ROOSEVELT REITERATES HIS CHARGES OF INSINCERITY AGAINST MR. BRYAN

Compares Deeds of Administration and Mr. Taft With Promises Held Out in Democratic Platform; Failure of Cleveland Administration to Take Action Against Lawless Trusts Cited as Showing What May Be Expected in Event of Nebraskan's Success at the Polls in November.

RENEWED ATTACK ON GOVERNOR HASKELL FEATURE OF DOCUMENT

Oklahoma Executive Accused of Extensive Land Frauds and Attempt to Swindle Ignorant Indians of Their Birthright; Letter From Federal Attorney Declares Governor Fears to Answer Suits Brought Against Him in Name of United States; Latest Contribution To Campaign Controversy Proves Fully Equal to Its Interesting Predecessors.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Washington, Sept. 27.—President Roosevelt late tonight made reply to W. J. Bryan's recent speech in which he maintained that the democratic party and platform were not getting a square deal in the campaign. Mr. Roosevelt's response dealt particularly with Mr. Bryan's assertion that the administration has been neither sincere nor effective in the prosecution of trusts.

The president combats this charge with choice emphasis and sets forth in detail what has been done under his direction toward curbing the tendency of capital to centralize with a view to destroying competition. The president's letter follows:

"Dear Sir: I have seen your letter published in this morning's papers. As to most of what you say about me personally I don't regard any answer as necessary. When you say that I am unfair to your platform you reiterate certain opinions as to which I had quoted, with my hearty approval, Governor Hughes in my first letter; and these, therefore, it is also unnecessary to answer. You have not answered the Hughes speech, and in my judgment, you do well not to make the attempt. You say that your platform declares in favor of vigorous enforcement of the law against guilty trust magnates and officials, and that the platform upon which Mr. Taft stands makes no such declaration. It was not necessary. That platform approved the policies of this administration and promised to continue them; and here, as usual, I have only to compare your words with the deeds of the administration and of Mr. Taft. You merely promise in your platform that you intend to do just what this administration has actually done and is doing.

"To show the difference between deeds and words, I will compare the record of this administration with the record of one of your most prominent supporters at the moment, Mr. Olney, attorney general under the last democratic administration. While Mr. Olney was attorney general no cases whatever were brought under the anti-trust law, against combinations of capital, the only new cases which he brought being directed against combinations of workmen. During his entire administration the only cases brought against combinations of capital under the anti-trust act, were four in number, two of which were unsuccessful, one of the other two being the case which was decided by Judge Taft in favor of the government.

"Under this administration a mass of such cases have been brought, including the case against the Northern Securities company; against the beef packers; against the Federal Salt company; against the General Paper company; against the Oils and other elevator companies; against the American Tobacco company; against the Powder trust; against the Vaseline-Carolina Chemical company; against the Standard Oil company, and others.

"In a number of these cases the government has already succeeded by injunctions and otherwise. Some of the cases are now pending. In hardly any important case against great law-breaking corporations has the government yet suffered final defeat.

"As regards suits to suppress railway abuses under the last democratic administration there were no indictments against shippers for receiving rebates or secret rebates. Under my administration there have been forty-nine indictments for secret rebates, resulting in eighteen convictions, and in only four cases have these indictments failed. The other twenty-seven cases are still pending. Among the railroads which have been convicted are the Chicago and Alton; Chicago, Burlington and Quincy; the New York Central; the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific; and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul; while scores of cases are still pending against other leading railroads.

"Among the shippers that have been convicted are some of the greatest corporations in the United States, as, for instance, the American Sugar company, the aggregate fine actually paid being more than $150,000; Swift & Co., the Armour Packing company, the Conkley Packing company, Nelson Morris & Co., each of which was fined $15,000, and the cases have now been carried to the supreme court. The Standard Oil case is still pending. This

OFFICERS OF THE SIXTEENTH NATIONAL IRRIGATION CONGRESS

HERE IS SOMETHING NEW IN ONE MORE BUSY DAY AT THE EXPOSITION GROUNDS

Did you ever encounter a thoroughly equipped, modern, efficient newspaper photo-engraving plant which had been unloaded off cars, put together, set up and placed in operation within eight hours?

Did you ever encounter such a newspaper art establishment comfortably housed in a barn?

Did you ever happen to encounter any kind of a newspaper in a town of 20,000 inhabitants that possessed such a plant?

Did you ever hear of any kind of a newspaper in any kind of a town, big or little, that ever imported and set up and put in operation such a plant, just to meet the demand of ten days?

If you have never happened to encounter just such a combination before, and we do not believe you ever have, you are cordially invited to call around at the Morning Journal's art department a little later in the week when we aren't quite so busy and see for yourselves.

You will be able to see the work this somewhat unique art department does in each issue of the Morning Journal, beginning tomorrow morning. We believe it is something that has never been done in newspaper making before, and we believe the results, the telling of the story of the Sixteenth National Irrigation congress in pictures as well as in type, will be pleasing.

The Morning Journal was able to establish its art department and staff for the period of the Irrigation congress and exposition through the hearty co-operation of the Humphries Photo company of El Paso. Mr. W. R. Humphries is the official photographer for the Irrigation congress. His pictures will be spread broadcast over the United States, in newspapers, magazines and wherever pictures go; they will be good pictures, for Humphries means good photography, and they will do marvelous things in the way of telling the world about Albuquerque and New Mexico and the southwest. Mr. Humphries was bringing his entire photographic equipment here, so the Morning Journal induced him to bring his entire photo-engraving plant, the finest of its kind, and the only one of its standard in the southwest. The result is that the Morning Journal has an art department fully equipped, and a staff of eight of the most capable artists, photographers and engravers to be found in the west.

Mr. Humphries and the staff and the plant and the little red Humphries automobile arrived yesterday. We had been figuring for a week as to a place to put them, for the Morning Journal's building is so full of business we couldn't crowd any more equipment inside the walls. Finally we thought of the barn. The plumbers and electricians and carpenters were put to work, and the barn has become studio, engraving plant, sleeping apartments for the staff, a garage, dining room, kitchen and everything else a first class art staff requires.

The plant and the staff arrived yesterday morning. The work of installation began yesterday afternoon and at ten o'clock last night the plant was ready for today's business. Putting together a circus is nothing compared to putting together an engraving plant, and the staff beat circus time a city block. Even the red automobile had to be put together. It was all done, to say nothing of the kitchen equipment and the sleeping apartments.

The staff will begin taking pictures this morning and they will keep merrily at it while things are doing. If you see a little red automobile with a red trunk on behind, and loaded down in front and behind with cameras and camera men, and you probably will see it, you will know that the Morning Journal's art staff is tending to business. Incidentally Mr. Humphries and his assistants are going to make photographs. They are equipped to make any kind of a photograph from a tin type to a ten foot panorama and whether tin type or panorama, the work will be good.

For a hurry up, made to order, perfectly equipped, newspaper illustrating plant we believe the Morning Journal has established a new record. There will be something more to say about the staff and what they are going to do as the week progresses; and the work will do a lot of talking for itself.

Exhibitors Working Night and Day in the Rush To Complete Displays For Tuesday Morning—Every Train Into Albuquerque Crowded With Visitors, While Indications Are That Today Will Bring an Army.

FIRST TEST OF STREET ILLUMINATION SUCCESSFUL

New Mexico's revered statute providing for the strict observance of the first day of the week commonly called Sunday, and imposing heavy penalties for any kind of labor performed on that day, was openly and flagrantly and even joyously violated in Albuquerque yesterday by the exhibitors who are working night and day in the effort to get their displays in place and all the shavings cleared away before the opening hour on Tuesday morning.

The exhibitors made excellent progress yesterday, and all of the larger exhibits have now advanced nearly to completion with the exception of one or two, which have been seriously delayed by the non-arrival of cars. The big exhibit buildings are filling up, and the decorating will be practically done by this evening.

COLFAX COUNTY UNLOADS

SMALL MOUNTAIN OF COAL. The Colfax county building will be ready for visitors by the evening. Mr. William A. Chapman, of El Paso, who is in charge, and who, in passing, is a resident of Albuquerque twenty years ago, has a large force of assistants at work and is transforming the interior of the handsome little structure into a bower. The walls and ceilings are being draped in bunting, while the exhibits of fruit and grain, mineral and manufactures are going into place rapidly. The front of the building is literally surrounded with a huge wall of coal and coke, artistically arranged and lighted with incandescents. The Colfax county display is going to be one of the handsomest in the grounds.

Postmaster F. O. Blood, of Las Vegas, also put in a busy day and brought the San Miguel county's artistic straw building nearly to completion. The exhibit to be seen in and on this building will astonish most of the people who see them, for the tall grain shown has been raised entirely without irrigation.

TROUBLES OF PECOS VALLEY EXHIBITORS PASSING AWAY

One of the exhibits which has been delayed by non-arrival of cars is that from the Pecos valley. The Roswell, Artesia and Carlsbad sections of the exhibit have come but a car full of products of the Hagerman district has not arrived and J. D. Mott, of Hagerman, who is in charge, has been having trouble of his own. He succeeded last night, however, in loading the car, and will have his part of the big southeastern show in place in time.

SILVER CITY SENDS FINE MINERAL SHOW

W. M. Porterfield, of Silver City, headstall and willing booster of the mining fields of Grant county, arrived in Albuquerque yesterday morning and went to work at once installing Grant county's splendid mineral display. This display will show not only specimens of copper and the rarer metals, but will include a magnificent display of turquoise, and the first minerals ever displayed in New Mexico, the specimens having been mined in Grant county. Several other Silver City men will join Mr. Porterfield today and tomorrow. The Socorro county and School of Mines display is being installed under the direction of Hon. C. T. Brown, of Socorro.

SANTA FE BUILDING FIRST TO BE COMPLETED

R. E. Wilson, who has had charge of the collecting and installation of the Santa Fe exhibit, has the distinction of having the first building ready for visitors. The Santa Fe's building is practically complete, inside and out, and almost all of the exhibits are in

MINNEAPOLIS SHELTERS RIVALS

COLONEL BRYAN AND TAFT EXCHANGE COURTESIES

Only Press of Prior Engagements Prevents Friendly Meeting of Republican and Democratic Candidates.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Minneapolis, Sept. 27.—Judge Taft and W. J. Bryan exchanged courtesies here today. Mr. Bryan arrived here about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and immediately sent one of the men traveling with him to the West hotel with a message to Judge Taft that he would be glad to call on him at the hotel at 3.30 in the afternoon. Mr. Taft sent word back to the democratic leader that he would be glad to see him at that time. Mr. Taft was scheduled at the dedication of a new Y. M. C. A. building at 2.30 o'clock in St. Paul, and he hurried back in an automobile to keep his engagement with Mr. Bryan. When he arrived at the hotel he found a message from the Nebraskan which said that Mr. Bryan was very sorry, but that he had forgotten that he had a dinner engagement at 5.30 o'clock. Mr. Bryan suggested that if it was convenient for Mr. Taft, he would drop in at the hotel on his way to the railroad station about 7 o'clock and shake hands with him. Mr. Taft, however, had an engagement to speak before the congregation of the Fowler Methodist church here in the evening and he sent Colonel Randall, sergeant-at-arms of the United States senate, who has personal charge of the Taft train, to explain the situation to Mr. Bryan and convey his regrets. This Colonel Randall did. Mr. Bryan expressed his regret at missing an opportunity to greet Mr. Taft, and after inquiring about the condition of Mr. Taft's voice, said that he hoped that it would speedily recover.

Mr. Bryan, while he was in the city, stopped at the home of John Edgar, former governor of Minnesota. Mr. Bryan's arrival in the city was signaled by vociferous cheering from a great crowd which had assembled at the station. At St. Paul he was met by F. B. Lynch, national committeeman, and escorted here. Because of the fact that Governor Johnson had a speaking engagement in St. Paul, he was unable to meet the democratic candidate. En route from Milwaukee to this place Mr. Bryan was greeted by several large crowds, who cheered him and demanded that he make a speech. Mr. Bryan, however, informed his hearers that Sunday was his only rest day, and that it was his invariable rule not to make political talks on that day. In the frantic struggle of the crowd at the station here to get to him and shake his hands a man had his arm broken.

Mr. Bryan left tonight over the Omaha branch of the Chicago and Northwestern for Mitchell, S. D. Mr. Taft's Y. M. C. A. speech in St. Paul was before a large audience. At the conclusion of his speech Judge Taft held a reception, meeting, among others, the crowd at the station here to get to him and shake his hands a man had his arm broken.

Mr. Taft's speech at Fowler Methodist church today was on foreign missions.

Judge Taft will leave here at 5 o'clock tomorrow for North Dakota. His principal meeting in that state will be at Fargo tomorrow night. His voice is much improved.

Roumanian King Is Ill

Bucharest, Roumania, Sept. 27.—Alarming reports are current regarding the health of King Charles, of Roumania, who is said to have been suffering from an abdominal affection. A Berlin specialist has been sent for.

An Appreciation That is Appreciated

The Morning Journal is in receipt of the following letter: "I am a delegate from Colorado to the Irrigation congress. I have had the pleasure of reading your paper each morning for nearly one week. I consider it a credit to the editorial management and a great advantage to the city. It is clear, concise, gives the news of the day devoid of sensationalism, and stands square to the world on every proposition. I feel I must say I consider it one of the very best journals in the Southwest. Very truly yours, W. H. OLIN, Fort Collins, Colo. Prof. Olin is a member of the faculty of the Colorado State Agricultural college, and in charge of the Colorado exhibit at the exposition."

PLAGUE KILLS THOUSANDS IN RUSSIA

IGNORANCE HAMPER
FIGHT AGAINST SCOURGE

Superstitious and Poverty-stricken Workmen and Peasants Unable and Unwilling To Comply With Sanitary Regulations.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] St. Petersburg, Sept. 27.—Since the beginning of the epidemic there have been 15,683 cases of Asiatic cholera reported in Russia and 7,192 deaths. In St. Petersburg alone since the epidemic began, there have been 4,831 cases and 1,575 deaths reported. The figures with reference to the invasion of the city by the disease can not be relied on as to the number of cases, authoritative sources showing the number of cases and deaths in a single day to be far in excess of that announced by the authorities. The efforts of Premier Stolypin and some of the higher government officials, however, which recently have been directed toward arousing the municipal authorities to action, have resulted in appreciable betterment of the sanitary conditions and consequent decreased number of cases, as shown by the figures given out today.

For the twenty-four hours ending at noon the number of new cases in the city was 268 and the number of deaths 143, as compared with 312 new cases and 152 deaths for the previous twenty-four hours, and 357 cases and 162 deaths between Thursday noon and Friday noon. The people have taken heart because of this improvement, notwithstanding the fact that since the beginning of the epidemic the cases multiplied at an alarming rate and health officials have been encouraged because of the comparatively low death rate. In 1892, when the cholera carried off thousands in Russia, the death rate reached fifty per cent. The death rate in the present epidemic is about ten per cent.

Difficulty has been experienced in dealing with the workmen of St. Petersburg who with their families comprise three-fifths of the population, and who are both unable and unwilling to comply with the sanitary precautions. The ignorance of the lower orders and the superstition of all classes greatly increases the difficulties of the situation. During the early

Real NAVAJO IN SACRED FIRE DANCE

Led by Chief Peschlikline

At the Exposition Grounds in front of grandstand at 8:30 o'clock Thursday Night, Oct. 1.

This dance is the most weird indulged in by any living Indians, and was never before given in the presence of white people. Over ten cords of wood used in one fire.

MANILA FIGHTING CHOLERA

Fourteen New Cases, With Three Deaths, Reported Yesterday; City Short of Disinfectants.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] Manila, Sept. 28.—There were fourteen new cases and three deaths reported for the twenty-four hours ending at 8 o'clock this morning (Monday). Practically the entire staff of the bureau of sciences and the local medical schools have been drafted in to the service to fight the disease. The two senior classes of the medical schools are acting as nurses and attendants at the various hospitals established for the treatment of the cholera patients. A serious situation is caused by the supply of disinfectants running very low. The bureau of sciences is experimenting with electricity and sea water to produce chlorine for use until the new supplies of disinfectants arrive. Enormous quantities of disinfectants have been used in the vigorous efforts to cleanse the entire city.

RAILROAD LABORERS BLOWN TO ATOMS

Five Lives Wiped Out by Premature Explosion of Blast on Delaware and Lackawanna Road.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] Scranton, Pa., Sept. 27.—Three Americans and two Italians were blown to pieces in an explosion of dynamite today while working at Cross Keys cut, along the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad near Tighman. The Americans are: HARRY BROADHEAD, of Tighman; JOHN WALSH, of Fifth Chiff, Pa.; GODFRICK COYNE, 18 years old, Kingston.

The five men were tamping a hole containing eighteen inches of dynamite when it prematurely exploded. Walsh's legs were split apart, one leg going to the right bank of the track three hundred yards and the other 200 yards to the left. Shreds of flesh still clung to the telephone wires. The bodies were assembled by means of matching the clothing of the victims.

EL PASO WILL KEEP OPEN HOUSE

Strong Delegation From Western Texas Will Fight Opposition to Elephant Butte Project.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] El Paso, Sept. 27.—The special train of seven cars that will carry El Paso's delegation to Albuquerque for the irrigation congress, is scheduled to leave here tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, and sixty accredited delegates have signed up for the trip.

The special will consist of seven cars and the local people intend to keep open house in the convention city. Arrangements made with the Albuquerque Elks include establishment of El Paso headquarters in the home of the Albuquerque lodge, and entertainments have been planned at which El Pasoans will act as hosts.

To combat opposition to the Elephant Butte project on the part of the Colorado delegates the local people have secured a number of proxies from Texas cities, and from prospects Colorado will have to do some tall fighting to overcome the combined force of delegations from the Lone Star state and its sympathizing neighbors.

Court Martial Postponed. Detroit, Mich., Sept. 27.—The court martial which was to have assembled at Fort Wayne Tuesday with Major General Grant and four brigadier generals in attendance, has been postponed. No reason is known here for the postponement. So far as known the principal matter to come before the court martial was to have been the question of Colonel Daniel Corman's responsibility for alleged illegal maintenance of horses in the government stables here.

MURDER SUSPECT IDENTIFIED

Prisoner Held in Texas for Killing Dunham Family Recognized by Man From Neighborhood of Alleged Crime.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] Sherman, Texas, Sept. 27.—Deputy Sheriff Howard Buffington of San Jose, Cal., who accompanied Sheriff Arthur Langford to Sherman for the purpose of identifying, if possible, the man held here charged with being the James S. Dunham, who murdered six persons in San Jose twelve years ago, today picked out the man from a crowd of forty prisoners. The prisoners were ranged up in a row and Buffington selected Hatfield as the man calls himself, the first time. He examined the man closely and when he finished he seemed satisfied that the man was Dunham. The other prisoners were taken back to their cells and Buffington remained closeted with Hatfield all afternoon.

When asked if he positively identified Hatfield as Dunham Deputy Sheriff Buffington said: "I don't care to answer that question until I have heard from some messages which we sent to California this afternoon and I will probably be able to give a definite answer tomorrow afternoon."

Requisition papers for the return of the prisoner to California were secured and signed by the officers and Governor Campbell. Hatfield or Dunham has an attorney, who is trying hard to find evidence upon which to fight the return of the man but so far has been unable to produce a single man who knew the man previous to his having come to Sherman. Hatfield stoutly denies that he has ever been in California.

POLYGAMIST DENIED LANDING AT FRISCO

Hong Kong Millionaire Traveling With Two Wives, Admits He Has Three More at Home. San Francisco, Sept. 27.—The immigration bureau of this port encountered a new problem with the arrival of the Pacific Mail liner Korea, from the Orient, when Robert H. Rosman, a wealthy resident of Hong Kong, who was one of the vessel's passengers, desired to land, accompanied by two wives.

Mr. Rosman frankly confessed that he believes in plural marriages, and not only has two wives who are accompanying him on the present trip, but states that he left three more wives at his home in Hong Kong when he sailed. The trio, with their children, the issue of Rosman's marriage with one of the wives now with him, are detained aboard the Korea, until the immigration officials decide what shall be done in the matter.

Rosman is reputed to be a several-times millionaire, and is one of the most prominent land owners of Hong Kong. He is a Eurasian, his father having been of English birth, while his mother was a Chinese.

HASKELL HAMMERS THE PRESIDENT

Roosevelt a Four-Flusher, Declares Oklahoma Governor; Will Stump Ohio for Democracy.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] Guthrie, Okla., Sept. 27.—Governor C. N. Haskell addressed a large number of citizens on the steps of the royal hotel at 4:24 o'clock tonight. He denounced President Roosevelt as a "four-flusher" and repeated his defiance to the charges made against him by the president. Later tonight the governor issued an official statement containing his address.

Governor Haskell tonight showed a telegram from Chairman W. R. Finley, of the democratic state committee of Ohio, urging him to fill a week of speaking dates in that state. He also received a statement from J. D. Reynolds, a member of the Ohio state committee urging him to speak in Ohio and promising him a rousing reception. Governor Haskell stated that he would go to Ohio in a few days in answer to the invitations.

ADIRONDACK VILLAGE WIPED OUT BY FLAMES

Pierce Forest Fires Raging in New York Mountains. Utica, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The forest fires in the Adirondacks, fanned by a strong wind, are now beyond the control of the hundreds of men who have been fighting them. According to reports received here several small villages and camps are being wiped out. Long Lake West, a village of about 100 inhabitants, was burned and the damage resulting amounts to many thousand dollars. The village contained about a dozen buildings, the railroad station and a large store house which supplied the camps for miles around.

The Mohawk and Malone division of the New York Central was put out of commission tonight between New Cassano and Horsehoe. The intense heat of the fire sweeping over the roadbed twisted the rails out of shape so that no train could safely pass over them. The air is unbearably hot, so that crews of men who were dispatched to repair the road have not yet found it possible to enter the burned area.

POLICE FORCE IS REINFORCED

Chief of Department Takes Precautions in View of Prospective Large Crowds in the City.

"The city will be thoroughly policed during the irrigation congress," said Chief of Police McMillin last evening as he noted with speculative eye the arriving hosts of people pouring into the city from all directions to attend the big doings.

"While we do not expect any difficulty, we are, nevertheless, prepared for it. I have sworn in a large number of extra policemen, including a good many plain clothes men. These men have been instructed carefully as to what parts of the city they are to cover, and I think will render efficient service. Then we have a few special men coming from Denver, Chicago and other places. We have secured these men at some trouble and expense, but they are detectives who enjoy a wide acquaintance among all classes of criminals from petty thieves and burglars to second-story men and cracksmen. They can spot a man with a police record in less time than it takes to tell, and if any appear on the scene here, we will keep an eye on them. There will be a man stationed at a police headquarters all the time, night and day. It will be his duty to send out men to answer all calls from various parts of the city. A police wagon, with a speedy horse, will be at the station all the time, and we can answer a call on very short notice."

The number of the police station is 178. If you happen to look under the bed some night and see a man there—telephone 178 quick and there will be a bluecoat ringing your front door bell before you get the receiver down.

FEAR OF FIRE IS ABROAD IN THE METROPOLIS

Extraordinary Emergency Precautions Being Taken by Authorities in New York; Impressive Labor Parade.

[Special Correspondence Morning Journal.] New York, Sept. 26.—Never in recent years has the city of New York driven this city to the emergency precautions which are today being put into force by the authorities. An army of detectives is quietly being posted throughout every crowded block on the island, while watchmen, policemen and janitors are receiving instructions for sleepless watch against the fire-bugs, who have terrorized not only the tenement districts but the whole community. With a record of a score of incendiary blazes a day in localities all about town during the past week, the fireman is straining at the top of the gong and the policeman is at his wits end to capture the bold band of pyromaniacs. While every New Yorker knows that no heavier, better men ever stood in show than the fire ladders of his crack fire department, the memory of the shameful handicap of rotten hose which politics has imposed on them is still fresh in the public mind. No one can tell today to what extent this fiery carnival may lead; but everyone is eager for the capture of the mysterious fiends whose work it is.

Shaven and Shorn. Enveloped in a cloud of dust and mortar, the disfigured facades of exclusive Fifth avenue are a sorry sight today as the city has finally begun its gigantic task of splitting a few feet wider the famous thoroughfare of fashion. Pillars, porches, balconies, railings and steps that formerly made up the ornate decorative scheme of the fronts of the oldest and most handsome buildings in the metropolis are heaps of brick and brownstone. The neat curb that for generations has outlined the greatest parade of fashion in the world has for the first time been broken to bits and strewn with the sidewalk flagging back toward the base of the dismembered house fronts. Fifth avenue today has begun to bear a close resemblance to a vast of brick yard and it will be many a long day before even a show of return to its old order can be restored. To reshape the mile of structures so pitilessly shaven and shorn it is conceded will be the work of a whole winter.

Rus in Urbe. Pumpkins, poultry, preserves, pig and pies are only some of the rural products which rural Gotham is today exhibiting with pride at the county fair right in the limits of this metropolis. Over on Staten Island, where there is plenty of farm land, miles within the boundaries of Greater New York, the city-country inhabitants have this year set up as genuine a fair as can be found within the state. Trotting, judging and exhibiting is going on briskly within a twenty minutes' ride from Wall street and side shows swarm the crowded fair grounds to the delight of the metropolitan agriculturists. The entrance grounds, where touring cars are packed thickly by the hundred, is the only clue to the comedy of the affair which New Yorkers are finding much more to their taste just now than all the amusements of the Great White Way.

Labor's Lesson.

In spite of the few remaining hard times croakers, the splendid showing of labor, employed and sturdy, on its annual parade is regarded today as a sure sign of mending business. Rank by rank and squad by squad, New Yorkers have watched, as big, red, hearty a body of wage earners step in review as has ever been seen on any Labor Day here. Someone must have work and wages for this great army of contented looking laborers. It is argued, and every group of them marching some flourishing industry. The much-heralded demonstration of the unemployed fell flat, for the simple reason that the men with jobs outnumbered the men without, a hundred to one. Labor has taught a lesson to the reviving metropolis by this parade and each day confidence increases by leaps and bounds.

Foley's Friends.

Now that the Foley Feast is over, the women and children of the tenements have lost interest in politics till next year. This great gathering of the lower East Side crowds, as guests of the open-hearted Sheriff Foley, has for years been the one bright spot in the lives of a host of mothers and children of the poorer quarters. "Big Tom" is worshiped as best friend as well as boss of his people, and to all who will apply he has as usual dolled out ice cream, entertainment and cheer with a lavish hand. One glimpse at the beaustic faces of the weather-worn families of the slums after their day with the "big feller" is convincing everyone that there are some things in politics that are really well worth while.

SPOKANE BELIEVES SHE WILL GET NEXT MEET

Secretary of Chamber of Commerce Expected to Arrive Today at Head of Enthusiastic Delegation.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal) Spokane, Wash., Sept. 26.—Spokane delegates to the Sixteenth National Irrigation congress will arrive in Albuquerque tomorrow evening and at once establish headquarters in the Metropolitan hotel, where Levi Grant Monroe, secretary of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce, will have charge. The delegation includes Lauchlin MacLean, president of the Spokane Canal company; State Senator R. A. Hutchinson, farmer-capitalist; J. D. Valentine, president of Bridgeport Orchards; Arthur A. Hooker, assistant city engineer; J. Grier Long, vice president Washington Trust company; Will G. Malloy, president Dalton Gardens; H. L. Moody, capitalist; Spokane; B. S. Harrison, irrigationist; Sunnyvale; Dr. M. S. Blythe, North Yakima; Hon. Miles C. Moore, Walla Walla; C. B. Reed, Wenatchee; A. R. Burbank, Cashmere; and Walter E. Leigh, manager Great Northern Land company.

Secretary Monroe carries with him a trunk filled with literature regarding irrigated lands and orchards and projects in operation, and pictures of several thousand souveniers and a large assortment of fruits grown in the irrigated districts tributary to this city. He also has several portfolios of photographs, showing the various projects in operation, and pictures of orchards, describing the making of orchards from the time the seedling is planted in the ground until the fruit is picked and packed in boxes for the market.

Spokane is a candidate for the congress of 1909, and in this it is backed by every fruit district in eastern Washington, northern Idaho, western Montana, southeastern Oregon and the commercial clubs of Seattle, Tacoma, Portland and California. The claims of this city for the next gathering of the irrigationists will be presented by H. L. Moody, and an address will also be made by Secretary Monroe, the last named dealing with statistics to show what has been accomplished in this country since the introduction of scientific irrigation methods.

Without anticipating what the speakers will say in their addresses to the congress, it may be mentioned that more than $14,000,000 worth of

DROUGHT IN CENTRAL STATES

The Unprecedented Scarcity of Water in Ohio and Pennsylvania Streams Causes Heavy Loss.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Pittsburg, Sept. 27.—With losses aggregating several million dollars from forest fires and heavy damage to crops and live stock; the reported loss of a number of lives due to fighting timber fires; the enforced idleness of thousands of workmen owing to suspensions because of lack of water; the health authorities anticipating serious epidemics of contagious diseases and many small streams dried up and practically obliterated, the drought of 1908, which has held western Pennsylvania, eastern Ohio and West Virginia in its grasp for more than two months, remains unbroken, each day gradually increasing the seriousness of the unprecedented situation. While in the Pittsburgh district the water supply is sufficient to carry on all business, the low stage of the rivers has caused a congestion of much coal in this city. Every available barge and float has been loaded with coal, and at present, with almost twenty million bushels in the Pittsburgh harbor, the river coal mines have been compelled to shut down for lack of shipping facilities. There are about 15,000 miners employed in the river mines along the Monongahela valley. This great fleet of coal is for the supply of points

TWENTY SEAMEN DIE IN SHIPWRECK

British Vessel Founders off Australian Coast; Only Four of Crew Escape Alive.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Launceston, Tasmania, Sept. 27.—The British ship Loch Finlas, from Port Pirie, South Australia for Calcutta, was wrecked off Foster Island at daylight this morning and twenty of the crew of twenty-four were drowned. Four men were picked up by a passing steamer. Foster Island lies a short distance off the northeast coast of Tasmania and is surrounded by dangerous shoals. Early today the residents of the island observed a large ship in distress. A gate accompanied by a high sea was blowing and the vessel soon struck the reef. The crew could be seen trying to lower the boats when suddenly the ship sank. To attempt a rescue from the shore was impossible owing to the heavy seas. A steamer in the distance had sighted the wreck and made all speed to where the ship had gone down. Only four men were found. They were clinging to an upturned boat. They report that the second mate became insane during the height of the storm and jumped overboard. The Loch Finlas was of 2,662 tons burden and was commanded by Captain Dean.

Style Study at The Economist You Are Welcome

The new season's radical style changes have created much inquiry on the part of those who are ready to plan the new gown, or select the various accessories, and we beg to remind all who seek reliable and satisfactory information upon these points that the question "WHAT IS FASHIONABLE?" is decisively answered in The Economist's grand aggregation of new stocks for Autumn and Winter wear.

It is the Management's Wish That You Make This Store Your Convenience as Well as Your Shopping Place.

Fashionable Wraps for Street and Opera

Long light-fitting tailored coats for street wear have the call this season. Smart styles, of selected cloths and French broadcloth, from $15.00 to $50.00. The new evening wraps are shown in cape and stole effects; some have the flowing cape sleeves. Made of chiffon, broadcloth, silk or satin. The former trimmed with gilt buttons, in military effect. From $17.50 to $75.00.

EARLY AUTUMN SHOWING OF SILKS AND DRESS GOODS.

A Showing Unexcelled in Any City. It will pay every woman who admires fabric beauty and art to visit the department and view this comprehensive collection of new Silks and Wool Dress Goods. Naturally every woman of this class desires to see the newest in fall styles and it is here in great variety, aggregating a splendid assortment of new weaves and the moderate prices are as interesting as the fabrics. No better assortment will be shown and there is an advantage in securing first choice. This display is a step in advance of all the Economist's former efforts in the broad range of weaves, the assortment of colors and the exceptional judgment exercised in selections.

Silks for all occasions in an endless variety of colors, styles and weaves. Prices to suit all—$5c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 up to $3.00 per yard.

DIRECT IMPORTATIONS FOR THE FALL SEASON. This unequalled gathering now reflects the world's choicest conceptions in this line of art. No other western store's representatives search foreign markets so extensively and diligently as does The Economist's enthusiastic and expert buyer of these goods.

VARIETIES AND EFFECTS ARE ENDLESS AND DESCRIPTION IMPOSSIBLE. Hundreds of beautiful productions shown here will not be shown elsewhere in the city, as our buyer went to many sources of supply outside the usual channels.

We greatly desire that all the ladies of this city and tributary communities visit these departments. Dainty art and gorgeous richness combine to make them just now probably the most fascinating to womankind of any in the big store.

Strangers in the City will find abundant interest in this large and unique store. There are Rest and Reading Rooms at your service, and we check your parcels or hand luggage without any charge or obligation; no one is ever importuned to buy. Stylish Millinery

A Grand Exhibit.

The Economist's sumptuous gathering of Autumn Millinery will be seen in completeness, and it will include everything new that has been developed this season.

No past season has been so productive of hat models which in their richness of adornment, beauty of design and extreme splendor of color and contrast seem to have struck the highest note of refined elegance.

The best that Paris has to give is here, and even more interesting are the exquisite American conceptions and reproductions. Our skilled designers and milliners successfully vie with the most eminent in America and women who discriminate most carefully will find our service pleasing and satisfactory.

This broad variety of styles may be imagined when we quote A RANGE OF PRICES VARYING FROM $3.50 TO $100.

Latest Conceits in Neckwear

Everything you could desire or fashion dictate will be found in our unequalled assortment of neck fixings.

REAL IRISH LACE NECKWEAR is in highest favor with the most fashionable dressers in New York. We show a large assortment of styles in collars, bows, ruffles and jabots at very reasonable prices.

NEW SCARFS—In chiffon, liberty silk, lace and crepe, $3.00 to $17.00 each. Such a bewildering array of beautiful conceits that almost baffles description. Chenille dotted and velvet striped effects are among the newest ideas.

The New Gloves Are Here

We are in receipt of our fall shipment of 16-button Trousseau French Kid Gloves. These come in all the wanted shades of brown, tan, mode, green and wine, also white and black. Price of this quality, $1.50.

ROOSEVELT REITERATES HIS CHARGES

public oil companies. His legal practice is chiefly with the big corporations, and his firm is counsel for the United Railways company and the Northern American interests in St. Louis. Judge Priest is credited with originating the phrase: "Bribery is a conventional offense," which he used in an argument at the trial of R. M. Snyder, the Kansas City millionaire, now dead.

"You say that the trust magnates know their own interests and are supporting Judge Taft. So far as their interests are simply interests of the business community and especially of the wage workers, I believe they will support Judge Taft. So far as they have special interests which are to them more important than the general business welfare I believe they will support you. I have this belief upon what happened in 1896. Your success then would, in my belief, have been a calamity to the country from the standpoint of the welfare of the business men, farmers and workmen, just as I believe, your success now would be a calamity to the country, both from the standpoint of business (and especially of the interests of the wage workers) and from the standpoint of morals. One of your supporters, the New York World in February last printed a list of contributions to your campaign fund of 1896, containing the names of individuals and corporations owning silver mines who made contributions to the aggregate amount of $288,000, one of these contributions being $153,000 and another of $45,000, etc. Now, all the great financial magnates who then contributed to your campaign would have preferred business prosperity to business adversity, other thing being equal, but they would rather have had the immense profit that would have accrued to them from the free coinage of the 50 cent dollar than from the smaller profit which would have accrued to them merely from the general industrial prosperity of the country. Because of their personal interests and against the interest of the community at large these trust magnates then supported you. My belief is, and the statement of Judge Priest stated above, and the attitude of many men of large financial interest, warrant me in expressing the belief, that those trust magnates whose fear of being prosecuted under the law by Mr. Taft is greater than their fear of general business adversity under you, will support you and not Mr. Taft.

"I come to what you have to say about contributions and here you furnish your own answer. You state that it appears from the published statement of the contribution for Mr. Hughes' campaign for governor two years ago, that various men of wealth, some of them connected with big corporations, whom you name to the number of nine, contributed from $20,000 to $500 apiece. You ask,

"Would the fact that these gentlemen contributed to his campaign fund, strengthen or weaken his testimony against the reasonableness of our anti-trust remedy?" and later you continue by asking "are you willing to say that any public interest was served in 1904 by concealing until after election the contributions made to the republican campaign committee by Mr. Harriman and those collected by him for others?" Are you willing to say that the publication before election of contributions then made would have had no effect on the election? You then propose to publish the names of contributors before election and ask us to do the same. The amounts you mention, as contributed to Mr. Hughes are utterly trivial compared to the amounts I have already mentioned as contributed to your campaign in 1896, but in my judgment the amount contributed to nothing to do whatever with the point at issue. The question was for instance, whether Mr. Clark of Montana, when he contributed heavily to your campaign fund, had a proper motive and whether our actions would or would not have been influenced properly or improperly by that contribution and the same question applies to Mr. Hughes and to me. In the case of Mr. Hughes and myself, the answer is fortunately easy. You have nothing to do but examine our records in the office to which we were both elected. You either knew or ought to have known before writing that in not one instance has Mr. Hughes as governor done one thing of any kind, sort or description for anyone of the contributors you mention, or for any other contributor to his fund which ought not to have been done, and would not have been done if no contribution had been made. Yet you clearly imply that he is and has been improperly influenced by the fact of these contributions having been made. Do you consider such an implication either straightforward or sincere?

"In a letter to the chairman of my campaign committee on October 28, 1904, I specifically approved of the conditions under which the national committee were accepting contributions, saying that their acceptance was to be with the 'explicit understanding that they were given of received with no thought of any more obligation on the part of the national committee or of the national administration than is implied in the statement that every man shall receive a square deal, no more and no less, and this I shall guarantee him. In any event to the best of my ability.'"

"If they subscribe for the purpose of securing such natural welfare and with no thought of personal favors to them, why they are acting as I entirely proper. I continued: 'In return, I wish it made clear that there is not the slightest personal feeling against them and that they can count upon being treated exactly as well by the administration, exactly as fairly as if we had accepted the contributions. They shall not suffer in any way because we refused them, just as they would not have gained in any way if we had accepted them.' No member of the national committee has ever directly or indirectly suggested to me that I should either do or leave undone anything whatever because anyone had contributed or had failed to contribute.

"These are the facts. Now for your proposal. You have yourself furnished its condemnation. You have quoted the subscriptions furnished to Governor Hughes as reason to distrust Governor Hughes' attitude toward corporations and I am obliged to say that this cannot be sincere on your part, for you know well what the governor's attitude has been throughout his term. You quote the subscription of Mr. Harriman to my campaign, although you know well that it did not interfere with any action taken by me as against Mr. Harriman and ask if it would not have affected the campaign if known. Thereby you have furnished an excellent reason for refusing to meet your proposal for you make it evident that to adopt your proposal would give to every man who cared money for partisan success the chance, by precisely the argument you have now made, to create the mere purpose the false impression that you are now seeking to create. Mr. Taft's reputation, Mr. Taft's acts on the bench and in the executive service show that he could not be swayed in any shape or way by any consideration save the public interest and that the fact of any man's contributing or failing to contribute would in no way influence his action any more than it has influenced any action or the action of Governor Hughes. I emphatically approve of the publication of campaign expenses after the election whether provided for by law or not. You have shown by this letter of yours that if the contributions to Mr. Hughes' campaign fund would have been published before election you and those who act with you would have striven to give the false impression that Mr. Hughes was unfit to be entrusted with the position of governor; and you have shown by this letter of yours that if Mr. Haskell's contribution to the fund of 1904 (and incidentally, I may mention that I am informed that this particular contribution was not used for the national campaign but in the New York state campaign) had been known before the election you and your supporters would have endeavored to use the facts of its having been made as an insincere and untruthful argument to show that I could not be entrusted to deal out exact justice to Mr. Harriman. No stronger argument against your proposition has yet been advanced than this that you have unconsciously advanced.

"I now come to the important part of your letter, your attitude toward Mr. Haskell. You state that Mr. Haskell has voluntarily resigned from the committee. You speak highly of the public service which he has rendered and protest against any condemnation of him except such as may come in a court. Out of your own mouth you are condemned. You therefore set up that standard of law honesty which has been the bane of this people in endeavoring to get equity and fair dealing—as they should obtain among high minded men—from great business corporations and from individuals like Mr. Haskell. Apparently you disclaim even asking Mr. Haskell to retire from the position in which you place him, so that he retains of his own free will and you utter no word of condemnation of his gross offenses against public decency and honesty. On the contrary you strive to make it appear that his misconduct in reference to the Standard Oil company is all of which he is accused; whereas, shameless though this particular act of his is, it is worse than countless others in his career. I contrast your action in this case with that of Mr. Taft in reference to Senator Foraker. Mr. Taft's statement when the question of his nomination was at stake was that he would rather not accept it at the price of sacrificing principle by supporting Mr. Foraker for senator. You don't venture in so much as the slightest possible manner even to censure Mr. Haskell for his manifest misdeeds; any ask that he be held guiltless of them until convicted in a court of law, although you well know that a regard the worst of them no action in a court of law would be. You say you were ignorant of Mr. Haskell's record. If so, it was wilful ignorance on your part. I call your attention to the letter of Mr. L. T. Russell, editor of the Morning Democrat of Ardmore, Okla., in which, writing to you on September 24, 1908, he states:

"If you were ignorant of such charges it is because you refused to read them when presented to you when you visited Oklahoma last fall in the interest of Mr. Haskell. At that time I personally presented to you ten pages of typewritten charges against Mr. Haskell, covering his operation in Ohio, New York, Arkansas, Texas and Oklahoma. The charges recently made by Mr. Hearst were all made by me at that time."

"You ask that we leave the courts to deal with Mr. Haskell. As to some matters the courts have already dealt with him. As to others various private individuals whom he has wronged, and the United States government on behalf of helpless Indians, whom he has wronged, are striving to have the courts so deal with him. Mr. M. L. Nott, national attorney for the Creek nation, writes me as follows:

"In October, 1906, Mr. Foulke, of Richmond, Ind., was sent to investigate matters of the townsites fraud in the Creek nation. Mr. Foulke's report is in the hands of the secretary of the interior. All parties connected with these townsites frauds have used the same means and methods. Upon the report filed by Mr. Foulke I as attorney for the Creek nation, was directed by the secretary of the interior to file suits in equity for the cancellation of all deeds to town lots in the Creek nation where the same had been secured by fraud. Proceedings upon instructions and after full investigation, I find that Governor C. N. Haskell, among others, had secured deeds to quite a number of lots in Muskogee by conspiracy and fraud, that he had these lots scheduled in the name of 'dummies' or 'straw' men who live in the state of Ohio and elsewhere and then had them quit claim to him without consideration. By this dishonest means he succeeded in getting deeds to a large number of lots belonging to the Creek Indians at one-half their appraised value. I have filed quite a number of suits against Governor Haskell in which conspiracy and fraud is charge and the manner of consummating it is set out in detail. Haskell has not filed any answer in any of these cases. He has simply through his attorney, filed dilatory motions such as demurrers, pleading to the jurisdiction, etc. He dare not answer and deny the allegations set up in our bill; such an answer would be a sworn lie and known to be by the large number of 'straw' men, and 'dummies' he used in performing the fraud."

"For this particular act of the man whose public record you endorse you must rest assured that the interior department will endeavor to see that the courts do 'justice' to him."

"When Mr. Haskell was in New York, various judgments were filed against him. I will not at this time discuss the charges of perjury and fraud made against him by Attorney Albert H. Walker, of New York, in connection with the suit decided by Judge Lacombe in March, 1902. But the records of the county clerk of New York county show that on February 21, 1900, a judgment for damages and costs amounting to $124,435.43 recovered in the supreme court of the country, was filed against C. N. Haskell. On April 2, 1900, this judgment was returned on the sheriff's execution, satisfied to the extent of only $29.80, and the remainder of it remains still unsatisfied. In this instance your proposal that Mr. Haskell be left to the courts does not seem to have produced thorough-going justice. Neither shall I touch upon the various suits of all kinds now pending against him for all kinds of reasons. Thus, it is reported in the press under date September 19, 1908, that a $500 judgment had been obtained against Mr. Haskell by an attorney of Arkansas, who was employed by him to lobby before the city council of Muskogee, to get through a franchise. The attorney's fee was never paid, but the franchise was granted. Nor again shall I touch upon the facsimile published in the press of September 25 last, showing Mr. Haskell's having three years ago joined an organization to prevent union labor from entering the city in which he lived. Indeed, as regards this last statement, I wish distinctly to acquit Mr. Haskell of being opposed on principle to either trade unions or corporations; for I wish to acquit him of being opposed on principle to anything."

"Now, as to Governor Haskell's connection with the Standard Oil company in Oklahoma. Governor Haskell advances the fact that the United States government permitted the Standard Oil company on the same terms as any other company to enjoy the legal privileges to which it was entitled on the Indian reservations of Oklahoma, as his justification for having given it illegal privileges, which it was not entitled to in Oklahoma. The excuse furnishes the measure of Governor Haskell's moral quality. The federal act of March 11, 1904, conferred upon the secretary of the interior the right to grant permits for oil and gas pipe lines to cross Indian reservations. Regulation to carry out the law were drawn up by the Indian office, and approved by the secretary of the interior, April 12, 1904. In compliance with the law and the regulations the department of the interior permitted the Standard Oil pipe line company (the Prairie Oil and Gas company) and the various pipe lines, such as the Oklahoma Natural Gas company, the Cary River Gas company, the Dens, Portland Cement company and others (the Texas and Gulf companies) all on the same terms and under the same conditions, the right of way across the Indian reservations. No preference or privilege was granted to any company that was not also granted to all the others. Any other action than that actually taken by the interior department would have been as grossly improper as the actions of Governor Haskell himself. The government stood neither for or against any company; but it required each to obey the law. Its action was precisely like the action it took, for instance, in proceeding against the Standard Oil company in the rebate matter; it did not thus proceed because the Standard Oil company was involved, but because rebates had been granted; it would have proceeded just as quickly against the rivals of the Standard Oil if only concern was to punish any guilty party. Our effort is to do equal justice to all, and to exact justice from all alike. We are no more to be swayed from this course by desire to punish a corporation than by desire to favor it, no matter whether it is the Standard Oil or any other company. The permit of the national government as set forth in the telegram of the secretary of the interior to Governor Haskell of April 23 last, was merely to cross or use the restricted allotments and tribal property of the Indians; it had nothing to do with the question of compliance with the laws of the state of Oklahoma, and conferred no privilege to cross territory in Oklahoma, outside of these reservations. Governor Haskell refuses to permit any proceeding to be taken against the Standard Oil company, although this company declines to obey the law of Oklahoma, de claims that the Standard Oil's rights were superior to the requirements of the Oklahoma constitution, for which he himself was mainly responsible; he took the decision of this question away from the courts and against the opinion of his attorney general, he decided it in favor of the Standard Oil corporation. The attorney general of Oklahoma has made the following statement in this matter:

"The president's statement as to the Standard Oil and Gas company suit is less than the whole matter in its whole inquiry, because, on the 23rd of April, I had informed the governor that the action taken by the Prairie company was illegal and should be enjoined, and that I had an open injunction suit. At that time, April 23, the governor agreed with me as to the illegality of the action and approved the bringing of the injunction."

"The same day the governor left the state to go to Denver, the Prairie company started its trespass. This I believe was prearranged between the governor and the Prairie company, as the Prairie rushed the laying of its pipe line during the absence of the governor from the state."

"I wired the governor on the first of July, asking whether he had given the Prairie Oil company permission to build these lines. His reply evaded my sole question, and instead of answering it he said that he was satisfied that the Prairie company would not violate the law."

"Between the 22nd of April and the 2nd of July, Governor Haskell received no advice from me, as his legal adviser, as to the matter, and if he had received advice from his assistant attorney general he did not do me the honor of submitting the same to me."

"When he heard of the bringing of the suit he directed the acting governor to order me to dismiss the suit, and indulged in insolent language to the effect that he would not tolerate any proceedings by me except to his direction. The use of this insulting language regarding me, together with his sudden change of heart between April and July evidences that some very deep and controlling motive of a personal nature was back of his action."

"The only person that the prohibition could help was the Standard Oil company, and that he hazarded as much as he did for them after his sudden change of heart, supplies the necessary fact for an intelligent man to reckon that the governor of Oklahoma has a leaning toward the Standard Oil company. And, therefore, the president's statement seems to me a very mild rebuke."

(Signed) "CHARLES E. WEST."

"Attorney General of Oklahoma." The national government, obeying both the law and the principles of sound morality, discriminated neither for nor against the Standard Oil company or its rival, Governor Haskell, against the law and against every principle of honesty and fair dealing, discriminated in favor of the Standard Oil corporation. Failure to see the distinction between the two cases indicates moral, rather than mental, obtuseness."

"I believe in radical reforms and the movement for such reform can be successful only if it towns on the demagogue as it does upon the corruptionists; if it shows itself as far removed from government by a mob as from government by a plutocracy. Of all corruptions the most far reaching for evil is that which hides itself behind the mask of furious demagoguery, seeking to arouse and to pander to the basest passions of mankind. No better exemplification of this type of corruption could be found than in the case of Governor Haskell."

"You have uttered no word of condemnation of Haskellism, as we thus see it. That you consciously sought to bring it about, I do not believe. That it was the natural result of the effort to apply in practice your teachings, I have no question."

"Yours truly," "THEODORE ROOSEVELT." "Hon. William Jennings Bryan, Lincoln."

MAJOR LEAGUE
BASEBALL

WHERE THEY PLAY TODAY.

American League.
New York at St. Louis.
Boston at Chicago.
Washington at Detroit.
Philadelphia at Cleveland.

National League.
Philadelphia at New York.
Brooklyn at Boston.
St. Louis at Cincinnati.
Chicago and Pittsburgh not scheduled to play, but may play off postponed game.

New York, Sept. 27.—Never before in the history of baseball has the home stretch in the race for the pennants of the two major leagues been reached with the leading clubs so closely bunched and with the followers of the game excited to such a pitch of acute interest. In both leagues the leaders—New York in the National, and Detroit in the American—held the honors tonight by one point. Chicago, in second place in the National, is seven points ahead of Pittsburgh, while Chicago in the American, is but three points behind Cleveland for second place, to which position the latter club felt today through the defeat of Philadelphia by Detroit.

The standing of the clubs in the two leagues, including Sunday's games, follows:

National League.
	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	90	52	.634
Chicago	83	54	.603
Pittsburgh	82	55	.600
Philadelphia	77	65	.542
Cincinnati	71	77	.480
Boston	60	85	.414
Brooklyn	48	95	.336
St. Louis	49	97	.336

Cincinnati, Sept. 27.—Each club won a game in the doubleheader between Cincinnati and St. Louis this afternoon. Scores:

First game.
	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Cincinnati	9	0	1.000
St. Louis	0	9	0.000
Batteries:	Roman and Spade and McLean; Rhodes and Bliss.
Second game.
	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Cincinnati	6	0	1.000
St. Louis	0	6	0.000
Batteries:	O'Dole and Schell; Raymond and Bliss.

American League.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Detroit	82	61	.576
Cleveland	84	62	.575
Chicago	82	62	.572
St. Louis	79	64	.552
Boston	70	74	.486
Philadelphia	65	77	.458
Washington	74	78	.489
New York	67	74	.478

Only a casual glance at these figures is needed to show that at the present moment in both leagues it is anybody's race, and probably until the last game is played next week the decision as to which two clubs shall have the honor of playing for the world's championship.

Eight games in six days is what the New York players have before them this week, all of them with Philadelphia, and evenly divided between the two cities. After this series New York has but three games, and all of them will be played on the Polo grounds with Boston.

The Chicago team will have had a two days' rest if they don't play off at Cincinnati tomorrow, one of the several postponed games they have with the Reds, for they are not due to start operations there until Tuesday. According to schedule Chicago also has regular games with Cincinnati Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, and the reason of the last year's champions will end at Chicago Sunday with a game with Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh will go into winter quarters after the visit to Chicago. Beginning Monday the Pirates have four days at St. Louis, with off days Wednesday and Thursday.

In the American league Detroit will play Washington at St. Louis Friday and Saturday at Detroit, and the two will go to Chicago for the wind-up of its schedule, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Cleveland has games scheduled with Philadelphia Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and with Chicago Friday and Saturday, and will end the season at St. Louis with games Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Boston's shut out Boston today 3 to 0. A drilling rain fell throughout the game, but Sheridan made the players continue. Opportunity hitting in the opening inning coupled with a pair of errors and a stolen base gave Chicago two runs and another came in the next inning as a result of a base on balls and a triple.

Score.—R. H. E.
Boston.....0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
Batteries: Walsh and Schreck; Cloutte and Criger.

Detroit 5; Philadelphia 2.
Detroit, Sept. 27.—Detroit went back into the league lead by winning a game in the final game of the series from Philadelphia. Both pitchers did good work. Detroit's good base running being a large factor in winning. Owing to the Sunday ball conditions existing here the club getting no police protection for these games, the gates were closed at 2:30 and several thousand persons were turned away to prevent the crowd becoming so large as to be unwieldy.

Score.—R. H. E.
Phila.....0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 3 4
Batteries: Mullin and Schmidt; Combs and Powers.

ASSOCIATED PRESS
NEWS FORECAST
FOR THE WEEK

While the fierce battle that has raged for a week over Haskell and Foraker in the political campaign has subsided to a certain extent, there are no indications that the coming week will be at all peaceful or quiet. Foraker in the political campaign has threatened to have more to say. Haskell's resignation is accompanied by a threat to take legal action against his accusers, one of whom is the president of the United States. Taft, on his northwestern swing, will be heard in North Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska and Colorado.

Bryan meets the Taft deft by a flying trip to Wisconsin and North Dakota early in the week, and then returns to Lincoln for rest in preparation for a whirlwind close of the campaign.

The Republican vice-presidential candidate tomorrow enters the arena. Owing to his illness, however, Mr. Sherman's efforts will be confined to six addresses in Central Illinois. He will be accompanied by Congressman Longworth.

J. W. Kern's expedition, which began last week, will take him through the northern part of Ohio this week, and thence into Michigan, Alabama, Georgia and North Carolina.

Governor Hughes of New York will be heard at Indianapolis, South Bend, Ind.; Detroit, Baltimore and Buffalo. Senator Beveridge will speak at Terre Haute, Ind.; Chicago, and Minneapolis.

The American battleship fleet, which passed Perth, Australia, last week, is due off Manila Friday or Saturday. Because of the cholera outbreak in Manila, all arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the officers and men, except the water trade upon the fleet's arrival, have been postponed. The fleet will engage in target practice as previously arranged, and then depart for Japan.

One of the most important events of the week is the convention of the American Bankers' association, in Denver. The principal subject of discussion will be the recent panic, its causes, preventive measures and currency legislation.

A convention that is fraught with interest is the National Irrigation congress, which meets at Albuquerque, N. M.

MUST BELIEVE IT.

When Well-Known Albuquerque People Tell It So Plainly.

When public endorsement is made by a representative citizen of Albuquerque, the proof is positive. You must believe it. Read this testimony. Every backache sufferer, every man, woman or child with any kidney trouble will find profit in the reading. Mrs. J. R. Grubb, living at 217 South Broadway, Albuquerque, N. M., says: "For about two years my condition was such that whenever I would move around, pains and sharp stitches would take me in my loins. Further proof of a disturbed condition of the kidneys was evidenced by a too frequent action of the secretions from these organs, as was mostly noticeable in the fore part of the day. A lady, who had been similarly troubled and had been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills, advised me to use them. Procuring a box, I used only a small portion and the benefit I derived was so pronounced that I was given proof of the value of this medicine as a cure for backache, and all ills arising from deranged kidneys."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE.

Road Tax Now Due.

The law requires every able bodied man, between the ages of twenty-one and sixty years, to annually pay a road tax of three dollars or, in lieu of such sum, to labor on the public road three days. Sec. 8, Chapter 53, Acts of the 37th Legislative Assembly.

The supervisor of Road District No. 3, comprising Precincts Nos. 12 and 24, which precincts include the City of Albuquerque, accepts the office without compensation and is devoting time and energy to the discharge of the duties of the office to the end that proper use be made of the road fund and that we have good roads. The character of roads to be built and the line of work are determined by the Good Roads Association.

Mr. S. M. Porterfield is authorized to receive payment of the road tax and for the convenience of the public will make calls when he can do so or payment can be made at Porterfield and Co., 215 West Gold Avenue. The law will be strictly enforced.

W. H. GILLENWATER,
Supervisor.

LEGAL NOTICE.

Last Will and Testament of Josephine C. Williams, deceased.

To James Wilkinson, executor and sole devisee and to all whom it may concern:

You are hereby notified that the alleged Last Will and Testament of Josephine C. Williams, late of the county of Bernalillo and Territory of New Mexico, deceased, has been produced and read in the probate court of the county of Bernalillo, Territory of New Mexico, at an adjourned regular term thereof, held on the 14th day of September, 1908, and the day of the proving of said alleged Last Will and Testament was by order of the Judge of said court thereupon fixed for Monday, the 2nd day of November, A. D. 1908, term of said court, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day.

Given under my hand and the Seal of this court, this 14th day of September, A. D. 1908.

A. E. WALKER,
Probate Clerk.

Notice for Publication.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Santa Fe, N. M., September 23rd, 1908.

Notice is hereby given that David Trujillo y Tafuya, of Las Placitas, N. Cal. is in the city to remain through the irrigation congress.

Miss Vicencia Hall, daughter of Mr. R. P. Hall, proprietor of the foundry, arrived from her California home Saturday evening, and will be the guest of Mrs. J. H. Wroth during the congress and fair.

D. C. Taylor, of Taylor and Lockwood, Lake Valley, N. M., has arrived in the city with a carload of imported Angora goats, which will be among the interesting livestock exhibits at the exposition.

W. E. Lindsey, United States commissioner at Portales, arrived in Albuquerque last night, accompanied by Mrs. Lindsey. They will remain here during the congress.

H. E. Sherman has returned from Abilene, Kan., with a 20th Century steam riding gallery from the factory of C. W. Parker. The machine is the latest and best portable gallery made with pipe organ attached.

Mrs. Rawson Warren, formerly Miss Nina Otero, arrived in the city from Santa Fe today to join her husband, Lieutenant Warren of the Fifth Cavalry, who is coming with his troop from Fort Wingate to remain during the exposition.

Mr. Ira B. Bennett, former manager of the American Lumber company, and now engaged in extensive lumber operations in northern California, is in the city to remain through the congress as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Gussel.

A. J. Meade, sales manager for the Reinforced Concrete Pipe company, of Los Angeles, Cal., has arrived in the city and his company will have an exhibit at the exposition. George P. Griffith, president of the company and John W. Miner, of Jackson, Mich., attorney for the concern will be here tomorrow.

T. C. Eggleston, of Denver, sales manager for the Maginnis Galvanized Steel Plumes and Western Steel Headwaters, for power irrigation and mining canals, is in the city to attend the irrigation congress, this being the eighth session of the congress attended by Mr. Eggleston, his company having been always prominent among the exhibitors.

School Superintendent Jesus Sanchez of Valencia county and his son, Adelino Sanchez, have arrived in the city for the week. Adelino Chavez, who is a boy only eleven years old, and is somewhat of a rhetorical prodigy, is to give an address at the congress on "New Mexico: Its Past, Present and Future," which promises to be one of the features.

Mrs. Payson, of Los Angeles, a niece of President Ripley of the Santa Fe, and a lady who was well known to numbers of local people during her residence in Albuquerque, has written a republican campaign song, words and music, entitled, "Bill, Bill Taft," the first edition of which is just from the press. If one may judge from the taking words, and the attractive rollicking air, it is destined to be a prime favorite with republican clubs wherever it becomes known.

Revs. Fletcher Cook and Pratt, of Albuquerque, visited our city Monday, and selected a location for the new St. Phillips' church, which the Episcopalian Missionary society will soon erect and hold services in. Rev. Pratt will be the preacher in charge. He comes highly recommended, having done church work in Oklahoma for the past five years. Mr. Jose E. Chavez donated two fine lots on Sixth street, and soon a neat building will delight our eyes.—Belen Tribune.

Frank H. Short, of Fresno, who has been prominently identified with the work of the National Irrigation congress for years and who has been one of the leaders in the movement in California, arrived in Albuquerque yesterday as a delegate to the sixteenth congress. Mr. Short was a member of the president's convention upon conservation of natural resources and is deeply interested in every phase of the great problem.

DYNAMITE OUTRAGE IN NEVADA MINING CAMP

Rawhide Store Destroyed by Explosion; Enemy of Proprietor Held for Deed.

Rawhide, Nev., Sept. 27.—The leading merchandise store of Rawhide was almost entirely demolished today by exploding dynamite, and H. L. Gleason, proprietor of the store, and his wife, were seriously injured.

A. Lee has been arrested and lodged in jail on the charge of having caused the explosion. So strong is the feeling against Lee that he is threatened with lynching by the infuriated citizens. It is said that Lee had a personal grievance against the owner of the store.

EL PASO BUNCH TO HIT THE TRAIL TONIGHT

SIXTY DELEGATES WITH THE BIG BRASS BAND

Carloads of Delegates Now en Route From Colorado, Utah and the Great Northwest To the Irrigation Congress.

Bright and early tomorrow morning the big special train from El Paso, consisting of five cars, will pull into the local station, bearing more than sixty delegates, a big band of twenty-five pieces and more enthusiasm than is generally packed in twice as many cars. The El Pasoans are coming and coming to make a big noise. They will make their headquarters in the Elks' building during the congress. The train leaves El Paso at 8 o'clock tonight and it is believed the sixty delegates will count up closer to seventy-five.

A special meeting of the board of directors of the El Paso chamber of commerce has been called for this afternoon at 2 o'clock, at which time anything that may have possibly been overlooked will be arranged. At this meeting the lists of delegates who are to go on the special will be carefully gone over, committees appointed for different work, and each assigned to some special work during the convention.

The delegation will be one of the largest that ever left El Paso. It is composed of business men. Each man will be expected to contribute some time toward boosting El Paso.

The El Paso exhibit, which will occupy a prominent place in the exhibit hall, has already been sent ahead, and is being erected and prepared for the opening day.

Richard P. Burges, of El Paso, has telegraphed Governor Campbell in the name of the city of El Paso to be the special guest of the local delegation in the trip, and an answer is expected today.

The entire board of directors of the chamber of commerce will make the trip, excepting U. S. Stewart, who is in Portland, Ore.

DELEGATES FROM COLORADO AND NORTHWEST EN ROUTE
Hundreds of delegates in special trains are now en route from Colorado and the Northwest to the irrigation congress. Saturday's Denver Republican says:
"Colorado delegates to the National Irrigation congress and International exposition at Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 29 to Oct. 10, will begin to move South tonight, when a special train of delegates will be attached to the regular Santa Fe train. These delegates will be from points in Colorado outside of Denver. The same train will also pick up at Pueblo, another

A NEW ERA.

Tomorrow will witness the formal inauguration at Albuquerque of an enterprise which is destined to mark in history the opening of a new era in the territory of New Mexico. Though one of the oldest sections of the United States, one that can boast of the establishment of the Christian religion and a Christian civilization many years before the pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock, it is yet, owing to the freaks of time and fate, one of the newest sections of the continent in the sense of settlement and development, by reason of the fact that its attractions and advantages have never been properly made known to the people of the world. But through the advertising that has been done for the irrigation congress, and the people who will be drawn hither to witness that event from practically all the civilized nations of the earth, a revelation will be presented to the world which will cause this date to be marked in the annals of the nation as the time when this oldest section of our country experienced a new birth of progress and entered upon a new age of development and prosperity.

THE GREAT WHITE PLAGUE.

The International Tuberculosis congress will be officially called to order in the city of Washington at noon today. Representatives from practically all the civilized nations of the earth will be in attendance, many of the most eminent medical experts from our own and foreign countries will be there for the purpose of giving the congress the benefit of their knowledge of the disease gained from experience, and will also be equipped with the finest scientific mechanical appliances for the purpose of illustrating the progress of the malady and many of the methods by which it is combated.

Since the climate of New Mexico, and especially of that portion of New Mexico in the immediate vicinity of Albuquerque, has long been conceded by the best medical authorities to be the one spot on the American continent where the person afflicted with this disease has the greatest number of chances of recovery, it is fair to assume that the great world's work now in progress for the elimination of consumption is watched with interest by a larger proportion of the people of this vicinity than of any other spot in the country, because there is a larger proportionate number of people here who have chosen this locality as a vantage ground upon which to fight the insidious foe.

For the same reason much interest has manifested itself here in following the proceedings at Dublin of the British Association for the Advancement of Science. Tuberculosis, human and bovine, was the chief topic of discussion. Much was also told of the work done and doing by the Woman's National Health association founded by Lady Aberdeen. Both these organizations are pressing the war against consumption in various ways and each acts on the assumption that a vast deal of the consumption from which the world suffers is communicated to the human race through tuberculosis beef and milk.

At the annual conference of the British Sanitary Inspectors' association at Liverpool the prediction was made by Sir James Crichton-Browne, the president, that within thirty years tuberculosis in Great Britain would be rooted out.

The campaign against the scourge must be pressed in America with system and ardor. The work must not be left to physicians, physicians' societies and the medical journals. All organizations of men and women should unite for the war. One hundred thousand persons die in the United States every year from tuberculosis. An enemy that slays 100,000 human beings a year is everybody's enemy.

There is no reason why the millions throughout the country should not help along the campaign of education. They have the influence and could do valiant work. All human organizations, charitable organizations, legislative bodies, commercial clubs, women's clubs, farmers' institutes and granges and the public schools especially could help further the good cause.

The health movement has already made favorable advance and will gather impetus as the people become enlightened and take hold. A few years ago expectorating in cars was a common practice. Now this offense against health and decency is rare, and when committed the offender is apt to be punished. Sidewalk spitting has not altogether gone out of fashion with a certain class of men, but the practice is being restrained.

The room or house in which a consumptive dies is now fumigated by the health authorities. In many parts of the country public sanatoria for tuberculous patients have been erected. Popular lectures have been given in a way to reach classes that even the press does not reach. The open air and high feeding treatment has been given wide publicity among people who read and without question has saved many lives. Penal and eleemosynary institutions take such precautions and administer such treatment as they can. With the recognition that tuberculosis is an infectious germ disease and not a mysterious and necessary mortal hereditary disease, or "disposition of Providence," an immediate advance was made, and the war upon the great enemy of mankind is being pressed with steadily increasing vigor throughout the civilized world.

SITUATION IN THE EAST.

In the Record-Herald of Friday morning, Walter Wellman has a letter from New York, telling us how the lively "scrap" between the big men of the two great parties is regarded by the rank and file, and from his interesting and no doubt correct picture of the situation we get another and very forcible illustration of the fact that the American people, everywhere, look at the events of general importance in practically the same light. He tells us that the "ham-basting" which these big fellows are giving one another is generally regarded, taking it all together, as a good joke, and something to make merry over, but that there is a strong undercurrent of regret that the president of the United States should let himself down and forget the dignity of his high office, to such an extent as to engage in a questionable political scramble of the sort now going on. In his remarks upon the affair Mr. Wellman says:

Just now the air is filled with flying bricks. Bombs are exploding almost hourly. Many heads are hit and many more are dodging or ducking. A few reputations are going to smash. The president of the United States, always punctilious, is taking a lively hand in the row. As usual, he is found where the shillalala fly thickest. The democratic candidate for the presidency attacks Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Roosevelt replies with his accustomed vigor. The president also goes after the governor of a "sovereign state" who is, or was up to a few hours ago, the treasurer of the democratic national committee, and goes after him most severely. That gentleman replies in a most undignified and unbecoming fashion, virtually telling the president of the United States he is a failure. Naughty Willie Hearst, the yellow kid, is having the time of his life, striking down the naughty Furerker with one hand and the naughty Haskell with the other. No one knows how many more reputations are in danger of being hit the dust or what new sensation will soon be filling the first pages of all the newspapers. Thanks to the bad boy of the new party, a campaign noted for its dullness is suddenly transformed into a Kilkenny affair of the utmost liveliness.

But life strange thing about it all, the unexpected and well known incoherence and yet not unbecoming humor is the equanimity and discriminative humor with which the people receive it. I am speaking of the people of this city, of the metropolis of the nation. How the people are farther west, I do not know. They may be more excited over all these revelations. But here in New York the disclosures are received more as good jokes than anything else. Time was and not so many years ago, when any similar sensation would have produced in the public mind a partisan bitterness almost beyond description. It is necessary for proof of this to hark back only to such episodes as the Murchison letter, the Morley letter, the rum, Romanism and rebellion blunder of 1884, and a few like incidents of our recent political history. Then men who were friends, if of opposite parties, scarcely dared trust themselves to engage in political discussion. Arguments frequently led to blows. Lifelong friendships were often broken up by disputatious clashes. Almost any of us can remember such occurrences in his own circle of acquaintances. Those were indeed the days of blind partisanship, of political intemperance and bigotry and unreasonableness.

It is quite another thing that we find today, if we may judge the whole country by the metropolis. Despite the sensational character of the recent disclosures and the fierceness of the accusations and recriminations to which they have given birth, despite the temptation to take things very seriously, my observation here in New York is that almost without exception men treat the whole affair in a light spirit. They laugh and smile and crack jokes over it. No one gets excited, no one loses his temper. No one seems to feel that the fate of the nation is at stake.

But it would be an inaccurate account of the present condition of the public mind as we find it in the east which neglected mention of the sincere regret felt by a few men that the president of the United States should have found it necessary or advisable to engage in all of this muck, especially the purely personal part of it. His onslaught upon Mr. Bryan is justified on the ground that Bryan himself provoked it. Bryan, moreover, is in the president's class. But these men think it was not necessary, to say the least, for the president to enter the ring with Haskell. That man is not of the president's caliber. He is really too small an antagonist for the wielder of the big stick, and not a few old-fashioned observers think it beneath the dignity of the president of the United States to engage in a jawing match and an exchange of adjectives and epithets with a politician and promoter of Mr. Haskell's grade.

In the prevalent good humor, however, even these criticisms of the president, expressed by a small minority, are without sting or bitterness. Mr. Bryan, honest, sincere man, is said to be greatly worried lest the Haskell disclosures hurt his chances. Mr. Taft, high-minded and honorable, is also said to be worried lest the Foraker scandal work injury to the republican cause. The understanding at democratic headquarters here is that Mr. Bryan himself must take the responsibility of dropping Haskell, and that he is preparing to do so. But if the public temper throughout the country be the same as it is here, none of these unsavory disclosures is likely to prove a factor of prime importance in the verdict of the electorate. The American public mind seems to be in a healthful state. There is nothing morbid about it. It makes its own discriminations and judgments, with common sense and some little charity.

A ROYAL BILL-POSTER.

The Emperor of Germany, to the indignation and dismay of tourists, has spread in large letters across the face of the North Cape, where thousands go to behold the Midnight Sun, the name of the royal yacht Hohenzollern. Steamship companies have followed his example, and likewise certain manufacturing concerns, so that there is danger that the magnificent, monumentally impressive forehead of a continent may become simply the biggest billboard in the world, a colossal reproduction of the flamboyant and garish announcement of the side show of a country circus.

Some years ago, when President Roosevelt was in California among the Big Trees his sense of the fitness of things was outraged by certain placards affixed to the trees, which he instantly and emphatically directed should be removed. And the Washington Star suggests that the Kaiser would do well to take a leaf from the book of President Roosevelt, for whom he professes so great an admiration. There are other ways of advertising the ancestral glories of the House of Hohenzollern than by desecrating the landscape in the spirit of a freshman celebrating with red paint and daubing the face of nature with class numerals. The Kaiser's action is a freshman trick, not an imperial performance.

THE CHAIRMAN DE FACTO.

Says the Washington Star: There need be no worry about the question of Senator Crane's title at republican headquarters. The whole case is summed up in the fact that the senator visits there and is interested in the campaign. He would have served well as chairman of the national committee, but his health prevented the assumption of so much responsibility. He is strong enough, however, to advise, and that he now is doing. New to national life, he is much admired at home for his political generalship. He has the gift of silence—a great gift for a campaign manager—and knows how to yoke unruly folk together and get good service out of their united efforts. Mr. Crane in action is a distinct gain for the Taft cause; and now that the senator is in action he will probably continue so until election day.

FREIGHT RATES TO GO UP.

It has been semi-officially announced that the transcontinental freight bureau is preparing to make a general increase in commodity freight rates. It is stated that the new tariffs have been prepared and are in the hands of the printer. It is further asserted that the tariffs will soon be filed and made effective on December 1 or January 1. Traffic men deem that there is to be a general increase in the commodity rates, but admit that a proposition is under consideration to make advances in some of the commodity rates which have, it is asserted, been too low for years. It is the understanding of some of the larger industries that the increase is to be 5 cents per 100 pounds from Chicago to the Pacific coast points. The iron and steel industries are expecting such an increase and are preparing plans for combating it.

THE MILITARY BURDEN.

In view of the enormous military burdens which Germany is forced to bear, it is not a matter of surprise that the government of that country is following the example of Japan and preparing to economize.

Even with the proposed economies, however, it is stated that there must be heavy new taxation for imperial purposes, and the list of proposed increases indicates that the empire is approaching the end of its financial resources. What the country would do in case of war it is hard to see. Under the influence of patriotic devotion a people will for a time endure almost any financial burden, but it is doubtful whether Germany could greatly increase ordinary taxation in time of peace without a revolution.

crease ordinary taxation in time of peace without a revolution.

The Houston, Texas, Post has the following cause for thankfulness, which, to say the least, has the merit of originality: "On this festive, ethereal, elysian, epiphanous, exhilarating, equinoctial Sabbath morning, when the Lord and all His radiant angels are with us in heavenly Houston—the City of Anthems—it is a sweetly solemn thought that we live in a land where autumn spreads upon the grave of our dimpled departed summer a wealth of flowers and a world of fragrant mist, instead of the dead leaves that carpet the tomb of the bony and musty old summer of marvelous Manhattan."

The latest of the biggest things in the way of buildings in which New York has been indulging itself is an apartment house which is planned for an upper Broadway block and which will accommodate 175 families. An inner court, it is announced, will have a "grassy lawn big enough for a score of children to romp on." Twenty children for 175 families! Mr. Roosevelt seems to be scandalously neglecting his posterity policy.

A democratic paper in Kansas has been mean enough to call attention to the fact that pictures of W. H. Taft, George R. Sheldon, Frank H. Hitchcock and George von L. Meyer appear on the first page of the last issue of Our Dumb Animals. But it is careful to state that Mr. Bryan's picture does not appear there.

The son of a famous man is handicapped in many ways as a school or college, but that these handicaps will not put an able lad down and out is made apparent by the fact that Robert A. Taft, the eldest son of the republican candidate for president, stands first in scholarship among the three hundred and sixty-five in his class at Yale.

Leaders in Work Reclaiming Wide West Are Still Coming

PROMINENT OFFICERS OF THE CONGRESS HERE IN FORCE

Governor and Staff Establish Their Headquarters—Committee Spends Busy Day Greeting Visitors and Showing Them Around the City and Valley—Busy Scenes at the Alvarado Hotel.

Every train coming into Albuquerque yesterday brought to the city men of prominence who will take a leading part in the sessions of the Sixteenth National Irrigation congress and other visitors who swelled the sum total of Albuquerque's guests to thousands. Among the leaders in the work of reclaiming the west fostered by the efforts of the irrigation congress, were Frank C. Goudy, of Denver, president of the Sixteenth congress; B. A. Fowler, of Phoenix, secretary of the congress; George C. Swink, of Lamar, Colo., the father of beet sugar production in the Arkansas valley of Colorado; and many others.

Governor Curry and staff and Secretary of the Territory Nathan Jaffa arrived and have established gubernatorial headquarters for the two weeks in Albuquerque. From all parts of the west are coming in men well known in the history of the development of the great resources of the arid and semi-arid lands of the Rocky mountain and southwestern states.

The executive committee, reception committee and members of the board of control generally spent a busy day yesterday greeting the guests. Colonel Hopewell, Colonel Twitchell, M. W. Flournoy, Solomon Luna, Captain Clark M. Carr, George Arnold and other gentlemen yesterday took Secretary Fowler, Governor Curry, Secretary Jaffa and other prominent visitors in automobiles about the city and environs, and to the exposition grounds.

The scene at the Alvarado last night was a most animated one, as in addition to the vast throng outside the hotel listening to the band concert, the lobby was crowded with visitors, and Albuquerque people all the evening, with new arrivals coming in every time a new train was announced. Other distinguished arrivals are expected today and tomorrow, including the Santa Fe official special, which comes tomorrow evening.

John Barrett director of the Bureau of American Republics, leaves Chicago today and will arrive here Tuesday morning. Mr. Barrett comes to the congress as international representative of the American republics, with the rank of envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary, representing all the republics, and is thus one of the most important visitors to the congress in his official capacity, aside from his distinguished personal services to the world at large.

All of the visitors come full of enthusiasm over the work's prospects, and well pleased with the preparations made to receive them and the warm cordiality of the "Albuquerque way." The work of the most important session of the irrigation congress ever held starts off under the most favorable auspices.

RECEPTION TO DELEGATES AT THE CLUB TONIGHT

There will be an informal reception tonight at 8 o'clock in the spacious rooms of the Commercial Club building, especially for the delegates to the irrigation congress, every one of whom is urged to be present and get acquainted with his fellow delegates, and spend a pleasant social hour. Preparations have been made to make it a most enjoyable event, and it is hoped no delegate will fail to attend.

POSSIBILITIES OF SALT RIVER ARE LIMITLESS

SECRETARY FOWLER TALKS OF ROOSEVELT PROJECT

Will Impound Water Sufficient To Irrigate Mile-Wide Strip From San Francisco to Detroit, Says Phoenix Man.

B. A. Fowler, secretary of the Sixteenth National Irrigation congress, which convenes here tomorrow, and also president of the Salt River Valley Water Users' association, arrived in the city yesterday morning from his home in Phoenix. Mr. Fowler has been for many years an ardent irrigation enthusiast and was one of the leading spirits in the agitation which resulted in the construction by the act. Mr. Fowler was one of the first men who recognized the feasibility of constructing the Roosevelt dam and foreseeing the opportunities for reclaiming the desert lands surrounding it. He was one of the men who assisted in convincing congressmen that government reclamation was an absolute necessity to the development of the west and southwest and worked unceasingly for the passage of the reclamation act. Mr. Fowler made several trips to Washington in the interest of the bill and was at last gratified to witness the president affix his official signature thereto. The Roosevelt dam will be the first project completed after the passage of the reclamation act and is recognized as the pet project of the service. The dam is a noteworthy modern engineering feat and is considered by expert engineers to be one of the finest in the world. The dam, when finished, will be two hundred and eighty-four feet in height, or sixty-three feet higher than the Bunker Hill monument. It impounds 1,300,000 acre feet of water. "To the average lay mind the meaning of that statement is not obvious," said Mr. Fowler. "In order to better illustrate it I have figured it out that this amount of water would irrigate a strip of land one mile wide from San Francisco to Detroit, with one foot of water. A power plant is now under construction at a cost of $4,000 per mile, from the dam to the city of Phoenix, eighty miles distant. It is estimated that twenty-five thousand horsepower can be transmitted over this line. One mining company has offered to contract for ten thousand horsepower. In the event this great power is materialized it will be but a question of years when the dam will pay for itself."

Mr. Fowler said among other things concerning the Salt River valley that the people almost without exception are all boosters, all working together for the upbuilding of the country and the day is not distant when it will be one of the greatest agricultural districts in the world. Mr. Fowler, in his capacity as president of the Salt River Valley Water Users' association a position which he has held ever since its organization, comes in contact with the people of all classes, who occupy lands in the valley and says that they are all feeling happy as a result of the good crops of the last few seasons. "The half of it is not yet told," said Mr. Fowler in conclusion. "Just what the limit of development the valley will reach is as yet unknown. Only this last season cotton, which, according to the department of agriculture, ranks as equal if not superior to the Egyptian cotton of Egypt, was grown with great success. Dates, which have been declared fully equal to the Northern African dates, were also grown with success and several growers of tropical fruits have signified their intention of growing dates on a large commercial scale. Oranges, which find a quicker and better market than the pick of the California fruit, are still our stronghold and probably will be for some time to come. Lemons, citrus fruits, apricots, peaches, pears and apples—in fact, nearly everything that will grow has been grown successfully in the Salt River valley. We do not as yet know its possibilities and limitations and intend to keep up active experiments until we have made a trial at growing everything, which we think can possibly find a home in the valley."

Mr. Fowler in addition to being secretary of the National Irrigation congress, and president of the Salt River Valley Water Users' association is also president of the National Federation of Water Users' associations which organization comprises twenty associations and is also president of the Associated Charities of Phoenix; is known as the "Father of the Carnegie Library," in that city, and is one of the most prominent lawyers in the country.

Koontz, General Superintendent H. W. Sharp and Division Superintendent J. M. Kurn.

"Pass M. E. Knott," says a little pastboard that is being passed around the city by Fred Macpherson, of Los Angeles, traveling representative of the Santa Fe Employees' magazine, who has joined the crowd of Santa Fe officials in this city.

After reciting about twenty-five Biblical passages showing that man is not born to pass, the pastboard says on the reverse side:

"The fifty-five thousand officials and employees of the Santa Fe take pleasure in presenting you this complimentary transportation. The more frequently you use it the better they will be pleased. It will also please them to see you represented in the advertising section of their publication, the Santa Fe Employees' magazine."

"The Santa Fe operates 10,000 miles of road in thirteen states and territories; monthly payroll nearly $3,000,000."

"If there is a harvest ahead, even a distant one, it is poor thrift to be stingy of your seed corn.—Carlisle."

SANTA FE MEN COMING IN ON EVERY TRAIN

The Santa Fe men are still arriving and will be arriving all the week. Among those who came in yesterday were Charles L. Sengraives, of Chicago, general colonization agent of the Santa Fe; T. B. Gallagher, of Amarillo, Texas, traveling freight agent and passenger agent; E. Savage, of Topeka, one of the veterans of the Santa Fe advertising service; C. E. Nelson, of Topeka, and many others.

PUEBLO ARRIVES TO CAPTURE THE CONGRESS

TO MAKE TALL FIGHT FOR 1909 MEETING

Colorado Boosters Claim State Is Now Foremost in Irrigated Acreage, and Has Most Successful Projects.

Forty strong and accompanied by the big Elks' band of Pueblo, with twenty-five pieces, the delegation from Pueblo, Colo., to the irrigation congress arrived last night in a special car with the avowed intention of securing the next congress for Pueblo or knowing the reason why. A big carload of grains and grasses from the San Luis valley also arrived yesterday to take its place in the Colorado exhibit, as well as a carload of immense potatoes raised by E. H. Grubb, of Carbonado, Colo., the greatest potato grower in the state, who has contracts to supply all the Vanderbilt railways with their spuds.

"Pueblo, we think, is fully entitled to the next irrigation congress," said W. H. Olin, of Fort Collins, last night. Mr. Olin is connected with the Agricultural college at Fort Collins, is in immediate charge of the Colorado exhibit in the Santa Fe building, and in general charge of all the Colorado exhibits.

"I will tell you why," said Mr. Olin. "Colorado now has a larger acreage of land under irrigation than any other state in the union, California having been outstripped by the Centennial state. Pueblo is the logical meeting place for 1909 because there are more big projects started or proposed in the Arkansas valley than anywhere else in the west. Irrigation has reached its greatest perfection in Colorado and experts from Asia, Africa and Australia, Egypt and Europe come to the state to study the science of irrigation as applied there. Irrigation has been practiced in Colorado since the year 1860. On the Cache la Poudre river, in a distance of twenty-five miles, there are no less than eighty-four reservoirs which have secured the farmers of that section the enormous total of fifty millions of dollars in profits from irrigated crops. Nowhere in the world is there anything to equal this record. Colorado should have the 1909 meeting, and Pueblo is the logical city for it. Pueblo is going to make a winning fight to get it."

The Pueblo boosters plan to have the irrigation congress held in conjunction with the annual state fair, which has just closed this year. From the way they are going after the congress they are apt to get it, or to give Spokane a run for her money. Pueblo it is claimed, will have strong support among the delegates.

BEVERAGE TO TOUR WEST.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Senator Albert J. Beveridge's itinerary for his tour to San Francisco was announced at republican national headquarters tonight. It includes Oct. 2, Helena, Mont., afternoon; Butte, evening; Oct. 4, Missoula; Oct. 5, Seattle; Oct. 6, Tacoma, morning; Portland, evening; Oct. 8, San Francisco, noon and over night; Oct. 9, Reno; Oct. 12, Ogden, noon; Salt Lake, night; Oct. 13, Denver, night.

The itinerary after Denver has not yet been arranged, but it probably will be through Kansas and Missouri.

CROWDS OF PEOPLE LISTENING TO THE BAND

Mexican Musicians Please Great Throngs at Park and Alvarado—City Will Be Full of Bands.

The porticoes, walks and every available inch of standing room about the Alvarado hotel was crowded black with people last evening to listen to a splendid concert by the Mexican army band, which has pleased the people more than any other musical organization of the kind ever heard here. In the afternoon previous the band also played to a crowd which almost completely filled the park and which was generous of its applause. It was a happy inspiration which resulted in the securing of this band of artists, who are doing a large part to make the carnival period a success.

The city is to be fairly invaded with brass bands before the week is out. Among those that are coming are Held's crack band with the Utah delegation; the Fort Bliss band with the El Paso delegation; the Twenty-first Infantry band with the Fort Logan contingent; the Capital City band of Santa Fe, which is not at all slow; a band with the cadets from Roswell; the Elks' band of Pueblo; the Duke City band, the Old Albuquerque band, the Leonard and Lindemann Boys' band and numerous other. There will certainly be no lack of music during the big show.

DUKE CITY BAND CLOSING SEASON AT ROBINSON PARK

The Duke City band has been rehearsing for many weeks preparing new and appropriate music for the congress. Several new members have been added to the aggregation, which materially increases its efficiency. The band has purchased the uniforms and music formerly owned by the Elks' band. Commencing Tuesday morning and continuing throughout the congress and fair the Duke City musicians will be on duty and expect to take their place with the best of the visiting bands. Owing to the fact that there was a conflicting attraction last night in the shape of the Chihuahuas band, which played at the Alvarado, and because of the coolness of the evening the crowd which attended the Duke City band concert at Robinson park last evening was not so large as usual. The concert rendered last night was the last of the season as far as playing in the park is concerned. The concert was very pleasing and was much appreciated by those present. The following card of thanks indicates the feeling of the officers and members of the band towards the city council, business men and citizens of the city:

"We, the undersigned, officers of the Duke City band, in behalf of the said organization, desire to thank the city council and business men of Albuquerque for their hearty co-operation and financial support tendered us during the past season, which made possible the series of Sunday evening concerts at Robinson park."

"W. L. EDGAR, President. M. J. McGUINESS, Financial Secretary. GEORGE DAVIS, Treasurer."

tion and financial support tendered us during the past season, which made possible the series of Sunday evening concerts at Robinson park.

EXCURSION TRAIN TO MEXICO CITY

Passenger Agent of the Mexican Central Here To Promote Big Excursion Through Republic.

Armed with the cheapest railroad rate ever made for a trip of equal distance, and an unlimited supply of advertising matter, C. F. Burns, passenger agent for the Mexican Central at El Paso, arrived in Albuquerque yesterday for the purpose of making up a party of 100 or more whom he proposes to take to Mexico City and return following the irrigation congress. The Mexican Central and the Santa Fe have made a joint rate of $25 for the round trip from this city to the City of Mexico and return, a rate which, as Mr. Burns says, "is cheaper than staying at home."

The plan is to make up a special train in Albuquerque and run the train solid to the capital of the republic and return with ample time for sightseeing at the southern terminus of the run. The trip to Mexico is an attractive one and the excursion is very sure to be one of the most popular of the several which will be run out of Albuquerque following the congress.

NAVAJOS MAY GET HERE TONIGHT

The big caravan of fifty Navajo Indians from the wilds of the reservation led by Chief Peshlikling and accompanied by a dozen reservation cowboys and a party of other exposition visitors from San Juan county, is expected to arrive at Corrales, ten miles north of here, this morning after an arduous overland trek of two hundred miles or more. Col. D. E. B. Sellers, who has the contingent in charge at the fair, leaves today for Corrales to meet the Indians and they will probably reach here late tonight. The party is accompanied by Dick Wetherill, the well known frontiersman, and will prove one of the highlights of the exposition. Several cords of wood have been heaped up by Colonel Sellers at the exposition grounds in preparation for the big bonfires around which the Navajos perform their weird fire dance.

RIPLEY AND PARTY VISITING THE BEET FIELDS

SANTA FE SPECIAL TO ARRIVE HERE TUESDAY

Contains Distinguished Party of Officials and Directors, Who Will Remain Here Until Friday.

The largest single party of high officials and directors of the Santa Fe railway that ever visited Albuquerque will arrive here some time tomorrow evening on a big special train and remain here until Friday when they will return east traveling via the Belen cut-off. Today the Santa Fe men are inspecting the sugar beet fields of the Arkansas valley of Colorado and will spend the night at La Junta. This special which was made up especially to bring the Santa Fe officials to the irrigation congress, carries the following men:

President E. P. Ripley, Directors E. J. Berwyn, Paul Morton, Byron L. Smith, J. G. McCullough, C. S. Gled and A. C. Jones; Vice Presidents George T. Nicholson and W. B. Jansen; Freight Traffic Manager J. E. Gorman; Passenger Traffic Manager W. J. Black, Assistant Freight Traffic Manager F. B. Houghton, Special Solicitor T. J. Norton, General Manager J. E. BEAUTIFUL WOMEN

Use and Recommend

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

MISS MILDRED HOLLAND

the charming and deservedly popular theatrical star, writes as follows:

"I am delighted with Newbro's Herpicide. It is just what I have been looking for. I find that it not only prevents dandruff, but that it stops the hair from falling out. It is a most delightful hair dressing, and no lady's toilet table is complete without it."
(Signed) MILDRED HOLLAND.

A woman to be pretty must have pretty hair. There is a subtle charm about beautiful hair that lends more to personal adornment than all of the skill of all of the "beauty doctors" combined. The hair need not be of extraordinary or abnormal length, but it must have that distinctiveness of appearance that comes from intelligent care, and is the result of perfect hair health.

The most cultured ladies in every community use Newbro's Herpicide; and when you see a head of hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life, it is a fairly good indication that Newbro's Herpicide has been used.

A common cause of dullness of the hair is the presence of fine dust and soil in the streets, that is kept in constant motion by trolley cars, automobiles, etc. This fine dust—frequently laden with disease germs—adheres to the hair and dulls its natural luster.

A delightful way to cleanse and beautify the hair is to moisten a cloth with Newbro's Herpicide and draw it carefully through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. It may be done daily, or less often, as desired.

The result of this cleansing process will prove a surprise, not only in the amount of dirt removed, but in the added beauty of the hair and the sense of cleanliness and comfort that follows. Shampooing will also remove this dust, but too frequent washing of the hair is harmful.

Newbro's Herpicide is the Original remedy that "kills the dandruff germ." It eradicates dandruff and stops falling hair. It is the only real scalp prophylactic in existence. A delightful and refreshing hair dressing. Stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

Guaranteed under the Food and Drug Act, June 30, 1906, Serial No. 915.

FATHER OF SUGAR BEET INDUSTRY IS HERE

GEORGE C. SWINK TELLS OF ARKANSAS VALLEY

Pioneer of Colorado Had Uphill
Fight To Demonstrate Great
Possibilities of the Beet.

"It was an uphill fight to secure recognition of the great possibilities of the beet sugar industry in Colorado," said George C. Swink, of Lamar, Colorado, at the Alvarado last night. Mr. Swink has the distinction of being the pioneer of the beet sugar industry in Colorado and for that matter the whole west. He has been one of the potent factors in the development of the rich Arkansas valley of Colorado and is now interested in the American Sugar company and other beet sugar manufacturing concerns of Colorado.

Mr. Swink will make an address before the irrigation congress on the subject, "What Irrigation Has Done For the Arkansas Valley," which will be heard with great interest. Mr. Swink has seen the Arkansas valley grow from a treeless gulch to one of the most fertile agricultural sections in the west and it is naturally his hobby.

"Yes, the sugar beets of the Arkansas valley make a better average showing than anywhere else in Colorado," said Mr. Swink in answer to an inquiry. "The undoubted reason is that the Arkansas valley has more hardworking, intelligent practical farmers, a prime requisite to successful beet raising."

"One of the most important facts I have demonstrated in my years of experiment is that sugar beet raising is no get rich quick scheme. Sugar beets perhaps do not yield as large profits as other crops do in certain seasons. The advantage is, however, that rain or shine the income is a steady, reliable one and in the long run exceeds that from other crops. For instance sugar beets in a given year may not yield the profit that comes from cantaloupes. On the other hand cantaloupes, the most perishable crop of all, may fall entirely where the hardy beets, the most hardy of all crops, withstand the unfavorable conditions. The reliability of the sugar beet crop is its greatest and most profitable advantage. It is a great industry."

"Twenty years ago I began experimenting with sugar beets. It took twelve years to get the industry started. I was ridiculed unmercifully and met with all kinds of opposition. For years I was alone in the work. The first bill I introduced in the legislature and one which created much amusement was a bill to import sugar beet seed as I then thought the home product was not satisfactory. But they came to it in the end. I made them."

"I spent eight years getting the American Sugar company to take up the proposition and not until I went to them with a list of eleven hundred farmers who would raise the beets, did the industry get fairly started. We labored under the disadvantage more-over of having poor farmers to begin with. But they were farmers who knew how to farm and were not afraid of work. The result speaks for itself. The farmers raising the beets now are from all parts of the west, chiefly Texas, Kansas and Nebraska. They have found that with thorough cultivation the beets yield a steady, unvarying, substantial income."

"Considering the difficulties, the development of the Arkansas valley has been one of the wonderful things of the west. It has great possibilities ahead of it yet."

"I see no reason why the Rio Grande valley should not become a great center of the industry. Your climate is practically the same and it has been proven that your soil grows splendid beets."

Mr. Swink is now engaged in installing in the Santa Fe building at the exposition a beautiful exhibit of Arkansas valley honey and other products from that section.

RAMS For Sale

We have at our ranch at Shoemaker, N. Mex., 300 Rambouillets, 250 Delaines and 50 Hempsires. These rams are bred by the Butterfield Livestock Co., at Weiser, Idaho, one of the best breeders in the west, and are as good as can be found anywhere for wool and mutton qualities combined; the 50 head of Hempsires are strictly a mutton type, and any one breeding to sell all their lambs should see this stuff. Those coming to the ranch should catch No. 1 from the north and No. 10 from the south; stop at Shoemaker; phone out to the ranch and we can be there in 20 minutes to meet them, as we are only 2 miles from the station. Will have 100 head of these rams at Albuquerque during the fair, so sheep men can see what they are. Prices to suit the times. Rams have been at the ranch since 5th of August, and are acclimated, and in fine condition for service. For prices, etc., address

SEVEN DROWNED WHEN PLEASURE BOAT SINKS

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Seven men out of a party of eight, were drowned in the Calumet river at One-hundred and Twenty-sixth street, South Chicago, tonight, when the pleasure launch Lemon struck one of the supports of a railroad bridge and sank with all on board. The owner of the launch succeeded in swimming to the shore, and was the only one saved. A life-saving crew and the ambulances of all nearby police stations were hurried to the scene.

Political Riots in Cuba.
Havana, Sept. 27.—Political disturbances have begun to assume some gravity in Cuba. A conservative meeting at Sancti Spiritus, in Santa Clara province, was the occasion of a riot today at which many were injured and in Havana tonight a meeting of the new negro party headed by General Estenoz, was broken up by liberals, who kept up continuous shouting. Sancti Spiritus is the home of General Jose Miguel Gomez, former candidate of the Miguelistas and Zayasist for the president. The mayor of the town and the police are members of the liberal party.

NOBLES TRAILING IN ACROSS THE SUNLIT SANDS

BALLUT ABYAD TEMPLE
IN CEREMONIAL SESSION

Grand Parade of Wearers of the Fez takes place at 10:30
This Morning; Banquet in Evening at Alvarado.

Nobles of the Mystic Shrine are piling in across the desert sands from all quarters to attend the grand ceremonial session of Ballut Abyad Temple of the Ancient Arabic Order which is held in this city today. The indications are that the attendance will be extremely large and a large class of quaking candidates will be allowed to blister their pedal extremities on the superheated sands.

The business session will be held at 9:30 this morning. At 10:30 will occur the grand street parade and any one who has ever seen the Shriners in caravan knows that it will be spectacular and gorgeous to the limit. At 2 p. m. will be held the ceremonial large majorities throughout the whole region west of the Rocky mountains. "While I have been away from the east for several weeks and am consequently not in very close touch with the situation there, said Mr. McHarg last night, "I am very sure there is no question of the result of the campaign. Mr. Taft's election is certain. I have found that the northwest and the Pacific coast states are solid for the republican nominee and I believe the majority given in all of those states will be astonishingly large. The people, particularly of the west know Mr. Bryan and they have become accustomed to his campaign methods, and while there have been factional differences in some of the states in the republican party I believe all those differences will be adjusted in plenty of time and that even should they be not adjusted the effect upon the vote for the presidential candidate will not be injurious to Mr. Taft. The only thing that has been needed in the campaign has been to bring Mr. Taft into closer touch with the voters and through the speaking campaign in which he is now engaged, this is being done most effectively. Republican success is written plainly on the forecast for this campaign."

"The effect of the Foraker-Hearst controversy will not be injurious to Mr. Taft and the developments of the affair have, it appears, been rather to drive hard blows into the democratic campaign managers."

Mr. McHarg will be in Albuquerque probably until the end of the week.

KENTUCKY FEUD FIGHTER
KILLED UNDER TRAIN

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 27.—The body of a man who was run over by a train and instantly killed in the Kentucky and Indiana railroad yards last night was identified early this morning as that of Thomas Cockrell, the noted Breathitt county (Kentucky) feudist. Cockrell's presence in the yards has not yet been explained, but it is presumed he was either on his way or returning from a visit to his old home. He was a brother of Jim Cockrell, who was at one time marshal of Jackson, and who was assassinated. Tom Cockrell was also involved in several feud battles and had killed at least one prominent member of the Hargis faction.

Velasco was retrieving his bad luck in the ring last Sunday and had made some of the most daring plays ever seen here.
A particularly fierce bull tossed the matador in the air several times, having fatally pierced his groin with his long horns.

NORTHWEST AND THE COAST WILL BE FOR TAFI

Ormsby McHarg in Albuquerque in Course of Extended Trip Through the West Upon Political Mission.

Ormsby McHarg, of Washington, who as special attorney for the department of justice, made extended investigations into public land matters in New Mexico in the summer of 1907, and was conducted the legal action which followed these investigations, arrived in Albuquerque yesterday for a stay of several days to attend the irrigation congress sessions and to meet a number of prominent western political leaders who will be here during the week. Mr. McHarg is actively connected with the campaign of the republican party and for the past six weeks has been visiting the northern, northwest and Pacific coast states in the interest of the republican candidate.

To Mr. McHarg, the outcome of the present campaign in the nation is not in question and is merely a matter of the magnitude of the popular majority of the republican candidate. His view of the situation particularly in the west and northwest is more than cheerful, it is rosy and he is firmly convinced that Mr. Taft will be given written, best expressed and best presented entertainment travelling in America. Among other things in her column criticism of the performance who finds occasion to remark: "It is not of that vibrating, uncanny, richly original sort, which is essentially American, and its little romance is neat and interesting. In it there is more actual wit, more innocent mischief, more admirable acting and good singing than in any ten of the average musical shows. It is full of breezy songs, winged dances, actually intelligent comedy, and is the very essence of entertainment." "Little Johnny Jones" will be seen in this city with the same stupendous production, magnificent wardrobe and its famous chorus of forty which made its engagement in all the principal cities notable last season. The cast is a large and excellent one and all the company numbers seventy-five people, one of the largest, in fact, on tour this season. The play is in three acts, the first act, showing a mammoth scene, representing the exterior of the Hotel Cecil, London; the second act, a realistic scene depicting the departure of an ocean liner from its pier at Southampton, England; and the third act, the Chinese quarter in San Francisco, at night, gaily but weirdly illuminated. A production with such an unquestionable reputation that has preceded it here is sure to attract a crowded house, which is already indicated by the large demand for seats.

"Johnny" Comes Oct. 3.

"October 3 will be the big day at the Elks' theater, Albuquerque, N. M., during the irrigation congress," says a lurid poster which has been distributed to every station in the West by the company during the past week. This is the day that "Little Johnny Jones," George M. Cohan's unparalleled musical success is the attraction at the opera house. This is just a sample of the lavish advertising being given the Albuquerque attractions by the Santa Fe, but it is also a signal recognition of the merit of the famous stage creation.

"Little Johnny Jones" has been highly praised by the critics everywhere, who write in glowing terms of its originality and construction, and speak in the highest praise of its captivating and catchy music, of which there are twenty-two numbers. Mr. Cohan has been given much credit for the consistent story he has written, which tells the story and adventures of an American jockey, who goes to England to win fame on the English turf. ARTISTS TELL THE STORY OF THE GREAT SOUTHWEST

Something About the Paintings in Convention Hall, and the Men Who Made Them—A Collection of Southwestern Scenic Art Without Equal in the World.

(By F. L. Vandegrift.)

Mr. W. H. Simpson, of Chicago, general advertising agent of the Santa Fe railway, for some weeks has been collecting paintings and photographs of southwestern scenes, belonging to the company, for exhibition in Convention hall during the National Irrigation congress. These have come from the general offices of the company, and from the branch offices in the larger cities of the country, and Friday Mr. Simpson arrived to hang them.

The work is about completed, and it transforms the hall into a veritable art gallery. Mr. Simpson, a man of artistic temperament, has grouped the pictures harmoniously, and the effect is to fill the big hall with the atmosphere of the southwest.

In the presence of these pictures, the spectator will feel what Charles Lummis calls the "imminent and audible prompting of God." Mr. Lummis calls the southwest the "Artist's Paradise," and in the second of a series of articles on that subject, appearing in his magazine "Out West," he says:

"I would like to have seen Turner set down upon a certain brink I know of a certain time—but with half inch cables on him to keep him from falling into the gulf from sheer delight. Only a few weeks ago after a gap of sixteen or seventeen years, I had the joy of again sitting there with 'Old Tom' Moran, who has come nearer to doing the impossible than any other meddler with paint and canvas in the southwest. No one knows better than he the hopelessness of painting God's masterpiece; but no one so well has made a transcript for our comprehension. He has just painted his great picture of the Grand Canyon; and I would like to see someone try to better it."

Continuing Mr. Lummis says: "It was an accident that the Santa Fe route, when it followed the line of least resistance across 'The Great American Desert,' (as it was called fifty years ago), skinned the cream of the artist's interest of the southwest. There is no railroad in the world, not even excepting the Peruvian Central, which penetrates such a wonderland of the pictorial in geography and humanity."

The artists, who painted the pictures of the Santa Fe collection, which it will be the privilege of the people gathered in Albuquerque this week to see, caught much of the same inspiration that pervades Mr. Lummis' article. Likewise, visitors in the hall will be inspired, and possibly a brief mention of the pictures may be of interest to readers of the Journal.

Perhaps the most attractive of the collection and surely the greatest study is a painting by W. E. Rollins, of Phoenix, Arizona, entitled, "Hopi Indians at the Grand Canyon." It is a representation of two Hopi Indians, clad in their ancient garb, standing on the rim in contemplation of the canyon, which is spread before them. It rests on an easel, illuminated by electric lights, against the east wall immediately south of the platform. This picture cost the Santa Fe one thousand dollars. It has been on exhibition in the offices of the company at Los Angeles and Denver and from Albuquerque it will be sent to Kansas City.

Another Rollins in the collection is his "Song of the Kiwa." In the soft brown tones typical of his Indian pictures.

A notable landscape is the "San Francisco Peaks," (Arizona), by Densler, an eastern artist, who spent the closing years of his life in Chicago. Although he was a very successful artist, he died in poverty of consumption, cared for by a few good friends.

Every artist who paints the Grand Canyon takes a different view of it. For instance, Gardner Simon, of Los Angeles, in a picture of the great chasm, sees it in a mass rather than its color effect. Another view of it is presented in "El Tovar," by Louis Akin, of Flagstaff, Arizona. This is the original painting from which lithographs used by the Santa Fe in advertisements are made.

By Akin also is an Arizona scene, entitled "Vermilion Cliffs," done in soft colors of sky and land. Akin now has a collection of pictures on exhibition at Portland, Oregon.

Harold Betts, a young artist, of Chicago, has two Indian pictures in the collection. One is "Navajos Watching a Fire Dance" and the other, "Pueblo Indian Rabbit Hunt." He spent two summers in New Mexico and Arizona, studying Indians and their customs, and he does some unusual figure work. A little different subject is his "Glennwood Mission Inn," also in this collection.

In a subtle atmosphere of color is "Hopi Indians Crossing the Painted Desert," by H. H. Green, of Toronto, Canada.

In the collection is a painting by H. H. Green, of Los Angeles, formerly of Chicago, "In the Days of the Buffalo." Cross is a painter of the old school, and began a study of the plains country fifty years ago. He crossed the plains in 1858, and in that year spent some time among the Hopi Indians. His subjects are landscape views of the plains, Indians and wild animals. In the collection is a picture entitled "Indian Chief" by the same artist.

In the California school is William Wendt, of Los Angeles, who exhibits in the east every winter. His work in this collection is a picture entitled "A California Landscape."

"Sunset in the California Sierras" is by W. L. Judson of San Francisco. Jules Wertheimer, of San Francisco, has some Yosemite scenes in the collection.

Leonard Lester, of California, has three small canvases—"Pacific Coast Near Monterey," "A Poppy Field, Pasadena, California," and "The Dome, Yosemite Valley."

Another painting of "A Poppy Field," is by B. S. Brown, of California.

F. P. Sauerwein, whose "Navajos in Arizona" will attract attention, makes his home in Taos, New Mexico, where a colony of artists have settled. Sauerwein's house is an adobe cabin in the Mexican quarter. Another of the colony is Bert Phillips of Portland, Oregon. He is famous for Indian portraits. He paints few pictures, but says he ranks even higher than Burbank. Seven or eight artists, from St. Louis, Cincinnati and New York, go to Taos every summer. All have built homes there.

In the collection are six canvases by C. H. Harmon, of Denver. The picture, "Old San Diego Mission," is by Georgia Timken Fry who when she was a girl, knew the great George Inness. She studied with him and was much influenced by his work.

The picture, "Pueblo Indian Weaving," is by Alice Cleaver, of Council Bluffs, Iowa. Miss Cleaver has spent a summer or two at the Indian pueblos of Taos and Laguna, N. M.

Three oil paintings sent by the Yosemite Valley Railway are by Jurgensen. The same company contributes some fine photographs to the collection.

The very large collection of broadside enlargements of scenes along the Santa Fe railway are by Putnam and Valentine, of Los Angeles.

The Santa Fe's paintings and broadside exhibits in the hall cost about $10,000. This, however, is only a part of the Santa Fe's collection of pictures of the southwest. For some years the Santa Fe has been encouraging southwest art, and has collected many pictures, by noted artists of the country. A few years ago the company took into the southwest Thomas Moran, George Inness, son of the great Inness, and George H. McCord. They spent some weeks in the midst of scenes, which they have put on canvas.

TRAINS WILL RUN INTO CITY IN 8 MONTHS

NEW MEXICO CENTRAL ENGINEER OPTIMISTIC

Satisfied With Tijeras Canyon After Inspection And Says Work Will Commence Without Delay.

H. E. Culbertson, of H. E. Culbertson & Co., constructing and contracting engineers, of Cleveland, Ohio, who arrived here last week from the east, returned to the city yesterday evening after spending the last three days on an inspection trip over the route of the proposed New Mexico Central Railroad company.

Mr. Culbertson was accompanied on the trip by J. R. Farwell, of this city, the engineer who made the original survey of the line. Mr. Culbertson expressed himself as being much pleased with the proposed line of the road, declared that the Tijeras canyon route was entirely feasible and predicted that the road would be actively operating trains in and out of Albuquerque within eight months.

"I intend to put a preliminary surveying corps in the field as soon as I can get the outfit together," said Mr. Culbertson. "Mr. Farwell, who made the original survey, will have charge of the party. It will take, I should judge, about a month to re-locate the former survey. As soon as this survey is completed, the active construction on the work will commence from both ends, and will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible. We already have considerable equipment at Moriarty, including a steam shovel and dinky locomotives. A number of dump cars are on the road to Moriarty and should reach there any day now. The work at the Moriarty end will commence a little sooner than the work from the Albuquerque end, as we have eight miles of rail at that end. We have enough rails en route to build the road from Albuquerque to the mouth of Tijeras canyon, and will commence laying the steel just as soon as it reaches this city. We are going to advertise for teams and intend to put a large force of men and horses on the job as soon as the preliminary details have been arranged.

"I am not entirely satisfied with the proposed line from Frost to Hagan and will suggest that some minor changes be made in that route. "A. L. Richmond, proprietor of the Southside Trust company, and the Metropolitan bank of Pittsburgh, will arrive here on October 2 for a conference. Mr. Richmond will be accompanied by several other bankers, financiers and bond men. They have the money to build the road; are satisfied as to the feasibility and advisability of building it; are satisfied that there is a demand for the road; that it will pay them to construct it; and I am certain that the work will be commenced at once. The present time is an opportune one for railroad construction in the west. There are thousands of steam shovels, dump cars and all manner of construction equipment lying idle in Ohio, Pennsylvania and other states, which can be brought down here and used to good effect.

"I understand that it is the intention to eventually extend the New Mexico Central on to Roswell. Then we will have a railroad that will be worth something.

"I predict that within two months every day will be a Fourth of July in Tijeras canyon—there will be all kinds of blasting; within six months the road will be completed from Hagan to Moriarty, and in eight months there will be passenger and freight trains running from Albuquerque to Moriarty over the tracks of the New Mexico Central Railroad company."

Asked as to the probable location of the terminal depot of the road in Albuquerque, Mr. Culbertson said that the matter had not as yet been definitely settled. "Mr. Richmond has offered a prize of $100 to the architect or private individual who will submit the most original plans for a depot of Pueblo Indian architecture," continued Mr. Culbertson, "and I know that it will likely be an Indian building, but as to the exact location, I am not prepared to say just at present. Mr. Culbertson expects to remain here for several days.

WANTS UNCLE SAM TO GIVE A DAM

Sacramento Valley Boosters Here in Interest of Proposed Iron Canon Irrigation Project.

A party of prominent Sacramento valley irrigation men, who are delegates to the Irrigation congress, arrived in the city yesterday and will use their best efforts throughout the congress to exploit the Iron Canyon project to the congress and also to delegates from other sections of the country. The Iron Canyon of the Sacramento valley in Tehama county, is one of the finest natural situations for an immense dam and irrigation system in the world. The main purpose of the delegates is to attract the attention of the prominent irrigation men to the Iron Canyon project, and if possible bring it to the attention of the United States reclamation officials, who will be here during the week. The project would demand the investment of more capital than could be secured from private individuals or from the state of California, and for this reason the people of the Sacramento country are anxious to have the reclamation services take the work up. Extensive surveys and estimates of the work have already been made.

In the event that the project is looked upon favorably by the government and an appropriation made for the construction of the Iron valley dam, there will be opened an immense tract of land which is at present valueless on account of the lack of water, and which will become invaluable when placed under irrigation. Prominent among the Tehama county delegation are the following gentlemen from Red Bluff, Cal.: Mayor W. L. Bransford, County Surveyor W. F. Luning and E. F. Lennon, of the chamber of commerce. The Sacramento valley was a warm friend of Albuquerque at Sacramento last year. There were forty delegates from the valley, and when they were called upon to vote on the next meeting place of the congress, they voted as a unit for Albuquerque.

TREE GROWING THIS MAN'S HOBBY

H. A. Greene, Famous Authority on Forestry, Here From California for Irrigation Congress.

H. A. Greene, of Monterey, Cal., president of the National Federation of Tree Growing clubs, and one of the best known authorities on forestry and tree planting in the United States, arrived in the city yesterday from the west and will remain here during the Irrigation congress, to which he is a delegate. Mr. Greene is very much interested in the reclamation work and has attended a number of the sessions of the congress. His particular hobby, however, is teaching and educating people, particularly children, in the art of tree growing. Mr. Greene has already achieved a national reputation as the man who is teaching young America how to grow trees. He originated the tree growing club proposition and has had the satisfaction of seeing clubs of that character become almost universal in all parts of the United States. Mr. Greene carries the work on for the love of it and receives no compensation for his services. The official organ of the National Federation of Tree Growing clubs is the "Irrepressible Age," a monthly magazine published in Chicago. Mr. Greene's knowledge of forestry and tree planting has been obtained through thirty years of hard study and experimenting. His greatest work has been his experiments, which have resulted in a practical way of preventing the extinction of the redwood forests of California, and resulting species of trees that have become almost extinct.

Mr. Greene has also done a great work in distributing tree seeds in many parts of the country. He will remain in Albuquerque until after the congress. While here Mr. Greene intends to preach the gospel of tree planting and will endeavor to obtain the co-operation of local civic improvement societies, together with individuals, who are lovers of the beautiful and the natural, to the end that a club of the Tree Growing association may be placed in the field in Albuquerque. Mr. Greene is a brother of Clay Greene, the actor and playwright of New York City, who has been president of the "Lamb's" club in that city for the past fifteen years.

Words of Praise

For the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed, as given by leaders in all the several schools of medicine, should have far more weight than any amount of non-professional testimonials. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has the honor of HONESTY on every bottle-wrapper, in a full list of all its ingredients printed in plain English.

If you are an invalid woman and suffer from frequent headache, backache, gnawing distress in stomach, periodic pains, discharges, catarrhal, pelvic, drain, dragging down distress in lower abdomen or pelvis, perhaps dark spots or specks dancing before the eyes, faint spells and kindred symptoms caused by female weakness, or the derangement of the feminine organs, you can not do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The hospital, surgeon's knife and operating table may be avoided by the timely use of "Favorite Prescription" in such cases. Thereby the obnoxious examinations and legal treatments of the family physician can be avoided and a thorough course of successful treatment carried out in the privacy of the home. "Favorite Prescription" is composed of the very best, native medicinal roots known to medical science for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments, contains no alcohol and no harmful or habit-forming drugs.

Do not expect too much from "Favorite Prescription"; it will not perform miracles; it will not dissolve or cure tumors. No medicine will. It will do as much to establish vigorous health in most weak women as any medicine can. It must be given a fair chance by perseverance in its use for a reasonable length of time.

You can't afford to accept a secret remedy as a substitute for this remedy of common sense.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is guarded as sacredly secret and womanly confidences are protected by professional privacy. Address Dr. B. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best laxative and regulator of the bowels. They invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative; two or three a cathartic. Easy to take as candy.

Frank and Miss Lillian Ellwood will assist in solo work, and Mrs. Manuel Stevens Himoe will render several piano selections. Reserved seats for the concert will be placed on sale at Matson's tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock. Prices seventy-five cents and one dollar.

BECKER VERDICT AWAITED WITH INTEREST

Case of Government Against Belen Man Will Go Down in Court Annals as One of hardest Fought for Years.

Great interest has been manifested among the people of this city in the verdict in the case of the United States vs. Fred Becker, of Belen, brother of John Becker, of that place, and a man of prominent family. A sealed verdict returned by the jury at 12:30 Sunday morning, after twelve hours' deliberation, will be opened in the district court this morning.

The case of the government against Becker will go down in local court circles as one of the hardest fought in many years. Becker was indicted by the United States grand jury in 1907, charged with robbing the United States mail of $2,000. The robbery was alleged to have taken place at Belen, N. M., early in the morning of June 21, 1905. The prosecution claimed that Becker opened the mail sack, which was thrown off at the Santa Fe depot in Belen, on that morning by the mail clerk on the El Paso train, and extracted therefrom a registered parcel, containing $2,000 in hundred dollar notes. The package was shipped to the First National bank at Belen from the Albuquerque First National bank. Although post-office inspectors and Santa Fe railroad detectives arrived on the ground the day of the robbery, and worked on the case persistently and systematically for several months they were unable to obtain any clue which would lead to the discovery of the robber or robbers, and were forced to abandon the case, admitting that they were baffled. Some two years after the robbery, bank notes, of the same number, series and denomination as the ones stolen from the registered package, began to be put into circulation in a mysterious manner in Belen. Inspectors and detectives were once more dispatched to Belen and after investigating the matter at some length, they placed Fred Becker, a brother of John Becker, of the Belen Mercantile company, under arrest, charging him with the crime. Becker throughout protested his innocence, and declared he was at home at the time the robbery was supposed to have occurred. The prosecution, however, succeeded in weaving a considerable chain of circumstantial evidence around Becker, which evidence was presented to the grand jury with the result that he was indicted on two counts, one of them larceny of United States property, and the other larceny of a package of the United States.

registered mail. The case was set for trial on three different occasions, but was postponed each time on account of absence of necessary witnesses. Finally the details for the trial were satisfactorily arranged, and the actual trial commenced Wednesday morning last. A large number of witnesses, many of them brought from a considerable distance, and at heavy expense, were placed on the stand. The prosecution traced the bills which were alleged to have been stolen by Becker, from the time they left the currency department at Washington, until they were thrown off by the mail clerk on the Santa Fe depot platform at Belen. The attorneys on both sides watched the case with great interest, and on several occasions, counsel on both sides engaged in lively tilts on matters of admission of evidence and other points of law. United States Attorney D. J. Leahy prosecuted the case, and Attorneys Thomas N. Wilkerson and H. B. Fergusson conducted the case for the defendant.

MARKS NEW ERA IN DEVELOPMENT OF NEW MEXICO

C. L. Seagraves, Immigration
Expert, Sees in Irrigation
Congress the Wiping Out of Last False Impression About
This Territory.

Of all the delegates attending the National Irrigation congress there is, perhaps, no other man who can so clearly estimate the influence of the congress upon the future of New Mexico and upon the development of its industries as C. L. Seagraves, general colonization agent of the Santa Fe railroad, who arrived in Albuquerque yesterday, as a delegate from Illinois. For many years Mr. Seagraves has been engaged in the exploitation of the Southwest and during those years much of his time has been given to New Mexico. His work has brought him into close touch with the territory's resources, and with the men who are developing them; his knowledge of conditions is thorough and his firm belief in the great future ahead for this territory is therefore sure to carry much of encouragement and conviction.

"The holding of the National Irrigation congress in Albuquerque," said Mr. Seagraves last night, "is going to prove just the influence that has been needed to remove the last false impression about New Mexico from the minds of the people east of the Mississippi. New Mexico has been the most maligned of the Western territories. Up to a very few years ago, there has been little general knowledge of the tremendous natural resources here. The impression of sage brush and cactus, lizards and bad men has clung with discouraging tenacity. Recently, however, as the people have come to know something of the real conditions, this impression has been fading rapidly and within the past two years there has been a rush of immigration to this territory and a development along all lines that is something more than encouraging. New Mexico is getting far more than her share of the immigration now pouring into the Southwest. The tremendous possibilities of the land are becoming known and as knowledge increases the rate of immigration and the development is bound to grow more rapid. It has been the work of twenty years, this forward movement we are now seeing; years devoted to removing false impressions and to telling the truth about what this territory has to offer. It has been a long pull and at times it has been discouraging, but New Mexico's frontier days are over and the influence of this congress, direct and indirect will be enough to finish the long campaign of education and to let the people abroad know that New Mexico holds out opportunities for home making, for agriculture, for mining, for almost every form of industry, quite equal to those in the most favored of the states. We are discovering new resources in New Mexico every day; its possibilities of development are almost unlimited. And the people, the home seekers, are discovering these possibilities; for our records show that an immigration to New Mexico during the past year far in excess of the year before, which, in turn, established a record. The outlook for this territory has never been so satisfactory as now. It was only necessary to let the people who are seeking homes and opportunities know the facts."

CHARIMAN MACK CALLED HURRIEDLY TO NEW YORK

Buffalo, Sept. 27.—Unexpected developments in the political situation in the east necessitated a change today in the plans of National Chairman Norman E. Mack, and instead of departing for headquarters in Chicago he took a train late tonight for New York. Mr. Mack was on his way to Chicago, where he expected to remain about two weeks. On his arrival here today he received a message asking him to return to New York. Chairman Mack would not indicate the nature of the developments that caused him to suddenly defer his western trip.

Mr. Mack denied that his sudden return to New York was due to any hesitancy on the part of Herman Ridder to accept the chairmanship of the democratic national committee.
