All hardware is a sight to see and the only kind to buy. To see such hardware you must go where it is, our store for example. We have no use for any other kind. The service and value to be had from poor hardware is so small that it is dear even when cheap. An A1 article that costs a dollar is cheaper than a poor one at a quarter, that must be bought over half a dozen times to give the same service. It is what our goods are worth that makes them low priced.

DISMEMBERMENT PROBABLE

The Powers Are Becoming Weary of the Defiant Insolence of Turkey.

A NAVAL DEMONSTRATION THREATENED

Turkish Outrages Upon the Armenians More Awful than Previously Reported—Ten Thousand Men, Women and Children Slain.

London, Nov. 11.—A Constantinople dispatch says:

In the best informed circles here the situation is regarded as decidedly critical, and important developments are expected within a short time. The Turkish troops are being concentrated at Masah for an advance on Zaitoun, as soon as the military preparations are completed. Further private reports received here from Diabekir estimate the number of Armenian victims of the recent massacres at 5,000. It is believed the number is in excess of the actual total of those killed, but there seems to be no doubt that the victims are numbered by the thousands.

"It would be as difficult," says the Times correspondent, "to conceive the condition of mind which brought the sultan to appoint such a deplorable cabinet or to describe the consternation it has produced everywhere."

DISMEMBERMENT OF TURKEY PROPOSED.

A dispatch to the Chronicle from Rome says the Sciorri Del Mattino of Naples has advised to the effect that the Marquis of Salisbury has confidentially proposed to the powers the dismemberment of Turkey.

A Berlin dispatch to the Chronicle says the Vossische Zeitung has news from Bucharest that French massacres have been carried in the Village of Erzeroum, and that many villages have been burned and pillaged and enormous numbers killed.

A dispatch to the Times from Rome, referring to the gravity of the Turkish affairs, says that Italy is in perfect accord with England, and that the Italian fleet is ready to co-operate with the English fleet wherever the interest of European peace may need it.

PREPARED TO COPE WITH ANY EMERGENCY.

Paris.—The Figaro announces that three French war ships have left Cannes for Turkish waters, prepared to cope with any emergency.

PROMOTED FOR CRUELTY.

Constantinople.—It is stated that Bahri Pasha, who was dismissed from the government owing to his ill-treatment of the Armenians, on the representations of the British ambassador, Sir Philip Currie, and who on Saturday was decorated by the sultan with the grand cordon of the Osmanli order, "as a reward for good service," is to be appointed to the command of the Turkish troops going to Zaitoun.

LATER REPORTS INCREASE NUMBER OF SLAIN.

It is estimated that the total number of Armenians, men, women and children, killed during all the recent massacres exceeds 10,000.

As a result of the exchange of numerous telegrams between the representatives of the powers and the respective governments, an important meeting of ambassadors was held and the situation was thoroughly discussed to-day.

THE POWERS INSIST.

Finally it was decided to send fresh representations to the Turkish minister of foreign affairs, Tewfik Pasha, insisting upon being informed without further delay what measures the portocomplantes taking to restore order in Armenia, and reminding the Turkish government that it already has been notified of the powers, acting in concert, to take their own steps in the matter should it develop that the action of the portocomplantes to deal with the state of anarchy prevailing in Antolia.

NAVAL DEMONSTRATION THREATENED.

The opinion is freely expressed that nothing but a naval demonstration will bring Turkey to a realization of the actual condition of affairs.

STUART ON THE BRAVO.

The Physical Culture Champion Talking Fight to the El Paso Sports.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 11.—

Don Stuart arrived here Saturday night from Dallas, and in reply to inquiries from reporters said: "For the present I have nothing to say for publication but in two or three days I will have a proposition to make that will bring Corbett and Fitzsimmons together if they want to fight. I will be in El Paso for five or six days, and within that time will be able to give you something of interest to the sporting world, but just now publication would prove harmful to my own interest. Too much talk ruined things for me before."

Stuart says he believes that Corbett and Fitzsimmons want to fight and he hopes to be instrumental in bringing them to El Paso.

London, Nov. 11.—The St. James Gazette this afternoon says that it is not surprised that Lord Dunraven's pamphlet raised a storm of indignation in America, adding: "His charge of foul play is entirely gratuitous. It is totally unworthy of any good sportsman to make such a charge now, when no inquiry is possible and it is exceedingly discreditable."

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 11.—The "bean king," William Lamoreaux, committed suicide on Sunday in a fit of despondency by shooting himself in the head. A stroke of apoplexy, last summer, affected his mind.

LONDON STOCK MARKET.

Speech of the Marquis of Salisbury Had a Reassuring Effect on the Market.

London, Nov. 11.—The stock market opened strong this morning, the speech of the Marquis of Salisbury, at the lord mayor's banquet on Saturday, having had a reassuring effect. Prices were better to-day in all departments. The recovery would have been more marked but for the anxiety regarding the coming settlement. The accounts of a firm interested in 60,000 kafir shares are being closed. Some others, mostly small, will, it is feared, succumb.

SITUATION IMPROVED AT PARIS.

Paris.—The Rappell this morning says that the great financial houses have decided to place at the disposal of the market from 50,000,000 to 100,000,000 francs to facilitate settlements. The speech of the Marquis of Salisbury, delivered in London on Saturday, had a good effect here.

VIEWS OF SENATOR DUBOIS

The Idaho Senator Thinks that the Republicans will Reorganize the Senate.

DEPENDS UPON THE TWO UTAH SENATORS

Declares that Western Republicans will Insist on a Duty on Wool as a Condition of Supporting Any Other Tariff Legislation.

Salt Lake, Nov. 11.—Senator Dubois, of Idaho, stopped here to-day on his way to Washington. He said: "If Utah elects two Republican senators the Republicans will organize the senate. I don't anticipate any attempt toward reorganization until the Utah senators are elected and reach Washington. If Senators Jones, of Nevada, and Butler, of South Carolina, will go into the Republican caucus, it will immediately put the Republicans in a position to organize the senate. I am certain that neither party will enter into a combination with the Populists. The Republican senators from this district will insist that there should be a duty on wool, as condition of any support that may be given eastern senators in any tariff legislation affecting that section. In my judgment there will be no tariff legislation at this session that does not carry a duty on wool."

The Cures

By Hood's Sarsaparilla are wonderful, but the explanation is simple. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood, and disease cannot resist its powerful curative powers. Read this: "My girl had hip disease when five years old. She was confined to her bed and for six or seven weeks the doctor applied weights to the affected limb. When she got up she was unable to walk, had lost all her strength and day by day she became thinner. I read of a cure of a similar case by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and decided to give it to Lillian. When she had taken one bottle it had effected so much good that I kept on giving it to her until she had taken three bottles. Her appetite was then excellent and she was well and strong. She has not used crutches for eight months and walks to school every day. I cannot say too much for Hood's Sarsaparilla."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

It is a splendid medicine and I would recommend it to any one." Mrs. G. A. Rose, Oroville, California.

NEW MEXICO NEWS.

Postmaster Skelly, of Silver City, is about again after his serious illness.

A chicken ranch is to be started a few miles west of Springer. The stock on hand at the start will be 5,000 chickens.

Jesse M. Wheeler, one of Albuquerque's pioneers and out-spoken citizens, has decided on a business change which will take him away from Albuquerque.

Several thousand acres of prairie land were burned over a few miles west of Springer last week. No damage was done other than the consuming of several miles of fence.

The territorial grand jury at Albuquerque reported six true bills, five of which are as follows: Two indictments each against Pedro Garcia and his pal, Felix Apodaca, for murder, and one against James Dillon, for burglary.

The West Texas Press association will meet at Big Springs on the first Saturday in December. Secretary Harry announced that there will probably be an excursion to Eddy and Roswell. The newspaper boys of Texas will find many friends and a hearty welcome in the Pecos valley.—Eddy Argus.

The ladies of the Public Library association at Albuquerque have arranged with an eastern bureau for an entertainment course, representing attraction of unquestioned merit and reputation for the season 1895-96, the first attraction to appear on November 29. The course will consist of six entertainments of a highly entertaining character.

The San Marcial roller mills are running regularly, grinding both native and Kansas wheat. Of the former considerable quantities are being received. There is on hand in the warehouses about twenty carloads of flour, feed, etc. A new bolter for the grinding of corn will be put in next week to replace the old style burr temporarily in use.

A. C. Clawson, H. S. Davis, Joseph Kalina, J. E. Bryan, Nat Young and Geo. Bergman, of the Ellsworth, Kansas Land & Cattle company, were in the city the early part of the week and purchased from H. M. Porter, our cattleman, 8,000 head of cattle, which they shipped to Ellsworth on Thursday last. Mr. Davis, secretary of this company, informs us that on their lands they raised this year 400 acres of wheat, 1,200 acres of corn, 400 acres of sorghum, 120 acres of alfalfa and about 1,500 head of hogs, which shows that this is quite an extensive company.—Springer Stockman.

Sheriff Hilario Romero arrived from Rowe station on the early morning train, having in custody and lodging in jail one Santiago Bles, who perhaps fatally shot Catarino Gonzales, while riding along the road together out from that place, he having been bound over to the grand jury at Rowe, last night. The two had been drinking, and whiskey is thought to be at the bottom of the difficulty, though Gonzales insists that it is a case of premeditated murder. The man is badly wounded, the ball entering near the left ear and passing entirely through the head. He was brought to this city for medical attendance and the chances for recovery seem to be against him.—Las Vegas Optic.

FAITH IN THE HEALER.

The Wonderful Man Will Soon Go Into Retirement—Can Not Answer His Letters—Constantly Surrounded by Persons Wanting Treatment.

Denver, Nov. 11.—Francis Schlader, the healer, will bring his public labors in Denver to a close next Friday. Then he will go into another retreat for an indefinite period.

He has received over 50,000 letters, which he will not attempt to answer, but he will bless all handkerchiefs sent to him. The throng seeking treatment from him to-day is larger than ever.

The Union Pacific has a special train from Omaha for the free use of its employees and their families, which brought 250 afflicted people to the city. Over fifty also came in on the Fort Worth road.

FAR-REACHING OPINION.

An Arizona Judge Makes Up County Affairs—Limitation of Legislative Authority.

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 11.—Judge Baker has rendered a decision that is the most important known in Arizona. It was on an appeal to the district court of a suit of T. C. Jordan, territorial commissioner of immigration for Maricopa county, against the county for one month's salary, $50. The immigration commissioner act was the special act of Gov. Hughes in the last legislature. It provided for twelve commissioners, one in each county, to be appointed by the governor for the duty of compiling and distributing information calculated to aid in attracting settlers and capital. To the position for the most part were appointed the editors of newspapers at the county seats. The salary of each was $600 a year with an allowance of $1,600 for printing. The decision is founded on one of the supreme court of the United States in Lewis vs. Pima county, and declares the act unconstitutional and void, that the counties can only appropriate funds for the actual running expenses and that the legislature can not compel them by act to do otherwise. This will not only cut off all outside expenditures that heretofore have aggregated thousands of dollars per annum in each of the counties of Arizona, but makes illegal and valueless a number of Arizona issues of bonds in aid of railways especially, involving nearly half a million of dollars.

EXCEPTIONS SUSTAINED.

Important Decision of Judge Collier in Atlantic & Pacific Foreclosure Case.

Albuquerque, Nov. 11.—Judge Collier to-day sustained the exceptions filed by the United States Trust company, of New York, to the answers of the defendants in the Atlantic & Pacific railroad foreclosure case, thus striking out of these answers all the allegations attacking the right of the complainants to have an immediate decree of foreclosure of the first mortgage. An early decree and sale will be the result.

SHOES

Men, women and children can always find prize shoes in our stock. There's nothing gained by wearing inferior footwear. No one ever saves money by doing so. There isn't enough wear in a poor shoe to make it worth while to wear it. Attempting to make a poor shoe pass for a good one is like trying to make a quarter pass for a dollar; it can't be done. Our shoes are up to date in style, handsome in shape and appearance, first class in quality, and low in price. As good a shoe as ours would cost you more anywhere else. Come and see for yourself.

New Mexican Printing Co.,
Santa Fe, New Mexico.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every Post Office in the Territory and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the southwest.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 11.

The Santa Fe lawyer-politicians continue to supply the San Marcial Bee with editorial honey. The Bee should remember Editor Hughes' fate and beware.

Brice has come out in the open and declared his conviction that a Republican president will be elected in 1896. That's where Brice stands. Gold bugs of a feather flock together. "Two birds on a bough," as Dr. Parkhurst would say.

The D. & R. G. railroad company has granted liberal concessions to the fruit growers of San Juan county in the way of freight and express rates. The people up there want about it in the right way. They sent a representative to headquarters to talk it over in a practical business-like way. Perhaps other communities in the territory can learn a lesson from the success which has attended the efforts of San Juan county.

We hope the newspapers published in and near the mining districts throughout New Mexico will take note of the budding mining boom in Colorado and bestir themselves to gather and print the news relating to the mines in their respective localities. The New Mexican would suggest that there be a general revival all along the line in this matter, and if correspondents in the several camps will send us facts we shall be glad to print them and thus assist in attracting all possible attention to our splendid mineral resources. Let the press of New Mexico lift the mining industry out of the slough of despond, just as the press of Colorado is now doing. It is advertising that pays.

"THE NEW MEXICAN seems to be worried over a congressional investigation, and well it may,"—Socorro Chieftain. Why, bless your soul, Windy, that investigation doesn't worry the New Mexican nor its friends in the least. How did you ever get such an idea? We should, for the good of New Mexico and the possible effect it would have on our statehood aspirations, regret such a move. But if it comes the New Mexican will dig a little into history in order that the committee's report shall not be entirely one-sided and partisan. Plenty of facts in sight to make it extremely interesting for some people. But we can tell the Chieftain right now that there'll be no "investigation." The Republicans in and out of congress would not dare enter upon such a task, for they know they have much to lose and nothing to gain.

JUDGE H. B. HAMILTON, associate justice of the New Mexico supreme court, and at present presiding judge in Las Vegas, will soon hand to the Optic for publication the opinion of a majority of the supreme court, handed down by him in the Catron-Spiess disbarment cases over in Santa Fe at its recent sitting.—Las Vegas Optic. Our esteemed contemporary at the Meadow city, doubtless unintentionally, made a misleading statement in the paragraph quoted. The opinion of a majority of the supreme court in the Catron-Spiess disbarment proceedings was not handed down at the recent sitting of the court. Simply the decree of a majority of the court dismissing the proceedings was then announced by Acting Chief Justice Collier, accompanied by the statement that "the opinion embodying at large the views of the court will be filed hereafter." Judge Hamilton did at that time, however, give quite a lengthy expression of his views in the premises, partly written and partly oral, and that is doubtless what will be handed to the Optic for publication.

THE LESSON FOR DEMOCRACY.

The result of the elections this week in New York, Kentucky, Ohio and Maryland carries with it a lesson for all Democrats, and one that is particularly applicable to the party in New Mexico. Factional differences, the subversion of party welfare to personal feelings, have brought disaster to the party of the people so repeatedly of late that this latest lesson should be taken to heart and heeded by every man claiming to follow the underlying principles promulgated by Jefferson. In the midst of defeat is the best time for us to consider these things. The party must be gotten together and held together for the common good of all the people. On this timely subject we are gratified to be able to reproduce the following sensible article from the Roswell Record:

To our mind the only hope for the prosperity of New Mexico lies in the supremacy of the Democratic party, both in the country at large and at home. By strict adherence to Democratic principles in our party organization we can court New Mexico safely Democratic, and when our star of statehood is added to the galaxy, we can assist in the perpetuation of Democratic principles in the conduct of federal affairs. One principle of Democracy, occasionally overlooked, is the subordination of personal aspirations to the well-being of the party. We are confronted with a political enemy alive to every opportunity, desperate, not to say reckless as to methods, on the alert and ready to augment every schism and widen every breach in the ranks of our party. Unless we can relegate dissensions to the rear, and come with a united front, that enemy is liable to wrest the banner of victory from our hands. It is true that the delegateship is the only office in the gift of the people in the entire territory, but a wise or injudicious selection of a candidate for that office promotes or impedes the candidacy of every other nominee in the territory. The delegate is the party standard bearer to whose banner all true party men flock. Within the Democracy of this territory there are a score of men worthy in all respects, to be entrusted with the leadership—men who would represent the territory in the federal congress with honor to the territory and credit to themselves. While each and every one of these Democrats are worthy and capable, not all of them are available in this, that they do not all possess the personal popularity necessary to defeat the Republican nominee. There is a large element in New Mexico, as in every commonwealth in the union, wholly devoid of politics. It votes simply for the man. It therefore behooves the Democracy of this territory to bury all jealousies and nominate our candidate for delegate that Democrat who combines fitness with personal popularity. It would be premature at this time for us to suggest who the candidate should be, but it is not premature to begin to cast about us for the right man.

PRESS COMMENT.

Cattle-fish Journalism.

There is a style of journalism along the valley of the Rio Grande which flourishes beyond the growth of other sections. It is of a parasitical nature without means of maintenance in itself, but drawing its support from the main source. It is so dependent upon the life of another that, like the hideous cattle-fish at the approach of its enemy, it emits its inky ooze and thus obscures its existence in the troubled waters of politics. It is not necessary to designate the species or to give its nomenclature. It haunts the valley of the Rio Grande even to the north of Albuquerque, making periodical visits to Santa Fe in search of more sustenance. It is not unlike the leech in its blood-sucking characteristics and much resembles the sponge from its capacity to absorb and to distend itself, and yet in spite of its repulsiveness it is absolutely harmless and is peculiar in its fondness for adhering to its own species. It makes its permanent abode at Las Cruces, San Marcial, Socorro and Albuquerque, but temporarily haunts other corners of the New Mexican pool.—Albuquerque Democrat.

Good and Timely Advice.

It is to be hoped the acrimonious political arguments and vindictive political quarrels, which have permeated the atmosphere of the territory, entering into and obstructing business relations between individuals and even contaminating to a certain extent the sanctity of our courts of justice, will now come to an end. Any American who will not take an active part in the politics of the country is not fulfilling his duty as an American citizen. But it is not necessary that politics should be carried into our social and business relations. Let us have short but active campaigns. Your political opinion is entitled to as much consideration as ours; concede us the same courtesy which we extend to you. While attending to politics let us each and every one go at it with a vim, enunciating, avowing and proclaiming what we believe to be the best political policy for our common country. This is a part and parcel of patriotism; it is a duty every American owes to the continued maintenance of that freedom which he enjoys. Let us fight our political battles with conscientious earnestness and with all the vigor at our command, during the campaign and on election day. But when election day is over, let there be no political animosity treasured, the political victor gets the spoil, it should be his and welcome to it. Ignore politics in business and social relations. These frequent vindictive political quarrels have been a curse to New Mexico, let them cease from this time forward and we will all be profited thereby.—Silver City Enterprise.

unfortunate

Cod-liver oil suggests consumption, which is almost unfortunate.

Its best use is before you fear consumption; when you begin to get thin, weak, run down; then is the prudent time to begin to take care, and the best way to take care is to supply the system with needed fat and strength. Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, will bring back plumpness to those who have lost it, and make strength where raw cod-liver oil would be a burden.

A substitute only imitates the original.

The PECOS VALLEY of . . . NEW MEXICO

OFFERS unequalled advantages to the farmer, fruit grower, live stock raiser, dairyman, bee-keeper, and to the home-seeker generally.

The soil of the Pecos Valley is of high average fertility, and under irrigation produces bountiful crops of most of the grasses, grains, vegetables, berries and fruits of the temperate and some of those of the semi-tropical zone. In such fruit as the peach, pear, plum, grape, prune, apricot, nectarine, cherry, quince, etc., the Valley will dispute for the pre-eminence with California; while competent authority pronounces its upper portions in particular the best apple country in the world.

Enormous yields of such forage crops as alfalfa, sorghum and Egyptian corn make the feeding of cattle and sheep and the raising and fattening of hogs a very profitable occupation.

The cultivation of tannin—a tanning material of great value—is becoming an important industry in the Pecos Valley, a home market having been afforded for all that can be raised, at a price yielding a handsome profit.

The climate of the Pecos Valley has no superior in the United States, being pre-eminently healthful and health restoring.

Lands with perpetual water-rights are for sale at low prices and on easy terms. The water supply of the Pecos Valley has no equal in all the arid region for constancy and reliability; and this with the superb climate, productive soil and the facilities afforded by the railway which extends through the Valley's entire length, will cause these lands to enjoy a constant, and at times rapid, increase in value.

The recent completion of the Pecos Valley Railway to Roswell will cause the more rapid settlement and development of the upper portions of the Valley, including the rich Pecos section. The company has recently purchased many of the older improved farms about Roswell, and has now for sale lands to meet the wants of all—raw lands, partially improved lands, as well as farms with houses, orchards and fields of alfalfa and other crops. In the vicinity of Roswell several pieces of land have been divided into five and ten acre tracts, suitable for orchards and truck farms in connection with suburban homes. Certain of these tracts are being planted to orchards, and will be cultivated and cared for by the company for three years at the end of which period they will be handed over to the purchasers. Write for pamphlet fully describing the terms and conditions on which these several classes of tracts are sold.

SUNBEAMS.

The little maid,
With eyes of brown,
Now twines the wool
From Germantown
In grotesque bags
Of red and blue
And calls them shoes,
Prepared for you.

Nor be ye sad,
Nor overwied;
Ye cannot wear
The things abroad;
Yet still the shapes,
All knit and seamed,
Will fifty cost
You, at the least!

Mrs. W. B. Meek, who resides at Camp-for several years troubled at times with severe cramps in the stomach, and would be in such agony that it was necessary to call in a physician. Having read about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diar-

She found that it always gave prompt relief. It was seldom necessary to give the second dose. "It has not only saved us lots of worry and time," she says, "but also doctor bill. It is my opinion that every family should have a bottle of this remedy in the house." For sale by Ire-

INSTRUCTIVE.

An Incident in the Lives of Some Bicycle Riders.

It was an instructive incident, showing that the bicycle, like death, equalizes all men, and even the difficult task, all women. The members of the household and their guests were seated on the piazza enjoying the rest that comes between afternoon tennis and tea. They were all sprick and span as to attire. The white and blue flannels of the men and the organizes of the girls were perfect in their way, while nothing more placidly correct than the gray silk of the gray haired mistress of the house is ever seen, even in that placidly correct suburb.

Suddenly there appeared upon the scene
a group of the most diametrically opposed class. There were two men, sunburned, bearded to an unbefitting and untidy degree, dusty, dirty, torn and disreputable looking. Behind them trailed three dejected looking women, who formed admirable companion pieces to them, so dirty, torn, burned, worn and disheveled were they. They all advanced timidously toward the piazza group, and the group surveyed them with suspicion and disdain.
Were they tramps or gypsies? At any rate, they were "thoroughly disreputable looking customers," as one of the household party remarked audibly.

The less impossible looking of the two men addressed the house party.

"Beg pardon," said he, lifting his hattered cap, "but can you tell us where we can get something to eat in the town?"
Supercilious glances were exchanged among the doorstep group. But the gentle, gray haired hostess, whose sight and hearing are both a little dull, spoke kindly to the women.

"If you will go around by the side path to the kitchen door, my good man," she said, "I think the cook?"
But she was interrupted.

"Pardon me," said the spokesman for the tramps, "but we are looking for an eating house or hotel. We are," he added modestly, "not quite so bad as we look."
We have been making a bicycle tour from Boston and—

"A bicycle tour!" shouted one of the men on the porch.
"Oh, how lovely!" exclaimed one of the girls on the porch.

"Won't you come right up and join us?"
cried the host. "There's tea coming, isn't there, mother? And later there'll be dinner. There are no hotels in town."

"Wouldn't you like to wash up a bit?"
asked one of the girls.

"Where have you left your wheels? Below the shrubbery? I'll send for them.
Come, you must tell us all about it. We," confidentially, "are thinking of just such a trip ourselves."

So through the magic of the bicycle the wheels became honored guests and the hungry were filled.—New York World.

Conductor—Plenty of seats, gentlemen.

They sat down—way down.—Truth.

She Was Right.

The benighted barbarian, in accordance with the time honored custom of his tribe, lay in wait in the grass, waiting for the approach of the maiden whom he had chosen to woo.

As soon as she passed, he arose, and with one blow of the large and knotty club he carried felled her to the earth.

She awoke from the consequent swoon,
to find herself flung across his shoulders as he proceeded toward his hut. Though dazed at first, she realized that she had been proposed to in the regular style.
"Dear me, Mr. Gwrrbbblu," she twittered,
"this is so sudden!"

In her case there was really some excuse for the remark.—Life.

Simply Following Instructions.

"You say that I'm not altogether objectionable to your parents," he said ruefully.
"No," she replied. "Father and mother both speak very highly of you."

"Then why does that big dog assault me every time I come near and chew a piece out of my clothes?"
"Oh, you mustn't mind Brutus. He's trained to do that. Auntie has gotten almost enough samples from him to make a lovely patchwork quilt."—Washington Star.

Playing on the Ruins.

"These firemen must be a frivolous set,"
said Mr. Spillkins, who was reading a paper.

"Why so?"

"I read in the paper that after a fire was under control the firemen played all night on the ruins. Why didn't they go home and go to bed like sensible men, instead of romping about like children?"—Texas Sifflings.

A Reason d'Etre.

"I wonder," said the Washington Baseball club gloomily, "what we two or three chronic tallenders are on earth for anyhow."

"Great Scott!" exclaimed the New York nine, "we fellows have got to have somebody we can beat haven't we?"—Washington Star.

The Duke and the Duchess.

"Ha! I am told your family made its money in trade."

"'Tis false! They were counterfeiters."

"Thank heaven!"

Their graces the duke and the duchess (Americanized) are happily reconciled.—

"I read the other day," said the man who does not go, "that baseball was invented by the Indians."

"Guess it is so," said the man who

GEMS IN VERSE.

Freedom.

In the hearts of human creatures
Lives the longing to be free;
Lives the wish to dwell as equals
In the courts of liberty.

Since the world was first created
Men have battled for their rights;
They have burned the thongs of thralldom
In the fires of freedom's lights.

Turn the leaves of history over,
Look on every blood marked page,
Note what victories of valor
Mark an era in each age.

Mid the deeds that are recorded
In the tomes of deathless fame
Those that blaze with brightest glory
Were inspired by freedom's name.

—Susie M. Best in Philadelphia Ledger.

I'm Growing Old.

My days pass pleasantly away;
My nights are blessed with sweetest sleep;
I feel no symptoms of decay;
I have no cause to mourn or weep;
My foes are impotent and shy;
My friends are neither false nor cold,
And yet, of late, I often sigh—
I'm growing old!

My growing fond of olden times,
My growing thirst for early news,
My growing apathy to rhymes,
My growing love of easy shoes,
My growing fear of crowds and noise,
My growing fear of taking cold,
All whisper in the plainest voice—
I'm growing old!

I'm growing fonder of my staff;
I'm growing dimmer in the eyes;
I'm growing fainter in my laugh;
I'm growing deeper in my sighs;
I'm growing careless in my dress;
I'm growing frugal of my gold;
I'm growing wise; I'm growing—yes—
I'm growing old!

I see it in my changing taste;
I see it in my changing hair;
I see it in my growing waist;
I see it in my growing hair;
A thousand signs proclaim the truth,
As plain as truth was ever told,
That, even in my vain youth,
I'm growing old!

—John G. Saxe.

The Land of "Pretty Soon."

I know of a land where the streets are paved
With the things which we meant to achieve.
It is walled with the money we meant to have Saved.

And the pleasures for which we grieve.
The kind words unspoken, the promises broken.
And many a coveted boon
Are stowed away there in that land somewhere.

The land of "Pretty Soon."

There are uncut jewels of possible fame
Lying about in the dust,
And many a noble and lofty aim
Covered with mold and rust.

And, oh! this place, while it seems so near,
Is farther away than the moon.
Though our purpose is fair, yet we never get there—
To the land of "Pretty Soon."

The road that leads to that mystic land
Is strewn with pitiful wreckage.
And the ships that have sailed for its shining strand
Bear skeletons on their decks.

It is farther at noon than it was at dawn,
And farther at night than at dawn.
Oh, let us beware of that land down there—
The land of "Pretty Soon."

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox in Elmhurst Telegram.

The Up Hill and the Down Hill.

Strode a lordling from his palace
On the hillside's stately crest,
Pacing downward to the valleys
In enjoyment of his quest.

But the breeze about him blowing
Seemed to murmur on his track,
"Ah, the road that's down hill going
Will be up hill coming back."

Tripped a maiden to the fountain
From her cottage in the vale,
Stepping boldly up the mountain
With her empty water pail.

And methought the brooklet flowing Whispered ever on her quest,
"Oh, the road that's up hill going
Will be down hill coming back."

And a lesson I did borrow,
As of some chance opened book,
From the breeze's murmured sorrow
And the whisper of the brook—
If the down hill has an ending,
Choose our pathway as we will,
We had best begin ascending
With our faces to the hill.

—Chambers' Journal.

A Man of Sense.

The man who makes the best of things
With riches can dispense.
Since heaven has endowed him with
A fund of common sense.

Though he may live in poverty,
He has a happy lot,
Because he doesn't sit and mourn
For what he hasn't got.

The man who makes the best of things
Is tolerably rare,
But when you find him you will see
A man devoid of care.

His rule of life is simple—just
To do his level best,
And then he does some resting
And lets others do the rest.

The man who makes the best of things,
He knows where he is at,
He is a true philosopher,
And to him I doff my hat.

But when I run across a man
Who's always finding fault,
I know, without your telling me,
He isn't worth his salt.

—Somerville Journal.

A Love Song to a Wife.

We have been lovers for forty years,
O dear cheeks, faded and worn with tears,
What an eloquent story of love ye tell!
Your roses are dead, yet I love ye well!

O pale brow, shrunken in soft, silvery hair, Crowns with life's sorrow and lined with care.

Let me read by the light of the stars above
These dear, dear records of faithful love.

Ah, fond, fond eyes of my own true wife!
Ye have shone so clear through my checkered life.

Ye have shed such joy on its thorny way,
That I cannot think ye are dim today.

Worn little hands that have toiled so long,
Patient and loving and brave and strong,
Ye will never tire, ye will never grow old,
Until you are crossed on my darling's breast.

O warm heart, throbbing so close to mine!
Time only strengthens such love as thine
And proves that the holiest love doth last
When summer and beauty and youth are past.

—Quiver.

Three Kisses.

Childhood upon her brow dropp'd kisses
With crowning song, he lingered by her side,
And with bright hope her pulses wildly beat.
"Ah, this is life!" she cried.

Youth from her gentle lips drank kisses rare,
As warm as southern winds that faintly blow,
And with soft fingers stroked her golden hair.
"Tis love!" she murmured low.

Age with chill kisses fann'd her furrowed face.
O'er her dim eyes she felt his icy breath,
Gently he clasped her in a close embrace.
She whispered, "This is death!"

—Lizzie E. Dyas.

No More Worrying.

Hain't-a-goin' to worry any more—
Hain't-a-goin' to fret and fuss about it!
We'll get what's a-comin' to us, shore,
Er, thank God! we'll get along without it.
