FRIDAY, MAY 8.

DEMOCRATIC CALL.

HEADQUARTERS DEMOCRATIC Territorial Central Committee, Santa Fe, May 2, 1896.

Whereas, At a meeting of the Democratic territorial central committee, held at the city of Santa Fe on the 5th day of February, 1896, it was ordered that a territorial convention be held at Las Vegas on June 15, 1896, for the purpose of electing six delegates to the national Democratic convention to be held at Chicago on July 7, 1896.

Now, therefore, pursuant to said order, and, in accordance with the general authority in us vested, a convention of the Democratic party of New Mexico is hereby proclaimed to be held at Las Vegas on June 15, 1896, at the hour of 11 o'clock a. m., to be constituted according to the order of this committee made at its said meeting on February 5, 1896. One delegate from each county for each 100 votes cast for Antonio Joseph for delegate to congress at the last general election, and one delegate for each fraction of 100 votes so cast amounting to 50 or more.

Upon this apportionment of delegates, so authorized, the various counties will be entitled to delegates to said convention, as follows:

Bernalillo county.....	12
Chavez county.....	5
Colfax county.....	5
Dona Ana county.....	12
Edki county.....	4
Grant county.....	8
Guadalupe county.....	4
Lincoln county.....	6
Mora county.....	11
Rio Arriba county.....	14
San Juan county.....	21
San Miguel county.....	21
Santa Fe county.....	15
Sierra county.....	3
Socorro county.....	9
Taos county.....	11
Union county.....	3
Valencia county.....	3

Total delegates.....153
The county central committees of the respective counties are hereby requested to call county conventions to be held in due time for the selection of the authorized number of delegates to said territorial convention in accordance with the rules and regulations, or the usages and practices of the party in each county. It is suggested that primaries be held in the various counties not later than May 30, and that the county conventions be held not later than June 6, 1896.

In carrying out the orders of this committee at its said meeting, all Democrats and all those who intend to act with the Democratic party are hereby invited to participate in the primaries in the respective counties.
In view of the great weight which the Democratic delegation from this territory had in the last national convention in the selection of candidates for president and vice president, and in view of the magnitude of the interests involved in the coming national convention and of the recurring possibility for the exercise of potent influence by New Mexico's delegation, particularly in silver's cause, the Democrats in all counties are urged to make their voice heard in the primaries and in the county conventions to the end that our territorial convention may be a largely attended and representative one, thus assuring the election of a delegation to the national convention composed of Democracy's strongest and truest sons. This is a vital year for silver's cause and it is the hope of this committee that New Mexico Democrats will take a vital part, beginning down at the primaries.

THAT prosperity.
THE Albuquerque Citizen has finally fallen off the fence and followed the Las Vegas Optic in endorsing McKinley. Just give the Citizen time enough and it can see through a stone wall as hard as anybody.

SUPPOSE MCKINLEY SHOULD WIN.

Suppose, as now seems probable, that McKinley should be successful in his herculean effort to secure the Republican nomination for president at St. Louis. What then? It would simply be the triumph of the ultra high protective tariff notions well known to the country as McKinleyism, which were overwhelmingly repudiated by the people in 1892, and would force the Republican party to make the fight exclusively on that issue regardless of the money metal problem and other questions that vitally concern the miners, farmers and other laboring men of the western and southern states.

Of course, all the changes would be industriously rung on the sophistical representation that the hard times were wholly due to the modification of the beneficent McKinley law by a wicked Democratic congress and that only the restoration of that extreme measure would bring relief and prosperity to the people. Believing with the immortal Lincoln that "you can fool all the people some of the time, you can fool some of the people all the time, but you can't fool all the people all the time," we are persuaded that the ardent and confident supporters of the Napoleon of high protection would be mightily surprised and grievously disappointed at the result of their campaign.

It is our candid conviction that a large majority of the American people are in favor of a wisely adjusted tariff for revenue only, that both the high protectionists and the extreme free traders are in a hopeless minority, that there are thousands of Republicans (particularly in the agricultural states) who sincerely believe in a tariff for revenue only, and that, even if no other salient issue were involved, it would be quite possible to beat both McKinley and McKinleyism at the polls in November.

But other issues of the gravest moment to the people are involved in the pending campaign. The great money metal problem is involved and the McKinleyites simply delude themselves if they indulge the notion that they can overshadow this momentous question in the minds of the people by blatherish protective tariff resolutions and sniveling appeals to "nourish our infant industries," a la Carnegie and the rest ad nauseam.

The people are beginning generally to realize that the surreptitious demonization of over half the nation's primary money has contributed more than all other causes combined to produce the hard times, and that the sole beneficiaries of this unrighteous legislation, the money lenders, not satisfied with doubling all debts, are determined not to pay a dollar more toward the support of the government than their poorest debtor. The McKinleyites will find before their campaign ends that a majority of the American people believe both in silver and in the income tax method of raising revenue.

But suppose McKinley should be elected president, and he should have the support of a McKinley congress. What then? McKinley would begin to appoint new postmasters in March, but his congress would not meet until the ensuing December and it would be months after that before a general McKinley tariff law could be framed and enacted into law. Thus after his election at least eighteen months would elapse before he could begin to save any part of the country except the persons he might appoint to office, and in the meantime the business interests of the nation, which are now about adjusted to the present order of things, would suffer the inevitable paralysis incident to threatened radical changes in the tariff system.

And the importers, amply warned of what was coming, would avail themselves of the long interval to lay in immense stocks of foreign made fabrics against the time when a McKinley tariff law was again in force. They would then be able to undersell American tariff protected manufacturers and at the same time make fabulous fortunes out of the increased prices the same tariff would enable them to secure for their wares.

No one but the importers would be benefited for a long time and it is needless to explain that a long period of business stagnation would be as certain as night follows day. Doubtless it would forever and McKinleyism, but the American people ought by this time to be wise enough to learn in some other school than that of bitter experience.

PRESS COMMENT.

Political Bosses.

A boss is, in fact, the most expensive attachment a great party can have. The more impudent he is, the more does he detract from the moral force of his party, and weaken the public confidence in it. When he forces himself into a position of controlling absolutely all branches of a state government, because the party to which he belongs has possession of them, issuing quite openly his orders about legislation, and making no secret of the fact that he is really assuming to be the dictator of the state, he invites for his party the popular indignation and odium which his performances are certain to arouse. When, in the name of his party, he defies the moral sentiment of the country by offering himself as a candidate for the office of president, he does his utmost to bring that party into contempt. There is not a particle of doubt that the people despise bosses, and will condemn and repudiate them whenever they can get the opportunity to do so. Time and again they have defeated boss-named candidates, and they can be depended upon to do so in future. So well aware of this are the delegates to our state and national conventions, that they are usually very unwilling to nominate for important office men who are known to be favorites of a boss.—May Century.

The PECOS VALLEY of NEW MEXICO

OFFERS unequalled advantages to the farmer, fruit grower, live stock raiser, dairyman, bee-keeper, and to the home-seeker generally.
The soil of the Pecos Valley is of high average fertility, and under irrigation produces bountiful crops of most of the grasses, grains, vegetables, berries and fruits of the temperate and some of those of the semi-tropical zone. In such fruit as the peach, pear, plum, grape, prune, apricot, nectarine, cherry, quince, etc., the Valley will dispute for the pre-eminence with California; while competent authority pronounces its upper portions in particular the finest apple country in the world.
Enormous yields of such forage crops as alfalfa, sorghum and Egyptian corn make the feeding of cattle and sheep and the raising and fattening of hogs a very profitable occupation.
The cultivation of canebrake—a tanning material of great value—is becoming an important industry in the Pecos Valley, a home market having been afforded for all that can be raised, at a price yielding a handsome profit.
The climate of the Pecos Valley has no superior in the United States, being pre-eminently healthful and health restoring.
Lands with perpetual water-rights are for sale at low prices and on easy terms. The water supply of the Pecos Valley has no equal in all the arid region for constancy and reliability; and this with the superb climate, productive soil and the facilities afforded by the railway which extends through the Valley's entire length, will cause these lands to enjoy a constant, and at times rapid, increase in value.
The recent completion of the Pecos Valley Railway to Roswell will cause the more rapid settlement and development of the upper portions of the Valley, including the rich Folsom section. The company has recently purchased many of the older improved farms about Roswell, and has now for sale lands to meet the wants of all—raw lands, partially improved lands, as well as farms with houses, orchards and fields of alfalfa and other crops. In the vicinity of Roswell several pieces of land have been divided into five and ten acre tracts, suitable for orchards and truck farms in connection with suburban homes. Certain of these tracts are being planted to orchards, and will be cultivated and cared for by the company for three years at the end of which period they will be handed over to the purchasers.

SUNBEAMS.

First Cannibal (in Ugugoland)—Gracious, how tough this American traveler is! Second Cannibal (picking a rib-bone)—Yes, he must be one of the hard-edged sinners that last missionary whom we had for dinner on Sunday spoke to us about.

Did You Ever Meet a Ghost?

Probably not. But you are lucky if you have never been face to face with the foul fiend, indigestion. That imp from the nethermost hades subjects his victims to numberless horrors, among them heartburn, flatulence, heart palpitations, headaches, biliousness, broken rest, and others that we will not enumerate. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will drive away this mischief breeding spirit. Tackle him with the great corrective at once. Malaria, constipation, kidney troubles, debility all yield to this leading remedy, which is no mere palliative, but achieves decisive results. For overworked nerves and weary brains this medicinal recuperant is highly to be recommended. Its pure spirituous basis is modified by botanic simples of first-rate remedial efficacy.

This—Mr. Trivet surveyed the box of beer bottles as he spoke. —is a case which has been brought home to me.

It's an old saying that "The proof of the pudding is in the eating of it." And it is because people have taken Simmons Liver Regulator that they know it to be a most excellent medicine and especially for the spring and fall when there is so much malaria in the air. Mr. W. T. Lee, of Padelford, N. C., says: "I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for twenty years, in place of calomel and quinine."

Did my singing disturb you yesterday? said the musical young woman.

Were you singing? asked the impolite boarder.

Why, of course. Didn't you hear me? I believe it was your voice I heard. But I thought you had seen a mouse.

How to Treat a Wife.

(From Pacific Health Journal.) First, get a wife; second, be patient. You may have great trials and perplexities in your business, but do not therefore, carry to your home a cloudy or contracted brow. Your wife may have trials, which, though of less magnitude, may be hard for her to bear. A kind word, a tender look, will do wonders in chasing from her brow all clouds of gloom.—To this we would add always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. It is the best and is sure to be needed sooner or later. Your wife will then know that you really care for her and wish to protect her health. For sale by Ireland's pharmacy.

Is that supposed to be drinking water? said the visitor to the Chicago waiter.

Yes, sir.

Then take it out and kill it. I never put anything into my stomach alive.

Don't fool away your money buying worthless remedies, which are warranted to cure every disease. Remember that DeWitt's Sarsaparilla is a blood purifier and blood maker. Newton's drug store.

Bradford—So all my friends were inquiring about me during my absence? It does a fellow good to know he's missed that way. And what did they say?

Thornton—Some said you'd gone to join the divorce colony, while others contended that you had entered a Keeley institute.

Did you ever think how readily the blood is poisoned by constipation? Bad blood means bad health and premature old age. DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills, overcome obstinate constipation. Newton's drug store.

Simpson—Are you a married man or a widower, Mr. Mormann?

Mr. Mormann—I hardly know what to call myself. I have buried six of my 12 wives.

Simpson—Ah! what might be called a case of six of one and half a dozen of the other.

Young mothers dread the summer months on account of the great mortality among children, caused by bowel troubles. Perfect safety may be assured those who keep on hand DeWitt's Colic & Cholera cure and administer it promptly. For cramps, bilious, colic, dysentery and diarrhoea. It affords instant relief. Newton's drug store.

Young husband—Where is that angel-faced cake you baked this morning, my dear?

Young wife—The rats in the closet ate it. Isn't it bad?

Young husband—There, don't cry. We'll not have to be bothered with a cat, now.

A. L. Wootter, a prominent citizen of Casco, Me., after suffering excruciatingly from piles for twenty years, was cured in a short time by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, an absolute cure for all skin diseases. More of this preparation is used than all others combined. Newton's drug store.

Anacostia Bottled Horse—Well, I hear that I must go at last.

Electric Line Scorching—Don't be alarmed, my skilful friend; you're only to be fired.

A. B. H.—How's that?

E. L. S.—Well, you see they have come to the conclusion that they couldn't get out of you at last what wasn't in you at first. See?

DeWitt's Sarsaparilla cleanses the blood, increases the appetite and tones up the system. It has benefited many people who have suffered from blood disorders. It will help you. Newton's drug store.

For your Protection.—Catarrh "Cures" or Tonics for Catarrh in liquid form to be taken internally, usually contain either Mercury or Iodine of Potassium, or both, which are injurious if too long taken. Catarrh is a local, not a blood disease, caused by sudden change to cold or damp weather. It starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat. Cold in the head causes excessive flow of mucus, and, if repeatedly neglected, the result of catarrh will follow: severe pain in the head, a roaring sound in the ears, bad breath, and oftentimes an offensive discharge. The remedy should be quick to allay inflammation and heal the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles and contains no mercury nor any injurious drug. Price, 50 cents.

COUNSEL.

Crouching down by the fireplace, A wastrel look to your soft gray eyes, Your lips set firm and a pucker'd face, "What shall you answer, will I advise?"

What shall you answer him? Why, No! Let him steal a kiss—'tis his due—and then, Give him your hand and let him go, He is only a man amongst other men.

And if you miss him, perchance you may, One misses a flower, a shoe, a glove, The working world's at your feet today, And work's far sweeter than lukewarm love.

When the right man comes, you will never doubt, Won't look puzzled or come to me, 'Tis I may go to the right about, If with that choice, I don't agree.

You may tease perhaps, may coquet awhile, Most of us do it, but Love will peep Through your eyes in a sunny smile, Never were eyes could that secret keep.

Work if you choose for gold or fame, 'Tis the worker's guardian, but close it keep, Keep the sacred lamp of true love aflame, For him you'd single out from the world.

—Womankind.

DAFTY KATE.

On Seven Mile Beach, Cape May, stands a rough looking house built among the sand dunes in such a way that only its roof and small portions of its walls are visible.

It is made up of wreckage that has been picked up on the shore, with here and there a stick of lumber that looks as if it might have come fresh from the sawmill. The structure has the appearance of a huge ship's cabin. Outside the door stands a bench, well worn by fishermen, who have for more than a dozen years looked after the welfare of the occupant of this modest dwelling, who goes by the name of Dafty Kate.

Dafty Kate is a woman about 40 years old, tall, strong and healthy. For 15 years she has lived in the house on the beach, and many times has she helped the fishermen row through the breakers to some foundered vessel and save the crew. She is rational enough on most subjects, but she is a constant watcher of the sea, and whenever a person comes to her door the first thing she says is:

"Willie is coming in tonight. The firelight is due here a little past 8 o'clock."

Every night for 15 years Dafty Kate has set on a stand built for the purpose in front of the door of her hut a lantern, which she says will guide Willie safely in if the firelight should happen to sail in while she is asleep.

The woman's story is an extremely interesting and pathetic one. Fifteen years ago she was called the belle of Cape May. She was the daughter of a prosperous dealer in cysters, who owned a number of sloops and was considered rich.

Kate's parents were very proud of her. She was an only child, and they indulged her in everything that would add to her pleasure. There were two suitors for her hand. One was a thrifty young merchant in a small town near Cape May, the other was the son of an old sea captain whose days of activity were over and who lived a quiet life with his only son and a daughter. A strong attachment sprang up between Kate and the fisherman's daughter, and when the fisherman's son came home from a voyage to the western islands he promptly fell in love with Kate.

Kate's parents were ambitious for her to marry money, and they insisted that she should give the fisherman's son a cold shoulder and encourage the young merchant, but the girl refused to do so.

The name of the man to whom Kate had given her heart was William King, and when he sailed away one day on a trip as mate of the brigantine Sea Foam she was his promised wife.

Kate's father and mother were glad to see William go, for that would give the young merchant an opportunity to press his suit, and he did, but Kate was true to the fisherman's son and would have nothing to do with the man of her parents' choice.

William King's voyage took him to China, and he was to be gone something like 18 months. When Kate's parents found that she would not marry the man, they had chosen for her, they became very angry and turned her out of doors, expecting no doubt that she would repent and do as they wanted her to. But the girl was not made of that sort of stuff. She went to live with the captain's family and remained there for nearly two years, waiting for her sailor lover to return, but he didn't come.

One day a report reached Cape May that the brigantine Sea Foam had foundered somewhere in the vicinity of the Falkland Islands, and that all on board were lost. The story had the effect of prostrating Kate, who lay for several months at the point of death, but she finally recovered.

It was noticed that the girl's mind had been seriously affected. She appeared to be rational enough on all subjects but that of her lover's return. She insisted that he would return and insisted upon setting a light on a stand on the beach every night so that it would be a guide to him.

With their daughter's misfortune, the hearts of Kate's parents softened, and they insisted on her coming home with them to live, but she refused to do so, protesting that she must stay on the beach, where she could "watch for Willie" all the time. She refused an offer made by her father to build her a nice cottage on the sand. She said she didn't want any comforts that Willie couldn't enjoy, and so one day the fishermen built a rough structure, and Kate took up her residence there.

The captain's daughter spent a good deal of time with her for two or three years, but she finally got married and went at a distance to live. The old captain died. Kate's parents crossed the dark river and the young woman was left alone.

Kate's parents left an estate valued at several thousand dollars, and she was the only heir, but she refused to touch a penny of it until Willie came back to enjoy it with her.

It was thought that the girl's mental condition might improve if she was treated at a sanitarium, and she was shut up in one for three months, but she begged so hard to be allowed to continue her vigil that she was finally allowed to return to her humble home on the beach.

Kate supported herself by fishing and accepting favors from the sympathetic fishermen, who looked after her with a care that was almost affectionate in its nature, and she became an expert sailboat woman, and could manage a sailboat equal to the best of them.

Seven Mile Beach is a wild place in the time of a storm. It is open to the ocean, and a good many times the ocean at that point gets exceedingly nasty. A good many vessels have foundered there, and the fishermen along the shore have organized a sort of independent life-saving crew, and they have saved a good many lives in the last ten years.

Two weeks ago, during a blizzard that swept up the coast, a three masted schooner struck the bar off Seven Mile Beach. The wind was blowing strong from the southeast. She struck about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and Dafty Kate was the first to discover her. She gave the alarm, and the fishermen made ready to go to the assistance of the crew, who were helpless in the rigging.

Kate took her place, as usual, in the boat that was launched, and the start was made for the vessel. It was a hard fight, for the waves were running like small mountains, and the boat in which the plucky fishermen were was a large yawl, which is a good sea boat, but not as safe as a lifeboat.

The vessel was rapidly sinking in the sand and had careened so that her deck was completely submerged. It was evident that she would soon go to pieces, and the men in the boat worked like beavers to reach her.

There were five men in the rigging, and their shouts for help could be heard above the roar of the water. It was a desperate battle, but finally the yawl got near enough the foundered craft to enable the occupants to make themselves heard.

"You'll have to jump and take chances on our picking you up!" shouted one of the boat's crew.

"All right," came the reply.

One after another the men jumped into the seething waves and was picked up. The last man was not as easily caught as the others. He was carried shoreward by a strong roller, but he managed to keep his head above water until the boat got near enough to him to permit of one of the men reaching him.

As he was being hauled over the side a wave threw the boat against his head and rendered him senseless.

The rescued sailors were landed safely, and the injured man was taken to Dafty Kate's hut and a physician summoned as soon as possible. It was found that the man's skull had been fractured by coming in contact with the boat, and the doctor was doubtful to what extent he was injured.

Three days the sailor lay unconscious, and all the time Kate was giving him all the attention possible. On the morning of the fourth day he opened his eyes, and one of the sailors who was sitting near him said:

"Do you know me, Jack?"

The wounded man looked at him in a dazed way and finally answered: "My name isn't Jack. Who are you?"

"He ain't straight yet," said the sailor to one of the other men who was standing near.

"Who are you?" asked the sick man in as strong a voice as he could muster.

Kate, who was engaged at preparing some food, stepped quickly over to the cot where the man lay, and taking his face between her hands, looked intently into his eyes for a few seconds, then said, "Willie, Willie, it's you at last," and then she fell to the floor in a faint.

The astonished sailors got the woman out of the swoon as soon as possible, and again she stepped to the cot.

"Yes, it's Willie," she repeated to herself, and the man eyed her sharply as if he was struggling to remember something. Finally he said:

"Yes, that's my name. It ain't Jack."

"Don't you know Kate?" asked the woman eagerly.

The sick man attempted to raise himself on his elbow, but the effort was too much for him, and he fell back senseless.

The man proved to be Dafty Kate's long lost sailor lover, William King. He was shipwrecked on the voyage to China 15 years ago, and remembers nothing of the time between then and the day that Kate recognized him. His sailor companions say they only knew him as John Kane. The physicians think that when the man was shipwrecked he received a nervous shock that wiped out from his memory all the events of the past, and that the wound in his head brought him back to where he was 15 years ago.

Now Willie and Kate are to be married just as soon as the man is well enough, and Kate has taken the light in from in front of the door of her humble home on the beach.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Stage Smoking.

If you ask the heavy villain why he doesn't smoke cigars on the stage, he will tell you that no property man, however important the company may be, will consent to supply cigars. Cigarettes are much cheaper, and the stage villain who defies all traditions and smokes cigars always does so at his own expense. And this is rather expensive, inasmuch as the villain of the drama usually wears a dress suit, is supposed to be plentifully supplied with ill gotten gains, and only takes two or three puffs at whatever he is smoking before throwing it away. Until the property man volunteers to furnish cigars we must be content with the cigarette smoking stage villains.—Philadelphia Record.

Mr. D. P. Davis, a prominent liveryman and merchant of Goshen, Va., has this to say on the subject of rheumatism: "I take pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, as I know from personal experience that it will do all that is claimed for it. A year ago this spring my brother was laid up in bed with inflammatory rheumatism and suffered intensely. The first application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm eased the pain and the use of one bottle completely cured him. For sale by Ireland's pharmacy."

once down, disease finds an easy entrance.

If there is a weak spot in the body, disease will find it. They will lodge right in that spot and unless they are driven out at once, will increase and multiply and grow into seriousness. Weakness is a predisposition to disease. Whether the weakness be local or general, it is dangerous. Good healthy strength of body is the best safeguard against disease. Debility of any kind is a direct invitation to serious sickness. The reason that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption if taken in the early stages of the disease, is that it puts the whole body into a hearty, healthy condition. The poisonous tubercular matter is thrown off by the lungs, and the pure, rich blood coursing through them, quickly stops the inflammation, and makes the lungs perfectly strong and sound. Consumption is marked by wasting away of the bodily tissues and vice versa. A wasting of the flesh brings on consumption. Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery induces the accumulation of sound, hard, healthy flesh. It increases the appetite and the capacity of the digestive organs for the assimilation of food. It is a purifier, a tonic and a powerful curative remedy, all in one bottle. All who will send their addresses, and twenty-one cents in postage stamps, to cover wrapping, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., will receive by mail a bottle of our valued, which tells all about the "Golden Medical Discovery."

Visit of Secretary Morton and Party to Santa Fe—How Party was Received and Amused—Corporation Papers Filed—Official Notes.

As announced in the New Mexican last evening, Mr. Paul Morton, third vice-president and traffic manager of the Santa Fe railroad system, arrived in Santa Fe yesterday afternoon in a special car from the east. Among his guests were his distinguished father, Hon. J. Sterling Morton, secretary of agriculture, Mrs. Paul Morton, Mrs. J. R. Morton, Annabel Howard, J. R. Warren, Caroline Morton, Pauline Morton, Lowell Morton, of Chicago.

The visitors were met at the train with carriages by Secretary Lorton Miller, U. S. Marshal E. L. Hall, Surveyor General Charles F. Easley, Collector C. M. Shannon, Solicitor General John P. Victory, ex-Gov. E. G. Rusk, and U. S. Attorney W. H. Pope, and the afternoon was very pleasantly spent in driving about the historic capital, visiting the historical rooms, the old churches, curio shops and other places of interest. A half hour was agreeably spent at Gov. Thornton's residence.

Secretary Morton made a most favorable impression upon all who had the pleasure of meeting him. He positively declined to talk politics, not even alluding to the money metal problem, saying he was out on a link for pleasure. He met with his children and grandchildren. Julius Sterling Morton, of Nebraska City, Neb., was born in Jefferson county, New York, on April 27, 1832; is of Scotch-English origin, his ancestors coming to this country on the first vessel after the Mayflower; was educated in Michigan university and Union college; was for some time editorially connected with the Detroit Free Press and the Chicago Times; located in Nebraska in 1854 and soon after began the publication of the Nebraska City News. He has served that state as secretary and member of the legislature; ran for congress twice and for governor four times on the Democratic ticket, once being defeated by only 145 votes, and has several times been the choice of his party for United States senator. He is a practical agriculturist and horticulturist, and enjoys the avocational distinction of having originated Arbor day. He is a well preserved and fine looking man, his height is medium, his frame is large, his face is smooth shaven, his massive head is well poised, his cheek bones and other features are prominent, denoting strength of character. His manners, speech and dress are those of a plain, unassuming American gentleman. He manifested almost boyish delight when he secured burros and saw his grandchildren mounted thereon.

The party left for Albuquerque at 5:30 p.m., and thence have continued their journey to California. Governor Thornton met Secretary Morton at Albuquerque last night and had a pleasant interview with him.

NEW CORPORATIONS.

The following corporations have filed articles with the territorial secretary:

The Gilpin-Croesus Gold Mining Company—Incorporators, W. E. Troutmann and E. M. Probst, of Denver, and Edward B. Linnen; objects, acquiring and operating mines and mining and milling machinery; life, fifty years; capital stock, $1,000,000; directors, same as incorporators; principal place of business in New Mexico, Santa Fe, with E. B. Linnen as resident agent.

The Smith-Kansas Gold Mining Company—Incorporators, D. D. Merritt and Frank L. Smith, of Denver, and Charles F. Easley, of Santa Fe; objects, acquiring and operating mines and reducing ores; capital stock, $1,000,000; life, forty-nine years; directors, same as incorporators; principal place of business in New Mexico, Santa Fe, with Charles F. Easley as resident agent.

The Iron Queen Mining Company—Incorporators, Edward Lombke, George Hoffmann, Edward L. Medler, Clarence W. Medler, of Albuquerque, Myrtle L. Cole, Edward Smith, of Bland; objects, acquiring and operating mines and reducing ores; capital stock, $1,000,000; life, forty-nine years; directors, same as incorporators; principal place of business, Albuquerque; directors, same as incorporators.

The Raton Cemetery company—Incorporators, George W. Cook, Martin A. McMartin, George J. Pace, Christopher N. Blackwell, Charles Sandusky, William E. Deppar, James W. Thomas and Jeremiah Leahy, of Raton; objects, acquiring and maintaining cemetery property; capital stock, $5,000; directors, same as incorporators; life, fifty years; principal office, Raton.

THE SCHOOL OF MINES.

Gov. Thornton returned last night from a trip to Socorro where he was called on school of mines business. He highly compliments Prof. Seamon's management of that institution and says the commencement exercises passed off most happily. There were two graduates this year.

The governor says the new Graphic smelter has started up and runs nicely. There is ore enough in sight to run 100 tons daily for the next year. Capt. Fitch has arranged with the El Paso smelter to secure from Mexico all the dry ores necessary to a proper treatment of the Graphic mine product.

WHY HE REMAINED AS COURT CLERK.

Hon. George Curry, of Roswell, came up from the south last night and is shaking hands with his capital city friends to-day. Mr. Curry explains that he resigned as clerk of the 5th judicial district court because his interests in the Pecos country required his presence there and he could not afford to move to Socorro. He really exchanged places with his late deputy, Mr. William Driscoll, and will have charge of the court records in Eddy and Chavez counties.

COVERED WITH SCALES

Exema made its appearance on my head in its worst form, and it continued spreading until my face was covered with scales and became a horrible sight. I had a fine head of hair, seven years' growth, and had to sacrifice it. I was in despair. The physicians had failed even to relieve me when one recommended CUTICURA SOAP. My father presented a set of CUTICURA REMEDIES, and in three weeks the scales left my face and the skin took its normal hue. In six weeks I was entirely cured, and I feel now as I have never before.

MISS MARION A. SMITH, Sanbury, Pa.

REMEDY CURE TREATMENT.—Warm baths with CUTICURA, and the application of CUTICURA ointment, and mild doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, resulted in rapid cure.

OFFICIAL NOTES.

The governor has appointed Sidney M. Parker, of White Oaks, and Cristofor Scheele, of Belen, as notaries public.

The Buena Vista Ranch Company, incorporated under the laws of Missouri, has filed a certificate designating Las Vegas the principal place of business and Andrius A. Jones as its agent in New Mexico.

The Lincoln-Lucky & Lee Mining Company, incorporated under the laws of Colorado, has designated Santa Fe as its principal place of business and Francis Downes as its agent in New Mexico.

The Clark, Whitson & Leitch Music Company, incorporated under the laws of Texas, has designated Albuquerque as its principal place of business and Mrs. A. D. Whitson as its agent in New Mexico.

Pure fruit juice and fruit extract syrups used in Fischer's soda water.

In the District Court.

The jury trial of the case entitled the Territory of New Mexico against Desiderio Gallegos, Luterio Padilla and Emilio Garcia, charged with murdering Marcelino Vigil on June 12, 1893, still occupies the attention of Judge Laughlin's court. The testimony, however, is all in, and it only remains for counsel to make their addresses to the jury. A verdict is expected this evening.

Judge Downes, counsel for Roberto Friday, calls the New Mexican's attention to an error in this report yesterday. It appears that the case was remanded by the supreme court for a new trial on the ground that the trial judge's instructions did not give the jury the option of finding the defendant guilty in any other degree than that of murder in the first degree, and not on account of a flaw in the indictment, as the reporter was erroneously informed.

ROUND ABOUT TOWN.

The street sprinkler is doing good work these days.

There will be a meeting of Aztlan lodge, I. O. O. F. No. 3, this evening at 8 o'clock at their hall on lower "Frisco" street.

George Bain, well remembered in Santa Fe as a violin artist, furnishes music for social hops at La Belle these bright spring days.

The reduction in fare between Santa Fe and Espanola gives a corresponding reduction to all local points on the Denver & Rio Grande system.

Secretary Morton visited Santa Fe about twenty years ago, and well remembered Col. Fletcher and other old timers, whom he met here then.

The Santa Fe have arrangements about made for a game with Cerrillos. If nothing happens Santa Fe people may witness a good game on Sunday.

Some thief with a crow-bar undertook to break into J. H. Gerdes' store at Cerrillos night before last, but finally gave it up and tookled L. Kendall's place, getting away with some cash and a light supply of plunder.

W. H. Kerr was away an hour up the canon yesterday and brought back several trophies. He captured six trout, the largest measuring fourteen inches, and according to Cartwright Bros' scales weighed fourteen and one-half ounces. Pretty good sport that.

W. H. McKinnis' bid for laying 2,700 feet of 3-inch cast iron pipe from the foot of Johnson street to the National cemetery has been accepted by the government. Superintendent Joseph received a telegram to this effect to-day. The work will commence at once.

Matias Roibal, aged 15 years, is a native of Santa Fe who should have no difficulty in "scratching" for a living. He is blessed with five perfectly formed fingers and a thumb on each hand.

U. S. weather bureau forecast for New Mexico: Fair, in south and possibly thunder storm in north portion this afternoon; threatening to-night; Saturday, fair; cooler in south portion Saturday.

C. C. Parsley, a mining man, is here from Chihuahua, Mexico, on his return home to Leadville. He says Sam Deltrick is in Chihuahua and has secured several good mining claims. He is also operating in cattle.

Will Clark, the Santa Fe boy who is playing with the Baltimores, is accredited with playing great ball this season. His well-developed lung power stands him in good hand. He plays catcher and first.

In the former place they say he is superb. This is his third season with the "Orioles."

Ex-Gov. L. Bradford Prince has been petitioned by a number of citizens to deliver an address on the subject of free coinage and has agreed to do so. He will speak at the court house on Monday night next. There is no abler champion of this principle in the west than Judge Prince; he is always an entertaining talker and a crowded house should greet him on Monday night.

Another Reduction.

Commencing this date the rate of fare between Santa Fe and Espanola will be $2.05 instead of $2.50 as heretofore. A & R. G. mileage tickets will be accepted for passage on basis of actual mileage.

Mr. Larkin G. Read left this morning on the 11:40 train, bound for Denver.

Mr. C. H. Laidlaw, of Hillsboro, a well known mining engineer and assayer, is in the city on a business trip.

At the Palace: W. C. Rogers, J. H. Williams, Cerrillos; G. W. Benson and wife, Chicago; Fred Simon, Louisville; L. H. Graham, New York; George Curry, Roswell; Lee Renhardt, St. Louis; J. H. Brady, Los Angeles.

Archbishop Salpointe, who went to France last fall, came back to Santa Fe in good health, arriving by last night's train, and has taken quarters at the sanitarium. He will spend the summer here, going to Tucson for the winter. Accompanying him was his nephew who comes from France to make his home here, and who to-day entered San Miguel college in order to master the English language.

Prof. T. D. A. Cockerell Proposes the Establishment of a New Mexico Biological Station.

Prof. T. D. A. Cockerell, well and favorably known in Santa Fe, sends out the following announcement from Las Cruces:

The undersigned has it in view to found in New Mexico a biological station, and health and holiday resort for scientific persons, teachers and kindred spirits. No loafers would be admitted, nor persons whose health was so poor as to prevent them from working.

Practically no funds are at present available, but it is hoped that, if a very modest start is made, the means may in time be found to put the institution on a secure and permanent basis.

In such an establishment, scientific work may be carried on without any fear of interference by politicians and other self-interested or ignorant persons; while the station might also come to be recognized as an independent educational center, helping to promote the best interests of education in the broadest sense, as well as those of pure science.

The promoter hopes to be able, sooner or later, to secure the co-operation of a number of persons who will engage in the work for its own sake, and will not object to necessary privations or be afraid of the inevitable difficulties. Without enthusiasm, nothing can be done.

Three years experience in this country gives the writer the highest opinion of the value of the climate for persons in the earlier stages of phthisis (as he was himself when he came here); while the abundance of new and interesting forms of life, especially among the insects, is remarkable. Many interesting general problems, such as those of the life-zones, can also be studied in New Mexico to great advantage.

A beginning will be made this summer if students can be found. The undersigned will be glad to hear from any who are interested in the matter, and especially from those who might be inclined to work with him for longer or shorter periods during the present summer.
