NATIONAL CAPITAL BUDGET

Proposition Before Congress to Retire Greenbacks and Substitute Silver Certificates in Lieu Thereof.

WRANGLE OVER ARIZONA GOVERNORSHIP

Justice Peckham's First Opinion—Blind Senate Chaplain Prays for Bleeding Armenia—Utah Senators Seated—Armenian Question.

Washington, Jan. 27.—A canvass of the senate is being made to learn whether a majority vote can be secured for the proposition to issue gold bonds and retire the greenbacks, providing that for every dollar thus retired a silver certificate is issued. By this scheme $346,000,000 would be added to the silver circulation, making $900,000,000 in all.

THE ARIZONA QUARREL

The secretary of the interior is still worried over the governorship of Arizona. Secretary Smith has desired for some months past to get rid of Hughes, and it is understood that the president is convinced that Hughes' retirement would be for the public good. The trouble is, however, to secure a successor for Gov. Hughes. The people of the territory are generally opposed to an outsider for their chief executive, and when any Arizona Democrat is mentioned for the place, protests against his appointment and charges against his character are immediately filed with the department of the interior.

The secretary is at present contemplating recommending for governor ex-Congressman Franklin D. Murphy. Mr. Murphy represented the Kansas City district in congress for several years, and is a man of ability and character. He has been a resident of Arizona for four or five years, and is seemingly satisfactory to the better class of Democrats of the territory.

Ex-Congressman Byrum, of Indiana, is an earnest applicant for the place of governor of Arizona, and his friends have been urging the president to appoint him. Mr. Byrum is anxious, according to reports, to move to Arizona.

JUSTICE PECKHAM'S FIRST OPINION.

Justice Peckham, the new member of the United States supreme court, delivered his first opinion today, in the case involving the right of the government to condemn the real estate of the Gettysburg Electric Railway company as a part of the national park located upon the Gettysburg battle ground. The court below decided that the act of congress authorizing the establishment of the park, as far as it applied to the condemnation of private property, was unconstitutional. Justice Peckham's decision reversed this, sustaining the condemnation proceedings. The case is important, as it extends considerably the authority of the general government in condemnation proceedings.

INTERNATIONAL BANKING FACILITIES.

The house committee on banking and currency today held a hearing on the bill to organize a bank for dealing with South and Central America. The committee held that banking facilities were as necessary as means of transportation for promoting commerce with the other American nations, but criticized the details of the measure. Chairman Walker appointed a sub-committee to confer with the controller and attorney general and perfect the bill.

THE UTAH SENATORS CONGRATULATED.

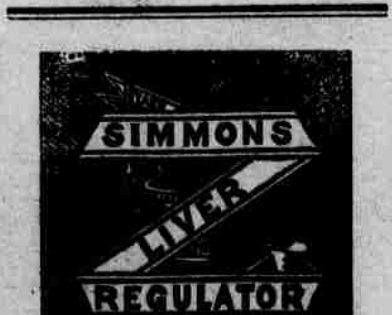

The two senators from Utah, Frank J. Cannon and Arthur Brown, were the center of an animated group in the rear of the chamber, where senators gathered to extend them a welcome this morning.

PRAYER FOR BLEEDING ARMENIA.

Rev. Dr. Milburn, the blind chaplain, prayed eloquently for bleeding Armenia. "Hear our cry of agony," he prayed, "on behalf of the people of Armenia; despoiled, tortured; their homes in ashes; their men and women and children slain at the edge of the sword; their women dishonored. Arise, O United States of Christendom, queen, czar, kaiser, kings and princes, their ministers and the people, that the sultan shall be forced to sheath his bloody sword and stay the frenzied rage of his fanatical soldiery and subjects."

NEW SENATORS SEATED.

The induction of the Utah senators occurred immediately after the chaplain's invocation. Mr. Dubois, of Idaho, presented the credentials of Mr. Cannon, and Mr. Brown, of Michigan, those of Mr. Brown. The two new senators proceeded to the desk of the vice president, where, with uplifted hands, the oath of office was taken. Mr. Brown was assigned a desk in the rear and on the extreme left of the chamber. Mr. Cannon sits immediately before him.

GOOD FOR EVERYBODY

and everyone needs it at all times of the year. Malaria is always about, and the only preventive and relief is to keep the Liver active. You must help the Liver a bit, and the best helper is the Old Friend, SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR, the RED Z.

Mr. C. H. Hildred, of Lancaster, Ohio, says: "SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR broke a case of Malarial Fever of three years' standing for me, and less than one bottle did the business. I shall use it when in need, and recommend it."

Be sure that you get it. Always look for the RED Z on the package. And don't forget the word REGULATOR. It is SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR, and there is only one, and every one who takes it is sure to be benefited. THE BENEFIT IS ALL IN THE REMEDY. Take it also for Biliousness and Sick Headache; both are caused by a sluggish Liver.

J. H. Zedlin & Co., Philadelphia.

MRS. WALLER'S APPEAL.

Mr. Baker, of Kansas, presented a petition from Mrs. Waller, wife of the ex-U. S. consul to Madagascar, reciting her husband's arrest, trial by drum-head court-martial, and transportation in chains to a French prison.

Mrs. Waller's petition recites: "By these acts France has held my husband, an American citizen, as an imprisoned felon during the past ten months, and I believe and am sure that, had my husband been a subject of Great Britain, he would long since have been released."

Mrs. Waller asks the American congress to take suitable action.

RATE DISCRIMINATIONS.

Mr. Peffer, Populist, of Kansas, offered a resolution calling upon the interstate commerce commission for information as to discriminations on passenger and freight rates to and from Missouri river points. The resolution went over.

CANNON WON THE LONG TERM.

The Utah senators then drew lots. Mr. Cannon won the long term, expiring March 3, 1899. Mr. Brown's term running until March 3, 1897.

STATEMEN AND SEEDS.

At 1 o'clock Mr. Haysbrough, Republican, of North Dakota, addressed the senate on the resolution authorizing the secretary of agriculture to execute the law concerning the distribution of seeds, etc.

SESSION OF THE HOUSE TO-DAY.

In the house to-day a bill was passed, on motion of Mr. Towne, of Minnesota, to amend the act of 1889, for the relief and civilization of the Chippewa Indians, so as to permit the secretary of the interior, in his discretion, to sell the pine lands on reservation in blocks of 100,000 acres or less. Some 4,000,000 acres are to be sold under the act of 1889.

ARMENIAN RESOLUTION.

When the passage of the senate Armenian resolution was announced, Mr. Quigg, of New York, member of the foreign affairs committee, moved that the senate resolution be substituted for that of the house. He explained that the difference between the two resolutions was so slight that it was not advisable, in view of the passage of the senate resolution, to press the one prepared by the house committee. He made a brief statement of the facts, which called upon congress to express its indignation at the situation. Our interest was purely human. Although newspaper accounts occasionally reported atrocities on American citizens, there were assurances from the state department that 50 American citizens had suffered in their persons.

HEPBURN'S REMARKABLE RESOLUTION.

Mr. Hepburn, Republican, of Iowa, has given notice of an amendment to the Armenian resolution instructing the president to give the Turkish minister his passports and end all diplomatic relations with Turkey. Mr. Hitt, chairman of the foreign affairs committee, rebuked Mr. Hepburn for his extraordinary proposal to sever diplomatic relations with a friendly power. "We want no relations with that murderer," replied Mr. Hepburn.

SPANISH MINISTER ANXIOUS.

The Spanish minister has informed the state department that last Friday night, the steamer J. W. Hawkins left New York with an expedition of 150 men, arms and ammunition in command of Calisto Garcia, that the arm and ammunition consigned at Cedar Key, Fla., are ready to be embarked on a schooner to join the Garcia expedition at sea, and that the steamer Commodore at Wilmington, N. C., is in the conspiracy. The secretary telegraphed this statement to all the consulates along the south Atlantic coast, with instructions to consult the United States attorney and take whatever action may be found necessary to prevent any violation of international law.

AMERICANS IN TRANSVAAL.

Secretary Olney has received by cable the appeal from the American residents at Johannesburg that a diplomatic representative of the United States be sent into Transvaal to look after their interests.

SAVED ONE DAY'S PAY.

The A. T. & S. F. Closes Its Shops For One Day to Make a Moving—The Meeper Contract.

Kansas City, Jan. 26.—The machine shops, oil shops, repair yards and all the other branches of the mechanical department of the entire Santa Fe railway system, with the exception of the round houses, were closed yesterday. The shops were idle by the order of the new management, which is seeking to economize in every way possible. It is said that the officials saw that the road would not be able to earn this month an amount sufficient to defray the expenses of the various departments, and it was decided to close the shops for one day in order to reduce the deficit. The amount saved by the closing of the shops yesterday will approximate $7,000. It is understood that it is not the intention of the company to close the shops one day of each week, as many of the employees feared when yesterday's order was announced.

It is announced from the Santa Fe headquarters in Chicago, that the report in circulation that the Santa Fe railway had entered into a contract with the Wagner Palace Car company to put its sleepers on the entire system, replacing the Pullman cars, which are now running, is not well founded. No agreement has been made. Furthermore, an official closely identified with the Wagner company said there was very little prospect that the company's cars would run over the Santa Fe.

TO-DAY'S CONDENSATIONS.

New York's 400 is at Mrs. Astor's dinner party this afternoon.

Fruit trees are in bloom and strawberries are ripe in southern Texas.

The Missouri Democratic convention to elect delegates to Chicago takes place April 15, at Sedalia, "as St. Louis is a gold-bug town."

To-day is the 87th birthday of Emperor William, and throughout the German empire the day is being marked by festivities of one kind or another.

At a special cabinet meeting in Spain it was resolved to increase the duties of imports into Cuba, and especially on foreign goods, in order to meet war expenses. Gen. Valeriano Weyler, the newly appointed captain general of the island of Cuba, has sailed for Havana, accompanied by 1,000 cavalry.

About 100 devotees of what, including nearly all the crack players of the country, are in St. Louis to attend the midwinter meeting of the American Whist league. The principal event of the meeting, which will continue for several days, is the match for the American league trophy.

Presidential Possibilities.

St. Louis, Jan. 27.—The Populists are talking of nominating Judge H. C. Caldwell as president in case the Democrats fail to nominate a free coinage man. In that event also he will be endorsed by the Bimetallic union. A strong sentiment is growing up also for the nomination of Senator Cameron, of Pennsylvania, with Teller for vice-president, all contingent upon the failure of the Democratic party to name a silver man.

WHIP-HAND FOR GOLDBUGS.

Another Illustration of the Beauties of Republican Financial Legislation.

New York, Jan. 27.—In its financial review for the past week the Morning Journal says:

"In order to make gold shipments this week the banks have been obliged to do so by drawing the gold from the treasury. A premium is paid for greenbacks, and it is impossible to get greenbacks except by banks without paying a premium. The banks will not give up greenbacks unless pressure is brought to bear on them, so the result is that bankers and exporters are engaged in a stiff game, with greenbacks as the table stakes."

"Their emergency the exporters have threatened that if they cannot not get greenbacks they will send alarming cablegrams to London to the effect that gold can not be obtained because the banks have ordered legal tenders and will not give them up. The effect of this abroad, it is argued, would be that financiers would assume that American money had gone to smash and they would thereupon begin selling American securities, thus bringing about another panic. This possibility is being pictured in its worse phase in order to make bankers give up greenbacks, and there is no doubt that the scheme of the exporters has succeeded to a slight extent at least."

"Because of the uncertain future of the reserve the treasury officials are severely criticized for not giving out information about gold withdrawals other than for shipment. It is claimed that this secrecy may result in a misapprehension some day with disastrous results to the market."

A SQUEAL FROM BOSTON.

Boston.—The Herald says: "Gold and legal tenders are here made articles of merchandise, and the money in use is silver, silver notes and national bank bills, in payment of legal tender deposits. As these certificates are in $10,000 pieces, and the secretary of the treasury refuses to authorize $5,000 pieces, it becomes embarrassing in paying odd balances to them up in some way. The clerk of the clearing house does this by depositing treasury $10,000 certificates with some bank and drawing non-interest checks against them. The clearing house association has the remedy for this difficulty in its own hands. By a rule of its own making silver certificates and national bank notes are tendered in paying balances. If silver certificates were ordered, they would have to be accepted. Why, then, should not the rule be repealed, and payment of balances in lawful money be allowed? The banks surely should not discriminate against their own notes, and especially in payment of legal tender notes in favor of bank notes. It may be said that the banks deserve what they are experiencing at clearing. It does not seem quite the thing that national banks should improve substitutes for money when they have their own notes in sufficient amount for use. It looks as if the banks would have to cease discriminating against silver and bank bills, or else take out more clearing house certificates."

Italy and Abyssinia.

Rome, Jan. 27.—News was received here that the Italian forces, which have been besieged at Makalle, Abyssinia, for some time, have evacuated that place with the honors of war. The news was hailed with great manifestations of relief and joy throughout Italy. It is believed this will lead to peace between Italy and Abyssinia.

Illinois Republicans.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 27.—The corridors of the Leland hotel are fairly alive to-day with Republican politicians and party leaders from all over the state. They are here for the annual "love feast" to-morrow, which will mark the formal opening of the campaign. Candidates for the various places on the state ticket are here in force, including a half-dozen each for lieutenant-governor, state treasurer, secretary of state, attorney general and state auditor. A meeting of the state executive committee will be held to-night to fix the date and place for the state convention. Peoria and Springfield are the chief bidders for the convention.

The Jury Disagreed.

Wichita, Kan., Jan. 27.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Ita Leonard, charged with being accessory to the murder of her husband last November for $5,000 life insurance, disagreed at midnight and was discharged. The woman's former husband, Marion Williamson, charged with being in the conspiracy with her, was put on trial to-day.

BREEZY COUNCIL MEETING

Report of the City Council Committee on Police Regarding the City Marshalship.

MARSHAL GOLD'S RESIGNATION ACCEPTED

Mayor Nominates Pedro A. Sandoval on Recommendation of Six Councilmen—Several Citizens Protest—Nomination Confirmed.

The city council met in adjourned regular session, on Saturday evening, with Mayor Esley in the chair and Councilmen Andrews, Delgado, Dominguez, Garcia, Harroun, Holmes, McCabe and Sosa present.

The committee on police submitted the following report:

To the City Council of the City of Santa Fe: Santa Fe, N. M., Jan. 25, 1896.—Gentlemen: Your committee on police, to whom was referred the resignation of Ned Gold, city marshal, tendered at the meeting of this council, on January 20, 1896, have the honor to report that Mr. Gold was duly notified in writing on the morning of January 23, that at 7:30 p. m. of that day, this committee would meet at the office of Marcelino Garcia, one of the members of said committee, then and there to hear any evidence he, the said marshal, might have to offer in support of the charges made by him against the city officials in said resignation.

The committee met at the time and place referred to in said notice, but Mr. Gold failed to appear, though he was represented by Mr. A. B. Rennehan, who informed us that Mr. Gold could not be present on account of business which he had to attend to at that hour, and also that the witnesses by whom he intended to prove his allegations could not be present on account of sickness and business, and requested the committee to defer action on the resignation until Friday, January 24, at 10 o'clock a. m., which said request after due consideration was granted by the committee.

On January 24, at the time and place agreed to, the committee met again. Mr. Gold came before the committee and asked leave to withdraw his resignation, tendered on January 20, 1896, to this body, and tender in lieu thereof a simple resignation. The matter was fully discussed by the committee, and after due deliberation Mr. Gold was allowed to withdraw said resignation, tendered January 20, 1896, and substitute the one here attached which explains itself.

As Mr. Gold says that his grievances are personal, and as investigation of the charges preferred by him in his resignation already withdrawn would entail considerable cost to the city, and as we believe that it would not be to the interests of the city, or any one concerned with the administration of the same, that a man, who confounds his private affairs with his official duties, should be continued in the important position Mr. Gold now holds, therefore we are of the opinion that his resignation should be accepted.

MONDAY, JANUARY 27.

The Wall street fellows have again given the signal to the international gold trust. German legislators are once more talking of silver as money. Funny isn't it? Whenever the friends of silver get the upper hand in the senate this foreign howl goes up.

The prospects are that a large delegation of Democrats will be in attendance at the territorial committee meeting February 5. The supreme court opens its session on that date, and the New Mexican is authorized to say that all Democrats, whether members of the committee or not, will be welcomed at this conference of party leaders.

The New Mexican feels in duty bound to recognize the belligerence of the Lordsburg Liberal long enough to pluck a handful or so of its tail feathers. The Liberal should have known better than to pin its faith to such a weakling as the Socorro Chief. Perhaps Col. Joseph Sheridan, too, may glean some useful information from a perusal of an article on that apportionment appearing in another place.

And now the Las Cruces colonists, through their organ, the Rio Grande Republican, have a bitter grievance against the Reed house. Instead of complimenting Delegate Catron, as did most of the newspapers of the territory, Democratic and Republican alike, the Las Cruces organ declares it "a shame" that the house should have approved the acts of the last New Mexico legislature. This is tough. If Delegate Catron isn't to have better support than that from his party at home he had, perhaps, better resign in favor of "Max Knott, agent."

The goldbug bosses are already parading out the plumes. In case McKinley is elected, John Sherman will become secretary of the treasury and Powell Clayton will be made secretary of interior, and Algor secretary of war. If Reed is successful then Platt, of New York, will hold the treasury portfolio and Dingley and Quay will both get cabinet positions. Should Allison go in then J. S. Clarkson, of Iowa, will become chief dispenser of official patronage. A fine kettle of fish these Republican statesmen!

A WRONG FOUNDATION.

"A little knowledge is a dangerous thing." The editor of the Lordsburg Liberal having learned long division, started to write an article on apportionment, without supplementing that little knowledge by some other information of more importance.

If the apportionment for statehood is to be based on the census of 1890, then it is most important to get the population of each county entitled to representation right to start with. This he did not take the trouble to do, although, besides being in the census reports, he could have found it in the annual reports of Gov. Prince, who was in office at the time and should be good Republican authority. The Chief of Socorro has had several slap-dash articles based on the same ignorance or intentional mis-statement. They have taken the entire population of counties, including Indians and U. S. soldiers, instead of the population entitled to representation.

If the Lordsburg editor had read the section of the constitution which he quotes with a little care, he would have seen that even that excluded "Indians not taxed." It is a pity that he did not see the careful and judicious editorial in the Optic of January 15 before he allowed his own crude article to appear and thus display his ignorance, as the Optic article gave the representative population of each county exactly correct.

To make it so plain that the most obtuse can understand it we will go over the whole figure.

The total populations, including Indians and soldiers, were as follows, as appears from the census bulletin, page 129, of October 27, 1891:

|------------|--------|
| Bernalillo | 31,913 |
| Coffey | 3,944 |
| Dona Ana | 8,191 |
| Grant | 9,637 |
| Lincoln | 7,981 |
| Mora | 10,618 |
| Rio Arriba | 11,334 |
| San Juan | 1,350 |
| San Miguel | 24,204 |
| Santa Fe | 14,362 |
| Sierra | 3,630 |
| Socorro | 9,585 |
| Taos | 9,828 |
| Valencia | 13,876 |

Total 151,363

If the editor of the Liberal (or the Chief) had desired to be accurate he would have found on page 11 of Gov. Prince's report for 1890 that the Pueblo Indians included were as follows:

|----------------------|-------|
| Bernalillo—7 pueblos | 3,478 |
| Rio Arriba—1 pueblo | 406 |
| Santa Fe—3 pueblos | 563 |
| Taos—2 pueblos | 509 |
| Valencia—3 pueblos | 3,322 |

On the same page he would have found that the soldiers at forts were as follows:

|------------------|-----|
| Grant—Bayard | 509 |
| Lincoln—Stanton | 191 |
| Mora—Culon | 175 |
| Santa Fe—Marey | 109 |
| Valencia—Wingate | 480 |

Deducting these non-voting elements, we have the population entitled to representation as follows:

|------------|--------|
| Bernalillo | 17,435 |
| Coffey | 3,574 |
| Dona Ana | 8,191 |
| Grant | 9,148 |
| Lincoln | 8,580 |
| Mora | 10,413 |
| Rio Arriba | 11,128 |
| San Juan | 1,350 |
| San Miguel | 24,204 |
| Santa Fe | 13,803 |
| Sierra | 3,239 |
| Socorro | 9,076 |
| Taos | 9,319 |
| Valencia | 10,574 |

Total 141,854

These are exactly the figures that the Optic editorial gives, and just those on which Gov. Prince based his apportionment of legislative districts in 1892.

On page 11 of his report for 1892, he says: "The representative population amounted to 142,854, being arrived at by deducting 8,278 Indians and 1,461 soldiers from the total population of 153,593."

The foundation of the Liberal editor's arithmetic being thus incorrect, of course the results of his long division are incorrect. If he wants to see a true statement of an apportionment based on the 1890 representative population, he can find it in the Optic editorial before alluded to, but even that editorial, for a Republican paper, admits the injustice of using a five year old census as a basis, when every one knows that the population has vastly increased in a few sections, and that they ought to be treated accordingly.

The section of the organic act, which the Liberal so glibly quotes, says the apportionment shall be made "giving to each section of the territory representation in proportion to its population"—not its population five years before, but its population when the apportionment is made. Chaves county has more votes now than it had total population in 1890. It would be a blunder as well as a crime not to recognize this fact. The Liberal's own county, Grant, increased in the ten years, from 1880 to 1890, from 4,539 to 9,637, more than double. Taos decreased from 11,029 to 9,828. Does any fair man think that if an apportionment had been made in 1889, Grant county should have had no recognition of its rapid increase?

We are not disposed to dwell further on this matter of apportionment at present, because it seems that every fair-minded Republican admits that it should be corrected, and these are not times, as to standard, for unnecessary fault-finding, but for harmonious and united action.

But we submit that it is the plain duty of the Liberal to confess its mistake and to apologize to its readers for misleading them.

thin baby

To be thin, for a baby, is to be deprived of its natural ease; to suffer and not be able to feel it; to wear a sad pinched face; to live on the edge of sickness; to grow imperfectly; and to lose the power of resisting disease. When a baby is thin it needs more fat than it gets from its food; it is starved, fat-starved. Scott's Emulsion is the easiest fat it can have; the fat it needs.

The PECOS VALLEY of . . . NEW MEXICO

OFFERS unequal advantages to the farmer, fruit grower, live stock raiser, dairyman, bee-keeper, and to the home-seeker generally.

The soil of the Pecos Valley is of high average fertility, and under irrigation produces bountiful crops of most of the grasses, grains, vegetables, berries and fruits of the temperate and some of those of the semi-tropical zone. In such fruit as the peach, pear, plum, grape, prune, apricot, nectarine, cherry, quince, etc., the Valley will dispute for the pre-eminence with California; while competent authority pronounces its upper portions in particular the finest apple country in the world.

Enormous yields of such forage crops as alfalfa, sorghum and Egyptian corn make the feeding of cattle and sheep and the raising and fattening of hogs a very profitable occupation.

The cultivation of canebrake—a lasting material of great value—is becoming an important industry in the Pecos Valley, a home market having been afforded for all that can be raised, at a price yielding a handsome profit.

The climate of the Pecos Valley has no superior in the United States, being pre-eminently healthful and health restoring.

Lands with perpetual water-rights are for sale at low prices and on easy terms. The water supply of the Pecos Valley has no equal in all the arid region for constancy and reliability; and this with the superb climate, produced by the soil and the facilities afforded by the railway which extends through the Valley's entire length, will cause these lands to enjoy a constant, and at times rapid, increase in value.

The recent completion of the Pecos Valley Railway to Roswell will cause the more rapid settlement and development of the upper portions of the Valley, including the rich Felix section. The company has recently purchased many of the older improved farms about Roswell, and has now for sale lands to meet the wants of all—raw lands, partially improved lands, as well as farms with houses, orchards and fields of alfalfa and other crops. In the vicinity of Roswell several pieces of land have been divided into five and ten acre tracts, suitable for orchards and truck farms in connection with suburban homes. Certain of these tracts are being planted to orchards, and will be cultivated and cared for by the company for three years at the end of which period they will be handed over to the purchasers. Write for pamphlet fully describing the terms and conditions on which these several classes of tracts are sold.

POOR INDEED!

There are degrees and kinds of poverty, just as there are differences of opinion among those who compute and measure poverty and riches by different standards. Some men deem themselves poor because they are less rich than others, again there are comparatively poor people who are satisfied with a competence. There is a kind of poverty for which no amount of wealth can compensate, namely, a poverty of bodily stamina, evinced by nervousness and derangement of the functions of digestion, bilious secretion and the bowels. To restore vigor upon a permanent basis there is one remedy that covers the requirements, "fills the system" and this is Hostetter's Stomach-ers. By restoring digestion, giving a timely impulse to the action of the bile and liver and tranquilizing the system, it fulfills the condition necessary to a resumption of strength by the system. It also overcomes malaria and rheumatism.

A gentleman took the following telegram to the telegraph office: Mrs. Brown, Pittsburgh, I announced with grief the death of Uncle James. Come quickly to read will. I believe we are his heirs. SUGY-HONEY'S WORK

There was no pomp or ceremony at the christening of Sugy-Honey; neither would the most visionary astrologer have endowed her with a mission. Her mother was the favorite maid of a pretty Georgia girl before the days of secession and had given to her baby this queer sounding name, because, as she explained to her young mistress:

"Sugar is sweet, and so is honey, and so I named her for both."

Mary Hanson laughed at her servant's fancy, but she was an indulgent mistress and made no real objection, so that Hannah's baby was henceforth known to Hannah as Sugy-Honey.

To mistress and maid, as to mother and child, the happy years went by without prelude of the horrors of war in store for that summer land and that sunny hearted people. Yet when the first gun of Fort Sumter sent its thunderous echoes round the world, it found Mary's father already the colonel of a regiment of the way to join his command, leaving his plantation to the care of his wife and daughter and a few trusted servants. These had proved themselves faithful in days of peace and prosperity. They were now to be found not less so through years of adversity and peril. Hannah, with Jake, her husband, and Sugy-Honey were the main house servants. "All I own in the world and all I love I leave in your hands," were the last words of Colonel Hanson as he rode away, and events proved that he knew in whom he could trust.

The day came at last when the war, with all its changes, was over, and Hannah had heard that her master was coming home. Four years of civil strife had left their impress on hillside and valley, as well in the hearts of the people. The Hanson mansion, which had been built in colonial times, of stone brought as ballast from the mother country, was now a heap of ruins, and its ashes had been trampled by swaying lines of men grappled together in the deadly struggle for victory. Another impressive symbol of the family misfortunes was a newly made grave in the little family burying ground, where an inscription on a slab of white pine told to those who cared to read that the mother of the household had closed her eyes to the sorrows of time. Hannah was making ready for her master's little room in the corner of the yard called an office, which, with her own cabin, were the only buildings left standing. While thus occupied she was expounding her troubles to Sugy-Honey, who was diligently scrubbing the floor.

"These here is quite good of de place but you on me, on yer daddy, on po' ole miss dadd wid heartbreak, case Miss Mary went on marry dat Yankee captin. En what is I gwine ter tell master when he cum? I jes' lak ter know dat!"

Sugy-Honey did not essay to solve this problem, but, giving her scrubbing brush an extra dig, she said:

"Mammy, does you reckon master will tak' on 'bout Miss Mary gittin married lak ole miss did?"

"Sho, chile, ole miss didn't keer so much for herself. She done give up ter take whatevher de Lawd sent. 'Twas jes' case she knowed how master was gwine rar when he git home."

The clucking of the little gate broke in on the conversation, and turning they saw Colonel Hanson standing in the doorway. He had been a handsome man, but hardship and suffering had left their mark upon him, and he looked old and worn.

"Thank de Lawd, master," said Hannah. "I sho is glad ter see you back. Take de cheer by de fire—dusting dat article wid her handkerchiefs de while, though it was already spotted. 'Set dar on warm yer po', tired feet on lem me git yer sum supper."

Hannah knew he had heard of his wife's death and of the destruction of the house, but no one had told him of the defection of his daughter, and she was seeking with busle and chatter to put off the evil moment when the ill tidings must be told.

Colonel Hanson made no reply, but looked through the window at the vacant spot where his home once stood, and at the grave just beyond the box borders the garden, showing a reddish yellow in the last rays of the setting sun.

His face, though and was not hopeless, for, despite the issues of the war and the desolation surrounding him, he was expecting each moment to hear his daughter's voice to feel her arms around his neck. He had been alone in his sorrow so long! Why did she not come? At last he turned to Hannah and said, "Where is Mary?"

"Oh, master, who is ter tell you 'bout dat? I can't. And throwing her apron over her head she roared to and fro, shaking with sobs."

"Speak, woman!" said the colonel sternly. "Is she dead?"

Hannah uncovered her face and looked at him. When he looked and talked like that, she knew she must obey.

"She is married, on when she heard you was in prison she on her husband say dey gwine git you out."

"Married? And to whom?"

"Ter dat captin whar cum long here wid General Sherman. He took keer ob her on ole miss when de house was burnt, on though she hated a Yankee like pizen love is stronger dan hate, on she loved him."

Colonel Hanson said nothing, but he looked like a man who had received his deathblow.

Hannah knelt at his feet, pouring out from her heart protestations of loyalty and affection and from a stooping she had taken from her pocket $200 in gold. She begged him to take the money; she had made it in various ways and saved it for him, and then she added:

"I 'zo gwine ter stay wid you, master; case dat's what I promised ole miss when she was on her dyin bed, wid one han in my han on de order in Miss Mary's. But she looked at me last, on she say in a whisper, 'You'll stay wid dem, Hannah, on I answered, 'Fore God, I will white dems brest in my body, on I ain gold back on a promus ter de dadd, not of I knows it!'"

As she rose to her feet Colonel Hanson said, "Keep the money for yourself, Hannah," and with an imperious wave of his hand, "Never let me hear my daughter's name again."

And that was all he would say. Hannah looked for him, saw that he slept comfortably and tried in many ways to arouse his old time interest in the farm. It was all in vain. A mental paralysis seemed to have settled down upon him that nothing could dispel.

"He jes' lak dead man walkin'," Hannah said to her husband. "He's got a look on his face lak he was searin through eternity. He nebber say nuthin; he go erlong ebber mawrin ter ole miss's grave, on dar he sets. He won't read nor write, nor nuthin."

"He gwine go crazy, sum'er dese days," answered Jake dolefully.

"He look so envious outen his eyes," Hannah continued, "I gittin 'frail ter let him set thar by himself all day. I tink I'll make Sugy-Honey stay dar mosly, so she kin tell me of he try ter hurt himself."

Jake assented to this, and after ample explanation it was understood between the three that Sugy-Honey was to be valet de chambre to Colonel Hanson. She well remembered her young mistress, whom she adored with an affection the mistress of today never knows. The knowledge that Miss Mary would want her to stay with "master" touched a responsive chord in her heart. She could not do too much. Each day thereafter found her in attendance. Sometimes in an obtrusive corner she rubbed the knees. At other times she softly played checkers on an old shawl, but whatever her apparent occupation, hands, feet and eyes were always at his service. If he happened to be thirsty, she brought the colonel fresh water; if sleepy, she beat up the pillow on his lounge and fanned him while he took a nap. Sometimes she sat with a stray newspaper in her hand pointing out the letters and making them into words, for her young mistress had taught her a little and told her to try and learn more.

Just as this function Hannah received a letter from Mary, which she brought to Sugy-Honey to read. Mary asked for news of her father, and said they had been unable to trace him, and wound up by telling of her baby boy, named for Colonel Hanson.

This was great news to Sugy-Honey, and she decided to write to her young mistress to come home and bring the baby. She had learned to write a little, and after many attempts she evolved this letter:

"Dere miss Mary, you is my miss Mary yit, eben if we all is free. Hab we forgot de good time we use hab? I loves you, oh, how I loves you on de baby. I wants you ter cum home ter yer paw. He say he won't see you, but you cum anyhow on bring de baby. Mammy tink master gwine ter die. He don't say nuthin, he don't eat much, he don't sleep much. I stays wid him all day, on daddy he sleep by de bed ebber night. I 'zo yer little Sugy-Honey."

This letter reached Mary in her distant home. Despite every effort, she had heard nothing of her father and feared he was dead. So even with this sad news it was with a lighter heart she journeyed toward her old home.

Arriving in the neighborhood, she sent for old Hannah, who gave her the particulars of her father's condition, and together they had many an anxious discussion as to what was best to be done.

"De doctor say it wouldn't do fer you ter go see him. He is so sot agin you havin de captin. De shock of seel you might kill him," Hannah said on one of these occasions. "But you kin stay close by, on I'll make out like I'll hab Sugy-Honey ter ter nite!" He don't know what yer new name is, nobow, on she kin take de baby ober dar, on maybe master'll notice him arter awhile."

Thus it was arranged, and the next day when Sugy-Honey did not appear as usual Colonel Hanson seemed restless and finally asked where she was.

"I dun hied her out ter nite," answered Hannah. "I tant she might as well be makin or little somethin es not."

Colonel Hanson said no more, but he evidently missed the willing hands and feet and the cheery presence to which he had been so long accustomed. As he sat on the porch that evening, a silent, disconsolate figure, he heard a jolly laugh and a baby's pretty cooing. It proved to be Sugy-Honey and her new charge.

The baby was a lovely little fellow, just beginning to prattle. When Sugy-Honey put him down from her lap, he toddled in the most matter of fact way to Colonel Hanson, put his hand on the colonel's knee and chatted incessantly in his pretty, lisping lingo.

The colonel soon commenced to take a little interest in farm matters, to inquire of Jake how many of the old negroes were still on the place, what crops he planted and to give some advice as to their cultivation. Yet it was plain that his day began when Sugy-Honey came with the baby and ended when they left. He still had in the idea who the little one really was, for all were afraid to tell him.

One day in early autumn Sugy-Honey and the baby made their usual pilgrimage to the old place.

The baby had a long weed with a fuzzy end for a tail, playing horse. He was calling on "Tunnel," as he called him, to whip up his horse, and while prancing to and fro in some way the weed caught on fire from the open fireplace, and before any one realized that danger was near the little form was partially enveloped in flames. Sugy-Honey rushed to the rescue, for she was the first to see the blaze, and the colonel wrapped the screaming baby in a rug. Their hands and arms were severely burned, but the baby escaped miraculously. Though all his pretty curls were gone and his outside clothing burned, yet the woolen garment next his body was scarcely scorched.

Colonel Hanson had worked with a will, and while he was rolling and rubbing the baby form was mentally making an almost unconscious vow.

"O Lord, spare me this little one I had begun to love, and I will no longer waste my life. Only let me save the baby from a hideous death, and I will arouse from my lethargy. I will soften my heart to my only child and take her into my life again."

All this and much more he vowed while life and death hung in the balance and while he and Sugy-Honey were winning the victory.

At last the danger was past; the baby had ceased crying and was giving out of its rippling laughs over a caper his nurse was executing for his benefit. A swift rush of skirts was heard, for bad news flies quickly, and the baby's mother, with open arms and her heart in her eyes, was in the room, hugging first the baby and then her father, then laughing and once talking and explaining all at once. Hannah, who stood in the doorway, with uplifted, streaming eyes, exclaimed:

"Bress de Lawd, O my soul!"

While Sugy-Honey, despite her burning hands, was dancing a jig in the corner, for, though she did not know it, her mission was fulfilled.—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

Health and strength carry us through dangers and make us safe in the presence of peril. Disease germs do no harm in a healthy body. A germ is not a big thing, and is only physical weakness that makes it dangerous. A perfectly strong man with rich, pure blood, has nothing to fear from germs. He may be in the bacilli of consumption with impunity. Nature is continually working to throw off any impurities that may come into the body, but if there is a weak spot where the germs may find an entrance to the tissues, then the trouble begins. Disease germs propagate with lightning-like rapidity. Once in the blood, they quickly fill the whole body. The only way to get rid of them is to kill them. This is what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is for. It purifies the blood. That means that it kills the germs, but that is only part of what it does. It assists in the digestion of food and puts the digestive organs in a perfect condition. It stimulates the secretion of digestive fluids, so promoting assimilation and nutrition. It fills the blood full of healthy red corpuscles. It purifies and enriches every drop of blood in the whole body and so supplies the tissues with the food they need. It builds up strong, healthy flesh and puts the whole body into a disease-resistant state. Nine-tenths of all human ailments come from the same cause—impurity in the blood. Take almost any disease you please and trace the cause of it. You will find it in the blood. Purify and enrich the blood and you remove the cause, and so you cure the disease inevitably and infallibly. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all diseases depending upon poor, impoverished, thin, impure blood.

The beauty of our fair ones gives point to our spears, and edge to our swords; their words are our law; and as soon will a lamp shed a lustre as unkindled as a knight distinguishes himself by feats of arms, having no mistress of his affection.

If there is any one thing that needs to be purified, it is politics, so the reformer says, and many agree thereto. But blood tells, and as a blood purifier and liver corrector Simmons Liver Regulator is the best medicine. "I use it in preference to any other."—Sawyer Mr. S. M. Hywell, of Middleport, Ohio. And Dr. D. S. Russell, of Farmville, Va., writes, "It fulfills all you promise for it."

Popular Low Price California Excursions. The Santa Fe route personally conducted weekly excursions to California are deservedly popular with travelers who seek a wise economy in cost of travel and sleeper tickets without sacrifice of any essential comfort. About one-third saved as compared with first-class passage. The Pullmans occupied by these parties are of latest pattern and afford every necessary convenience. A porter goes with each car, and an experienced agent of the company is in charge. Ladies, invalids, elderly people, etc., will appreciate this personal care. The Santa Fe California line passes south of the region of severe snow storms and is remarkably picturesque. The daily service is same as above, except as regards agents in charge. NONSENSICAL CHARGES.

A Santa Fe Attorney Pays 10 Cents a Line for Editorial Space in the Citizen for Purposes of Misrepresentation.

The leading editorial in the Albuquerque Citizen of last Saturday, entitled "Another Scheme," was contributed by some attorney for the Santa Fe Gas & Electric company, and the fact that it was paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line proves that the Citizen's editorial columns are still in the market at the "usual rates."

The article in question refers to the action of the penitentiary commissioners in leasing the surplus power generated by the penitentiary electric plant to the Capital Electric company as a "scheme now being fixed up to light the capital city with electricity at the expense of the territory," incidentally intimates that the Santa Fe Gas & Electric company was not treated fairly in that it was not accorded an opportunity to bid for the surplus power at the penitentiary, and more than hints that the transaction was a "put up job" to rob both the people of the territory and the city of Santa Fe in the interest of a "little crowd" in this city.

The New Mexican cherishes only the most friendly feelings toward the Santa Fe Gas & Electric company, recognizes the value of the improvements that both it and the water company (a sister corporation) have made in the city, and believes that these companies are entitled to the fairest and most liberal possible treatment at the hands of the people and authorities of this city. Hence this newspaper very much regrets that such an untruthful and misleading article as the one referred to should have emanated from the office of the local electric company.

The writer of the paid article in the Citizen pretends not to know either what the territory is to receive or what the city of Santa Fe is to be charged for the surplus penitentiary power. This is nonsense. The writer perfectly well knows the facts having been fully set forth in these columns, that the Capital Electric company agrees to pay the territory $6 per month per horse power used, guarantees to use thirty horse power per month, and may use sixty horse power. This would certainly yield the territory an income of $180 per month and the amount might be increased to $360 per month. As it costs about $30 per month to operate the penitentiary electric plant, it will be perceived that the contract will result in free lights at the penitentiary besides yielding a handsome monthly cash balance to the territory.

As to what the people of Santa Fe will be called upon to pay, in the event that the city council awards the lighting contract to the Capital Electric company, the writer in the Citizen was equally well informed, for the proposition of the Capital company to the city was printed in these columns several weeks ago.

The writer in the Citizen is also well aware that the city council has entered into no contract with any company for lighting the city during the ensuing year, that it is now advertising for bids for this service and will let the contract to the lowest responsible bidder at the proper time. In this connection it may be added that the promoters of the Capital company complain that the advertisement mentioned unfairly discriminates in favor of the Santa Fe Gas & Electric Light company inasmuch as it permits the putting up of city warrants in lieu of certified checks as forfeits, well knowing that the latter company has city warrants, while the Capital company has no such collateral to offer.

The entertainments given by the members of St. Francis band are becoming a source of enjoyment to our amusement loving people, as was demonstrated by the packed house which attended the one given on Saturday night. Mr. Chapin, a well known Las Vegas business man, member of the cattle sanitary board, is in the capital to-day. The new street to the National cemetery should be made an attractive boulevard, neatly graded and lined with shade trees. If the thoroughfare is opened shortly the school children who celebrate Arbor day could do the tree planting. Doubtless the superintendent of the cemetery would be glad to see that the trees are properly watered and otherwise cared for.

The A. T. & S. F. is planning to take off trains Nos. 5 and 6 between Kansas City and Denver and put on a Missouri river-Rocky mountain flyer, similar to the fast California train. This is designed to catch the great rush of passenger traffic which is sure to reach out for the central west this spring and summer as a result in the gold boom.

Another leap year has come, says an exchange, and if the privileges are to be taken advantage of, we advise our fair readers to make the most of it. There will not be another leap year for eight years. Under our present calendar, established by Gregory XIII in 1582, and adopted in English speaking lands in 1752, every fourth year is a leap year, excepting those ending a century not divisible by 400 without a remainder. Thus 1600 was a leap year, but 1700 and 1800 were not and 1900 will not be. In this way the calendar year and solar year will be kept in substantial conformity for all time to come.
