GAME BETWEEN YALE AND PRINCETON.

New York—At noon to-day the conditions were favorable for a large crowd and good sport in the game between Yale and Princeton foot ball eleven. The skies were clear and the temperature about 40 degrees.

Betting was generally even. The odds, which a few days ago were laid on the New Haven side, have dwindled away. About the hotels some money was offered at very small odds on Yale, but a man was always found to take the Princeton end.

Yale won the toss; Princeton kicked off to Yale's thirty-yard line. Yale secured the ball on the down and by steady rushing forced it to Princeton's forty-five-yard line.

Cochran was knocked out a minute, but resumed play.

Yale secured the ball and punted to Princeton's five-yard line. Princeton returned the ball.

Yale lost the ball on downs on Princeton's thirty-five-yard line.

Princeton gained eight yards; then punted to Yale's twenty-five-yard line.

Yale punted to Princeton's thirty-five-yard line, where Princeton gained the leather.

The game is an open one, both sides punting freely.

Yale got ten yards off the side play.

Time was called in order to fix up Thorne's old wound on the head which was opened in the scrimmage.

Play was resumed, Yale's ball.

Bass got the ball and by a great run made a touch down. Yale makes goal.

Score: Yale, 6; Princeton, none.

Thorne gets a touch down kick to goal.

Score: Yale, 13; Princeton, none. Time called.

Yale wins. Score—Yale, 20; Princeton, 10.

Deficiency Bonds Valid.

Denver, Nov. 23.—The supreme court to-day handed down an opinion confirming the legality of the issue of $50,000 casualty deficiency bonds, in addition to the $75,000 already declared to be valid. This leaves $50,000 of the amount authorized by the legislature which can not be issued before next year.

A New and Cheap Gas.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 23.—Prof. Letson Ballist, professor of engineering and chemistry and physics at the Arkansas Methodist college at Arkadelphia, has discovered a new method for the manufacture of illuminating gas. The gas is colorless, capable of giving a very high heat and will yield twelve candle power from an ordinary illuminating burner. The process is purely chemical and is the cheapest known. The discovery is attracting attention in the scientific world.

SCHOONER SEIZED.

Supposed that She Has On Board Arms and Ammunition for Use of Cuban Insurgents.

Philadelphia, Nov. 23.—The schooner Jno. M. Foster, which cleared from this port on Tuesday ostensibly for Tampa, Fla., was seized this morning by the deputy U. S. collector at Lewes, Del., when about to put to sea.

The vessel was seized at the request of Senator de Lom, the Spanish minister, who has been informed that the schooner was engaged in carrying ammunition and the Cuban insurgents.

Two men in a thorough investigation of her cargo later. The agents of the schooner claim that she is coal laden.

A. T. & M. P. Presidency.

New York, Nov. 23.—There is a hard fight over the selection of the new president of the Santa Fe. The candidacy of E. T. Jeffrey was so strenuously opposed by the American interests that, although he had strong foreign backing, he withdrew from the field. Foreign interests opposed D. B. Robinson, who is favored by American interests, and it looks as if a compromise candidate would have to be selected. The chances now are good that E. P. Ripley, third vice president of the St. Paul, will be the new president. Mr. Ripley is regarded as a railroad man of high ability. It is now said the matter will be definitely settled on Monday.

TO-DAY'S CONDENSATIONS.

President Cleveland is said to be working steadily at his message to congress. The total assessment of Texas real and personal property for 1895 is $859,985,701.

It is believed that the Wichita reservation will soon be opened to settlement.

Rosa Thounval, white, 16 years old, of Boyler's Mills, Mo., eloped with a negro.

Gen. Henderson, of Iowa, says that he doesn't think that congress will do any tariff revision.

Gen. Miles recommends the abolition of the post mess and a return to the old company mess for the army.

E. V. Debs was released from prison yesterday and the reception given him in Chicago amounted to an ovation.

Harry Hayward must hang, as the supreme court refused to grant a new trial. The date of execution is December 6.

Republican job-seekers not on the Quay-Reed slate for offices under the organization of the house have formed a combine.

The Wall Street Journal prints an interview in which Secretary Carlisle is quoted to the effect that there is no foundation for the rumor that he is to be appointed to the supreme court bench. Mr. Carlisle says he would, under no circumstances, accept the position if it should be tendered to him.

According to rumor Dan Stuart while east will place stock for the establishment of a $500,000 club room building and amphitheatre in Juarez. It is estimated that the big fight will be worth $500,000 to El Paso, but that town is about to sink on its $10,000 bonus offer.

The Denver postoffice officials are rapidly solving the problem of what is to become of "Messiah" Schlader's mail. About 1,200 five day returns have been forwarded to the senders, and in a few days, 1,800 more letters, marked return in ten days, will be sent back. Between 1,000 and 2,000 of Schlader's letters were advertised in the letter list to-day.

INDIAN UNIFORMS.

Change for the Better in U. S. Training Schools—Suits for the Reservation Braves.

Washington, Nov. 23.—An advance step has been taken by the Indian bureau this year in the matter of the clothing distributed to the children at Indian schools, and it is possible that the reform may be extended to the adult Indians themselves on the reservations. Hitherto there has been no unity or system about the kind of uniforms provided at the various schools, but it has depended in each case upon the taste of the superintendent of the school, and the result has been that some of the children have gone to their reservation homes in vacation nearly attired, while others have been so shabbily dressed as to prejudice the Indian parents against the schools. One regular uniform for pupils in all these schools, besides doing away with invidious contrasts, will emphasize the relations of the schools to the central governing authority at Washington.

It is the desire of the Indian bureau to educate the brave out of his blanket and leggings into the clothing in use in civilized white communities by providing a natty-looking blue flannel suit in place of the gray-brown shoddy now in use. The latter is now rarely worn by any Indian who has any pride of race remaining in him; he prefers to draw the clothing issued to him and sell it to the first white man he meets on the edge of the reservation, by whom he is usually cheated out of half its value.

THE PACIFIC ROADS.

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—Editor Rosewater, of the Omaha Bee, has communicated with Mayor Sutro concerning the status of the Pacific railroad funding bill. He thinks some concerted action should be taken by the cities along the line of the roads to defeat the refunding schemes. In a letter to Mayor Sutro he says:

"You have doubtless noted the recommendation made by the government directors of the Union Pacific railroad, and the scheme of reorganization by the Vanderbilt syndicate. It seems to me that all the people west of the Missouri are vitally concerned in the winding up of the Union and Central Pacific railroads. My position for the last ten years has been that the mortgages should be closed and the roads sold to the highest bidder and operated on an actual basis, under such restrictions as might be deemed necessary for the protection of the patrons of the road and the prevention of excessive rates."

Archbishop Kain, of St. Louis, has been chosen to preach the sermon. Mass will be celebrated by Mgr. Battelli, after the conferring of the barrette, in his new capacity of cardinal.

GOLD RESERVE TO-DAY.

To-day's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Gold reserve, $86,555,445.

THE NEW MEXICO MESSIAH

No Truth in the Story that Francis Schlader Was at Boulder, Colorado.

HUNTING THE FAMOUS SANTA FE TRAIL

The Remarkable Man Supposed to Be Traveling Southward on Foot Toward Santa Fe and Albuquerque.

Denver, Nov. 23.—In the News to-day Joseph Wolf, of Boulder, denies that Schlader is or has been at his house.

The News publishes a special from Graneros, Colo., saying: "There is no doubt that the man seen at Buttes, on Wednesday, and at Overton, yesterday, is Francis Schlader."

He requested to be directed where to find the old Santa Fe trail.

The supposition is that he is on his way to Albuquerque, N. M.

Romance of the Name Peralta.

BY J. A. PERALTA-HEATH.

In the fifteenth century we find the caldron of Spanish politics—the crucial test of might and genius was in this epoch—Spanish history being little more than historical romance up to this time. The conquest of the Moors had crushed the ambition of her mighty chieftains, the legacy of ancient Rome, and their literature alike had been buried among the ruins of the conquest, leaving an affectation for a language once full of force and meaning.

The feudal lords of the north were all that was left of ancient Spain, and they were so factions that self-destruction was the only legacy they left of their mighty ambition to chronicle their deeds of greatness in acts of valor, until the dawn of the fifteenth century.

These feudal despots had for vassals the descendants of the Cimbric horde that had been beaten back by the Romans, and through centuries of amalgamation with the Vis-Gothic or Basquin element, whom they had found there in a semi-barbaric state, this new born element had turned the old plow share of the frugal Cimbric into the great falchion of Spain that proved the overthrow of centuries of Moorish civilization.

The fifteenth century was ushered in with such illustrious lights as Martin of Aragon and Charles III, or the noble, whose daughter, princess of the realm, Dora Blanca, was given in marriage to the son of Don Martin of Aragon then king of Sicily, also named Martin, who soon died leaving the fair queen a widow to endow whom she pleased, which fell to Don Juan, Duke of Gandia, who with Alfonso, the great, were sons of Fernando de Castilla.

Fernando had given the reign of Castile to Alfonso, and by the death of the Martin, father and son, the crown of Aragon became a question to be decided by the great falchion (sword). Queen Blanca died in 1441, and a second marriage was contracted, and there was born to the consort a daughter, Leonor, who was affianced to Gaston IV, Duke of Foix, or Orleans as afterwards termed, who, through Louis XI of France, had advanced to King John II (Juan) 300,000 marcos of gold for the marriage.

The second marriage being morganatic with Dona Juana Enriquez daughter of Don Federico Almirante de Castile, which grew out of a great scandal, all the factions set against Don Juan, among which Don Carlos was a factor; but he was soon captured and through the intervention of his step-mother, the queen, was pardoned only to succumb to the stiletto the first night of his freedom. That left only her own children, among whom was the world renowned, Fernando, who after married Queen Isabella of Castile, the instrument in the hands of genius that led to the discovery of America.

The other ambition of Queen Juana, to unite the house of Foix or Orleans with that of her own blood, was accomplished in the marriage of her eldest daughter, Leonor, to the Duke Gaston IV, who became a field marshal in the service of Don Juan II, his father-in-law.

All the children by the first marriage of Don Juan being then dead, Leonor was crowned queen of Navarra with Gaston IV king consort, as was the custom in those days, and the branch of the army at his command set out to conquer the coveted principality from Henry IV, also crowned king of Navarra derived through his marriage with Queen Blanca, deceased, the first born to Don Juan, by his first marriage to Queen Blanca of Sicily.

Among the king's most trusted lieutenants was a young feudal lord of the manor north of Barcelona, familiarly known as Don Alonso Enriquez Carrillo, who commanded the famous band of falchions or great sabres, which to look upon to-day inspires us with awe and an inward conviction that they were made for giants to wield.

This young stalwart valiant had, in many a battle hand to hand, won the title of "Marquis de Falces," with honor, in so far that he was one of the privileged before the king, and often dined with his majesty.

The royal army had proceeded to the foot hills of the great Montes de Oca near the mountains on the borders of the coveted Navarra, and royalty, with the honored few, had stopped for luncheon under the shade of a great pear tree, by the side of a babbling brook that teemed with sportive trout, fresh from the fastness of mountain glen. In that bright spot, full of romance and glory, the unconquered sylvan retreat, near the poetic muse, so nurtured toward the close of the century, furnished the theme of converse at that luncheon. Other and grander, if not nobler, themes, visions of conquest, filled the bosoms, inspired the words and served the gestures of the enterprisers of his majesty; and the fire of enthusiasm was burning furiously in the breast of the young Marquis de Falces as he, on bended knee, proposed to the king that if he were furnished with a thousand lance (cavalry) he could and would take the Castle of Navarra.

Upon such an astounding proposition, even with all the force of a giant mentally and physically, together with a mighty band of falchions, who had won honor for their fearless commander in many gory battles, to back it, his majesty rose, incredulous, and, viewing a beautiful pear hanging high in the great tree, genially shadowing, aged quite before computation, pointed with his index finger and said: "Esta pera esta muy alta." (This pear is very high). No sooner said, than, as if inspired by the impulse of victory, with the force of a Hercules, the young Marquis sprang to his feet, thrust his great falchion hand high in the air, grasped at the magnificent emblem of ambition, good fellowship and prosperity, saying: "Pera yo se como se coje." (But I know how to take it), which altogether so impressed his royal pleasure that he answered significantly, "Sea." (Let it be).

Thereupon the order was given, the thousand lance and band of falchions marched to the front under the direct command of Don Alonso to be crowned with victory on the day of Santisestaban, and he to be honored thenceforward with the title of Conde de Santisestaban with the dignified title of Peralta (high pear), or dropping one "a" as is the rule in Castilian, we have the word Peralta in its first application; and the Duchy of Peralta was established at that time and included the seat of the present town of Peralta in the northern part of Aragon; and the king's daughter was the trophy, while the castle of Navarra changed and became Falces, with the duke as constable or governor of Navarra.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every Post Office in the Territory and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the southwest.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 23.

The Allison presidential boom seems to lack legs. So far it has hardly succeeded in getting outside of the corporate limits of Dubuque, Iowa, where its aspiring proprietor resides.

There are some people now on this part of the earth who are cruel enough to say that Delegate Catron's presence in the so-called convention of New Mexico wool growers, in Las Vegas, was intended as a quiet turn down for the McKinley boomers.

The Chicago Board of Trade Review says: Every week shows an increasing interest in mining property. It is largely in the nature of inquiry. There is a constant demand for information. Meanwhile the Cripple Creek mining district is fairly booming. In the Black Hills also there is renewed activity, and the Arizona mining districts are likewise looking up. Even conservative bankers are certain that a mining boom is quietly growing in this country.

A STAB AT MCKINLEYISM.

The "wool growers of New Mexico" as represented by a number of stock-owners—and several politicians—at a meeting held in Col. T. B. Mills' office at Las Vegas a day or two ago, are to be congratulated upon their discovery, and public declaration of the fact, that the so-called McKinley bill is not all it has been cracked up to be. This is rather a tough dish of crow for the Albuquerque Citizen, the Raton Range and several other organs of the recently organized McKinley bureau in New Mexico.

The convention had the advice and experience of Mr. G. H. Wallace, counsel general to Australia under President Harrison's administration, and it is doubtless due to his suggestions that resolutions were adopted calling attention to the classification and designations whereby "the wool grower was deprived of the measure of protection the (McKinley) tariff was supposed to afford."

Of course, it isn't to be presumed that Catron, Mills, J. G. Clancy et al, would indulge in any highly eulogistic resolutions over the Wilson tariff act, but the above is a pretty severe turn down for the much vaunted McKinley wool schedule.

EXPOSING A FALSEHOOD.

It is impossible to have entire confidence in the unadulterated Democracy of a paper that is not absolutely free from all entanglement with Republican leaders, and so long as Max Frost is interested financially in the New Mexican plant, it is reasonable to suppose that he has some influence in the office. The fact that the Republican employees of the paper are retained because Max Frost made their retention a feature of the contract, under which Gov. Thornton secured nominal control of the New Mexican, is sufficient to justify Democratic distrust.

The person who undertakes to edit the paper is the same man who abused Democracy and Democracy for years at Max Frost's bidding, and nobody who knows him has any confidence in either his sincerity or his capacity. He is a very tolerable "hustler" for trivial local and can write more toadying personals than any other man in the business, and we assert of our own knowledge that the governor represented to the subscribers to his newspaper fund that he should be kept at that work and not be permitted to edit the paper.

We do not think the New Mexican will venture to deny that, under the contract, Max Frost has access to the books at all times and can resume entire control of the business whenever he sees fit to assume that the paper is being conducted in a manner calculated to depreciate the value of the property. That is the kind of "string" the Republicans have tied to the New Mexican, and it is a stout hawser.—Las Cruces Independent Democrat.

The New Mexican ordinarily refrains from noticing the malicious falsehoods and misrepresentations constantly appearing in the Independent-Democrat with reference to its ownership and management. Fearing, however, that persons unacquainted with the reputation of the editor of the Independent-Democrat for his utter disregard of truth and veracity may be influenced by his vapors, it once again changes its accustomed policy to take note of Allan Kelly's falsehoods and to brand every assertion in the above statement as false and untrue. Max Frost is not, and since January 1, 1894, has not been interested to the extent of $1 in the New Mexican nor has he exercised in the remotest degree any influence over its editorial or business management.

Gov. Thornton did not represent to the subscribers for stock at the time of the purchase that Mr. Crose would not be employed as editor. On the contrary many of them asked that Mr. Crose be given editorial control of the New Mexican.

The Independent-Democrat's tirade contains three charges the truth or falsity of which may happily be very easily proved. It says: "The Republican employees of the paper are retained because Max Frost made their retention a feature of the contract under which Gov. Thornton secured nominal control of the New Mexican;" "that Max Frost is financially interested in the New Mexican;" and that "Max Frost has access to the books at all times and can resume entire control of the business whenever he sees fit to assume that the paper is being conducted in a manner calculated to depreciate the value of the property."

The contract of itself must show whether or not these statements are true. That contract is still in existence and is open for the inspection of Mr. Kelly at the First National bank in Santa Fe, where it has been on file since its execution.

Just prior to the execution of this said contract, and before a dollar of the stock was subscribed for, a draft thereof was, at a meeting of prominent Democrats at Judge Laughlin's office, shown to the Hon. Antonio Joseph, Judge Laughlin, Gen. C. F. Easley, J. H. Crist, T. P. Gable and others, and the wisdom of its execution discussed, and the New Mexican asserts that an inspection of this contract will prove every statement made by the Independent-Democrat to be false, and the editor is referred to the above named gentlemen and to the contract itself for the confirmation of this statement.

It is conceded that certain purchasers of stock in the New Mexican Printing company gave their personal obligations for a part of the purchase money and pledged their stock as collateral security for the payment thereof in case of default. So far as the New Mexican has knowledge default has not been made in the payment by these stockholders of any material obligation.

With the tender of the above proof the New Mexican demands that Mr. Kelly substantiate his allegations or act the man and cease his misrepresentations.

We may add that the New Mexican was purchased at a great sacrifice by a number of prominent Democrats, purely in the interest of the Democratic party and the good of New Mexico, and it has been and will continue to be conducted as a Democratic journal advocating what it believes to be for the best interests of the party and the welfare of all the people of this territory.

PRESS COMMENT.

The Courts.

The most successful term of court ever held in Chaves county came to a close last Saturday night. While the session continued we refrained from making any comments upon the court or officers. The October term has now passed into history, and of that history every good citizen of the county is justly proud. From the opening day everybody seemed to be imbued with a feeling of confidence, for it was the first time in the history of courts in this county that there was no taint of a carpet-bag about any department of the court. Everyone, from the presiding judge to the bailiff of the grand jury, was a bona fide citizen of New Mexico and felt an active personal interest in the well-being of the territory and in meeting out even-handed justice to all offenders and between all litigants.

When Judge Hamilton held court here last spring the people saw with satisfaction a great change for the better over the past. But Judge Hamilton was badly handicapped by having been of counsel in a number of the most important cases on the docket, and while he gave universal satisfaction as far as he could go, that term from a business standpoint, was not altogether successful for the reason that the most expensively important cases could not be tried.

By an exchange of labor Judge Bantz came from the 3rd district to hold the term just closed. Though known to nearly every citizen in the county by reputation, personally the judge was a stranger to all but a very few. In the two weeks he presided over our court—holding sessions day and night—he won the just regard and personal esteem of every law-loving citizen of the county by the fairness and impartiality of his rulings and the celerity with which he dispatched business. Every criminal case, and nearly every civil cause, ready for trial, were disposed of, and in not one of which did either litigant or attorney find any fault with the court.

District Clerk Curry was acting at his first term of court, and, though the newness of the situation to him had not worn off, it was plain to be seen that he regarded a public office as a public trust. Lawyers, attorneys and witnesses felt no hesitancy in asking him any question pertaining to matters in which they had interests and a right to be informed. They knew they would receive a polite and gentlemanly answer.

District Attorney John Franklin went quietly at his duties as public prosecutor and managed to convict every defendant tried with one exception, and in that case the testimony could not quite connect the defendant with the crime with that unerring certainty necessary in state cases.

Interpreter Sianeros and Stenographer Rice were always on hand and each performed his duties promptly and satisfactorily.

Sheriff C. C. Perry and his corps of deputies and bailiffs were prompt and careful in the executions of all duties devolving upon that department of the

The PECOS VALLEY of . . . NEW MEXICO

OFFERS unequalled advantages to the farmer, fruit grower, live stock raiser, dairyman, bee-keeper, and to the home-seeker generally.

The soil of the Pecos Valley is of high average fertility, and under irrigation produces bountiful crops of most of the grains, grasses, vegetables, berries and fruits of the temperate and some of those of the semi-tropical zone. In such fruit as the peach, pear, plum, grape, prune, apricot, nectarine, cherry, quince, etc., the Valley will dispute for the pre-eminence with California; while competent authority pronounces its upper portions in particular the finest apple country in the world.

Enormous yields of such forage crops as alfalfa, sorghum and Egyptian corn make the feeding of cattle and sheep and the raising and fattening of hogs a very profitable occupation.

The cultivation of sisal—a tanning material of great value—is becoming an important industry in the Pecos Valley, a home market having been afforded for all that can be raised, at a price yielding a handsome profit.

The climate of the Pecos Valley has no superior in the United States, being pre-eminently healthful and health restoring.

Land with perpetual water-rights are for sale at low prices and on easy terms. The water supply of the Pecos Valley has no equal in all the arid region for constancy and reliability; and this with the superb climate, productive soil and the facilities afforded by the railway which extends through the Valley's entire length, will cause these lands to enjoy a constant, and at times rapid, increase in value.

The recent completion of the Pecos Valley Railway to Roswell will cause the more rapid settlement and development of the upper portions of the Valley, including the rich Fells section. The company has recently purchased many of the older improved farms about Roswell, and has now for sale lands to meet the wants of all—raw lands, partially improved lands, as well as farms with houses, orchards and fields of alfalfa and other crops. In the vicinity of Roswell several pieces of land have been divided into five and ten acre tracts, suitable for orchards and truck farms in connection with suburban homes. Certain of these tracts are being planted to orchards, and will be cultivated and cared for by the company for three years at the end of which period they will be handed over to the purchasers. Write for pamphlet fully describing the terms and conditions on which these several classes of tracts are sold.

THE PUBLIC LIGHT.

Citizens Complaining Bitterly—The City Fathers Aroused—A Court Decision of Local Interest.

There is widespread complaint among the citizens of Santa Fe over the public light service. The Electric Light Company having closed down the gas works, citizens have had either to resort to kerosene—which is unreasonably costly here, owing to the squeezing proclivities of the Continental Oil company—or have been forced to go to the expense of equipping their homes and places of business with electric light apparatus, but to find that the latter service is but a few degrees better than the old-fashioned tallow dip. In response to the very many complaints that have been made the city council some weeks ago took up the subject and sent a representative to confer with Supt. Day, of the Electric company. No satisfactory explanation could be had, and last week an aldermanic committee called on Capt. Day, but to learn that "the trouble with the electric light was not within the control of the company to remedy," or words to that effect. Naturally, under such circumstances, the city councilmen and citizens in general have been giving a good deal of serious thought to this subject of late, and it has been suggested that an effort be made through the courts to test the power of the Electric Light company, operating under privileges duly granted at the hands of the public, to close down the gas plant, which, by reason of its long enjoyment of special privileges, has become a quasi-public concern in which the people possess some rights that must be respected.

The courts of Iowa and Indiana have recently taken very strong ground in dealing with cases similar to the one Santa Feans have to contend with. At Indianapolis only on Tuesday last a supreme court decision was announced which has attracted much attention from Santa Fe light consumers. The press dispatch notes the facts as follows:

"The supreme court of Indiana to-day decided that a natural gas company can not increase gas rates to consumers above the maximum price fixed by ordinance, accepted by the company. In May, 1894, the Westfield company gave notice that it would increase the rate for kitchen stoves from 80 cents a month to $1 a month. The citizens brought suit to enjoin the action and won in the lower and higher courts.

"Judge Jordan, who wrote the opinion in the case, says the business of manufacturing and distributing gas for fuel and illuminating purposes is a business of a public character; it is the exercise of a franchise belonging to the state, which has been granted to an individual or corporation, under legislative authority, through the action of municipalities; the services rendered are of a public nature, and the grantee owes a duty to the public. The court says when a company binds itself to discharge a certain obligation the law will enforce that obligation."

Militia Officers Commissioned.

The governor this morning signed commissions for Capt. William F. Kaehnebeck, 1st Lieut. Charles Cousins and 2d Lieut. Edward Quinn, the officers commanding troop H, 1st New Mexico militia, stationed at Gallup. The enterprising citizens of that prosperous burg will show up one of the finest militia companies in the near future on any range in the southwest. Adj. Gen. Knaebel is very proud of his new company and will equip them within a very few days. W. T. Henderson, editor of the Gleaner, is 2d sergeant of the company.

Mrs. E. J. Browne, principal of the Ramona Indian school, was taken ill with a severe chill on Wednesday morning, and has since developed pneumonia. To-day she is alarmingly ill. Mrs. Browne's relatives in Washington City have been advised and her daughter is now en route to her bedside.

The Fifteen club met with Miss Nellie Smith on Thursday afternoon. Current events were first on the program. After a discussion of same, there was a reading of Eugene Field's poem, "Cassidy's Table of Hotel," by Mrs. Warner. Then selections from "As You Like It" were read by Miss Gulliford. The paper of the afternoon was prepared and read by Mrs. Hall. It was entitled "The Tower of London." Criticisms closed the exercises.

The newly elected pastor of the Presbyterian church, Rev. R. M. Craig, of Ferguson, Ontario, will start on his journey to this city on Tuesday next, the 26th inst. As he stops off at Toronto and Kansas City en route, to make a passing visit to relatives, he will not reach Santa Fe until about December 2. On Thursday, the 5th, the Presbyterian of Santa Fe will meet here for the purpose of receiving Mr. Craig and of installing him as pastor of the church. Further particulars of this service will appear later.

Rev. F. T. Bennett, who for nearly fourteen months has been the priest in charge of the church of the Holy Faith, departed last night for Albuquerque to take charge of St. John's church parish. There are few men who possess in higher degree the characteristics of the true Christian gentleman, and Santa Feans in general take leave of him with genuine regret. During his sojourn here Mr. Bennett was untiring in his good work, and especially among the humble folk, and he accomplished much toward making the church of the Holy Faith more popular than ever before. His record of nineteen baptisms and fourteen confirmations has never been equaled by any priest in charge of this parish. May the best of good fortune ever attend him.

AUTHORITATIVE DENIAL

Chief Justice Smith in No Sense An Applicant for a Land Court Judgeship—Court Notes.

The following self-explanatory telegram came to hand last evening:

To Geo. H. Cross, Editor New Mexican.

New York City, Nov. 22.—Please announce authoritatively that Chief Justice Thomas Smith is in no sense an applicant for a land court judgeship.

He opposes the removal of any official of the U. S. land court, believing their reappointment in the interest of the public.

Any contrary representation is without foundation in fact and malicious.

[Signed] C. H. GILBERT.

The above serves to put a quietus on a report that has been widely circulated of late and has aroused much comment.

COURT NOTES.

Judge Bantz is holding court at Eddy and parties up from the valley say he is pushing business as it has never been pushed before.

Judge Smith left Virginia the other day for Las Vegas to resume his duties in the district court, but he was too sick to travel and had to turn back.

Judge H. B. Hamilton will adjourn the district court term at Las Vegas this afternoon and return to Silver City to reopen the term there on Monday.

The commissions of the justices of the U. S. court of private land claims expire by limitation on the 31st of next month. Attorney Reynolds' commission runs "at the pleasure of the president."

By stipulated agreement of all parties concerned Clerk O. N. Marron received at Judge Collier's hands the appointment as special master in the A. & P. railroad case. It is said the clerk will make about $10,000 out of this appointment. As the railroads "pay the freight" a good many Albuquerque people were after it.

The Optic says that as "special master, honest John H. Koogler, now of Muskogee, I. T., in the Mora grant case of Senator S. B. Elkins et al., against Carmen Arce et al., had allowed Mr. Catron attorney's fees in the case to the surprising amount of $35,000. The $300 might have been lopped off in the master's report, anyhow."

Do not take any substitute when you go for the one true blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla. Insist upon Hood's and only Hood's.

All ladies having a few hours leisure each day should write me at once, regarding pleasant home work which I pay $15 weekly. This is no deception and will certainly pay you to investigate. Reply with stamped envelope. Miss M. A. Stebbins, Lawrence, Mich.

IT SAVES THE GOLD.

Crucial Tests of the Woods Dry Placer Miner at Golden—Description of a Notable Invention.

Messrs. Woods and Green, the former from Fraser & Chalmers' mining machine factory, and the latter from San Marcos, Texas, spent yesterday in the city. They have put in several weeks testing Mr. Woods' invention, a placer gold saver, near Golden, in south Santa Fe county, and they, in common with several mining men who saw the machine at work, pronounce it a complete success. A representative of the New Mexican conversed with the gentlemen yesterday and after having described to him the workings of the new invention he was forced to admit that it appears to be all its owners claim for it.

If it should turn out that a gold saver has at last been invented that will extract without the use of water the golden particles from the thousands of acres of placer gravel in Santa Fe county, it will be worth millions to the region beside making fortunes for its lucky owners. The fact that so reputable a firm as Fraser & Chalmers has taken hold of the Woods idea is certainly in its favor to start with. When the first machine was completed it was tested at the factory and found to work well. A few days ago it was put to the number of 100 were placed in a quantity of sand and gravel and when put through the machine ninety-four of these were saved.

To further test the invention the gold saver was shipped to Cerrillos and taken over to the mill. There it was put to the severest tests. A few days ago it was put to work on a placer dump that had been previously run through one of the Sodo-flo fanning placer machines and from this material it saved an average of 60 cents in gold per cubic yard. This was sufficient to prove to the owners the practical nature of their invention, and when they reached here yesterday naturally they were in high glee. It is claimed that this invention can be worked at a profit on placer ground that will yield 30 cents per cubic yard.

The machine covers a floor space of five feet by thirteen feet and nine inches and weighs 3,600 pounds. It has a capacity of fifteen tons per hour. The machinery is mounted in an oak frame. The material is fed into a disintegrator box, where it is thoroughly pulverized by 144 revolving steel beaters attached to two horizontal shafts turning in opposite directions, and which propel the material forward to the riffle board, passing over magnets which hold all black sand and particles of iron contained therein. The bottom of the riffle board is composed of closely woven wire cloth pervious of air only, supplied by bellows under the wire cloth, upon which rests vertically twelve riffles of copper, one and one-half inches high and thirty-six inches long. This riffle board has a panning motion of 200 strokes per minute, which serves to settle the gold to the bottom and slide it forward with the assistance of air forced upon the material by the bellows till it finds its resting place behind the riffles over which rolls the debris, thus effecting the separation. The blast from the bellows can be regulated so as to make it stronger or weaker as required. This machine is called the Woods dry placer miner and has been patented in England, Australia, South Africa and Mexico as well as this country. The machines will be built and introduced by Messrs. Fraser & Chalmers, Chicago and London. Messrs. Woods and Green left last night for their respective homes, carrying with them samples of the gold thus extracted. At Chicago the manufacture of the machines will begin at once.

Well shod gives the idea of comfort on foot, and that is just where you want comfort at all times. If there is not comfort in our footwear, then there is no such thing anywhere, and the knock of knowing how to be comfortable is a lost art. In shoes, comfort and high quality are apt to go together. As a rule, the best is the most comfortable shoe. We are giving ourselves no more than our due in claiming that we sell quality and comfort at reasonable prices, as in the past, so in the present. Confidently inviting the attention of our neighbors to the style, quality and ease represented in our stock, we at the same time quote such prices as you desire.

S. SPITZ, The Jeweller

SANTA FE, N. M.

They are papa's, and all right for him, but all wrong for the little girl. When spectacles are necessary, they are very necessary, but nothing can be worse than spectacles that do not fit the eyes, as they fail to supply a want that must be met fully to save the sight from injury. Spectacles can't be bought off hand. It needs the aid of an optician to assure the selection of a properly fitted glass. We make a specialty of ocular examinations, for which we charge nothing. Our prices for optical goods are the lowest in town.
