SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 22.

As yet none of the Catronist organs have vouchsafed an explanation of our delegate's absence from the famous house committee meeting.

The Republican organs have not compared Delegate Catron's record in congress with that of Mr. Joseph for at least five days. Queer, isn't it?

The Republican politicians who are assembled in Santa Fe to-day are not a happy lot. They have to look too many ways in their efforts to please the big bosses of the party.

SPEAKER REED'S moon-shaped face must have been a study when on Thursday Congressman Wilson, of Ohio, despite much opposition, forced his point and had the clerk read to the house McKinley's Chicago speech. The whole proceeding must have been intensely comical.

So it seems that the Democratic party is not so dead as some of the Republican organs would try and have us believe. Think of Democrats electing their ticket in Scranton, Pa., heretofore a hot bed of high protection! Oh, no, it isn't dead by a long shot.

The Elkins presidential boom may very properly be termed a Catronist drag-net to facilitate the catching of Republican suckers in New Mexico. It will fool nobody into throwing away his support on Czar Reed, the arch-enemy of silver and the new states.

COL. HUGHES' Citizen seems to be andly in need of a balance wheel. Its editorial utterances are veritable Munchausenisms, thrown off with a recklessness and a total disregard for truth and consistency that would do credit to Citizen George Francis Train.

PRESIDENT RIPLEY's friends say his policy in managing the great Santa Fe railway system is to be characterized chiefly by an effort to build up local interests along the line of the road. This is gratifying. Such a policy will be hailed with delight by the people of New Mexico.

NOW THAT the Ministerial Association of El Paso has passed resolutions commending the action of Gov. Thornton and Marshal Hall in opposing the invasion of New Mexico by the prize fighters, the Albuquerque Citizen will have to find something else to lie about when speaking of those in official life.

"The silver craze will not figure in the presidential election outside of a few of the mining states."—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

"The silver question—the most exciting and important of all the issues."—Washington Post.

Here we have the Republican campaign situation outlined by two very eminent authorities. When such doctors disagree who shall decide? N. B.—Possibly the people!

CONSIDERING all the circumstances, probably Delegate Catron had best lay aside the statehood proposition, leaving it to a Democratic congress, and devote his talents to that new supreme court bill and the repeal of the alien non-investments act. Congress is likely to adjourn soon and as yet our representative of "brains and energy" has only the anti-prize fight law to his credit.

The heaven of financial reform is working out these days in some curious ways. The black-balling of Carnegie as an honorary member of the Cleveland board of trade comes simultaneously with the announcement that Debs is to be run as the Populist candidate for governor of Indiana "on a free silver platform and opposition to corporations." These things come to humiliate us now as a natural outgrowth of the relentless war which the gold trust, the bankers' trust, the corporations combine and all the other trusts and combines are making upon the money of the masses.

The manner in which Dan Stuart outwitted the Mexican authorities shows him to possess rather clever managerial ability. It is clear now that it was never intended to have the fight take place in New Mexico and that the play at El Paso was all a blind to excite the Chihuahua government, while the governor of Chihuahua rested in blissful ignorance of what was going on in his jurisdiction. The result of the fight must have proved a great disappointment to the kinestoscope people; almost as much as it was to Maher. Nor was it much of a victory for Col. Fitzsimmons, but just the same he now ranks as the world's champion pug, and Col. Corbett may as well get ready to meet him and do little talking about it.

TRY THE KAFFIR CORN.

Every New Mexico farmer should this season make it a point to plant a patch of Kaffir corn. It flourishes without irrigation, though, of course, where irrigation is possible a heavier yield of forage results. As a food for stock it has no superior, while for the table it is excellent. A gentleman who has tried it says it is equal to rice or oatmeal when served with milk or when ground makes excellent bread. Its cultivation has been attended by such splendid results in the arid districts of Kansas, Oklahoma and Colorado that it can not but become a popular and profitable crop for New Mexico.

JOHN SHEPHERD'S idea that Uncle Sam's promise to pay is of no account unless backed up with a gold reserve in the treasury has cost the tax-payers of the country about $300,000,000 during the past year, and now comes Banker Henry Clews with the solemn assurance that the treasury will contain fully $125,000,000 "after allowing for the withdrawals of gold for paying for the bonds." This is comforting no doubt to the Wall street speculators, but it will strike the average citizen as a pretty dear price to pay for supporting the goldbug idea of finance.

The PECOS VALLEY of . . . NEW MEXICO

OFFERS unequalled advantages to the farmer, fruit grower, live stock raiser, dairyman, bee-keeper, and to the home-seeker generally. The soil of the Pecos Valley is of high average fertility, and under irrigation produces bountiful crops of most of the grains, vegetables, berries and fruits of the temperate and some of those of the semi-tropical zone. In such fruit as the peach, pear, plum, grape, prune, apricot, nectarine, cherry, quince, etc., the Valley will dispute for the pre-eminence with California; while competent authority pronounces its upper portions in particular the finest apple country in the world. Enormous yields of such forage crops as alfalfa, sorghum and Egyptian corn make the feeding of cattle and sheep and the raising and fattening of hogs a very profitable occupation. The cultivation of canebrake—a tanning material of great value—is becoming an important industry in the Pecos Valley, a home market having been afforded for all that can be raised, at a price yielding a handsome profit. The climate of the Pecos Valley has no superior in the United States, being pre-eminently healthful and health restoring. Lands with perpetual water-rights are for sale at low prices and on easy terms. The water supply of the Pecos Valley has no equal in all the arid region for constancy and reliability; and this with the superb climate, productive soil and the facilities afforded by the railway which extends through the Valley's entire length, will cause these lands to enjoy a constant, and at times rapid, increase in value. The recent completion of the Pecos Valley Railway to Roswell will cause the more rapid settlement and development of the upper portions of the Valley, including the rich Felix section. The company has recently purchased many of the older improved farms about Roswell, and has now for sale lands to meet the wants of all—raw lands, partially improved lands, as well as farms with houses, orchards and fields of alfalfa and other crops. In the vicinity of Roswell several pieces of land have been divided into five and ten acre tracts, suitable for orchards and truck farms in connection with suburban homes. Certain of these tracts are being planted to orchards, and will be cultivated and cared for by the company for three years at the end of which period they will be handed over to the purchasers. Write for pamphlet fully describing the terms and conditions on which these several classes of tracts are sold. SUNBEAMS.

What is the trouble between Axleigh and his wife?

Only a little family jar. He was saying that he would give anything if he could have a wheel, and she suggested that he might take one of those he had in his head.

The Shakers are a Happy Community

It is said, but the shaker who shakes because he can't help it is by no means a happy individual. So shakes the person troubled with chills and fever. The quivering and shuddering sensation is followed by no less a plague, namely, burning fever, which is followed by a perspiration bath that leaves the unhappy sufferer "as weak as a cat," a most unfortunate simile, by the way, as the cat, for its size, is a peculiarly muscular animal. Under the above circumstances, if the patient is not cured, what will he do? Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which eradicates malarial disease in every form and repairs its terrible ravages upon the system. Derangement of the liver always accompanies malarial disorder. To the relief of this complaint, as well as constipation and dyspepsia, the Bitters is admirably adapted. No less efficacious and thorough is it for kidney trouble, nervousness, rheumatism and neuralgia. A wineglassful three times a day.

Mamma, can I invite Freddy Sanborn over to slide down our cellar door?

Wouldn't you enjoy it just as much alone? No, there are too many splinters in it now.

You hear it almost everywhere, and read it in the newspapers, that Simmons Liver Regulator is the best liver remedy, and the best spring medicine, and the best blood medicine. "The only medicine of any consequence that I use is Simmons Liver Regulator." So wrote Mr. R. A. Cobb, of Morganton, N. C. And W. F. Park, M. D., of Tracy City, Tenn., writes: "Simmons Liver Regulator is the best."

She—If you had never met me, would you have loved some other girl as much as you do me?

He—My darling, if I had never met you I believe I should have committed suicide.

Throw Away His Cane.

Mr. D. Wiley, ex-postmaster, Black Creek, N. Y., was so badly afflicted with rheumatism that he was only able to hobble around with canes, and even then it caused him great pain. After using Chamberlain's Pain Balm he was so much improved that he threw away his canes. He says this liniment did him more good than all other medicines and treatment put together. For sale at 50 cents per bottle by Ireland's pharmacy.

Is there one fountain pen better than another?

Well, no; I should say, however, that there are a good many fountain pens worse than others.

Our people are growing more and more in the habit of looking to A. C. Ireland for the latest and best of everything in the drug line. They sell Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of bad colds, croup and whooping cough. When in need of such a medicine give this remedy a trial and you will be more than pleased with the result.

Young Wife—Hushy, dear, do you love me better than your pipe?

Young Husband—What a foolish question to ask, dear.

Young Wife (sadly)—Yes; I might have known without asking.

One Minute Cough cure touches the right spot. It also touches it at the right time if you take it when you have a cough or cold. See the point? Then don't cough. Newton's drug store.

Don't invite disappointment by experimenting. Depend upon One Minute Cough Cure and you have immediate relief. It cures croup. The only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. Newton's drug store.

A RED ARTIST'S LIFE.

WANDERING IN CANADIAN WOODS AND VILLAGES.

He Denounced Whisky but Drank It—Painted Pictures Which Are Said to Have Possessed Some Artistic Elegance—Indian Legends.

THE MONTHLY meeting of the Montreal Folk-Lore Society on Monday last Dr. W. George Beers read a paper entitled "The Last of the Hurons."

The central figure in the paper was Zacharie Vincent, alias Telariolin, a Huron of Ancienne Lorette, born in 1808, a pure-blooded example of the great Huron-Iroquois stock, says the Montreal Gazette. His father and grandfather had been Hurons from Huron mothers; his mother was a Huron-Iroquois of Iroquois descent.

Dr. Beers prefaced his account of the gifts, character and achievements of his hero—for, in spite of his failings, there was something heroic in Zacharie—by contrasting the two main sections of difference that marked off the Iroquois from the Hurons in the days of Champlain and Pontrenee and Montcalm and under the British dispensation have continued to distinguish their descendants, changed though they be from the formidable warriors of old. Dr. Beers illustrated this difference of traits that had come under his personal observation. He then related the tradition of the original home of the Hurons and outlined their migration since Cartier's visit to Hochelaga (the beaver dam).

The legend that they had come out of a mountain between Quebec and the great sea had been explained to Dr. Beers by an Oka chief to indicate the period during which the Hurons were hiding from the tomahawks of their warlike kinsmen, the Iroquois. Zacharie did justice to his full-blooded origin in that, from childhood, he was a vagabond of the woods and waters. Long before he could use a gun or load a gun to use he pursued beaver and fur and even fish, with a bow and arrow. To the end he loved the outdoor life of his fathers. He also—alas!—loved whisky blane, though he was quite aware of its mortal danger.

In his philosophic moments he said: "It was de ribber of de debil; not deep, but she drown all de same; bad for Indian and bad for white man." Dr. Beers thought the white man was responsible for a good share of the Indian's wrongdoing, and he therefore sought to atone for it, in some degree, by trying to rescue this gifted Indian from his enemy. He invited him up to Montreal, intending to send him a railway ticket if he accepted, but Zacharie and his son (Cyprien or Dawson) (straight, like a stick) suddenly made their appearance before him, having tramped the whole distance. For two years he lived in Caughnawaga, coming to town now and then to sell a picture or a piece of wood carving. When he began to fall and his end seemed near, Dr. Beers sent him back to Lorette. He went to the marine hospital, Quebec, and soon afterward died, in his eightieth year. Dr. Beers exhibited a portrait of Zacharie Vincent, painted by himself, a picturesque head, with the gray hair running out on either side from the natural parting in the center.

He recalled the alleged exclamation of the French on first seeing the Wyandots, "Quelles hures!" (what boars' heads?) They were surprised at the "bristling ridges" in which they wore their hair, and thus these lakeside Indians wore a new name—the Hurons. And the last of his race was, in this respect, a true Huron. He was, however, very particular about his person; he never wore flannel until seven months before he died. His winter attire was a coat, under it another coat, under that a third coat, and then nothing. Dr. Beers exhibited a picture of "Mercy," which Zacharie had painted entirely by memory, from the original of a New York artist, as well as a number of sketches. He gave a pathetic and impressive description of the Huron artist's mode of life—a constant fight for existence for the most part—the happiest portion of it being the vagabond life in the woods. Several times he was badly frozen; many times he was nearly drowned; once he had a hand-to-hand tussle with a bear, which he killed with a knife.

No promise of comfort could induce him to settle down permanently in the village of Lorette. He liked the freedom of the bush and communion with nature better than village gossip. The trees, the air, the sky, were full of a mystic company, with which in imagination he held intercourse. Dr. Beers then described Zacharie's methods of work, the character of his inspiration, his devotion to his art, his preference for certain colors and objection to others. In 1848 he painted a portrait of Lord Elgin and sold it to him, and in Lorette church are some of his religious works. He never painted anything low or vulgar. His language was as like free from blasphemy and he was not without religious emotions. His one vice was made up for by many virtues and among those was a self-respect that kept him from begging in all his hardships. Dr. Beers spoke at some length of the artistic faculty in the native races, of which Zacharie's gift was a conspicuous example. He mentioned Catlin's record of his life in the wilds and indicated the rich endowment in some forms of decorative art which makes the work of some eastern races inimitable in the west.

Brooklyn's Statues.

The equestrian bronze statues, bas-reliefs, that serve as panels on the Brooklyn memorial arch are life size, one representing President Lincoln, the other General Grant, and they are placed at opposite sides of the large arch. It is stated that after a long search for suitable models for the horses, during which the saddle horses at West Point and the prize horses of various shows were examined, the artists decided upon A. J. Cassatt's saddle horse Clinck for General Grant, and Billy, a western horse, owned by one of the artists for the Lincoln statue. The work is said to be spirited and the general effect excellent.

Bad Literature.

Exciting and inspiring literature floods the land, which the young people read and are fascinated. The voluptuous life is made the ideal, religion is scoffed at and vice enthroned. The sensational papers of the day make too much of the salacious details of an unvarnished case and the sin is too often made light of, even made the occasion of efforts at humor.—Rev. E. L. Miller, Episcopalian, Scranton, Pa.

When a baby comes to the house real happiness comes. Worry and work and care and anxiety count for nothing against the smoothly dainty, clinging touch of the little hands and the sound of the little voice. The highest function given to human beings is bringing healthy, happy children into the world. Nothing equals that—nothing compensates for the loss of it. The woman stops pain, soothes inflammation, strengthens, purifies, invigorates. Thousands of homes have been made happy by its use. Thousands of letters like this one from

Mrs. W. P. Cain, of Clinton, Allegany Co., Pa., who writes: "I was afflicted with all sorts of male trouble. I tried three doctors, and seven kinds of patent medicine, and found no relief. My husband said try Dr. Pierce's medicine. I told him I might as well throw his money in the fire as to try anything more. I had not taken more than half a bottle, when I could eat and sleep well. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and several vials of his 'Pelle's.' One year after I gave birth to a fine baby girl. I got along so much better than when my other child was born. Three of my friends are taking your medicines, and are improving."

Yours truly,

Mrs. W. P. Cain.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a 1000 page doctor book, profusely illustrated, of which 600,000 have been sold, and a copy will be sent free on receipt of 21 cents to cover cost of mailing only. World's Dispensary Medical Association, 665 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. S.—Two yards and a half! What on earth do you mean?

Bertha—Well, I've measured it carefully with my umbrella.

Twitterly (to Twitterly, reading novel) And what becomes of the hero?

Twitterly—I don't know his final fate, but on page 205 it looks as if the heroine had him treed.

Twitterly—Treed?

Twitterly—Yes; the author states that at her glance he stood rooted to the spot.

The little daughter of Mr. Fred Webber, Holland, Mass., had a very bad cold and cough which he had not been able to cure with anything. I gave him a 25 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, says W. P. Holden, merchant and postmaster at West Brimfield, and the next time I saw him he said it worked like a charm. This remedy is intended especially for acute throat and lung diseases such as colds, croup and whooping cough, and it is famous for its cures. There is no danger in giving it to children for it contains nothing injurious. For sale by Ireland's pharmacy.

Mrs. S.—By the way, I hear Jupiter—the Evening Star—is worth seeing just now. Can either of you girls tell me where to look for it?

Bertha—Yes; I can. It's exactly two yards and a half to the right of the Great Bear.

J. W. Pierce, Republic, Ia., says: "I have used One Minute Cough Cure in my family and for myself, with results so entirely satisfactory that I can hardly find words to express myself as to its merit. I will never fail to recommend it to others, and on every occasion that presents itself. Newton's drug store."

That was a pretty little bonnet that that Mrs. Blank wore at the reception, he said.

Gold at Cripple Creek.

The best way to get there is over the Santa Fe Route. The fabulously rich gold mining district of Cripple Creek, Colo., is attracting hundreds of people. By spring the rush bids fair to be enormous. That there is an abundance of gold there is demonstrated beyond doubt. Fortunes are being rapidly made. To reach Cripple Creek, take the Santa Fe Route, the only standard gauge line direct to the camp. Through Pullman sleepers and chair cars. The Santa Fe lands you right in the heart of the Cripple Creek.

Whereas, I have heretofore offered a reward of $500 for the arrest and delivery to the sheriff of Dona Ana county of each of the persons connected with the murder of Col. A. J. Fountain—said amount being the limit provided by law, and Believing the amount of reward should be increased, I, W. T. ## REPUBLICANS MEET.

An Executive Session of Republican Territorial Committee This Afternoon - Convention Will be Held in Albuquerque, March 23.

Pursuant to call the Republican territorial committee assembled in Santa Fe to-day for the purpose of selecting a time and place for the holding of a territorial convention, to select delegates to represent New Mexico in the Republican national convention at St. Louis, and to discuss the policy and plans for the government of the party in the ensuing territorial campaign.

The committee met in the Catron block at 2 p. m. and was formally called to order by Chairman Bartlett, who politely informed the New Mexicans and other outsiders present that the meeting would be executive in its nature and that only members or duly accredited proxies were eligible to hold down chairs therein. It thus happens that the New Mexican's report of what occurred, is not as complete as it otherwise would have been.

Appended is a list of the members of the committee and the proxies present: Officers—E. L. Bartlett, chairman; Max Frost, secretary; J. H. Vaughn, treasurer. Executive committee—E. L. Bartlett, Max Frost, L. B. Pines, M. A. Otero, W. S. Williams, Thomas Hughes.

Members at large—A. Staab, Antonio Ortiz y Salazar, Bernadillo county—Pedro Perez, Thos. Hughes.

Colfax county—Jerry Leahy. Dona Ana county—John R. McEie, W. H. H. Lewis, proxy for Col. Fontana. Grant county—H. H. Betts, Jo E. Sheridan.

Mora county—O. A. Hadley. San Miguel county—Geo. W. Hartman, M. A. Otero, proxy for Miguel Salazar. Santa Fe county—E. L. Bartlett, Trinidad Alarid.

Sierra county—F. W. Parker, proxy for R. M. White and T. C. Hall. Socorro county—W. S. Williams, Efigo Baen.

Valencia county—Solomon Luna; also proxy for J. Franco Chavez. At 3 p. m. the committee decided to hold the convention to nominate delegates to St. Louis at Albuquerque on Monday, March 23, 1896.

It was also decided to hold the convention to nominate a delegate in congress at Las Vegas, the time to be fixed by the committee on March 23.

MEETING TIPS. So Gov. Stover had to stay at home and plant trees. It's too bad!

In the absence of Boss Catron, Gen. Bartlett seems to have charge of the machine. Editor Collier, the staunchest of the McKinley boomers, was detained at home by sickness.

The Hon. D. C. Hobart is here from Grant county purely on other business than politics. "Ah-ha!"

It is understood that Gov. Hadley is not averse to representing the Colfax district at the national convention.

Major Llewellyn's friends say he is a McKinley man to the core and that the Reed plan to fix upon a certain delegation from Dona Ana is liable to hit a snag.

Unlike the Democratic territorial committee the Republican junta was strictly private—all business was transacted in what Chairman Bartlett was pleased to term an "executive session."

They do say that there is a woeful lack of harmony down in Grant county. The Laird-Betts-Hobart combine positively forbids Dick Hudson and Joe Sheridan sliding down their cellar door. The latter, however, is right in it as a delegate to the national convention.

It was a real pleasure to see those old battle-scarred veterans, Col. Hughes and Private Kistler, hobnobbing together in the plaza this forenoon. It required no great pull on one's imagination to see a veritable white dove of peace resting on the lye that surmounts the plaza pagoda.

Talks with committee men reveal the fact that they are a good deal at sea on presidential preferences. Most of them are on the fence. Like the Republican delegations from southern states they are all striving to fall squarely on their feet and hurray for the winner in order that there shall be no trouble in case there may be a dividing up of the leaves and fishes.

SATURDAY SALAD.

begin with, but just before the company came down from the parlors a group of the bachelors and temporary widows slipped in and posted up everywhere leap year mottoes of the funniest sort. The reading of these caused great merriment. The ladies did all the honors of the banquet, going after their partners in carriages, supplying them with flowers, selecting partners for the dances and even tipping the porters who looked after the comfort of their male guests. For once the tables were completely turned.
