THE BOILERS EXPLODED.

Killing Three Men and Seriously Wounding Several Others—A Distressing Accident.

Shamokin, Pa., Oct. 11.—Three men were killed, two were seriously if not fatally wounded, and five others were badly hurt by the explosion of boilers at the Henry Clay colliery this morning. The entire steam supplying plant of the mine, consisting of thirty-six boilers, was demolished, and, in addition to the pecuniary loss of $30,000, the Henry Clay, Big Mountain, Sterling and Peerless collieries will be unable to resume operation for at least a month. The explosion was the WORST OF ITS KIND that ever occurred in this region, and the cause is a mystery. The dead are: Thomas Carr, William Boyd, William Estick and John McLaughlin, all firemen. The injured are: Peter Hick, fireman, and Jacob D. Didian, water boss, of Mahoning Valley, neither of whom can recover. John Eickenstein may recover, and Dennis Brannan and William Quinn will probably recover.

Placed Under Bond.

Milwaukee, Oct. 11.—The preliminary examination of Frederick T. Day, president of the defunct Plankinton bank, charged with receiving a deposit after he had good reason to know the bank to be insolvent, was concluded to-day. Day was held to trial in $10,000 bond.

Runaway Cars Kill Three Men.

A resolution has also been passed pledging the Illinois State Federation of Labor to support the state, congressional, county and local tickets of the People's party in Illinois during the coming campaign.

The Indian Bureau Thinks that Geronimo is Now a Good Citizen.

Washington, Oct. 11.—The proposed removal of Geronimo and the Chiricahua Apaches from Alabama to the Indian Territory in the west is not looked upon with any uneasiness by the officials of the Indian bureau. New York, Oct. 11.—T. V. Powderly, it is said in Knights of Labor circles, will again be a candidate for general master workman before the general assembly of the Knights of Labor, which will meet in New Orleans, November 13. Bitter contests between the Sovereign and Powderly factions in the national trade assemblies and district assemblies are in progress.

INDIAN DEPREDACTIONS.

Republican Legislation Condemned—Sensible suggestions by the Indian Commissioner.

Washington, Oct. 11.—A great deal of trouble has been caused in the Indian office by Indian depredation claims. By the act of March 3, 1891, jurisdiction was conferred upon the court of claims to inquire into and finally adjudicate these claims. The limitation for filing them, however, has expired and several thousands are left on file in the interior department uncalled for. The total number filed in the court of claims aggregate about $43,515,867.

The government holds in trust funds belonging to various tribes of Indians amounting to about $27,000,000. It is claimed that in conferring jurisdiction upon the court of claims congress did not intend the use of their annuity and trust funds to which they were rightfully entitled. Section 6, of the act of March 3, 1891, provides for the mode of payment of judgments against the Indians by appropriating the annuities due the tribes; if no annuities are due and available, then from any other funds due the tribes arising from the sale of their lands, thereby stipulating for the payment of these claims out of Indian funds, if they be so fortunate as to have funds to their credit. This took away from the secretary of the interior

ALL DISCRETIONARY POWER as to what he considered was for the best interest of the Indians in their present condition.

The act of July, 1892, providing for the payment of judgments of the court of claims in Indian depredation claims to the amount of $478,252.62, gave the secretary of the interior discretionary power as to the payment of such claims to the extent that in making deductions provided for in section 6 of the act of March 3, 1891, he is authorized to make such deductions in his discretion, having due regard to the education and other necessary requirements of the tribes affected, but at the same time providing for the reimbursement to the United States the amount paid at such times and in such proportions as the secretary of the interior may decide for the best interest of the Indian service.

The commissioner of Indian affairs, in his annual report, states that he believes the act of March 1891 should either be REPEALED OR SO AMENDED as to place the sole responsibility and liability for judgments considered on account of Indian depredations upon the United States, as he states that the present generation of Indians can not possibly have any knowledge of the commission of these depredations.

"The annual and trust funds," he states, "with one or two exceptions, are required for their necessary support, education and other purposes and the payment of these claims, however just they may be, would in the end subject them to such a condition of dependence as would necessitate additional appropriations from the treasury for their support."

New Shipping Rate.

San Francisco, Oct. 11.—The Southern Pacific announces a new rate on canned goods shipped to the east. The old rate was 50 cents per 100 pounds on carload shipments of 30,000 pounds to New York, which was the only terminal point. The new rate will be 75 cents per 100 pounds on carload shipments of 24,000 pounds to New York and eastern seaboard common points, such as Boston, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Portland, Me. The rate to Chicago and Missouri and Mississippi river common points will be the same.

OFF THE TRACK.

The East Bound Santa Fe Train Derailed Near Lovelock, Early this Morning. Probably by Train Robbers.

Denver, Oct. 11.—Soon after midnight a bold attempt was made seven miles south of Denver to wreck the east bound Santa Fe passenger train, for the purpose of robbery, it is believed. Spikes had been pulled from the rails, and the engine, baggage car, coach, chair car and sleeper ran off the track. The damage was trifling and no one was hurt, but the train was blocked several hours. The ground for the robbery theory is that a ranchman called at the police station at midnight and reported that he had seen suspicious characters on the tracks.

Orders were given for the train to proceed slowly and it was not running eight miles an hour when wrecked. There is no clue as to the identity of the miscreants.

The second assistant postmaster general has issued orders calling the attention of all postmasters to the importance of promptly notifying the department of changes of schedules on any railroad, whereby mails reaching their offices by star routes are delayed. Frequent complaints have been made to the department of the negligence of the postmasters at railroad points in this respect. Postmasters have also been notified to make prompt disposition of mail sacks used in transporting public documents from Washington and their attention has been called to the necessity for general security of the mails. The state in the address on mail for offices of similar names in different states. The weavers in the Wamsutter mill left on finding that they were required to run five looms instead of four.

The Japanese admiral says weekly visits to every important station on the gulf. Eight Japanese cruisers sounded the entrance to the harbor of Wei-Hai-Wei for three hours Saturday and then went across to Port Arthur, where they made observations without going within range of the guns. The Japanese fleet returned to Wei-Hai-Wei on Monday. When almost within range and hovered around the harbor entrance. The first fired a few shots, but the Japanese did not reply and continued making observations until Count Ito's flagship, the state cruiser Hashidate, fired once, when the fleet reformed and steamed away in the direction of Taku. The Tien Tsin dispatch adds that the Chinamen arrested there upon suspicion of being a Japanese spy was tortured until he admitted the truth of the charge. He is to be executed. Four spies have been arrested at Port Arthur for cutting submarine wires connected with torpedoes.

Democratic Ticket

FOR DELEGATE TO THE 54TH CONGRESS,
ANTONIO JOSEPH.

REGISTER this week.

JUDGE SEEDS ought to know.

The statehood outlook is positively rosy.

The red hand is against the success of Catronism this year.

The Optic's silence on the Stockman's change of front is something pathetic.

The Catron brick dodging is the kind of straw that can stand a good many threshings.

No wonder the Republican press is opposed to personalities in the campaign. All their return ammunition is wet.

The territorial papers have taken up Number 3240, and the Catron organs are kept busy giving the worn-out explanation that don't explain.

Now that the organ "has done gone and done it," we hope it feels better! Most people would feel mighty mean after such a journalistic break.

A Royal greeting awaits the visitor in the Pecos valley next week. The New Mexican has been kindly remembered by the Roswell Club, through its invitation committee, composed of Messrs. John I. Hinkle, W. C. Allen, Nathan Jaffa, Scott Trexton, G. A. Richardson and Charles H. Sparks, and while the editor will not be able to attend in person, he will have a bustling representative there to make report of events on this delightful occasion.

FACTS ARE PLENTIFUL.

In most communities a statement of fact, be it ever so brief, is worth very much more for campaign purposes than columns of personal abuse and innuendoes. The New Mexican proposes that it shall be so in New Mexico. It has no sort of use for the penny-a-line mud-slinger, and it doesn't believe the people have either. Facts are the things that touch public sentiment, and, as far as the Republican candidate for congress is concerned, the facts are abundant enough to run him and his crowd into their holes without in the least infringing the province of clean and decent journalism.

THE LEAD QUESTION.

El Paso is about to erect a new smelter, giving employment to a large number of workmen and entering the market afresh to compete for New Mexico dry silver-lead ores. This is one of the good results of the new tariff law. The fluxing ores of Mexico can now be had with which to treat New Mexico ores, whereas under the Lead Trust's manipulation of a Republican congress these most necessary fluxing ores from Mexico were practically prohibited from coming in, thus working a great injury to New Mexico miners. Not only that, but it had the further effect of closing the smelters at Socorro and El Paso, and of destroying the market for New Mexico coal and coke and charcoal.

By wise Democratic legislation all this has been changed. Once more these important industries in our territory are springing into life and better times are in sight for the smelter man and miner.

CATARRH IN CHILDREN

For over two years my little girl's life was made miserable by a case of Catarrh. The discharge from the nose was large, constant and very offensive. Her eyes became inflamed, the lids swollen and very painful. After trying various remedies, I gave her SSS. The first bottle seemed to SSS aggravate the disease, but the symptoms soon abated, and in a short time she was cured.

all along the line. And yet you hear the rank Republican campaign sheets, including the Socorro Chief, the Las Cruces Republican, the Chloride Black Range and the Rincon Shaft, which had the nerve to actually print the National Lead Trust's appeal to congress for a higher duty on lead ores, ranting about the "injury" the lead schedule in the Wilson bill has done the miners of New Mexico.

REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN METHODS.

The Republican, the mouth-piece of the Catron campaign, says in its last issue:

"This is a campaign during which the eyes of the east are upon New Mexico."

And then it proceeds to demonstrate its fidelity to our territory by such comments as the following:

"Now-a-days in New Mexico the judicial ermine is being badly splattered with political mud."

"Joseph's hoodie campaign has commenced in earnest."

"They are tired of Joseph, of the gang that supports him, of the lies and slanders circulated by him."

"Joseph and the damnable, thieving ring that supports him."

"Money for the corruption of voters must be had."

"This is a hoodie year for the Democratic bosses in New Mexico."

"The Unionists of Dona Ana and Grant counties are expert fence cutters, capital scoundrels and murderers."

"It is well understood that Democrats are armed (on the streets in Santa Fe) night and day."

Comment is unnecessary. No wonder the Springer Stockman and other friends of statehood and of decency are leaving the Republican candidate in disgust.

PRESS COMMENTS.

Anent the Sheep Vote.
If not more than 500 sheep are allowed to vote in Valencia county this year, Catron, the enemy of free public schools, will not be elected.—Albuquerque Democrat.

In a Nut-Shell.
The election of Joseph assures the admission of New Mexico. This is all there is in the campaign. The people want statehood—Joseph's election assures it; Catron's defeats it.—Deming Headlight.

A Compliment for the New Mexican.
One of the best and most comprehensive write-ups of the Pecos valley the writer has seen appears in the Santa Fe New Mexican, of date October 2nd. It goes into detail and does not make one statement that can not be substantiated by facts. The Pecos valley shows what enterprise and money in the hands of such men as C. B. Eddy, J. J. Hagerman and C. W. Green will do. Farmers have already settled on 70,000 acres of land. Two great canals have already been constructed, which will render irrigable 250,000 acres of land, they cover a distance of 170 miles and when completed will irrigate 150,000 acres more. One company alone has spent $4,000,000 in this valley in improvements.—Las Vegas Stock Grower.

AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

Appended is the full text of the platform adopted by New Mexico's Democracy at the Las Cruces convention:
Whereas, during the past thirty years the so-called principle of protection has reigned supreme and has plunged American industry into the depths of distress which has culminated during the first two years of Democratic administration, and which was most deeply felt before the Democratic congress had performed one act of legislation, fully establishing the fact that the Republican legislation of the past thirty years was wholly in the interest of monopoly at the cost and ruin of labor and industry;
Therefore, we commend President Cleveland for his splendid effort for the great Democratic principles of tariff reform, and, although disappointed that more was not accomplished, we congratulate the people upon securing such an excellent and advanced effort at a reform of the tariff that has worked to the disadvantage of the producing classes; and we further commend the administration for the great reduction in national expenditures in the government departments of Washington, whereby millions of dollars are saved every year to the tax payers of the nation.
Believing that the restoration of silver as money of ultimate payment and standard of value, in coin form, with gold, with no discrimination against either metal, at the ratio which existed prior to the demonetization of silver by the fraud of the Republican party of 1873, is the issue of foremost concern and greatest importance to the people of this territory and of the United States, and that the change from the double to the single standard, has been, and will continue to be, until reversed, a grievous and growing wrong to the people of this territory and of the United States, and believing that a large majority of the Democrats of this territory so feel, and that the time has come when the welfare of the Democratic party in this territory demands a plain and unequivocal declaration on this subject; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Democracy of this territory by their representatives in convention assembled, hereby declare in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver, at the ratio of 16 to 1, as it existed prior to its demonetization by the Republican party in 1873. And we pledge ourselves not to support by word or vote any one who is not heartily and earnestly in accord with the above declaration.
The enactment of the law taxing incomes in excess of $1,000, we refer to as an illustration of the spirit and purposes of the Democratic party to relieve the toiling masses and place the burden of taxation upon those best able to endure them. And we call upon our national congress to further carry out the spirit of this enactment until the horrid capital of unlawful combinations and trusts shall be made to bear its just proportion of tax.
We congratulate the people of New Mexico upon the repeal of the federal election law making it no longer possible for unscrupulous Republican politicians to surround the polls with unnecessary deputy marshals and through intimidation of the voters to fraud defeat the honest will of the people.
We endorse without stint or qualification, the zeal of our delegate in congress, the Hon. Antonio Joseph, and we point especially to his persistent labors and the ripening fruit thereof in placing the burden of the nation's injustice of turning a deaf ear to our imploring cry for admission through the thirty years of Republican rule, while Republican territories of one-fourth the population of New Mexico were admitted.

We are proud of and stimulated by the splendid record of our delegate and go confidently before the people thereon, asking their confidence and support at the polls so that his hand may be upheld for the final effort in the crowning work of the Democratic party for the liberation of the territories. New Mexico to an honored place among the states of the union.
The warmest gratitude of the people of New Mexico is due to the present territorial executive and his able and fearless assistants for expediting and bringing to deserved punishment the bands of out-banded thugs, murderers and assassins, who for so many years perpetrated their crimes in safety under preceding Republican administrations, and we assure him of the continued, earnest and loyal support of the good citizens in his vigorous efforts to enforce the law.
We demand such legislation, both national and territorial, as will give employees a just protection against the carelessness of corporations, and guarantee them the regular payment of their hard earned wages. And we pledge the Democratic party of the territory to the support of such equitable legislation as will be just to both labor and capital.
We again take the opportunity to speak out on the subject of statehood, and bringing the immediate passage of the enabling act for the admission of New Mexico now pending in the U. S. senate, as a matter of right and justice and not as a matter of favor, believing earnestly that the greatest good in their history will come to the people of New Mexico through admission into the Union of the states, and we pledge the united and unremitting efforts of our party to this cause.
We are unqualifiedly opposed to the violation of that portion of the Chicago platform of 1892, which guarantees to the people of the territories, Alaska and the District of Columbia the appointment of federal officials from the bona fide residents of the districts in which their duties are to be performed, and demand a return to the principles which guarantee home rule by the people of the villages; and we further declare the appointment of any non-resident federal official for New Mexico too much like a return to the Republican practices of the past to be acceptable to the people of this territory.

SHOOTING STARS.

This man, said the doctor who was showing the visitor over the insane asylum, is one of our most interesting patients. You will notice that he does nothing but weep all the time.

What sent him insane? asked the visitor.

He was a Chicago man, and his pocket was picked by a fellow from Philadelphia.

Don't Offer a Reward

For your lost appetite. All know that it is a valuable piece of personal property, but why go to the expense when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will restore it to you. A course of this unparalleled tonic and corrective not only induces a return of the relish for food, but confers upon the stomach the power to gratify appetite without unpleasant sensations afterward. For the purpose of quickening digestion, arousing a dormant liver or kidneys, and establishing regularity of the bowels, no medicine can exceed this genial family cordial, in which the purest alcohol principle is modified by blending with it the tonic elements of the highest efficiency. Avoid the very unalloyed stimulants of commerce as a means of overcoming inactivity of any of the organs above mentioned, and use, instead, the Bitters. This professionally sanctioned medicine remedies malarial and rheumatic ailments.

Lieutenant: Your most noble Green-jackness the Japanese are approaching. His Green-jackness: Then fire a cannon at the dogs.

But you Green-jackness, they are still so far off the ball will go only half way. Then fire two cannons at the dogs.

A fine head of hair is an indispensable element of beauty. Ayer's Hair Vigor maintains youthful freshness and luxuriance, restores to faded and gray hair its original color, prevents baldness, removes dandruff, and cures scalp diseases. It gives perfect satisfaction.

Irate Husband: I wish you were somewhere where I could never see you again. Patient Wife: Well, that's equivalent to wishing I were in heaven.

Confusion as to the choice of a blood-purifier is unnecessary. There is but one best Sarsaparilla, and that is Ayer's. This important fact was recognized at the World's Fair, Chicago, 1893, being the only blood-purifier admitted to be placed on exhibition.

I am afraid this leg will have to come off, said the doctor.

Et that's the case, said an Oklahoma Rebe, you just might as well kill me off and be done with it. They ain't no use for a man to live on livin' merely for the fun of dyin' sometime with only one boot on.

A NARROW ESCAPE!

How it Happened.

The following remarkable event in a lady's life will interest the reader: For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which flattered almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and beat my chest with my fist until I thought every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I couldn't sleep a wink without my heart beating as if it would break out of my chest. I was so weak that I could not get up without the help of New Heart Cure all that is past and I feel like another woman. Before using the New Heart Cure I had taken different so-called remedies and been treated by doctors without any benefit until I had bought me a bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and an hour after I had taken the first dose, I was able to get up and sleep. I weighed 135 pounds when I began taking the remedy, and now I weigh 125. Its effect in my case has been truly marvelous. It has cured my heart, and I have never been troubled with it since. I have received from physicians, "Mrs. Harry Starr, Potomac, Pa., October 18, 1892." Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of 25 cents per bottle, six bottles $1.50, express prepaid. This great discovery by an eminent specialist in heart disease, contains neither opium nor dangerous drugs.

Sold by all druggists.

SHE WOULD NOT SAY IT FIRST.

Conflicting feelings tore my heart With ever softening pace, Now happiest of earthly men, Now meekest of my race. I loved her true with all my heart And sought to pave the way To all my loved ones doubts And have her name the day. I asked her if she loved me, At least a score of times, She answered "No" to every one By word, note, prose and rhyme. But yet she said she loved me, Left home with my heart, And hope will hold a lover Nor permit him to depart. I said one day, "I love you, Yes, I love you more and more!" She blushed and smiled, "Why, did you Tell me of that before?" —Ned Whately in Detroit Free Press.

A BACKWOODS HERO.

Upon the northern shore of Lake Superior, nestled in between sun-tipped hills, is a small village known best for its lumbering and shipping industries. A long neck of narrow land forms a natural breakwater and thus guards and protects the small town from Neptune's wrath. The harbor is scarcely more than two miles wide and four long, but is celebrated for its uncontrollable currents, jagged hidden rocks and Aprilish moods.

On this neck of land are scattered a few houses, all inhabited by lovers of the sea and nature's work and surrounded by dense groves of swaying pines. One day a few years ago there came from one of these houses a dark-eyed young woman whose skin was roughened from the fierce lake winds and whose hands showed only too plainly that hard, coarse work befell her lot. Her boots were heavy, like those of a man. Her gown was not only ill-fitting, but sadly behind the times as regards style and lacking by several inches its proper length, and on her head was drawn down closely over her ears a man's felt hat. Yet, notwithstanding these proofs of the uncouth woman, there was a certain indescribable something about her gypsylike face that betokened the possession of a fine mind and a strong, unbending character. It was neither the soft brown eyes nor the smiling mouth, for her features were extremely plain, and the straight fringe of hair that tendriled out now and then from under the curved hat brim gave the round cheeks a ghastliness that reminded one shivering of witches and goblins and evil spirits. In her arms she carried a pair of oars, wrapped in a small sail. Around her feet frolicked several kittens, and a huge black and white dog bounded along beside her.

She walked slowly toward a small dock that floated unsteadily out into the bay. A flat-bottomed boat, with a splintered mast and no bowsprit, bumped against the dock now and then with a soft rubbing and nudging that was as soothing as a mother's evening lullaby.

"It looks pretty threatening, seems to me," the girl murmured to herself. "This here bay is always ready to cut up its monkey shins just when folks wants it to behave itself. If it wasn't for daddy coming home tonight, and mother sick, and nothing much to eat in the house, I believe I'd give up going across for the groceries." Then, noticing a parting of the thick bushes that bordered the pathway and catching a passing glimpse of a faded yellow hat, she called out, "Hello, Jim!"

The next moment she was joined by a stalwart young man, with the whole-some appearance of a combination farmer and sailor.

"Going to sail over to the point, Meg?" he asked.

"Yes. You can go if you want to," she replied, with mischievous eyes and twitching lips. "I guess 'twa'n't be the first time."

"We'd better hurry, I reckon," rejoined Jim. "The old lake is a-raging, and the bay looks a bit ill-tempered now. We'll have a thundering old storm before next sunrise, and I shouldn't be surprised if it arrived before midnight."

Together they hoisted the sail, adjusted the rudder and unfurled the lines. Jim seated himself in the stern, Meg dropped down on the seat in the center of the boat so as to lower and raise the centerboard, as Captain Jim ordered, and off they sailed like a bird let loose from captivity. Both were good sailors, and the simple fact that a huge wave deluged them now and then added zest to the sport.

"I say, Meg," began Jim as they plunged through towers of foam and rocked and swung in the billows, "don't you think you're mighty hard on a fellow? Three years is a long time, and time does change folks and things so. Anyhow I don't see what you're driving at. I've known you since you were knee high to a grasshopper, and I don't like the idea of losing you after all these years of work and waiting. Your dad and your mother are willing, you say you don't dislike me, and you know what I think of you. Come, now, tell me your reasons for this three years' waiting business."

"I suppose my reasons are silly," Meg answered slowly and with irritating deliberation. "But, you see, that year at Miss Banker's spoiled me. Even if I was nothing but a parlor maid, I got some ideas in my head that stick like so many barns."

"I've spent every cent I've had on the books, and Miss Banker has helped me lots. I want to be educated and know how to talk. I long to be able to be like the town girls, not so far as dress goes, but it's the schooling that I want. When I read about those clever women who paint and write and teach, it makes me think that my world is too small and cramped to ever grow any bigger unless I break away soon. I love the water, and the woods, and the damp earth itself, but I am wild to be up and doing and working at something that will not end today just as it did yesterday and will again tomorrow. I—" just then, tipping it perilously and sending the girl's hair flying in a still wilder fashion. It was soon followed by another, and the third raised the small sail until it stood round and erect like a funnel-shaped cone of white canvas.

A violent breeze struck the small dory

A queer grating sound, beneath a crackling of wood and iron and stone, and the rudder was wrenched from Jim's hand. Words were not necessary just then. Each realized that they two were being toyed with and tossed around like helpless straws. The sail was unmanageable, and the lost rudder left them entirely at the mercy of the wind and waves.

"Come here with me!" Jim cried hoarsely as he reached for the shivering bundle with the flying hair and frightened eyes. He drew Meg toward him, all the time keeping a firm hold on the line that prevented the sail from flapping more desperately.

Above the roar of the water he heard her nervous laugh, and once she said, "I think I'd be right scared if it wasn't for our getting caught in these squalls so often."

The boat was careening like a live creature maddened with pain. The water dashed over the little dory that was scudding toward the shore at an unprecedented speed. Crowds of curious watchers lined the beach where they would land. As they neared the shore Jim said tremulously: "This is the worst fix we've been in yet. We'll be dashed to pieces on the logs unless they try to help us."

He folded his strong arms around the small girl, and he pressed her hands fondly and whispered words of hope and courage.

"Tell me just once that you do care for me just a little bit, and that you won't back out of marrying me at the end of three years," he said. "Our chances for getting out of this alive are few, and I know if you don't answer now you never will. Please, please, Meg!" His voice was pitched loudly and shrilly.

"I can't promise for sure, Jim. I can't even now. I'm so frightened. I know we're both going to die. The waves never scared me before." And the rest was lost as an enormous roll of water deluged them.

No other word was said. A moment later there was a wild crashing and creaking of timber.

The anxious watchers saw the boat tossed in among a nest of logs that lined the beach.

Like a crowd of stupid, senseless beings, they gazed and wrung their hands. Then they saw a tall form raise itself up in the stern of the boat. He had something in his arms that looked like a woman swathed in a piece of tarpaulin.

The boat was only a few rods from the shore and was just ready to fall to pieces. Suddenly the tall figure leaped into the water, with his helpless burden in one arm, while with the other he fought his way toward the billows and rolling logs. The watchers rushed to his assistance. They saw him waded and buffeted around much as a mouse being taken by a frolicsome minded cat. He had nearly reached the shore when an enormous log flung itself against him. With a mighty effort he threw his burden toward the frantic assembly of people.

Then he sank and was seen no more until the next day, when his crushed and mangled body floated gently on the now restful waves, which finally deposited his remains at the foot of the little dock where the dory had always tagged and pulled at its anchor ropes.

And that is the reason why a woman considered clever and gifted by the world's critics is always sad and heart-sick when she hears the moaning of the winds or the roaring of beating, restless water. Fame and fortune have come to her.

She is no longer a crude, uncultured creature with flying black hair and rough fingers. The world bows down in reverence to her, for her stories are read by thousands and her pictures received most favorably by all. She laughs, and her friends declare her to be the jolliest person in Christendom. But when a storm comes up, and the skies darken, and the air is filled with dire foreboding, she sinks into a sad, lifeless being, whose eyes are heavy with unshed tears and whose throat is choked with sobs.

At these times her friends depart and murmur soft words of pitying tenderness among themselves.—Chicago News.

Napoleon and Home Production.

Napoleon forbade the use of cotton or of foreign wool for the furniture of the imperial palaces. He desired that the people who were invited to the drawing rooms at court should dress only in silk, so as to encourage the Lyons manufacturers. He declared war on Indian cashmere, but his power was impotent against the tyranny of fashion and against the empire in vain that he would throw her cashmere shawls into the fire. The empress used to answer him that as soon as they could give her stuffs as light and warm as the cashmere woollens she would be very glad to wear them.

The emperor encouraged the manufacturers of French shawls and commissioned Isaby to make the designs of a magnificent woolen stuff like cashmere on a white ground, with which a shawl and a dress were made. Marie Louise wore them with some reluctance. These stuffs had not the softness which they have since acquired. The empress used to complain with reason that her dress "griped" whenever she went near the fire.—Memoirs of Baron de Meneval.

An Interesting Experiment.

Dr. Bloots requested 50 gentlemen and 50 ladies to write down 100 words each of their own selection. Out of the total number of 10,000 only 3,038 distinct words were found to have been chosen. Thus, for instance, all the ladies and gentlemen had put down the word "woman," all the ladies the words "dressmaker" and "glove," and all the ladies and 44 gentlemen the word "beautiful."—Vermilion-Blatt.

A Bank Failure.

AN INVESTIGATION DEMANDED.

A general banking business is done by the human system, because the blood deposits in its vaults whatever wealth we may gain from day to day. This wealth is laid up against "a rainy day" as a reserve fund—we're in a condition of healthy prosperity if we have laid away sufficient capital to draw upon in the hour of our greatest need. There is danger in getting thin, because it's a sign of letting down in health. To gain in flesh is nearly always to gain in whole-some flesh. The odds are in favor of the terms of consumption, grip, or pneumonia, if our liver be inactive and our blood impure, or if our flesh be reduced below a healthy standard. What is required is an increase in our good-fighting strength. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery enriches the blood and makes it wholesome, stops the waste of tissue and at the same time builds up the strength. A medicine which will rid the blood of its poisons, cleanse and invigorate the great organs of the body, vitalize the system, thrill the whole being with new energy and make permanent work of it, is surely a remedy of great value. But when we make a positive statement that 95 per cent. of all cases of consumption, can, if taken in the early stages of the disease, be cured with the "Discovery," it seems like a bold assertion. All Dr. Pierce asks is that you make a thorough investigation and satisfy yourself of the truth of his assertion. By sending to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., you can get a free book with the names, addresses and photographs of a large number of those cured of throat, bronchial and lung diseases, as well as of skin and scrofulous affections by the Golden Medical Discovery. 5900 a m. 6355 a m. 8200 a m. 9500 a m. 12340 a m. 2345 p m. 2450 p m. 458 p m. 700 p m. 830 p m. 1055 p m. 1300 p m. 415 a m. 735 a m. 800 p m.
