W. C. WYNKOOP CALLED DOWN

Gross Misrepresentations Respecting Status of Canada de Cochiti Grant Case Exposed.

ALCALDES NOT HIGH JUDICIAL OFFICERS

Supreme Court Has Not Passed on Vital Issue Involved in Cochiti Case—Miners Have No Doubt of Finally Winning.

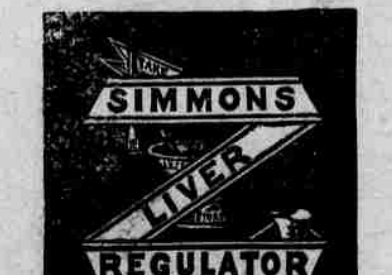

Mr. W. C. Wynkoop is an active member of the Denver syndicate that secured interests in the Cochiti land grant after the discovery of mineral in the hills near Bland, that undertook to expand said grant so as to cover these mineral bearing hills, that was disastrously defeated in its efforts to induce the United States court of private land claims to confirm its pretensions to the immensely expanded grant and that has appealed from the just decree of the able, learned and impartial court just mentioned to the United States supreme court. Mr. Wynkoop recently visited his views and those of his associates on the subject of the grant in a carefully prepared interview, published in the Denver Republican of May 20.

He prefaced his remarks by saying: "I will not attempt to give the legal side of the case as a lawyer would state it." This invitation to the public charity to view his observations as those of a layman rather than a lawyer was eminently a wise beginning in the light of what follows, for no reputable lawyer would have had the hardihood to make public such absurd misstatements of both fact and law as his disclosures—misstatements that can only be excused on the plea of ignorance amounting to the innocence of first or second childhood.

AN UNDISPUTED PROPOSITION. He truthfully says that "the United States court of private land claims held that the Canada de Cochiti grant was good" and that "the only question was about the boundaries," but he carefully omits to mention that, after the most thorough preparation on the part of all concerned and a most exhaustive and impartial hearing, the land court distinctly decreed that the grant embraced altogether only about 3,000 acres, instead of about 104,000 acres as claimed in the petition, and that the grant as confirmed covered no part of Altierron or Bland and no part of the Cochiti mining district. He omits to mention that the original and much mutilated grant document alleges that "this grant was made in 1728 upon a petition of one Antonio Lucero, in which he asked for a piece of land at the mesa of Cochiti," to where the Indians who rebelled retreated to plant themselves. He omits to mention that the king of Spain was a party to the transaction, further than he might have been rendered so by the action of Bestamante.

JURISDICTION OF ALCALDES. Then Mr. Wynkoop proceeds to say that in 1765 "there was litigation between the widow and heir of Antonio Lucero," and that "the case was heard before an alcalde, the highest judicial officer in New Spain, as New Mexico was then called, and it related to the boundaries of the grant. These boundaries were held by the alcalde to be the same as those set by the king of Spain as the United States land court says they are not." This is truly refreshing. Persons who possess any knowledge whatever regarding the old Spanish government in New Mexico know perfectly well that, instead of being "the highest judicial officer," the alcalde (equivalent to justice of the peace) was the most inferior and powerless tribunal in the domain, that he had no jurisdiction except in cases of minor moment, and even then that his acts were subject to be annulled by the alcalde mayor (about equivalent to district judge), that the latter was inferior to the just superior supreme judge, and that the acts of all these "judicial officers" were without effect unless approved by the governor, whose power was supreme.

It is true, as Mr. Wynkoop intimates, that the claimants of the expanded grant relied chiefly upon the alleged adjudication of an alcalde, and that, in the light of all the evidence casting a dense cloud of grave doubt and utter improbability upon the pretended "decree of the alcalde," the land court brushed aside this vital feature of the case with the remark:

THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE

Is SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR. Don't forget to take it. Now is the time you need it most to wake up your liver. A sluggish liver brings on malaria, fever and ague, rheumatism, and many other ills which shatter the constitution and wreck health. Don't forget the word REGULATOR. It is SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR you want. The word REGULATOR distinguishes it from all other remedies. And, besides this, SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR is a Regulator of the liver, keeps it properly at work, that your system may be kept in good condition.

FOR THE BLOOD take SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR. It is the best blood purifier and corrector. Try it and note the difference. Look for the RED Z on every package. You want find it on any other medicine, and there is no other liver remedy like SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR—the King of Liver Remedies. Be sure you get it.

IMPORTANT AND DECISIVE MOVEMENT

May 23 Has Been Formally Proclaimed as Date of Czar's Coronation—Regalia Will Be Transferred to Kremlin Throne Room.

Havana, May 23.—Captain-General Weyler, Gen. Ochoaudo, Capt. Staff and Col. Ahumada, the captain-general's aide-camp, all in field uniform, have started for Bahia Honda, on the cruiser Marquis Eusebio. It is the belief that the departure of the captain-general indicates that an important and decisive movement of the Spanish forces against the insurgents under Antonio Maceo will shortly be undertaken.

DATE OF CZAR'S CORONATION. Moscow, May 23.—The date of the coronation of the czar, May 26, was formally proclaimed by the heralds at 9 o'clock this morning and the ceremony will be repeated to-morrow and on Monday. On May 25, the ceremony of transferring the regalia to the throne room of the Kremlin will take place and their majesties will remove from the Alexandrinsky palace to the grand Kremlin palace.

NATIONAL POLITICS.

CHICAGO.—Politics are at fever heat in Chicago and Cook county. The Democratic primaries take place here on Monday next. The goldites are organizing a separate state committee and may bolt. Gov. Altgeld says: "The talk about a split comes from a small squad of small squibs who represent nothing but themselves and who brought nothing to the gold movement but an appetite. They are now acting under instructions from some desperate eastern managers who are determined to run the national convention at all hazards. They are resorting to the desperate device of getting up a bolt and a contesting delegation in every silver state, hoping that by the aid of the national committee they can send enough of bogus delegates to run the convention. The whole affair will amount to nothing in this state, but these men have access to the newspapers and you remember how the Chicago Tribune declared that a dozen grasshoppers under a newspaper in the corner of a fence will make more noise than the cattle grazing on a thousand hills."

LOUISVILLE.—The contest now under way in Kentucky promises to be one of the most exciting waged for the control of any state convention in recent years. Delegates to the convention are to be chosen, and silver is the issue. The free coiners are making an active canvass, and are impressing many speakers from other states into their service. Gov. Stone, of Missouri, has already thrown himself into the breach, and Senator Vest and ex-Representative Hays are also expected to join him. Virginia and one or two other states are also expected to be represented on the stump by some of their best orators. The Courier-Journal admits that the silver Democrats in this state have every reason to feel greatly encouraged over the outcome of this contest.

KENTUCKY, as the home of Secretary Carlisle, the head of the financial arm of the government, is a decidedly important strategic point in the Democratic line. If the silver men carry the Kentucky convention this year it will be a defeat for Carlisle in his own home, and it will be considered by the 16 to 1 men as the capture of the gold Democrats' citadel.

After the Bodies.

Says the Trinidad Daily News of the Green killing: L. Freeger, Mill Hightower, Tom O'Toole, Constable Elliott and three Mexicans left last night for the San Isidro country to recover the bodies of W. J. Kelley and Wm. Green. Mr. Kreger claims to have the particulars of the shooting of these two men, but does not know who did the deed. It is said that there were only two shots fired, and both men fell dead instantly. These seven men do not expect to make any arrests, but aim to secure the $500 reward offered for the recovery of Wm. Green's body.

The investigation given the gold mining camps in western Colfax county by capitalists and experts is having its effect. Daily large numbers of prospectors are pouring into Hematite, Elizabethtown and Baldy prepared to search for gold, and claim where they find it, and secure a competency. It has been clearly demonstrated that the precious metal is there in paying quantities and we predict a large and prosperous population in those camps before the snow flies next fall.—Ranger.

Hon. E. V. Chavez has completed the building of his house in Albuquerque and will move to New Mexico City as soon as the present term of court is over and open a law office. While in Socorro are sorry to lose him as a citizen we all realize that by his removal he will extend his already large practice and the best wishes of everyone go with him. METHODIST CONFERENCE.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 23.—In the Methodist conference to-day, Rev. Dr. F. F. Scott was elected editor of the Southwestern Advocate. It was ordered that Dr. E. W. Hammond, the displaced editor be paid a salary until other work can be procured for him.

Dr. J. M. Buckley presented a report of the committee on episcopacy, in which the administration and character of the bishops was declared effective. The committee reported in highly eulogistic terms the non-effectiveness of Bishop Taylor, of Africa, recommending his retirement.

The committee also reported in favor of missionary bishops in India, South America and Africa. As Dr. Buckley was opposed to the one in South America, Dr. Kynette took charge of the report.

For two hours the question was warmly debated.

G. W. Maus, of New York, presented a substitute which declared it not expedient to elect missionary bishops, except a successor for Bishop Taylor.

The substitute was adopted by a vote of 257 to 59.

It was decided to elect a missionary bishop on Monday.

The conference fixed May 28 at 10 o'clock for final adjournment.

Opera Managers Assign.

New York, May 23.—Abbey Schoeffel & Grau, opera managers, have assigned. The firm's assets are $200,000; liabilities $300,000.

The opera seasons since 1891 have been continuous successes, but the $300,000 in profits of these seasons would not stem the tide of dramatic disaster that has been settling against the firm. In the long list of actors and actresses the firm has managed during the last few years, Irving and Bernhardt are almost the only ones who brought profits, the Lillian Russell company heading the disastrous list with a loss of nearly $200,000.

Populist Howard, of Alabama, Undertook to Initiate Impeachment Against the President.

HOUSE DECLINED TO HEAR HOWARD

Profitless Session of Senate—Revenue Amendments Voted Down—Allen on Bond Bill—President Declines to Furnish Information.

Washington, May 23.—Mr. Howard, Populist of Alabama, author of "If Christ Came to Congress," at the opening of the session of the house to-day, sprang a sensation but it was short lived. The house with practical unanimity appressed him.

As soon as the journal had been read Mr. Howard arose dramatically in the center aisle, and flourishing a paper in his hand, demanded to be heard on a resolution which he sent to the clerk's desk. The resolution was as follows:

"I WANT TO IMPEACH THE PRESIDENT."

"I do impeach Grover Cleveland, president of the United States, of high crimes and misdemeanors on the following grounds:

"1.—That he has sold or ordered the sale of bonds without authority of law.

"2.—That he sold or aided in the sale of bonds at less than their market value.

"3.—That he directed the misappropriation of the proceeds of said bond sales.

"4.—That he directed the secretary of the treasury to disregard the law which makes United States notes and treasury notes redeemable in coin.

"5.—That he has ignored and refused to have enforced the anti-trust law.

"6.—That he has sent United States troops into the state of Illinois without authority of law and in violation of the constitution.

"7.—That he has corrupted politics through interference and withdrawal of office-holders.

"8.—That he has used the appointing power to influence legislation detrimental to the welfare of the people."

"Therefore be it resolved, by the house of representatives, That the committee on judiciary be directed to ascertain whether these charges are true, and, if so, to report to the house such action by impeachment or otherwise as shall be proper in the premises, and said committee shall have authority to send for persons and papers."

When the clerk read reading, Mr. Howard was suddenly taken off the floor by Mr. Dingley, of Maine, leader of the majority, who raised a question against the consideration of the resolution.

The question was promptly put and by practically a unanimous vote the house declined to give Mr. Howard a hearing.

SESSION OF THE SENATE TO-DAY. In the senate, Mr. Mills offered an amendment to the filled cheese bill to impose an internal revenue tax of 5 per cent on all articles in excess of $10,000 per annum manufactured by any person, company or corporation in the United States from iron, steel, copper, nickel, brass, zinc, cotton, wool, hemp, silk, or flax, the receipts to be applied to the purchase and extinguishment of interest bearing debt.

Mr. Sherman moved to lay the amendment on the table.

The motion was carried, 42 to 15.

Mr. Allen, of Nebraska, moved an amendment to impose an additional tax of $1 per barrel on ale, beer or porter.

Mr. Sherman moved to lay it on the table.

The motion was carried by a vote of 35 to 22.

Mr. Gray, of Delaware, moved a tax of 10 cents a pound on tea imported.

This amendment was lost, 7 to 19.

Two o'clock having arrived, Mr. Allen arose to speak on the bond bill.

PRESIDENTIAL COMMUNICATIONS. The president to-day sent to the house a veto of the bill to amend the act fixing the fees of registers and receivers of land offices.

The president has sent a message to the senate saying that he can not recommend the information asked for by the Morgan resolution in regard to Cuba.

THE ALLEN ACT AMENDMENT.

HELPING OUT ARIZONA.

The house committee on territories has authorized a favorable report on the bill amending and extending the provisions of the Arizona funding act. It authorizes the funding of all outstanding obligations of the territory until January 1, 1897. All evidences of indebtedness authorized by legislative enactments to the territory bearing a higher rate of interest than authorized by the act of 1890, shall be funded with interest which has accrued and may accrue until funded into lower interest bearing bonds provided by the act.

CONFERENCE REPORT ADOPTED.

The house has adopted the conference report on the river and harbor bill.

SANTA FE EXTENSION.

Engineer Vaughn Making Preliminary Examination of Westward Route.

G. W. Vaughn, an eminent civil engineer, who was chief engineer of the Mexican Central and has been at the head of many western railroad enterprises, was in this city yesterday. Mr. Vaughn left early this morning for Whitewater, from which point he will begin a trip westward to complete preliminary examination of the proposed route for an extension of the Santa Fe. Mr. Vaughn has reconnoitered the line from Victor, Cal., east to Ash Fork, and he will now examine the country from Whitewater to Phoenix via Holomoville and Florence. The cost of constructing a railroad on the route indicated would average probably about $15,000 a mile.

Engineer Vaughn's preliminary personal inspection to determine the practicability of a route does not mean necessarily that a line will be built. It means that the Santa Fe is not sure of being able to buy the Atlantic & Pacific, and that the Santa Fe must have western connections, even if it has to build practically parallel to the Atlantic & Pacific.

Millions of Hoppers.

John C. Swarts, of Las Cruces, recently on a surveying trip, tells the New Mexican that on the line between Eddy and Chaves counties there is a patch ten miles wide and thirty miles long where the young grasshoppers are thicker than hair on a yellow dog's back. He says that appears to be a breeding bed for them, and that as they develop they rise in swarms and start off toward the Indian territory and Kansas.

DEMOCRATIC CALL.

HEADQUARTERS DEMOCRATIC Territorial Central Committee, Santa Fe, May 2, 1896.

Whereas, At a meeting of the Democratic territorial central committee, held at the city of Santa Fe on the 5th day of February, 1896, it was ordered that a territorial convention be held at Las Vegas on June 15, 1896, for the purpose of electing six delegates to the national Democratic convention to be held at Chicago on July 7, 1896.

Upon this apportionment of delegates, so authorized, the various counties will be entitled to delegates to said convention, as follows:

Total delegates, 155. The county central committees of the respective counties are hereby requested to call county conventions to be held in due time for the selection of the authorized number of delegates to said territorial convention in accordance with the rules and regulations, or the usages and practices of the party in each county. It is suggested that primaries be held in the various counties not later than May 30, and that the county conventions be held not later than June 5, 1896.

In carrying out the orders of this committee at its said meeting, all Democrats and all those who intend to act with the Democratic party are hereby invited to participate in the primaries in the respective counties. In view of the great weight which the Democratic delegation from this territory had in the last national convention in the selection of candidates for president and vice president, and in view of the magnitude of the interests involved in the coming national convention and of the recurring possibility for the exercise of potent influence by New Mexico's delegation, particularly in silver's cause, the Democrats in all counties are urged to make their voices heard in the primaries and in the county conventions to the end that our territorial convention may be a largely attended and representative one, thus assuring the election of a delegation to the national convention composed of Democracy's strongest and truest sons. This is a vital year for silver's cause and it is the hope of this committee that New Mexico Democrats will take a vital part, beginning down at the primaries.

RAYMOND BOHLEN, J. H. CHART, Secretary, Chairman.

AREN't the silver wings flying high?

There are only 360 newspaper men on duty at the czar's coronation ceremonies—and nothing is too good for them. Russia is making progress.

It leaks out that the Republican colts are quietly coaching the Hon. J. A. Ancha for their nominee as delegate to congress this year.

"Division means defeat." Democrats should bear this in mind, cease their ranting and work bravely and harmoniously together for the triumph of those principles which stand for true Democracy.

SOME of the correspondents expelled from Cuba by Butcher Weyler purpose going on the lecture platform. The time has come for Uncle Sam to stop standing on the ceremony of interfering, but to interfere at once.

It must have given Senator Dubois extreme pleasure to announce in the senate yesterday that the Republican senators from five silver states had been "indorsed at home;" but how would it have been if Senator Catron had been on deck from the state of New Mexico?

Since Capt. Culver, of the Katon Range, "doth protest too much" about that governorship, how would it suit him to become secretary?—always, provided, of course, that McKinley is elected. And, by the way, judging from the amount of booming the Range is doing for Morrison, it is just possible that there is an understanding between these two statesmen as to who shall have the governorship and who shall be secretary!—provided, of course, that McKinley is elected!

POLITICAL PROPHECY—NIT!

"And still the Optic sticks to its prophecy: Among the Democratic delegates to Chicago will be A. A. Jones, of this city; W. S. Hopewell, of Sierra; John Y. Hewitt, of White Oaks; E. V. Claves, of Socorro, and Anthony Joseph, of Rio Arriba."

The Optic makes a good political prophet—just so long as it relies on the New Mexican for its pointers. This reminds us of what happened during the contest for the Republican delegates to Chicago. Eight days before the territorial convention the New Mexican named all the delegates, and yet five days later the Albuquerque Citizen used the same names and still later referred to it as the Citizen's "prophecy," at the same time boasting that the Citizen was no "spring chicken in politics." The other fellows may crow, but the New Mexican always leads in such matters—it never follows.

SUGGESTION OF GOV. BOIES.

The Associated Press occasionally indulges in an omission that is most aggravating. For instance, on Thursday afternoon it reported that ex-Gov. Boies had submitted to the committee on platform of the Iowa Democratic state convention a somewhat conservative suggestion on the subject of preserving the parity between gold and silver and then proceeded to intimate that the ex-governor had been turned down in the matter. But the dispatch gave no clue to the action actually taken further than the announcement that strong silver resolutions were adopted. Such omissions lay the Associated Press under the suspicion of cherishing some ulterior purpose that is foreign to news gathering and should not be tolerated. So far as the suggestion of Gov. Boies is concerned, whatever action may have been taken on it, we regard it as sufficiently important and impressive to merit the candid consideration of all silver men. It implies no doubt of the ability of the government to maintain the parity of the money metals at the ratio of 16 to 1, if undertaken in good faith, but holds that, if reasonable experience proves the contrary, the ratio should be so modified as to preserve the parity and thus avoid either gold or silver monometallism.

PRESS COMMENT.

A Warning.

A. L. Morrison had better look out that his governorship is not wrecked upon a rock. There is said to be a dangerous petrification in the channel—Silver City Enterprise.

A Sub-Boss Watches 'Em.

If Llewellyn or other Republican delegates to St. Louis entertain any notion of bolting, Pedro Perez will soon make them realize that he is riding the delegation with a ring bit.—Albuquerque Democrat.

Clean Men Wanted.

We understand that Lucius Dilla, editor of the Roswell Record, will be a candidate for the legislature on the Democratic ticket this fall. While the Republican would rather see a Republican elected from the district, yet if he must be a Democrat, Editor Dilla will give his constituents entire satisfaction. He is a good, clean man, and that is the kind we need.—Las Cruces Republican.

Be Fair.

The Republican press has been inclined to complacency, and we think justly, because of the criticisms of some of the Democratic papers of the territory, upon Mr. Catron's record in congress during the session now about to close. We think Democratic editors have been too much inclined to ignore the work actually done by our delegate. It should be remembered that the anti-silver fight bill was passed unanimously by both houses and approved by the president in an incredibly short time, all through the influence of the representative from New Mexico. And then, too, there were—there were—other things that he has accomplished. Our delegate ought to have full credit for what he has done for New Mexico. It is not fair to deprive him of it.—White Oaks Eagle.

NEW MEXICAN PRINTING COMPANY.

The PECOS VALLEY of NEW MEXICO

OFFERS unequalled advantages to the farmer, fruit grower, live stock raiser, dairyman, bee-keeper, and to the home-seeker generally. The soil of the Pecos Valley is of high average fertility, and under irrigation produces bountiful crops of most of the grasses, grains, vegetables, berries and fruits of the temperate and some of those of the semi-tropical zone. In such fruit as the peach, pear, plum, grape, prune, apricot, nectarine, cherry, quince, etc., the Valley will dispute for the pre-eminence with California; while competent authority pronounces its upper portions in particular the finest apple country in the world. Enormous yields of such forage crops as alfalfa, sorghum and Egyptian corn make the feeding of cattle and sheep and the raising and fattening of hogs a very profitable occupation. The cultivation of canebrake—a tanning material of great value—is becoming an important industry in the Pecos Valley, a home market having been afforded for all that can be raised, at a price yielding a handsome profit. The climate of the Pecos Valley has no superior in the United States, being pre-eminently healthful and health restoring. Lands with perpetual water-rights are for sale at low prices and on easy terms. The water supply of the Pecos Valley has no equal in all the arid region for constancy and reliability; and this with the superb climate, productive soil and the facilities afforded by the railway which extends through the Valley's entire length, will cause these lands to enjoy a constant, and at times rapid, increase in value. The recent completion of the Pecos Valley Railway to Roswell will cause the more rapid settlement and development of the upper portions of the Valley, including the rich Felix section. The company has recently purchased many of the older improved farms about Roswell, and has now for sale lands to meet the wants of all—raw lands, partially improved lands, as well as farms with houses, orchards and fields of alfalfa and other crops. In the vicinity of Roswell several pieces of land have been divided into five and ten acre tracts, suitable for orchards and truck farms in connection with suburban homes. Certain of these tracts are being planted to orchards, and will be cultivated and cared for by the company for three years at the end of which period they will be handed over to the purchasers. Write for pamphlet fully describing the terms and conditions on which these several classes of tracts are sold. Let us Reason Together.

It needs "no ghost to come and tell us" that the sooner dyspepsia is remedied, the sooner we shall enjoy that right to which our ancestors laid claim in the Declaration of Independence—"the pursuit of happiness." A man blessed with a good digestion—provided he has enough to eat—is happy. There are hosts of people with nuptial means to whom the sole consolation of a healthy pauper is denied. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a certain, prompt and thorough medical agent through the use of which sound digestion and the nerve tranquility which its disturbance causes, can be restored. Biliousness, malarial and kidney trouble, constipation and rheumatism are also remedied by this fine corrective of a disordered condition of the system. Appetite and sleep are greatly improved by it.

Are you sure the jurors are all strangers to one another.

Oh, yes; we picked twelve men who live in the same row of flats.

For every quarter in a man's pocket there are a dozen uses; and to use each one in such a way as to derive the greatest benefit is a question every one must solve for himself. We believe, however, that no better use could be made of one of these quarters than to exchange it for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, a medicine that every family should be provided with. For sale by Ireland's pharmacy.

How to Treat a Wife.

(From Pacific Health Journal.) First, get a wife; second, be patient. You may have great trials and perplexities in your business, but do not therefore, carry to your home a cloudy or contracted brow. Your wife may have trials, which, though of less magnitude, may be hard for her to bear. A kind word, a tender look, will do wonders in chasing from her brow all clouds of gloom.—To this we would add always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. It is the best and is sure to be needed sooner or later. Your wife will then know that you really care for her and wish to protect her health. For sale by Ireland's pharmacy.

DeWitt's Sarsaparilla cleanses the blood, increases the appetite and tones up the system. It has benefited many people who have suffered from blood disorders. It will help you. Newton's drug store.

We will soon be living on home-made watermelons. They are not substantial, but Providence has made them mighty filling.

Mrs. R. DeYoung, Middleburg, Ia., writes: I have used One Minute Cough Cure for six years, both for myself and children, and I consider it the quickest acting and most satisfactory cough cure I have ever used. Newton's drug store.

A. L. Wooster, a prominent citizen of Osage, Mich., after suffering excruciating pain from piles for twenty years, was cured in a short time by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, an absolute cure for all skin diseases. More of this preparation is used than all others combined. Newton's drug store.

The strong-minded members of our family are all wearing bloomers, but we've come to the conclusion that the old lady's dress doesn't fit us.

For your Protection.—Catarrh "Cures" or Tonics for Catarrh in liquid form to be taken internally, usually contain either Mercury or Iodine or Potassium, or both, which are injurious if long taken. Catarrh is a local, not a blood disease, caused by sudden change to cold or damp weather. It starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat. Cold in the head causes excessive flow of mucus, and, if repeatedly neglected, the results of catarrh will follow: severe pain in the head, a roaring sound in the ears, bad breath, and oftentimes an offensive discharge. The remedy should be quick to allay inflammation and heal the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles and contains no mercury nor any injurious drug. Price, 50 cents.

A Soft Answer.—Beardless youth (excitedly)—I say, waiter, there is a long hair in this soup. What on earth do you mean by that?

Waiter—Very sorry, sir. That hair must have dropped from your nose.

B. Y. (Rattled)—Ah, yes, of course. I beg your pardon.

When you find a person who has tried Simmons Liver Regulator you are sure to hear them say something in its favor. Mrs. G. T. Judy, Blue Grass, Ill., recently wrote: "I can not do without Simmons Liver Regulator since I know the value of it as a family medicine." And Dr. W. P. Gibbs, of Beaufort, S. C., says: "I prescribe Simmons Liver Regulator and know it to be a first-class liver medicine."

Mr. D. P. Davis, a prominent livery man and merchant of Goshen, Va., has this to say on the subject of rheumatism: "I take pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, as I know from personal experience that it will do all that is claimed for it. A year ago this spring my brother was laid up in bed with inflammatory rheumatism and suffered intensely. The first application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm eased the pain and the use of one bottle completely cured him. For sale by Ireland's pharmacy."

LEM TWEEDY'S FATAL KICK.

He Hit a Tomcat, and the Act Cost Him His Life.

"They was a hard lot, them Tweedy boys," said the man from the southwest. "They're all killed now but one, an they say he's reformed. I guess that's the reason. Say, did I ever tell you how th' tomcat got Lem Tweedy hung down in Tucson? I guess he'd been hung sooner or later anyhow, but th' tomcat, sure, was at the bottom of it as it happened."

"They belonged over in Globe, th' Tweedys did, but Lem Tweedy he drifted over to Phenix. That was before th' railroad come in there, an after they got right well acquainted with him in Phenix they judged him. No, he hadn't done nothing. That was the trouble. If he had, they'd a-hung him, but he wouldn't give 'em no provocation. You can't hang a man for doin' nothing, an they got tired of him livin' on th' town, so they judged him as a moral example to th' community, along with the greasers an' the trash on th' rest of th' trash on th' county jail."

"Well, that didn't do no good. They sent him out on th' road with th' chain gang to work, but Lem he just went over to a mesquite bush an' laid down in th' shade an' went to sleep. He said th' country had took it in itself to lock him up, an' now they could take it on themselves to feed 'im. Well, they took 'im out in th' chain gang for fear of demoralizin' th' greasers an' hoboes an' put 'im on bread an' water at th' jail. Lem he got hold of some old shipping tags an' a blue an' red pencil somewhere an' painted him up a lot of monte cards, so between whiles he won all th' tobacco an' everything else th' greasers an' th' Chinamen had, throwin' th' three cards for 'em."

"But that time two greasers killed a man out on th' edge of town, an he been a right popular fellow, an' the word was give for th' crowd to go up an' evenin' an' lynch 'em. Course th' warden he heard of it, an' he figured it 'ud be a good time to get rid of Lem. Th' warden didn't care particular about havin' 'im hung, but he told Lem th' boys was thinkin' about all first serious that they had calculated it was a pretty good time to get rid of an' encumbrance on th' community along with th' greasers. It come so near soundin' plausible that Lem he believed it, an' when th' warden said he'd better take advantage of th' excitement to pull his freight out of town Lem thanked 'im an' said he guessed he would."

"Th' warden give 'im a small canteen to carry 'im across th' desert, for there weren't no place for 'im to strike nearer 'n Tucson. When he pulled his stakes, he managed to steal th' day keeper's gun, but even that th' warden wasn't much of an outfit for th' Gila desert in summer, an' when Lem got out to th' last water on th' edge of town he just lays down in an alfalfa field to think it over. He knowed if he got out on th' sand in th' daytime he'd dry up like a raisin, an' he weren't much given to walkin' anyhow, an' he told Jerry Kollam afterward he was thinkin' serious whether he'd go out an' risk gettin' desiccated on th' desert or go back to town and chance gettin' up in th' world in company with two deceased greasers."

"Well, about th' time he'd made up his mind to go back long comes Jerry with a load of freight he was haulin' to Tucson, an' Lem struck him for a ride. Jerry 'lowed he wasn't runnin' no Pullman passenger train an' he didn't know as his team 'ud hold out that hot weather to get him an' th' freight through. But Lem said it was a groundhog case, an' th' upshot of it was he was goin' to be a passenger anyhow. Jerry knowed him pretty well by reputation an' said he had a gun, so they arbitrated, an' it were finally agreed that Lem was to not white an' not do no dirt by th' outfit an' Jerry would 'low him to work his way down to Tucson, rustlin' stock an' cookin'."

"Well, they did it all right. Lem, bein' a man of his word after his own particular sort, lived up to his end of th' contract, an' him an' Jerry parted at th' end of th' trip best of friends, Jerry, too, havin' a satisfaction in knowin' he'd done his town a good turn by haulin' off one of its worst encumbrances."

"That was all there was to that, but when he landed in Tucson, where he wasn't so well known, Lem he started in to turn a trick. He prospected round some an' found how th' bank in town was located, an' he figured that bank was just about due to get robbed. So he writes to his brother—that was Tom, that's reformed now—to come down an' help him with th' job. Tom he come all right—lastest way he started out from Yuma—before he got there some old Hassayampa up in th' Catalinas struck a big pocket in a prospect hole he was runnin', an' bein' more conservative than th' most of them old moss-backs, he comes down to town to bank it, 'stead of cashin' it in his cabin."

"Well, of course everybody heard about th' big strike th' old man had made, an' how he'd salted in nigh on to a burro load of pure dust in th' bank, an' Lem he thinks it's too good a chance to lose, so he figures to hold up th' bank single handed, 'bout waitin' for Tom. Meantime he'd gone out an' picked up a pretty fair horse on th' road, an' a mighty fine suite. But but, as I say, th' town hadn't had a chance to get on 'im yet, an' as th' man what owned th' horse was a stranger, there weren't no questions asked when they see Lem ridin' him."

"Bein' summer, business was mighty slack 'bout th' middle of th' day, an' there was sure to be a middle of two clerks in th' bank, an' maybe not more'n one. It was roulette chances there wouldn't be no customers inside, an' probably not many people on th' streets, everybody keepin' in th' shade at that hour. So Lem he figured to ride his horse up to th' bank, go in an' hold up th' house for all th' chips there was on th' table, lock th' clerks up in th' vault an' canter out 'n town with all th' dust he could pack in his saddle pockets."

"Things couldn't have come more his way if he had hired 'em. There wasn't but one clerk in th' bank, an' nobody else. It was hot enough in th' street to make a sun lizard hang his tongue out, so there weren't nobody in sight on th' street. Everything might have gone off pleasant an' accordin' to schedule if it hadn't been for Lem's natural disposition."

"When he starts in th' door, there were a big tomcat belonged to th' bank layin' in th' shade. I guess th' cat suspected there was somethin' wrong, for he put up his back an' spit sort of spiteful as Tweedy passed him, an' Tweedy, bein' as I say, naturally cussed, turns around with his foot an' lifts th' cat out into th' middle of th' street before he goes inside."

"Then he turns around an' drops a gun on th' clerk an' backs him into th' vault an' goes to fill in his saddlebags with coin. But while he was doin' that the tomcat was collectin' itself out in th' middle of th' road 'long come old Caribou Brown's bull terrier, which had been in with Caribou takin' a drink in Congress Hall. As th' dog comes out under th' slat door he sights th' cat in th' middle of the road, which, as he would rather kill cats than cats, was a golden opportunity. He makes a dead run for th' tom cat, bein' sort of illustered an' nothin' else climbable in reach, what does th' fool cat do but make a runnin' shoot an' light up atop of Lem's horse?

"Well, th' horse was a bit broncho anyhow, an' I guess th' cat must a put a claw into his flank as he went up, for th' broncho lit out with his hind quarters an' th' bull pup, bein' hot on th' cat's trail, was just in time to git it in th' neck. Well, he went back into th' saloon faster 'n he come out, only he landed in through th' transom 'stead of under th' door."

"Meantime when th' broncho kicked, th' cat just nortised all four feet into his rump an' th' horse he lit out down th' street, clean stampeded."

"Lem heard th' racket an' come a-runnin' with his saddlebags full of dust in one hand an' a gun in th' other. 'Bout th' same time old Brown come a-prancin' out 'n Congress Hall with his gun, huntin' th' man that'd been maceratin' his bull pup. When Lem sees Brown an' his gun, he naturally thinks the owner's dropped on to him an' his bank game, so he takes a pot shot at th' old man just to discourage further acquaintance an' dodges for th' corner, as he didn't have no horse."

"Brown don't know what th' matter, but he takes a wing shot at Lem as he's disappearin', clips th' 'dobe out'n th' corner of th' house an' brings down his man on th' run. Didn't kill him, though, an' Tom Tweed got in from Yuma next day just in time to see th' health authorities takin' Lem down from an avin pole he'd been decoratin' all night."—New York Sun.

As to Women Barbers.

"I don't see why women shouldn't make good barbers," said she.

"My dear," he replied, "you have been misled by the humorists. A barber must be able to do more than talk. There are other drawbacks."

"Were you ever shaved by a woman?" she interrupted.

"Partially," he answered.

"Partially! What do you mean by that?" she demanded.

"Well, she had about half completed the job when a woman in a new gown stepped in front of the shop, and I had to do the rest myself."—Chicago Post.

Where He Drew the Line.

"Where is your money?" demanded the masked man.

The miser was nearly paralyzed with fear.

"Un—und—under the carpet," he faltered.

The pistol fell from the nerveless hand of the burglar, and he turned feebly toward the door.

It was taking up carpets that had driven him to drink and crime.—Truth.

An Obliging Barber.

"Say, you've cut my hair too short!" "Shall I cut it again, sir?"—Judy.

Wot Tell.

"A girl I know asked me one day why in the name of goodness the man who wrote 'Chimble Fadden' always spelled 'toll' with an apostrophe after the 't.' I thought it was so good that I told it to the next woman who came in. She looked at me in an interested way."

"I've often wondered that," she said. "Why does he?"—Washington Post.

Ill Treated.

"You refer to Jopkins as an amateur painter?"

"Yes."

"Well, it's a mistake. An amateur is one who pursues art for the love of it."

"Of course. That's what Jopkins does."

"No; if he loved art, he couldn't possibly treat it as he does."—Washington Star.

An Unreasonable Man.

Mr. Mann—So you had to go and tell Mrs. Henn what I told you about the Fowlers? I never did see such a woman! You never could keep a secret.

Mrs. Mann—How unreasonable you are, Henry! I don't tell a secret, how is anybody to know that I have been keeping it?—Boston Transcript.

Her Policy.

Mrs. Brown—Mrs. Smith's children have some very beautiful toys, and she is so careful of them.

Mrs. Jones—Yes; she believes in putting them away until the children grow so big that they won't care for them.—Brooklyn Life.

A Fashion Tragedy.

She fell. Love of finery turned her head. Her head was turned to enable her to see the other girl's finery, and she did not observe the coal scuttle somebody had left upon the sidewalk.—Detroit Tribune.

He Did Not Win.

Reed—Every try your hand at writing one of those $10,000 prize stories? Wright—No; I tried to tell one once, but the girl refused me.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Ballade of Triumphant Time.

Oh, time is ever upon the wing! It flies like a gull o'er the shining sea; It gathers the white rose of the spring And the immature apple upon the tree; It gathers all matter from A to Z, From the trousers suit to the lamb of May. Oh, time is fleeting in ruthless gloom— Tomorrow today will be yesterday.

Oh, where is last summer's engagement ring? Where is last summer's love, and she? Mosquito, mosquito, where is thy sting? New Jersey, oh, where is thy victor-ree? The plumber must crumble, ah, me, ah, me! Like the snow he must fade from the earth away. No purse can imprison the green-winged V— Tomorrow today will be yesterday.

Not long to the skull can the front hair cling, The reaper is swinging his scythe care free. One day doth bird in the garden sing, The student on a velvet hat is he. To time all subjects must bend the knee, All beauty must dwindle in slow decay: All flesh is grass, and some grass is tea— Tomorrow today will be yesterday.

EXXVY. Prince, even the presidential bee. A frost beneath the sunny ray. Our idols fall, and our shekels fly— Tomorrow today will be yesterday. —K. K. Munkittrick in Truth.

A Believer.

The camel is a beast of great strength and endurance. Nothing built it until the proverbial "last straw" is added to its burden. The human digestive system is very much like a camel. You can impose on it to a wonderful degree. It is really astonishing how much abuse it will stand before it breaks down. "The last straw" doesn't break it down, but it makes it stop work. Continually put the wrong things into your stomach, and digestion will get weaker and weaker. Before long, something worse than usual will be eaten, and you will go through the stomach into the bowels, and there it will stick—that is constipation. Let it continue, and there is nothing bad that will not lead to it. Nine-tenths of all human sickness is due to constipation. Some of the simplest symptoms are coated tongue and foul breath, dizziness, heartburn, flatulence, sallowiness, distress after eating, headaches, indigestion. A little thing will cause constipation, and a little thing will relieve it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a certain cure for constipation. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules, mild and natural in their action. There is nothing injurious about them. You can take them just as freely as you take your food. There is no danger that you will become a slave to their use. They will cure you and then you can stop taking them. Send for free sample package of from 4 to 7 doses. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

A GREAT BOOK FREE.

Over 600,000 copies of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser have been sold at the regular price, $1.50. The profits on this immense sale have been used in printing a new edition of 500,000 copies, bound in strong paper covers, which is to be given away absolutely free. A copy will be sent to any address on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Bacon—Do those two girls love one another, do you suppose?

Egbert—I think they must. They don't kiss one another when they meet.

Young mothers dread the Summer months on account of the great mortality among children, caused by bowel troubles. Perfect safety may be assured those who keep on hand De Witt's Colic & Cholera cure, and administer it promptly.
