WASHINGTON BUDGET.

Republicans Adopt Laxative Tactics in Order to Prevent Necessary Legislation.

An Amendment to Be Adopted Which Will Bring the Recalcitrant Members to Terms.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The Democratic leaders in the house are considerably excited over the disposition of the Republicans to force them to a quorum on all important subjects before the house. An amendment to the rules is being considered with some chance of it being adopted. It provides that whenever upon roll call a quorum fails to appear, upon demand of any member, the clerk shall certify to a list of members absent, or not voting, to the sergeant-at-arms, who shall deduct from the monthly compensation the salary of one day, provided the deduction shall not be made in case a member is absent by leave of the house.

The president has sent the following nominations to the senate: To be consuls of the United States—Adolph Billhard, of Ohio, at Moscow, Russia; Arthur D. Cima, of California, at Matanzas; John Malcolm Johnston, of South Carolina, at Pernambuco, Brazil; Daniel Kennedy, of Missouri, at Malta; Delaware Kemper, of Virginia, at Amoy, China; E. G. Mitchell, of Arkansas, at Newcastle, New South Wales; George W. Nichols, of New York, at Clifton, Ont. To be attorneys of the United States—Lyon Taylor, of Tennessee, for the district of Alaska; William H. Clifton, eastern district of Missouri. Treasury—To be collectors of customs—J. H. P. Wise, district of Teche, La.; Joseph S. Cooke, southern district of Oregon. Justice—John L. McAfee, associate justice of the supreme court for the territory of Oklahoma. St. Clair A. Mulholland of Pennsylvania, to be pension agent at Philadelphia; Maj. James Gillico, quartermaster, to be lieutenant colonel and deputy quartermaster general; Capt. Charles R. Barrell, assistant quartermaster, to be major and quartermaster.

The senate in executive session has made public the following information: Thos. B. Ferguson, of Maryland, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Sweden and Norway. John Barrett, of Oregon, minister and consul general to Siam. Register of land office, John D. Bryant, at Las Cruces, N. M. Receiver of public moneys, James P. Acarte, at Las Cruces, N. M. Postmasters—Amos W. Buchanan, at Bryant, Texas; T. A. Skelly, at Silver City, N. M.

Judge Bradley, in the district supreme court to-day, refused to grant the petition of Carroll L. Ricker, of Chicago, for a mandamus to compel Sec. Canfield to issue to him a pro rata share of the $50,000,000 bond issue, on the basis of proposals submitted by him. There is little probability of a change in the immigration laws during the present session of congress. The house committee is opposed to the change, wishing the present system to be fully tested.

War on Chameleons. San Francisco, Feb. 15.—Officers of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals have begun a crusade against the local followers of the eastern fad of wearing live chameleons, which are really little lizards brought here from Florida, chained to watch guards and scarf pins. Many women have adopted the fad. Secretary Holbrook, of the society, to-day caused the arrest of three dealers in the harmless little reptiles, and threatens to arrest every man and woman he sees wearing them.

Officers Elected. Chicago, Feb. 15.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the Associated Press, Victor F. Lawson was elected president, Horace White, New York, Evening Post, first vice-president; A. G. Bello, of the Galveston News and Dallas News, second vice-president; Melville E. Stone, secretary and general manager, and Charles S. Diehl, assistant secretary and assistant general manager, and George Schneider, treasurer. The executive committee consists of Victor F. Lawson, S. Senvalvo, of the New York World; F. B. Noves, of the Washington Star; Charles W. Knapp, of the St. Louis Republic, and Col. Fred Driscoll.

Woman's Suffrage League. Washington, Feb. 15.—The National American Woman's Suffrage association began its 26th annual convention to-day. The woman suffrage flag, which decorates the hall, has two stars in the blue field, representing Colorado and Wyoming, which granted suffrage to women and outlines two other states, representing New York and Kansas. Seventeen states are represented in the convention. It was called to order by Susan B. Anthony, after which reports from committees were read.

A Boat Capsized. Buckin, Scotland, Feb. 15.—A fishing boat capsized off Bargarhead to-day. Five fishermen were drowned.

A Disastrous Blaze.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 15.—The store of Jones, Witter & Co., dry goods and notions, was destroyed by fire to-day. Loss $250,000, fully insured.

Shot Too Quick.

Baldana, Ky., Feb. 15.—Ida Powell thought she heard burglars at her window last night. She fired and a body fell to the door. Investigation proved she shot and killed her younger sister.

The Coughlin Case.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—The state ended its rebuttal in the testimony of the Coughlin case to-day, and the court adjourned until to-morrow. The defense announced that they probably will introduce no rebuttal evidence.

BOSS M'KANE CONVICTED.

The Notorious Political Juggler Receives a Hard Dose—He Will Be Sent to Sing Sing.

New York, Feb. 15.—The jury in the case of John McKane rendered a verdict of guilty. The verdict may mean imprisonment in state prison for two years. He is now at the Raymond street jail awaiting sentence, to be pronounced on him Monday, at 9 o'clock. Only executive clemency to which the jury earnestly recommended him, stands between him and prison.

Sunk in Mid-Ocean.

London, Feb. 15.—A small bottle was picked up on the beach of one of the Hebrides Islands containing a paper, on which was written, with pencil, the following: "September 18, '93.—Sinking in mid the Atlantic. Hornhead; collision with an iceberg. (Signed) 'MATE'."

The steamer Hornhead was a British vessel of 2,368 tons. She sailed from Baltimore August 15, and Hampton Roads August 20, for Dublin, and until to-day nothing was heard of her.

The Mississippi Rages.

Memphis, Feb. 15.—The Mississippi river has cut its way into Horn Lake, and there is now a four mile current in what was formerly the bed of the river. If the river returns to the old bed thousands of acres of valuable land will be washed away.

A River Overflows.

Fulton, Ark., Feb. 15.—The Red River is over its banks. A thousand acres of land are covered, and houses and fences are being destroyed. Thousands of head of cattle are wintering in the canebrakes, being driven to high points, and being in an emaciated condition. Hundreds will perish.

CONGRESSIONAL.

TO-DAY'S SENATE.

Washington, Feb. 15.—When the senate met to-day Senator Gorman presented the credentials of Senator-elect McLaurin, of Mississippi, and oath of office was administered. The house bill to compel the Rock Island Railroad company to stop its trains at Enid and Round Pond, O. T., came up at 12:30 o'clock as unfinished business and Senator Platt, of Connecticut, took the floor in opposition to the measure.

The Oklahoma towns site bill was passed by the senate, yes, 28, nay, 27; Vice-President Stevenson voting yes.

TO-DAY'S HOUSE.

During the call of committees for reports this morning, Wise, Virginia, from committee on inter-state and foreign commerce, reported back the New York and New Jersey bridge bill and accompanying veto of the president, with recommendation that the bill do not pass over the veto. The house then moved to go into committee of the whole for further consideration of the seigniorage bill. Pending the motion he made a fruitless effort to fix the limit of debate.

LETTER FROM DOLE.

The President of Hawaii Writes Minister Willis a Letter of Explanation—Rather Caustic.

San Francisco, Feb. 15.—Advice received from Honolulu, February 8, by the steamer, Alameda, gave the full text of President Dole's letter to Minister Willis, in reply to the latter's request for specifications of the statement made in his previous letter to Dole in regard to the attitude of the United States government. Dole's letter is very lengthy. He says: "In compliance with your request for certain specifications concerning my letter of December 27, I reply thereto as follows: First, you inquire as to the meaning of the word 'attitude' in my letter. I reply that the word was used in its ordinary accepted sense, meaning posture, as indicating the purpose of those referred to. You further say, 'will you point out where and when and how, the representative of the United States assumed any attitude toward the supporters of the provisional government, or that the government itself, other than one essentially and designatively expressive of peace.' In my reply I would say, that the attitude of a person is to be ascertained only by inferences drawn from known words and acts of such a person, and the conditions and circumstances under which they take place."

LABOR'S VICTORY.

Judge Caldwell Sustains the Decision of Judge Hallett in the Union Pacific Case.

St. Louis, Feb. 15.—Attorneys Thurston and Corrin, who came here to endeavor to secure an order harmonizing contradictory opinions of Judge Dundy of Omaha, and Judge Hallett of Denver, have met with a surprise at the hands of Circuit Judge Caldwell. In an informal talk with Judge Caldwell to secure a date for the hearing, Mr. Thurston gave a resume of the existing state of affairs, reciting what the courts, as well as the receivers had done, devoting himself more especially to the annulling, by the receivers, of the wages schedule and their order placing a new and reduced one in effect March 1, together with the order of Judge Dundy, recognizing the propriety of such action and the action by Judge Hallett in effect contrary to that order. General Thurston said that the failure of Judge Hallett to make any order on the subject was held as a refusal to endorse the idea, that the receivers have the power to adopt a new schedule and to annul the existing state of affairs, reciting what the courts, as well as the receivers had done, devoting himself more especially to the annulling, by the receivers, of the wages schedule and their order placing a new and reduced one in effect March 1, together with the order of Judge Dundy, recognizing the propriety of such action and the action by Judge Hallett in effect contrary to that order. General Thurston said that the failure of Judge Hallett to make any order on the subject was held as a refusal to endorse the idea, that the receivers have the power to adopt a new schedule and to annul the existing state of affairs, reciting what the courts, as well as the receivers had done, devoting himself more especially to the annulling, by the receivers, of the wages schedule and their order placing a new and reduced one in effect March 1, together with the order of Judge Dundy, recognizing the propriety of such action and the action by Judge Hallett in effect contrary to that order.

COMBINE TALKS SENSE.

Denver.—J. N. Corbin, secretary of the Union Pacific Employees association and editor of the Employees Magazine, says: "The action of Judge Caldwell is no surprise, as the judge has expressed himself in this line before. The action of the Union Pacific employees electing to go into court to protect their rights, is in line with the demand of public opinion and right reason and as the proper place for the settlement of difficulties between corporations engaged in inter-state commerce and their employees. If employees can be brought into court as defendants and as organized bodies they can come as plaintiffs. The corporations in their efforts to crush organizations of employees, have established the precedent and it is one that works both ways. Workingmen engaged in inter-state commerce business, who now elect to go on strikes, in preference to contesting their rights, in forms established by the people, deserve to be defeated in any such attempt."

ARE STILL FIGHTING.

The War Between Peixoto and the Brazilian Rebels Waxes Warm—Admiral De Mello Recovering.

Rio de Janeiro, Feb. 15.—Senor Calva, minister of war, has resigned owing to disagreements with President Peixoto, regarding the treatment of political prisoners. Col. Marceio, commander at Fort Santa Cruz, has been arrested on suspicion of being a spy of Admiral De Mello. The rebels appear to be making headway in Parana, which state is said to be in the hands of the insurgents. San Paulo has hitherto been considered loyal, but there seems no doubt that the city is disaffected. The government, fearing for the safety of San Paulo and also the safety of the important port Santos, which together with Rio de Janeiro, would be threatened if the rebels are successful in obtaining possession of San Paulo, has replaced the regiments in the garrison at San Paulo and Santos with troops from this city and other places, selecting regiments whose loyalty the government feels certain of. Reports from San Paulo received say the insurgent forces which landed with the intention of marching upon San Paulo have suddenly been instructed to march direct upon Rio de Janeiro with the intention of attacking President Peixoto in the rear. The government has sent troops to meet the rebel army, and a battle is said to be imminent on the frontiers of Parana and San Paulo. In addition to the rebels, received say the state of Alagoas revolted and declared itself in favor of the insurgent cause. Admiral De Mello has so far recovered his health as to be able to resume active command of the Republic and to be taking steps to attack Santos.

A Fiendish Crime.

Atlanta, Feb. 15.—From Aglethorpe comes the story of a horrible murder. Gov. Northern has doubled the usual reward for the capture of the criminals. Bob Collins, a respectable negro, was dragged from home by seven white men, stripped, beaten with a buggy trace, scraped and cut with a blunt knife and left naked, nearly seven hours, in a freezing atmosphere. He died just after being found.

THIEVES CAUGHT.

Sheriff Cunningham Makes Another Clever Capture—They Stole Eight Head of Cattle.

The capture of Anastacio Baca and Pablo Lucero y Vigil, the two cattle thieves, by Sheriff Cunningham last Sunday, turns out to be more important than was at first thought. Vigil is a youth who appears to have been used as a tool by some sharp thieves, and as there was no strong evidence connecting him with any real crime, he was discharged. Baca was bound over by Justice J. M. Garcin, to await the action of the grand jury in the sum of $500. Baca stole eight head of cattle from Desiderio Rael at Cienega. He told a tale of meeting a man on the prairie, from whom he purchased the cattle. The man, according to Baca, was a walking stationery shop. He did not wait until they reached a house to complete the transaction, but sitting down upon the prairie, he pulled out ink, pen and paper and wrote out a bill of sale. Baca has probably never heard of the fountain pen or he would have made his tale sound more probable.

IMPROVING SANTA FE.

A Citizen Writes to Make Some Timely Suggestions Touching the Bringing of Visitors.

To the Editor of the New Mexican. Santa Fe, Feb. 13.—Your remarks in Monday's issue concerning the efforts which should be made to attract visitors and health seekers to Santa Fe are both timely and proper. But Santa Feans ought not to rest satisfied with printed statements and assurances. There is much virtue in altitude, and it may be the principal requisite in bringing about permanent cures for the afflicted, but it never can be the principal requisite in bringing people to Santa Fe. It is, doubtless, a strong card, but in the matter of altitude alone, purer and less adulterated old Nambu can discount Santa Fe any day in the week.

The people who come here, enjoy the place and its surroundings, and go away satisfied with the treatment received, will be the best and most advantageous advertising medium that can be secured. But are you going to assume that badly kept streets, pavements and filthy premises will help to make Santa Fe attractive and enjoyable? A principal requisite in serving the interests of this city is to put it in good repair, as it were, and a presentable condition, and keep it so. It should be cleaned up from one end to the other, and then, and not till then, can we invite the traveling and health-seeking public to sojourn within our walls, without making ourselves liable to the charge of luring people here under false pretenses. From present appearances a stranger would suppose that this was an unincorporated village and not the far-famed, historic city of Santa Fe. The fact that it has a municipal government is not publicly displayed to any appreciable extent. But if the public authorities neglect their duties, individual citizens should not be deterred from performing their obligations in the premises. As in some of the continental villages of Europe every one sweeps from before his or her own door, let each household here contribute his quota of effort to make Santa Fe what it can be made and ought to be, famed far and wide for its cleanliness and beauty. I write in an earnest desire to see this people thrive and prosper, and with the trust that a healthier public spirit may be aroused among them which will be fruitful of lasting benefit and advantage to this good old city. The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every Post Office in the Territory and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the southwest.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has never given any intimation that he would veto the Bland seigniorage measure if presented for his signature. Suppose the experiment be tried, and if he then attaches the veto it will be time for the harpies to croak.

The people of New Mexico will not tolerate any man who secretly or otherwise opposes statehood. All such will be relegated to well deserved seclusion the moment they come up in the future for anything in the line of political preferment.

The statehood bill is going through this Democratic congress with a whoop, the wishes and excuses of the eastern Republicans to the contrary notwithstanding. When it comes to ratifying the act in New Mexico party lines will be obliterated. Tis well. The boom is coming.

The effete east has the upper hand in the fight for free silver at present, but the tide is slowly but surely turning. Witness the recent enormous shrinkage in British securities and the subsequent squelching of not only the lower classes, but even the English money lenders themselves. India, the brightest gem in England's diadem, can not long rest under the terrible burden she is now attempting to carry.

The Midwinter fair at San Francisco is not attracting the large number of visitors that was expected nor that it deserves. The stringency of the money market combined with a general desire to hoard money has deterred many from attending who otherwise would. All those who can spare the time and money should attend, especially those who missed the World's fair at Chicago. The educational advantages that are to be derived from a visit to the fair can not be estimated.

CONGRATULATIONS FOR LAS VEGAS.

Las Vegas is to be congratulated over the prospective early adjustment of her land grant troubles. The Meadow city nestles in one of the most inviting valleys in the Rockies, and her people are full of business energy, but their efforts have for years been handicapped by the shuttle-cock policy of a national Republican administration which has had in hand the adjustment of this grant title. Of late the citizens there have been straining every nerve to bring order out of chaos, so that perfect titles may result and plans carried out for utilizing the splendid water facilities, ample to back up and build there a beautiful, prosperous city. In this they are to have the hearty and prompt co-operation of Secretary Hoke Smith, as evidenced by Washington dispatches in last evening's New Mexican.

HOW IT STRIKES HOME.

When the McKinley duty on lead ores went into effect, El Paso, which under the development of New Mexico dry ore mines on one side and the wet ore mines of Mexico on the other, bade fair to become a great smelter point, shipping its coal, coke and charcoal from Santa Fe county, received a death blow. The mining industry of southern New Mexico languished, largely because miners had to pay nearly double the former price for smelter charges, and when these mines shut down, as a result, naturally, the coke and coal and charcoal industry in Santa Fe county fell off more than one half. This is the way the McKinley duty on lead strikes home. Had the McKinley bill never passed, Santa Fe county would be giving employment to five men to-day where one now has work. The Wilson tariff reform bill will remedy all this. El Paso citizens, irrespective of party, see the benefits to be derived from all the southwest by the admission of lead ores free of duty, and they have two of their leading citizens traveling over Texas now urging the people of the different congressional districts to insist upon their respective congressmen supporting that clause of the Wilson bill admitting Mexican lead ores.

THE OCCUPATION TAX.

The New Mexican is pleased to note that Sheriff Cunningham has taken a decided stand in the matter of the collection of occupation license taxes. There is, perhaps, no feature of official work that has been so generally neglected by all sheriffs and collectors as this, not only in Santa Fe but in every other county, so far as the New Mexican has been able to ascertain. Indeed, collections of this character, it is notorious, have been used as political debt paying devices, utilized by the officials to pay off old scores, and which a certain class of citizens have been required to respond to with execrating regularity and promptness while the political favorites or those with a pull have gone Scott free, laughing in their sleeves at the writhing of their neighbors who have had to pay. At best the law is an obnoxious one, as all revenue laws are, but as long as it is on the statute books it ought to be enforced fairly and squarely against all alike. That Sheriff Cunningham proposes to do this is plainly shown by his letter to the county commissioners.

This license tax is required of ten classes of business men. These are wholesale liquor dealers, retail liquor dealers, brewers, distillers, pawn-brokers, hotel-keepers, peddlers, persons giving balls or fandangoes for profit and wholesale and retail merchants. In the case of the latter two, paragraphs 9 and 10, of section 2301, Compiled Laws, specify that dealers in merchandise other than liquors whose annual sales exceed $1,000 and do not exceed $20,000 shall be considered "retail dealers" and shall pay $20, while dealers in merchandise other than liquors whose annual sales exceed $20,000 shall be considered "wholesale dealers" and shall pay $150.

The law requires that the collector, the assessor and the county clerk shall attend to this matter, and on the first Monday in May of each year and quarterly thereafter the assessor shall make out a list of all persons liable to pay this license tax in his county. These lists then go to the county board and a copy is certified up to the collector and a copy sent to the territorial auditor to file in his office.

The New Mexican hopes to see a general awakening among the county officials throughout the territory in the more rigid and impartial collection of this class of revenue as the result of Sheriff Cunningham's action.

ADVERTISING NEW MEXICO.

The New Mexican, which never loses sight of Santa Fe nor ceases to watch her interests, suggests that some good literature pertaining to the town be distributed on the west bound trains. The idea is an excellent one for the capital and also for Albuquerque. The Commercial club, if it has not already done so, could attach many people to Albuquerque by judicious and attractive advertising of the advantages of Albuquerque as a winter resort.—Albuquerque Times.

Gustav Schulz, and Charles C. Kemp and wife, of Chicago, came down from the north last night and registered at the European. They left on the delayed No. 1 for Grants, where they will get off and go over to the Acoma Indian village. They are riding on passes issued by the Santa Fe railroad company, and their object in visiting the Indian villages is to take views for a new pamphlet which the company intend to issue in the summer.—Albuquerque Citizen.

A gentleman, by the name of Barney, is in the county in the interest of the D. & R. G. R. It is understood the company intend publishing a pamphlet descriptive of southwest Colorado and north-west New Mexico. It is the duty of every citizen in the county if called upon, to give all the information in his power in regard to this section.—San Juan Times.

At a meeting of the business men of Hillsboro, held on Monday evening at the residence of Hon. W. S. Hopewell, Geo. S. Oliver, esq., was chosen chairman and P. J. Bennett secretary. Hon. W. S. Hopewell announced the object of the meeting to be to procure data and statistics of the Hillsboro gold district and surrounding country for the Santa Fe railroad advertising folder, and Hon. N. Gallie said the matter should be taken in hand immediately. R. C. Troeger moved that a committee of five be appointed for securing the data and statistics, and that the chair appoint himself on the said committee. Carried, and the chair appointed R. C. Troeger, N. Gallie, Geo. E. Robin, W. S. Hopewell and G. S. Oliver. Moved by W. S. Hopewell and carried that a committee of three be appointed by the chair to perfect the organization of a business men's club for Hillsboro gold district. The chair appointed Robt. H. Hopper, F. W. Parker and Max L. Kahler, with instructions to report at next meeting.—Hillsboro Advocate.

A Note for Irrigators.

Many rules and methods have been given for calculating the quantity of water discharged by a river, but the following appears to be the clearest and best: To get the mean velocity of a river or other stream, find first the surface velocity in the line of current by observing the rate of feet per minute at which a floating body is carried down. As an approximation to the truth, the mean velocity may be taken at four-fifths of the greatest surface velocity, and if this is multiplied by the area in feet of the cross section of the stream, the product is the discharge in cubic feet per minute. For military purposes, the following rule is given for ascertaining how many men a stream is adequate to supply: "Multiply the velocity per minute in feet by the breadth, depth and 900, and this will give the number of men for which the brook is an adequate supply." The velocity in feet per minute is obtained by floating a cork, noting the distance it travels in a given time. A stream running twenty feet per minute and having a breadth of five feet and an average depth of one foot would thus give sufficient water for 20x5x1x900=90,000 men.

SHOOTING STARS.

A Man for the Emergency.
He: All the lights in the theater suddenly went out and the ladies would have precipitated a panic but for a thoughtful usher.
She: Did he shout to them to keep their seats?
He: No. He began to kiss the back of his hand very loudly.
—Truth.

Erman of small capacities, remarked Uncle Eben, generally realizes that he can't amount to much 'cep' in ex a nissance, an' stahs in ter make a record in dat line.

Nearing the Grave.
In old age infirmities and weakness hasten to close the gap between us and the grave. Happily scientific research and pharmaceutical skill have allied themselves in furnishing us a reliable means of ameliorating the ailments incident to declining years, and of renewing waning physical energy. Its name is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a widely comprehensive remedy in disease, and an inestimable blessing to the elderly, the feeble and the convalescent. Rheumatic ailments, trouble with the kidneys and lumbar region are among the more common ailments of the aged. These are effectively counteracted by the Bitters, which is likewise a prevention and curative of malarial complaints, dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness. It is highly promotive of appetite, sleep and the acquisition of vigor.

Now, What Was It?
Antioch: Was that play you saw a tragedy or a comedy?
Little Niece: What's that mean, auntie?
Did you cry?
No'm.
Did you laugh?
No'm.
What did you do?
Went to sleep.
—Good News.

Experience of an Ex-Champion.
Athletes and men who take ordinary outdoor exercise such as walking, running, bicycle riding, jumping, swimming, tennis, etc., are often the subject of acute troubles. The experience of an ex-champion walker will be of interest to all who are afflicted. Harry Brooks writes:

"No. 324 East 19th St., New York, April 2, 1894.
Numerous statements relative to the merits of different plasters having been brought to my attention, I take this opportunity to state that I have used Allcock's Porous Plasters for over 20 years and prefer them to any other kind. I would furthermore state that I was very sick with catarrh of the kidneys, and attribute my recovery entirely to Allcock's Porous Plasters."

Wanted Advice.
The New Pastor: My brother, I adjure you to love your enemies.
Colonel Fend (of the Kentucky Moonshine District): Can't do it! Can't do it!
The New Pastor: You could if you would try.
Colonel Fend: Impossible! Hain't got none to love. Shot the last one this mornin'!

A Hero.
Chappie: Averted a terrible tragedy just now.
Chollie: No! How?
Chappie: Man said he'd pound me to mince if I didn't give him a quarter, and I gave him a quarter.
—Truth.

The Wish Gratified.
You have often wished for something to take the place of Pills. Now try a 25-cent package of Simmons Liver Regulator powder. Take it dry on the tongue or make it into a tea. It is pleasant to take, and gives quick relief—two good recommendations.

She Knew Too Much.
Madam—What do you mean by putting my jewelry in this water?
Servant—It won't hurt 'em, m'm; I heard they're been in soak mummy a toime!

Extinguished Amateurs.
Mrs. Langdon had her dramatic club give an exhibition of its powers before a regular manager.
For what?
So that he might decide what play should be given.
What did he decide on?
The Black Crook, with Mrs. Langdon in the title role.
—Judge.

Grand Canon of Colorado River.
On the Santa Fe route, in northern Arizona, 1,282 miles from Kansas City, is the town of Flagstaff. A tri-weekly stage line runs from Flagstaff to the Grand Canon of the Colorado river. More than a mile in depth, this is the sublimest of gorges—a Titan of chasms. Twenty Yosemite might be hidden unseen below, and Niagara would look scarcely larger than a brook.

Don't fail to visit this first wonder of the world. You can "read up" about it by asking G. T. Nicholson, G. P. & T. A., at Santa Fe, N. M., for a free copy of an illustrated book describing this terra incognita. The book is no common affair; but is interestingly written, beautifully illustrated and a gem of the printer's art.

Notice for Publication.
[Homestead No. 4290.]
LAND OFFICE AT SANTA FE, N. M., January 26, 1894.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of her intention to make final proof in support of her claim, and that said proof will be made before the register or receiver at Santa Fe, N. The Grand Canon of the Colorado the most sublime of nature's work on earth, indescribable, can easily be reached via Flagstaff, Williams or Peach Springs on this road. To the natural bridge of Arizona and Montezuma's well you can journey most directly by this line. Observe the ancient Indian civilization of Laguna or Acoma, "the City of the Sky." Visit the petrified forest near Carrizo. See and marvel at the front of Canon Diablo. Take a hunting trip in the magnificent pine forests of the San Francisco mountains. Find interest in the ruins of the prehistoric.

DRIVEN OUT

—all impurities of the blood, no matter of what name or nature, or from what cause arising, by Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Clear your skin with it. Every disfigurement, from a common blotch or eruption to the worst Scrofula, will disappear. It invigorates the liver, cleanses, purifies, and enriches the blood as nothing else can, and promotes all the bodily functions. For all the many and varied forms of Scrofula, and for the most stubborn Skin and Scalp Diseases, such as Salt-rheum, Tetter, Erysipelas, Eczema, Boils, Carbuncles, and kindred ailments, nothing can equal it as a remedy.

The sarsaparilla claim to do good in March, April, and May. The "Discovery" does more than that. At all seasons and in all cases, it's guaranteed to benefit or cure, or you have your money back.

Nothing else offered by the dealer, though it's probably better for him, can be "just as good" for you.

The Brutal Part.

Pipkin—But prize fighting is such brutal sport!
Potts—Not worse than football.

Pitkin—Possibly not, after they get at it; but see how they have to abuse each other in the newspapers.

Taken Without Leave.

Cuffie—Golly, Sambo! What did yo' git a light oberhead?

Sambo—Cos I had t' take dis er noon. It wuz de only one on de hat-track. See!

Art With a Point.

Were the pictures in the art gallery appropriately hung and grouped?

Yes. A Madonna with hair of the color that Titian loved was hung next to 'White Horses' by Rosa Bonheur.

Two Good Reasons.

Mr. Flatbush—What did you kick me under the table for when I asked Georgeleigh to have some more terrapin?

Mrs. Flatbush (severely)—For two reasons. There was no more terrapin; and not being a skirt dancer, I couldn't kick over it.

COCHITI GOLD CAMP.

Plain Statements of Fact About the New Gold Fields West of Santa Fe.

Indications That There Will Be a Big Mining Town Before Next Winter—Chicago Capital Interested in the Camp.

Correspondence New Mexican.

Santa Fe, Feb. 12.—On Monday morning I left the city in company with Messrs. Thos. Herlow and Levi Miller to visit the new mining camp which is on the eastern slope of the Jemez mountains, about twelve miles northwest of the village of Cochiti. Although the snow, which lies about three or four feet deep over the district, prevented us from going further than the village, I ascertained there some facts of interest. I might have gone through the snow to the miners' tents, but as all the prospect holes are drifted full and nobody is working, such a trip would have been wholly useless and would have procured no more information than I obtained from miners who have come out from camp and are now in Cochiti.

To begin with, the stories told about the rush to the camp and the number of prospectors in there are much exaggerated. There are not more than thirty-five Americans in the camp, and probably about fifteen or twenty Mexicans. The amount of work done is not sufficient to show with certainty the value of the leads, and the prospectors do not assert that they are working mines as yet. They have sunk some prospect holes and have done only their assessment work. The prospects are encouraging, and so far as anything can be determined by so small an amount of work, there is reason to believe that the veins carry gold and silver in paying quantities, and that a big mining camp will be established on the lead. The men are sanguine and confident that they have struck it rich, and they talk like men who believe what they say. All statements in this letter relating to the veins and assessments are made upon the authority of prospectors, and while I have no reason for doubting their accuracy, I have no other evidence of the facts.

LOCATION OF THE LEADS.

The mineral-bearing ledges or veins now being prospected run nearly north and south along the slope of the mountains at an altitude of from 7,000 to 8,500 feet, parallel to the general trend of the range and cutting the canons at a right angle. In a width of a mile and a half, there are about a dozen well defined parallel veins varying from four to ten feet in thickness. These have been traced without a break for five miles in length, and there are indications that they continue unbroken to the southern end of the range, three to five miles more. The country rock is soft porphyry, and the veins are true fissures.

Beginning at the north end, the first camp or group of prospect holes is in Pino canon, where the original discovery was made by Messrs. Eagle and Dorsey, of Jemez, who have been prospecting in the vicinity since 1890. Here are Mr. May and partners, from Albuquerque, Mr. T. B. Mills, of Las Vegas, Mr. Douglass, of Chicago, Eagle and Dorsey, of Jemez, and Mr. McDonald, eighteen men all told. May has been at work since October on the Crown Point claim, and has about 200 tons of ore ready for shipment as soon as it can be packed or hauled out. Most of the others have been on the ground only about six weeks.

On the mesa between Pino and Colle canons is the Washington claim owned by Fagley and Pike. This is one of the best prospects on the lead, and considerable ore has been taken from it, but there is some disagreement between the owners as to the value of the ore. Messrs. Rogers, Brown and others, known as the Colorado crowd, also have claims on the mesa.

In Colle canon several Mexicans have located claims and done assessment work.

In Peralta canon are Major Beaumont and James Smith, of Jemez, and several Mexicans.

The three canons named, with the mesa between, comprise the prospected district commonly called the Cochiti camp.

There has been some desultory and superficial prospecting northward from Pino canon, and Mexicans have brought from Cochiti canon specimens of gold-bearing rock. It seems very probable that leads may be found in that direction, but no prospecting can be done at present because of the snow.

CHARACTER OF THE ORE.

There is no free gold in any of the ore yet found, although native silver is plainly visible in much of it. The metal occurs in chemical combinations having the appearance of chlorides, sulphurets and manganates. The quartz has what a miner calls a "milky" look, and the gold seems to be carried in black and dark-red matrix. Assays vary greatly, ranging from a trace to $500 per ton. The miners are not yet thoroughly familiar with the ore, and in sampling they make mistakes. Some of them never have seen ore of that character before, and they can not select the gold-bearing rock with any certainty by its appearance. Much assaying and mill-sampling will have to be done before the miners can know just what they are doing.

An illustration of this is to be found in the experience of the Jemez men. They found some good specimens on the surface, but when they began work they left their lead about twenty feet to one side and put in their time on an iron-stained quartz ledge. When miners more skillful came into camp, they detected the mistake and set the Jemez men right. Reports from Denver reduction works on samples from the Crown Point say that the ore is milling quartz, but that better results can be obtained by smelting. Mr. May, of the Crown Point, is evidently an experienced miner. He has his ore assayed and milled systematically, and he now thinks he knows its character pretty well and can sort it with certainty. His ledge is eight feet wide between the porphyry walls. From three to four feet of this, in the center, is strongly and evenly mineralized quartz yielding 300 ounces silver and four ounces gold. On each side of this rich streak are "streaks" of fat and streaks of lean, the strata of barren quartz widening toward the walls. Mill runs on average samples have given returns of $150 per ton, the average being taken the full width of the lead. Mill runs from the Washington are said to have been unsatisfactory, but several experienced miners declare that the ore was not properly sorted, and that the men who did that work had not learned the nature of the rock and were deceived by appearances. They assert that the Washington, properly worked, will give as good results as those obtained from the Crown Point.

The upper part of the range is covered with a volcanic cap, which is broken off irregularly where the canons head. In some places this cap extends on the mesa below the heads of the canons and can be seen on the walls. In some places it is but a few feet thick, and in others it is many hundreds. All the leads located are below the lower edge of the cap. On the north side of Pino canon quartz veins fifty feet thick can be seen underlying the volcanic rock, and these are said to assay well. Some of them might be worked through tunnels in the canon wall.

WOOD AND WATER.

The slope of the range is heavily timbered with yellow pine, thus assuring plenty of fuel, mining timber and building material. There is a fairly good supply of water in Pino canon, enough to run two or three mills perhaps, certainly enough to supply a town. A reservoir would conserve an ample supply for all purposes. There are streams in the other canons, but in the dry season they do not run to the river. However, the Rio Grande is not far away, and mills and smelters could be located on the bank of the river, giving a good down-hill haul for ore.

POSSIBLE TOWN SITES.

If the camp pans out as well as it prospects, there will be a series of mining towns rather than one town. The people must live where they can get water, and as there is no water on the mesa and no practicable way of getting it there, the towns will cluster in the canons. Each canon will have its settlement, and the men who mine on the mesa will have to climb about a thousand feet to their work and slide down home to supper. Wagon roads can be built up to the mesa. The men in Pino canon have found their collection of tools and brush huts "Camp Harrison" after the late mayor of Chicago, and they rather expect to have a town there this year.

Mr. May says: "This will be no big-crow camp. It will be a—of a big-crow camp. I feel sure of it. Of course no one can see the prospect holes in the ground, but another, but the formation and the prospects convince me that we are on an immense lead. If this is not so, then I am all at sea as a miner. If I had to pull out of here, I don't know where I would go to look for a mine. If this isn't a mine, I don't know where I would go to look for a mine. If this isn't a mine, I don't know where I would go to look for a mine."

The miners had intended to meet and organize a district, but the snow-storm drove some of them out and blockaded others in camp, and the meeting had to be postponed. It is probable that it will be called the "Allerton" district in honor of Capitalist Allerton, of the Chicago Board of Trade, who is largely interested in the mines. Mr. Douglass is Allerton's representative on the ground. His first visit to the camp was a brief one. He had at some prospect holes in the canon, sized up the formation, and went out on horseback as fast as he could go. In two or three days he returned with several men and set them at work making locations and digging holes. The Chicago outfit has been trying to keep the strike as quiet as possible, and the miners say, and have not been in favor of encouraging people to flock into the camp at present. The inference is that Mr. Allerton's man wants to have time to pick up the best of the claims and is afraid that too many prospectors would diminish his chances of getting a big grip on the camp. The best part of the mineral belt is on government land and not on a grant.

HOW TO GET THERE.

Cochiti village is on the west bank of the Rio Grande, about thirty miles from Santa Fe by wagon road and about twenty-five by trail. The trail could be made a wagon road with but little work, provided a practicable route can be found from the edge of the mesa down to the river. There are two wagon roads from Santa Fe to La Bajada, one running down the canon, and the other, called the "Pena Blanca" road, running over the high mesa. The latter is the better road. We went down the first and came back by the latter, and although the difference in altitude between Santa Fe and Cochiti is about 1,600 feet, we made better time coming that going. La Bajada hill, coming up from the river to the top of the mesa, steep and rough. The rise is 525 feet. It is not a good piece of road for a heavily loaded outfit, but with a light rig time can be saved by coming that way. The trip can be made either way in six hours quite easily. Before I left town, I saw posted up a map showing a straight road from Pena Blanca to the camp, bearing forty degrees west of Cochiti. There is no such road and can be none. The ridges and canons cannot be crossed on any such line. The line probably is meant to be the Jemez road. The route from Pena Blanca to the camp goes through Cochiti, and from Pena Blanca from Santa Fe is a waste of time and increases the distance nearly ten miles.

The railroad point nearest to Cochiti is Wallace, but that is only a small place with no outfitting point. It is twenty-three miles distant from the river, and through heavy sand. Nothing needed in camp can be bought there. There are no stores at Cochiti, and there is but scant accommodation there for travelers. Parties going to the camp should outfit in Santa Fe and take along all the provisions, bedding, tools and horse feed that they will require. A good load can be hauled over the road, which is mostly smooth and of even grade. There is only one hill of any consequence, and that is from the creek to the top of the big mesa.

It is useless to attempt to go to the camp while the snow lies deep. In about three weeks the mines probably will be accessible, but there will be very little work done inside of four weeks. The prospectors are either simply holding down their tents because that is easier than wading out, or waiting in Cochiti for a thaw. As more snow fell Tuesday, the latter class will wait some time yet. Some of the men who had live stock in camp had to come out, and they lost some of their horses on the trip.

NOT A SHORTAGE.

Brother Botolph Says the County is Indebted to Ex-Treasurer Ortiz—A Careless Error.

According to the statement of Brother Botolph, who is thoroughly conversant with the subject, the alleged shortage of $964.64 in the accounts of ex-Treasurer Gavino Ortiz does not exist at all. In fact, so says Brother Botolph, the county is indebted to Mr. Ortiz in the sum of $75.89. The error of the apparent shortage, was due to the inexcusable carelessness of ex-Secretary of the City Board of Education Seward. The poll tax collected in '92 in school districts Nos. 3 and 4 amounted to $918.90 and the money derived from the sale of books to $23.31, making a total of $1,012.20, which, at the time of the segregation of the city from the district schools, was paid over to the city. Through a careless error the city was again allowed to draw $1,040.53 from the county, which sum it wrongfully obtained. The latter sum was not properly credited by the treasurer, Ortiz, and hence the discrepancy arose. This would seem to leave the city public schools in a worse muddle than ever.

ROUND ABOUT TOWN.

Santa Fe business men are frank to state that trade is rapidly improving.

Mr. Frank W. Broad is here from Denver to superintend the shipment of 2,000 sheep north over the narrow gauge.

From a law and order stand-point Santa Fe is very quiet these days. It would be well for the city to economize a little and reduce the police force.

The Guild of the church of the Holy Faith will meet at the residence of Mrs. W. T. Thornton, Friday, February 15, at 2:30 p. m. C. L. Bartlett, secretary.

The probate court has ordered the county clerk to notify all administrators and guardians, who have failed to make reports according to law, to do so by May 1.

Santa Fe citizens are quietly investigating into another rich mineral strike said to have been made lately quite near the city. It is kept very shady for the present.

Indians have been going in troupes to the court house for the past three days in order to have their cattle brands recorded according to law. Clerk Romero has been kept busy.

So much public interest in the news from Cochiti is displayed just now that the New Mexican needs make no apology for devoting a large share of its space to-day to the publication of facts relative thereto.

Mrs. Cecilia Morgan has returned to the city from Cerrillos, where her sister, Perfecta, wife of Mr. Camilo Mares, recently died. Mrs. Mares was well known in Santa Fe and her death is regretted by many.

Attention boys! A meeting will be held at 7:30 this evening, at the firemen's hall, for the purpose of organizing a cadet company and social club. Twenty-one lads have signed the roll and others are invited to do so.

Mrs. Emma Viles, mother of Mr. Chas. Viles, well known in Santa Fe as one of the prosperous ranchmen of the Pecos valley, and a member of the firm of Windsor & Viles, cattle raisers, died at her home in eastern Kansas yesterday. The friends of Mr. Viles will regret to learn of his loss.

Special orders No. 8, headquarters department of the Colorado, of date the 6th inst., contain this paragraph: "1st Lieutenant Isaac W. Littell, adjutant 10th infantry, is relieved as member and detailed as judge advocate of the general court-martial convened at Fort Marcy, N. M., by paragraph 5, Special Orders, No. 6, a. s., from this headquarters, during the trial of Private Thomas Doyle, Company B, 10th Infantry, vice 2nd Lieutenant Marcus B. Stokes, 10th infantry, relieved during this trial only."

The members of the county board called and examined the county jail late yesterday afternoon. The prisoners confined there spoke very highly of the treatment they received at the hands of Sheriff Cunningham and his guards, thus giving the flat contradiction to the reports to the contrary lately circulated by irresponsible persons. This is official.

Mr. F. C. Garbutt, manager of the Bucyrus placer gold saving machine that Buffalo and Milwaukee parties have just put in on the Chama at a cost of something like $50,000, is in the city on business. He states that the machine will be started on a test run just as soon as weather permits. He is a practical man, four years at Leadville and four years in San Juan county, Colorado, and if this machine doesn't revolutionize placer mining in New Mexico he will greatly miss his guess.
