Cultivating the voice without a tuneful accompaniment is impossible. Happily both singers and hearers are delighted with our checkmate pianos, used in vocal practice. These instruments have the qualities which make them admirably adapted to accompany the refined and accomplished vocalist. Nothing could blend more perfectly than the voice and instrument when one of our pianos is used. The better a piano is for accompaniment, the better it is for instrumental compositions. Our pianos are unequalled for all purposes, and their excellence is all the more remarkable in view of the price at which we are able to offer them. Our pianos are generally called wash-boards.

CORBETT AND FITZSIMMONS

Efforts to Pull Off Pugilistic Carnival in Hot Springs Regardless of State Authorities.

GOV. CLARK'S ULTIMATUM ON SUBJECT

Corbett Constantly Training—Fitzsimmons En Route to Arkansas—
Sporting People Moving Toward Hot Springs—Will the Governor Use the Militia?

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 29.—A special telegram to the Commercial Appeal from Little Rock, Ark., says: Gov. Clark received information to-day from Hot Springs which convinced him beyond question that an effort will be made to hold the fight at Hot Springs on schedule time. From what source he received the information he declined to state. The governor still says he will prevent it. He cares not whether it takes place publicly or privately. "The men shall not fight on Arkansas soil."

It is believed that Fitzsimmons will be arrested immediately on his arrival in the state and placed under heavy police bond. Gov. Clark says he has been informed for several days that an effort will be made to have the fight in private, which fact will compel him to be absent on Arkansas day at the Atlanta exposition.

ARRANGEMENTS TO ARREST FITZSIMMONS.
Hot Springs, Ark.—The flank movement made last evening by Gov. Clark and Attorney General Kinworthy, appears to have effectually settled the possibility of Corbett and Fitzsimmons ever meeting in this state, and all hopes of pulling off the fight at Hot Springs have been abandoned.

The attorney general made an affidavit upon which a warrant for Fitzsimmons' arrest was issued, and the papers were issued by a magistrate of Little Rock and placed in the hands of a sheriff at Texarkana. The plan is not to allow him to reach here.

Attorney Kinworthy remained in this city to-day for the purpose of having the Australian arrested here in the event that he slips through Texarkana without being apprehended. It is his intention to have Fitzsimmons placed under heavy bond to keep the peace and thus prevent the fight.

WILL GO TO HOT SPRINGS ANYWAY.
Detroit, Mich.—So confident is "Parson" Davies that the fight will come off at Hot Springs that he has sent his entire aggregation, comprising John L. Sullivan, Paddy Ryan, Tommy Ryan, Jimmy Barry and others, will leave for the springs to-night, arriving on Thursday morning.

This move is necessary, in a measure, to save Tommy Ryan's forfeit and to claim that of the Florida Athletic club, in case the contest is not pulled off. John L. Sullivan said: "Will they fight? Well, I guess they will, or leave the country. They have been bamboozling the country long enough with their windy war, and have got to do business now or get out of the game."

GOVERNOR OF ARKANSAS SPEAKS.
Chicago.—A dispatch addressed to the Associated Press and signed by the governor of Arkansas was received at the Associated Press office in Chicago at noon: "Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 29.—I intend to stop the fight at all hazards regardless of the place and time when attempted. In fact, it is stopped now. (Signed) James P. Clarke."

SCHEME TO DEFEAT STATE AUTHORITIES.
Hot Springs.—Sheriff Hoppe and a deputy of this county, left here last night armed with a warrant for Fitzsimmons. It is their purpose to meet Fitzsimmons in Texas, return with him, and as soon as the train passes over the state line into Arkansas, place him under arrest and bring him on to Hot Springs, thus taking him out of the hands of the state authorities completely.

When they arrive here Fitzsimmons is to be taken before a magistrate and placed under a peace bond. Then it is believed that he and Corbett can meet and "shake hands" in the ring. Fitzsimmons is not expected before to-morrow. In response to a tip, sent out on Saturday night to various sporting headquarters all over the country, the incoming trains are crowded with sports and others who expect to see the fight. Corbett is in active training and is pronounced in the pink of condition.

ANOTHER SHREWD MOVE.
Hot Springs.—Manager Joseph Vendig and Secretary Wheelock, of the Florida Athletic club, were arrested this afternoon on warrants charging them with conspiring to commit a breach of the peace. Both were promptly released on bond. This is but another shrewd move to lead off the attorney general, who was preparing to have them arrested upon a similar charge and carried to Little Rock for trial. If Fitzsimmons succeeds in getting here, there will be a "null" unless the governor runs in a squad of militia, which is not probable.

MOVEMENTS OF FITZSIMMONS.
St. Louis.—A special from Little Rock to the Post-Dispatch says: "At noon Gov. Clark received a telegram from Corpus Christi, announcing that Fitzsimmons left there at 8:30 o'clock for some reason in Arkansas, which was not revealed by the ticket purchased. It is certain that he did not go to Texarkana, as he had been notified that the governor had an officer there to arrest him. It is believed he will go to Hot Springs by way of Fort, and a telegram was sent to the authorities of that town to watch every train."

The governor has about abandoned the idea of going to Hot Springs to-morrow. If his plans do not miscarry, the Australian will be in the clothes of the law before morning.

FITZSIMMONS ON THE WAY.
San Antonio, Tex.—Fitzsimmons left Corpus Christi this morning and passed through San Antonio for Hot Springs at 1:30 p. m.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

Ex-Senator Dolph Favors the Use of the Sword, if Necessary, to Maintain the Doctrine.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 29.—Ex-Senator Dolph, for years a prominent member of the foreign relations committee of the U. S. senate, in an address before the Changing club, on the foreign policy of the United States, said of the Venezuelan question:

"There are but two courses for the United States to pursue, one of which is to abandon the Monroe doctrine and no longer to protest against European aggression and monarchical domination on this hemisphere, and submit to the humiliation such a course would bring upon the United States; the other is to enforce our policy concerning the affairs on this continent by a protest, and, if necessary, by the use of the sword, and ultimate arbitration of the sword. We should also extend to Cuba the Monroe doctrine."

A Good One for Cuba.

New York, Oct. 29.—The World says: Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, son of the first president of the Cuban provincial republic of twenty years ago, is upon the high seas, at the head of a secret expedition which he expects to land in Cuba in a few days. He is accompanied by nearly 100 enthusiastic young men, all armed, who have determined to fight the Spaniards for Cuba's liberation. The expedition was quietly fitted out in this city during the past three months, and money was spared to make it succeed. It started from the Delaware river early last week. The vessel which carries the men to Cuba is a large schooner of the clipper style, fitted with rapid-firing guns. She has in her hold 500 Winchester rifles, 500,000 cartridges, 500,000 rounds of Gatling guns, 500 machetes and half a ton of dynamite. The men who accompany De Cespedes are well drilled and uniformed. Upon arrival in Cuba they expect to join the regular revolutionary army under Gen. Maximo Gomez.

AN ATROCITY IN TEXAS.

Horrible Hapening to a Young Woman in the Lone Star State—More Work for Judge Lynch.

Tyler, Texas, Oct. 29.—Mrs. Leonard Bell, the 19-year-old wife of a farmer, who has been visiting her mother, started to walk home, a distance of half a mile, at dusk last evening. On the way she passed a sign, where men were working. Soon afterward her mutilated body was found a quarter of a mile from her home at the side of the road. There was evidence of a terrible struggle, the body being almost nude.

The dead, after assaulting her, cut her throat from ear to ear and completely dismembered her. Edison, of the Cotton Belt railway, sent a special engine at once to the Rusk penitentiary, forty-five miles distant, for blood hounds. The farmers began a search immediately and were joined by a large posse from this city.

Exaggerated Badly.

London, Oct. 29.—The Graphic states that it has high official authority for saying the report received by the Times from its correspondent in Hong Kong, to the effect that China accords Russia the privilege of anchoring her fleet at Port Arthur, and of building railroads connecting Vladivostok and Port Arthur, bears no resemblance whatever to the actual facts of the negotiations between China and Russia. Moreover, the Graphic continues, Russia has not approached the crisis in an anti-English spirit.

THE CHIEF AMONG CRIMINALS

Holmes, Accused of a Multiplicity of Murders, Conducting His Own Defense in Philadelphia.

GETS PRIVILEGES ACCORDED ATTORNEYS

—Holmes Manifests Ability as a Cross-Examiner—Evidence that Elder Peitsel was Chloroformed.

Philadelphia, Oct. 29.—In order that Holmes, in conducting his own defense, may have all the privileges ordinarily accorded to attorneys, the prisoner's dock was moved to-day nearer to the bar of the court.

At the opening, District Attorney Graham said: "I desire to say, in view of what was said last night before the adjournment, that a lady known as Miss York and Mrs. Howard was sent for, saw the prisoner and had ample opportunity for an interview with him."

Holmes said that he had only a three minutes' interview with the woman, and asked that it be renewed during the noon recess. His request was granted.

Then the prisoner asked that the plan be produced of the Callow Hill street house, where he is believed to have murdered Peitsel.

The district attorney said that such a plan would be produced at the proper time.

"Also ask," Holmes continued, "that the quantity of liquor which Graham said I used in my efforts to exterminate the Peitsel family be submitted to an analysis. I want to prove that, while it contains a small quantity of nitro-glycerine, it is entirely harmless and is sold in every drug store."

"That never has been in my possession," said Graham.

Jeanette Peitsel, "Dessie," a daughter of the dead man, was the first witness called. She identified several large crones of her father.

John Townsend and Wm. H. Rau, photographers, identified the photographs of Holmes taken after his arrest.

Engene Smith, who found Peitsel's body in the Callow Hill street house, September 4, 1894, told a detailed story of his discovery, already fully published. The prisoner subjected Smith to a severe cross-examination, but failed to shake his testimony.

Holmes again asked to have all witnesses excluded from the court room, and after this had been refused by court, the district attorney said that, as the prisoner was without counsel, he would ask that all witnesses retire.

Dr. Wm. J. Scott testified regarding his examination of Peitsel's body just after its discovery. He verified the claim that the jar could not have been broken by an explosion and said that it was clear that the man died from chloroform poisoning. The court took a recess to 2:30 p. m.

THE UNSPEAKABLE TURK.

The Grand Old Man Writes a Letter on Subject of Outrages on the Armenians.

London, Oct. 29.—A local paper says Madame Novkoff recently received the following letter from Mr. Gladstone to the sultan and the Armenians:
Dear Mrs. Novkoff, I shall carefully and for many reasons keep myself to myself. I see in my mind that wretched sultan whom God has given as a curse to mankind, waving his flag in triumph, and the adversaries at his feet are Russia, France and England.

As to the division of shame among them, I care little enough, but hope that my own country will for its own good be made conscious and exhibited to the world for its own full share, whatever that may be.
May God, in His mercy, send a speedy end to the governing Turk and all his doings—as I would when I could say, and even sometimes do in my political deprecate or death.

Always sincerely yours,
Wm. E. GLADSTONE.

Possibilities of the Canal.

London, Oct. 29.—The Times has a three-column article on the Nicaragua canal from a correspondent lately there, who says it is clear the project can not be carried through as a private undertaking, but that it must be under the auspices of some strong government, which without doubt must be the United States. He is convinced the cost will be nearer $20,000,000 ($10,000,000) than $20,000,000 ($10,000,000). It is useless to suppose, he adds, that the government of the states of Central America will be able to supply the necessary labor. The true source of labor, he thinks, will undoubtedly be the West Indies, negro labor being far superior to the Chinese.

AN ARIZONA KILLING.

A Queer Domestic Complication Involving a Bad Man from Kansas.

Phoenix, A. T., Oct. 29.—L. U. Orme, sheriff of this county, yesterday shot Dr. Rose, at Mesa, sixteen miles east of Phoenix, with a shotgun, killing him instantly.

Rose, with two confederates, had attempted to murder Dr. Williams' family, consisting of the doctor, his young wife and daughter. The latter was formerly the wife of Dr. Rose in Kansas. The confederates, Burt and Cooley, were captured and placed in jail. Burt previously gave the plot away to the sheriff, but was afraid to refuse to help execute the plans of the murderer for fear Rose would kill him.

Sheriff Orme was in Dr. Williams' bedroom awaiting the assassin, while United States Deputy Marshal Shankford remained outside to watch. A 9:30 Burt came and cut the screen and unlocked the door. At 11 o'clock he returned with Rose and entered the house. Rose had a blacksmith's hammer in his right hand, a wagon spoke in the other and a pistol in his pocket.

Two dummies had been placed in Dr. Williams' bed. Rose struck one with the hammer. Sheriff Orme said: "Hold up your hands; I am sheriff of this county, and have you covered with a double-barreled shotgun." After waiting a few seconds he again said: "I will surely shoot if you don't throw up your hands."

Rose failed to do so, and the sheriff fired both barrels, killing him.

Rose was wanted by the government for holding up mails, and also in Kansas for bank robbery. He was here six months ago, when he tried to kill his wife, but was arrested and agreed to leave the country. He had $300 and seven doses of arsenic sewed up in the waist band of his trousers.

The Fast Through Train.

New York, Oct. 29.—The New York Central Railroad company contemplates putting on a new fast train to Chicago with the intention of reducing the time of the run from twenty-five to twenty-two hours.

The train is to connect with the new fast train over the Santa Fe route to Los Angeles, which is to start on its first regular trip on Tuesday. By this eastern connection the trip from New York to Los Angeles can be made in ninety-six hours, deducting the wait of two and one-half hours at Chicago, or exactly four days.

The previous fastest long distance train in the world was the California limited of the Chicago & Northwestern and Union Pacific systems, which made the run from Chicago to San Francisco, a distance of 2,855 miles, in eighty-five hours and fifteen minutes, the average rate of speed being 33.6 miles an hour.

Portland, Ore.—The Union Pacific road will, it is said, in the near future inaugurate a service in connection with the Northwestern and Oregon Railway and Navigation company by which the time between Portland and Chicago will be shortened twelve hours. The present time from this city to Chicago is eighty-four hours, and the new service will bring this time down to seventy-two hours.

It is said a like reduction in time will be made from San Francisco to Chicago in connection with the Central Pacific.

"The Common People."

As Abraham Lincoln called them, do not care to argue about their ailments. What they need is a medicine that will cure them. The simple, honest statement, "I know that Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me," is the best argument in favor of this medicine, and this is what many thousands voluntarily say.

Hood's pills are the best after-dinner pills, assist indigestion, cure headache.

Santa Fe, New Mexico.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every Post Office in the Territory and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the south-west.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 29.

The Optic has at last caught on to the fact that Las Vegas is in a very fair way to possess a new and important railway connection.

Well, the nasty job is over with, and the New Mexican for one is glad of it. There was a good deal of stench on both sides of that Catron and Spiess affair which the supreme court got well rid of on yesterday.

Without disparaging the acts of any of the other justices who sat in the supreme court in the cause celebre just concluded, the New Mexican desires to tender to Mr. Justice Langhlin assurances of its highest consideration. Judge Langhlin is a man of strong convictions and possesses the moral courage to express them whenever in the line of duty he feels called upon to do so.

A portion of the regular army is to be mounted on bicycles and armed with either carbines or rifles. Gen. Miles thinks they will be of inestimable service wherever the wheels can be utilized. Their only weakness is the pneumatic tire. A puncture will temporarily put the bicycle warrior hors de combat. If a battle-field level enough for a charge could be found the enemy might be wise enough to sow it with tire-cutters of many sorts—tacks, for instance.

One of the most technical, able and lawyer-like papers ever read in the west was that presented before the New Mexico Bar association yesterday by the retiring president, Hon. J. G. Fitch, on the uncertainties of the law in New Mexico. He had evidently carefully reviewed the decisions of the courts on every prominent question that has been contested in the territorial courts since the organization of the territory up to date, and his learned paper was listened to with the deepest interest by those members of the bar who were present.

We learn from the Rocky Mountain News, via the editorial columns of the Albuquerque Citizen, that "Mr. Catron is and has been for years a political boss of the most odious description." This is undoubtedly true, but there is nothing particularly new about it, and we are just a little surprised to find the Citizen reproducing it at the present juncture. Perhaps it is significant as tending to show that Editor Hughes is too early growing weary of playing cat's paw to pull other people's chestnuts out of the fire.

A very complete and detailed report of the proceedings of the New Mexico Bar association appears in the news columns of the New Mexican to-day. For the citizen with a discriminating eye for names and for the attorneys having Democratic tendencies it will be seen at a glance what a change has come over this organization since it entered into the "vindicating" business. To speak frankly, it looks to a man up a tree that yesterday's session of the New Mexico Bar association was little above the dignity of a first class Republican ward meeting.

It appears now that poor Tom Hughes will have to do penance for the whole gang, the lawyer-politicians who attempt to tamper with witnesses and came very near being convicted of it, and those afflicted with the scribbler's itch and eagerly rush into print when no responsibility is involved. But the bed is of his own deliberate making. He knew it was "loaded." He knew the class of men he had to deal with, so if the Citizen is wise it will not, now that the supreme court has adjourned, undertake to work up a sentiment of false sympathy for its imprisoned editor. It had better just "saw wood" and try and live it down—if it can.

WON BY A SCRATCH.

The firm of Catron & Spiess, lawyers and politicians, had the close call of their career on yesterday, when the supreme court by a scratch dismissed the charge of subornation of perjury pending against them. The situation was grave enough for a time, though, to carry with it a lesson to these and all the lawyer-politicians. They will probably be in future much more careful how they attempt to tamper with other people's witnesses.

THE HUGHES CONTENT CASE.

"It is no secret that Neill B. Field has commonly been supposed to be the author of the libelous article from the beginning," observes the Las Vegas Optic. This may be true, but the New Mexican desires to go on record here and now as declaring its belief that Mr. Field had no hand in the affair whatever. Any one acquainted with the personal characteristics of Neill B. Field will have little difficulty in reaching the conclusion that it isn't in him to hide in ambush, behind the cover of a man who had befriended him, and permit that man to suffer punishment for wrongs not his. The whole nature of the man, his political life and his services at the bar, are against such a proposition. We believe that had Neill B. Field written the article which brought Editor Hughes before the court for contempt he would have come forward and manfully shouldered it long before the court had passed sentence on Editor Hughes.

Mr. Hughes may have confided to Mr. Fitch the information that Mr. Field was the author of the article; doubtless he did. But that is another question. The probabilities in the case very greatly favor the conclusion that Hughes realized from the start that he was in a tight hole, and he was ready to adopt any device calculated to throw the courts and the public off the trail of the real culprit, his friend, the Republican lawyer-politician who penned the libel, and for whose sake he now lies in jail, publicly disgraced, and thoroughly discredited, even by men of his own political faith. Does any sane individual think that Editor Hughes would meekly submit to this state of things to shield Neill B. Field, long his political enemy, even if he were "damned well paid for it?" We rather think not!

PRESS COMMENT.

Merely a Goldbug Trick.

It has been published throughout the country that the farmer's congress, in session at Atlanta, took action unfavorable to the free coinage of silver at the present ratio. The Fort Worth Gazette says it believed that the action of the congress had been misrepresented, and waited for the coming of papers from Atlanta to get the truth of the matter. This editorial statement by the Atlanta Constitution shows the unblushing mendacity of the dispatch purporting to give the proceedings of the farmers:

"The Farmers' national congress adopted resolutions yesterday, declaring emphatically for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, foreign bullion to pay a duty which will bring it up to the coinage value of domestic bullion. Not satisfied with this, apparently, the congress further strengthened its declaration by a resolution in favor of a double standard at the existing ratio."

The silver cause was not hard hit by the farmers, but, on the contrary, was most heartily endorsed.

The real action of the congress has been grossly misrepresented, not subtly, but by a rank, bald faced statement that the body did directly opposite.

The motive of persons who by indirection endeavor to hide the truth, believing that the facts will never come to light, can be understood. But reckless and desperate indeed is he who boldly and unblushingly misrepresents the truth, conscious that in a few hours at most it will be known, and that then his words will inevitably recoil upon him.

No intelligent and earnest reader of the resolutions adopted by the Farmers' National congress yesterday will stultify himself by asserting that they are anything but an earnest declaration for free coinage and a double standard at 16 to 1.—El Paso Times.

Science is "knowing how." The only secret about Scott's Emulsion is years of science. When made in large quantities and by improving methods, an emulsion must be more perfect than when made in the old-time way with mortar and pestle a few ounces at a time. This is why Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil never separates, keeps sweet for years, and why every spoonful is equal to every other spoonful. An even product throughout.

In other emulsions you are liable to get an uneven benefit—either an over or under dose. Get Scott's. Genuine has a salmon-colored wrapper.

The PECOS VALLEY of . . . NEW MEXICO

OFFERS unequalled advantages to the farmer, fruit grower, live stock raiser, dairyman, bee-keeper, and to the home-seeker generally.

The soil of the Pecos Valley is of high average fertility, and under irrigation produces bountiful crops of most of the grasses, grains, vegetables, berries and fruits of the temperate and some of those of the semi-tropical zone. In such fruit as the peach, pear, plum, grape, prune, apricot, nectarine, cherry, quince, etc., the Valley will dispute for the pre-eminence with California; while competent authority pronounces its upper portions in particular the finest apple country in the world.

Enormous yields of such forage crops as alfalfa, sorghum and Egyptian corn make the feeding of cattle and sheep and the raising and fattening of hogs a very profitable occupation.

The cultivation of cane-sugar—a tanning material of great value—is becoming an important industry in the Pecos Valley, a home market having been afforded for all that can be raised, at a price yielding a handsome profit.

The climate of the Pecos Valley has no superior in the United States, being pre-eminently healthful and health restoring.

Land with perpetual water-rights are for sale at low prices and on easy terms. The water supply of the Pecos Valley has no equal in all the arid region for constancy and reliability; and this with the superb climate, productive soil and the facilities afforded by the railway which extends through the Valley's entire length, will cause these lands to enjoy a constant, and at times rapid, increase in value.

The recent completion of the Pecos Valley Railway to Roswell will cause the more rapid settlement and development of the upper portions of the Valley, including the rich Fells section. The company has recently purchased many of the older improved farms about Roswell, and has now for sale lands to meet the wants of all—raw lands, partially improved lands, as well as farms with houses, orchards and fields of alfalfa and other crops. In the vicinity of Roswell several pieces of land have been divided into five and ten acre tracts, suitable for orchards and truck farms in connection with suburban homes. Certain of these tracts are being planted to orchards, and will be cultivated and cared for by the company for three years at the end of which period they will be handed over to the purchasers. Write for pamphlet fully describing the terms and conditions on which these several classes of lands are sold.

SUNBEAMS.

The young King of Spain has just witnessed his first flight. His mother, who has a horror of the Spanish national sport, had the fatal moment postponed as long as possible, but after his tenth birthday she could not prevent him from seeing a feta according to precedent. The little king viewed the fight quite ationally, and as he departed without regarding the successful matador, the Spaniards are not pleased.

Take Care! There is Danger in allowing inactivity of the kidneys to grow through neglect. The deadly shoals of Bright's disease and diabetes will wreck the goodly bark of health if it is allowed to drift carelessly upon them. The bladder, too, if inactive, and judicious medication does not speedily direct the helm toward the port of safety, will be whelmed by the blackness of disease. In selecting a diuretic, let your choice fall on Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which stimulates the renal organs without irritating and exciting them, two effects to be apprehended from the unmediated stimulant largely resorted to. These have a tendency to react prejudicially. The Bitters invigorate the kidneys and bladder, common with the nerves and the digestive organs, and so affording lasting aid. It also affords dual assistance in preventing and curing intermittent and remittent fever, Biliousness, constipation and rheumatism it also subjugates.

W. E. Curtis says that the popular music in Japan nowadays is the Sousa marches, which he heard not only among the Japanese, but in other parts of the Orient. They were down on the program wherever music was rendered, and they usually brought out an encore.

"While down in the southwestern part of the state some time ago," says Mr. W. Chalmers, editor of the Chico (Cal.) Enterprise, "I had an attack of dysentery. There is one medicine which every family should be provided with. We refer to Chamberlain's Pain Balm. When it is kept at hand a severe pain of a burn or scald may be promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine has to be sent for. A sprain may be promptly treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a cure in about one-third the time otherwise required. Cuts and bruises should receive immediate attention, before the parts become swollen, and when Chamberlain's Pain Balm is applied it will heal them without matter being formed, and without leaving a scar. A sore throat may be cured in one night. A piece of flannel damped with this liniment and bound on over the seat of pain, will cure lame back or pain in the side or chest in twenty-four hours. It is the most valuable, however, for rheumatism. Persons afflicted with this disease will be delighted with the prompt relief from pain which it affords, and it can be depended upon to effect a complete cure. For sale by A. C. Ireland, Jr.

OUTWITTED.

Have I ever been outwitted? you ask. And I respond, Of course I have. Lives there a man who has not done some foolish things in his salad days? I should like to see him. But you want the narrative, and I don't mind giving it to you. My triumphs have been many. Why should I fear to tell the world of my few failures? It was some years ago. I had just entered the force, but had shown so much skill that they had quickly made me an inspector for the Kensington district. Young as I was, I knew all the criminals in London, all the famous burglars, all the mobsters and swindlers. They knew me, too, and friendly enough we were when our relations were not business relations. We even chatted, laughed and drank together, and it was no very extraordinary occurrence when old Ben Briggs, the burglar, met me on the top of a bus in Kensington one afternoon and shook me heartily by the hand.

"What are you doing, Ben?" I asked. When he had borrowed a pipe of tobacco, he replied: "Nothin', mate—waitin' for a job." "Ha, ha! You'd like me to take a trip to Paris, eh, Ben?" "Well, I dunno as I would. Yer ain't likely to come in between me and my livin', with all yer cuteness. I tell yer what, old boss, I'm going for Bellweather's, the banker's, in a day or two, and I'll bet yer £5 yer don't cop me." The offer was astonishingly impudent. I knew well enough that Mr. Bellweather came with his family in Germany. We had been ordered to watch his house closely, as it contained a large number of treasures, and we had done so. What could be the matter with Ben to "blab" the whole thing in this way? Was he drunk? Not a bit of it! He was as sober as I was. "Toll you what, Ben," said I, after a moment's thought, "I'll bet you £5, and what's more, I'll pay squarely if I lose." "That's a go," he cried. "I'll take a week, and if the job ain't pulled off by that time I'll send yer the paper."

I was glad to get away, for it dawned on my mind that they might be about to undertake the job that, very night, Nor could I possibly divine the strange behavior of such an old hand as Ben. Jackson, who talked the job over with me, said: "Look on my boy, Bellweather's is not the house they're going for. They've got some big plant on in the neighborhood, and we must keep our eyes open. That Ben would deceive all the detectives in all the capitals, let alone a beginner!"

"Certainly," but in my own heart I thought that I was a jolly, clever fellow, and in that mood I strolled into Palace gardens and took a look at the banker's mansion. It was a fine house, carefully guarded. One manservant remained as watchman, and I took an opportunity of chatting with him, explaining that I thought an attack would be made on the place in a night or two. He laughed at my idea to scorn.

"We're shut up like a prison," said he, "and you may just sleep easy. They won't get this road."

But, knowing Ben, I thought otherwise, and I chuckled as I returned to the police station, saying to myself, "You old fool, Ben, you must be going mad in your dotage!"

Now, I had settled on a plan in my mind. I would watch Bellweather's house myself every night during that week and would take two smart fellows with me that we might thoroughly surround it. This plan I followed, watching diligently in the raw January cold for five hours every night and continuing the business for the five days of the allotted week. Nothing transpired, however. Not a soul came near the place. There were no robbers in the district. Old Ben had evidently been fooling me.

Then Mr. Bellweather invited us to sup with him, and we sat down to a good meal admirably cooked by the French valet, a silent, respectful servant, who never opened his lips, but seemed to anticipate our every want.

Supper over, the watching began, and we made a nice little party, drawing round a cozy fire on the great landing, an advantageous spot, as we could hear there any noise or attempt on the house. As for myself, I knew that I was about to make a fine haul, and, lighting a big cigar, I said:

"You old fool, Ben! Whatever were you thinking about to blab like that?" It was midnight, and all the lights in the lower part of the house were out. The French valet slept, or pretended to sleep, for we had told him to keep his ears open in the butler's pantry by the kitchen. The rest of us huddled round the fire, speaking in whispers, smoking like chimney, listening to every sound, to every moan of the wintry breeze.

"They'll try the library window for a certainty," whispered Mr. Bellweather to me as the clock struck the quarter past, but I said: "Hardly. The pantry window is the more likely." And with that we fell to listening again, and all was silence.

As I waited and watched I became anxious and still more anxious about those lower windows, and I descended the stairs twice to make sure that no one was trying the pantry, yet each time I was reassured by the appearance of the valet, who came up from below as I was about to go down, and remarked in very bad English, "Vor right." He was a faithful fellow, that valet, and he watched well.

When the hour of 3 o'clock came, we were nearly all asleep—that is to say, the rest of them were nodding in their chairs, and Mr. Bellweather was absolutely snoring. I alone was possessed of my full wakeful powers, and as the wind lulled for a moment, and the deep bell of the big clock struck the quarter past, I alone heard a faint scratching noise coming from below.

Hut, what's that?" The valet was awake in a second. His comrades pulled out their revolvers and cocked them. Mr. Bellweather went on tiptoe to the head of the stairs and listened. The scratching sound became louder and louder. We heard the splintering of wood. A sharp beat wildly. Oh, that old fool Ben!

"What's the plan?" asked one of my comrades in a whisper when we were quite sure that a door was being forced, and I said: "Let them enter and seize them as they come to the top of the stairs. I hope that valet will keep quiet."

"He'll be all right," said Mr. Bellweather under his breath, adding as if a thought came to him, "I'll slip out on to the balcony window and see what they're up to."

He had left us before I could stop him, and in another moment I heard the balcony window open. The scratching still went on, though, and just as a real crash came and the window must have been forced open the loud voice of the French valet was heard crying: "Robbetees! 'Teeves!" while the shrill sound of a policeman's whistle fell on the night air.

At that moment Mr. Bellweather returned from the balcony. "They're alarmed," he cried, "and are running for the small garden gate. After them, for your lives!"

Determined not to lose Ben at any risk, I rushed out, my comrades following me, and as we emerged we were met by two policemen, who had been watching near the house. Mr. Bellweather alone seemed able to discern the whereabouts of the robbers, and he cried loudly: "Down there by the garden gate! After them! Go along!"

The pursuit became general in an instant. The two policemen madly blew their whistles, my two comrades, swift runners, went their best pace. I found myself last of all at the end of a minute, and my companion was Mr. Bellweather. We were neither of us good runners, and he cried: "Stop! We're leaving the front of the house unguarded!"

His words were very true and worthy of a thoughtful man. I stopped instantly, gasping for breath and crying: "Come back, come back! There may be some of them out in the gardens," with which idea I turned round to run the other way, when an extraordinary thing happened. Somehow or other Mr. Bellweather's legs got mixed up with mine, and I fell heavily to the earth. At that moment a gag was shoved into my mouth and a pistol was at my head. It was held there by Mr. Bellweather.

"Move a muscle," he hissed, "and I blow your brains out!" I endeavored to rise, but he struck me heavily on the head with the pistol, and half unconscious I felt myself being bound. Then I heard the sound of wheels and knew that the robbers were being driven rapidly away, and so I lost consciousness.

They told me all about it next day. Mr. Bellweather had never returned from Germany at all. The telegram calling the man William to Dover was a false one. The thieves had entered the house in the afternoon and packed the valuables, getting them into the cart during the false chase of a supposed thief. Mr. Bellweather was a sham; his valet was Ben. And I was done! Yes, sir, done by a burglar for the first and last time in my life.—Tit-Bits.

The Art of Mosaic. The slab upon which the mosaic is made is generally of travertine, or limestone, stones connected together by iron clamps. Upon the surface of this a mastic or cementing paste is gradually spread as the progress of the work requires it, which forms the adhesive ground or bed upon which the mosaic is laid. The mastic is composed of the fine line from burned marble and finely powdered travertine stone mixed to the consistency of a paste with linseed oil. Into this paste are fixed the "smalts" of which the mosaic picture is formed.

They are a mixed species of opaque, vitrified glass, partaking of the nature of stone and glass and composed of a variety of minerals and materials, colored, for the most part, with different metallic oxides. Of these, no fewer than 1,700 different shades are in use. They are manufactured in Rome, in the form of long, slender rods like wires, of various degrees of thickness, and are cut into pieces of the requisite sizes, from the smallest pin point to an inch.

When the picture is completely finished and the cement thoroughly dried, it is highly polished. Mosaic, though an ancient art, is not merely a revived, but an improved one.—Chambers' Journal.

Healthy, happy children make better men and women of us all. A man is hardly himself until he has the development that responsibility brings. After the child comes, the father and mother both plan and promise what shall be done with it. A little care and a little planning before birth is often more important than anything that can be done after.

On the mother's health and strength depend the life and the future of the children. A weak and sickly woman cannot bear strong and healthy children.

Most of the weakness of women is utterly incurable. Proper care and proper medicine will cure almost any disorder of the feminine organism. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been tested in thirty years of practice. It is healing, soothing, strengthening. It is perfectly natural in its operation and effect. By its use, thousands of weak women have become strong and healthy—have been made the mothers of strong and healthy children. Taken during gestation, it makes childbirth easy and almost painless and insures the well being of both mother and child.

The following letter is only one of thousands of similar ones:

Mrs. FLORENCE WHITE, of Victor, N. Y., writes: "I commenced using the Favorite Prescription when half through my period of pregnancy. I used four bottles and felt like another woman. My time of labor was easy and rapid. I have a dear, strong, healthy little boy baby."

Mrs. Florence White
Dr. Pierce's celebrated book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser," will be sent free to any address on receipt of one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only. The book contains 1008 pages, profusely illustrated, and is of inestimable value to every woman. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

REWARD.

Santa Fe, New Mexico,
October 21, 1895.

Whereas, One Daniel E. Young was, in the month of October, A. D. 1895, murdered by unknown parties in the county of Union, territory of New Mexico;

And Whereas, Parties committing said murder are fugitives from justice;

Now, therefore, I, W. T. Thornton, governor of the territory of New Mexico, by virtue of the authority in me vested, do hereby offer a reward in the sum of two hundred ($200) dollars each for the arrest and conviction of the parties guilty of this murder, said reward to be payable out of any moneys in the territorial treasury appropriated for rewards.

Dated at the executive office this 21st day of October, 1895.
Witness my hand and the great seal of the territory of New Mexico.
W. T. THORNTON,
Governor of New Mexico.

By the Governor:
LOUIS MILLER,
Secretary of New Mexico.

It is a truth in medicine that the smallest dose that performs a cure is the best. Dr. Witt's Little Early Riser are the smallest pills will perform a cure, and are the best. Newton's Drug Store.

Notice of Administration.
Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, have been appointed, by the honorable probate court of San Miguel county, administrator of the estate of Robert H. Longwill, deceased, and duly qualified as such.

All persons having any claims against said estate are therefore required to present the same within the time prescribed by law.
LOUIS SULZBACHER,
Administrator.

New Fast California Train.
On October 29 the Santa Fe Route will inaugurate new and strictly limited first-class service to Southern California.

The California Limited will leave Chicago at 6:00 p. m. daily, reaching Los Angeles in three days and San Francisco in three and one-half days, a saving of half a day. Time from this station correspondingly reduced.

Equipment will consist of superb new vestibuled Pullman palace and compartment sleepers, chair car and dining car, through to Los Angeles without change. This will be the fastest and most luxurious service via any line to California. Another daily train will carry through palace sleeper and tourist sleeper to San Francisco and tourist sleeper to Los Angeles, as at present.

For full particulars inquire of local agent Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R. R.

LAWYER-POLITICIANS' JUNTA

Transactions of an Alleged Meeting of the New Mexico Bar Association Yesterday Afternoon.

THOMAS BENTON CATRON VINDICATED

What Judge Collier Said in Dismissing Proceedings Against Catron and Spiess—Judge Laughlin will Hand Down a Dissenting Opinion—Last Night's Love Feast.

Immediately after the adjournment of the territorial supreme court, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the adjourned session of the New Mexico Bar association opened with President J. G. Fitch in the chair and Secretary E. L. Bartlett at the desk.

The following is a list of those in attendance upon the meeting: T. B. Catron, C. A. Spiess, F. W. Clancy, E. L. Bartlett, R. E. Twitchell, A. L. Morrison, L. G. Read, H. S. Clancy, William Breiden, W. J. Eaton, L. Bradford Prince, R. C. Gortner, Geo. W. Knebel, Fernando Nolan, Max Frost, W. M. Berger, Neil B. Field, W. S. Williams, Frank Springer, Silas Alexander, W. D. Lee, J. R. McFie, A. A. Freeman, Miguel Salazar, L. C. Fort, Jerry Leahy, S. B. Newcomb, W. H. H. Llewellyn and J. G. Fitch, all being avowed Republicans except Messrs. Field, Knebel and the retiring president. During the meeting several Democratic lawyers dropped in for a few moments, but took no part and soon disappeared.

After the reading of the minutes of the late meeting at Albuquerque, the chair announced that the first business in order was the election of officers for the ensuing year.

A ballot for president resulted as follows: T. B. Catron, 24; Geo. W. Knebel, 1.

Upon taking the chair, Mr. Catron briefly tendered his thanks for the honor conferred upon him. Referring to the trying ordeal through which he had just passed and the vindication he had received at the hands of the supreme court, he indicated that this election to the presidency of the bar association was more gratifying to him than the vindication of the court. He spoke of the high duties and responsibilities of the lawyer and paid a general tribute to the bar of New Mexico.

Vice presidents were then elected by practically unanimous votes as follows: First district, L. Bradford Prince; 2d district, W. D. Lee; 3d district, J. R. McFie; 4th district, W. C. Wrigley; 5th district, A. Freeman.

Gen. Bartlett was unanimously re-elected secretary.

Mr. E. A. Fiske, who had been treasurer of the association since its organization, was abruptly turned down, and Adjutant General Knebel was duly elected treasurer.

In this connection the reporter heard one or two members remark that Mr. Fiske must not be re-elected on account of the evidence he had given in the late trial of Catron and Spiess and these observations clearly voiced the sentiment of the meeting.

Delegates to the American Bar association were elected as follows: Messrs. Field, Newcomb and Fort.

Delegates to the National Bar association: Messrs. Twitchell, Springer and Richardson.

The appointment of standing committees was left to the president, with the understanding that they would be passed to the secretary in time for printing in the proceedings.

At this juncture Mr. Field moved a reconsideration of the vote whereby he had been elected one of the delegates to the American Bar association convention and moved the election of Mr. A. A. Jones, of Las Vegas, to fill the vacancy thereby sought to be created.

The point of order was made that, as Mr. Field undoubtedly did not vote for himself, he could not move a reconsideration.

The chair suggested that the orderly way would be for Mr. Field to decline and then his place could be filled.

Mr. Field said that he did not wish it to appear that he had declined. "For obvious reasons," the gentleman continued, "I wish it to appear that the vote was reconsidered and Mr. Jones elected."

By unanimous consent Mr. Field's suggestion prevailed and Mr. Jones was declared elected.

Mr. J. G. Fitch, the retiring president, then delivered a thoughtful and learned address on "The Uncertainties of the Law," which, on motion of Mr. Springer, was ordered printed.

The secretary read a beautifully written and touching biographical sketch of the late Columbus Moise, prepared by Judge Salzbacher, which was ordered printed.

After some discussion, it was decided to restore the clause in the original constitution providing for holding the annual meetings of the association at the capital at the time and place fixed for the meeting of the supreme court.

The retiring president made inquiry whether the $200 appropriated for defraying the expenses of the association at Albuquerque had been paid, and, upon being informed that the money had not been paid, suggested that the new treasurer should give the matter attention.

Mr. Clancy said that the bills for the entertainment of the association at Albuquerque had not been presented to the association, nor would they be presented, nor would the money be accepted if tendered.

Judge McFie and Gen. Bartlett both urged that the money be offered. The latter thought that the forty-five members who voted for the appropriation in good faith should not be held responsible for the uncalculated and wicked remarks of a few.

After further explanatory remarks by Judge Freeman and Messrs. Field and Clancy, it was decided to make a tender of the money to pay for the Albuquerque banquet, etc.

The association thereupon adjourned without a day.

The following is a list of those in attendance upon the meeting: T. B. Catron, C. A. Spiess, F. W. Clancy, E. L. Bartlett, R. E. Twitchell, A. L. Morrison, L. G. Read, H. S. Clancy, William Breiden, W. J. Eaton, L. Bradford Prince, R. C. Gortner, Geo. W. Knebel, Fernando Nolan, Max Frost, W. M. Berger, Neil B. Field, W. S. Williams, Frank Springer, Silas Alexander, W. D. Lee, J. R. McFie, A. A. Freeman, Miguel Salazar, L. C. Fort, Jerry Leahy, S. B. Newcomb, W. H. H. Llewellyn and J. G. Fitch, all being avowed Republicans except Messrs. Field, Knebel and the retiring president. During the meeting several Democratic lawyers dropped in for a few moments, but took no part and soon disappeared.

A CATRONIST LOVE FEAST.

Naturally there was a great deal of rejoicing in the Catronist camp last evening. A number of people, including several ladies, assembled at the Catron mansion early in the evening to offer congratulations, and a quiet little time was passed when Judge A. L. Morrison, the astute tin-plate orator and supposed to be chief organizer for the McKinley bureau, accompanied by a small following and a brass band, appeared upon the scene. In the party were also Judge John R. McFie and "Lawyer" Llewellyn, representing the Los Cruces colonists. The band serenaded several times, playing "Marching Through Georgia" and "The Wild Man of Borneo Has Just Come to Town," and then liquid refreshments were indulged in. There were cries for a speech, when Mr. Catron came to the front with an official analysis of the character of citizenship which he represented. He also dug into Judge Laughlin, and insinuated that he was just as good as the judge, and closed by expressing regret that Judge Laughlin couldn't have joined in making the decision of the court unanimous. Judge McFie, forgetting for the time-being his former associations with the anti-Catron crowd, made a milk and water talk, with Lawyer Llewellyn near at hand to lend dignity to his remarks, and Judge Morrison and one Boss also made some remarks. They in turn were followed by Barrister Spiess, who didn't, he said, care a god darn about the action of the supreme court, one way or the other, but was touched to the core "by this significant uprising of the masses," or words to that effect. Then there was another season of refreshments and "the masses" dispersed.

DISMISSAL OF THE CATRON CASE.

In dismissing the proceedings in the supreme court yesterday afternoon Associate Justice Collier said:

In the matter of the proceedings against Thomas B. Catron and Chas. A. Spiess, which were conducted in this court by a committee appointed by the court, the court has reached a conclusion by three of the justices, stating that the proceedings should be dismissed, or as it may be more proper to state or present it, that the respondents are found not guilty. From this conclusion Justice Laughlin dissents as to both the respondents. The court is not prepared to state in detail the reasons which have induced it to this conclusion, except to say in general terms, that there was only one witness in support of the charges whose character was not in some degree impeached. He is as to that specification, the court finds that the testimony does not support it. Others of the witnesses were impeached generally, and the committee sought to support the character of one of the witnesses by other testimony. The court is unwilling, however, to adjudge the respondents guilty generally upon the character of testimony that has been produced, if for no other reason than that all the testimony in support of the charges and specifications admits somewhat of explanation, and that the respondents have sought to explain these charges and have been successful, at least to the degree that the court is not willing to find that they have been guilty, or either of them, of unprofessional conduct. The opinion embodying at large the views of the court will be filed hereafter, neither of the justices having had the time or opportunity to go over the matter of testimony that was submitted to them in such a way as would enable them to prepare and produce here upon this occasion such an opinion as the importance of the questions presented require. I am, however, directed to state that there are many matters occurring in the course of the trial in the court below and subsequent to the filing of the charges in this court that this court believe deserve severe comment, and these strictures or comment will be set forth at large in the opinion of the court hereafter to be filed. It is a delicate matter to attempt to state a rule as to how far counsel should go in defense of their clients, or how far counsel should have gone since these charges were initiated in this court, and I would not attempt the precise language that should be employed in stating such matter. But the conduct of the court is announced by three of the justices, that the respondents are found not guilty, Justice Laughlin dissenting to the conclusion of the court as to both of the respondents.

In behalf of his clients and associates in the defense, Mr. Springer thanked the court for the patience and ability it had displayed during the long hearing.

An adjournment was then ordered until December 19, 1895, at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Meanwhile Judge Laughlin will prepare his dissenting opinion in the Catron and Spiess case and hand the same down at the December meeting of the court.

MOMENTOUS POINTS.

The U. S. Trust Company's Demand for Sale of the A. & P. to Come Before Judge Collier on Saturday.

The Atlantic & Pacific railroad case, involving the neat little sum of $16,500,000, comes on again for hearing before Judge Collier at Albuquerque on Saturday next. The title of the case is the United States Trust Company vs. the A. & P. Railroad Company, et al. The trust company has filed exceptions to defendant's answer in the former suit, on the ground that said answer does not pertain to the real matters at issue. Arguments are to be heard on this point. Among the attorneys engaged are S. D. Keena, L. F. Parker, Robert Dunlap, H. L. Waldo and Judge Sterry for the railroad; F. M. Jennings, of New York, and N. B. Field for the trust company.

The court's decision on these exceptions will practically determine whether or not there will be an immediate sale under foreclosure of the A. & P. road to satisfy the first mortgage bondholders represented by the U. S. Trust company. If the sale is ordered doubtless this interest will see to it that the price will reach somewhere near $16,500,000, which would give them par value for bonds they bought at a song and permit them to make a pile of money out of the transaction. Naturally the Santa Fe wants the A. & P., but is hardly prepared to pay $16,500,000 for it. Should the road be any hook or crook fall into hands other than the Santa Fe, the latter road would be forced to fall back on its reorganization committee's plan and float $20,000,000 of new bonds to build an independent line from the Rio Grande to the Pacific coast. Thus great questions are involved which are attracting wide attention.

New Railroad Projects.

The Optic has received information that a new railroad project, which will be of great advantage to Las Vegas, is being quietly pushed. The proposed line will run from Trinidad over Chichen creek to Blossburg, down that canon to Raton, thence along the foot hills to Cimarron, up Cimarron canon to the Merino valley, down the valley toward Black lakes, then down the most feasible route to the Mora valley, then by the best route to Las Vegas. This line will also run feeders to the new mining camps on the Maxwell grant. It will also run through the new agricultural lands in the Vermejo ditch system and tap the Mora valley trade. It, with any line running from Trinidad to Denver, would be shorter than the proposed short line from Denver to New Mexico. Several prominent men in Raton, Trinidad and Denver are connected with it.—Las Vegas Optic.

We have an excellent line of ladies', children's and men's shoes at lower prices than any shoe shop in town. Gusdorf & Dolan.

NEW MEXICO NEWS.

H. K. Tharber, of the lower Pecos country, has bought a valuable gold mine in Idaho.

I. S. Osborne has 800 hogs of all ages and sizes on Hagerman Heights, in Eddy county.

The rumor is current and seemingly well-founded that work will begin on the railroad from El Paso to the Salado coal fields within the next thirty days. Our Nogal correspondent says the completion of the road by July 1, 1896, is an assured fact.—Lincoln News.

Manager Raley says that there are now 900 thoroughbred hogs and pigs on the Bolles farm. Shipments will begin in January, 600 going to market before summer comes. The youngsters will be carried over until fall. Some of the other hog farmers will ship within a few weeks.—Eddy Argus.

No more important enterprise as affecting the prosperity of our city has been projected for years than that being pushed by the Lead avenue Methodist church. It is nothing less than the erection of a $10,000 brick church upon the site of the present edifice. No church deserves more at the hands of the general public than the Methodist. It was the first church represented in New Albuquerque by a pastor, and the first to begin the erection of a building.—Albuquerque Citizen.

Nothing so distressing as a hacking cough. Nothing so foolish as to suffer from it. Nothing so dangerous if allowed to continue. One Minute Cough Cure gives immediate relief. Newton's drug store.

Besides giving you lower prices than any other house in the city on all classes of goods, we give you a rebate of 10 per cent redeemable in the
