from the cold, icy, snowy, sloppy north, northeast and northwest can come here cheaply and enjoy New Mexico's grand, healthy and equable climate.

OUR ESTEEMED contemporary, the Albuquerque Times, would like to know where the New Mexican gets its information from, that the failure of the Albuquerque National bank was a bad one; this journal would gladly oblige its esteemed contemporary in this matter, but being pledged to secrecy this can not be done at this time; the fact remains, however, and when you see it in the Santa Fe New Mexican, it's so.

THE RESIGNATION OF LARKIN G. READ from the board of penitentiary commissioners will make the board stand politically four Republicans and three Democrats, as Gov. Thornton has, of course, appointed a Democrat to succeed Mr. Read.

THE STATE OF COLORADO is very fortunate indeed in having men like Henry M. Teller and E. O. Wolcott to represent her in the United States senate. The Washington Post of last Saturday pays the following well-deserved tribute to Senator Teller:

"Colorado has every reason to be proud of Senator Teller. He has made a good fight against such overwhelming odds that defeat is no disgrace. He does not go back to his people with empty hands for he certainly carries with him more honors, bravely won, and the esteem of men, who, although they disagree with him, nevertheless respect him as a man, and love him as a friend."

IN SUPPORT of the so-called Joseph statehood bill it may be said that that clause which demands the granting of 1,000,000 acres of land to the various educational institutions of the new state is all right, and the member of congress who opposes it will do so at the peril of placing himself on record as not only against fair play, but opposed to the principle of popular education. If anything, this amount is, under the circumstances, all too small, particularly in the case of New Mexico, where so large a number of the people are yet suffering from the blunder that congress made forty years ago in not requiring a reasonable acquaintance with the English language from all who sought to hold office or serve as jurors in the U. S. and district courts.

THE OTHER NEW STATES have been given half a million acres, the same that Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and other commonwealths received upon admission, and from a selfish standpoint it is not probable that their representatives in congress will oppose granting a larger area to New Mexico, but it ought not to take the eloquence of a Demosthenes to convince them of their error. Aside from the fact that the public lands to be donated to New Mexico upon admission to the Union are arid, there is greater, higher and better reason why congress should deal liberally with the territory in this respect.

THE SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.

Lashing the Money Gamblers.
Well, you men in Wall street, you clever merchants and money-makers, who did all this for yourselves, how do you like it as far as you've gone? You wanted a change, did you? You're got it—a sure enough change. And you are going to have your fill of it—make no doubt of that!—New York Tribune.

A Woman in It.
"A woman in it," is the ending to many a narrative of trouble. The Populists of Kansas are at internecine strife, and a woman is the cause of it. The governor appointed her on the police board of Topeka, and she was persona non grata to the Populists, who held that the office of profit should be reserved for those members of the party who could offer a quid pro quo in the way of a vote. Mrs. Lease, it is supposed, will marshal the forces of the Mulieropolitans.—Fort Worth Gazette.

Why the Louisiana Senators Voted Against Silver.
The action of the two Louisiana senators in voting with the Wall street combine is explained by the announcement that the new tariff bill provides for the restoration of the duty on sugar. So, it would seem that the poor man's breakfast table is to be assailed by the administration. It remains to be seen whether this trade between Wall street and the New Orleans sugar syndicate at the expense of the common people can be consummated.—Denver News.

Anti-Snappers Growl.
The mother of the wife of President Cleveland was one of the enthusiastic audience at the great meeting of home-rule Democrats in Buffalo last night to protest against Judge Maynard's election. The law partner of Postmaster General Bissell, sent a strong letter of denunciation of Maynard and Sheen, which was read with great applause. The secretary of the meeting is a Democrat who was recently appointed to an important consular position by President Cleveland. The anti-snappers are beginning to show their teeth as the day for election draws near.—New York Mail and Express.

Iowa's German Republicans.
There is no class of foreign-born citizens who have done more to develop Iowa than the Germans. Their natural home has been in the Republican party. They firmly believe in the principles of protection, in honest money and all the great cardinal doctrines of Republicanism. They have been estranged from the party because of its attitude on some questions of local significance. This year the indications are that large numbers of these thrifty, thoughtful people will return to their first love, and be as they once were—one of the great elements of the Republican party's honor and glory.—Cedar Rapids Republican.

IT SETTLES NOTHING.

Unconditional Repeal Doesn't Solve the Silver Question.

THE CLEVELAND PANIC has brought more disaster on the country in six months than the Sherman act could have done in sixty years. Bad as the consequences have been, they would have been infinitely worse, but for the courage and good sense of the American people and the magnificent national credit built up by a generation of Republican statesmanship. The panic has not changed the attitude of Republicans in regard to the silver purchase act. A large majority of the Republican senators (ten not well as in the 53d house, voted to repeal that law. More than three-fourths of the Republican senators have stood ready to vote for its repeal since the extra session began. The loss and poverty and suffering of the great financial convulsion have been utterly useless so far as their effect on the repeal issue is concerned.

THE BARE REPEAL of the silver purchase act will settle nothing. It is in no sense a solution of the silver problem. It leaves the whole currency question open for future settlement. The $500,000,000 of silver in circulation and in the treasury must be provided for and the future use of silver must be determined. Without the help of the solid phalanx of Republican senators Mr. Cleveland would be powerless to extricate himself even temporarily from a painful predicament, and the Republican senators (ten not counted on to aid him further. Future legislation will depend upon the Democratic majority, and that majority has already given the country a humiliating "object lesson" of its incapacity. When the debate in the senate ends it will be the beginning of a new campaign at the south and west, and the people will take up the question where the senate drops it.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY believes in protecting every American industry. It believes in maintaining the interests of the west as well as of the east. It is the champion of honest bi-metallicism. It is pledged to uphold the parity of the two metals by awarding to silver a secure and equal place in our monetary system.—New York Press.

Call for Irrigation Convention.

TERRITORY OF NEW MEXICO, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, SANTA FE, N. M., August 2, 1893. To the People of New Mexico, Arizona, Western Texas, and of the State of Chihuahua, in the Republic of Mexico:

WHEREAS, All of the citizens of the above states are actively interested in the irrigation industry, and are in a large measure dependent upon irrigation for the development of their agricultural resources; and

WHEREAS, A large proportion of the people in the territory of New Mexico, of the western portion of the state of Texas, and of the northern portion of the state of Chihuahua are largely dependent upon the Rio Grande river for their water supply for domestic purposes; and

WHEREAS, Large quantities of the water of said river which have for many years been appropriated and used by the citizens residing in the valley thereof, south of Albuquerque, for the purposes of irrigation, and upon the continual use of which depends the life and prosperity of the community, has been wrongfully appropriated and diverted to other uses by the residents near the headwaters of said stream, in Colorado, thus causing a water famine in the lower valley, which from year to year grows greater, until the agricultural interests are in imminent danger of destruction unless such diversion be checked.

WHEREAS, For the purpose of counselling together, and devising ways and means to stop such unlawful use and diversions of the water of the river, and of storing and preserving in reservoirs the spring and storm waters that now go to waste annually, and of discussing and considering all important questions relating to irrigation laws, irrigation securities, irrigation methods, and to devise and agree upon some general and concerted plan of action looking to the development of the agricultural, vinicultural and horticultural resources of such region, by saving and utilizing the waters thereof, a mass convention of the citizens residing in said portion of said states and territories is hereby called to meet at Deming, in the territory of New Mexico, on Tuesday, November 7, 1893, and subsequent days.

All persons resident within said portion of states and territories are respectfully requested to attend and voice their opinions in the deliberations of said convention, and all counties, municipal corporations, irrigation, aqueduct and canal corporations, boards of trade and chambers of commerce are invited to send delegates thereto. The time of the day of August, A. D. 1893.

W. T. THORNTON, Governor of New Mexico, S. ALEXANDER, Secretary of Territory.

Grand Canon of Colorado River.
On the Santa Fe route, in northern Arizona, 1,242 miles from Kansas City, is the town of Flagstaff. A tri-weekly stage line runs from Flagstaff to the Grand Canon of the Colorado river. More than a mile in depth, this is the sublimest of gorges—a Titan of chasms. Twenty Yosemite might be hidden unseen below, and Niagara would look scarcely larger than a brook.

Don't fail to visit this first wonder of the world. You can "read up" about it by asking G. T. Nicholson, G. P. & T. A. A. T. & S. F. R. R. Co., Topeka, Kas., to mail you a free copy of an illustrated book describing this terra incognita. The book is no common affair; but is carefully written, beautifully illustrated and a gem of the printer's art.

The Best Plaster.—Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it on over the seat of pain. It is better than any plaster. When the lungs are sore such an application on the chest and another on the back, between the shoulder blades, will often prevent pneumonia. There is nothing so good for a lame back or a pain in the side. A sore throat can nearly always be cured in one night by applying a flannel bandage dampened with Pain Balm. 50 cent bottles for sale by A. C. Ireland, Jr.

Sudden Death: That Startling News Heading.
The public is becoming accustomed to the above heading, but nevertheless it always conveys a shock. Sudden death in a vast majority of cases results from heart disease, manifested by any one or several of the following symptoms: Short breath, palpitation, irregular pulse, wind in stomach, pain in side, shoulder or arm, under left shoulder blade, between shoulders or in bowels, irregular or intermittent pulse, oppressed feeling in chest, choking sensation, weak or hungry spells, difficult breathing, swelling of feet or ankles, dropsy. Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure specially remedies all these. Sold by A. C. Ireland, Jr., on a guarantee, who will give you his elegant book, free.

Are your children subject to croup? If so, you should never be without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is a certain cure for croup, and has never been known to fail. If given freely as soon as the croupy cough appears it will prevent the attack. It is the sole reliance with thousands of mothers who have croupy children, and never disappoints them. There is no danger in giving this Remedy in large and frequent doses, as it contains nothing injurious. 50 cent bottles for sale by A. C. Ireland, Jr.

An Insane Idea.
Mrs. White—Mrs. Gray has hired the girl who used to live with you. Mrs. Gray said you gave the girl a splendid recommendation. By the way did the girl leave you voluntarily?

Legal Notice.
THE PROBATE COURT, SANTA FE CO., Santa Fe, N. M., Oct. 9, 1893.
In the matter of the estate of Willis J. Currier, deceased.
To whom it may concern:
All persons having claims against or indebted to the estate of Willis J. Currier, deceased, are hereby required to present the same within the time and in the manner prescribed by law.
JOHN SYMINGTON, Administrator.

Mr. W. M. Terry, who has been in the drug business at Elkhart, Ky., for the past twelve years, says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other cough medicine I have ever sold." There is good reason for this. No other will cure so quickly; no other is so certain a preventive and cure for croup; no other affords so much relief in cases of whooping cough. For sale by A. C. Ireland, Jr.

The Legend of Evil.
This is the sorrowful story
Told when the twilight falls
And the monkeys walk together
Holding each others tails

"Our fathers lived in the forest,
Foolish people were they,
They went down to the cornland
To teach the farmers to play.

"Our fathers fricked in the millet,
Our fathers skipped on the wheat,
Our fathers hung in the branches,
Our fathers danced in the street.

"Then came the terrible farmers,
Nothing of play they knew,
Only they caught our fathers
And set them to labor, too!

"Set them to work in the cornland
With ploughs and sickles and flails,
Put them in mud-walled prisons
And cut off their beautiful tails!

"Now we can watch our fathers
Sullen and bowed and old,
Stooping over the millet,
Sharing the silly mold.

"Driving a foolish furrow,
Mending a muddy yoke,
Sleeping in mud-walled prisons,
Steeping their food in smoke.

"We may not speak to our fathers,
For if the farmers know,
They would come up to the forest
And set us to labor, too."

This is the horrible story
Told as the twilight falls
And the monkeys walked together,
Holding each other's tails.

The Best in the World.
Senator Henry C. Nelson, of New York, writes:
"On the 27th of February, 1893, I was taken with a violent pain in the region of my kidneys. I suffered such agony that I could hardly stand up. As soon as possible I applied two Alcock's Porous Plasters, one over each kidney, and laid down. In an hour to my surprise and delight, the pain had vanished and I was well. I wore the plasters for a day or two as a precaution, and then removed them. I have been using Alcock's Porous Plasters in my family for the last ten years, and have found them the quickest and best remedy for colds, strains and rheumatic affections. From my experience I believe they are the best plasters in the world."

HER ENTRANCE

—into society, and womanhood as well, is an extremely critical period in every girl's life. At this time she needs good advice, and, what's more—help of the right sort. If she puts her faith in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription it can only bring good results. It's a medicine that's made especially to build up women's strength and cure women's ailments—an invigorating, restorative tonic, soothing cordial, and bracing nerve; purely vegetable, non-alcoholic, and perfectly harmless. For all the functional derangements, painful disorders, and chronic weaknesses that afflict womanhood, the "Favorite Prescription" is the only guaranteed remedy.

It must have been the medicine for most women, or it couldn't be sold on any such terms. Isn't it likely to be the medicine for you? Sold by druggists everywhere.

"Is life worth living?" "That depends on the liver." Dr. Pierce's Pellets are the best Liver Pills.

Equal to the Occasion.
Why do you wish me to be your wife? Because I love you—love you to distraction.
Did you say that to Mamie Jones when you proposed to her? How could I? Why couldn't you? Because she has neither beauty, dignity, grace, amiability nor refinement. These are the qualities that inspire ardent attachment, and you are the only girl I know who possesses them in a superlative degree. Need I say more?
He had said enough.

All that honesty, experience and skill can do to produce a perfect pill, has been employed in making De Witt's Little Early Risers. The result is a specific for sick headache, biliousness and constipation. New Mexico Drug Store.

He Had Noticed It.
The hands of the clock were pointing to 12.
Have you noticed the clock? she asked, yawning.
Yes, he said; it's the same one you've always had, ain't it?
Yes.
I noticed it the first night I came to call on you. It's very nice one.

If you can afford to be annoyed by sick headache and constipation, don't use De Witt's Little Early Risers, for these little pills will cure them. New Mexico Drug Store.

Debarred.
The daughter of the forest wept.
She was civilized and wore shoes that made her back ache, and yet she was not happy.
After all, she murmured, I cannot move in the best society.
A big tear welled from her eye and splashed off the end of her nose.
To be sure—
She clasped her hands and gazed bitterly into space.
I am as good as the other girls in many ways. I smoke cigarettes and drink champagne, but—
A look of settled despair invested her countenance.
I can't trace my family history further back than my grandmother.
Her heart was sore and the burden of life seemed terribly heavy.—Detroit Tribune.

Our word describes it—"perfection." We refer to De Witt's Little Early Risers cures obstinate sores, burns, skin diseases and is a well known cure for piles. New Mexico Drug Store.

HE RELENTED.

The Magic Word That Saved the Old Man's Reason.

Herziah Smith, the millionaire builder, contractor and real estate owner, was sitting at his desk. His dark, stern face from time to time writhed with an expression that bespoke agonized thought. It was evident that something terrible was pressing on his mind. Presently his secretary entered and handed him a card which read:

C. CHOLMONDLEY SMYTHE.

"Smythe? Smythe?" muttered the old man. "I know no one of that name. But show him in."
A moment later Mr. C. Cholmondley Smythe was ushered into the presence of his father. He sank languidly into a chair, remarking: "Dear me! What a doddish fellow! Youah beastly man wouldn't believe I was your son, and I had to send in me card!"

His father looked at him first with surprise, then with stern pity.
"Well," he exclaimed impatiently, for he was not in a mood to look upon the degeneracy of his race with composure, "what has brought you all the way from Fifth to Twelfth avenue? Are you in debt again?"

"Oh, dear, no!" and the fragile exquisite made a deprecating gesture.

"Well, then, what is it?"

"The fact is, gubv'nor, I'm going to get married."

"But Henrietta is still in Vassar."

"Henrietta? Weally, I don't unde—stand!"

The old man jumped up in a towering rage that towered more than Babel on the plain of Shinar. Bringing down his large curved fist on the desk, he yelled: "Have you dared to think of marrying any one but Henrietta Rionard, the daughter of the congressman whose influence made me the rich man I am? You were betrothed when children."

"The daughter of a ward heeler," sneered the son.

"Yes," roared the father, "and the son of a hod carrier!"

They glared at each other in silence—sitting thicker than the mortar Smith put into his contract houses.

"What is her name?" the father finally hissed.

"Miss Lovina Ch—"

"What's that name again?" he exclaimed, a flush of joyous excitement oozing through his rocklike complexion.

"Lovina."

"Spell it!"

"L-o-v-i-n-a."

"With the accent on the second syllable?"

"Yes!"

"Hurrah!" he yelled, fairly dancing for joy. Then he sat at his desk and wrote out the name, whispering softly to himself: "Lovina Lovina!" Then he wrote it in large letters, and holding it at an arm's length beamed upon it.

At length Mr. Smythe became restless and disturbed Mr. Smith's blissful reverie by inquiring:

"Then am I to understand that I have your consent?"

"What's that? Oh, I forgot! Certainly! Go and marry her whenever you like. She has saved my reason."

"If?"

"You see, I was half crazy trying to think of a name for the new apartment house I have just built. Lovina will do it."

And as the son faded gently out of the room the old man whispered over the sweet name again and again and rubbed his huge, hard palms together till they gave forth a sound like that of the sand paper boards they manipulate in the wings when the pretty scoubrette is dancing a double shuffle.—Life.

He Left.
A certain allopathic physician, not more than a thousand miles from a given point in the city of Detroit, has a daughter whose steady companion is a pronounced homoeopath, and for reasons not at all professional the father doesn't admire his possible son-in-law, though the daughter does. Some time ago the old gentleman found the young man at his house, and thinking it a good time to settle matters he proceeded to speak his mind very freely to the youth.

"Well, have you said all you wanted to say?" inquired the father when the father had made a series of uncomplimentary and scolding remarks.

"No, I haven't," exclaimed the allopath, getting his second wind. "I want to say that my advice to you is to get out of this house at once and never come back again."

The young man beamed up and smiled.

"Well," he responded, "you may go to Jericho with your advice. I'm a homoeopath, I am, and I don't allow any allopath in existence to prescribe for me. Good evening," and the young man sat down so firmly that the old gentleman concluded he had made a mistake and left the house himself.—Detroit Free Press.

It Didn't Work.
"What can I do for you?" he asked of the caller.
"I came to collect for the ventilating fan we put in for you."
"Oh—er—I see. I'm sorry, but we aren't cashing any drafts at present."—Washington Star.

"Now, Mrs. Bronson," said the broker, how shall we invest this money for you?"
"I don't know," said the lady. "What do you think of those fluctuating stocks?"
"I understand a great deal of money is made in them."—Harper's Bazar.

MURCIELAGO.

That is what I first called him. His name was very similar. And he did not see very well and went about rather awkwardly. Therefore the name "bat"—murcielago—was not altogether inappropriate. Later on, when I began to fear and dread him, it was as one of those great vampire bats of equatorial countries.

Isabel, too, was afraid of him at first. Gradually he won her over, by some singular hypnotism I now begin to fancy. Poor little, delicate, hardworking Isabel! My poor little sister! He came to live with us for a few days—that was the understanding. Isabel and I were far from rich. I had a fairly good position, with prospect of advancement, but slender salary. Isabel kept house for me, did typewriting on her typewriter machine and was studying stenography. She meant to take a position as soon as I got my advancement, and we were to hire a servant.

Murcielago came in and upset our plans somewhat. We bore it patiently at first. Presently it came to be something of an imposition—but then it was too late.

It was now that Murcielago began to consider himself "a poor foreigner, helpless in a strange land, without parents or brothers." He was 40 years old and blebbed. Isabel, tender hearted little thing, was sympathetic. It was sad to be in a strange land without kin, without money or employment. And Murcielago had not learned to speak English well. He had been 10 years in the country—perhaps he lacked aptitude. Isabel's heart softened to him. He was very clever at telling tales of his troubles and sorrows. He also praised her cooking. There is nothing better in the way of flattery to one who is doubtful of one's culinary ability, yet anxious to improve. Isabel's puddings were certainly very good. And Murcielago was very fond of puddings.

He never had told me much of his history, but had confined himself to hinting vaguely at political exile, confiscated estates yet to be recovered and consequent great wealth. I was too busy to pay much attention to any man's affairs but my own. Murcielago, on the contrary, had nothing to do and was fond of spending his afternoons in telling Isabel stories of his early life.

I did not think it was of any great consequence—his doing so—she had disliked his appearance so greatly at the beginning. And so began his Othello tales of lands far away. And day by day, as he told those tales, he continued to remain with us and feast and fatten upon us.

One night we were all sitting in our little parlor. It was hot weather for June, and all the windows were wide open. A bat flew in from God knows where in the heart of the city. Isabel gave a little scream. I think she had never seen one, here in this country. And they do suck the blood of other animals!

"Yes," I assented rather shortly. "We have them here." I seized an umbrella from the corner and struck the wheezing, frantic thing and knocked it senseless.

Then Murcielago told a story of the destruction of cattle on the great fields of the Argentine. I dreamed of him that night in the shape of a tremendous bat that I was vainly trying to fight away from Isabel.

The next day I came home a little earlier than usual. In the small, dark inner hall I passed at the sound of voices. Murcielago was weeping.

"Oh, you see me—here am I—on my knees—I embrace your feet! Oh, do not, do not turn me away. But you are my only hope—my only hope in life. Oh, Isabel, if you desert me, I shall kill myself!"

"I do not mean to desert you," said Isabel almost painfully, "but I have my duties. Please—oh, please, get up! Don't kneel that way! Get up! I am your friend!" Her voice shook a little. I coughed loudly and went in. Murcielago had fled to his room.

"Isabel," I said that night, "what was the fellow begging of you this afternoon? I wish he'd go away."

She changed color. "He was afraid you would send him away. But we—we can be patient a little longer, can't we, Nathaniel? Again that quiver in the voice.

A few days passed.

Isabel had some savings of her own. I was asking her about them. She blushed violently and evaded the question.

I came home one night at last to find the house dark—very dark—very silent. There was a note for me that I found by and by: NATHANIEL—Be merciful! He went away this morning early. An accident had happened, and he has sent for me to nurse. I must go.

Isabel.

His note also was there:

My dear Isabel—I am nearly dead. Come quick to save me. Come with the messenger. There was no trace where she had gone. I walked the house all night long. In the morning I reported the matter to detectives.

Another night—I thought I should go wild. I trembled lest he had harmed the poor, confiding girl.

I could not go to my work. I tried to get some clue my own. My limbs trembled beneath me. I returned home and fell on the floor, sobbing.

At dawn Isabel came in, very pale and shivering. She looked worn out from watching at a bedside. I viewed her with mingled terror and joy inexpressible.

"He is gone," she said hoarsely all at once.

I saw there was some terrible strain upon her.

I ran to take off her bonnet, to soothe and caress her tenderly.

"Dear Isabel, dear Isabel! It was so terrible."

"You must forgive me," she said, speaking with a great effort. "It is all gone—the money. I gave it to him. Now—now he has gone away and left me. She rose, walked to her room and let herself drop upon her bed.

The next day she was ill with typhoid fever. She never recovered.

One night in her delirium she seemed to be fighting some vast object with wings. "Murcielago," she moaned once.

At the end she sank away peacefully in the shadows of a greater world than any known on earth—sank away calmly.

"Gone," she sighed faintly, "gone away from me forever."

Dawn was on the housetops.

I knew that the vampire had done well his work.

Isabel had passed away.—Exchange.

Uselessness.
There is no better way of promoting one's own interest than by being unselfish. He who is always looking out for the welfare of others will be sure to have others looking out for his welfare, while he who is always looking out for himself will be left by others to take care of himself. In this sense there is wisdom as well as grace in unselfishness. But as a practical matter one will not be unselfish in order to promote his own interests, for so long as he has himself in mind unselfishness is impossible to him.—Exchange.

CITY IMPROVEMENTS.

Many Matters of Local Moment Transacted by the City Council Last Night.

The city council met in special session last night. There were present Mayor Twitchell, Councilmen Bartlett, Conway, Delgado, Ortiz, Romero and Palen.

A petition for the grading, macadamizing and side-walking of San Francisco street from the cathedral to Sandoval street was presented by the mayor. This was signed by nearly all the property owners. It was referred to the city engineer to investigate and report.

It was ordered that unless Contractor Windsor signed the contract to comply with his bid and begin construction of the new Delgado street bridge before the next meeting, a call for new bids for letting the contract will be made. On motion of Councilman Conway the owners of the Exchange hotel property were granted permission to lay a board sidewalk not less than eight feet wide and of two inch stuff. This was agreed to upon the strength of the statement of the owners that the Exchange hotel was to be improved in the spring and it was not desirable to lay a pavement stone or asphaltum walk until after the completion of these improvements.

On motion of Councilman Bartlett other property owners in the Exchange hotel block were authorized also to lay this same class of walk unless they preferred to use stone or asphaltum.

It was ordered that the city prisoners be straightened the Water street acquia near St. Francis hall so that but one street culvert would be necessary.

The secretary of the city fire department was called upon to furnish by Nov. 20, a full and detailed report on the condition of the two fire companies, membership, equipment, the finances, etc. The mayor made a special report on the construction of stone street crossings and culverts at the junctions of Washington and Lincoln avenues with Palace avenue, and on motion of Councilman Bartlett the city attorney to draw up the proper documents and invite bids for this improvement.

A resolution was adopted calling for a report by the city marshal showing the number of days of work done on the public streets, the men employed, poll tax collected or worked out, etc., etc.

Councilman Palen offered a draft of an ordinance providing for a sewerage system and the assessment of 35 cents per front foot on all property on Palace avenue, east side of the plaza, Shelby street, Water street, to the Galisteo street corner and thence to the Rio Santa Fe.

This provoked some discussion, and it was referred to the committee on sewers, ditches and irrigation, composed of Councilmen Romero, Palen and Bartlett.

The care of the plaza was discussed and the mayor was directed to designate one policeman to have the plaza under his care and to prevent vandalism therein.

On motion of Councilman Conway the sum of $65 was appropriated from the street sprinkling fund for the purpose of constructing a dressed stone coping six feet in circumference around the base of the plaza monument. This is to set eighteen inches in the earth and stand up sufficiently high to hold in place the earth that shall serve as a tiny flower garden about the monument.

A resolution was adopted directing the city marshal to instruct business houses and owners of dwellings to have their garbage gathered in cans or boxes in some convenient place for removal by the city garbage cart at least twice a week, and any neglect on the part of citizens or the garbage man to attend to this is to be reported by the marshal to the city council.

On motion of Councilman Bartlett the city attorney was instructed to secure from the district court a proper order to have several insane women who frequent the streets committed to the territorial insane asylum.

A resolution reciting the removal of Councilman J. W. Schofield from the city and declaring his seat as councilman from ward No. 1 vacant because of his continued absence from meetings was offered, and all voted aye save Councilman Delgado. Then the council called on Mr. Delgado to nominate some one from his ward to fill the vacancy. Mr. Delgado named J. P. Victory as Mr. Schofield's successor and he was unanimously elected by the council.

The action of the mayor in naming delegates to the Deming irrigation convention was announced and the clerk instructed to issue the proper credentials. The mayor stated to the council that Juan Pacheco had complained that he had been wrongfully arrested and fined on the charge of drunkenness. Upon investigation it was revealed that the complainant's claim was not good, and the council declined to remit the fine.

A resolution was adopted directing the clerk to call in and cancel the interest bearing warrants inadvertently issued to the Electric company and issue new non-interest bearing warrants therefor, in compliance with this company's contract with the city that its warrants shall not bear interest.

The marshal and police were also instructed to keep a record on the Electric company's street lights and report any failure to keep the lights in operation in accordance with its contract.

The committee on police were instructed to report at the next meeting a set of rules for the government of the police force.

The motion of Oct. 6, regarding the sale of the plaza fence, was reconsidered and instead of stipulating the price at 10 cents per running foot the resolution authorizes its sale at the best price obtainable.

The following resolution was offered by the mayor and unanimously adopted: Resolved, That all that portion of the bed of the Santa Fe river lying on the north side of said stream, from the eastern to the western limits of the city be and the same hereby is declared to be reserved for the purposes of a public park and alameda, and the city engineer and mayor be instructed to prepare plans, specifications and estimates for the proper parking and laying out of such alameda and estimate of the cost of riprapping the channel of said river at places wherever necessary, and furnish report at the next regular meeting of the council.

ROUND ABOUT TOWN.

The county board will be in session again on Tuesday next.

All Soule's day this, and they say it usually brings cloudy weather.

Paradise lodge No. 2, I. O. O. F., meets at 7:30 this evening at Paradise hall.

Fairview cemetery ought to be improved and beautified now that water for the grounds can be readily had in abundance.

The Santa Fe grant should by all means be pushed to a final hearing at the next meeting of the U. S. court of private land claims.

The injunction suit filed by E. T. Weber against the city school board alleging irregularities in the employment of public school teachers was dissolved by Judge Seeds this afternoon. The court holds that the three Sisters hold regular certificates.

Miss Anetta L. Browne, of 826 North 12th street, Atchison, Kas., seeks a change of climate and wishes to inquire if Santa Fe family can give her a place. She can take care of children, sews nicely and is not sick, merely desiring to find employment in a warmer climate.

Capt. F. M. Estes, in from Cerrillos today, states that another large body of gold and copper ore was encountered in the New Era mine at Dolores night before last and the mine continues to excite much attention. The ore deposit so far opened gives it promise of proving up a great mine.

The Junior Y. P. S. C. E. of the Presbyterian church will hold a social meeting in the church this evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Admittance, 10 cents. All the young people of the congregation and all their friends are invited to this meeting.

Five Minutes between Washington and Santa Fe.

The Voorhees repeal bill was signed by the president at 5:10 in the afternoon and the news thereof was in the New Mexican office at 3:15, or in five minutes thereafter, allowing the two hours difference in time. The message was sent from the White house and repeated at the Western Union offices at Washington, Chicago and Denver. Five minutes between Washington and Santa Fe is pretty good time, and shows the excellence of the Western Union telegraph service and of the New Mexican's press report.

THE RAILROADS.

A. T. & S. F. Sub-corporations Annual Meeting—The Rock Island Survey Through North and Central New Mexico.

The annual meeting of the A. T. & S. F. sub-corporations in New Mexico was held at the office of Solicitor Waldo this morning. These corporations are the San Pedro Coal & Coke company, the Rio Grande Land company, the New Mexico Town company, the Cerrillos Coal Railroad company, the New Mexico & Southern Pacific Railroad company, the Rio Grande, Mexico & Pacific Railroad company, the New Mexican Railroad company, the Silver City, Deming & Pacific Railroad company.

None of the eastern or foreign directors were present, and those directors from the territory in attendance were Messrs. H. L. Waldo, R. J. Palen, Jeff Reynolds, F. A. Manzanarez, A. Stash, L. P. Browne, Chas. Hild, Thos. Lyons, John Brockman, Numa Raymond, E. S. Stover, Eutimio Montoya, M. S. Otero and A. M. Blackwell.

All these were retained in the directorates of the several companies, and the only changes were the replacing of Albert Eismann, of Albuquerque, by Numa Raymond, of Las Vegas, the replacing of Jacob Gross, of Las Vegas, by R. J. Palen, of Santa Fe, and the filling of the vacancy caused by the death of Solon E. Rose, of Albuquerque, by the selection of A. Stash, of the city.

THE ROCK ISLAND.

That the Rock Island road is setting its stakes to invade New Mexico there now seems to be no further question. Starting from its western terminus at Liberal, Kas., two routes are being surveyed, one directly west to Maxwell City, thence to Taos and west, and another running south to Santa Fe and Cerrillos, and the other route leads directly southwest from Liberal to El Paso, Texas, via Roswell.

As to the Cameron party's survey of the Maxwell City-Taos line, it seems quite positive that the Rock Island is back of it. As to the Rock Island-Taos line, the Eddy Current at hand to-day says:

"It is reported that a party of surveyors are now in Roswell, having finished the survey of a line for the Rock Island from southern Kansas to that point, but no particulars can be learned. Should the report be true, the Pecos valley will have one of the biggest booms within the next year ever known in the history of the west."

A. T. & S. F. CRIPPLE CREEK LINE.

General Auditor W. K. Gillette, of the Santa Fe, is traveling through Colorado, and was yesterday at Cripple Creek, where he went to inspect the gold mines.

To a Denver Times reporter he authoritatively announced that the proposed Midland Terminal railway will be built. Money, all that is wanted, has been gathered in New York and will be handed over as fast as is desired for the construction of the road. It will be an independent concern with its own corporation, its own officers, its own construction company and its own motive power and rolling stock. But there is to be a close tie between the new line and the Santa Fe companies. The president of the company is Mr. Lillibridge, and the vice president Mr. Colbran. Mr. Gillette says work will be pushed as rapidly as the weather will allow, and there is no reason why it should not be completed and the road in full operation by spring, the total cost being between $500,000 and $600,000.

Irrigation Convention.

For the irrigation convention and grand lodge meeting E. of P. at Deming, Nov. 7 and 8, 1903, round trip tickets will be sold Nov. 6 and 7, limited for return to and including Nov. 10, continuous passage in each direction.

H. S. Lutz, Agent.

OFFICIAL BUDGET.

Application for the survey of the Socorro town grant is to be made to the surveyor general by order of the Socorro city council.

Col. E. P. Pearson, 10th Infantry, leaves this evening for Albuquerque, where he will inspect the accounts of Paymaster Witcher, stationed in that city, the army regulations requiring a monthly inspection of the accounts of disbursing officers.

At a meeting of the county board yesterday afternoon the following named were appointed to represent Santa Fe county in the inter-national irrigation convention to be held at Deming next week: Messrs. Max. Frost, Trinidad; Alarid, Luciano Baca, Anto. Ortiz y Salazar, Sol. Spiegelberg, L. B. Prince, L. A. Hughes, J. H. Crist, N. B. Laughlin and H. B. Cartwright.

Life Is Miserable.

To many people who have the taint of scrofula in their blood, the agonies caused by the dreadful running sores and other manifestations of this disease are beyond description. There is no other remedy equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla for scrofula, salt rheum and every form of blood disease. It is reasonably sure to benefit all who give it a fair trial.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills.
