(By E. A. Drake.)

Socorro, N. M., Sept. 29.—The second day of the Socorro county fair drew even a larger crowd than the opening day, and removed all possible question of the success of the fair from the standpoint of popular interest and from the standpoint of finances. The fair has proven a very much bigger and has attracted a great deal more attention than its organizers had hoped for. A moderate estimate of the number of visitors who today is 10,000. Just how Socorro has managed to take care of them is a question, but someone who has managed it, and in some way difficult to see every one has been fed, places have been found for those who want to take time to sleep and no one has been heard to complain. The fact that today has been Sunday seems to have tended rather to increase the crowds on the streets, and at the fair ground.

The arrival this morning of special trains from Albuquerque, Magdalena and southern New Mexico added hundreds of people to the crowd and Socorro took literally swamped with visitors. Most of the excursionists are returning to their homes tonight, and it is probably a good thing they are, for while Socorro would have done her best, it is difficult to see just where they would have slept.

Feast of San Miguel.

One of the striking features of today's events was the celebration of the annual feast of San Miguel, the patron saint of Socorro. The celebration occurred this morning with impressive religious ceremonies and was witnessed by thousands of people. In the procession in honor of the saint were not less than fifty different people. There were in the line people from every section of Socorro county, many of them having driven a hundred miles or more to attend the fiesta and the fair.

RECEPTION TO

GOVERNOR CURRY

As the last event of the day, Governor Curry was tendered a reception last night in the opera house, which was literally jammed with people anxious to shake hands with the governor, who stood for the first time in the acquaintance of the fair visitors and Socorro people. Early this morning the governor left for Santa Fe, expecting to leave this evening for St. Louis. He showed little sign of fatigue last night.

THE MINERAL EXHIBIT

ATTRACTS ATTENTION

The splendid mineral collection of C. T. Brown, of this city, one of the finest in the west, has been thrown open to the public during the fair and has attracted a large number of visitors. Mr. Brown is a mining expert of note, and has spent years in making this collection, which is the most complete of New Mexico minerals in existence, and its display during the fair has aroused much interest.

SOCORRO DEFEATS BARCELAS;

BROWNS WIN A GAME

Today's baseball games were fast and aroused all sorts of enthusiasm among the fairgoers. The contest between Socorro and Barcelas was even faster than yesterday afternoon's game, when Barcelas defeated Santa Fe by a score of 3 to 0.

Socorro won from Barcelas this morning by a score of 2 to 0, and the interest was acute up to the last instant of the ninth inning, when the last Barcelas man went out with three men on base and the score 3 to 2. Gaetano pitched for Barcelas and Rhodes, the fast young man from the big league, who used to play with Las Vegas, did the work for Socorro. He pitched a terrific game, although he had little the best of the Albuquerque boy.

Barcelas scored one run in the ninth inning, and with the bases full it looked like a cinch for a tie, but Rhodes braced and retired the man.

The score by innings:

Socorro.....000 001 001-2
Barcelas.....000 001 020-3

Batteries—Craib and Diamond; Rhodes and Pinkerton.

This afternoon the Browns had no difficulty in defeating a team of picked men called the Stars. Hagerman, the tall Socorro lad, pitched for the Stars, but was hardly a match for Craib, who was in great form.

The score by innings:

Socorro.....002 010 020-6
Stars.....000 000 000-0

Batteries—Craib and Edwards; Hagerman and Pinkerton.

There will be three baseball games tomorrow, the closing day of the fair, although who will play has not yet been determined.

MOPE EXCITING

BRONCO RIDING

After the baseball games this afternoon the crowd was treated to another exhibition of ground and lofty bronco busting.

H. C. McElroy, one of the best riders in the county, rode a brown outlaw known as Jim. Jim has a reputation as a bad one, and did his best to sustain it, but McElroy rode him after a hard fight. "Black Irishman," another bad one, was ridden by a white Irishman, Milt Craig, who did the trick after an exciting five minutes. A roan ridden by Maria Baca did a lot of bucking, but not enough to satisfy Baca, who demanded another mount. He was furnished with an iron gray. Had this time had all the excitement he wanted, although he rode the horse.

After dying him with saddle, Baca took off the saddle and attempted to ride him bareback, but this was too much for the bronco, which promptly dumped Baca.

The Navajo band gave a war dance following the bucking, and the trap men kept the evening event of the afternoon's program.

Out of a possible 25, the following scores were made: Dwight Stevens, 21; Chris Rashbell, 22; L. C. Young, 19; W. F. Colwell, 21; W. H. Hill, 18.

In addition to three baseball games tomorrow there will be another bronco busting exhibition, dances by the Navajos, trap shooting and racing. In fact, the good time that will be kept up to the standard, and will keep the visitors busy. Tonight Socorro is packed to the stands with people, whose sole purpose seems to be to have a good time and who are busily engaged in having it. The ex-cuse "Ara-sa-va" or pay supra uapana for the Magdalena delegation, which is spending most of the night in town. The crowd is good, and has firmly convinced Socorro people that it is to be an annual event in the future.

FAIR ASSOCIATION IS ATTER

SAN ANTONIO LADY RANGERS

The Albuquerque fair association is going to make an effort to induce Colonel A. H. Hilton of San Antonio to bring his Rough Rider troop and the lady rangers to the Albuquerque fair. The San Antonio delegation in the big parade yesterday made a great hit, and has attracted much attention today.

The Rough Rider company consists of fifty small boys from ten to fifteen years of age, led by Captain Mord Kennedey and the captain's son of the Santa Fe agent at San Antonio, who rides a Shetland pony, and who is the kingpin of the outfit.

The Toronado del Muerto Lady Rangers, also organized in San Antonio, have received not a bit less attention. They are under the leadership of Captain Mrs. Prantz Smith, numbering twenty-five ladies, all of them expert horsewomen.

The Albuquerque men have been much impressed by the combination, and are making a strong effort to induce them to come to the fair. The ladies are under the leadership of Captain Mrs. Prantz Smith, numbering twenty-five ladies, all of them expert horsewomen.

CAVALRYMEN TO GIVE CRACK PROGRAM

ATHLETIC EVENTS AND THE RULES TO GOVERN THEM

Ten Contests in Which Horse manship and Endurance Will Count—Shoe Race Promises to be a Winner.

The military feature at the coming territorial fair which opens a week from today promises to be one of the stellar attractions of the week. If one can judge from the program which has been submitted by the troop commanders at Fort Wingate in response to the invitation of the fair association.

Some weeks ago it was announced that the association would appropriate prize $200 for athletic events to be participated in by troopers only, and a request was made that the troop commanders dispose of the matter of awarding this prize money.

The fair association yesterday received the following letter from Lieutenant D. D. Gregory, squadron adjutant of the Fifth cavalry, transmitting the program of athletic events for the troopers as compiled by the troop commanders and the rules to govern the contest. Nothing can show the nature of the contests more clearly than the rules themselves and the correspondence is given in full below:

Fort Wingate, N. M., Sept. 27, 1907.
The Secretary, Territorial Fair Association, Albuquerque, N. M.

Yours truly,

COAL INQUIRY MAY NOT BE PUSHED

EXPENSE OF INVESTIGATING COAL WOULD BE HEAVY

Witnesses for American Fuel
Company Would Have to be Brought From Denver—Rumors of Recommendations.

An unconfirmed rumor was current in Albuquerque yesterday to the effect that the territorial grand jury would not push the inquiry into the causes behind the recent advance in the price of coal, further at the present session, although Judge Abbott has ruled that the jury has the power to proceed under the territorial statutes, and that witnesses must answer questions.

District Attorney P. W. Clancy yesterday declined to discuss the matter in any way, as business which was still before the grand jury and therefore not public property.

Expense Would Be Heavy.
Reasons given as supporting the rumor that the jury would not proceed further with the inquiry were many, one of the most important being the expense involved in the carrying out of such an investigation would be very considerable, and more than the court fund could stand. It was pointed out that it would be necessary to bring witnesses from Denver if a complete inquiry were to be made into the operations of the American Fuel company, which although a New Mexico corporation, has its offices in Colorado and conducts its business from there. This alone would involve an enormous expense.

In addition it is understood that certain of the witnesses named in the grand jury last week, and who refused to answer questions, have been advised by counsel to continue to refuse to answer questions put by the jury. Should these witnesses be called again, and should they refuse to answer questions, an interesting situation would result. The refusal would bring the witnesses into contempt of court, and in the ordinary course of procedure the court would be compelled to commit them to jail for contempt. This in turn would probably bring about a habeas corpus proceeding, and it has been suggested that on this proceeding should it come on, the court would be taken direct to the supreme court of the United States.

There is a growing feeling, also, although the feeling of the grand jurors on the matter is of course not known, that if there is reasonable ground for an investigation into the causes of the advance in the price of coal, that it is a matter for the United States to take up, and not for the territorial grand jury, which is supposed to be a body of local citizens.

Some surprise has been expressed at the reason for an investigation of the kind that was not brought to the attention of the territorial grand jury, which adjourned a week ago.

Another rumor current yesterday, and which the others could not be confirmed, was to the effect that the grand jury, while it might not proceed with the inquiry further at this session, might in the interim report to the court a recommendation to the interstate commerce commission in connection with the coal situation.

The grand jury will reconvene this morning and it is expected that its work will be completed by Wednesday or Thursday, should the coal inquiry not be carried on further.

EL PASO WOULD INVESTIGATE
CAUSE OF THE INCREASE

The following from the El Paso Herald on the coal situation is of interest.

The chamber of commerce has taken up the matter of increase in the coal rates for a full investigation of the causes which have advanced the price from $5 which it paid a year ago, to $9, which is the price that El Paso consumers are compelled to pay today.

Old bills of the coal dealers have been examined and it has been shown by this canvass that the price paid a year ago at the Gallup mine was $2 per ton, while dealers are charged $3.50 per ton this year.

The cause for this advance is the scarcity of coal in California, the coal operators of New Mexico coal districts claim, and the fact that California dealers are at the mines bidding $2.50 for the coal as it comes from the mine. The freight rate from Gallup to El Paso brings the price of the coal up to the present figure, costing the difference, beside the profit of the local dealer to bring the coal to El Paso.

Sendings is hopeful that his high percentage of victories there will be maintained. In St. Louis, however, things have not always been rosy for Detroit. After Detroit leaves Philadelphia will welcome the Clevelandans to their home grounds for four games and then will go to Washington for three.

In the National League, Chicago has never once been displaced from the head of the column, entering the first week one hundred points ahead of Pittsburgh, her nearest opponent. New York, which stuck closely to second place and during the earlier part of the season was a strong rival for supremacy with Chicago, has dropped to third place, where the Giants are likely to finish. St. Louis for the National League, and Washington for the American League, wind up the season at the foot of the column. The standing of the clubs:

Municipality Owns a Mill.
Joplin, Mo., Sept. 29.—This city is one of the very few municipalities in the world engaged in milling.

The city of Joplin owns twenty acres of land in the western portion of the city, that for years was considered useless, but three years ago a rich body of lead and zinc ore was discovered and without one cent's worth of risk the municipal government has realized $20,000 in royalties from the ore produced from that tract of land.

Hammer Throwing Record Broken.
Kansas City, Sept. 28.—Matt McGinnis, representing the New York Athletic association, today broke the world's record for throwing the sixteen pound hammer, held by Nicholson of Scotland, by hurling it 164 feet 2 inches. The former record was 161 feet. The record was made in an open contest in this, the second day of the public playground meet, McGrath competing with Talbot House of California.

PROFESSIONAL ESCORTS IN NEW YORK

NEW FIELD FOR WELL APPEARING YOUTHS

Novel Line of Business Likely to Prove Boon to Lone Woman in Great City; Opening for College Student.

(Special Correspondence Morning Journal.)

New York, Sept. 25.—New York is to have something new in the line of business which will at the same time prove a boon to lone females and aid college students who do not have their education paid for out of a parental purse. The new idea is for a bureau of escorts to be opened by a woman, who will act as guides, philosophers and friends to any woman in New York, who happens to be without a protecting man. The idea has been suggested before, and even tried in a tentative way by one theater, which offered to furnish escorts to accompany to their homes such women as came to the theater alone. The plan did not go well, however, partly because of the personality of the escorts and partly for the reason that the escorts were not of this field—the uniform. The new escort bureau, however, proposes to furnish young men, preferably college students of the best manners, education and character generally. All these points will be most carefully investigated and in addition his wardrobe must be equal to any social demands. That there is room for some such plan, provided the escorts furnished can get the women they are to look after on a basis of equality, is shown by the fact that many cafes and hotel dining rooms exclude women unaccompanied by a man. Just how unaccompanied will take to the new idea, however, remains to be seen.

An investigator with a bent for facts of curious interest, has discovered that while the sky-scrapers of Manhattan are pushing to greater and greater heights, the city underground has been growing more and more fully. According to his computation over a hundred thousand persons carry on their daily occupations beneath the streets and below the waters of Greater New York. Some of these are casual workers, tending the foundations of huge buildings, employees of the various tunnels making their way under the North and East rivers, and workmen in the subway. In addition to this substantial line of underground activity, there are certain industries that are carried on almost entirely beneath the surface. One of these is baking, and it is stated that nearly all the bread and pastry eaten by New Yorkers is prepared in the below ground city. There are thousands of small shops in the East side that occupy cellars with no light or ventilation except such as comes from the single entrance reached by a steep flight of steps from the street. The voices of the more fashionable city also are taking to the underground city since some of the big hotels and department stores have utilized the space below the surface of their various stories for the purpose of storing goods. It is pointed out that a man can come from Chicago to New York, put up at a hotel, visit several stores, transact business at a downtown office, and return to his home without once setting foot out of doors. This state of affairs undoubtedly presages the time when there will be an underground city extending over the whole lower part of Manhattan. The new idea of the underground city, however, is not new. It has been suggested many times in the past, but it has not been until recently that it has been taken seriously. The new idea of the underground city, however, is not new. It has been suggested many times in the past, but it has not been until recently that it has been taken seriously.

One of the most curious transcontinental trips within the memory of the present generation came to a spectacular close here this week, when Tara Mosker reached this city in a regular old-fashioned prairie schooner, drawn by a pair of plodding oxen. More than a year ago Mr. Mosker set out from the Pacific coast with the outfit, which is seen nowadays in these parts only in wild west shows, to follow back the old Oregon trail by which he reached the west with a prairie schooner and a pair of oxen exactly half a century ago. His progress naturally has not been rapid as the ox is not built for speed, but it has been steady and the pair of animals which threw Broadway into excitement have pulled the schooner about 2,500 miles of the long journey. Traffic was practically tied up as Mr. Mosker, who is still hale and hearty at seventy-six, "geed" and "hauled" his strange team among the automobiles and cabs. The police had considerable trouble in keeping things moving, and were called upon to stop numerous fights between street urchins who were attempting to prove by battle that the strange animals were buffaloes. Mr. Mosker's long ride was undertaken neither as a novel health cure, but to arouse interest in his project for a national transcontinental highway to follow the route of the old Oregon trail—a project which is going to lay before President Roosevelt just as soon as his ox team can get him to Washington.

What local physicians look upon as the most remarkable case in medical history was revealed this week by the autopsy following the death of a Mrs. Stevens, who has lived for months with a hole in her heart, through which the blood leaked out. According to all the laws of science, this trouble, the first of its kind to be recorded, ought to have caused death as soon as it began. Mrs. Stevens was literally the sickest person on record, suffering in addition to the heart trouble which carried her off, for which a name has not yet been chosen, from at least six other deadly diseases, to say nothing of many minor ones. How she lived at all is a mystery. Although but thirty-three years old, the list of her troubles could make a medical dictionary. At the time of her death she was suffering from Bright's disease, enlargement of the liver, tuberculosis, meningitis, dropsy of the whole body and general edema or swelling of the brain. In addition to these, six of which should have caused death, were a list of minor complaints, making her literally a museum of maladies.

ing here, claims he can do turns out to be true, sculptors and makers of animal statues generally might just as well quit work and begin looking for some other means of livelihood. Brosso, in short, claims to have perfected a process which he has demonstrated before various organizations abroad, by which he can turn living or dead animals, human or otherwise, into stone. Instead of chipping a queer statue out of a block of marble in the future, all that will be necessary will be to secure a horse, put a man on his back, apply the new process and presto—a statue true to life in every detail! The dog which was guarded the house during his lifetime can after his death occupy the front lawn as a statue, while the man who finds his affinity can be sure of seeing her always by applying the new process immediately. So far Mr. Brosso has confined his experiment to huge animals, and smaller animals, even though there does not seem to be any demand for petrified reptiles. But his process will work just as well on human beings, cows, horses or even elephants, whether alive or dead, he asserts, cheerfully offering to petrify anyone's pet elephant for nothing. The chemical by which the results are achieved remains a secret, but it is said to be a complete monopoly of the man making money by petrifying Brosso might obtain it if he wanted to.

RUSSIAN SIREN IN JAIL FOR MURDER

Venice, Sept. 28.—A tragedy of passion, involving several people well known in Russian society, is the sensation of the moment in every European country. The principal figure in the drama is the Countess Marie Nikolayevna Tarnovsky, a beautiful divorcee who has been farrying on in luxury with three different men. One of these, Namiouff, murdered her fiancée, Count Karmarowsky, in a hotel here, and the countess, Namiouff, and the third lover, Prykoff, a Moscow lawyer, are in custody.

Prykoff, who acted for the countess in her divorce proceedings, and afterwards left his wife and family to follow her, has confessed that the countess was the principal instigator, and that he had planned the murder, which Namiouff carried out as their lot, thinking that he was removing a rival. Karmarowsky, however, had shortly before insured his life for $100,000, and the policy to the countess, who was getting tired of him and wished to secure the insurance money. That, at least, is the police theory of the plot.

August all four actors in the drama were staying in Vienna, where the countess was a most conspicuous figure with her beautiful appearance, splendid dress and costly jewels. She spent most of her time with Karmarowsky, while secretly meeting Prykoff, and Namiouff was alarming other visitors at his hotel by his moody and half-insane behavior. He had left his wife and child in Russia to follow this beautiful siren, and was finding his heart out with jealousy. He was thus easily persuaded by Prykoff to seek the countess in his hotel and shoot him. Karmarowsky died very soon afterwards in the local hospital.

The Countess Tarnovsky, who is descended from an Irish family named O'Rourke, who settled in Russia one hundred years ago, is a singularly beautiful woman, who seems to have excelled an evil fascination over the three men, with whom she has lived in different European cities. She is now in a Venetian prison, quite prosperous with grief—or perhaps remorse, and has constant fits of weeping.

NASTY FRENCH LITERATURE ATTACKED

NEW ORLEANS LIBRARIAN STARTS STORM IN PARIS

Americans Accused of Hypocrisy Find Vigorous Defenders in Gay Capital; Brandy Starts State Scandal.

(By Henri Dubois.)

Paris, Sept. 28.—"Are Americans hypocrites?" This is a question which is being discussed in the French press, and it all arises out of the fact that large bales of French novels are sent to America, and especially to New Orleans.

M. P. A. Delong, secretary of the public library in New Orleans, wrote to Paris to say that the French language is declining in that country for the simple reason that parents can no longer place in the hands of their young people those French books which are sent over to the United States.

Correspondents have taken this up and attacked the Americans in general, and the New Orleansists in particular, alleging them to be hypocritical, and maintaining that French books, which treat of physiological and psychological questions are not worthy of the respect of the Americans.

M. Hugues Le Roux, the well known politician, has however, taken up the cudgels on behalf of the Americans, and opened the eyes of those who said they were hypocritical. He says that the class of book which is sent to America by ton loads is of the most disgusting and disgusting character, and such as no decent French man and woman read.

There are agents who make a regular business of exporting this type of book, and assure the ignorant buyers on the other side that they are in vogue in France, so that high class literature only finds its way into the country in dribs and drabs.

He considers this to be a disgrace and says further: "It requires a moral setting to make a people, and its first embryonic ideas of tradition have been supplied to the American democracy by the narrowest religious discipline, and disgusting character, and such as no decent French man and woman read."

Further commenting on American morals, the well known journalist says: "Edgar Allen Poe, the only writer of genius which the United States has produced up to the present time, has remained under a cloud because his morals were not all they should be."

seven months hard work for the government accountants at the Toulon naval headquarters. The thirty cents had been the trouble for thirty-four years with the accounts, which had refused to balance all that time.

At last the ministry of finance declared that the books must be straightened out, so a staff of accountants set to work. After toiling for seven months at the books, they traced the unlucky thirty cents to the pay of Commander Gallibet, an officer of the arsenal, who in 1873 received 30 cents less than was due him.

Now that officer, who is a retired admiral and ex-minister of marine, has been informed that thirty cents due him is lying at the ministry of finance awaiting collection by him.

A few bottles of brandy have been the cause of a veritable state scandal in French official circles. M. Lahet, the sub-prefect of the district of St. Giron, accompanied by his father-in-law, attended the sale of the contents of the cellars of a local chateau.

The father-in-law bought a few bottles of old brandy, which were at once placed on the box of M. Lahet's motor car by a servant. In accordance with the French law no wine or spirit can be taken from one place to another until a permit has been taken out and paid for, and a declaration made as to the amount removed.

A political adversary of the sub-prefect noticed the omission to take out the necessary permit, and announced that he would report the matter in attendance. On the sub-prefect and his father arriving home they found a revenue officer waiting for them, and a summons was taken out against them for removing spirits without making the necessary declaration.

The local director of inland revenue for the department considering the matter to be of small importance, did not allow the summons to proceed. The opposition ceased, but the minister of finance asked the director to send in an official report on the affair. On the latter replying that the matter was of so little importance that he had shut his eyes to it, he was to his great surprise dismissed from the office.

Now the offending sub-prefect has been summoned to Paris by M. Clemenceau, who, after hearing his explanation, will decide as to whether or not he will dispense with his services. The sub-prefect, who is very indignant at the whole affair, says all the annoyance has been caused to him because a thoughtless servant put the brandy in his motor car without his being aware of it.

That dollar will buy more space in The Journal—and better space, too, because of the character of Journal readers—than is possible through any other Albuquerque medium.

NEW STOREHOUSE IS SWORN CHAMBER TO GET TO LEAD THE PROCESSION

RICE SAYS IT WILL BE BEST ON THE SYSTEM

Supply Department Men Decline to Discuss Rumored Brass Foundry—Fuel Inspector on First Trip.

W. E. Hodges, general purchasing agent of the Santa Fe; N. M. Rice, general storekeeper, and C. F. Laddington, chief fuel inspector, under the stores department, arrived in Albuquerque yesterday and were joined here by a number of officers of the stores department. Mr. Laddington is on his first trip over the system since his appointment as chief fuel inspector, a position just created. His headquarters will be in Topoka, and an assistant for the coast lines will be named in the near future, with headquarters in Albuquerque.

"Have you seen the plans for our new store house here?" asked Mr. Rice last night of a Journal reporter. "It is going to be a dandy; the best building of the kind on the coast lines and a credit to Albuquerque. We have hoped to have construction under way at once, although inability to get material has held us back." Mr. Rice not so very long ago storekeeper here, was for some time a resident of Albuquerque, and still takes a great deal of interest in everything that is going on here. Mr. Rice will remain in Albuquerque for several days. Mr. Hodges left last night for the west. Neither the purchasing agent nor Mr. Rice would discuss the rumored establishment here of the Hewitt Brass manufacturing company's auxiliary foundry, although both admitted having heard the matter spoken of. Mr. Hodges said the delay in completing the new fuel plant had caused his department some embarrassment. The delays, he said, were chiefly due to the troubles of the contractors who had encountered quicksand which had delayed the foundation construction, and also delays in securing material.

FIVE THOUSAND WORKMEN ON MEXICAN GRADE
Redmond Toohy, who was the first railroad construction contractor in Arizona, arrived in Tucson this morning from Mexico where he has been for the past week, says the Tucson Citizen.

Mr. Toohy has retired from the active work of overseeing the construction, but has left his teams and materials to Grant Brothers. His recent trip to Mexico was more out of curiosity than anything else, his object being to see how the work was proceeding.

The Randolph people are building four or five new lines in Mexico at the present time, Mr. Toohy only had an opportunity to witness the work on one line, that being built from the main line at Corral to the Alamos miles.

"There are four to five thousand men now working on this line," said Mr. Toohy this morning, "and the work is being pushed as rapidly as possible. The object of the line is to open up the mining areas of much larger scale than they are now being worked."

Redmond Toohy was one of the first railroad construction contractors in the west, having a contract for the building of a certain part of the Atlantic and Pacific railroad, the first transcontinental railroad to be built in this country. He also built the Prescott street railway and was engaged in the construction work on the S. F. & P. road from Ash Fork to Phoenix.

HARD TO SAY WHEN CUT-OFF WILL BE OPEN

J. V. Key, chief engineer of the Eastern Railway of New Mexico, arrived here yesterday afternoon from Belen. In speaking about the Belen cut-off last night, Mr. Key said:

"It is as difficult to say when the cut-off will be completed as it has been for some time, although considerable more track and roadbed have been laid. The line from Vaughn east to Tule is practically completed, while the Belen to Vaughn track is all laid, permitting two trains to run over it daily.

"The contractors in charge of the construction work are doing their best, but it is a question as to when the cut-off will be completed so as to permit a regular schedule to be established."

Mr. Thorne, night chief clerk at the depot, has resigned to resume the study of medicine in St. Louis. V. Holcomb, train baggage man on Nos. 2 and 7, from here to Las Vegas, is acting as night chief clerk.

Harry Fouts and Mr. Constant, the day and night ticket agent, are two of the busiest men in the city right now, getting up their monthly reports, selling tickets and performing the duties of an information bureau.

The Santa Fe excursion train run from here to the Socorro fair yesterday morning, returned to Albuquerque about 1 o'clock this morning, bringing a tired but happy crowd.

Private car "Estelle," belonging to Edward L. Doherty, the California oil king, who, with his family, are returning home from the east, passed through on No. 7 last night.

M. J. Drury, mechanical superintendent of the Western Grand division, has returned to La Junta after being in the east to attend the funeral of a relative.

Two cars of the San Francisco, Vallejo and Napa Valley railroad, a narrow gauge road, passed through the city yesterday en route to Frisco.

On account of trouble east of La Junta yesterday, No. 3, the flyer, did not reach Albuquerque until 2:18 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Engine No. 1872, one of the new compounds arrived in the city last night, pulling a drag of fifty-four heavily loaded box cars.

Mr. Springer, assistant night yardmaster, has resigned. W. Skolden, assistant night yardmaster at Abajo, succeeded him.

One of the worst features of blunder treatment of a fatal mistake. The Police Court for the victim realized his danger to his life in that it is an indictment and he is charged with the crime of manslaughter and is liable for a fine and imprisonment.

SWORN CHAMBER TO GET TO LEAD THE PROCESSION

COMMISSIONER CLARK HOLDS DEMANDS JUST

Affects Employees of 55,000 Miles of Western Railroads; Scheme Evolved for Handling Baggage.

A telegram has been received stating that the demands of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen for an increase in the hourly rate of switchmen has been granted and will become effective October 1. This announcement was made by P. H. Morrissey, grand master of the B. of R. T., who represented the employees in the matter, and who has been in conference with General Manager J. E. Hurley, of the A. T. and S. F., representing the railroads, and Hon. E. E. Clark, of the interstate commerce commission, who was chosen by both sides as sole arbitrator of the differences between the railroads and their employees.

Practically all of the demands of the switchmen have been granted and will affect the employees of 55,000 miles of railroad in the west. The men demanded an increase of two cents per hour, and at a conference held at Denver the railroad officials granted a raise of one cent per hour and agreed to submit the other cent raise to arbitration. The date for the hearing was set for September 15, and both sides were heard by the arbitrator. General Manager Hurley placed the railroad's side of the case before Mr. Clark, and Grand Master Morrissey for the switchmen. According to the agreement entered into, the decision was to be rendered ten days after the close of the hearing and should cover all the territory included in the arbitration agreement. The decision was agreed to be final and binding on both parties and the changed schedule should be incorporated in the yard schedules of the roads affected.

According to the terms of the original arbitration agreement, which was signed by R. H. Ingram, of the Southern Pacific, who acted as chairman for the railroads, and P. H. Morrissey for the brotherhood, the increase of one cent should be effective September 1, and should apply to the employees of all roads that signed the original agreement.

NEW SCHEME EVOLVED FOR HANDLING BAGGAGE

Colorado Springs, Sept. 29.—As a result of a conference here between prominent baggage agents of the middle west and transfer men, the traveling public will soon have facilities for checking baggage, doing away with the inconvenience now experienced at depots. Within a few days the system will be established whereby passengers in any part of the country can have their trunks, etc., checked directly from their home to the baggage station in the city to which they are bound. Within sixty days this plan will be further improved so that baggage will be checked from any home in one city to any address in another without delay and annoyance at either depot.

Among those present today's conference were these baggage agents: G. H. Lee, of the Rock Island; Patrick Walsh, of the Santa Fe; and J. Keating, of the Denver Union depot, with J. M. Kuykendall, of the Denver Transfer company, and numerous representatives from the Rio Grande, Colorado Midland, Colorado and Southern, Oregon Short Line and the Southern Pacific roads.

Throws Light a Mile.

Austin, Texas, Sept. 29.—On a straight track, locomotive engineers can see more than three-quarters of a mile ahead, with the electric headlight recently perfected by Mr. B. H. Lacy, of the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio railway. Exhaustive service trials have proved that the new device, in reliability and usefulness, is second only to the air brake.

The new headlight is simplicity itself, and it so thoroughly meets railroad conditions that it will stand the jar of a running locomotive and yet produce a powerful concentrated beam of light, uniform and steady.

The more general adoption of electric headlights has been largely retarded by the fact that the types were not sufficiently reliable in operation and were too fragile and complicated to be kept in order by the regular locomotive repairman. The new type lamp has been developed to overcome these difficulties and its design shows the genius of the practical railway man in every detail.

It has been demonstrated that the great power of the new light enables engineers to make much better use of the air brakes, so that the train can be brought to a standstill in time to prevent accidents. Instead of straining his eyes at a poorly lighted point, possibly a thousand feet ahead, as is the case with the usual form of oil headlight, the engineer sees clearly, without special effort, not only the rails ahead, but enough of the right-of-way to give him a complete grasp of surrounding conditions.

For furnishing current to run the headlight a small rotary engine is provided, and upon the same base is a direct, connected generator. Working parts are well protected by substantial metal cases and cannot get out of order under ordinary running conditions. As the generator operates only one lamp, the amount of electricity generated is so small that no one could be injured by accidental contact with the circuits.

More Room at Winslow.
Plans have been prepared for a sixty-foot addition to the west end of the depot building at Winslow, supplying additional office room, which is greatly needed. The bridge and building department, the roadmaster's office, the engineering department and the resident claim agent will have offices in the new addition.

One of the prettiest juvenile social events of the year occurred Saturday afternoon, September 28th, when Miss Irene, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Fee, of West Coal avenue, entertained a number of her friends, the occasion being her eighth birthday. The afternoon passed very quickly in games of every description known to eight-year-olds, and at 4:30 the dining room doors were thrown open to the children, revealing a charming room decked in white and yellow, each chandelier bulb being the center of a huge yellow poppy, from which streamers were draped to the corners of the table. In the center of the table stood a dark-haired doll, fluffily laid in white and yellow, and from her hands ribbons extended to each plate, holding favors, yellow-haired dolls for the girls, and rubber dolls for the boys. At each end of the table stood a cake bearing the requisite eight candles. The color scheme was carried out in the brick ice cream and fruit, and the whole effect was decidedly charming. Little Miss Fee did the honors with great success and was heartily congratulated on the success of her party.

The Temple Aid society is the title of an organization perfected by the children of Temple Albert yesterday. Schwartz of Roswell and Dr. Howard Crutcher, of Chicago, were speeding along one of the smooth roads past J. J. Hagerman's big orchard, in the bright moonlight, the car ran into a good sized celt lying in the road in the deep shade of some trees. The auto landed against an embankment, facing nearly in the direction it had come and Mrs. Schwartz and Dr. Crutcher were thrown out, landing and Pacific railroad, the first bruised face and a severe shock. Mrs. Schwartz was not very much hurt. Dr. Crutcher's shoulder was badly bruised and it is believed that some of the shoulder bones were broken.
