Just lovely is her opinion of those gasoline stoves, and she's right. In summer the house is hot enough when it's coolest, and certainly with a coal fire, coolness is out of the question. You have to wait for a coal fire and it burns much longer than you want it. With a gasoline stove, you get full heat as soon as lighted, and when you don't need it any longer, the fire is out and the gasoline is turned off. It gives a maximum of available heat for cooking with a minimum of warmth to make life miserable. Gasoline stoves cost only from $5 to $25.

Spain Must Promptly Pay Indemnity for Outrage Upon an American Citizen in Cuba.

Otherwise Havana Will Be Occupied by the United States and the Money Forcibly Collected.

New York, June 19.—A special to a local paper from Washington indicates that the government has demanded that Spain immediately pay the Mora claim, $1,500,000, or that severe measures will be taken for its collection. Antonio Mora was an American citizen, owing valuable sugar property in Cuba. During the insurrection his property was seized by the Spanish government, and, in the absence of the owner, he was condemned and his property confiscated. Before Spain admitted her error in thus treating an American citizen, there had been collected from the estate nearly $2,500,000. When it was seen that the United States government was determined that there should be a settlement, the Spanish government offered $1,500,000, with interest on such part of the indemnity award as should be deferred. Minister Taylor has been informed by telegraph of the insistence of the United States upon the prompt payment of the indemnity regardless of the action of the proposed Claims convention. The expectation is that there will be prompt and satisfactory settlement. But, should the court refuse to allow the appropriation for Mora, it may become necessary to occupy Havana and retain control of the custom houses there until an amount equal to the Mora indemnity has been collected.

Meade's Successor.

Washington, June 19.—Commodore Bunce has been appointed to the command of the North Atlantic squadron to succeed Admiral Meade.

Warden Chase Bounced.

Topka, Kas., June 19.—By a decision of the supreme court to-day, Warden Chase, of the state penitentiary, is formally removed from office, giving J. Bruce Lynch, recently appointed by Gov. Morrill, possession at once. Chase was appointed by Gov. Lewellyn. His term had not expired, but the investigating committee recommended his removal.

For Second Place.

Salt Lake, Utah, June 19.—A widespread movement is on foot among the Democrats of Idaho and Montana to nominate W. O. Clark, the millionaire mining man, of Butte, Mont., for the vice presidency at the next Democratic national convention.

The scheme is to claim the vice presidency for the west by virtue of the strength the silver men hope to have in the convention. The movement contemplates organization of all western states in the interest of Clark.

Floods in Oklahoma.

El Reno, O. T., June 19.—The late rains in western Oklahoma have caused the rivers to overflow badly. The North Canadian is overflowing the bottoms and rising rapidly. The Indians who prospected a flood are leaving the lowlands, and insist that the flood is coming, sure. The South Canadian is a raging torrent, and is putting the gold hunters to much trouble, as they all have to cross the El Reno Commercial club's bridge to get to the field. Five hundred and sixty-three teams crossed this bridge during twenty-four hours Sunday. The Washita river is not fordable but the prospectors are swimming it. Two miners with outfit and a soldier bearing dispatches have been drowned in the Washita since the rise.

ROBBERS FRUSTRATED.

Smooth Officers Have a Colorado Springs Bank from Loss.

Colorado Springs, Colo., June 19.—An attempt to rob the Exchange National bank to-day was frustrated by Sheriff Bowers and Deputy Bramlett, who were in hiding. Two desperadoes named Dutch and George entered the bank while the third, Liveryman Kennedy, watched outside. They presented revolvers at the head of Cashier Heron and ordered him to hand out the money. The officers seized them. Sheriff Bowers had been informed several days ago that the robbery would be attempted.

Tunneled Out of Jail.

St. Louis, June 19.—Ten prisoners, four of them murderers, tunneled out of the city jail at Poplar Bluff, Mo., last night, and all but one is still at large.

Murderer Refused Habeas Corpus.

Denver, June 19.—The state supreme court to-day refused the application for a writ of habeas corpus for Abe Taylor, under sentence to be hanged at Canon City during this week for the murder of Marshal Emerson at Alamosa. The application was based on a technicality. An attempt may be made to save the condemned man by means of a writ of error.

Kiel Celebration.

Kiel, June 19.—After eight years of labor and the expenditure of about 150,000,000 marks, the great canal, which joins the Baltic sea to the German ocean, is ready for use. It intersects the Peninsula of Schleswig-Holstein from Brum Bittel, near the mouth of the Elbe river, to Hotteneau on the Kiel bay and opposite to that city, a distance of about fifty-nine miles.

Suit to Recover a Mine.

Denver, June 19.—Suit was instituted to-day in the United States circuit court by Thos. D. Kelley, of Galena, Ill., for a sixth interest in the Little Johnnie mine at Leadville. The mining company and its incorporators are defendants. The plaintiff's son, T. J. Kelly, was one of the promoters of the Little Johnnie. He was at Leadville in 1886. The bill alleges that his heirs were induced by fraud to sell his interest in the mine to Chas. Boettcher for $1,000.

Convicted of Malicious Mischief.

Colorado Springs, Colo., June 19.—Nicholas Tulley was to-day found guilty in the district court of malicious mischief. He was accused of blowing up the Strong mine in the Cripple Creek district while the miners were on the strike a year ago.

Sentenced to Sing Sing.

New York, June 19.—Ex-Police Inspector McLaughlin has been sentenced to two years and six months imprisonment in Sing Sing. One week is allowed him to settle his affairs.

CORBETT-FITZSIMMONS.

Arrangements Completed for the Big Pugilistic Battle at Dallas.

Dallas, Tex., June 19.—Dan. Stewart, who has returned from New York, says everything has been arranged for the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight. Fitzsimmons has put up the last installment of his money. The amphitheatre, Stewart said, would be located within 100 yards of the main gate of the fair grounds. It will have eight gates and a seating capacity of 40,000.

Wool Market.

Boston, June 19.—There is a healthier tone to the wool market this week. While there has been a fairly active market the prices have remained firm, and in several instances an advance of 1 cent has been noted, but there has been no general advance in prices. The situation here is strongly against the dealer, and as the market is operating he is obliged to take all the chances or else not get the wool. Manufacturers are quoting 30 cents as the second basis.

Philadelphia.—Wool firm and some grades higher under better demand. Terriorial and western, light fine, 9 @ 11 cents; heavy fine, 7 @ 9 cents; fine medium, 10 @ 11 cents; medium, 11 @ 12 cents; quarter-blood, 11 @ 12 cents; coarse, 11 @ 12 1/2 cents.

Here's a Whopper.

Henning, Minn., June 18.—The worst storm ever known in this section raged through the townships of Folsen, Effington and Parker's Prairie yesterday afternoon and covered the ground with hail to a depth of four or five feet. It cut a swath about three miles wide through the best farming section in this part of (Otter Tail county, totally demoralizing all crops and in some cases killing and injuring live stock. The country resembles midwinter.

Boundary Line Treaty.

Washington, June 19.—Mexico and Guatemala have extended until May 1, 1896, the time within which the boundary line, as agreed on by the recent treaty, shall be put into effect.

Georgia's Governor Dying.

The doctors announce that Governor Atkinson is sinking rapidly. His death is now considered inevitable. He went through the operation for appendicitis on Monday.

Confident Cubans.

New York, June 19.—General Rafael Quezada, just from Florida and New Orleans, says that the prospects for free Cuba were never so bright. Despite the proclamation of President Cleveland, the sympathizers of Cuba will continue to receive arms and enlistments and find means to get them out of the country. Under the system they have organized in the United States there is nothing to prevent the shipment of arms to Mexico, whence they can be re-shipped.

Strong Silver Declaration.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 19.—Ex-Gov. Horace Boies has written a letter to Geo. H. Lewis, advocating the free and unlimited coinage of silver, independent of the action of any other government. He says that the most dangerous enemies of silver are those who, while claiming to want bi-metallic, demand it under such circumstances that they know it will never be realized. He proposes that this country take up its other forms of paper money, with an increase of silver certificates, which would by this arrangement be given the full value their face indicates.

REPUBLICANS AT CLEVELAND

League President Talks Twaddle About Protecting Infant Industries of the Country.

International Agreement Nonsense Respecting Silver—Gag Law Applied Against White Metal Advocates.

Cleveland, June 19.—The eighth national convention, league of Republican clubs, convened in Music hall to-day, with 2,000 delegates in the auditorium and the galleries filled with visitors. After prayer by Rev. S. L. Darsie, Secretary Humphrey read the call, and addresses of welcome were made by Mayor Macdonald and President D. D. Woodman, of the league of Republican clubs. President Tracey, of Chicago, then delivered the annual address.

MR. HUMPHREY OVER THE ORGANIZATION. A. B. Humphrey, secretary, ever since the national league was organized, to-day announces positively that he will not be a candidate for re-election. This withdrawal is in the interest of General McAlpine for president, McAlpine and Humphrey both being from New York.

The silver men decided to wait until after the appointment of the committee on resolutions before taking any action. If that committee is organized against free coinage they will insist on the consideration of their 10 to 1 resolution in the convention. They are still confident that the party must concede to their demands.

TO HOLD THE WESTERN STATES.

The New York delegation promised the silver men the secretaryship. If the latter would not oppose General McAlpine for president. The silver men are united on J. B. Byrnes, of Denver, for secretary. The indications are that McAlpine and Byrnes will be elected and the silver men may not place the name of Col. Trumbo before the convention for president.

TRACEY TALKS TWADDLE.

Mr. Tracey declared that the election last November sounded a note of warning to the people of the United States, once and for all time, declared themselves in favor of protection to American industries and American labor. The speaker continued: "Weary and bedraggled, found guilty by the people of incapacity and blundering, ad infinitum, the Democratic leaders, in sheer desperation, have taken upon themselves the agitation of the currency question in the hope that they may again fool the people and recover the position they so deservedly and completely lost. But no amount of silver agitation can turn the minds of the people away from the fact that, under thirty years of protection and reciprocity, this country developed as no other country in the history of the nations, and in three years of threatened free trade tariff legislation the Democratic party brought disaster and ruin to thousands and thousands of American homes."

INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENT NONSENSE.

"There is no opposition in this country to the enlarged use of silver, if it can be brought about without disturbing our present relations with other countries, but the question is, shall the American markets be opened to the world on a cheaper basis than to the American people themselves. The people of this country want more money, but only on condition that it be sound and current to the world over. This entire question as to the use of silver will probably be settled by the great commercial nations of the world within a year. Germany and France are seeking bimetallicism, and England is fast turning in that direction. What the people should do is to bring pressure to bear upon their representatives for the appointment of delegates to an international conference, to have them insist upon an agreement and obligation from the nations participating to maintain the ratio as thus adopted."

DOWNING SILVER MEN.

When Secretary Humphrey called the states to ascertain the number of delegates and alternates, it was ascertained that each state could report only those present and not the number to which it was entitled. This was against the silver men, whose delegations were not as full as those of the other states.

In the address of welcome, President D. D. Woodman expressed regret that Gov. McKinley was prevented by his Kansas engagement from welcoming the delegates. The reference to McKinley caused loud and continuous demonstration. Mr. Woodman said, however, that McKinley would reach the city on Friday evening and would be glad to greet all.

The secretary then announced that there were representations from forty-five states and territories, the largest number represented at any convention of the league. Among the delegates were four ladies from Colorado, one from New York, two from Washington and three from Illinois.

RESOLUTIONS CAN NOT BE DEBATED.

H. Clay Evans, of Tennessee, moved to refer all resolutions to the committee on resolutions without debate. An amendment to refer without reading was defeated, as the silver men protested.

Mr. Evans' motion prevailed and at 1 p. m. the convention adjourned till to-morrow morning to give the committee time to report.

STRADDLING SILVER DECLARATION FORECAST. William W. Tracey, president of the Republican league clubs whose national convention is in session here to-day, has given out the following over his signature: "In my opinion, this convention will, with regard to the money question, follow the lines laid out by the convention in Denver last year. The declaration of time was clear, sharp and specific. It followed the line of the national platform of 1892 and favored the establishment of the bimetallic standard of money throughout the world and an international agreement looking to the enlarged use of silver. The resolutions adopted at Denver proved highly satisfactory to the advocates of silver, and I am satisfied they will be as pleased with the action of this convention. I believe the great majority of the delegates of this convention will be positively opposed to any resolution declaring in favor of free silver."

CONDITION OF CROPS.

Favorable Reports from All Parts of New Mexico—Plenty of Rain and Ideal Weather—Luxuriant Ranges.

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, Weather Bureau, Santa Fe, N. M., June 18, 1895.

The past week has been warm and pleasant and favorable to the rapid growth of all crops. Light local showers occurred at several stations. The greatest total rainfall reported for the week was .28 of an inch at Ocate, Albuquerque and Las Vegas were next in amount with .24 of an inch each, and several other stations report nearly as much.

The first cutting of alfalfa has been made and an excellent crop reported. In the southern part the second crop has already made a wonderful growth. Small grains in the northern part advanced rapidly and are heading nicely, while in the southern part they are nearly ripe and harvest will soon begin, with a prospect of a first class report. Fruit is in good condition and promises a fine yield. In the southern part peaches are beginning to color.

The markets are now well supplied with strawberries and early cherries. The stock ranges have improved steadily and in the northern part are in good condition; the southern parts need more rain.

The following extracts from a few of the reports received at this office will be found of interest:

Albuquerque.—M. Custers.—A nice shower with considerable thunder on the 9th.

Aztec.—Prof. H. H. Griffin.—Warm nights and hot days, induced rapid plant growth, where moisture was sufficient. Alfalfa cutting commenced.

Bernalillo.—Brother Gabriel.—The past week has been one of dry weather. Grains and fields are looking splendid. Fruit of all kinds has made great improvement. Beans and peas in bloom. Plenty water in the irrigation ditches.

Ciudad.—Asa M. Hollenbeck.—This week has been somewhat cloudy, with a slight rain on the 13th. Crops doing fine, made good progress. Grains in good condition. Stock improving; fruit crop in excellent condition.

Eddy.—Geo. W. Lane.—General meteorological conditions have favored agricultural operations in this vicinity. Second cutting of alfalfa progress. No rain during the week but there is ample supply of water for irrigating.

Galinas Spring.—J. E. Whitmore.—Good week for crops and vegetables. Grass growing nicely, and all kind of stock doing well.

Las Cruces.—New Mexico Agricultural College.—The weather has been warm and clear, and on the 12th we had a small amount of rain. Corn is making rapid growth. Small grains nearly all ripe; fruit progressing very nicely; some varieties of peaches beginning to color up.

Las Vegas.—Dr. F. H. Atkins.—Every condition for crops has continued favorable, and all crops growing well. A quarter of an inch of rain on the first day of the week, followed by warmer weather, fostered growth.

Las Alamos.—Wm. Frank.—Crops of all kinds are progressing nicely; very little water in the river.

Lower Pecos.—Hennig von Bosse.—The past week has been one of foiled expectations, for farmers and stockraisers; for, although more or less cloudy every day, it failed to rain. Crops are not suffering for want of rain, and grass is in good condition. The Pecos river several feet on the 11th, indicating a good rainfall in the Sacramento mountains.

Ocate.—E. M. Cosner.—The condition and progress of crops is entirely satisfactory. Grass is now in fine order for stock. Shearing and marketing wool is now in order.

Puerto de Luna.—P. R. Page.—Ranges are in good condition. Crops are making excellent growth.

Ranches of Taos.—Alex. Guedorf.—Weather has been quite warm, with southerly, hot winds. All crops are doing nicely. Irrigation has commenced, and water supply abundant. Alfalfa is being harvested, heavy crop.

Rincon.—C. H. Raitt.—Light rainfall, but crops in the valley are not suffering. The stock range needs more rain. A good stage of water still remains in the river.

Roadada.—Dr. Wm. Sparks.—Weather all that could be desired. Wheat, oats and corn could not do better. Every thing indicates splendid crops. Stock in fine condition and grass on range splendid.

Roswell.—Scott Truxton.—Although only one shower has fallen at this station the surrounding country has been visited with numerous showers. Range in the condition and abundant water in all outlying water holes. Irrigation ditches not needed at present. Crops in unusually fine condition and weather perfect for growing them.

One of the Dalton Gang Captured.

Victoria, Texas, June 19.—Sheriff Sullivan has returned from the chase of the Dalton gang. Lewis Johnson, one of the three, was captured and the evidence against him is complete. One of their confederates gave away the plan they had made to rob the Southern Pacific train between Houston and New Orleans.

Said of Santa Fe.

Correspondence of the Silver City Sentinel: The rain god has abundantly blessed Santa Fe and surrounding country this spring and the mountains and hills are clothed in green. If we could have such springs every year, New Mexico would be the garden of the universe. The fruit crop is better here than ever before. At the present time gardeners are busy shipping strawberries. The cherry and currant crop will soon be on hand.

Santa Fe is fast filling up with summer visitors who come from eastern and southern states to enjoy our delightful climate and refreshing mountain air. They leave considerable money here every year which is a good thing for the hotels and boarding houses.

THE CHAMA COUNTRY.

Construction Work on a New Railroad—Heavy Wool Shipments at Advanced Figures.

Correspondence New Mexican.

Chama, N. M., June 17.—Scott N. Morris has thirty teams and seventy men grading the railroad bed for the New Mexico Lumber company's track to their new mill. Work was commenced the first of the week. This new road to Lumberton will be completed at once. E. M. Biggs, president, has just purchased eight miles of steel rails and a new engine. The lumber business here is booming. A dozen heavy draft horses for use in the camp have just arrived from Alamosa. Lumberton is growing rapidly.

WOOL SHIPMENTS.

The heaviest wool clip in years is now making this town lively. T. D. Burns has a train load stored here to go east when prices are further advanced. About eighty cars of wool will be shipped from this place during the next two weeks. On Friday last Eisenmann Bros. shipped ten cars to Boston and Gross, Blackwell & Co., of Las Vegas, have this week purchased and shipped thirty cars. The prices range from 8 to 11 cents.

Bunches on His Neck

Twice Lanced by Physician and Cured by Hood's.

There is no form of Scrofula more obstinate or more common than swelling of the glands of the neck. But every form of blood disease yields to the potent powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read the following from a grateful father:

"Our little boy when a little over a year old had three large bunches come on the left side of his neck. A physician lanced the bunches twice. He advised a blood medicine and we commenced giving our boy Hood's Sarsaparilla. He has taken four bottles. The bunches on his neck have disappeared and

The Incisions Have Healed, only scars remaining to show where his neck was lanced. My wife and I think there is nothing to be compared to Hood's Sarsaparilla and we shall always keep it.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures with us. I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla at every opportunity." CHARLES LANDON, Box 115, Seward, Nebraska.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19.

CERRILLOS needs a smelter. A rare field awaits the capitalists who will undertake to meet this want.

How about taxing a few of the land grants this year. Some of them have been dodging their just burden of taxation all too long. Let's tax 'em—and make 'em pay.

A HANDSOME new capitol will be ready for occupancy by the sons of New Mexico two years hence. The territorial capitol rebuilding board is moving in the premises with commendable energy.

THE D. & R. G. road should get a move on itself and light out for Cerrillos and San Pedro. There is a mining section the richness of which is admitted on every hand awaiting development down that way.

ANOTHER healthy rain came to New Mexico last night and it will serve to "make" the biggest crop on farm and range that the territory has ever known. Certainly, for an arid country, we are getting on marvelously this year of grace.

THE territories held the balance of power in the last Democratic national convention and their votes made Mr. Cleveland the party nominee. Mr. Whitney frankly admits this. He was on the inside. He was Mr. Cleveland's manager and he ought to be pretty good authority.

TAXES will be due July 1, and on or about that date the A. T. & S. F. Railroad company, which, be it said to its credit, is anything but a tax-dodger, will pay into the several county treasuries the neat little sum of $130,000. Other corporations should emulate the example of "the greatest railroad on earth" and also pay their taxes promptly.

ALTBELD may be a good deal of a crank, but nevertheless he says and does some very nifty things in the line of true democracy. His latest is to call a special session of the Illinois state legislature to, among other things, provide laws for regulating sleeping car fares. Good. Go after 'em, and perhaps legislative assemblies in other western states may yet have courage to do likewise.

SOME people are of the opinion, says an exchange, that the prominent anti-Cleveland Democrats are going to make use of Whitney to beat Mr. Cleveland at his own game, and that having bound him by a promise, which he thought he was perfectly safe in making, to support Whitney's candidacy, they are now going to work with the idea of nominating Whitney on the first ballot.

A BILL to prohibit the marriage of persons who have been divorced has passed its second reading in the British house of lords. The bill is based on the assumption that if one certain man and one certain woman could not make each other happy neither party is capable of conferring happiness. That is bad law which denies the right of a single man or woman to marry.

"THE NEW MEXICAN persistently tries the legal cases at Santa Fe," screeches the Albuquerque Citizen. Well, if that is so, the New Mexican has been playing in pretty good luck of late, for there are now in the county jail just seven criminals under sentence of death for the most heinous crimes, and a score of bad men are now serving terms in the penitentiary as the result, largely, of the crusade against crime waged by "the leading daily of New Mexico." When it comes to advocating law and order always count on finding the New Mexican on the right side.

WALL STREET AUTHORITY.

The other day the New Mexican asserted that the Recorder and the Mercury were the only free coinage advocates in New York and complimented them on the good work they were doing right in the midst of the goldite camp. But in this we were mistaken, for here comes the Wall Street Daily Financial News—strange to say—talking to the goldites in this unexpected fashion:

"In 1764 the British parliament passed an act restraining the colonies from making paper money legal tender. The Pennsylvania assembly sent Franklin to England in October to solicit the repeal of the act and to protest against the sugar act and the proposed stamp duties.

"In 1873-74 the British bankers induced a few American politicians to smuggle into the Revised Statutes of the United States a clause preventing our making silver a legal tender for more than $5. "The act of the British parliament caused a general depression of business throughout the colonies, by contracting the currency, and thereby impaired the credit of the colonial governments, and through them the people.

"The fraudulent act of the politicians, who acted under the persuasion of the English bankers, committed a more heinous crime against our currency, which has resulted in producing a greater depression than that caused by the British act of 1764. In 1776 the colonists resisted the English bankers' attacks upon their financial interests and taught them that they could attend to their own financial affairs without English aid.

"Are we less capable of doing the same?"

PRESS COMMENTS.

Sunday and Business.

The Optic recently called attention to the decision of Judge Bantz, that the proprietor of a saloon, which is kept open on Sunday, can not be held for violating the Sunday law, if he shall not be present and conducting the business in person.

Now comes a decision from Kentucky that a special provision in the law there, forbidding the opening of bar-rooms and the sale of intoxicating liquors on Sunday is unconstitutional. A section of the statutes of Kentucky provides that any person who shall sell liquors on Sunday or keep a bar-room open on that day, shall be fined not less than $10 nor more than $50 for each offense.

A bar-keeper was convicted and fined under this law and appealed to the court of appeals, which has decided that his conviction was unconstitutional because it was under a law that discriminated against his business, and not under a general law fixing the same penalties upon every one who carried on his business on Sunday.

The court held that the possession of a license to sell liquors renders such selling a legal business, and being such, liquor-selling can not be controlled by special laws. Any law to close saloons on Sunday must close all other places of business.—Las Vegas Optic.

One Newspaper's Good Work.

The position the Herald has held concerning the Perito-Reavis fraud for the past fourteen years is being verified at last in the court whose special business is to investigate such things. The Herald saved some people in the tract of country claimed by the grant from being molested by Reavis many years ago, by first carefully investigating the merits of the case which was found to be grounded in fraud and forgery of the most glaring character, and then exposing it and constantly keeping before the public its criminal character. This constant and determined opposition to the crime the man Reavis was attempting to perpetrate upon the people of central Arizona led to two personal assaults upon the editor of the Herald, one by the brother of the forger, J. A. Reavis, and another by a man who was a citizen of the valley. Notwithstanding these attempts to intimidate, the Herald has regularly maintained its position and has even found it a duty to score certain early federal officials of the territory at a time when it appeared that they were willing that Reavis should have the prima facie case he had made, but who from the position taken in later years had evidently never seriously looked into the matter till the Herald had somewhat energetically awakened them to the fact that they had been encouraging a gigantic crime. For many years the Herald was the only newspaper in Arizona that dared open its mouth in opposition to this forger and fraud, till finally the Arizona Enterprise, then edited by Tom Weeden, came to the support of the Herald and two or three other papers have since taken up the side of the people.

To-day the fight for the people, which by the way has, by a just congressional enactment, been made a fight for the government, is about ended. The extraordinary and glaring frauds that have been perpetrated by Reavis and his co-adjudors have never been paralleled in the history of crime and fraud. The facts in this case as we look back over them are like scenes in a romance, and carry with them points that are stronger than fiction. For nearly eighteen years the man Reavis, a man in cunning and upon the matter of this land grant, has been constantly employed day and night, year in and year out, with the assistance of some of the brightest legal counsel in the United States, upon weaving the web of forgery and fraud that was ultimately to wrest from the people some 10,000 square miles of the finest region of the United States, worth to-day at a conservative figure $120,000,000. No wonder that this man is making a most desperate fight to-day before the court of private land claims and no wonder that when justice is done he will be found to be a raving maniac.

The Herald without boasting feels that it has done its duty to the people in this matter and done it well, nor does it claim all the honor.—Phoenix, A. T., Herald.

THE NEW MEXICAN

The PECOS VALLEY of NEW MEXICO

OFFERS unequal advantages to the farmer, fruit grower, live stock raiser, dairyman, bee-keeper, and to the home-seeker generally. The soil of the Pecos Valley is of high average fertility, and under irrigation produces bountiful crops of most of the grasses, grains, vegetables, berries and fruits of the temperate and some of those of the semi-tropical zone. In such fruit as the peach, pear, plum, grape, prune, apricot, nectarine, cherry, quince, etc., the Valley will dispute for the pre-eminence with California; while competent authority pronounces its upper portions in particular the finest apple country in the world.

Enormous yields of such forage crops as alfalfa, sorghum and Egyptian corn make the feeding of cattle and sheep and the raising and fattening of hogs a very profitable occupation. The cultivation of canebrake—a tanning material of great value—is becoming an important industry in all that can be raised, at a price yielding a handsome profit.

The climate of the Pecos Valley has no equal in the United States, being pre-eminently healthful and health restoring. Leads with perpetual water-rights are for sale on easy terms. The water supply of the Pecos Valley has no equal in all the arid regions for constancy and reliability; and this with the superb climate, productive soil and the facilities afforded by the railway which extends through the Valley's entire length, will cause these lands to enjoy a constant, and at times rapid, increase in value.

The recent completion of the Pecos Valley Railway to Roswell will cause the more rapid settlement and development of the upper portions of the Valley, including the rich Feliz section. The company has recently purchased many of the older improved farms about Roswell, and has now for sale lands to meet the wants of all—raw lands, partially improved lands, as well as farms with houses, orchards and fields of alfalfa and other crops. In the vicinity of Roswell several pieces of land have been divided into five and ten acre tracts, suitable for orchards and truck farms in connection with suburban homes. Certain of these tracts are being planted to orchards, and will be cultivated and cared for by the company for three years at the end of which period they will be handed over to the purchaser. Write for pamphlet fully describing the terms and conditions on which these several classes of tracts are sold.

A Remarkable Cure of Rheumatism.

Westminster, Cal., March 21, 1894.—

Some time ago, on awakening one morning, I found that I had rheumatism in my knee so badly that, as I remarked to my wife, it would be impossible for me to attend to business that day. Remembering that I had some of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in my store I sent for a bottle, and rubbed the afflicted parts thoroughly with it, according to directions, and within an hour I was completely relieved. One application had done the business. It is the best liniment on the market, and I sell it under a positive guarantee. R. T. Harris. For sale by A. C. Ireland, Jr.

WITHOUT A HEAD.

It was afternoon tea-time at Elder Towers, not late enough for the lamps, but sufficiently dark to make the fire look very cheerful. Two armchairs were drawn up before it.

In one sat a pretty golden haired girl of about five and twenty, who was staying in the house; in the other was a dark, rather stout middle aged woman. She was talking while she stirred her tea slowly.

"Yes, Edith, you really must meet Mr. Everleigh. My husband says he is staying with the Norths at the Sycamores, and that is only three miles off, so he can easily come to dinner. We will have him on Thursday."

"It is very kind of you, Lady Elder, to wish me to meet this Mr. Everleigh," said Edith, with a faint smile, "and I should like to, as it would be interesting to see any one who has traveled so much. Besides the name seems familiar to me. I had some friends once who knew somebody of that name, I am sure."

The door opened, and the butler announced:

"Mrs. Morton."

She was the vicar's wife and had plenty to say to Lady Elder about parochial matters, so Edith Vernon, having finished her tea, quietly withdrew to her room.

Who was this Mr. Everleigh, and what did his name recall to her mind? Then it all came back to her. A happy time long ago, when she and her mother lived down in Somersetshire, at Rose Court.

She was just 17, and her mother was not the invalid she became two years before her death.

Near Rose Court there was a farmhouse, and an old Miss Milton took it one summer and came, accompanied by her nephew, to enjoy the air.

Jack Milton was leaving for coffee planting in Ceylon shortly, but not before he and his pretty neighbor had become very great friends. Edith remembered how one afternoon a traveling photographer had come round and photographed them as they made a group outside Rose Court.

She went to her desk and unlocked it and took out the photograph.

The peculiarity of her own figure in the picture was that the head had been cut out; there was a little round hole left in the card. Jack had done it before he went away.

He had asked for the picture, and when Edith made excuse by saying she wanted a remembrance of Miss Milton he then begged to be allowed to have part of it, to which request she gave permission.

Where was the head now, she wondered, and where was Jack? He used to send her messages through Miss Milton, and then that old lady died, and the Vernons left Rose Court, so now she did not know where he was.

Nevertheless she was sure she had heard either Jack or his aunt some time or another mention Mr. Everleigh, and if so, why, there was now a chance of hearing some news.

That evening Sir John Elder announced he had met Mr. Everleigh that day and had asked him to come up to the Towers to shoot on Thursday and stay to dinner.

He had accepted, and when the day came arrived with his gun and Gladstone bag. There were two officers stationed in the neighborhood; also young Morton and his tutor of the party.

She proposed to walk to Lanton, three miles off, in the afternoon, to do some shopping. Lady Elder offered her the carriage, but she declined, saying she would enjoy the walk, as it was a cold, fresh day. She accordingly set out, did her shopping and was returning, wondering much if Mr. Everleigh could give her news of Jack.

It was growing dark when she returned. The butler told her, on her entrance, that tea was in the library, and the gentlemen had all returned. She had just reached the door when she saw a speck of white at her feet.

Knowing Lady Elder was scrupulously tidy, she stooped to pick it up. Only a piece of white card. She turned it over in her hand. A face, and that face her own at 17 years old. Her heart almost stopped beating. Then the door opened, and Sir John came out.

"What, Edith, my dear, you here? Had no tea? Come in. Go and entertain the young men. Do your duty, my dear," and with a laugh he passed her, leaving the door still open.

"Come in, Edith," called Lady Elder from the midst of a group gathered round the fire.

As she entered the young men rose. She knew three of them, and only needed Mr. Everleigh and the tutor to be introduced to her.

"Miss Vernon, who is staying with me," said Lady Elder.

The tutor bowed. Mr. Everleigh was putting down his teacup, but turned his head as Lady Elder spoke.

Somehow Edith felt he was connected with what she had discovered—the question was in what way? He bowed slightly; the room was rather dark; she did not see his face distinctly. Lady Elder rang for lights. In the meantime Edith took a seat offered to her by one of her military friends, who was trying to get up a conversation with her.

"Have some muffins, dear?" said Lady Elder as she stooped to get them from before the fire and gave them to Mr. Everleigh to hand to her.

He approached with the dish and stood before her. As he was so standing the lamps were brought in. She raised her eyes and saw a face looking down at her—a face she knew, only older than when they last met. A long gaze and then—"Why, you're Jack!" she faltered.

"And you're Edith!" he said.

"And how are you Mr. Everleigh?" she asked.

He sat down beside her, still holding the muffin dish, looking at her all the while.

"Ah!" he laughed, "because my godfather, Mr. Everleigh, left me his possessions on condition I should take his name. He was a cousin of my old aunt's, you know, and had no near relatives. But I haven't forgotten you and Rose Court, though it's so long ago, and I'll show you something."

He opened his pocketbook, Lady Elder and the others looking on at what was happening in astonishment.

"Why, it's gone!" he said; "your head!"

Edith opened her hand and disclosed what it held.

"I found it in the passage," she said, "and could not think how it had got there, but I thought somehow it had to do with Mr. Everleigh, because I thought Mr. Everleigh had to do with Jack!"

When Mr. Everleigh next went abroad, the other part of the photograph was in his pocketbook.

Now, I am a healthy woman, and am able to do everything for my family of eight. I am a mother now, and I have six years. Your Favorite Prescription is the best I have ever used, or at least it proved so with me. I never suffered so little with any of my children as I did with my last."

The Fiddle Bug fiddled and the June Bug sang.

And the Beetle beat the time; The Tree Toad joined the tree-to then, And they played an air sublime. The Lark was out for a skylark, too, And the Horn Bug blew his horn; The Loonet sang, and the Katy did, And the June beetle was born.

So Selfish

"There, I am getting wet! That's just like you men—always thinking of yourselves!"—Life.

That Boy Could Talk.

The two papers were comparing notes. "Does your boy talk yet?" asked the papa with red whiskers.

"Well, he's just learning," replied the papa with the bald head. "And, by the way, he's learning a little too fast to suit me too."

"Never heard that complaint before. What does he say?"

"Well, it was this way. You see, we've been in the habit of getting up in the middle of the night and feeding him some milk. He's 20 months old now, and we thought he was getting old enough to do without that. The other night he waked up and began to call for 'milkum.' I didn't pay any attention to him; so, of course, he kept it up, as babies usually do. Each time the 'milkum' came out a little more imperiously. Finally I called to him:

"You don't need any milkum. Go to sleep again now."

"There was silence for a few minutes, and then he began again:

"Par-par!"

"No answer."

"Par-par!"

"I said nothing."

"Par, you old baldhead, get up and gimme some milkum."

"And did he get it?" asked the papa with the red whiskers.

"He got it."—Buffalo Express.

Continuous.

May—I wonder why Reggie never married.

Jack—He had a love affair when quite young and has never gotten over it.

May—Who was the object of his affections?

Jack—Himself.—Philadelphia Life.

In No Hurry.

Visitor—Why, Mabel, how you grow! You will soon be a woman.

Mabel—I hope not. Grown people have to wait until a person is gone before they can tell what they think of her.—Boston Transcript.

Objected To.

Mrs. Flitter—I wish you wouldn't call me dear any more.

Mr. Flitter—Why not?

Mrs. Flitter—Oh, it sounds too expensive for these hard times.—Boston Courier.

Foretold.

Reporter—What do you think of America?

Swell Britisher (just landed)—Don't know till I see the morning papers. They will probably tell me.—New York World.

Rates.

Applicant—How much for a marriage license?

Clerk—One dollar for a single license, $5 for a commutation license.—Detroit Tribune.

A Great Effort.

"That lady over there! Oh, yes, she is very clever. She has mastered three languages and her husband."—Fliegende Blätter.

Extremes.

She—Do you find that art is long? D'Arber—Yes; but we, its devotees, are generally short.—Life.

The trouble with too many women, says the corn-fed philosopher, is that they regard the marriage ceremony mainly as a license to eat onions and wear ill-fitting clothes.

Teacher—This is 1895. Now if your sister said she was born in 1863, how old should you say she is? Johnny—Twenty-eight. Teacher—But how could that be? Johnny—That's what always puzzled me.

I hear that your congregation intends to pray for rain, said a man to a member of the Quakosh Methodist church. Well, was that the prayer, we had decided to pray for twenty-four hours before proceeding to extreme measures.

A COSTLY EXPERIENCE.

Which Wound Up With Employing an Unsupervised Savage.

It's quite the fad now for householders to send their servants to a cooking school and pay all the fees for their culinary education. After taking a course the servant invariably returns, and goes after a place where her superior attainments will command higher remuneration.

"That makes three girls I've had taught to cook," said a Harlem woman who cannot afford to pay more than $17 a month, "and each one has left as soon as I have paid for her tuition. The first one was very anxious to become proficient in the art, and spent most of the week at the cooking colleges learning to make complicated dishes. She got so that she could cook anything."

"I resolved to give a dinner party, so as to show off her superior attainments, which my friends had all heard about from me, but had never tested. Two days before the dinner party she decamped. She had got a better situation."

"The next, I was sure, wouldn't play me a shabby trick like that, and I had her graduate. When she got her diploma, she came and demanded a raise of $7 a month in her wages. She left, very much annoyed at my refusal to recognize her increased value."

"The third is the last I shall ever teach anything. She graduated at the head of her class in the Yorkville University of Scientific Household Directors and made the valedictory oration at the commencement."

"It was only a week afterward when I was congratulating myself upon my work, when Della came running up to me and exclaimed:

"Hurrah! He'll marry me now. He says I can cook good enough for him, and Father O'Saffery is going to join us the day after tomorrow."

"The 'he' she referred to was the policeman on our beat. He had long loved her, but he was an epicure and said that they could not wed until she cooked better. He is perfectly contented with the education I have given her, but he hasn't even expressed his gratitude."

"My cooking is now being done by a red haired savage who thinks eggs should be boiled half an hour and potatoes three minutes, and who refuses to be converted from that idea. I've had enough of giving cooking lessons, though, and I'm letting her have her own way."—New York Herald.
