The Valkyrie Wins in the Yacht Race To-day by Forty Seconds.

FOUL CLAIMED BY THE DEFENDER.

Remarkable Race in Detail from Different Standpoints—Protest of Defender at the Start—Questions for the Judges to Settle.

Highlands, Sept. 10.—The Britishers, not discouraged by the defeat which their yacht met with on Saturday, have shifted some of the Valkyrie's ballast from aft forward, at the suggestion of George L. Watson, her designer, and given her a good trial spin and they confidently expected her to show up in better form to-day.

Real sea-sailed Valkyrie weather prevailed off the kook this morning. A smooth sea and light air, but no patriotic American doubted the Defender's ability to make it "three straight."

David Henderson, of the Anchor line, represents Lord Dunsen on board the Defender to-day and Joseph R. Rank, owner of the sloop yacht Mischief, who defended the American cup against the Canadian sloop Atlanta, challenger in 1879, represents America's cup committee on the Valkyrie.

To-day's race will be around a triangle ten miles to a leg, thirty miles in all, starting from the Sandy Hook light ship and with the first leg a beat if possible.

RIVAL YACHTS START.

Highlands, 10 a. m.—The preparatory signal has been fired. The first leg of the triangular will be direct south, the second northeast by east and the third north-west by west half way.

11:22 a. m.—The Defender is sailing a great race and has gained over an eighth of a mile in the last ten minutes. She is constantly eating through the sea of the Valkyrie.

11:50 a. m.—The yachts have got away. The Valkyrie crossed the line at 11:00:45, but the Defender, before crossing, carried away her top mast. The American yacht raised a protest flag.

11:50 a. m.—Both yachts are now passing the Highlands and holding along shore as the wind has shifted a trifle to the eastward. The Valkyrie is gaining a little, but the wind is not over six miles an hour.

Long Branch, 11:50 a. m.—The yachts have come in view of this place and are standing down this way. They are tacking frequently. No stake boat has arrived yet.

DEFENDER GIVING ON VALKYRIE.

Highlands, 12:21 p. m.—The Valkyrie has just come about on the starboard tack, and the Defender immediately followed suit, directly in her wake. She was walking by the Valkyrie just before the two boats tacked.

The Defender is now only a quarter of a mile behind. She is directly in line with the Valkyrie and is closing up the gap and going through the water at a great rate. The yachts are both in line from this point. A Defender gain can easily be seen.

12:53 p. m.—The Defender is only a short distance behind the Valkyrie and is certainly out-footing her.

The wind has freshened recently and the American yacht has sailed wonderfully fast during the last ten minutes.

Long Branch, 12:50 p. m.—The stake boat has taken up a position off this shore. The Valkyrie has been leading the Defender, but the latter seems to have crept up somewhat and now appears to have the English yacht.

Highlands, 12:45 p. m.—The Defender is now fairly out-poleing the Valkyrie and is directly in her wake and only about a quarter of a mile astern.

HAVE SAILED ABOUT EIGHT MILES.

The yachts have sailed about eight miles of the first leg of the course, and when they tacked again should be able to weather the first mark off Long Branch.

12:50 p. m.—It seems as if the Defender is constantly decreasing the gap between herself and the Valkyrie and the latter can not be much in the lead.

According to the time taken here, the Valkyrie rounded the first mark at 12:58:15 and the Defender at 1:02:05.

Scotland Lightship.—Time of rounding the first stake boat as taken here: Valkyrie, 12:57:30; Defender 1:00:50.

Highland, 2:11 p. m.—The excursion fleet is heading for the lightship, which seems to show that the yachts have rounded the second mark.

2:16 p. m.—One of the yachts seems to have a lead of over a mile and it looks like the Valkyrie.

APPEAR A HALF MILE APART.

Rockaway, 2:20 p. m.—The big sloop appear to be half a mile apart. People here think that the Defender is ahead.

Highlands, 2:30 p. m.—Both boats now seem to be about half a mile apart and there seems to be no doubt that the Valkyrie is leading by a mile.

2:35 p. m.—The excursion fleet has gathered around the lightship and the Valkyrie is expected to finish winner before 3 o'clock.

2:36 p. m.—The Valkyrie does not seem to increase her lead over the Defender and the excursion fleet is keeping back to give the American yacht a chance.

3:14.—It is estimated that the yachts have now about three miles more to sail to cross the finish line. Although the Valkyrie is ahead, the Defender is laying well down to her work and giving the Britisher a hot race.

VALKYRIE WINS BY TWO MINUTES.

3:58 p. m.—The Valkyrie wins by two minutes and eleven seconds, elapsed time, unclocked.

By careful figuring on the basis of official time, the Valkyrie wins by forty seconds corrected time and subject to the protest entered at the beginning of the race.

The Defender raised a protest flag at the start. Her jib sheet parted and the snapping of her sails seemed to shake the top mast stay out of the spreader and caused the top mast to spring.

The Defender claimed that the accident occurred before the starting signal was given, but the committee did not allow it.

ON BOARD BENNETT-MACKAY.

11:10 a. m.—The Defender claims that the Valkyrie violated the racing rules by bearing down on her and carrying away her starboard shroud. The protest is accepted.

The Defender's top mast is evidently badly sprung, although not carried away. Both yachts are carrying main sails, club sails, stay sails, jibs and No. 2 jib top sails. The Defender is in the lead, but to leeward.

11:18 a. m.—Valkyrie crossed the line at 11:00:15, and the Defender crossed at 11:01:15.

11:18 a. m.—The Valkyrie is still to windward by half a mile. Both boats are on the port tack, pointing about the same. The wind is south, half west, five knots.

SAILING BY TIDE AND STARTS.

12:08 p. m.—Both boats are visible running for the second mark, but are not plain enough in view to enable the watchers here to identify them.

12:40 p. m.—The Defender seems to be sailing by fits and starts to-day, for, while she headed better than the Valkyrie, the latter has sagged off.

Within the last few minutes, however, she has made another spurt and now is outpacing the Valkyrie wonderfully.

There is quite a stretch of water between them, however, apparently about 150 yards.

1:15 p. m.—The wind is about south by west. Both yachts are having a lively reach for the second mark. The Valkyrie still seems to lead.

1:35 p. m.—The boats are now on the second leg. The haze has lifted a little and the leading boat, presumably the Valkyrie, still continues nearly half a mile ahead.

2:36 p. m.—The yachts are very close, but the Valkyrie is ahead. The Luchenbach has taken up her position at the finish line.

2:37 p. m.—The Defender is pushing the Valkyrie hard and it is believed here that the American yacht may win on the time allowance.

2:55 p. m.—Time of the yachts in rounding the second mark: Valkyrie, 1:58:10; Defender, 2:01:45.

The Valkyrie finishes at 2:57:55; Defender finishes at 2:57:55.

Probably a Murder.

Phoenix, A. T., Sept. 9.—Jay H. Miller, the commercial freight agent of the Maricopa & Phoenix railroad, was shot at a late hour last night near his office. He died almost instantly. Two shots were heard in rapid succession, both taking effect in the head. Some think it is suicide, but it is probably a murder.

WOODBURY IN IT.

The Nevada Southern Road to Be Extended North from the A. & P. Line.

Denver, Sept. 10.—A new company has been organized to purchase the Nevada Southern railroad at the receiver's sale and extend the line to Pioche, Nev. The new organization will be known as the California & Eastern Railroad company, and it is composed of Denver, Chicago and English capitalists. R. W. Woodbury, of Denver, will be business manager.

Early this winter the road will be extended 100 miles to Pioche, passing through the Vanderbilt-Wasatch mining districts and through the rich agricultural lands of the Pahump valley and other mining districts of that locality.

A Big Business.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 10.—Following the advance in the price of iron and increase in miners' wages the coal mines of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad company, in this district, have broken all previous records in output. During July their output was 253,018 tons, equal to that of the highest month's record previous to that time, but the August output swelled to 301,482 tons, which is nearly 50,000 in excess of any previous month. More than half of this came from Pratt mines. The output of coal in the state last year was about 4,000,000 tons, but this year's output promises to exceed it over 2,000,000 tons. The demand for Alabama coal and iron is far in excess of the capacity of the mines and furnaces.

The Stanford Suit.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 10.—Judge L. D. McKisick, special counsel of the United States in its suit for $15,000,000 against Mrs. Jane L. Stanford, has completed his argument and brief for the United States circuit court of appeal.

The government's suit was originally filed on March 15, and, after an elaborate argument by Judge McKisick on behalf of the government and by Judge Garber for Mrs. Stanford, United States Circuit Judge Ross sustained the defense's demurrer to the complaint and the case is now on appeal from Judge Ross's decision.

Judge McKisick's argument and brief controvert every proposition enunciated by Judge Ross, and cite opinions of the supreme court of California in support of every position assumed by the United States. It is particularly set forth that Judge Ross erred in his interpretation of the contract between the complainants and the railroad corporation and in following the loose dictum of the supreme court of California.

The theory held by Judge Ross was that there was no provision of law under which plaintiff could recover.

Good Reports from London.

London, Sept. 10.—Money shows a condition of extreme ease and bullion continues to flow in from abroad, and all indications point to a continuance of the present plethora. Mines show an undiminished strength, though the cautious are inclined to reduce their holdings owing to the irresponsible character of the business. Most of the other securities were languid, but there was renewed activity in Argentine, municipal and American securities, owing to the settlement of the beer war in Chicago. There was little change in foreign exchange. Indian governments were in favor. Home railways were firm.

Americans showed a strong undertone, and business was fairly brisk with the outlook steadily improving.

BLOOD IN DENVER.

A Woman Mortally Shot By An Undertaker, Afterward Killed Himself.

Denver, Sept. 10.—Wm. Rose, an undertaker's assistant, shot and mortally wounded Mrs. Philip Kuhn, this forenoon, at 625 South Thirteenth street.

He shot her three times in the back. He ran away, and though closely pursued by the crowd, managed to reload his revolver, and near the Denver Wheel club park shot himself in the mouth. He will recover.

He said that the woman was his wife and was untrue to him. She is also said to be the wife of Philip Kuhn, license inspector.

Rose and the woman are each about 35 years old.

INSURGENT VICTORY IN CUBA

New York World Reports the City of Santiago de Cuba Surrounded by Rebels.

CUBAN CAPITAL SAID TO HAVE FALLEN.

Insurgents Triumphant in a Great Battle at Puerto Principe—Actions of Campos Show that Something Serious Has Happened.

New York, Sept. 10.—The World says that advices by special courier from Cuba, received at the offices of the Cuban Junta, in this city, are to the effect that the city of Santiago de Cuba is completely surrounded by insurgents and an attack is expected at any time.

GRAND INSURGENT VICTORY REPORTED.

New York.—A special to the World from Havana under the date of Aug. 30, says: There is a report about town that a great battle has been fought in Puerto Principe and that the Spanish have been defeated and the capital captured by the insurgent forces, 14,000 strong. General Campos' immediate departure for Nuevitas the very day he arrived here is suggestive that something serious has happened.

Private Coffee Shot.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Private Thos. Coffey, 15th regiment, U. S. A., was shot and killed by Sostiel J. M. Criss, at Fort Sheridan to-day, while attempting to escape from the guard house.

Went to the Bottom.

Flushing, Holland, Sept. 10.—The Spanish steamer Manila, bound for China, and the Norwegian steamer Xania, bound for Antwerp, collided near Borsel to-day. The Xania sank soon after and six persons were drowned including the captain. The Manila was badly damaged.

THE MARKETS.

New York, Sept. 10.—Money on call nominally easy at 1 per cent; prime mercantile paper, 3½ @ 5½. Silver, 67; lead, $8.25.

Chicago.—Cattle, receipts, 5,500, including 3,000 westerns and 700 Texas; market quiet, prices steady; hogs, $15.50 @ $15.75; cows and heifers, $1.40 @ $3.80; westerns, $2.80 @ $1.80. Sheep receipts, 15,000; steady.

Kansas City.—Cattle receipts, 10,000; shipments, 15,000; market steady to weak; Texas steers, $2.15 @ $3.00; Texas cows, $2.00 @ $2.80; beef steers, $4.00 @ $4.50; native cows, $1.00 @ $3.20; stockers and feeders, $3.00 @ $4.00; bulls, $1.30 @ $3.00. Sheep receipts, 1,900; shipments, 700; market, steady. Lambs, $2.75 @ $4.40; muttons $2.00 @ $3.00.

Chicago.—Wheat, September, 57½; October, 56½. Corn, September, 32½; October, 31½. Oats, September, 19½; October, 18½.

TO-DAY'S CONDENSATION

At Madrid, a third army corps of 20,000 is to be organized, ready to sail for Cuba in November in case of necessity.

The freight officials of the western roads are generally highly encouraged over the outlook for business this fall. They are feeling so confident that they will have a great amount of business to handle that a strong effort will probably be made in the near future to revive the Western Freight line competition, which went to pieces a short time ago.

The Journal Des Debats of Paris, in an article discussing the case of ex-Counsel Waller, declares that letters written by the French authorities in Madagascar have fully proved the case against him, and adds: "Mr. Waller's protestations will fall to invalidate the judgment of the court martial. It is an unfortunate affair, but what else could we do?"

VETERANS AT LOUISVILLE.

Grand Army Encampment Attended by Thousands—Magnificent Spectacles.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 10.—It is doubtful if this city ever before entertained as many guests as are here to-day.

It is conservatively estimated that 200,000 strangers are here, the majority of whom thirty years ago bore arms, either for the blue or for the gray.

But the blue and the gray are one to-day. It is now the day of the great war, and all are in arm as brothers to-day.

The event of to-day was the grand parade of the Naval Veterans' association. Old citizens say it was the grandest sight they ever saw.

But the great Grand Army parade tomorrow, which is to be the event of the week, promises far to surpass it.

There were fully 10,000 men in line to-day. Of course they were not all veterans of the United States navy, but those veterans were the center of attraction.

GERMANY'S GREAT DEBT.

An Effort will be Made to Fund it at Reduced Interest.

Berlin, Sept. 10.—The German minister of finance has decided immediately to convert the outstanding 4 per cent loans into 3 per cent. This is expected to have a favorable effect politically, for the government, it is represented, is not likely to undertake such an operation unless the diplomats are looking forward to a period of unbroken peace. The 4 per cent outstanding aggregate $10,000,000,000, of which Prussia stands for $900,000,000.

TWO NEGROES KILLED.

Negro Laborers Attacked at a Saw Mill in Florida with Bloody Results.

Westville, Fla., Sept. 10.—Yesterday two negroes were shot to death and several wounded by masked men in the northern portion of Holmes county. The negroes were employed in a large saw mill owned by Graves & Beatty. The attack so terrorized the negroes that they have refused to work for Graves & Beatty any longer.

COPPER KINGS.

Experts to Report on the Situation at San Pedro—The Bright Outlook for Copper.

Prof. R. P. Rothwell, editor of the New York Engineering & Mining Journal, and a distinguished authority on all mining matters, was a pleasant caller at the New Mexican office to-day in company with his friend Mr. S. E. Rammheim. These gentlemen depart to-morrow for San Pedro where they will spend some days critically examining the properties of the Santa Fe Copper company. It is more than probable that their visit will result in a reorganization of the company and the resumption of work at an early day on a larger scale than ever, a consummation devoutly to be wished by all the people of Santa Fe county. It is a conceded fact that the gold-copper properties referred to are among the best in the west, and it is hoped that the time is now at hand when local bickerings, petty quarrels among stockholders and stock jobbing speculations will no longer stand in the way of operating these splendid mines to the benefit of all concerned.

These visitors said to-day that the copper market was fairly booming with everything in its favor for years to come, the electrical age now approaching rendering it certain that the demand for copper must continue strong both in this country and in Europe.

In the Courts.

In the matter of the charges preferred in the supreme court against Messrs. Thomas B. Catron and Charles A. Spies, the defendants this morning filed a brief general denial with the clerk of the supreme court and asked for a speedy hearing. Copies of this answer have since been served upon Solicitor General Vintory and the other members of the committee appointed to consider and report upon the charges.

In re assignment of Alex. Gussdorf to Alloys Scheurich, the adjustment of the assignee's accounts and other matters pertaining thereto occupied the attention of Judge Laughlin in chambers this forenoon.

Good Report from Hland.

Rev. F. T. Bennett, rector of the church of the Holy Faith, has returned to the capital city from a three days' visit to Hland, the recognized metropolis of the great Cochiti mining district.

He reports having had a most enjoyable time. He speaks in the highest terms of the prosperous appearance of the bright little city and the surrounding mines, the well directed activity and good behavior of the people, the excellent treatment accorded to him by one and all, and the picturesque beauty of the place.

He held services at the neat school house in the upper part of town both morning and evening, on Sunday, and on both occasions was greeted by large congregations as could be accommodated.

While there he also visited the Crown Point, the Washington and other prominent mines of the district, and brought back some fine specimens that eloquently testify to the mineral wealth hidden in the hills about Hland.

Attention Ladies.

While in Denver I learned the only genuine Improved Tailor System of dress-fitting. This system drafts on the same principles as the merchant tailor uses and with the same results. By this method every seam is in the proper place; the garment maintains a perfect proportion to the figure, and perfect ease is secured. I will cut and guarantee an absolute fitting pattern. Mrs. C. The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every Post Office in the Territory and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the southwest.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 10.

The testimony, so far as developed, seems to favor the New Mexican's position that the railway mail service needs repairing.

The White Oaks Eagle will take notice that the Springer Stockman pathetically offers its condolences to the constituency of the Roswell Record.

Silver has steadily held its own at the 67 mark since last Friday. The efforts of the gold syndicate to prevent the white metal from going above that point will fail.

The lower Pecos valley appears to be in a fair way to get that best sugar factory before another year is out. It would be worth a great deal to Eddy and Roswell. Work for it.

The latest novelty in the way of campaigning entertainments is reported from Long Island, and consisted of six young ladies amusing the crowd by representing presidential candidates. They did it by the simple process of sawing wood for a price.

There is perhaps a good deal of significance in the fact that the three men who have been named as Democratic candidates for the presidency without declining it—Olney, Campbell and Dickinson—have all been talking a great deal of late about the Monroe doctrine and a vigorous foreign policy.

They appear to take a very philosophical view of it across the water. The cable dispatches gravely announce that the spirits of the Americans revived when the announcement came that the Defender had won, and the Pall-Mall Gazette observes that the Valkyrie lost the race because the Americans had the best boat.

Show us a man, exclaims the Hagerman Irrigator, who never has a good word to say for his town or country adjacent and we will show you a man who, in times of war, would be a deserter; a man who would carry information to the enemy and sell his country for a dollar. A person who will not stand up and declare for the town in which he resides is unfit to live in it. Correct!

If Col. Timoney carries out Judge Morrison's instructions and captures the Republican machine down in the Pecos valley for the "McKinley bureau," the Hon. D. P. Carr and those Republicans in New Mexico who sincerely mean to make a fight for free coinage had best look out. Capt. Collier is on guard up in the northeast, and Tom Burns isn't asleep over at Park View. Judge Morrison seems to have stolen a march on the boys.

"IRRIGATION FARMING," by Lute Wilcox, is the title of a new book on a popular subject to be issued from the Chicago press of Orange Judd, the veteran agriculturist, within the next ten days. Mr. Wilcox has been editor of the Farm and Field at Denver for many years, and his opportunities to gather facts on this subject have been exceptionally good. His work will meet "a long felt want" indeed, for it is remarkable how little the average man, even among western farmers, really knows on this all important subject.

ANOMILISTIC STATE.
How they have "mixed those babies up" in Kentucky. The platform indorses Carlisle and the candidate is for free coinage. To elect Hardin is to defeat Carlisle. To defeat Hardin is a vote of censure for Carlisle. A more singular state of things never developed in the political history of the country. Then too, there are other queer features involved in this remarkable contest. At Louisville the A. P. A. crowd have captured the entire Republican machine and are running things with a high hand to suit themselves much to the disgust of two thirds of the Republicans of the state, while on the other hand the free coinage Republicans have dropped their own legislative candidates and openly avow their support of the Democratic legislative nominees. No wonder Henry Watterson has quit.

THE DEADLY BACILLI AGAIN.
Dr. Bailey, whose sanitary circulars have done so much to diminish the spread of consumption in Chicago, is in danger of overdoing the thing. He has just issued a circular in behalf of the board of health, of which he is the moving spirit, denouncing the practice of kissing. The doctor considers it unhealthy, and goes into a long explanation on the evil effects of osculatory indulgence, the danger of contracting tuberculosis, catching the death-dealing bacilli, and all that. But it won't do. That's carrying the anti-consumption crusade quite too far. Human nature won't stand it. You'll have to bleach the red from the cheeks and lips of fair maidens and stifle the best impulses of youth and manhood before you can carry your health regulations that far.

PRESS COMMENT.

A Timely Suggestion.
The territorial fair is just one week off, so brush up your good suit, put on that prosperous smile, get your exhibits ready for shipment and don't forget to go yourself. The national irrigation congress meets in the meantime, which is worth alone ten times the expense you will be to.—Springer Stockman.

Where Prosperity Reigns.
Persons that have not visited the country adjacent to Maxwell City, under the Vermejo ditch system, do not realize the importance of this section as an agricultural country. Here, on every hand, are seen comfortable farm houses situated in the midst of broad fields of grain and alfalfa, presenting a green and golden picture in all directions as far as the eye can reach. Here and there are seen young orchards that give promise of soon bearing fruit while further up the valley are older orchards loaded down with fruit. Almost the entire distance from Maxwell City up the Vermejo for about twenty miles, presents an unbroken scene of prosperous farms.

The PECOS VALLEY of NEW MEXICO

OFFERS unequal advantages to the farmer, fruit grower, live stock raiser, dairyman, bee-keeper, and to the home-seeker generally.

The soil of the Pecos Valley is of high average fertility, and under irrigation produces bountiful crops of most of the grasses, grains, vegetables, berries and fruits of the temperate and some of those of the semi-tropical zone. In such fruit as the peach, pear, plum, grape, prunes, apricot, nectarine, cherry, quince, etc., the Valley will dispute for the pre-eminence with California; while competent authority pronounces its upper portions in particular the finest apple country in the world.

Enormous yields of such forage crops as alfalfa, sorghum and Egyptian corn make the feeding of cattle and sheep and the raising and fattening of hogs a very profitable occupation.

The cultivation of canebrake—a tanning material of great value—is becoming an important industry in the Pecos Valley, a home market having been afforded for all that can be raised, at a price yielding a handsome profit.

The climate of the Pecos Valley has no superior in the United States, being pre-eminently healthful and health restoring.

Lands with perpetual water-rights are for sale at low prices and on easy terms. The water supply of the Pecos Valley has no equal in all the arid region for constancy and reliability; and this with the superb climate, productive soil and the facilities afforded by the railway which extends through the Valley's entire length, will cause these lands to be enjoyed by a constant, and at times rapid, increase in value.

The recent completion of the Pecos Valley Railway to Roswell will cause the more rapid settlement and development of the upper portions of the Valley, including the rich Felix section. The company has recently purchased many of the older improved farms about Roswell, and has now for sale lands to meet the wants of all—raw lands, partially improved lands, as well as farms with houses, orchards and fields of alfalfa and other crops. In the vicinity of Roswell several pieces of land have been divided into five and ten acre tracts, suitable for orchards and truck farms in connection with suburban homes. Certain of these tracts are being planted to orchards, and will be cultivated and cared for by the company for three years at the end of which period they will be handed over to the purchasers. Write for pamphlet fully describing the terms and conditions on which these several classes of tracts are sold.

Many remedies recommended by friends were tried, none of which proved suitable to my case. I did not experience any beneficial results until I began taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. After two bottles of the large size have been used I am pleased to state, my health is better than it has been for years. The soreness has left my lungs and chest and I can breathe easily. A BASEBALL ROMANCE.

How Gertrude O'Brien and Meyerham Were United at Last.

CHAPTER I.
Gertrude O'Brien was the fairest of Washington's fair women. He was Meyerham, the great ball tosser of the home team. They stood in the conservatory of the villa De O'Brien in a fashionable quarter of New Hampshire avenue while the deepening shadows of the March evening closed softly yet softly around them. They heeded not the perfume of those priceless exotics which had cost Boru O'Brien so many doubloons; they were lost in the fragrance of a deep, mutual love.

"When we were wedded, dearest Gertrude," he murmured, "life with me will be one perpetual love run."
The lovely girl blushed to the tips of her shell-like ears.
"And do you really love me, Meyerham?" and her tones had a soft, cooling lilt that set his soul aglow.

"If my heart is not wholly yours," he said, "may I never get a base on balls again."

The lips of Gertrude O'Brien and her lover met in a long, clinging kiss.
"That was a base, dearest," he said, smacking his lips following the soft and sweet ceremony, and his voice, which was as the roar of a lion to the tumultuous bleachers, was as gentle as the note of a dove.

"Let us go back to the parlor, love," said Gertrude O'Brien, disengaging herself from his embrace. "It is becoming overdark in the conservatory, and Boru O'Brien, my father, will call strikes on our intimacy unless we conduct ourselves with circumspection."

CHAPTER II.
It was found June. The season was only a third played through. Washington had put up sad and wretched ball. The club stood a disgusting tenth on the League list. Only such failures as St. Louis and such failures as Louisville ranked lower. As for the great Meyerham, he had played yellow ball from the first. Gertrude O'Brien's heart was broken.

"I will never marry now," said Gertrude O'Brien, hurrying into tears. "I could never bear to have the world point to my husband as one of an aggregation of tail enders."
At last, however, her sorrow settled into stony resentment.

CHAPTER III.
"All is over between us," observed Gertrude O'Brien to Meyerham when the home club returned from its tour. Her tones were cold and hard. "Leave me, false muffler, better fingered wretch. Never dare to look upon my face again!" Meyerham couldn't believe his ears. He laughed nervously and attempted to snatch a kiss from her lips of dew. She swiped him on his sun-browned cheek with her open hand with force enough to splutter a bat and evade the caress.

"Villain! Don't try to steal a base on me," she said scornfully. "If you attempt that again, I'll make you think that you've been struck by a pitched ball!" Gertrude O'Brien stepped to a cabinet, and selecting a catcher's mask adjusted it to her beautiful countenance.

"Before I drive you from my presence forever," she said, "and now that I'm safe from your loathsome endearments, I will ask you what excuse you can make for your conduct."
"What conduct?" demanded Meyerham, while his nose showed pain and aggravated indignation. "When I left you, woman of the marble heart, you declared you loved me. I return and am told my dream is over. Our engagement is broken off in the first half of the third inning, as it were, and the game decided against me 9 to 0. It is of you, perjured woman, an explanation should be demanded."

"You ask an explanation?" said Gertrude O'Brien bitterly. "William Meyerham, I will give you one. How long is it since you made first base? How many times have you fanned out? When have you held a fly or stopped a grounder? Oh, Meyerham, you have forgotten the way to first base. You have broken my heart with your rotten ball!" And the sorrowing girl burst into a torrent of tears.

Meyerham was speechless, for he felt the justice of Gertrude O'Brien's position. Hesitating, yet tender, he drew near to console her and promise amends.
"Wretched fumbler, do not touch me," cried Gertrude O'Brien. "Am I to be called queen of the rosters and then link my life to a man who couldn't hit a ball or catch a ball in a clothesbasket? Never! Come no more near me, Meyerham, until you are redeemed!"

CHAPTER IV.
"I will win her yet," muttered Meyerham as he turned from the villa De O'Brien after the interview. "I will win her heart or call life's game forever on account of darkness. Gertrude O'Brien shall be my wife, or my next home plate shall be a tombstone, my next umpire an undertaker."

CHAPTER V.
It was a cold, stormy day, the last of the season. The home club, by steady skill and team work like the perfect action of a clock, had attained a place side by side with a rival club in the League lead. The world said it was through the matchless work of Meyerham. Gertrude O'Brien thought so, too, and her heart went out to him in forgiveness and love.

"It was for me my darling batted and fielded the home team into the front rank," thought Gertrude O'Brien, and her soul melted in longing for his return.
"When I can stand before her the crowned monarch of the diamond, then I will come," thought Meyerham and waited the close of the season in stony silence.

CHAPTER VI.
Today was to decide the League championship. The home club and its rival had lost and won an equal number of games. "Play ball!" said the umpire, and the game began.

Inning after inning went by without a run for either side. At the end of the eighth inning the score stood 0 to 0. The ninth inning began. The grand stand was tense and nervous, while the rude bleachers fairly sobbed with pent up excitement. Gertrude O'Brien sat in the grand stand where she could confront the batter. Her face was pale and set like marble. She heeded not what transpired about her. When a foul tip struck Boru O'Brien in the abdomen and he was borne gasping from the grand stand by the ushers, Gertrude O'Brien did not even turn her head.

Her heart, her soul, her very life, hung on the issue of the contest being fought out before her.
"If they lose," she whispered, "I shall pass the short balance of my wretched days in the shadow of a cloister."
Gertrude O'Brien's hand back while two tears starting from her eyes rolled pitifully down her white cheeks and fell upon Meyerham as he sat on the players' bench below. His own eyes filled as he looked up and saw her weeping.

"Nothing to nothing in the eighth!" howled the official scorer as he chalked up the sixteenth goose egg.
The home team retired the foe in one, two, three order in the first half of the ninth. Then the home team went to bat. Gertrude O'Brien's heart almost ceased to beat. The first man struck out. The second bunted a feeble ball to short. "Run!" yelled the grand stand. "Make him throw it!" howled the bleachers. He was thrown out easy at first.

The great Meyerham stepped to home plate; the club mascot had rubbed his hat with a rabbit's foot.
"I will give him a look of encouragement," said Gertrude O'Brien. "It will not rattle him and may do him good." As Meyerham advanced to the plate he glanced up at the beautiful creature he adored. She was on the lookout and gave him the gay face. He replied with a look of intelligence, the first that had shone in his eyes since that cruel evening months before. With the first ball pitched came the end, and with the end came triumph for the home team. The mighty Meyerham batted the ball with the force of some dreadful engine. The shock shivered the bat to his very grasp. The ball soared away over the center fielder, that wretched official not being within reach of it by 50 feet. Meyerham crossed the home plate Gertrude O'Brien, pale and lifeless, drifted from her chair in a swoon.

CHAPTER VII.
It was the evening of the great day at the villa De O'Brien. The happy shadows again wrapped the reunited lovers in their sweet gloom.
"Play nearer your base, darling," murmured Gertrude O'Brien cooly, and Meyerham, accepting her gentle coaching, drew the lovely girl closer to his side.

For one blissful hour they sat in silence. At last she spoke again, and her voice had in it a drop curve full of tenderness.
"What preacher shall we agree on to umpire our nuptials, love?" she asked.
"I care not, sweetheart, so it ends in a tie," he replied. And then, as if moved by the same impulse, they fastened their faces together one long, luscious three finger—Washington Post.

Forgetfulness.
It was found June. The season was only a third played through. Washington had put up sad and wretched ball. The club stood a disgusting tenth on the League list. Only such failures as St. Louis and such failures as Louisville ranked lower. As for the great Meyerham, he had played yellow ball from the first. Gertrude O'Brien's heart was broken.

TAKE STEPS

In time, if you are a sufferer from that scourge of humanity known as consumption, and you can be cured. There is the evidence of hundreds of living witnesses to the fact that, in all its early stages, consumption is a curable disease. Not every case, but a large percentage of cases, we believe, fully of per cent, are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, even after the disease has progressed so far as to induce repeated bleedings from the lungs, severe lingering cough with copious expectoration (including tubercular matter), great loss of flesh and extreme emaciation and weakness.

Do you doubt that hundreds of such cases are cured by "Golden Medical Discovery"? were genuine cases of that dread and fatal disease? You need not take our word for it. They have, in nearly every instance, been so pronounced by the best and most experienced home physicians, who have no interest whatever in misrepresenting them, and who were at one time strongly prejudiced against this fatal malady, all other medicines with which they are acquainted. Nasty cod-liver oil and its filthy "emulsion," and mixtures, had either utterly failed to benefit, or had only seemed to benefit a little for a short time. Extract of malt, whiskey, and various preparations of the hypophosphates had also been faithfully tried in vain.

The photographs of a large number of those cured of consumption, bronchitis, lingering coughs, asthma, chronic nasal catarrh and kindred maladies, have been skillfully reproduced in a book of 150 pages, which will be mailed to you, on receipt of address and six cents in stamps. You can then write to those who have been cured and profit by their experience.

H. B. HENRY, Observer.

Are you taking SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR, the "KING OF LIVER MEDICINES?" That is what our readers want, and nothing but that. It is the same old friend to which the old folks pinned their faith and were never disappointed. But another good recommendation for it is, that it is BETTER THAN PILLS, never gripes, never weakens, but works in such an easy and natural way just like nature itself, that relief comes quick and sure, and one feels new all over. It never fails. Everybody needs take a liver remedy, and everyone should take only Simmons Liver Regulator.

Be sure you get it. The Red is on the wrapper. J. H. Zeilin & Co., Philadelphia.

MUNICIPAL MATTERS.

Adjourned Regular Meeting of the City Council Last Night—Special Levy for Schools Approved—Resolution Respecting Tuberculosis in Cattle.

The city council held an adjourned regular session last night. Mayor Esley presided and Councilmen Andrews, Delgado, Dominguez, Harroun, Holmes, McCabe and Sena responded to call roll.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The peremptory writ of mandamus granted by Judge Laughlin yesterday, commanding the city council forthwith to approve the 5 mill tax levy for school purposes made by the board of education, was presented by Mayor Esley accompanied with the following resolution:

Resolved, By the city council of the city of Santa Fe, That, whereas, the honorable district court of the first judicial district has by its peremptory writ of mandamus ordered this body to approve the levy made by the board of education of such city of 5 mills on the dollar of taxable property within the limits of said city, for school purposes for the current fiscal year as heretofore presented to this body, now, therefore, in accordance with such order and writ of mandamus from such district court, the said levy be and the same is hereby approved and the city clerk is hereby directed to certify such fact to the county clerk of Santa Fe county as required by law and the order of said court.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

The committee on ordinances and licenses, to which was referred the report of the board of health regarding tuberculosis in cattle, submitted the following resolution:

Whereas, The subject of tuberculosis in animals used for food, or whose milk product is used as an article of diet, is one of great importance, both in a sanitary point of view and in regard to its financial bearing upon the owners of herds, and

Whereas, Our territory from its altitude, dryness and general salubrity has probably less than any other portion of our country of this dreaded bacillus, and we believe should be carefully guarded from the importation of the same; therefore be it

Resolved, By the city council of the city of Santa Fe, That we earnestly recommend to the owners of herds and to all who have milk cows that they have the same inspected, and, if any are found diseased, that they be immediately destroyed, to the end that neither other animals nor mankind may become infected with the dread disease.

This resolution was adopted.

In the absence of Chairman Garcia, Dr. Andrews asked that the finance committee be granted further time to report on certain matters pending before it. The request was granted.

The city marshal and ex-officio street commissioner reported that, on Saturday, only nine men reported for duty on Monday morning, he did not put them to work.

Dr. Andrews said that the marshal misunderstood him. He merely made a suggestion and did not intend it to be understood as an order.

The question then arose as to whether the nine men who reported but did not work were entitled to receipts.

After some discussion, the marshal was directed to issue receipts to the nine men by a vote of four to three, Messrs. Andrews, Holmes and Harroun voting in the negative.

Petitions regarding nuisances near the residences of Messrs. T. J. Helm and L. G. Read were referred to the committee on health.

Sheriff Cunningham appeared before the board, and said that for two months he had fed the city prisoners without cash remuneration, and that he should decline to feed them longer than one more week unless the matter of pay was adjusted.

The subject was referred to the committee on police with instructions to take prompt action.

The council then adjourned until next Monday evening.

ROUND ABOUT TOWN.

The first car load of material for the A. T. & S. F. "Y" arrived last night. Henry Krick has recently added facilities for the manufacture of all kinds of mineral waters to his beer bottling plant on Guadalupe street.

Manager Lewis of the Western Union telegraph office, commenced posting bulletins of the second great race between the Defender and the Valkyrie at 10 o'clock this morning.

The people of the Mesilla valley are packing 3,000 pounds of fruit for an exhibit at the territorial fair. What are the orchardists of Santa Fe and Espanola valleys doing in this direction?

Now is the time when the fellow who has been away enjoying himself comes home and asks you patronizingly where you have been this summer, though he knows as well as you do that you haven't been away at all.

Mr. C. Leon Allison, of Denver, is here looking after his suburban farming lands. He has succeeded in interesting a number of Colorado Springs gentlemen in Mr. Nagle's water storage enterprise in the Arroyo Chamisao and has an appointment to meet them here immediately following the meeting of the irrigation congress.

Owing to the floods in Kansas no through train from the east reached the city over the A. T. & S. F. last night. Last evening's mail and this evening's mail from Missouri river points and east will reach here about 12 o'clock to-night.

Valentine Herbert takes the palm as the grower of pears in Santa Fe. He brought to the New Mexican office today a half dozen juicy specimens, the largest of which weighed fifteen and one-fourth ounces and measured twelve inches in circumference, and the beauty about it is that the size in no wise detracts from the superior flavor of the fruit.

Miss M. L. Cort, of Siam, arrived in the city with this morning's train, and will lecture on "Woman in Buddhist Lands" this evening at 7:45 in the Presbyterian church. She is a very able and entertaining speaker. Her audiences at Las Vegas were increasing, and the full house which greeted her was an indication of her popularity. If you desire to know something new, and to have full light on heathen lands, go this evening to this free and exceedingly entertaining lecture.

Bereaved Parents.

Willie Roy, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Madison Petrol, died very suddenly of cholera infantum at Espanola on Saturday evening. The little one was 14 months old. The afflicted parents brought the body to Santa Fe last night and it was laid out at Guadalupe church at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Petrol wish to tender thanks to friends in Espanola and in this city for many acts of kindness. Mr. Petrol, who is working with the D. & R. G. bridge gang, had the misfortune to have his foot badly crushed on the afternoon that his child died.

The U. S. Gov't Reports show Royal Baking Powder superior to all others.

Everybody Laughed.

The entertainment given last evening at the court house under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church was one of the most complete successes, both financial and artistic, in the history of Santa Fe's amusements. The title of the entertainment, "Edison's Electric Rag Dolls," as well as the popularity of those participating in the performance, caused an audience to assemble whose size tested the capacity of the hall, the rule of the evening being "standing room only." A complete electric switch board, with ammeter, voltmeter and rheostat, and the necessary wiring, gave the room the appearance of a well equipped electric plant. From the switch board ran wires attached to each of the young ladies representing dolls, and each subject was put in connection with the current by the turning of the appropriate key on the switch board. Mr. W. H. Pope operated the keys, making in addition a few introductory remarks. The following is the program as rendered:

MANY METHODISTS.

Important Church Gathering Opened This Afternoon—Distinguished Visitors Present.

In accordance with a resolution adopted at the New Mexico conference of the M. E. church a year ago, the Itinerant's Club of the New Mexico English mission opened its initial session in this city today. A large congregation greeted the visiting clergymen when the exercises of the day were opened at the Methodist church at 2:30 this afternoon, Bishop Wm. X. Niide, D. D., LL. D., of Detroit, presiding.

The afternoon program included papers on "Method in Bible study," by Rev. H. J. Hoover, of Las Vegas; "Church finances," Rev. A. A. Hyde, of Springfield; "Sabbath observance—present laws and needed legislation," Rev. C. I. Mills. Among those present aside from the above named are Rev. C. L. Bovard, the efficient presiding elder of this missionary field; Rev. A. W. Adkinson, of Albuquerque; Rev. A. Hoffman, of El Paso; Rev. E. V. DuBois, of Chama; Rev. W. A. Phelps, of Las Cruces; Rev. F. M. Day, of Kingston, and Rev. G. S. Madden, the popular local minister. Also to-day's session was attended by several Mexican ministers, among them Rev. A. Jacobs, presiding elder of the Santa Fe Spanish missions district, of Conejo; Rev. J. Vigil, of Espanola; Rev. Romulo Sano, of Conejo; Rev. E. Montoya, of Taos, and Rev. Cruz Martinez, of Dulce.

This meeting will be followed on Thursday by the opening of the 11th annual session of the New Mexico conference, which will have three sessions daily until Monday morning next. A very attractive program has been prepared for this conference. Rev. Dr. Nigle, who will preside, is one of the most distinguished sons of the church. He is a native of Cortland, N. Y. He graduated with honor from Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn., in 1855. After faithful service in many fields, in 1874 he was transferred to the Detroit conference, where he became the pastor of the Central Methodist church of Detroit. During his pastorate service he displayed superior abilities as a highly cultivated scholar. His ministry was eminently successful, and his services were much sought after. In 1873 he was elected to the chair of practical theology in Garrett Biblical institute at Evanston, Ill., and was honored with the degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1874 by his alma mater in recognition of his superior attainments as a pulpit speaker, cultivated scholar and master of theological instruction.

He made the tour of Europe and the east in 1878-9, and was an honored member of the Ecumenical conference in 1881, and was the first speaker on the special topics designated. His address was eloquent, full of thought and faithfulness in delivery, for which he received the highest praise.

He was elected bishop in May, 1884, since which time he has visited the conferences and missions of the church in all parts of the world, visiting the missions in the east in 1894, arriving in Japan in June in the midst of preparations for war. He attended the conferences in Japan, China and Korea, remaining in those countries over eight months and witnessed the celebration by the Japanese of the victory of Wei-Hai-Wei.

Dr. Crosson has moved his office and residence to the Santa block, adjoining the court house. Office hours, 10 to 11 a. m.; 2 to 4 p. m.; 7 to 8 p. m.

Home From the East.

Colonel Frost returned yesterday from a three weeks' eastern trip. He was at Boston, where he represented the Santa Fe commandery of Knights Templar at the 26th triennial convocation, and says it was one of the grandest affairs that ever took place in this country. In the parade and review there were 23,000 uniformed Knights Templar in line, 136 bands and 3,600 musicians. The passage by the reviewing stand of the parade took four hours and twenty minutes. Lavish hospitality was displayed by the Boston knights and the city for a week was thronged with many tens of thousands of visitors from the west and south saying nothing about the New England, New York and Pennsylvania delegations.

Col. Frost also visited Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado in the interest of the irrigation congress and expects strong delegations to the congress from those states specially. He distributed much New Mexico advertising matter for the bureau of immigration and for the national irrigation congress and talked New Mexico in many different places. Several leading eastern papers published very favorable articles on New Mexico prepared by Col. Frost, and, upon the whole, he thinks that New Mexico is becoming better and more favorably known and stands better to-day than ever in its history before the people of the country.

Salts to Fit.

Mr. Bates, head cutter for the well known clothing firm of Messrs. Pershing & Anderson, one of the largest tailor firms in Chicago, will be at our store for three or four days from September 11. He will have samples of the latest patterns of suits, trousers and overcoats for the coming season. The object of the firm in sending out their cutter is to get correct and accurate measurements and we guarantee a fit every time. Even if you do not desire to order, call and leave your measure, for it is an opportunity not to be missed to have your measure properly taken so that your suit is bound to fit.
