INSPECTORS FIND FEW LEGAL SETTLEMENTS

Alleged Homesteaders Found to Be Agents of Big Cattle-men Seeking to Regain Possession of State Domain.

Austin, Texas, Sept. 26.—Assistant Attorney General W. E. Hawkins and State Land Commissioner J. J. Terrell have returned from an overland trip of 400 miles through many of the counties of the western part of the state in which extensive land frauds are alleged to have been practiced upon the state. The particular object of their trip was to make personal investigation of many of these frauds, with the view of obtaining data and evidence upon which to base prosecutions of the offenders.

"Our attention had been called to these frauds and we made the long trip to view the situation. In a few instances we found that the settlements had been made by bona fide homesteaders and abundant evidence that they had made the purchase of the land from the state in good faith, but in most cases we found that the purchaser was in the employ of some ranchman who hoped to acquire the land through that fraudulent means. There are very few legitimate settlements of land in that part of the state. The law requires that $200 of improvements shall have been placed upon the land within three years. This provision has not been observed by many of the so-called settlers, notwithstanding they made affidavit that such was done.

"The most common practice of fraud, however, is when the purchaser acted in collusion with some former lessee of a large body of state land, constituting his cattle range, the purchase by the pretended settler being made with the view of selling or turning over the land to the former range lessee, thereby enabling the latter to perpetuate an extensive range in defiance of law, materially retarding the growth of the state and the settlement of the territory.

"In Brewster and Presidio counties, where most of these land frauds seem to have been practiced, the law permits an actual settler to purchase from the state the land he occupies on eight sections of school land. We found that in some instances large ranch owners, who have heretofore taken up their full complement of land, have been enabled to acquire upon an adjoining eight sections, even while actually residing in well-appointed homes located upon the original complement. We also found in other instances that the ranch owners, who have assigned their leases of state lands to poor and ignorant Mexicans and negroes, who have no cattle or horses and no need for the 3,120 acres of land which the law permits them to purchase. These men are unable to pay actually to the state one-fourth of the purchase price of the land, such payments being made in fact by the ranch owners for whom they are holding down the eight sections apiece.

"Many of the large ranch owners, by pursuing such fraudulent tactics as these, have been able to control the most desirable lands along the water courses, including valuable springs, and control their old range to all practical intents and purposes the same as if their leases had been assigned. If these fraudulent and collusive settlements and sales be not cancelled, these ranchmen will acquire title to the lands and so control that part of the state permanently.

"There is now a great demand for these lands by actual settlers who will develop water, irrigate little farms, plant orchards and build up and develop the country, in being by many factions that he has given up the fight here. He said he had lost the options upon land in New Mexico near Las Vegas, where he expected to found a new colony, and that he had been advised to sell the land at a low price.

VOLIVA LOSES OUT ON LAS VEGAS LAND DEAL

Prophet Dowle's Successor Complains Bitterly of Factional Strife in Zion.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Wilbur Glenn Voliva, who successfully grasped the reins of government in Zion City from the hands of John Alexander Dowle, and expected to reign in his stead after the death of Dowle, last night announced to a thousand of his followers in this city, in being by many factions that he has given up the fight here. He said he had lost the options upon land in New Mexico near Las Vegas, where he expected to found a new colony, and that he had been advised to sell the land at a low price.

No explanation of how he lost the New Mexico options was vouchsafed, by Voliva. It was generally understood that he failed to receive the financial backing he had expected.

Voliva said he had received a formal notice from John C. Hatley, receiver of Zion, to vacate the premises he used as offices and the publication plant. Voliva branded his treatment by the receiver as persecution.

RAILROAD BUILDERS IN PITCHED BATTLE

Bullets Fly in Dispute for Possession of Canyon in Alaska.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 26.—A cable from Valdez gives meager details of a battle yesterday morning in the Keystone canyon, fifteen miles from Valdez, between the forces of the Copper River and Northwestern and the Alaska Nome railroad in contention over the right of way. It is said that one man was killed and three others may die or be wounded. The Copper River forces were headed by Val Hassey, ex-United States marshal. Hassey hailed the Nome railroad surveyors and said that his men would shoot if they advanced further in the canyon. The surveyors continued their work. The cable says that they were shot at from ambush and had no chance to fight or escape.

Deputy United States marshals are accused of cutting the wires for the shooting. Valdez citizens talk of summary justice should the guilty ones be captured.

MISSISSIPPI NOW FOUR FEET ABOVE NORMAL

Waterways Convention Leaves St. Paul Today to Join President Roosevelt in Keokuk on Monday.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 26.—Constant rains which have caused a rise of four feet in the channel, will interfere with the inspection of the upper Mississippi river by the inland waterways commission and President Roosevelt.

Brief stops will be made by the commission at Prescott, Red Wing, Wabasha and Winona, Minn.; La Crosse, McGregor, and Caswell, Wis.; Dubuque and Burlington, Ia., and Rock Island Ills. From there on the trip is expected to be a continual triumph. St. Louis will be reached Wednesday where the president will be given an ovation such as he has seldom before received. A great river parade will be held in which not less than 100 cities of the Mississippi valley will be represented. LIPTON DETERMINED TO RENEW CHALLENGE

London, Sept. 26.—Sir Thomas Lipton, although bitterly disappointed at the failure of the New York Yacht club to accept his recent challenge, today authorized the Associated Press to announce that he was prepared to challenge with a ninety-foot boat under the New York Yacht club rules. Sir Thomas has not given up hope of sending a yacht to Sandy Hook in 1908. He has already telegraphed to the New York Yacht club, to come to London for consultation. Sir Thomas is emphatic in declaring that he would not challenge under the old rule, as no designer of note in Great Britain is willing to design a boat similar to the previous Shamrock, and the danger of sailing such freaks across the Atlantic is so great that Sir Thomas is unwilling to risk lives in such a venture. He said he had been led to believe that if he challenged under the "universal rule" for races in the United States, there was every possibility of the challenge being favorably received. Hence his disappointment at the refusal of the New York Yacht club to accept his original challenge.

PROSPECTS FOR RACE IMPROVE

New York, Sept. 26.—Prospects for a race for the Americas cup next year were improved greatly today by the announcement by Sir Thomas Lipton that he will submit another challenge. CONSPIRACY HATCHED IN NEW YORK BY AMERICANS

Havana, Sept. 26.—General Parra is the alleged leader of a conspiracy to start a revolution against the Americans in Cuba, with the use of funds supplied through some firm in New York. Simultaneously with the arrival of General Parra at Havana three Santo Dominicans, well known on account of their previous revolutionary records, also arrived. It is known that the conspiracy was hatched in New York by Americans whose names it is said are in the possession of the United States government, and it is stated that the leaders here were probably the same as those who were in Cuba, which, it is believed, will result in a fiasco.

Governor Magoon, however, is amply prepared with five thousand American soldiers and five thousand rural guards to crush any movement.

OFFICE-SEEKING NEGROES AT BOTTOM OF TROUBLE

Washington, Sept. 26.—War department officials, while admitting that agitation is rampant among the negro population in Cuba because of their failure to receive their proper share of the offices, discredit the probability of a uprising against the provisional government on that account.

Governor Magoon has reported that private and official advices from Santiago, Puerto Principe, Santa Clara and Matanzas provinces declare that absolute tranquility prevails there.

General Barry today telegraphed from Havana, as follows:

"Referring to newspaper accounts of agitation in Cuba, I have been alive to the situation for some days. Nothing has developed worthy of reporting. Daily reports from station commanders show tranquillity in all provinces except Pinar del Rio, where there is some slight agitation among the lawless class, mainly negroes. I am satisfied that any friction which may arise will be promptly and successfully handled.

Real Issue in Illinois Central, Says Deposed President, is Whether Road Shall Be Swallowed by Harriman.

"But the one point at issue to be decided by the stockholders of the Illinois Central at the coming annual meeting is nowhere touched upon," says Fish. "That issue is this: Shall the Illinois Central become a mere feeder and fatten for the Union Pacific? Can any such perversion of the purposes and opportunities of the Illinois Central be profitable to the stockholders? Will the Illinois Central stockholders submit to having all of their voice and power in the management and control of their property delegated to one man, under the power of attorney plan, which Mr. Harriman has so adroitly used to his own profit?"

GOVERNMENT OUT CASE AGAIN BORAH

Prosecution Seeks to Show Deeds From "Dummy" Trustees Passed Through Office of Accused Senator.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 26.—The principal witness at the morning session of the Borah trial today was Dean West, who declared that he received from John L. Wells, one of the men indicted with Senator Borah, the money with which to get a portion of a timber tract, and later received $250 for deeding it to Albert E. Palmer, to alleged "dummy" trustee for the Barber Lumber company. West said he induced several other persons to take out claims under similar circumstances and got the money for them from Wells. Two of the men with whom West says he got into the scheme also took the stand and corroborated him. None of the witnesses could identify Senator Borah with the transactions, and none were cross-examined.

JUDGE WHITSON ANNOUNCED TODAY

After consulting authorities, he would reverse the temporary ruling of yesterday and allow the government attorneys to inquire into the intent which any persons may have had in taking out a claim.

It has been stated to the jury that the idea of making money out of the timber lands which the United States threw open to settlement in Idaho in 1875, a joint note being the $25,000,000, at a price not to exceed $2.50 per acre, originated with States Senator John Kincaid, one of the men indicted with Senator Borah. He acted as a private attorney for several men around him, among them the late Governor Steunenberg and William Sweet, a mining man. These two, it is alleged, put up first the $25,000, a joint note being the $25,000, by which the alleged frauds were inaugurated. About this time (in 1899) Attorney Burch asserts Steunenberg sent to Couer d'Alene, presumably for the patriotic purpose of putting down the mining troubles, and while there met a mine owner named A. Campbell. Through Campbell, it is alleged, Steunenberg, who had exhausted his personal resources, met Barber and Moon, who immediately took a deep interest in the Idaho timber lands. Governor Steunenberg, it is alleged, had a cash account of $28,000, which, it is alleged, he checked from as "agent."

Connecting Senator Borah with the conspiracy, Mr. Burch says the government will show that all the deals from "dummy" trustees to the Barber Lumber company passed through his office and were recorded, as the records will show, at his request. It is further stated when four or five fraudulent claims were held up, Borah went to Homer, the register of the local land office, and made inquiry as to what was to be done concerning them. The register told him, it is said, that the claims were fraudulent and had better be left alone. It is further charged that on one occasion, when Governor Morrison was chief executive of Idaho and was about to file state preference on certain timber lands for school purposes, Senator Borah went to him and sought information as to what he should do. He was told to take and said he did not think it was right that the state should take such lands.

MEMORIAL SERVICES IN HONOR OF CHIEF PORTER

Interesting Career of Man Whom Roosevelt Called "Greatest American Indian."

Muskogee, I. T., Sept. 26.—Memorial services were held by the citizens of the Creek nation today in honor of their great chief, the late General Pleasant Porter, who died at Vinita early this morning. The late General, whom President Roosevelt called "the greatest American Indian," lived until today, he would have been sixty-six years of age.

The famous chief of the Creeks was born near Clarksville, I. T., September 26, 1841. As a boy he acquired a fair education, attending for a time the Presbyterian mission at Tallahassee. When a young man he entered the Confederate army and served throughout the war with the greatest distinction, retiring at the end of the ill-fated struggle with the rank of colonel. He took part in the battles of Pea Ridge, in Arkansas, and the creek, in Missouri, and numerous other engagements.

During his life General Porter was erroneously described as a millionaire, and many fables have been told of his wealth and his freakish philanthropy. That he distributed his money with a free hand is true, and his death found him a comparatively poor man. He might have been a millionaire, had he so chosen, but he had not the charity of his nature prevented.

General Porter was profoundly versed in the history of his people and spent his doleful days in writing a book about the Creeks and their wanderings in America, which was incomplete when death overtook him. He knew all the aboriginal stories and legends of the American Indians, and the literary material he has left will be of incalculable value to ethnologists.

Politically, General Porter was disinterestedly modern, and his last message to his people pointed out the futility of the old Indian conceptions of life and advised them to accept statehood and conform to the ways and manners of the white people. He was always the staunch supporter of the white man in the Indian country, so long as the greed and cunning of the paleface was not exerted to defraud the Indian.

General Porter was succeeded as chief of the Creeks by Motey Tiger. The new leader of the nation is about sixty-five years of age and has the appearance of a Methodist clergyman, affecting the clerical style of dress, notwithstanding the fact that he is a full-blooded Creek. He is very wealthy and is a stockholder in many Indian Territory banks. He will be the Indian host at the transmississippi congress here in November. Among his friends are General Miles, the old war chief of the Apaches, Chiefs Bacon and Ooloughwahala, of the Osages, and Chief Quannah Parker.

MAN AND WIFE END LIFE IN THE DESERT

Gruesome Murder and Suicide Near Bisbee — Both Were Tired of Living.

Bisbee, Ariz., Sept. 26.—The mystery which has surrounded the disappearance of E. F. Bennett and wife, Ollie, who were last seen at Hull's Half-Way house Sunday morning at about 8:30 was cleared up yesterday, when a Mexican by the name of Alfredo Hernandez telephoned Coroner Grier that there were two dead bodies, a man and a woman, lying midway between the road to Naco and the Warren ranch. The coroner summoned a jury, immediately left for the scene.

Arriving there, a most gruesome sight met their gaze. Stretched out on the ground lay the body of the woman, Ollie Bennett, while by her side with his body resting on her hips was E. F. Bennett, her husband, with his hands and clothing smeared with gore.

Owing to the fact that the bodies had lain in the hot sun since Sunday morning, and had become greatly decomposed, it was out of the question for the jury to make more than a casual examination. Upon turning the body of the woman over, it was discovered she had been shot in the right breast. The man had evidently shot himself in the mouth, but owing to the fact that both bodies were horribly mutilated by insects and animals, and the horrible stench that arose, a closer examination was not made.

Enough evidence though was found that warranted the jury in finding a verdict that the woman had come to her death by a gunshot wound inflicted by Bennett, and that the man Bennett had come to his death by a self-inflicted gunshot wound. Alongside of the body of Bennett was found a new Colt's 41-caliber revolver, showing five chambers empty and one load remaining. This cartridge upon close examination was found to be loaded.

Bennett, who was employed for some time at the Pike saloon as a porter, had been having more or less trouble with his wife, according to those who were acquainted with them. He was about 35 years old. His wife who was more familiarly known as Ollie Green, has a mother, sister and brother residing in Bisbee, and two sisters in Douglas. Little is known of Bennett. It was brought out at the inquest that they were both natives of the territory.

WORKMEN INJURED IN RATON TUNNEL

Fall of Rock Crushes J. M. Brooks, Who is in Serious Condition; Others Injured.

Raton, N. M., Sept. 26.—A fall of rock in the Raton tunnel yesterday resulted in the injury of several workmen, and it is little short of miraculous that none was killed. J. M. Brooks was badly crushed by a huge boulder. He was hurried to Trinidad on an engine and taken to the San Raphael hospital, where he received medical attention. He is in a serious condition, but will recover.

RAILROAD ATTORNEY ON TRIAL FOR BRIBERY

San Francisco Supervisors Paid for Voting According to Their Own Inclination.

San Francisco, Sept. 26.—When the trial of Tierney L. Ford, chief counsel of the United railroads, accused of bribery, was resumed today, former Supervisor M. W. Coffey, who presided at his election had been a back driver, testified that he had received from J. L. Gallagher, chairman of the board, $4,000 in two installments, to vote for the trolley franchise for the United railroads. He admitted having an immunity contract with the prosecution, and said he favored the franchise before he was bribed. Harrington Kelly, Walsh, Nicholson, Phillips and Dutton, all former supervisors, each testified to having received $4,000 bribe money from the chairman. All of them favored the trolley system, but did not refuse pay for their votes.

HELD IN RATON FOR BAGGAGE CAR ROBBERY

George Dumont, Wanted in Trinidad on Serious Charge, in Trouble in New Mexico.

Trinidad, Colo., Sept. 26.—The robbery of a Santa Fe baggage car here recently is supposed to have been solved by the arrest of George Dumont, at Raton, who was captured by the Colorado county officers with some of the stolen property in his possession. Recently he broke into a car in the local yards and stole some jewelry. Not satisfied with the value of the plunder, he followed the car to Raton and again broke into it, this time taking a large amount of clothing. He was placed in $200 bonds to await the action of the grand jury, which is now in session at Raton.

A Square Deal

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulae are printed under each as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless even to the most delicate woman or child. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition, and much better than is used both for healing and preserving the medicinal principles used in them. viz.—pure vegetable glycerine. This agent possesses a most valuable property of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gasiness, feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy. It is used by the most eminent physicians of the world. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal passages, it is well, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial membrane. The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be used in cases of chronic consumption. In advanced stages, no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

"BRAINS OF HIM" WAS SMITH GRADUATES TO BUILD UNIQUE LIBRARY

More Than $50,000 Pledged By Its 3,000 Women Graduates for Important Work.

Northampton, Sept. 26.—From its third library, the Women's Graduate Library has today been pledged more than $50,000 toward a modern working library for the fifteen hundred students who are just returning to this city. In less than a year this fund has been raised by individuals and groups of the college alumnae. Twelve thousand dollars yet remain to be made up by the loyal graduates of Smith, when a gift of $62,500, which has been conditionally offered toward the new library building, will be assured.

So surely are the heads of this movement for practical women's college libraries relying on the generous spirit of their graduate sisters that already plans are being matured for the unique institution, Josephine A. Clark, a librarian trained and experienced by many years of government work, has today come here from Washington to take up the preliminary work of planning and conducting the undertaking. Drawings are already being made for the building, which will correspond in its details with the original and progressive ideas of its projectors.

What the carpenter finds in his tool chest, it is aimed to offer each one of the hundreds of half-students of Smith in the new working library. Immediate access to any one of the list of 8,000 works, which scientific librarians assert includes every necessary or desirable book for any undergraduate, must be provided at all times for as many as come to its doors. To the girl who looks for absolute quiet and congenial surroundings for study, the new library will be designed to afford unlimited opportunities. Only to the girl who may care to dabble in the pages of rare works or finger dusty manuscripts will the working library of Smith prove deficient. The delights of the bibliography and the speculative curiosity are things strictly subordinated to workaday reading and ready reference in this newest type of a woman's library workshop.

Since the New England college for women was founded in this city, thirty-two years ago, the student of Smith has been almost entirely dependent upon two public libraries for her research work and reading. In Seely's Hall, the modern recitation building which marks a more recent period in the steady growth of the college, limited accommodations have been maintained for the books which form the nucleus of the library. Here a score of girls may find in some nook or other of the cramped quarters a temporary haven for quiet reading. Which will be the work of the new library in the midst of the attractive campus, which was originally laid out by Donald G. Mitchell, a center of reading and retirement will be established within the walls of the new building in this country today.

As only a comparatively small sum of money stands between Smith college and the realization of this ideal, it is earnestly hoped by the graduates who are pushing the work that it will warrant its undertaking before another college term begins. When the new student workshop is opened, the development of the idea which it represents as a center of study for librarians and university workers the country over.

PIPE LINE BUSINESS PROFITABLE

Earnings of Standard Oil Concerns Exceed the Expenses Twenty-Fold Government Attorneys Claim.

New York, Sept. 26.—The Indiana Pipe Line company, subsidiary of the Standard Oil company, made a profit of $4,034,022 in 1906, on a total investment of $2,228,758, according to the company figures produced by George Chesbro, controller of the National Pipe Line company, who appeared as a witness today in the federal suit against the oil combine. Chesbro testified that the Indiana Pipe Line company made a profit of $4,034,022 in 1906, on a total investment of $2,228,758, according to the company figures produced by George Chesbro, controller of the National Pipe Line company, who appeared as a witness today in the federal suit against the oil combine.

From balance sheets of the company Frank B. Kellogg, conducting the government's case, sought to show that the Indiana company was making excessive profits and that it maintained a high schedule of tariffs to prevent the shipment of oil by independent oil producers. Chesbro testified that the Indiana company transported practically all of the oil of the Standard Oil company. Counsel for the government alleged that it will be shown that the profits made by the pipe line companies have in some cases been twenty times the actual cost of operations.

The pipe line station of the National Transit company, Standard Oil corporation, at Center bridge on the state line between Indiana and Illinois, the terminal station, was built in 1906 on the advice of John G. Milburn, counsel for the company. Milburn is now representing the Standard Oil company in the federal hearing in progress in this city. It is contended by the government that the Center bridge station was built as a nominal delivery point in 1906 to evade the Hepburn act, which provided that pipe line companies should be subject to the tariff to their terminals. It is the government's view that the company's real terminal is Bayonne, N. J.

In today's hearing Frank B. Kellogg, for the government, asked G. M. Payne, an employee of the Standard Oil company, who advised building the delivery tanks at Center bridge station, if he did not know that the Hepburn act was in force at that time. "I don't," said Kellogg.

UNION PACIFIC DENIES ITS RATES ARE UNJUST

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 26.—In answering the complaint of the Nebraska state railway commission today before the interstate commerce commission against the rate on a coal shipment from the west, the Union Pacific railroad denied that the rates on its lines from Rock Springs and Hanna, Wyo., are exorbitant and unjust, and alleged that each and all of these rates are, under all conditions and circumstances surrounding said shipments, just, reasonable and lawful, not exorbitant and not in violation of the act to regulate the commerce, or amendatory or supplemental acts. The Nebraska commission complained of the blanket rate of $4.50 from Rock Springs, and of $3.50 from Hanna.

SMALL-SIZED RIOT IN THE TRINIDAD YARDS

Discharge of Mexican Laborers Causes Attack on Contractor.

Trinidad, Colo., Sept. 26.—A race riot was narrowly averted yesterday afternoon when three Mexicans engaged in the construction of the new Santa Fe roundhouse, were discharged by the contractor. A number of others employed on the work joined their discharged countrymen and with pick and shovel attacked the contractor. Several Americans also employed there went to the aid of the contractor, and a free-for-all fight was only prevented by the prompt action of several railroad men who joined the ranks of the contractor. Several Mexicans were knocked down, after which they beat a hasty retreat and submitted the matter to arbitration. A settlement was finally reached by the reinstatement of the three discharged employees who promised to give better service.

PEON "MILLIONAIRE" DETERMINED TO HELP THE POOR

Romantic Story of Pedro Alvarado and His Fabulously Rich Mine Which He Has Been Forced to Lease.

City of Mexico, Sept. 26.—Pedro Alvarado, the "peon millionaire," leased his Palmita mine to J. E. Flynn, who has an office in New York, on July 14. Mr. Flynn gave an option of the lease to Eugene Davis, of Washington, who undertook to form a company to work the property, which is meanwhile being worked by Mr. Flynn. The terms were a cash payment to Alvarado of two hundred thousand pesos and a loan of six hundred thousand.

The lease is to run fifteen years, during which time Alvarado will receive forty-five per cent of the net proceeds of the mine. It is estimated that the Palmita mine has produced six million pesos for Alvarado.

Alvarado, however, has been very prodigal with his wealth, and urgent financial necessities forced him to lease the mine, he not having funds enough to unwield the lower level and he could not borrow under other terms. Because of the old methods employed by him, the mine was at a condition to facilitate raising money thereon, absolutely no one being blocked out. The only men who could invest in the deal were local miners who were willing to risk money if they could get control.

Pedro Alvarado Keeping His Promise to Die a Poor Man.

With these prospects of more millions Alvarado's acquaintances believe that he will not change his ways of spending and giving away lavishly. When he first began to acquire his great wealth he declared that he intended to die poor, and all his associates have been along that line. It is estimated that he has given $10,000,000 to the poor outside of other lavish expenditures.

Early Knowledge of the Mine.

Alvarado has always been a hard man to understand. He was the son of an Indian, who married a Mexican woman. The ground on which the Palmita mine stands once belonged to the father and so zealously did he guard it that he is believed to have had knowledge handed down from the aborigines as to its wealth in ore. The senior Alvarado executed a promise from his son never to sell the land, and the latter has kept his word.

Eight years ago Alvarado was a joke in the mining camps of Parí, in the state of Chihuahua. He was a peon, which meant that he was bound out as a laborer until he worked out an amount that he owed. That he owed money was doubtless due to his same reckless and daring spirit that has put him in debt at the present time.

Even then Alvarado was dreaming of a great future when he would become a Croesus. He told his acquaintances of his great schemes to become wealthy and they only laughed at him. When he got control of a piece of property, which he inherited from his father, in the beginning of his present career, he announced his intention of trying to have a shirt made out of it there was more laugh at Alvarado the foolhardy.

But Alvarado was a hard worker. He was also a man of great material for purposes. He succeeded in mortgaging his "impossible" piece of property for enough money to begin the sinking of a shaft. Days passed without any encouraging results. By and by, however, the shaft struck a big vein, and on the day before the mortgage was to be foreclosed on the property Alvarado made his "find."

Wealthy in a Day.

Gold and silver ore came into view. Almost in a day Alvarado, the peon, became Alvarado, a man of hundreds of thousands. The mining camps gasped, and it did not take long for the story to reach the outside world. Soon the whole country, and, in fact, the whole world knew of it.

Stories of his wealth were magnified a figure several times as great as it is. A figure several times as great as it is, but a conservative estimate is that he has obtained nearly $18,000,000 in profits from his mining venture.

With his newly acquired wealth Alvarado acquired new ways of living, but all through his career a fellow feeling for his countrymen has never deserted him, and it was this that has led to his present predicament.

Alvarado built a palace in the center of the poorest part of Parí. It is surrounded by huts and shacks of shanties. It is built of marble and stone and stands on the exact spot it is said, where his owner was born. The facade is simple, but elegant and well proportioned. The stone carving is beautiful and harmonious. The central door opens into a spacious hall, a beautiful feature of all Mexican houses.

Not a Judge of Art.

One poor feature of the palace, however, is Alvarado's selection of pictures. Not being an art expert, he purchased almost anything and everything that was offered to him in the way of decoration. He patronized "home talent," and daubers from all over the republic found him almost as great a "gold mine" as was his real mine in the ground.

The dining room of the palace is at the back of the second story and is furnished in light oak. There are two dinner services of massive silver, costing more than $2,000. Rich damask curtains hang at carved windows, but there are other furnishings very much out of keeping with the current style. A beautiful table is used as a covering for the dining room table.

The house has a private chapel with figures of angels in the windows. There are a richly decorated altar and an elaborate throne for the bishop.

Alvarado never knew the need of money from the time he mined his first ton of ore to the present time. He had so much money that he didn't know what to do with it, and he thought that his source would last forever. He gave to his relatives, to his wife's relatives, to his friends and his friends' friends. No one was turned away empty-handed.

Land attracted Alvarado as a good means of investment, and he bought up much real estate in Parí and built a fine hotel. He established a free hospital for the poor and a church for the residents of the place.

Every month, it is said, Alvarado has paid out $20,000 in pensions to the poor, and not satisfied with this, he tried at one time to be allowed to pay off the national debt of Mexico, but the offer was declined.

It is said around the approaches to Alvarado's mining property, of which he has been very jealous. Not until his present trouble would he permit foreign investors to enter it. Three years ago an eastern concern tried to buy him out.

"Sell my mine?" exclaimed Alvarado. "Come to me when you want to sell your company and we will talk business."

Mexico's mining Croesus was happily married in his younger days, and he is not now more than forty, to a peasant woman who is said to have contributed much to his success. She died in 1905, leaving three children.

Soon after Alvarado acquired his wealth a traveler through that part of the country had this to say of him: "I spent several weeks at Parí and saw Alvarado almost daily. The interest of every man, woman and child in that city seems to be centered in the man. In a few months his net profits from his mine, which is named the Palmita, have aggregated $1,500,000. He will not put his money in bank, but keeps it at home, where it is constantly guarded by a large force of armed men. He has from $200,000 to $300,000 on his person whenever he goes out on the street or elsewhere, and an armed guard of eight men always accompanies him. The members of his guard are dressed in fantastic Mexican costume and Alvarado is always attired in the height of fashion. He pays a Mexican tailor a high salary to keep him clothed properly."

Bought Out Pedler.

Alvarado spends his money with a lavish hand. A few days ago a traveling jeweler and diamond pedler struck Parí with his wares. He was going along the street when he attracted the attention of Alvarado, who, with his armed guard, happened to be passing. He showed his goods to Alvarado, and the latter asked how much he would take for his whole outfit. The pedler replied that he would sell out for $15,000. Without any quibbling over the price asked, Alvarado drew out the money and came into possession of the cheap watches, ornaments and fake diamonds. Alvarado seemed as pleased as a boy with a new top over the trade he had made.

Building Boom in Phoenix.

Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 26.—Plans drawn by H. C. Trist of El Paso, have been adopted for the new Y. M. C. A. building in Phoenix. It will be a three-story structure, of Moorish type, to cost $50,000, and is to be ready for occupancy within a year. The total subscriptions by the people of Phoenix aggregated $107,000, of which $25,000 has been spent for the site, a block lying between Moore and Van Buren and First and Second avenues. A part of this block is to be sold later and the proceeds devoted to other improvements. The same architect has drawn plans for a large addition to be made to the Sisters' hospital in Phoenix, and will superintend the erection of a handsome new business block to be erected and occupied by the Arizona Republic.

Stores of new residences are being erected in Phoenix at present, but the winter influx has begun already and the town even now is crowded. Practically all of the townspeople who went to California are back, bringing the pleasant fall weather, and business has been resumed with vigor.

NEW YORK FLOODED WITH BOGUS $5 BILLS.

New York, Sept. 26.—Probably $5 bank notes never before were such slow currency in this city as yesterday, following the police alarm that counterfeiters had begun to produce a wide circulation. On Saturday a bundle containing photo prints of $5 bills that if genuine would have had a value of $10,000 were fished out of the East river. Subsequently, the police found that similar counterfeiters were being sold on the street by boys at 5 or 10 cents each. It is now supposed that the frightened counterfeiters hadly unloaded their wares in the river and that these came ashore and were gathered up in undetermined quantities by enterprising persons.

Such notes often to decide some things, but it does not decide races between stores.

Such is a flimsy goodness and should be wound with persistence—and she is contented often with printers' ink than with all other means and methods combined.

Store luck is a myth, but what passes for it is within easy reach of any merchant. Adequate newspaper publicity can have but one logical result for a store—prosperity. Prosperity, it is the law. It is the fact.

If you are just now giving more attention to any other part of your business than you are to the advertising let us suggest that you require that condition for a while—and your store will take a sudden jump forward.

The possibility of the fraud caused an alarm to be sent out and yesterday street car conductors, restaurant cashiers and small merchants who do not close on Sunday were on their guard. Five dollar bills are not usually accepted on street cars, but when Edward Thompson wished to pay his fare with one the conductor took the bill and grumbled with him until Thompson was locked up. William Altmeier was another whose effort to pay car fare with what looked like a $5 note landed him in jail. August Cecilio sought to exchange such a bill for groceries and was hustled to the station house.

Not all street car conductors were so fortunate. Twelve conductors who accommodated passengers by changing spurious $5 notes were obliged to make good the difference to the company. The police are unable to make any estimate of the amount of the lost note issue.

Meet on Custer Battlefield.

Billings, Mont., Sept. 26.—Excursions to the Custer battlefield and to Pompey's pillar, east of Billings, made famous by the visit of Lewis and Clark in 1804, will be features of the twenty-fourth annual reunion of the Society of Montana Pioneers, which convened here today. The name of W. M. Clark is carved in the walls of Pompey's pillar, and to protect this an iron grating was erected several years ago. Reports of the officials show that 150 of the Montana trail blazers have died within the last year. It is expected that this will be the last big meeting of the pioneers, and to commemorate it the society has issued a publication containing numerous important historical documents, among them the tribute paid by the pioneers to General S. Grant at the driving of the golden spike at Gold Creek, upon the completion of the Northern Pacific railroad, September 8, 1882.

To Hold Football Meeting.

New York, Sept. 26.—The central

of business men to speak of the condition of business as of something quite apart—something to observe and comment upon, like the weather, but not as something over which they exercise a power of control. Business is good, or it is dull, or it is slow, and the merchant is inclined to feel encouraged by the one condition and discouraged by the other without attempting to realize that he is ruler of his own affairs—a more absolute ruler than is any emperor of his empire.

The drifters among merchants, of course, scarcely rule their affairs—they allow the affairs to rule them. They realize the value of a good location for a store or enterprise; the value of many of the essentials in store making—but they imagine that with other things in their hands they can save money on the advertising campaign by using half as much space as a competitor uses, taking less as much trouble as he takes to make his advertising brimful of salesmanship, and by using the cheapest medium. In short, luck is a perfection in the structure of their business houses.

Big Ranch Deal.

The sale of the Lyons Campbell Ranch and Cattle company property last Wednesday afternoon, James A. Shipley, referee, was bid in by the Gila Farm company for $100,000, says the Silver City Independent. The Gila Farm company by this purchase absorbs the Lyons and Campbell company interests in a vast acreage of valuable land besides the L. C. brand of cattle and horses. The business will continue as usual as a close corporation under the old management.

LAST CASE BEFORE ELKS WILL GIVE BIG BLOW OUT FOR VISITORS

MRS. MAUD WEBB CHARGED WITH SELLING WHISKEY

To Albert Cooley, Busy Young Indian, on Whose Testimony Toti Was Convicted—Jones Found Guilty.

The United States petit jury is trying its last case for the September term today, in the action against Mrs. Maud Webb, indicted for selling liquor to Albert Cooley, an Apache Indian, on December 18, 1906. The case was begun yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The allegation, witnesses, evidence and in fact, the indictment, with the simple change of the name of the defendant, are the same as in the case against B. Toti this week, for selling a bottle of whiskey to Albert Cooley, the same Indian.

The government alleges that on the night of December 18, 1906, Cooley went to the summer garden owned and run by Mr. and Mrs. Webb and purchased a bottle of "two bit" whiskey, and that Superintendent Custer of the local Indian school witnessed the transaction.

The taking of evidence had not been completed at 5:30 o'clock last night, when court adjourned for the day.

Jones Found Guilty.

Charles Jones, the Thoreau saloon-keeper, charged with selling liquor to an Indian, was found guilty by the jury, which returned its verdict at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The taking of testimony was completed late Wednesday afternoon and yesterday morning was taken up with the arguments of the defendant and E. L. Medler for the government. The jury reached a verdict at noon, but the court instructed it to wait until 2 o'clock before pronouncing it.

Attorneys W. B. Childers, T. N. Wilkerson and T. K. D. Madison for the defense immediately filed a motion for a new trial.

No New Indictments.

The territorial grand jury was in session all day yesterday but it failed to return any new indictments. District Clerk John Venable and Sheriff Perfecto Armijo and his deputies are kept busy getting ready for the session of the territorial court which convenes on October 14.

TRINIDAD ADMIRE NERVE OF NEW MEXICANS

Colorado Town Exceeding Sore at Alleged Unloading of Beegars by Officers of Clayton and Union County.

Trinidad, Col., is exceedingly sore at the officers of Clayton and Union county, N. M. It is alleged that Clayton has acquired the habit of shipping its beegars and helpless ones up to Trinidad to be taken care of and the Trinidad Chronicle News considers it an outrage. The News has the following:

If there are any state or county officials in any of the states or counties in the whole United States who have more nerve or green gall than those of New Mexico, the officials and citizens of Trinidad would like to have their names and addresses.

Some of the officials of New Mexico are the biggest impostures that we have ever taken cognizance of. Their nerve is unequalled and unequalled. The county physician of the county in which Clayton is located, evidently thinks. Las Animas county is a good thing, and his attitude would indicate that he is trying to work this county.

Yesterday morning Thomas O'Neill, a young man 23 years of age, was brought to the hospital from Clayton, having had his feet crushed by a train. He tried to board the passenger train at Clayton Sunday and slipped under the wheels, he says. The toes on his right foot were cut off and his left foot was so badly crushed that a portion of it was amputated Monday.

The man has very little to say about himself. He states that his parents are dead, but his home is in Buffalo, N. Y. He was taken to the county jail at Clayton, after the accident, but the city physician sent him to Trinidad for medical treatment.

Dr. T. J. Forth, the county physician, stated today that it was another of the cases of New Mexico sending its county patients to Colorado, and was indignant over the man being brought here.

Whenever anyone is hurt along the railroad lines in portions of New Mexico, they are invariably sent to Trinidad for Las Animas county to care for.

Attorney General A. B. Fall, who is in El Paso on business, expects to leave there Sunday for St. Louis, where he will remain for several days to attend the meeting of attorneys general from the several states.

SMOKER IS PLANNED FOR WEDNESDAY OF FAIR WEEK

Crack Entertainment for Visiting Brethren—More Horsemen Arrive—Say Track is in Fine Shape.

Albuquerque lodge No. 461, of the Elks, has completed plans for the entertainment on Wednesday night of fair week in honor of the visiting Elks, of whom several hundred are expected here. Almost all of the traveling men who will attend the travelers' reunion are members of the benevolent order, while the membership in New Mexico and Arizona is so large that the fair always brings several hundred visitors here. It is expected that these visitors, the entertainment is planned, and the program will be elaborate. There will be a series of interesting athletic events in connection with the smoker, refreshments will be served throughout the evening and the whole building will be lighted and thrown open for the visitors. The Albuquerque Elks have a reputation to sustain as entertainers and they propose to sustain it this year.

HORSEMEN PLEASED WITH CONDITION OF THE TRACK

Every train into Albuquerque these days brings a horse owner or more, who are interested in the fair race meeting. Yesterday Colonel J. H. Breed of Winslow, a pioneer horseman arrived, bringing with him Shutter Maid, a pacer, and Chester, a trotting horse, both entered in the fair. Mr. Breed has his horses at the fair grounds stables. The horsemen are very much pleased with the present condition of the track. They say it has never been in better shape and expect it to be very fast for the fair meeting, barring too much rain in the interval.

GET IN LINE FOR THE BIG PARADE

In the Morning Journal today, in the space occupied by the advertisement of the twenty-seventh fair, appears a big coupon published for the convenience of those Albuquerque men who propose to enter floats in the parade. At a meeting between Colonel John Borradale, marshal of the parade, and his aides Wednesday evening, final plans for the parade were perfected. There is a splendid nucleus for the parade this year. With Sheriff Armijo and Judge Romero of Old Albuquerque leading a delegation of 1,000 horsemen as a guard of honor for the governors, with two troops of cavalry, the equipment from the fire show, the local fire department, the Indians and cowboys, there is a life size parade to start with. Add to this the elaborate preparations of the traveling man, the American Lumber company, and the Santa Fe shops, and it is seen that the parade has a pretty good start. Moreover, many merchants have notified the committee of their intention to enter and the coupon published today is for the convenience of those who have not yet decided. Cut out the coupon, fill it in and mail it to fair headquarters today. The committee will then call on you and everything will be fixed up with smoothness and dispatch.

Vacation for School Children.

The board of education has determined to close the city schools this year as usual on Thursday and Friday of fair week, giving the young people their liberty on three days of the big week.

The Denver Post of Tuesday contains half a page devoted to an advance notice of the coming fair, carrying photographs of Messrs. Weinmann, Manager Hubbs and Treasurer M. W. Flournoy.

Crowd Going to Socorro. Indications now are that a big crowd will go to Socorro on the excursion Sunday morning. The low rate and convenience of the train service has made the excursion attractive and Albuquerque will be well represented at the southern fair on Sunday.

Governor Curry, who will open the Socorro fair, is expected to pass through Albuquerque tonight on his way south.

Crystal Show This Week. There is very little if any doubt in the minds of those who have watched the new Crystal Theater closely that it is anything but a great big "go." Each night this week shows a substantial increase in attendance over the cor-

FIVE YEARS TERM IS WAITING FOR LESLIE

Judge Mann Expected to Sentence Convicted Cattle Rustlers This Week — Otero County Has Money Now.

[Special Correspondence Morning Journal.] Alamogordo, N. M., Sept. 25.—Judge Mann has not passed sentence on Robert Leslie and his son, who were found guilty of unlawfully killing the cattle of the Black ranch in Lincoln county, and the commission of the crime requested by the jury. It has been rumored that the court will give the old gentleman five years, not assessing the fine of $500, and the son three years. This would be in line with Judge Mann's judgments in such cases, for he generally gives a horse or cow thief the full limit of the law, as he is desirous of breaking up the vicious trade in live stock which has been going on in this district. And he has accomplished to a considerable extent, his desires, for the criminal dockets in his district do not show very many indictments for these crimes, except the old ones. He always takes into consideration the recommendations of a jury, and the above rumored sentence might be very close to what the court will pass. The judge, however, has not personally intimated to any one what he has under consideration, waiting for the motion for a new trial, which will be presented within the next day or two.

OTERO COUNTY HAS MONEY NOW IN TREASURY NOW

Since the railroad and Postal Telegraph companies have been paying for taxation in this county, the court fund is greatly increased. A couple of years ago there could be but one term of court held in the county each year, and the conditions were such that it was a great struggle to get the court fund so a four weeks' term could be held and some of the important business, at least, attended to. During such depression, the court fund is greatly increased. RUMORED SUBPOENAS ARE OUT FOR THE COAL MEN Presence of General Counsel for American Fuel Company and Several Local Officers Lends Color to Rumor.

It was stated yesterday by several men in a position to know that subpoenas had been issued for the appearance before the territorial grand jury of a number of men interested in the operation of New Mexico coal mines and that the territorial grand jury was engaged in an investigation into conditions in the territorial coal market. The statement could not be definitely confirmed from any official source and it is not known whether the grand jury is investigating the recent advances in the price of coal or whether it is some other matter in which the coal men are concerned.

The presence here yesterday of Judge Caldwell Yeamans of Denver, general counsel for the American Fuel company, operating the Gallup mines, and of several local officers of the company, caused considerable speculation and tended to lend some color to the rumor of an investigation into the coal situation. No statement could be had from any of the officers at the court house and none of the visiting coal operators cared to discuss the purpose of their visit here.

RUMORED COAL MEN DECLINED TO ANSWER QUESTIONS

Among other rumors which were circulated on the street last night was one to the effect that several of the operators and employees were before the grand jury during the day and that they declined to answer questions in regard to the operations of the American Fuel company, on advice of counsel.

ALASKA HAS PROVEN TO BE A GOOD BUY

Country Has Produced Great Wealth. One Mine Has Paid in Dividends Nearly Twice Purchase Price.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 26.—Many things of interest about Alaska are either being brought to light or resurrected on account of the publicity given the northward by the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, which will be held in Seattle in 1909. The great wealth Alaska has produced, compared with the ridiculously low price which the United States paid for the territory in 1867, is now being made the subject of much discussion.

Alaska was purchased from Russia by Uncle Sam for $7,200,000. This real estate deal cost the United States just two cents an acre. Alaska has paid in revenues alone to the government more than $11,000,000. Besides that it has produced gold, fish and furs, without mentioning other products, to the extent of nearly $300,000,000.

One mine in Alaska, the famous Treadwell mine, has paid out in dividends nearly twice as much as the country originally cost. This mine is located on Douglas Island and has been running for twenty years without scarcely a day's cessation until recently when it was shut down on account of the lack of fuel.

The so-called Treadwell mine is in reality three separate mines. These are called the Alaska Mexican, Alaska Treadwell and Alaska United. Since beginning operations they have paid dividends as follows: Alaska Mexican, $1,426,351; Alaska Treadwell, $9,432,000; Alaska United, $306,340.

The total dividends of these mines amounts to $11,164,721, or 158 per cent of the purchase of Alaska. When the Treadwell mines earn $3,932,279 more—a matter of two or three years—they will have produced twice the original cost of Alaska—a country containing more than a half million square miles.

INVESTIGATING THE WRECK AT DEVORE

Exhaustive Inquiry by Santa Fe Into Causes of Disastrous Smash-up Near San Bernardino--Notes of the Rail.

To fix the blame for the disastrous wreck at Devore, Cal., last Saturday morning, the Santa Fe officials on the Los Angeles division are making an exhaustive investigation, and it is rumored that a number of employees will lose their jobs as a result. The Santa Bernardino Cal. Sun has the following about the investigation:

The Santa Fe officials are making a thorough investigation of the disastrous wreck at Devore station of last Saturday morning. Inasmuch as the officials have not given out any statement as to the result of the inquiry. Every surviving trainman will be closely examined as to the affair, as well as a careful examination made of the equipment that is in condition to show anything regarding the cause of the wreck.

There are many causes that might have contributed to the disaster, and the snuffing out of several human lives. It is said that an examination of the switch frog, where the wreck occurred, shows that something must have dropped into it or it was torn off it to pieces, thus possibly ditching the train.

The question of the air brakes is receiving very close attention. The officials, it is said, have made a careful examination of engine 1625, which was hauling the train, and have found that nearly every driving wheel had its air slipped, and that the brake shoes were almost entirely worn off, which would indicate that Engineer Stratton had used his air to the limit coming down the grade, in the vain endeavor to stop the runaway. This would seem to contradict the statement of Conductor Merrill that the air failed when the train first got away, or rather that the train got away because of the air failing, as indicated by the gauge in the caboose.

Something Wrong Somewhere.

The officials believe that something was wrong somewhere on the train, in the handling of the brakes, and are determined to ferret it out if possible, but they are greatly handicapped because of Engineer Stratton being dead. It is hoped that his fireman, Thrasher, who supposedly recovered to give a statement, and that may shed much light on the matter. His condition is encouraging, and it may be that it will be possible to have him make a statement in a few days.

It is said that if everything was in working order, and nothing dropped from the train into the track, that the curve at Devore was not sufficient to have wrecked the train going at the speed that it was moving, for it had already taken ten-degree curves not a great distance above Devore, while the curve at which the wreck occurred is but little more than four per cent.

Injured Improving.

All of the injured men are reported as getting on as well as possible, and none of them will die unless it is Fireman Thrasher, whose condition is really encouraging, though still admittedly serious.

May Improve Line.

The repeated wrecks on the Cajon grade are causing the Santa Fe management to consider plans for the improvement of the line over the hill, which is one of the worst pieces of track on the entire line, because of the heavy grades. A tunnel has been in the past considered, also, double-tracking and the re-encasing of a portion of the line to reduce the grades.

PENNSYLVANIA ROAD TO OPEN TELEGRAPHER'S SCHOOL.

Philadelphia, Sept. 26.—In announcing the opening of a new school of telegraphy at Bedford Park, the Pennsylvania railway management states that a greater demand than the supply has necessitated this step to secure a sufficient number of thoroughly trained men to fill positions in the departments of traffic and telegraphy. Many inquiries have already been received concerning the school, which bids fair to open with a large enrollment of students.

Located at the headquarters of the Bedford division, the school will have the personal supervision of practical railroad men, the present owners of the Pennsylvania railway company, J. B. Fisher, superintendent of telegraph at Philadelphia, will be charged with its operation. Under Mr. Fisher will be the manager, J. F. Cosma.

Because of the national legislation limiting the daily hours of railway telegraphers to nine, carriers of the country are faced with the problem of supplying a large number of additional operators to man their offices. On the Pennsylvania railroad alone, which now employs more than three thousand operators, it is estimated that seven hundred additional men will be needed to comply fully with the provisions of the law.

That the students may have the opportunity to become thoroughly versed in railway business before attempting actual work the regular wire of the Bedford division will run through the school room. Standard train order blanks will be furnished, that this feature of operating trains may become familiar to the students.

The text books which will be used in the Pennsylvania school of telegraphy, will consist of the Book of Block Signal Rules, the Book of Rules for the Governing of the Transportation Department, copies of all standard forms of Pennsylvania railroad blanks generally used in the keeping of station agents' accounts and the other standard literature in carrying on the business. In addition this students will be instructed in the general duties of an agent in administering the affairs of a station.

The time required to complete the course will be from six to eight months, and immediately upon its completion graduates will be provided with salaried positions in direct line of promotion. The bulk of the expense of the school is assumed by the railroad company, as the cost of the course to the student, $2 monthly, is merely nominal.

In addition to its statement that it wants young men between the ages of seventeen and twenty-five who possess good health to have a fair knowledge of the English language, mathematics and geography, the railroad company says on the conspicuous posters which have been spread broadcast throughout the state, that it wants "men of ability, energy, decision and action."

caused by the unusual amount of wheat, coal and merchandise being moved eastward, according to railroad officials.

F. P. Eymann, assistant general freight agent of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, asserted last night that road alone sends 500 empty freight cars into the west daily.

"The unusual amount of early orders for coal is responsible in a way for the congestion," he said. "In addition to this, grain dealers of the west are clamoring for cars in which to send their grain east. As rapidly as the cars unload in Chicago we dispatch them back to the grain centers."

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy is also sending all available cars to the west, according to G. H. Crosby, freight traffic manager.

"Although I hardly believe any of the roads are embarrassed by the sudden demand for cars, all of the western roads are using their capacity allowance of empties for the transportation from the grain fields," said Mr. Crosby. "The grain congestion is a yearly affair, but an added demand from the east for other articles has caused the added congestion."

Changes on the Rio Grande Division.

Taylor Nevils is firing a passenger engine between El Paso and Albuquerque now as the result of some changes recently made in the firemen of the Rio Grande division of the Santa Fe.

Arthur Fall, who was firing on the passenger run to Silver City, was promoted to a job as engineer on the Lake Valley run, which made a vacancy in the Silver City passenger run. As this run is preferred to the run to El Paso, owing to a shorter number of hours straight work, Fireman Will Kellum, who was running into El Paso, took the Silver City run, leaving a vacancy on the main line.

Fireman Nevils was firing a freight engine and was the first man out for a passenger run, so he was given the run vacated by Fireman Kellum and will make regular trips into El Paso now for an indefinite period.

GREAT TUNNEL UNDER WAY ON THE YAGUI ROAD

Tunneling through a mountain of granite for a distance of approximately a half mile is one of the giant undertakings in the construction work of the Cananea, Yaqui River and Pacific now being built out of Guaymas toward Nacozari to the north and to Guadalupe on the south.

It is not an easy matter under any circumstances to run a tunnel beneath a mountain, but the fact that the rock encountered is granite makes the task doubly difficult. The tunnel is on the north branch of the road between Cumripa and Buena Vista.

Work on the big project has been under way for the past two months and although the task is laborious, excellent progress is being made. The country along the line of the new road between Buena Vista and Cumripa is unusually rugged and there was no alternative save a tunnel.

At the present time the trains on the line are running as far as Buena Vista and after the completion of the tunnel, it will be but a short time until the road is completed as far as Cumripa, as the grading is nearly completed to that point.

NEW FOUNDRY WILL COME HERE

One More Santa Fe Official Confirms Statement as to Location of Big Industry.

One more official of the Santa Fe was found yesterday who had heard of the proposed establishment here of a large foundry by the Hewitt Brass Manufacturing company, and who gave it as his opinion that the fact had been definitely decided on for this city.

"I have heard this matter discussed for some time," he said, "and while I am not in a position to speak with authority on it, I am under the impression that Albuquerque has been chosen for the site for the plant, which will be one of the largest establishments of its kind in this part of the country. I am under the impression that some definite information concerning it will be forthcoming in the near future."

It has thus far been impossible to obtain definite confirmation of the statements as to the foundry from the headquarters of the company in Chicago.

GIBSON AND INGRAHAM QUICKLY ACQUITTED

Jury Requires Ten Minutes to Decide Interesting Grant County Murder Case.

The Silver City Independent of Tuesday carries an interesting account of the conclusion of the trial of William N. Gibson and John Ingraham, who have been on trial in Silver City for more than a week, charged with the murder of Frank Watkins on the 12th of last March. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

EAT WHAT YOU WANT

Science Has Now Found the True Way to Cure Indigestion.

A few years ago, when a sufferer from indigestion went to a stomach specialist, the remedy was a rigid diet list that almost meant starvation.

But the first thing to do in the case of indigestion or stomach weakness is to strengthen the muscular walls of the stomach and intestines, so that they will care for the food that is eaten. In no other way can this be done as well as by taking a Mito-na tablet before each meal. This restores strength to the stomach and muscles and stimulates the pouring out of gastric juices, so that the food is digested readily and its nourishment retained in the system to build up energy and vitality.

Do not think the sick headache, heartburn, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, spots before the eyes, sleeplessness and the many other symptoms that are the direct result of indigestion, will go away of themselves. The stomach must be built up and strengthened by Mito-na before you can be well and strong, free from suffering and distress.

In many of the best homes in Albuquerque and adjoining towns, the handy little Mito-na tablets, so pleasant to take, yet so effective, have given quick and lasting relief from indigestion and that disagreeable full feeling after eating.

The guarantee that J. H. O'Reilly Co. give with every fifty cent box of Mito-na, to refund the money unless the remedy cures, shows their confidence in the treatment. They take the whole risk, and Mito-na will not cost you a penny unless it cures.

COMPETITION OR POOLING?

An opinion expressed recently by Martin A. Knapp, chairman of the interstate commerce commission, is attracting a great deal of attention and commotion throughout the country, from both sides of the great railway problem. The eminent position which Mr. Knapp occupies, as the head of the government's high commission for the regulation of the great railway business of the country, or rather the basis upon which that business shall be conducted, gives peculiar emphasis and import to everything that he may say on the subject. Hence his recent remarks upon the present railway situation, in which he expresses qualified approval of the old system of pooling, and unqualified condemnation of the government's present policy of unrestricted competition, as inimical to the public good, have attracted more than ordinary interest. His statement cannot be taken as the undigested opinion of a "rattle-brained rascal," nor that of a man interested in railway profits rather than the public good, but expresses the deliberate judgment of an able and conservative man, who has made the matter the subject of his most careful study and investigation for the last fifteen years—or nearly the half of the average active lifetime of man.

Mr. Knapp has been a member of this commission for more than fifteen years, having been appointed by President Harrison. His training in corporation law fitted him very well for useful service in this post, and the observations which he has made from time to time regarding the relations of the railways to the people indicate that he has watched the developments of the last few years to a very good purpose.

It is likely that Mr. Knapp, in saying that co-operation should be made to replace competition, merely gives voice to a well settled popular conviction. Certainly there are not many today to contend that the public interest is forwarded by the throat-cutting of rivals in the transportation business. The multiplication of parallel lines which can not pay the interest upon the investment of money in them, periodical rate wars, disadvantageous complications involving passengers and shippers in reference to long distance traffic are not pleasing symptoms, and the very existence of the interstate commerce commission is an evidence that there is common ground which the companies should occupy if the public is to be well served. It is precisely this tendency, however, which we have tried to discourage and penalize in the Sherman anti-trust law. We have prohibited "pooling," and have made other regulations affecting the railroads which have always been evaded and always will be evaded because they are contrary to the fundamental right in the case.

Such laws cannot be enforced for very excellent reasons. It is a fact which every one knows that the railroads of this country rest today in the hollow of the hands of a few men, and they are so held because the successful conduct of this business requires a community of management and a general pooling of issues. In that way the most advantages accrue to the public, which has immense interests to be served. The old rule that "competition is the life of trade" ceased to apply to the railroads a long time ago. When the people and their goods were taken over the Alleghany mountains by stage coach and wagon, very different conditions prevailed. Competition brought better stages and faster horses and mules. It also tended to a material reduction of price. It is a time now of greater things, and the regulation of the subject of transportation by the government cannot be covered by a law saying that obstructions in the way of a return to these old conditions shall be swept away. They cannot be swept away. They have come to stay, and the evils which exist call for remedies founded upon the knowledge that the situation has undergone a permanent change.

All this is merely corroborative testimony in support of the already well-known fact that the world does move. The writer heretofore can distinctly remember when the only method of transportation from the Atlantic coast to points west of the Alleghany was by the big four-horse road wagon, over the "national turn pike," and we call to mind an occasion when the arrival of a bigger train than usual was chronicled in the Wheeling papers under great big square-heads announcing the arrival of "Party Wagon in One Day!" And that was nearly as big a thing to the Wheeling folks in 1847 as the arrival of the Albuquerque

Eastern would be to us in 1907. We have outgrown the road wagon, and also the methods that went with it. The world didn't stop in '47, nor '97, neither does it show any disposition to halt in '07—and not only individuals, but also the great government of the United States must learn through the stern logic of inexorable facts that those who do not keep up with the procession will "get left."

APPEAL TO THE PRESIDENT.

The Chicago city council, at its meeting on Monday evening of this week, adopted the following preamble and resolutions, by a vote of forty-nine yeas to fourteen nays:

"Whereas, The telegraph companies, by the various telegraph companies throughout the United States went on a strike August 8, and

"Whereas, This strike continues in operation and is so complete that the great telegraph companies are unable to handle even the most important messages without serious delay, and are actually forwarding by United States mail an important percentage of the messages handed them for telegraphic transmission, and are doing this in a manner calculated to deceive the addressor and addressee of such mail messages, and

"Whereas, Though the demands of these telegraphers on strike seem reasonable, the various telegraph companies declare they will not treat with them in any way, shape or manner, but express a determination to starve them into submission, and

"Whereas, The city of Chicago, the telegraphic center of the world, with its tremendous financial, commercial and general business interests, more than any other city in the world needs absolutely the very best telegraphic facilities, and

"Whereas, The financial, commercial and general business interests of Chicago have for nearly seven weeks been subjected to great loss and annoyance in consequence of this party telegraph and partly mail method of handling their most important and urgent communications, therefore be it

"Resolved, That the city of Chicago deprecates the policy of the various telegraph companies, and said city council of the city of Chicago hereby declares it to be the duty of these great employers to meet representatives of their striking employees and to do all that may reasonably be expected in order to adjust the differences between the companies and their striking employees, to the end that the normal telegraph service may be restored, and be it further

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States; to Charles P. Neill, commissioner of labor, and to the presidents, general managers and directors of the said telegraph companies."

POINTING TOWARD HUGHES.

Polls on the presidential question have been made by republicans in nearly all the states. As first choice for the first place on the ticket next year, Secretary Taft is said to be very largely in the lead, but it is taken as very significant that, without regard to first choice, nearly all the factions name Governor Hughes, of New York, as their second choice for the first place. One says, "I'm for Taft," another says, "I want Fairbanks," and another says, "Give me Uncle Joe," but they all add, "If I can't get him, give me Hughes." The Hughes prospects seem to be improving very surely and not slowly.

The prospects of the territorial fair grow brighter as the date of the exposition comes nearer. The business has been excellently managed this year, and everything at present promises the best and most successful exhibition we have ever had. People from all parts of the territory, and elsewhere, who want to see a thoroughly up-to-date show, will have an opportunity, ten days hence, to come and look at it—and they can be assured in advance that they will not go home disappointed, but on the contrary, will agree with Mrs. Sheba, that the half had not been told.

The armory matter appears to be practically settled, and there seems to be nothing remaining now but to arrange the details and make out the deeds. This practically assures us not only a good home for the guards, but a place to house the irrigation congress, and at the same time a public hall of far greater capacity than any other at present in the territory—for all of which the city owes a vote of thanks to Major Ruppe for his business qualities.

Misery, it is said, loves company, and hence it may afford you a little wicked satisfaction to know that the price of coal in Albuquerque is not as high as it is in some other places—at least not yet.

Any how, the Standard Oil company can congratulate itself upon having received a whole lot of advertising for its twenty-nine millions, and will not have to pay the money for a good while yet.

Some time has elapsed without eliciting any response from Governor Hughes to the slighting estimate of him voted by Senator Platt. Evidently the governor does not care much.

The income enjoyed by Rockefeller is now estimated at $19 a minute. Curious that, for convenience in calculation he should not have rounded it up to an even twenty.

Trouble with the pilot's union is confronting the Laplanta, because of some charge of favoritism. Labor problems are evidently not confined to the land lubbers.

Enough warlike preparations are going on in various parts of the globe to insure occupation for peace congresses for generations to come.

A rancher from Whiskey creek sold two wagon loads of costing ears of corn on the streets Saturday at twenty cents a dozen. Why Split Hairs
—47—
One says it is kidney trouble, another that it is Bright's Disease. What is the use of splitting hairs when nine-tenths of the kidney trouble shows albumen? If tested for it, and no Insurance Company then wants you, no matter what you call your trouble or how well you look?

Are you aware that the last U. S. census shows that nine-tenths of all the dead from kidney troubles had Bright's Disease? Well, it is a positive fact, and the census gives the figures. viz: 53,000 out of 43,000 the last census year.

Democratic Caution.

It is scarcely to be wondered that A. A. Jones of the territorial democratic central committee will call a meeting of that committee to be held in Santa Fe in the near future, when the question of the proposed constitutional convention will be taken up and a decision reached as to the policy to be followed by the democratic party. Mr. Jones has already declared himself as personally opposed to the calling of such a convention, prior to any action by congress and it is understood that he expects a majority of the committee to take the position of expressing the attitude of the party. In the meantime the statehood convention is not moving very swiftly to any understanding and it can be said with certainty that Governor Curry will take no action of any kind, either towards calling delegates elected last fall or to nominating new delegates, until after its conference with the president early in October. The independent is in favor of statehood in any form that the name may be obtained, but the present agitation in favor of a constitutional convention at the time when the earnest desire of being a republican campaign scheme and the democrats of the territory should give the matter very careful consideration, before committing themselves to a party policy—Silver City Independent.

The Cure for Worry.

Can worry be avoided or overcome? Is the disease curable without divine interposition? Undoubtedly, if the theory of thought-transference be accepted as indeed an established scientific fact, because surely an inquiry tending upward can be communicated as freely—if not, in fact, with greater readiness, because of the larger receptivity for that which is pleasing—as an inquiry tending downward. This, clearly, there may be brought into action for success those very forces which worry excites for ruin—forces which may or may not be irresistible, but certainly are, as the wise doctor observes, the most potent of earthly life and, consequently, all that our poor humans can summon to our aid, unless we adopt the aforementioned practice of thought-transference, is to constantly annoy the Almighty by beseeching Him to hide them over their petty difficulties. Not that their troubles seem slight to them; far from it. Invariably these are more serious than any others can possibly be; but the mere certainty that "God should stamp them out personally, instead of letting them work, as He does, —not to punish, but to purify, and to show clearly enough that, in reality, all individual tribulation is trifling.

Occasional reflection upon this great truth will do much to drive away the bad fairy and open the way out of despondency; but better yet is constant realization that one can do for either himself or others only that which lies within him to perform, and having satisfied himself on that score, he possesses an invulnerable right to disregard all possible consequences, and need give them no more consideration than a sagacious person accords idle speculation as to whether, when he awakes, he will find himself in heaven or in hell. Superfluous knowledge of the recognized folly of regret with appreciation of the fact that worry is never over-acted, but always over-imagined, fills and is therefore an unnecessary, as it is unwise and inefficient, and a long step will be taken towards the definite elimination of the chief bane of mankind—George Harvey in North American Review.

WEAK, WEARY WOMEN.

Learn the Cause of Daily Woes and End Them.
When the back aches and throbs,
When housework is torture,
When night brings no rest nor sleep,
When urinary disorders set in,
Women's lot is a weary one.

There is a way to escape these woes. Doan's Kidney Pills cure such ills. Have cured women here in Albuquerque.

This is one Albuquerque woman's testimony:
Mrs. J. L. Grubb, living at 217 "Treadway," Albuquerque, N. M., says: "For about two weeks my condition was so that whenever I would move around, pains and sharp stitches would take me up any further. Further proof of a disturbed condition of the kidneys existed, evidenced by a too frequent action of the secretions from these organs, as was mostly noticed in the fore part of the day. A lady who had been similarly troubled and had been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills, advised me to use them. I found 2 boxes, I used only a small portion and the benefit I derived was so pronounced that I was given proof of the genuineness of this medicine as a cure for backache and all ills arising from deranged kidneys."

A business man cannot use all advertisements, the medicine and schemes. Well, the true it is in the position of the tippler who tries to consume the entire visible supply of liquor in the interests of the cause.
If a marksman tries to use a dozen guns at once he will stand less chance of reaching the target than if he used but one, and aimed it carefully.
There is a wide difference between spending the advertising appropriation and investing it.
The wise advertiser concentrates his campaign on the one best medium in his field. He uses other mediums on occasion—but he uses them as supplementary ones.

Lawrence Lee, acting manager of the Girls' basketball team of the University of New Mexico, yesterday received a letter from W. C. Frigate, manager of the Las Vegas Normal girls' basketball team, challenging the local five to a game at Las Vegas and a return game here.

"As the University girls whipped us in good fashion last year, we have strengthened our five and we feel like we would give your team its money's worth. Besides the girls' basketball teams playing, we are trying to get the University football eleven to come on the same date, Advise."

The above was the gist of the letter, and Manager Lee declared last night that the challenge would be accepted with alacrity.

FLATTERING NOTICE FOR WEST MINSTRELS

Trinidad Newspaper Says Show to Appear Here is Best of Its Kind on the Road.

The West Minstrels to appear in Elks' theater tonight have been receiving some very flattering notices from newspapers in cities north of Albuquerque. The Trinidad Advertiser, of Trinidad, yesterday morning says of the company:

"When you wished to convey the impression that something you witnessed was so good that it was away above the ordinary, you would be almost sure to say that 'it was better than a circus.'"

If there is any exaggeration on the road deserving of such an expression, it is the William H. West Minstrels.

This company appeared at the Central Park theater last evening to a large and very appreciative audience, and sang, danced and joked their way into the hearts of the audience.

Without any exaggeration, the West Minstrels are the best from every point of view which ever delighted a Trinidad audience. The company is so far ahead of the much touted Dockstader minstrels that there is no comparison. In fact, if Dockstader could be induced to witness a performance of the West Minstrels, he would be the awakening would find him in the discard forever.

Part first was something entirely new in minstrelsy and could only be improved upon by a larger stage. The scenery and stage setting was magnificent and the costumes were costly and beautiful.

The eight men, four "bones" and four "rhythms" were smart, giving a fine of the old-time minstrelsy. The balance of the company were not blacked.

The end men were comedians second to none. There was no stale or flimsy jokes springing everything being fresh from the joke foundry. The comedians, George Van, Billy Graham, James H. Stuart, James Everett, Will L. Harrington, Sam Fraser, James McGreevy, and George Brown, are in a class by themselves.

For two hours the house was kept in an uproar and every member of the company was repeatedly cheered. The singing and dancing was unexcelled. In fact, the company as a whole is composed of educated, refined young men who take great pride in their work and strive to please, and do please their audience.

The company is under the management of Sanford B. Rieby, who was associated with "Billy" West during the latter's lifetime, and knows minstrelsy like a Chinaman. Does this fact gathered about him the best talent on the American stage today, and when you see West Minstrels, you see them, all other minstrel companies are not in the circus concert class compared to West.

Everyone who missed the entertainment last evening will always have something to regret.

The company leaves this morning for Las Vegas and Albuquerque, they being on their way to the coast.

Barley, Bread and Beer

These three words are derived from the same Anglo Saxon root—breowan.

All three are foods. Barley, a grain that makes both bread and beer. Bread, a solid food. Beer, a liquid food.

In making bread, flour and yeast are used; in making beer, barley-malt, hops and yeast are used. The same principle is in each—both are wholesome foods.

In Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer the Pabst Eight-Day Malting Process matures the malt slowly and uniformly, thus transforming every particle of nutriment in the barley into perfect food substances.

To these are added the invigorating properties of the choicest hops, by the Pabst brewing process, which insures absolute purity.

Your system requires a liquid. Why not use one that is both food and drink—
